Billy Graham film to be shown at Church of God

Caught, the newest film from Billy Graham's World Wide Pictures will be shown on December 10 at 6:30 at the Church of God, Negro Creek, Brodhead. The true-to-life dramatic story portrays the power of one person caring for another.

An 18 year old American, Tim Devon, goes to Amsterdam in search of the father he has never known. His mother reluctantly admits he was born illegitimately out of a college romance between her and a Dutch exchange student.

In this city, far from his home, he slips into the self-destructive drug culture, but is encountered by a single, caring person -- a person of deep faith. The person, Rajam Prasad, found a way to share Christ's message of love, hope and forgiveness in a way that Tim could not ignore.

Vast audiences who have witnessed the film's premiere in movie theaters around the world have been gripped by its central focus on their friendship which was forged out of danger and desperation. Deeply moved by the warmth of the film with its many moments of humor, Billy Graham, said "Caught is certainly the most outstanding film yet produced by World Wide Pictures."

Caught rings a challenge to us all; in reality, one caring person can have an immeasurable impact on the life of another lonely, disillusioned, desperate person. The public is cordially invited to attend this showing.

"POET'S CORNER"
(Cont. From B9)

Do you ever work on committees
To see there is no trick?
Or leave the work to just a few
And talk about a clique?

So come to meetings often
And help with hand and heart
Don't be just a member
But take an active part.

Think this over, brother
You know right from wrong
Are you an active member
Or do you just belong.

My Daddy
By David Brock

When I was a laddy,
I had a dear old daddy,
He was not a fatty
That was almost 43 years ago,
Lord willing, next April 22nd,
I will be 43 years old,
When I had a daddy,
I was not sad as a lad,
But now daddy is gone,
I am left all alone,
Except for the good Lord above,
As the song says,
On the Wings of a Dove,
God sent his great sweet love,
On the wings of a dove, daddy,
I believe he is in Heaven above
with his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.
He has been there for 2 years,
Lord willing, it will be 2 years May 2nd, 1990
He was laid to rest May 4th, 1988
He has run his race,
In his older year he slowed his pace

But I pray he won the race,
This Christmas season Christians when you pray remember that David won't lose the race,
Pray that I won't slow down the pace,
And when I am called away someday
I meet daddy in Heaven
I pray the Lord will say welcome
home,
I want to see daddy, but first my Lord
Jesus Christ,
Who died for you and me.

"Old Time Brands"
by Ada Bullock

Now come on you old timers
Don't be too proud to tell
You used mail order catalogues
Instead of Cottonelle.

We all know those famous brands
Weren't around when you and I
Were running to the outhouse
So cold we thought we'd die.

There were only two brands
We were accustomed to Sears Roebuck and Montgomery
Ward
A great service they did do.
So won't you swallow your pride?
And do a little confessing
By admitting those free catalogues
To us were a blessing.

Mom would order all our shoes
A dollar ninety-eight a pair
Which was for the winter
In summer no shoes we'd wear.

They'd usually last through the winter

Before they fell apart
If not Dad would mend them
To hold 'em till spring would start

And after mom had ordered
From the two most welcomed books
They'd go to the outhouse
Where we'd sit there and look

At many other things
We couldn't afford to buy
But hoping the day would come
When we could live in style.

Today we're living better
But I'll never forget those days
Which has made us wiser
In many different ways.

And to all you highfalutin
I'm sure you haven't forgotten
The many times' to the outhouse
You had to go a trottin.

Mount Vernon Signal

Mt. Vernon 0456 Volume 102 - Number 7 Thursday, December 7, 1989

Santa Claus (Jim Perrin) officially arrives in Mt. Vernon during the Christmas Parade down Williams and Main Sts., Saturday. In the finest tradition of the jolly of fella, he arrived in a sled. Santa will be back for his big night, Dec. 24-25.

Gail Bengel (center) won the prize for the first drawing last Saturday in Brodhead. Citizens had a chance to win hundreds of dollars in prizes, coupons and goods as the town geared up for the Christmas holiday season. Two members of the Willing Workers Homemakers flank her. Clara Proctor is at left, Roberta Taylor at right.

Hold-up resembles 1985 robbery for pharmacist

It was a repeat of December, 1985, for Tina Hasty.
The repeat came last Friday about 10:30 a.m., when two men walked into her Drive-Thru Pharmacy on Richmond St., in Mt. Vernon, pulled a gun and ordered money.
They used duct tape to tie up employee Jackie Renner, but didn't have enough time to tape Mrs. Hasty, said Mt. Vernon police detective Larry Thompson Tuesday.
He said police are looking for two white men in their late 20s. A third man, driving a getaway car, is also being sought. Thompson has an identification of one of the suspects, but hasn't released the details publicly yet.
He said Mt. Vernon police are comparing notes on this robbery with a similar one in Richmond the same day. Police in both cities are looking for connections.
Taken in the Mt. Vernon robbery were about $626 in Schedule I and Schedule II drugs, $604 in cash from two bank bags and the store register, a $26 check and $7 from Mrs. Hasty's purse, as well as a .38-caliber Smith & Wesson handgun, taken from her purse with the money.
Thompson said he believes a third man is involved in a getaway car because the two men didn't tie up Mrs. Hasty because he understands one said, "We don't have time."

He suspects the robbery was planned to a predetermined time.
A witness has also placed the two holdup men on Richmond St., about an hour before the robbery, Thompson said.
The original investigation was made by Mt. Vernon chief Joe Howard and patrolman Jack Forner.
This robbery was too similar to one at the pharmacy on December 20, 1985.
On that date, two men entered the store, pulled a gun and demanded money.
They also tied up Mrs. Hasty and clerk Carla Baker with duct tape and took money, drugs, and a gun.
Two men were arrested later in North Carolina and stood trial there, but a Rockcastle Circuit Court jury found them not guilty.

Police cars were mute testimony to last Friday's hold-up of the Drive-Thru Pharmacy on Richmond St., similar one in 1985. Over $1,000 in drugs and money, and a gun, were taken last week.

Clark threatens fiscal court over pro tem pay

By: Ray McClure
Just when everything seemed to be going right for outgoing County Judge/Executive Hubert Thacker and magistrate Glen Ellison and Ricky Kirby, everything seemed to go wrong.
The court found itself threatened with a lawsuit by former magistrate Joe Clark.
It all happened as the regular monthly meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court came to a quiet, subdued end. Clark showed up to bumblehale the magistrates and judge about his status as judge pro tem, a position which he was appointed to take care of county business in case Judge

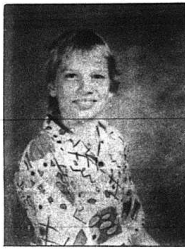

Thacker was unable to serve.
Clark claims he served the past 29 months without pay. At $50 a month that would total $1,450 he says the county owes him for services rendered.
Uncertain, the magistrates headed for the office of County Clerk Norma Hook to search the minutes of previous court meetings to determine if the magistrates at some meeting passed a resolution vacating the judge pro tem position.
They found Clark had been hired Jan. 7, 1986, but didn't find they had voted to do away with his job. At one meeting they had discussed and left it to Judge Thacker to talk with Clark about it. But no vote.

