Rockets lose to Cawood, 27-21, in overtime; hopes for playoff bid in district vanquished

By: Spencer Bengt

Baseball fans may always remember last Friday night as the night the Cincinnati Reds won the National League Pennant, but football fans may soon try to forget it because any hopes for a playoff bid in district play for the Rockets were eliminated.

When the cards were dealt, in one of the best high school football games this year, the Rockets drew the low card while the visiting Cawood Trojans pulled out the ace to edge the Rockets, 27 to 21, in overtime.

Tempers flared, excitement roared and every single emotion was in play when the two powerhouses locked heads in what was to be the biggest game of the year for both teams.

It quickly turned into a defensive battle that continued through the first half. The secondary made the right plays at the right time for the Rockets while the linemen carried the Trojans. In fact, the Rocket's secondary were credited with 42 of the team's 49 tackles.

However, Cawood did manage some crucial short gains late in the first quarter, that ended their midfield drive on the Rockets' one yard line. A lunge into the end zone from there followed by a good kick put the Trojans on the score board first with seven points.

But not to be outdone, the Rockets countered on their very next possession. Looking at a fourth down and three yards to go, Rockets' junior quarterback Scott Parkey found senior receiver Billy Todd for a 21 yard touchdown. Curtis Cotton's kick was through the uprights and the game was set at seven all.

From there it was hit hard and fight for yards for both teams. It was the Rockets, with the strongest line in years, against the size of Cawood, which is compared to that of Bell Counties.

Rockets' head coach Tom Larkey said that he thought the first half was disappointing for them and that he didn't think his team was up to their full potential until early in the second half. But Larkey also commented that Cawood was better than they had expected.

It took less than one minute for the Trojans to charge down the field in the third quarter and regain their lead 14 to 7. But it also didn't take the Rockets long to show Cawood that they were in a fight to the end.

The Rockets were backed up on their own 35 yard line when junior running back William Bullens broke through the line of scrimmage and scampered 42 yards to Cawood's 23 yard line to set up a score. Sophomore J.D. Harris, who led the Rockets rushing with 26 attempts for 148 yards, had the ball knocked loose on the next carry which allowed Cawood to recover. Cawood countered the fumble with one of their own two plays later allowing Rockets junior Jonathan Saylor to recover and stroll in for a 28 yard score. Cotton, who was perfect on the night, followed with a kick to set the game even once again at 14 all.

The Rockets, who were limited to only nine first downs, brought new life into the game in the fourth quarter. After a series of successful plays from midfield, Parkey ran the ball in from the one yard line to put the Rockets out in front for the first time and give the players and fans alike a glimpse of hope to reach the playoffs this year. Cotton's kick was there once again and the Rockets were in the lead 21 to 14.

But this time it was Cawood countering and, after marching the length of the field after the Rockets' kick-off, set the score at 21 to 21 with a touchdown and kick midway through the fourth quarter.

Neither team would score again in the fourth quarter but the Rockets threatened. In fact it may have been the Rockets next possession that decided the outcome of the game.

With just under two minutes remaining in the game, the Rockets found themselves faced with a third and six to go from Cawood's 15 yard line. And what looked to be a first down on the next play by Harris turned into the controversial play of the game. Whether it was or it wasn't will never be known but Coach Larkey for one felt that it was a first down and said earlier this week after reviewing the game tape he thought Harris made it.

Nevertheless, the Rockets were now faced with a fourth and maybe a foot and decided to go for it instead of the field goal. The Rockets, who were successful all night on the short yard gains, were optimistic about picking up the first down and gaining better field position as well as running off crucial time on the clock.

But it was not to be. Parkey's attempt through the middle was stopped dead by Cawood's line and the Rockets' hopes were vanquished by only inches. Cawood, now with possession, allowed the clock to run down so they could face the Rockets in overtime.

With both teams allotted four plays in a chance to score, the Rockets went first. It was not only unsuccessful, it was devastating. Saylor made the first run and gained no yards. Harris got the second carry and managed three yards. Bullens took the third carry and lost five yards. Parkey's final pass attempt to receiver William Hellard on fourth down was batted away by a Cawood defender. The only thing left was to deny Cawood and start all over again.

But again it was not to be. Cawood was able to ramble in from the four yard line after three plays to score the winning touchdown during the overtime and eliminate the Rockets from the district playoffs later this year. The sad thing is that Cawood could possibly end the season with a 5 and 6 record and head to the playoffs while the Rockets have the chance of tying the RCHS record with a 9 and 2 mark and stay at home. It doesn't seem fair, but it's reality.

It was a game that Coach Larkey said haunted him all weekend but it was also a game in which he said he was very pleased and proud of his players.

The Rockets will now take their 6
Cont. to B-3

Junior Varsity Rockets Perfect

They are the junior varsity Rockets football team and the future stars of the Rockets' football program and they remain undefeated.

The Rockets edged out Somerset, 8-7, last week and squeezed by Mid-dlesboro, 14-12, Monday night to up their record to seven wins and no losses.

Scoring for the Rockets against Somerset was freshman running back Michael Shaffer, who rambled in from 45 yards and then followed with a two-point conversion to down Somerset by one point with four minutes remaining in the game.

Shaffer was at it again against Middlesboro Monday night and, after an interception in the second quarter, ran 30 yards for the Rockets first touchdown. Sophomore Jeff Navarre added the two-point run. Rockets freshman Billy Phillips put the final touch on the game with a blocked punt in the fourth quarter, which was returned 15 yards by sophomore teammate Bobby Coffey for the second

Cub Scouts take space age field trip

Friday, Oct. 5, Cub Scouts from Rockcastle County traveled to Arnim D. Hummel Planetarium and Space Theater at Eastern Kentucky University. The field trip was a joint effort between Mt. Vernon Pack 263 and Roundstone Pack 203. A total of 24 scouts were in attendance, along with 15 adult leaders and parents.

The scouts were taken on a simulated journey through space, stopping on the moon to view a space station, then on to Mars, Jupiter and the stars. After traveling 125,000 years into the future, the boys returned to earth. The program was so real, many felt they were in the space shuttle when liftoff occurred.

The Hummel Planetarium, which contains the Space Theater, is the second largest planetarium on a college or university campus in the world. The Space Theater is the third of its kind to be installed in the world with the first located in Paris and the second in Singapore.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Worship services were well attended at the Fairview Baptist Church over the week end of Oct. 14. Sunday School attendance was one hundred and thirteen, down some from the one hundred and thirty eight we had the previous Sunday. So thankful for each one.

