Great Performances presents "Nureyev's Cinderella" Friday, December 29 at 10 p.m.

As part of its holiday programming, KET will air Great Performances' "Nureyev's Cinderella" at 10 p.m. Friday, December 29. The two-and-one-half hour Cinderella production by the Paris Opera Ballet has Rudolf Nureyev both as choreographer and a very different kind of Fairy Godmother. Sylvie Guillem dances the title role to Prokofiev's score; Charles Jude is the dashing prince, transformed for this version into a handsome movie star in 1930s Hollywood. Images of former Hollywood stars and Hollywood spectaculars are evoked in this opulent production costumed by Japanese couturier Hange Mori. However, "Nureyev's Cinderella" is still the story of a young girl, ridiculed by her stepisters and stepmother, who longs to leave her cinders and ashes for a better life.

New group to recruit industry

By: Richard Anderkin

In an effort to attract new industry to Rockcastle County, a group of local men have joined to form "Citizens for Growth."

The latest efforts to help gain jobs for Rockcastle was initiated by Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer, who said Tuesday, that gaining new jobs for Rockcastle County was the key to economic success, which in turn would lead to better schools and a better standard of living for local citizens.

The group's efforts are being funded by a $15,000 stipend from the Mt. Vernon City Council, which voted a few months ago at Cromer's request to approve the expenditure from development funds provided when Mt. Vernon Plastics repaid a $200,000 loan to the city.

Those funds can only be used to attract new industry or be loaned to

Robinson gets new trial date

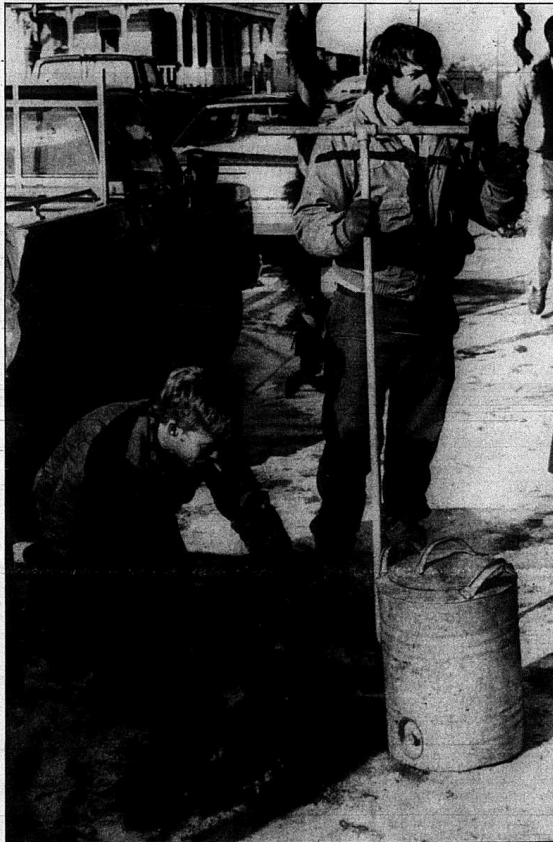

The murder trial of Kenneth Wayne Robinson, the accused gunman in the robbery-shooting of Alma Jean Brown at her store last year at Dog Walk, will be in Lincoln County, Circuit Judge Robert Jackson denied a move by Robinson's attorney to have the trial moved to another county to insure fairness.

The attorney argued that pretrial publicity about the case, which included the fact that Robinson confessed, made it impossible to find an impartial jury.

Jackson looked over news stories concerning the case and decided that a fair trial would be possible in Lincoln County.

The trial had been set for later this month but has now been rescheduled for Jan. 22.

Robinson, 18, and his older brother, Steven Dale Robinson, are accused of robbing then killing Mrs. Brown at Don's Country Market in Dog Walk last year. The older Robinson will have a separate trial.

Frozen water meters plagued Mt. Vernon city employees over the past few days. Clell Swinney, left, and Dennis McClure work on a meter on Main Street where several were reported frozen.

Sub-zero cold causes havoc for residents

By Ray McClure

Below zero temperatures took a toll on Rockcastle residents as well as city and county water department employees during the past week.

With added snow, some sleet and some freezing rain, roads were slick and pedestrians were cautioned to watch their step.

But it was the frozen water lines and water meters that were most worrisome to city employees and other area employees over the entire county.

Matt Powell, Jr., water and street superintendent at Mt. Vernon, estimated between 400 and 500 water meters were out of commission caused by three consecutive nights of subzero temperatures.

"We're doing what we can to get service lines and meters operating again," Powell said. "But it's slow."

Thawing out frozen lines can be a long and tedious job unless there are much warmer temperatures to reappear, something the National Weather Service has predicted for Friday and Saturday.

Powell estimated 20 to 30 service lines were frozen on Tuesday morning. Service lines are those that are mostly under streets and roads.

"The cold penetrates roads and streets and we have a bunch of them," Powell said. He added that residents sometimes think that water lines to and under their houses are frozen when actually it is the service lines running under the street.

He said there were a few "small lines" in the area that were frozen Tuesday.

He explained that underground water lines freeze for many reasons, including type of soil, the location, depth of lines, and especially where lines are in rocky areas.

"Rocky ground is more likely to freeze lines than other types of soil," Powell stated. He noted that his department will do all that can be done to remedy the problems as soon as possible.

It's the figures that tell the story. On three mornings, Cox Funeral Home Weather Station reported subzero temperatures. It was 16 below on Dec. 22. On Dec. 23, it was 11 below and 18 below on Dec. 24. It was also 3 below zero on Dec. 16.

