Litter prevention poster and writing contests

Contests to create an awareness of Rockcastle County's problem of illegal littering and dumping are being promoted in the school during the month of April, sponsored by the Rockcastle County Clean-up and Prevention Planning and Advisory Committee.

The contests are in the areas of both Art and Writing. A poster contest is extended to all grade levels K-12. A first prize of $25, a second prize of $15 and a third prize of $10 will be awarded at each grade level district-wide. The writing contest is open to the students of Rockcastle County High School. First prize $35, second prize is $20 and third is $15 will be awarded at each grade level in the high school. Every student entering either contest will receive recognition.

Prizes for these contests are made possible by the donations of the following: The Bank of Mt. Vernon; Citizens Bank; Renfro Valley Folks, Inc.; Mt. Vernon Signal; Dowell-Martin Funeral Home; Jean's Restaurant; NAPA Auto Parts; Carter's Market; Singleton and Assoc.; Cox Funeral Home; Superior Grocery; McKinney Tire; Druthers; Rockcastle Auto Parts; James H. Lambert; Elsie Jones and Calvin Mize.

All students are encouraged to participate in these contests. For details of contest rules ask your teacher or principal. For further information call Calvin Mize at 256-4862.

Our brother, Earl Mason, wasn't able to attend as he was in the hospital. We missed him being there. A very special hello to Tiny Sue and Noah in Mass.

"Sweet and Sour"

laughter and party atmosphere that went along with a good cleansing swim was a stimulant to both body and mind. The resiliency of youth brought us back up that trail sweaty again but full of vim and vigor. It seems to me that running water in a mountain stream transfers some of its buoyancy to the swimmer. I know I always feel much more invigorated after swimming in such water than I do after swimming in man made pools where the same water is used by everyone.

Rockcastle River is only one of our rivers in danger of being destroyed. The Cumberland River has become so fouled up with coal residue and trash dumped on its banks that it has nearly destroyed the beauty of Cumberland Falls. Cumberland Falls, created by one of these meandering water ways, is one of Kentucky's most unusual attractions. People come from all over the country to share its beauty. There are only two Moonbows in the world. Africa has one, Kentucky's Cumberland Falls, the other. Of course its only seen at night when the moon is just right but many, many people stay over just to see it. And now we, the citizens of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, have contributed to and allowed this scenic and historic place to become an eye sore.

If, for one would love to be able to walk the Appalachian trail from beginning to end. That's from Maine to Alabama. I'd like to swim again in mountain streams free of silt and plastic castaways. I would like to picnic on the banks of these streams and pick wild flowers instead of plastic diapers from the foliage. I would like to swim again in the beautiful Ohio River, knowing its water was pure again and not someone's toilet water. I would love to pick violets once more from the banks of a gurgling little stream in Wells Hollow, Ohio. That stream has been destroyed by progress also.

Dream along with me about the past the dream with me of a future where people, and especially the proud people of Kentucky take care of their heritage -- a good clean earth.

"I've Got the Music In Me" will be presented by The Castle Chorus in their spring concert on Thursday, March 29 at 7 p.m. Johnna Dell Ward and The Castle Chorus invites everyone to attend.

ABSOLUTE Auction

Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Petrey's
59 Holstein Dairy Cattle and Farm Machinery

Thurs., March 29, 1990 10:30 a.m.

Near Broughtontown - Lincoln County

Location: 6 miles south of Crab Orchard. Turn west off Kentucky 39 onto state road 618 between Mr. Zion Church of Christ and The New Hope Church of God. Follow 618 about 1-1/2 miles to junction of Hwy. 1781. Turn right and proceed about 1-1/2 miles to auction site. Signs are posted.

Mr. and Mrs. Petrey are reducing their farming operation and have commissioned our firm to offer their Grade A dairy cattle for the absolute high dollar.

The Petreys have been milking for approximately 18 years. This is a well-established herd. The following is a list of the cattle:

- 2 - 2 yrs. old
- 12 - 3 yrs. old
- 22 - 4 yrs. old
- 9 - 5 yrs. old
- 2 - 6 yrs. old
- 2 - 7 yrs. old
- 2 - 8 yrs. old
- 1 - 9 yr. old
- 3 - aged cows
- 3 - 18 month old heifers

Farm Machinery: 140 tobacco setter * Cherokee silage wagon * gravity wagon * bale mover for back of truck * International 13 shank chisel plow * 10 ton grain bin * 1000 gallon water tank * 2 wheel trailer * 36 ft. hay and corn elevator * creep feeder on wheels * 2 floor jacks.

The cows have been tested and have a clean bill of health. If you need some good proven cows for your herd, be sure to attend this auction. Remember, it's being held on Thursday, March 29th at 10:30 a.m.

Terms: Cash or good check day of auction.

SALE #2

ABSOLUTE AUCTION
of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Petrey's
100 Acre Farm, more or less
In Tracts
Sat., Mar. 31, 1990 1:30 p.m.
Chapel Gap section - Lincoln County

Location: 5 miles south of Crab Orchard. Turn west off Kentucky 39 onto the Mike Genton road. Follow Mike Genton road approximately 2 miles to the property. Also fronts on the Chapel Gap Road. Auction signs are posted.

As part of their plan to minimize their farming operation, the Petreys' say sell this farm for the high dollar.

The farm will be offered in 5 tracts, reserving the right to sell each tract individually or combined in any manner to reflect the most favorable results. A survey is being done and plats and tract divisions will be posted prior to sale day.

In its entirety, the farm contains approximately 1100 acres, more or less, with about 33 acres of crop and pasture land. The balance of the land is in woods with some marketable timber. The basic tobacco allotment is 1678 lbs. Water is provided by 2 ponds and a spring.

Improvements include a 30x60 barn with 12 ft. shed, a 100 ton silo with automatic unloader and feeder and a house in need of repairs.

Remember, the farm will be offered in tracts and combined. So, if you're wanting a small tract or a larger farm with an abundance of road frontage, look it over before sale day. It's an absolute auction and the last bid will buy.

Terms: 20% down day of sale, balance in 30 days with delivery of deed.

For additional information, contact Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Petrey at 255-2247 or: REF#AM1090

Police and rescue officials removed Tim Smith's body.

Manslaughter charge against Singleton

A Rockcastle County Grand Jury has indicted a Brodhead man for second degree manslaughter.

Wesley Dewayne Singleton, 25, of Brodhead is being held in the Rockcastle County jail following his arrest last week.

The indictment stemmed from a Feb. 17 incident in which William Timothy Smith of Fairview died following a fall over a 40 foot cliff at Mullins Station.

According to Kentucky State Police Detective Johnny Phelps, who sought the indictment, Singleton was apparently with Smith at the time of the accident, but did not report it to any authorities.

"He told me that he was with Smith when he fell, but that he did not want to report it because he was afraid police would connect him with a stolen vehicle in the area where Smith fell," Phelps said.

"He simply left the scene of an accident and did not report it," Phelps said.

The detective said he sought the indictment after an autopsy revealed that Smith died from hypothermia. "The fall was not enough to kill him and if Singleton had reported the accident when it occurred Smith may not have died," he said.

Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell said Smith had several broken ribs, a broken pelvis and a head injury, but that the fall did not kill him. Family members found Smith's body two days after the accident.

Phelps said that Singleton even returned to Smith's parent's home the night of the accident to use the phone and did not tell them their son had fallen.

Singleton was also indicted for receiving stolen property over $100 and arson.

According to Phelps, Singleton apparently stole a 1981 Jeep Wagoneer from Linda Miller. The Jeep was apparently in the same area as Smith's body.

Public defender Jim Cox will represent Singleton who is due in court again on April 17.

Helicopter airlifts victim to U.K. Medical Center

An Oakridge, Tenn., woman was taken to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, by the hospital's emergency helicopter following an accident on Interstate 75 in Rockcastle County last Wednesday afternoon.

Florence Shumer, 72, of Oak Ridge apparently lost control of her 1990 Toyota van as she traveled south on I-75. After crossing the median, Mrs. Shumer's van flipped in the air coming to rest on its side in the North bound lane of the interstate, according to Kentucky State Trooper Jack Lawless.

Mrs. Shumer was removed from the van by members of the Mt. Vernon Fire Department, who had to use the jaws-of-life apparatus to take out the back seat of the van.

"We got her out in five minutes with the jaws, where it would have taken us a half hour without it," said fireman Garry Hansel.

After Mrs. Shumer was freed, the U.K. Helicopter landed on the interstate and transported her back to Lexington.

She is listed in satisfactory condition following reconstructive surgery on her left arm.

The accident blocked traffic on I-75 for about 4 miles.

Set clocks ahead one hour Saturday

About 100 people turned out for the annual Lincoln Day banquet Friday night sponsored by the Rockcastle Republican club. Setting at the head table were from left, Roland Mullins, County Judge/Executive, Danny Ford, State Representative, Harold Rogers, U.S. Representative, Dan Venters, Circuit Judge and Joe Lambert Supreme Court Justice.

Harold Rogers talked with County Clerk Norma Houk, far left, her mother Chassie Sargent, Gail Osborne and former magistrate Danny Sargent.

Problems in the valley slow re-vamping of Renfro creek

By: Ray McClure.

Renfro Valley Folks were in the spotlight this week, but they weren't on stage.

The state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet has filed a lawsuit against Renfro Valley Folks Inc. for failure to obtain a permit for placing obstructions in the floodways or floodplain of Renfro Creek. Work has stopped on the $300,000 project.

The state agency is asking for a fine of $1,000 for each violation and for each day of the violation.

The Renfro Valley complex, which owns land on each side of Renfro Creek for about a quarter-mile downstream, was seeking to clear, realign a section of the creek and place a low level dam and pond barriers to prevent flooding of an area to be developed by Renfro Folks. Renfro was intended to widen the creek to about 80 feet and rock the banks of the creek.

However, the company failed to get the necessary approval from the state.

Bob Logan, director of Kentucky Dept. of Transportation

Public transit to locate in post office building

A $151,680 grant from the federal government to expand and upgrade public transportation in a four-county area including Rockcastle, has been approved for a local organization.

