

Points East

By: Ike Adams

I like getting out in the rain and doing stuff when it's coming down in a good steady pour and there isn't a hint of wind to stir it or any lightning red close. I like the kind of rains that just set in around daylight in such a way that you know there ain't a chance of hanging out any clothes all day. I love to hunt squirrels or go fishing on days like that and just stay out in it. There is no better time - no better conditions under which weeding the garden is more pleasant.

If there's nothing else worth doing, it's nice to get out in the rain, walk around and just watch things. Butterflies will get under tulip poplar's leaves and hang upside down. Like to get up real close and study the detail colorings of their wings. And feel renewed assurance that God is very real. Nothing as beautiful as a butterfly, as precisely marked, as intricate, could have just evolved without a Master in control. And butterflies will put up with an awful lot of aggravation before they'll fly off into the rain. You can get right down and stare 'em in the eyes.

Sometimes when I'm looking for butterflies and frogs, I'll find tiny, pale green tree toads that simply look too delicate to touch, crouched under a piece of loose bark or up against the trunk beneath a limb. When they're wet they appear to be the work of a master sculptor of glass. In a single word, they're perfect. Absolutely as beautiful as it's possible to make a frog. I often find three or four when I don't have a camera with me.

Birds, particularly crows and blue jays, despise having to sit still during the rain. While most other birds will just hump up on a limb or hunker down deeper into a nest and hoot bored, a jaybird will scurry from side to side along a limb and make little squawks every time a particularly large drop hits it on the head. About every five minutes during a rain, a jay will glare up into the sky and squall like a school teacher who has just sat down on a thumb tack. Then every other jay within a mile will do the same thing all at once. Then they all settle back down to see which one can take it the longest until five minutes later you get the same thing again.

"Screech!!" and half a second later, "SCREECH!!!!!!HAREEEEEK!!!!!!" And then in the distance, "CAWWW CAWWWWWW CAW!" which is crow for "If you stupid jay birds don't shut up, I'm going come over there and turn you into pillow stuffing. Kick a few tails!!!"

Just watch some time when you know that a rain is about over. The first sign of life you'll hear will be the fury of a crow and blue jay fight somewhere in the distance.

Wildflowers have more color during or just after a rain. Dust and pollen get washed off and the colors become clean and vivid. Large drops of water will bead up on petals as if they had just been Stimulated. I've runned half a dozen expensive camera bodies taking pictures of wildflowers in the rain.

Once lived on a place where I had to put up a fight with those big red crawdads in order to have a garden. You could lose the garden down as smooth as a fast track at Keeneland and the next morning it would be like hogs had rooled in it all night. Big piles of red dirt and gray clay looking gook would be lying smack dab in the middle of the lettuce and onion beds as wet as the stuff that wasn't planted so tried.

I tried clorox on 'em first but it made no noticeable difference. Somebody else said carbide would get 'em and I put ten pounds down the holes. I saw the old gray crawdads but the carbide turns into mud to be heaped on top of the pile. Gas worked off a few of them, but I have had to have a tanker full to get 'em all.

Then one day I was out pulling weeds right in the middle of a hard rain when they started getting flooded out of their holes. Drove 'em in. I grabbed a hoe and became extremely violent. They're faster than lightning when they're getting down a hole. In fact I think they just turn loose and fall back to the bottom when you are able to get a glimpse of one. But they're slower than terriaps on top of the ground. I never let a one get away even though I tromped down over half of 'em I had growing.

Just left 'em lying in the garden. Picking up dead crawdads in the rain dirt seem like fun. I regret 'em. I were up most of that night because half a dozen stray cats all staked a claim on the crawdads. I threw firecrackers out among them two or three times, but they'd be right back to fighting by the time I got back in bed. But they cleaned up the crawdads and I never saw another mound of mud in the three years we lived there. When I started this piece over an hour ago, there was thunder in the east. It's to the west now and a steady shower has just commenced on Paint Lick. I'm going to get my flashlight, go outside and see if the night crawlers are stirring. I've been picking peas all evening. I need a good washing off.

and desserts. Be kind to your guests with yogurt versions of some of your favorite recipes-they'll appreciate the low calorie, low fat benefits.

General Principles

1. Plain yogurt is the most versatile product for cooking. Lemon and vanilla yogurt work well in fruit dishes, some salad dressings and desserts. Fruited yogurts are great in shakes and snacks to add richness with less fat and cholesterol.

2. Cook, bake or freeze yogurt, but remember the active cultures will not survive the heating or freezing process, although the good nutrition is retained.

3. Yogurt has a delicate gel structure, so gently stir or fold into other ingredients. To measure, spoon yogurt into a dry measuring cup and level off with a straight-edged spatula.

4. When yogurt is allowed to stand, a liquid called whey may separate out; simply stir it back in before using.

5. If heat must be applied, keep it low. High temperatures can cause separation, evaporation of liquid and a resulting curdled appearance. However, flavor and nutrition are not affected.

6. To help prevent yogurt from separating in cooked dishes, blend 1 tablespoon cornstarch with a small amount of yogurt, stir into remaining cup of yogurt and use in recipes according to directions.

7. For a streamlined base for soups, casseroles or cooked sauces, add 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour to each cup of plain yogurt.

8. To make plain yogurt thicker, empty a pint of yogurt into a strainer lined with a double thickness of cheesecloth or three layers of paper towel, and refrigerate for about two hours. Be sure to place a bowl beneath, but not touching the strainer to catch the whey that drains off.

Alternatives

1. Blend 1 teaspoon Kijon mustard with 1 cup plain yogurt, salt and pepper to taste and use instead of mayonnaise in tuna or chicken salad. Add herbs if desired.

2. Instead of using cream cheese or sour cream, blend 1/2 cup plain yogurt and 1/2 cup ricotta cheese as a base for dips.

