

"Renfro Valley"

the chief "go-ers", along with my good friend, Glen Fisher. His dad, Russ Fisher, was one of the first disc jockeys. We would go get coffee, sandwiches or whatever for his dad and Joe Clark, who was also a disc jockey on WRVK for many years.

Another of my friends at that time was "Butch" Clark, oldest son of "Old Joe Clark" and his wife Jean. In 1956, television came to Renfro Valley with a twelve part series for Ellisburg Flour. I remember Butch and I rode on Pappy and Mammy Hiatt's old mule in several scenes. Pappy and Mammy Hiatt lived just up the creek from Renfro Valley where the motel now sits.

I learned how to drive a car on the road that ran in front of their house. The old log house that belonged to them is still standing. I can still picture Mammy Hiatt in her old sunbagnet sitting on the front porch.

Another friend was Jimmy Pennington, now known as J.P. Pennington. Jimmy is the former lead singer for the Pop Country Group "Exile." He is the son of the late Lily May Ledford Pennington of the Coon Creek Girls, and Glen Pennington.

Jimmy and I made our first, and last, attempts at smoking in the Valley. During the barn dance shows, we would wait next to the stage entrance and when one of the performers would come out for a smoke we would wait for them to throw their cigarettes down, grab it, and take several big puffs. We were doing pretty well until my Daddy came out for his smoke break and caught us. Needless to say, that ended our smoking career.

Another friend was Billy Kelsey, son of Louie Kelsey who ran the Lodge Restaurant and Dorothy Kelsey, the Postmistress of the Renfro Valley Post Office. Mrs. Kelsey was the niece of Mr. Lair.

Billy and I would go to the big water wheel at the end of the Lodge and start running inside of it like a couple of squirrels until the vibration inside the gift shop would cause some of the dishes to fall and break. Then we would run like all get-out. That same area where the water wheel was also had a small pond where we used to catch frogs when they started holer at dusk.

There were other friends in the Valley like George Alvis Clark, better known to me as "Rusty", or "Duke", another one of Joe Clark's sons, and Clark "Joe" Mullins, son of Harry "Little Clifford" Mullins.

Then there were the girls. There was Butch and Rusty's sister, Sara Grace, Jenny Lee Williams, Virginia Sutton's daughter, Barbara Pennington, sister to Jimmy Pennington, and Eva Jo Ramsey. The Ramseys lived across the hill from Renfro Valley. We had a good time growing up in Renfro Valley, from spending hours at Belly Acres Restaurant just around the curve and up the road from Renfro to swimming and catching crawdads in Renfro Creek. Skipping rocks on the old pond next to the Country Store, watching the horse shows and drinking Orange Crush in the Grandstands were also highlights of the times.

Thousands of people came to Renfro Valley each and every weekend. I can remember as many as five shows in the old barn on Saturday nights. Many times during the shows, Butch and I would catch lightning bugs in a big jar and turn them loose in the ladies dressing room backstage.

In 1956, Daddy and his younger brother, Curtis, bought the Gulf Service Station, which is now the ticket and information building. I was eleven or twelve at the time. I can recall Curtis throwing rocks at my friends and I as we floated on a homemade raft on the old pond. He would wait until we got out into the middle before he started so that it would take us a long time to get back to the bank.

Every Saturday it was my job to clean the windshields of the cars that pulled in for gas. In those days, you cleaned the windshield, checked the oil and sometimes even the air in the tires. Self-service had not yet been born.

My life was quickly becoming very busy in the late fifties because of school and such, but still I found time to enjoy the people and the atmosphere of the Valley.

There were people like Virgil Mann, the Radio Engineer for the Barandancé and Gathering, Bill "Shorty" Moore, the maintenance man and Virginia Bray, Mr. Lair's secretary. I can still hear Virginia calling for Shorty outside the museum building as she did a dozen times a day. We could hear her from across the road.

It reminded me of someone calling hogs... There was Pete Stamper, a comedian on the barn dance and disc jockey on WRVK Radio. Pete is active on the barn dance even to this day.

Today the horse ring, grandstand, stables, water wheel, and the old pond are gone and the old country store has been moved beside the new barn, yet the memories live on.

After high school and mortuary college graduation in the late sixties, my partner, Billy Dowell and I purchased a funeral home in Mt. Vernon.

Little did I dream as a young boy growing up in the Valley that I, some thirty years later, would be conducting the funerals of my dear friends—Renfro Valley Personalities such as Harry "Little Clifford" Mullins, Jess and Bob Baker, "The Baker Brothers", Robert Huffman Thompson, Mrs. Ruth McFerson, who played the old parlor organ on the Sunday Morning Gatherin, Claude Sweet, Betty Foley Cummins, daughter of "Red" Foley, and Mr. John Lair, the Founder of Renfro Valley.

I was also honored to conduct the funerals of Renfro's Postmistress, Dorothy Kelsey, Public Relations Director Lee Earl Hysinger, Mr. Bradley Burdette, the Manager and caretaker of the little log cabins that stood behind the Lodge, Edna Moore, the wife of Bill "Shorty" Moore, and Jenny Lee Williams, my childhood friend. Each of these people played an important part in my fond memories of Renfro Valley.

I still have connections to the Valley. My son, Stephen, while attending college, is working in the Security Department of Renfro Valley. My sister-in-law, Jan Cummins, has been a regular performer on the Barandancé for many years. Ironically, my wife Pamela, was raised less than a mile from the Valley. Her mother, aunts and uncles all worked in the Valley at one time or another.

There are many new faces and buildings in the Valley now. You would hardly know the place. I only know that the new faces and new buildings do not lose sight of the warmth and charm of the Renfro Valley that I knew and loved.

Mr. Lair said it best when he wrote the song, "Take Me Back To Renfro Valley." "I was born in Renfro Valley that I knew and loved."

family faces, all the friends I used to know: Things have changed in Renfro Valley, since the days of long ago.

Today, Roy Martin is co-owner of Dowell & Martin Funeral Home in Mt. Vernon, married and the father of two grown children. His parents also reside in Mt. Vernon and have since retired from active performing.

Card of Thanks

We, the family of Doris Eaton Baldwin would like to thank everyone for the beautiful flowers, food and prayers. A special thanks to Dr. Arvin, and Rockcastle Co. Hospital, Dr. Orr and the Coronary Care Unit at St. Joseph Hospital, Bros. Keith Bender and Lorraine Wilson for their comforting words and to Bobby Martin Funeral Home.

In Memory of our daddy Bill Manis

Who passed away July 24, 1989. It has been 1 year since you departed this life but you will always be with us in spirit. We will always remember you as one who loved us and was there when we needed you. We could always come home and know we were welcome anytime you always seem to enjoy your visit. Thank God for your long life with us. Saffly missed by children and grandchildren

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER® PROS

Larry Chelover

A new year begins and the season for selecting new equipment is upon us. Considering a new bass boat this year? Here's something to remember.

Each boat manufacturer is required to affix a U.S.C.G. plate stating the maximum horsepower rating for that boat.

Do not exceed the maximum rating for that boat. Do not ask a dealer to install a motor larger than the boat is rated for. The liability is simply not worth the risk.

You will also find that it is almost impossible to insure a boat which is overpowered. Plus many fishing contests today have a rule forbidding the use of an over-powered boat.

Featuring the Joyful Noise

Joyful Noise is a gospel group from right here in Rockcastle Co. the group consists of: Jack, Dawn and Aaron Stallsworth, members of Northside Baptist Church; Everett Lee Vanzant and JoAnn McGuire, members of Maple Grove Baptist Church and Tim Cameron, a member of Rose Hill Baptist Church.
God put this group together in February, 1990. Since then, He has opened up new doors and offered new opportunities. As we have shared His Word in song and testimony, God has blessed us to see souls saved, rededications made and people drawn closer to the Lord. There is nothing more important more important to us than to see a lost person won to Jesus Christ.

We have a new cassette tape which can be heard over WRVK, Renfro Valley radio, Larry and Gail Burdette are doing a great job promoting gospel music. They play our tape quite often and we greatly appreciate it. Give them a call and they'll be happy to play it for you.
Our upcoming schedule is: July 19th, Rose Hill Baptist, Mt. Vernon, 7 p.m.; July 20, Faith Fellowship, Manchester, 7 p.m.; July 22, Livingston Baptist Homecoming, Livingston; July 27, Mt. Vernon Church of the Nazarene, 7 p.m.; Aug.