Clark did not attend the official meeting of the court, but he had let the judge and magistrates know earlier that if they didn't pay him he would bring suit.
During the official meeting the court agreed to put four roads on work orders for upgrading.
They are One mile of Taylor Shearer Road; three-tenths of a mile of Charlie York Road; half a mile of Felix Reams Road, and about 300 feet of George Payne Road.
At the request of Jailer Billy Kirby, two employees at the county jail received $200 a month raises, increasing their salary from $1,000 a month to $1,200 a month. They are

Brodhead boy dies in accidental hanging

The small town of Brodhead was hit with yet another tragedy involving a child, when a Brodhead seventh grader accidentally hanged himself in his Poshum Kingdom home last Friday.
According to Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell, Donald Ray Shoemaker, 12, died from an accidental hanging around 6:10 p.m., Friday night.
Dowell said that Shoemaker had been playing in a tree in the back yard of his family's home when he wrapped a rope tied to the limb of a tree, around his neck.
Shoemaker was hanging from the limb unconscious when his sixteen-year-old sister found him at around 5:55 p.m.

Shoemaker's sister cut him down and ran to a neighbor's house to call for an ambulance, according to Dowell.
Both parents were working at the time of the accident.
Doctors at the Rockcastle hospital managed to get a few heartbeats, but could not revive the child.
Shoemaker's death is the second such tragedy in only six weeks in the Brodhead community. In October, 16-year-old Dana Durham was killed in a London auto accident.
Donald Ray Shoemaker was born

Donald Shoemaker in Harrodsburg, Jan. 1, 1977, the son of Bill and Lucy Shoemaker Hatmaker of Brodhead.

County PVA office gets good marks in state audit

By: Jim Griesch
Two pieces of underassessed property kept Rockcastle County Property Valuation Administrator Elmer Hale from sailing through an audit of 1988 assessments done in half of the state's 120 counties recently.
Overall, Hale's office got solid marks the assessing of county property, and in effort and preparation.

The state audit was done by randomly selecting 20 pieces of residential property, 20 pieces of farm property, and 20 commercial properties.
The rating for those 20 residential sites was 80 percent, apparently "reported by two low assessments."
The county also stated that nine of the 20 parcels of property had not been revalued since 1982 or before.
The state refused to make public any of the 60 names of property holders involved in the audit.
Farm property was assessed at 98.8 percent of its fair cash value, and commercial property was assessed at 100 percent.
All 60 pieces of land were termed "well maintained, suitable, and all located by field assessors."
An assessment of 94 sales in 1988 on residential property showed that those homes had a median assessment of 97.8 percent of actual value.
An assessment of 41 farm sales in that same period showed that those properties were valued at 103.2 percent of fair cash value.
Again, two over assessed pieces of property caused the over-100 percent assessment.
But, Rockcastle was among 32 counties cited for having inadequately descriptions on its property valuation forms.

The descriptions contained the property characteristics, such as the type of structure (brick, wood, etc.), whether a basement is included, the number of rooms, and the like.
But, Hale got high marks for his tax roll and assessment records review, and for implementing a mapping system.
Hale's plan for quadrennial physical examinations of county property also met with favor in the assessment, as did his adherence to property tax calendar requirements.
Hale points out that his overall assessment level is 91 percent, which falls within the state's requirement

Brodhead sewer bids will be opened on Jan. 11

By Ray McClure
Bid openings for sewer plant expansion and improvements are scheduled at Brodhead City Council at 10 a.m., Jan. 11 at the city hall.
The $300,000 estimated for the project was approved several weeks ago. Farmers Home Administration is furnishing a $130,000 loan. The Appalachian Regional Commission is granting $150,000, and Cumberland Valley Area Development District is furnishing $20,000.

At the Council meeting Monday night, the council approved advertising for bids on the project that is expected to begin as soon as the successful contractor deems it advisable.

The plant has been the focal point of checks by the Environmental Protection Agency which claimed at times especially during heavy rains, raw sewage overflows from the plant into Dix River.

Monday night was the first council meeting for Mrs. Paul (Ruth Ann) Cox as city clerk, replacing Eugene McBoe who resigned due to a conflict with his retirement pension.
Mrs. Cox and husband, Paul, were residents of Frankfort prior to moving to Brodhead. At Frankfort she was associated with the accounting firm of Farmer and Humble. Cox is formerly of the Brodhead area and his mother, Sue Cox, still resides in Brodhead. he is retired from the Na

County to get $1,400 in coal money

Kentucky coal-producing counties are receiving more than $800,000 from fees collected from mining operations in those counties during the 1988-89 fiscal year. Rockcastle will receive $1,400. Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson has distributed checks for fee revenues to the 45 counties, totaling $821,361.69. The funds originate in permitting and acreage fees paid by surface mining operations doing business in those counties. Applicant companies submit a $375 permitting fee and acreage fees of $75 for each new acre of proposed surface disturbance.

One third of those fees are returned to the coal counties each year for use determined by the fiscal courts. Slightly more than $1 million came back to the counties during the 1987-88 fiscal year. This year's dip in revenues is attributed to the fact that Kentucky is now completing its first five-year cycle of primary - full responsibility for the administration of its coal production program.

Permit renewals continue to cost the operators $375 each, but there is no repeat of the $75 per surface acre fee for permits under which there is still coal to be extracted. Further, there was a slight decline in permit applications during the 1988-89 fiscal period.

State has '800' number to report on tax frauds

People with questions about taxes have a telephone number to call now. State auditor Bob Babbage has set up 1-800-KY-Alert (that's 1-800-992-5378) for people with questions about possible fraud, mismanagement or abuse of public funds by those entrusted to using the money. The number is not a number to be used for help in preparing individual tax returns. In a prepared release, Babbage claims an average of six calls a day from various state citizens concerned about topics ranging from education to welfare. The program is supposed to give people a way to monitor how tax dollars are being used. Babbage's staff investigates each call, and reviews it. If a problem can be solved within a given department, the department head is asked to take care of it. If criminal prosecution is needed, the Public Integrity Unit, which includes a retired FBI man and legal counsel, take care of the matter.

Your child's health

By: Dr. John Payne

There are of course many causes of injuries in children and young adults, but a new study from Canada gave an interesting new perspective. Almost 2000 college students were interviewed to determine their history of accidents. It was found that left handed persons, male or female, were almost twice as likely to have had an accident requiring medical attention in the past two years. The author suggests that "lefties" might suffer from an environmental bias toward the majority who are right handed. Everyday implements such as scissors, can openers, gear shift levers, and many other things are oriented for right handedness. Even the direction in which the threading of screws is angled favors their being tightened by a right hander. Thus, the leftie must learn to work with his non-dominant hand, or learn to adapt body postures which may be awkward and at variance for the intended use of the machine. This is a very interesting study, and one which bears repeating in other parts of the world. The advantage which left handedness may give in baseball, being two steps closer to first base and aimed that away when you bat the ball, seems to be far outweighed by the potential for accidents. Perhaps the lesson is for parents to be extra careful in teaching their left handed children from a very early age.

that property be assessed within 90-110 percent of its actual worth.

The Rockcastle figures were released last week as part of the Revenue Cabinet report to the legislature.

Scott Acres, a press officer for the state's tax policy division, called the county's assessment grades, "Overall, Rockcastle is quite good."

He also said that counties are not rated against each other.

Overall, about two-thirds of the 60 counties failed to meet the 90-percent standard, and 12 assessed businesses less than 70 percent of value.

Leslie County assessed residential property at only 37.6 percent of its value, while McCreary assessed commercial property at just 39.0 percent of its real worth.

Three of the six counties that border Rockcastle were also audited.

Garrard County had the highest evaluations. Residential property there was assessed at a 97 percent rate, while farm was assessed at 103.6 and commercial at 108.8 percent.

Madison and Pulaski's numbers both fell below Rockcastle's levels. Madison got assessment rates of 82.7 for residential, 104.1 for farm, and 84.6 for commercial.

Pulaski got assessments of 95.0 for residential, 84.4 for farm and 85.8 for commercial.

Other PVAs in the immediate area received various marks.

James Sizemore in Clay County was cited for applying blanket increases to assessments, and having a problem with fraudulent recording of low prices on deeds.