3. Substitute plain yogurt for at least half the sour cream in many recipes without sacrificing taste or texture.

4. Use vanilla yogurt instead of milk in instant pudding mixes for a calcium rich, creamy dessert.

5. Exchange plain yogurt for sour cream in recipes like beef stroganoff or Swedish meatballs. Before adding, stir 2 tablespoons of all-purpose flour or 1 tablespoon cornstarch into each cup of yogurt needed.

6. Slenderize sandwich fillings with plain yogurt in place of mayonnaise.

7. Use plain yogurt instead of milk or cream in mashed potatoes and pasta dishes; top baked potatoes with a dollop of yogurt sprinkled with chives or bacon bits.

8. Replace the sour cream called for in many cakes with plain or vanilla yogurt. Add 1 teaspoon baking soda to dry ingredients with leavening called for in recipe.

9. Lighten up a tuna or chicken salad by mixing with yogurt instead of mayonnaise. Add a sprinkle of curry powder and a handful of raisins.

10. Use plain yogurt instead of sour cream in dips. Season with garlic, onion and herbs.

Farmers can 'ASK' for help on pest control decisions

From the UK College of Agriculture

Kentucky farmers can now ASK the county agricultural agent for help in deciding if or when to use pesticides to control crop pests.

ASK (Agricultural Expert Systems for Kentucky) is a computer program that relies on farmers to provide information on insect damage and weed populations, according to Harley Raney, an entomologist at the University of Kentucky. The insect and weed data is used as the basis for farmers' management decisions on when, and even if, to use pesticides.

"With ASK, farmers can use economic thresholds to decide about pesticide treatments," Raney said. "Basically, the economic threshold is the pest population density required before controls are used to keep pests from reaching a level that is economically damaging. In some instances, pesticide application costs might offset the benefit and the decision would be made not to use any treatment."

We will always miss your sweet smile, we will always love you so much.

ASK consists of seven pest control programs—alfalfa weevil, European corn borers, small grain insects, soybean insects, preplant and preplant incorporated soybean weeds, post-emergence soybean weeds and stored grain insects.

It has color graphics that farmers can use to identify insects.

"This system is first for Kentucky farmers," Raney said. "It puts another expert in county extension offices to assist agents in helping farmers make management decisions on pest control. Since some county agents have laptop computers, the program also can be taken to the individual farmers."

Raney said farmers must scout fields regularly to get the most out of ASK.

Farmers need information on pest populations, the crop's growth stage, aph extent of damage to determine when insect injury and weeds have reached an economically damaging threshold," he explained. "Then they can weigh the cost of damage against the cost of control and decide when, or even if, a pesticide treatment is needed."

Raney added that by scouting fields regularly farmers will have a head start on insect and weed problems. In some cases, farmers may be able to use lower rates of pesticides to solve the problems.

"ASK could help farmers eliminate unnecessary pesticide use appear orphaned or abandoned are not.

Fawns are particularly vulnerable to "rescue" during late spring and early summer, the time most Kentucky white-tails are born. Many times, people unfamiliar with deer habits assume a fawn alone in the woods needs help. Rarely is this the case. Does normally leave their offspring unattended for long periods while grazing or resting.

Fawns arrive in this world with some built-in protection provided by Mother Nature. Several elements, working in combination, help protect the offspring while the Mom's away. Reddish coats blend with earth's natural colors, while familiar white spots simulate sunlight on the forest floor. This coloration, along with fawn's lack of scent and the ability to be motionless, helps keep very young white-tails safe from predators.

If you happen upon a fawn in a Kentucky woodland—don't touch. Only the doe can detect her offspring, and your human scent may cause the doe to reject her young, leading to true abandonment. If this happens, the fawn will probably die from starvation and neglect.

Remember, it's illegal to capture wildlife by any method during a closed season.

and get the most benefit out of those pesticides they do use," he said. "Higher yields could offset application costs, lowering their overall production costs. These savings could be passed along to consumers."

Entomologists and weed scientists in the UK College of Agriculture have developed ASK during the past three years. It began as a pilot project in six counties in 1989. A revised program is available in 36 extension offices in central and western counties where most field crops are raised.

"This is only a start," Raney said. "We will continue to build on and improve ASK. But it is only as good as the information farmers provide. That's why it is vital for farmers to scout fields regularly to provide accurate information on which pesticide use decisions can be made."

ASK could be adapted to pesticide use in ornamentals, turf and home gardens, he added.

Presently, ASK is available in the following counties: Boyle, Bracken, Butler, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Carroll, Clark, Cumberland, Fayette, Fulton, Gallatin, Graves, Harrison, Hart, Henderson, Henry, Hickman, Hopkins, Logan, Lyon, McCracken, McLean, Montgomery, Muhlenberg, Nicholas, Ohio, Rockcastle, Russell, Shelby, Simpson, Taylor, Todd, Trimble, Union and Webster.

Tax increase begins Sunday

By: Ray McClure

Come Sunday, Kentuckians will be paying more taxes.

The 5 cent sales tax increases to 6 cents, and although a penny does not sound like much, it can be much with the purchase of large items.

For example, a $10,000 car, or other large purchase, at the present 5 cent rate on the dollar, has a tax of $500. The new 6-cents will add another $100 for a total of $600. On a $20,000 car, or other purchase, the total would be $1,200 instead of the present $1,000.

The increase is the result of state legislative and administrative action to upgrade the state's schools.

In the area of property taxes, local officials do not see much, if any, increase. Property taxes for counties and cities can only be increased by four percent.

County fiscal courts, city councils and commissions, as well as special taxing units and districts such as health, library and agriculture set their tax rates, usually in July. At the present time, there is no indication if any of these local groups plan a raise.

