

Teen Center back in operation; activities listed for week

During the first week back in operation, the Rockcastle Teen Center hosted about 25 young people. A wide range of requests for programs emerged as staff talked with the teens. Tops on the list were groups for high school mothers of infants and pregnant teens, honest and complete information about human sexuality, and help with homework or tutoring in school subjects. Others were primarily interested in recreation and swimming, and some expressed interest in creative writing and art.

Four high school students, Erica Kirby, Belinita Mason, Wesley Mullins, and Lisa Swinney, met as a temporarily appointed Teen Council to discuss their program ideas with the staff. Out of that meeting came the recommendations that there be a quiet place in the Center for homework and group meetings, and that teens should hold a car wash to raise money for a trip to King's Island.

Plans for the current week include: 3:30-4:30 Tuesdays—Teen Council Meeting (open to all teens) 3:00-5:00 Tuesday through Thursday—Homework help/tutoring (interested students should bring books and materials and provide subject teachers' names)

3:00-8:00 Tuesday through Friday—Drop-in Recreation (pool may be open for swimming on Thursday; check ahead) Art Project - Poster-making for fund raising

7:00-8:00 Wednesdays—Student Writers group (open to teens with an interest in creative writing or publication)

7:00-8:00 Rock Rap with former Rock musician (bring any favorite tapes) 7:00-8:30 Saturday—Car Wash at Town Parkings lot on Main Street. Participants will have their cost reduced for the Kings Island trip according to the hours worked.)

Mrs. Ginny Gilpatrick, coordinator at the Teen Center, announced the Junior High classes Wednesday. The Teen Center, located across the street from MVES, is open for teen transportation after school each day. Bus transportation, with parent permission, can be arranged. Students can participate in group discussions of teen interest, creative writing with planned publication, music, art and swimming. The Teen Center is sponsoring a car wash Saturday to earn money toward a trip to King's Island, Oct. 6.

Mt. Vernon city policeman, Jack Fortner, is beginning a seventeen week drug prevention education program, D.A.R.E., with our sixth grade students. The first session starts Friday, which includes the classes of Student Nelson Graves, Patsy Morgan and Laloy Graves. This program helps students develop positive self-esteem and self-confidence.

Involved in the professional development math workshop, Saturday, were teachers, Onita Kay Owens, Lena Hayes, Margie Bishop, Linda Cummins, Jeanne Parsh, Jeletta Bradshaw, and Judy Doyle.

Weather permitting, the hot air balloon will arrive Thursday morning. Don't forget PTA, which meets at 7 p.m., Thursday evening (tomorrow) in the school cafeteria.

We are collecting Kroger cash register receipts. If you shop Krogers, save your receipt, because our school can get computers for the classrooms.

If you were unable to see your child's test scores this summer, please call the school. Any Tues., Thurs., or Fri., our school counselor will be glad to schedule an appointment with you.

Our students, K-8, are making posters to depict their desire for a Drug-Free Kentucky. The winning posters will be displayed all across Kentucky, to tell everyone that a Drug-Free Kentucky would be a great place to live, work and go to school.

below 515 just two months ago, you can expect to see a sharp escalation in prices at the gasoline pumps very soon. The increase the day after the Iraqi invasion was a combination of a planned price increase (oil prices had been increasing for two weeks prior to the invasion due to the military posturing) and anticipation of higher prices in the future. Sharp public outcry got oil companies to reduce their gasoline prices somewhat for a few public relations, however it now appears that prices will soon be on their way up. The country had large stocks of the cheaper oil in refineries and in ships in transit, but those oil soon be depleted and oil companies will be forced to pass along the higher prices. If each dollar per barrel translates into a nearly 5 cent per gallon increase at the pumps, we could be looking at $1.50 gasoline very soon. How high the price goes in the short run depends on how the mid-east situation develops. If Saudi Arabia is involved in a shooting war where its oil production is affected, the world oil supply would be reduced by nearly 20 percent overnight. This would be comparable to the oil embargo of 1973 in terms of its effect on U.S. supplies. The spot market price of oil could easily double if that were the case, with a ripple effect throughout all liquid fuels markets.

While we've had only a war of words so far, what are the expected impacts on energy prices across the board? Obviously liquid fuels will follow the price of international crude oil prices. That includes gasoline, diesel, heating oil and kerosene. Most closely tied to oil will be natural gas and LP gas prices since gas and diesel are interchangeable fuels for some applications. Natural gas supplies in the U.S. come mostly from domestic sources, or from Canada or Mexico, so there is not the international pressure on its price. Very little electricity is generated domestically from oil, so electric rates will not be immediately impacted by foreign oil price increases. Coal for electricity generation is purchased on contracts of at least one year, so the fuel costs for power plants will be stable for a number of months yet. If oil prices stay at their current levels, what is likely to happen to other energy prices? LP gas will likely go up to some extent, along with natural gas, probably by only a little as two months. Publicly owned gas companies must seek rate increases through the Public Service Commission, so any price increases would be delayed by several months during the hearings. Price increases could be in force within one year, however. Since utility operations are not usually publicly held, so they have no regulations on what they charge the customers. Look for LP prices to jump very soon, before winter gets here. Electricity prices will be stable for the foreseeable future. Many electric utilities are regulated by the PSC, so they generate their power with Kentucky coal. The Clean Air Act will likely have more influence on electricity rates than any war in the Persian Gulf. Look for electricity prices to be stable for the next year. Heating oil and kerosene will have prices proportional to the market price for crude oil. Expect to see large increases in those very shortly, and to have nearly doubled if this situation continues through the winter. Coal prices should be quite stable during the next year, being largely independent of foreign oil. While coal and natural gas are largely independent of oil pricing, all energy prices will ultimately reach some sort of comparable worth pricing structure over a period of several years. Oil prices cannot go up without having an impact on the price of coal and gas in the next year or two.

So what should the average homeowner do in these times? Reduce your discretionary driving any way that you can. Consolidating errands and carpooling to work are good examples. Keep your car in top shape and have the tires properly inflated. Drive conservatively by making smooth starts and stops and not exceeding the speed limit. If you have two cars in the family, drive the smaller, more fuel efficient car when only one or two people will be in the car. Finally, don't hoard gasoline in storage tanks. If someone did that, the price would skyrocket due to the short term demand. If you are planning to get a new car soon, give good efficiency a little greater consideration now than you might have two months ago.

The Mount Vernon Signal, Thursday, September 13, 1990 P-37
Begin to examine your home for energy conservation opportunities that you can do yourself. Extra attic insulation (up to 12 inches) is easy to install and works both winter and summer. Make sure your heating and cooling units are in good working order. If you are going to remodel, you might consider upgrading your windows. Use ceiling fans in summer and wear warm clothes in winter so you use your heating or cooling systems less. If your heat pump or furnace is on its last leg, look into a higher efficiency unit the next time around. Wrap that water heater if you have had a new one installed since the last energy crisis and hadn't gotten around to insulating it. Consider a setback thermostat that automatically turns the heat or air conditioning back when you are gone to work or are in bed. Why spend more money when electricity and natural gas are relatively cheap and can be expected to stay that way for the next year or so? Ask yourself this question: "Can I more easily afford to spend money now for energy conservation when my monthly utility bills are $150, or a year from now when they are $200?" If your answer to that question is yes, then why wait?

Public Hearing Notice

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court plans to submit an application for Community Development Block Grant Special Project Funds. The Fiscal Court proposes to request funds for the construction of a new County Health Department to be located in East Mt. Vernon near the Rockcastle County Comprehensive Health Care Center.

A public hearing will be held at 3 p.m. on Friday, January 21, 1990, in the District Courtroom in the Rockcastle County Courthouse at Mt. Vernon, Kentucky to solicit public comments concerning the proposed project.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $350,000 with CDBG participation estimated at approximately $200,000. A copy of the application and the record of previous projects may be reviewed at the Rockcastle County Judge/Executive's office from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. from September 19, 1990 through September 25, 1990. Written comments on the application, as well as the past performance of the county in other Community Development Block Grant Programs will be accepted through September 26, 1990.

Clark Mullins chosen new city councilman

By: Ray McClure

Clark "Joe" Mullins, president of Parker-Seal Company at Berea, was chosen a city councilman at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council last Thursday.

Mullins, the son of Norma and the late Harry Mullins of Renfro Valley, will serve until the May 1991 primary.

He replaces William Cash who resigned at the August meeting of the council.

There were two names presented to the council - Mullins and Mrs. Lou Vanhose. Both got two votes each. In a tie, the mayor casts a vote, and Mayor Gary R. Cromer voted for Mullins. At the same time, he complimented Mrs. Vanhose and noted she could be a candidate for council in May if she so desired. Councilman Lloyd Cain was late for the meeting and did not vote.

In other action, the council gave a second reading to an ordinance putting an annual license fee on entertainment tickets. The ordinance becomes legal upon publication, but will not be put into effect until Jan. 1.

A complaint on service rendered by Falcon TV cable by Councilman Wayne Adams resulted in a letter that will be written to the company by City Attorney John Contz requesting some official of the company attend the council's Oct. 1 meeting to discuss the problem.

Adams said the service is "poor" and many areas are having problems with "snow" and "scrambling."

The council voted to dispatch fire calls for the Livingston Volunteer Fire Department at a fee of $50 a month, and invited Brodhead to use the service on the same basis, if they so wish. Only fire calls will be dispatched.

On the subject of dispatching, Police Chief Joe Howard said the 256-2121 dispatching number has been very successful, "a very big help." He said response time after calls averages three minutes.

Mayor Cromer said the new post office mailing box on Main Street is having 50 percent usage and business people in the area have been pleased with it. It also relieves congestion at the post office.

For one dollar year, the VFW post at Lake Linville will lease the adjacent ballfield for upgrading and for use for various ball games, including Little League. The ballfield will still be open for public use. The lease depends on whether the lease conflicts with a contract for the area held by Jimmy Hale, operator of the boat

A street next to property owned by Norma Mullins at Renfro Valley was named Little Clifford Lane in honor of Harry Mullins who was Little Clifford on the Renfro Valley Barn Dance. The street is one street over from the street named after the late Red Foley.

The council approved trimming overhanging tree limbs along Richmond Street. Chief Joe Howard will notify property owners.