4, Ye Ole Oryy House - All Night Sing, Renfro Valley, July 28th we are planning a singing with Charles Mealing at Northside Baptist pending confirmation from Bro. Charles. Try to come and be with us in one of these services. We plan to have a great time in the Lord.
We've sang in many different churches but there are still many we haven't been to. If you would like to have Joyful Noise a part of your service, just give us a call at 758-8099 or write:

Jack Stallsworth
Rt. 1, Box 58A
Brodhead, Ky. 40409

We want to always give God all the praise and glory for anything that's accomplished through our ministry. Without the anointing of His Holy Spirit, we are nothing. We always stand in need of Christians' prayers. Psalms 95:1
Come let us sing unto the Lord Let us make a joyful noise to the Rock of our Salvation.

entertainment center, our newsroom, our education department, our baby sitting and day care of our guests when we run out of gossip. It is a natural and courteous act to turn it off when the news come on for it's often the only world wide news we get. So, this recent episode was not really rude, it was a natural act of today's hospitality. It isn't the only change taking place in the world. The work ethic and a low morality are the results of social evolution or progress as some would call it. If our forefathers could rise from their graves just one look about them may make them want to duck back down into their quiet resting place and wait for the Lord to call them to a place not made with hands.

If it were a possibility though, wouldn't you like to see the look of puzzlement and consternation on their face when they would see the multitude of little houses with some of them on wheels filling what was once fields of corn or wheat? And, instead of hearing the familiar bawling of cattle or the clucking of barnyard fowls they would hear blasting forth from the chicken coop size houses the raucous noise they call music today. Then, a look beyond this and they would see strange contraptions making unusual noises and spreading forth ill-smelling fumes as the hay in the fields disappeared and odd rolls or square bales of hay were born and left to lie in the sun.

The last time, they had looked at this was when they were sowing in golden grain and awaiting the sycamore to go swishing through it. And, one corner of the field had held the remains of the old hay stack that had taken several men to stack and a man who specialized in capping a stack so rain and weather would not spoil it, a whole day just to finish it off.

The wide white ribbons dividing this once rural haven into a place of turmoil was filled with strange sounding vehicles zipping by. When they had been put to rest, the only things zipping by in that field were rabbits, antelope and deer.

A loud noise overhead would make this venturer look upward to see if it was Gabriel's trumpet calling and instead of Gabriel, he would see this strange, noisy bird gliding into the air while leaving behind a long trailing white cloud we call the jet stream or contrail. This along would be enough to make them want to slip back into their resting place and be content with it.

The changes I just described as taking place over the past 200 years are called progress and rightfully so. None of us would want to go back to that time in history since we have become accustomed to the conveniences of today. Yet, sometimes I wonder at the stepped-up speed of this evolution. It is hard for me to realize there was a time in my life I didn't own a car. And real time was a short time back when we walked everywhere we went. It seemed nothing to walk two miles to the church or post office and carry our purchases home in a bag. And I would never think of missing a night of a revival meeting although that would also mean a walk of a least two miles each way. The children walked to school and took their lunch along in a small bucket then hurried home after school to help with the chores. They never had to be coaxed to eat beans, potatoes and corn bread for potato chips and cokes had not raised their appetites and nature's own exercise program had whetted their appetite so they came to the table to eat the solid healthy food they had helped raise and prepare. Instead of a sack of potato chips, a coke and a rush to get off to a ball game or something else away from home, we sat around our table and ate the meals we had prepared and talked. It was a time for each to share his/her experiences of the day or get orders for chores to do for the week. It was also a time for us to discuss books we had read or do math riddles or have a spelling session. Our kitchen table at meal time was our social center and schoolroom.

That was also a period of time when children played in their yards often with the neighboring children gathering to play hide and seek, blind man's bluff, hop scotch and marbles. Almost every boy had a set of mule shoes to pitch and every girl a rope to jump. Boys and girls played most of these games together and never seemed to think any of it was for one sex only. These games were often joined by the adults and no one had to exclude any of it. It was plain healthy fun and helpful unite families.

Much of the music just thirty or forty years ago was made by family members. A guitar and/or banjo was in almost every home and if not, the voices of the people themselves made the music. Sitting on a door step or porch or even in the yard in a straight back chair tipped backward a little someone would begin to hum then another would join in and before anyone realized it, a chorus of voices had joined in and an evening of music had been born. These were human voices not disguised by the modern contraption of amplifier and they rang clear and sweet in the evening air. It usually began with a hymn and these untrained voices put more meaning into their songs than can be heard from most trained choirs of today.

Then a small hand might touch that of his mommy and he would whisper, "sing 'Froggie Went-A-Courtin'" or "Danny Boy" and away we would go on another tempo. No one had to be invited days ahead to enjoy these frolics and it never cost a cent to either listen or join in. It was just evenings of Sunday afternoons that just happened because people were not too busy to enjoy living.

Family life like this has all but been destroyed by the progress and social evolution where parents are separated from their children's lives. Mostly by themselves with their busy life schedules. It's much easier to have a child sit at a T.V. for entertainment and be taught by the T.V. programs about violence, sex and the artificial life styles of actors of the screen. The screaming and banging by groups of ill-dressed creatures who call it music.

then to listen to the child's whining or crying for attention. Or to take the same child in one's arms and rock it while singing a silly song.

On the other side of this coin called progress and social change is another picture. It is one of the advantages of all this change.

Since I've used television as a whipping boy, I'll now point out some of the advantages of having this piece of furniture in our living room. Yes, it is used as a baby sitting device and has helped untold numbers of overworked and harried parents to carry on while their offspring watched and benefited from programs like Sesame Street or Mr. Ed. Programs such as these have been a headstart to education for numerous children.

This same piece of furniture adds a touch more to most of the family rooms in America and plays an important role in keeping us up on world news. We are more knowledgeable about world affairs and especially of the sports world than at any time in history. For the first time, we can watch the world olympics without having to travel to another country and all by touching a button on that magic box. It is not only a substitute baby sitter but an instrument to keep the home bound and senior citizens occupied. For me, the soap operas are worthless but for many people, they are the only entertainment they have. So, I say, Hurrah for the boob tube or better yet for the invention that has brought the world into our homes.

Then, the machinery that replaced the back breaking work of getting in a harvest of hay, corn or whatever was grown is invaluable to the farmer. More acres can be tilled with less help than was even dreamed of two hundred years ago. That alone frees our youth of today to pursue their education and professions. And, our transportation system, even though it needs some improvement, sure beats the horse and buggy days or walking all to pieces.

If anyone happens to think it is romantic to go back to the days of carrying water for all household use and using a tub and washboard to do a laundry, he/she should think twice before they try it. There is nothing more backbreaking than bending over a washboard and scrubbing heavy, dirty overalls. Then hanging them on a line to dry. After this, because of the shortage of water, the wash water would be used to scrub the porch and outside toilet. I'll take the modern water system and washing machines every time.

Now, the social changes in child-rearing is something I wish it had happened 55 years ago so my children would have benefited from it. I may have understood better how to have avoided some of the pitfalls that befall mothers taking on child rearing without training.

It's all well and good to look back on the good and pretty things of the past but I can also look backward with a lot of heartache to things that weren't always good and pretty. When I say the youth of today with their freedom to play all the organized games without the worry of having to get home quickly to do the milking or carry in stove wood, etc. I envy them for my son's sake. And when I see the carefree happy young girls dressed up for parties or sports, I envy them for my daughters' sake. My daughters were kept busy at home doing housework and helping with gardening and canning so had no time or not much of it to dress pretty and go to parties. And, if they had the time, it was too far to walk.

A little verse comes to mind that says:

"Turn backwards, turn backwards, oh time in your flight and make me a child again, just for tonight."

I think one night, or at the most, a day and a night is all we would want in the yesterdays of our dreams. I'm thinking now of a future for our nation and the world that has been improved as much in the next two hundred years as our own United States of America has been in the past two hundred years. And it will happen.

When I look about and see the quality and potential leadership ability of our youth, I have no doubts as to what the surprises will be in the future.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

We want to continue our search of the scriptures, to seek to identify the church that Jesus built (Mt. 16:18), by looking at the work that the church is to do.

The church is to be involved in the work of evangelism. Paul said that the "house of God, which is the church of the Living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." I Tim. 3:15. The Lord's church will be busy about spreading the gospel of Christ to the lost and dying world. Paul said that the Thessalonians had "sounded out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to God-ward is spread abroad; so that we need not speak anything." I Thes. 1:8. The Philippians helped support Paul in the preaching of the gospel. Phil. 1:5, 2:25-30, 4:14-18.

A second, work the church is to be involved in, is edification. Paul said that the whole body should make increase of the "body into the edifying of itself in love." Eph. 4:16. The upbuilding of the body involves teaching and perfecting of the saints (Eph. 4:12); assembling together for worship (Heb. 10:25, I Cor. 11:18, Ac. 2:42); it involves discipline (I Cor. 5, II Thes. 3).

A third area of work the church is to be involved in, is the helping of needy saints. "If any man or woman that believeth have widows, let them relieve them, and let not the church be charged; that it may relieve them that are widows indeed." I Tim. 5:16.

We read of several occasions where brethren assisted needy saints; Ac. 6:1-6, Ac. 11:28-30, Rm. 15:25-31, I Cor. 16:1-3, II Cor. 8-9.