Said one official, "It's a little early and I don't think anyone knows for sure what is going to happen."

If there is a tax increase locally, it could be in school taxes. However, the Rockcastle Board of Education and Superintendent Bige Towery Jr., have not decided on what steps the school will take.

Under the new taxing formula, the schools could up the tax rate to 35 cents per $100 evaluation. Five cents of the 35 cents must be set aside for long range projects such as a building fund.

The present school tax rate locally is 29.9 cents on the $100. So, that rate could go to 35 cents if the board should decide it would be needed. The tangible property rate is 11.2 cents on the $100.

Superintendent Towery said the students in the near future to prepare for the years to come.

"We will have to consider long range budgets and our building program to make sure we can meet future state requirements," for additional funding. He added that any increase locally will likely be at least up to the 35 cents.

The school board and school officials will be attending workshops and discussions in the days to come to determine the course of action that will be taken.

Last, but not least, the biggest increase in taxes will be in the individual state income tax. No percentage figure is workable, but eliminated are such tax credits as sales tax, the federal income, tax reduction, interest, IRAs, and a change in capital gains from 40 percent to 100 percent.

One resident summed up the tax situation with: "You'll just have to wait until all these tax bills come rolling in to really know what all this is going to cost you, and good luck."

County looks at ways to save more money

How to save the county money was on the mind of County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins at a meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Friday.

Is the county paying too much for services, for maintenance, operations and supplies was the question?

To get an answer, Judge Mullins parceled out various departments to the five magistrates to answer the question and perhaps find a solution, if one is needed.

Magistrate Jack Bradley will look into maintenance at the courthouse, including janitorial supplies.

Magistrate Amos Burdette was given the job of maintenance and depreciation schedule in the County Road Department.

Also in the Road Department, Magistrate Donald Bullock will take a look at supplies, including parts and tires.

Magistrate Charles Holbrook will check on operations at the Brodhead fairgrounds.

Magistrate Clinton Brown will take a look at all purchasing practices in the county.

Judge Mullins said this is not an investigation of departments, only to see if some money can be saved.

Old Joe Clark Festival, July 5

The sixth annual Old Joe Clark Bluegrass Festival will get under way July 5 through 7 at Renfro Valley.

Performers include the Lewis Family, Jim and Jesse, John Hartford, Wildwood Girls, Raymond Fairchild and the Crowe Brothers, Bill Sky Family, Nashville Bluegrass Band and Old Joe Clark and Terry, and others.

The various performers will alternate appearances during the three days. The Lewis Family will appear on Saturday.

Thursday's showtime will be from 3 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, noon to 11:30 p.m. One-day gate price is $12.

Two indicted by Grand Jury

Two Rockcastle County men were recently indicted by a local grand jury.

Doug Shields, 20, of Mt. Vernon was indicted for a May 12th burglary at Ed Rigby's home in Orlando.

The case was continued until July 13th in Circuit Court. Shields is free on bond.

Steele Scaf Jr., was indicted for giving a bad check to Food Fair. He is free on bond.

Roads will benefit

$700,000 bond issue finalized

By: Ray McClure

A $700,000 revenue bond issue to improve roads in Rockcastle was purchased by Rose, Sinclair & Associates of Lexington at a meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Friday.

The interest rate on the bonds will be 7.75 percent over 12 years with most of the money coming from annual road money supplied by the state. It usually is in the $500,000 to $600,000 range.

The bond issue is made through a Public Properties Corporation, a non-profit, no-stock public corporation with the principal purpose of acting as an agent and instrumentality of the county in the planning, promotion, development, financing and acquisition by the corporation for public improvements and public projects in the county.

Money from the bond issue will be used as follows: Deposit to construction fund, $600,000; debt service, reserve, $70,000; underwriter's discount, $14,000; cost of issuance, $14,000 and contingency fund, $2,000.

The $700,000 bond issue, which matures Sept. 1, 2002, has a projected interest of $420,875 over the 12 years, or a principal and interest of $1,120,875. With less principal and interest earned of $142,392 the project net payment will be $978,483.

The county would have enough money to pay about $129,000 annually in debt service, according to the Kentucky Department of Local Government.

No roads have been named for repairs or reconstruction.

Based on current market prices, the county expects to be able to improve or reconstruct 60 miles of roads from the bond issue money. There are 324 miles of county maintained roads in Rockcastle.

The roads probably seeing the most work will be those where annual maintenance has become prohibitive, or where the section of road needs continued repair year in and year out.

The county intends to use the entire amount, less accrued interest and cost of issuance, to pay for preparing the road base, constructing and reconstructing proper drainage for the road, chip and sealing, laying bituminous base and service mix.

Bids will be advertised for work on the roads.

In other business, the court raised the pay of commodity workers from $25 to $30.80 to meet the new minimum wage. The three county employees work one day each quarter.

The court rethired Lillie Lawhorn to be county treasurer for four years. Mrs. Lawhorn has been treasurer for two years succeeding the late Floyd Owens.

Upon the resignation of Roy Brown from the Rockcastle Library Board, Donald Thompson of Willalla was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Renamed to the five member board was Martha Eversole of Livingston, whose term had expired.

Other court members are Gatliff Craig, who is president, Pam Chaliff of Mt. Vernon and Carol Bryan, also of Mt. Vernon.

The court voted to purchase a used two-ton, GMC side wrecker to be used by the County Road Department. The wrecker will be purchased from David Thompson for $2,800.

Two bridges were added to the other eight previously designated for reconstruction by the state through the Cooperative County Bridge Replacement Program.

The added bridges are over Slaley Branch on Slaley Branch Road, and on Robert Miller Road over the upper end of Skegg Creek. Both are 20 feet long.

