

Tiger Pause

The 4-H Variety Show was held on Tuesday, February 27. We were pleased to have so many talented students to represent our school. Our club acts were sponsored by Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Cash, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Graves and Mrs. McKinney. Mrs. McKinney's class also had two specialty acts and Mrs. Grave's class had one specialty act. We appreciate the time and effort these teachers and students give to activities such as these. It takes extra-curricular activities to help make well-rounded students.

Our attendance has improved, and we are expecting it to get even better. We had several classes to have perfect attendance for eight days in a row. They are Mrs. O. A. Owens, Mr. Nelson Graves and Mrs. Caroline Graves' class is doing great with fifteen straight, watch out Pizza Hut, here we come!

Some exciting things to look forward to in the coming months include "RCHS Chorus on March 28;

"MacBeth" on April 12 for grades 4-8; "Town Mouse, Country Mouse" on April 16 for grades K-3; "Vagabond Puppies" "Sleeping Beauty" on April 27 and 7th/8th grade banquet will be on the Friday, May 18; graduation date has not been set as of this date.

The last day to order a T-shirt will be Mon., March 5. They cost $8.00 and will be available in about two weeks after the last order date. Thank you for supporting our school.

Our recent spelling bee winners were 1st Ryan Bradley, 2nd Chris Arch Bradley, and 3rd Joshua McKibben in grades 4-6; 1st J.D. Bussell and 2nd April Cromer in junior high.

We salute our fifth grade teachers this week. Mrs. Judy Doyle teaches an A.A. in Ornamental horticulture and her Rank II in Education from ECU; Mrs. Onna Kay Owens received her B.S. and M.A. from ECU where she also received her Rank II in Administration; Mrs. Charlotte Bullock, who was featured last week as a fourth grade teacher, also teaches fifth grades.

An RCHS Minute

Feb. 25 - Mar. 6

Governor's Cup - Last Saturday, the RCHS Governor's Cup District winners traveled to Madison Central High School for the Regional competition. Those participating were Marilyn Coffey, Chuck Mick, Kevin Rowe, Carrie-Mullins and Angela McKinney. The top four competitors in each area will advance to the state level in Louisville later this month.

District Tourney. The finals of the District Tournament will be held at Clay County High School on Friday, March 2nd. Also on Friday, the RCHS and HSVS Business Law classes will be going to Frankfurt on a field trip. They will be observing a state legislative session on that day.

Track and Field. On Thursday, March 1st, the first meeting of prospective members for the new RCHS track & field team will be held from 3:00 to 5:00 in the gym. Events in which the team will compete when the season begins include the long jump, the high jump, the shot put, the discus throw, and the triple jump (for boys). Running events will include the 100M, 200M, 400M, 800M (1/2 mile, 1 mile, 2 mile, 400M relay, 800M medley relay (for girls), 1 mile relay, 2 mile relay, 300M hurdles, 1000M low hurdles and 1100M high hurdles (for boys).

Pictures. Spring pictures will be taken on Tuesday, March 6th. Students will be able to have individual or small-group pictures made on that day.

UK Competition. On Saturday, March 3rd, a group of students will compete in an academic competition called "Teams" at UK's campus. The contest is sponsored by UK's Engineering School and will consist of a two-hour written exam encompassing the subjects of math, biology, chemistry, English and computer.

The six students on each team will be allowed to work together and to use almost any kind of reference materials on the test. 30 schools will compete. Rockcastle's team will be Kevin Rowe, Chad Abney, Angela McKinney, Cindy Gregory, Chuck Mick and Jason Wilson.

Michelle Hamm to take part in Golden 100 competition

Kimberly Michelle Hamm of Mt. Vernon, a junior at Rockcastle County High School, will compete in the eighth annual Golden 100 scholastic competition March 4-5 at Murray State University.

The daughter of John and Connie Hamm of Mt. Vernon, she plans to major in aerospace engineering in college.

The Golden 100 is designed to recognize outstanding juniors in Kentucky. Students are selected for academic achievement, school and community service, leadership and creativity. They will take nationally standardized tests in English, mathematics, natural science and social science while at MSU.

All accredited high schools in the Commonwealth were invited to nominate as many as three juniors for consideration in the program.

the program, stated, "This is the eighth anniversary of the Golden 100 program. Golden 100 was conceived to recognize, encourage and challenge the most outstanding high juniors in the Commonwealth and to enhance scholarship eligibility and opportunity for those deserving students."

Murray State University is proud to host Kentucky's highest, most personable, articulate and well-rounded high school juniors."

Students who earn top scores in the academic testing will be awarded trophies; those who write outstanding essays will also receive awards. Their high schools will receive certificates signed by acting MSU President James Booth and Kentucky Gov. Wallace Wilkinson.

All participants will be listed on the golden 100 Honor Roll, which will be sent to all Kentucky colleges and universities.

Conservation District begins reading contest March 1

A reading contest sponsored by the Rockcastle County Conservation District in cooperation with the Rockcastle County Board of Education begins March 1.

The purpose of the contest is to increase students' understanding of natural and resource conservation and to encourage students to read.

The contest is open to all school children enrolled in grades one through eight in Rockcastle County. The books qualifying for the contest are those which are about the conservation of soil, water, forests and wildlife or related books. There will be prizes of free pizzas and soft drinks from Pizza Hut in Mt. Vernon for all students who read five books or more. Cash prizes of $25, $20, $15, $10, $10, $5, $5 and $5 will be awarded at each elementary school.

Awards will be based on the number and kinds of books read for the student's grade level. Students may get the book report forms from their school librarians.

Books are available at the Rockcastle County Library and at the four elementary schools. A list of rules can be found at the school libraries.

LIKE THE MONTH OF MARCH, PEOPLE CAN BE UNPREDICTABLE

March is perhaps the most unpredictable month of the year. It can inflict more snow and freezing temperatures on an already winter-weary population, it can warm up for some balmy spring days, or it can turn unseasonably hot. Along with the inevitable wind, this has given rise to the lion/leopard description of its entry and exit. As we all know, there are some people like that. They can never make up their minds about what they want to do or where they want to go. They just drift along, without any roots or goals, and seldom accomplish anything worthwhile. If you have been floundering in this manner, help is at hand at your House of Worship. Just seek the Lord's guidance and let Him point you in the right direction. He put us all here for a reason, and He knows where we belong. All we have to do is trust Him.

There is no more miserable human being than one in whom nothing is habitual but indecision.
— William James

There is no... judgment in their goings; they have made them crooked paths."
— Isaiah 59:8

Church Announcements

Report from Maple Grove

The Maple Grove Baptist Church would like to announce the success of their Young Adults Reunion-Revival.

The reunion started without lights and electricity, but, as the singing began and the spirit came down, this reunion proved to be very much in the Lord's Will. We had many decisions made for the Lord and we all rejoiced together.

It turned out so well, we are inviting everyone back for a praise service. This service will take place this Saturday, March 3 at 7 p.m. Please come and bring a friend. Join us with our pastor, Bro. Lester Arnold.

Revival at Evans Chapel

Revival services will start March 4 at Evans Chapel Holiness Church at 7 o'clock each evening. Evangelist will be B. J. McKinney, Pastor, Jasper Carpenter, and the congregation cordially invite everyone.

Gospel Singing at

Crab Orchard Pentecostal

There will be a gospel singing Sat., March 10 at 7 p.m. at the Crab Orchard Pentecostal Church. Featured singers will be The Called Out. Pastor Donald King and congregation welcome everyone.

Gospel Singing at

Sand Hill Baptist

There will be a gospel singing March 10 at Sand Hill Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Featured will be the gospel Troup of Richmond and The Joyful Noise. Everyone welcome.

 Civil Action File No. 89-CI-154
 Fundamerica Corporation PLAINTIFF
 VS: NOTICE OF SALE
 Bob Anthony Shockey and Ann Marie Shockey, his wife; Carl Kilbourne and Averill Kilbourne, his wife; and County of Rockcastle DEFENDANTS

Pursuant to judgement and order of sale entered in this action on January 26, 1990, and for the purpose of enforcement of a mortgage lien in the amount of $44,521.29 plus interest, I will offer at public auction the hereinafter described real property in Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

At the Courthouse Door
 On Friday, the 9th day of March, 1990 beginning at the hour of 10:30 A.M. EST said property being more particularly bound and described as follows:

Being all of Tract No. 10-C of Buffalo County Subdivision and being 7.67 acres as shown in Plat Book 3, page 19, of the Rockcastle County Clerk's office.

Subject to easements of right of way retained by Carl Kilbourne across Tract No. 10-C as shown in Plat Book 3, page 19, in Rockcastle County Clerk's office.

Being the same property conveyed to Robert A. Shockey and Ann M. Shockey by deed dated July 19, 1984, from Michael L. Moore and wife, Julie C. Moore, recorded in the office of the clerk of the Rockcastle County Court in Deed Book 123, page 142.

THE PROPERTY WILL BE SOLD UPON THE FOLLOWING TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

- The property shall be sold to the highest bidder(s) for cash or for a deposit of TEN (10%) percent of the purchase price in cash at the time of sale and balance payable in SIXTY (60) DAYS. The purchaser shall be required to execute bond with surety thereon, to be approved by the Master Commissioner, for the balance of the purchase price, the bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) cent per annum from date until paid, and to remain and be a lien on said property until fully paid.
- The purchaser(s) shall have the privilege of paying all of the purchase price in cash or paying the bond before maturity by paying the principal amount thereof, together with all interest accrued thereon to the date of said payment.
- Purchaser(s) shall be responsible for the 1990 property taxes.
- Purchaser(s) shall have possession of the premises upon complying with the terms of sale and risk of loss of improvements shall thereafter be on the purchaser(s).
- This sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise, including but not necessarily limited to an easement of right of way of record in plat book 3, page 19.

of Willie Cope
Who passed away February 28, 1988.
Sadly missed by wife and children.

It's hard to lose the ones we love. To see them pass away. Thanked and the sweetest gone. While others are left to stay. But if we had a garden, We'd open fair and bright. We'd often pick the loveliest. And think it to be bright, And so it is with Jesus. In his heavenly garden here. He often picks the loveliest. The ones we love so dear.

The flowers that are picked by him, Will never fade away. We know they'll live forever. And we'll see them some sweet day.

Nodding Thistle - Tough Weed in Kentucky Pastures

A single nodding thistle plant in a field can produce more than 4,000 seeds that can take over a pasture, in short order.

Although it has been found in most counties in Kentucky, nodding thistle is becoming an increasingly serious pest in Rockcastle County.

Nodding thistle starts as a rosette of prickly leaves that grows close to the ground in the fall or late winter. The second spring after germination, it sends up a shoot that if left to grow will produce a purple flower in late May and June. That flower contains thousands of seeds.

Since it reproduces only by seed, one way of controlling it is by making sure that seed isn't produced--that means using either chemical or mechanical means to stop seed formation.

In green pastures, use of 2, 4-D or Banvel can help control the noxious weed if the time of application is applied early in the life cycle of the plant.

Chemicals do their best work when the thistle is in the rosette stage, usually in early spring.

Mechanical methods of control include mowing the plant prior to seed production or using a hoe to halt plant growth.

In any event, farmers should be scouting their pastures soon for rosettes of the weed and take action to control them.

For more information about controlling nodding thistle or other noxious weeds, contact your County Extension Agent for Agriculture.

New disease-resistant tobacco varieties available

Kentucky tobacco farmers who've had problems with diseases such as fusarium, black root rot, or mosaic virus should know there are now a number of new disease-resistant tobacco varieties available.

