Soil temperature affects johnsongrass in corn

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent for Agriculture

Farmers who plant to control johnsongrass in their corn fields need to make sure the soil temperature is right before they apply chemicals.

Soil temperature plays a major role in the control of johnsongrass in corn. Farmers need to apply herbicides just before the weed appears. Johnsongrass rhizomes initiate growth when soil temperatures reach 60 degrees and seeds germinate when the soil is at 70 degrees.

Soil temperatures usually reach 60 degrees during the first or second week of May and 70 degrees approximately one month later in most areas of Kentucky. For this reason, it is a good idea for farmers to plant their corn fields and apply their chemical controls later than they would normally plant their corn to make sure the chemicals are still active in the soil when germination and rhizogic growth starts.

If johnsongrass is a recurring problem in a particular field then farmers may want to consider rotating the fields with other crops or trying a fallow control program, current status on the new chemicals Accent and Beacon are unsure. A special needs label has been requested but approval is still pending. This new generation of johnsongrass chemicals would allow additional control methods. Spraying over corn to kill johnsongrass is an amazing development. But consider the 3/4 to 1 ounce per acre chemical rate and how amazing development of johnsongrass chemicals has become.

Renfro Creek problems still in the news media

By: Ray McClure

The Cumberland Bean mussel is an important little fellow.

The little inch-long "rascal" is reported to be responsible in part for halting realignment of Renfro Creek by Renfro Folks, Inc., or at least until various governmental agencies finish pondering its fate.

A name on the endangered species list, the Cumberland Bean mussel is not a name many have heard. But now it's known. The mussel makes its home in Roundstone Creek about 10 miles down stream from Renfro. Since Roundstone Creek runs into the Rockcastle River, that in turn, runs into Lake Cumberland, the Army Corps of Engineers, the Kentucky Division of Water, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) all have put the lid on work that Renfro Folks were doing to protect future expansion on the south side of Renfro Creek.

Of course, that is not the only problem by any means. Renfro Folks, or someone connected with the company, did not get the necessary permits to begin the work, a no, no in the words of bureaucrats.

As of Tuesday, activity was at a standstill while talks apparently go on between the interested parties. No one at Renfro would comment officially, other than to say things are trying to be worked out.

The creek question will apparently not affect the official opening of the newly constructed 1,500 seat auditorium and village the first weekend in May.

Renfro plans called for moving the creek alignment to a new 80-foot wide bed that would serve to drain away floodwaters. A floodwall was also constructed along the creek. The intentions of the company was to protect the low-lying area on the south side of the creek.

When work stopped about 1,000 feet of the creek had been filled with dirt and the creek diverted into a new channel. Some 200 trees near the U.S. 25 bridge over the creek had been cut. All this prompted the Corps to call it an "obvious adverse effect" on aquatic life in the creek.

Ralph Gabbard, president of Renfro Folks, told another newspaper, the company engineers, Nesbitt Engineering Inc., had been told verbally "more or less" that the engineers could begin removing trees.

But president of the engineers, Paul Nesbitt, told the newspaper he was not in charge of the construction site when work began.

Gabbard said redoing the work would worsen silting downstream, however, the EPA has indicated it would like to see the creek and area restored. The company could face a $125,000 federal penalty.

Which brings back the Cumberland Bean mussel.

For information, sketchy as it is, the mussel is a "marine bivalve mollusk whose shells are a source of mother-of-pearl."

Whether mother-of-pearl is found in Roundstone mussels has not been determined, or disclosed.

It's not the first time an endangered species has been revealed in areas close to Rockcastle County.

One time, the routing of Ky. 461 at Buck Creek was in doubt while scientists checked a small water mollusk, name not remembered, that made its home in the creek. It was later determined the bridge across the creek at its present location would not upset the species' habitat.

The Corps of Engineers has never approved of many, if any, projects that could affect it. In 1980, Roundstone Creek is considered a major water source for the lake.

United States Senator Mitch McConnell was in Mt. Vernon Saturday to tour the Rockcastle Hospital. McConnell was very instrumental in obtaining a $385,000 block grant for expansion at the local health care facility. Above he talked with patient Judy Thornberry.

Mortgage on local hospital

By: Ray McClure

A resolution authorizing the Rockcastle Hospital Improvement Corporation to place a mortgage on hospital real property was approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at its last meeting.

The request was made by Rockcastle Hospital Inc., in order that the hospital can seek funding to expand the respiratory therapy section by 28 beds at an estimated cost of $3.5 million.

Neither the Improvement Corporation or the county will have any liability for any indebtedness incurred.

Spokesman for the hospital was Supreme Court Justice Joseph Lambert, who is chairman of the present hospital board. He was accompanied to the meeting by hospital board members, Attorney James W. Lambert, William Bailey and Wayne Stewart. Big Towery Jr. was unable to attend.

The board members of the hospital Improvement Corporation did not attend the meeting. They are: Sherman (Danny) Sargent, Hubert Thacker, Bill Wren, Boone Cromer and Tommy H. Mink. Earlier Mink rejected Ernest Mason on the corporation board.

The Improvement Corporation met Tuesday and approved the hospital board's request to seek financing for the hospital project. Elected chairman of the board for the Improvement Corporation was Judge Mullins. Mink was elected secretary.

According to information furnished by the board, several years ago the Rockcastle fiscal court conveyed the real property upon which the hospital is located to a newly formed corporation, Rockcastle Hospital Improvement Corporation. The purpose of the conveyance was to permit the Improvement Corporation to enter into a long term lease with Rockcastle Hospital, Inc., the operating corporation. That lease is still in effect, and so is the original bond.

In another action, the court approved a request by the hospital that the hospital's property lines be moved 11 feet by 75 feet toward the Rockcastle Ambulance building in order to comply with required separation limits between buildings after the addition is constructed.

During the court meeting, bids on county insurance were opened.

Apparent low bidder was Kentucky Association of County All Lines Fund of Frankfort for an annual fee of $18,364, which includes law enforcement insurance.

Insurance coverage includes, general liability, $2 million; county property, $5 million; all vehicles including comprehensive and collision, $1 million; errors and omissions, $1 million; law enforcement, $2 million; inland marine, $85,000; heating (boiler), $1 million, and general bonds, $250,000.

Other bidders were Charter House Inc., (Dennis Singleton) for $23,896, and Collins Insurance Agency of London at $23,974.

Betty Carter, director of the Daniel Boone Development Council, told the court she was seeking $43,042 in funds for the 1990 Emergency Shelter Grants Program in Rockcastle.