Chief Howard presented the council with a list of activities by the police and fire departments during

Board approves new sick leave policy for employees

By: Richard Anderkin

Sick days are not as "puny" a value in the Rockcastle County School system, as they once were. At last week's meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education, board members voted to increase the percentage of sick leave days applied toward retirement, from 15 percent to 25 percent.

Superintendent Bige Towery Jr., who recommended the increase to the board said that he believed a 10 percent increase would give teachers more incentive to work, and that it may allow some teachers to retire.

"We should be able to save enough on substitutes to afford the extra money for sick days," Towery said. The ten percent increase still did not put Rockcastle's sick leave policy at the top for state scale. The state allows local districts to pay up to 30 percent for sick days not used.

The subject of students' crossing school districts also got the attention of the local board.

Each year the board must agree that students can cross district lines and enroll in other systems. Other systems must agree on the same thing. In the past the non-pupil legislation has gotten very little attention, but that was not the case last week.

Board member Clayton Cash voted against allowing students from Rockcastle County to enter other school districts and vice-versa. Member Earl Cummins abstained on the motion by member Debbie Whitehead. That motion was to approve the non-pupil legislation this year, but to review the local board's policies before it came to a vote next year.

Cash said that he did not vote for the measure because he thought students should have to attend school in the county where they live.

He pointed out the fact that two RCHS students now attend Somerset High School because their parents were unhappy with the basketball program at the high school. Cash said that he did not think that was a legitimate reason for crossing district lines.

Superintendent Towery also reported his personal actions to the board as of Sept. 4th.

They included the hiring of Paul Waddles as assistant at MVE'S Jeanine Parsons and Joletta Bradshaw as teachers at BES, Jennifer Mason a teacher at Roundstone and Juanita Robinson a teacher at Livingston.

Betty Conley is the new guidance counselor at RCHS. She is from Winchester and will replace Jamie Worley who is now working in Madison County School system.

Leah Jones was hired as secretary at Livingston, Jennifer Cash will be a Chapter 1 aide, Glenna Spoonmore is general clerical assistant at Mt. Vernon, Robyn Slayton is an aide in the early childhood program, Myrna Childress is an aide at RCHS, David Taylor is an aide at Brodhead, Alan Persol is an aide at Livingston and Dennis Lawrence is a part-time physical education teacher at Brodhead.

Alan Hammond and Vicki Wilson were hired as substitute teachers. Jackie Cummins, Barbara Kirby, Norma Singleton and Lena Smith were hired as cooks, while Mary Collins was hired as a bus driver and Earl McNew as a substitute driver.

Airport study money OK'd

By: Ray McClure

First step in developing a Mt. Vernon-Rockcastle County airport was given a boost this week when Governor Wallace Wilkinson announced the state has committed $4,500 to conduct a feasibility study for the project.

The $4,500 will be matched with local funds for the $9,000 needed. The money will be used not only for a feasibility study, but to obtain a consultant and engineer. No site has been mentioned.

Gov. Wilkinson said "expanding needs for air transportation is a very good sign that our state's economy is growing."

"The study will enable us to look at the demand in that area for additional transportation facilities and to consider future needs," the governor said. "Efficient transportation is always a key factor in retaining our industries and attracting new ones."

Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant said state funds used for the project will come from the Kentucky Airport Development Program.

An airport board has been named in Rockcastle and has met on several occasions. On the board are: Bud Cox, chairman; Jerry Burke, vice chairman, both of Mt. Vernon; Robert H. Crawford, secretary-treasurer, Brodhead; Dr. Orsen L. Arvin of Mt. Vernon; Bill Ralldolph of Brodhead and Gary Mink of Livingston.

The board members were appointed by Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary R. Cromer and County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins.

Rockcastle had a small airport several years ago owned by Hobert Harris on Brindle Ridge. It had a hanger and landing strip that could accommodate small planes, and was especially valuable in case of an emergency.

Although a commitment was made for the funds, an airport is admittedly a long way in the future, if for no other reason than the criteria demanded by various agencies, including the Federal Aviation authority (FAA). The FAA could fund 90 percent of the needed money if the project is finally approved.

Among the criteria are that at least 10 aircraft must be registered in Rockcastle. The airport must be within 30 miles of the closest exist-

Tobacco referendum vote set for Friday

Tobacco producers, tenants and share-croppers sharing in the proceeds from the sale of burley tobacco can vote the upcoming referendum.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has designated Friday, Sept. 14, from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m. at the County Extension Office for referendum voting.

The effect of the referendum, if adopted, is to add to the current assessment of one tenth of a cent per pound on burley tobacco quotas in excess of the thousand pounds. Again, this only effects those producers selling over 10,000 pounds.

In 1976, producers approved by referendum an assessment of one-tenth cent per pound deducted on their burley tobacco marketing quotas, with a minimum of fifty cents ($50) and a maximum of ten dollars ($10) each marketing year. If adopted, the maximum would be raised for tobacco marketed above the current 10,000 limit.

Check off funds are handled by the Council for Burley Tobacco. The additional assessment will be for the purpose of financing a program through research, market development, education and promotion to increase the domestic and foreign consumption, use, sale and markets for Burley tobacco.

Mullins proclaims Sept. 16-22 Farm Safety Week

In the wake of a recent farming accident death it is ironic that September 16-22 is National Farm Safety Week.

On Sept. 3rd Kenneth Wayne Alexander of Fairview was killed when the tractor he was driving turned over on him.

Alexander was an active member of the local chapter of the Young Farmers and last Tuesday members of that group as well as members of the Rockcastle County Future Farmers of America gathered at the Rockcastle County Courthouse to honor Alexander's memory and to help

County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins proclaim next week as National Farm Safety Week in Rockcastle.

Farming still ranks as one of the most hazardous occupations in the United States.

FRIENDLY REMINDER

A Rockcastle County Economic Development Conference is scheduled today (Thursday) until noon at the courthouse.

The conference opens at 8:45 a.m. and features speakers from various areas of Kentucky.

County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins recently proclaimed the week of Sept. 16-22 as Farm Safety Week in Rockcastle County. Looking on were, from left: Bill Ponder, FFA adviser; Wesley Mays, YFA president and Jay Sowder and Curt Cash, FFA officers.

Kentuckians worry about Middle East situation

By: Amy Taylor (Reprinted from Ky. Standard)

Two Nelson Counties fear their friends will be hurt - or worse.

Dean and Linda French listen to newscasts daily on the trouble in Kuwait; they scan newspapers, anxious for word about the Arab country the two teachers left last year.

Dean French is the son of Willie and Bonnie French of Deatsville, Ky., formerly from Rockcastle County. He is the grandson of Mrs. Cassie French, Red Hill and the nephew of Bob and Betty French, Mt. Vernon.

The Frenches decided then to bring their two sons home to the states. If not for that decision, they could be trapped in Kuwait City, hiding in an apartment.

"They could be waiting for a terrorist bomb to hit."

Since Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein invaded the tiny, oil-rich nation of Kuwait a few days ago, Linda French can recall scenes of terror from her seven years of teaching at the American School There.

"The American embassy was bombed there in 1983," she said.

School was in session that day. Rumors were flying that there was a suicide truck loaded with explosives headed to the school. The streets were jammed with people trying to get their children out."

There were four people killed, Linda French said, in the American embassy that day.

"One of them was one of my good friends," she said.

Dean French, who spent four years in Kuwait with his wife, recalls the Americans' constant radio contact with the embassy.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:
 I am writing this letter, after a week of thought, in response to a letter written in last week's paper by Sheila Allen.
 I want to answer Sheila's letter issue by issue because I don't want to leave any ground uncovered. First, I want to mention Sheila's concern about the four-year-old program. Please reread that ad. I am not an authority on that program, but I think you have some misconceptions about its requirements and intentions.
 I think it is wonderful that Mrs. Allen is able to stay at home with her children. However, about 75% of mothers or fathers do not have that option in these very difficult times. I don't believe most parents leave their children because they don't want to care for them. I feel many are in the same position I am in. They must work to help support or in my case, fully support their family.
 I hope Sheila does use her diploma to help her children at home. This will give them an extra boost in school. However, I must disagree with her on the issue about thirteen years of school being enough. It was not enough when I found myself a single parent with no job, a child to rear, and only a high school diploma. I could not find an adequate job anywhere and I really looked! But in hindsight, that turned out to be a blessing. I ended up back in school. This part of my story leads me to another one of Mrs. Allen's comments. I am referring to the very unflattering comments about teachers, schools and money.

An unfortunate happening in my personal life turned me toward a field of work I longed to be a part of years ago, teaching. I had always wanted to be a teacher because I loved children and learning. Also another reason was the group of people you mentioned. Aside from my parents who I give top mention to, I included many teachers among those I most wanted to be like. They modeled for me honesty, integrity, determination and self respect. Believe me, Sheila, they still do, I have not been disappointed. I'm sure there may be exceptions to the rule, but you can rest assured I have not met any in Mt. Vernon Elementary School or among any other Rockcastle County teachers. I must have had the great pleasure of working with.