Rural Transit Interprises Incorporation (RTEC) will purchase the old Main Street post office building and turn it into a central transit facility for the group, according to Shirley Cummins, director of RTEC.

Cost of the building and parking area at the rear is $75,000. She said she is awaiting final approval of the location from the Kentucky Transit Cabinet. The state share of the project is $18,960. The local share is also $18,960.

According to Mrs. Cummins, RTEC is a non-profit organization exclusively designed for planning, coordinating and operating public transportation.

The building will house offices, computer and waiting room for persons who must lay over, vending machines and restrooms. In short, it will be a bus station.

Mrs. Cummins said this year the RTEC will operate in four counties, Rockcastle, Whitley, Knox and Laurel. Laurel will be by referral. Next year, the transit system will add Bell, Wayne, Pulaski and McCree counties to its routes.

"Everything will come out of this center," Mrs. Cummins stated. "The transportation will be for anyone who wishes to use it, and not just for the elderly."

In addition to the building, the center should be very helpful for the downtown area since persons waiting for transportation would likely do business in the downtown area that recently lost the post office to Richmond Street.

She looks forward to many changes in the area and help for persons needing transportation to various cities in the area, including Lexington.

Lambert says he will prosecute dumpers

By: Richard Anderkin

Beware, dumping trash in Rockcastle County, may land you in court and get your name in the newspaper.

Rockcastle County Attorney James H. Lambert, who had been under some fire because of the lack of prosecution of illegal dumpers, said Tuesday that illegal dumpers would be prosecuted in Rockcastle District Court.

"I strongly oppose the illegal dumping of garbage and litter and encourage everyone to dispose of their garbage properly," Lambert said Tuesday.

Bullock resigns, Perkins will stay

By: Richard Anderkin

David Perkins will remain at Rockcastle County High School as head coach's basketball coach. That decision came Tuesday night following a special meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

However, girls' head coach Judy Bullock has resigned.

Superintendent Bige Towery Jr., said Tuesday night before the meeting began that Bullock had notified him that she would not be interested in continuing as coach.

There had been many rumors circulating about Perkins and Bullock's status. Many had said that both coaches would be fired.

However, after almost two hours of public comment and a short executive session by the board, board chairman George Poynter announced that Perkins would remain as head coach.

About 20 people of the 50 that turned out for the meeting reminded the board that coaching changes over the past 10 years had not been the answer and that problems apparently lie elsewhere in the program.

Many people laid the blame for the lack of wins at RCHS on the grade school program, while others said the community was not supportive enough and others said parents of the athletes should be more involved.

While the meeting was upbeat for the most part, most everyone agreed that there is a problem.

RCHS Principal Ronnie Cash said that he did not think coaching was the problem. "I think we have to pull together, the school, the community and the parents should strive to make our program better," Cash said. The principal that he felt like that should apply to everything at RCHS and not just the athletic programs.

MVES principal John Hale suggested the season in the grade schools be shortened, that only one girls team and one boys team be fielded and that they play the same nights and that the rest of the athletes go into an intramural program.

Parent Billy Bullens said he thought much of the blame could be laid on parents for their lack of support of the program. He had two sons that play.

Former principal D.A. Robbins said he thought the atmosphere at the high school needed to change. He said that students should be made more comfortable when they go in as freshmen.

Parent Karen Bullock said that she believed the boy's program was treated differently than the girls and that an effort should be made to treat both programs alike.

Joe Mullins suggested that the grade school basketball program be

Our Readers Write

An open letter to John Hale, principal of Mt. Vernon Elementary School:

Please do not change the mascot and school colors of Mt. Vernon Elementary School. It is incredible to me that this is even being considered. As an alumnus of Mt. Vernon High School I believe a school is more than a building. A school is those students who have gone there before, those who are going there now, and those who will go there in the future. A school is also tradition, and Mt. Vernon is rich in tradition.

It is my sincere belief that changing the name of the athletic teams from Red Devils and the school colors from red and white to anything else would destroy all that tradition. A good school would die and a new one would be born. This would not be good.

If and when Livingston and Broodhead get new schools, you can be assured they will keep their present team names and school colors. Those communities have pride and tradition that would prevent even an attempt at such a name change. I hope Mt. Vernon can call on the same pride and tradition to prevent the same.

If, however, this name change is voted in, please consult some key alumni from the past 50 years and get their opinions before making the change. I believe you will be surprised by their passionate opposition to a change.

As any leader of a school can attest to, it is not good business to alienate alumni. Even though Mt. Vernon is a public school, alumni can be very important to you in the future.

I find it very sad that the old building will be torn down. My other grand father, my brothers and sister, my daughters, my wife and I have all attended and some of us have graduated from Mt. Vernon. We know a new building is necessary, however, we do not welcome a new team mascot and new school colors. Leave things as they are and allow us to cheer the red and white of the Mt. Vernon Red Devils from now on.

Respectfully,
Dr. John H. Parsons, DMD

Dear Rick,
One correction to your article "Chamber to Tackle County's Garbage Problem". The money raised to sponsor the poster and writing contests, was not raised by the Chamber of Commerce but rather by the Rockcastle County Clean-Up and Prevention Planning and Advisory Committee which is sponsoring the contest. $1200 was raised by the committee.
Respectfully,
Calvin Mize
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Dear Editor:
Twenty-one years ago, Richard Nixon, as our President, methis water, after Water-Gate. For a long time afterwards, I did not care for him. It seems to me he lost his self-respect. So he began to work to regain his self respect.
Now he says Mr. Bush should be mightily careful with a treaty with Mr. Gorbachev. I do whole heartedly agree. I believe it is easier for a leopard to remove his spots, than for a communist to quit his party.

The cruel leader in Red China, has said he will never give up his ruling, nor have I heard of the Cuban leader making any changes. I believe that if the USSR was fortified with the finances and the courage, it would still try to make over the world.
Our United Nation should unite in prayer. We are blessed, and don't realize how much. Only through prayer can we keep our wonderful America intact.
Thank you,
Margaret Deyhouse
Cincinnati, Ohio

Dear Editor,
This note has two purposes: First to thank and congratulate you on the persistent manner in which you pursue cleaning up the filthy litter in our county; and second to clarify statements in the 3/22 "Charing Rockcastle" article that were attributed to me.

It is true that I have had discussions with County Attorney James H. Lambert regarding prosecutions for illegal dumping. It is true that Mr. Lambert at all times has said he would prosecute, if a case could be made for prosecution.

The profession in wording is not all that great, but the nuance is. The statement that I "made numerous requests that Lambert consider prosecuting violators" suggests that I was interpreting Mr. Lambert's duties and trying to get him to perform them. That is not correct. One of the tenets of my campaign was to mind the business of Judge/Executive and stay out of the business of citizens. That I have done and plan to continue, I did say that I felt Mr. Lambert would prosecute violators. I still think that.

In summary, again, thank you for the unwavering battle that you are waging against the filth that is plaguing our landscape. Today we say people need their awareness raised relative to the dangers surrounding this issue. In the holy scriptures references are made to a person being beside himself. There is probably a parallel between the two - awareness versus being beside ourselves.
Sincerely,
Roland D. Mullins
County Judge/Executive
Rockcastle County

Dear Editor,
First of all I would like to thank the Signal for printing my letters.
The photo they put in last week's Signal didn't tell the whole story. It just told that many Renfro Valley residents were upset about the condition of my trash service. They didn't tell that, that's the reason I'm moving my service. I'm moving the garbage to my own property to help Renfro look better. I'm putting up an 8 ft. wood fence around the new lot. I want Renfro and Rockcastle County to be cleaned up and look good.

I care about Rockcastle County and the people who live here. I want to keep the service convenient for the people who use my service. If it were to be moved to Conway or to the new bypass it would be inconvenient to the people. If it was to be moved away from Renfro then we would have garbage everywhere again. I'm trying to help Renfro not hurt it. I have even offered to donate a dumpster to the Chamber of Commence for the schools to use to help clean-up Rockcastle County. I'll even donate a truck and driver, if needed. Does that sound like I'm trying to hurt people. There's not very many people that would put dumpsters on property they own, but I am. Let's all work to clean-up Rockcastle County. One person can't do it all. If you care about Rockcastle County then why not work with me instead of fighting with me. Help me to help Rockcastle County.

Thank you,
Linda McWhorter

ANNEXATION:
ARE YOU AGAINST IT?
The City of Mt. Vernon is trying to annex a large area of land around Mt. Vernon. Many people are opposed to being forced to join the city since no real advantage is offered to them for the higher taxes they will pay. No new water lines, or sewer lines are planned except to accommodate Renfro Valley Folks, Inc. We have no quarrel with the development of Renfro Valley. We simply feel it's unfair that new city residents will pay additional taxes for no additional services.
A lot of people have joined together to submit a petition to the mayor to put this question on the November ballot for a vote. This is the proper procedure under state law. Hundreds of people in the proposed annexation area have already signed the petition. There must be signatures from 50% of the people living in or owning property in the annexation area for it to be placed on the ballot.
Will You Get your First City Tax Bill Next Year?
If you live or own property in or around the city of Mt. Vernon and don't know if you will be subject to annexation and new taxes, or if you wish to sign a petition, please contact:
Charles Shepherd, Jr. at 256-4249
Tony Davis at 256-4593 or

"Letters"
(Con't from A-2)

Dear Editor,
I would like to clarify certain impressions left by last week's Signal concerning my stand on the garbage issue.

I strongly oppose the illegal dumping of garbage and litter, and encourage everyone to dispose of their garbage properly. Rockcastle is a beautiful county and each of us should do our part to make it litter free.

I do not need to be coerced to persecute people who litter or dump illegally. I am quite willing to do this. I do, however, need a witness who observed the litter being dumped and who is willing to come to court and testify to what he or she observed.

To prosecute a case in court, the person who gets a warrant or summons for another person should know and be willing to testify in court that the other person, in fact, dumped the garbage or littered the landscape.

While there may be other evidence, personal observation is much the best evidence, and makes a much stronger case. Moreover, juries are more likely to convict when someone observed the garbage being dumped and is willing to testify to that fact. Therefore, citizens who personally see someone illegally throw out garbage, or have reason to definitely know who threw out the illegal garbage, should bring the legal process I've described above. Warrants or summons will be written in my office, free of charge, and will become a legal document after being signed by the district judge or trial commissioner.