Other areas of the county could have had lower temperatures. One city resident had 20 below on Dec. 22 and 18 below on Dec. 23. It often depends on the elevation of the property. Houses on lower ground often have lower temperatures.

Since the subzero temperatures continued for three days with only slight warming on Dec. 26, water lines and meters were subject of freezing unless covered even with warming. Gradually the cold penetrated deeper into the ground.

Even Main Street in Mt. Vernon had water problems with some water meters to businesses frozen. "It's been pretty widespread, probably everywhere in the county," one city employee stated. "Everywhere we look or go we find a frozen meter."

Speaking of snow, which acts as an insulator against cold temperatures, there has been a total of 8.5 inches of snow through Dec. 27 with the most falling on Dec. 8, 16 and 26. The area got additional snow Wednesday morning. As of 9:30 a.m. more than an inch had fallen. There was a high temperature in December. It was 63 on Dec. 7.

Sheriff's hours

The sheriff's office will be open Friday and Saturday until noon, according to Sheriff Clarence Hasty.

The office will be closed Jan. 1. Persons are reminded that a 2 percent penalty on property taxes goes into effect Jan. 1, Hasty reported.

Dear Editor,

The anti-gun movement relies heavily on emotionalism and ignorance. Its strategy is carefully aimed to capitalize on favorable news events. When Patrick Purdy fired an AK-47 type rifle into a crowd of children in Stockton, Calif., killing five and wounding 30, the rifle itself, not Purdy, was blamed for the incident. Yet when Larry Mahoney killed 27 people on a bus, he was blamed and held completely responsible. His truck was not blamed for what happened. If it's not assault rifles, it's Saturday night specials, cop killer bullets or whatever other convenient creations serve the gun control radical's goals. In the end they want them all.

One of America's greatest congressmen, Larry McDonald, wrote that federal and state governments have no more right to legislate gun control than they have a right to legislate speech control or religion control or press control.

The Second Amendment does not "grant" the right to keep and bear arms but protect it from usurpation, declaring: "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." Note that the Amendment doesn't say this right may not be abolished. It goes farther. It says it may not even be infringed. That is, this right is so important it may be tampered with, or trespassed upon, or transgressed, or chiseled away by any method or means Washington might devise. The Constitution is unequivocal on this point.

When a representative introduces gun control legislation or votes for it, he is not only violating the Constitution, but also his oath to uphold the Constitution. The Second Amendment was written not only to protect us from foreign enemies and criminals, but to give us the wherewithal to throw off a tyrannical government when it gets out of hand.

When a government starts wanting gun control, the people should start wondering what that government is wanting to do to them. Why would the government want gun control laws, especially when you consider the fact that they have never worked and are not going to work? Gun control laws are a great scapegoat for legislators' inability to do things about the real problems.

When any part of the Constitution is violated, you are opening the door for other violations. The Fourth Amendment says that we are protected against unreasonable searches and seizures. With gun control, how is it going to be enforced without the adoption of Gestapo-like measures, such as house-to-house searches. If one part of the Constitution can be violated, what is to keep it all from being violated?

If there's any banning to be done, let's ban assault politicians, men who tear at our Constitution and destroy our rights.

Dear Editor,

What's for 1990? World peace or world holocaust? These last few days in December, it's beginning to look like Christmas. Yes, maybe world peace. If so, the first in my life time. In fact the first I heard about since Columbus courageously brought over the pilgrims. That began with fighting the American Indians.

Kaiser Wilhelm set up a bon-fire. Hitler came along, set up a bomb-fire, United States was forced to douse that one with an atomic bomb, after many years of tragic killings.

Now this panamanian maniac pulls off a fool stunt to cause the United States to be known to knock him off his roof. We, all suffer loss of our dear brave soldiers.

I beg for the world to stand peacefully for, at least one more decade: May God help us to give thanks with great humility this Christmas. <To enjoy freedom in the wonderful United States. For freedom in all manner of constructive living and love our neighbors.

I, especially thank God for the freedom of speech. The assets for all of us are all too numerous to write here. I doubt if we can give thanks adequately, for all our blessings at Christmas time and the new year from which we all expect so much.

Dear Editor,

Do gun control laws control crime or promote crime? Boston, New York and Washington held the nation in violent crime, and those cities happen to have three of the strictest gun control laws. Did these laws just unarm the law-abiding citizen and promote crime?

Ted Bundy, who confessed to the brutal murders of 23 young women and is believed to have killed a dozen more, told Dr. James Dobson before he was executed that he grew up in a Christian home. He started on soft core pornography books at the local grocery store and then went on to hard core. He said he had lived in prison a long time and had met a lot of men who were motivated to commit violent crimes just like he did, and he wanted Dobson to know that without exception every one of them were involved deeply in pornography.

When judges and organizations like the A.C.L.U. call pornography freedom of speech and protect the pornography industry, they are nothing more than crime promoters. Most crime promoters are also for gun control.

Switzerland has a total availability of guns and virtually no armed crime. Why is this? Their government doesn't promote crime or have judges and organizations misinterpreting their laws. Why is there crime promotion in this country? Could it be that a certain group would like to see crime get so out of hand that the people would be more willing to accept gun control?

Only about 5 percent of the Russians are Communists. How could 5 percent control the rest? They have all the guns. When Hitler started out he only wanted one type of gun controlled. When he got them he wanted another kind. Hitler was a liberal, and he used about the same lies our liberals use today.