The program helps persons whose homes were destroyed in some manner, have car breakdowns by transients, and other similar problems that classify persons as homeless. The Cabinet of Human Resources through the department of Housing and Urban Development, will furnish $21,521 and the county will match the same amount.

The program is in cooperation with the Christian Appalachian Project which provides shelter through a sub-contract.

Mrs. Carter, who is also in charge of the winter heating program for the needy, reported the past winter 861 families received heat assistance totaling $101,821.

In a final action, the court approved former Sheriff Clarence Hasty's 1989 financial report. It showed receipts of $74,073.22 and expenditures of $74,064.99 leaving an excess of $8.23.

Mercury dips to 28, Wednesday

Jack Frost missed the deadline Wednesday morning when residents awoke with frost on cars, rooftops and grass, especially in low-lying areas. The low temperature was 28 at Cox Funeral Home weather station. The official last day for frost in Kentucky is April 17. According to the Weather Service, there could be one or two more frosty mornings especially in higher elevations in Eastern Kentucky.

Along with the frosty mornings, there has not been much rain to date this month. The total is 1.76, well under the usually wet April. Even last month was drier than usual with only 3.06 inches.

The low temperature this month was 23 on April 7. The high was 71

Project will clear swamp area at school

A project to clear and improve a problem area at the rear of the new Mt. Vernon Elementary School is Wrecks reported Both drivers were treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital following a two-car accident Monday at West Main and Williams streets in Mt. Vernon.

Judy K. Overbay of Mt. Vernon was crossing West Main Street on Williams Street when her car was struck by a car driven by Ronald Spoonmore, Jr., of Mt. Vernon who was driving west on West Main Street, according to police records.

Both were alone in their cars. Mt. Vernon Police Sgt. Jack Fortner investigated the accident.

No one was injured Monday afternoon when Mrs. Lillian Anglin of Wildlife Road, backed into a car driven by Patricia A. Martin of Rt. 5 Mt. Vernon.

The accident occurred in the Saylor Pharmacy parking lot. It was investigated by city policeman Chris Baker.

No one was injured seriously in a two-vehicle accident about noon Friday at Druther's Restaurant in Mt. Vernon.

A car driven by Joseph King of Richmond, and his passenger, Danny Hicks of Mt. Vernon, was traveling south on U.S. 25 when it struck by a RECC truck in the rear driven by Roy Messer, Jr. of McKee. His passenger was Lovie Parrett also of McKee.

tentatively scheduled for September.

According to Dave Edwards of the Soil Conservation Service office at Mt. Vernon, the project will cost an estimated $17,000, and while it will soon solve the trash and water problems, it will not solve the bird roosting problem, at least for this year.

The area contains three sinkholes that over the years has taken care of most of the water runoff in West Mt. Vernon.

FHA expanding lending ability

The Farmers Home Administration is extending its guaranteed loans to community program projects, thereby expanding its lending ability. FmHA State Director Mary Ann Baro said today.

Until now, all of FmHA's loans for water and sewer systems, fire stations, health clinics and other community facilities, have been direct loans from the agency to the borrower.

"With the addition of guaranteed loans, we can now assist communities that are able to qualify for commercial loans with the support of an FmHA guarantee," Ms. Baro said.

Under this program, FmHA guarantees a loan made by a bank, savings and loan, insurance company, Federal Land Bank or other qualified lender against a certain percentage of loss. Since the mid-1980's, guarantees have become the major component of FmHA's farm loan program, accounting for more than 50 percent of all farm loans.

The 1990 fiscal year appropriations bill authorizes $74.5 million in guaranteed loans for water and waste disposal loans and $23.9 million for other community facilities on a national basis.

Prospective borrowers and lenders interested in the program should contact the Farmers Home Administration State Office at 333 Waller Avenue or telephone number 606/233 2736.

VET. REUNION

The second annual Kentucky Vietnam Veterans reunion is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, July 20 and 21, at the Water Tower in Louisville.

The free event will feature entertainment, military displays and vendors. The first reunion last summer attracted more than 1,500 veterans and family members from throughout Kentucky and surrounding states.

Title "L.Z. Bluegrass", the reunion is being organized by a volunteer committee supported by Kentucky veteran organizations.

The Water Tower is located at Zorn Avenue and I-71 at Louisville.

For additional information contact: Bill Kirchbaum at (502) 426-7966; Cindy Dumas at (502) 454-4981, or Jonathan Hubbard at (812) 282-7621. From Rockcastle County, 290 persons served during the Vietnam War. Three were killed in action.

David Eaton of Central Body Service prepares to remove a vehicle that Karen Martin of Calloway was only slightly injured in, during an accident on U.S. 25 Tuesday afternoon, near Pinehill. Martin's husband John, told police that he lost control of his 1988 Chevrolet pick-up after a tire apparently blew-out on the truck. The truck slammed into a rock wall and came to rest in the middle of the roadway. The truck was completely totaled.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:
I would like to congratulate all of the organizers for a job well done, in getting the petition filed for a union at MVP. These girls have been very dedicated and hard working for something we strongly believe in.
I would also like to thank the employees, and my fellow workers at MVP for all the support and cards. You are a great team to work with. You are very strong, hard working people who deserve better than what MVP is willing to give.
Hopefully our efforts will pay off in May, when our election is held. So hang in there no matter how much the company tries to scare you. Believe me they will try.

Just remember if the union is so bad for us, why does the company not want to get it in?
And why would the Federal Government uphold it?
We the employees will be the union. Vote for yourselves and your future. Vote yes in May. Unionized we stand, divided we fall.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

Many of my friends and associates these days are not native Kentuckians. Mostly they're from the South or the East Coast and mostly they don't like California. Some of them make trips to Los Angeles or San Francisco and come home telling how awful it is. Wouldn't live out there for anything.

I travel a lot to the East Coast and Atlanta and I come home saying the same things about New York and Baltimore and Washington D.C. And Atlanta is worse than up east. I hadn't been to Los Angeles before last week because people from New York keep telling me how bad it is. And if it is that much worse than New York City, there ain't no sense in my being there.

I just spent nine days in California and I've come to the conclusion that some of my friends from the east are just jealous. I loved Los Angeles. I still wouldn't want to live there but the folks who do were friendly and hospitable. Cab drivers, waiters and bus boys say, "Thank you!" when they get a tip and by the tone of their voice is pleasant and sincere. A big hamburger and fries for two bucks. Served by a guy who was glad to get the business.

"Tell a cab driver 'thanks' in New York and he'll have you arrested. Give a tip a five dollar tip and he'll grunt and scowl. Ask for a receipt for the fare and he'll ask like you've ruined his day. And bell hops at the hotels figure any effort they make is worth a dollar for each step they make.

