Wildie man indicted for wanton endangerment

A Wildie man was indicted last Friday following a March incident in which he apparently threatened to kill a well-known Wildie farmer and businessman.

Frank Maples, 34, was indicted for wanton endangerment in the first degree. He is free on bond until a May 25th arraignment before Circuit Judge Dan Venters.

According to police, Maples is accused of pointing a gun at Jan Stevens and threatening to kill him on March 17, at Steven's Wildie Farm.

Stevens is owner of Wildie General Store.

Rockcastle needs more foster homes for children

Rockcastle County is in desperate need of foster parents to provide care for all types of children, according to Mike Bryant, Director of Social Services in the county.

During the month of April alone, 13 cases of child abuse or neglect were investigated by Bryant's office that brings the total of children that are in some type of state program to 28. Of those 28, 12 children are in foster care, ten in relative's homes, three in private child care, two in skilled nursing and one in a residential treatment facility.

According to Bryant, 18 Rockcastle County children were placed outside of the county because no appropriate bed was available in the county.

To qualify as a foster parent, you must be 21 years old or one parent in the home less than sixty-five, married at least two years, have enough income to provide for own family, have three personal references and two credit references and be willing to take eighteen hours of required training.

And, all members of the family must have a health examination and a check of the parents' criminal record will also be made. A foster home must also have enough space to accommodate a foster child.

Anyone interested in being a foster parent or willing to help in other ways should contact Bryant or members of his staff at 256-2138.

New Kiwanis Club to hold charter night May 24

Rockcastle County's newest club will hold its charter night, May 24 at the Renfro Valley Lodge Restaurant.

Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle County which officially organized April 19, has 38 members. They meet each Thursday at noon.

A Pineville Kiwanian, Sie Mills Jr., was largely responsible for organizing the club, which failed a few years ago in the county.

The new club is one of more than 8,000 such groups which are located in 77 countries and geographic areas around the world. Kiwanis has 300,000 members.

Mike Bryant is the president of the club. Other officers include, Lee Keene, vice president, Harold Ballinger, vice president, Cheryl Witt, secretary and Carolyn D. Byble, treasurer. Board of Directors are: Richard Anderkin, Karen King, Debra Lambert, Tom Mills, Rebekah Hammond, Donna Roberts and Wayne Gregory.

Childress in stable condition following May 8th shooting

A Rockcastle County woman is listed in stable condition at the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington, following a shooting at her home.

Ms. Thelma Childress, 70, of Blue Springs, apparently shot herself twice in the chest with a small caliber handgun Tuesday May 8th, around 4 p.m., according to authorities.

Ms. Childress was taken to the Rockcastle Hospital where she was stabilized in the emergency room. She was later transferred to Lexington by helicopter.

Bomb threat at Plastics plant

A Friday May 4th bomb threat caused officials at Mt. Vernon Plastics to evacuate the plant.

According to Lee Hall, the plant's director of public relations, someone phoned in a bomb threat to the plant around 2 a.m. Friday.

The plant was immediately evacuated while plant officials and members of the Mt. Vernon Fire Department and local police searched the premises.

"You know that most of the time these threats are just a hoax, but you have to take them seriously," Hall said.

Ms. Hall said she did not know if the threat was connected with the union effort at the plant, but she said she did not think so, because this has happened before.

Workers were out of the factory for about three hours.

Inch of rain from Tuesday storm

Tuesday night's storms that traveled across the state dumped an inch of rain over most of Rockcastle County. The official reading was .98 at the Cox Funeral Home weather station.

The rainfall Tuesday night brought the total for the month to 2.13 inches. That compares to 5.18 last May.

So far in 1990 17.32 inches has fallen on Rockcastle County. The high temperature this month was 83 degrees on May 15 and the low was 38 on May 11.

School secretary shot to death at Waynesburg

A family fight over a divorce went public last Thursday morning at Waynesburg Elementary School in Lincoln County, ending in the shooting death of the school secretary and the suicide of her husband.

Glenda Greer, 42, was shot twice with a shotgun at the school about 9:15 a.m. Thursday by her husband Shannon, who only the previous Monday had been served with court papers notifying him of her intention to divorce him.

The incident sent a shiver of terror through the school and community as police and ambulances raced onto the school yard in a matter of minutes.

Police were unsure at first whether the gunman might still be in the school. Parents, sick with worry and fear, began to gather to try to retrieve their children as teachers tried to calm the students and each other in the cafeteria.

No children were injured. The only other person, besides Mrs. Greer, to have any contact with Shannon Greer at the school that day was Principal Steve Dunn. Dunn was struck in the shoulder with the barrel of the shotgun and knocked down in his office before Greer began shooting at his wife.

The Greers, who were buried together after a joint funeral service Saturday at Pleasant View Baptist Church, had two children, son Dren and daughter Shanna, both of whom live at home but are over 18 years of age.

The violent episode at the school, while shocking to the community, was not totally unexpected, according to the court file on their pending divorce.

Only a week before the shooting, Mrs. Greer swore in an affidavit that her husband had threatened to kill her and himself if she proceeded with her divorce plans.

Court documents say that Greer, 46, had talked about killing his wife and himself when she broached the subject of divorce with him. On one occasion, Mrs. Greer said in her sworn statement, Greer actually was loading the gun as he talked of using on her and himself.

On April 20, the affidavit said, he became violent during a discussion and tried to choke her.

The affidavit was used in obtaining a restraining order from Circuit Judge Robert Jackson that prohibited Greer from contact with his wife during the divorce proceedings.

What happened

Principal Dunn was the only other person in the office when Greer came to Waynesburg Elementary last Thursday about 9:15 a.m.

Recalling the incident Monday in an interview, Dunn said that it was an unusually quiet morning at the school. There were no children in the halls or office. He was setting at his desk and Mrs. Greer, who had been school secretary since 1979, sat at her desk in the outer office.

Dunn said he heard her scream, "No, Shannon, No."

He rose from his desk and went to her office.

"I saw panic and fear in her face," Dunn said. "But I didn't see him."

The principal said he could see that Mrs. Greer was reaching and struggling, apparently trying to push the gun barrel away from her.

Dunn said that during that struggle

he heard what he thought was a shot from the shotgun that Shannon Greer held.

As Dunn opened the door between his office and the outer office where Mrs. Greer was struggling with her husband, she dashed in and Dunn said he was standing in the doorway and saw Greer and his gun for the first time. Dunn slammed the door shut and it locked automatically.

Dunn said Mrs. Greer ran to a corner of his office and crouched down under a window that looks out onto the hallway. Shannon Greer went into the hall and looked into the window. Dunn said he crouched beside his desk.

Dunn said that he had never before experienced such fear for himself and for another person as he did during the next few moments.

Greer disappeared from Dunn's

Morgan indicted for murder

A Rockcastle County Grand Jury has indicted a Mt. Vernon man for murder.

Marty Morgan, 33, was indicted in connection with the March 28th shooting death of Donnie Clemmons. Clemmons, 28, of Berea, died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington, after he was shot in the chest.

The shooting occurred on Main Street in Mt. Vernon around 8 p.m.

The Fayette County Coroner's office said that Morgan was shot with a handgun at very close range.

During an April 11th preliminary hearing in Rockcastle District Court, Morgan pleaded not guilty. His attorney, Jerry Cox, contended that Morgan shot Clemmons in self-defense.

However, other witnesses at the scene testified that Clemmons was not armed when he was shot.

Morgan is free on a $15,000 property bond until a trial in Rockcastle Circuit Court.

Morgan was one of five indicted last Friday. The other defendants will be arraigned on May 25th.

Dr. Steffy to speak at graduation

Dr. Betty E. Steffy will deliver the commencement address to 197 graduates of Rockcastle County High School on May 17, 1990.

Dr. Steffy is the Deputy Superintendent for Instruction, Kentucky Department of Education. She is a nationally renowned educator and recognized as an expert and leader in the area of curriculum.

Dr. Steffy received her doctorate from the University of Pittsburgh. Prior to coming to the Kentucky Department of Education she served as a teacher, curriculum director/supervisor of instruction in Pennsylvania, and superintendent of schools in Long Island, New York and Moorestown, New Jersey.

Dr. Steffy has been very involved with curriculum improvement/development in the Rockcastle County School System.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

This is being written due to the letter from Linda McWhorter concerning the teacher's aid at Livingston Elementary.

My daughter is a student in kindergarten at Livingston. The "teacher's aid" is also the kindergarten aid. My daughter is a very shy little girl. She attended pre-school in Jackson Co. and went the entire year not responding verbally to any of the adults who worked with her.

Since the beginning of school this year, my daughter has come home taking about Ms. Charlene. At first, I thought Ms. Charlene was the teacher. Ms. Charlene has shown only patience, understanding and caring for my daughter this year. My daughter loves her. My daughter is very easily scared and I know if a shy child like my daughter isn't scared of Ms. Charlene then no other child should be. My daughter will finally go to two adults at school -- her teacher and Ms. Charlene.

In my opinion, Ms. Charlene is a dedicated lady who has shown only concern and love for the children she works with.

If my "little one" just pushes her food back or takes her tray to the dishwasher, "it's because she doesn't like the food and not because she is scared to eat, as Mrs. McWhorter insinuates."

My family and I have all attended Livingston Elementary and I do not appreciate Mrs. McWhorter's letter at all.

After reading your letters in the Signal, Mrs. McWhorter, it seems you're into garbage in more ways than one.

Joyce Clark
Rt. 2, Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Dear Editor:

This is concerning the letter that was written from a woman claiming what she thought she saw a teacher's aid do at Livingston school.

I've heard of so many accusations towards people and it just make me sick, a lot of people just eat that sort of garbage up without considering the other person or even trying to find out the whole story. People are really blind if they believe the worst about a person just because another person says so.

I've known that teacher's aid since I was a child myself, and I've always respected, looked up to, and liked this fine lady. I also know her own child which is a fine young adult with good morals, has kindness toward children as well as older people, has a lot of self respect and is more adjusted than most at that age. If the mother of this child is such a drill sargent with kids at school then her own child wouldn't have been brought up as well as she surely has! Right?

I have a little girl that will start kindergarten this year and I have a great peace of mind knowing that this lady will be there watching, helping, and taking care of her when I'm not there to do it for her. I feel she will help my child (as well as others) learn to adjust to school and even enjoy it. I also feel that this lady as well as other teachers and their aids are doing a fine job with our children at Livingston Elementary School.

Jayne Jones

Dear Editor,

Last week you published a letter from a woman who made a very serious accusation. That being, that the parents of children who attended Livingston School should be aware that their children were being "yelled at and treated like dogs". Statements of this nature are so very damaging to both the parents and children but also the school and faculty.

My father was a graduate of L.E.S. Jerry Mink was a student at that time also. I went on to graduate from the same school. Now I have two sons who attend L.E.S. might I also add that they have always made the honor roll yet your paper doesn't see fit to publish K-4 grades.

To say the least I know the Livingston school and faculty well. Jerry Mink is one of the fairest and most understanding men that I have ever had the honor of meeting. He and his wife/secretary Ms. Vornie work as a team and wrap their lives in that of those students at Livingston. I don't think he should lower his standards enough to that of "sneaking around to see what was going on. He has always been a very straight forward sort of man, up until now it seemed to be good enough, but with such scandalous stories circulating who knows?

I visit Livingston School quite often, both by appointment and unannounced. Especially after I heard the rumor of such inhuman treatment in the lunchroom. I have always found my children being exceptionally well treated. I have also witnessed other children being treated with the same warm almost family like openness and warmth. There is an incredible closeness between the faculty and students.

The school nurse Ms. Jinny is one of the most compassionate and loving people you would ever want to meet. This lady has been known to actually cry for a child whom she has taken ill or been hurt. She's a mother of two who graduated from L.E.S. and the grandmother of a little grandson. She knows how to stop a whimper as well as nose bleed. I have seen a second grader not wanting to tell her about a new brother or sister or to show her the latest game where they have lost a tooth. Children do not share such things with people who "yell and treat them like dogs" how utterly vicious!