 As for the money teachers make, my twenty-six year old brother-in-law who has a high school degree and works in a Berea factory makes much more money than I do as a teacher. Teaching school or working as a school administrator in any capacity is not just a profession, it is a calling in my opinion.
 No one with 5 years+ in college would work for the salary a teacher makes anywhere in the USA, if the money was the only motivator. Not only that, but no other profession comes under the criticism and scrutiny a teacher does. We will be held even more accountable for the outcome of our efforts with our students in the near future. However, I and most others, choose to stick with it. Also, if money were the only motivation for teachers, many people would be teaching their own children at home. There would not be enough teachers to run the schools.
 The mention of paying taxes reminded me that I and every other teacher and school administrator pay the same taxes as any other person does. As for the money received by schools as funding to operate our schools, I am thankful for the additional funding poorer districts can get this year and in the future. This money will help teachers and administrators do a better job. This will give Rockcastle County children a chance to show all of Kentucky, the whole USA for that matter, that Rockcastle County kids can fly just as high as any other kids anywhere. I must admit your comments took the wind out of my high hopes for a few days. Then I began to think surely you must have a misunderstanding about what goes on in school all day. If you have even babysat, then think upon babysitting 20 or more, much more children.
 But wait, there is much more to it than that, we are responsible for not only being mother, father, mother, referee, cheerleader, disciplinarian, and a good listener, we must make sure they learn something during all this. I am not complaining, I love it. I say this to let you know teaching is a much more difficult job than many may believe. I invite you to come by any day, even unannounced, to see what goes on all day at school, spend the day with me.
 In the future, when anyone makes you believe that parents are doing all the work at home and their child does nothing at school, please tell them to set up a conference with their child's teacher. I am sure some light can come to the situation if this is done.
 I suggest you get involved with the PTA where your children will attend school. Have a part in your children's future! Their future will require much more of them than in past generations. I want my son and my children (at school) to be ready to meet the very great challenge ahead. Surely you do, too! We as teachers and administrators need your encouragement and support, not criticism. Remember, we are all in this for the same reason, our children.
 Sincerely,
 Delilah Barnett Brewer

Dear Editor:
 This 8:01 a.m. being alone as I always am, I hear the news while I have my cereal and coffee. A lot of memories flooded my head and I apologize because I want to take you down the memories with me. Although, one thing that happened that I thought a bit unusual, was when my phone rang and a male voice asked me if I was the one who writes for the Mount Vernon

Sweet & Sour

By:
Zi Graves

Golden Wedding Day

The last couple of weeks have been spent refueling my memory bank or creating new memories for some time in the future.

I must thank my faithful readers who have called or written to ask why they couldn't find Sweet and Sour in the paper. I really do appreciate these messages and I guess if they would stop asking I'd say my faithful magic pen aside and give my hand and arm a permanent rest. Now that's not really true though, for writing is a hobby I simply can't cast aside. It's a part of me and I love doing it. So, keep 'em coming, I like it. I'm even saving the written ones to put in my scrap book.

Now let's get back to my latest search for new experiences to share with you.

I've been in the beautiful rolling hills of W. Va., close by to Lewisburg and White Sulphur Springs. Rodney lives at a small place called, Sinks Grove and that's where I was.

The countryside around that area is about as pretty as any I've seen anywhere and the people inhabiting it are some of the finest I've ever had the privilege to meet.

One of the reasons I went at this time of year was to attend the golden wedding anniversary of Helen's parents, Virginia Collier Campbell and Clayborne Campbell.

The celebration was on Sunday, Sept. 2nd, a day early, so people could plan for a whole weekend and what a weekend it turned out to be. For the whole week before the big day all members of the family plus a few early guests were busy cooking, cleaning, trimming lawns and flower beds and meeting planes coming into Roanoke, Va. and Lewisburg, W. Va. Guests were coming from all parts of the United States, Cal., Arizona, Carolina, Mass. and New Jersey were just a few of the states represented.

My part of the help was to make pies, Zucchini bread, cookies and finally gallons of potato salad. And I loved it for cooking is one of the joys of my life.

Some of the meals we were preparing was for the get-togethers in the evening at a beautiful campsite snuggled away in an isolated section of the area where the guests could mingle together and watch the sun come up over the rolling hills or watch for the deer to come out in the evening dusk to graze in the open fields about the place. They could also hike the three miles into the closest settlement, Wolf Creek, or share in the big hot tub on the front deck. Some time I'll tell more about this creative setting for people who want to enjoy the privacy of being alone and still have all the modern conveniences for comfortable living.

For now though, I'll stick to my description of a celebration to beat all 'shin digs' I've ever shared in.

The Campbell's home is a large white two-story house with a large lawn surrounding it and pinned in with a white plank fence. Along this fence were multiple flowers all doing their best to make a show of their beauty. In the center of the back yard was a large rose garden bordered with other flowers. A grape arbor loaded with fully ripe fruit separated the front and back lawns and was a perfect backdrop for a large tent set up to shade the seats for the guests. Anyone was welcome to sample this luscious fruit when the sweet odors overpowered their senses.

A soft grey rail fence between the lawn and vegetable garden was the setting for the picture which seemed to take hours to get through.

On the back lawn a table was spread for all the food that kept coming in from neighbors and friends as their love offering. This was to supplement the caterers barbecued chicken and pork and hot rolls. I've never seen so much food. It would have been impossible to sample all of it.

To supplement the seating arrangements, chairs and small tables were arranged in small groups under the huge shade trees and on the large porch which ran around two sides of the house. There were pots of flowers in every conceivable nook and cranny.

Off the porch there were also two tables set up. One to display memories of the past, the other to hold the large four tiered cake that was a replica of the original wedding cake even the original bride and groom decorating the first one was used. This table had a linen cloth on it that was a wedding gift to the bride. The cake was a masterpiece made by one of the kind friends.

Scattered about on the lawn were bales of hay freshly cut from the fields for people to lounge on. In the center of the lawn was an old fashioned wheelbarrow painted bright red, full of hay and spilling over with flowers and vegetables fresh from the garden. The squash, tomatoes, Zucchini and peppers were for everyone to take home, if they wanted.

In the background was the big dairy barn and holstein cattle grazing contentedly on the rolling knolls surrounding it.

The three hundred, more or less, guests began arriving about noon and before long the place looked like a big state affair.

Pretty dress up clothes predominated but those in slacks or casual clothes mixed freely together. Relatives met for the first time in years. Occasionally it was for the first time. Friends greeted each other whom they

"Our Leaders Write"

Signal, I told him yes. He said he wanted to thank me for my memories of his grandmother "Aunt Bet Howard" of the first world war years.

Another word, and I will unhang you. Many years ago, I took my five year old son to the Cincinnati Zoo. We walked along slowly, we met a neighbor. She lived next door to us. A couple of months prior to this day, my mother had told me the good neighbor was very ill, and she had over-active thyroids. This day in the autumn it was rather warm, little Jimmy looked up at me and said, mommy, are you too warm? I said no dear, but why do you ask? He said, well look it that big animal wallowing in the mud. I bet he has over-active thyroids.

The animal was a hippopotamus. I thank you most sincerely, hadn't seen for fifty years. Old friends were greeted warmly and new ones made.

People from all walks of life were there. One never knew if it was a doctor, lawyer, psychiatrist or any employee he/she was talking to. Everyone was an equal and treated equally. New members in the family were made to feel as if they had always belonged.

It kept the immediate members of the family busy mixing with the crowd and introducing strangers to one another so no one was left out of the action.

After the sumptuous meal was over and people began to tire a little, the beautiful big cake was cut and a reception line formed so everyone could give the Campbells their personal congratulations. Then it was time for a quiet hour when only Virginia and Clayborne talked of their wedding day fifty years ago and the courtship leading up to it. It all started at Berea College which brings me up to the unusual thing about this anniversary.

All of their original wedding party were Berea graduates and all of them were there to help celebrate this big day except the minister and of course their parents. Virginia's brother Harry Collier was their best man. He now lives in California.

Helen Green Rabbsell was maid of honor. She also lives in Calif. Their vocalist was Margaret Brannan Judy and she lives in N. Carolina.

In all there were fourteen Brecons at this Shin Dig that includes, Clayborne and Virginia Collier Campbell, and their two daughters, Helen Dare Campbell Graves and Ruth Ellen Campbell Surgill, Rodney Graves and Bill Sturgill.

Virginia and Clayborne each had brothers and sisters with their mates there who were also Berea graduates. I think this certainly speaks well of Berea. Now I wonder what Birch, their only grandchild, will decide when his time comes to make his choice of a college. He is my grandson too.

This big shin dig ended on a happy note after everyone had filled up again and made plans to continue the revelry beginning with breakfast the next morning, their real wedding day, down at the beautiful campsite at Wolf Creek.

I say Hurray for anyone who can pull off a celebration like this after living fifty golden years together.

Please note!

Area Deaths and Funerals

Pleaz Mobley

Pleaz William Mobley, 78, a familiar face in Rockcastle County over the years, died Sept. 5, 1990 at Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Lexington.

A former state senator, Mobley ran for several state-wide offices but won only two in addition to state senator. He was elected 3rd District railroad commissioner in the early 1950s.

Early in his career, he was elected Clay County clerk.

He attended Eastern Kentucky University and graduated from Union College. He then attended the University of Louisville Law School. He was a member of the Oneida Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star. In World War II, he flew supplies to soldiers for the Red Cross and later was appointed by President Dwight Eisenhower to be federal judge of the Trunk Territory on the island of Guam.

After practicing law in Manchester for many years he retired in 1975.

He had another career as a balladeer. He started singing in the early 1940s. In the 1950s he was singing with Jean Ritchie and at the time of his record, "Anglo American Songs and Ballads," is included in the archives of folk song in the Library of Congress.

He was a 50-year member of Oneida Masonic Lodge 736 and was a member of Manchester Chapter 351, Order of the Eastern Star and of Manchester Baptist Church. He was also a member of the Kentucky bar Association.

He is survived by a daughter, Sylvia Kelly of Lexington; two grandsons; two brothers, Dr. Eddie P. Mobley of Lexington and Joe Mobley of Leesburg, Fla.; and a sister, Mrs. Betty Hensley of Manchester.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Jessie Johnson Mobley.

Services were held Sept. 8 at Manchester Baptist Church, where he was a member, followed by burial in Allen Cemetery in Oneida.

John Laswell

John H. Laswell, 87, of Brodhead, died Sept. 6, 1990 at the Sowder Nursing home.

He was born on Sept. 13, 1902 in Rockcastle County, the son of the late Willie Henry and Louise Phelps Laswell. He operated the Laswell Milling Company in Brodhead for many years and was a retired farmer and member of the Brodhead Baptist Church.

Survivors are: three sons; Troy Laswell of Starkville, Miss.; John Laswell of Lancaster; and Willie Laswell of Nicholasville; a daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Lou Riddle of Lexington; five grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Mattie Parcell Laswell.

Services were held Sept. 9, at the Brodhead Baptist Church with Bros. C.M. Riley and James Harris officiating. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery. Watson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Jack Sowder

Jack Sowder, 59, of Riverdale, Georgia, died Sept. 5, 1990.

He was born March 16, 1931 in Rockcastle County, the son of the late James William Sowder and Grace Barron.

He is survived by his wife, Barbara Lay Sowder; two daughters, Ruth Ann Tanner and Cynthia Sowder, both of Riverdale, Georgia; his mother, Grace Barnett of Mt. Vernon and two grandchildren; four sisters; Tence McHargue, Bessie Bustle, Cleo Price, all of Mt. Vernon and Sally Nicely of Hamilton, Ohio.