Whitley PVA Thomas Harris has been assessing property at little over half of its value, said the report. Property apparently is put on the tax rolls at its sale price, but little other efforts at assessments are made.

The assessments were established by comparing the local PVAs figures with those of appraisers.

If the PVA had the property appraised at $50,000, but assessed at $25,000, then the ratio would be 50.0.

If a PVA had property appraised at $40,000, but assessed at $30,000, the ratio would be 75 percent.

If a PVA had property appraised at $80,000, but assessed at $100,000, then the ratio would be 120 percent.

The report was ordered by the 1988 General Assembly, and all even numbered counties (2-4-6-8, etc) on the state's list of counties were done last year. The other half will be done for 1989.

Public interest in property taxes has been fanned by a lot of media exposure on how taxes are assessed in Kentucky to provide funds for education. And, funding is a cornerstone in the state's court-mandated efforts to provide an equitable funding system for all of the state's 177 school districts.

The council held an executive session following the regular meeting to discuss the matter.

The council tabled a decision on whether to seek a bond from the state on a yearly basis for under-road work, or only when needed.

Individual bonds are $250 and are subject to a waiting period. They cost $500 when tunneling under U.S. 150. Street and water superintendent Devalva Buscill will make inquiries since the council did not have a yearly figure.

At one time the city held an annual bond, but voted it out several years ago. The bond guarantees the city will replace the road to its original condition.

Also tabled until the next meeting was a decision on changing all city street light to a brighter type light. Councilmen agreed they did not have enough information.

10 charged, arrested for tobacco fraud

A total of 10 men posted $5,000 bonds each in Laurel District Court Monday, following their arrest Saturday on charges of engaging in organized crime involving tobacco sales at a London warehouse.

A federal search warrant was carried out at New London Tobacco Warehouse as part of an investigation into the sale of marketing cards from growers, according to State Police Detective Jimmy Phelps.

Phelps reported marketing cards and dealer cards were alleged to have been used to sell excess tobacco stolen from the warehouse floor or bought illegally from growers.

No growers were mentioned in the report from police as having tobacco stolen or illegally sold, or cards stolen. However, the investigation is continuing.

All defendants pleaded not guilty when they appeared in court. A preliminary hearing has been scheduled for Monday. An 11th man, Jim Hunt of Moultrie, Ga., was arrested Monday on similar charges and was being held in Laurel County jail pending a bond hearing.

The defendants released yesterday were James Sutton, 20; Graham Cole, Sr., 55, who was listed as co-owner of the warehouse; Graham Cole, Jr., 21; Hope Molden, Jr., 23; Willie Dawson, 25; Richard Alexander, 57; Lonnie Cooper Jr., 23; James Alton, 54; Ronald Tilman, 50 and James Redding, 47, all of Moultrie, Ga.

In Tuesday's Rockcastle Fiscal Court meeting, as usual business concerning the county and the taxpayer was apparently done before and after the meeting, while very little business was conducted during the open meeting.

Apparently, former magistrate Joe Clark, who was appointed Deputy County Judge/Executive, wants about $1,400 back pay that he says the county owes him. He apparently made a claim before the meeting that if he doesn't receive the money he will sue.

Although no mention of Clark's request was made in open meeting as soon as the meeting adjourned, magistrates and County Clerk Norma Houk all went to the records room to research Clark's claim in the minutes book.

A special meeting has been called for tomorrow to discuss the situation and quite frankly I'm surprised the court is even bothering with the special session since this administration has done very little by the book.

Hopefully, come January, things will change. One thing is for certain, they can't change any more.

A few people were highly upset by the local chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers' float in Saturday's Mt. Vernon Christmas Parade.

One lady even voiced her opinion by phone to a MADD member because she was upset that the float had scared her child.

Since my wife is a member of MADD, I know that those folks certainly did not intend to frighten any children, but they were hoping to cause an awareness about the dangers of drunk driving among driving age people.

I personally thought the Chapter should be commended on the hard work they put into providing such a float, and if there is one thing I've learned, you can't please everybody, all the time.
Congratulations MADD on a good float!

The Lexington Herald-Leader has devoted thousands of man hours of investigation in a sweep across the courthouses and school board offices of the Commonwealth to document its case that property tax evasion is a large cause of inadequate financing of our public schools. It amounts to more than $50 million in lost revenue each year. The Herald-Leader has discovered that the Governor and most other savvy politicians have ways of getting their property valued on the tax assessment rolls at small fractions of its actual value. Consequently they pay only small fractions of the tax they actually should be paying and therefore there isn't enough cash generated to operate a modern school system.

For over a month now we have seen photographs of the homes of the wealthy and influential placed serenely and pastorally on the sides of landscaped mountains or in exclusive subdivisions and we have found out those sprawling estates are often valued on the tax rolls for less than the price of a used mobile home. We've found out that Property Valuation Administrators often feel absolutely no moral or ethical obligation to assure any sort of fairness across the tax base. The reporters who wrote these stories sound angry and upset. But alas, they think they have broken a news story--that they have achieved a scoop that will put the citizenry up in arms. The fact of the matter is that none of this is news to Rural Kentucky.

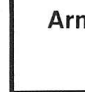

The Mount Vernon Signal, Thursday, December 7, 1989 P-A5
The Herald-Leader commissioned a survey by some big public opinion-gauging outfit from outside the state to see how Kentuckians felt about property taxes. This poll showed that 61% of the people in the state came right out and said they believed that a lot of folks didn't pay their fair share--that they thought some folks had their property valued way too low. Of course the other 49% said they thought every thing was just hunky dory and that Kentucky was a pretty honest tax situation. Or they didn't know. The Herald-Leader apparently assumed that about half the state didn't know what was going on and set out to inform them of the facts. The paper seems to assume that those folks who said they didn't know anything about any tax cheating were telling the truth. Give me a break.

If you owned a $100,000 home and the PVA put it on the books for $10,000 so that your taxes were $20 instead of $300, what would you tell somebody who came around asking whether or not you thought that your taxes were fair. The point is that most of that 49% of the satisfied also know that tax evasion is going on but they're not going to admit it. It might cost them money.
The survey should also have asked the 51% who said they knew what was going on, "What are you going to do about it?" The answers would not have been surprising. "I'dumo. Nothing. Get somebody elected who'll lower mine."

The fact that Wallace Wilkinson came right out and admitted he had properly grossly undervalued won't cost the Governor a vote the next time he runs for office. I doubt that any politicians are going to be in trouble with the electorate just because the Herald-Leader published the fact that they routinely cheat school kids out of a better education. Rural Kentuckians don't get mad at folks who have enough political pull to get those big assessment breaks. They get angry because they can't get one too. Wilkinson's attitude toward paying his property tax is the very reason that he is so popular with the voters because most of them would do the same @#! thing if they could get away with it and a large portion of them do.

That doesn't make it right. But it doesn't make it news either. We all know that it's going on and we aren't surprised at all the stories we've read over the last several weeks. We're tittered when they nailed someone we knew and we go to watch him tv

CAP, headquartered in Lancaster, is a nationally recognized private, interfaith charitable organization which provides wide ranging social, economic and spiritual services in the Appalachian area of eastern Kentucky.

CAP, which celebrated its 25th anniversary earlier this year, has more than 70 programs which are geared toward helping people help themselves.

Campbell Soup will also promote the program through 60 local food stores and suppliers in the service area, including the Foodtown, Food Fair, Food World and Superior super market chains, and will donate additional money to CAP in the name of these local stores.

The proceeds will be used in CAP's Small Garden Project and in its educational programs, areas strongly supported by Campbell Soup. The Small Garden Project provides seed, fertilizer, canning supplies and technical assistance to elderly, handicapped and underprivileged people in seven counties.