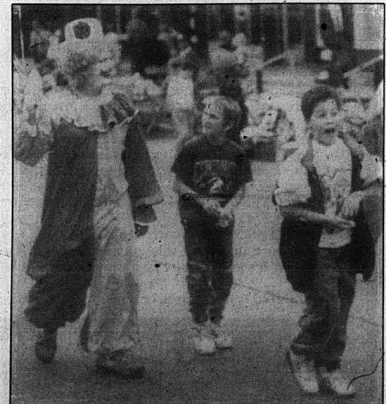

We have just concluded a wonderful spirit-filled revival at our church. During this time, two came for baptism and two by letter, plus a large number of rededications. Decisions were made every service and we thank God so much for every move that was made. Our evangelist, Rev. Johnny McFerron, delivered some wonderful messages that we all enjoyed and needed to hear. We don't hear many preachers today stand in the pulpit and preach against six and

State AARP meeting comes to Rockcastle

By Reporter
Dolly M. Sears, assistant state director of the American Association of Retired Persons (A.A.R.P.), called the meeting to order for the first forum held in Kentucky on Thursday morning at 10 a.m. at the Red Barn in Renfro Valley.

This forum was to bring to the attention of all people the condition of our health care system and ask for the participation of all concerned in correcting it.

This is the beginning of forums to be held across the state and then nationwide.

Irene Vertrees of Somerset, the state director, gave the welcome address. She was followed by the keynote speaker, Dr. J. Clair Jarvis, Area II vice president, Charleston, W. Va.

After focusing on the dire needs of the people of the U.S.A.'s health care, he likened the strait of health to three boxes stacked vertically. The upper box were the wealthy people of the nation and they can afford to pay for the best care by the best doctors of their choice. The second, and middle box, is where the majority of the people are. The middle class or working people. Insurance for this group is harder to pay for and the supplemental payments much harder to come by. Many of this class are simply not able to pay for insurance and therefore go without medical care or are impoverished by it. Also, many people in this group, because of technicalities, are unable to qualify for the medicad card others in the lower box receive thus being denied of any medical care.

This system is in drastic need of overhauling so all people can receive the medical care when in need of it. Those people living below the poverty line or because of some peculiar circumstance of technicalities can receive a medical card that allows them to receive medical care free but often not to their satisfaction.

After this arousing speech about a health program, he brought out the point of medical colleges not doing their part in turning out more doctors as general practitioners and having guidelines to bring more of them into rural America.

He spoke of our transportation system as being a big hindrance to our medical care in rural America. If we can't get to a doctor or hospital, there is simply no way to get care.

Dr. Jarvis had to leave his audience mulling over these reminders of our medical plight and continue on to another appointment before he could get his ideas on how to remedy the problem.

After a video session on how to build a better "health care system" a resource panel was introduced by Mrs. Sears, Bobbie R. Grogan, C.C.F., W.P.S., Frankfort, Ky. was the moderator.

The panel was made up of James Crisp, professor at Cumberland College; Don Coffee from the state health department, Elizabeth Hord, Ky. Bar Association and a representative from Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Ky.

Professor Crisp spoke about brotherly love being one of the answers to our needs. Do for one another as they did in Christ's time.

The "Blue Cross/Blue Shield representative talked about all of his things, their contribution to a good insurance system to not only insure the younger generation but to supplement medicare.

Miss Hord spoke about the improvements in our nursing home care among the elderly in Kentucky.

Mr. Coffee, from the health department, tried to explain the role of the state health department as it related to the rest of the county departments.

However, nothing seemed to touch on the individual problems of day to day care.

One question from the audience spurred a bit of interest just before the session ended when it was asked of the Blue Cross/Blue Shield representative when, and if, they were ever going to simplify all the confusion of multiple paper work.

She seemed to think there was no problem, just fill them out and return them. Then it was suggested we set up training classes to teach people how to fill them out so they could help those whodon't understand them. It is only a three-day course.

The moderator then told of a record sheet furnished by A.A.R.P. for its members to keep all of their medical records on as at the end of the year they can simply put the information on another sheet and mail in. The question came back at him, "but what will those people do that can't read or write or understand the technicalities of all the reports." Nothing was settled on this issue.

of whom joined our chapter that day, were: Ada Noe Riddle, Juanita Witt, Pat Kincer, Verna Graves and two members of the Rise and Shine Homemakers Club, Alta Bullock and Juanita Davis. I hope I have left anyone out for you certainly were appreciated. Many of our club members were there also giving a helping hand. Thanks to them also.

Then to those who answered my request for a contribution of door prizes a very special thanks goes to the Flower Shop, Mt. Vernon Florist and Cox Florist. donated beautiful arrangements and made three people very happy. Vivian Owens has to be commended on her donation of cash to be distributed in equal parts to four more happy people.

We also must thank the news media for our publicity. The Mt. Vernon Signal and radio station allowed us time and space to tell about the forum being held and of its importance. Businesses did their part by allowing our flyers to be placed in their offices and windows.

Things can be caused to happen when each one does his part and we all try.

We do need more members in our chapter to help us with more projects we have in mind. You retired professionals need to be out of us. We need you and just maybe we could put a little spark in your life.

Thanks again to everyone who took a part in this. It may not have been all we dreamed of but at least it is a beginning to help cure some of the needs of our people. As it grows nationwide, I'm sure we will see improvements and hearing of good results.

AARP News

By: Zi Graves, reporter

The local chapter of A.A.R.P. 3215 was host to the forum held last Thursday in the Renfro Valley Red Barn. These are forums to help awaken people to the condition our health care system is in nationally and allow them to make suggestions on how to change it to a better one.

We were led to believe there would possibly be 5000 people there since they would be coming by the bus load from 18 counties so our club members were ready to register that many in one hour's time.

There should have been twice that many come to take part in such an important meeting as health care versus the cost of it, but just as in so many other important issues, the majority of the people take the attitude of "let someone else do it, we will get the benefits any way."

I want to thank each person individually and as a group for responding to our call for help in registering our guests as they arrived. I know there was much confusion both on the day set aside for final instructions and on the morning of the registration and I apologize for it. This often happens when last minute things are put together without fully understanding the previous rules. Nonetheless, you did a marvelous job and none but we knew of the confusion. The officials at the meeting send their congratulations to our chapter for their good work.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

We continue our search of the Scriptures for identifying marks of the church that Jesus built (Mt. 16:18) by looking at the scriptural names.