The teachers at L.E.S. are a very professional yet caring and compassionate group of people most of them have young children themselves. Ms. Peggy McClure has a way with children that most of us as mothers would cry for. Her own children matter to all the effort she puts into being a great teacher. Ms. Betty Bullock is a very quiet, humble and loving person. The children of her class strive to make her proud of them. These effors never go unrewarded either. She is an exceptionally good teacher but the children consider her their friend also!

The lunchroom undoubtedly will be a little noisier than the classroom but under observation from more than just one point of view there is no great injustice being done to our children at Livingston. I am proud for my sons to attend L.E.S. and prouder yet that they have such qualified caring professional people as the faculty at L.E.S. I look forward to the coming years as I watch my sons reach for higher goals and enjoy new worlds opened up to them by these people of L.E.S. faculty.

I can only hope that such slanderous painful insinuations and outright lies can't be posted around so rock steady!

Thank you,
Sandi Nolan
Livingston, Ky.
(And proud of it)

(Editor's note: The Signal is not furnished with honor rolls for grades K-4 by the schools.)

Dear Editor,

First of all, I'd like to say I have a son that goes to school at Livingston and I'm darn proud of it. I have been to school there many times since he started and never have I seen a child mistreated. In my opinion, and I'm sure there are many others who feel the same way, Livingston School has a great faculty. That includes a very nice and understanding principal, a really nice and polite secretary, a great school nurse and, most of all, a group of fantastic teachers and teacher's aides.

This is how I feel to the answer about teacher's aides in last week's Signal. I would go as far as to say I know all of them and would trust my son's life with them if it came to it. The teacher's aid that was referred to is a very nice and polite lady who loves children. I know this for a fact or she would not be there. I have seen for myself the little children stopping her in the hall to give her a hug. I have seen her cry over some of the children's situation. How could a woman like that be cruel to those children and they all love her like they do?

How does a woman who doesn't have a child in this school who a right to write about something she knows nothing about?

I hope all the parents help by replying what they feel about Livingston and the teacher's aides.

Thank you,
Judy Mason

Dear Editor,

I am no one, but "one" concerned mother. I can do nothing by myself. My heart is very troubled. Some may think that this is silly, I don't. I have a little girl who attends M.V.E.S. and a little boy who will attend year after year.

next. I cannot understand why any parent would want a school mascot to be a Red Devil. How it ever began that way I don't know. Who can't people think the devil is loose in our school system enough as it is? Sure we say "No to Drugs" -- but allow our little children to cheer on a devil mascot.

People there is nothing good about clubs - or the devil. Know some take this so lightly. But it ought not be so. I have a class of children I work with in my church and try to teach them more about the Lord and his goodness. Yes, the Lord is good! Our new school is good but to allow the school mascot to continue to be the Red Devil is an abomination in my opinion.

This class that I work with say that they turned in slips wanting this mascot changed. Except for a few who said they never received a slip to take home. There are 33 children enrolled in this class.

I read in the paper a few weeks ago that some parents did seem to be offended by this mascot. I was led to believe that the mascot would be changed. Therefore I waited and did nothing unfortunately.

I read this week -- Mascot will not be changed. Parents where are you? Well now I am doing something. I am writing this letter and praying to God there are enough concerned parents or even enough church members to stand up for what's right. Folks; Look at our church Bulletin page in this paper. Where are you? I don't want to be just a hearer of the word, but a doer.

I have not been very active in the P.T.A. but I do plan on being active from now on because I for "one" will be standing up for what I feel in my heart I have to do. Look up the definition for devil. If you don't have a Bible, look in the Webster dictionary.

About garbage

LES students write governor

Dear Governor Wilkinson,
We are from Livingston Elementary School. We're from the 5th grade class of Mitchell Robbins. Throughout this school year we have had a forest ranger come to our school. He has put a lot of spirit in us about our community. In the past few days our class has formed a club. This club's meaning is to get this letter to you so that you can do something about this littering and dumping just anywhere they fell. As you see the fine isn't doing any good when no one is getting caught for the damage they're doing to our community. What we need is someone who can run this state to get some work done. Before, our county of Rockcastle was very pretty with trees and animals and all sorts of beautiful things, but now the littering has even killed our animals. This small town has quite a bit of damage to it. Not just us kids do this all alone. When we try to pick up all the litter a few days later it's back again where people don't care about read or expressed an interest in my recently published autobiography, The Harpers of Pongo Ridge, that I will be greeting friends and signing books at the Red Top Restaurant in Mt. Vernon on Sunday, June 10 from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The dining room has been reserved, courtesy of the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Glennis Miller, for which we are most appreciative. In return for this generous gesture, we trust that each of our friends will invite others and come prepared to buy lunch and eat with us as we get acquainted, reacquainted and hash over old times.

Mt. Vernon is what my husband Ivan and I like to call our home town, although we were both born and raised some distance south of there, he in the Blue Springs area while I was from a few miles further down toward Pongo. Hence, the title of my book. Although we have been away from Kentucky for 47 years, we have many fond memories of Mt. Vernon and the surrounding areas. We still have friends and relatives there.

So we will be coming home for a short visit, and since we always have at least one meal at Red Top when we're in the area, we thought it would be nice to have our friends join us for a good homecooked dinner and a couple of hours of reminiscing.

Hope to see you there.
Sincerely,
Christine Harper McKinney

the community we live in today. We need your help. Help us get something straightened out so we won't have to live in something like a junkyard as some say.

We can get something done about this but we need your help to help us keep our country clean. We need a law or something because maybe then we can clean it up and this part of the country won't look bad anymore, so give about make a law and they won't pollute. Please help and please write back to us PLEASE!

Sincerely,
Mr. Mitchell's Fifth Grade

P.S. If it's not you? Who?

Dear Students:

Thank you for your letter about the damage to our environment that illegal dumping of garbage and littering can cause.

I am sure you realize that littering or dumping is illegal in Kentucky. Individuals caught littering are fined. As you can understand, we do not have enough state employees to patrol every road to stop littering and illegal dumping. Therefore, it is important that local officials help us.

To help stop the illegal dumping problem, several counties in the state have developed mandatory garbage pickup laws. In other counties, citizens have adopted a length of highway or road to keep clean. I was glad to read you have been involved in picking up litter along the highway.

I want to assure you we are working hard at the state level to keep Kentucky beautiful and clean. I have drastically increased funding for state environmental programs while strengthening our environmental laws and regulations. However, littering will continue to some degree until all Kentuckians can be educated to the harmful effects. I hope you will continue to set a good example for your friends and neighbors.

Again, thank you for writing. I commend you for your interest in environmental issues.

Sincerely,
Wallace G. Wilkinson

Dear Editor,

The enclosed story is true. It happened out at Singleton Valley in 1933 while my family was spending the summer at my grandmother Molly Mullins Singleton's place on Buck-

It may prove to be a Human Interest Story, even after 57 years, in Rockcastle County and could bring out strange happenings to others in that area over the years. I have several cousins in and around Mt. Vernon who always remind me of that smashed toe when I see them. I have never told them "The Rest of the Story".

You have my permission to use "The Alien With A Grudge" if you think it newsworthy. If so, I would like a copy of the paper it appears in.

Very Truly,

The Alien With A Grudge

This story goes back 57 years to the summer of 1933 when I was 11 years old, but what I am going to describe is still vivid in my mind as though it happened just a short time ago.

In Rockcastle County there is an area with many underground caves with openings known as sinkholes. I was fascinated by these entrances to unexplored worlds, but the experience I'm about to relate cured me forever of any inclination to go cave exploring. I wouldn't enter one today for any amount of money.

In a ravine down below my Aunt Mary McGuire's place was a sink-hole. One day, my brother Chick and I were gathering up the largest rocks we could carry and rolling them into the sinkhole just to hear the echoes as they bounced against the walls of the cave on the way down. After a few minutes of this, I prepared to launch a rock about the size of a football while waiting for Chick to locate another one.

Suddenly, out of this sinkhole popped a creature which gave me the impression of being furious and definitely meaning bodily harm. It was only about five feet tall and was wearing a shiny tin-foil-like suit with something over its head closely resembling the space helmets of today. Chick was back a ways with his attention focused on another boulder and didn't see the thing I saw, but he did pay attention when I shouted, "Run for your life!"

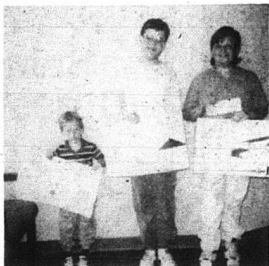

Chick and I could run in those days, and we both later became county-wide track stars. We covered in record time the three or four hundred yards down the ravine to the place where Manley McGuire lives today. The people living there at that time kept maybe five or six big bound dogs, and no doubt we attracted their attention with the noise we made running through the bush and made yelling an occasional "Help," (I can't remember). The dogs charged right by us and back up the hollow, baying

Hospital poster winners told

Winners of the Rockcastle Hospital Poster Contest received their $25 prizes May 10 at the hospital. The contest was in recognition of Nurse Appreciation Week May 7 - 11 and was sponsored by Mt. Vernon Drive Thru Pharmacy, Saylor's Pharmacy, and Young's Pharmacy. This was the first year for the contest and participation was good with 21 posters submitted. The posters have been displayed by our sponsors. Winners were Nathan Brummett in the six and under age group, Kelly Harness in the 7 - 12 group and Neil Bray in the over 12 group. The theme for the contest was Nurses or Their Work. The posters were all excellent and judging was difficult. We would like to acknowledge our judges, local ministers Rev. Buford Parkinson and Rev. Shelby Reynolds. Winning posters were selected on the basis of readability, neatness, clarity and message or theme. We also want to thank each child who entered and encourage them to try again next year. We are hoping for an ever bigger response.

Winners of the Rockcastle Hospital poster contest were Nathan Brummett; Kelly Harness and Neil Bray.

6. This sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise.

ROBERT E. ROBINSON, Master Commissioner

Eldridge named to Humanities board

Gary G. Eldridge of Mt. Vernon, along with four others, joined the Kentucky Humanities Council at its April meeting as new board members. Two of the members, George Herring and Jo Leadingham, were elected to serve four years terms ending Dec. 31, 1993, and three, Eldridge, Sally Foley Vest and Anita Woods, were appointed by Governor Wallace Wilkinson for a two-year term ending Jan. 1, 1991. In addition, Governor Wilkinson reappointed board members Sally Riggs of Louisville and Joyce Brown LeMaster, Morehead, for a second two-year term.

Eldridge is an educational consultant and seminar leader with the Center for Personal and Professional Development. Prior to his current position, he was Program Manager for the Family Life Center School/School on Wheels. He is immediate past president of the Rockcastle County Forward in the Fifth affiliate, an executive board member of the Eastern Kentucky Teachers Network, a Mellon Seminar recipient and a graduate of the 1989 Commonwealth Institute for Teachers. A graduate of Morehead State University and the University of Mississippi, Eldridge won the "Best High School Related Program" award from the Kentucky Association for Continuing Education. He was recognized this past year by the Kentucky Department of Education for special services to adult education. The Kentucky Humanities Council was established in 1972 as the state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. It promotes public understanding of the humanities through grants, resources and collaborative efforts with other educational and cultural agencies. For more information on the Council and its programs, contact: The Kentucky Humanities Council, 417 Clifton Ave., University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky. 40506-0414 (606/257-5932).