Judge Mullins and the Magistrates and I have discussed the garbage situation upon several occasions. We all agree that illegally dumped garbage and litter is harmful to our county and each of us stands committed to work for a cleaner Rockcastle County.

I wish to congratulate the committee, the schools, the Green Thumb workers, the service clubs and this newspaper for doing their part to help alleviate this problem. Concepts such as "adopt a highway," and other such concepts are very helpful, and I applaud those who are participating in them.

In closing, I would encourage all of our citizens to take pride in our county and in ourselves, and make a personal decision not to litter. Let's all work together to make Rockcastle County a cleaner county.

Sincerely,
Jim Lambert
County Attorney

Dear Editor,
I should like to express my thanks and appreciation to Wanda Bullock and Thelma Herrin, of Pulaski County, for the wonderful reception arranged for me on March 17 at the Western Steer Steak House in Somerset. I should also like to thank my friends, relatives and others who came out to share a meal with us and buy a copy of my book, The Harpers of Pongo Ridge, which they first learned about by reading The Signal. I'm sure I speak for all the group in expressing sincere thanks to Western Steer for the delicious food, courteous and efficient service and the use of their dining room for a most delightful and memorable afternoon of fellowship.

It was great seeing friends with whom I attended church at Line Creek some fifty years ago. We were all just kids then; now we're grandparents and each had "a tale to tell" about all the years in between - who they married, how many children, grandchildren, etc., and sharing family pictures.

And equally enjoyable was meeting all the kinfolk I never knew I had, such as Wanda and Thelma, and tracing family lineage. Wanda Harper was another of these heretofore unknowns who took a group of us to his home and informed me that my father, Lum Harper, had often visited there when he (Wade) was a young lad.

From there we went to Lovins Branch near the Lower Line Creek School and toured the old home place of Drewary Harper and his wife, Hepsy, who came through the Cumberland Gap from North Carolina and settled there in the very early 1800s, the first Harpers ever to set foot on Kentucky soil. We posed for pictures by the old cabin, a few logs and chimney stones of which are still standing. The story is that they slept in a hollow tree trunk until they finished building their cabin. He then walked up the hill to the old cemetery and placed a rose on the graves of our ancestors. This abandoned burial ground, which consists of some twenty graves, was no doubt once a

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Eph. 5:22-25, we read, "Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church; and he is the saviour of the body. Therefore, as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in everything. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it." Let's look at the responsibilities that husbands have in the home.

First, husbands are to be the head of the home. This does not mean that they are to be some kind of dictator, but a loving leadership is given unto them. Sometimes, husbands are quick to demand the rights as head of the home, but when problems arise they shirk their duty in leading in the solution. The privileges of leadership, husbands, are tempered by the responsibilities of leadership and by the command to love.

Love is commanded in these verses. Not that emotional fondness, but an active good will. When there is not good will in a home, husbands are the ones who have failed. It is our responsibility to put love and good will in the home. Husbands need to carefully weigh the needs of the wife, children, himself and the family as a whole, in making his loving decisions as head of the family.

A third responsibility that husbands have is found in Eph. 5:29-29. "So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself. For no man ever yet hated his own flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Lord the church." As a man will take tender loving care of himself, even so must he show that same tender care for his wife. Too many men treat their wives as door mats, that they can wipe their feet on. Peter commanded that men give honor unto their wives as unto the weaker vessel. 1 Pet. 3:7.

Ever was made from Adam's side and by his side she should remain for him to care and protect her through life.

And, just as Jesus loved us to come and die for us, and we respond to such love (1 Jn. 4:19); even so, husbands who will love and cherish, and honor their wives, we are most likely to respond in love.

Husbands, we have our work cut out for us.

I go into other people's homes occasionally and the first thing I check out is how well the doors are working. I am constantly amazed that most folks have doors throughout their homes that open and close with the mere turn of a knob. I'm trying to figure out how they do it. In all the places I've ever lived, a person had to have a pretty good understanding with the doors to get in and out of one room to another.

If you come to my house, you have to have a lesson or two before you can lock yourself inside the bathroom. But it's easy once you get the hang of it. You just have to lift the front door up about half an inch and then lean it to the right a little bit and she'll fit like a glove. I've about got the backdoor fixed so that all you have to do is lean back and put your weight against it. Right now it'll close every time if you slam it real hard.

There are similar problems with every door in the house. Loretta says it's because most people know a whole lot more about basic carpentry than I do or they're not too tight to hire a carpenter. I say it's because there's no sense in having two doors to a bathroom in the first place, and I don't have the money to hire a person to work full time around here just keeping the doors swinging the way she wants them to.

I've about had it with this hinging-to-have-stuff-done business. If I can't fix it myself, the chances are pretty good that I don't have enough money to pay for having it fixed.

The dryer tore up a couple of weeks ago. We have a gas dryer. It stopped burning. New tank of gas. Still wouldn't burn. Called the gas company. They came out and worked three hours. Left saying, "go buy a new dryer."

Watched the classified ads for three weeks and didn't see a single gas dryer advertised for sale. Made three trips to Berea to dry clothes. Started pricing new dryers. Dong near had heart failure. Loretta called the repairman. $65.00 for a part about the size of an aspirin can. $40.00 installation plus taxes came out to $109.83. Almost half the cost of a new dryer and I still don't know why we didn't make a trip to the Credit Union and just buy one.

Dryer is twelve years old. If a valve coil costs $65, it's no telling how much they want for a new motor. And you know that's next.

I go through stuff like this all the time. The refrigerator is beyond repair. It keeps stuff cold and looks all right, but it's pretty crippled up in itself. And you can't install "self-defrosting" on a frig that came out before it was invented.

The dishwasher is broke. Completely non-functional. Just sitting there, Loretta's mad about that. A dishwasher is another one of those devices that we got along just fine without before we went out and bought one. Then life becomes unbearable when the S&W thing breaks. Think about it. You folks who have bought microwaves over the last couple of years explain to me how you ever got along without one.

Our microwave is just three years old so I don't have to worry about it for a while. But I'd be willing to talk to anybody who has a good self-defrosting refrigerator they want to trade on. Loretta wants a big one. At least 20 cubic feet, but she says she'd rather have a dishwasher. The frig only has to be defrosted once a month. Dishes require attention three or four times a day.

We have friends who are younger than we are who have only been housekeeping three or four years. They keep telling us how nice it will be to have all of the appliances paid off. Right now they can't even afford to go out to a restaurant. Payments eating them up. And they think that it's one of those hurdles that they just have to cross one time. That little break between getting stuff paid off and then having to pay to have it worked on is not nearly as long as young people think it is.

After they've been married 15 years, I know several couples who are going to discover that stuff costs a lot more than it did the day after the honeymoon. And the doors are going to start sticking or just not closing for one reason or another just because they put their hands on the knob.

FARM AUCTION

Sat., April 7, 1990

11 a.m.

Since we live out of state, we have decided to sell our farm, located in Rockcastle County 5 miles south of Berea and 12 miles north of Mt. Vernon on Hwy. 25, then 1 mile east to Fairview Church, then 1-1/2 miles south to farm. This farm belonged to our father, Enoch Smith.

The property on the east side will be sold first, then the property on the west side of the road. Then the farm will be sold as a whole, selling whichever way brings the most.

This farm is approx. 60 to 65 acres, has a good tobacco base, 25 acres or more tillable, the rest is good cattle grazing land and some timber. House has 2 bedrooms, bath, kitchen and living room and is on city water.

For more info, contact:

Highway 1249 now beautiful scenic drive thanks to efforts of anti-litter group

The pride of the south is showing—southern Rockcastle Co. that rd Highway 1249 is looking better daily. With 14 of the 16 mile highway now adopted it is becoming the pleasurable scenic drive that nature intended. It has been exhilarating and encouraging to see the community cooperation and pride in each adopted highway section.

Demonstrating that pride and concern for a litter free road a group from the already adopted sections and residents of the area got together on Saturday, March 10 and worked on the two mile section that is still in need of a guardian. The group cleaned the section from the 14 mile marker to the city limits, picking up 52 bags of litter. The following people gave of their time and energies: Denver Phelps, Delano and Linda McClure, Gloria McKinney, Sandy Wilkerson, Michael Bradley, David Wilkerson, Calvin and Geraldine Mize, Glen Renner and Zade McClure. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Barnett had worked previously cleaning the highway along a 1/4 mile section adjacent to their property.

Intentions were to clean the intersection of Highway 1249 and 150, but a thunderstorm stopped the effort. Hopefully the city can get the last 1/2 mile cleaned.

Further demonstration of pride and concern was displayed by Howard and Ruth Bullock who in passing discovered that previous to the collection of the filled garbage bags someone had maliciously dumped one of the bags on the road, leaving broken glass and debris, they proceeded to pick up the trash and sweep the glass from the road. Cheers to the trash vandalizer and cheers to Howard and Ruth. The Bullocks are a part of the Skaggs Creek Roadrunners Adopt-A-Highway group directed by Bessie Cromer. For a treat drive through their Blue Springs area. It is rare to see one bit of litter in this section. The Blue Springs/Skaggs Creek section was cleaned quickly and maintained beautifully. Cheers to the Skaggs Creek Roadrunners.

In addition to the Adopt-A-Highway efforts of 1249, two other areas have been adopted. The All American Club has 2 miles on Highway 150 and The Young Farmers have Highway 25 thru Renfro Valley to the Christian Appalachian Project on top of the hill. Other groups have inquired and are in the process of adopting sections. The goal is to have every mile of state highways in Rockcastle Co. adopted by church groups, civic groups, public offices, businesses or individual community groups. Too often Rockcastle Co. makes the news in an adverse way, let's make good news and let all of Kentucky know that this southern souny is going to be beautiful and litter free.

For information about Adopt-A-Highway call Calvin Mize at 256-4682.

Help keep our county clean -- Don't litter!