The Los Angeles people and they walk to each other on the street. They talk to a leisurely pace. In New York everybody is @#! bent for failure, seemingly oblivious to the rest of the world. Lots of people mutter as they walk. Lots scowl.

That's not to say that everybody in New York City needs to spend a few days with Miss Manners, because most folks there are civil. In fact most folks seem nice once you get to know them, but it is, in fact, dangerous to smile at a stranger and wish him/her good morning in New York. People just don't do it. And I've felt like a fool on the few occasions I've tried.

Chamber garbage contest underway

There's a lot of pickin' and a-baggin' in the county these days.

It's school students out on the road-sides picking up trash that unconcerned motorists have tossed out of their car/truck windows.

The young people are all working for prizes, sponsored by the Rockcastle Chamber of Commerce, and to date nearly eight tons have been collected, an "amazing" amount as one resident put it.

What are the collectors finding? Everything from fast food wrappers and cups (the majority) to diapers. One youngster found a guitar string someone had tossed out of a car window.

To date, Livingston Elementary school youngsters have the upper hand with most of their trash probably found along U.S. 25 both south and north of town and, of course in other locations. They have collected 3,540 pounds.

Mt. Vernon Elementary students are next with 2,440 pounds as reported by Mike Hansel, who has been active in the program.

Following is Roundstone School with 2,000 pounds and Brodhead with 1,320 pounds. Bringing up the rear is Rockcastle County High School students with 280 pounds.

Once the youngsters get a full load they take it to the Kentucky Stone Company quarry where it is weighed and recorded.

Weighing will be going on from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday through May 5.

Marvin Stone, forest ranger for the county was one of the adults helping with the program. He was following a group Saturday that was busy picking up along U.S. 25 near Red Top Restaurant. He later went to Roundstone to lend a hand.

Several other adults have been helping also. With the youngsters in the Red Top area were Calvin Mize and Denver Phelps.

Stone said the youngsters were doing a good job, keeping busy, and collecting a lot of trash.

Picking up trash along U.S. 25 at Mt. Vernon Saturday were a group of Mt. Vernon Elementary students including David Wilkerson, Mike Muncy, Chris McNew, Adam Higgins, Curtis Gatliff, Barry Gatliff, and overseers, Calvin Mize and Denver Phelps.

240 turn-out for BES alumini banquet

By: Elizabeth Mullins

When D.A. Robbins finally "broke loose" and marched up to the front, cheers broke out (especially from the 1940, 1950, 1960 and 1970 graduates present) He was their principal!

This 1990 Alumni Banquet started at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 14th, 1990, with 240 interested people attending. Virginia Nunn and Shirley Martin greeted each one and gave them a tag for identification, besides taking our tickets for the banquet.

Rockcastle County School Superintendent, Bige Towery, was the master of ceremony. He is a graduate of Brodhead High School.

After welcoming the group he asked Bro. Don Cummins to say the blessing before the regular menu of food was eaten. This menu was steak or ham, toss salad, green beans, potatoes, fried apples, cherry cobbler and choice of a drink.

"With this delicious food devoured, we settled down to listen to the honoree classes stand and let their presence be known.

Elнора Burke introduced each of the 1940 graduates present; Bobby Proctor called out those names of 1950 graduates. Ronnie Singleton was next. He told us the 1960 graduates before they stood up to tell us about themselves. Last, Ann Gentry Taylor introduced the 1970 graduates.

The later the classes stood, the prettier and better looking naturally.

they were younger. Maybe not smarter however.

Regina Poynter Hoskins journeyed the greater distance to attend the banquet. She came from California. She was given a bouquet.

Others introduced were our ex-county Superintendent Neueral Miracle and our first music teacher, Wilma Harold Wilson.

When Mrs. Wilson had lunch at Margie Wilcox's home recently, she asked, "What became of the short, timid Thomas boys who walked quite a distance to school?" We had no buses then.

Mr. D.A. Robbins, who was present, answered, "He is administrator of Somerset College. He worked himself through college and medical school, so is now Dr. Thomas and is six foot tall.

This kind of story is what makes teaching worthwhile. I know!

I, Elizabeth F. Mullins, hobbled to this annual banquet to see the former students of mine as well as others. So when Mr. Towery asked, "Who is Brodhead's oldest high school graduate here?" You can guess who stood up - me.

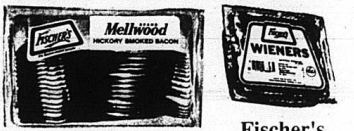

I graduated at the age of sixteen in 1925. Mr. Towery brought me a beautiful bouquet! Two other graduates were there - Estil McBea and his wife, Melberta Martin McBea, they graduated in the late 20's.

Car accident near McKee kills Jackson Co. man

State police are investigating a one-car accident that killed a Jackson County man Sunday morning. David Chappell, 18, of Rt. 1, Anville, was pronounced dead at the scene by Jackson County Coroner Murrell Lakes, 11 1/2 miles west of McKee on Ky. 30. State police in Richmond said Chappell was headed east on Ky. 30 at a high rate of speed about 5:30 a.m. when he lost control of his 1987 Chevrolet, which ran off the road and struck a tree. Chappell, who was employed at Cooke Brothers Auto Parts in London, was a 1989 graduate of Jackson County High School. He was buried Tuesday afternoon in the Liberty Cemetery in Egypt Ky.

Eddie Sutton goes home to Oklahoma State

Former University of Kentucky head basketball coach Eddie Sutton, was named head coach at his alma mater, Oklahoma State, last Wednesday afternoon.

Before he allowed the media to ask questions about his being named head coach at Oklahoma State, Sutton addressed two tough areas: 1) the probation-plagued situation he left at Kentucky and, 2) rumors of a drinking problem. "We had a horrible experience at the University of Kentucky," Sutton said. "Believe me, I learned a lot there. I'm going to supervise staff members a lot more closely than I did there. ... I don't ever want to go through an investigation again, and I know Oklahoma State doesn't either," he said.

As for his drinking problem, Sutton said that he realized three years ago there was a problem and that he has dealt with it. Sutton played for Oklahoma State from 1955-58 under Coach Henry Iba. Sutton will make $85,000 a year at OSU.

Lexington man jailed in slayings of young couple

Knoxville police surrounded and arrested a Lexington man early last Wednesday at his sister's house, charging him with the shooting deaths of Edward and Tina Earley outside their northside Lexington Dry Cleaners last week.

Thomas Clyde Bowling Jr., 37, of 111 Garrett Avenue, was arrested without incident at his sister's Knoxville home Wednesday morning. Police have not released any motive for the double murder, which occurred as Edward Earley opened Earley Dry Cleaners last week. Bowling is also charged with shooting the couple's 2-year-old in the foot.