Other varieties have been found to not be resistant to diseases. Many of the new varieties have been field tested by the University of Kentucky's Cooperative Extension Service, and farmers can check with their county Extension agricultural agents for specific information on each variety contained in the publication, "Tobacco in Kentucky."

"Characteristics of a variety vary from year to year and from one area to another each year," said Gary Palmer, Extension tobacco specialist with UK's College of Agriculture. "Information in the variety tests includes average yields in test locations across the state over several years."

Disease resistance indicated in the report can be expected if disease pressure is present, Palmer said. However, yield potentials may not be achieved under certain soil or weather conditions.

Among the older varieties, KY 14 has been considered the standard by which other burley varieties are judged, Palmer said. Yields average about 3,000 pounds under low disease pressure and quality is considered fair compared to other varieties. That quality is considered fair compared to other varieties. That variety is highly resistant to mosaic virus and wildfire, medium resistant to black root rot and fusarium wilt. However, it has no resistance to black shank and should be rotated frequently into ground known to be free of black shank.

Among the more promising newer varieties, Palmer said, is one known as TN 86, which is highly resistant to tobacco vein mottling virus. Its black shank resistance is not as good as some other varieties but is still considered medium resistant.

"Yields are so much better for TN 86," Palmer said, "that with use of Ridmolt at the black shank rate, it should outperform many varieties. It is considered to be almost immune to black root rot and can be grown where black root rot would significantly affect most other varieties."

However, it doesn't have resistance to fusarium wilt and tobacco mosaic virus, and care should be taken to avoid problems with those diseases, Palmer said.

Other new varieties include R 141, R 6, Hybrid 403, KY 14 x Burley 64, N 88, and D 33 among others. Of these, Hybrid 403 has been the top yielder but has little disease resistance and should be used only where rotation into disease free ground is possible. Farmers can compare their resistance to specific diseases with older varieties by checking with their county Extension agent, Palmer said.

Labor shortage in tobacco may cause changes in industry

Tobacco producers may be forced to take some drastic steps unless the availability of workers for Kentucky's tobacco farms increases.

"We are currently facing a critical situation in our tobacco industry across the state," said Don Shurley, Extension farm management specialist with the UK College of Agriculture.

The number of available workers for skilled labor has declined, while the average wage rate paid -- normally about $5 an hour -- has steadily increased.

"Some farmers are paying more than $12 an hour for some of the work they have done," Shurley said.

"This situation is particularly crucial because tobacco farmers were given a 24 percent increase in their basic quota this year," Shurley said.

"Because of shortage of labor supply, many farmers are not able to produce that allotment." Shurley said if the trend continues, the structure of the tobacco industry in Kentucky likely will change. He listed these four outcomes as possibilities:

- * Farmers will probably renegotiate their share lease arrangements. This fall to reflect higher labor costs.
- * Quota rental rates probably will drop to reflect the higher cost of production for farmers.
- * More farmers may decide to rent out their quota as a way to avoid the problems of finding labor.

* More farmers could invest in farm machinery that replaces labor during production and housing.

Rogers wants new law repealed

Fifth District Rep. Harold Rogers is introducing legislation to repeal a new law which orders small farmers to withhold Federal income taxes from all their workers.

"The problems is in a small, overlooked provision of last year's 1,500 page budget bill," Rogers said. "As of January 1, 1990, farmers who once had the option of withholding Federal taxes from their workers are now required to, under penalty of law. The large agri-businesses with accountants and attorneys have no problem. But the small farmer with a couple of acres of tobacco will bear a very heavy burden.

"Farming is already a tough way to make a living," Rogers added. "And the IRS is planning to penalize farmers who do not comply with this new law. But the IRS itself has yet to write the regulations telling farmers how to comply. Maybe the agri-businesses and attorneys will figure it out, but our small farmers won't have a prayer."

Moreover, the new mandatory tax withholding law effectively cuts the pay of farm workers by 15 percent, Rogers said. "Many farm workers own no federal income taxes because they earn so little income. Under this new scheme, however, a farm worker would have to file a tax form to reclaim money he did not even owe. In effect, the new law forces the U.S. Treasury to fund the government with money borrowed from the pockets of our poorest citizens.

"Why should a farm worker bother to go to the fields if a welfare program pays more than his paycheck? Mandatory withholding will drag the pay of many workers down so low that working will no longer be a worthwhile option," Rogers said.

"Farm experts have told me that farmers already have a difficult time finding workers. This new tax law will make farm workers even harder to come by. Crops will go unplanted, and crops which are planted may rot in the fields," Rogers added. "This new law, and the way in which the government is plotting to enforce it, is patently unfair to every small farmer and every farm worker across America," Rogers added. "I wanted it repealed."

Dr. Griffith honored by local council

By: Richard Anderkin
Monday afternoon one of Rockcastle County's best known and probably most admired men was honored for his years of service to the county.

Dr. George H. Griffith, who began practicing medicine in Rockcastle County in 1945 was presented the Everett C. Brown Memorial Award.

The award is presented annually by the Rockcastle County Improvement Council to an individual who has given outstanding community service to the county.

Dr. Griffith, now age 73 retired from actively practicing medicine in 1982 after 37 years of delivering babies, putting in stitches, mending broken bones and curing the common cold.

"We did not go very many places when I was growing up because Dad simply did not have time," remembers his son, Dr. Billy George Griffith.

"Dad was a very busy man who took his work and the health of his patients extremely seriously," Griffith continued.

At one count the elder Griffith had delivered over 3,000 babies in the county, and many more in adjacent counties, most of which were in Stanford.

In 1983, after being retired for only one year, Dr. Griffith suffered a massive stroke that has drastically limited his speech, but even that did not keep him from thanking the Improvement Council, and giving much of the credit for his successful career to his wife of 51 years, Martha C. Bee Griffith.

Originally from Perry County, Dr. Griffith moved to Mt. Vernon with his family in 1934 after graduating from Hazard High School.

In 1938, while attending the University of Louisville Medical School, Dr. Griffith and his wife were married.

While finishing up his medical studies in Louisville the United States became involved in World War II.

County schools would face changes under new legislation

By: Richard Anderkin
Many Rockcastle counties would be out of work and others would either have to quit or look elsewhere for employment, if the Kentucky General Assembly passes a bill that includes all of the recommendations of the Task Force on Education Reform.

Last week the Task Force made public their recommendations that would greatly change the way Kentucky schools are governed.

The recommended changes include stripping the local school board of their authority to hire and fire all school employees except the superintendent; strict measures to rid local schools of politics, including bans on the hiring of relatives and on political activity by school employees and would strengthen the state's ability to take over local school districts.

If the recommendations are passed into law, no person with a relative working in the school system can serve on the board of education. That measure would affect three of the present board members.

Kenneth Adams, who has served for over twenty years on the Rockcastle County school board would not be able to run for re-election if his wife continues to hold her job as an aide at Roundstone school.

Clayton Cash would not be eligible to run for re-election to the fourth district board seat because his wife is a teacher at the high school and his father and uncle are both school bus drivers. Debbie Reynolds' father and mother have both worked for the school system for over 20 years. She has been a board member for only two, but if the law is passed, her parents would either have to quit or she could not run for re-election.

The law would not affect board chairman George Poynter or board member Earl Cummins. Neither men have family members working for the board of education.

If the law is passed any person with a father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, son-in-law or daughter-in-law, that works for the school system, would not be allowed to run for school board.

The recommendations also call for all board members to run as large candidates, which would eliminate the districts from which candidates are now elected.

The change with possibly the most far-reaching effect on Rockcastle Counties, would be the law that would require all employees of the school system to have a high school diploma, GED certificate or be working toward a GED.

Currently about 50 people in the Rockcastle system, mostly cooks and bus drivers do not have such credentials and if the law is passed they would not be allowed to keep their jobs, unless of course they could show the state department they were making progress toward obtaining a GED.

Also, effective July 1, 1990, no relative of the superintendent of schools is to be an employee of the school district. However, this does not apply to a relative who is an employee of the school district prior to the 1990 date.

The new laws would also prohibit family members of a principal from working at the same school as that principal. That law would not affect those already in that situation.

Also, under the new guidelines all hiring and firing of personnel would be done by the superintendent. The local board of education would have no say about the job placements and would simply work with the budget and set policies.

"These new recommendations would greatly limit the roll the local board plays in governing our schools," said local school superintendent Bigge Towery Jr.

Towery like many other superintendents across the state is somewhat leery about all of the changes. "It will be a trying time to be a superintendent in Kentucky," Towery said.

"There is no doubt a need for change, but such a drastic change all at once could cause havoc in many of the school districts," he said.

Towery said that he had already informed his staff that whatever final decisions are made, Rockcastle schools would conform to the guidelines as closely as possible.

"We will do our best to see that all changes mandated are carried out," he said. "It won't be easy, but we will just have to see that it is done."

A major part of the new recommendations is a school based management plan that would allow individual schools to set their own policies, make their own budget and do their hiring and firing.

Under the new guidelines many decisions will be left up to teachers, principals, aides and parents at the school level.

Advocates of the measure think those people are in the best position to decide a course of action for their students.

State Representative Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon is not completely sold on the package.

"It needs a lot of work, I could not support it as it is now," he said from

Garbage collection may be mandatory

Don't be surprised if mandatory garbage collection comes to Rockcastle and the rest of Kentucky.

Under a bill introduced in the Kentucky House, countywide garbage collection would be made mandatory by 1992, leaving the counties with little else to comply.

House Bill 683, sponsored by Rep. Mark Brown, would require counties to start door-to-door collection programs or set up staffed collection centers to ensure proper waste disposal.

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson called for mandatory collection in January when he unveiled stronger environmental regulations. The governor did not include mandatory collection in the regulations package, saying legislators should deal with the issue.

But some legislators said the governor was trying to share blame for a proposal that some county officials say will be a big expense and an infringement on local control.

Brown, D-Brandenburg, said mandatory collection could actually lower garbage rates because more people would be contributing to the cost of collection and disposal.

About 20 percent of the waste that Kentuckians produce is disposed of improperly, state officials estimate. Hillsides, sinkholes and creeks become the dumping grounds for thousands of tons of garbage.

Six counties and many cities already have door-to-door garbage collection. Under Brown's bill, counties must set up programs or issue franchises to private businesses by June 15, 1992.

Brown, who was pessimistic about the bill's chances "last week," said yesterday that support is growing and passage is more likely.

In other filing action yesterday, two Republican leaders introduced bills that would limit out-of-state garbage to 10 percent of all waste disposed of at each landfill. The companion bills, sponsored by Sen. John Rogers, R-Somerset, and Rep. Bill Strong, R-Hazard, are similar to past Kentucky laws that courts struck down as violations of interstate commerce laws.

First step made toward funding for court annex

By: Ray McClure

The first step toward construction of an annex building to the Rockcastle County Courthouse has been taken by the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) in Frankfort, it was confirmed this week by Supreme Court Justice Joe Lambert.

Although the Kentucky General Assembly must act on the $100 million-plus AOC budget, it contains a $575,000 expenditure for the courthouse annex.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert Stephens was in Mt. Vernon recently to tour the courthouse and to make suggestions. Justice Lambert said the chief justice was impressed by the additional need for space by the court system in Rockcastle, and was instrumental in having the money included in the AOC budget.

Stephens apparently decided there is generally not enough space for the courts, jail, and projected growth in the building for the courthouse to remain as it is at the present time.

The annex would house the district court, circuit court, office of Justice Lambert, and Circuit Court Clerk Denver Miller.