He was a 20 year veteran of the U.S. Army where he served in the Army Band. He also served in the Korean Conflict and Vietnam War and was a recipient of the Purple Heart.

Burial was Sept. 8 in Fayetteville, Georgia with a full military service.

Donald Mason

Donald Mason, 51, of Lamerco, died Sept. 7, 1990 at the Rockcastle Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

He was born on June 1, 1939 in Livingston, the son of the late Oseca and Zora Jones Mason. He was a construction worker and a member of the Hazel Green Holiness Church.

Survivors are: His wife, Mrs. Pearl Robinson Mason of Lamerco; four sons, David, Leonard, Robert and Dexter Mason, all of Lamerco; four daughters, Mrs. Donna Wisniewski of Philadelphia, Penn., Mrs. Denise Weaver and Mrs. Pam Weaver, both of London, and Mrs. Marie Miller of East Bernstadt, and seven grandchildren.

Services were held Sept. 9 at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bros. Monte Hale and George Collins officiating. Burial was in Mason Family Cemetery.

Emmett Thomas

Emmett Thomas, 71, of Sand Hill died September 10, 1990 at his residence. He was born in Laurel County Dec. 7, 1918, the son of Willie and Amanda Lewis Thomas. He was an electrician and a member of the Sand Hill Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Wilma Faulkner Thomas of Sand Hill; three daughters, Evelyn C. Blackburn and Sheila Collins, both of Livingston and Shirley Faulkner of Sand Hill; a brother Edsel Thomas of Gary, Indiana and three sisters, Jewell Spivey and Chrystal Kirby, both of Lexington and Mae Dees of Mt. Zion, Ill.; 19 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services were Sept. 12 at Sand Hill Baptist Church with Bro. Clyde Miller officiating. Burial was in the sand Hill Cemetery. Arrangements were by Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were: Coy Kirby, Bruce Faulkner, Daniel Blackburn, David Blackburn, Russell Kirby and Rodney Thomas.

Bill French

Bill French, 74, of Mt. Vernon died September 10, 1990 at the Berea Hospital.

He was born in Rockcastle County Jan. 8, 1916, son of Jim and Mary Shepherd French, a retired employee of Kentucky Stone Company and a member of the Maple Grove Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Alta McClure French of Mt. Vernon; two daughters, Rosemary Imhoff of Hamilton, Ohio and Valerie Roark of Williamsburg; three brothers, Charlie French of Pine Hill, Junior French of Mt. Vernon and Everett French of East Bernstadt; five sisters, Dorothy Robinson of East Bernstadt, Audrey Purcell of Mt. Vernon, Jean Leager of Calloway, Jerline Dooley of Mt. Vernon and Russice Gentry of Orlando. Also surviving are eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services will be Thursday, Sept. 13 at 2 p.m. at the Maple Grove Baptist Church with Bros. Billy Joe Cameron and Jackie Renner officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery at Mullins Station.

Friends may call at the Maple Grove Baptist Church. Arrangements are by Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

Pallbearers are: Donnie French, Denver French, James Wynn, Carlos

Robinson, Johnny Dooley and Charles Stewart.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

You don't have to see a sign, even though you do, to let you know that you are entering the state of Georgia. In fact you see nothing but signs. Huge, monolithic billboards everywhere there is room to put one on both sides of the road so that they literally form walls between I-75 and the rest of Georgia. If you want to see the countryside you have to get off on a side road. And that's precisely what the signs try to talk you into doing.

They want you to get off at their place and take advantage of a bargain that's too good to be true. "Pecans 3 lb. $1.25 Exit 15 Right". That's all it says and almost everyone will get off I-75 the first time they see that sign because that's a bargain. I want a hundred pounds at that price.

Right? So you get off the road, hang a right and sure enough right there in front of you appear 24 gasoline pumps and behind them a long slung shed type building. A sign on top of the roof beam will proudly announce Pecans!" And there they will be big onion sacks full of them and mounds of such sacks. The most pecans that most people who live outside Georgia will ever see on one long rack. And you start wondering how many sacks you can get in the station wagon and still see out the rearview mirror. Because you're still thinking "3 lb. for a buck and a quarter. Man oughta be able to pick up a hundred pounds for thirty bucks, maybe thirty five. And if you know your merchants like I know mine, you know that E.J. will give you at least twenty five dollars for that sack of pecans as soon as you get back to Lancaster. And you're thinking "that just about pays for the gas I've bought on this trip." And you're wondering if you could get five hundred pounds in the wagon if you got the man down to a hundred dollars so you could pay for the whole vacation.

Robert Wilnot would take a sack. Maybe two. Jim Bowman over in Berea might buy the whole load if you cut him a volume deal. John Clark will sure want a sack. So will Joacand Charlie. Doug Rhodus would drive to Georgia himself and buy a whole truck load after he bought what you had. And you start wondering if maybe you couldn't strap four or five sacks on the luggage rack. Embarrass the &*#! out of Loretta and the kids cause little kids in other cars would be pointing their fingers. But it'll be dark in two hours.

Before I even went up for closer inspection of the pecans I was thinking about a grocery route. My buddy, Steve Mong, might back a man on a venture that involved a dump truck hauling pecans out of Georgia, cause I'm thinking no more than fifteen cents a pound in that kind of volume and wondering how many tons a man could get on it.

Cause the bill board said "3 lbs. $1.25". And I was envisioning one of those cute little red onion sacks with three pounds of pecans in them for a buck, twenty five.

"Come here honey". Loretta inter-rupted my entrepreneurship with questioning concern in her voice. It means something's wrong here and it's generally wise to trot on over.

"Look at this". She pointed accusingly at a ten pound sack of pecans. It was priced $17.25. She pointed at a 25 pound sack. $39.50.

"And these are the cheap ones" she said.

Sure enough, this pile only said pecans on the sack. The next pile over was thin shelled pecans — the kind you can crack with a hammer and they were more than two dollars a pound. Paper shell pecans were in still another pile and were priced as gourmet items even though they are the very same thing that you can get in the Kroger store for less than two dollars a pound on occasion. Here they were wanting twice that and they had literature laying around that said they were parked right on the edge of the pecan patch.

Inside the shed they had everything you can think of that a pecan can be made into. Pecan rolls, pies, loaves, butter cake, jam, honey chocolate coated, licorice coated (frost- ed, fried, pickled and stewed. And that's just starters. I'm not even going to talk about prices cause we didn't buy anything.

I went up to a fellow who looked like he was in charge and asked about the dollar and a quarter deal. He gave me the most innocent, dumbfounded, slack jawed expression I've ever seen on anything besides a coon hound.

He didn't know anything about any sign and he sure didn't have any signs priced like that. "You can't afford to pick 'em up for that". The short end of a long story is that nobody for ten miles in either direction had any idea who might have put the sign up. And none of 'em have pecans for less than a buck fifty a pound.

There are three hundred identical bill boards that will lead you out of the inter- state at every exit between Atlanta and the Florida line. But nobody know who put 'em up.

up. I can tell a tall tale, but I'm not that good.

the peach signs. Ditto for peanuts cause I tried 'em all. We tried peaches three times.

But the best bill board of them all is about thirty miles north of the Florida line.

"Pecans", it says, "3 lb. $1.25 up Next Exit, go back 7 miles". I swear to you folks, I am not making that one

County Correspondents Around Brodhead

By: Mary McWhorter

There were a few who forgot to sign the register at the Craig reunion and I overlooked it last week. They were Mrs. Julia Hunt, Benny, Corey and Slacey Craig. If there should be others just let me know. We sure enjoyed all our relatives and friends who were there, just wish lots more could have been with us.

Recent visitors of Walter and Mae Doan were their son, Larry Doan of Mason, Ohio, Mrs. Ola Phelps of Quail, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Courtney of Walton, Orval Tackett of Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McKibben and son Ben and Brenda Bradley, Quail, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McFerron, Mt. Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Renner.

Our deepest sympathy goes to the son and daughter and all the family of Mrs. Ida Skoons Mink, she was a very dear lady. Our sympathy also to John Laswell family, whom we loved dearly.

Visitors of Mrs. Grace Brown and daughter Evon were Bud Brown and George Kennedy of Ohio, Geraldine Cash, Irene Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Ray Cable, Alice Carpenter, Betty Cotton, Christine Brown, Robert Chestnut, Marie Alcorn and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Chestnut and daughter April.

Mrs. Juanita Bröwning, Mrs. Carolyn McKinney and their mother Mrs. Bertha Adams were in Stanford Saturday shopping.

Mrs. Ruth Bassell, Eleanor Gray and Elizabeth Mullins all had dinner Sunday after church at Kastle Inn and later visited at the Watson Family home where John Laswell lay-in-state.

Little Miss Kendra Bassell is visiting with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks this week.

George Brooks is recuperating well from surgery in Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington.

Mrs. Ruth Eita (Riddle) Mink of London was a Friday evening visitor of Ellen Brown and Elizabeth Mullins. They were her former neighbor before her marriage and move to London.

Rick and Charlotte Collett of Berea were Friday evening dinner guests of his mother, Lillian Collett.

Henrietta Fultz of Richmond was Sunday guest of her aunt Elora Gray.

Mrs. and Mrs. Coyt Croley of Cold Springs spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Cuba Croley and also visited me and took me to Jeans for dinner.

Leroy and Catherine Adams of Mason, Ohio spent several days with her mother Mamie Halcomb. They and Mamie visited Lula Bussell and Janet Hanson.

There will be a gospel meeting at the Bethel congregation of the Church of Christ beginning Sept. 30 through Oct. 5th. Speaker will be Bro. Dale Garrison. Everyone is welcome to attend the services which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mae Doan, Dick and Kathleen Courtney of Walton and Orval Tackett of Verona were Sunday afternoon visitors of Monroe and Gertrude Renner.

Mrs. Lydia Rogers and her sister Mrs. Juanita Godbey of Stanford and her daughter Mrs. Carolyn Padgett all visited in California with Juanita's son Frank Godbey and also visited her daughters, Carey Ward in Riverside and Claudette Frispek and family in Sun City. They also visited Jerry Ward's mother, Mrs. Mary Ward in Yucco Valley. Lydia reports a very enjoyable vacation.