First, a lot of people will say that there is nothing in a name, so it really doesn't make that much difference what you call the church or the disciples. How many people really believe that? Could we call the church you are a part of, the church of satan? Would you mind giving a blank check? After all, there is nothing in a name? Could I call your wife or husband or children, Fido? Yes, names are important.

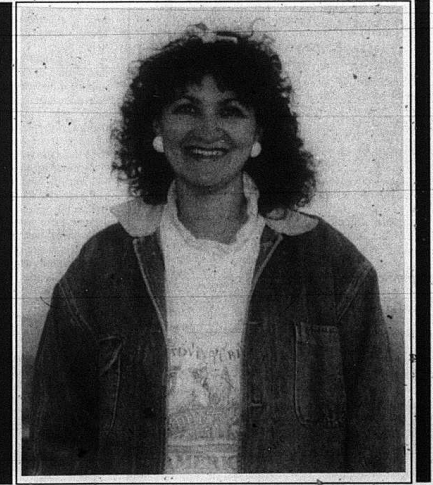

A name is a word or words by which any entity is designated. The Bible designates the church that Jesus built with various names. The church of God I Cor. 1:2, Ac. 20:28; the church of the Firstborn I Cor. 12:23; the churches of Christ Rm. 1:6; 16:16; The body of Christ Eph. 4:12. Yet we find today people, giving all sorts of names that are not found in the Bible and which promote division and the doctrines of man. Today we find in our world, Lutheran churches, Methodist churches, Baptist churches, Catholic churches, Episcopal churches, Presbyterian churches, Jehovah's Witnesses, Christian churches, Pentecostal churches, etc. Friend, the church you are a member of, or worship with, can you find it's name in the Bible?

Individual disciples, believers, saints are to be called christians. In Ac. 11:26b we read "And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Notice, they were not called Catholics, Mormons, Pentacostals, Nazarenes, Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Jehovah's Witnesses, Lutherans, etc. No, they were called Christians. The term a name. Christian is found in only 2 other places, they are: Ac. 26:28, 1Pet. 4:16. Why cannot people be satisfied with the name God gave his children? Human and man made names are sinful and divisive to the cause of Christ. Jesus prayed for unity of all those who would follow him, Jn. 17:20-21. The only way we can be united is to accept the word of God in this, and in all matters of faith and doctrine, C.F. Eph. 4:1-6.

Imagining your new home - where everything is right.
No need for a radio for your "musics" as you sing
You're singing with the angels and listening to the bells of Heaven ring
You have no need for "moonshiners"; your little night light, anymore.
There's no darkness or a cloudy day on Heaven's Golden Shore.
No need to ask for his loving care when you lay down to sleep;
You're home with Him forever, your soul He'll ever keep.
The make-up you experimented with can't compare with your shining face.
And the fantasy nursery rhymes you loved, can't compare with that place.
The tricks you played, being frisked and crossing your beautiful brown eyes,
Are now replaced by heavenly things we just can't realize.

When God calls little children To dwell with Him above We mortals often question The wisdom of His love.
For no heartache can compare With the death of one small child Who does so much to make this world Seem wonderful and mild.
Perhaps God tires of calling The aged unto his fold And so He picks a rosebud Before it can grow old
So when we search for answers From our Lord so good and kind Remember, God loves little children Angels are hard to find.

Wildie man arrested after police chase

A Wildie man was arrested Saturday night after he tried to elude Rockcastle County Sheriff Shirley Smith.

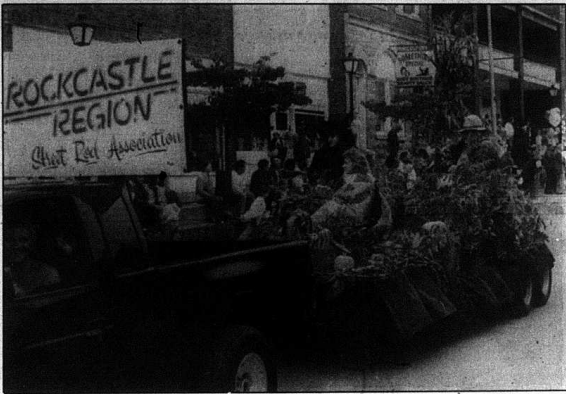

Frankie Maples, 37, of Wildie was arrested by Smith after observed him traveling at a high rate of speed in the Wildie area with no head lights.

According to police records, when Smith attempted to stop Maples, Maples drove to his residence and tried to escape on foot.

Maples, who is free on a $500 cash bond, was charged with driving under the influence, attempting to elude an officer, resisting arrest, no registration plates, operating of a suspended or revoked license and failure to illuminate headlights.

Maples was indicted in May for first degree wanton endangerment. He was accused of pointing a gun at Jan Stevens and threatening to kill him at Steven's Wildie farm.

That case has not been set for trial. Maples next court appearance on the latest charges is Monday.

Jackie McKinney gave the Rockcastle Region Street Rodders Association a ride in Saturday's parade in Mt. Vernon. The Street Rodders' theme was Halloween. And at left, Dennis Halcomb and his grandson, Zachary Crawford, enjoyed the day's events.

City wants $5 parking fine

An ordinance setting a $5 fine for overtime parking in the downtown area of Mt. Vernon had a first reading at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

A second reading will be held at the council's regular meeting Nov. 5.

If the fine is not paid within 24 hours the fine will increase to $15. Failure to pay that fine within five days will result in a $25 fine.

Regular city policemen on duty will mark tires. The two-hour free parking will remain in effect.

In other action, the council discussed a utility tax on water and sewer bills, but since the school systems puts the tax on bills the city only has to collect the tax.

Mink gets 14 months

Roger Dale Mink, 30, of Mt. Vernon has been sentenced to serve 14 months in the penitentiary by Federal Judge Eugene Siler Jr., on Oct. 9.

Mink was charged with felony possession of a firearm. The sentence begins on Nov. 9.

He was charged Feb. 23 by KSP detective Larry Lewis.

McConnell here Friday, Oct. 26

U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell will be at a rally at 11:15 a.m. Friday, Oct. 26 at the Rockcastle Courthouse.

He will speak on the courthouse steps. McConnell is seeking a second term in the Senate.

$4,500 airport grant gets state approval

A $4,500 grant has been approved to conduct a feasibility study on an airport for the county.

A total of $9,000 is needed. The remainder will come from local funds.

The FAA can pay for feasibility and site selection studies, site preparation, and then for actual construction of runways, taxiways, aprons, portions of airport roads, lighting, navigation and landing aids, weather reporting and other equipment.

The money used for such improvements come from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund which was established in 1970 specially for expanding and improving the national aviation system. None of the money comes from the federal government's general fund.

