Cain holds Alcorn for Grand Jury

It will be left up to a Rockcastle County Grand Jury whether or not Margaret Alcorn will be tried for the murder of Elvina Lane Curry.

After a preliminary hearing in Rockcastle District Court Monday, Judge William Cain ruled that there was enough evidence to hold Alcorn, 28, of Mt. Vernon, until the Grand Jury meets March 9.

Cain also did not lower Alcorn's $10,000 bond.

Alcorn has been charged with the shooting of Curry, a six-year-old Mt. Vernon Elementary student, who died on February 1.

Curry was shot once in the back, while she sat in a car at Cox's Trailer Park in Mt. Vernon.

The night of the shooting police charged Alcorn, but a few days later they also charged 16-year-old Kevin McCoy with the murder.

But during McCoy's hearing, Lana Curry, the girl's mother testified that she saw Alcorn with a shotgun and a pistol.

McCoy was in Rockcastle Juvenile Court Wednesday. All proceedings from juvenile court are closed to the public.

However, following Monday's hearing, Freddie Alcorn, Margaret's husband, was jailed for tampering with physical evidence.

Apparently Alcorn, 35, testified that he tampered with a shotgun, police believe is the murder weapon, before they confiscated it.

Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham filed the complaint against Alcorn, who is free after filling a $10,000 bond.

Union effort underway at plastics

Another attempt to unionize Mt. Vernon Plastics is apparently under way.

It is the third time a union has tried to organize workers at the plant. The last time was about 17 months ago.

At that time, the attempt failed when 207 out of 270 failed to sign cards to bring the proposition to a vote for representation by Teamsters Local 651 of Lexington.

The latest attempt is being made by the Glass Molders, Pottery, Plastics and Allied Workers of Media, Penn.

Reportedly, representatives of the union were at the plant last weekend during one or two shift changes.

One employee wrote the Signal that the union representatives were "trying to tell us what to do and they aren't even in."

Bea Chasteen wrote that union representatives were at the company plant Saturday night giving out cards for signatures at the shift change, particularly to new people.

Mrs. Chasteen, who opposes the union, said the company went through this same thing over a year ago.

"We said NO then, 5 to 1, and we still say NO," she declared. "If people want to work for a union they should find a union controlled place and go work there and stop trying to force something on us we don't want."

She pointed out that the company has many worthwhile benefits for employees.

Another employee reportedly didn't agree, expressing reservations about current company policy, pointing out there are three-day weeks, 12 hours a day for three weeks, then a four-day week, 12 hours a day to make up the 40 hours, and most employees he knew did not like that policy.

This is the first union attempt to organize the plant since Reynolds Metals purchased the plant in June 1988.

A spokesman for Reynolds said it is a "little premature" for the com-

In the top photo, Livingston and Mt. Vernon firefighters and Deputy Coroner Roy Martin remove the body of Joe Sturgill from his apartment in Livingston. Sturgill died in the Friday night blaze which completely destroyed the upstairs apartment he was living in and heavily damaged the Livingston Senior Citizens and Public Transit office. Most of other damage done to the senior citizens area was caused by water. In the photo above, firefighters cool down the area where Joe Sturgill's body was found by his nephew.

Livingston man killed Friday in apartment fire

By: Richard Anderkin

A Livingston man was killed Friday night when the apartment he was living in was completely destroyed by fire.

Joe Sturgill, 53, died from thermal heat exposure and smoke inhalation, according to deputy Rockcastle County Coroner Roy Martin.

Martin said Monday that an autopsy on Sturgill's body Saturday revealed that the smoke inhalation also led to carbon monoxide poisoning. Sturgill was found near a window of the upstairs apartment where he lived on Main Street in Livingston, by a nephew, after fire fighters curtailed the blaze enough so that he could look through the windows for his uncle.

Livingston fire chief Jerry Mink said fire fighters were afraid that someone was in the apartment when the fire broke out, but by the time someone noticed the blaze and fire fighters arrived on the scene, the upstairs apartment where Sturgill was found was already engulfed in flames.

Besides the apartment, the building housed the Livingston Senior Citizens Center and the Public Transit office.

The structure is probably best known as the former Dr. Robert Webb office, which was built in the early 1930s in Livingston.

Mink said Monday that an arson investigator from the Kentucky State Police Post in London had been to the scene, but no foul play was expected, although the origin of the fire still has not been determined.

About 10:20 p.m. Friday a young man living in an adjacent apartment to the burned structure heard what he thought was an explosion and when he went outside the saw fire coming from the roof of the building, according to Mink who said that fire fighters were on the scene in minutes.

Fire fighters from Mt. Vernon were called to assist in fighting the blaze, because according to Mink, the entire block where the building was located could have been involved in the fire very easily.

The two departments managed to keep the fire from spreading from the apartment to the bottom floor where the Senior Citizens meet and to other buildings, but the center was heavily damaged by water.

Rockcastle County Senior Citizen Director Shirley Cummins said that all of the equipment in the center was still operable and had been moved to Mt. Vernon where the Livingston seniors were being fed for the time being.

"We are looking for a suitable place in Livingston, but it will be a while before we can find anything," Mrs. Cummins said.

For the time being all Livingston meals delivered to homes are going out of Mt. Vernon and other seniors that usually eat at the Livingston center are being brought to Mt. Vernon to eat with the Mt. Vernon seniors.

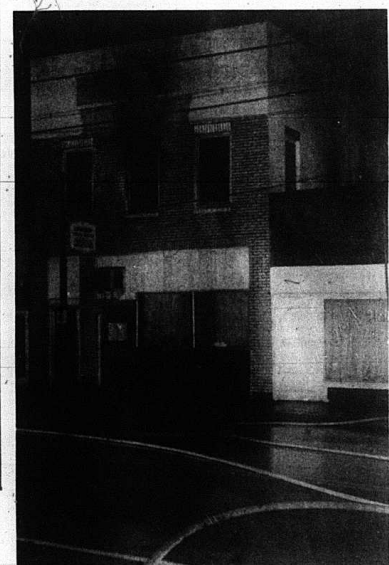

Mrs. Cummins said that about 92 meals were prepared at Mt. Vernon Monday, almost twice the usual number.

A total of 4.93 inches of rain has fallen in Mt. Vernon during the first 14 days of February, according to records at Cox Funeral Home Weather Station.

Most rain, 2.14 fell on Feb. 4 following 1.95 inches on Feb. 3. On Feb. 9 there was 1.49 inches and .05 and .10 on Feb. 5 and 6.

The Dr. Robert Webb building in Livingston, built in the 1930's, was heavily damaged by fire Friday night. The building housed the apartment of Joe Sturgill who died of heat and smoke inhalation. The Senior Citizens Center and Public Transit office were also damaged in the blaze, mainly by water.

Haywood named director of food service

John W. Haywood has been appointed Director of Operations for Food Service and Retail at the Renfro Valley complex, according to vice president and general manager of Renfro Valley Folks, Inc., Jim Tillery.

In making his announcement last week, Tillery said that Haywood would be a great asset to Renfro Valley, because of his extensive background in the food service industry. Haywood's initial responsibilities will include directing the restoration of the historic Renfro Valley Lodge into a 330 seat full service restaurant, which is famous for its board ing style meal. "I am looking forward to working with Renfro Valley Folks in their endeavor to make Renfro Valley an exciting, entertaining, nationally recognized country music complex," Haywood said. Haywood, 26 of Lexington, is a

A Legislative Perspective

By: Rep. Danny Ford

During the course of a legislative session issues as varied as the weather in the Commonwealth came before the General Assembly. As bills made their sometimes rapid march through the process, groups that possess intense feelings for certain issues crowded into the Capitol to lobby for legislative votes.

Last week "Miss America" 1990 topped the list of visitors to the General Assembly. She encouraged legislators to use their influence to motivate the young people of Kentucky. Hundreds of Farm bureau representatives, retailers and restaurant owners sandwiched themselves into the halls of the Capitol, as did Mothers Against Drunk Driving to support stricter drunk driving laws.

Two Constitutional amendments were approved by members of the House last week. House Bill 13, which passed 91-1, allows the General Assembly to call itself into special session. That power now belongs solely to the Governor. The proposal allows the Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tem to convene a special session if two-thirds of the members of each chamber request it.

Another House proposal would allow the General Assembly to veto administrative regulations passed in the interim. This measure could be used as protection from bad regulations that do not comply with legislative intent. Both bills require a public referendum vote if passed by the senate.

We also unanimously approved a bill to permit eligible veterans to apply for the Vietnam Veterans Bonus. The bill would extend the application deadline from Feb. 28 to August 31. The measure also makes World War II and Korean War veterans who served during the Vietnam War also eligible for the bonus.

A proposal passed the House that would save lives and money by requiring insurance companies to cover mammography screening if coverage for mammograms is included in their policies. This legislation would provide for early detection of breast cancer for many more women, thus cutting the cost of critical hospital care.

House committees also were busy last week. A series of bipartisan-minded environmental bills received a positive send off from the House Committee on Natural Resources and the Environment. They include:

-House Bill 33 which would allow local governments with garbage collection systems to add unpaid trash bills to property tax bills.

-House Bill 194 which would add a charge of four-tenths of one cent on each gallon of gasoline to create an insurance fund to cover some cleanup costs of leaking underground storage tanks. This is an attempt to assist small gas stations to comply with federal law.

-House Bill 70 which would require lawn care companies to post warning signs when they apply bug and weed killing chemicals to yards; and

-House Bill 67 which creates a privately funded trust for environmental education and research projects.

A much discussed piece of legislation that would have allowed practitioners to write prescriptions died from lack of support in the House Committee on Health and Welfare.