Signal Office will close at Noon July 3rd - and all day July 4th

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
I am writing this letter to thank all the wonderful families of the past and in particular the fifteen this year who hosted EF students in this area. Because of such great support from all the families, these students succeeded in their high school year in America. They enjoyed their stay so much that they now call Kentucky their "second home" and refer to this year of exchange as the best experience of their lives.

The United States Information Agency is imposing more stringent regulations on all exchange programs this coming year. For EF to issue a 1-1 visa to a student, a host family's home address must be identified. Because families have often in the past waited till July to begin the process of selecting a student, I'm writing to urge families to contact me now since EF has about 2,000 students nationwide to place with host families by July 1.

In addition to EF students coming here for ten months, thirty-seven French teenagers from Bordeaux (ages 15 to 20 but mostly 16, 17 and 18) will be arriving August 1 for a three-and-a-half week homestay to experience American English culture, and family life. Because of the hospitality Kentucky families have extended during the last three Augusts, twice the usual number of students have requested a Kentucky homestay. Each hosting family will receive $100 from the program to help with entertainment costs. The students will arrive at Bluegrass Airport about 10:30 PM August 1 and will depart about 8:30 AM August 26.

Please call me at 623-6769 for further information.

Joy Allameh

To the editor,
Pardon me, but I couldn't contain myself this time.

Nearly two weeks ago, my husband and I had lunch at The Lodge Restaurant in Renfro Valley. It's a rare day we get to lunch together, and since we were in the same town together for a change, he and I went out.

I always thought the restaurant had a reputation as being a good "sit down" restaurant. We weren't hungry and with high expectations. The service was great and couldn't be any better.

Then came time to order. I wanted something light on this hot, humid day, so decided to order from the children's menu. They were told that certain menu was for children 12 and under; I protested. I asked to speak with the manager. He said it was their policy for people 13 and older not to order from that menu.

Yes, so where on the entire menu did it state it was strictly for children. Besides, what I wanted didn't come in an "adult" plate.

My husband has spoken with a couple of lawyers and so have I. They told us we would have a valid trial in court case if we decided to push the matter -- which we didn't. I don't see why I can order from the children's menu at McDonald's and other places, but not at The Lodge.

I've been telling people that if they ever go to Renfro Valley, to go to the Snack Shack downtown -- we decided at least they give you what you ask for.

I think The Lodge's policy sinks. This is one restaurant which will never see my face again.

Mark Dillon
Woodbine, Ky.
P.S. I'm sending a copy of this letter to the Lexington Herald-Leader. People need to be "warned" about places like The Lodge so they won't be wasting their good money!

Dear Editor,
It's rather a question to me as to whose responsibility it is to make a delicate decision about Dr. Jack Kevorkin's machine intended to aid the person who is in severe pain to help them to put an end to their lives. I feel it was out of great sympathy that he invented such an instrument. Some believe it was out of fame and fortune plus a bit of sadness for the patient. We should not judge him.

I know that if I had a family member who was in a comatose condition, I never could give permission to put them to death. If they are not suffering more than just being asleep, I would keep them alive as long as I possibly could handle the situation. As far as we know, death is a permanent situation. Since I was old enough to be rational, I've known our nation to be said to be a Christian, charitable Country. It has to be based on the Holy Bible. Then we see where God says "Thou shalt not kill." This means what it says. It is God's prerogative to take us when he is ready for us. The problem is our state of emotions; we should pray more or some of us could do things for the sake of money.

I certainly believe we should all ask God to take over the job and do his will accordingly.

Dr. Jack Kevorkin, put your little toy away and get on with the job. Don't you believe that our creator still "Runs the Show"?

If Satan is in charge, tell him to go fly a kite.
I thank you and remain as ever,

Dear Editor,
I am the news editor of The Times-Argus newspaper.

I am trying to locate relatives of a William A. Dean, who was cashier of the National Bank of Wallins Creek, Ky., about 12 miles from Harlan.

I have been told that Mr. Dean moved to Mt. Vernon. Are there any Deans still living in Mt. Vernon? Perhaps a check of the phone book would reveal this info.

Please be assured of my deep appreciation for any help you can offer me.

It is scary to think that a candidate like Martha Wilkinson can raise over a million dollars in one night.

But, then again, she has everything in her favor to do just that. Her husband is the commander-in-chief with the state's employees at his disposal and he still has his political machine intact from his race three years ago.

Could you believe a possible four more years of "Wally World"? Or this time, "Mrs. Wally World"?

Or could the state afford it either. If the electorate of this state, doesn't sit down and ask themselves, can't we do better than we did last time, we will have another Wilkinson in the Governor's mansion.

That, my dear taxpayers, may be the camel that broke the working man or woman's back.

When Martha's husband ran four years ago, he pushed hard for a state lottery, so you wouldn't have to pay any more taxes to run state government.

Once in office, he worked hard to get the lottery passed. To get the needed votes in the General Assembly, Wilkinson promised that the lottery would keep lawmakers from having to raise taxes for new state programs.

Unless you've been in outer space this year, you know that all of those promises were broken.

Wilkinson and lawmakers hit Kentucky with the biggest tax increase in modern history. A tax increase so big that it will cost every man, woman and child an additional $350 in taxes. When you consider that many Kentuckians pay no taxes, it is obvious that the working class people of this state are going to bear the brunt.

Sure, new money had to be raised for the education reform, but Wilkinson and lawmakers used education as an excuse to raise twice as much money as they needed, so they could spend money on their pet projects. Actually it was a way to rob the taxpayer with very little being said, because everyone is for better education.

The really scary thing about Martha's candidacy is that she has a chance to win, probably a very good chance, because her political machine is still intact. And who knows, a few more state leaves here and there and she might move from Kentucky's first lady to Kentucky's Governor with relative ease.

That my friends would be something this state could ill afford.