Will and Judy Walker of Fairfield, Ohio, were recent visitors of her mother, sister and brother, Maggie, Audrey, Charles and Patsy Fletcher and also visited Walter and Mae Doan at their home.

Tom and Melissa Hohler and baby son, Andrew Raymond George, of Keetering, Ohio, enroute to Gatlinburg, Tenn., stopped by and visited Maggie and Audrey Fletcher, Charles and Patsy. This was a treat for Maggie as it was her first time to see her great grandson.

Other visitors of the Fletchers were Clara Proctor, Alene Parcell, Mae Doan, Mary McWhorter, and Victoria Parrent and friend Darren Wilson. Hamm Reunion & More (names that were omitted last week from the Hamm Reunion)

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Benny Hamm, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Gatliff, Curtis

Conway Sunshine Homemakers

By: Sandi Thomas

Conway Sunshine Homemakers met on Saturday, Sept. 8th at Conway Baptist Church. This is the start of our new year. We elected our officers and filled our handbooks out for the coming year.

After finishing up our old business, we went over our newsletter. Our county annual meeting is Tuesday, Sept. 18 at 6:30 p.m. at Kastle Inn Restaurant in Mt. Vernon.

The Heritage Skills Retreat is Sept. 14 and 15 at the Leadership Center in Jaber, Ky.

We've got some fun programs coming up this month and also October and November. Wearable Art and Cake Decorations II, to name a few.

After taking care of our lesson on Time Management, (I really need help in that department), we enjoyed a snack of sandwiches and fresh fruit that our president Linda Williams fixed for us.

We've changed our meetings days to the first Saturday of each month, until the Tuesday of each month, when the holiday falls at that time then it will move up a week. We will start this in November so we hope to see you there.

WHY WAIT FOR YOUR GLASSES?

Dr. Gary King has an ON-SITE LAB!

This means that you, the patient, will have less waiting on your glasses and you will have only one trip to the doctor's office.

Most glasses will be completed in our lab in Berea.

Fairview News

By: Mrs. Hubert Chastain

Worship services were well attended at the Fairview Baptist Church Sept. 9 with a large crowd for church services and one hundred and fourteen for Sunday School. It's always such a great joy and privilege to spend time in the Lord's House with family, relatives, neighbors and friends worshipping our Lord.

Hope all of you everywhere enjoyed a happy Labor Day weekend.

To all the people around Fairview and elsewhere, we were shocked, devastated and saddened by the death of Kenneth Wendell Alexander on Monday morning. (Labor Day). He was the son of Eugene and Hallie Alexander of Little Clear Creek Road in the Fairview vicinity. He was a precious gift from God for twenty-eight years to his loving and caring father and mother, but God called him home to be with Him. He was killed instantly when the farm tractor which he was driving, overturned, pinning him under the vehicle.

Bless his heart he was so kind, friendly and loving to everyone. Always spoke well of people and had so many friends. He was a faithful and devoted Christian man, he loved his Lord and he loved his church. (Fairview). He was on his 14th year of perfect attendance in Sunday school. For years he sat by Jimmy Cummins during worship services. In that many of our crowds grew larger, the seats would be taken before they came back from their Sunday school class, so he moved to the other side of the house and sat by Elmer Hale, as long as Elmer was able to attend.

He was brought to the church on Wednesday where the body remained until the funeral on Thursday. He is gone from this earth but Heaven has another jewel now. He loved farming and was with his daddy everywhere he went. He will be missed so much in that home. So please remember Eugene and Hallie and all the family members when you pray. I said this when we lost our son-in-law, Johnny Church in 1984 and I want to say it again, "The grieving doesn't stop when the casket lid is closed". There are many sad days out in front of them. But to each and everyone of the loved ones, I'd like to say we love you, you have our sympathy and prayers in this trying time. God bless you.

Mrs. Jane Vanwinkle of Mt. Vernon attended the funeral of her brother-in-law Lewis Vanwinkle of Dayton, Ohio who died August 15th.

After the funeral she stayed for ten days with her sister-in-law Mrs. Lona Vanwinkle. We also sympathize and pray for his family. Elmer Hale of Roundstone is slowly improving. Thank the good Lord, he was able to attend the funeral of Kenneth Alexander. They thought so much of each other.

Some of our recent guests have been our daughter Joyce Seals, husband James and daughter Kim of Indian Hills, Paint Lick. Our son Wayne and wife Carolyn of Berea, another son Junior and wife Lynetta of Berea and their granddaughter little Kendra Harold of Indian Hills; our grandson Darin Chastain and wife Monica of Berea, Edmund Todd, Madison County; Philip Galiff of Rochester, Ind., and Mrs. Cora Repert (my brother Ira's wife) and son Jeff of Crossville, Tenn. It was so nice to see them all.

Hubert and I visited my brother Tip Repert and wife Florence and daughter Melody Sunday night. We had a very pleasant and enjoyable time.

Try to write more next time. So far now I'll just say 'try' to be in church some where next Sunday. God bless you all.

Nature's perfect package... Nature's perfect heating source

Few will argue the fact that nature does it best.

When it comes to heating systems, nature again rises to the occasion with geothermal technology. Free heat from the earth transferred by clean, safe electricity. In summer, you get whole-house cooling at a fraction of the cost of conventional air conditioners.

The efficiency of geothermal systems is unmatched. And you know that high efficiency means low operating costs.

Find out more about nature's perfect heating system. Call your local electric cooperative.

At times, he said, embassy staffers told them to "Keep a low profile today. Or we were told to keep a full tank of gas in the car, or water in the car, in case we had to leave the country."

Why Americans would sojourn in a Middle Eastern country surrounded by warring nations, Dean French said, might seem puzzling. In fact, when he studied Nazi Germany, "I wondered why so many Jews didn't get out."

But for the Frenches, life in Kuwait before the Iraqi takeover was more than good.

"One in 10 is a millionaire in Kuwait, and they show it," Dean French said. "The common car on the road was the Mercedes benz."

"Because it's such a rich country, medical care is free. Telephone service is free. There are no taxes."

The school, French said, provided the couple's housing free of charge. Their airfare was paid home to Louisville when classes let out every summer.

All food was imported in the desert nation, the teacher said.

In a country where the temperature rises past 150 degrees, he said, "you don't go out past 9 a.m."

Forty years ago, Kuwait was a country of camel herders wandering the desert, French said. When oil riches were tapped, the standard of living exploded.

"They have the largest generation gap in the world," he said. "The parents who were camel herders, raised in tents, have children who get off to London for weekend shopping."

Sixty percent of the population of Kuwait is made up of expatriots, French said. For the 40 percent who are Kuwaiti nationals, before the Iraqi invasion, "the government paid for them to have servants; they paid for a certain number of maids, a chauffeur, a gardener."

Some of the good life rubbed off on the Frenches, as it did on other teachers at the 1,200-student school. But now these teachers' valuables, their bank accounts, are frozen in occupied Kuwait.

And for those who didn't return to the states this summer, their lives are held in the balance, too.

The Frenches, Decaturville residents since May, have gotten word that a friend has sought asylum in the American embassy in Kuwait City.

"She had been there 25 years safely and happily," Dean French said. "It worries me that she would take that step."

The Frenches, watching and waiting, are preparing for their first year of teaching in the United States in several years.

Linda French will be teaching Spanish in Louisville, Dean French will substitute teaching in schools in the districts here.

While they go about their teaching in safety, they'll be thinking of their colleagues trapped in Kuwait.

"It's probably fortunate that we left when we did," Dean French said. But it felt like home."

The annual Renfro Valley Homecoming was held Sept. 21 for all former Renfro Valley entertainers at the historic county music complex. Among those attending were, in top photo, Emory Martin, famous one-armed banjo picker, and his wife, Linda Lou, far left. Mrs. Virginia Sutton, still a regular on the barndance accompanied Emory and Linda. In the bottom photo, Pauline and Arlis Harris of London, former entertainers at Renfro Valley, were on hand, playing the dulcimer and singing to the large reunion crowd.

Fiscal Court sets county tax rate; slight drop in real estate, bankshares

A county tax rate virtually the same as last year has been approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court and the State Department of Local Government.

The only changes were in the real estate rate which dropped from 8.5 cents per $100 assessed value to 8.4 cents, and in bank shares that dropped from 23.69 cents to 23.14 cents per $100.

It should be noted that these tax figures do not reflect all taxpayers face. They do not include school taxes and state taxes of various kinds that will be issued later in the year.

The drop in real estate is expected to bring in $122,111 to the county. Bank shares will bring in $22,096 to the county.

The tax rate for personal property is 8.2 cents per $100 that will bring in $22,468. Watercraft rate is 8.2 cents and will realize $582. The motor vehicle rate is 8.2 cents per $100 and will bring in $26,709.

Other tax rates include the library with real estate at 1.4 cents and tangible at 1.1 cents.

Soil conservation has real estate at .7 of a cent. Tangible is not applicable.

Health District, real estate, 3.2 cents, tangible 3.2 cents. Extension service, real estate 2.5 cents, tangible, 2.5 cents.

A 3 cent per acre forest land tax will be levied on all privately owned forest land in the county for forest fire protection. The amount will be based on 96,389 acres.

The total assessed value of property in the county subject to full local rates stands at $172,770,745, up $166,549,460 from 1989 or a growth of $6,221,285.

Real estate was up from $2,178,500 to $1,974,250 or $615,750. Net increase in homestead exemptions is $355,000 and now totals $19,038,350.

As approved by the state, the breakdown of assessments for 1990 for the county are:

Real estate, $142,260,181; tangible personal property, $11,399,582; public service companies (real estate) $3,110,211, and personal (companies) $16,007,770; bank shares, $9,348,897; motor vehicles, $32,571,454, and watercraft, $709,312.

Funds available to local businesses from state of Kentucky; meeting called Unless a group of Rockcastle County businesses react quickly they could stand to lose $35,000 from the State of Kentucky.

Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce president Glenn Miller announced Tuesday that he had scheduled a meeting for 7 p.m. Monday night for anyone interested in obtaining matching funds from the state.

Miller, who attended a meeting of the Ninth Region Tourism Committee in London Tuesday, said that money was available to restaurants, motels, gift and craft shops, campgrounds and virtually anyone involved in tourism.