A Fayette County Judge has appointed a public defender for Bowling and set his bond at $500,000. Bowling is accused of ramming his car into the driver's side of the Earley's Chevrolet on Monday April 9th, and then shooting the couple several times before fleeing.

U.K. games will return to Louisville based WHAS

It took four years and a sweeping change of leadership, but University of Kentucky football and basketball games will again be broadcast on WHAS beginning next season.

U. K. athletics director C. M. Newton, announced last Thursday that the school had accepted an offer to be the No. 2 team on WHAS, a $0,000-a-week clear channel station in Louisville. The University of Louisville will continue to be the station's primary team.

According to the agreement, all UK basketball and football games that are not in conflict with U. of L. games will be carried live. When conflicts occur, Louisville's games will be broadcast live on WHAS. Conflicting UK games will be broadcast live on a much less powerful Louisville station, WAVE, with WHAS providing delayed broadcasts of UK games. The same-day rebroadcasts will start before midnight EST.

Newton lauded U. of L. athletic director Bill Olsen's cooperative spirit and said the two would work together to keep conflicting games at a minimum. Of UK's 39 football and basketball broadcasts last season, only four football and seven basketball games conflicted with U. of L.

Tanker crash on parkway kills Hazard man, 51

A gasoline tanker crashed on the Bert T. Combs Mountain Parkway in Powell County Thursday, killing its driver, spilling 4,000 gallons of fuel and closing a 17-mile stretch of road for nearly 10 hours.

The driver, Jack Kidd, 51, of Hazard, was pronounced dead of multiple injuries at 9:03 a.m. Thursday at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, state police said.

Police said the accident occurred at 6:20 a.m. when Kidd, who was heading east on the parkway, steered his tractor trailer down the Clay City exit ramp.

Kidd apparently lost control of the 18-wheeler, which flipped over on its side. The roof of the cab was torn off during the accident, and Kidd was thrown from the truck, state police said. The truck was carrying 8,000 gallons of gasoline at the time.

At 7 a.m. state police closed the parkway from Clay City to Interstate 64 in Clark County because the 17-mile section has no entrance or exit ramps. Police also closed the airspace 5,000 feet above the accident site to help prevent fire.

Irvine man dies in car accident in Richmond

An Estill County man was killed on Tuesday April 10th, when his vehicle collided with a Madison County school bus.

Richmond city police said Keith Johnson, 22, of Irvine, died at Patte A. Clay Hospital shortly after the accident. The wreck took place on US 25 and US 421 (Lexington Road) north of downtown Richmond. A police spokesman said the accident occurred just north of the entrance to Arlington golf course.

Police said the accident happened at approximately 3:35 p.m. Johnson apparently lost control of his vehicle, which crossed the median of the four lane highway and struck the school bus.

The school bus either contained no children or very few children, police said. No one on the bus was injured.

Johnson, the only occupant of his vehicle, was taken to Patte A. Clay hospital by Madison County ambulance personnel, suffering from "massive trauma," police said. He died a short time later.

Somerset man pleads guilty to counterfeit charges

James D. Gibson, 31, of Kéno Road in Somerset entered a plea of guilty Friday before U.S. District Judge Henry Wilhoit Jr. to the offense of conspiracy to produce and pass counterfeit money, which carries a penalty of not more than five years in prison and/or a $250,000 fine.

A Cross the Lines
By: Frank Mason

With all the talk of our troubles
And the trash spread all around
Some might think we ought to pack up
And leave this here town
But down London way
You had better not go
If you are afraid of losing your soul.
Because there is trouble
On both sides of the line.

What!
A service station attendant and a preacher
Friend of mine, A Kentucky State Policeman.
All three, supposedly, shot from behind.

Now about Renfro Valley
I think she is coming along just fine
There are hundreds of people
Standing in line

To all our friends and neighbors
I hope that you can see
That we here in Rockcastle
Think it still the safest place to be
Just a word to my letter writing friends

I have a friend who is very dear,
He has been my friend for many a year.

I can go to him day or night,
He will do his best to guide me right.

In the middle of the night when he needs his rest,
He will leave his bed at our request.
He will listen to what we say,
Then he will answer and we will pray

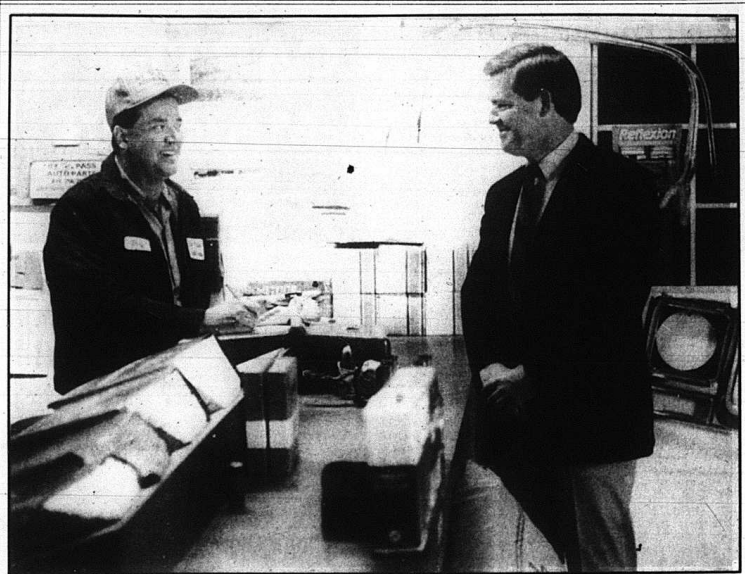

If you are sad and all alone,
He is as close as the telephone.

Reading, writing and arithmetic. So much emphasis is being put on education today it has made many people aware of the need for it. I've always, off and on, been aware of it. Today the need is greater than ever and the simple old fashioned idea of readin, writin and rithmetic isn't enough. The new trends of today's society has changed so drastically that old fashioned readers and arithmetic books are almost a thing of the past. Computers and TVs are filling their place. And sports today are the attraction instead of a good library. I'm trying very hard to adjust to today's educational system and understand it. Of course to understand anything one must be exposed to it often. Since my kids have grown up and my grandchildren aren't with me enough to share their school work loads and problems, I have drifted away from the circle of educators so its hard for me to understand modern trends.

I do know reading does not have the emphasis on it that it once had. Watching the "Boob-tube" has taken the place of a cozy corner or big window seat where a child could curl up for hours lost in the particular interest of his/her life.