Now it ought to be clear that the work that the church is to engage in is simple and few in scope, as to affect the eternal destiny of men and women. Churches that engage in business ventures; supporting of social and recreational activities, such as ball teams, gymnasiums, dining rooms; that build college institutions; and even secular schools from kindergarten and up; that seek to make the church some kind of glorified Red Cross of general benevolence, that such churches are not following N.T. pattern. The churches of men seek to appeal to the carnal, fleshly side of men with social activities, the church of the Lord has only the message of the crucified saviour to appeal to people. (Jn. 12:32; Rm. 1:16). Those who add in these unscriptural works commit sin.

One injured in Mt. Vernon gun battle

By: Richard Anderkin

A shoot-out on Main street in Mt. Vernon Sunday night sent one man to the hospital and one to jail.

Johnny Lee Bullock, 41 of Mt. Vernon is listed in serious but stable condition in the intensive care unit of the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington, after he was shot three times Sunday night.

Police charged Dennis Rash, 36 also of Mt. Vernon with criminal attempt to commit murder, carrying a concealed weapon, assault in the first degree and criminal mischief in the second degree, following the shooting which took place in the parking lot of Mt. Vernon Automotive around 9 p.m.

According to Mt. Vernon police detective Larry Thompson, the two men had been married to the same woman at different times and that bad feelings between the two, because of the woman, apparently led to the shooting.

Thompson, who actually witnessed the shooting from across the street, said that Rash was turning his car around in the parking lot of Mt. Vernon Automotive when Bullock tried to block him in with his Ford van. The detective said that Rash tried to pull around Bullock, but that when he did, Bullock shot into Rash's car with a rifle.

At that point, Thompson said, Rash left his car and fired into Bullock's van three or four times with a handgun.

Thompson further stated that Bullock left his vehicle and tried to get behind Rash who then pulled out a .22 fully automatic rifle and fired at Bullock approximately 62 times.

The detective said that Bullock fired at least twice with his rifle at Rash.

Bullock was shot in the chest near the heart, in the shoulder and once in the abdomen.

Emergency surgery was performed on Bullock at the Rockcastle Hospital. He was transferred to Lexington by helicopter Monday.

Thompson said that a criminal attempt to commit murder charge was pending against Bullock as well and that the case would be presented to the Rockcastle Grand Jury for review.

Rash was released from jail on Monday after he posted 10 percent of a $29,000 cash bond.

Thompson said the two men had been in odds for several weeks and that about a week ago, a Mustang, belonging to Bullock, was shot up by someone. Thompson said that he did not know if Rash was responsible for Fiscal court buys road equipment

by Ray McClure

A total of $111,000 for heavy equipment and vehicles for the county road department was approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at a bid opening Monday.

Most of the money for the equipment was left over from last year's budget, about $90,000.

Apparent low bidders, with figures yet to be checked in detail, included:

- A used roller for $10,000 from Dalles Benge Trucking of London,
- A used paver for $17,000 from

Construction Machinery Corp., of Louisville;

A new 10-ton trailer for $5,900 from Sigers Trailer Sales of Frankfort;

A new backhoe for $32,000 from Bullock Sales and Service of London.

Six injured in auto accident

A three vehicle accident on U.S. 25 near Burr Friday afternoon sent six people to the hospital.

Rockcastle deputy sheriff Phillip Chestnut, said that the accident occurred when Donnie Jones of Brodhead drove his 1981 Ford Escort into the rear of a county road grader traveling north on 25.

Chestnut said that after Jones' car struck the grader it traveled into the southbound lane where it was struck

GTE, Contel talk merger

For the third time in history, telephone subscribers in Rockcastle County will have new owners of the telephone company.

A merger will apparently take place between Contel Corp., which serves Rockcastle, and General Telephone South Inc., (GTE), of the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) approves.

The merger, agreed to in principal by both companies, will mean a $6.3 billion stock exchange, and could possibly result in a change in telephone rates, but whether up or down remains to be seen.

Wallace Black, ex-director of network sales for Contel at London, said he has not been officially informed of the proposed change and could not comment on future company policy.

In Rockcastle, Contel has a $17.75 rate, including an access line charge of $3.50 for one-party service, and a $30.50 one-party business rate which includes an access line charge of $6.

In considering rates, the PSC will take into account a whole range of proposed changes by both the companies before allowing any rate change. Rates for phone service are based on the type of service and the size of the community.

Contel has 69,558 customers in 16 Kentucky counties. The largest exchange is London with 12,000 customers. That exchange serves Rockcastle, Laurel, Estill, Clay, Knox and Pulaski counties, excluding the city of Somerset which is already served by GTE.

GTE has 321,638 customers in 33 Kentucky counties. Largest exchange is Lexington with 131,000 customers.

When and if the merger takes place, GTE would have 391,196 customers, but would not be near the 800,000 customers of South Central Bell which serves 78 counties.

GTE has 2,071 telephone employees in Kentucky, including 1,100 in Lexington. The company also has a number of employees based in Ashland and Elizabethtown.

Contel has 220 workers in Kentucky, with 125 at London.

Contel also has cellular telephone operations in Lexington and Louisville.

Nationwide, Atlanta-based Contel has 21,800 employees. In 1989, Contel reported record earnings of $287 million on revenue of $3.1 billion.

GTE, based in Stamford, Conn., provides local phone service to more than 14 million customers in 31 states. It also provides cellular phone service in 34 metropolitan areas, and operates a satellite communications network.

In addition, GTE is a major manufacturer of light bulbs through its Sylvania division, and is a significant

Telephone history recalled

By Ray McClure

The proposed merger of telephone companies that will affect Rockcastle County, brings back memories of the first big change in service, made 33 years ago.

It was on that date, July 1, 1957, that the late Frank Dees of Brodhead, plagued by public pressure, sold his Mt. Vernon Telephone Co., to Northeastern Telephone Co., of London.

The sale ended an era of the old crank telephone and the answering operator who always asked for a name or number.

Dees started his company early in the century. He had two exchanges, one in Mt. Vernon and the other in Brodhead.

Those who remember, will recall the drawl of the Mt. Vernon and Brodhead operators who answered, sometimes after the first ring, sometimes after two or three or more, depending on whether she was ironing, cooking or conversing with a neighbor.

At the time, electronics was improving telephone service, but some residents were not anxious to see the last of the old fashioned crank phone.

"We liked the girls operators," one subscriber said at the time of the change over to dial service. "They always seemed to know where everyone was, and they usually told you."

Another subscriber said at the time:

"I called the operator one time and asked for Attorney James Lambert's office, and the operator said, 'I don't think Mr. Lambert is in his office. I just saw him go into Ralph Griffin's furniture store. I'll call there.' Sure enough that's where he was."

"We liked that kind of service," one subscriber said. "The operator was really a secretary for those expensive folk who wanted to see them stay around."

Services on the Dees telephone system was $1.50 a month at one time, but that amount was expensive in the 1920's, 30's and even 40's. Many considered it too expensive just to talk to friends and neighbors.

Later, after the sale to Northeastern, that company joined the calvert City telephone Co., Mason City Telephone Co., Irvine Telephone Co., and Mammoth Cave Telephone Co., to become the Kentucky Telephone Co., which is now owned by a Chicago group.

In 1966, Kentucky Telephone became a part of companies in Iowa and Illinois, owned by the same group, to become Telephones Inc. Later, in the 1970's, Telephones Inc., sold to Continental Telephone Co., now Contel.

"What's gone is gone," a telephone subscriber related in 1957. "We can't do much about it right now. We can't stop progress. It's just keeping rolling on, right over top of us."

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

This letter is to announce that we now have a total of $230.00 toward the purchase of a gravestone for Drewry Harper, our earliest known ancestor to migrate into our area, having come through the Blue Ridge mountains from North Carolina and settling first in Laurel County in the fall of 1839, then over into Pulaski County in time to be counted in that county's 1840 census report.

Legend has it that they slept in a hollow tree trunk until their cabin was finished. At his wife's death Drewry fashioned for her a nice marker with legible inscription carved by his own hand. This stone is deteriorating and needs work. We hope to restore and save it. Drewry has only a simple field stone to mark his place of rest.

The fund for Drewry's monument was started by a group of concerned descendants who visited the old homesite and abandoned cemetery there on Lovins Branch last spring and we should like to thank those who have so generously contributed to the cause.

They are as follows: Joseph D. and Julie Harper of Livingston, Montana; Earl and Donnie Godsey of Somerset, Ky.; Bonnie Price Slarsky of Ayer, Mass.; Richard and Lorena Harper Crosby of Austin, Tx.; Ivan and Christine Harper McKinney of West Chester, Oh.; Ray and Barbara McKinney Warron of LaFollette, Tn.; Ronald and Betty McKinney of Hopewell, Oh.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

I was involved in a discussion this evening that had to do with the fact that fewer than half of the qualified voters bother to participate in electing public officials anymore. It's even happening in Kentucky over the last couple of decades. Smaller and smaller percentages of people are going to the polls.