At the present time, a site is still to be decided, although three sites are under consideration, according to County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins.

Judge Mullins and the magistrates will choose the site and purchase the site, Justice Lambert said.

Under consideration is a lot owned by Henry Hines across First Street from the courthouse. Also being considered is a site at the rear of the courthouse across U.S. 150 owned by Mrs. Ruth Leach where once stood the McFerron house. The third site is First Street with the building attached to the courthouse.

If the Legislature approves the AOC budget intact as it always does, work on the annex could get under way this year.

State Rep. Danny Ford said he "felt good right now" that the money will get through the Legislature. He said he expects the AOC budget to get through intact.

"But you never know until the final day is done," Ford related. "Someone could see the money and think it could be better used somewhere else and get it cut out. But right now, I feel good about it."

The building would be designed by an architect approved by the state, along with planning and construction. The building would have to meet AOC standards.

Justice Lambert said the new facility would be "state of the art," meaning it would have all the latest equipment for video and recording.

He again stressed that the bill must clear the Legislature.

New coal formula

By: Ray McClure

Eastern Kentucky coal counties and cities, including Rockcastle, receives needed money from the state's coal severance tax, but would like to have more.

About 12 percent of the $180.6 million collected from coal companies last year, $21.5 million went back to cities and counties where coal is produced. The remainder goes for general state government.

Rockcastle County will receive about $53,400 this year from the coal severance tax. The money is paid quarterly.

This year's amount is less than the 1988-89 fiscal year when the county received $57,013. There was more in 1987-88 when $64,662 was received.

The decrease in Rockcastle as in other less coal producing counties is blamed on a decrease in production. As one former coal producer said: "So many smaller companies have gone out of business because of high production costs and rules and regulations that make it impossible for them to stay in business."

Some of Rockcastle's loss is made up by mineral tax funds allocated to counties and cities, but not a lot.

This year the county should receive about $10,179 in mineral tax. In 1988-89 it received $12,827. In 1987-88 it got a low $3,367.

In 1988-89, Mt. Vernon received from the coal and mineral tax a total of $5,400. Brodhead and Livingston rec'd even less.

Rockcastle County spends its coal tax funds for utilities at the courthouse, library, firegrounds and for supplies and courthouse personnel.

A bill has been introduced in the Kentucky House by Rep. Greg Stumbo to give coal counties and cities more of the tax money.

State Rep. Danny Ford said it's hard to say how the bill will be received. He said the coal counties of Eastern and Western Kentucky would have to "stick together" to get the bill through the House, Senate, and be approved by Governor Wilkinson.

The two areas have not always agreed in the past.

Stumbo's bill would cost $70 million out of the state's general fund and leave a revenue hole that would be hard to fill.

Some legislators have opposed higher severance tax money saying fiscal courts and cities do not always spend their money wisely. But agree most have spent it well.

Some communities have set up mandatory garbage collection programs, improved roads and expanded water systems with their share, he said.

But to address the criticism, Stumbo's bill, House Bill 604, does not give coal counties and cities all the new money. It would split Eastern Kentucky's half of the revenue four ways.

Coal county schools, considered some of the state's worst, would get 15 percent of the funds - a $27.4 million addition to other education funding.

The University of Kentucky would get $15 million to start a research center to study ways to clean up Kentucky's high-sulfur coal and make it more marketable to industry. The university would get $10 million in 1992 to continue research.

City and county governments would get $39.8 million in fiscal year 1991 - almost twice what they are getting now. That's 21.8 percent of the $182.8 million in projected severance tax revenue.

The remaining $9.7 million would be divided into infrastructure trust funds for each county. The State Department of Local Government would control the money, and counties would request spending approval for road repairs, water line expansion and other such projects.

Clarification

A mix up of "units," meaning vehicles, caused a mix up in a report of a school bus wreck last week. A school bus driven by Robert Pybas was not over the center line as reported.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

Last week's letter by Regina Russell Martin stirred some emotions for me. As a teacher at the high school, a former student at RCHS, and a resident of Rockcastle County for most of my life, I took offense to some of the statements and implications in last week's letter.

I am aware that RCHS and Rockcastle County have problems. RCHS has similar problems found in any AAA (812 enrollment) high school found in this area or any other area.

Some problems also occur because of problems of this region which include high unemployment, wide spread adult illiteracy, and a high crime rate. Again, these problems are similar in all of society—not just Rockcastle County. We, as citizens, must try to correct our problems, and many people are working hard to do this.

A Legislative Perspective

By: Rep. Danny Ford

As the Task Force on Education Reform was putting the final touches on its work, deliberation on Gov. Wilkinson's revenue package began in earnest in the Appropriations and Revenue Committee.

The education reform panel was chastised with revamping the state's public school system after it was declared unconstitutional by the Kentucky Supreme Court. Although the deadline for action was mid-July, the General Assembly and the governor are trying to resolve the issue during the current legislative session.

The task force met to consider committee reports and adopt final recommendations. These recommendations, which have received extensive media coverage, will now go to bill drafters and be placed before the General Assembly so that action can be taken before we adjourn in mid-April.

The mechanism for funding these education proposals, as well as the rest of state government, came under close scrutiny in our Appropriations and Revenue Committee.

The governor has proposed a $1.057 billion tax increase over the next two years, which includes over $700 million for education. Concerns with the affects of the package on businesses and farmers and further explanation by the administration were aired during committee hearings.

Officials who would administer these new taxes feel that they would be equitable and collectable. A few of the proposals, however, drew protests from the groups, who objected to increasing taxes on cigarettes and to adding the sales tax to certain services. Those opponents felt Kentucky businesses would be placed at a competitive disadvantage with surrounding states if taxes were added to services, such as advertising.

In other action in the House last week, some environmental issues

The point of my reaction is this—the easiest thing in the world to do is sit back in your "Berea Beloved" ivory tower and pass judgement on the world. Why don't I see you at the high school tutoring students or returning to your home county in search of a way to change the things that you are concerned about. Instead, you fearfully stand back and call Rockcastle County a "hole in the wall."

The points made about cogitation are an after-the-fact argument. The fact is we're consolidated. Let's do something to make the situation more productive for our young people.

I'm proud of the new direction our county is taking toward development, education, and local government. Things are improving and will continue to do so unless negativism such as your letter displayed will again make us complacent and indifferent to the world around us.

Dear Editor:

Since the new post office has just opened, it is of interest to some people in Mt. Vernon that the name Mt. Vernon was used briefly by the City of Mt. Washington until the were taken up along with a few other education proposals.

The House passed a bill that would establish an environmental trust fund to support research and development projects aimed at finding solutions to problems such as air and water quality, the environmental effect of mining and oil and gas production, soil conservation and forest resource management.

House Bill 67 will be funded through many sources including private donations, gifts, bequests and grants. The fund would receive no state tax dollars.

The fund would be administered by a board which could give grants to universities, private individuals and governmental agencies for research and development projects.

Another environmental bill (HB 36) was passed by the House. Producers of hazardous waste would pay an assessment fund, which is expected to reach $5 million annually. The fund would be used to match federal Superfund dollars, as well as pay for state programs to identify and clean-up hazardous waste sites in Kentucky.

In committee action, two bills were passed relating to teachers and retirement.

The Education Committee adopted the "window" bill, which would permit teachers who have 27 years of service who are age 55 with 10 percent bonus to retire with a 10 percent bonus to their actual service credit. House Bill 205 stipulates that those eligible must retire between June 1 and Aug. 31, 1991. The bill is expected to be referred to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee to study its fiscal impact.

Legislation was also approved by the committee to allow voluntary resignations submitted by a teacher during a school term to become effective on the date accepted by the superintendent. Although the resignation would not require school board approval, approval would be required to withdraw the resignation.

Postal Service found out about it.

The following short article is from "Neighborhoods" a small publication: In 1818, surveyors began making their way into the forested northeastern corner of Bullitt County. Parcels of land were marked off and lots were sold, spruening the settlement of Mount Washington in 1822.

It is believed that Joseph Hough, a justice of the peace in the county, bought 100 acres in the area about 1818 under a land contract. However, Hough died before he could pay for it. Hough's wife later remarried and she and her husband petitioned the court to sell the land. They kept 50 acres and the rest was sold as lots, said local historian Tom Pack.

By 1822, enough people had gathered in scattered homes in the area and a town was formed.

Mount Washington served as a stagecoach stop on the long and tiring 40-mile route linking Louisville and Bardstown. Its location, at the juncture of the stagecoach road and the road from Shepherdsville to Taylorsville, earned it the name "The Cross Roads" and brought it commerce and tourists.

The name later became Mount Vernon, after George Washington's estate. But when a post office was applied for, it was discovered that a Mount Vernon already existed in the eastern part of the state. Postal authorities finally called it Mount Washington in 1833.

Thank you,
Elbert McNew

To the citizens of Rockcastle Co.: Hospice of the Kentucky River will be accepted patients beginning March 6, 1990. Hospice is a home care program for terminally ill patients and their families.

The modern concept of Hospice is expressed in the National Hospice Organization philosophy:

Hospice affirms life. Hospice recognizes dying as a normal process. Hospice neither hastens or postpones death. Hospice exists in the hope and belief that, through appropriate care and the promotion of a caring community sensitive to their needs, patients and families may be free to attain a degree of mental and spiritual preparation for death that is satisfactory to them.

Volunteers play an important part in providing emotional and physical support for patients and families. Volunteers provide various services including: Providing relief time for family members, doing odd jobs (mowing grass, shopping, etc.) around the home, transporting patients for doctors appointment, clerical duties in hospice office and most important being a friend to whom patient and family can talk about this stage of life.

This is a greatly needed service in our community. Community members must become involved to make the organization work. The rewards of your will receive from participation as a volunteer will greatly outweigh the hours you donate. For additional information or to volunteer please contact Hospice of Ky, Riverfront 606-623-4486 or Mt. Vernon Hospice office at 256-3577 or Cynthia Burton at 758-8945. Volunteer to help others.

Eating right means eating lean

"Enjoy The Taste of Eating Right" is the theme for National Nutrition Month 1990. This statement may seem like a contradiction of itself since much of a food's taste comes from fat, yet eating right means cutting down on fat. The average American eats 37 percent of his calories from fat, but experts tell us it should be no more than 30 percent. Today, eating right means eating lean.

To eat lean, start by reading food labels, paying particular attention to the information in the ingredient and nutrition labels.

The ingredient label is a list of all a food's contents by order of weight. It tells you two things about fat: the type of fat in the product and the amount of fat by weight relative to other ingredients.

The nutrition label lists the number of servings, number of calories and grams of fat per serving, among other things. A food that makes a nutrition claim, such as being lower in fat, must carry this information. Some producers put nutrition labels on other foods voluntarily. The label gives actual numbers of grams of fat per serving. From this, you can calculate the number of calories and percent of calories from fat to see if a food fits into an eating lean lifestyle. Here is an example of fairly high fat food.

Serving Size: 1 ounce
Calories Per Serving: 120
Cholesterol: 0 milligrams
Servings per container: 3.2
Protein: less than 1 gram
Fat: 5 grams

Each gram of fat contains nine calories, so to find the percent of calories from fat per serving, first multiply grams of fat by nine to get calories from fat per serving. For example, 5 grams of fat x 9 calories per gram = 45 calories from fat. Then divide calories from fat per serving by total calories. For example, 45 calories from fat divided by 120 calories total = 0.38 or 38 percent.