The bill would have proved helpful to rural nurses who examine patients in homes and clinics that have no direct access to a doctor. Opponents of the bill as written cited the provision that would allow nurse practitioners to dispense certain powerful drugs.

Please contact me on these and other issues by dialing the toll-free legislative number, 1-800-372-7181.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

On Wednesday, February 6, our son turned in his basketball uniform. He played for the freshman squad this season as did nine other young men. Each of these young men had played ball since 4th or 5th grade.

Their record was nine losses and two wins. We, as parents, have seen our son frustrated and demoralized by the current basketball program in place. As parents we can only see the symptoms of a program that needs revitalized. We have traveled to all the ballgames and suffered along with other parents the inadequacies on and off the bench. As young men who have some skill and may be even some promise on the basketball court the school system and community owes these young men more than a lick and a promise. Rockcastle County school has a wonderful basketball facility. The vision was wonderful, the reality for years now is a sad set of affairs.

What would it take to see growth in this area. The basketball program needs a winning season to stir interest. People in Eastern Kentucky have little in their communities for recreation or socialization. The sports program in any small community such as ours is important. In talking to coaches and leaders in our school system we have been told the problem is a multi-facet one. No doubt it is. It is not our intention to exploit comments that have been made to us. The problems that should be dealt with by the athletic committee, whomever that may be.

Our son is not the first young man who has had to deal with negativism and criticism nor will he be the last. No doubt coaching is a difficult job. It takes a special personality with the skill, psychological base and motivation to gradually build a good program. Apparently some interested parents fought long enough to get a good football program. Is it not time the same changes take place in the basketball program?

We realize that issues such as personalities, politics and the well known adage that academics comes first will be hashed around in conversations following this letter. As parents we have long fought for and believe that a well rounded child uses all of his potential including the full use of his mental and physical abilities.

It is our belief and hope that the young men we have seen grow up with our son and others currently now in elementary school will not experience a season such as this one. The 8th graders from the 1988-89 school year came to the high school with enthusiasm, vigor and determination. It is our desire that a program will be in place by the fall school year that can recapture this attitude. Parent involvement is the key. Let your ideas and feelings for change be known. Talk to your school leaders that includes your school principal, your school board members and Mr. Tovey, superintendent of schools. We believe they want a good program also and will take steps to see that our children have a good program to develop their skill in a disciplined yet fun loving and spirited environment.

Dear Editor,

Well guess what! The Union people are back trying to get in at Mt. Vernon Plastics.

It looks to me like they would finally learn that NO means NO - not maybe.

We went through this same thing a little over a year ago. We said no then - 5 to 1 and you still say NO.

If people want to work for a Union, then they should find a Union controlled place and go work there and start trying to force something on us we don't want.

Now why do we need a Union? We have profit sharing, long term premium shares, medical and dental insurance, wages that compare to any plastics company, retirement plan, Noooooo.

women supervisors, women machine operators, as well as women fork lift drivers and most important of all - an "Open door policy".

The Union people are already trying to tell us what we can do and they aren't even in. This afternoon at shift change a few of our people were standing at the entrance - off company property - mind you - and what happens?? Well here comes a Union guy and he told our people that we had no right to be out there and he started cussing us women and said we were a bunch of ignorant 15% @ & he even told us to tell our plant manager to kiss his 65% &. You guessed it. Now is this the kind of management we want to work under? Noooooo.

I know what riled the guy up, but it wasn't our fault. What's fair for the goose is just as fair for the gander. I always say, he sneaked in here Saturday night and was giving his cards out at shift change -- but did we call him names? No. He came back tonight to hand out more to the new people. Well, we're smart too. He had no idea the opposition team would be out too. Well, we care about our jobs and we are trying to protect them. We didn't cuss him or call him names or try to scare him like he did us -- we only wanted to voice our opinions -- we didn't try to stop him from handing out his cards. Evidently he felt he couldn't hand them out in front of us. He wanted to sneak around -- better keep this in mind if you vote yes. We were a friendly bunch, can he say the same.

I've called a scab last year because I voted No -- well, to me a scab means healing is taking place -- then the scab falls off. With the same could be said for the Union -- they just keep eating away at you.

I'd rather be called a scab and have my job (which I've had for 5 years with no help from a Union) and the benefits and working conditions we have -- than anything (which is nothing but lies) the Union has to offer.

I've never needed a third party yet and I'm willing to take a chance on never needing one.

Thank you,

Dear Editor,
We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to all those parents who helped to make our recent District Governor's Cup competition such a success. It takes a great deal of hard work and dedication on everyone's part to coordinate and follow through with a program of this magnitude.

The students are commended for their tireless efforts throughout the school year. They gave a lot of their time in order to practice for this competition.

We also want to thank Bobby Cummins at Brodhead Convenient and Taylor's Produce for their generous donations. One of our retired teachers, Mrs. Shirley Martin, was a tremendous help and we thank her so very much.

Students from each county school will be competing in the regional at Somerset on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 23 and 24. You are invited to attend in order to help us encourage our contenders.

Dear Editor,
This Sunday morning after waking at five thirty, the thought occurred to me, another new day. What shall I do to use it to the fullest of fulfillment? Each day is so important to each and everyone of us. It's been about three weeks since I wrote that I believed Mr. Gerbahey would need to run away from Community. Now that it is done, up what direction do we look? Do we begin to feel secure now? Are fears of bombs and rockets and such to be forgotten? Are we simply intending to just lie back and be complacent? I would say that is the most dangerous piece of business in which we could dare to indulge.

Jealously ever was, is now and always will be a vile, wicked, monster. Some insignificant nation might rise up expecting to show off its greatness, push a button, just to light his own fire, a fire that will light up the world.

In 1936 a new song blasted out of every juke box entitled, "I Don't Want to Set the World On Fire". Well, someone on this planet does and will do so. I believe me sir, I'm no Joan of Arc. I do hope I am not to see it.

Has anyone mentioned Armageddon lately?
Thank you. I remain as ever sincerely,

Dear Editor:
To the voters of Rockcastle County, especially 5th District. I would like for all of you to know why I am not patrolling our roads as I promised I would if I was elected. I have been to the Fiscal Court meeting twice and asked for permission to use blue lights on my cruiser. Some of you may not know, but the magistrate you voted for has the say so on the blue lights on the Constables' cruisers. It doesn't seem as though the magistrates want the Constables to enforce the law. I have a marked radio equipped cruiser sitting in my driveway that I cannot use because I do not have permission to use my blue lights. Remember, when you need law enforcement officers to come to you, there will be five that won't be there. Because, the magistrate you voted for won't give us permission to use blue lights. Also, constable, may upon approval of the Fiscal Court, equip vehicles used, by said officer, with one or more flashing, rotating oscillating blue lights, (not red lights or spot lights, but blue lights.)

The lights on the cruisers, are for everyone's safety. As for example: If a Constable was answering a call or going to help in an auto accident, if he did not have blue lights to warn people he would be taking the risk of injuring or killing himself or an innocent bystander or fellow driver or family.

With or without blue lights on my cruiser I will patrol the highways in the county. If you need law enforcement urgently, I am sorry to say I will not be able to respond as quickly and effectively as may be needed, without the proper equipment blue lights.

All other counties around us use blue lights, but not, 'Good Ole' Rockcastle.' I just wonder why? I cannot fulfill my obligation to the voters of the 5th District. I appeal to the voters to please attend the next Fiscal Court meeting on March 6, 1990 at 3 p.m. at the court house in the lower court room. If you can't attend the meeting by all means, call your magistrate and voice your opinion. This is not only 5th District this is county wide. Also, come on MADP and SADD, what more could you want? We need your support, too. We cannot effectively keep the drunk drivers that take so many lives off of our county roads. We are all affected by drunk drivers. It is sad to say, but the Constables of Rockcastle County cannot effectively protect our children and families without our blue lights.

A note to the Magistrates: I have been in law enforcement for thirty years. I know the importance of having oscillating blue lights on our cruisers. Do you? You and the Constables of this county were elected by the people for the people and my promises to the voters of 5th District are very important to me. But, without your approval of the blue lights I cannot fulfill these promises and without the approval of the blue lights you are not fulfilling your promises to the voters of your district.

Respectfully,
Eugene Selters
5th District

Dear Editor:
This letter is in response to the letter in last week's Signal about the new street signs in Livingston and the criticism Mayor Billy Medley and town board members are now receiving after the signs are put up.

Several citizens are upset because old street names have been changed. If they are so concerned why didn't they attend board meetings last year when this was being discussed? Concerned citizens take a part in town activities. Those with little to do sit home and gripe about the ones that make an effort.

I have lived in Livingston for 39 years and I have not known the names of streets, other than Main Street and Back Street. It seems names were not so important until the signs were up. When my daddy passed away I didn't know the name of the street where he lived to give directions to the ambulance driver. Incidentally this letter is not taking up for Mayor Medley because the street where my daddy lived has now been named McClure Street in his honor, because as far as I'm concerned they can name it J.D. Rice Street. It will at least have a name that directions can be given to.

We needed those signs to give directions to police, ambulance or people visiting our homes.

I hope Mayor Medley and town board members do not become discouraged from a few criticizing citizens, because there are many citizens who are grateful for the efforts put forth by them. In my opinion, Billy Medley has done more for the city of Livingston than all of the other mayors put together. I praise him and the town board for all they do and have done. If you who criticize would put your efforts into helping the town, it would be a better place to live.

It's fine with me if we change the name of the town, Livingston, to Medley Town. Hang in there, Billy.