However the deadline to apply for the matching funds is October 1st. The minimum amount of money a business or group can apply for is $1,000 and there are some stringent guidelines on receiving the money.

If the $35,000 is not matched by businesses in Rockcastle County it will return to the State Tourism Cabinet and be claimed by another county.

Rockcastle residents hospitalized following accident

A three-car accident Sept. 5 on U.S. 25 just over the Madison County line, sent three Rockcastle residents to the hospital.

Wayne Stewart of Renfro Valley, driver of one car, suffered three fractured ribs and a collapsed lung. He is reported to be "doing well".

His father, Bill Stewart, suffered a compressed fracture of the knee and will be in bed for eight weeks.

Injured in a pickup truck was Roberta McGuire who was taken to a Lexington hospital for treatment, she was returning home from work with the driver of the truck Guy Deborde who was not injured.

Driver of another car, Jason Woods of Lambert Road was not injured. He was alone in the truck.

Special school board meeting Sept. 18

The Rockcastle County Board of Education will conduct a special session on Tuesday evening Sept. 18, 7 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

This annual special session is conducted for the purpose of: (1) Reviewing district test scores from the previous school year (1989-90).

(2) Providing information regarding instructional program growth/improvement for the current school year (1990-91).

Instructional Supervisors Shelby

Sheriff's Report

Three accidents were reported by sheriff deputies during the past weekend.

James L. Phillips of Danville struck a car owned by Terry Tyree of Mt. Vernon at Burr. Phillips was driving a crane and was attempting to turn around when the accident occurred.

Michelle Baker from Illinois was treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital after she lost control of her car and struck an embankment on I-75 near Renfro Valley.

Kelly Whittaker of Mt. Vernon was treated at Rockcastle Hospital and sent on to the University of Kentucky Medical Center after he swerved to miss a skunk, ran off old KY 461 road and overturned.

Two vehicles were recovered by deputies. A 1987 Chevrolet Monte Carlo belonging to Leigh Ann Rice of Chestnut Ridge was found at Pongo.

A 1973 Buick stolen from a Louisville resident was recovered when deputies stopped the driver on I-75. Arrested was Kevin Wells of Louisville who was charged with speeding, no operators license and receiving stolen property.

In Circuit Court this week, the attempted murder case against Ronnie Lee Bowling of Clay County was continued until Feb. 12. Bowling is accused of shooting at Ricky Smith at a Burr service station.

He also has murder charges pending in Circuit Court in the death of Bro. Marvin Hensley at a Laurel County service station which takes precedent over the attempted murder charge.

Heritage Craft Festival is Sept. 21-23

Craftspeople from more than 11 different states will be in Renfro Valley September 21 - 23, for the Annual Heritage Craft Festival.

During this spectacular juried showcase of the finest craftspeople, many activities are scheduled to create a festive atmosphere.

The turn of the century Victorian Renfro Village will be the scene of a Pig Roast and Streetdance scheduled for the opening day of the festival, at 6 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 21.

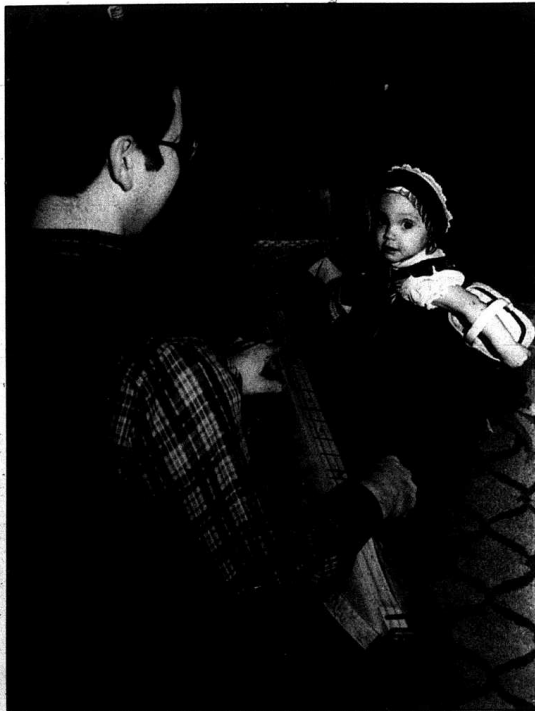

The Kentucky Longhunters, Inc from Jackson, will be demonstrating the throwing of the tomahawk and knife as well as the use of the long rifle throughout the three day festival. This group, attired in full buckskins from the period of the early American frontier, will be coordinated by Renfro Valley's Village Riflesmith, Ralph W. Marcum.

Demonstrations by several different craftspeople will provide a first-hand view of the creation of quality crafts for those attending the festival. Howard Stevens, from Shuttleworks, in Berea, will demonstrate weaving as he makes traditional rag rugs and place-mats. Other demonstrations such as the sheep to shawl process, broom making, pottery, and woodworking will be part of the activities during the festival at Renfro Valley.

Various musical artists will be performing from two different stages throughout the three day festival. There will be plenty of festival foods as well as down-home cooking served throughout the festival grounds.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday through Sunday, Sept. 21, 22, and 23. Parking is free at Renfro Valley. Admission for adults is $3, free for children 11 and under.

Information may be obtained by calling Renfro Valley at 256-2638 or 1-800-765-SING. Also ask for information about Renfro Valley's Country and Gospel Music Shows, Museum, Restaurants, Village and special events and festivals.

Burns in Laurel on work program

Former Rockcastle/Pulaski Commonwealth Attorney Lester H. Burns is back in the area after serving a term in prison for insurance fraud and interstate transportation of stolen money.

Burns reported to the Laurel County jail where he will remain while participating in a work release program. He will work days and return to the jail at night.

Burns told federal officials he would be working in a store owned by Dave Kinser of Pulaski County. Kinser confirmed he would hire Burns.

Burns, 59, was once prosecutor in Pulaski County and ran unsuccessful for state attorney general in the 1960s. He aborted a campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1983.

He began building his reputation more than 30 years ago by winning federal benefits for Eastern Kentucky miners. His fame in the state spread because of his work as a defense attorney in high-profile cases.

He pleaded guilty in November 1986 to charges of insurance fraud and interstate transportation of stolen money.

Burns was sentenced to seven years and reported to the federal prison at Eglin Air Force Base near Pensacola, Fla., on Jan. 4, 1988. He was moved to the federal prison at Fort Worth, Texas, in March after stints at several other prisons.

He was transferred from Fort Worth to the work-release program. The program is administered by the Laurel jail under a contract with the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, according to Don McFadden who is in charge of federal programs at the jail.

Burns will have to pay part of what he makes as rent to the jail, McFadden said.

Burns will be released on weekends once McFadden verifies his weekend residence, he said.

Burns and his wife own a home in a residential and country club development north of Somerset.

Burns' projected parole date -- the date he will be released from jail on parole if there are no problems in the meantime -- is Jan. 3, 1991, said Tony Perez, assistant warden.

Rockets blast Pulaski County for fourth straight win

By: Spencer Bengé

Just how good are the Rockcastle County Rockets is a question that may be floating around in the minds of Rockcastle fans after last Friday night's performance.

The Rockets "thumped" the Pulaski County Maroons, 30-8, at Pulaski.

The win now moves the Rockets' season record to four wins and no losses.

"Fundamentally, it was our best game this year, both on offense and defense," Rockets head coach Tom Larkey said earlier this week.

Indeed, Pulaski definitely did not see the same Rockcastle team they defeated, 28-14, last year but a team that was more prepared both physically and mentally.

The Rockets played solid football all four quarters of the game and except for an interception given up by Scott Parkey, his first this year, they were flawless.

It was evident in the first quarter when the Rockets' offense put together 16 points while the defense held the Pulaski offense from a first and goal score.

Sophomore halfback J.D. Harris, who had his best game of the year with 21 carries for 140 yards and three touchdowns, took the first touchdown in after a 27-yard drive and then followed with the two-point conversion to push the Rockets up, 8-0, with 5:47 left in the first quarter.

But the most important play of the game came on the very next Rockets' kick-off when junior William Hellard made a saving tackle to stop Pulaski on Rockcastle's eight yard line and deny them from the score.

Hellard's saving tackle allowed the Rockets' defense to take the field and in doing so, handed Pulaski a four yard loss during their possession, thus denying Pulaski a score from a first and goal situation.

The Rockets countered by marching 86 yards for their second touchdown of the game. The drive was set up by a 54 yard gain by junior tailback William Bullens from Rockcastle's 45 yard line to Pulaski's one yard line. Again it was Harris finding the end zone for the touchdown and two-point conversion to stretch Rockcastle's lead to 16-0, which stood through the remainder of the first half. "I think they were overlooking us," Larkey said, "and thought that we were the weakest team on their schedule."

But Larkey attributes most of his team's success this year, especially against Pulaski, to their continuing improvement.

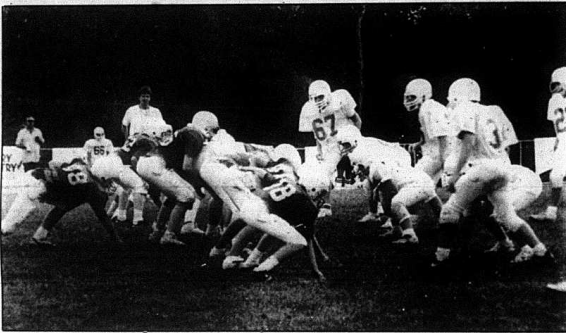

Larkey said that the Rockets have made significant improvements earlier this year than his team of last year.

"We have improved so much that teams we played earlier this year, we could beat easily now," Larkey said. "The reason being that we have a dedicated bunch of kids that will take the time to prepare through the week in practice," he added.

And the Rockets were prepared and turned a game that was expected to be close into a blowout in the second half.

William Hellard picked off a Pulaski pass with 5:52 left in the third quarter and returned it for a 21 yard touchdown to break the game wide open for the Rockets. Junior Curtis Cotton's extra point attempt was good and the Rockets led 23-0.