Now one school of thought in this discussion quarrels that people have given up. It doesn't matter who you elect, they're going to turn out and be crooked. So why bother electing anybody? Nothing's going to change.

And there may be some truth in that. But there was a time in Kentucky, not so long ago, when just about everybody went to the polls every time there was an election. Even in the early sixties you could find somebody who would pay you twenty dollars to "haul voters" if you had a car. If you didn't come home from the polls with a couple half pints of cheap whiskey, it was because you didn't believe in drinking. If you didn't have a job hauling voters, you could always get on somebody's payroll to hand out campaign cards.

I remember when it was like running a gauntlet to vote in the May primary at Isom. You had to walk through a long aisle about fifty feet long that was lined by people standing elbow to elbow on both sides handing out campaign cards. Most of the time the guys who could afford to buy the most campaign cards, hire the most card hander outers and vote hauler, and quench the greatest thirsts won the election.

If, by chance, you didn't have a job in the election, you'd have enough kin folks putting pressure on you that it was almost impossible to get out of going to vote.

But over the years we've changed the laws such that elections aren't much fun anymore. It's against the law to stand within a few hundred feet of the polls and hand out cards, but voters can usually drive right up to the door. You obviously can't hand 'em a card if you can't get close enough to vote to holler at 'em. Besides that, everytime I've been voting in the last few years, there's been a state cop sitting on the hood of his cruiser and kinda starting around. Ain't anybody gonna be hollering for a half pint in a situation like that.

And if you're hauling voters and being paid by a candidate, I reckon you have to drop 'em off and make 'em walk the last half mile nowadays. Who's gonna want a ride like that?

I reckon the thinking was that if you could stop "vote buying" which is really what all that voter hauling and card handing amounted to ac-ording to some folks, you could somehow make politicians more honest. Give me a break!

When a candidate for Governor spends over $4 million in an election throwing receptions and putting thirty minute advertisements on the tube, you tell me he isn't buying votes. When every county judge and magistrate candidate in the race gets out promising which roads will get fixed and who'll get which jobs, you think that ain't vote buying? Now positions get created and the money still changes hands. More and more money every year. Except these days only a few people are getting it.

Used to be so that everybody got a little bit. And that's why they want to vote. Miracles used to occur at every election. Used to be as many as twenty-five or thirty voters turn out in Isom that you had thought were dead, but about a week after the election you'd find out they'd been to the polls. You don't even see that happening anymore. And people wonder why the population is losing interest in the elections.

I wish that everybody who believes that all of the "corruption" that has been taken out of elections has also taken one iota of corruption out of the halls of government would hold up their hands. I want someone to give me one solid example of better government that has been created as a result of so called "reformation." I want it explained to me and I want to write about it in my newspaper. But don't hold your breath.

If we want to clean up government, we ought to make it against the law to run for office unless the candidate could pass an examination to prove that he or she knew how to run the office if elected. Get as mad as you want to, but I believe a school

Stephen Foster Story is showing nightly

History and entertainment are being dramatically interwoven this summer at The Stephen Foster Story, Bardstown. "America's Favorite Outdoor Musical" is showing nightly except Mondays through Sept. 2 at 8:30 p.m.

At the end of its first four weeks, overall attendance is up four percent over last summer according to the outdoor musical's general manager, Bert Ballard.

This season patrons from 43 states and many foreign countries including Denmark, South Africa and Austria, have been in the audience. Nearly two million persons from all fifty states and countless foreign countries have seen the show since it opened in 1959.

Quiet Heroes Needed

Blood Drive is July 31 at Ag Center

There are few of us who would hesitate to save the life of another human being if we were given a direct and obvious opportunity to do so.

We've all had visions of ourselves racing into a burning building to save a small child or rescuing a car crash victim from the wreckage which binds him.

However, heroism isn't always displayed in the midst of flashing lights and sirens; there is another act we can perform to save a life... donating blood.

It's a quiet, simple act of heroism that gives life and new hope to those who desperately need it. You may never know the name of the patient who received your donation but a real hero needs no praise, just the quiet knowledge that they made a difference.

board member ought to have to pass a test to demonstrate that he or she knows something about education. Frying chicken or hawking textbooks would be scant qualifications for the governorship by my standards. And if we want to stop vote buying, we have a long way to go.

Central Kentucky Blood Center urges you to be a quiet hero by donating blood at the Rockcastle blood drive on Tuesday, July 31st from 12:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Agriculture Service Center.

All donors will receive a free sports squeeze bottle. For more information about this drive, please contact Rebecca Durham at 1-800-432-9528.

Two injured in accident near Marler Hollow

Two boys working on a motorcycle on a road in Marler Hollow were struck and injured by a car Saturday.

Frank Marler, 13, of Sand Springs received a foot injury and was released at Rockcastle Hospital, according to records in the Sheriff's Department.

David Wilkerson, 13, was taken to the University of Kentucky Medical Center where he remains in satisfactory condition.

Randy Harris, 23, of Washburn, Ohio, was driving on the road and struck the youths. He was charged with failure to have insurance and no operators license.

The Marler youth was also charged with no license plates and no operators license.

A 1989 Chevrolet van belonging to Perlina Anderkin was stolen and recovered later by Deputy Phillip Chestnut in the Cave Ridge area. It had been damaged.

The van was stolen from the parking area at the rear of the Mt. Vernon Signal building between 11:30 p.m. and 5 a.m., July 10.

In another accident, Brian Johnson of Brodhead was reported not injured when his car ran off the road Sunday and into a ditch in front of Renfro Lodge.

At the request of Sheriff Shirley Smith, the oath taken by the sheriff when he was sworn into office is printed below:

"I, Shirley Smith, do swear that I will do right, as well to the poor as to the rich, in all things belonging to my office as sheriff; that I will do no wrong to any one for any gifts, reward or promise, nor for favor or hatred, and in all things I will faithfully and impartially execute the duties of my office according to the best of my skill and judgement, so help me God."

State Police also reported a tire on a car driven by Walter B. Boggs of broadsides by a Volkswagen rabbit driven by Joyce Jones of Livingston. Joyce Jones and Donnie Jones are in-laws.

Donnie Jones, 25, and his three passengers, Jeff Owens, 22, Ronnie Winkler, 29 and Connie Crawford, 26 were all injured. They were taken to the Rockcastle Hospital and Donnie Jones was transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

The other three were treated at the hospital and released.

Joyce Jones, 30, and her 13-year-old daughter, Crystal, were treated for head injuries at the hospital and released.

A seven-year-old son and an 18-month old daughter were not injured. The 18-month-old was in a child restraint seat.

The accident occurred at approximately 2:45 p.m.

Chestnut said that beer and whiskey were found in Donnie Jones' vehicle and that he was also on medication and was not supposed to be driving.

The deputy said that he was waiting on the results of a blood test to see if charges would be brought against Jones.

don; Two used 1885 dump trucks, total for both, $19,200 from Larry Stigers of Frankfort, and

A new 1991 GMC dump truck, for $27,000 from Peterson Truck Center of Louisville.

County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins told the court, best advice for the county to ditch and get water out of the roads and do patchwork this year then next year do major work.

The judge said the money saved this year will be put into an interest bearing account, and the interest received will go to pay the extra money needed for the road equipment. The court agreed.

In other business, the court approved hiring Myrtle Kidwell for courthouse custodial work replacing Kathy Owens who resigned. Miss Kidwell has been a Green Thumb Employee.

The court discussed briefly utility costs of last year at the Brodhead fairgrounds totaling nearly $7,000 caused in part by failure to turn off unnecessary lights in the fairground area.

Magistrate Charles Holbrook, who was asked for a report on the fairground operations, told the court that the contract with AB Fair Co. should be discussed further, along with the upkeep and maintenance costs of the fairground.

Muncie, Indiana.

According to a State Police report, the Chavez car apparently struck the Trissel car knocking it into the Arnet car. Chavez could not speak English and was unable to describe the accident that occurred in a construction zone. Trooper Jack Lawless investigated.

Poynter home destroyed

A fire destroyed the home of the son of Warren Poynter and wife in Buffalo Hollow Monday night.

Mt. Vernon fireman reported the wood frame house had burned to the ground when firemen arrived.

The Poynters were not at home at the time of the fire. Cause is undetermined.

A total of 18 motorists were arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicants in Rockcastle County during June, according to Kentucky State Police at the London Post.

A total of 29 traffic accidents were investigated in June by troopers. Seven criminal investigations were made resulting in 14 criminal arrests.

There were 157 complaints checked. A total of 55 motorists were assisted with breakdowns and given tourist information and 18 persons attended a safety program conducted by the state police.

The state police also released 1989 Kentucky crime facts. Included were: A total of 116,514 serious crimes were committed, a serious crime was committed every 4.39 minutes; murder was committed every 35 hours; firearms were used in 60.2 percent of all murders; 63.5 percent of all murder victims were white; 57.8 percent were male; rape was committed every 10.6 hours.