There has been so much said about Patrick Purdy, the schoolyard killer. I would like to know why he picked the school he once attended to commit his murders and also why there is so much violence in the government schools. Could government involvement in education be causing this?

After the 1968 gun control acts the largest gun stealing wave hit this country that had ever been known. Guns were stolen from dealers' stocks, from military and police authorities and government arsenals. On July 4, 1974, a National Guard armory in Compton, Calif., was broken into and an arsenal of machine guns, rifles, and grenade launchers was stolen. It was believed a terrorist group stole them.

We have more militant and terrorist groups in the United States than has ever been known. They are steadily growing. Some have come over the Mexican border. Many are Cubans, Syrians, and Lebanese. They

Things are not always the way they seem. And most definitely people are not always guilty as charged. After a friend's experience a couple of weeks ago I am sure that it is a good thing we have judges, juries and the advantage of being entitled to a fair trial by an impartial jury of our peers.

I mean, I am the one that wrote in this space sometime back that it might be better that one innocent man be punished in order to get all the guilty ones, but I may have been terribly wrong about that opinion. Coming home from work a short time back, a friend was stopped by a Kentucky State Trooper from another county and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

My friend had not been drinking and was not speeding, he did swear a little bit to avoid the trooper, who was driving his car at a high rate of speed in the passing lane, but there was no beer cans or whiskey bottles in his vehicle. No evidence of drunk driving.

But, after my friend, who had been standing on his feet all day, stumbled while taking a field sobriety test, he was charged with D.U.I., frisked and placed behind the cage of the cruiser in the back seat and carted off to jail.

His vehicle was towed in. After arriving at the jail he was given a breathalyzer test at his request which gave a reading of 0.00.

No reading. At that time the trooper wrote on his ticket that my friend was swerving, driving about 50 mph in the fast lane and had a strong odor of alcohol.

In fact he was trying to cover his tracks for a mistake he made. Because my friend was driving about 60 mph and did not smell like alcohol. He may have swerved, but it was because he was trying to get out of the way of the trooper who was on his way to northern Kentucky to pick up a prisoner.

It cost my friend very little monetarily because the wrecker service people knew the circumstances and did not charge him the regular fee, for something he could not help. But it did cost him the humiliation of going to jail, of being charged with D.U.I. and of having to return to court and miss a day of work, all because and over zealous trooper did not use good judgement or common sense.

I know situations like this will occur from time to time, but I wonder how often innocent people are exploited, I wonder how often bad judgement occurs and I wonder how many times hard working citizens are needlessly harassed.

So the next time you hear that someone is charged with something, take it as it is, a charge. Because certainly not everyone is guilty, not by a long shot.

A few paragraphs on a subject that many folks think is absurd, but what will happen to today's young when they have to make it on their own.

It is a subject that should be thought about and talked about and it is something that concerns me very much.

Like most other parents these days, Cindy and I and about four grandparents think that we have to protect our children with everything that everyone else has, no matter the cost, we are of the opinion that they will be warped if they don't have it. But what happens when these kids do have to make it on their own, when Mom and Dad aren't there to make sure that little Johnny has a pocket full of money or that no one takes advantage of little Johnny, that no one tries to discipline him or even talk to him in a wrong tone. What then.

I know what many of you are thinking, this guy has lost what little sense I gave him credit for. But think about it.

I mean, it is fact. I have had the opportunity or actually the displeasure of trying to work with teenagers these days and it is very simply a trying experience.

For one thing, they think they should make as much money as the president of IBM and they think they should only work when they want too. I mean really, you can't expect them to make any type of sacrifice. And the sad part is that most of their parents agree with them. And I'm sure that yours truly will do the same, if society's views don't change.

Being the oldest of five initially and then seven I can certainly tell the difference of the attitude of, say myself of course, about working and the younger generation. I don't mean to make a sweeping indictment but I get the impression that the largest majority of the latest generation feels like everybody owes them something. I hope I'm wrong, but then again I don't think I am. Many of these kids need an attitude adjustment and we parents are to blame for the most part.

ramblings... by: perlina m. anderkin

When Jim, Rick, Jamie and I moved here in January of 1966, the weather was about what it is now and looking outside today made me start reminiscing.

Rick was 4, Jamie had just turned 2, I was expecting Jane and never mind how old Jim and I were. I was scared. We had left the security of two good jobs in Versailles, where I had been born and raised and fully expected to spend the rest of my life, to tackle the unknown. (If I had known had many children I would wind up with 24 years later I would probably have been more scared.)

I was not real satisfied the first six months or so we were here. Of course, the work load was tremendous since we couldn't afford to hire help Jim and I bore the brunt and, to hear Rick tell it now, he took on his share within a year or two of our arrival.

But, the years have passed -- too quickly. I might add -- and this is home. It is the only home the children have known and they can't imagine living anywhere else. Neither can I actually. You tend to become so insulated in a community this size. It's as though outside events are of no importance whatsoever to you. I can recall that it was several years after Robert Kennedy's assassination that one day I realized the event had passed practically unnoticed on my part because I had my mind on more important things' things centered right around my home and heard and Rockcastle Co. and if an event did not affect me directly and very personally, I did not have time for it. With a deadline to meet each week, time really flies in this business and I was determined after the birth of Allison four years ago to take more time to stop and "smell the roses."

I managed to do this for a while but you soon find yourself back in the same old grind. One of the most important things I tend to let slip by is the taking of time to count my blessings instead of complaining about life's shortcomings. Our blessings have been many. Our children are healthy, we have three beautiful grandchildren, we have suffered few major losses in our immediate family, none tragically, and we are a close family -- too close, I think occasionally when we're all together and the noise level reaches the danger zone.