The Rockcastle County little league football league opened the 1990 season Tuesday night at the Rockcastle County High School. The Mt. Vernon Wildcats opened the season in the first game by defeating the Roundstone Redskins, 20-6, and the Mt. Vernon Buccaneers followed with a 12-6 victory in overtime over the Broadhead Bengals. The league will continue this Thursday (tonight) with two games at Roundstone Elementary, beginning at 6:30.

After first week

Two teams tied for lead in Rockcastle mixed bowling league

The Rockcastle County Mixed Bowling League began last Thursday night at the Maroon Lanes in Richmond.

Taking over first place after the first night were the Pin Busters and team #11 both with four wins and no losses.

DARE, Misfits, Wild Things and Top Guns are all tied for second place with 3 wins and 1 loss.

High team game hdp, went to the Top Guns with an 852. The Jets took second high team game hdp, with an 830 while Babe's Bunch took third high team game hdp, with an 818.

High men's series for the night went to Henry Vanzant with a 651. Rick Anderkin was second with a 578 and Jamie Noe was third with a 564.

Henry Vanzant also took high men's game with a 246. Jim Anderkin was second with a 225 and Rick Anderkin took third with a 212.

High women series went to Jamie Bryant with a 505. Pennie Fortner was second with a 491 and Kim Daugherty was close behind with a 484.

Jamie Bryant and Joyce Lanham tied for high women's game with a 214. Aslee Bray took second with a 199 and Pennie Fortner took third high women's game with a 189.

High men's series hdp, went to Henry Vanzant with a 687. Rick Bryant was second with a 615 and a close third went to Ben Mullins with a 612.

Jim Anderkin took high men's game hdp, with a 260. Two pins behind was Henry Vanzant with a 258 and Rick Bryant took third with a 232.

High women's series hdp, went to Pennie Fortner with a 608. Judy Lawless and Aslee Bray were tied for second with a 603 and Jamie Bryant took third with a 583. Jamie Bryant and Aslee Bray tied for the high women's game hdp, with a 240. Joyce Lanham was second with a 236 and Pennie Fortner was third with a 228.

Members of each team will be listed in next week's Signal.

Sophomore J.D. Harris had his best night of the year during the Rockets, 30-8, win over the Pulaski County Maroons last Friday night at Pulaski. Harris rushed for 140 yards on 21 carries while scoring three touchdowns for the Rockets.

Rockets junior varsity and freshmen still undefeated

The Rockcastle County High School junior varsity and freshmen Rockets passed wins this past week to keep the perfect record for all the RCHS's football teams intact.

The Rockets JV ran their record to 2-0 with a 26-0 win over Powell County last Thursday while the Rockets freshmen equalled the 2-0 mark with a 27-7 victory over Somerset this past Monday.

Rocket quarterback J.D. Bussell found Greg Bowman in the end zone on an 8 yard pass for the first score of the JV game against Powell County Thursday. Bowman followed with an extra point to give the Rockets an early 7-0 lead.

A recovered fumble in the end zone by Scotty Bullens followed by another extra point by Bowman in the 3rd quarter stretched the Rockets lead to 13-0.

And a blocked punt by Larry Ramsey who also received it in the end zone, quickly made it a 19-0 ballgame.

Shane Thacker carried in the final touchdown for the Rocket JV on a 12 yard run in the 4th quarter and combined with another extra point by Bowman allowed the Rockets JV to walk away with an easy 26-0 win over Powell County.

The Rockets freshmen game which was also scheduled for last Thursday against Powell, was cancelled due to a lack of freshman players from Powell County.

Scoring for the Rockets freshmen in the big 27-7 win over rival Somerset Monday were, Michael Shaffer on a two yard run for a touchdown; Jason Fletcher on a 35 yard reception for two touchdowns from quarterback J.D. Bussell; Greg Bowman with a 30 yard carry for a touchdown and a successful extra point attempt and J.D. Bussell with a 2 point conversion.

Upcoming games for the Rockets will be the JV Facing host Whitley County Monday, Sept. 17 at 6 and the freshmen taking on host Lincoln County, Thursday, Sept. 20 at 6 p.m.

Season dates for fall birds

Dove: September 1-30 and October 6-29, 11 a.m. to sunset; December 1-6, sunrise to sunset. The daily limit is 15; possession limit, 30. Only steel shot may be used to hunt doves on the Ballard, Swan Lake, Peal, Sloughs, Kater Bottoms, Duck Island and Ohio River Islands Wildlife Management Areas. Persons may not have led shot in their possession while dove hunting on these WMAs.

Woodcock and Snipe: October 1 through December 4, one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The daily limit for woodcock is 5; possession limit, 10. The daily limit for snipe is 8; possession limit, 16.

September Wood Ducks: September 12-16, one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The daily limit is 2; possession limit, 4. No other duck species may be taken during the September season. Hunters may not use or possess lead shot while hunting in that portion of Western Kentucky designated as the steel Shot Zone, or in Bracken or Oldham counties. State and federal waterfowl stamps, required.

Some wildlife management areas (and public lands) have seasons and regulations which differ from the standard statewide guidelines, while others are closed to all migratory bird hunting.

For complete information on any Kentucky hunting season, contact the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Public Relations, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502)564-4336.

Be on the lookout for baited fields

It's illegal to hunt doves (or any other migratory game birds) over baited areas. Before hunting an area, sportsmen should check carefully for any possibility of illegal baiting.

Remember, a person can be cited for hunting a baited area - regardless of who actually did the baiting!

Hunters who discover a baited field should contact a state conservation officer or call 1-800-25A-LEWT.

Illegal baiting occurs when grains, salt or other attractants are placed on an area (aside from normal agricultural practices) to lure birds into shooting range. An area remains baited for 10 days after all attracting devices may be hunted as long as no other attractants have been added.

As a further reminder, make sure shotguns are plugged before going afield. Shotguns used to hunt all game (except deer) must be plugged to hold no more than three shells - two in the magazine and one in the chamber.

National Hunting and Fishing Day

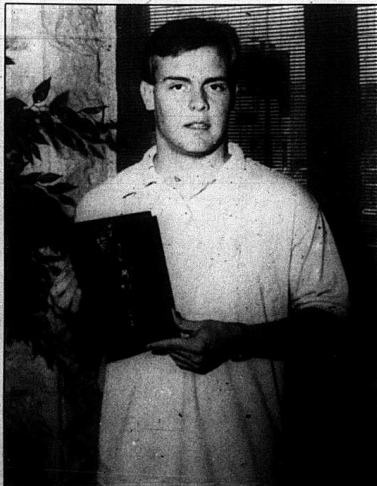

Saturday, September 22, is National Hunting and Fishing Day, an observance established by Congress to recognize the vital role sportsmen play in wildlife conservation.

RCHS Homecoming Festivities Friday night 8 p.m. at RCHS against Harlan

OOPS.....

In last week's issue of the Signal, Rockets' senior Chuck Davis was inadvertently misidentified as William Hellard as the receiver catching a key 33 yard pass from quarterback Scott Parkey to set up the first score of the game against McCreary Central.

Jason Coker, Livingston Elementary basketball coach, was presented with a plaque from Livingston parents during the recent Livingston Homecoming for his dedication to the Livingston basketball program.

Quarterback J.D. Russell just gets a pass off during the Rockets junior varsity game with Powell County last Thursday at RCHS. The Rockets went on to crush Powell, 26-0, and up their record to 2-0.

And behind a continuing defense that has proved outstanding, the Rockets' offense were allowed another chance to score in the third quarter and capitalized. J. D. Harris carried the ball into the end zone for his third touchdown of the game on a 32 run and Cotton's extra point put the Rockets' lead to 30-0 in the closing seconds of the third quarter.

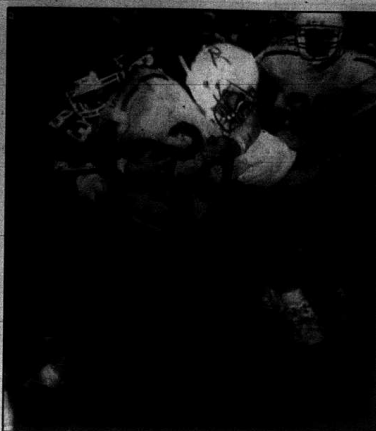

With the game well out of reach for Pulaski, the Rockets were able to get key playing time out of their junior varsity squad in the final quarter of play.

Although Pulaski was able to penetrate the end zone and follow with a two-point conversion in the junior varsity battle, it was a more than satisfying, 30-8, win for the varsity Rockets.

The Rockets' homecoming is this Friday at RCHS against Harlan County. The game begins at 8:00 and the homecoming ceremonies will take place at halftime.

Larkey, who holds a 5-0 record on homecoming games, said that Harlan has a lot of speed on their senior dominated team of 15 but lacks in physical strength compared to Rockcastle.

Another plus for the Rockets will be the return of junior tailback Jonathan Saylor, who is coming off of an injury sustained earlier in the year against Lynn Camp.

Rockets' running back Mike Spires gives a Pulaski defensive player a free ride in last Friday night's game against the Maroons. The Rockets went on to thump Pulaski, 30-8, at Pulaski for their fourth straight win this year.

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER PROS

Larry Nixon
Everyone who fishes, dreams of a trophy catch. A fish he or she can put on the wall for all to admire.

The only drawback is, the fish must be killed before it can be mounted. Not so, anymore... Today, acrylic duplicates of your trophy are available through most reputable taxidermists. You can't tell them from the original and it allows you to catch and release your trophy, and still put it on the wall.

Carry a small, compact 35mm or Polaroid camera whenever you fish. Photograph your trophy, measure length and girth and weigh the fish. This is all the information your taxidermist needs. The fish can then be released. An acrylic or fiberglass replica can be selected to match your fish, then be painted to your specifications.

Agri-Business Tour

Highlight of Agri-Business Tour was stop at Mackinaw Island on Great Lakes

On July 9 the Seymour Bus Lines of Knoxville, TN, sent a bus with a very knowledgeable driver, Fred Seavers, to the courthouse in Mt. Vernon to pick up a group to begin our tour.

We left the courthouse at 7 o'clock. With several stops we were in Dearborn, MI, at the Holiday Inn, where we spent the first night. Several of the group went on into Canada for a couple of hours. The shocking thing about Canada was the prices. For example, a carton of cigarettes was $29. A Trolley Service wanted $350 to take us the 15 miles to Canada, but the bus driver got permission from the bus company and took us for $1.50 per person.