The pictures on the TV screen take the place of descriptive words that made one dream of what a scene was really like. It has become so now, or so it seems to me, that a mountain covered with snow in Alaska or a mountain with lava running from its volcanic top in Hawaii is just another mountain. They have become one giant common scene to the child's eyes. There isn't much left to dream about.

I don't remember when I learned to read but I do remember when I entered first grade in Irondele, Ohio I could read. I remember it because on the blackboard in large printed words was the poem, "I shot an arrow into the air, it fell to earth; I know not where." We were expected to memorize the poem and I did. It comes to mind quite often for it made an impression on me. Can one imagine a teacher today expecting a first grader to read and learn a poem like this?

I guess I learned to read when I listened nightly to mom reading to us. It wasn't children's stories she read but exciting romances. This was the only time she had to read so she read what was interesting to her and we all had to listen. I must say right now though, they were not the sex books of today. They each had a moral and a hero and heroine in it. This kindled a fire of seeking for knowledge in me that has never been quenched. I've read almost every book I could get my hands on. No matter where I was I would find something to read. A doctor or dentist office always had interesting books on health or dental care. A hotel lobby had a variety of world newspapers at other places there would be racks of magazines. You could make a safe bet on it that these grubby little fingers would be holding one.

Our school had an excellent library and I used it faithfully. Gene Stratton Porter's "Girl of the Limberlost" and John Fox Jr's "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" were just two of the books of like quality I read when I was a child.

I didn't get to go to school very regularly because of moving about so often and I had to stay home a lot to help my family for my mom was sick with cancer. I missed school so much but tried to make up for it by getting lost in my dream world of far away places. I just knew if I stayed a good girl and kept my mind clean and open for more learning that Price Charming would surely come and carry me away.

I never did like history in school. It was too boring with all its dates and stories about wars. But I loved to read about history, or about the things that made history. I didn't like geography. It also was boring and even the way it was written was ugly. Geography! Ugh! But again I was interested in the places it was supposed to be teaching about. How I wish I could turn back a few pages of time and take these courses again. There would be so many questions it would take two teachers to answer them.

When I read "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" I was so intensely interested in the hills of Kentucky where it happened I would dream of it. I never thought of living this close to where it happened though. I did the same with the "Girl of the Limberlost" and I could go on and on. These gave me life something to look forward to. I knew that some day some how I would see some of these places. One place in particular I dreamed of after I read a book called "The Honors of the Big Snow" was Alaska. It was of little but lost in a snow storm and was found when someone living in a lonely cabin heard his still violin music coming from a snow drift. He knew if his music didn't arouse someone he would freeze. From that day until I finally set my feet on the soil at Anchorage three or four years ago I dreamed of the big snows and wild lonely stretches of nothingness. Of the tundra filled with the tiny blooming flowers that awaken the earth in the spring. Of the long dark winter months when no sunlight penetrates the darkness. Of the long beautiful summers when the sun never sets. It became a dull ache in me. Others talked of Hawaii but I dreamed of Alaska. A few years ago I realized that dream had begun as a child, the result of reading an interesting book. It was not as I dreamed it would be. Since I went in summer time I did experience 24 hours of daylight. I experienced a fishing camp where salmon was caught for market. That was quite an experience. I flew to Kotzebue, the largest Eskimo village in the USA and attended an Eskimo dance entertainment and bought pieces of jade from them. I went out on the tundra and took pictures of the flowers. I went my way in the snow and looked across to see if I could possibly glimpse a shadow of Russia. I couldn't. It surprised me there was no snow as was just dirt streets and unkept buildings mostly but the Eskimos were extremely friendly and made me feel welcome. I had one very nice surprise. On our way to the hotel after the dance, some of us decided we wanted a bite to eat and we had to pass a "Dairy Freeze". Can you imagine a Dairy Freeze in the north of Alaska in an Eskimo village? That's where we stopped and the biggest surprise was, we got a marvelous banana split and a cup of coffee for $1.25. That was the biggest surprise of my whole trip! Things in Alaska are usually triple what they are here. The next day our stop was at Nome, the home of Jan, the hero in my childhood book. This is where the idiorot races end (dog sled races). I have a picture of myself standing under the archway where it ends.

"SWEET AND SOUR"
(Con't from A-5)

Now like all other sightseeing places it is a tourist trap and I was a tourist. I visited the jade factory and saw huge piles of jade being sawed into workable pieces. I panned for gold here and found none. It was breath taking to be in Nome, Alaska and was hard for me to believe.

My next flight took me to the top of the world, Point Barrow. This was where Wiley Post and Admiral Byrd were killed when their plane crashed when they were searching for the North Pole. A beautiful monument was in their town square. Barrow is a beautiful little town. Here I wet my feet in the Arctic Ocean. Another tourist, a woman from state side had just that day joined the Arctic swim club by diving into and swimming in the Arctic Ocean. While I was on the beach at two o'clock in the morning, I took a picture of the sun just touching the horizon. This was the last of summer solstice. The next day it began its journey south.

Our next stop was Prudhoe Bay where the great oil lines begin. I saw several herds of reindeer casually grazing by the roadsides and under these huge oil pipe lines. The pipes have to be high enough off the ground so wild can roam their natural trails all the way to Valdez. Valdez is on the Prince William Sound in the Gulf of Alaska. There is nothing in Prudhoe Bay but the oil line works. It has several hundred people working there, mostly men. Everything is taken care of by the oil companies so there are no stores, restaurants, no schools since there is no need for them. It gets 60 degrees below zero here.

After returning to Anchorage we took a cruise and tour to Valdez. Valdez looks like a bright jewel in its setting beneath the tall bald mountains topped with snow and bordered in part with the beautiful blue water of Prince William Sound. It was here that my cruise took me to see the great glaciers that drop off huge chunks of ice to make all the icebergs that the seals play on. We had champagne chilled with ice from these glaciers that was served through years old. My trip to Alaska was more than worth while. I saw nephews and nieces that I hadn't seen for years, some of them never. Their homes were opened to me and a good relationship has developed from it. This whole thing came about because of my love of reading and following the dreams the reading had inspired.

I also read in my early history about "Where the Boonway joins the Dixie."

Do you know where it is? Well, its right here in our own little town of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky. I never once dreamed I would live so close to that well known geographical site. I was yet a child when I read that and again it sparked my interest of far away places where a state was being developed and where once our pioneer forefathers and the Indians fought for the space.

Lately I read the book "Wilderness Trail" by Robert Kincaid. It's a book well researched and written on how our area was settled through Cumberland Gap and by whom. It is well worth reading for it traces the trails through our county and on into Tennessee. It tells how Mr. Whitley of the "Whitley House" would hunt down the Indians after a massacre and get rid of them. I also read the "Frontiersmen" by Allan Eckert. It is about the settling of the north part of our state and the Ohio country. These are such interesting bits of history. I wish I could have studied it that way as a child.