Classes having 75 percent PTA membership were given an art project from the PTA workers. Teachers receiving the project were Mrs. Lena Hayes, Mrs. Regina Burton, Mrs. Kelly Pensol and Mrs. Kathy Dyhouse.
Health nurse, Mrs. Mabel Cash is a vital part of our school. She provides screening services for vision, hearing, scoliosis, pediculosis, etc. as well as tending the every day little aches and pains.
Best attendance accolades go to the seventh grade for last month. These teachers are: Caroline Graves, Mary N. Cash, Katherine Bradley and Pam Marlin.
Our kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Cane and Mrs. Shaffer were hostesses to the other county kindergarten teachers recently. They all shared ideas and suggestions. The kindergarten classes at BES have met the Letter People A-L and have also learned numerals 1-10. We are very proud of the progress our children are making.

The lunchroom staff (Mrs. Wanda Carroll, Mrs. Geraldine Anglin, Mrs. Helen Albright, Mrs. Mary Russell, Mrs. Doris Blanton and Mrs. Ruby Thompson) is aware of the importance of having a pleasant and inviting climate in which to dine. These ladies have added Christmas decorations and lovely Christmas music for our dining pleasure. Lunchroom monitors (Mrs. Doris Wright, Mrs. Mabel Cash and Mrs. Goldie Blanton) continually stress the importance of dining etiquette.
We are saddened by the loss of one of our classmates, Donald Shoemaker. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his parents and brothers and sisters.

Toll-free tax assistance number

People with questions about taxes have a telephone number to call now. State auditor Bob Babbage has set up 1-800-KY-Alert (that's 1-800-592-5378) for people with questions about possible fraud, mismanagement or abuse of public funds by those entrusted to using the money.
The number is not a number to be used for help in preparing individual tax returns.
In a prepared release, Babbage claims an average of six calls a day from various state citizens concerned about topics ranging from education to welfare.
The program is supposed to give people a way to monitor how tax dollars are being used.
Babbage's staff investigates each call, and reviews it.
If a problem can be solved within a given department, the department head is asked to take care of it.
If criminal prosecution is needed, the Public Integrity Unit, which includes a retired FBI man and legal counsel, take care of the matter.

Willing Worker
Homemakers

The Brodhead Homemakers first had to get last minute plans made for "Santa Coming to Town," Sat. Dec. 2.

Fourteen members sat in Barbara Watson's home and started their meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday Nov. 30.

The night's devotion by Loraine Newland, was about "Taking Blessings for Granted." Remember to thank God for the little things of life as well as bigger things.

Then Patricia Fletcher asked Clara Proctor to read minutes of October meeting at Robert's Taylors. She also gave a report on our financial status.

Volunteer hours were posted for each member.

Clara displayed a plaque stating "Roses Award to Citizens of October" for volunteer work in their annual Bike-a-Thon for Cystic Fibrosis. It was beautiful.

Monthly pennies were placed in a bag as it was passed around, decorating a lounge at Sowder Nursing Home was discussed and giving our yearly Santa Claus a gift was agreed upon.

Then we were ready for Emily Glovak to show us articles piled on a center table that Cheryl Witt had made of fabric. She gave us a booklet of "Fabric Gift Patterns" to open to the pattern when they aligned up and every gift made of fabric and it was passed around. Ella Mae Martin showed us two decorative roses she had made, also, the heart pendant had shining particles on fabric.

Other things passed around were: fabric necklace, covered gift tags; decorative towels; sweatshirts; gift sets; stationary holder; travel jewelry case; purse cosmetic case and eye or pencil case. Fabric covered band boxes, tissue box, photo frame and last but not least was a pair of tennis shoes decorated with shining particles.

Thanks, Cheryl, for letting us view all these beautiful gifts you made so perfectly and thanks, Emily, for presenting the lesson "Fabric Gifts" so well.

Now we can spend winter months making next year's Christmas or birthday gifts.

Remember Blood Bank, Dec. 19. Ruby McKinney will take some members to help in this important event.

Our president Patricia Fletcher told us it would be worth our trip to see Renfro Valley lights, and thanked Ladies Auxiliary Club for serving refreshments after Margie Wilcox's Chorus singing and lighting of Christmas tree in downtown Brodhead, Friday, Dec. 1.

January 1990, Willing Worker Homemakers will meet at Willie Lawrence's home with Loraine Newland as co-hostess.

Oh yes, we really enjoyed Barbara Watson and Deborah Newland's extra good eats.

Elizabeth F. Mullins

Tree Safety

Every year after Thanksgiving people look for the freshest Christmas tree with the best shape. They also need to consider the safety of the tree.

Doug McClaren, Extension forestry specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said consumers can select a safe and beautiful tree by following a few steps.

Trees, which vary in price according to size and variety, can be purchased three ways: pre-cut in a neighborhood lot, fresh from a grower, or balled from a nursery.

McClaren said pre-cut trees have been cut for several weeks and aren't as safe as fresh-cut or balled tree.

A good way to test the freshness of the tree is to pick it up in the middle and drop it on the ground. If green needles fall off the tree, McClaren said not to buy it because it is a potential fire hazard.

Homeowners who purchase a pre-cut tree now and do not put it up until later, should cut an inch off the stump and store the tree outside in a pot of water or in a cool location.

The perfect tree also can be found at a Kentucky Christmas Tree Growers Association location. McClaren said this way people can "cut and choose" their own tree.

Balled trees, which may be planted after use, can be purchased at a nursery. Balled trees should not be in the house for more than a week or two because they may die when planted outside.

All trees should be placed in proper stands that hold water. Water should be maintained so the trees do not dry out.

Turn off decorator lights when you are not at home. Electricity also is recommended using approved wiring.

Tuesday, December 26 at 8 p.m. on KET

The award-winning KET production of East of Nineveh, a play written by western Kentucky native Jim Peyton, encores this holiday season. Set in rural Western Kentucky in 1955, the play focuses on John Bumpus, who was "born again" years ago during a revival. To John's horror, his bumpy cousin, B.W. Bumpus, believes he has been called to be a radio evangelist, despite the fact that his knowledge of the Bible is non-existent. In addition to overcoming his frustrations with his dim-witted cousin, John must come to grips with a tragedy in his past.

East of Nineveh originally was produced by Horse Cave Theatre in Hart County. The actors who starred in the play, which premiered in July 1985, recreated their roles for this production. In 1987, East of Nineveh received one of broadcasting's oldest and most prestigious honors, an Ohio State Award.

to squirm his way out of it. We've been amused, but who among us have seen any attitudes change? How many PTAs has started law suits against their elected officials to force them to raise the tax levels of their cronies up to what the law says they should be? And how many plan to do so before the next election?

And why is it that we act like every new governor who comes along has suddenly invented a better startup plan when he or she starts talking about education reform? Does anybody remember Martha Layne and John Y? On the other hand, who can remember the last Governor who got elected because he was going to equalize taxes? When we do some tax reform, I believe that educational reform will happen naturally. It won't otherwise happen at all. When this state elects a governor who runs on a real tax and political reform platform we might begin to do something radical about education. But don't count on it happening in this century.

The Les Bryant family was saved from probable death on Nov. 27-28, when Mrs. Bryant decided to stay with a grandfather in Mt. Vernon. (Top) Her trailer is on top, crushing down on a family car. (Left) A child's doll lies in the open wreckage of the trailer. (Right) Just how devastated the home is plain to see in this picture. It is upside down, and completely smashed apart.