Volunteer Awareness Month in Rockcastle was proclaimed by County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins this week. On hand were members of the All America Club who have volunteered to pick up trash along four Mt. Vernon streets. Club members, left to right are Charles Wayne Bullock, president of the club; Junior Griffin, treasurer; Mike Baker, sergeant-at-arms; Tracie Sowder, secretary; Charles Hayes; Bobby Bullen, vice president. Absent were Quinton Cummins and Lynn Cox.

Among those participating in another recent clean-up of Highway 1249 were, from left: Denver Phelps, David Wilkerson, Michael Bradley, Sandy Wilkerson and Gloria McKinney.

Spring Into Summer With A Safety Check.

Spring cleaning.
 Outdoor repair work.
 Summer fun.

No matter how you start the spring-summer season, the first thing to complete is a safety check.

If you're using power tools and cleaning equipment outdoors, make sure cords are the three-wire kind and are connected to a ground fault interrupter-protected circuit.

Be careful working with your antennas for TV and CB radios. Look skyward to make sure there is plenty of clearance to avoid contact with power wires.

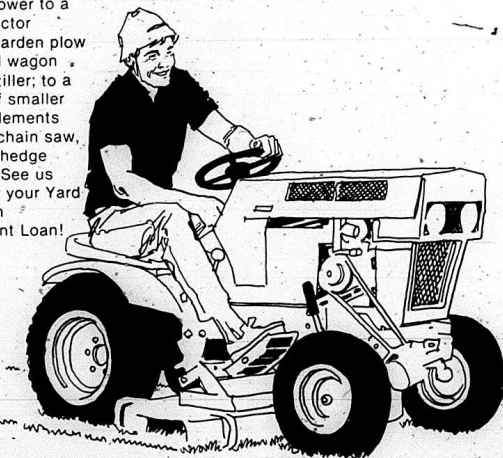

And if you and the kids go kite-flying or plan to build a tree house, check carefully to make sure there are no power lines nearby.

Contact us if you have any questions on how to help you spring into summer as safely as possible.

A Legislative Perspective

By: Rep. Danny Ford

Now that you've heard that the Education Reform Act was passed by the House of Representatives, you're probably thinking that we passed a bill that revamps our schools and includes a little revenue to pay for it. You're close.

raising nearly $2 billion in new money that included some controversial and experimental education changes as an afterthought. Starting this summer, every purchase you make will have a harder impact on your wallet. But next April when you fill out your state income taxes, you'll really find out how desperate House leadership was to push this legislation through the General Assembly.

While those reasons alone are compelling enough for me to oppose the bill, let me take a minute to tell you why I voted AGAINST this measure.

First of all, we witnessed an unprecedented use of raw power on the floor of the House. The leadership lent credence to the maxim that "if power corrupts, absolute power corrupts absolutely." The week before this measure came to the floor, debate was abruptly cut off in committee, while leadership promised that full debate and consideration of all amendments would be forthcoming on the floor. After four hours of debate on the floor and with 22 amendments yet to be considered, leadership stated it had heard enough debate on the floor and with 22 amendments yet to be considered, leadership stated it had heard enough debate and procedurally forced a vote before ANY member had a chance to even comment on the bill itself. That's right, the most significant and sweeping legislation ever to pass through the Capitol, was moved through the House without a single representative having a chance to speak in favor or opposition to the bill. As a result, 177 school districts, 1400 schools and the State Department of Education were disintegrated in an afternoon of limited discussion that included not one word on the merits of the bill.

The Speaker said he was displeased with the low amount of support from the Jefferson County and Northern Kentucky delegations, so just moments after the vote, he threatened to kill an economic development initiative in Jefferson County and did, remove the convention center and library from NKU. This gave credibility to the rumors that the leadership had numerous deals with the members to win votes. In effect, they used taxpayers' money to buy votes so they could levy the largest tax increase in the history of the state on Kentuckians like yourself. You might not have known it, but wherever you were on the afternoon of March 21, the House of Representatives was putting a double whammy on you by using your own money to extract EVEN MORE money from you.

As a result of this vote, you will pay an additional $100 every time you buy a modest new car. You will pay five new dollars every time you buy a simple appliance. A grandmother on limited social security benefits will pay $20 more every year on sundry items from the grocery store.

The real shock will come next April when you file your state income tax returns. The usage tax has been increased from 4.5% to 6%. Your federal income taxes cannot be deducted from your state taxes. In fact, a Kentucky family of five with annual earnings of $45,000 now pays $1800 per year in state taxes. Under this new law, that same family will pay $2400, a 33% increase! That, too, is why I voted against this bill.

The Kentucky wage earner may have taken the hardest hit from this bill. The income tax changes are retroactive to January 1, 1990, meaning the deductions from a Kentucky worker's paycheck won't cover their tax liability next spring. I didn't want these hard workers, the backbone of our economy, to have to pay MORE taxes next April when they currently depend on modest refunds for their vacations or much-needed home repairs.

Sally, despite this tremendous amount of new revenue which will impact every Kentucky family and to which I strenuously objected, the Chairman of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee stated just fourteen hours after the vote that WE WOULD BE BACK IN FRANKFORT IN 1992 IN NEED OF MORE MONEY! I could not be party to that kind of excessive and reckless use of YOUR money.

But most importantly, you need to know that I came to Frankfort intending to support an education reform package and the money to pay for it. While I contend that the amount of money raised is obscenely exorbitant (three times more than is needed to fund the school reform), the real disaster is that the quality of the reform itself is questionable. This bill will impact every district, every school child, and every family in Kentucky. Yet it erodes local control of our schools and sends the decision-making to Frankfort, the most political city in the Commonwealth - as evidenced by the parliamentary abuse used on this bill.

Although you could barely tell it by the way Frankfort operated in the past few days, this is still a democracy, and the majority spoke on this tax legislation. I am proud that on this issue, I was in the minority with other members who wanted to protect your children, your family, and your wallet from a savage attack by state government. You can be sure that in the years to come, I will do everything in my power to reverse the effects of this detrimental bill.

THE CLASS OF '75 will be holding a meeting Thurs., Mar. 29 at 7 p.m. in the conference room at the Rockcastle Hospital. Those interested in organizing a 15-year reunion, please attend or contact Theresa Russell Schaffer at P.O. Box 541, Broadhead, Ky. 40409.

Did Legislature endorse illegal meetings?

Action by the Kentucky House of Representatives on Tuesday, March 20, may have in effect given government agencies under the state its stamp of approval on illegal meetings. The House was considering an amended version of House Bill 361, legislation concerning Open Meetings and sponsored by the Kentucky Press Association.

The legislation, first introduced as separate measures on Open Records and Open Meetings, had met with strong opposition from agencies not involved in the definition of "public agency." But the opposition was strong enough that the House State Government Committee sent the two pieces of legislation to a subcommittee to work out differences between the press and the objecting agencies.

What emerged from the subcommittee, and endorsed without dissent by the full committee, was a bill that would have prohibited public agency groups - city councils, fiscal courts, school boards and the like - from meeting in small groups away from the public's eye to work out controversial aspects of local legislation. And, setting up of an Interim Session Study Commission to examine the Open Meetings and Open Records laws in Kentucky.

After receiving its required two readings on the House floor, and then being sent to the House Rules Committee, something happened as the bill headed back to the floor for a vote. Without discussion and without explanation, the House sent HB 361 back to the State Government Committee. In Frankfort during a General Assembly that's the "kiss of death."

Legislators either didn't know what happened or, if they did know, they weren't saying. Rep. Albert Jones, D-Paducah, who drafted the committee amendment and was chairman of the subcommittee, was surprised by what happened on the way to the floor.

Someone, somewhere decided it wasn't a good idea to tell government agencies they would be in trouble if they met in illegal sessions.

Surely the House didn't fully understand the result of its action by recommending HB 361 to the House State Government Committee. Or just maybe, those local city, county and school board officials who violate state law and like to meet in small groups away from public scrutiny, cried "Foul!"

Brodhead News By: Mary McWhorter

The Willing Worker Homemakers are working to secure American flags for Brodhead Homecoming in May. These flags will be put down Main Street. Each flag will cost $9. If you would like to purchase a flag please see Patsy Fletcher at Fletcher's Grocery.

Dan McKibben and wife Kathy and sons Ben, Aaron, Luke and Josh, Gattiff and Nell Craig, Mary McWhorter, Bro. Carl Reynolds and wife Irene and Sister Irene Brown and husband Frank, attended the meeting at the Church of Christ in Dagville with Bro. Weldon Warmack doing the preaching. Sure was good to be there with all the members and other visitors and hear a wonderful message from the Word of God. Thanks to Danny for taking us.

Mrs. Ruth Bussell, her daughter Debbie and granddaughter Ja Dawn spent Saturday night with Ruth's sister Ayna Moore in Mason, Ohio. They also visited Ruth's son Darnie Bussell and family.

Recent visitors of Joe and Ruth Bussell were Aunt Lou Payne and Ann Gill.

Our sympathy goes to all who have lost loved ones recently.

Mrs. Eleanor Gray returned to her home last week after spending three months in Florida this winter. Her niece Henrietta Fultz of Richmond met her at the airport in Lexington and brought her home. Mrs. Gray said she enjoyed the warm weather and being with her family, but is glad to be home.

Coyt and Irene Croy of Cold Springs were here Monday on business. They visited Mrs. Croy and I and also brought our dinner at Druthers and Barrett it home to us.

Preston Parrett remains in St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington after undergoing surgery two weeks ago. We hope he will be improved soon and can be home. Alene has been with him all the time.

Ralph and Frances Davis of Somerset and Janet Adams of Highway 39, spent last Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Pearl Brummett.

Mrs. Mae Doan has returned home after a few days visit with her children and grandchildren in Ohio. Walter is doing well in the nursing home.

J.S. Craig Jr. and Garner Brown are in Louisville Monday evening on business.

Walter Barker is recuperating from gall bladder surgery in Mercy South

Hospital, 3000 Mack Road, Fairfield, Ohio. We hope he continues to do well. He has had quite a lengthy stay and I'm sure lots of pain.

Everyone in Brodhead says hello to Mary Adams formerly of Brodhead and now a resident in the West Minister Terrace Nursing Home, 2116 Buchel Bank Road, Louisville, Ky. 40218 (room 141). We all miss you very much Mary and we love you a lot.