About 12 percent of the money is distributed to general aviation airports based on a formula that takes into account the area and population of each state.

No site for the airport has been mentioned. It will have to be north of the military low level training road and west of I-75, according to Bud Cox, chairman of the local airport board.

Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant said that state funds will come from the Kentucky Airport Development Program.

If the project is approved, 90 percent of the money would come from The Federal Aviation Authority (FAA).

Among the criteria are that at least 10 aircraft must be registered in Rockcastle. The airport must be within 30 miles of the closest existing airport.

The FAA can pay for feasibility and site selection studies, site preparation, and then for actual construction of runways, taxiways, aprons, portions of airport roads, lighting, navigation and landing aids, weather reporting and other equipment.

The funding will provide housing certificates, over a five-year period, for eight eligible families in Clay, Jackson and Rockcastle counties.

KHC currently administers Section 8 Programs for 2270 families statewide.

The funding will provide low-

Mt. Vernon Fall Festival is successful

Mt. Vernon's Fall Festival got off to a good start Saturday with predictions it will be even bigger as time goes by.

Both Glennis Miller and Kay Rader, who were on hand to "see after things" were pleased with the results. It was the first fall festival since the Harvest Festival at Renfro Valley in the 1960s.

There was plenty on entertainment—something for everyone—from religious music, to a parade, to beating up on an old car with a sledgehammer.

The parade may have been one of the shortest in history—about 15 minutes—but no one seemed to mind. They ignored the cloudy cool day to wave and applaud the participants, including the Rockcastle High School band.

"We only had two weeks to actually get the festival together," Mrs. Rader said. "It was not an easy job. Next year we should start much earlier."

She reported most of the 40 booth operators said they did well, but she was not sure just how well. All but three of the 40 who signed put in an appearance. One booth owner was from Ohio.

"They have a lot of nice things in the booths," one visitor said. "And they are not too expensive."

Speaking of starting to prepare earlier next year, Mrs. Rader agreed that it is a "must" for the organizers which this year were the City of Mt. Vernon and the Rockcastle Chamber of Commerce. At Livingston, for example, organizers begin thinking of next year's homecoming as soon as everyone goes home.

There was a modest spill-over from Renfro Valley which will likely en-

Lambert sues to have blood tests allowed

Unhappy over a ruling by District Judge William T. Cain that prevented blood tests of four county men from being introduced as evidence in their drunk driving cases, County Attorney James H. Lambert has filed suit in Rockcastle Circuit Court to set aside the ruling.

Judge Cain suppressed blood tests from the testimony based on an interpretation of a State Statute that states only one can be given a driver suspected of being drunk and that test must be the one authorized by the police officer's employer.

According to court records, on Aug. 29, 1990, Judge Cain issued an opinion and order suppressing blood tests given to David A. Halcomb, Bobby Fain, Joseph Hansel and Ernest Randy Miller. They had been arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages and given tests by Mt. Vernon City Police.

In his order to suppress, Judge Cain used Rockcastle Circuit Court opinions that declared, "any test besides the one authorized by the officer's employer is inadmissible and must be suppressed."

The four are awaiting trial in District Court.

County Attorney Lambert and his assistant, Walter H. Hornbeck, point out, the State Legislature enacted laws against driving under the influence of intoxicants with the purpose of removing unsafe drivers from the roads, and that the Legislature did not specifically prohibit more than one type of test to be administered to determine the condition of a driver.

That suit points out that the decision of District Court "has severely hampered the enforcement of the driving under the influence laws in Rockcastle County."

The strict construction of the State jeopardizes the efforts and abilities of prosecutors to convict and punish offenders, the suits states. The recent decision gives defendants an unfair advantage in suppressing invaluable evidence."

It was noted that for quite some time, the Mt. Vernon Police Department has routinely offered blood tests to persons suspected of driving under the influence, the suit points out. And since "the department has never ordered officers to cease, it has become a designated test through custom and usage."

The suit claims if the District Court's order is allowed to stand, the ability of the county attorney to prosecute, all pending and future driving under the influence cases will

Lincoln man dies in wreck at McKinney

A head-on collision in Lincoln County last Thursday involving a Rockcastle County man resulted in the death of a Lincoln County man.

According to State Police at the Richmond post, Bobby R. Means Jr., 26 of McKinney died at the scene of the 11 a.m. accident.

Police said that the wreck occurred on Hwy. 198 one and half miles south of McKinney, when Kenneth Thacker, 26, of Copper Creek Road, Berea, pulled out to pass a gas truck.

Police said that there was a dip in the road and that Thacker apparently did not see the Means' vehicle.

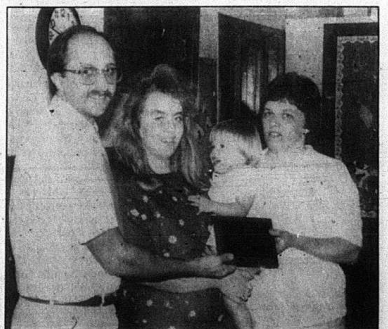

Thacker was driving a 1977 Chevrolet pick-up and Means was driving a 1974 Datsun that went under the Thacker vehicle when the collision occurred.

According to the Lincoln County Coroner, Means died instantly from head and internal injuries.

Thacker was treated at the Fort Logan Hospital in Stanford and released.

Means, who is survived by his wife, Sylvia, was buried at the New Salem Church in McKinney Saturday afternoon.

No charges have been filed.

Rockcastle County 4H President Mike Robbins presented Virginia Sowler with the Outstanding 4H Council Member Award for this year. The presentation was made at the annual 4H Banquet held last week. Shown with Mrs. Sowler are her daughters Serena and Anita.

Lots of people have roaches in the house from time to time. In fact, if there were fewer liars in the world you'd find out that almost everybody has found a roach under the sink in their home, or worse yet, under the bed covers at least a few times in their life. Roaches don't care how much money you make or how clean you try to keep the house. They don't care how much you pay the exterminator man to come around and spray. No matter how many roach motels they tuck away in dark corners or how much Borax you leave around in jars lids, roaches will show up, sooner or later, to let you know that you aren't invincible.

If I ever come to visit you and you have roaches in the house, don't even tell me about it because I'll start a crusade right on the spot to help you get rid of them. Don't even tell me that you've seen one in the last two weeks or I'll have your refrigerator turned upside down looking for it before you run me off.