It was my interest in reading that gave me the courage to take the GED test without going back to school. Mrs. Miracle was responsible for that. She encouraged me to take it with the first group that was eligible in Rockcastle County. She had noted the broad range of interests I had developed and she was sure I could pass it. Thank you Mrs. miracle, without your encouragement I never would have tried. I'm "plum" proud of that GED.

I had to quit school in my sophomore year because of mom's health. I was needed at home. So many parents don't realize the importance of a child's education and mine was no exception. So I had not been in a classroom for 40 years when I took that test and passed. I know my love of reading anything and everything was responsible for this. I must give my grade school teachers from Wellsville, Ohio credit also. I feel I had the very best. They were interested in me, a little girl from a big family that wasn't too concerned about a higher education than reading, writing and arithmetic. Mom and Dad's concern was to have honest and good children that would not bring shame on them and could do their share of work and help with the expenses.

These teachers took time and had the ability to make lessons interesting and fun especially reading, writing and spelling. They had no method of teaching that made us remember what we had just learned. And they expected us to go to higher heights and teach for things beyond our reach. The things I learned and retained along with my avid reading habit was responsible for my GED.

My English teacher assigned us books to read like "Heidi of the Swiss Alps" that caused us to dream of far countries with high mountains covered with snow and of old grandfathers tending goats and making cheese. There was a book report given about "Evangeline". She had to leave Nova Scotia and settle in Louisiana with many of the other Acadians because of bigotry and the corruption of power.

We also had to read about the "eighth wonder of the world," Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. I've visited these last two sites. Carlsbad Caverns is truly a wonder. I wish everyone could experience the extraordinary beauty I saw beneath the surface of the earth. The site where Evangeline was found by her betrothed love, Gabriel, was just another beautiful place in Louisiana. I can still expect to find her there patiently waiting for her Gabriel.

Some of my reading has taken me to heights of joy. Some of them like Evangeline have made me cry. But all have been worth while. I can still get lost in a book of poems, prose, fact or fiction and wander off into slumberland with the book lying loosely held in my lap or beside my pillow.

in the same direction. Between 5 and 8 o'clock in the evening the freeways are war zones. Stories abound of people having cars heat up or run out of gas on the freeways and somebody just walks up and shoots them because they have traffic blocked.

King's Island does not have a ride that remotely comes close to scaring me as badly as a car ride I had from downtown to the airport at 7 p.m. last Friday evening. We were all the way in the far left of ten lanes of traffic when we entered the freeway. All exits were on the right side. Our speedometer was registering 65 and there was a yuppitobile two inches off our rear bumper flashing his lights. I thought something was falling off the cab.

"I'm not in too much of a hurry," I told the driver as he speeded up to 75. The yuppie kept flashing his lights.

"I've got to get over and let this lady through, he told me," and then, just like that we whipped a twelve foot long cab into a space six inches wide. He showed no signs of irritation. He was glad to let her through like it was his good deed for the day.

Suddenly, like a flash he whipped into another lane and then another until we were smack dab in the middle of ten rows of cars, six inches apart in all directions travelling at 80 mph. And the cabble was looking back over his shoulder to point out some club where Bob Hope plays golf all the time. All I could do was point at the mass of cars in front of us. I have told the driver to watch where he was going and tell me about Bob Hope when we got there. I had been able to open my mouth.

King's Island has a ride called the Cobra. It's a big roller coaster and when it really gets going I'll start to yell and suddenly discover that I can't close my mouth. It's kind of scary but I've gotten used to it. But my cab ride was the first time I've ever been so scared that I couldn't get my mouth to even open.

Finally I closed my eyes and told the driver to let me know when he had made it all the way across. He commenced apologizing and I could tell he was looking back at me. I felt the car swerve and accelerate a few times and then slow down.

"We're at the airport. You can come out now," the driver told me and then started apologizing again. At least his apology was sincere.

As he sat my suitcase on the curb, he handed me a business card. "Call when you're coming back," he insisted. "I'll drive better next time."

I threw the card away. Next time I'll catch a bus.

Ladies Aide Missionary Society

By: Elizabeth Mullins

The missionary group met at Dix Point Tuesday, Apr. 10 at 7 p.m.

Barbara Watson read the "Marks of the Nails," Thomas said, "Unless I see in His hands, the print of the nails, and place my hand in his side, I will not believe."

He wanted sight. The apostles had talked enough, but Thomas wanted something to look at. That's why Christ said to his disciples, "Let your light shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

Charles W. Colson said "Easter in a prison!" Prisons are indeed the tombs of society today. But there also is the victory of the resurrection most dramatically; one can see the reality of the resurrected Christ in once dead lives.

Barbara closed this lesson with "Easter Moments."

Ella Mae Martin reported on the meeting to update our church's prayer circle. Deborah Newland typed the final plan and laid them on the church's book table for members to pick-up.

Also, they discussed making a wooden frame around the antique fluorescent cross that hangs over the baptistry where Barbara Owens' painting of water, etc. is in the background.

With so much sickness, they decided to check on each other.

Sowder Nursing Home's May birthday cards were passed around for all present to sign.

Willie Lawrence volunteered to take all the Mother's Day cards home with her and sign them for all of the group.

Senator McConnell tours Rockcastle Hospital Saturday afternoon

Construction could be as early as this fall on a new addition at the Rockcastle Hospital, after final funding was approved by the federal government.

Board member Wayne Stewart said this week that, a $385,000 Urban Development Block grant had been approved by the feds and everything is now go.

The $385,000 grant was the last part of the funding needed for a $3.8 million expansion project at the hospital.

The expansion would allow 28 more beds in the hospital's respiratory care center, which now has 32 beds.

Once completed, Rockcastle Hospital will be the largest ventilator care facility in the nation.

Stewart praised U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell and his field representative Janie Catron for their efforts in obtaining the grant.

Stewart was administrator at the hospital when efforts were begun to obtain funding for the additional beds. Since then he has retired, but he continued to work extensively on the expansion project.

"We pulled in everybody, Wendell Ford, Harold Rogers, Jim Bunning, Larry Hopkins and Carroll Hubbard, but McConnell and his staff were the most instrumental in getting the money," Stewart said.

McConnell and Catron were both at the hospital Saturday for a first hand tour of the current facilities.

The state has already approved a certificate of need for the additional beds. Without that approval the project could not get underway.

Stewart thinks the willingness of the state to go along with the project is due in large part to the quality of work and the caring people in the present unit at the hospital.