On the subject of education, the seventh and eighth graders to have to travel to Mt. Vernon to school. They wanted them to stay in their respective grade schools and so the subject was dropped.

But, this time around, the board may not have any choice. They may have to build a middle school to stay in good graces with the state and when you think about it is the only logical decision.

A middle school would allow local educators to provide more specialty programs for students than they are now able to offer.

Subjects like foreign language, art and a more comprehensive music program could be taught and it could do nothing but help athletics.

And when you think about it, it would help the youngsters left at the grade schools.

There would be less and less distractions and it would be much easier for teachers to get the needed instruction time they are too often cheated of now.

People have to consider what is best for their children and a middle school is the best idea, by far.

Walls come tumblin' down

A worker for Brancum Construction Co. was busy Monday working from the top down on the old Mt. Vernon Elementary School, built in 1928. The school is scheduled for demolition by July 16 and open house at the new school is reportedly scheduled for some time in August.

Brady Ray Durham celebrated his 8th birthday on June 20th at his home. He is the son of Patricia Durham of Mt. Vernon and Brady Durham of Livingston. Thanks to everyone who came and for the nice gifts. Paternal grandparents are Naoma and the late Conley Durham and maternal grandparents are Marie and Ernest Hensley.

Two area young people escaped injury about midnight June 19 on Rose Hill Road when the vehicle they were in swerved to avoid an on-coming truck without headlights and plunged into Lake Linville. Driver of the vehicle owned by Diane Brown of Rt. 5, Mt. Vernon, was Steven Dixon of Mt. Vernon. His passenger was Debra Bowman, also of the Mt. Vernon area. City Policeman Eddie Delaney investigated the accident. The submerged vehicle was pulled from the lake the following day after Ernie Boggs, former state trooper, dived into the lake to hook a line to the vehicle.

Circuit Clerk and deputies attend summer conference

Rockcastle Circuit Clerk Denver Miller and Deputy Clerks Teresa Lunsford, Pat Brown, Teresa Vanzant and Kim Hoyer attended the 1990 Circuit Clerks' Summer Conference at Louisville's Executive West Hotel, June 13-15.

A major portion of the conference was devoted to a review of legislation passed by the 1990 General Assembly and the subsequent effect on clerks' duties. Since one of the primary functions of the circuit clerk's office is issuing driver licenses, legislation revoking driver licenses of high school drop outs will have a direct impact on that function, as will legislation which allows persons who see with the use of a bioptic telescope to apply for an operator's license. New legislation now requires circuit clerks to maintain a schedule of community service projects which may be used by judges as sentencing alternatives to imprisonment. New child support legislation, along with over 100 other bills passed during the last session, will have an effect on the administration of justice in Kentucky.

Your Social Security Beware of direct mail solicitations

By Gerry Hunt
Social Security Manager-Richmond

Many people in the Richmond area have reported to me that they have received solicitations in the mail that offer to do many things -- provide information about the Social Security death benefit, obtain a Social Security number for an infant, help a new bride change her name in Social Security records, to name a few.

Other Winners

Placing first in the 6-month to 18-month-old category was Laynah Kay Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Vance of Mt. Vernon and Drew Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Davidson of Berea.

Melanie E. Bullock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bullock of Pulaski County and Herman J. Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Carpenter of Livingston placed first in the 19-months to 3-year-old division in the Brock Studio Tiny Tot Contest.

All of them have one thing in common--they all ask money to perform the same services provided free by Social Security. Please read these solicitations very carefully and if you have any questions about them, call us. Usually we can give you the information you need over the telephone, and it won't cost you anything.

Use our toll-free telephone number -- 1-800-234-SSA (1-800-234-5772). You can get the best service if you call between 7 and 9 a.m. or 5 and 7 p.m.

If you use one of these firms to get a Social Security number for your child or to change your name in our records, the best thing that could happen is that the process will be delayed. At the worst, you could lose your money and have nothing in return.

These firms cannot get a number for you. All they do is send you an application for a Social Security number card, tell you to fill it out, and mail it to the Social Security office serving you. You can do this yourself and save money by just (Cont. to A12)

WEDDINGS CHANGE, BUT NOT THE RULES FOR A GOOD MARRIAGE

The traditional wedding ceremony where the bride walks down the aisle of the church in her beautiful white gown isn't always performed these days. Today's weddings may take place in a plane, or on water skis, or the couple may embark on the sea of matrimony aboard a yacht. In any case, however, though the customs may change, the problems that arise after the wedding are as timeless as marriage itself. Differences of opinion can escalate into major battles. The solution is for the couple to resume the good manners and willingness to compromise that they displayed during the courtship. If necessary, they should seek outside help, from the clergyman at their House of Worship and by attending the services. Whether or not the marriage began there, it could still be the best place to save it.

Too much rain can cause problems with tobacco now and later calling us. You will get your number card about 2 weeks after you send us your application and supporting evidence.

Rain-induced delays in setting out tobacco transplants may bring some disease problems and cause slower plant development and irregular stands, according to a University of Kentucky agronomist.

The aim of those firms who want to give you "free" information about the Social Security benefits is to sell you insurance, or perhaps to build a list of prospects they can sell to an insurance company. So, unless you really want and need additional insurance, just toss this junk mail in your wastebasket. You can get any information you want about Social Security benefits by just calling us.

Some other firms offer to get you a free "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement" if only you buy their product, a book or newsletter for example. You can get your own free "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement" by just calling Social Security and asking. There is no other obligation. And the book being offered, well I have never seen one that contained any information that was not available free from Social Security. We have a variety of publications that explain all aspects of Social Security. They are free for the asking.

We are concerned that you may needlessly pay for services that the Social Security Administration provides free, and that these businesses promote their services by fostering a false impression that either Social Security will not provide these services or it is difficult for the public to obtain them.