Also, robbery was committed every 3.2 hours, 54 percent of violent crimes were solved.

Pictured here are Rockcastle County High School students attending the Rockcastle County/Destination Summer School as they board the bus for an enrichment day field trip. Accompanying the students are teachers Ruth Allen, Nancy Bussell, Patty Reese and Otis Prater. Destination graduation tutors are Susan Smith, Vicki Tyler, Anthony Coffey, Mark Brummet and Bruce Blanton.

Summer school students go to Shakertown

We, the students in the Destination Graduation summer school program, continued our educational experiences with a trip to Shakertown on Wednesday, July 11.

We began our tour with an introduction to the beliefs of the Shakers, who believed that the world was soon coming to an end. We wandered through the rooms that were furnished as they had been during the days of the Shakers. We also learned about broommaking and woodworking as demonstrated by craftsmen at the village.

We concluded our tour with a meal in the dining hall. We were served bread, roast beef, lima beans, potatoes, tomato casserole and a choice of various desserts. The restaurant provided a very comfortable atmosphere.

Prior to the trip to Shakertown, we once again visited EKV's campus for a lesson in poetry, which was provided by two EKV English professors, Dr. Dorothy Sutton and Dr. Harry Brown.

The professors read their poetry to us and told us the background information which led to their poems. We appreciate that they took the time to share their work with us.

The math and science summer school students worked on computers with the help of the students in Dr. Nancy Peel's graduate class. This has been a very rewarding experience for students from Destination Graduation as well as the students at EKV.

We would like once more to thank Bell South and the Kentucky Department of Education for making these trips possible. And a special thanks to Mrs. Nancy Thames for making all the arrangements.

Mullins to attend institute for prospective teachers

Robyn Mullins, a senior at Rockcastle County High School, was selected as one of 107 high school students from 31 states, Canada and Guam to attend a one-week Summer Camp/Institute for Prospective Teachers. Robyn is the daughter of Tommy and Jennifer Mullins of Brodhead.

The institute, sponsored by Phi Delta Kappa Educational Foundation, is designed to introduce high school students to careers in education. Mullins will attend the institute July 25-30, 1990 on the campus of Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. The Eastern Kentucky University PDK Chapter made a financial contribution to enable Robyn to attend the institute.

The criteria by which Robyn was selected include scholarship, background experiences, and an expressed interest in teaching as a career.

The institute is designed to introduce students to the many opportunities that are available in education. The students will work with award-winning teachers and will have numerous experiences to develop leadership skills. Students will also have an opportunity to learn about the variety of careers in education and to evaluate their own teaching skills. Outstanding educators from across the nation will serve as presenters and discussion leaders.

Rockcastle DAR chapter dedicates Haley marker

On Sunday, June 17, 1990 the Rockcastle County Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution held a service of dedication of a marker in memory of Revolutionary soldier, Barnabas Haley, in the Scaffold Cane Cemetery. Miss Mary Alice Hunt, Chapter Regent, presided.

The following program was presented: Welcome: Miss Mary Alice Hunt; Invocation: Mrs. Harry Mullins; Color Guard: Rockcastle VFW Post No. 5028, Tom Welch,

Major, USA, Retired, Commander; Trumpeter: Cliff Mullins, (son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mullins); Pledge of Allegiance: Robert E. Robinson, Lt. Col. USAF, retired; National anthem: Mrs. W.E. Hunt; American Creed: Mrs. Wallace Williams; History of Patriot: Michael T. Darst, Jr.; Dedication of Marker: Mrs. Michael T. Darst; Unveiling of Marker: Stewart and Tanner Abney, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Abney; Hymn, Faith of Our Fathers: Mrs. W.E. Hunt;

Benediction: Mrs. Gary Cromer. Colonial Flags carried by members of the VFW Post were made and loaned by Mrs. Wilson Evans of Berea, a former State Regent and Past Vice President General of the national Society DAR.

Miss Hunt introduced Mr. Gary R. Cromer, Mayor of the city of Mt. Vernon, and welcomed Miss Janie Ramsey, Chapter Historian.

Other old-time living descendants of Barnabas Haley are Mrs. Bessie Sigmon Pennington, a resident of the Garrard County Nursing Home, and Mrs. Marjorie Hiatt of Wildie.

Barnabas Haley
Barnabas Haley was born in Lunenburg County, Virginia about 1753.

In about 1775 he enlisted for a period of three years in the Virginia Line. He marched directly to New York and New Jersey near Brandywine. He had served for 12 months and 39 days when he became very ill. He wrote to his father about his illness and his father and his grandfather Wells paid an Absolom Hughs a sum of sixty pounds to go in and serve as his substitute.

After his recovery, Haley went back in and served out the remainder of his enlistment and was discharged. He stated under oath that he saw George Washington many times but never saw action in any major battle.

After his service, he and his wife Rhode, lived in Henry County until they moved to Grainger County Tennessee. After a period of eight or nine years they moved to a section of Madison County, Kentucky, which is now part of Rockcastle County.

They were the parents of four sons: John Sr., William, Coleman and Turpin. Barnabas Haley died in Rockcastle County on October 27, 1851.

Birthdays

Tosha Renee Farris celebrated her 3rd birthday July 8th with a Care Bear party. She received many nice gifts and would like to thank everyone for coming and bringing their nice gifts. Tosha is the daughter of Billie Burdine Farris of Livingston, the granddaughter of Margaret Burdine and the late Billy Burdine of Livingston and the great granddaughter of Nora Burdine, also of Livingston.

Joci Marie Mink celebrated her 7th birthday July 6. She is the daughter of Doug and Loretta Mink of Calloway and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mink of Sand Hill and Leon Hellard of Calloway.

Poet's Corner

This poem was written with a specific person in mind. I think that other teenagers and parents can find something they can relate to.

Driver's License at Sixteen
By John Holbrook

It's been a long time coming but you finally made it to sixteen I hope this year will be your best the best you've ever seen

I know you want your drivers license and you can hardly wait so be very very careful and do not tempt ole fate

When you have practiced driving and can even parallel park Be very courteous to other drivers and never at them bark

You may think other drivers stupid but be careful what you say cause I have realized as I drive I make bo-boos every day

Your mother may say "you scare me" when you are going for a drive and she will be quite nervous until at your destination you arrive

Her mouth gets dry as she rides besides you or away there in the back but never say that hateful thing "Just cut me a little slack"

Dad may seem cool as cucumbers and even say your driving neat. If you want to see how he really feels watch the twitching of his feet

Your friends may even dodge you and fall away in surprise others may put their hands together and gaze into the skies

When you are out driving on a planned trip or just running around you will be making many decisions so try to make them strong and sound

To your parents keep your promise even if it's a hardship now and then Do not go anywhere you can't tell them where you've been

If driving to you is important and you think its really keen If for some reason you're grounded Dont think your parents mean.

You may think them outdated and their rules really cramp your style You'll look back a few years later and you're just bound to smile

You see you have changed places and you think its really keen you now know your parents love you and their advice was really sound

YOU'LL NEVER PAY REGULAR PRICE AGAIN!

Extension • Home Economics

By: Cheryl Witt
Co. Ext Agent
for Home Economics

You may now use the pressure canner to process tomatoes or tomato juice.

The latest recommendation from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) from research on canning tomatoes and tomato juice suggest that better quality and higher nutritive value can be obtained by processing in a pressure canner.

However, boiled lemon juice or citric acid still must be added to ensure safe acidity of canned tomatoes or tomato juice.

In the past, many people used the suggestion of commercial pressure canner companies to use five pounds of pressure for 10 minutes or 10 pounds for five minutes. These recommendations are considered unsafe, according to USDA research.

Some of the reasons are that newer pressure canners have thinner walls and require less heating and cooling time, and tomatoes grown today have less acids than tomatoes grown in the past.

To assure an even heating temperature, all pressure canners must be vented for a full 10 minutes. This step is essential even though some pressure canner directions state that venting is unnecessary.

Can Tomatoes and Juice Without Separating

Even though the garden might not have as many tomatoes as usual, you can still can tomatoes and tomato juice without separating the solids and liquids.

Ordinarily, an enzyme present in tomatoes causes the solids and liquids to separate when they are cut and stand without heating.

But, when the tomato is cut into quarters and heated immediately, this separation can be avoided for either tomato juice or canned tomatoes.

To prevent separation of tomato juice, quickly cut one pound of fruit into quarters and place directly in saucepan. Heat immediately to a boil while crushing. Slowly continue to add and crush freshly cut tomato quarters to boiling mixture. Simmer five minutes after you add all pieces.

Press heated tomatoes through a sieve or food mill to remove skins and seeds. Then, complete canning of tomato juice by USDA recommended method.

Add two Tablespoons lemon juice or 1/2 teaspoon citric acid per quart. Adding 1 teaspoon salt per quart is optional. Process quarts 45 minutes

Record cattle prices seen during June, Ag Service says

Kentucky cattlemen received record high prices for cattle sold during June, according to data from the Kentucky Agricultural Statistics Service.