Since the rule for eating lean is 30 percent or fewer calories from fat, this food does not fit; 38 percent of its calories come from fat. Even though the product contains no cholesterol, it is a dietary problem because of its high fat content.

You are not alone if you find all the information about fat and cholesterol on labels confusing. Here are some tips for choosing oils and fats:

"Remember, all vegetable oils are 100 percent fat. The difference is in the type of fat they contain. Oils with the highest amounts of the so-called tropical oils (coconut, palm, palm kernel) have some saturated fat which can raise blood cholesterol, and are, therefore, not healthy. These oils often are used in commercial cookies and crackers, and other processed foods.

If an ingredient label says, "May contain one or more of the following..." and then lists several oils, it means the manufacturer can use any of the oils listed. Some oils listed may be healthier choices than others, but you can't be sure which one was used. *Choose a cooking oil that is high in monounsaturated fat (olive, peanut, canola) or polyunsaturated fat (safflower, corn, sunflower). These are healthier in that they have positive effects on blood cholesterol and lipids.

*Choose a margarine by looking for the above oils in the ingredients list preceded by the word "liquid." If the word "hydrogenated" appears before the oil, it is at least partially saturated and less healthy. (Saturated and hydrogenated mean the same thing.)

*Remember that, by law, all margarines contain at least 80 percent fat. However, since they are made of vegetable oils, margarines contain no cholesterol.

*Remember that spreads may be made with less fat and more water than margarines, so calories may be lower. Read the package label carefully and note the type of oil used. Choose those high in mono- and polyunsaturated fat.

National Nutrition Month is celebrated in March, but the practices of eating right should be followed throughout the year. National Nutrition Month is sponsored by the American Dietetic Association.

Keep Safety in the Kitchen

Your kitchen is likely the most popular room in the house. It's the room that attracts all members of the family, to work together, enjoy each other and take in the sights, sounds and delightful aroma of food being prepared.

Unfortunately, the kitchen is also one of the most dangerous rooms in the home. To avoid some of the hazards, cuts, bruises, burns, electrical shocks, you need to be aware of the problems. Here are some reminders to prevent both children and adults from having falls, fires, cuts and other accidents.

Avoid Accidents

The kitchen is not the place to work barefoot or in sandals. Your feet are not protected from falling objects, hot spilled liquids and/or slipping on wet floors. Small children in the kitchen are in danger of being injured by falling objects or hot liquids.

Many times people working in kitchens leave drawers, cabinets and oven doors open which blocks the passage way and may cause bumps or falls. Use a safe step ladder or stool to remove objects from high shelves. For safety sake, keep objects off the floor that might cause falls and immediately wipe up spills on the floor.

Always handle knives by the handle and keep knives sharp. Dull knives tend to slip, and require more pressure to use. This means you are more likely to get a cut. A cutting board helps and makes it easy to cut food away from your hands.

Never use knives to do jobs they aren't intended for such as punching holes in cans or prying off lids. Wash knives separately and when storing, keep the sharp edges together and all facing in one direction.

Avoid Burns

To keep from spilling hot food, turn pan handles to the inside of the range. Use well-padded, dry potholders, since wet potholders or dish towels may cause steam burns, and thin ones allow the hot handle to burn you through the potholder.

When you remove the cover from a pan of boiling food, tilt the cover away from your face to protect both face and hands from a steam burn. Avoid reaching across heat-diffusing burners or units, and use cooking tongs to remove food from hot water, baked or fried. Use a safe step ladder or stool to remove objects from high shelves (unless you use a basket).

Fat used for frying causes many burns because the temperature is high, 350 to 400 degrees. Fat is highly flammable and it burns readily. If a fat fire does occur, place a lid on the pot to exclude the oxygen, or smother the flames with salt or baking soda. Sugar or flour placed on a fire will burn and cause additional trouble. Never pour water on a fat fire, it will cause the fat to splatter and spread the fire.

Recycling is answer to nation's garbage problems

Garbage, garbage everywhere. We're smothering in it. It blows along our roadsides, fills our sinkholes, and demands that new landfills be built to hold it.

Every year, Americans throw away enough aluminum to rebuild the American Airlines fleet 71 times. We Americans, who make up 5 percent of the world's population, create over half of the world's garbage. What on earth are we going to do with it?

We're going to recycle it! We're going to take out of our garbage those things that can be re-used and re-made, things like aluminum, glass, paper, vegetable wastes, and plastics. We're going to reduce our garbage by half, so that we won't have to replace those hundreds of landfills across the country that will be closing within the next 10 years.

Recycling has other benefits. If recycled paper were used instead of paper in the production of one issue of the Sunday edition of the New York Times, 75,000 trees would be saved. Each recycled aluminum can saves the equivalent of one cup of gasoline or enough energy to burn a 100-watt light bulb for 3.5 hours. Recycling also reduces litter.

Recycling is the answer to our garbage problems. Maybe you don't want to be bothered with recycling now, but it won't be long before you will want to. Many Kentucky industries have already realized that recycling will reduce the cost of their waste disposal. With waste disposal costs rising, recycling just makes "cents."

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet began an employee education program in 1988 to teach employees how and what to recycle. Each employee is instructed to separate white office paper at his or her desk, and large containers to receive office paper are placed at each copier. Receipts have been placed outside the Department for Environmental Protection office to receive newspaper, glass, aluminum and plastic that employees or the public bring from home.

On Jan. 16, Gov. Wallace Wilkinson signed an executive order that requires all state government workers to separate wastepaper at their desks. It requires aluminum and steel recycling for products used in the course of normal agency operations.

As a result of this order, all state office buildings will provide the public and employees with recycling opportunities for products including aluminum, glass, plastic, and newspapers where local markets are available. All state parks will provide receptacles for recycling. All state maintenance facilities and garages will recycle batteries, used oil, and scrap metal.

The Economic Development Cabinet will seek out and develop markets for recyclable materials, and will work with the Department of Local Government to encourage recycling in business operations.

fire. When trying to fry to keep the heat low enough to avoid fires and closely watched food.

Also, watch foods being broiled, because it is easy for a fire to occur. When broiling, use a pan that allows the fat to drip away from the heat zone. If a fire occurs in the broiler, turn off the heat at once and smother the fire with a lid, baking soda, salt or use a fire extinguisher.

When your meal is ready, double-check to make sure you turned off the range units and oven. A burn is often the reminder that an electric unit is still on.

The best first aid treatment for burns or bruises is ice or cold water. For severe burns, see your doctor as soon as possible.

Safety with Appliances

Electric appliances handle many jobs faster than you can do by any other method, but they also require caution in handling.

When using a mixer, blender, electric knife or any other appliance with sharp blades unplug the appliance while you handle the blades. Disconnect appliances before cleaning them, and never put electrical parts in water unless the part is stamped "immersible."

Keep a fire extinguisher in the kitchen. Dry chemical or carbon dioxide is best for all-purpose household use. Be sure every family member knows where the extinguisher is located and how to use it. Have it checked regularly to be sure it is in working condition.

and Environmental Protection Cabinet has been designated the coordinator of these efforts and is directing to educate all state employees and the public as to the benefits of waste reduction.

Recycling probably won't make you rich, although it is a great way for the kids to make a little extra money. But if you look into the future — your children's future — you will see that recycling pays off enormously. We will be leaving our children a land that can be proud of — not a giant garbage dump.

For more information on recycling in your home, business or community, contact Julie Smith, Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Fifth Floor Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, KY 40601. (502/564-3350).

Dairy Association will sponsor recipe contest

The American Dairy Association of Kentucky is sponsoring its 5th annual "Dairylicious Recipe Contest," with first prize receiving $500 and a chance to participate in the regional finals. The state winner will receive a trip to Lexington, to compete for the $5,000 regional grand prize. The Kentucky state contest will be held June 20, 1990 at Erikson Hall on the University of Kentucky campus.

Vegetable side dishes will be the category for this year's competition. All recipes submitted must be for a vegetable and dish which can be prepared and ready to serve within a 2-hour time frame. At least three Real Dairy products, such as milk, cream, buttermilk, sour cream, cottage cheese, cheddar, butter, etc., must be used in the recipe. The recipe should also include at least one fresh, frozen, and/or canned vegetable.

Entries must be sent to the Rockcastle County Extension office by April 18, 1990. Interested individuals should contact their local extension office for details on the contest.

in their area. Each entry should be printed or typed on a single sheet of paper with their name, address and telephone number in the lower left-hand corner. Standard measurements and complete directions for preparation are required.

Judging in all contests, county, area, state and regional, will be uniform using the same rules and regulations for each. Points will be awarded in four categories: originality, taste, appearance, and ease of preparation.

You may enter as many times as you like, but each entry must be submitted separately.

To receive a copy of the complete contest rules for the "Dairylicious Recipe Contest," contact the extension office.

Roy Hubbard celebrated his 80th birthday Tuesday February 20th, he appreciated the many calls, cards, etc. from his children and friends. Mary Ann Brown and Lena McWhorter were short time visitors of Roy and Esther Hubbard Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Hopkins and son Nathan of Michigan were Friday night visitors of Willie and Mabel Taylor. They stayed and had short time Saturday and visited her sisters Ruby Thompson and Rose Deborde at Willailla before returning to Ohio for a visit with their daughter, Renee and husband before returning to Michigan. It was so good to see them they are so far away and not so get to come as often as when living in Ohio.

Last Thursday was an enjoyable day for me, Fannie Albright, Mac Doan and Brenda Bradley, as we all gathered at the home of Florence Albright for a delicious dinner cooked by Florence and Lucille Ponder. What a dinner and most enjoyable visit we had. Seemed like old times when Lucille and I used to visit each other so much where we were in school at Quail, thanks to you again Florence and Lucille for making us so happy. I forgot we had eaten so much. We couldn't get her delicious looking pies she brought out for dessert. We would have left room for them had we known she had them sooner. Well I heard Elmer came after Lucille and ate what we had left so I know there wasn't any use of going back for supper. Maybe I just guessed at it or I have to get back at him for teasing me for eating all my lunches. I had left from all everyone who was working at Parker Seal in Berea and riding together.

I visited Mrs. Cuba Croley Monday, she is doing well.

Mac Doan and myself had a snack and a short visit with Fannie Albright after church Sunday night. We always enjoy visiting with Fannie.

Recent visitors of Sophia Bagler were her son Ernest Barker and wife Ruth and daughter Barbale of London.

Brother David Allford of Richmond was Sunday guest of Bob and Clara Proctor.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cared Blanton were: Mr. and Mrs. David Blanton and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blanton; Paul Blanton and daughter Christina; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harter; Mrs. Virgie Spoonamore; Louis Bowling; Mrs. Irene Bengie; Virgil Brown; Stacy Branch and Walter Lee Cash.

Mrs. Anna Stevens celebrated her eighty fifth birthday with several of her children and friends present. Mary Elizabeth Carson paid her a visit recently.

Mrs. Mabel Taylor and Mary McWhorter were in Mt. Vernon for Mrs. Lela Bassall and Janet Hampton last weekend.

Fairview News
By: Mrs. Hubert Chastren

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his appointments at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with good attendance. Sunday School attendance was one hundred and thirty three. Thank the good Lord.

Our Sunday School average attendance for the month of February was one hundred and thirty seven. We are so very thankful for each and every one who attends. In the world we live in today, children more than ever in our remembrance, need to know who Jesus is, and be brought up in the House of the Lord. I wish all you parents everywhere would attend the church of your choice with your children. They grow up so fast and are here soon out in the world on their own. So please, while they are with you, teach them right from wrong and the many other good qualities of life. They will later appreciate it and love you for it.