Wilma Harold Wilson, the first music teacher at Brodhead grade and high school, visited Margie Wilcox Wednesday, Mar. 14. Margie invited D.A. Robbins and Elizabeth Mullins to join them for lunch. What a memory Wilma had! She'd describe a grade school or high school child that she remembered. Either Margie, D.A. or Elizabeth told her who it was and what they became in later life.

All of them enjoyed the reminiscing as well as the lunch. Johnnie Wilcox was present also.

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

Well folks, the ball is in our court now.

This week Rockcastle County Attorney James H. Lambert said that he would indeed prosecute illegal dumpers of garbage.

A letter from Mr. Lambert appears on page two. And in that letter Mr. Lambert makes some very interesting points, points that before now I never really considered.

It will take more than just Mr. Lambert's willingness to prosecute. It will take people in our community with enough guts to say, enough is enough.

For instance, to get a case to court a warrant must be issued for a person accused of illegally dumping. To get that warrant, a person must see someone dumping their garbage and then sign a warrant in front of a judge and then be willing to testify in court. Cases like this will cause some hard feelings and make people become enemies.

But I think there is enough people in this county that are fed up with the way things look, that something will be done. I wouldn't take but a couple of convictions for people to think twice before they throw their garbage over the hills. I applaud Mr. Lambert for his willingness to prosecute offenders and I think it is definitely a step in the right direction.

Tuesday night 50 concerned citizens turned out for a special meeting concerning the Rockcastle County basketball program.

The meeting was conducted in a professional manner with many positive remarks being made.

Most agreed that we have many problems in our basketball program and there were numerous suggestions about the program and how it can be improved.

John Hale suggested that we play fewer games in the grade schools with the boys and girls playing at the same time. He suggested we limit the number of school teams to one for boys and one for girls and put the rest of the students in the intramural programs going on now at each school.

Local parent, factory manager and youth league football coach Joe Mullins suggested we take the basketball programs out of the grade schools, because the youth league football has been successful since taking it away from school patrol.

One citizen summed it up by saying, "by putting the basketball program in the hands of coaches who want to coach because they love it and not because they want to supplement their teaching salaries, we will help our feeder system tremendously."

I agree with most of the above suggestions especially the combining of the teams. I think it would help the crowds and school spirit to have the girls and boys play at the same time.

During the meeting community spirit got ripped pretty good. However Danny McKinney disagreed with most people about the community spirit and I am inclined to agree with him.

Just look around. The local Christian Basketball League has very good attendance. The Brohead Invitational is probably the best attended tournament in the state. People want to get behind something. They want to support it, but fact is they've had very little to support in basketball at the high school.

Community spirit and support took their licks Tuesday night, but very little was said about the dedication of the athletes at the high school. Former principal D.A. Robbins did bring out the fact some kids are too lazy to play and it doesn't matter who the coach is or how he tries to motivate them.

I know from my own experiences in sports I would rather take a beating than lose. I also know that if I was on a basketball team that lost to anybody by 30 points I sure wouldn't tell it. I would not want anyone to know that I had any part in such a fiasco. I think our basketball players, both girls and boys have to decide whether they want to win or just play.

I'm afraid that we have lost games for so long that it is almost in-bred in our kids the way winning is in other programs. Fact is people are not going to strongly support teams that lose, even teams that win half their games will get little support.

Principal Ronnie Cash said he was not greatly concerned about attendance because it was down all over the state. He said it was even down in winning programs. However, when Jessamine County went to the sweet sixteen last week some 8,000 fans followed them. I think our attendance is down because there are more games, but I also think it is because we don't win.

I heard a lot of talk Tuesday night and simply hope that is not all that comes from the meeting, just talk.

I agree with Benny Craig who said we are in the wrong region. It is ridiculous that we drive into Bell, Knox and Whitley Counties when we should be going to Lincoln, Pulaski and Garrard Counties. The competition is no greater and it would make for better crowds at home and on the road.

I hope our annual ritual of traveling to the district journey for one game ends soon. I think it would be a benefit to the county and the school system if we could get our basketball program back to respectability.

Cereals - (1/2 cup) range = 1 to 14 grams

Fiber supplements are unnecessary for the general population. A variety of foods including grains and cereals, vegetables and fruits and legumes can provide the recommended amount. These foods along with adequate servings of lean meat, poultry and fish and low-fat milk and dairy foods can supply a nutritionally balanced diet.

at high risk for grass tetany also should be fed one and one-half to two ounces of magnesium oxide daily.

The problem is that cows don't like magnesium oxide; it tastes bitter. Commercial mineral supplement blocks with about 15 percent magnesium oxide in a palatable base are available. Farmers who want to mix their own supplement should use equal parts of trace mineral salt, steamed bone meal, magnesium oxide, soybean meal and dry molasses.

Health Implications of Fiber

The public is bombarded with messages about dietary fiber. Often these contain confusing information about amounts and types of fiber needed in the diet. To make wise decisions, consumers need facts about the health implications of fiber.

Dietary fiber is material from plant walls that is resistant to digestion by human digestive enzymes. It plays a role in the prevention and treatment of certain diseases. There are two basic types of fiber, water-soluble and water-insoluble, and each produces different physiological effects. The type and amount of fiber in a given food depends on the species and age of the plant and the part of the plant eaten. Water-soluble fiber has the potential to reduce risk for coronary heart disease by lowering total blood cholesterol and low-density lipoprotein (LDL—the "bad" type) cholesterol. Soluble fiber also helps control blood sugar levels in persons with diabetes. Water-soluble fiber is found in oats and oat bran; dried beans; and flesh of fruits and vegetables, especially apples, plums, citrus, broccoli, carrots, peas and potatoes.

Water-insoluble fibers help maintain healthy functioning of the gastrointestinal tract. By speeding up movement of the intestinal contents and increasing fecal bulk, fiber helps prevent constipation and diverticular disease. There is still conflicting data on the role of fiber in preventing cancer. It is known that increased fiber helps reduce the colon's exposure to carcinogens by moving intestinal contents more rapidly, thus possibly reducing cancer risk. Water-insoluble fiber is found in wheat bran; breads, cereal and pasta made of whole wheat; and skins and seeds of fruits and vegetables, especially berries, pears, peas, potatoes and tomatoes.

Both types of fiber, soluble and insoluble, help with weight control by increasing satiety or satisfaction after eating. The feeling of fullness is increased by the fiber's slowing of the stomach's emptying rate. Additionally, high-fiber foods may help with weight reduction by substituting for foods that are higher in calories.

Very high levels of dietary fiber (over 50 grams) may be recommended by some researchers or physicians for clinical experiments or special diets. Under supervised conditions this is safe and should not compromise nutritional status. However, vitamin and mineral supplements are needed.

The average American adult now consumes approximately 12 grams of dietary fiber daily. The Cooperative Extension Service's position is in agreement with that of most scientific nutrition groups that now recommend that this amount be increased to 20 to 35 grams. Examples of the amounts of fiber in specific foods are:

- Fruits - (1/2 cup) = 2 grams
- Vegetables - (1/2 cup) = 2 grams
- Dried beans - (1/2 cup cooked) = 8 grams
- Whole grain bread - (1 slice) = 2 grams

What's That Smell

By: John Holbrook

If you come to my house and sit around a spell Soon you're going to ask me "What is that smell!"

I'll explain there's lots of dead fishes floating near the bank And that exactly what you smell that is stinking so very rank

Why are they there the question comes to mind The answer to that one I really could not find

Someone said this Spring Nature that's doing its mother Nature kill If I had to smell and drink this water I'm sure I'd make me ill

I do drink the water but the smell was left behind If that did not happen folks would be in a bind

Those aren't fish scales in your water heater Someone is pulling your arm It is only mineral sediment And it will cause no harm

I could mention a lot of things that pours into the lake But I'm not going to do it just for your own sake

I'm sure glad we have the water to use so we see fit And we sure do miss it if it's off for a little bit

I say thanks to all you folks so we can take a bath It sure is much better than carrying water up a path taken out of it and where coaches do so because they want to and love to instead of because they have to.

Administrator Richard Bray, a former coach at the high school, said that the program had not been as successful as he had hoped, but that he thought things could change with a concerted effort.

Girl's B-team coach Darla Reams said that she hoped the board would choose a quality replacement for Bullock and that she would like to remain as B-team coach.

Parent Benny Craig said that he thought the basketball program could learn from the success of the baseball programs in the county. He also said RCHS is in the wrong region. "It is stupid to drive across Laurel County to play in the region and Laurel County drive across our borders to play in their region," he said.

Roundstone coach Jim Ward said that he thought we should teach our children to have self respect and think that they can succeed. He said that should be the number one goal of grade school coaches.

RCHS assistant principal Charles Baker said the top fundamentals in the grade schools were an important part of the program and that an effort should be made to get the better athletes in the programs.

Other comments made by various people were in support of Perkins and local police officer Chris Baker said a few words in support of Bullock.

Besides keeping Perkins the board voted to form a committee to look into the programs and come up with some recommendations.

Superintendent Towery will form the committee which will be made up of a diverse group of interested parties.

"I feel very good about the meeting and hope that we can make some changes that will help our program," Towery said.

"I realize that it is my duty to lead all phases of the school system and I want to see athletics succeed as much as I do any other program," he said.

"I think everyone had an opportunity to voice their opinion and I'm sure the board was very interested in what they had to say," Towery said.

"There will be critics, but those critics had an opportunity to voice their opinion tonight as well as those who did not want to criticize the program," he said.

"I hope we can all work toward a solution that will give us the type of program that we can all be proud of," he concluded.

Problems at Renfro Valley
Division of Water, said two orders are in effect. One is to cease and desist in construction and an injunction to prevent changes in the floodplain.

Wilson said the EPA, Corps of Engineers and the Division of Water in Renfro Tuesday going over the site and making a determination. "We're all working with Renfro Folks to resolve this," Wilson said. "We want them to be in compliance. They know now what it takes to comply."

"If worse comes to worse, he indicated the issue would have to be resolved in court resulting in a possible heavy fine for Renfro Folks."