I'd just as soon see a big naked tailed rat run across the rug as to have a cock roach dart out from under the couch hoping to do the same thing. I know, because in the last house we occupied a pack of rats tried to run us off. Got under the floor and dug holes right under the dogs' noses and one actually got in the house. I think I've already told you this story and it's too long to start now, but I killed the #5% @ & thing. The point was supposed to be that the rat didn't bother me anymore than a cock roach does.

Almost everybody hates rats with a passion though and sort of take roaches for granted. Not me. Think about rats for a moment or two - big old stant eyed, many, long tailed mean looking rats and you'll know how I feel about roaches. Very unfriendly.

I don't even like to handle 'em after I kill one because I generally kill 'em pretty good with all the energy I can direct into my shoe heel. I find 'em checked into one of those little motels that they can't check out of from time to time and I won't even throw 'em in the garbage if it's still in the house. I throw motel, roach and all out into the garden and compost 'em.

 I don't know where they come from. I had three crawl out of a sack of potatoes that I'd bought at an upscale supermarket. It didn't turn me against rats and I still do most of my shopping at the store. But the first thing I do with a new sack of spuds is pour 'em out to see if any roaches have taken residence while they were on the rack. And I always kick the liter stand a time or two when I'm in that store to see if I can speak one out. The point is, that there's probably a hundred ways a roach could sneak into the house. So there's no sense in letting them ruin your life.

Until last week, if you had told me that a household pest was going to come along and cause me more grief than cock roaches do, I wouldn't have believed you. Because I would never have been able to imagine snakes becoming a household pest.

 But last Monday I walked into the house and got clobbered by a hoe handle. Loretta had left it standing, I didn't see it, stepped on the blade and made it smack into the side of my head. "What in the (many words that even my most liberal editors would censor) dickens is a hoe doing turned that way in the middle of the (more words unfit for family reading) kitchen!!!!!!? I wanted to know it." "I killed a #5% @ & snake with it", Loretta whimpered because she was almost crying.

I don't know which alarmed me

Dear Editor:

I am a 49-year old white male here at Luther Luckett Correctional Complex.

I never get mail and it sure gets lonely in this place.

It would make me very happy if I could make some friends through your newspaper.

If anyone wishes to write me, I will answer all.

Dear Editor:

How long has American people been saying, "We are ALL going down the drain"? Have we been considering the rash oil spills in the past three or four years? Were they accidental? Are the people and its leaders so naive? In recent years, we have given billions of dollars to foreigners, while we at home, had hungry children.

What will happen to Americans, if Japan continues to buy our businesses? Our condominiums? Charity is good, but we jeopardize ourselves? Will Japan join the conflict, if and when it starts? We did a mighty fierce and tragic thing to them in the last world war, but we stopped the war.

We the people are repaying for this catastrophic and tragic setback. The mothers are paying the heaviest price in sons and resources. We are kept in darkness as to all details of strategic plans, involving our sons. We mothers elect our president and automatically inherited Dan Quayle. Do they measure up to the luminous fore-thought of a man like ALBERT EINSTEIN (sic). Do we the people understand why we spend billions for space ships? Of what consequence are they, if a man such as Saddam Hussein decides to set the world on fire first?

How much gin, scotch and bourbon flows through the White House every day while we the people tighten our belts tighter and have to lighten our suffer the loss of our sons, "the cream of the crop" our schools will deteriorate if conflict rages. If it does, won't a single Neutron bomb wipe us all away? Will our Leaders escape in our space ships?

Is Yours Truly being facetious? Maybe. Maybe not.

Thank you kindly,
 Margaret Dyehouse

They'll break your heart at times - you nurture them, love them, teach them how to not drool on themselves and what thanks do you get? They yell for the Oakland A's in the World Series!!

I wasn't bad enough that all season long I had to listen to the heroics of Canseco, McGwire, Canseco, Stewart, Canseco -- you get the picture.

more; that she had killed a snake or that she had uttered a bad word. Loretta only cusses once every five years.

"And there's another one coiled around the lamp chain in the living room" she bawled. Terrified. Dis- traught. Mumbling something about moving to Canada because they don't have snakes.

I went into the living room and sure enough, there he hung. We have 12 foot ceilings. This grey, greenish and black pidded snake had climbed an extension cord that ran from the floor to the ceiling, out about four feet and then halfway back down, trying to get closer, I suspect, to the warmth that the lamp bulb was radiating. I killed it with a plastic baseball bat.

We've had similar episodes almost every day for nearly two weeks now. Ten dead snakes so far. All identical. Just over a foot long. Loretta hauled two of 'em (dead) over to Berea College and a fellow in the Biology Department there said they were black rat snakes. He claimed to know all about serpents and said he kept several at home as pets. Anyway he says they're harmless and gave her the names of two or three guys who'd take the next ones we found if we'd take 'em alive. Like he really ex- pected Loretta to catch one.

I don't care if they're harmless. The might as well be pythons if they're crawling around in my house. I don't know how they're getting in, but I'll bet ten dollars it's not in the taters. The guy at the college said they'd prob- ably hatched out close by and there's probably about fifty of 'em.

"Look on the bright side," I tell Loretta. "I'll figure out how to get rid of the snakes, and in the meantime maybe they'll get rid of the mice and cock roaches."

But the truth of the matter is that I think I could learn to feel differently about roaches if I knew they'd run the snakes off.

minutes trying to beat their heads in the ground, she felt it was a little unreasonable to be expected to embrace them in brotherly love as soon as the contest was over. I understood this somewhat because I too have some problem with it but I was raised by a father who expected you to smile and not ever let anyone know that you were disappointed and, as he used to say, if you had done your best then that was all that mattered--tr'y telling Rick, Paige and Travis that Jamie, Jane and Sara were a little better about it, particularly Jane and Sara. I am nervous about the Reds, I think they can win but I, as everyone else, have read all the stories telling us how invincible the A's are and I'm not sure Travis will show as much restraint† as I did if the A's win.

But then, our house has two TV's and pretty heavy doors between the rooms and I suppose we can go through the series without discussing it with each other but, if the Reds do win...

I kind of felt sorry for him, as the game progressed his spirits sank lower and lower and you could see that for him the fun just wasn't going to start that night. I didn't feel too sorry because the kid has no business supporting a team that is 3,000 miles away when he has the Reds in his backyard, a team we have all read so much about that we feel as though they are part of our family.

Of course, Travis likes a winner. His favorite football team is the 49ers and when quired the other day as to why he chose the A's and 49ers, his answer was, "they are winners."