The record high cattle prices are a result of three primary factors, according to Lee Meyer, an Extension agricultural economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. The factors are the continuing decline in the number of cattle, good feedlot demand for feeder cattle and strong consumer demand for beef.

Steers and heifers (500 pounds and above) brought an average $82 per hundredweight (cwt), a $5.30 increase over the January price and a $6.50 increase over June 1989.

Calves (under 500 pounds) brought $99.50 a cwt, a $12.60 increase over the January average price and a $7.40 increase over the average price a year earlier.

"We're seeing a decrease in beef production and drop in the number of cattle both in Kentucky and nationwide," Meyer said. "The trend toward a lower carrying base that began several years ago has continued. I don't know that I've ever seen the cattle base come to the level it is now. The cattle inventory is about what it was 30 to 40 years ago."

Meyer said the record cattle prices are unlikely to cause a radical increase in cattle production in the next few years.

1990 ACP sign-up

The Rockcastle County ASCS Office now has a continuous ACP sign-up according to Shirl Brown, Chairman of the Rockcastle Co. ASCS Committee. Anyone wanting to sign-up for fall seeding practices can do so at any time, as long as you have a current soil test results from the County Extension Office. Practices will be approved in August and September.

Mr. Brown stated that practices available to the farmers of this county include, new seedlings, renovations, no-till, water conservation, critical areas, and forestry practices. A more detailed list of the practices available for this period is available in the county office.

Rockcastle Co. is now under the variable cost-sharing method. Requests are evaluated before County Committee Approval, according to soil erosion. ACP practices which result in the highest saving of soil may receive up to 75% of the actual cost of completing the practice.

All requests must be filed and approved by the ASCS Committee to the starting of work pertaining to the practice.

A soil sample must be turned in to the county agent's office and the results must be in the ASCS Office before signing up for a cost-share practice.

Grass clippings are good nutrients

Grass clippings do not add to thatch in the lawn but they do add nutrients, according to a University of Kentucky agronomist.

"Removing clippings doesn't affect in boiling water canner or 15 minutes at twelve pounds of pressure in dial gauge canner or 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure in weighted gauge canner.

Again, follow USDA recommendations available from your county Home Economics Extension Agent to complete canning of tomatoes.

fect thatch accumulation," said A.J. Powell Jr., an Extension specialist in the College of Agriculture. "Research indicates that thatch is caused by excessive nitrogen fertilization, an acid surface soil, frequent irrigation, and reduction of earthworms."

Grass clippings contain 75 to 85 percent water and decompose easily into humus, he added. When clippings are not removed, they remain in the upper surface layer as a "pseudo" thatch which can be raked out of the turf.

An Open Letter to Rockcastle Judge/ Executive Roland Mullins

We, the undersigned, are concerned about the situation dealing with the basketball goals that a citizen of Brodhead donated $611 to put up, until the county could reimburse him. We were just notified that now the county will not reimburse him for the goals.

We feel that this is a great injustice and that the county should reevaluate their decision. These goals are an asset to the community and are for the children of this area.

We are sure there must be some funds available somewhere since this is the beginning of the fiscal year. There are funds in the fairground account, etc. that could be available to pay this debt.

We think the county should reconsider their decision to not pay this.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this concern.

(Cont. From Second Front) just about every variety of flower can be found. There are Gladiolus, Dahlias, Yarrow, Holly Hock and Day Lily just to mention a few.

John, lives on Lake Linville, but the last time he tried to catch some fish was 1983. John said that a friend stopped by his home one day when he was very busy in his flower garden.

John said that his friend suggested that he hire someone to take care of his flowers so he could go fishing with him. "I told him that he should hire someone to go fishing with him, because I sure enjoyed working in my flowers more than fishing," John said.

John's unique style of poetry earned him a spot on a Cincinnati television station. In 1988 John appeared on the evening newscast of WKRC. Of course John said that everyone in Hollywood must have missed the segment because he hasn't been called yet.

Because of restrictions placed on social workers John talks very little about his job, which deals mostly with abused children, but he did say that a few years back an upset client grabbed his beard at a local restaurant and threatened to kill him.

A friend asked John what he did about it and John calmly replied, "I waited until he turned loose of my beard and I left."

It is no doubt very hard to keep a sense of humor when you see as many of life's tragedies as John has seen over the years, but through it all John has managed to do just that.

He takes life one day at a time and says that he looking forward to retirement so that he can raise a few more flowers, take a few trips and write some more poetry.

Next month he and Faye will travel to Washington State to a family reunion. That will be the first of what John hopes are many happy trips following retirement.

A Weekly Report from Fifth District Congressman Hal Rogers

Cooperation, Research Will Boost Southern Kentucky Farm Income

Agriculture is Southern Kentucky's number one industry. As goes the family farm, so goes our whole region.

That is why I called together a group of leading farmers from across our district last year to organize a coordinated effort to further develop and promote Southern Kentucky agriculture. Thus, the Southern Kentucky Agricultural Development Council (SKAD) came into being.

We enlisted the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture to study farming and its future in Southern Kentucky. To our delight, the UK study outlined a path for Southern Kentuckians to double farm income to nearly $1 billion annually by the year 2000. Since then, I have worked with leaders from Southern Kentucky Agriculture Development and with our outstanding agriculture faculty at UK to help execute the plan for farm growth.

The first need was for a full-time professional specialist to run the organization and work the plan. The University of Kentucky has recently employed an extension specialist, with SKAD, Paul Deaton, who works from the Area Extension Office in Somerset, and I am working to secure Federal money to continue funding Mr. Deaton's work with SKAD.

Two weeks ago, Paul Deaton and SKAD's leadership, UK Acting President Dr. Charles Wethington, Dean of the UK School of Agriculture Dr. Oran Little, and I inspected the UK Agriculture Research Farm at Princeton, in Western Kentucky, looking for ways to implement our plan for increasing Southern Kentucky's farm income.

First, the UK study showed that farmers who apply the latest, most efficient farming techniques can boost profits, lower costs, and produce higher yields all at once.

Our challenge in Southern Kentucky is to find what farming practices work best, and then ensure that all of our farmers can hear about and benefit from the latest research. The Princeton research farm focuses on crops grown in Western Kentucky such as canola, dark tobacco, and certain row crops, keeping Western Kentucky farmers abreast of the latest advances in farm production, and offering them its benefits.

Furthermore, the UK study recommended that Southern Kentucky farmers try growing new and different crops, in addition to the tobacco and livestock our farm families have raised for generations.

To diversify, farmers need more than seeds and soil. They need research. Here, too, the Princeton research farm has been a great help to Western Kentucky farmers. Farm scientists raise new crops, study which varieties bear the highest yields, and provide solid advice for farmers working the flat Western Kentucky soil. In Southern Kentucky, where we lack the benefit of a research farm, Paul Deaton and SKAD will provide a forum where our region's agriculture leaders can pool information and ideas. Farmers who try new crops and succeed can spread the benefits of diversification to perhaps thousands more Southern Kentucky farmers.

Our farms have promise! And by using the UK study to double our family's farm income to nearly $1 billion a year, Southern Kentucky farmers on and off the farm will find a better way of life.

Who knows? Maybe Southern Kentucky will have its own research farm someday. And maybe such a farm would help our farmers earn more than $1 billion in annual revenue.

John Holbrook will retire July 31

Renfro Valley was a great place for a youngster to grow up

"My Mother and Daddy met in Renfro Valley in 1943. My Daddy, Emory Martin, known at that time as the "World's only one-armed banjo player", came from the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tennessee where he performed with Uncle Dave Macon and Sid Harkreader. My mother, known as Linda Lou, "World champion fiddle player", came from WIBC Radio in Indianapolis, Indiana.

At that time, Renfro Valley had several shows on the road from Canada to the Florida Keys. They were on a show date in Griffin, Georgia, one day and after playing the first show they went across the street to the Court House, found a Justice of the Peace, got married and came back and played the second show.

They made their home in Renfro Valley and two years later I was born. Mother and Daddy used to put me to sleep in a guitar case while they were performing on stage.

As I said before, Renfro Valley Folks had several shows on the road; some of them were called "Tent Shows" where they literally had a large tent set up and the show performed under it.

The first memory of Renfro Valley to me came on one of these shows in Florida. I can remember Mr. John Lair, the founder of Renfro Valley, taking his youngest daughter Barbara, and me on all the rides at one of the state fairs. Mr. Lair had four daughters but Barbara was the closest to my age.

In the late forties and early fifties, I remember sitting on one of the balconies of hay that was on the stage of the old barn, clapping my hands to the music during the barn dance, which was broadcast on CBS Radio.

Some of the performers I can recall at the time were the "Coon Creek Girls", three sisters—Lily May Ledford Pennington, the wife of another barn dance performer Glen Pennington, now part owner of Renfro Valley; Rosie Foley, whose husband, Cotton was the brother of "Red" Foley and "Black Eye Sista."