Dear Editor,
The citizens of Livingston would like to say thank you to the Livingston fire department, the Mt. Vernon fire department and all others that tried so hard to save the life of one of our residents, Joe Sturgill.

Joe was a fine man and will be missed badly by our community, especially the elderly whom any time they called, he was always there to help in any way he could.

We would also like to say thank you to Jamie and Jason Medley, Joe and Phillip Spoonmore, Joey Sparks and Scotty Hellard for getting out and taking up money for a beautiful bouquet of flowers from our town showing our love for Joe. Thank you boys.

Also, thank you to Dean Barhoff, our policeman, for all his help and Jerry Gross and Lee Ann Pridemore for discovering the fire and their efforts.

If we have left out anyone please forgive us.

Dear Editor,
I am writing on behalf of the folks at the Mt. Vernon hospital. I can't get in the hospital myself but the doctors are supposed to be there for the patients. Well I saw these two doctors smoking. So if it's bad on the patients, it's bad for them. If they want to smoke they need a room and everyone that smokes could share the room and then everyone could enjoy themselves in the dining room better.

People, need this hospital. It's a help to some people. They have good nurses that are nice and know what they are doing. There are some folks that can't stand cigarette smoke so it would be so nice if they didn't have to smell smoke. It doesn't seem like a hospital.

Dear Editor,
The television advertisement being aired by Governor Wilkinson incorrectly accuses the General Assembly of attempting to "grab" money raised through the lottery and put it in "their General Fund." The Governor seems to be saying that the General Fund is some type of "slush fund" that the legislators use for non-governmental purposes.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The General Fund, to which the Governor refers, is the largest of seven operational funds through which all state government programs are funded. The Revenue Cabinet collects billions of dollars in taxes every year, most of which is channeled into the General Fund. The Constitution of Kentucky specifically delegates to the Kentucky General Assembly the responsibility of determining where your tax dollars are most wisely spent. The Kentucky Lottery was not established by the governor, it was established during a Special Session in 1988 by the General Assembly.

The Constitutional Amendment, which the voters of Kentucky approved prior to this Special Session, made no mention of where and how lottery proceeds are to be spent. The members of the General Assembly are ready and willing to work with the Governor to devise the most efficient and effective use of all revenues generated by state taxes and Finding fault with Wallace Wilkinson has not been a difficult thing for me to do. Everyone I think about the fact that he got away with paying almost no property tax on a hotel in Frankfort worth millions of dollars, I get angry. In his campaign, Wilkinson promised the voters that he intended to clean up the tax cheats. Yeah Buddy!!! The governor finally paid ninety something dollars for three years of property tax on that building while insisting that he didn't believe he should be paying anything.

I still believe that the governor's lottery is doing much more harm than it is good. I despise its advertising strategies that lure folks who are just getting into spending their last few dollars on a one in fifty million chance to strike it rich. But we've got the *&#1 lottery and this is the last public denouncement I intend to make on that subject for awhile.

I'm tired of crying over spill milk. Besides, there's a full glass teetering on the edge of the table that's going to fall if somebody doesn't catch it soon. I speak here of the governor's proposal to broaden the tax base.

Mr. Wilkinson deserves some public support on this one. The governor is proposing to raise a billion dollars in new revenue over the next two years without sticking the tax man's hand into the pockets of average Kentuckians.

Ain't it about time? Although it amounts to the pot calling the kettle black, Wilkinson is correct in pointing out that special interest groups have avoided paying

Day:

- Tuesday: Fish portion, green beans, coleslaw, cornbread, banana nut cake, milk
- Wednesday: Spaghetti/meat sauce, broccoli, tossed salad, Italian bread, hot cobbler, milk
- Thursday: Sausage patties, cheese grits, tomato juice, biscuit, fried apples, milk
- Friday: stuffed peppers, whipped potatoes, pinto beans, cornbread, fresh fruit, milk their fair share to support the common good for decades by successfully lobbying the legislature. There are hundreds of such groups and there is a tax break or loop-hole in place for every one of them.

People who drive 81 Mustangs go to the courthouse and pay $31.90 in taxes on the ratlike trap that they have to have to get to and from work, I just did that. Then I picked up the paper and commenced reading about how many Jaguar, Mercedes and Cadillac owners don't pay a dime. You can thank a special interest group for that one.

Pity too, the poor race horse farmers. To call the racing industry in this state "agriculture," should be an insult to every farmer who slaves from dawn till dusk on the seat of his tractor or in the feed lot, hoping to break even while he feeds the rest of us.

Nobody that I know of puts race horse steak on the table every night even though Lige Cowan swears they put it in some kinds of bologna. Look at Kentucky's other non-food, agricultural endeavor and you will find it taxed plenty. Nearly half of the cost of a cigarette goes to the government in one sort of tax or another. Race-horses get virtually a free ride. Sheik Abdul and Lord Snob can come of Kentucky, pay six million dollars for a horse and then fly home in their private Lear Jets without paying a nickel in sales tax because the horse set comprises another one of those special interest groups. It has convinced our legislators that race horse buyers can't afford to pay sales tax like the rest of us.

The governor isn't even proposing to change that one. It would hurt too

Sweet & Sour

by
Zi Graves

Another, and not quite as pleasant, trip has just been completed and I'm home again. This time it was pneumonia and the doctor said I didn't have much control over. After coughing ceaselessly for almost 24 hours and with a burning fever, I called for help. A good neighbor and a good doctor had me in the hospital emergency room in a couple of hours. The treatment began immediately, at my doctor's request, and I am sure that it was what my pneumonia and flu around and started me on the road to recovery. I don't know which is worst for the human body, all the virus bugs and bacteria floating around in the system, causing coughing, headaches and nausea or all the medicines one takes for these problems getting in conflict with one another and causing another kind of nausea and dizziness and drowsiness. I don't like either but when the flu bug bites and pneumonia grabs hold of your lungs something has to be done. A concerned physician and modern medicine can perform miracles. Had both.

I remember when the very word pneumonia was a life threatening word. There were days of high fever when the victim was "out of his head." The breathing was profuse and the cough had a hollow death-like sound and was accompanied by groans. The best one was treated with teas to make him sweat; teas to cool the temperature; teas to nourish and teas to "physic the poison out." Then there were poultices. These were placed on the back and chest. And the worse they smelled or so it seemed, the better they would work. Hot bran poultices didn't smell too bad but had to be changed often enough to not get cool. So someone had to be present 24 hours a day changing these. Fried onion poultices worked pretty well supposedly, but also had to be kept hot to draw the fever out. Turpentine, lard and either goose grease or skunk oil with a little quinine added was one of the best known and used most frequently, and the stinkiest of the lot. Through the crisis neighbors and relatives gathered in and day and night changing poultices and talking in whispers. The air around the patient was warm and fetid. It's a wonder to me that anyone survived it. But we were a hardy people back then and usually after several months of recuperation were were fit as fiddle. Were those some of the "good ole days?"

fees, and by the lottery. The role of the governor in this process is significant. By law, it is the responsibility of the Governor to propose a budget, which the legislature carefully evaluates as it formulates and enacts a budget bill. It is the budget bill which ultimately determines how all state revenues are expended. We are willing to work with the Governor in a fair and open manner. We expect the same from him.

The Legislative Research Commission

Good morning Editor,
I am writing this letter on behalf of the Rockcastle County boy's cheerleading squad. These 12 young and lovely ladies and their two sponsors, Mrs. Becky Perkins and Tracy Gabbard, have gone to the National Title in the Universal Cheerleaders Association-Finals in Orlando, Florida.

If I understand right, in order to get relatives on ESPN some time in March, these 12 young and lovely ladies will have to make the final five. They must make the final five in order to be taped for ESPN.

These 12 young and lovely young ladies is the only cheerleading squad in Rockcastle County High School history to go to Orlando, Florida for this event. Three cheerers for these 12 young and gorgeous ladies, Hurray, Hurray, Hurray!

It may sound like I am giving the young ladies all of the praise wrong, if they make the final five in Orlando, FL, the Good Lord up above gets all of the glory and honor.

Better close for now,
Yours truly,
David Brock

P.S. I thought I would write this letter to recognize this group of cheerleaders and their two nice sponsors. I love all 12 young ladies especially one, Amy Jo McClure, although I love someone else, not any name called; not any feelings hurt.

Last week when I went in to see Dr. Stewart, within minutes I was in the hospital with oxygen and IV's working and breathing therapy begun. I'm sure that shuddering I did was not fever but the virus and bacteria in my body revolting at the onslaught of antibiotics. I know my innocent flesh in my arm rebelled at all the needle pricks searching for a vein to either pour medicine into or take blood out of. Still that magic fluid kept tricking through and reached the vital spots. A little fortification with juices, food and breathing therapy and here I am again, right back in my crochert corner.

The miracle of today's treatment of disease is something beyond the imagination of our grandparents and the real beauty of it, we are making new discoveries every day of still better ways of treating illness.

One of my not so pleasant surprises, while I was in the hospital, was to find out the old concept of the "Outside John" is still being used. I thought the idea of going "outside" had been done away with when all that rem-jelcing took place and outside toilets were delegated to the undeveloped countries we contribute to. By "outside" I mean, outside the room a patient is occupying.

I felt like I was on exhibition as I tried to hold my gown together with one hand, trail my IV pole with the other while half leaning on an aide while I was paraded down the hall to a toilet. And every time I saw an aide carrying a bedpan down the hall to empty it, I just couldn't believe I was getting it right. With all these ultra modern facilities in our hospital, especially in the first rate respiratory unit, that big front office building which looks so impressive to the visitor, like we are modern people with up-to-date ideas and living standards. To be admitted as a patient to the acute care unit and find a toilet in each hall to be used by all patients, unless they prefer to use a porty chair, is almost beyond belief.