We extend our deepest heart-felt sympathy to the families of Red Vanwinkle and Tim Smith, both of Little Clear Creek Road near Fairview. It is always so hard on a family to give up a loved one. Those left behind have our love and prayers. God bless them.

On Saturday Feb. 10 we had visiting in our home Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knapp and daughter and son-in-law Jim and Johnene Harwood of Wellington, Ohio and another daughter Traci Knapp who is attending college at Georgetown. Also our daughters, Darlene Abney and Janet Rigdell and daughter Sherry. We all had supper together and spent a wonderful evening talking, laughing and enjoying the time together. Mrs. Knapp is the former Carol Ruth Sorah, my sister Mary Jane's daughter. They are relatives that we truly love.

Last Sunday night Mrs. Mary Cope's daughter Mrs. Frankie Hayes of Wilchester spent the night with her. On Monday morning they had breakfast at a Berea restaurant, then picked up another daughter Mrs. Christine Barnett and they all visited the Seaford Cape Cemetery where Mr. Willie Cope's buried. Later they drove over the country side seeing the sites and enjoying the time of (just being together). Again I'd like to say Mrs. Cope has some fine children who were good to their mothers.

On Wednesday of last week Mrs. Christine Barnett again visited her mother and the two of them visited a neighbor Mrs. Charlene Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mullins and son of Madison County visited his grandmother Mrs. Edith Mullins of Snider on Sunday afternoon.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Poynter and infant son over the weekend were Todd and Beth Johnson and baby of Franklin, Ohio. Beth is the daughter of Virgil and Ardella (Mullins) Tinch also of Franklin, Ohio. She and the baby attended services on Sunday morning with the Poynter family at Fairview. We all would like to send get well wishes to her dad who isn't feeling too good at the present time. Virgie, we hope you will feel better soon. You and your family have our love and prayers.

Mrs. Edith Mullins of Snider spent the night of Feb. 13th with Mrs. Sally Mullins of Mt. Vernon.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davidson and family were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Davidson of Perryville and Jimmy Davidson of Paint Lick.

Some of our most recent company has been my nephew Eugene Alexander and son Kenneth of near Fairview, my brother Trip Reppert of Seaford Cane, my daughter Joyce Seals and Kim of Paint Lick and our son Wayne and wife Carolyn of Berea and our two daughters Darlene and Janet and their families who live near us.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander and Kenneth have been Mrs. Tretha Alexander of London a few days ago, and James Reppert of Evansville this past Sunday.

Congratulations to Kenneth Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander on receiving the "Outstanding Young Farmers Award" presented at the Young Farmers Banquet, Rockcastle Chapter, held on Friday night Feb. 10 at the Rockcastle County High School. Kenneth is such a fine man and we all love him and his family.

A number of break-ins and burglaries have taken place in this area recently including our home which was broken into Sunday night Feb. 18 while we were attending church services. The most valuable item was taken was a 22 automatic rifle, J.C. Higgins. We would appreciate any help we could get on locating it.

Please remember church and Sunday School and let's always remember to pray for our unsaved friends and neighbors that we love.

I am caucasian. I am American. I doubt if the Americans will be as forgiving and as loving as the Africans. I remember the story of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" when he was trying to learn to read, he would hold his little book under the floor, if anyone came along. Blacks were accused of being short on intelligence. Abraham Lincoln said all men are created equal. Martin Luther King won the Nobel Peace Prize as a very young man. Who are we to criticize a black man.

Dear Editor:

This past Friday night, matter of fact it was last night, it will be a season closer that Steve Clark, No. 34, Rocket's starting forward and his other two senior members, Robbie Phillips No. 12 starting guard for the Rockets and last but not least, Rocket's starting center, Darren Smith, will always remember along with the other two starters, Rocket's starting forward, No. 20 Billy Todd; a junior, and the last starter, at guard, No. 14 David Sargent; a junior. Along with all the reserves hit the century mark 100 points, opponent Redbird 69. This Rocket's team played a real real good second half of basketball.

This team won 3 more games than the team of 1988 and 1989. This team of 1989 and 1990 won 8 and lost 14. Although this team had a losing year, Rocket fans should be proud of them but the celebration is over, that game is history. Rockets got to get ready for the 49th District Tournament at Clay County, Rockets play the Clay County Tigers, on Tuesday night February 27 at 7:45 p.m. est. then at 7:45 p.m. est., Jackson County Generals and Oneida Mountaineers.

Head coach David Perkins, and his two assistants, Jerry Reynolds and Jeff Burdette, in my stand point, no matter how much criticism they get, you all are not perfect, no one is perfect on this earth, David Perkins and his staff did a tremendous, tremendous job, I enjoyed working with David Perkins, Jerry Reynolds, Jeff Burdette as water boy and sweeping the gym floor.

Real fast, Rocket's reserve forward, No. 22, a junior, scored the big 100th point for the Rockets. Congratulations to Jerry Reynolds and his junior varsity team on a winning season, 12-8.

Better close for now,
David Brock

To the Editor:

In 1981, one poorly installed sewage system contaminated a Meade County spring, causing over 100 people to become ill with hepatitis. A dye tracing study showed the septic system was leaking into the spring.

This incident is bound to recur, because Kentucky's health departments are still not protecting our private wells.

They're not allowed to.

In 1986, the Legislature passed some special interest legislation to prevent health departments from designing safe septic systems on lands comprised of 10 acres or more in size. Called the Farmstead Exemption Act, this law specifically forbids us to investigate even obviously faulty systems unless there is a signed complaint on file at the local health center. Since we almost never get such complaints, we can do little to stop even the installation of systems we know to be faulty.

Because of the Farmstead Exemption, literally thousands of sewage systems have been installed in Kentucky since 1986 with absolutely no concern for the protection of our wells. More will follow.

From a purely economic perspective, this law is shortsighted. In Meade County alone, we have invested over $10 million to construct our wells. How much do you have invested in your well?

From an environmental viewpoint, the law shows an appalling lack of concern for one of Kentucky's greatest natural resources, and threatens the health of its citizens.

Finally, from a moral standpoint, the Exemption leaves for our children a Kentucky much poorer, much less desirable than it was when we received the responsibility for good stewardship of our land.

Rep. Walter Blevins (D-Moorhead) and Rep. Brown (D-Brandenburg) are co-sponsoring a bill (H.B. 451) to eliminate the Farmstead Exemption. But this bill may not get out of committee, to kill this bill because it takes away special privilege conferred to those owning more than 10 acres.

House Bill 451 could do much to protect our wells without additional increases in taxes. But it is destined to fail, because not even one percent of the 1 1/4 million people in Kentucky who rely on groundwater will take five minutes to contact their legislators in support of this bill.

And that's unfortunate. Time is running out. Your legislators need to hear from you now. Your call makes a difference. 1-800-372-7181.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Parenthood is a challenging and awesome responsibility for everyone who chooses to marry and have children. There are basically 4 areas that we must be concerned with in the rearing and upbringing of children. Lk. 2:52 states "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man." Jesus grew mentally, physically, spiritually and socially, and these are the four areas we, as parents, will find responsibilities in upbringing.

First, we see that we have responsibilities for the mental development. Things like teaching our children how to walk, talk, eat, take care of themselves, education, etc, fall upon parents shoulders. Most parents do a pretty good job along this line of training of children.

Next, we see that we must help in the physical growth of children. Directing them to eat, get exercise, work, take care of their bodies so they may grow, get a doctor when they are sick. And most parents do a good job along this line, too. Some parents are worse than infidels (1 Tim. 5:8) who neglect or refuse to take care of their children. Then, there is the social training and development of children. Teaching them how to get along; how to share with others; how to play fair and nice; the importance of obeying school teachers, police officers and others who may be in authority. Some of the "social mistifs" in our country are the result of parents who do not care and love them enough to teach and show them how to live as a social being in this world.

Finally, there is the area of spiritual training. This is an area of great neglect of so many parents. Many work hard to teach and bring up their children socially, physically and mentally, then utterly fail to train them spiritually. In Eph. 6:4, we read "And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." Paul said "Timothy" And, that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." II Tim. 3:15. Yes, let's raise our children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

"Heating degree days" show you what winter is doing to your electric bill

You're probably aware that cold weather affects your energy usage, making your electric bill higher. But how can you estimate how much the weather is affecting your bill?

The heating industry uses "heating degree days" to measure cold and compare the weather's severity from one period to another.

To determine the number of heating degree days in a 30-day period, average the day's high and low temperatures and subtract the result from 65 degrees—the outdoor temperature at which it is assumed that the heating system will be needed for indoor comfort.

Most authorities now recognize that in newer, energy-efficient construction, the heat from lighting, people and other sources may be sufficient until several degrees below 65.

For monthly and seasonal totals, add the degree day figures for the individual days.

The more degree-day units a day has, the greater your requirement for heat from your heating system. For example, if this billing period had 10 percent more degree day units than the last one, your current bill would theoretically reflect a 10 percent greater heating requirement than your last bill.

Of course, other factors also affect the amount of energy you use, including the amount of wind and sunshine during the period, as well as your lifestyle and conservation habits.

Thermostat setting affects heating energy usage

The lower you set your thermostat in winter, the less it costs to heat your home. Here's how much you'll save for every degree you set below 70°F.—and how much more you'll pay for every degree above 70°.

*Figures are based on 6° outdoor design and 70°F. indoor design, and an average outdoor winter temperature of 44°F, with internal gains sufficient to hold the outdoor temperature near 65°F.

Griffith honored Cont. from Front

and Dr. Griffith was drafted. When Dr. Griffith finished his year of internship in 1941 he was taken into the Army and immediately sent to Germany.

For four years Dr. Griffith worked in field hospitals, mostly along the front lines as an Army doctor.

Dr. Billy George fondly recalls a story his father used to tell very often concerning the war.

The younger Griffith said that sometime during the war when the fighting was fierce in a small German town, Dr. Griffith was summoned across the line into German territory to deliver a baby. It seemed there were no doctors in the town to perform such a feat, so for 24 hours the war was stopped, at least in that German town, so Dr. Griffith could deliver a child.

Following the war, Dr. Griffith returned to Mt. Vernon where he practiced family medicine until he retired in 1982.

During his years of practice Dr. Griffith was very active on the Rockcastle County Health Board and was instrumental in the building of the Rockcastle County Hospital.

At a time when most other doctors were having to pass exams to be admitted, Dr. Griffith was inducted into the American Academy of Family Practitioners simply because of his knowledge of family medicine and his never ending efforts to keep up with the many changes in the medical field throughout his years of practice.

"School Reform" Cont. from front

his Frankfort office. Ford was most concerned about the people who have worked for years for the school system without high school diplomas, who would be displaced by the new laws.

He also said it would be ridiculous for qualified people to have to drive out of the county to work, simply because an uncle or aunt is on the school board or a principal or the superintendent.

"Most of these people without diplomas are good employees who perform their jobs well. What is to be gained by all of sudden telling them they are not qualified to do something they have done for twenty years," Ford said.

"These people have families to support and it would not be fair to simply let them go, without some kind of exception being made," he said.

"I know the importance of education in all jobs, but when it comes to such sweeping changes some kind of provisions have to be made," he said.

"If they are not performing their jobs up to par, they should be fired but to now simply say they are not qualified is wrong."

And, Ford doesn't care too much for the recommendation that would not allow relatives to work at the same school or that a relative cannot serve on the board if another works for the system.

"It is another case, that if they are not doing their job, then get rid of them, but to simply say they can't do this or that, is not right," he said.