Travis hates to lose, he hates to lose when he is playing sports and he hates to be a good sport about losing -- my old theory that it's not who wins or loses but how they play the game doesn't fly with him. But, come to think of it, it never flew with Rick or Paige either. They both agreed once that the hardest part of losing a sporting contest was shaking or slapping hands with the opponent afterwards. Paige explained that since you had just spent x number of minutes trying to beat their heads in the ground, she felt it was a little unreasonable to be expected to embrace them in brotherly love as soon as the contest was over. I understood this somewhat because I too have some problem with it but I was raised by a father who expected you to smile and not ever let anyone know that you were disappointed and, as he used to say, if you had done your best then that was all that mattered--tr'y telling Rick, Paige and Travis that Jamie, Jane and Sara were a little better about it, particularly Jane and Sara. ## Earthquake Preparedness

Recent predictions of an earth- quake especially in Western Ken- tucky call attention for families to plan for safety during, as well as after the quake.

"During a major earthquake, you may experience a shaking that starts out to be gentle and within seconds grows violent and knocks you off your feet. That's the time you use your head to know what your next move is," said Larry Piercy, Extension safety engineer with the Uni- versity of Kentucky College of Agricul- ture.

If you are indoors, stay there. Get under a desk or table or stand in a doorway or corner. Stay clear of windows, bookcases, china cabinets, mirrors and fireplaces, until the quake stops to help avoid falling debris, Piercy said.

"If you happen to be in the kitchen when the quake begins, turn off the stove at the first sign of shaking and quickly take cover under a counter or table, or in a doorway," he said. If you are outside, stay in the open away from buildings, trees, walls and power lines.

Do not rush for doorways, if you happen to be in a crowded public building, because others will have the same idea. Instead, moving away from display shelves containing ob- jects that may fall.

If you are in a highrise building, get under a desk. Stay away from windows and outside walls. Stay in the building on the same floor.

"Don't be surprised if the electri- city goes out or if the fire alarms or sprinkler system start," Piercy said. If you are in your car, pull to the side of the road and stop the car. Do not park under overpasses or under powerlines. Stay in your car until the quake is over. "Do not attempt to cross bridges or overpasses that have been damaged," Piercy said.

Piercy said that family members need to be instructed in safety mat- ters so they will know what to do if an earthquake strikes. "Using common sense in the crisis is important during an earthquake. Keep your wits about you and make logical decisions," the engineer said.

Dear Editor: It's a matter of guess-work, whether you can use a stock-pile of my writing or not. I am a write-o- holic. Always had to write. Even in Chicago twenty-five years ago, I

The Mount Vernon Signal, Thursday, October 18, 1990 P-A3 wrote to everyone I could think of. I wrote to Hugh Hefner one time while he was there. I have an album full of things I wrote to Editors. I still save them. I meet a lot of people through letters. The reason I like to write to the Signal is because it's somewhat like writing to my old friends. Every one at the Signal seems to be very friendly and congenial.

Many of my friends there are very good people. They are conscientious of after death, and what happens to them...I'd like to write that, if they think they might be in sin, while they think they wish that Sadaam Hussein would be killed, as deep down as I do. We don't really wish his death would come upon him, it is that we know it would remove the possibility of suffering, torturing and death to the innocent men, women and children. We are not in sin, all we want is the elimination of the suffering so that means that we love, rather than hate.

Let us all pray that God will put an end to the WORLD RIP-OFF, and ALL THE DAMAGE TO THE WORLD. Consequently, send all of our people home. They are not desert rats.

I thank you Editor and do appreciate the legendary Signal. Margaret Dyehouse

Mrs. Charlotte Bullock has implemented a Business and Education class for her fourth grade classroom at Broadhead Elementary School for the 1990 school year. The class, which focuses on careers by allowing the students to conduct personal interviews with representatives from local businesses within the classroom, is a project to help fund a computer for the class by donations from the businesses participating. Mrs. Bullock, who received training for the class through the Commonwealth Institute for Teachers at Western Kentucky University, said that the project is sponsored by the state department.

Planetarium Visit

by Shawn Shearer
On October 9, Mrs. Parkey's and Mrs. Osborne's eighth grade classes went on a field trip to Hummel Planetarium in Richmond.
One of the major attractions at the planetarium was a large ball about four feet in diameter. It had 10,000 holes punched in it and also had a light in the middle so that when the light inside went on, it made the illusion of 10,000 stars appearing on the planetarium's domed roof. The projected images were run by a computer. When the ball moved, it looked like the room was moving.
The program began with a man on the moon and ended in approximately 120,000 A.D. Students learned about the stars and galaxies, theories about planetary colonization and special kinds of energy to power spacecrafts.

Tuesday, October 2. Students who either made the Honor Roll or had Perfect Attendance received coupons from Godfather's and Druthers.
Godfather's and Druthers are examples of how businesses and schools work together to encourage students to do their best.
The students like the idea. One student said, "I think it's great. When I say this, I think I speak for all of Roundstone."

PTO Schedules Events

by Amy Thacker
Melanie Lyons, president of the Roundstone PTO, reports that the PTO has scheduled a variety of exciting projects for this school year. The PTO's first project will be candy sales. Throughout the year, there are a number of events scheduled, including a Christmas Pageant, spring festival and drug-prevention program.

Students Reap Rewards

The students of Roundstone Elementary School received their report cards on

Lt. Governor Speaks
by Karen Harding
Berton Jones, Lt. Governor of Kentucky, visited Roundstone on September 25. He talked to students about succeeding in their dreams. He said, "Whatever you do, don't give up in what you want to be."

There were many positive comments around RES regarding the Lt. Governor. Crissy Johnson thought the speech was very honest and freely thought out. Mr. Ward found Lt. Governor Jones to be concerned with education in Kentucky.
We, at Roundstone, give a special thanks to Mrs. Sayle who arranged for the Lt. Governor's visit.

Teen Challenge Experience

by Briana Owens
On Thursday, October 4, The Teen Challenge visited RES. The youth group sang and told about past experiences with drugs. Also, individual group members explained to students what can happen if you use drugs.

Some reaction to the Teen Challenge visit were: Karen Harding, "I liked them a lot. They really put meaning into what they did. It really touched my heart."
Ginger Mink, "The program was really good for teens. It made a good point."

Outstanding 4-H'ers

by Ginger Mink
Jama Cornelius and Wendy Himes were recently recognized as outstanding 4-Hers at RES.

The RCHS Minute

PSAT
The PSAT will be given to college bound juniors on Tues., Oct. 23. This test is the qualifier for the National Merit Scholarship. The test, which lasts one hour and 40 minutes, will be administered by the guidance department.