With all the excellent care given by the doctors and nurses, the consideration and endless work done by the aides and even the top notch house-keeping staff, one would think a patient's need for privacy would be a prime consideration. Huh-uh you advertise to the whole hall your needs and take your turn if someone else has gotten there first.

Several years ago we heard of improvements to be made at the hospital. Of course I, along with a lot of other people, envisioned larger rooms with bath in each. It turned out to be the respiratory unit. The rooms were large, bright and had bathrooms. Beautiful. Then we found out these were for special patients. Well and good, we can certainly share some of our good luck and expertise with others in need. But, when do we get our improvements? The next big renovation turned out to be office space. Some of us are beginning to feel squeezed out and left out of our own hospital facilities. My Bible teaches me that charity should begin at home. I am thinking especially of begin at home. I am thinking especially of the benefit of our own acute care patients.

Hansels celebrate 50th

On February 17, Ralph and Alice Hansel of Brodhead will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. These years were not always easy ones, some very difficult indeed. Some were very good years, some very gratifying.

In 1940 the depression that had gripped this country was finally coming to an end, but those improvements were slow in coming to the hills of Kentucky. Alice Mink had just turned 19 and Ralph Hansel would see his 19th birthday later that year in July. Their educations were not of today's standards with Ralph having to quit school to help bring in money following the death of his father. Ralph and Alice decided to get married anyway.

They were married on February 17, 1940 and started their first home in September of '41. Troy was born and the family started to grow. Another son, Doug followed the next year in November. Ralph had tried driving a truck and also coal mining, searching for a way to make an adequate living. They developed a team work with Alice trying to keep the house and watch the boys while he worked various jobs. Things were about to change again. Ralph was drafted into the Army in '44 and served with the occupation forces in Japan. Upon his return from the service, Ralph was determined to try his hand at farming. In October of '45 Nina was born and they bought the "old Dory McKenny place" located in the hills behind Blue Springs. This was a beautiful place covered with hills, streams and was heavily wooded. The house had three rooms, a path and no electricity. They tried to coax a living from the rocky land with farming and lumbering. Linda was born in November of '48 and they tried to squeeze a little more out of the

Charting Rockcastle
 By: Richard Anderkin
 Managing Editor

No doubt you have probably noticed them alongside the roadways and what they are doing looks great. They are the individuals and clubs that have adopted stretches of Rockcastle County highway.
 As part of their adoption, they are committed to cleaning up the road-sides and keeping them clear for a two-year period.
 And believe me, some of the roadsides being cleaned up are disastrous, but the cleanup goes on and the people and clubs involved should be commended for their efforts.
 But, the main reason for the high-way adoption portion of this column. There is still two miles of road-way along the Sand Springs road that has not been adopted.
 The two mile stretch is actually the first two miles of roadway that runs out Mt. Vernon.
 Mrs. Gerardine Mize, who along with many others have adopted the road all the way to the county line want someone or some group to adopt this stretch of road including the young farmers, members of the All-County club and private individuals should be commended for their efforts.
 Everyone that has adopted some stretch of road including the young farmers, members of the All-County club and private individuals should be commended for their efforts.

Garbage is a major problem in our county and every little bit helps. If you are interested in adopting the last two miles of the Sand Springs road call Mrs. Mize at 256-4862.
 In Sunday's Herald-Leader there was a story about the Kentucky General Assembly, and how they will probably once again, not ban padding in public schools.
 Many other states have passed such a law and there are advocates of a no padding law in Kentucky.
 I'm not sure how I feel about the matter except that it is ridiculous to pad high school students.
 Very little, if any padding is done at the high school. They have a detention room that students are placed in if they get out of line. "The Blue Practor's treasury report made us know that our White Elephant sale, at Roberta Taylor's of 89 Halloween Party, paid off. Sylvia Whitsett sold the most Christmas items and Willie Cummins was a close second.
 Oh yes, Deborah Newland won the prize for naming the most kinds of pasta. Is she lucky or just plain smart?
 Loraine Newland and Willie Lane were so hesitant to attend Syd-le style service refreshments.
 Names were drawn for 1990 secret pals before they adjourned.

 land. Wayne was born in January of '33. It just wasn't going to work. Five kids, with two of them not even in school yet, needed a better chance at life. That's where we stay for the next 29 years. Christianity and the church became Ralph and Alice's guiding light and they dedicated their lives to helping it grow.
 Upon his retirement, they bought a small farm outside of Brodhead and moved back to the rolling hills they couldn't forget. There they raise a few chickens, a hog or a cow some-times and plant an enormous garden to insure they raise enough vegetables for both themselves and "the kids." Their life centers around the farm, the church and us.
 Well, "the kids" have grown up and made lives of their own. Troy, a machinist, is married to Becky and lives close to Mom and Dad near Somerset. Doug is a tool and die maker and lives in Reading, Ohio. Nind is married to Ray Lamb and is an executive secretary for GE in Evendale. Linda married Stan Mer-room" as it has been titled at the high school seems to have been effective. In the story in the Herald-Leader, one person is quoted as saying that public schools are still the only place one person can assault another and get away with it.

 One thing is for certain, discipline begins at home and if a student does something bad enough to warrant a paddling, their parents should be brought in.
 The problem should be discussed and if warranted some kind of punishment handed out.
 I know from experience that paddlings, especially in high school did not effect me. They were a joke to me and most everyone else.
 But I also know that bringing my parents in to discuss a discipline problem was no laughing matter far as I was concerned. I would have rather been beaten to death than with my parents and school officials about a problem I had caused.
 I have even seen kids beg for paddling in high school.
 I certainly don't believe in sparing the rod, which in turns spols the child, but I think that discipline belongs at home and I know that I don't want a grown man or woman hitting on my chin.
 I do want to know when they think a paddling is warranted and if so, it will be taken care of.
 You have to remember that there is always the element that enjoys being spanked. People, especially kids and I think there are better ways of discipline.
 But this is a controversial issue and our state legislature is not likely to touch it. Not this session anyway. As a point of interest, W. Adams has taken a lot of heat because of his views on automatic weapons.
 A lot of heat.
 Well, guns don't kill people, people kill people.
 But I don't really understand why people need such weapons either.
 But, one thing is certain if automatic weapons are banned, only the criminals will have them.
 All the heat like took was probably warranted.

the "Visions for the Future" contest. Students were asked to interpret and create a piece of art which would depict them or some phase of life in the future. Winners were to be chosen from each of the elementary schools and submitted to the Central office by Jan. 29th. ## YFA pickup garbage on U.S. 25

By: Stephen Trebolo

A total of 10 men met at 10 a.m. Feb. 10 and picked up litter along U.S. 25.

They were members of the Rockcastle County Young Farmers Association (YFA), and they bagged 40 55 gallon trash bags of garbage from U.S. 25 north of Renfro Valley.

If you saw them, they were wearing orange safety vests which were furnished by the Kentucky Department of Highways.

The Rockcastle Young Farmers have signed an agreement with the Kentucky Department of Highways to adopt a three-mile section of U.S. 25 for litter control. The YFA supplies the muscle and the state supplies bags, vests, signs, safety training, and landfill disposal.

The Young Farmers got the idea from citizens of Buffalo and Pongo, who were first to adopt a road in the county. The improvement in the appearance of Sand Springs Road has been remarkable. The YFA wanted to be involved too, and they are hopeful they can improve the appearance of another road.

The section of highway adopted by the YFA is from near Drutcher's, through Renfro Valley, and up to the top of Green Fish Hill. This section was chosen because of the very heavy traffic, flow and the passing tourists. The YFA wants to make a good impression on tourists and other visitors to our county.

Any person or group of persons who want to adopt a highway should contact Douglas Gooch in Somerset at 678-8111. Gooch is the state employee who coordinates the program in Rockcastle County. He plans to speak at the Rockcastle Improvement Council meeting at noon on Feb. 26 at the Rockcastle Steak House. If anyone would rather contact someone in the county about adopting a road, Calvin Mize of Buffalo has been helping with the paper work and would be glad to help. And if you don't adopt a road, please, please, don't litter.

graduate of Washington and Lee University in Virginia where he received a bachelor of science degree in business administration in 1985. He worked with IMS, an Atlanta-based software firm specializing in portfolio management systems before joining the management division of Jerrico Inc., in Lexington in 1986.

While at Jerrico, Haywood held several positions including project manager, operations for development of Florentine Italian restaurants, project director for development of Fazzoli's Italian restaurant pilot unit and operations analyst for the company's 1500-unit Long John Silver's Seafood Shoppe chain.

Besides working on the lodge, Haywood will develop a quick service restaurant and concessions for the new Renfro Village, which is part of the multi-million dollar expansion that is presently underway in the historic Kentucky Valley.

Haywood will also be largely responsible for the development of Aunt Polly's Boarding House Restaurant which will be located at the end of Main Street in Renfro Village. Since taking over Haywood has hired Hal Moberly as restaurant manager and head chef at the lodge. Moberly is a graduate of Johnson and Wales, Culinary School in Charleston, South Carolina. He presently lives in Winchester, but will move to London where his wife is originally from.

Plans are to open the lodge by the middle of March and when in full operation 50 to 60 employees will be working at the restaurant.

"Miller Time"

By: John Holbrook

It was Miller time in Rupp Arena when Vandy came to town UK fans were a roaring But Vandy had a frown.