Remember, our services are free. So, just toss those direct mail solicitations in the trash. Our services are just as close as your telephone. Give us a call on 1-800-234-55A. (1-800-234-5772).

Statewide, about 30 percent of the burley crop will be planted later than normal," said Gary Palmer, an Extension specialist with the UK College of Agriculture. "The later planting is concentrated in some areas, especially in northern Kentucky, because of a combination of rainfall and heavier clay soils that didn't drain in time for farmers to get transplants in the field."

The biggest consequence of late planting, Palmer said, is heavy damage from the aphid-transmitted tobacco virus complex (TVC) introduced as early as late June or early July.

"By transplanting later than normal, the plants will be smaller during this time (late June through early July) and there will be more time for the virus diseases to develop in the crop," he said. "Viruses are the most severe tobacco disease. A severe outbreak can cause yield losses of up to 600 to 800 pounds per acre."

If a farmer knows he is going to be late getting some or all of the crop in, he might want to choose a variety, such as TN 86, that is resistant to TVC, Palmer said. Varieties that are not resistant to black shank tend to be less susceptible to TVC. Therefore, it is important to be sure black shank is not a problem before choosing this alternative.

Another problem caused by the later planting is slower and irregular recovery from transplant stress, according to Palmer.

"Because planting was delayed, we're seeing bigger transplants go into the field," he explained. "These larger transplants take longer to recover from stress. The recovery also can be irregular, meaning a grower will have an irregular crop throughout the season."

Growers can alleviate this problem by mowing transplants, according to Palmer.

"Mowing will give you more uniform transplants going into the field," he said. "If you see that you're going to be delayed getting transplants in the field, start clipping early.

"Mowing should be a regular part of the management plan, not just a rescue effort."

The risk of frost damage is another consequence of late planted tobacco, according to Palmer. "Growers need to organize their work, especially getting tops on time," he said. A good rule of thumb is to start topping when 25 to 50 percent of the plants have only one flower blooming.

Growers who planted a late maturing variety, such as TN 86, should begin to top as soon as buds start showing well, according to Palmer. This will make plants mature earlier than normal and reduce the likelihood of frost damage.

"Topping on time gives you more flexibility on when to harvest, reduces sucker control problems and can reduce the severity of virus disease outbreaks," he said. "Topping also improves color, which is an important quality standard in the marketplace."

Palmer added that the divergence in crop planting times means that custom applicators should take special precautions.

"Custom applicators need to be sure to clean sprayers very well between spraying insecticides and sucker control," he said. "Even a very small amount of maleic hydrazide (MH) can cause elongated leaves, frencing or chemical topping."

Tobacco production cost rise

Production costs for the 1990 burley crop have changed from last year, with hired harvest labor costs increasing as much as 20 percent or more in some areas.

Fertilizer, chemicals, and marketing expenses are slightly higher this year, according to the University of Kentucky burley tobacco budget for 1990.

"Growers can expect their total operating costs (which excludes fixed costs) to be around 90 cents per pound this year based on a 2,500 pound yield," said Will Snell, Extension agricultural economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

According to U.S. Department of Agriculture planning intentions, more tobacco is expected to be grown this year than last year.

"Kentucky burley growers are expected to plant 8 percent more acreage for 1990," Snell said. "With an average yield, burley production will exceed 400 million pounds compared to slightly less than 350 million pounds in 1989." Last year the value of Kentucky burley production totaled $83 million dollars, and it is estimated that the value of the 1990 burley tobacco crop will total roughly 700 million dollars.

The difference in value can be attributed to below average yield for the 1989 growing season, and higher quotas for 1990.

Last year Kentucky burley growers produced only 85 percent of their quota, and national underproduction of burley quota will most likely continue this year, perhaps by 20 to 25 percent.

On the recommendation of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-op Association, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has widened the distribution of burley price supports to encourage the marketing of higher quality tobacco.

"Support prices for several low quality grades were reduced by more than 10 cents per pound, while some of the higher quality grades were increased above $1.70 per pound," Snell said.

The top price support for 1990 is $1.77 per pound for a B1FR. The average price support for 1990 is $1.558, which is 2.6 cents higher than last year.

"With higher price supports and the continued high demand for U.S. burley, growers can expect burley prices to exceed $1.70 per pound in 1990," Snell said.

Sheriff makes arrests works auto accidents

When sheriff deputies checked a car belonging to Randy VanArsdale of Indiana on I-75 at Renfro Valley Friday they found more than they expected.

Van Arsdale had two knives, a sword and a pistol, according to records at the office of Sheriff Shirley Smith.

His passenger, Donald Bryant, also of Indiana, was arrested for alcohol intoxication.

Madilen Trask of Indianapolis, Ind., lost more than her car in a fire on June 20 on I-75 north of Conway, according to deputies. She lost about $600 in money, which burned.

Mt. Vernon Volunteer firemen answered the call, but the 1977 Mercury was a total loss.

Sharon Marlow of Mt. Vernon was taken to Rockcastle Hospital with fractures and transferred to University of Kentucky Medical Center after her car went out of control on U.S. 150 at the junction of Ky. 1250 south

William Fisher of Georgia escaped injury June 18 when his car struck a guardrail north of Renfro Valley.

There were no injuries when a CSX Railroad truck driven by Albert Morris of Crestview came off I-75 at the Renfro Valley exit and struck a van belonging to Gerald Klinker of Georgetown.

Sheriff Smith reported a warrant was served on Larry Sizemore who walked away from the county jail last week. He was apprehended a short time later by London police.

A warrant was also served on William Renner of Pine Hill for failure to appear in District Court to answer for failure to pay about $500 in fines.

High school football team in summer passing league

Dates Set for Youth Football Camp

The Rockcastle County High School football team will participate in a summer passing league for the first time this year.