Decision for Mt. Vernon stay saves Bandy family's lives

By: Jim Griesch
Three members of a Bandy family are lucky to be alive this week. A huge windstorm tore up their trailer the night of Nov. 27-28, completely destroying the home, a barn and flipping over a garage-shed at another home. Janie Bryant, and daughters Makayla, 2, and Amanda, 11 months, were spending that night at the Mt. Vernon home of her grandfather, Bob Jasper. Mrs. Bryant said she had scheduled a Wednesday trip to the doctor for Amanda, and decided to stay with her grandfather instead of at home, making travel to the appointment easier. She works at a Somerset restaurant, and is normally off Mondays and Tuesdays, but had traded days with another employee to facilitate the doctor's office trip. Mrs. Bryant said the experience: "The trailer is turned upside down, and is sitting on its top. It has no sides and it smashed on top of our car. Our barn was also demolished. But, weathermen said it wasn't a small tornado, just a high wind, that caused the damage. Local residents questioned that, pointing to the odd trace of damage in the area, which is near the intersection of KY 39 and KY 70 in eastern Pulaski County, not far from the western boundary of Rockcastle. The Bryant trailer faces onto KY 39. Not more than 50 yards away, a ranch-style brick home sits, apparently undamaged. The barn which was lost was located between that brick home and the trailer. The barn is completely ripped up. Parts of the barn, as well as assorted pieces of sheet metal, were strewn along KY 70 up to the home of George McClure, 84, who owns a home which faces south on KY 70. He said that boards "flew around the front and sides of my home."

County native heading Pearl Harbor commemoration at Lexington hotel

By: Jim Griesch
Ellis McCollum, a Rockcastle County native, is the chairman for Thursday's Pearl Harbor Commemoration at the Radisson Hotel in Lexington. The day-long meeting in the second floor ballroom will allow survivors of the Japanese attack on Hawaii on December 7, 1941, a chance to meet again. It will also give history buffs who have taken any special interest in the historic battle a chance to meet some of the people who were there. Speaking during the afternoon will be sons of both the Navy and Army commanders of the American forces surprised that day. Both Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, a Henderson native, and Gen. Walter Short essentially had their careers ended on that day, since they were never given responsible assignments again. McCollum, who grew up in the Scaffold Cane area of the county, said he wanted desperately to get into the war, and lied about being just 15 to get into the Army in 1945. His youth was discovered, he said, and he was mustered out until he turned 17. He put in five years, then returned to civilian life in 1952. He now lives in Lexington. He is a brother of Alonzo McCollum and Janie Durham, who both still live here. A granddaughter said that several nieces and nephews still live in the area, as far away as Corbin. His parents are the late Rollie and Addie McCollum. McCollum said he hopes the Commemoration can become an annual meeting. McCollum said the morning session would begin at 9:30 a.m., and would be informal gatherings of those who simply wanted to exchange information or relive old times. Several speakers, including some navy brass, would begin at 1:30 p.m. A presentation is to be made at 6:30, with dinner at 7 p.m. Everything is free, except the dinner, which is $20. McCollum pointed out that at least one man with Rockcastle connections is entombed aboard the USS Arizona, which was destroyed by a bomb into forward gasoline and ammunition compartments about 10 minutes after the attack began at 7:55 a.m. McCollum said the son of long-time Rockcastle and southern Madison County agriculture agent, Robert F. Spence, is among those names on the wall of the Arizona Memorial which sits ashore the bulk of the sunken battleship at Berth F-7, along Ford Island, in the center of Pearl Harbor. Spence, of course, was the first agent, serving Rockcastle and Madison from 1914 until 1954. His son is one of the last two Kentuckians who were entombed aboard the ship. Another, Ensign Bailey Pride, was from Madisonville. Hopkins County veterans have long since named one of its Veterans of Foreign Wars posts after him. One recent author, Gordon Prange, a late University of Maryland history professor, has identified the Japa-

FHA sets 1,000 as goal in drive

Rockcastle County High Future Homemakers of America have a goal of 1,000 cans of food during a drive that will last until the Christmas break, says club president Cynthia Wolfe. The club will accept donations at any time during the school day, and club members could accept food at home. But, the aim of the drive will be at fellow students. The 1,000-can goal comes out to something like 1.2 cans of food per student at the school. All food collected will be donated to the Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program (REAP), which oversees food donations for those in need on an individual basis.

Northern sets school record as Lady Rockets cruise 90-16

Stephanie Northern is on her way to two of her school-record 31 points in last Thursday's basketball season opener against Oneida Baptist. The Lady Rockets scored a 90-16 win. Northern had 15 field goals. The 90 points and 74-point winning margin are all, or believed to be, school marks for one-game totals.

Williamsburg girls slash Rockcastle girls by 84-55 count

By: Jim Griesch
 Williamsburg beat the Rockcastle Lady Rockets 84-55 Monday night in Williamsburg.
 A 28-4 run in the first quarter virtually assured the win.
 But, the quarter left a comparative question that remains to be explained. What was worse — the Lady Rockets' play or the work of officials Ron Owens and Rufus Fields.
 The Rockcastle girls actually led 2-0 on a Jennifer Thacker jumper 12 seconds into the game.
 They didn't score again until Angie McClure hit a rebound shot at the 2:48 mark. By then, Williamsburg was up 17-4, and the outcome was all but assured.
 The Lady Rockets also could not get the ball up the floor consistently against Williamsburg's 1-2-2 and 1-2-1 zone presses. Sometimes, they got it to halfcourt, only to throw it away.
 Sometimes, they got it into shooting position, only to toss up a wounded duck that either clanked hard, over-shot, or hit the boards without drawing iron.
 They compounded that by being whistled for every sin known to man by Owens and Fields.
 Williamsburg shot 19 free throws the first QUARTER, and hit 16. They were 21 of 29 for the half, and 31 of 43 for the game.
 To put that into some kind of perspective, in the Lady Rockets' home opener last week with Oneida, both teams together shot only 29 foul shots, and hit 24. IN THE ENTIRE GAME.
 To be perfectly honest, Williamsburg would have won the game by at least 15 to 20 points any way. They simply dominated too many areas of the game. They are 4-0, and were ranked fifth in the region in at least one pre-season poll.

 Rockcastle is trying to put together a winning season after a 5-17 effort in 1988-89.
 But, maybe the game would have been competitive with any kind of effort, or proper mechanics on the part of Fields and Owens.
 Here's how bad it was:

1. On the opening jump, neither center tipped it. Instead, Rockcastle's April Burton caught it at her ankles, fought off two or three attempts to take it away from her, and passed it to a teammate.
2. She was still standing in the small center circle when she passed it. The two refs never stopped play to re-toss the opening tip, as the rules say they must.
2. Rockcastle should have shot a one-and-one with 1:50 left in the first quarter, but didn't.
3. It was Williamsburg's fifth foul (at the time, Rockcastle had just six), but a peek at the two score books a moment later showed the Rockcastle book correct, the Williamsburg (and official) book wrong. Williamsburg's Stephanie Rose had committed two fouls, one at the 5:11 mark, one at the 3:22 mark, and one was not marked down in the official book.
4. At the 1:24 mark, on a free throw rebound, McClure was whistled for her third foul.
3. With 1:26 left in the opening quarter, Burton was whistled for her third foul of the game.
4. At the 1:24 mark, on a free throw rebound, McClure was whistled for her third.
5. With 2:43 left in the first half,

By: Jim Griesch
 Stephanie Northern broke the school scoring record with 31 points as the Rockcastle County girls opened the season with a 90-16 smashing of district foe Oneida Baptist last Thursday night.
 The old mark had been 29, by Teresa Sturgill in the 1983-84 season, her senior year.
 Coach Judy Bullock said the points in a game and the winning margin may be school records. At least, they are the most in her 13 years with the program, as an assistant or head coach.
 Northern also set a one-game mark with 15 field goals.
 Additionally, Northern had 13 steals, the Lady Rockets 39, and both may also be one-game records.
 The opener was never in doubt, as the Lady Rockets jumped their lead past 10 points; at 13-2 with 2:16 left in the first quarter.
 The lead was at 20, 27-7, with 5:43 left in the first half. The basket came on one of four straight steals by sophomore guard Jennifer Thacker. She stole the ball at 1:11 on a driving layup. On the out-of-bounds play, she stole the pass and hit from the left baseline for a 29-7 lead, and the beat continued. Thacker wound up with 19 points, giving each of the two Lady Rockets guards more points than Oneida.
 The lead was at 31 with 1:10 left in the first half, coming on one of Northern's steals and shots. This one she hit the last 10, coupled with a shot from the left baseline out of the offense.