"ALIEN"

all the way. This convinced me that what I had seen wasn't a figment of my imagination and was close behind us when we emerged out of that hollow. I know the sound of running dogs when they are chasing or trailing something they have previously encountered and enjoying the challenge. It was a special sound which I call a happy tone. In those days, I truly believed that the devil lived down below and that it was plausible that it was he, or one of his aides, I had seen coming out of that hole to get us for disturbing him. Was it a coincidence that one of the most painful experiences I ever had occurred about ten days later as I was crossing the ravine a hundred yards or so from the sinkhole (closer than I ever intended)? I was about in the middle of the ravine when a boulder weighing at least ten pounds came down the side like a guided missile and landed on my left big toe while my bare foot was atop of another boulder. My toe was mangled beyond recognition, and I can remember screaming, "Oh Lordy! Oh Lordy! Oh Lordy!" The boulder was just about the size we had previously rolled down the sinkhole. Did something have its revenge? Even today, when I look at that scared big toe, I think of that sinkhole and wonder whether the thing I saw also had a sore toe from the rocks I rolled into its home. Now if any of you cave explorers or UFO alien hunters would like to explore this sinkhole cave, I would be glad to give you directions. But at 68 I'm too old to run anymore.

The Mount Vernon Signal, Thursday, May 17, 1990 P-A5

Boat taxes due by June 30 before penalties assessed

Revenue Cabinet Secretary C. Emmett Calvert announced a 60-day extension today for Kentucky's boat owners to pay property taxes otherwise due April 30 under a new law that combined registration with payment of property tax. Registration is not required unless boats are used on public waterways but property taxes remain due April 30 regardless of boat registration. Late payment penalties will not be assessed until after June 30 under the extension granted today.

The Commonwealth's 120 county clerks were notified today of the extended due date. Secretary Calvert encourages boat owners to register and pay taxes soon and stated that further extensions are not planned.

Blood drive nets 41 pints

46 people came to the support of Rockcastle County Homemakers and Central Kentucky Blood Center on April 17th in Mt. Vernon. 41 pints were donated at Rockcastle County's first blood drive of the year.

The Bank of Mt. Vernon contributed to the success of the drive by providing a $25 savings bond for a random drawing. Drubler's Restaurant also assisted by providing coupons. The next Rockcastle County blood drive has been scheduled for Tuesday, July 31st.

The people who donated on April 17th helped the lives of up to 123 patients in area hospitals. The following people can be proud to have made the difference in so many lives.

Dennis L. McClure; David B. Robinson; Glenda C. McKinney; Carol A. Woodall; Michael J. Sower; Deborah A. Anglin; John Holbrook; Gary M. Kearns; Jane L. Peters; Sheryl T. Bullock; Ella F. Public Inspection: The City's proposed budget for FY and a statement of the proposed uses of Local Government Economic Assistance funds are available for public inspection at City Hall during normal business hours. Interested persons and organizations in Mt. Vernon are invited to the public hearing to submit written or oral comments on the proposed uses of Local Government Economic Assistance funds as they relate to the City's entire budget.

Any person(s) (especially senior citizens and the handicapped) who cannot submit written comments or attend the public meeting, but wish to submit comments should call City Hall at 256-3437, so that the City can make arrangements to secure their comments.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

Loretta's taking college courses in her old age. English classes. Composition 101 and 102. Right here in Paint Lick because friend Dean Cornett talked Eastern into bringing the curriculum out to the people and then talked to a dozen of them into taking the course. I think Loretta was the first one signed up.

Over the last nine months, Loretta has spent more time studying outside class than I did in the entire five years I spent on college campuses. She has actually read the text books from cover to cover and she has made numerous trips to the library to find articles from old literary journals that are stored on microfilm. She wasn't satisfied just reading Hawthorne's "Young Goodman Brown," for example. She wanted to know what the critics had to say about it too.

For you readers who haven't experienced English 101 and 102, let me explain that it is similar to basic training in the Army. In these two courses you are supposed to learn to do basic research and write complete sentences. In the process you get a broad sampling of literature stuffed down your throat whether you like it or not. Both courses are required in the freshman year. A lot of people take them again when they're sophomores.

In most cases English 101 and 102 are viewed with great disdain by the students at colleges and universities. English is of little interest to a student who really wants to study astro physics; but the folks who run the colleges figure that even physicists should be functionally literate. The end result is that most students perform as little work as they can get by with when they take the courses and professors get lots of practice at writing "F, D and C on grade slips."

My wife has approached English 101 and 102 with a fervor that leaves me dumbfounded. Loretta wants A's. As a consequence, the kids and I have learned much about cooking and doing the laundry over the last three seasons. We haven't been as enthusiastic about it as Loretta about her English classes but we haven't starved nor have we gone to work or school without clean underwear.

Up until last fall, my wife and I would usually spend the hour between the kids' bedtime and our talking about family things. Figuring out which bills to pay, talking about work and just generally spending some time together to talk about fairly mundane whatever. Now, we have discussions regarding the political issues that might have motivated Mark Twain. She makes me read short stories so that she can argue about the personalities of the folks who wrote them. She goes to sleep with anthologies draped across her face. She underlines passages in red and yellow. Sometimes, I wake up with legal pads containing her notes lying on my pillow or spread out across my own face.

Loretta really isn't in her old age yet. But she is a living example of why I believe that kids should have to work for two or three years between high school and college. Loretta hasn't been to school since 1967. But, if every freshman entering college approached their education with her attitude, I can guarantee you that the colleges across the land would be of more benefit to society in general. My wife loves learning and appreciates the opportunity to do so. Maybe if the young folks of this country had to do hard, manual labor for a few years, they, too, would apply themselves more seriously to English 101 and 102 instead of skating by just to get the credit on their grade transcripts. Maybe they would attempt to bleed every bit of knowledge they could out of every course they take.

My wife is in class as I write this column. She has no degree in mind (yet) but I have a feeling that I'm going to be spending at least one night each week at home with the kids for a long, long time. And it occurs to me that if I had a class full of students with her attitude, I might even enjoy teaching again myself....

GARDENING TIP:
Mrs. Edith Dugan Hall, formerly of Rockcastle County is 84 years old and has called me to get some snow pea and banana muskmelon seed for her garden in Fairfield, Ohio. She says you don't have time to think about dying if you grow a big garden every year.

Blaine Crase of Winchester wrote to say that you could use three or four pages of water soaked newspaper as the best mulch for tomatoes.

Tiger Pause

Our gymnasium was transformed into a beautiful fantasy land this past Friday night for our 7th and 8th grade banquet and dance. We appreciate the efforts of Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Cash; these teachers have worked very hard to make this special night for our students. Crowned prince and princess to represent the 7th grade were Jason Burkhardt and Paula Delph. Representing 8th grade were Michelle Blanton and Thomas Shafer, our queen and king of this special event.

You are invited to our graduation ceremony next Monday, May 21, at 7 p.m. Our speaker will be Danny McKinney, a Brohead graduate who is now CEO of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-op in Lexington. Bro. Melvin Riley, pastor of Brohead Baptist Church, will have the invocation. We have sixty-three graduates in the class of 90.

Our little Cub Tigers, class of 2002, will have their graduation ceremony on Tues., May 22, at 8:45 a.m. You are invited to our kindergarten graduation to share these special moments with us.

We treated the members of our academic team, our work crew, and our news team to lunch at the Pizza Hut on Monday. These students have worked hard all year, and we appreciate their contributions to our school. Thanks, too, to Mrs. Burton, our academic coach; and Mrs. Vannatter and Mrs. Paul, our news team sponsors.

This school year will soon be over, but this century will not soon be forgotten.

We have seen a great number of positive changes during the 1989-90 school year. We are growing as individuals and as a school. Summer will bring a time for rest, relaxation, and renewal. There will be time for togetherness with our families and friends -- lazy days with nothing to do but to plan and to reflect. There will be hectic days, too, of trying to schedule all those annual check-ups - eyes, teeth, etc., etc. All of this in order to prevent so many absences next year.

Next year? Already? Yes, that's the way it goes! Our summer will be gone before we know it; and we'll all be enthusiastically gearing up for the 1990-91 school year, which will bring many more changes for all of us. One of our changes will be to have students write "Tiger Pause." This will give them an opportunity to express themselves and to grow as students. I appreciate Miss Motly Hamm's help with writing for me while I was out of school following my surgery. She did a super job! Thanks to all the students -- those BES Tigers -- who made it all happen; and thanks to our teachers and parents who helped by encouraging them. Thanks, also, Signal staff, for supporting our school and for giving us space each week as a good, timely means of communicating to our parents.

Mrs. Dorothy Wells and her sister Marjorie of Louisville spent a few days with Gervis, Carol and Craig Singleton in London. They and Carol came by for me and we all had dinner with Dan and Marion Wells and their son and daughter. We helped Daniel, Dan and Marion's son, celebrate his birthday. Leslie Gayle Singleton of Western came to Danville and met Carol and I. Mrs. Wells and Marjorie returned to their home in Louisville. Phyllis Morgan of Morrow, Ohio and Lynn Reckles of Berea were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hubbard.

Mothers' Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Adams were Jerry Adams of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sargent, Danny Bruce and Dennis of Berea and Mr. and Mrs. Don Cash and Donna Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Adams were last Tuesday's visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sargent, Danny Bruce and Dennis in Berea. Mae Doan and Mary McWhorter enjoyed a short visit with Audrey and Maggie Fletcher Sunday afternoon.

A family reunion at the home of Mrs. Ollie Harrison was well attended with around seventy people including two babies whom she hadn't seen for a long time. Others attending were Jackie Hiatt of Turkeytown and Carla Howell of Ohio. Mrs. Harrison says she enjoyed everyone very much. There was also a movie camera on hand. Hubert had been here some time before the reunion. It's so good for families to get together and enjoy each other. We hope and pray we can have a big reunion one day in heaven.

Pat Pruitt and son Freddie Jr. and myself met Mickie Lea in Richmond, Lea also visited Margie, her friend and former roommate, before Mickie moved to Ashland. It was so sad to see the apartments burn where Mickie had roomed before moving to Ashland and to Margie and one of Dexter Robert's daughters was living in these apartments. We're so thankful no one lost their lives.

Mrs. Mildred Brown spent Sunday afternoon and evening with her sister Mr. and Mrs. William Leflew and their family at Mitchellburg. Mrs. Cuba Singleton, Mildred's daughter-in-law from Charlotte, N.C., paid her a call and Mildred's daughter, Mrs. Shirley Hurst of Lexington paid her mother a call.

Mothers' Day and weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carse Blanton were, Mrs. Mildred Hunt, Jeff and Connie, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Cash, Mrs. Shirley Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. David Blanton and girls, Mrs. Irene Watson of Frankfort, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blanton, Lisa and Michelle, Virgil Brock of Slaty Branch and Mrs. Irene Bengie.

Recent visitors of Bertha Adams were Jimmy Adams of Junction City, Carolyn McKinney and Ronnie Adams.

Recent visitors of Clay and Nellie Colson were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Colson and son John of Madisonville, Ind., Dr. Charles (Chuck) Colson and family have moved to Ann Arbor, Michigan from Holland, Michigan. Recent visitors of Elva Mobley were Gervis Scoggins and Norma Crank and her daughter Ruth Ann Deborde, Donna Burdine, Cola Stephens of Somerset, Pauline Renter and daughter Barbara.

Visitors recently of Mr. and Mrs. Debert Long were Harrison and Lela Johnson, Irene Taylor, Janet Blewins, Billy Brown and wife Genieva and son Eugene, Diane Helton and Johnnie Taylor.

Quail News

By: Vivian Owens

Mrs. Vera Casey, Mrs. Luella Ponder, Mrs. Alice Cupp and Florence Albright spent Monday night at Rough Rivers and returned home with Mrs. Casey and spent Tuesday and Wednesday night. All enjoyed their vacation.

Mrs. Ina Reynolds is a patient in Ephraim McDowell Hospital where she underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny McKibben and boys visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McKibben who are both very ill.

Ronald Owens of Ohio spent the weekend with his mother Mrs. Mattie Owens.

Mothers' Day guest of Mr. and Mrs. Butch Carl and family of Versailles were Mrs. Carl's mother, Mrs. Zelma Hayes, Sandy and Tommy, other guests were Bro. and Mrs. Ed Gibbs of London, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Mink and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hayes and Kevin Whittaker.