But New Year's is a time for making resolutions and attempting to keep them and that is the one on the top of my list this year. To count my blessings daily and not to concern myself with what I don't have because in the final analysis, if you have health, family, friends, food and shelter, anything else is just gravy. I am thankful, and I want you to know it, for your support of the Signal during the past 24 years. It has been wonderful with many highs and very few lows and, in retrospect, I can't think of much else I would have rather done.

I really didn't mean to get all nostalgic this week, it just sort of came out as I sat down at the computer but I do want to sincerely wish each of you the happiest of New Year's as we begin the last decade of this century. Let's try to make it the best one yet.

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMICS

After Christmas Sales Are Often Tempting

By Cheryl Witt
County Extension Agent for Home Economics

After Christmas sales are often irresistible to consumers armed with credit cards, gift certificates or cash left over from the holidays. And whether after Christmas shopping is wise or wasteful will depend on how consumers react to these kinds of enticing come-ons.

Shoppers should recognize the reason for after Christmas sales: to dispose of old stock before the next inventory is taken. Secondly, it is wise to remember that the store's reduction in prices usually reflects how successful its holiday season has been. "If most of the stock was slow, then the store will probably be offering some real bargains."

Clothing and seasonal items, such as Christmas decorations, usually carry the greatest price reductions. Some stores, however, supplement their merchandise with other stock brought in especially for the sale. This supplemental stock usually does not offer as much of a savings.

Occasionally, stores also offer "close-out" sales. This means that for some reason the merchandise will not continue to be sold. Items could have been overpriced, poorly designed or not used by most store customers.

If the close-out is due to a change in design, for example, it may offer a good buy. But beware of poor product quality.

Other guidelines to getting real bargains at after Christmas sales:

- Inspect all merchandise carefully before you buy. The item may be a highly desirable Christmas gift that was returned or faulty merchandise that would not sell at a regular price.
- Be sure all labels, care instructions and other pertinent information are included with the sale item.

- Consider your needs and intended use. Just because an item is substantially reduced does not mean it is a good buy. Many sale items end up accumulating in the closet.

- Remember that most sale items cannot be returned.

- Compare prices at competing stores. An item reduced 15 percent in one place, for example, may sell regularly for less at a rival store.

- If you have room to store them until next year, Christmas cards and decorations are usually bargains. Most are greatly reduced after the holidays.

- There is considerable risk in buying sale clothing "for your child to grow into" or for your use "when you lose weight." Children do not

Busy Bee Homemakers

With the stars twinkling gaily above in the sky, the moon shining bright and clear, and the crisp winter air biting their cheeks and noses, the Busy Bee Homemakers gathered on Tuesday the 12th for their December meeting.

As the roll was called, the members told of a favorite Christmas tradition. Nine members and two visitors were present. Secret pal gifts were exchanged and many were assigned to discover the identity of their secret pal.

Carolyn Hunt shared her experiences from the 4-H area speech contest where she served as a judge. New secret pals were drawn and delicious refreshments were served by our hostess, Wynona Isaac. Our January meeting will be held at the home of Wctona Reams, and the lesson will be on pasta for every taste.

As the winter winds scar and bite, and snow comes drifting in the night, the Busy Bee Homemakers wish a Merry Christmas to everyone. Best wishes for the new year.

grow at a uniform rate, and you may not lose the weight you plan to.

*Watch "sale fever" it is contagious. Often shoppers will buy just because everyone else is.

*If using credit, carry a running total of your bill to discourage over-spending.

Cassandra Falin of Brodhead is shown with her prize of $20 for winning the "Letters to Santa" contest in last week's Signal. The 8-year-old wouldn't divulge what she's going to spend the money on. Cassandra is the daughter of Juanita Falin and Andy Mason.

IT'S 'SNOW' JOKE--Mrs. Lillie Saylor of Ford Drive in Mt. Vernon occupied part of her time these last few terrible winter days by sculpting a big and little snowman in the yard at her home. All of this was accomplished with the help of her grandson, Heath.

Missionary Group's Christmas party

Neither snow, ice or slick hills cancelled the Ladies Aid Missionary's Pitch-in Christmas dinner, Dec. 19, 1989.

The newly decorated home (on Bowling Ridge) of Richard and Marjorie Shivel's provided the place for the occasion.

After a blessing by Bro. Steve Ritter, the group devoured the delicious meal.

The hostess, Marjorie, prepared the turkey, dressing, and dumplings. It is always surprising, but the food others added to this, seems to always be just right.

After the meal, Betty Machal played Christmas carols, while everyone, including the men, joined in the singing.

That gave us time to be ready for the birthday cake made for Stephanie (Continued to Page 10)

My Choice in Life-Respect

By Joe Michael Spoonamore

Let's get back to basics. Although progress is good, are we missing something in our lifestyles? In my essay I would like to introduce a group of people who I found very interesting.

Once upon a time in a land far, far away, there was a strange tribe of people. These people weren't unusual looking people. They weren't green nor did they have pointed ears. Actually they looked alot like us. It wasn't their appearance, but their actions that made them unique.

They were busy people; parents going to their jobs, children going to school, others taking care of their homes, much like we are. As I looked closer I began to see the difference.