 While the Lady Rockets poured in baskets as fast as the human eye could keep up with them, Oneida went the opposite direction.
 Rockcastle went on a 32-0 run during an 8:59 stretch that lasted from the 0:46 mark of the third.
 With 1:46 left Carlene Kirkpatrick hit a rebound shot for the Lady Mountaineers.
 Their next basket came on another rebound effort, by Jennifer White, with 0:46 left in the third.
 During that stretch, Northern scored 14 of her record 31. Thacker had four and an assist.
 But, after White's rebound, Amy McClure hit from the right side with just three seconds left in the third quarter, giving Oneida two field

Rockcastle 'Lions' devour Christian 86-50

By: Jim Griesch
 The Rockcastle County Rockets became the Lions Tuesday night, and devoured Lexington Christian 86-50, for the Rockets' first win of the 1989-90 basketball season.
 The game was never in doubt after a 12-point spurt late in the first quarter.
 A three-point play by Matt Preston cut the score to 9-7, Rockcastle, with 4:08 left in the quarter.
 But, six field goals in just 2:19 sealed the outcome.
 William Bullens began the streak with a steal and driving lay-up.
 In short order, Steve Clark drilled a jumper from close-in on the right side, then swished a jumper off the right side. Bullen got two foul shots, and David Sargent scored on another driving shot.
 Suddenly, the score was 21-7, and Lexington Christian never got closer than 14 again.
 In fact, Rockcastle steadily widened the margin the rest of the half, finally pushing the margin past 20 inside the final 30 seconds of the second quarter.
 Sargent hit a driving shot with 25 seconds left to push the margin to 21, at 39-18. Bullens added a 41-rebound shot with two seconds left for a 41-18 cushion at the half.
 Clark led all scorers in the game with 15 points. Bullens came off the bench to score 14, while Phillips had 13 and another sub, Timmy Cottrell, had 10.

 Two more Rockets, Sargent and Darren Smith, wound up with eight points as 10 Rockcastle players worked their way into the scoring columns.
 Overall, the Rockets hit 38 of 72, for 52.8 percent. However, the team was 18 of 28 from three-point range, and the overall shooting percentage was 47.5 percent.
 That effort was helped by a low total of just seven turnovers.
 Smith had 14 of the team's 48 rebounds, and Thacker had four steals.
 Preston, who is Christian's point guard, was assisty their best play.
 If Preston can break down the other team's defense, Christian has a chance to score.
 But, if Preston is stopped high, the other team takes the upper hand.
 Christian, most of the upper hands belonged to Rockcastle.
 Even with legendary coach Tommy Starnes (a veteran of almost 30 years of high school coaching in Kentucky) Lexington Christian, now 2-3 on the season, gives away a lot of talent to most teams on their schedule.
 Christian plays in an academy league in Lexington, and against many similar schools in Louisville.
 By the first minute of the final quarter, the Rockets had their biggest lead of the night, 39 points at 71-32 on a pair of Phillips foul shots.
 Rockcastle had led by 30 or more since the 2:08 mark of the third period.

Cox, Hamilton honored at Centre; Hines by AP

Honors for three county football players have rolled in over the past few days.
 Two former Rockcastle County High players were honored recently at Centre College's football banquet.
 Defensive tackle Doug Cox was named one of the two most improved players.
 Cox, starting all year, jumped some 77 points in an evaluation system used by the Colonels' coaches. He scored 119 points in 1989, against 42 in 1988.
 He had 15 first-hit tackles this past season, 32 assists, and 11 sacks and tackles for losses. He also had three fumbles recoveries and three blocked passes.
 In 1988, he had 12 first hits, seven assists, one sack, and one recovery and one batted down pass.
 The 1989 football honorees include (at left, top to bottom) ex-Rockcastle County High Rockets Doug Cox and Mike Hamilton, and RCHS junior Scotty Hines. Cox was one of two most-improved players at Centre College this year, starting at defensive tackle. Hamilton was one of three who were most valuable special team players. Hamilton kicked off some times, and played four different offensive line positions. Hines is a 1989 Associated Press honorable mention all-stater.

His 119 points tied him for seventh on the whole team this year, and he was 14th in 1988.
 Hamilton was named one of three most valuable special teams players. He had five tackles on kick-offs, two first hits, three assists.
 Plus, Centre's kick-off coverage improved noticeably after Hamilton requested to play on special teams a few games into the season, said Centre's assistant sports information director James Gay.
 Hamilton kicked off sometimes, and also played four different positions along the offensive line. He was in at center, both left and right tackle, and at tight end this past season, when Centre went 8-1, won the College Athletic Conference, and finished sixth in the South among all Division III schools.
 Both Cox and Hamilton are juniors, and are expected to play even next year.
 Scotty Hines, a Rockcastle County High junior two-way tackle, earned all-state honorable mention honors in the 1989 Associated Press team.
 He was noticed for his defensive line play.
 He is an honorable mention status, a player must receive at least one vote from among sports writers and broadcasters who contribute to the wire service's poll.
 The poll this year was open only to people working for a paper or radio or TV station using Associated Press services.

 In other years, a hand-picked number of non-member voters had been used.
 Last year, Kevin Rowe received similar mention, but was not on the 1989 list.
 Hines was voted most valuable offensive and defensive lineman this year, and set a coach Tom Larkey-era record for quarterback sacks this year, with six. He also tied a coaching era record with a blocked punt (against Harlan).
 Hines had 67 tackles and three fumble recoveries in 1989, too.
 The Rockets faced two second-team all-state defensive team players this past season.
 Voted to the second team were nose guard David Lickliter of Lynn Camp and linebacker Billy Jenkins of Bell County.
 Nine others who made honorable mention were also on the schedule.
 In that list were: Daryl Bowman, the big end at Whitley County, and Derrick Smith and quarterback Jimmy Smith of McCreary County; quarterback Allen Mitchell and running back Jerry Pruitt of Lyon Camp; running back Herman Burnett and kicker Greg Dean of Bell County; and running back Rodney Stevens and deep back Chris Lambdin of Pulaski County.

Brodhead 8-0 after 62-56 win

Roundstone beat Science Hill last week, but Brodhead tipped the Eagles at Roundstone Monday, 62-56, to maintain an unblemished record at 8-0 heading into the pre-Christmas games of December.

In another Monday all-county clash, Mt. Vernon thrashed Livingston 56-12. Those were "A" game scores.

The Roundstone effort with Brodhead was significantly different than the last meeting between the two schools, when Brodhead won the county tournament title 51-30, in mid-November.

The difference may have come as early as the second quarter. Roundstone could muster just eight points in that span, after leading 18-0 after the first period.

The second half was a virtual standstill, with Brodhead holding a 32-30 advantage the second half.