Mothers' Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cash were her mother Mrs. Edna Pope. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wright, Mrs. Anna Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pope and family, Bro. and Mrs. Shelby Reynolds and family and Mrs. Vivian Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Owens visited his mother Mrs. Mattie Owens and his brother Ronald Owens Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Bob Evans and son spent Saturday night with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Junior Mullins.

Mrs. Edna Miller spent a few days with her sister Mr. and Mrs. Junior Mullins.

Mrs. Vivian Owens visited Mrs. Jewel Albright and Tooter Saturday evening.

Mrs. Joe Bringer of Somerset and son visited Mrs. Mattie Owens Saturday afternoon.

Mt. Vernon Personals

Mrs. Ida Cain had her family as guests for Mother's Day. Those at tending were Bob and Betty Lou French, Terry Bradley, Pam and Digger, Mrs. Crystal Dooley, Lindsey Durham, Dana and Karen Pitts, Sonya Vallance and Nicole, Sadie Broyers, Susan Cotterman, Andy Whitelet, Shelby Ramsey, Libby, Dwayne and Tracy, Patsy McFerron, Jamie and Philip, Sam and Evelyn Mullins of Climax and Fred and Robbie Murphy of Van Lear. We had a delicious dinner and a nice visit was enjoyed by all.

Mother-Daughter Banquet

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

The Brodhead Christian Church Mother-Daughter Banquet was held May 12, in the Fellowship Hall, 2-5 p.m., and was really enjoyed.

The mothers and daughters met upstairs first for a short program, consisting of some mothers and many under 10 years of age daughters. Judy Peurey read some scripture and the children demonstrated the readings. Blanche Johnson took part in my demonstration, as a mother. April Thorpe sang an appropriate song. Betty Lou Hodge was pianist during the program.

After a prayer of thanks for the day and food by Bro. Steve Ritter, we went to the Fellowship Hall, filled our plates with goodies and found a seat at the blue covered tables, decorated with bouquets.

When desserts were devoured and fellowship ended, we adjourned with joy in our hearts.

I think I was the only one who had an adopted daughter, Gladys Roberts, for the event.

Many of us remembered to thank Glenna Brooks and Judy Peurey for planning this event.

As we went out the door, Stephanie Ritter and Brandi Adams handed us an attractive cookbook containing our present church member's recipes. A nice memo of 1990's commemoration of Brodhead Christian Church's Mother and Daughter Banquet. (See club news on page A11)

Argue By the Numbers

By: John Holbrook

I am going to tell how you can save some time
I will try to say it
so it will surely rhyme

Argue by the numbers
and simplify your life
When disputing with your children your husband or your wife

Parents label five of your lectures and start with number one
It will save a lot of time and not arguing may be fun

When I was your age -- it would be a good way
Then for added good measure with your eyes through a dart

We'll treat you like an adult when you start acting like one...
This could be said to a daughter or maybe to a son

One of these days you'll thank me... could be given to number three
This will raise their hackles and not fill their hearts with glee

I'm not everybody else's mother... could be one number four
Be prepared to block their way
and keep them in the door

Just wait till you have children of your own
This will end the parents special
Then when our children have left us
We don't know how to feel

Let's not forget the children
but give them equal time Again I am going to try to make their reasons rhyme

Why don't you want me to be happy?
They may ask almost every day
And when it comes to answering we as parents don't know what to say

For once in your life, stop and listen... in a plea we hear from them all...
So if we do not listen
we're in for quite a fall

Your problem is you don't trust me...
we hear a way too much
Isn't this one of those statements
that put us in a clutch

Weren't you ever young once... implies that we are getting old
Isn't it true what we're saying
Is the same thing we were told

You treat me like a baby... is a statement that has some truth
Even though we do grow old we still may have some youth

So we sit up late waiting for our child to come in
And if they are late arguing is likely to begin

So instead of arguing number "five" you squall out Number "one" your child may answer

In a voice to match your shout
we hear a way too much
Isn't this one of those statements
that put us in a clutch

This will only take a moment and think of the saving of time
I wrote all of this and actually did make it rhyme

So tell your children you love them and do it every day
Then when you grow older about you they will have nice things to say.

A Day With Mother
copyright 1990 by
Christine McKinney
As Mother's Day approaches

and the preparations start
For this annual celebration
that's so dear to every heart,
It's great for those whose motherlives
to share in all the pride
But bitterless for those of us who live in memory.

We find ourselves returning to the days of yesterday
And, as the pictures flood our soul,
we tend to shed a tear
While seeing things we almost missed
we paid so little heed,
To all the things our mothers did to meet our every need.

So much we took for granted, like food and clothes and such;
Everything just lying in place
at Mama's magic touch!
So sad we never realized
the effort she expended
But now it's plain that's more or less just what she had intended.

It's not a mother's nature to gripe and raise a fuss
At each and every sacrifice
she has made for us,
For mothers are a unique breed
God chose to set apart
Knowing that their special role required a bigger heart.

And so He made them all heart and blessed them beyond measure
With this capacity to love that makes them such a treasure;
And those of us who would explain
our mother's deep devotion
As left to gripe in vain for words that tell of this emotion.

On Mother's Day we'll choose a flower to wear above our hair
To signify the manner in which Mom has a part:
Red will show she's living while white will indicate that she is singing praises inside the Pearly Gate.

So whether, on this special day,
we stroll down Memory Lane
Or take a mother out to lunch
we'll be with her again;
We'll feel her presence near us and hear her tender voice...
Thank God for making MOTHERS, for this we all rejoice.

In loving memory of our mother,

Little Boy of Yesterday

By: Mayzell Rios

Where is that little boy
of yesterday?
Where did he go?
He was just here, but I just don't know

Where did you wander to?
Why did you go?
Little boy of yesterday,
I love you so.

You were so happy,
And so full of joy,
Little one of yesterday
Dear little boy.

I've searched far and wide,
To find you, dear little boy
But you were nowhere around
Our sweet bundle of joy.

But always remember,
No matter how far you go, no matter
"what anyone will say,
We'll always love
Our little boy of yesterday.

Cheeses: Choosing lower fat types

In Grandma's day buying cheese was pretty simple. Choose the one you liked -- Cheddar, Swiss or Colby -- and that was it. But now, cheeses are available in both type and the amount of fat they have.

Extension foods and nutrition specialist Darlene Forester said cheeses Grandma never heard of are in supermarkets everywhere and many are available in reduced fat versions.

These days we have many other cheese choices besides the natural cheeses. And descriptions can make your head spin with confusion.

Cheese is a fresh or matured product obtained by draining after coagulation of milk, cream, partly skimmed milk, skimmed milk, buttermilk or all of them together.

Pasteurized process cheese is made by mixing and grinding various natural cheeses with heat and an emulsifier. Process cheese generally contains the same amounts of fat and water as the natural cheeses from which it is made.

Pasteurized process cheese food is similar but contains more moisture and less fat. Optional ingredients such as skimmed milk can be added. Process cheese food can contain no more than 44 percent water.

Pasteurized cheese spread is made the same as process cheese, but has even more water added to increase spreadability, but not more than 60 percent water.

Many process cheese items are called imitation if they are nutritionally inferior to real cheese. For instance, a product known as imitation Swiss cheese food has 90 calories, five grams of protein and six grams of fat. It contains water, partially hydrogenated soybean oil and other ingredients.

The fat content of cheese varies according to the fat content of the milk from which the cheese is made. The protein content of common cheeses varies from about two to eight grams per ounce.

Consumers should keep in mind that just because a cheese is labeled lite or part-skim milk, it may not really be low in fat. The only way to know is to read the label. Look for a cheese with no more than five grams of fat per one-ounce serving.

The following is a list of cheeses and the amount of protein and fat associated with each:

- Blue - 6 grams protein - 8 grams fat
- per ounce; Brick - 6.5 grams protein - 8 grams fat; Camembert - 5.5 grams protein - 7 grams fat; Cheddar - 7 grams protein - 9 grams fat; Colby - 7 grams protein - 9 grams fat; Cream - 2 grams protein - 9 grams fat; Edam - 7 grams protein - 8 grams fat; Swiss - 8 grams protein - 8 grams fat; Mozzarella (low moisture part skim) - 8 grams protein - 5 grams fat; Neufchatel - 3 grams protein - 7 grams fat; Ricotta, reg. part skim - 3 grams protein - 4 grams fat; Colby, imitation - 6 grams protein - 6 grams fat; Swiss - 8 grams protein - 8 grams fat; Pasteurized Process American - 6 grams protein - 9 grams fat; Pasteurized Process Cheese Food - 7 grams protein - 6 grams fat; Process Cheese Spread - 5 grams protein - 6 grams fat.

Waynesburg secretary shot to death view through the window and the principal scrambled across the floor to make sure the door had locked automatically, as it is supposed to.

As he reached up from his crouching position to test the doorknob, Dunn heard a loud "boom" and assumed it was a shot. Greer apparently, though, had knocked the doorknob off with the butt of his shotgun.

Greer threw open the door, knocking Dunn backward, and immediately turned to his wife, who was still in the corner.

Dunn said he reached up to restrain Greer and was struck across the shoulder with the barrel of the shotgun and realized that the situation was getting too wild.

"I thought this is beyond anything I can do to help," Dunn recalled, and he dashed out the door to summon police.

As Dunn ran down the hall toward the lunchroom, he said, he thought he heard a shotgun blast and he ran into teacher Enoch Yantz. Dunn said that Yantz heard him say, "I have to call the sheriff."

As Dunn took a shortcut to the lunchroom through the furnace room, teacher Linda Wilson came out of her classroom nearby to see what the commotion was about.

She saw a man with a shotgun and immediately went back into her room and told her students to stay put. She left through an outside door and went room to room knocking on windows, warning the other classes of that there was a man with a gun.

Teachers, whose training includes what to do in case of fire or tornado but not how to react to a gun-toting intruder, responded admirably, according to Dunn.

Heherded their students into closets to protect them.

Meanwhile, teacher Dan Wilson, Linda's husband whose classroom is farther down the hall away from the office, heard screaming and went out to investigate.

He said he thought that Shannon Greer had shot Glenda and Wilson went toward the office. Greer had left the building and when Wilson got to the door, he saw Mrs. Greer slumped just outside the school door.

He said he felt for a pulse but found none and called the rescue squad and coroner Bill Demrow.

Demrow's reconstruction of the events picks up the actual shooting.

The coroner said that Mrs. Greer was shot once in the right side of her face while still inside the building. The shotgun blast went from left to right across her face. That shot apparently came in the outer office where her desk was after Dunn had gone to a shotgun help. There was evidence of a shot or two also having been fired in Dunn's office, as well.

The initial wound was serious but not fatal, Mrs. Greer apparently tried to run outside to escape from her husband.

He caught up with her outside just outside the schoolhouse door and fired a blast into her right shoulder blade. The impact of the shot immediately destroyed several major organs, Demrow said, and death came instantly.

Mrs. Greer's body crumpled in a heap against the door. Shannon Greer got into his wife's white Chevette and left.

The response

Principal Dunn, meanwhile, had made it to the lunchroom and could only think to dial "911."

Although there is no 911 emergency telephone system in operation in Lincoln County, Waynesburg telephones are linked to a switching station in Eubank in Pulaski County, where there is a 911 emergency system.

When he dialed, the call was an Cont. To B-1 beautiful and to inform people about pollution and its effects. Stricter enforcement of laws regarding trash is also necessary. We have to mean what we say.

This garbage problem needs to be addressed now because for our children the problem will double. We can also think how beautiful Rockcastle used to be when we first settled it and desire for Rockcastle to be that way again.

Coming Together Against Pollution

By: Kevin Rowe
12 Grade

To some the problem of pollution is seen as one of the greatest threats to our existence in Rockcastle County. As well as the rest of the world, however, the most are unconcerned or feeling themselves into thinking it will not affect them because their general area is clean. It is this attitude which is currently making it impossible to clean up our county and world or even to halt the continued spread of pollution.