As I went into their places of work, there was a more relaxed atmosphere than ours. No one was trying to outdo each other. As a matter of fact, they were helping each other to achieve their goals for the day. In the schools, the children were seated quietly. As I surveyed the rooms I noticed things like shiny red apples and flowers on the teachers desks. When the children spoke to the teacher and their classmates, they spoke in a manner very unusual to me. The teacher also spoke in this way. The manner in which they spoke reminded me of a word, all but ancient, the word, respect.

As I walked into the streets and fields I found them clean of all litter and debris. The streams also were clean. In the distance I saw people working together in the fields and some type of construction going on. I thought it was a construction crew, but as I drew closer I could tell it wasn't. I learned from some of the people that the house had burned and friends and neighbors had come to help rebuild it. They all gave of their time, skills and materials they had on hand.

As I watched the people working, they seemed to be enjoying themselves. It was as if they were getting some kind of satisfaction from their labor. It seemed to be contagious. As I watched, I began to want to help too and I did.

The day ended and I went back to my world. But, in the days to come, I began to miss the people and their strange ways. Although I felt I had brought a part of them back with me.

Was it something I had brought back or something that had always been with me? I think if we dig deep inside we might all find something

Among the suggestions that I received in the recent series of direct regarding mole eradication that has appeared in your paper far too often and in much higher detail than necessary to satisfy most readers, several folks made mention of ways to get rid of grub worms.

What I'm wondering right now is whether or not the staff will work on Weevily Worms. You may recall that the outcome of the National Association of Woody Worm Watchers (NAWWW), that I attended back in October predicted a generally mild winter over all, though they did say that it would be pretty rough up till Christmas, warmer than normal through most of January and the first half of February, then rough again through March and early April.

By golly it better start warming up in a hurry or I intend to declare war on Weevily Worms. As far as I'm concerned right now, they don't know anymore about weather forecasting than Wallace Wilkinson does about running state government. This promise of warm weather is almost as empty as the Governor's promise to rebuild a number of Eastern, Kentucky roads back before the election.

It was so cold in Paint Lick last week that we had a sled load of Eskimos stop in to ask if they could put up some igloos in the back pasture. They said they thought the ice would keep better here than it would up around the Arctic Circle and besides that, they were tracking a polar bear and were pretty sure that it was holed up in a little hollow behind my house. As far as I know, they're still back there but it's been too cold to get out and check on 'em.

Now that I think of it, the guys at NAWWW may not require any serious eradication measures. They're probably frozen to death already. And maybe polar bears consider frozen woolly worms to be some sort of delicacy.

We have, however, found a pleasant way to pass the time indoors in Paint Lick during all this cold weather. We've been sitting huddled up around the heat registers which are blowing out air almost as warm as our air conditioners were back in August, reading seed catalogues. We enjoy planning our garden so much that every year we organize the Great Scintled Echo and Adams Seed Catalogue Scam, and we'd like to announce that we're ready to do it again for 1990.

As the year 1989 draws to a close, I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for your continued kindness and friendship to me and my staff.

As I think of the New Year 1990, I look forward to another great year for each of us. I, and my deputies, wish everyone the best in 1990. May your days be filled with joy, love, happiness and the best of health.

Happy New Year!

Sweet and Sour

By Zyl Graves

Hey! I'm out of touch with reality today. I have no children laughing with joy over a new doll, no children crying over broken toys, I have no left over food to worry about. (I had my Christmas meal with Polly, Chuck and Chad yesterday.) I have no wrapping paper nor ribbons and bows to sort through and put away. I have no stack of Christmas bills to worry about.

Neither do I have a living soul to share the joy of looking at the gifts I received. Nor to drink a cup of the gourmet coffee I received and eat a cookie with.

My place is as sterile as it was two weeks ago and just as quiet. No one would believe I've just celebrated Christmas with all its excitement and joy and accompanying confusion. But I have.

Polly, Chuck and Chad opened their home to me to share in their joy and I took advantage of every minute of it.

Lights gleaming from the Christmas tree in the window and from the lawn shrubs was announcement enough of their being settled in for their first Christmas in their new home.

I'm glad I was allowed to share this. Telephone lines are now helping to bridge the gap of distance and I'm sure more families than mine were made a whole unit again by the service yesterday, yet, a voice on the phone never has the warmth of a small body held close or the strength of a strong arm around aging shoulders.

May the peace of the Christ child abide with you through the coming new year.

Poet's Corner

"Winter Wind"
By Ada Bullock

Oh howling wind of winter
So sad your mournful songs
I hope your season visits
Won't last very long.

You're known to be a drifter
As you come and go
Please cancel visitations
When we're having snow.

We care not for snow banks
Though pretty they may be
Sometimes that old shovel
Gets the best of me.

And when you sing and whistle
In a key much too high
I wish for just one winter
You'd consider lullabies.

The Blizzard of Seventy-eight

By Ada Bullock

With snow piled deep on the ground
The raging blizzard came Making mountains all around
With no time to complain.

Roads closed with drifts so high
The arctic wind kept blowing
As weary motorists sought help
Their plight for some unknowing

But people opened up their hearts
With sincere invitations
Gave the stranded food and shelter
All across the nation.

The wildlife suffered as did man
And sought for comfort too
But the chill was too much
For some to make it through.

I'm sure we all remember
And often will relate
The anguish that so many shared
In the blizzard of seventy-eight

Annual Dairy Conference Set

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

Improving cow comfort and learning how to combat heat stress in dairy cattle are some of the highlights of the 1990 Kentucky Dairyman Conference to be held in Louisville next month.

The conference will take place Jan. 23-24 at the Executive Inn West hotel and feature local and out-of-state guest speakers.