Jason Scoggins of Brodhead got 24 to lead all scorers. He picked up 10 on five field goals in the third quarter, going one-on-one front court after taking job passes over the Round-stone zone press. Michael Shaffer was the only other Tiger in double figures. He had 12.

Those two were enough to offset the three-pronged offense of the Eagles. Shawn Thacker had 17, Shane Thacker 13, and Billy Fowler 10 for Roundstone.

In the 70-38 win at Science Hill on November 30, Marvin McCollum had 22 for the Eagles, with Fowler and Shawn Thacker each adding 16.

Roundstone was up 34-21 after a half, and completely locked up the game with a 19-5 run in the third quarter, putting the score to 59-26.

Jason Fletcher scored 22 for Mt. Vernon Monday, leading the Red Devils to a 56-12 win over the Blue Devils at Livingston. Brian Carter added 10 points for Mt. Vernon.

It was just 6-2 after one quarter, but the Red team put together a 15-0 second quarter to take the game in hand.

A 22-4 third quarter decided the outcome.

In "B" games, the best of the three had to be Brodhead's 42-35 overtime win at Roundstone. The Tigers outscored the Eagles 11-4 in the extra frame, after being tied at 31-all at the end of regulation.

Eddie Todd had 14 for Roundstone, Corey Scott 12 for Brodhead. Roundstone did get a 48-44 win at Science Hill.

Bobby Miller had a big night, 20 points, in the win. Todd added 12. Mt. Vernon beat Livingston 48-9 as Kenshah Hopkins scored 15 points.

DEER SEASON

Clarence Owens (above) killed this 12-point buck on Nov. 19 in Rockcastle County. He field dressed it at 165 pounds. He also got a doe in Hopkins County, in Western Kentucky, during the current season. (Below) Harold Griffin (left) and Tiny Bostic got this nine-point deer the last day of deer season in the Roundstone area. They field dressed it at 128 pounds.

JV boys take out Lexington Christian 50-27

The Rockcastle County JV's doubled the score at the end of the first half Tuesday, at 26-13, and cruised to a 50-27 win over Lexington Christian.

Michah Parkerson was the leading scorer, but with just nine, as 10 players got into the scoring column. Parkerson's total was good enough to lead all scorers in the game.

The young Rockets were up 10-4 after a quarter, then by 40-17 after three. The two teams played on even terms, 10-all, the final quarter.

The Rockcastle freshmen dropped to 0-2 on the year with a 34-29 loss Monday to Richmond Model.

Coach Jeff Burdette blamed the loss on 22 percent field goal shooting.

The two schools were to have played another game on Nov. 30, but the game has been rescheduled for Dec. 13.

That will give the Rockets four games in four days. Rockcastle will play Corbin at Karla Bullock goes up strong for a shot in heavy traffic in the lane during the Lady Rockets' season-opening 90-16 win over Oneida Baptist. The score is believed to be the widest margin of win ever for the Rockcastle girls. Bullock played a key role off the bench, adding rebounding and inside scoring in the game.

Oneida game

Sub Karla Bullock scored 11 points. Starter April Burton had 10. Nine players in all registered points. The final five came in the last 1:58 of play, as sophomores, freshmen and eighth graders did all the playing. Eighth grader Cindy McCauley scored from inside the lane with 1:42 left to make it 87-16, and Beth Amyx hit a layup of nice feed from Christy Coleman at the 0:27 mark, for an 89-16 lead. Amyx scored a foul shot with six seconds to go for the final margin, 74 points. Burton led all rebounders with seven, and the Lady Rockets committed just nine turnovers.

The Lady Rockets get a break this Thursday night, when Lincoln County of the 12th Region comes to town. Maggie Cox, a 6-0 senior center who earned some all-state, all-regional recognition last year, isn't expected to play because of a leg injury. She reportedly suffered a knee injury recently, and isn't expected to play until the 1990 portion of the Lady Patriots schedule.

Two Rockcastle players are wearing black mourning bands on their uniforms this year. Bullock is wearing the band in honor of Dana Durham, who was killed last month in an auto accident in London. "We were friends for a long time," she explained. David Sargent, a guard on the boys team, is wearing a black band in honor of his grandfather, Raymond Sargent, who passed away earlier this fall.

McCauley leads

JVs to 48-11 win
Cindy McCauley, an eighth grader just two weeks removed from her junior high season, poured in 18 points to lead the Rockcastle JVs to an easy 48-11 win over Oneida Baptist in the RCHS season opener. Rockcastle led 11-1 after one quarter, and 25-7 at the half, and was never seriously threatened the rest of the way. A 13-0 run over the span of the third quarter insured the win. Tiffany Carter and Danetta Ford each scored nine to lend more than enough scoring support to McCauley. Christy Coleman added eight.

Cold second quarter dooms JVs at W-burg

The Rockcastle JV girls dropped to 1-1 on the year, just like the varsity Monday at Williamsburg. They lost 27-22. The young Lady Rockets carried a 9-8 lead into the second quarter, but fell behind 15-11 at the half, thanks to a one-field goal period the second six minutes. Tiffany Carter led all scorers in the game with seven points, including her second three-point field goal of the JV season. Christy Coleman had six to support her. Melissa Thomas and Susan Gilreath each had six for Williamsburg, followed closely by the best player on the floor in the game, point guard Chastity Perkins, with five.

Brodhead's Mike Brown shows off an 8-point buck and a doe he killed on the opening day of the deer gun season. Two in one day is a big haul for any hunter.

Rockets

As late as the 3:30 mark, it looked as if Rockcastle would double the score on Christian.

But, sub guard Shane Jennings drilled three three-point field goals over the last 3:23 to close Christian to within the final margin.

His last basket was the final one of the game, with 10 seconds left. Rockcastle coach David Perkins was happy to be able to play his bench.

They provided 36 points, exactly the final margin. Christian played the Rockcastle starters even, 50-all.

Sub David Eaton provided the scariest play of the night. He was going in open after a steal. But, just as he went up for the shot, his right leg knotted into a charley horse.

He stumbled through the shot and fell against the front of the stage. It looked as if he had hyper-extended his knee, and had to crawl off the floor.

However, he was back in the game later, none the worse for wear.

Perhaps the most artistic play came from another sub, Mike "Cheeseburger" (that's what his teammates called him after the game, because of his penchant for one of America's favorite tastes) Smith.

He grabbed a rebound along the left baseline late in the game.

After dribbling under the basket only to find the way cutoff by two defenders, he went airborne, then back over his head with a reverse layup in traffic.

It wasn't the game breaker, since it merely moved the score to 84-47, but it was a heads up play.

The victory also enabled the Rockets to get into a fast flowing game.

They moved up and down the court freely, taking early shots if they were open, but hitting the open man often enough to keep everybody awake and looking for the ball.

The Rockets will try to move to 2-1 on the young season with a Homecoming win over Rose Hill Academy of Ashland this Friday.

The Rockets have a chance to be 4-1 before Christmas. They are off until traveling to Estill County next Friday, Dec. 15.

"Sweet and Sour"

By Zi Graves

These pretty fall days can't go on forever when we live in Kentucky where there are definitely four seasons. So I guess it's time to change gears and get our oil changed and prepare for the cold days ahead. They don't have to be cold dreary days, just cold. Thanksgiving day seems to be the day of awakening for the season ahead, so, I'm awake.

Now when we take a brisk walk through the woodlands or just a jog down the road we no longer look out for snakes and spiders and such but keep our eyes open for pretty greenery to spruce our houses up for our next big season. So now we know autumn belongs in the past. And we dig out our sweaters and long handles for the days ahead.

When we see big trucks loaded with tobacco slowing traffic down and when we see gaping barn doors open to the black depths within them when just a few weeks ago we could see bulging golden leaves filling each crevice we know for a fact the harvest is past.