July 10, we left the hotel for Greenfield Village at 8:30 a.m., which was about a 30 minute drive. Some highlights of Greenfield Village was Henry Ford's birthplace, a huge windmill shipped from Cape Cod, Michigan, Henry Ford Museum, Menlo Park, laboratory of Thomas Edison, Firestone Farmhouse, Noah Webster's house, Shawnee steamboat, and many other points of interest. We arrived in Sigtun, MI, at 3 p.m. We traveled on to Petosky, MI, arrived at 6:15, where we spent the second night.

July 11, we left the hotel at 7 a.m. to go to Mackinaw Island. It took about 30 minutes to get to Lake Michigan where we boarded a boat for Mackinaw Island. A few of us rented bicycles to get around the island. Some rode wagons pulled by horses, since automobiles are not allowed on the island. The island is 8.2 miles around. They have their own policemen, own schools and men with poop-scoopers to clean up after the horses. We arrived

Farmers turning to mechanization to help with housing

Kentucky tobacco farmers facing a labor shortage this year are turning to mechanization to help them house their tobacco.

Farmers are showing an increased interest this year in adopting the cable-hoist system of housing tobacco," said George Duncan, an Extension agricultural engineer with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, where the system was developed.

Duncan said that more than a dozen Kentucky farmers this year have adopted the system that cuts housing labor in about half.

The method lets one worker do the entire housing process using a hydraulic hoist to lift 40 to 45 sticks of tobacco at a time up into a three- and four-tier modified barn, Duncan said. Special beams that hold the 40 to 45 sticks of wilted tobacco are filled in the field from the stick row using light-weight, two-wheel trailer carriers, he said. Two to four workers can load three trailers holding 110 to 135 sticks in 15 to 20 minutes.

"Data show that an acre of tobacco can be loaded from the stick row, transported to and placed in the barn with 15 to 20 worker hours of labor, about half the time of conventional method," Duncan said.

Duncan said that in addition to reducing labor requirements, the cable hoist system helps with safety in the barn.

"Since the system does not require a worker to be in the tiers, the risk of falls and injury is reduced," he said.

Farmers who want to learn more about the device can contact either their County Extension Agent for Agriculture or the Department of Agricultural Engineering at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

back on the dock at 12:30 p.m., drove several hours before getting into Bay City, Wis., at 6:45 p.m.

We enjoyed the Post Plaza Mall with over 200 stores to shop, located directly across from the hotel.

July 12, we left the cafeteria of the hotel around 9 a.m. for a cheese factory. We saw how cheese was made from beginning to the end. We ate lunch at a small place called Ma's Kettle. A lady working to promote farming met us there and directed us to Ma's Kettle where the meal was already prepared. We then went to a dairy farm owned by the Joe Sarkerbaker family. His wife and 11 children helped run the farm. We left there and arrived at Madison, Wis., at 6 p.m. We met in the Foxshire Room for a film on "Farming in Wisconsin".

July 13, we left the hotel, made several stops, went through Chicago, saw the O'Hare Airport where planes seem to be arriving and leaving every 30 seconds. In Lafayette, Ind. we visited the University Horticulture Gardens of Lafayette. It rained most of the day. Remember it was Friday 13th.

Our luck was to hold out. The rooms at Lebanon, Ind. weren't ready. After a couple of hours, everyone was in their room.

July 14, we left Lebanon, Ind. at 7 a.m. We drove a couple of hours before stopping for breakfast. After breakfast we drove to the Florence Shopping Center, shopped or walked around for awhile. We arrived back in Mt. Vernon at 4 p.m. Everyone had a good time.

Farm and Home News

Farm Safety Week, Sept. 16-22, is good time for farmers to pause for thoughts on safety

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

Preventable accidents, fires and work-related illnesses cost farm families dearly. September 16 - 22 has been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week by President George Bush which makes the week a good time to reflect on some things which Kentucky farmers can do to ensure a safe work environment.

According to the National Safety Council, agricultural work accidents resulted in 1,300 deaths and 120,000 disabling injuries in 1989. The death rate of 42 per 1,000 workers puts agriculture among the most dangerous work places of all. That rate is much higher than the composite rate of nine per 1,000 workers for all industries.

One leading cause of work-related illness suffered by farm workers is excessive exposure to toxic gases, chemicals, dust, and other farming hazards. A little careful planning can reduce those potential hazards greatly.

In addition, most farm accidents are preventable. Several tips farmers might use to cut their farm accident risk are:

* Inspect equipment, facilities, and structures regularly for hazards and then correct them. Do not put repairs off.

- * Read and follow instructions on labels, safety signs and operator's manuals.

- * Equip tractors with rollover protections and safety belts. Always fasten safety belts when operating the equipment.

- * Keep shields and guards on- and kids off- farm machinery.

- * Be prepared for emergencies: accidental injury, poisoning, fire, severe weather.

- * Make prevention of injury and illness part of every activity.

Corn referendum passed by growers; assessment up .25%

Kentucky Commission of Agriculture Ward "Butch" Bumette announced today that the referendum held at the request of the Kentucky Corn Growers Association passed by a 56 percent majority of those voting. The referendum was held August 30 and votes were counted by the Department of Agriculture on September 6.

The statewide referendum called for an assessment of one-fourth of one percent (0.25%) of the payment to corn producers. Funds received from the assessment will be used to administer a program of promotion to increase the use and sale of corn, according to the application submitted by the Kentucky Corn Growers Association to the State Board of Agriculture.

The 1990 General Assembly passed House Bill 584 which granted authority to the State Board of agriculture to approve requests for a corn referendum and directed the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, as the agency to conduct the referendum.

Assessments on sale of corn in Kentucky will begin Oct. 1.

A referendum requested by the Kentucky Milk Producers Association for a check-off on milk sales, also held on Aug. 30, failed to pass.

The developing energy shortage

All of you have been keeping up with the situation involving Iraq, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. What began as an attempt by Iraq to raise the price that it received for its oil export (about $14 per barrel in June) has escalated into an armed power struggle with a potential for long term consequences around the world. Here are my insights into the energy consequences based on what comes across my desk as well as what I can pick up from the news services.

As of August 22, the spot market for oil passed $31.20 a barrel. The all time high was in March of 1980 at $39.20 a barrel. Since the prices were

OUR LAWS ARE THE BEST PROTECTION OF OUR FREEDOM

We live by a constitution; a set of laws designed to keep order, define the jurisdiction of each level of government, and protect our citizens from any unwarranted intrusion into their lives by government itself. It is firm but also flexible, so that it can be amended by a majority demand to meet any need that arises. The concept of it did not originate with modern man, but in the Bible; you will learn that at your House of Worship, which you were allowed to choose because of this document. We owe all of our rights to our country's laws, which were patterned after God's Scriptural decrees, and we must do whatever is necessary to preserve them for ourselves and for future generations, as it was done all through our history.

'Great Doctrines of the Bible' study offered

Studies of 'Great Doctrines of the Bible' will be offered in nine weekly classes beginning Sept. 20 at the Rockcastle Baptist Center for Biblical Studies at the First Baptist Church, Mt. Vernon.

Rev. Jack Bruce, Director for the Center, announced today that Rev. Wendell Romans, pastor of the First Baptist Church, would be teaching this course. Classes will be held on Thursday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.

Interested persons may pre-entroll at your local Baptist Church or by calling the Baptist Associational office at 256-4571. The courses are designed for pastors and others actively engaged in ministry, but they are also open to individuals interested in an academic study of the Bible and other subjects included in a theological curriculum.

The Rockcastle Baptist Center for Biblical Studies is one of about 400 Extension Centers in operation across the country in cooperation with the Southern Baptist Convention's External Education Division and is sponsored by the Rockcastle Association of Missionary Baptist Churches.

The Center is a member of the National University Continuing Education Association and an accredited member of the National Home Study Council.

A guiding principle of the Center is Timothy 2:15 - "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of truth."

Revival

A revival meeting is scheduled for Sept. 16-21 at the Wildie Christian Church with Dean Davis, Coordinator of Church Relations at Johnson Bible College, Knoxville, Tenn. Encouraging churches and individuals to extend involvement in world evangelism and recruiting for the mission field. Services are at 7 p.m., each evening, and a nursery will be provided. Kenton Parkey, host minister, invites everyone to attend.

Being observed will then be homecoming on Sept. 23. Two men who grew up in the Wildie Church will be giving their testimony of the church and the community's influence on their lives and their careers. David Parsons, now with Parsons Gigs at Roundstone, and Oscar 'Bucky' McNew, formerly with the Strategic Air Command for nearly 20 years, will be speaking. Dinner-on-the-grounds following the service.

Gospel Sing

There will be a gospel sing Saturday, Sept. 15th at 7:30 p.m. at Flat Rock Baptist Church. Special singers will be The Bethel Gospelites, Linda Carl, Melissa Rader and John More.

Homecoming will be Sunday, Sept. 16th with services beginning at 10 a.m. There will be lunch and singing in the afternoon with The Bluegrass Liberations, Different Way, Linda Carl, Sounds of Liberty and Flat Rock Singers. Pastor: Bro. Gene Noe.

Homecoming

There will be a homecoming at Negro Creek Church of God, Sunday Sept. 16 with Sunday beginning at 10 a.m. and morning worship at 11.

Hamp Wootten, guest speaker with homecoming dinner at noon. The Master Family of Richmond will be bringing the special music at 2 p.m. Revival will begin Sept. 17 through 30th beginning at 7:30 each night. There will be a different speaker each evening. Everyone welcome!

Revival

There will be a revival at the Mt. Vernon Pentecostal Church with Ernest Martin from Winchester as evangelist. Services will begin at 7 p.m., beginning Wednesday, Sept. 12. Pastor Buford Parkerson invites the public to attend.

Church items are printed FREE of charge CALL 256-2244

Homecoming Weekend

Glades Christian Church will be having a homecoming weekend beginning Saturday evening, Sept. 22 at 7:30 with gospel singing featuring: The Lordsmen from Belle, West Virginia. Their homecoming will be Sunday, Sept. 23 at 10:30 a.m. with speaker: Maurice Dula with special singing by the Lordsmen. The fellowship dinner will be at 12:30 and the afternoon sing at 2 p.m. with The Lordsmen.