Faculty Meeting
The monthly faculty meeting has been rescheduled for Thursday afternoon at 3:15 rather than Friday.

Track & Field
Friday afternoon, during 6th period, FHA will be sponsoring the second annual intramural track and field day. Students will be entering the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, tug of war, softball throw, 200 meter relay, sack race, three-legged race, football toss and other events. Finals will be held Monday afternoon.

Jackets - Umbrellas
Football staff are selling Rocket umbrellas and jackets to help defray expenses of taking the team to football camp next summer.

Last year, Jama Cornelius completed in county and area speech competition. Her finishes qualified her for the State Talk Meet held at the University of Kentucky this past June. Her speech, "A Class of Distinction," earned her a second place blue ribbon.

Wendy recently entered the 4-H poster contest with an entry entitled, "4-H is Amazing." The winner has not yet been announced.

Both girls have been very involved in 4-H, participating in activities such as demonstrations and vegetable judging. Congratulations to Wendy and Jama for a job well done!

RES Gets New Addition

by Adam Powell
The new $325,000 addition to Roundstone School is affecting both students and teachers in many ways. The teachers in the new addition love the new rooms. For instance, the rooms are larger, cleaner, brighter and also have new storage room. The students like the new rooms because they are larger but both the students and teachers miss the old lockers.

Other features teachers like are the teachers' workroom and the new bathrooms. The workroom is closer, so when teachers need to run out of materials, it's easier to get back to less faster. The new bathrooms make it easier for students to get to and from more quickly.

Mr. Jim Ward thinks the new science room has improved his science classes. He likes the sinks because when students perform an experiment, it is easier to get water. The storage room enables him to store more supplies.

Larke's Class Decorates

by Shauna Stevens
Mrs. Larke's third grade class has decorated RES for October. In the front of the school is a folder shock, carved pumpkins and lots of miniature scarecrows. On the folder shock is a big orange bow to represent all our soldiers in Saudi Arabia. Students carved out their own pumpkins and made their very own scarecrows to keep people away from their pumpkins.
When asked their favorite part of the project, some student comments were: Christian Parsons, "It was fun making it."
Gina Thacker, "We did it for fun."

New Faces at RES

by Jamaica Cummins
Roundstone has gained two new teachers and one new aide. New faces include Mrs. Hale, Miss Mason and Miss Hines.
As a result of the new educational reform, Mrs. Hale came to Roundstone from Mt. Vernon Elementary. Although Mrs. Hale regretted leaving Mt. Vernon, she says she is very happy teaching third grade at RES.

Mrs. Mason says that it is a privilege teaching first graders and it is delighted to be at RES. Also a leader of the Academic Team, Miss Mason received her degree from Cumberland College.

Miss Hines is the new Luncheon monitor and part-time teacher's aide. She says what she loves most about Roundstone is the cooperative spirit.

Tiger Pause

A Report of Activities at Broadhead Elementary School

Broadhead PTA attended the fall district PTA conference dinner Tuesday, Oct. 16 at the Somerset Lodge. Attending were Marlon Cable, president, Ann Taylor, vice president; Judy Adams, treasurer; Molly Hamm, secretary and Beverly Owens, teacher representative.

We would like to thank Druthers and Godfather's Pizza for academic and attendance incentives. Our students enjoy these "tasty" rewards.

The third grade classes went to Renfro Valley Thurs., Oct. 18, they toured the museum and village. Teachers: Mrs. Kathy Dyehouse, Mrs. Duina Thompson and Mrs. Lillie Parsons coordinated this learning experience to enrich their study of communities in Social Studies. The students had an opportunity to see a part of their own community.

Mrs. Carolyn Bryant's Challenge Classes will be visiting the Cultural Fair at Eastern Kentucky University during the week of October 22. Tours will include visiting Latin American displays at the Art Gallery and students will interact with college students from Puerto Rico, Mexico and Trinidad.

Smokee The Bear will visit each classroom the week of October 22 to promote forest fire prevention.

Mr. Payne and Mr. McKinney were honored Tuesday, Oct. 16 on National Boss Appreciation Day by their faculty and staff.

Mrs. Kelly Penso's fourth grade recently had a "Food Tasting Party." Students brought in unusual, healthy foods to enrich a chapter in Health on the four basic food groups.

Our nurse, Mrs. Mabel Cash, is busy screening students' weight, height and hearing. She is a much-needed and appreciated part of our school.

Mrs. Onna Kaye Owens, fifth grade teacher, was elected by her peers to represent them as an Advisory Committee Member for Site Based Decision Making, a component of the Kentucky Education Reform. Two from here at Centre

Two students from Mt. Vernon have joined the freshman class at Centre College.

Dane Cox, the son of Jerry and Vicki Cox, is a 1990 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, where he was a member of the football team and math club.

Kevin Rowe, the son of Donald and Linda Rowe, is also a 1990 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, where he was co-captain of the football team and a member of the baseball and basketball teams. He plans to major in biology.

Teen Center News

Bringing up youth to have a positive outlook involves a network of committed people in their environment. Parents need the support of school personnel, schools need the support of outside programs, agencies and individuals that are committed to young people. Staff at the Rockcastle Teen Center are working closely with some parents to establish study patterns and strategies for their children who regularly use the Center. Schools have opened their doors to staff for promotion of programs and liaison with teachers and students. Currently, Teen Center Coordinator, Ginny Givens, is sitting in on the EFNEP nutrition education program being offered at the high school for pregnant teens by the County Extension service. Mt. Vernon Elementary will be bringing seventh and eighth graders in to see the center on a field trip basis.

Another important link in the support network is local businesses and individuals who recognize the value of programs like the Teen Center offered by Christian Appalachian Project. Druthers' general manager, Danny Settles, has donated coupons for free cheeseburgers and fries to be given out as prizes: Mike Bryant II, Sales and Advertising Manager at Renfro Valley, gave free passes to the teens to attend the Molasses Festival. Pizza Hut's Manager, Pam Burdette, has offered to supply pizza for the Teen Center Dance on Saturday. Ranger, Marvin Stone, local contractor, George Griffin, and police officer, Chris Baker have given their time to work directly with the teens at the center.

The staff at the Center deeply appreciate the support and encouragement of the Rockcastle County Community. Quality programs will grow out of this climate of mutual caring.

Special Events this week:
 Tuesday - 4:15 - Teen Council - all teens who use the center should be present to discuss plans.
 5:00 - Karate
 6:00 - "Knowing Yourself" self-awareness group
 Wednesday - 3:30 - Van cleaning - those who participate will have top priority when they need rides!