Also off stage, Renfro Folks have threatened legal action against businesses in the Renfro area asking them to take the name Renfro Valley off signs and off products of various kinds they sell.

Glen Cromer, of Ole Kentucky Kitchens in Berea, told the Signal he had met with Renfro Folks officials and was told they wanted him to take Renfro Valley off his cheese,Jeffries and candy company.

Cromer said he was told they didn't want anyone from Renfro Valley using the Renfro Valley name on anything anymore.

Cromer said his attorney had responded to the request last week.

"I told them at the meeting that I had an official trademark on my products and I had no intention of changing the name. They told me the Kentucky Secretary of State might overrule that, but I doubt it."

Cromer added that he was told he might be held for loss of Renfro Folks business and for damage to them.

Cromer noted it was his understanding that gasoline stations would not be contacted since Renfro Folks is not in the gasoline business.

"I'm not against Renfro Valley Folks at all," he explained. "I'm all for what they are doing and the improvements they are making in the valley. It will help the area business climate. So I wish them success and will do what I can to help. But I am not going to give up my trademark on my products."

Joe and Joann Allen, owners of Renfro Valley Record Shop on U.S. 25 just north of the entertainment complex have also received a letter which Mrs. Allen said gave them until March 24 to remove the name from their outdoor sign and from their products. They have not done so. She added, they even suggested a new name for their business, Joe and Joann's Record Shop.

"We certainly don't want to change the name," she said. "We have also consulted an attorney."

Reportedly, Willard Collingsworth has received a verbal recommendation that his new business, now under construction on U.S. 25 opposite the Allen's record shop, not use the name, Renfro Valley Country Store. That name is on a temporary sign in front of the new store. His present business, soon to be moved, has that name which Renfro Folks consider belongs to them exclusively.

Reportedly, Jimmy Renfro has been approached about name plans for his property opposite Derby City South near the I-75 interchange.

However, he was not available for comment. Since his name is Renfro it seems unlikely he will be pressed to change it.

Fishing report
Fishing activity over the March 17-18 weekend was light to moderate on most of the major lakes. Water temperatures ranged from 50-58 degrees. Largemouth bass and crappie were the most consistently active species. The lake-by-lake report:

•Kentucky: Largemouth and smallmouth bass were hitting crankbaits and jig and pig combinations 1-5 feet deep along the shoreline; crappie were active on minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over creek channels; murky, stable, five feet below summer pool and 57 degrees.

•Barkley: Largemouth bass were active on crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline and off rocky points; crappie were taking minnows and jigs 5-10 feet deep over brush piles and submerged trees; murky, stable, four feet below summer pool and 56 degrees.

•Nolin: Largemouth bass were taking crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep along the shorelines over brush; crappie were hitting minnows and jigs 10-15 feet deep over submerged trees and brush; murky, rising, 15 feet below summer pool and 55 degrees.

•Rough River: Crappie were active on minnows and jigs 1-5 feet deep over submerged trees; largemouth bass were hitting spinnerbaits near the surface over stump rows; muddy, falling, 12 feet below summer pool and 54 degrees.

•Taylorsville: Crappie were active on minnows 10-15 feet deep over brush piles; largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and plastic worms 5-10 feet deep along the shoreline; murky, rising, three feet below summer pool and 53 degrees.

•Herrington: Largemouth bass were hitting crankbaits and spinnerbaits 5-10 feet deep off rocky points and over drop-offs; crappie were taking minnows and jigs 1-5 feet deep over brush piles and submerged trees; murky, stable at summer pool, and 55 degrees. For the next several months water elevation will be maintained at 725 feet due to dam repair.

•Green River: Largemouth and smallmouth bass were hitting crankbaits and plastic worms 5-10 feet deep off rocky points; crappie were hitting minnows 10-15 feet deep over brush piles and stump rows; murky, stable, four feet below summer pool and 54 degrees.

•Lower Cumberland (above dam): Striped bass were hitting minnows; shad and dolly jigs 15-20 feet deep in open water and over creek channels.

Lambert to prosecute

Lambert said personal observation of the crime is the best evidence and makes for a much stronger case.

"Many people want to complain about no prosecution, but without witnesses who are willing to prosecute, no case can be made. Most people simply do not want to get involved when it comes to going to court. They just want to complain," he said.

"Illegally dumped garbage and litter is harmful to our county and each of us should be committed to work for a cleaner Rockcastle County," he said.

"All citizens should take pride in our county and in ourselves and make a personal decision not to litter," the county attorney said.

There is a $500 fine if a person is found guilty of littering and that persons name will also appear in the court news section of the Signal.

the county payroll temporarily to purchase the necessary items inmates will use in work picking up trash along roadways or related work.

The inmates, who volunteer, will be put on the payroll so they can receive workmans compensation if they are injured on the job.

Judge Mullins said there would be very little cost to the county, perhaps $2 or $3 for such items as gloves. District Judges would have to approve prisoners who work.

In another action, the court approved county employees for another 90 days at which time their performance on the job will be re-evaluated. Workers who were laid off are not included, nor their status changed.

Luster Bullock, who is in the county road department, was placed under a 30-day re-evaluation. He will oversee Green Thumb workers.

The court deleted Boone Cromer from his appointment to help in garbage clean-up. Cromer had declined the job.

The court accepted a bid of $24,683 from Insulated Roofing Contractors of Louisville to replace the courthouse roof.

The court agreed to participate in a Rockcastle Chamber of Commerce program of trash pickup by school children in which prizes will go to contest winners.

The next regular meeting of the court is on April 12 instead of April 3. Judge Mullins plans a trip to England. If a called meeting of the court should be necessary, the magistrates voted to have Magistrate Donald Bullock be in charge.

Police charge Hayes with alcohol possession

The Rockcastle sheriff's department is fast filling up with confiscated booze taken from various persons in the past few weeks. Latest was nine cases of beer, 36 half pints of whiskey, 12 pints of wine and 12 half-pints of gin taken from an auto last weekend by State Trooper Gary Lane, Sheriff Shirley Smith and deputy Phillip Chestnut on Pur Rigby Road. Charged with transporting alcohol beverages in a local option territory was Barry L. Hayes, of Pur Rigby Road. He has a court date on April 11.

Rockcastle man gets life in Lincoln grocery slaying

A Rockcastle County man was sentenced Friday to life in prison for the 1988 shooting death of a Lincoln County woman. Kenneth Robinson, 19, of Mt. Vernon was sentenced by Lincoln Circuit Judge Robert Jackson, who followed last month's jury recommendation. Robinson will be eligible for parole in 25 years. Robinson was convicted of murder and robbery in the Sept. 15, 1988 shooting of Alma Jean Brown, 46. Brown was shot during a robbery at her Dogwalk grocery store she and her husband Don owned. Thomas Lockridge, Lincoln County commonwealth's attorney, said pre-trial proceedings for Stephen Robinson, 22, of Mt. Vernon, Kenneth's brother, are scheduled for May. Stephen Robinson is charged with robbery and conspiracy to commit murder.

Juvenile pleads not guilty to murder charges

A 17-year-old Rockcastle County senior pleaded not guilty in juvenile court to murder charges. According to a published report, local attorney John Clontz appeared for his client in court to enter the not guilty plea. The juvenile is charged with the death of an infant boy who suffocated after being thrown over an embankment in the Buffalo section of Rockcastle County. The juvenile had the child alone at home and then drove it to the spot where she apparently left it. She later helped police find the child which was wrapped in a quilt and placed in a garbage bag. Clontz refused comment on the case and would not reveal the girl's next court date.

Danny Ford votes against new education reform act

By: Richard Anderkin

80th District Representative Danny Ford of Mt. Vernon voted against the Education Reform Act when it came to a vote on the House floor in Frankfort last week. "I simply could not support the measure in its form," Ford said from his Frankfort office Tuesday. "The fact is the House passed a bill raising nearly $2 billion in new money that included some controversial and experimental education changes as an afterthought," Ford said. "Starting this summer, every purchase you make will have a harder impact on your wallet, but next April when you fill out your state income taxes, you'll really find out how desperate House leadership was to push this questionable legislation through the General Assembly," Ford said. "I came to Frankfort intending to support an education reform package and the money to pay for it, but we are going to raise three times more money than we actually need and Kentucky taxpayers are going to bear the brunt," he said. "This bill erodes local control of our schools and sends the decision-making to Frankfort, the most political city in the Commonwealth," Ford said. "This bill will impact every family in Kentucky, especially the middle income families that already bear the majority of the tax burden in the state," Ford said. As part of the bill, a cent will be added to the sales tax and the state usage tax will be increased from 4.5% to 6%. Federal income taxes will no longer be deductible and a Kentucky family of five who now pays about $1,800 a year in state income taxes will pay $2,400 under the new tax laws. "The Kentucky wage earner may have taken the hardest hit from this bill because all income tax changes are retroactive to January 1, 1990," Ford said. "That means deductions from a Kentucky worker's paycheck won't cover their tax liability next spring when they file their taxes, most Kentucky taxpayers will have to cough up more money for income taxes next year," he said. In its original form all employees of the school district would have had to have a G.E.D. or be working toward one to keep their job. That law would affect many Rockcastle County families, but an amendment to the bill changed that. Now, anyone already working for the school system will not be affected. But any future employees will. The bill would have also caused several board members to resign or their family members to quit their jobs, but another amendment also changed that. Now, only board members who were on the board when a family member was hired will have to resign, or that family member will have to quit. "It is still ridiculous that every board member in the state will have to be evaluated to see if they fall in those guidelines," Ford said. If the bill becomes law, two board members, Kenneth Adams and Debbie Reynolds would be affected by the new law. "This bill has a lot of holes and in years to come I will do everything in my power to reverse the affects of this detrimental bill," Ford said. "The most significant and sweeping legislation ever to pass through the Capitol, was moved through the House without a single representative being allowed to speak in favor of or oppose to the 900 page bill or the 400 pages of amendment," Ford said. "It is a mess." The bill has now gone to the Senate, where many of the amendments placed by the house have already been removed.