Speakers include Barry Stevens from the University of Missouri, who will talk about how to improve cow comfort and combat heat stress in dairy cattle. David Combs, from the University of Wisconsin, will talk about the importance of forage quality in increasing milk production.

A local dairyman panel, featuring Charles Hickerson of Mason County and Lee Robey of Logan County, will tell how improving forage quality has helped their production.

Roger Neirman, from Indiana, also will discuss the use of quality forages for improved production.

Other topics include: the new animal model, which evaluates the genetics of dairy cattle; the current status of bovine somatotropin; and an update on the 1990 farm bill. For more information about the dairy conference consult the county Extension office for registration forms.

DSS and volunteers prepared food baskets and donations

The Department for Social Services and volunteers who work at the REAP office again this year put in a lot of hours to organize and coordinate the money and donations received from the Christmas Benefit held at the Renfro Valley Barn on Dec. 10. The benefit was sponsored by the gospel groups of The Renners and A Different Way.

The total dollars received was $803.80. Two big contributors to the total Christmas effort were the Rockcastle Co. Street Rodders and Norman Brice of Mt. Vernon. Thanks goes to Dale Brandenburg for his help.

Families for donations were screened by D.S.S. staff based on need and individual situations. Approximately 130 children were served. Social Service staff contributing to the effort were: Edna Kirby, Shirley Wallin, John Holbrook, Kathy St. Clair, Patricia Brandenburg, Cara LeParrin, Dolores Albright, Mike Bryant and Glenis Dick.

An individual acknowledgement of other contributors plus a big thank to all is enclosed elsewhere in the Signal.

Shirley Wallin and Edna Kirby, staff members at the Department of Social Services, are shown preparing the food baskets and gifts made available this year from the Benefit Gospel Sing at Renfro Valley.

Change of format possible for Sue Bennett College

Sue Bennett College in London is exploring the possibility of becoming a part of the community college system, pending on the outcome of discussions between officials at the junior college, the University of Kentucky, and the Women's Division of the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church.

The Sue Bennett College Board of Trustees, has authorized a committee, appointed by chairman Henry Stoltz, to represent the interests of the College in investigating all aspects of the proposal.

If Sue Bennett does become a community college, the number of students enrolled there is expected to eventually reach 2,000. Current enrollment is 550.

Members of the ad hoc committee chosen to investigate the proposal by U.K. are Ruth Blackburn of Lexington, Jerry Brown of London, Dr. Marian Pennington of London, Gail Craig of Mt. Vernon, Kern James of London and Joan K. Stivers, newly appointed president of the college. Stoltz is an ex-officio member.

Ritter and Roger Gilpin. Stephanie blew the candle out on the cake was a perfect dessert. Oh, of course, we sang, "Happy Birthday" to the Dec. 19th birthday girl and man.

At our short discussion, the Lady Aides drew for hostesses, lessons, and secret pals for 1990. Ella Mae Martin presented "The Christmas Story." Marjorie Shivel read Sowder Nursing Home's newspaper, the women signed January's birthday cards for the nursing home's patients and Barbara Watson announced that we still had pecans to sell.

Then we joined others in the beautiful new living room decorated in mauve and blue. The ceiling high Christmas tree, with tiny sparkling clear lights and mauve color ribbon draped around it, stood in a corner. And what was under it? Gifts of course.

Now it was time for Kim, the acting Santa Claus, to hand out the gifts so the Lady Aides could find out who their secret pals were in 1989.

What fun we had exchanging over the gifts as well as learning who had sent cards and gifts to them throughout the year.

The men drivers of the vehicles were ready to take us all home by then.

We bundled up and were deposited, at each of our homes, safe, sound, and happy.

January's meeting will be at Barbara Watson's home with Nina Ritter, presenting the lesson.

good inside us. Have we let our goals and achievements overcome our compassion for human kind? I wish that in my world people would join together to help each other, in love and respect, as those people 'd. Wouldn't the world be a much better place? Maybe if we try to find the goodness in each other, our world and our people might survive.

City of Mt. Vernon Receives Grant

A state grant recently announced by Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson reimburses the city of Mt. Vernon for improvements to the existing water supply.

A $15,000 grant from the Area Development Fund has been awarded to the city of Mt. Vernon for replacement of general fund monies to the city for modifications to their existing water treatment plant. These repairs will assure proper operation and provide the necessary water supply to serve the citizens of Mt. Vernon.

The Cumberland Valley Area Development District Board of Directors recommended the project for funding.

The Area Development Fund is a capital projects program administered by the Department of Local Government in the Office of the Governor.

The state's 15 area development districts make recommendations to the department on the basis of state law and policy for project funding.

The Signal office will be closed Friday and Monday for New Year's holiday.

Shortages cause oil price increase

Heating oil prices have "gone through the roof," one Mt. Vernon kerosene dealer said Wednesday and he was not far wrong.

Heating oil is selling locally from $1.09 for No. 1 fuel to $1.17 a gallon.

Jim Earl Hammons said Wednesday heating oil is going up 5 cents a gallon every other day and rationing has set in for some dealers, including Hammons, who operates J & L Equipment Inc., in Mt. Vernon.

Johnny DeBoard of DeBoard Oil Co. said the oil he buys is going up everyday.

"But so far we're not having any problems," DeBoard said. "In fact we're in fine shape and taking care of our customers, our only problem has been fueling because of the weather."

Doug Hamm, of Mt. Vernon Tire and Oil, said the price he is charging has gone up 31 cents a gallon over the past three weeks.