Then there was "Slim Miller," I can still see him sitting on the side of the stage, in his own special chair, throughout the whole show. He played a fiddle, danced, and was always pulling some sort of comedy or joke on the performers during the show. He wore oversized bib overalls, an old hat, and a red bandana hanging from one of his back pockets.

There was "Old Joe Clark." It was the highlight of my night to go to the dressing room where Old Joe was getting ready and watch him put on his make-up. He would transform from a handsome young man—well, maybe saying "handsome" is carrying things too far!

Lets just say he would transform from a young man to a very old man in just a matter of minutes. I'll never forget the joke he told about the chicken who laid the colored eggs. "You could wave a red cloth in front of this hen and she would lay a red egg. Wave a blue cloth in front of her and she would lay a blue egg. Whatever cloth you waved in front of her, that was the color egg she laid. She did really well until one day someone waved an American Flag in front of her and she stripped every gear she had!

Today, Joe is still on the barn dance, along with his son, Terry, but he doesn't have to put on the beard and make-up. He has to be the funniest man I've ever met.

Other performers I can remember were Pleaz Mobley, Patz Flys, Troy Gibby, Granny Harper, Wayne and Little Joe, Russ and Jo Fisher, Roy Davidson, Claud Sweet, Jerry Behrens, Rhuel and Flossie Thomas, Little Eller and Shorty Hobbs, Dick Dickerson, Virginia Thomas, Renfro Valley, "The Valley where time stands still," as it is so fondly known...yet time has brought many changes to the Valley. "Roy Arnold" Martin, as he was known by many growing up in the Valley some 49 years ago, recounts his fond memories of people, places, and events in Renfro Valley.

Scrubboard Wallace. This was a little tractor that pulled a couple of cars people rode on taking tours of Renfro Valley.

We would start in the Lodge Restaurant parking lot and go up to the Red Bud School House, down by Mr. Lair's house to the stables where the champion show ponies were stabled around to the old barn, museum building and back up by the country store.

Speaking of show ponies, that was another job I had but was not really too fond of. Mr. Hugh Hunter was the horse trainer and he would always give me the job of cleaning stables. I enjoyed the ponies and got to ride every once in awhile but did not think much of hauling out the manure.

Renfro Valley Stables was the home of "Little Boy Blue," one of the greatest show ponies ever lived. When he died, he was buried next to the wishing well in front of the museum building.

I had other jobs such as an usher for the barn dance, taking up tickets for the museum which had one of the largest pioneer exhibits and gun collection of that time.

And when the radio station, WRVK, started in 1957, I was one of Emory Martin, world's only one-armed banjo player.

Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer, President of the Rockcastle County Cancer Society LuEd Nielsen and Rockcastle County Judge Executive Roland Mullins are shown holding the Cancer Society logo during the Cancer Society's "Jail and Bail" fundraiser held last Thursday and Friday on the courthouse lawn. Through rainy weather the Cancer Society was successful in raising $3,000 of their set $5,000 goal. Also representing the Cancer Society during the fundraiser were District Representative Mary Broach of Somerset and local treasurer Cathy Symon.

John Holbrook will retire July 31

By: Richard Anderkin

He has the only underground house in Rockcastle County, he grows beautiful flowers and if you have ever met him, it is highly unlikely that you've forgotten him.

John Holbrook is a different breed, the kind of man that doesn't have an ulcer and never will. Some would call him eccentric but he takes life one day at a time and he keeps a unique perspective on life although he has no doubt seen the worst side of it many, many times.

On July 31, Holbrook will retire from the Department of Social Services Child Welfare Division where he has worked for the past 17 years. All together he has worked for the state for 28 years, first in the department of social insurance from 1962 to 1970 and in the social services division since 1970.

In 1972 John got his Master's degree from the University of Kentucky in social work. He also taught a year of school at Buffalo in 1960 as well as serving in the army in the 50's.

Many Rockcastle countians know John best for his poems that have appeared in the SGNAL's poet's corner. He was largely responsible for the start of the column.

In 1980 John decided that he had spent enough money farming, as he put it, and a move from his Chestnut Grove farm would be best for him, his wife Faye and two children, Anthony and Cynthia.

That move was to a underground house on Lake Linville at Renfro Valley. A house where John says he will make the most of his retirement.

Most gardeners would be very envious of what he does at his underground home each year.

In the spring, the earth around John's home looks like the inside of a flower shop.

Besides growing mustard greens, turnips, onions and tomatoes around and on top of his house, John has probably the most eclectic flower garden in the county.

From Geraniums to Scarlet Sage,

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER® PROS

Charles Campbell

Before you put the boat in the water for the first time, here's a tip on preventive maintenance.

Remove the prop and check for monofilament line around the prop shaft. Also inspect the oil seal for damage.

File all nicks and hammer out any dent in the prop. If there is serious damage, take it to your prop shop for repair.

Always carry a spare prop. A less expensive aluminum will serve as a spare. Make sure all attaching components like washers, nuts and cotter pins are included in case you drop one overboard. Lubricate the prop shaft with anti-corrosive grease. Replace the prop, torque properly and install a new cotter pin.

Now you are ready to enjoy trouble free boating and fishing.

OUTDOORS

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER® PROS

Rhonda Wilson

Getting ready for a new fishing season? The rods and reels, lines and lures are all in order. Here are a few items every tackle box should contain.

First, don't go fishing without a pair of needle nose pliers. You won't believe how many times a day they're used.

Next, a set of finger nail clippers for clipping monofilament. Wear them on a lanyard around your neck. Saves the teeth.

A small first aid kit with band-aids, antiseptic, snake bite kit, etc., just in case.

A file knife comes in handy too. Hopefully you will get lucky enough to need it. It's a good time to sharpen all your knives.

Meet the members of the Cedar Rapids swim team in next week's issue of the Signal.

Rockcastle County 10-year-old All-Star team attended the 9-and-10-year-old All-Star tournament at Science Hill last week. Rockcastle defeated Pulaski County 7 to 4 in the first round Wednesday and lost to Clay County 11 to 6 and Pulaski County 10 to 1 Saturday to be eliminated from the tournament. The All-Stars are presently in a tournament at Burnside where they defeated the Somerset All-Stars 19 to 17 Tuesday night to advance to the next round Thursday. Members of the team are front row, from left: Chris Sears, Dusty McClure, Ronnie Vanzant, Kevin Bullens, Chris Bishop, Shawn Davidson and Travis Anderkin. Back row, from left: coach Jack Noe, Dwayne Robinson, David Lynn King, Nathan DeLeon, Johnathon Northern, statistician Calvin Rader, Matthew Sowder, Blake Childress, Jimmy Houk and manager J.R. Middleton.

The Rockcastle County 9-and-10-year-old all-stars were eliminated from the 9-and-10-year old all-star tournament at Science Hill this past week after winning one game and losing two. Rockcastle defeated Pulaski County 17-3 in the first round and lost to Clay County 10-0 and Russell County 9-0 in the second round. The all-stars are presently in a tournament at Russell County where they lost to the Adair County all-stars 8-7 Tuesday night. The all-stars will play again at Russell County Thursday (tonight) at 9:30 p.m. This year's members are front row from left, Jason McFerron, David Ledford, Layne Ross Nicely, Andy Hale, Josh Hendrickson and Chad Allen. Middle row from left, Mark Proctor, Scott Lamb, Eric Bengo, Justin Phelps, Cody Cox, Christie Lovell and Jacob Burdette. Back row from left, manager Doug Proctor and coach Jack Chaliff.

7-and-8-year-old All-Stars compete Saturday in Irvine

A seven-and-eight-year-old all-star team has been formed for the first time in county history and will begin play this week.

The all-stars, coached by Lynn Parsons, George Bishop, Jr. and Coy Taylor, will travel to Irvine this Saturday where they will take on Breathitt County at 2:30 p.m. in their first game of the seven-and-eight-year-old all-star tournament.

A team photo of the all-stars will be in next week's Signal along with the results of their play in the tourney.

Hunter Education course

A free Hunter Education course will be held on July 26, 27 and 28 at the Agriculture/County Extension building on Richmond Street.

Burton, Thacker, McCauley attend Lady Vols ball camp

Three Rockcastle girls recently traveled to Tennessee to participate in the Lady Vols basketball camp.

April Burton, Jennifer Thacker and Cindy McCauley, who all play for the Rockcastle County Lady Rockets, made the trip and performed well receiving honors.

All three were among 60 girls that were selected to an all-star team out of the 400 campers that attended the week long camp.

Cindy McCauley won the one-on-one competition out of 140 campers in the eighth and ninth grade division. She was also ranked 6th out of 70 campers in her all-star selection and received the offensive player award.

Jennifer Thacker's five-on-five team supported a perfect mark of 9-0 in their division during the week. She was also ranked in the top 10 out of 100 campers in her all-star selection.