"Sure we need some major changes, but to rule out qualified people because they are a relative of someone is a mistake."

However, Ford thinks the recommendations have a good chance of passing the General Assembly in their original form.

"There is a lot of support for the recommendations up here," he said. "The reform measures will most likely be one of the last items voted on in this session of the General Assembly."

Sand Hill residents hold community meeting; questions answered

By: Richard Anderkin
Frustrated over extremely poor road conditions and a lack of city water, residents of the Sand Hill area held a public meeting Saturday night to discuss their plight.
The meeting was spearheaded by William Hammond, pastor of the Sand Hill Baptist Church, where the meeting took place.
The only elected official to attend the meeting was Rockcastle County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins.

And, most of the 50 persons in attendance were satisfied with the answers they got from Mullins.
Hammond said after the meeting that he felt Mullins would do everything he could to help the Sand Hill area, something Hammond said had not been done in the past.
"I feel like we have a judge that will work hard to make this county a better place to live and I know he has the best interest of the county at heart," Hammond said.

"I think the judge understands our plight and is willing to work with us to make it better," he continued.
"The reason we called this meeting was the terrible condition of the road and the lack of water to our homes," said Sand Hill resident Richard Barnes.
"We have been trying for years to get some help up here and nobody, until now has even listened to our problems," Barnes said. "Maybe now we can get something going," he said.
Barnes like many of the 50 families in the Sand Hill area, has his families water hauled in by truck every two to three weeks and other family's have wells or springs they depend on for their water.
"It is terribly frustrating to run out of water and it ten degrees outside, and sometimes after a big rain it is so bad that the water truck can't get to my home," he added.

As part of this project, instead of getting their water from the Rockcastle River, Livingston's 214-water customers would be serviced by the Woods Creek Water District in Laurel County.
To get the water from Woods Creek a line will be run from the Woods Creek plant down U.S. 25 to the Livingston water plant.
The Sand Hill residents say that the line would have to travel only a quarter of a mile to the start of Sand Hill road which would enable residents in that area to begin hooking on.
But Livingston Mayor Billy Medley said Monday that money is simply not available in the project for such an extension, but that if residents were patient they would get water eventually. "We don't even have enough money to totally finish our project," Medley said.

"When I ran, I said I would work to get everyone water and I am going to do everything I can as soon as I can," Mullins said after the meeting.
As for the road, Mullins said there were worse roads in the county and that county workers were doing everything they could to fix them all.
"Once we get the $900,000 from the bond sale we will be able to fix these roads like they should be and not just go along with a grader and give them a little scrape," the Judge said.
What Mullins was referring to, is a $900,000 bond sale that the county is undertaking. The money will come to the county in one lump sum so things can be done. As it stands now money is only received on a piecemeal basis, which doesn't allow the county to make any large purchases for the road department.

The bonds will be paid off at about a $100,000 a year by monies received from the state.
Residents say they were encouraged by what they heard from Mullins and they were now going to take a wait and see attitude toward their projects.
"I think we are moving in the right direction," Hammond said.

Forest fire season now under way

March 1 marks the beginning of Kentucky's official spring forest fire season.
But in Rockcastle the fire season has, for all practical purposes, already begun.
According to Marvin Stone, county forest ranger, nine forest fires have already been extinguished in the county. The largest was 35 acres at Mullins Station. The remainder have been less than an acre.
Stone said the warm, dry weather recently brought reminders of spring to residents who burned off gardens. He recommended residents that sage grass will burn.
Last year, Rockcastle had a total of 43 forest fires during both the spring and fall season.
Traditionally twice as many forest fires occur in Kentucky during the spring than in the fall.
"That means we need the help and cooperation of all Kentuckians to prevent this continued loss to Kentucky's forest resources," said Carl Bradley, secretary of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet.
From March 1 through May 15 it is illegal to set fire to any flammable material capable of spreading fire, which is located in or within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland except between 4:30 p.m. and midnight.

Air pollution regulations or local ordinances in some locations in the Commonwealth make all outdoor fires illegal.
Last year was an unusually light year for forest fires. Kentucky recorded 23,750 acres damaged by 1,189 fires in 1989. These fires, however, still caused more than $2 million in damage to timber. Losses to wildlife, recreation and watershed values also occurred as a result of these fires.
Every forest fire last year was caused by man and could have been prevented, according to Donald Hammon, director of the Division of Forestry. Arson-type fires accounted for nearly half of last year's fires. Burning trash, brush piles and other debris was the second leading cause of fires, carelessness with smoking materials was the third leading cause. Campfires, equipment use and railroads also caused fires.
Forest fires can be prevented by obeying these laws: burn only after 4:30 p.m. and only when wet is calm; clear site down to bare soil wherever fire will be set; have tools and water on hand to control fire; don't leave fire unattended until it's out.

Many of the residents including, Hammond, Barnes and Kenneth Surrill have been trying to talk the City of Livingston into running water to their property when they start work on their $900,000 water project, but there is little hope that will happen, at least not now.
The City of Livingston has obtained monies from Farmers Home, the Appalachian Regional Commission and from a Community Development block grant to virtually redo their entire water system.
That project is slated to begin this year and Hammond and the others had hopes of obtaining water once that project got underway.

The plans call for a six inch line, which Barnes says is ridiculous. "Even if we didn't want to hook on, that line should be at least ten inches," he said.
Mayor Medley said Monday that he was trying to get these of the line changed to a ten or twelve inch line, but that the final decision would be left up to the engineers on the project.
Judge Mullins probably offers the most encouraging news for the Sand Hill residents.
Mullins told the group that he is working on an application for federal funds to provide water to areas such as Sand Hill, Red Hill and Climax, but that he is unsure of the time frame.

Republican re-organization

All registered Republican voters who are entitled under Kentucky law to vote in the May 29, 1990 primary election are invited to participate in the biennial reorganization of the Republican Party of Kentucky.
Precinct Conventions will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 10. The Conventions will be held at the precinct polling place used in the November 1989 election unless otherwise advertised.
The purpose of the Precinct Conventions is to elect a Precinct Captain, Co-Captain and Youth Captain.
On Saturday, March 17, County Mass Conventions will be held. The Conventions will take place at 10 a.m. local time at the County Courthouse unless otherwise advertised.
The purpose of the County Mass Conventions is to fill any vacancies in the precinct offices and to elect delegates and alternates to the district and state conventions.

It can cost
For the record, killing a black bear can cost you a tidy sum.
A six-member Martin District Court deliberated for just 20 minutes before finding an Inez man, Gary Williamson, 38, guilty of illegally killing a 3-year-old 235 pound bear.
The judge imposed the jury's recommended fine, $500 plus $800 replacement costs for the bear, a total of $1,357.50.
Williamson admitted killing the bear but said the animal had been prowling around his father's farm for months, but had not tried to harm anyone.

Police make arrest in Climax for possession

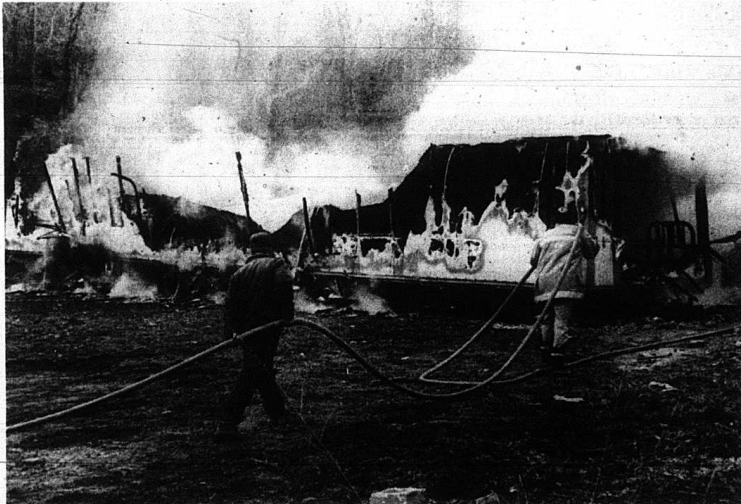

Kentucky State Police and Rockcastle Sheriff deputies arrested Edna Jo Baker, 54 of Climax last week for illegal possession of alcohol beverages.
According to Gilbert Acciaro, public affairs officer at the London KSP post, police executed a search warrant on Jo's Grocery at the junction of 1787 and Ky. 1912 at Climax, last Tuesday afternoon and found 216 cans of beer, eight bottles of beer, nine bottles of whiskey and a scanner.
Acciaro said that arrest was the result of an on-going police investigation.
Baker is free on bond until a hearing in Rockcastle District Court.
Singleton faces arson, stolen property charges
A vehicle stolen in Berea on February 17 has resulted in the arrest of a Rockcastle County man.
Police at London say that Dewayne Singleton, 26, of Brodhead has been charged with receiving stolen property over $100 and second degree arson.
A 1981 Jeep Wagoneer owned by Linda Miller of Paint Lick was stolen from a Berea parking lot on Saturday February 17. That vehicle was recovered by police on Sunday, February 18 in the Pine Hill area of Rockcastle County. The vehicle had been stripped and burned, according to Gilbert Acciaro, public affairs officer.
Singleton is being held in the Rockcastle County jail, awaiting a hearing in Rockcastle District Court.

Icy roads blamed for injury accident on 461

Four people, including a nine-year-old girl, were injured in a two car accident on Hwy. 461 last Saturday morning.
According to Kentucky State Trooper Jack Lawless, Sheila Dykes, 21 of Mt. Vernon and her nine-year-old sister Elizabeth were traveling north on 461 when there 1979 Plymouth went out of control on the snow covered road. Lawless said Dykes met a car driven by Cora Mays of McKee and, when she applied her brakes her car slid across the center line and struck Mays' vehicle.
Mrs. Mays and a passenger in her car, Jack Mays, 18, also of McKee were both injured as were the Dykes. All four people were taken to the Rockcastle County hospital.
Sheila Dykes had neck and head injuries, Cora Mays had multiple injuries, Jack Mays was injured in the lower back and chest and Elizabeth Dykes had leg injuries.

25 bales of hay lost to fire near Bee Lick

The Brodhead fire department extinguished a hay fire at Bee Lick Sunday afternoon, but 25 large bales were lost before the fire was out.
According to Brodhead fire chief David Ott, firefighters were able to save about 45 bales from the blaze which apparently started when one of the bales was pushed over on an electric fence.
The hay belonged to Sue Todd and was already heavily involved when firefighters arrived on the scene about 12:30 p.m.

Mt. Vernon firefighters were called to the scene of a trailer fire on Sand Springs Road Tuesday morning. Tony Lee Mink and his family lost everything in the trailer which was engulfed when firefighters arrived. Above, Gary Hansel and Charles Mink carry the firehose to the trailer.

Clay Co. eliminates Rockets in district play

The Rockcastle County Rockets were eliminated from district play, Tuesday night, after a poor performance.

The host Clay County Tigers thrashed the Rockets, 94-46, in first round play of the District Tournament.

It was all Tigers from start to finish as the Rockets come out tense and never played with the Tigers during the game.

The Tigers leaped out to a 18-2 lead midway through the first period and were a dominating force from there on out.

The factor, defense. The Tigers deflected or intercepted any pass the Rockets would attempt and extended their lead to 23-8 after one period of play.

Tiger defense continued in the second period as the Rockets had difficulty in just getting the ball past the halfcourt line. With that defense, the Tigers took a roller coaster ride and ran the tally to 51-14, which carried into the half.