The league, which has only been around for about three years in Kentucky, will bid a quarterback and his backfield against a defensive secondary.

Since there are no linemen and no rushing, the quarterback will be allotted four seconds to throw and advance the ball up the field.

Rockets head football coach, Tom Larkey, presently has the field open on Monday and Wednesday from 4-7 p.m. for the passing game practices. The weight room is also open and available for lifting during the same time.

Larkey said the workouts are on a voluntary basis but that he would like to urge all backs and receivers from the ninth grade up to attend the passing game portion.

The league dates are July 3, 5, 10, 12 with two games being played on each date for a total of eight games. Playing in the league with Rockcastle will be Pulaski County, McCrory Central and Wayne County, who will host all the games.

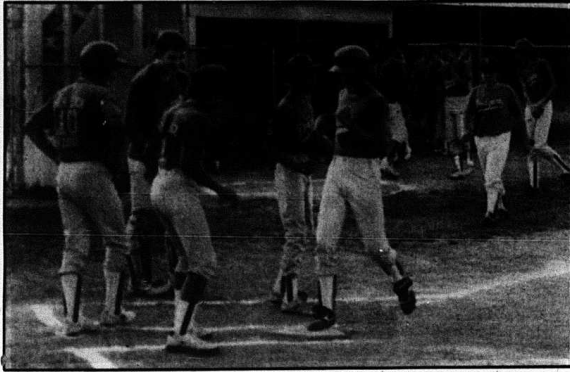

Also on the agenda this summer is the Rockcastle County Youth Football Camp which will be held July 2, 4, 9 and 11th from 6 to 8 p.m. at RCHS.

Anyone eligible to play little league football this fall may attend at no charge and will receive a Rockcastle County Youth League Football shirt if they attend for two days. Coach Larkey also announced that the physicals for the upcoming 1990 football season for the Rockets will be given by Dr. James Michael Ray of the UK Sports Medicine Clinic.

Larkey said that a bus will depart from RCHS Saturday July 7 at 10 a.m. and that all boys who plan to play football should be there to receive their physical at no charge. Anyone missing will have to pay for their own.

Coach Larkey also announced that the official practices will open Monday July 16 at 6 p.m. at RCHS for the varsity Rockets and Monday July 30 at 6 p.m. for the freshmen.

Larkey said the first few weeks will be mostly conditioning drills with little contact and that freshmen are welcome to attend the varsity practices.

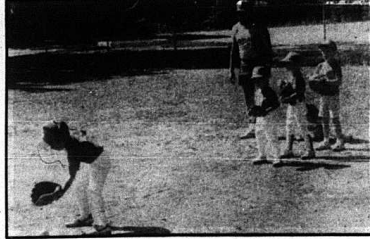

Teammates wait to congratulate Mikheal Shaffer after he hit a lead-off homerun for the Dodgers over the rightfield fence against the Braves in Tuesday night's first round action of the Senior League tournament at Brodhead. The Dodgers edged out the Braves 7 to 6 to advance in the tourney.

Larry Carter, left, and Russell Hines, went on a recent bowhunting trip for black bear to Blind River, Ontario. While there, Larry killed a 200 lb. sow and Russell killed a 300 lb. bore. They were flown about 15 miles back in the bush where they were on their own for one week. Carter said the hunt was a big success and described it as the hunt of a lifetime.

Reds catcher Jason Northern could only sit and watch as Jamie Pezrey crosses homeplate after he hit a homerun for the Twins in Tuesday's Major League tournament at Brodhead. The Twins won the game by a score of 21-11.

Even Hot Rods need "warming up" and that's how the practice sessions begin each Saturday morning at Brodhead. In the above photo, Aaron Cash fields a grounder from coach Doug Proctor while Ricky D. Busell, Blake Roberts and Aaron Anderkin wait their turn. Rick Busell, who assists in the session, looks on.

In the Major League Tourney it was the number two seed Cardinals who snatched a come-from-behind win over the seventh seed Pirates, 21-16, Monday night.

Let the Fireworks Begin!

The world marvels at the march of liberty across the formerly Communist world.

But this Fourth of July, America can take special pride that liberty drove tyranny from our shores more than two centuries ago.

Our nation, unique in the world, is based not on common heritage, because we come from all the world's countries. Rather, America is founded on the idea "that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." This one powerful idea motivated men to take up arms and fight the mighty armies of King George III, so America could build her own government to defend the rights of the people on her lands.

While we were at war, our Founding Fathers set for our nation an unprecedented course. They borrowed from ideas as old as civilization itself, and gathered them in a grand experiment to create a nation where strength lay not in the government, but in a liberated people.

Even from before our nation's "official" birth on July 4, 1776, people from all over the world have come to America to dream and achieve their dreams, because America stands for liberty and freedom.

In America, a person can start with an idea, and become a millionaire with ingenuity as his only asset. Even when times are tough, people immigrate to America from abroad because life is invariably better here than over there.

Furthermore, in America, people are free to work at any job, and are just as free to enjoy the fruits of their work. In America, people can speak openly, write freely and find their own audience, without fearing retribution from the government. In America, people can worship God as they wish, without persecution, and without fear for their lives.

Few nations can boast of such freedoms for its people. We in America can and should boast, particularly on the Fourth of July when we celebrate more than two glorious centuries of liberty.

Remember, though, that our freedom has come at a price. Our Founding Fathers, and our men in the military both here and abroad in dozens of battles and wars were willing to sacrifice their lives for the liberty we enjoy on our nation's 214th birthday.

At the same time, the liberty they sacrificed for is worth celebrating!

Take time on the Fourth to gather with your friends, family, and neighbors. Wave your flag, sing "God Bless America," grill some hot dogs, and unpack the ice-cream maker with the old hand-crank.