Hamm said he is now using what he has in stock, but he is getting short of No. 1. He is hopeful to get some from his regular supplier. He added he had to purchase the last he received on the open market.

Actually, heating oil has been going up steadily in the past few weeks. Local dealers say the extreme cold weather over the eastern United States has been a major factor.

"We've seen a tremendous increase in the past month," Hammons said. "Natural gas is getting low and there is a switch to heating oil (kerosene). Also, the Mississippi River is frozen preventing barges from bringing in the needed oil.

He pointed out the weekend explosion at an Exxon Corp. refinery in Baton Rouge, La., has helped boost prices and raised prospects of further spot oil shortages.

In some cases locally, No. 2, diesel fuel is getting scarce, or will soon. Hamm said truckers are switching to 50/50 mixture since diesel jells at 14 degrees.

"We have no idea when the price will settle down," Hammons said. "Our supplier tells us it will be like it is until further notice."

The accident at the Louisiana plant, which normally produces 4.4 million gallons of heating oil daily, worsened a price spike caused by the record-setting cold snap that has hit much of the nation, according to national reports on Wednesday. Supplies of home heating oil already were tight before the explosion, and the accelerated demand has pushed retail prices as high as $1 a gallon in some areas.

Wholesale prices also shot higher, as reflected by oil futures. Heating oil contracts for January delivery jumped 10.74 cents from Friday to close at 92.48 cents a gallon on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Other contract months, which are subject to daily price limits, rose from 1.75 cents to 2.00 cents a gallon.

Crude oil and gasoline futures also rose. Traders said the price rise was worsened by thin trading volume, because many participants had not returned yet from long holiday weekends. Markets were closed Monday for Christmas.

The February contract for West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark U.S. crude oil, rose 62 cents to close

Several homes destroyed

Mt. Vernon firemen were kept busy during the past few days with four fires reported.

The home of Gilbert Chestnut of Orlando was destroyed by fire Dec. 23, according to assistant fire chief Gary Hansel.

The house, reportedly belonging to Gladys Chestnut was totally involved when firemen arrived.

A house belonging to William and Betty James at Climax was destroyed by fire Dec. 25.

The wood frame house was engulfed when firemen arrived. The cause of the fire was an apparent faulty flue.

A car belonging to Ernest Stanley, Main St., Mt. Vernon was damaged by fire Dec. 20, according to firemen. Stanley left the car running to warm up when it caught fire.

A fuel oil furnace in a mobile home belonging to Ed Deboard in Cox Trailer Park did some damage, but the fire was out when firemen arrived. Deboard also had a fire in another mobile home the previous night.

existing industry in the county.

Part of the $15,000 is being used to pay a Tennessee consulting firm to help conduct a survey to see what types of industry would be most interested in the Rockcastle County area.

Once the survey is completed the group will be working on a plan to bring new jobs to the county, according to the group's chairman Hoyle Miller of Disputanta.

"I believe Rockcastle County has many positive attributes that will attract industry if they are properly promoted," Miller said.

Miller, a retired IBM executive, who only recently moved back to Rockcastle County with his wife Jane to start a thoroughbred horse operation, is very optimistic about the future of the new group.

"It will be the job of the committee to work with our local governing bodies hand-in-hand, to identify the target industries and to develop a marketing strategy," he said.

Other members of the committee include, Rockcastle Judge/Executive elect, Roland Mullins, who also served as mayor of Mt. Vernon for 14 years; his opponent in last November's General Election, Gatliff Craig, who served as executive director of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District for 17 years; Rockcastle School Superintendent Bigge Towery Jr.; Sam Ford, president of the Rockcastle County Improvement Council, local attorney John Cloniz, who is chairman of the Rockcastle Industrial Authority, newly elected Mt. Vernon City councilman Lloyd Cain, who is a former principal of the Harry Sparks Vocational school and Mayor Cromer, who was elected to his first full term as Mt. Vernon's mayor last November.

Miller said that as a part of the initial survey, people in the county will be interviewed as to what they think the strong points and weaknesses of this county are and what type of industry would be best suited for this area.

GOD'S LOVE WILL WARM US DURING THE COLD OF WINTER

The leaves of autumn now are gone,
 While frost pervades the night,
 And then the land will greet the dawn,
 Arrayed in sparkling white.
 As soon as temperatures will freeze
 To zero and below,
 The barren branches of the trees
 Will wear an icy glow;
 And yet this frigid time of year,
 With Arctic wind and storm,
 Reminds us with a note of cheer
 That faith will keep us warm.
 So bundle up and praise the Lord
 For promises He'll keep:
 That spring will follow and reward
 This winter world asleep.

LET US TRY TO BEGIN A NEW LIFE IN THE NEW DECADE

We are about to say goodbye to the 1980s, and we can imagine all the New Year's Eve parties that will take place with a "Gay '90s" theme, in the original meaning of that adjective. Let us review this past decade, which has just preceded the one that will close out the 20th century. Omitting the world and national events of the '80s, let us examine our own lives. Are you better off than you were ten years ago? Not in the financial sense but in the personal one. You are, if you are at least trying to become a better, kinder, more responsible person, and are attending your House of Worship, the best place to achieve these goals. Otherwise, instead of New Year's resolutions, let's make some "new decade" resolutions, and ask the Lord to help us with them. If we're really sincere, He will.