To date about 16% of the ventilator patients that have come to Rockcastle Hospital have been weaned from their respirators. "And these are supposedly unweanable people," Stewart said.

The expansion project would also create another 84 jobs at the hospital which already has a yearly payroll of well over $2 million annually. Once additional beds are in place the payroll would increase to nearly 3.5 million and the hospital would employ around 270 people.

As part of the expansion project a new dietary department with a new cafeteria, will also be built.

Remodeling of all the rooms on the acute side of the hospital is underway at the present time.

Riddle's Rockets are young

It would appear that the Rockcastle County High School baseball team is struggling on the baseball diamond but in reality, things are not as bad as they seem.

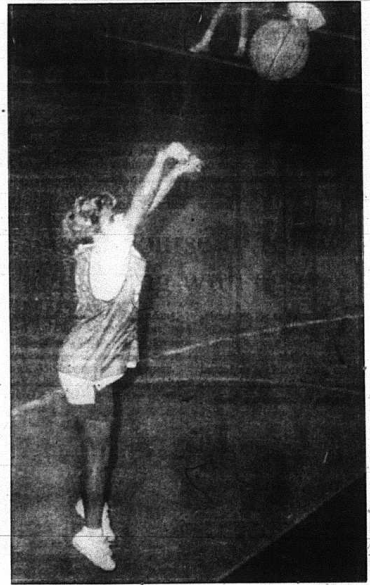

The Rockets, under head coach Ryan Riddle, are going through some massive changes this year with young players, a more competitive schedule and just tighter rules all the way around.

For starters Coach Riddle has had to flip-flop the starting lineup several times this year in order to find a starting nine players that can mesh. This is a result of losing seven starters from last year.

The lineup has been narrowed down and you can look for the same nine boys out on the field on a daily basis now. All together they make for a

McClure places 6th at Red Man

Ronnie McClure of Mt. Vernon finished 6th in a April 1st Red Man Mountain Qualifying tournament on Lake Herrington at Chimney Rock.

For his efforts McClure cashed a $355 check. His catch included four bass that weighed six pounds and nine ounces.

Ernie Rogers of Columbia won the tournament with three bass weighing 12 pounds and 12 ounces. A field of 159 anglers competed for cash prizes totalling $7,439.50.

Rogers received $1,899 for his first place finish.

The next stop along the Red Man Tournament trail for Mountain Division anglers will be May 6 on Green River at the State Dock. Entry deadline is April 25.

The winner of the Red Man All-American which is culmination of the year's competition will receive $100,000 in cash.

very young team with one senior, two juniors, four sophomores and two eighth graders.

A tougher schedule has also been implemented this year. Coach Riddle said earlier this year that he wanted to set up a schedule of competitive teams to let his boys see what is all about. Most of the teams on the schedule this year are the teams they would have to beat at Rockcastle wanted to place or finish in the district and regional playoffs.

Rules and regulations have also come into play this year. Not only on the baseball field but by Coach Riddle himself. Coach Riddle has already enforced one of his rules which concern players and their academics. Coach Riddle suspended eight players due to academics, during the Barbourville game last week.

But all in all things are looking up for the young Rockets. Their fielding is becoming consistent as well as their pitching. Their biggest problem, which is hitting, is starting to come around.

The Rockets traveled to Estill County last Thursday and produced three runs in their 15-3 loss. It was the first time this year the Rockets have scored more than one run.

Senior Mike Lopez was the starting pitcher for the Rockets against Estill but back spasms in the second inning forced him to exit. Reliever Jeff Houk finished the game.

The Rockets then traveled to Barbourville Friday and again were able to produce some runs. They had four players cross the plate in their 15-4 loss.

The Rockets also got four runs against host Madison Central Monday but Central went on to win 16-4.

The young Rockets are starting to come around with their sticks and should progress further as the year goes on. Coach Riddle said it would only be a matter of time.

The district game for the Rockets against Jackson County Tuesday evening was cancelled due to rain.

Track & Field Team compete at Clay Co.

The Rockcastle County High School track and field team participated in their first track meet this year at Clay County this past Saturday.

It was a major track and field meet according to Rockcastle's head coach Tom Larkey. Fourteen schools were represented in all during the competition with four of those schools coming out of Region 6, which is Rockcastle's region.

In the team standings, the Rockcastle boys squad placed fourth with 47 points, just seven points out of third place, while the girls squad placed eleventh with 8 points in the fourteen team field.

Bell County took first place with 137 points in the girls competition and Harlan County clinched first place in the boys competition with 81 points. Coach Larkey said he was pleased with his team's performance in their first track meet of the year.

He went on to say that now that his team has had a chance to see what it's all about that they are really excited about what lies ahead this year.

During the 16 events of a track meet, only the top six receive points. The point system breakdown is first place - 10 points; second place - 8 points; third place - 6 points; fourth place - 4 points; fifth place - 2 points and sixth place - 1 point.

Rockcastle placed well enough in 10 events with two first place finishes, to put points on the board. The individuals who placed for the Rockets in the boys competition were Scotty Hines, first place in shot put with a throw of 128'4"; Kevin Rowe, third place in the shot-put with a throw of 396"; Jay Brown, third place, in the 200m with a run of 24.8 seconds and fourth place in the 100m with a run of 17.2 seconds; William Hellard, third place in the 400m with a run of 55.4 seconds; Dane Cox, J.D. Mt. Vernon wins KAGE tourney

It wasn't the NCAA championship game but it was three basketball games that filled the Mt. Vernon Elementary gymnasium for a good cause Monday night.

The local chapter of the Kentucky Association of Gifted Education (KAGE) Rockcastle sponsored the faculty-parent games of the local elementary schools to raise funds for the Celebration of Excellence.

The Celebration of Excellence is a program to recognize students, with ribbons and trophies, for their individual studies during their challenge class this year. The program is scheduled for April 30, in the old barn at Renfro Valley. A meal will begin the festivities for the students and parents at the Renfro Valley Lodge at 5:30.

The projects submitted by the students will then be on display from 6:30 to 7:15 at the old barn with the awards ceremony beginning at 7:30 p.m.

This is only one of the many fundraisers that the local chapter of KAGE/Rockcastle sponsor during the year to promote better education in Kentucky.

Those who attended Monday night activities watched Livingston defeat Roundstone and Mt. Vernon defeat Brodhead while Mt. Vernon winning out in the final game against Livingston to be declared the faculty-parent champions.

 Edwards said that maintenance of the area following construction will be the job of the school system.
 He estimated it will take about two weeks to complete the project that has been on the SCS agenda for at least three years.