Sale of road bonds next step for court

By: Ray McClure

Only one person attended a public hearing on a proposed bond issue for county roads at a meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Monday. That person was Susie Kidwell who had asked the court to place her road - Matt Ponder Road - on the county road program. Judge Mullins told Mrs. Kidwell the road will be put on the road program for the next fiscal year. After the hearing, the court set up the organization for a Public Properties Corporation through which the county can issue $1,055,000 in county road bonds. Judge Mullins was elected president of the corporation; Charles Holbrook, vice president, and Anna Raze Mullins, secretary-treasurer. Through the corporation the county could finance future public projects. The court followed with a resolution directing the corporation to issue, authorize and approve public property revenue bonds for the road project. Another resolution stated the corporation could not take action of any kind unless the action was approved by the fiscal court. Under the road program, $907,300 will be deposited in a construction fund for readily available money to repair county roads. In the 1990-91 fiscal year road budget, resurfacing and chip and seal is estimated to cost $900,000. Other major expenditures in the regular county budget appropriation are listed as $140,000 for equipment and $115,000 for county road workers salaries. Total receipts in the 1990-91 road budget are estimated at $1,501,033 the same amount as expenditures. Total interest in the 12 year bond issue is estimated at $644,000. Total net bond service is $1,699,000. It is stressed that the figures are all estimates and will depend on the final interest rate on the bonds and the amount of taxes received and then allocated to the county by the state. The interest rate could be higher or lower than the seven percent rate projected by Ross, Sinclair and Associates, Inc., investment bankers that are handling the bond issue. A list will be reported soon, possibly next week, on the roads that are to be repaired or reconstructed. Those roads will be the most traveled and those in worst shape. In another action, the court approved putting county jail inmates on

First Christian wins league tournament

The Rockcastle Christian Basketball League ended Tuesday night when the league champions captured first place in the league tournament.

First Christian had to work hard to edge out Grace Baptist for the championship, in a close ballgame, 70-63.

First Christian jumped out to an early, 23-11, lead in the first period but Grace, with good perimeter shooting, cut the margin to 6 through the third period.

Steady scoring through the final period by both teams, went to First Christian's favor and it allowed First Christian's 6 point lead to carry through and finally prevail for the win.

Chris Cornelius led First Christian with the game high of 22 points. Dwayne McKinney was the high man for Grace with 16.

In the first game Tuesday night, Bible Baptist #2 defeated Ottawa Baptist, 71-54, to advance on and face Grace Baptist in the deciding game of the loser's bracket. Grace took the deciding game by a score of 60 to 49, over Bible Baptist #2.

The Rockcastle Christian Basketball League will hold their yearly banquet for the presentation of trophies and individual awards. Pictures will be available at that time. A firm date for the banquet has not been scheduled as of yet.

Sandbaggers still in first

The Rockers and the Sand Baggers remain tied in the win column for the lead in the Rockcastle Couples League at Maroon Lanes in Richmond. The Rockers also remain ahead in the loss column by one, with 77 and 38 and 77 and 39 records, respectively.

Jets took high team series for the week with a 2499. The Sand Baggers were second with a 2459 series and the Misfits were third with a 2375.

Shortstop J.D. Bussell 'cleats in' on a pitch by the Rockets starting pitcher Mike Dixon in Mondays game at Corbin. Bussell, an eighth grader at BES, will carry the starting role at shortstop when regular Dixon is on the mound.

Rockets open on losing note

Experience against inexperience prevailed Monday in the opening game of the baseball season for the Rockcastle County Rockets.

The young Rockets were rolled over, 26-0 in five innings at Corbin, by a veteran Corbin Redhound club. The Redhounds, last years regional runner-up, had an all senior lineup opposed to a total of three seniors for the Rockets.

"I had to expect a tough game," Rocket's head coach Ryan Riddle said afterwards.

Senior Mike Lopez, who shut down the Redhounds, 10-0, for the Rockets last year, didn't take the hill Monday. Riddle said he wanted to save Lopez for district and regional tournament play and let the Redhounds keep last year's shutout fresh in mind.

The Rockets had seven starters graduate from last year and according to coach Riddle, this is a rebuilding year for them.

It's hard to say just what kind of season we're going to have," Riddle said. "Our fielding is suspect but we're going to hit the ball well," he added.

Riddle went on to say that his boys have a really good attitude and that they enjoy playing the game. "I expect them to really show halfway through the season," he added.

Along with the many underclassmen for the Rockets, Riddle has also brought up three eighth graders this year, J.D. Bussell, Michael Shaffer, both from Brodhead and Jason Payne, from Mt. Vernon.

Bussell made his starting debut at shortstop in Monday's game since regular Mike Dixon was on the mound.

Softball gets new district

The Rockcastle County High School girls' softball season is under way and head coach Debbie Cash, expects a good year.

"Although we're basically a young team, I'm looking for a winning season and expect this year's team to do just as well as last years," Cash said.

The Rockets have five seniors this year and it flows down the ranks to four eighth graders.

According to Cash, the Rockets are lacking a pitcher this year. "If I can get a pitcher, we will do well this year," she said.

Overall the Rockets are looking good. "Our fielding looks fine," Cash said. "And our hitting will progress as the season goes on, but we do have some girls that can hit the ball well right now."

The Rockets went from the 41st

Tiger Pause

Don't forget our 'Spring Thing' tonight (Thurs.), beginning with an old-fashioned soup bean supper from 5 - 6:30 and followed by a variety show featuring students in K-8 and some cloggers. We hope you will come out and support these students. They love to perform and you will enjoy the program!

This past Tuesday our fifth graders experienced a 'rolling classroom' by going to Berea for a tour of the Appalachian museum and the planetarium. A delicious luncheon was enjoyed at Boone Tavern. We want to thank Forward in the Fifth for making this trip possible. They, along with an local board, gave money to finance this trip for our students and other such trips for all the fifth-graders in Rockcastle County. Forward in the Fifth is an outstanding organization whose main objection is to improve education in the Fifth District. Our local unit is committed to improving education in Rockcastle County. In order to do this, we need members who are in agreement with this goal. If you are interested in joining this fine organization, you may send your $2 membership dues to Broadhead School; we will see that it gets to the right people. The organization does things to promote attendance, to encourage academics, and to support education in general. On Monday we had a musical presentation by RCHS Chorus. They did a super job, and we're glad to have them perform for us.

Tomorrow is our 'Spirit Day' when we will be wearing our 'Success Starts Here' T-shirts. We encourage all students to wear any BES shirt that they might have. We are proud of our school!

We're also proud of our resource teachers and of the good work they do. Mrs. Julie Vannotter, our newest teacher has just successfully completed her internship. She teaches 5th and 6th graders and received her B.S. from Cumberland College. Ms. Melissa Paul, back this week after having undergone surgery two weeks ago, teaches junior high and is also a graduate of Cumberland College with a B.S. Ms. Beverly Owens, who teaches grades 1-4, received her B.S., M.A. and Rank I from E.K.U.

Roundstone Elementary participates in NAEP Survey

Above, eighth grade students participate in NAEP survey

Twenty-seven eighth grade students from Roundstone Elementary School were selected to participate in a national assessment program in the area of mathematics.

These students were selected randomly by computer. On Feb. 15, students were administered the nationally normed survey. The locally appointed NAEP administrator who coordinated the effort was Mrs. Loretta Powell. Mrs. Powell, guidance counselor at Mt.

Vernon Elementary and Roundstone, was commended on doing an outstanding job. Follow up correspondence from the Kentucky Department of Education regarding the project stated "In the eyes of national and state officials your district earned respect and credit for a job well done." NAEP is called "The Nation's Report Card." For two decades, information on what American students know and can do has been generated by The Nation's Report Card, formally mandated by Congress as the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). NAEP has generated more than 200 reports spanning 11 instructional areas. It is the nation's only ongoing monitor of academic achievement at the elementary, middle school and high school levels.

NAEP personnel will take 12 to 24 months to complete and release national results. Federal law prohibits release of data on a school or district level. Results will be published on a state and national scale.

Project Graduation

Once again Project Graduation is being planned by parents and community leaders for the graduating seniors of Rockcastle County High school. For the last two years the enthusiasm for the project has been high, and this year it promises to be even greater. Last Monday night, at the third organizational meeting, those interested in helping this year filled the lower level of the school library, made plans and set the next meeting for April 9th.

What is Project Graduation?
Project Graduation is a special chemical free last-night-together for members of the graduating class held immediately following graduation in the school cafeteria and lunch room. The purpose is to prevent drug and alcohol related accidents and deaths of students who are intent upon "celebrating" after graduation.

What happens at Project Graduation?

Knowing that graduates are especially "keyed up" on that night, planners of the project make sure there are many physical kinds of activities as well as some quieter ones. Popular with students in the past have been the "mud wrestling" and belching contests. Last year over $1,200 cash, $5,000 in prizes and a car were given away during the night in drawings and as prizes for participating in various activities and games. Music, provided all night by a sound group called "Outrageous" for dancing and breakfast is served before students go home at 6 a.m. Every moment is planned as volunteers work in shifts to help keep activities progressing smoothly all night.

How is Project Graduation funded?

Monday, food, and prizes are solicited from business and individuals in addition to funds raised at various fund raisers. This year planners are sponsoring a Strait Shot Concert at the Old Renfro Valley Barn on Monday night, April 23 and a big

DEATHS

George W. Mullins, 88, of Rt. 5 Mt. Vernon, died March 21, 1990 at the Rockcastle Hospital after an extended illness.

He was born on January 1, 1902 in Rockcastle County, the son of the late Bill Dowell and Catherine Madden Mullins. He was a retired farmer and a member of the Blue Springs Church of Christ.

Survivors are: his wife, Mrs. Dolie Pitman Mullins; five sons, Robert Mullins, Jr. of Brodhead, John Bill Mullins of Leroy, Ill., Boyd Logan, and Burgess Mullins, all of Mt. Vernon; four daughters, Mrs. Sadie Sowder, Mrs. Flora Kirby, and Mrs. Faye Kirby of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Bernice Beasley of Brodhead; a half brother, Lee Phillips of Calloway; a half sister, Mrs. Marie Stallsworth of Mt. Vernon; 24 grandchildren, 30 great grandchildren, a great great grandchild, 10 step grandchildren and a step great grandchild. He was preceded in death by two infant daughters, a grandson, a great grandson, two brothers and four half sisters.