Billy Graham film to be shown at Freedom Baptist Church

Caught, the newest video from Billy Graham's World Wide Pictures, will be shown on December 31st at Freedom Baptist Church. There will be a fellowship supper at 7 p.m. and the video will begin at 9 p.m. Caught is a true-to-life drama that portrays the power of one person caring for another. An 18 year old American, Tim Devon, goes to Amsterdam in search of the father he has never known. His mother reluctantly admits he was born illegitimately out of a college romance between her and a Dutch exchange student. In this city, far from his home, he slips into the self-destructive drug culture, but is encountered by a single, caring person — a person of deep faith. The person, Rajan Prasad, found a way to share Christ's message of love, hope and forgiveness in a way that Tim could not ignore. Vast audiences who have witnessed the film's premiere in movie theatres around the world have been gripped by its central focus on their friendship which was forged out of danger and desperation. Deeply moved by the warmth of the film with its many moments of humor, Billy Graham, said Caught is certainly the most outstanding film yet produced by World Wide Pictures. Caught rings a challenge to us all; in reality, one caring person can have an immeasurable impact on the life of another lonely, disillusioned, desperate person. The public is cordially invited to attend this showing.

Rockets lose to Wayne 71-60

By Spencer Bengt

The Rockcastle County Rockets lost their first round game Tuesday night to host Wayne County in the 1989 Druithers Classic in Monticello. The Rockets, who played only their third game of the season, lost 71-60.

The Rockets got a slow jump out of the starting gate in the first quarter as they were outscored 15-7. This was due to offensive board work of Wayne County as they were getting the second shot and Rockcastle wasn't.

Rockcastle's rebounding woes continued in the second quarter as the Rockets seemed to get only one shot each time down the floor. Wayne County stretched their lead to 13 and the Rockets trailed at the half 29-16.

The Rockets started the third quarter looking like a new refreshed team. They began hitting the boards, getting the good shots and playing the tight defense which brought them within 8 points.

It was then, with 3:19 left in the quarter, a questionable out of bounds call was made against the Rockets.

The call brought Rocket's coach David Perkins out of his chair and out of the coaches box which in turn got him slapped with 2 technical fouls.

Wayne County capitalized on their opportunity making all 4 free throws and extending their lead to 12 points.

Wayne County moved on out to a 16 point lead by the end of the third quarter when the tally was 51-35.

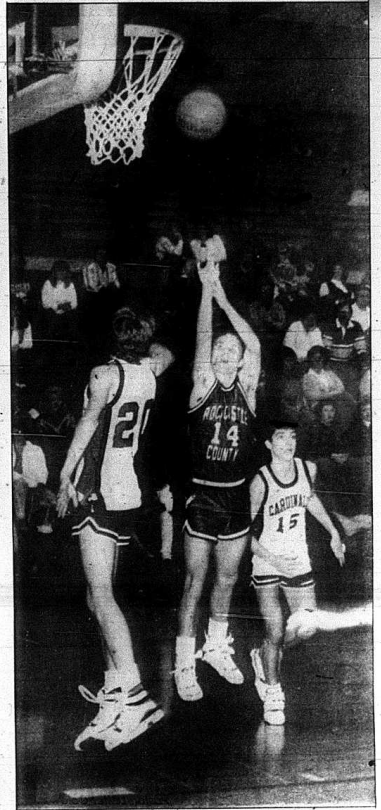

Senior guard #12 Robbie Phillips drives the lane against a Wayne County opponent during Tuesday night's contest. Robbie was the leading scorer for the Rockets with 16 points. Also in the picture is #40 Darren Smith.

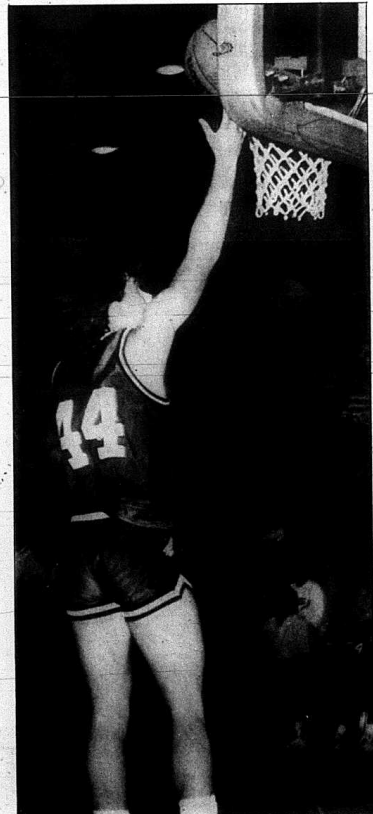

The Rockets played a good fourth quarter. With 6:50 remaining in the game, sophomore Wayne Bullens sank two 3 pointers to bring the Rockets within 14. Good defensive pressure by the Rockets caused Wayne County to turn the ball over and the Rockets closed the margin to 10 late in the game. But the Rockets could not get any closer as Wayne County held them off with good free throw shooting down the stretch. Wayne County hit 18 of 23 attempts from the line. The scoreboard had an incorrect score of 71-63. Individual scoring for the Rockets were: Robbie Phillips, 16; William Bullens, 12; David Sargent, 8; Micah Parkerson, 6; Steve Clark, 5; David Eaton, 5; Billy Todd, 4; Darren Smith, 2 and Chris Newland, 2. The Rockets played Lincoln County, Wednesday afternoon in the loser's bracket.

Rocket David Sargent, #14, shoots a jumper in the lane against Wayne County Tuesday night. Sargent had 8 points on the night.

William Bullens, #44, breaks away against Wayne Co. to score an easy lay-up. Bullens was the second high man for the Rockets with 12 points.