April Burton received the offensive player of the week award for her team and was also ranked in the top 10 out of 90 campers in her all-star selection. Burton was also honored by being selected to the All-American team which played against the Lady Vols of Tennessee.

11-and-12-year-old All-Stars advance to championship game

The Rockcastle County 11-and-12-year-old all-stars have won four games and lost only one to advance to the championship game of the 11-and-12-year-old double-elimination all-star tournament at Thacker Field in Brodhead.

Rain delayed the tourney which was set to begin last Thursday and forced most of the games to be played this past weekend.

Rockcastle started the tournament Saturday by defeating Somerset 9-6 and then losing to London 2-1 in the winner's bracket. The all-stars then bounced back in the final game Saturday by handing Corbin a 6-4 loss in the loser's bracket.

And the Rockcastle all-stars came out of the loser's bracket Sunday by getting wins over Somerset 13-3 and Pulaski County 12-6.

The teams participating in the tourney were London, Somerset, Rockcastle, Corbin, Jackson County and Pulaski County.

The Rockcastle all-stars will now have another chance at undefeated London for the championship of the tournament.

But since the tournament was prolonged by rain and due to London hosting their own tournament this week, a time and date for the championship game has not been set.

In Saturday's action, pitcher Ryan Bradley went the distance on the mound to help Rockcastle to knock off Somerset 9-6.

Chad Severance also put in a good day's work for the Rockcastle all-stars in the second game. Severance held the London all-stars to only three hits and two runs in six innings but still had to take the loss as Rockcastle's hitting could only produce one run.

Rockcastle got their only run in the top of the first inning when Bradley walked, stole second and then scored on a solid base hit by Jason Childress.

But the Rockcastle all-stars found new life in the third game and edged out Corbin by a score of 6-4 in yet another pitchers duel. Rockcastle's Jarrod Singleton got the win. Denny Smith got the ball rolling for Rockcastle in Sunday's first game by smacking a homerun in the first inning and starting a rally that eventually scored 10 runs.

Smith also closed the game with two innings on the mound, after a good first three by Bradley, to shut Somerset down for a 13-3 Rockcastle win.

And in the second and final game Sunday for Rockcastle, it was Severance, coming off an outstanding but disappointing loss to London, snatching a win from Pulaski County 12-6 and allowing Rockcastle to advance out of the loser's bracket to the championship game of the tournament.

Please Note.....

Update.....

The Rockcastle County 13-year old all-stars were defeated Monday night at Barboursville in their second game of the 13-year old all-star tournament by the Knox County all-stars 16-7.

Joseph and Stella Sparks of Mt. Vernon are shown with their catch of the day they caught from Lake Linville, July 17. The catfish was 33 inches long and weighed in at a whopping 17 1/2 pounds.

Angela McKinney to vie for Miss Kentucky USA title

Angela McKinney, the daughter of Danny and Betty Jo McKinney of Brodhead, will travel to Paducah on Thursday to check in at the Executive Inn in Paducah to participate in the Miss Kentucky USA Pageant.

Angela will have rehearsals and a fashion show at the hotel complex with the interviews scheduled for Saturday afternoon. The pageant will be held Saturday the 21st, at 7 p.m., in the Riverfront Ballroom of the Executive Inn.

The Pageant night, Angela will compete in the coming out category, swimsuit, a dance routine to "Lady in Red" and the beautiful evening gown competition. The executive director of the Miss Kentucky USA, B.F. Behrendt says about 28 ladies will be competing for the state title. Miss Kentucky Tiffany Tenfeldt, the reigning Miss Kentucky USA, will hand the crown to the new queen. Tiffany placed in the top ten during the Miss USA pageant held in Florida. She has been in New York this summer modeling.

Angela receives our best wishes for a good experience and a chance to bring home the title of Miss Kentucky USA. Good Luck Angela!!!

Work shop set July 24 for How to set up craft business

How to set up a craft business will be the focus of an Extension-sponsored workshop to be at the Redbird Mission in Beverly, July 24.

Topics at the workshop include preparation of a business plan, permits, licenses and regulations, taxes, pricing and recordkeeping, said Patti Rai Smith, University of Kentucky Extension home-based business specialist.

"We have many experts lined up to help crafts makers learn more about operating a profitable business," Smith said.

The workshop will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will continue throughout the day. The workshop is free and open to anyone who wants to learn more about the crafts business. For more information about the workshop, Smith said to contact your county Extension office or Redbird Mission, (606) 598-2709.

KENTUCKY'S WAITING CHILD

Three year old Mike and his two year old brother Gary are energetic, healthy pre-schoolers. They need a permanent home to grow and blossom. Can you be that family?

Kentucky has over 275 children waiting for an adoptive family. Like Gary and Mike, these children wait in foster homes, if they are lucky. Kentucky has a shortage of foster and adoptive homes for minority children.

The Department for Social Services is looking for people who can make a commitment to children. You can be single, an apartment dweller, or have a moderate income. There is no fee charge for services.

If you want to make a difference in the life of a child, consider fostering or adoption. For information call:

Sweet & Sour

by
Zi Graves

Yesterdays, Todays and Tomorrows

Recently, I took a run up to Cincinnati to visit a few ailing relatives and, while there, I recharged my memory and recording chambers. Talking to one's aging siblings will do that you know. It also brings to mind the changes that have taken place over the years. Television is one of those changes. One of the biggest influences in the lives of families I think is the ever-present T.V. This is evident every time one goes into the home of a relative or friend. Conversation is almost a thing of the past. I was visiting in one of the homes and, after about ten minutes of talking on a subject I thought we were both enjoying, the book tube suddenly came to life in the middle of a statement was making and a strange voice took over our conversation. The little black box, held in the hand of my hostess, had changed our morning coffee klatch from one of casual family chit chat and exchange of common interests to one of world problems and the unreal world of T.V. For a minute, I wanted to be just as rude and leave but my need for human companionship kept me rooted to my chair. My hostess simply said, "I thought you might want to hear the news." This simple act of one pushing a button on a magic box in her hand told me that either I was a dull conversationalist or she was a dull listener. Either way, it broke up my train of thought and caused me to enter my own private world of fault-finding. That's when I find fault with people I love as well as with the system that encourages these rude actions. I don't like this part of me. Yet, it is the part that enables me to see these things as the changes taking place in our world and lives and is an important part of progress.

Such a few short years ago, this act would not only have been impossible but would have been considered too rude to do even had it been possible. That was back when people considered a guest in one's home, whether it be for a cup of coffee or a week's stay, as a privilege to exchange ideas and get caught up on all family or community gossip. Usually even the kids were shooed out so there would be no interruption and things could be talked about they weren't supposed to hear. Now, it doesn't matter if they do stay in and listen for they are the ones that seem to have all the answers. Especially if it's about things we once considered them too young to know. Television has changed that. Now, kids, as well as adults, listen and watch programs on T.V. in our living rooms that at one time we thought too indelicate to even talk about in the privacy of our bedrooms.

Television has become our

French-Hines

Mr. and Mrs. William L. French of Mt. Vernon announce the marriage of their daughter, Annette, to Charles Ernest Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hines of Mt. Vernon. The wedding was an event of July 1, 1990 at the Pine Hill Holiness Church. The ceremony was performed by pastor Allen Hensley. A reception immediately followed at the home of Magdaline Collins of Pine Hill. Maid of honor was Ruby Harmon and best man was Johnny Kirby. Flower girl was Stephanie Haarmon and ring bearer was Joanie Hines.

Ladies Aid Missionary Society

The Missionary Group met at Dix Point Restaurant at 7:30 p.m. July 10, 1990.

Other obligations kept several from attending, but Jesus said, "Where two or three are gathered in My name, there I'll be."

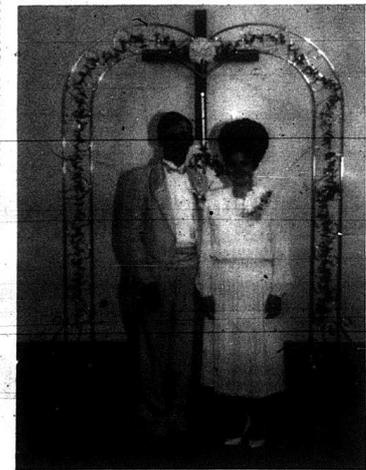

Betsy Machal chose the subject of "Friendship" for the lesson, because of church's homecomings. She read scripture from 1st and 2nd Samuel that told of David's and John's friendship. She quoted from Proverbs that teaches us about this subject. Lastly, she read the poem, "I Know You Are There" telling about our Lord's presence everywhere.

She asked Barbara Watson to end this devotion in prayer.

Barbara also read a "Thank You" note from Ella Mae Martin for food

You've helped us when we needed it,
You've listened to us, too,
And always with the thoughtfulness
That's typical of you.

So even though it's sometimes hard,
To show how much we care,
We hope you know we think you are
The best parents anywhere.