Services were held March 23 at Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bros. Zade McClure and Jackie Renner officiating. Burial was in Pitman Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Mike Mullins, Tommy Mullins, Randall Mullins, Ricky Mullins, Tim Kirby and Michael Kirby.

Carmack

Charles Carmack, 90, of Brodhead, died March 24, 1990 at Irvine.

He was born on March 22, 1900 in Jackson County, the son of the late Robert and Elizabeth Murray Carmack. He was a retired construction worker and a member of the Hickory Grove Pentecostal Holiness Church. Survivors are: four daughters, Mrs. Nora Kramer of Fairfield, Ohio, Mrs. Emma Wyatt of Hamilton, Ohio, Mrs. Geraldine Hopkins of Lexington, and Mrs. Nancy Denny of Brodhead; 29 grandchildren, 45 great grandchildren, and 10 great great grandchildren. joyed my talk with her so much. I've never seen her, but I'm going to try to stay in touch with her. Our elderly people, (especially those who are lonely) need our kindness, our love and our prayers. Please remember them and do something good for them when you can.

I also saw Mrs. Mary Thomas, wife of the late Aden Thomas (my uncle) of Berea. It's always a delight to see her. Many years ago she taught school around in this vicinity and was always liked and well thought of by everyone.

So now you can see what is on my mind this morning as I sit here at my dining room table with tears in my eyes writing this column. I think so often of my family, when we were children and of mom and dad. Now mom and dad are gone so is four brothers and two sisters. The ones

Benge

George "Bud" Benge, 68, of Maineville, Ohio and formerly of Rockcastle County, died March 25, 1990 at his home.

He was born on Nov. 9, 1921 in Rockcastle County, the son of the late Jim and Sarah Bishop Benge. He was a member of the Church of God and was a veteran of World War II.

Survivors are his wife, Ethel Turner Benge of Maineville; three children, a brother, and six sisters.

Services will be held Thursday, (today), at the South Lebanon Pentecostal Church. Burial will be in Ohio. This obituary is courtesy of the Watson Funeral Home in Brodhead.

that are left are so far away we don't get to see each other often. But I still love them. My brother Tip and I are the only two that live here close where we were raised. Even though here we are separated, but my thoughts many times are on that Great Home-coming in heaven where we won't have to be separated anymore. Won't it be wonderful.

This (as you can see) is not a news letter but just something that I wanted to say.

So until next time try to attend church and Sunday School. Pray for the sick and love each other. God bless you.

Nursing Home receives 'superior' rating

The Cabinet for Human Resources has awarded a Rockcastle County health care facility the state's highest rating for a level of patient care provided to residents of the long-term care facility.

The "Superior" rating is for the personal care unit of the Sowder Nursing Home in Brodhead.

Kentucky nursing homes are rated for each level of care offered following the annual inspections by the cabinet's Division of Licensing and Regulation.

Woodrow Dunn, Licensing and Regulation director, said "Kentucky's nursing home reform law established the rating system for individual levels of care, so the public could get an idea of the quality of service provided by a facility."

"An 'unrated' status indicates that the service is in compliance with the minimum standards. A 'conditional' rating means that deficiencies have been found which must be corrected before that level of care will be in compliance.

Dunn said, "It's important for people to realize that each level of care is rated individually. Facilities offering more than one level of residential care have separate ratings for each unit."

A facility level of care earning a "superior" rating is in compliance with the minimum standards for licensing and has exceeded those standards in at least six of the 11 areas inspected. Those 11 areas are administration, drugs and biologicals, dietary and nutrition services, life safety code, nursing services, physical environment, physical and restorative therapy, social services and activities, medical services, patients' rights and record keeping.

Dunn said, "The real incentive for nursing homes to achieve a 'superior' rating is in the message it gives the public about the home's quality of care."

Meandering waters of Appalachia. These words alone puts me to dreaming of cool mountain streams and dark damp hollows. I've always loved mountain streams. The kind that meanders in and out of hollows, down mountain sides, through narrow valleys and over broad plains. These little trickles of water begin growing as they join other trickles and soon become creeks and rivers. I'm interested to trace them on a map but much more exciting to follow their meanderings on foot. Or even drive alongside the streams and just watch the water ever winding its way to a larger stream.

I don't know where the Rockcastle River begins but it must be up under a cliff somewhere and peopled by younger years enjoyed its cool refreshing power. I do know it empties into the Cumberland. I also know the Kentucky River begins in the eastern counties. I think it is Letcher, then winds its way over central Kentucky before it finally takes off for its joining with the Ohio River.

The beautiful Ohio River gets its start another way. Where the Allegheny coming from the north, New York, I think, and the Monongahela winding its way from W. Virginia meet at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and there join their waters and the beautiful Ohio begins.

Now all of this is Appalachian Country. The Appalachian trail has its beginning in Quebec, Canada and ends in Alabama. So my meandering waters of Appalachia covers a lot of territory. And now you may understand how a contaminated spring in your hollow can help contaminate the ocean.

Time was when all these streams of water was pure and sparkling and a weary traveler could drink from any spring oozing out from under a cliff for the tree and never worry about its purity.

It's a joy to behold a stream of water leaving its mountain hideaway. The larger ones come tumbling out over waterfalls and between large boulders. Creating white foam before settling down to deep pools. There are those that glisten like a moving ribbon as it weaves its way through large meadows. Then gets itself lost under a bridge. Water seems to be happy and singing as it rushes between rocks and mountainsides to join some mighty river.

As a child I waded in mountain streams and drank from the springs from which they sprouted.

Many a wet seat and sore behind the five back bottoms of some of those and when falling in. We kids used the excuse, "we fell in", many times to disguise the fact we went in. For once we were wet we could pretend we were swimming. The deeper pools with trees shading the banks and with sandy bottoms they were swimming pools for those who could swim.

Many of us learned to swim early in life so we made good use of these swimming holes.

I learned to swim in the beautiful Ohio River soon after we moved to Ohio. When I was quite young. My joys have been multiplied many times because of this ability to swim.

Since that time I have swam in the mountain pools tucked away from prying eyes. I have swam in the Rockcastle River as well as the Ohio River. And played in the waters of both oceans. All the time knowing these great oceans were being fed by the meandering waters of Appalachia.

Those same deep pools of water in a mountain of which I spoke were used for a bathroom as well as a swimming hole. What better place to bathe on a hot summer day than down in a cool pool of water shaded by a clump of young trees. These trees also shielded the bather from curious eyes.

Often two or three women would bathe together but would wear their outer garments. When this was done there would be squeals of laughter as someone lost the bar of soap and it had to be rescued. Or when a skirt tail floated to the surface and exposed more of the body than was usually seen.

The creek side was also a popular place for women to do their laundry. Water was plentiful there and it was a simple task to build a fire under a tub and heat the water. Then there was plenty of clear sparkling water to rinse with.

The creek chosen would be under a big shade tree and a bench for the tub was left as a permanent fixture. A bar of wash soap was always stuck into the fork of the tree where it usually stayed permanently as well. This was much easier than carrying water to the house.

Of course if there was a good well close to the house the washing would be done there. What a pretty sight to see a back yard filled with several clotheslines full of white sheets and towels flapping in the wind or two or three white diapers marking in the sunshin. Babies of today don't know what it is to wear a soft cotton diaper purified by sunshine.

Diapers are so much prettier hanging on a line than they are decaying on streams where careless mothers have tossed the plastic ones out the car windows.

So many of our streams today are decorated with the white shreds of plastic diapers. It looks like they are little white flags of surrender.

When Bessie and I drove through Eastern Kentucky a few weeks ago we traveled by a stream for several miles that was hid from view by all the trash and discarded diapers covering the banks and even in the trees. Some were surely washed down stream by flood waters. But somewhere, someone had dumped them. No one could would want to wade or swim in this once beautiful mountain stream. Bottles, tin cans and fast food plastics lie the bottom of streams such as this instead of slippery rocks or white sand.

Try meandering creeks joining together to make a river today carry enough refuse and contamination till fish will no longer live in them. So fishing is no longer a pleasant past time as it was in the past.

Not only trash has contaminated our once beautiful waterways the big coal companies have had their share in it also.

When strip mining became the way to get coal out of our mountains it also became the way to kill off our fish and wildlife. The acids from these stripped and mutilated mountains began running down the mountain sides along with the mud and filled our streams. The nasty red colored mud took the place of the sparkling water and neither man nor beast had a use for it.

We, the people of Appalachia, have allowed need and greed destroy not only our mountains but our water supply as well.

The few streams of water left that are not contaminated should be guarded with every means possible.

of the Rockcastle River but I do know there is a chance of it becoming so.

The Rockcastle River is a very beautiful wild river. It is one of those streams that gurgles over rocks at some places, runs in shallow ripples in some, lies quietly in deep dark pools in some then gets bouncing away between huge rocks singing happy water songs. This is not only the heritage of the Appalachians, it is the treasure of Rockcastle County and her people.

This is the river my children learned to fish and swim.

After a hard mornings work Mat would often suggest a trip to the river. It was only a couple of miles but the winding track down the hillside and across a couple of spring branches of clear cool water then down the valley to the mouth of the creek emptying into the river made it seem like five.

But we didn't mind the hike for the reward of swimming in the cool running water (I call it live water) was worth it.

Cecil and Betty Mize with their two children, Joy and Sherman lived close by so they usually joined us. So it was a swimming party we had. The

If you're not safety-conscious around electricity, you could be in for a real shock.

When you're working or playing outdoors this spring and summer, be careful not to let anything accidentally touch an overhead electric line when you're...

And before you dig, be sure there are no underground lines in the area. Accidentally cutting into an underground line can be dangerous and expensive.

When using an electric tool outdoors...

- ✓ be sure it's properly grounded and the cord is in good condition.
 - ✓ don't use it in rain or dampness.
 - ✓ plug power tools into ground fault circuit interrupters.
- And remember to stay away from all fallen lines. Report them immediately.