We seldom ever see a scene that was so common a few years ago of families gathered close to a barn door with a big fire roaring close by and grading tables set up close enough so one could warm their numb fingers without taking too much of a break. Those were the days farmers took pride in their work and taught their children pride in a job well done. Many of those grading boards had room for 7 grades and most of them had at least 5. And it took skill to separate the tobacco on the stalk and put the correct grade where it belonged. And woe be unto the person who mixed the grades. Then the tobacco was tied into what was called bands. Again pride was taken in who could be the nearest hands. That was usually a woman's job.

Each grade was put on a marked stick so there would be no accidental mixing of the grades. I still have a few hand whitened sticks with the notches still evident on them. This was hard and exacting work but most of us made fun of it when we tried to see who could do the most hands in a day, or the nearest hands. The warehouses supported our efforts too. Each grade was questioned separately and a different price was paid for each. Farmers would go from crop to crop in the warehouse commenting on the quality of both the tobacco and the work. There was a kind of festive atmosphere around the warehouses as I remember them.

Almost every farmer and wife went to see their tobacco sell. Of course everyone wanted top price whether their tobacco was top quality or not. And there were ways of course, as in all things, that occasionally someone could get the buyers to raise their prices. One trick was to dress a baby real cute and put it on top of their crop. That was a way of saying "we are a young family and need help." Another was, the old women of the family would dress in 2 or 3 layers of clothes, a big heavy coat, stock cap pulled close over the head and some big over shoes on over their regular shoes. (You see it is really cold in an open warehouse) and they would stand there and beg for help but you can see I'm working for it.

One of my very attractive young friends once raised a crop of tobacco and it failed pitifully but she got almost top price by her ability to flirt with the buyers.

So life goes on regardless of how we attain the results.

Now the changing times have brought new attitudes as well as new ways of doing things around the farm. Tobacco is planted by machine, sprayed by machinery and when stripping time comes that is just what it is. It is stripped by the hands full from the stalk and either put in a box as it is to be baled or run onto a burlap sheet to be tied. Then it's ready for market. There is no need for skill here. This kind of work reminds me of the factories I've worked in where I've been told repeatedly it's quantity that is expected not quality.

Now I understand the tobacco issues of today and tobacco itself are not my concern. My concern is the lack of pride in doing a job well. It is disappearing. I not only saw it in the stumpy baskets or bales of tobacco in the warehouse last week I see it in every day farming and living.

I see it in fields half tilled. I see it in fences half built. In buildings so out of square the windows are all loose. I see it in the trash beside the highways and in brand new merchandise coming straight from the factories. What has happened to the pride we once had? It must have gone out with the horse and buggy and sweat.

I'd like to see the pendulum of time begin its backward swing to a time when excellence was respected and expected of people. Even children were given a pat on the back for bringing home good grades and a pat on the behind if they didn't.

When a boy could plow a straight deep furrow the length of a field he was considered a man. And when a girl could make her own clothes and bake a cake (from scratch) fit for company she may as well start looking for a beau for she was about ready for marriage. We weren't judged by how many crimps we had in our hair nor by how tight our jeans were, but how slick we could trim the clothes and how well we could shine the windows.

Now, for sure I'm not wanting to go back to good ol' days. God forbid, when the sheets and pillow cases had to be rubbed on the board and ironed as well as the clothes we wore. Then all the other chores that were always in need of doing, hub-hub. I would like to see the hands that grade that old fashioned tobacco crop, the girl that baked the prize winning cake lead us into an era of time when we can again look the world in the face with pride and products that top the list in quality.

We, the people of the USA and especially in Kentucky should not have to look up to anyone for quality. Our country was built on it. Who brought us to the place where we must grovel to some little south sea island to buy sweaters or clothes of any kind, that half the time doesn't fit, when our own mills are silent and unemployment lines are endless. Why must I drive a Toyota when only a few years back Ford and Chevy put out the best cars in the world. Just when did we begin to allow the bureaucrats to tell us that quantity was more important than our welfare? It was when quality took the back seat in quantity and from that time we began going abroad for our merchandise and then our social services become over loaded with people out of work. Of course the profits of the bureaucrats increased as they went abroad for their workers.

Good workmanship and pride go hand in hand to create quality and quality merchandise is in demand. Maybe not the tobacco that triggered my thoughts, but products that all of us use. We must train our children, our work forces of tomorrow, our leaders of tomorrow that to enjoy work doing is working well. And it is not bad etiquette to question quality and price when one is purchasing anything. Somewhere someone must start the pendulum of time on its return swing to a time of quality so we can stand tall again and say with pride, this was made in the USA.

Pesticide Certification Meeting by Tom Mills

Farmers purchasing restricted use pesticides are required to update their cards every 5 years. Those card holders with the serial number ending in 89 will need to attend a recertification meeting to keep their card current.

Methyl bromide was recently added to the restricted use list. This is probably the most used restricted use pesticide in Rockcastle. With tobacco bud gassing season just a few months away, farmers need to plan to be recertified soon. To assist with the certification, the Cooperative Extension Service will conduct recertification training on Thursday, December 14, 1989 at 7 p.m. in the Agriculture Service Center Meeting Room.

Parenting For An Enjoyable Christmas

This time of year the magazines are filled with pictures of clean, beautifully dressed, calm, smiling children happily playing with their Christmas toys.

That may be one reason why parents become frustrated or even angry when their children fuss, whine or misbehave during holiday celebrations.

Young children will respond differently to Christmas activities depending on their age.

Parents can save themselves a lot of grief by knowing what is normal and predictable behavior from young children and planning their family activities accordingly.

Babies under 12 months can easily feel overwhelmed by too many toys, relatives or foods. Give the baby plenty of rest and time alone with you.

toddlers will be lovable and cute, but not too involved in Christmas. Some toddlers will be fearful of strangers, including visiting relatives. Child-proof your Christmas decorations, since toddlers will want to touch hot lights, pull on electrical cords and handle decorations that arouse their curiosity.

Two-year-olds will be excited about the lights and decorations. They can't anticipate, so they can't wait to open gifts or eat the cookies and they may throw tantrums to prove it. Two-year-olds are also likely to play with the box as the toy inside and since they don't share well yet, they will often hit and grab toys.

Three-year-olds will love gifts, both the box and the gift inside. They're more likely to have a sunny disposition on Christmas and be able to play with other children, so getting together with relatives may be easier. However, parents will still want to limit the extent of activities. Any three-year-old who has been too excited for too long is capable of fighting and acting out.

Four-year-olds can remember well and anticipate activities. They love the holidays, including parties and events, especially if they're not too long. They can participate in decorating and other simple projects in advance of Christmas. In general they

"Golden Tree" by Ada Bullock

Oh golden tree so beautiful
It's time to shed your leaves
And as they clutter on the ground
Many people you displease.

For raking time is here again
With many bags to fill
And as we do this yearly chore
We seldom get a thrill.

We all sigh with much relief
When at last this work is done
No more fuss about the leaves
Until next year comes.

Are you an active member?
The kind that would be missed
Or are you just contented
That your name is on the list?

Do you attend the meetings
And mingle with the flock?
Or do you stay away from them
And criticize and knock?

Do you take an active part
To help the work along?
Or are you satisfied to be
The kind who just belongs?

should get along with visiting relatives, but may sometimes be rude when tired.

-five-year-olds will show marked improvement in behavior because they are beginning to set their own limits. This is an ideal year to read about Christmas to them. Since they like to help and do things alone, it's also a good year for projects. This may be the first year for really liking Santa.

Whenever a child is developmentally, parents should try to enjoy that stage and let it help determine family activities at holiday time.