The Rockets could do nothing right, as shots wouldn't drop and passes wouldn't connect as the Tigers pushed their lead to 44 in the third period.

It was a 48 point spread when the clock expired and a game the Rockets were glad to see end.

Billy Todd was the only Rocket to manage double figures, with 14 points. David Eaton punched in 8, David Sargent and Micah Parkerson, both had 6, William Bullens chipped in 4, Robbie Phillips, Darren Smith, Steve Clark and Chris Newland all added 2.

JV's wind up 12-8 on season after win over Red Bird

The Rockcastle County Rockets junior varsity have had a good year and stand alone at the high school with their winning 12 and 8 record.

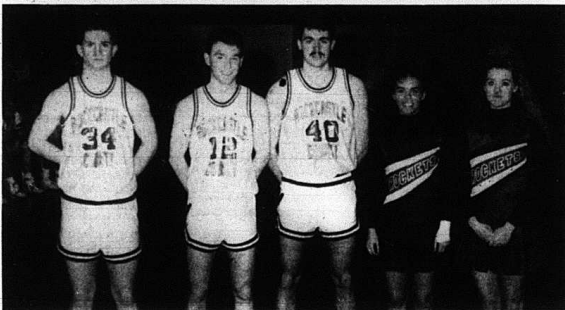

Jerry Reynolds' club finished this year on a winning note as they rolled over the Red Bird Cardinals, 64-52, Friday night.

"This is a good ball team and these are a bunch of good young men" said Reynolds, so many times this year.

And the young Rockets proved

It was a special night for the seniors of the Lady Rockets varsity and Lady Rocket cheerleading varsity, as they participated in their last home game at RCHS Thursday night. A pre-game program was held to honor the seniors and bid them farewell. Seniors recognized were (l to r) Clara Pigg, Donna Hopkins, Chad Abney, Stephanie Northern and Angie Senters.

The senior members of the boys varsity and cheerleading varsity, said farewell Friday night in their last home game at RCHS. The seniors were recognized for their achievements during their four years at RCHS. Those honored were (l to r) Steve Clark, Robbie Phillips, Darren Smith, Sherry Jones and Gina Martin.

that by having the only winning record at the high school this year.

It was no different Friday night as the Rockets played fundamental ball, as they have all year, and walked away with the game, never trailing.

Sophomore guard William Bullens was in the limelight again with a game high of 21 points and helped lead the Rockets to an early 12-7 lead over the Cardinals.

The Rockets outscored the Cardinals 15-7 from the charity line, a feat that has not been accomplished too many times by Rockcastle teams this year.

The Rockets worked the ball well on the offensive end while applying good pressure on the defensive end and carried a 6 point lead into the half.

Reynolds, with a well deserved smile, watched his team nurse their 6 point lead in the second half and send the Cardinals home with their second. (Cont. to B3)

Rockets hit century mark in 100-69 win over Red Bird

By: Spencer T. Bengé

The Rockcastle County Rockets hit the century mark Friday night, in a game they will always remember, especially the seniors.

The Rockets whipped the Red Bird Cardinals, 100-69 at RCHS, in their last home game to bring their record to 8 wins and 16 losses.

Senior members Steve Clark, Robbie Phillips and Darren Smith played their last home game as Rockets and were recognized before the game for their achievements during their four years at RCHS.

And the seniors went out in style as they led the Rockets in their highest scoring and most satisfying game of the year.

The Rockets, who only had a 6 point lead at the half, blasted off in the second half with extraordinary shooting from the field. The Rockets shot 80 percent from 3 point range, which would have to be one of the best outings for any high school team this year, and took a commanding 20 point lead in the third period.

Of course, 31 rebounds didn't hurt any as the Rockets dominated all facets of the game against the Cardinals.

Robbie Phillips led all scorers with 27 and also helped the Rockets to a 62 point second half.

The crowd came to their feet, in the final period, when the Rockets reached 90 points. It was like a championship game as the fans cheered their team on for the magic 100.

Roger Hasty had the honor of nailing a 10 footer to roll the scoreboard to 3 digits and send the whole gymnasium into a wild roar.

Although it was not a winning year, the Rockets were truly winners Friday night.

Along with Robbie Phillips' 27,

Steve Clark had 18, David Sargent fired in 14, Billy Todd grabbed 12, William Bullens pumped in 10, David Eaton had 6, Chris Newland added 5, Darren Smith and Micah Parkerson both had 3, and Roger Hasty nailed the magic 2.

Lady Rockets lose to Trojans 74-58 after good first half

By: Spencer T. Bengé

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets looked good in the first half but couldn't pull it out against the Lady Trojans of Monticello, Thursday night.

The Lady Trojans defeated the Lady Rockets, 74-58, for the second time this year and dropped the Lady Rockets' record to 6-16 for the season.

Four seniors played their last game at RCHS, Thursday night, and were honored before the game. Those recognized were Stephanie North-

Disputanta Farm picks up two wins

The Raymond Ginter trained, Hoyle Miller owned, The Streetwise Kid went wire to wire in the fifth race at Turfway on February 16. Lynn Lee Smith rode "The Kid" who will run again next week at Turfway the same night as stable partner Miss Ann Elise.

Rick Moss rode Miss Ann Elise to a victory in the The Precinct at Turfway Park February 15. It was Miss Ann Elise's second win as a three-year-old.

There will be no doubt about who is the best coach when Kentucky and Notre Dame square off Monday night. Digger and company have won a few close ones over some decent teams lately and will probably make the NCAA tournament field, but the close wins were not because Digger can coach, he can't. But, even with the distinct advantage on the bench, Kentucky will still be outmanned and it is highly unlikely the Cats can pull this one off. Take the Fighting Irish in a close one.

Unlike past years, Denny Crum and his Cards are not getting better as the season nears an end. If anything the Cards have gotten worse and will most likely make an early exit from the NCAA tournament. A few weeks ago the Cards would have been a sure bet to beat the Golden Eagles, but the way they have performed lately leaves some doubt about the outcome of Saturday's contest. Take the Cards in a close one.

Larry Finch's Memphis State Tigers were not expected to do very well this season, but so far the Tigers are 17 and 9 overall with a 9 and 4 mark in the metro conference. When they travel to Blacksburg to take on the Gobblers Saturday they will probably come away with another Metro win. The Gobblers have won only 11 times this season with three of those wins in the Metro. A strong finish by state could land them a spot in the NCAA tournament.

Hugh Durham has never won a Southeastern Conference title while coaching at Georgia, but Sunday his team took a major step toward accomplishing such a feat when they defeated I.S.U. by one. However Durham's Bulldogs have two road games left, one at Tennessee Wednesday night and the other game at Auburn this Saturday. It will take a lot of luck for Durham's team to win both games and if they do knock off Tennessee Wednesday, which is unlikely, they will have an even tougher time with the Tigers, Saturday. Take Auburn in a close one.

Other winners should include, DePaul, Texas El-Paso, Ohio State, South Carolina, LSU and Maryland.

Last Week's Winner was Clinton Brown, who was the first one to pick all ten games correctly this season.

First Christian wins basketball league

By: Eddie Hammond

Fresh off their basketball upset of First Christian last week, Scaffold Cane and crew were determined to make it two in a row against 6-2 Grace Baptist.

After a close first quarter, Scaffold Cane took control of the game, dominating quarters two and three and at one point leading by 16-47-31. The third quarter ended with Scaffold Cane and crew leading 48-35. But the fourth quarter belonged to Grace, as they scored as many in the quarter as in the previous three, coming from behind to win 69-63 and claim second place in regular season play.

In a night in which tournament seeding was at stake, Brodhead Baptist and Wildie/Mareburg went down to the wire. The winner would take sixth place. David Pensol was fouled as time ran out and he calmly sank the first of two free-throws to give Brodhead Baptist a 50-49 win.

Showtime... game three of the final night of RCBL regular season play was for "all the marbles." Both the First Christian and First Baptist entered the contest with identical 7-1 records.

Big games have a way of not living up to their billing and this one turned out to be one of them. First Christian spurred out to a 10-2 lead and never looked back, leading at one point by 35 at 52-17, before winning 70-49.

First Christian had a balanced scoring attack, placing four men in double figures. First Christian ended the regular season with a 8-1 record and made it three in a row finishing either tied or first place outright.

Northside Baptist's record of 1-8 is deceiving. They've played the league top teams to a virtual standstill before bowing out late. Their final game with Bible Baptist #2 was no different. Northside led the entire game until Bible Baptist took a point lead at 54-53 with about three minutes to play. Clutch free throw shooting allowed Bible Baptist to pull this one out, but watch out for Northside in the league tournament scheduled to get under way next Monday night at the Mt. Vernon gymnasium.

The first bowling tournament for women was held in St. Louis, Missouri in 1917.

Sand Baggers back in first in Rockcastle League at Richmond

The Sand Baggers moved back into first place in bowling action last Thursday night and now have a 66 and 34 record. They are actually tied with the Rockers in the loss column but have one more win. The Pin Busters are a distant third at 56 and 44.

The Sand Baggers took high team scores with a 2468. The Misfits were second with a 2427 and the Pin Busters third at 2408.

The Sand Baggers also had high team scores with a 891. The Pin Busters were second at 846 and the Misfits third with a 838.

Jamie Noe took high series for men with a 645. Henry Vanzant was second at 623 and Jim Cromer third with a 591.

Henry Vanzant took high game men with a 225. Jamie Noe was second with a 223 and Roy Winstead third at 220.

Pennie Fortner's 527 was good for high series women. Alice Faulkner was second with a 510 and Perina Anderkin third with a 479.

Pennie Fortner also had high game women with a 222. Paige Bengé was second with an 184 and Shirley Cromer third at 182.

Pennie Fortner's 644 was good for high series handicap women. Perina Anderkin was second with a 620 and Shirley Cromer third at 609.

Fortner also had high women game handicap at 261. Shirley Cromer was second at 238 and Paige Bengé third with a 227.

Jamie Noe had high handicap series men with a 684. Henry Vanzant was second with a 662 and Jim Cromer third at 611.

Roy Winstead had high men's game handicap at 246, followed by Henry Vanzant with a 238 and Jamie Noe at 236.

Rick Anderkin and Babe Daugherty are tied for high men's average with a 188 each. There is a three-way tie for second between Jamie Noe, Henry Vanzant and Bill Reynolds, all at 184 and Ryan Helmer is third at 182.

Debbie Bugg has high women's average at 173. Kim Daugherty is second at 168 and Jamie Bryant third at 167.

Plant trees

Schools across Kentucky will have an opportunity to participate in the twentieth anniversary of Earth Day by planting trees on school property. Natural Resources and Environmental Protection cabinet Secretary Carl Bradley announced today that tree seedlings will be made available to every school in the state for the joint observance of Arbor Day, April 6, and Earth Day, April 22.

"Twenty years ago, on April 22, 1970, we witnessed the largest or ganized demonstration in human history when 20 million people in the United States demonstrated their concern for the environment," said Bradley. "Despite the substantial progress in environmental programs since that time, we know we still face problems for our fragile environment in the years ahead."

Monticello defeats JVs

The Rockcastle County Lady Rocket junior varsity were defeated by the Monticello Lady Trojans, 43-38, in a close game Thursday night.

The Lady Rocket JV have played well this year, although struggling in the first half of the season with a shortage of players.