On our nation's birthday, let the fireworks begin!

County Correspondents

Around Brodhead

By: Mary McWhorter

Maie Doan and I visited Mrs. Maymie Long and Jessie Ping and wife, Lore Burton Ping at the Rockcastle County Hospital Sunday afternoon. Other visitors of Mrs. Long were Vernon and Mae Taylor, Walter and Dorene Barker, Randy Taylor and wife Claudia and their three children, Scotty, Tommy and Tonya.

Sunday visitors of Elva Mayberry were Mrs. Ruth Bond and daughter Diana, Randy Taylor and wife Claudia and children, Scotty, Tommy and Tonya of Ohio.

Mrs. Ronnie Singleton of Louisville spent Monday night with me enroute to Albany, Kentucky on business.

Bob and Marie Cromer of Somerset were Sunday visitors of her brother Walter Doan and Mae at the Sowder Nursing Home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnice Cromer of Livingston, cousin of Mae Doan, visited Walter at the nursing home.

Bob and Linda Clark of Lebanon, Ohio spent the weekend with Roy and Esther Hubbard and attended church with her mother at Brodhead Baptist.

We wish Mrs. Bonnie Porter a speedy recovery after having surgery recently.

Mrs. Bertha Adams had a letter from Mary Adams. Sister Ruth in Louisville says she is still doing well at the nursing home and able to walk alone now. Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins and her son, William Collette enjoyed Lillian's birthday dinner cooked by Rick's wife Charlotte, Sunday evening. They also enjoyed a Sunday evening at dinner at Country Estates, Richmond.

On Sunday afternoon Inez McKinney and Ida Cass of Berea, Hope and Olive Cox and daughter Kaye of Middletown, all had a nice visit with Elizabeth Mullins on her patio. Also Mrs. Mullins heard that Mrs. Gertrude Baker had suffered many falls lately. We all hope and pray she will improve in health. I'll never forget their clothing store and also Mrs. Hazel Elder and Less' store as I was always relieved that my girls could go and get their material for Home Ec and charge it when I was away at work in Berea and my boys could get their shoes at Bill Yaddons or Elders and charge. That meant a lot to me.

Bill Gravelly, son of Pearl Hicks Gravelly and the late Gravis Gravelly, stopped to see Eleanor Gray Sunday. Yes! You can cook with Yogurt

What is Yogurt?
Everyone knows that yogurt is delicious and nutritious. More and more people are discovering that yogurt is an ideal cooking ingredient too. Yogurt gets its smooth texture and healthfulness from milk cultured with two types of beneficial bacteria. Like the milk it is made from, yogurt can vary in fat, cholesterol and calorie content.

No matter how you buy yogurt—nonfat or lowfat, plain or flavored; in 8-ounce containers, pints, quarts, or 4.4 oz. minipacks; or how you eat it out of the carton or in a recipe - you still get the same ingredients.

People who can't digest milk due to lactose intolerance often can eat yogurt because the live active cultures produce the enzyme they lack. These same live cultures also may help protect against certain cancers, boost the immune system and fight gastrointestinal infections.

Yogurt is a food one enjoys throughout life. It's great for infants, a portable snack for children and teens, and a low-calorie, nutrient-dense choice for adults. All the more reason to add it to the foods you consume every day.

Summer School students go to Boonesboro

The students of Rockcastle County Summer School "Destination Graduation" went to Eastern Kentucky University for an enrichment trip on Wednesday, June 20. While there the English students learned about journalism and reading the newspaper from Dr. Ron Wolfe, an Eastern professor. The students also heard from Greg Perry, a photographer at Eastern who also sells his photos to various magazines and newspapers. The math and science students visited the class of Dr. Nancy Peel where they viewed a math film and worked with future teachers of math.

The students then were treated to a trip to Fort Boonesborough State Park where they enjoyed a box lunch provided by Eastern Kentucky University. After exploring the grounds of the State Park, everyone viewed a film about Daniel Boone's life and adventures in Kentucky. Then they toured the various sections of the fort which included candle making, soap making, weaving, woodworking, quilting and toy making. Also included in the tour were broom making, a blacksmith shop, a jail, cabins where the settlers lived and a gift shop.

The students were accompanied by their teachers Patty Reese, Ois Prater, Ruth Allen and Nancy Bussell and a college student tutor, Mark Brunett.

Palmer does Civil War Project at Harrison Co. Middle School

The Social Studies Dept. of Harrison County Middle School sponsored a Civil War Study for two weeks in May. The finale of the study was a trip to the battle ground at Perryville by students who completed at least 70 percent of the projects designated for the program.

Students earned points for participation in the program. Students in the Math classes made posters that were judged, while the English classes wrote letters by make-believe soldiers to their families. The science classes gathered relics and studied the medical aspects of the war. The Social Studies classes learned about costumes along with historical facts and figures. The trip-combo classes learned songs of the Civil War era.

Ricki Palmer, son of Robert and Sharon Palmer, portrayed his ancestor, Robert E. Lee, during costume day and won first place. Palmer along with 17 other students lightened up the lives of Grand Haven Rest Home residents as they visited, wearing costumes of both the Union and Confederate soldiers. Southern Ladies of wealth, commoner's everyday dress and slaves garb.

Ricki also displayed Civil War bullet shells. Ricki's twin brother, Jon submitted a copy of a diary written by his maternal great-great grandfather, John K. Benefield (who served with the 46th Reg. of Indiana foot), this diary written in 1864 told of fighting in Louisiana and after being wounded and sent home, he joined back up with his unit in Louisville and ended the diary Dec. 31, 1864 in Lexington, (a postscript by his wife states that Benefield died in Lexington April 1865 from complications of the war). Jon received 2nd place with this entry.