The first half was not too unusual Except Miller made his 1000th point But what happened in the second half Put that Vandy team out of joint

Miller scored from everywhere From three point land and on the drive

So in the second half Vandy had some trouble Keeping their game alive.

At one point in the ballgame Miller scored 8 points to Vandy none This may have been the beginning Of UK unstoppable run.

"Miller was unbelievable" Vandy coach Eddie Fogler said And our three point defense Let UK get way ahead.

"It was my best game" Miller was heard to say And that just goes to show you That Miller had his day.

Congratulations Miller on your 1000th And your 40 point game I hope this will make you better And you'll never be the same.

Of course Miller you received some help

From everyone on the team And this gave everyone a boost At least to me that's the way it seems.

in fact, make sizeable contributions to the campaign funds of those who vote their way. If it's after 5 p.m., as you read this, the chances are great that your senator or representative in Frankfort are getting washed up to attend a social function this very evening where they will be wined and dined by a special interest group.

Wallace Wilkinson has the legislators squirming. His proposal that certain special interest groups commence paying their fair share does not bode well with the lawmakers. If it's after 6 p.m., the chances are great that your legislator is now sitting at a dinner table or having drinks with one or more of those groups the governor has singled out. Check on him or her at the same time tomorrow night.

"We supported you," your legislator is being told. "We expect you to support us."

"That's the way things work in Frankfort and that's the reason that our schools and roads are in such pitiful shape when compared to the rest of America.

The legislature is going to be very reluctant to place any burden on the special interests because they have to live with them every day. It's difficult to cut a steak and then bite the hand that served it. Key leaders in the House and Senate are posturing to keep things just the way they are by saying that Wilkinson is out of favor with the legislature, that nothing he proposes has a chance of passing.

"We could have made some changes," they will tell us when the session is over... "but we couldn't because the governor was for them." Lobbyists for the special interest groups are helping legislators develop that argument as you read this column. Right now.

Weight Loss Pill 'Baffles' Scientists

WASHINGTON - Scientists are baffled by a new weight loss formula that causes people to lose weight even though they don't change the way they normally eat.

Studies published in respected scientific journals such as The British Journal of Nutrition say that cymopsis tetragonolobus, an ingredient often used to thicken ice cream, can cause permanent weight loss without dieting or exercise. Although several explanations for the weight loss are suggested, the most likely according to scientists is that the ingredient seems to "trap" high calorie fat particles, decreasing their absorption in the intestines.

Scientists at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, have successfully isolated and incorporated cymopsis tetragonolobus into an improved formula that greatly enhances the potential for weight loss over the ingredient alone. Called Food Source One, the revolutionary new formula provides a three-way scientifically designed process to help prevent calorie absorption.

The mechanism by which Food Source One works to decrease body weight is a complicated process and nutri-bonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, high calorie fats are replaced with lower calorie nutrients, thereby providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of fat calories as explained in an instruction sheet that accompanies the tablets. The instruction sheet should be followed for optimum results.

Food Source One is unlike any other product on the market and is available immediately because it is not a drug and only contains natural ingredients already known to be safe. Physicians and pharmacists are praising Food Source One as a natural, drug free alternative for the treatment of obesity.

Roundstone completed; Mt. Vernon on schedule

By: Richard Anderkin

"Things are actually a little ahead of schedule at Mt. Vernon," Superintendent Bige Towery told board members at their regular monthly meeting last week.

He was referring to the new elementary school at Mt. Vernon and he was updating the board on the 4 million dollar project.

"They will be ready for us to move out of the old structure at the end of school and into the new one, so the old structure can come down," Towery said.

Although the new building will be furnished with mostly new furniture it will still be a tedious operation to get what is still needed from the old school to the new one and to get what is not needed at the new school, but what might be needed elsewhere into storage, Towery told the board.

"That will be our biggest obstacle when we start the moving process this summer," he said.

Towery also told board members that work would begin very soon on the clean-up of the swamp area near the school.

The Superintendent said that he had talked with Dave Edwards of the local Soil Conservation office and he had informed him that district engineers had the plan in place to clean up the area and install a drainage tile and chain link fence.

He told board members that approval from them would probably be needed at the next board meeting.

Roundstone school's recent addition was also discussed by the board. Towery told members that classes were being held in the new addition now and that everything seemed to be going fine.

One problem did occur when the wrong size furniture was sent to the school, but Towery said students are using their old desks for the time being and the small furniture is being used elsewhere. He said new furniture would be bought for the classrooms very soon.

RCHS will have a track team this spring.

During the meeting Tom Larkey and Tammy Cox were hired to head up the first ever such program at high school.

Towery told board members that Larkey had worked out something with Berea for the time being to use their facilities, but that many events could be held at the high school this year.

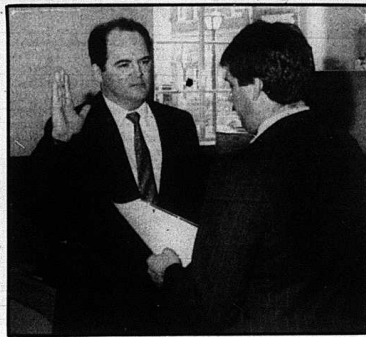

Towery also said it was the long range plans of the high school to build a track around the football field.

Mrs. Phyllis Bullock gave a presentation to the board about the Upper Cumberland Special Education Co-operative, which she directs from the administration offices in Mt. Vernon.

The co-op consists of several surrounding counties and Rockcastle. RCHS students Cynthia Wolfe and Carrie Mullins along with teachers June Stevens and Betty Gloyer also gave the board a short presentation about the Home Economics department at the Home Economics department at the high school.

They explained about Future Homemakers of America and some of the classes they offer. They noted

New postmaster

William C. Hammons was sworn-in as the new Mt. Vernon postmaster in ceremonies Thursday morning. Hammons, who is from Corbin, is shown in the above photo with his wife, Brenda, his mother, Teresa and 8-year-old son, Lucas. There is a possibility that the new post office will open this week end but Hammons has said nothing definite.

Chamber meeting

About 20 interested persons, mostly business people, turned out for a organizational meeting of the Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce at the Red Top Restaurant, Thursday night.

Glenn Miller, owner of Red Top Restaurant in Mt. Vernon was elected president of the Chamber and Karen King, who owns Karish Construction with her husband David, was elected treasurer.

Other offices including vice president and secretary will be filled at the next meeting of the chamber on March 6th at the Red Top Restaurant.

School system may get 36 televisions

Getting about 36 new color television sets and two VCRs free sounds like a good deal.

It's good enough for the Rockcastle school administration and Rockcastle County High School faculty to look more closely at the promised gifts.

A Tennessee company has told Superintendent Bige Towery Jr., that Whittle Communications of Knoxville, which produces Channel One, will give the equipment to the high school on the condition the students watch a 12-minute news program daily that has two minutes of commercials, including such items as blue jeans, candy, soft drinks, and others.

Towery said he had listened to the company's presentation and felt he was interested enough to have the representative present it to the high school faculty on Feb. 21. Elementary schools are not included in the package.

"We would want to determine if there is enough benefits for our students, and if it would be feasible for the high school," Towery said. He added he would want to share the project with the school board.

Several school districts have been contacted about the project including Clay, Laurel, Body, Montgomery and Rowan. There are mixed reviews.

Channel One, which will be beamed to schools by satellite beginning March 5, has been criticized by the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) and groups nationwide. Others applaud the idea.

Opponents say schools have no business asking students to sit through advertisements for cars, blue jeans and acne medicine.

Also, the State Board of Education next month will consider whether to ban Channel One. But, if the board decides to do that, it also might have to restrict all TV programs, magazines and newspapers that carry ads.

There would be no cigarettes, alcoholic beverages or birth control devices advertised on the channel.

A spokesman for the company said watching the program would not be mandatory for a student in the room. He or she could do homework, read a book, or pursue some other school work if he or she so desired.

Schools that sign up for Channel One will get a satellite dish, one TV set for every 23 students, and at least one VCR.

Bill would keep drop-outs from getting license

By: Richard Anderkin

Beware teenagers, drivers license may be harder to come by than in the past.

That is, if a bill that has already passed the Kentucky House of Representatives becomes law.

House bill 43 would require that any student getting a Kentucky driver's license be passing at least four subjects in high school.

And if a student drops out of high school, they would not be eligible for their license until they turn 18 years old.

Of course, in Kentucky, a student can withdraw from school at age 16.

The bill, which was introduced by Democrat Mike Ward of Louisville is designed to keep children in school.

It is also much like the same bill that State Rep. Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon introduced in 1986 and 1988. Ford's bill never made it out of committee.

The only difference in this bill and Ford's is that Ford's required a student to maintain at least a 2.0 average. This bill only requires a student to pass four subjects. A "D" can be made in all four classes and a student would still qualify.

The bill passed the house last week by a vote of 71-26 and is now being considered by the Senate.

Ford, who voted for the measure said Tuesday that he expects the bill to pass in the Senate, but "you never know," he said.

Under the bill if a student has a GED and is not 18, but has dropped out of school, they are still eligible for their license.

Also if for some reason a student has to work to support their family, there are guidelines in the bill to allow that student to get his or her license.

But if a student simply drops out of school or does very poorly, they will get no license until they either return to school or start making better grades.

The representative will be there to assist veterans, their families, their dependents, or beneficiaries in the presentation, proof, and establishment of all claims, privileges, rights, and other benefits which they may have under federal, state, or local laws.

The office will be located in the court house with office hours from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Need a job?

The Bureau of the Census will have a recruiter taking applications from those interested in working the 1990 Census at the following locations:

Bullock retires after 14 years

During his working years, Glyn Bullock could be called a man for all jobs.