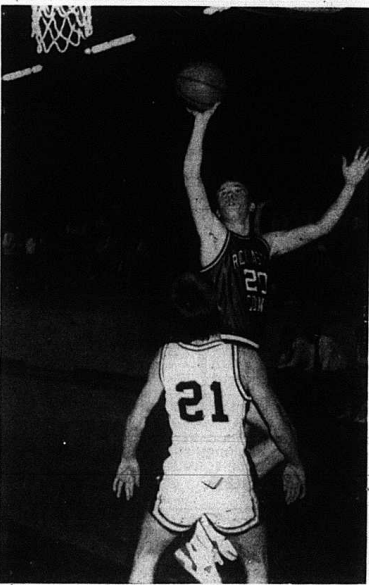

With the loss Thursday, the Lady Rockets finished the year with a 7 and 12 record.

The Lady Rockets trailed by 1 in the first period, but with three players managing double figures, jumped out to a 17 to 13 lead over the Lady Trojans in the second period.

The Lady Trojans fought back in the second half and tied the score at 28 with good perimeter shooting.

Pressure play and good ball handling allowed the Lady Trojans to pull away in the final period and hand the Lady Rockets the loss in a close one.

Scoring against the Lady Trojans were Lady Rockets: Tiffany Carter, 12; Danetia Ford and Cindy McCauley, each with 10; Beth Amyx, 4 and Becky Osborne had 2.

Billy Todd was the only Rocket able to reach double figures, with 14, against the Clay County Tigers, Tuesday night. The Tigers thrashed the Rockets, 94-46, in first round action of the District Tournament.

ern, Donna Harper, Angie Senter and Clara Figg.

The Lady Rockets came out enthusiastic and were head to head with the Lady Trojans in the first half.

Although a losing effort, Stephanie Northern poured in 26 points to lead all scorers and give the Lady Rockets a 15-13 lead in the first period.

The score seasawed back and forth in the second period with the Lady Trojans getting the last bucket and taking a 1 point advantage into the half.

The Lady Rockets came apart in the third period and fell to an 11 point deficit, a margin they could not overcome.

The Lady Trojans put the finishing touches on in the final period, with four players reaching double figures, and took home a 16 point win.

Scoring for the Lady Rockets were: Stephanie Northern, 26; Jennifer Thacker, 16; April Burton and Donna Harper, each got 6, and Karla Bullock had 4.

The Lady Rockets matched up with the Clay County Tigresses Wednesday night in their first round action of the District Tournament. Highlights from that game will be in next week's issue of the Signal.

About Rockcastle Countians

Martin-Reynolds vows said

Kristi Layne Martin and Roy David Reynolds were united in marriage December 22, 1989 at Danforth Chapel in Berea. The ceremony was held at 6:30 p.m. with Bro. Danny McKibbin presiding. Kristi is the daughter of Frank and Shirley Martin of Rt. 1, Broadhead. Roy is the son of Lloyd and Cleasie Reynolds of Rt. 1 Crab Orchard. After a short wedding trip the couple is residing in Pulaski County.

Local DAR meets at Hunts

The regular meeting of the Rockcastle Chapter DAR was held on February 13, 1990 at the Ed Hunt residence with Regent Mary Alice Hunt presiding. She was assisted by Mrs. Gary R. Cromer who read the President-General's Message and by Mrs. Virginia Darr who gave the National Defense Report. Mrs. Wilson Evans of the Berea-Laurel Ridges Chapter was a guest at this meeting.

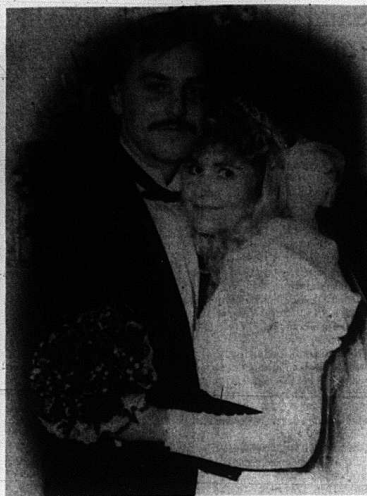

Delegates and alternates were elected to represent the local chapter at the KSDAR State Conference on March 13, 14 & 15 at the Marriott Griffin Gate Resort in Lexington. The chapter is allowed a delegation of two delegates and four alternates. Those elected were: Regent Mary Alice Hunt, Nancy Williams, Jean Towery, Kathleen Hunt and Doris Ford.

Mrs. Evans discussed with the chapter the possibility of celebrating the twentieth anniversary of the Rockcastle Chapter and the Centennial of NSDAR. This would be a joint venture of the Rockcastle Chapter and the Berea-Laurel Ridges Chapter and would be held in October 1990. Ms. Hunt gave a report that the chapter was reported to NSDAR as being eligible for silver honor roll. All members were delighted with this report but pledged to work for gold next year. This would be accomplished by having an overall increase in membership and prompt payment of all member dues.

Members were also urged to get their Campbell's Soup Labels to the Regent so that they could be carried to the Kate Duncan Smith School in Grant, Alabama. Mrs. Evans volunteered to provide this service to the chapter.

The ultimate highlight of the evening was a program consisting of a visit by Mrs. Betsy Ross. Being over two hundred years of age, her bones were bent from arthritis and her eyes were dimmed to light but the voice was very strong as she spoke of her Quaker upbringing and her marriage into the Episcopal faith. She also told of how she was widowed at an early age and the fact that her good

Miss Mink weds Mr. Turpin

Donnie and Joyce Mink of Mt. Vernon wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Turpin, to Othel Turpin, Jr. of Somerset. The couple were married December 25, 1989 at the Candlelight Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas, Nevada. Jennifer Stewart was the maid-of-honor and Trevor Mink was the best man. After honeymooning in Las Vegas and Lake Havasu City, Arizona, the couple are now living in Somerset.

friend, Gen. George Washington asked her to use her expertise in the art of stitching to design a flag to represent the fine new country that had been established. She vividly expressed all of the emotions that she felt as she was undertaking such an important task. As the members watched the story unfold, they were spellbound and titillated by a range of emotions, from laughter to tears to touching tenderness. It was truly a presentation which will not soon be forgotten and all present were very appreciative for such a presentation. At the conclusion, Mrs. Ross retired her weary tired bones to sleep and Mrs. Norma Eversole occupied her chair.

The meeting concluded with refreshments served by Mrs. Ed Hunt and Mary Alice. They were a delightful assortment of tasty Valentine goodies.

Mt. Vernon Personals

By: Mrs. George Burton

Mrs. Geneva Houston underwent surgery at the Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington last Wednesday. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Harris Burton, Mr. and Mrs. George Burton were in Somerset last Wednesday to consult George's doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Mink of London visited his sister Patricia Holland last Friday.

We extend sympathy to all those who have lost loved ones recently. Friday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney were their daughter Mrs. Lillian Renner and her daughter Mr. and Mrs. John Harvest and granddaughter Tonya and baby Shane, all of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney visited Mrs. Geneva Cromer awhile Tuesday night.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney were Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Scowder of Morrow, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Zandal Hasty and son Zandal Devik; Mr. and Mrs. James McClure and mother Burdette Bullock and Mr. and Mrs. Elaine McHargue. Sunday dinner visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney were their daughter Mrs. Sharon Lovins; grandson Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lovins, Jr.; Jack Lovins and girlfriend Sandy; Jim Lovins and girlfriend Jenny and Jamie.

Rise and Shine Homemakers

The February meeting of the Rise and Shine Homemakers met at 10 a.m. February 13th at the home of Helen Duncan.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Alta Bullock. The devotional was given by Irene Hopkins. Minutes were read by the secretary, Bea Hensley. More plans were made for the fall bazaar.

There was a discussion about the cake decorating class that will be in March at the Extension office.

The lesson on Natural Resources, Our Natural Heritage was taught by Bessie St. Clair.

After playing games we had our pot luck luncheon. The tables were decorated in a Valentine theme and Valentine favors were given by the hostess to each one present. There were six members present and two guests. Vivian Amis and Arnella Alcom.

Deanna King weds James Cottengim

Deanna King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney King and James Cottengim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Cottengim, all of Covington, were married October 14, 1989 at the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church of Latonia. The bride is employed by Dr. Timmerman E. Salingor, Covington and the groom is employed at Stover Cable, at Lakeside Park, Covington. After a trip to Cancun, Mexico, they will reside in Villa Hills, Covington. James is the grandson of the late Bill and Nora Cottengim of Calloway. He is also the nephew of Margaret Burdine of Livingston.

House passes bill to "clean up" property assessments

The House yesterday approved a bill aimed at helping clean up property assessments by making it a felony to lie on deeds, sponsored by State Rep. Danny Ford.

House Bill 394 also requires both the buyer and seller to sign deeds that would have to contain the true price of the property. Currently only the seller signs deeds.

Local tax assessors, known as property valuation administrators, often depend on prices in deeds to assess property for tax purposes. Recent newspaper series and a study by the state Revenue Cabinet showed deeds in Kentucky frequently contain phony prices.

Rep. Ford said the newspaper articles have shown "how our children have been cheated" by problems in property assessments.

"We are trying to accomplish fair assessment of property," said Ford.

Currently, lying on deeds or accompanying affidavits is a misdemeanor, and prosecutions are rare. Anyone lying under the new law could be sentenced to up to five years in prison and fined up to $10,000.

Ford's measure passed the House 64-25 with 11 members not voting. It now goes to the Senate.

Rep. Joe Barrows, D-Versailles, told his House colleagues that they should wait on a Revenue Cabinet backed bill dealing with the issue.

The House budget committee has approved House Bill 339, which also is aimed at helping clean up property tax problems. It, too, would make it a felony to lie about a property's price. But the information would have to be on a separate, transfer document signed by the buyer and seller.

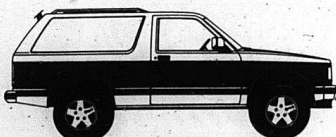

The transfer document would list a property's true price, address, legal description and a mailing address for the tax bill. If the property is a gift, an estimated value would be required. Some deeds now say the price was only $1 and "love and affection."

923 bills introduced in Legislature

A total of 923 bills had been introduced in the General Assembly as the 1990 session of the Legislature reached its half-way point Feb. 20. Of those 923, 293 were introduced in the Senate and 630 in the House. Feb. 20 was the 30th legislative day; if the current schedule remains unchanged, the General Assembly will adjourn April 12 after meeting for 59 days.

At the close of the 1988 session of the General Assembly there were a total of 399 Senate bills introduced and 1,030 House bills. Of those, 399 eventually became law.

A total of eight pieces of legislation have been signed into law by the governor so far this session.

The last day to introduce new bills is March 2 in the House and March 5 in the Senate.

The General Assembly's toll-free message line has received a total of 237,832 messages as of Feb. 16. Although the message line receives most of its calls during the session, it is available for use year round.

To leave a message for any legislator, call Frankfort toll-free at 1-800-372-7181.

40 attend Severe Weather Spotters Class at Hospital

About 40 persons attended a Severe Weather Spotters class Monday night at the Rockcastle Hospital Conference Room. The class is sponsored by the National Weather Service in cooperation with the Rockcastle Disaster Emergency Service, according to Gary Asher, director.

Organizations represented in the class included the Mt. Vernon Fire Department, Brodhead and Livingston fire departments, sheriff, Mt. Vernon City Police, Rockcastle Ambulance Service, Rockcastle Hospital, Board of Education and WRVK.

A second class will be held at 6 p.m. March 20 in the County Courtroom. The class lasts between 1 and two hours and is open to the public. For information contact Asher at the hospital, 256-2195.

The classes are being held in preparation for the beginning of the spring storm season.