Those concerned should make it a priority to see that this ignorant and outdated attitude is put to an end. The individual can do their part by writing letters and essays, placing continuous pressure on leaders and those of the media to make the problem more widely known and to impose heavier fines, and most of all to pick up after themselves and wherever they see litter and illegal dumping.

However I believe the most important must be accomplished if a turnaround is to occur. We should take the old "neighbor helping neighbor" policy to come together to fight this common problem. If each member of our county's approximately 14,000 population would devote one full day of cleaning up the county, with proper management and coordination, we would be very much closer to solving this problem and not waiting for community leaders to spend millions of dollars on it. I know this would be impossible, but through a vigorous campaign of education and public awareness, something of this effect I believe can be achieved.

In conclusion, the pollution problem is not simply going to go away, nor can the local civic leaders solve it by themselves. To really have a drastic turnaround, a complete and wholehearted community effort must be achieved.

Memorial Day Homecoming

There will be Memorial Day Homecoming services at Sand Hill Baptist Church on Sunday, May 27 with dinner being served. There will be singing beginning at 1:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. If anyone cannot attend but wishes to donate to the cemetery fund please send donations to Virginia A. Nicely, Church Treasurer, P.O. Box 218, Livingstone. Money received will be used only for the upkeep of the cemetery.

Rise & Shine Homemakers

By: Bessie St. Clair

The Rise and Shine Homemakers met at the home of Alta Bullock May 8th at 10 a.m.

The roll call was taken with nine members answering.
Ms. Bea Hensley read the minutes and gave the report.
Alta Bullock and Faye McCauley attended the Spring Extravaganza and reported a good time.

Bea Hensley and Alta Bullock worked at the Quilt and Craft Show May 10th. Alice Cloud presented a good lesson on Attitude - Gratitude. We had a good time of sharing our experiences with each other.

We presented Mrs. Helen Duncan with a gift. She is leaving us and moving to Ohio to live with her daughter.

Alta Bullock was hostess because of illness in the family of the scheduled host.

We would like to give a gift to Project Garden.

We had a delicious pot luck dinner and enjoyed an hour of fellowship.

Ladies' Aide Missionary Society

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

The Missionary Group of Broadhead Christian Church met at Dix Point's beautiful dining room, May 8th.

The group welcomed Kaye Carr as a guest and friend.

Elta Mae Martin presented the lesson on "Decency Decade Begins Today" by Teresa Schantz. She ended the lesson by saying "if we're right and the 90's is a Decency Decade, when a good guy comes back in style -- great! Let's witness for God and be heroes of the 90's."

She read poems "Gifts of God" that told us to use our eyes, ears, lips, mind, hands for the "Glory of God." She continued reading, "Born for Joy" and "Pack Away Your Troubles" poems, which even titles, tell us how to act in this decency decade.

Marjorie Shivel read "News from Sowder Nursing Home" and Barbara Watson read our monthly letter from Brenda and Mike Dishon, missionaries.

We reminded ladies to check names with unknown addresses to see if we know any addresses. The church plans to send invitations to all living people (who were ever members) an invitation to the Church's 100th birthday, July 15th.

We cheered "Willie Lawrence for signing the many 'Mother's Day' card for Sowder Nursing Home patients.

We plan to contact Randall Adams to see about making the wooddress.

Barbara Watson gave the blessing before we were refreshed by food prepared by Syble for Elizabeth F. Mullins, as hostess.

In June, we'll meet at Marjorie Shivel's home, the second Tuesday.

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

Rockcastle County's version of the Barnum & Bailey Circus is Thursday night.

Of course, it is more commonly referred to as graduation at the Rockcastle County High School.

As long as I can remember, this annual event has been nothing more than a farce. People are rude, loud and totally inconsiderate of the graduates who they are supposedly there to honor.

In the past, graduation has certainly not been an honor to anyone and this year will probably be no exception.

From my own experience, the graduates are usually so wrapped up in the events of the evening that not being able to hear the speaker usually doesn't affect them. But, for those not graduating and not interested in talking out loud to their neighbor or running from seat to seat, it is very disturbing to them.

Since graduating many years ago, I have attended four other graduations, all because I had sisters graduating. Each and every time I have left graduation with an overwhelming urge to punch someone. It has to be one of the most frustrating things to try and sit through.

Baccalaureate and Awards Night are not circuses and I've often thought that officials at RCHS should go ahead and hand out diplomas at Baccalaureate. Usually all of the graduates are there and the family members in attendance are there because they have a reason to be. It is a nice service as is Awards Night and those that attend these functions are not out of control, and disturbing the ceremony.

If things don't improve, and chances are they won't, graduation should be held at a time when mainly those who attend are there to take the program and occasion seriously and enough to be attentive and respectful.

I'm just thankful that my next scheduled appearance in the "Big Tent" is 1997.

Cecil King of Crab Orchard was named "Sportsman of the Year" by the Kentucky Walking Horse Association and his prize horse Eb's Private Treaty won the high point award from the association for the amateur owned and trained class.

King is Sportsman of Year

Eb's Private Treaty wins

By: Richard Anderkin

Cecil King is well known around the Kentucky Walking Horse circuit, very well known.

A few weeks ago, King was voted Amateur Sportsman of the Year, by the association and one of his horses, Eb's Private Treaty received the High Point Award.

The Crab Orchard businessman has worked with show horses for almost twenty years and, besides training and caring for his own horses, several other horses stand at his stable on Hwy. 150.

Eb's Private Treaty, an eight-year-old stallion made the trip through Kentucky's Walking Horse Circuit last year, racking up more points than any of its competitors, in its class the Amateur Owned and Trained.

"He is a fine horse and he really deserved the award," King said. "I can remember only a handful of times out of the twenty-five that I showed that he was not ready to perform," the veteran horseman said.

Eb's Private Treaty was scheduled for its 1990 debut Saturday night at the Rockcastle Saddle Club's annual horse show, but he wasn't ready.

Surgery had to be performed on the stallion's leg during the winter to remove a cyst and the horse still wasn't ready to be shown. Most likely his 1990 debut will come this weekend in Georgetown.

Besides finishing as the High Point Horse in Kentucky, Eb's Private Treaty finished second in the Kentucky Four Day Celebration and second in the North Carolina Three Day Celebration.

In January, King's horse finished fourth in the entire nation during the national Walking Horse Show at Shelbyville, Tennessee.

And as for the Sportsman of the Year Award, King says he is very proud, "that award is voted on by other horse people and I am very grateful to receive such an honor."

King is no stranger to success in the walking horse industry. In 1986, Go Boy's Country Lake, a 22-year-old Tennessee Walking Horse, owned and trained by King, won Horse of the Year Honors from the Kentucky Walking and Racking Association.

Waynesburg school secretary shot

swered by a police dispatcher in Somerset.

Since Dunn could no longer see the office area, he had no idea what was happening in the front of the school. He was operating under the assumption that Greer was still in the building with his shotgun.

After taking some time for the Somerset dispatcher to determine just where Waynesburg Elementary is, the call went out to area police that a gunman was loose in the school.

State and local police began streaming into the school area from as far away as London. They quickly determined that Shannon Greer had killed his wife and fled.

Police began searching for him but found no trace.

Somerset and Pulaski County law officers were watching roads to the south to see if he might be heading their way.

Local officers suspected that he might be heading for the Fishing Creek area near Waynesburg, where he has spent most of his life and where it would be easy to hide.

As police mounted their search they began to get reports that Greer had been spotted in nearby Casey County and that he stopped by a grocery store in Welltown and purchased shotgun shells.

Deputy Sheriff David Smith said he and a state police man were driving down Salyers Road in Casey County about 11 a.m. when he heard what sounded like a gunshot in the woods to his right.

The state trooper, Rick Muse, stopped the car at the entrance to an old logging road and Smith ran toward the sound of the shot.

He ran a shot distance up the logging road when he saw the white Chevette and went back to the patrol car to call in the other officers.

A state police SWAT team approached the car and found that Greer had shot himself with the same shotgun he used to kill his wife.

The divorce papers that Greer had gotten earlier in the week were on the dashboard with the words "There was no divorce" written across the page.

Demrow said Gaeher had put the twin barrels of the shotgun on the bridge of his nose and shot himself between the eyes as he sat in the car.

It isn't known what may have happened in the two hours between the time Glenda Greer was murdered and when Shannon Greer took his own life. Demrow speculated that Greer may have sat alone in his car for some time contemplating what he had done and was about to do before pulling the trigger.

The coroner said he is awaiting toxicology information on Greer to see whether some medication he was taking may have contributed to his violent behavior last Thursday.

When word of the shooting got back to Stanford, Mrs. Greer's attorney, James W. Williams III became concerned for his own safety.

He had been counseling Mrs. Greer for several weeks and was convinced that her fear of Shannon Greer's potential for violence was real.

Williams said that threats are common in about 60 percent of the divorce cases he sees but Mrs. Greer's fear convinced him that this threat was more than idle.

Williams went to the sheriff's office until it was confirmed that Greer was no longer a threat to him.

The aftermath Once it was determined that the students weren't in danger, they were taken to the cafeteria, away from the scene of the murder.

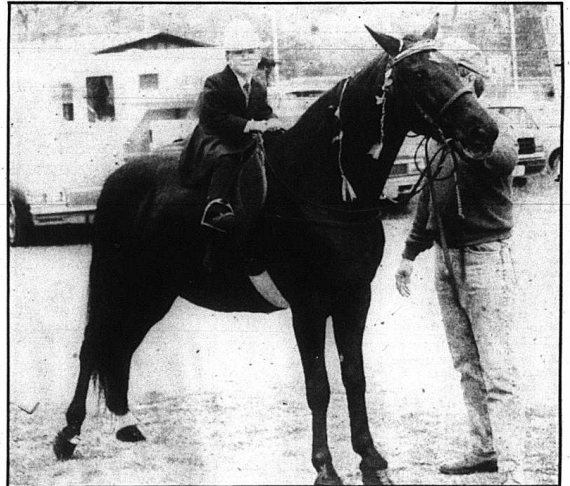

With shock nearly universal among the teachers, students and other staff, they spent the morning consoling each other and preparing to get the students home.

Buses were summoned and parents who had heard about the shooting were arriving to check on the safety of their children.

Parents were permitted to take their children home and for those whose parents didn't come, bus transportation was provided.

Supt. Bruce Johnson and other administrators from the schools' central office also came to lend a hand wherever possible.

Johnson said he contacted counseling experts in Frankfort and was told that it would be best for the school to be held the following day, Friday.

School counselors and mental health experts from Stanford, Somerset and Danville volunteered to come to the school on Friday and there was a counselor for each classroom. A promised state "crisis team," however, never showed up and Dunn was never told why.

Ann Upchurch, an elementary school counselor, said on Friday that the students were talked to as a large group, in smaller groups and, where necessary, individually.

Mrs. Upchurch said the students were primarily interested in an account of the facts. Once they realized that it was a family matter that grew out of proportion, it seem to calm their fears that they might be in danger in school.

She said the counselors were there to reassure the students and faculty that their feelings of fear and grief were normal.

The grief over Glenda Greer's death was widespread in the school and community.

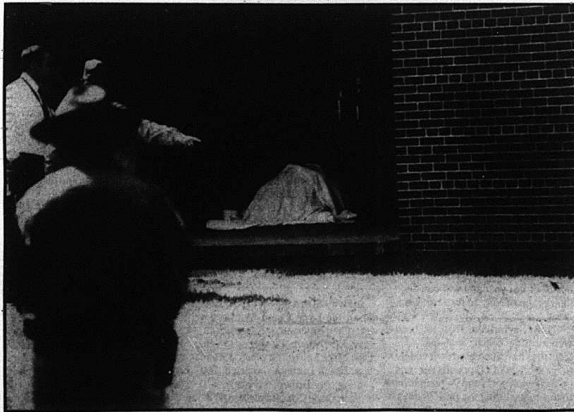

"Glenda was a good employee," Dunn said. "The job was important to her and to the school. She was interested in children, especially those with special needs."