 The Rockets, who have been knocking the cover off the ball, have fallen into that age old slump that all teams have some time throughout the year. It's just a matter of staying with it and working the kinks out to get back at it.

School news & activities

Mrs. Caroline Graves' 7th grade class from BES visited County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins' office recently to observe the signing of a proclamation concerning "Earth Week." In conjunction with the week, several KET programs are being taped to show to the student body at BES next week: Kids Caring for Brodhead and Profit the Earth. Mrs. Mary Gregory, local KET coordinator, helped with this project at Brodhead Elementary School.

Mrs. Phyllis Lewis, a Project Graduation worker, accepts a donation of $300 from Jackie Ivy, plant manager of Mt. Vernon Plastics, to be used for Project Graduation, a way the schools have devised to provide a drug free-alcohol free celebration following graduation and held at the high school. Mrs. Lewis' son, Rodney, is a senior at RCHS.

Tiger Pause

"Sleeping Beauty" came to see the BES Tigers via the Vagabond Puppets this past Tuesday. The performance was delightful and everyone seemed to enjoy it. Regardless of one's age, there's always room for magic and fantasy.

We are still collecting cash register receipts for Jif Peanut Butter. Some of you have been very supportive about sending them to us, we hope you will keep sending them before April 25. Remember to circle the price and to add the size of jar of Jif. This means money for our school, and we appreciate your support.

We had 96.6% attendance for our seventh month. This was good, but we want to do better! Our seventh grade averaged 98.9%, which was largely because of Mrs. Caroline Graves' class. They had 100% for the whole month! This is nothing short of fantastic! Mr. Bobby Cummins, manager of Brodhead Convient, has provided a special treat for this class and will do the same for the eighth month's attendance winner. It's so nice to live in a community where many people are willing to help our school.

We are declaring Monday, April 30 as "BES Perfect Attendance Day" for this year. If you will recall, we tried this last year and had only six absences. Let's go for zero absence this time. Since this date is the first day of the CTBS, it will be to every one's advantage to be at school on that day and the rest of the week. Each day we will have a very special treat for each child in attendance during this week of April 30-May 4. Parents, we are asking for your support during "Test Week". Please help us have perfect attendance during this week, especially on Monday, April 30.

We hope you are aware of the "Litter By the Pound" contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, what a wonderful way to dispose of those old refrigerators, stoves, sofas, etc., everything is accepted except your personal garbage. Take your litter to the Kentucky Stone Quarry, have it weighed, and tell them it goes on Brodhead's School's credit. Take litter Monday through Saturday during the hours of 7:30 a.m. - 4 p.m. The contest ends May 5th. Our school receives a great prize if we win - grades 4-8 gets a trip to the Horse Park with lunch, and grades K-3 gets a picnic and games on the school grounds. Let's all work together to win this contest, but more importantly, let's work together to clean up our county. Thanks to all who are helping!

Mary Gregory, our speech pathologist, who is also the county coordinator for KET, helped Mrs. Graves' class get beautiful T-shirts for their involvement in "Kids Caring for Kentucky." (See picture and story elsewhere in this edition). Thanks, Mrs. Gregory!

This week we are pleased to introduce our instructional assistants Mrs. Doris Wright, who works with Mrs. Rita Shaffer's kindergarten and Mrs. Linda Cummins' class, has been a member of our staff for fifteen years. Mrs. Goldie Blanton, kindergarten aide for Mrs. Leslie Carnie, has been with us for the past four years. Our newest member is Mrs. Judy Petrey, who keeps our computer lab going for kindergarten and first grade. She helps in the resource room and is in her second year.

These ladies are such a great help to their teachers and to the students they serve. Thank you!

Local students and advisers attend F.H.A. state meeting

Future Homemakers of America from Rockcastle County High attended the 45th Annual State Meeting held at the Radisson Plaza Hotel and Hyatt Regency Hotel in Lexington, March 29-31. Among the 1200 members and advisers were: June Stevens, Betty Glosak, Loretta Dillingham, and Cheryl Vocum. Local students attending were Cynthia Wolfe, Lisa Blanton, Carrie Mullins, Anita Sower, Danetta Ford, Jamie Jones, and Shama Middleton. The theme of the meeting was "Future Homemakers of America Opportunities Unlimited." The opening session included "Great Opportunities from Impossible Situations," presented by Gary Girsser, Karen Dispenhaupt, National President of Future Homemakers of America in Glendale, Iowa was a special guest speaker at the meeting.

Carrie Mullins, Cynthia Wolfe, and Anita Sower participated in Students Taking Action for Recognition (STAR) events Competition. Also, other pictures relating to F.H.A. state meeting are included.

Local senior wins State honors During an era when so much publicity is given to teenagers involvement with substance abuse, crime, teenage pregnancy, etc., it is refreshing to hear of one such as Carrie Mullins.

Carrie, a senior R.C.H.S. has won the Star Events state competition in the area of "Illustrated Talks," at the Future Homemakers of America State Meeting in Lexington. She presented her original talk on a subject that is very dear to her "Iliteracy in Rockcastle County" - what can we do? In her presentation, which included visual aids, she told of the tremendous problem that illiteracy is to our society, and how each individual can help fight this battle.

Carrie has a special concern for this problem, and as one of her F.H.A. projects, has organized and led ten of her peers through a tutor training program offered by Family Life Center. They are now involved in teaching 10 adults to read. This involves a commitment to meet with an assigned adult twice weekly, for a period of 1-1/2 hours per session, for at least one year.

Carrie will represent Kentucky in National Competition at the National F.H.A. meeting in San Antonio, Texas in July.

A.P.P.L.E. Inc. is pleased to present the Blue Apple Players in its highly acclaimed original alcohol and drug abuse prevention musical entitled Down From The Sky. A performance will be held at Brodhead Elementary School on April 27 at 12:45 p.m. This performance has been made available through a grant from Forward in the Fifth, a non-profit organization dedicated to advancing education in Southern Kentucky.

This one hour program uses humor and music to share information with young people on the choice and the consequences of the abuse of drugs and alcohol. It encourages responsible decisions and is appropriate for all ages.

Down From The Sky will be presented this spring in 55 Kentucky counties, 4 counties in Indiana, and will conclude with a 2 1/2 week tour in Florida theatres.

Because of the regional and national demand for this program, A.P.P.L.E. Inc. will be extending the tour into the fall, beginning October 1, 1990. Schools interested in scheduling performances can call (502) 587-7990 for further information.

Down From The Sky has been published by the Dramatic Publishing Company and was written by Geraldine Ann Snyder and Paul Lenz with music and lyrics written by Geraldine Ann Snyder.