The 54-year-old Rockcastle resident and father of seven retired Feb. 7 after working many years in a variety of jobs, most of them all at the same time.

He was a school bus driver for 14 years, with never an accident or a child hurt.

He also sold tickets to the Renfro Valley Barn Dance for 14 years.

He was Rockcastle dog warden for over four years, and during that time he caught 1,583 dogs that were running loose, and as some who reported them said, they were terrorizing the populace.

If that many jobs were not enough, Bullock grew eight acres of tobacco last season, just another farming year that had continued since he was a boy.

And not to forget, he worked for over 12 years in a Cincinnati machine shop early in his working career.

Although he didn't say, his worst job must have been dog catcher. He showed the scars of dog teeth on his arms.

"Yes, some of them liked to bite and they bit me once in awhile," he said.

His hardest job must have been raising tobacco, since it's virtually a year-round, back-breaking undertaking, or so most growers say.

Bus driving was an off-and-on pleasure, but it was not simply stopping and letting students on an off depending on the time of day.

"The kids are three times as hard to control now than when I first started driving the bus," Bullock recalled. "Usually there's only two or three bad ones on the bus who liked to cause a disturbance or fight. But that was something I had to control, or break up."

He added that there are some students who get attached to, especially those who ride the bus for as long as 12 years.

His most enjoyable job probably was selling tickets for the Renfro Barn Dance on weekends.

"I always enjoyed that," he related. "You get to know people who come to Renfro every year and they remember you. I like people and to meet new people and there were lots of them at Renfro."

He said he seldom had a problem with Renfro visitors. If he did it was usually someone who didn't like where they were sitting during the show.

"Renfro has had its regular visitors year after year," Bullock said. "Some of them even bring you little gifts from time to time."

Now that Renfro is expanding,

Bullock decided it was time he called it quits, along with his other jobs. He also has health problems to contend with.

"My doctor advised me to give up a lot of the things I've been doing, and although I don't want to, I guess I'll have to do what he says," he declared. So, he'll be at home with his wife Patricia and two children who are still at home on Cove Branch Road.

His retirement means, obviously, there will be at least three jobs open in the county for someone. But for Glyn and his family, they will continue to take care of the tobacco and the garden.

Glyn Bullock has worked at Renfro Valley, been a bus driver, was county dog warden and farmed most of his life.

The Kentucky chapters of the Arthritis Foundation and American Cancer Society will jointly benefit from a $150,000 donation recently presented to local representatives of those agencies. The donation was made through the estate of the late Walter Bullock of Mt. Vernon. From left are: William D. Gregory, attorney for the Walter Bullock estate; Frances Davis, Somerset, executive of the Bullock estate; Margaret Ann Bowen, American Cancer Society; and Jo Ann Goby, Arthritis Foundation.

Girls lose to Mercer

By: Spencer Bengel

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets' 59-58 loss to the Mercer County Lady Scotie Friday, proved to be one of the most exciting finishes that has yet to be played at RCHS this year.

It all boiled down to a last second shot by Lady Rocket Jennifer Thacker to decide the outcome of the game.

But it took a lot of heart and a lot of hustle for the Lady Rockets to come back as they trailed by as much as 10 in the first half.

The Lady Scotie came out patient and with good ball movement waited for the openings inside to get the percentage shots and run the tally to 13-8 over the Lady Rockets in the first period.

The 5 point margin then turned into 10 early in the second period as the Lady Scotie continued to play fundamental ball against the Lady Rockets.

But the Lady Rockets didn't lay down, instead, they started hitting the boards and running with the ball to score three consecutive baskets and cut the Lady Scotie lead to 3.

The Lady Scotie then sank 2 from the stripe and extended their lead to 31-26 which carried into the half.

But the game would soon unfold in the second half as the Lady Rockets brought the crowd to their feet with one minute remaining in the third period.

Jennifer Thacker started the attack with a fastbreak feed to Stephanie Northern who scored on a layup to pull the Rockets within 3.

The Lady Rockets then followed with a steal and another layup to cut the margin to 1 and bring the crowd into the game.

The Rocket fans were silenced for a brief moment after a 3 pointer by the Lady Scotie, but were right back in it when Northern connected for 2 of her game high 19, to bring the Lady Rockets within 2, 42-40.

The final period was now at hand and Rocket fans as well as players and coaches would find themselves on the edge of their seats.

Northern was back of track and with another fastbreak layup tied the score at 42 all in the opening seconds of the fourth period.

The pace then slowed and the defense tightened as both teams were scoreless for the next two and a half minutes.

And then Thacker broke the ice while the crowd went crazy as she scored a 10 footer to give the Lady Rockets the lead 44-42 for the first time during the game.

But once again the Lady Scotie's came back, and with a 15 footer followed by 2 inside jump back out in front 46-44.

But Northern was there again for the Lady Rockets, and with a well executed rebound play, dropped in 2 from underneath to tie the game again at 46.

After sitting out for most of the second half with four fouls, Lady Rocket Donna Harper re-entered the game and did so with high fashion. Harper nailed a 3 pointer to give the Lady Rockets their biggest lead, 49-46 But it was all Harper could get as she had to exit the game with five fouls with 2:26 left to play.

The Lady Scotie's played the score with a 3 pointer of their own and then with a steal at half court and a jumper inside pushed the score to 51-49.

The Lady Scotie's then sank a free throw but none too soon as Lady

Boys lose fifth straight

The Rockcastle County boys varsity have fallen into a 5 game losing streak with 2 more losses on the road this past week and are now 5 and 11 on the year.

It was the Knox Central Panthers who came out on top Thursday with a score of 89-80 while on Friday it was the Whitley County Colonels who walked away with the victory, 71-55.

The Rockets never led in either game although they were close in Thursday's loss to the Panthers.

Steve Clark was back in the lineup and had 15 points along with Billy Todd's 19 to help the Rockets cut a 10 point Panther lead to 4 by the half.

But forward Tony Patterson poured in a game high of 36 while guard Darren Mills pumped in 26 to lead the Panthers through the second half and take the game by 9.

Also scoring were: David Sargent, 11; Robbie Phillips, 9; William Bullens, 8; Darren Smith, 7; Chris Newland, 5; David Eaton, 4; Micah Parkerson, 2.

It wasn't much of a contest against the Colonels Friday night as the Rockets fell to a 14 point deficit early.

The Rockets shot poorly and Billy Todd was the only player to reach double figures as he led the Rockets with 12 points.

Also scoring were: Steve Clark, 9; Robbie Phillips, 9; David Sargent, 5; Tim Cottrell, 5; Chris Newland, 5; Micah Parkerson, 4; Darren Smith, 3 and David Eaton, 3.

Saylor Pharmacy's Basketball Contest

Natural's is located on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon, Ph. 256-2244

Wimp Sanderson's clubs usually have trouble winning on the road, but when it comes to the friendly confines of Coleman Memorial Arena in Tuscaloosa the Tide has no problem winning. Rick Pitino's Cats will have to play better Saturday than they have all year long and without an extra effort on everyone's part, they will lose. Take the Tide.

Denny Crum's club is showing signs of late that they are ready to fold their tent for 1990. No one thought Bobby Cremen's club could come into Freedom Hall and win Saturday, but they did. The Cards must travel to Virginia Saturday and on paper it looks like a win for the visiting team. But then again it looked like the Cards would win at Ohio State too. Crum may have the same problem that Joe Hall experienced for years, too many late games and not enough minutes, which in turn leads to some unhappy campers and some mediocre play.

There are some sure wins in the contest this week, but no other game will be as easy to pick as the Notre Dame game. Digger Phelps has to be the worse coach in division one basketball. His record proves it. This year has been no exception for Notre Dame and when they travel to the Carrier Dome this weekend the Fighting Irish will be no more than a scrimmage game for the Orangemen.

For some reason Indiana remains in the top 25 despite losing several games. This weekend the Hawkeyes will travel to Bloomington to take on the Hoosiers. It is usually best to pick the home team in most cases, but considering Indiana's record look for the Hawkeyes to pull an upset.

Terry Mills and company will travel to Ohio State this weekend for a showdown with Terry Ayers club. Michigan looked impressive Sunday when they easily defeated Illinois, but their journey into Columbus certainly will be no picnic. Perry Carter and the rest of the Buckeyes will be ready for the Wolverines and while Steve Fisher may have won the NCA last year, he hasn't shown great coaching ability this season. Take the Buckeyes, they are always tough at home.

Mississippi State, Iowa State, UNC Charlotte, UNLV and DePaul should all win this weekend.

Scoring for the Rockets were Scott Parkey with 17, William Bullens was high with 22, Micah Parkerson put in 9, Kevin Mullins and Tim Cottrell both had 4, Chris Newland had 3 while Roger Hasty and Clark Mullins each had 2.

B-team loses two

The only team with a winning record at the Rockcastle County High School has now brought their record to 6-6 after two losses.

The boys' junior varsity fell to Knox Central and to Whitley Co. This past week in close games.

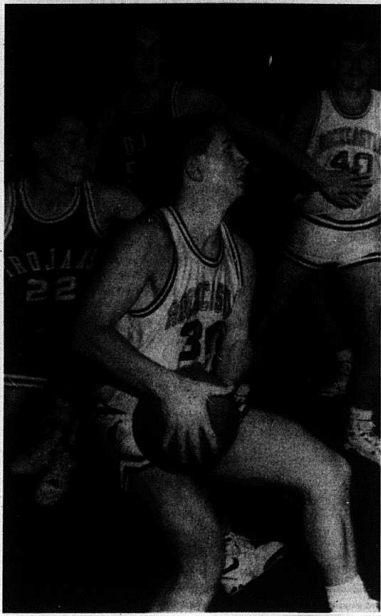

William Bullens' 28 points against Knox Central wasn't enough as the Panthers downed the Rockets 61-55. Other scorers beside Bullens were: Scott Parkey, 10; Micah Parkerson, 9; Tim Cottrell, 4; Chris Newland, 4; Clark Mullins, 2.