Dunn said that she knew the children well because she was usually the one they came into contact with first. Being a long-time resident of the area, she also knew their families.

Five-year-old Clay Smith of Houston Point Estates and his eight-year-old walking horse Flash won the high-point award for the Kentucky Walking Horse Association's Lead Line Division for 1989. Clay and Flash were among the participants in Saturday night's horse show at Brodhead. Clay is the son of Keith and Jerrilynn Smith of Mt. Vernon.

Brodhead ceremony brings in county baseball

With an opening ceremony last Saturday afternoon at Thacker field in Brodhead, little league season is officially underway.

D.A. Robbins, former BHS principal; Clarence Carter, former Carter's Market Owner and Alfred Tagliaboschi, one of the first men to start the little league program in Rockcastle County, all joined together for the ceremonial first pitch to open this year's little league season.

All three men have been instrumental throughout the past and present in the development and success of our little league program in Rockcastle County.

After the ceremony, baseball was underway as the little league pre-season tournament continued. In the first game the Orioles went on a hitting spree to knock off the Angels, 27-9, and advance to the championship game of the Minor League. The championship is scheduled for Friday, June 1 at 5:30 when the Orioles take on the already winning Cubs.

It was the pre-season championship of the Major League in the second game last Saturday when the A's faced off with the Cubs. The A's went on to take the crown of the Major League by defeating the Cubs by a decisive margin, 19-9.

In Monday night's regular season action, the Orioles and the Cubs, of the Minor League, went head to head with the Orioles coming out on top, 21-4, with a little help from catcher J.B. King, who smacked a grand slam homerun.

But it wasn't the only grand slam of the night. During the second game for the Major League, first baseman Josh Blanton of the A's also crushed one for a round-tripper with the bases loaded to put the 10 run rule in effect and defeat the Cardinals, 26-13, in the bottom of the fifth inning.

The league standings for the Major League, as of Monday have the A's out in front with a perfect 2-0 record and the Reds close behind with a 1-0 mark. The Twins, Padres and Cardinals are all tied for third with 1-1 records while the Cubs have fourth with an 0-1 count and the Pirates trail the league with a 0-2 record.

For the Minor League, it's the Orioles leading with a 2-0 record, the Giants and Angels have second with 1-0 marks, the Pirates and Bears claim third with 0-1 counts and the Cubs trail with an 0-2 record.

There's a three way tie in the Senior League standings between the Expos, Reds and Indians all with perfect 1-0 records while the Braves, Pirates and Cubs close the league with 0-1 marks. The Dodgers are not in the standings since they haven't played any games as of yet but are schedule to play a doubleheader this Saturday when they take on the Expos at 12 p.m. and the Cubs at 6 p.m.

Nine advance to sectionals

The Track and Field Regional Preliminaries have concluded and the sectional finals will begin with nine Rockcastle athletes in contention for a state berth.

That is how the results look after the regional preliminaries that were held last Thursday at Bryan Station.

Thirteen schools, throughout Region 6, were represented by their top athletes in hopes of making it to the sectional finals and compete against Region 8 at the University of Kentucky, Saturday, May 19.

Rockcastle boys Scotty Hines, Jay

Brown, Billy Todd, Kevin Rowe, Dane Cox, William Bullens, William Holland and Jeff Navarre all qualified within the top four of their events along with girls team member Karla Bullock and will make the trip back to UK this Saturday.

As a team, Rockcastle tied for third with Middlesboro in Region 6 in the boys division and placed tenth in the region in the girls division. Western Hills ultimately took first place in Region 6 in the boys division while Mercer County grabbed first in the girls division.

John Mobley of the Orioles is preparing to cross home plate after he hit a homerun in Saturday's action at Thacker Field. The Orioles defeated the Angels 27 to 9.

Rockets go to region

By: Spencer Bengt

With a win in the first round of the 48th District Tournament, the Rockcastle County Rockets baseball team will advance to the 13th Regional Tournament next week.

The number two seed Rockets eliminated the number three seed Jackson County Generals, 9-7 at Oneida Tuesday evening in a game that originated Monday but was suspended due to darkness after four and a half innings.

"It was a roller coaster ride," said Rockets head coach Ryan Riddle. "It was the best game we've been in all year," he added.

The Rockets and Generals took the field Monday after the opening game of the district tournament between Clay County and Oneida which saw Clay defeat Oneida 11-6.

The Rockets jumped on the Generals early, 1-0, with a lead off homerun by junior David Sargent in the first inning.

With senior ace Mike Lopez on the mound, it looked like the Rockets would set the Generals down for the second time this year.

But that wasn't the case. With some control problems on the mound for the Rockets' pitcher Lopez, the Generals fought back in the second inning and took a 3-1 lead.

Both teams then managed one run a piece in the third to make it a 4-2 ballgame.

But the Rockets came back as Jonathan Saylor, who has hit the ball solid all year, stroked a solo shot to cut the margin to a one run ballgame.

It was after Lopez shut the Generals down, in the top of the fifth inning, that the game was suspended. No lights are available at the Oneida facility and darkness forced the second game of the district tournament to continue Tuesday evening with the Generals.

"I am tickled to death," said Rockcastle boys track coach Tom Larkey. "I'm proud of what these boys and girls have accomplished in their first year of competition."

Larkey, in his twelfth year of coaching track and field and first at RCHS, has done an outstanding job this year. He has taken a group of inexperienced individuals and turned them into a squad of competitive athletes.

Larkey said that just since the beginning of the track and field season until now that individual times for the Rockcastle teams have improved immensely.

"We are competitive," said Larkey "and would have done much better had we been able to compete in all events." Larkey was referring to the pole vault, triple jump, long jump and high jump events in which you can't just take someone out and teach it to them overnight.

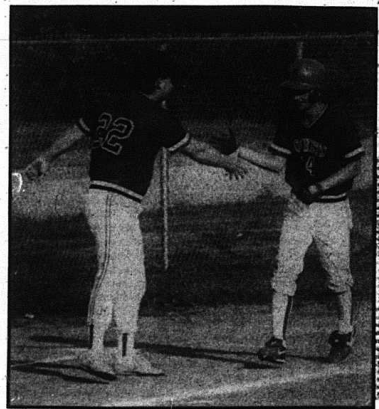

Larkey is hoping for the best this Saturday during the sectionals and said of course that any one of the nine Rockcastle athletes could gain a state berth if they had a good day.

But putting things in perspective, Larkey said that Scotty Hines has the best chance. With the way Hines has been throwing the shot-put and discus he has a high possibility of making it to the state finals, if he has a good day, Larkey added. Hines was the first place finisher with the shot-put in the regional preliminaries.

The state finals are set for Saturday, May 26 at UK and will take the top two qualifiers of each event of the sectionals.

Individual scoring during the regional preliminaries for the Rockcastle boys were: Scotty Hines, 1st in the shot-put and 2nd in the discus; Jay Brown, 5th in the 100m and 5th in the 200m; Kevin Rowe, 4th in the shot-put and 5th in the discus; William Hellard, 5th in the 400m; Jay Brown, Billy Todd, Dane Cox and William Bullens, 3rd in the 400m relay and Jeff Navarre, William Hellard, Billy Todd and Jay Brown, 4th in the 1600m relay.

RCHS weightlifting team captures first place at Lynn Camp tourney

The Rockcastle County football team recently attended the 11th Annual Weightlifting Tournament at the Lynn Camp High School and won the tournament by a decisive margin for the fourth consecutive year.

The Rockets took the championship by placing first in 8 of the 10 weight divisions in the 10 school field and walked away with 111 points which was 53 points over the second place finisher Lynn Camp.

The Rockets began their off season conditioning program November 20 of last year and will conclude their program May 16 for a two week break.

Tony Saylor, the Rockets head weightlifting coach, said that as a team they have increased their weight to an average of 60 pounds per man on the bench press and 94 pounds on their squats during the past 70 days. For example, if someone was benching 200 pounds when they started, they are now benching around 260 pounds.

Coach Saylor went on to say the team has shown a lot of heart and dedication over the past six months of weights and conditioning and with the efforts they have shown, our expectations are high for the coming 1990 football season.

Summer conditioning will start June 4 for the Rockets with the first official football practice beginning July 16. The Rockets hope that everyone will look forward to the upcoming season which will begin August 17 at Lynn Camp.

heavy weight class; Scottie Bullens, 5th place, 120 lb. class; Sherman Collins; 3rd place, 135 lb. class; Billy Todd, 2nd place, 160 lb. class; Mike Durham, 3rd place, 195 lb. class; Stacy Nicely, 5rd place, 215 lb. class and Darrell Sizemore, 2nd place, 235 lb. class.

Special awards went to eighth grader Greg Bowman of Roundstone for best Junior High Lifter in the 120 lb. class, eighth grader Sherman Collins of Brodhead for best Junior High Lifter in the 135 lb. class and Mike Spires for the top squat of 410 lbs. in the five lowest weight classes.

Rockcastle County's top lifter are John Saylor with a bench of 350 lbs. and a tie between Darrell Sizemore and Curtis Cotton for the top squat of 465 lbs.

These nine members of the Rockcastle County Track and Field Team have qualified well enough in the regional preliminaries to advance to the sectional finals this Saturday at UK. Pictured are from front left, Scotty Hines, Dane Cox, Kevin Rowe and Karla Bullock; back from left, Jay Brown, William Bullens, Billy Todd, Jeff Navarre and William Hellard.

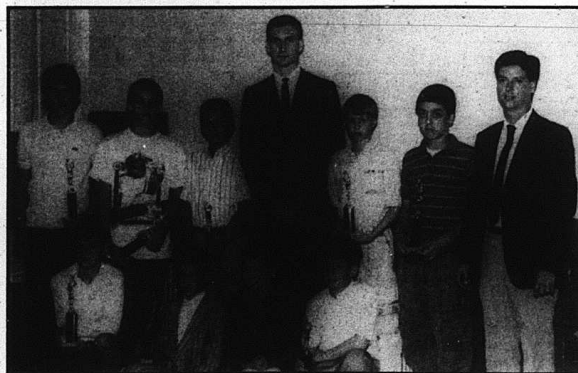

Disputants Farm picked up yet another win May 2 at River Downs in Cincinnati, when Miss Ann Elise captured the six-furlong seventh race. Kelly Wolf rode Miss Ann Elise to victory in a time of 1:13.2. Miss Ann Elise paid $7 to win, $3.80 to place and $2.80 to show. She is shown above with trainer Raymond Ginter, Jr. and groom Arthur Bishop.

In Memories

In Memory

Of our beloved Myrtle Middleton who passed away April 14, 1990. We would like to thank the Crab Orchard paramedics for their prompt arrival and efficiency. Also, the Martin Funeral Home for their thoughtfulness and consideration. We wish to extend our appreciation to pastor King and Rev. Virgil Brock for their comforting words. To Barbara Faulkner and her accompaniment for their beautiful singing and music. To the pallbearers, we thank you. Doug Smith, Bill Howard, Robert Wilson, Carl Brock and Bobbie Smith. We also thank the man people for their kindness extended to the family for their flowers, food and their help and your prayers.

God Bless all of you,
The family of Myrtle Middleton

In Memory of Pvt. Larry D. McKinney
May 16th
"Happy Birthday"

Larry, today you would've been 19, full of life and joy.

You may no longer be with us in body, but you're forever in the minds of your family and friends. Not a day goes by that I don't think of you.

I miss all the advice, laughs, and love. You were great, always the laugh of the party. But most of all, I miss your smiling face. I am so grateful for the 18 years I had with you.

At least you lived everyday to the fullest and made the best of it. You lived your dream of the Army and jumping out of planes. So few of us fulfill our dreams. Not only did family and friends lose a terrific loved one, but the Army lost the best soldier they'll ever see. I love you more than life itself.
Happy Birthday, Brother Love, Lissa

Soldier

In memory of Pvt. Larry McKinney on his 19th birthday, May 16.