The Rockets also lost to Whitley Co. 69-62.

William Bullens had another good night pumping in 20 points in the losing effort. Also scoring were: Chris Newland, 8; Scott Parkey, 8; Micah Parkerson, 6; Roger Hasty, 6; Scottie Mullens, 6; Tim Cottrell, 4 and Kevin Bullens, 4.

Senior forward Steve Clark muscles inside for the Rockets in Tuesday night's 72-43 loss against the Monte Alto Trojans. Clark was high man with 14 points. Other Rockets scoring were: William Bullens, 10; David Sargent, 9; David Eaton, 7; Micah Parkerson, 7; Chris Newland, 6; Robbie Phillips, 5; Scott Parkey, 3 and Darren Smith with 2.

'Girls lose to Mercer'

Rocket Angle Seters pumped in one from 3 point range for yet another tie at 52 all.

But things took a turn for the worse as the Lady Scotties sank another 3 pointer and then, after a steal were sent to the free-throw line as April Burton committed her fifth personal with one minute to go. Burton left the game with 11 points, 8 rebounds and 3 blocked shots, some hard numbers to replace.

The Lady Scotties sank both free throws to pull away by 5 but found it wasn't enough as the Lady Rockets came charging back with Seters connecting with another jumper from 3 point range and cut the lead to 2.

And after a Lady Scottie miss, the Lady Rockets were on the run with Thacker leading the way. In picture perfect form, Thacker dished off to Northern who scored on the lay up while drawing a foul in the process.

With the score 57 all and only 30 seconds remaining, Northern stood at the line and touched nothing but net to push the Lady Rockets ahead with a 1 point advantage.

On the next trip down the floor, the Lady Scotties let patience prevail as they found an opening on the weak side of the defense and with a quick pass connected with 2 to pull back up by 1.

With only four seconds remaining and trailing by 1, the Lady Rockets called for a timeout to set up the final play which would decide the outcome of the game.

Seters set up the inbound pass and lofed a pass over the top to Thacker, who drove to the basket and pulled up from ten feet and with desperation released the ball as the horn sounded. The gymnasium was silent as the ball traveled to the basket and bounced off the rim and onto the floor. It was no good and the Lady Scotties of Mercer County were the victors.

Other scorers besides Northern were: April Burton, 11; Jennifer Thacker, 9; Angie Seters, 9; Donna Harper, 7; Karla Bullock, 5.

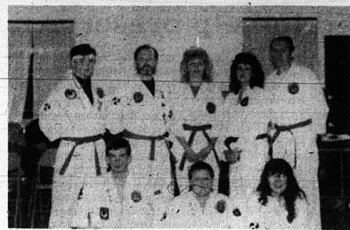

In other action, the Lady Rockets traveled to Jackson County Thursday and were soundly defeated by the Lady Generals 88-47.

Stephanie Northern was high for the Rockets with 13 points; April Burton added 11; Donna Harper scored 9; Karla Bullock chipped in 6; Jennifer Thacker had 4 while Beth Amyx and Tiffany Carter both had 2.

Bill to help preserve natural areas

The state legislature is considering a bill to help preserve Kentucky's natural areas and provide more public outdoor recreation sites.

If passed, the Kentucky Heritage Land Conservation Fund, administered by a seven member board, would allow state agencies to purchase land from willing sellers for wildlife management areas, wetlands, nature preserves, state parks and forests and outdoor recreation/education areas.

Fund monies will come from an increase in the existing land transfer fee which all property sellers pay in Kentucky. The increase would double the current fee (to $1 per $1,000 of property value). Potentially, the land conservation fund could receive as much as $5 million annually to help meet the increasing demand for additional outdoor recreational areas for public use.

Compared to surrounding states, Kentucky is about one million acres behind when it comes to providing wildlife recreation areas for its residents to enjoy. In fact, each Kentucky resident has less than .03 of an acre of public lands for outdoor recreation. And as Kentucky continues to grow in economic development, bringing more industries and more people into the state, the demand for quality recreational opportunities keeps escalating.

Currently, no source of money is available capable of funding the kind of land acquisition program needed to provide these recreational opporunities and protect Kentucky's remaining wetlands and natural areas. The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is the primary state agency that purchases land for wildlife conservation and recreation. The agency is funded by hunting and fishing license sales plus some federal monies (related to sports license sales); it receives no general fund tax dollars. This means sportsmen carry the entire cost of operating the fish and wildlife department, an agency whose programs benefit all Kentuckians, not just sportsmen.

The point is the fish and wildlife department has limited dollars to spend on all of its programs, including land acquisition. The agency has identified close to $100 million worth of waterfowl habitat that needs to be set aside for conservation purposes, but these land areas may be lost (converted to agricultural or industrial purposes) before they can be purchased.

All Kentuckians, especially outdoor recreationists, will reap the benefits of the Kentucky Heritage Land Conservation Fund, which in-addition to setting aside wetlands and unique habitat areas that support rare and endangered species, will help preserve what's left of the state's once beautiful natural areas.

Consider these facts: Kentucky once had 23 million acres of forest, over two million acres of prairie and 1.6 million acres of wetlands.

Currently, less than half of Ken-

Bad Grades
no license

If for some reason a student who already has his or her license begins making failing grades, school officials will be required to report that to the local Department of Transportation in Frankfort, where their license will be revoked.

"I think it gives students a little more incentive to stay in school and make better grades," Ford said. "One thing is for certain, we can't teach them, if they are not there," he said.

The Senate is expected to vote on the measure in a couple of weeks and if passed the bill will go to Governor Wallace Wilkinson for signing.

"Of course the Governor can veto the bill," Ford said. "But when he ran for Governor, this type of bill was part of his platform, so I don't think he will," he said.

In other business the board voted to award GED certificates to Irene D. Blair, Paul V. Gayheart Jr., and Angela A. Pruitt.

They also hired Jim Cash, Linda May, Mary Collins and Charles Thomas as substitute bus drivers.

tucky's original forest remains and only 200 acres of scattered and degraded prairie are left. Only 20 percent of the state's wetlands remain to soak up and filter flood waters and provide homes for various plants and animals.

Kentuckians cannot allow this trend to continue. We must achieve a balance between industrial population growth and the preservation of Kentucky's natural areas, not only for ourselves but for future generations to enjoy.

For more information on the current status of public wildlife recreation lands in Kentucky, contact your district wildlife biologist or any wildlife management area supervisor with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, you may also call the fish and wildlife department's wildlife division, (502) 564-4406 or the public relations division, (502) 564-4336 for more information.

"Televisions"

"My first reaction is that we would be exploited," said Paige Daniel, a senior and the student council president in Rowan County. "Funding education takes sacrifices. . . Now we're sacrificing our integrity."

Channel One has received similar criticism since a five-week test series was aired in March in five high schools and one junior high across the nation.

South Carolina, New York and California have told schools there not to use the program. Education departments in Alabama, Georgia, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Wyoming also have denounced it.

Five national organizations, including the National Education Association, American Association of School Administrators and National PTA, held a news conference in December to urge members not to use the program in their schools.

White's representative said he found such opposition fascinating because students are expected to score 40 TV commercials a day. "When students are home," they're watching "Green Acres," "Gilligan's Island" or MTV," he said. "Two more minutes of commercials are not going to really impact their world."

Segments of the program include headlines, multipart series and features.

A map of the world shows where major events of the day took place, and stylish, computer-generated art fill the screen between stories.

One of the programs from last year had a five-part report on what kinds of jobs would be available in the 1990s and a feature on the civil rights movement.

Channel one is produced in New York by Cynthia Samuels, former political and planning producer for NBC's "Today" show.

After watching the sample videotape, Daniel, the student council president, said that the program was "really slick" but that it did not go into enough detail about breaking news stories.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Marriage was ordained by God for man's good and for his happiness. Yet we see in our country that over 50% of these marriages are breaking up and ending in divorce. The reason why people are unhappy in marriage and so many fall apart is because God's laws are being broken. Let's look at some of the principles that will help make a happy marriage.

First and foremost is Love in the home which will help any relationship. "Nevertheless let everyone of you in particular so love his wife even as himself, and the wife see that she reverence her husband." It's said to see the ill-will, hatred, disrespect, contempt and animosity in a home. All that are involved will be miserable and unhappy with it. Love, which is an active good-will, is something we choose to do, not mere feelings. When husbands choose to love their wives, and the wife will choose to love her husband in response to his love then the thing will grow and blossom as a rose.

Forgiveness is one of the necessary ingredients to a good home. The reason being is because frail, weak humans are those who make up the home. We sometimes fall short and hurt one another. Forgiveness is needed by all from time to time. "And be ye kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving one another. . ." Eph. 4:32. Be willing to forgive and to ask for forgiveness.

Another great quality is the desire to get along and work as a team. When each mate will recognize their God-ordained role, and seek to fulfill their place in the home, and encourage and help the other in their role, nothing but good can come from such. Some people have no desire to get along and such should never marry.

Marriage is a companionship, a friendship and true friends seek each other's best for the other. Friends try to get along and help each other out. "A man that hath friends must shew himself; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother" Pr. 18:24.

Finally, communication is essential to a good home life. "Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to the knowledge of 3:7. Speech that is always truthful; caring; considerate; encouraging can increase the joys and blessings of marriage. When couples "clam up" and quit talking one to another, then trouble will be on the horizon."

On or about April 15, 1990, the above named City of Livingston will request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to release Federal funds under the Urban Development Action Grant Program (UDAG) for the following project:

Rockcastle Hospital Respiratory Care Center Expansion
Construction and Equipping of an Addition to the Existing Hospital to Provide 28 Additional Beds for a Total of 60 Respiratory Care Beds

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the above named city has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:

- Only temporary and minimal adverse effects will occur as a result of the project activities, such as noise and dust during construction.
- The long-term environmental effects outweigh the short-term effects above. Positive effects include improved health conditions for residents in the project area.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the City of Livingston which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at City Hall between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the requestor release of federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Livingston to the office of the undersigned. Such written comments should be received at the address specified below on or before March 2, 1990. All such comments so received will be considered, and the City of Livingston will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified on the preceding sentence.

The City of Livingston will undertake the project described above with UDAG funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. ## Brodhead students go out for "Reflections" contest

The National PTA Reflections fine arts contest preliminary round ended at Brodhead Elementary on January 26th. This is a contest sponsored nationwide by the National PTA. The school winners will be sent on to the District Council in Somerset to be judged next week. There we will be competing against entrants from several surrounding counties. In the past few years, Brodhead has had several winners from District competition who have gone on to state judging. Last year one of our students, Michael Todd, won 1st in photography at the state level. We were very proud of him.

The categories of students entered were: Fine Arts, Photography and Literature. We had approximately 135 students to enter and the judges had a difficult job choosing from all this fine work. We have many talented students who took advantage of the opportunity to enter these contests

Tiger Pause

We are in the midst of "I Love to Read Week," which culminates tomorrow (Friday) with guest speakers from our county coming to read a story to introduce a book, or to tell why they love to read. Each grade will have a different speaker, and they are: K, Ruby Stewart; 1st, Joan Cash; 2nd, Joe Bussell; 3rd, Billy Riddle; 4th, Bro. Wendell Romans; 5th, David Ott; 6th, Doug Brock; 7th, Sam Ford; and 8th, Judge Roland Mullins.

Our cooks are getting into the spirit of this week by serving a special menu featuring Porky pig barbecue on hot cross buns, one-potato two-potato french fries, ole King Cole slaw, Little Boy Blue haystacks, and the crowd-jumped-over-the-moon milk. The lunch will be served by Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

Remember to save your cash register receipts when you purchase Jif Peanut Butter through April 30. Send them to school and help us get money for our school.

and many students entered more than one division.

We chose a 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winner in each category and two Honorable Mentions. Each child who participated will be the PTA's guest at a refreshment party planned and hosted by our school's PTA. They will also receive a "Tiger Spirit" ribbon.

Our school winners this year who go on to district judging are: Literature - 1st Regina Blanton, 2nd Billy Cromer, 3rd Kimberly Shivel and Honorable Mentions April Price and Beth Harper. These students were in the 4th through 6th grade division. The 7th and 8th grade Literature winners were: 1st Beth Collins, 2nd Kristy Bullock, 3rd Melissa Hayes and Honorable Mentions Shanna Stevens and Jessica Todd.

The Photography winners were: 1st Jeremy Neely in the K-3 division. The 4th through 6th grade winners were: 1st Susan DeLoach, 2nd Krystal McClure, 3rd Heather Burton and Honorable Mention Krystal McClure and Danette Harris. The 7th and 8th grade winners were: 1st Rachel Trebalo, 2nd John Kirk, 3rd Jason Scoggin and Honorable Mentions Eric Hayes and Adrienne Gabbard. We had a lot of students who entered this category this year and many fine photographs were turned in.

Our most heavily entered category was Visual Arts and the winners were: 1st Jennifer Alsop, 2nd Cassandra Falin, 3rd Ashley Harris and Honorable Mentions John Dyehouse and Jessica Childress in the K through 3rd division. In the 4th through 6th they were: 1st Nicole Calloway, 2nd Emily Potter, 3rd Derek Tompkins and Honorable Mentions Adrienne Sargent and Betsy Mink. In the 7th and 8th division 1st was Rachel Trebalo, 2nd Heath Saylor, 3rd Kristy Bullock and Honorable Mentions Paula Delph and Angie Pittman. We have many fine artists in our school and the pictures were all beautiful.

This year's theme was "Where Does the Sky End?" and all Art, Literature and Photography had to reflect that theme to be eligible to enter.

Mrs. Sharon McKinney, who coordinated this year's contest, would like to thank all the teachers and parents who encouraged their children to participate. Also, a very special thanks to this year's judges who did such a wonderful job choosing the winners. It was very difficult because so much high quality work was turned in. Mrs. Pamela Martin, our 8th grade English and Literature teacher judged the Literature entries, Mr. Douglas Brock, a professional photographer was our very competent photo judge. Our art entries were judged by Mr. Allen Pensol, who holds a degree in art. We were very fortunate to have these fine and talented people to help us. Thanks to the PTA members for their help and to our principals for their support and enthusiasm.

Mrs. Sharon McKinney received this year's honorary lifetime membership from Broadhead's PTA. Since she became a member of the Cultural Arts Program, entries in the "Reflections" contest have tripled. Mrs. Jennifer Neely, this year's president, is shown presenting the award to Mrs. McKinney.

The soup label contest ended last Friday. The winning classes will be announced later. Don't forget to keep saving the Campbell's labels for next year's contest. This is an annual thing for us, and we have been able to get some good classroom materials over the years.

The fourth six weeks grading period ended Tuesday, report cards will go home next Tues., Feb. 20. Be sure to read the "Letter to Parents" enclosed in the report cards.

Although BES was first in attendance this past month, we ranked only 94.4%. We want to be first next month, but with a much higher percentage. Let's all work on this! Orders for t-shirts are being taken this week. The shirts are black with an orange logo. They are selling for $8 each and must be prepaid. Students must return their order forms and money by Mon., Feb. 19. We have had many requests for t-shirts this year, and we feel this will help boost school spirit, as well as provide a nice piece of clothing.

Congratulations to our school winners for the National geography bee: Bobby Mosley and Miah Taylor!

We are pleased to recognize our third grade teachers this week. We welcome Mrs. Duina Thompson this year from Broughtontown; she received her B.S. from Campbellsville

College and her MA from EKU. Mrs. Lillie Parsons earned her degree from

Berea College. Mrs. Kelly Pensol has her Rank I from EKU. These teachers work hard to accomplish their educational goals and they consistently have good attendance.

Some important things to consider when choosing your family's health insurance...

When your child's temperature is 104° at three o'clock in the morning, you shouldn't have to take him to Lexington.

But, that's exactly what some health insurance companies expect you to do. In order for their insurance to cover emergency medical care that's provided at your local hospital, the emergency must meet their criteria and definition of an "emergency" and what's "medically necessary"... or you pay the bill.

When your child is sick or injured, you need (and deserve) immediate care, not a corporate checklist to determine if your child is sick or injured "enough" by someone else's standards.

And, you want the assurance of knowing that your child's doctor can meet you at your local hospital emergency room if needed.

What does all this mean? Very simply, by selecting some insurance plans for your family you may have to:

1 Travel out-of-town to one of your insurance company's affiliated hospitals for emergency medical care, unless you are certain the emergency is covered under your policy. If you go to your local hospital's

2 Be hospitalized in another city in a hospital that your insurance company, not you, has chosen. Even if you are admitted to your local hospital in an emergency, you will be transferred to one of the insurance compa- chosen physicians who admit patients at their affiliated hospitals.

4 Your local family physician will probably not participate in your care because you will be required to go to another city.

When you're faced with the decision of selecting your family's health insurance, consider these points, which could have a dramatic effect on you and your family:

- Emergency care — Exactly what conditions and injuries are defined as an "emergency" in order to be covered if care is provided at your local hospital? Who determines what constitutes an "emergency" or "medically necessary"—the insurance company or your local emergency room staff?
- Physician selection — Will you be allowed to choose a local physician specialist, or must you select one of the insurance company's designated physicians in another city? Will your family physician be able to provide your care if you require hospitalization in another city?
- Hospital services — Can both inpatient (i.e. hospitalized overnight) and outpatient care services (e.g. surgery, lab work, x-rays, physical therapy) be provided at your local hospital, or to be covered will you be required to travel to one of the insurance company's affiliated hospitals?

Choosing your family's health insurance plan may be one of the most important decisions you'll ever make. Consider your options. Ask questions. Carefully examine the facts. Don't allow someone else to choose your physician or hospital for you.

emergency room, the insurance company may not pay for the care unless it meets their absolute definition of an emergency.

ny's affiliated hospitals once you have been stabilized..

3 Be cared for by a physician specialist that someone else chooses for you. The insurance company has

WISH THEM WELL, THEY'LL NEED OUR HELP AND PRAYERS

One of the principal differences between a free society and a totalitarian one is that we elect our governing officials, who win by a complicated process based on receiving a majority of the votes. This means that there are also those of us who would have preferred another candidate or slate of officers, and who received the news of this defeat with not only disappointment but also great apprehension about the fate of our country. Nonetheless, when the majority speak, the remainder must accept the verdict with good grace; and we must all pray at our House of Worship for the Lord to guide the chosen leaders in the right direction. Also, we should let them know of our concerns and recommendations. If we all do this, it might enable them to do a better job; and prove our fears about the future to be completely unfounded.

The only legitimate right to govern is an express grant of power from the governed.
William Henry Harrison