It was that which others did not want to be I went where others feared to go, and did what others failed to do. I asked nothing from those who gave nothing, and reluctantly accepted the thought of eternal loneliness... should I fail.

I have seen the face of terror; felt the stinging cold of fear; and enjoyed the sweet taste of a moments love I have cried, pained and hoped... but most of all I have lived times others would say were best forgotten. At least someday I will be able to say I was proud of what I was, a soldier
George L. Skyepek

We miss you

Your child's health
 By: Dr. John Payne

Once again it is almost time for school to be out. Usually children bring home a report card stating they have been promoted to the next grade.

However, sometimes parents are called in and the teacher says Johnny or Susie should be held back a year. All too often parents get all upset, blame all the problems on the teacher, and demand the child be pushed ahead no matter what anyone says.

Usually the problem is not one of low intelligence, but one of lack of maturity. Teachers see many different children and can compare one with another better than a parent who sees only his children and perhaps a few relatives. Teachers usually can quickly spot a child who is not as mature as his peers, or who has other problems.

We Redshirt many young athletes to make them more mature and better able to compete on the playing field the next year. Why should we not do this also for children who can play the game of life so much better with a little more maturity?

Teachers may also notice other problems such as being hyperactive in the classroom or poor social adjustment better than parent. They don't make serious recommendations like keeping a child back a whole year without careful observation and special testing.

Children usually adjust to being held back much better than their parents. They may feel relieved to have less pressure. They may even be made to feel that it is an honor that the teacher wants to have the pleasure of his company for another year. Children who are held back and wind up as one of the oldest ones in their class do much better in leadership roles in later years. Being the first one to have to shave or get a drivers license rather than the last obviously carries some prestige. In summary, if your child should be asked to repeat kindergarten or an early school grade don't fight it; it is probably the best thing that could happen to your child. I have written on this subject every year for several years and almost always a teacher or parent calls to say "Amen."

Rockcastle County Schools

Kindergarten Registration and Screening will be held on Wednesday, May 23, 1990 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the high school.

This will be the last chance to register your child and have them screened before school starts in August.

Please bring your child in -- we need to make plans for transportation and staffing. Remember, your child must be five before October 1st in order to enroll this fall.

3 & 4 Year Old Screening will be held on Thursday, May 24, 1990 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the high school.

For more information, contact Tammy Gabbard at 256-2125

Important Notice for the Patients of Dr. Gutierrez

The medical records from my practice will not be available when I leave the Mt. Vernon area. If you will be seeing my replacement, Dr. Karen Saylor, or another physician, then you will need to get a copy of your chart.

Before May 31, you can get a copy of your chart by calling the office at 256-5176 or coming in person. There will be a charge of $5-10 (depending on the size of the chart) for copying.

REMEMBER MAY 31 IS THE LAST DAY TO GET THESE RECORDS

Jamie Cox to wed Christopher Cornelius
Mr. and Mrs. James H. Cox of Mt. Vernon, wish to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jamie Leigh, to Christopher Kenton Cornelius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Cornelius of Mt. Vernon. The wedding will be an event of June 9th, 1990 at 2:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Rockcastle DAR meets

The Rockcastle Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution met Tuesday, May 8, at the home of Mrs. Jeffrey Stephen Owens.
Second Vice Regent, Mrs. Stephen Owens, presided over the meeting. After the ritual, Mrs. Laura Durham gave the national defense report. Members were urged to promote new membership and plans were made for the following year. Mrs. Owens announced that the grave marking for Revolutionary War soldier, Barnabas Haley, has been scheduled for June 17 at 3 p.m. at the Scaffold Cane Cemetery.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Gary Cromer.

8th Annual Extension Homemakers' Show

The Quilt and Craft Show, May 10, 1990, at the Agriculture Service Center in Mt. Vernon, showed the new, old and odd articles.
The Homemaker's Open House was from 4 to 8 p.m. Virginia Hansel, a Quall homemaker, served the guests punch and cookies that her club prepared.
He also demonstrated how to make a pillow gush out of a coverlet from its insides. Neat! This is what I need for my afternoon naps.
The oldest of the twelve quilts displayed by Alta Bullock was well preserved. She belongs to Rise and Shine Club. A champion ribbon was on her prize quilt.

Staton - Bingham vows to be said

Renee C. Staton of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., daughter of Charles and Kathie Staton of Panama Canal Zone and Kevin Bingham of Berea, son of Darrel and Jerri Bingham of Tyner, will be married Friday, May 25 at 8:30 p.m. in a candlelight ceremony on the lawn at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, Hwy. 70, Brodhead. An open invitation is extended to all friends and relatives.

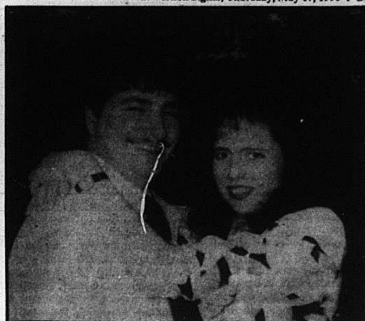

Craftsmen needed for craft event at Renfro in September

Kentucky Special Events, Inc., is looking for hand-crafted items for a regional craft festival in September. Participation in the first annual Renfro Valley Heritage Craft Festival, which will be held September 21, 22 and 23, is by invitation. Interested craftsmen may submit slides and resume, along with a stamped, self-addressed return envelope, to: Kentucky Special Events, P.O. Box 4065, Berea, Kentucky 40403.
Show sponsors are looking for crafts that have a Palachian heritage. Design may be traditional or contemporary. Crafts that have been passed down through family generations are of special interest to the sponsors.
The Renfro Valley Heritage Craft Festival will feature craftsmen from Kentucky and surrounding states. Kentucky Special Events, a professional crafts organization, is working with Renfro Valley to produce this first, annual Renfro Valley craft festival. The sponsors are very excited about the possibility of building a show with an education focus, tying today's art with traditional and historical heritage.

Construction of the site at Renfro Valley is underway, and plans are in place for a major crafts event. There will be craft demonstrations, musical entertainment, variety of foods, and ample parking for thousands of visitors. For more information, please call (606) 986-2258, 986-1583 or 986-4440.

News items should be in the Signal office no later than noon Tuesday.

Wynona Isaacs from Busy Bee Club, had a blue on a baby quilt she'd made, also one on Heritage Skills.
Other Busy Bees winning were Edith Lamb's decorated clothing; Vickie Tyler received a blue ribbon for a basket and Ann Tyler won champion on her over 20 years old quilt.
The Sunshine Club was represented by blue ribbons on Sandi Thomas' photography and soft sculpture and Debbie McQueen's needlepoint.
Two county-wide members were honored. Janita Norris received a blue on a painting and Charlene Gentry won a reserve champion on her fruit basket quilt.
When Nina Cash received "cash" for her over-all champion of crafts, she screamed, "You mean I get money for my cross-stitch?" She's a Brodhead Willing Worker homemaker.
Another Willing Worker homemaker, Loraine Newland, received a reserve champion ribbon on crafts with her swans crocheted in a multitude of crocheted stitches.
Elizabeth Mullins (yours truly) from Willing Workers Club won one blue of the three things she entered. It was for a Christmas decoration.
Another Willing Worker, Patsy Fletcher, won a champion over-all for her embroidered wall hanging. It was an original white cloth hanging with historical happenings of Kentucky embroidered in different colors scattered over it. Her grandmother's buttons were sewn here and there, to hold the quilted hanging together! She received a blue ribbon on "Teacher's Change Lives" embroidering the "Horse" written on cloth by her granddaughter, Patricia Alcorn.
I have to tell about her quilted, heritage checker board she displayed on a keg, even though she received a red ribbon on it. To me, it was the most odd craft entered.
I haven't heard who won the door prize. As everyone entered, we signed our name on a paper on a table covered by blue cloth with Cooperative Extension Service in white letters on it. Their logo design was on the tablecloth also.
It was refreshing to see at least one man viewing women's crafts during this successful quilt and craft show.

Dana Cash to wed Christopher Hurt

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cash of Brodhead wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Dana Mae, to Christopher E. Hurt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Hurt of Waynesburg. The wedding will take place at Providence Church of Christ at 6 p.m. on the 26th day of May. All relatives and friends are welcome to come. No invitations are being sent.

Jamie Ramsey celebrates 91st birthday

Jamie Ramsey of Adams St. Berea, Ky. celebrated her 91st birthday at her home on Saturday, April 7th. Hostess were Florence Croucher and Nancy Wilson.

Those attending were: Rev. David Grandgeorge and daughter Catherine; Jean Towery; Belle Huff; Burl Ramsey and Reese Puckett.

Cake and ice cream was served. Everyone enjoyed the occasion very much.

On Saturday, April 8th she was entertained at a luncheon at Renfro Valley Lodge by Jean Bonham of Cincinnati, Ohio; Patty Hatt, Earl and Bonnie Coffey and Norma Mullins of Mt. Vernon.

Sweet & Sour by Zi Graves

Hellos and Goodbyes

Celebrations for and with the living and a final farewell to a friend has taken up a lot of my time this past week.

Funerals and birthday celebrations are important activities in our lives and both must be attended to.

A couple of weeks ago I learned of the terminal illness of Walker Cummins. We both married in the Graves family some 50+ years ago and became in-laws and friends. Cancer, with its dirty, bloody blade has cut the whole Graves family into shreds. Walker, a Graves-in-law was its latest victim. Fifteen years ago it took Lola, his wife's life.

If one looks closely enough though, a rainbow can be found even through the veil of shadows. I saw bits and pieces of rainbows shining through tears when relatives met for the first time in years. After a few minutes of tribute to their lost one they began sharing joys of the present time. My own bright rainbow was when I was welcomed into four outstretched arms of the two remaining sons, Jim and Jerry. These two nephews and their families have always had a special place in my life. When I married Mat, his people became my people, and these two young men made me feel that I was truly their aunt. The grandchildren of Lola and Walker were also bits of the rainbow when they remembered me and warmly opened arms of love in their greeting.

Life does go on and family members drift back to the security of their homes and pleasant memories take the place of a loved one at his final rest.

Immediately following this sad occasion was one of much joy for me. I was invited to the home of Pauline and Ish to share in celebrating his 79th birthday. This was a celebration of life. Yep! they are back home from Arizona and this dinner was Pauline's way of saying "It's good to be home again" to her family that shared in the celebration.

Now that they are back I have someone in Rockcastle County that is blood kin. Of course I have Polly and Chad but I've always felt left out of the closeness of a blood relative, like a brother or sister to relate to. The rest of you folks have all kinds of blood ties. Whether that is always good might be questioned but you at least have the choice of which relative you want to associate with. You can claim when you need to talk about a problem and know they will understand and if they don't, at least it's a family member that will tell you so.

Ish and I were the middle children in a family of nine. Therefore we have always been very close. It was a backyard for me when I introduced him to my good friend Pauline. I never once dreamed she would be the reason for my brother settling in Rockcastle County. Thank you Pauline for being such a good friend and kind sister.

I have someone now I can reminisce with. Maybe about the many times we have been sent away from the table for getting the giggles. Dad believed strongly in the "eat, drink and be merry" motto and thought it was disrespectful to laugh and giggle while we were eating the food God had supplied us with. That's when we always got the giggles. He was a good dad and I do teach as right from wrong and how to respect God and His goodness to us. It took me many years to understand his teachings. Ish just seemed to absorb them.

He and I shared many of the ups and downs of a big family. We were the first to run errands for the older ones and the baby sitters for the younger ones. In looking back I'm sure we fussed as all siblings do but I don't remember it. All I remember is our good relationship and some of the things we shared.

Dad went to Ironton, Ohio to work when I was about five and not long afterward the rest of us followed.

Ish and I shared a seat on the train that took us there. That was a trip I'll never forget. The train took us out of the beautiful but backward hills of Carter County through Ashland and into Ohio. Then for hours we rocked and swayed over the clicking rails through the rolling county side of Ohio and on up to the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains. It was an over-night trip so Ish and I curled up like kittens on the same seat. At daybreak I was sleepily looking out the window at what I thought was miles of fog. A little later I realized it was fog hanging low over water. Then as the day really blossomed forth I saw it was a big stream -- That stream was the beautiful Ohio river. It was my first sight of it and the fascination I felt for it then still with me.

Another memory of it is one Ish didn't get to share in. He was always such a responsible little guy he usually had a job of some kind or other. I don't remember what his responsibility was the summer mom brought all the rest of us kids back to Kentucky to visit, just like all good Kentuckians do, but we came down the Ohio by boat. From East Liverpool, where the busy dock was, to Ashland. From there to Olive Hill mom loaded her brood on a train. There was six of us, a pretty big job for one woman to handle on a four day trip. Today it would be called a cruise and only the extremely wealthy could take six kids on it. That was the easiest and least expensive way to travel.

Many times I had sat on the river bank or been swimming in it when these beautiful big streamboats would be passing by. The Ohio River dam No. 8 was there and the boat would always blow their strange deep throated whistle three times for it. Then we chose to travel on was the, Marianne. A beautiful big white boat rocking in the water and its gang plank lowered securely to the what was boarded with at least one little girl so thrilled she could barely breathe. I was probably 9 at the time and this was truly a "fairy" boat to me. Not ferry boat. We were shown to our staterooms and staterooms were things I had read about but at that time in my life never dared dream about.

I know in my stateroom it had bunk beds and my younger brother, Herb, had the top bunk and the first night on board he fell out of it and broke his nose on something he hit. There was commotion of course and the doctor on board was called in. For the rest of the voyage down river you can bet your money he didn't hit his nose again. One day's bus ride and a patch on his nose for most of our two-week vacation. Maybe it was worth it to him though for he was petted by everyone after that.

I was so intrigued with the boat itself I didn't try to get acquainted with the other people on board. They all seemed to be rich folks anyway and I was such a shy little girl. I loved to sit in a deck chair and watch the water. Boats make me wonder since I had liked to swim in the river when the big boats would pass by. I now liked to watch them being made. Oh I loved to go to the bath room for it was in the very back of the boat and the window looked right out on the big, big paddle wheel. This big wheel dipping in the deep water and bringing it up constantly then letting it fall back into the water causing a heavy spray to be ever present just west side that window and I would set for a half hour at a time with my nose pressed against it. I'll bet people wondered what that little girl did in the bathroom so often and for such a long time.

I loved to watch the deck hands dive off the deck when we would enter a dam. The dams had to be entered through one small section and the water in that section either dried up or lowered to match the water on the other side of the dam. We were going down stream so ours always had to be lowered. And these young men stripped to the waist would dive in and do the work. Usually they would usually took about 15 to 30 minutes to go through each dam. We would see people on the banks watching the process and they would wave and call out messages to us.

More times we ate a treat too. There were too many of us kids for mom and dad to take to fancy places to eat and I had never eaten any where except our own house, grandmas or an aunt's house. And all these women cooks were doing the same things and although they were all excellent cooks and served their meals on nice white table clothes they did not compare with this huge long table down the center of the room. It was always ready for the next meal. And the white linens were so white and drooped so low on the sides it created a picture in my mind that has lasted all these years. I don't remember a single thing I ate but I do remember being served by a state all dressed in white.

We usually sat on the deck just out side our rooms and watched the shore lines each by. I wish I had known the history of the settling of this country as I know, if so, I may have looked for signs of Simon Kent and Columbus by the way.

There was a big wide deck on the prow all fitted with fancy big deck and lounge chairs. Being the naive little girl I was, I thought this was for rich folks only and never came near them but once or twice very quietly. Herb did though, and they petted him because of his broken nose and maybe he was cute too. He was never short on tongue exercises either so he probably talked his way right into their hearts.

Those four days drifting down the Ohio River have been etched with indelible ink in my heart. The rest of that visit was just that, it visit with grandmas etc. And until this day I don't remember how we went back to our home.

Now since I have a brother living here I'm sure there will be many more such memories, maybe not as pleasant, come to life as we reminisce about our common childhood.

Environmental Pollution

By: James Hines
9th grade

Environmental pollution refers to all the ways people pollute their surroundings. People pollute the air with fumes and smoke. We poison our own water with chemicals, and damage our soil with pesticides. The human race pollutes its surroundings in many ways. We ruin natural beauty by scattering junk and litter all over the land. We pollute our water with chemicals and trash. Humans operate cars and other machines that pollute the air with toxic fumes and disturbing noise, and everybody pollutes in some way.

I feel, pollution is one of the most serious problems facing humanity today. Air, water and soil are all harmed by the effects of pollution and the scary thing is all these things are needed and are necessary for the survival of all living things. Badly polluted air can cause illness and even death. Polluted water kills fish and other marine life. Sand pollution leaves us with less land for growing food. Pollution also brings ugliness and ruin to the natural beauty of our precious mother earth. Everyone wants to stop pollution. But this problem is as complicated as it is serious. That's why we need to work together to keep our country clean.

We need to stop the dumping, that's been going on in Rockcastle for so long. Some of our areas that were once wooded now look like landfills. A lot of the things we throw away or leave on roadsides can be recycled and used over and over again, instead of wasted. A lot of things can be recycled but only one percent of these things all of the world are recycled. I think people don't recycle because they think it won't make a difference. But if one or two of us would start to recycle, maybe others would too. We can make a difference if we just work together and maybe we can save this planet for future generations to enjoy. Maybe our only hope for survival is to work together and help clean up Rockcastle before it's too late! We all need to pitch in and do our part to keep Rockcastle beautiful.

Pollution Good/Bad?

By: Tanya Hammond
10th grade

Kentucky is known for both its horses and its bluegrass, but is not known for its litter and pollution. However if Kentuckians keep littering like they are now, people will not want to know what Kentucky is known for, because all they will see will be trash and garbage everywhere, including our communities in Rockcastle County.

Along with the rest of Kentucky, Rockcastle is a county that is full of garbage and trash. Everyone at one time or another has contributed to this problem. Regardless if it is just throwing a chewing gum wrapper out the window, it is still littering.

People in Rockcastle say they care about this problem, but when it comes down to it, where are these people when an area of the county needs cleaning up. I'm not saying these people are not sincere when they say this, I'm simply saying that all of the people in this county who do care, should pull together and start cleaning up this county, instead of sitting around and arguing about it. If we did clean up this county, we would see new factories, better publicity, and young people, especially the teenagers, would not be desiring to move and get away from Rockcastle, as much as they are now. Look at the Rockcastle River especially through the areas that are not inhabited by people. For that matter some of the small towns that the river flows through. You can see trash on the river banks, in the trees, and in the bottom of the river itself.

Just imagine what would happen if people dumped paint cans, etc. into or near the river where the communities get their water supply. The cans would give off dangerous and harmful chemicals that could cause various illnesses and if the chemicals are toxic enough, they could cause death.

So far no one has emptied these cans into the river, but they have dumped the cans on land. This causes a run-off, which is where rain helps to wash things off the land and into the river. It hasn't caused any problems on the land and near rivers and streams, it will begin to cause problems.

Water pollution is not the only form of pollution.

Air pollution is another type of pollution that we can help control.

The effects of air pollution is devastating. Take a look at the ozone layer, for instance. Because of all the air pollution coming from aerosol cans and factories, there is a big hole in our ozone layer. Many people don't realize that the ozone layer does for the earth. The ozone layer helps to filter out harmful ultra-violet rays, that could cause skin cancer and other forms of cancer, if a person was exposed to this ray too much. Luckily the ozone layer helps to protect us from these rays. Even here in Rockcastle, we can help prevent this problem. We can use pump spray instead of aerosol and maybe we can help solve the pollution problem that factories have.

Many people, especially in Rockcastle County believe that all of this filthiness and pollution isn't their fault. Well, if everyone says this, then how did our county get so dirty and nasty? Also how is our world getting destroyed by garbage so quickly? Well, the answer is simple. People everywhere, including Rockcastle Counties, throw things out windows, dump garbage over hillsides, and dump garbage in the lakes, streams, etc. Hopefully, since the people of Rockcastle County, have started caring about our county and have set up this committee to help clean up this county, maybe the rest of the world can care enough to help clean up their own communities also, and the communities that surround them. They can start by picking up a can here and a piece of paper there.

Then, just maybe, we will have a community worth living in.

By: Becky Harding
11th grade

The garbage problem in Rockcastle is terrible and increasing. As production of plastic, paper, glass and metal grow so do dumps, roadside litter, and polluted waters. Our forests are filled by acid rain, rusty cans, and stinking plastic. Our streams are unnatural colors and smell horrible. Beautiful countryside is being turned into car junkyards and paper grass covered with white plastic snow. Wild animals are choked, maimed, and diseased by trash with each succeeding generation weaker and even smaller.

The fast pace of today's modern world is showing up even in our county. Convenience foods, individual servings, and T.V. dinners are piling up along roadside ditches and down once beautiful valleys. Boxes of all types and sizes blow through meadows and are blown by scenic county lanes. Pepsi, Coke, and Budweiser all over our county, scattered everywhere. Burned-out appliances and old furniture shine and glow in the grass since Rockcastle does not have landfills.

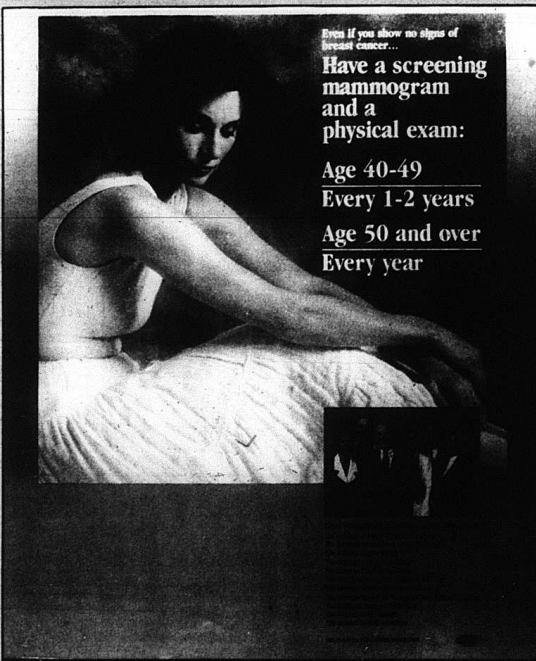

The litter problem is very serious and one that will take time and thought to solve. We need safer, cleaner ways of manufacturing to cut down on the emission of toxic wastes. These industries also need stricter checks to make sure they are not polluting our county. Some sort of public trash pick-up system is also needed. If trash were hauled off or we had someone to put it, we would not want to dump it somewhere else. A well-operated landfill would be a very useful in getting rid of bulky trash.

Mandatory recycling would be good too with a pick-up of some sort. (This would boost Rockcastle's economy too) then we could clean up our county of all the trash that has been dumped on it and in over the years. We could pay people a small salary to pick-up and clean up. Most importantly, we need to raise up enthusiasm to keep our county clean. An agency could be established by volunteers who would encourage fellow Rockcastle citizens to keep our county

Hey, Grads!

* Make the smart choices:

- Celebrate sober!
- Refuse to ride with a drinking driver!
- Buckle Up!

* Make your celebration the BEST EVER!

Members of the 1990 Senior Class:

As your Senior year draws to a close, I know each of you look at graduation differently. Each of you will have been successful in completing high school and will have accomplished a goal set twelve years ago.

To have attained that goal required a great deal of planning, setting goals and dedication to working toward those goals.

The whole period of youth is one essentially of formation, edification and instruction. You will have established your habits, hopes and faiths in this period of youth. The mistakes you made will be experiences you will need to correct. The positive experience will be those you need to build on for future life.

My hope is that each one of you will be able to make the right decisions in life that will enable you to accomplish your goals and thus become a contributing member of society.

As you go your separate ways, I would wish you much success in achieving the goals you have set in the world beyond the confines of Rockcastle County High School.

Good Luck!