Mt. Vernon Fall Festival
 courage the festival to be held the same weekend as Renfro's Molasses Festival, which is the first weekend in October.

"It's something to consider," Mrs. Rader said. "There are two ways to look at it."

Last, but not least, there was music and dancing with master of ceremonies the Rev. Wendell Romans, pastor of the First Baptist of Mt. Vernon.

The dancers were the Hilltop Stompers, a Mt. Vernon clogging group that entertained and pleased a large crowd. Gospel groups included Jason Wilson and Kristy Fletcher, Joyful Noise, Different Way and the Firm Believers.

5:30 - Mid-week movie
 6:00 - Teen Parents, group - "Discipline and Spoiling" (pregnant teens are encouraged to participate)
 Thursday - 3:30 - Making stuffed scarecrows and farmer for Respite Care Party.
 Help set up for Seniors' Dinner Decorate for Junior High Costume Party.
 5:00 - Karate
 "Human Sexuality" group
 7:00 - 9:30 Costume Night (Jr. High only) costume prizes, games, dancing, special refreshments $50 cents.
 Friday - 1:00 - 4:00 - Bike-a-thon for St. Jude; meet at high school with signed sponsor sheets.
 8:00 - 12:00 - Pizza and dance. All teens welcome $2.00.

The Teen Center is open for drop in games when special events are not scheduled. Those present may participate in any of the programs offered, or must leave. Nutritious after school snacks are offered until 5 p.m. Tutoring and homework help are available Tuesday through Thursday between 3:00 and 5:00. For more information phone - 256-4919.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Dean Isaacs

Miss Robbins weds Mr. Isaacs in ceremony at First Baptist

Anita Joan Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Robbins of Mt. Vernon and Dwight Dean Isaacs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cossie Isaacs also of Mt. Vernon, were married Sat., July 7 at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon with the Rev. Michael Bryant officiating. Rev. Wendell Romans delivered a special prayer for the couple.

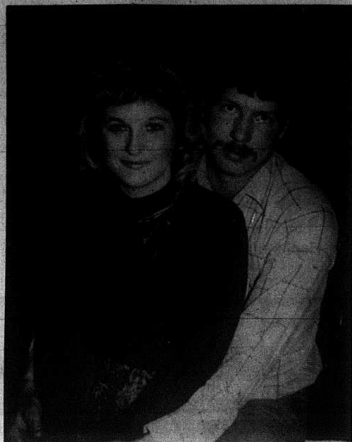

The church was decorated with greenery, arched candelabras and peach and teal bows. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Pam Martin and vocal selections were sung by Michael Bryant, Jr.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a designer gown of white satin with traditional styling. The high crown collar and fitted basque waist bodice sparkled with intricately hand beaded lace appliques. The long fitted sleeves featured lace cut outs at the upper arm forming a scalloped pattern. Sheer illusion covered the low v-back and was trimmed in beaded lace. Lace window panes adorned the front panel of the skirt and the center back of the cathedral train. To complete this elegant look was a pleated satin headband with lace appliques and pearl danglers at the forehead completed by the waist length veil. She carried a large cascade bouquet of sona roses, stephanitis, baby's breath and ribbons trailing down in a v-shape arrangement.

Brenda Renner, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She was attired in a jade green dress with a sweetheart neckline, short puff sleeves and full waist length skirt. She carried a miniature matching cascade bouquet of sona roses and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Michelle (Cont. to A9)

French - Cromer

Mr. and Mrs. Estel French of Mt. Vernon announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Pam, to Gene Cromer, son of Fred and Rosie Cromer, also of Mt. Vernon. The wedding will be an event of Sat., Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. at the Family Life Center. All friends and relatives of the bride and groom are invited to attend. A reception will follow.

Homemakers' Shakertown tour

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

Eleven braved the elements to the Shakertown Village of Pleasant Hill. They left Watson's Parking Lot at 8:45 a.m., Friday, Oct. 12, in the rain. By the time Eugene McCook, Barbara Watson, Glenna Brooks, Clara Proctor, Roberta Taylor, Ruth Russell, Ella Mac Martin, Elizabeth Mullins, Irene Winstead, Deloris Wilson and Cheryl Witt arrived at Shakertown village, the rain had stopped.

The group first visited the original 19th Century Shaker structures, none have been moved or reconstructed. The tour started at the center Family Dwelling, then progressed east to the Water House, the Brethrens Bath House, the East Family craft House, Old Stone shop, West Family Dwelling, West Family Wash House, drying House, west Family Sister's Shop, West Family Privy, Scale House, Old ministry's Shop, Carpenter's Shop, Meeting House and Ministry workshop.

McHargue - Andrew

Mrs. Martha McHargue of Mt. Vernon would like to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Shirley Gail, to Jerry Michael Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Andrew of Berea. The bride-elect is a graduate of Rockcastle Co. High School and is employed by Appalachian Computer Services, Inc. as an assistant supervisor. Mr. Andrew is a graduate of Berea Community High School and is also employed by Appalachian Computer Services, Inc. as a lead CPU operator. The wedding will be held Sat., Nov. 24 at 5:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church in Berea. All friends and relatives are invited.

Ladies Aid Missionary Society meeting

By: Elizabeth Mullins

Betty Machal of Mt. Vernon entertained the Ladies Aid Missionary Society at Elizabeth F. Mullins' home in Brodhead Tuesday evening, Oct. 9.

Willie Lawrence chose to present a program about "Abused Children of the World."

She read passages from the Bible about blessings and thankfulnesses to bring to mind how fortunate we are but how unfortunate our abused children are.

Reading poems of happy children's lives in comparison caused the group

Rise & Shine Homemakers

Kathy McCauley, Reporter

Low-cost holiday decorations was the topic at the October meeting of the Rise and Shine Homemakers held at the home of Juanita Davis. We had a record turnout with nine members present and one guest for the down-home country brunch. Discussion was held on the nice time five of our homemakers had at the Wilderness Trail Area Homemakers meeting at Cumberland Falls Lodge. Our group was also well represented at the recent AARP meeting at Renfro Valley. Volunteers from Rise and Shine will also be presenting the "Latch Key Kid" program to 4th graders at area elementary schools during the month of October and November.

We are glad to announce and welcome to our club a new member and also new resident of Mt. Vernon, Becky Griffin. Becky has already been involved in projects within the community and will be a welcome addition to Rise & Shine Homemakers.

It sounds like a beautiful fall has already begun so, Rise & Shine!

Busy Bee Homemakers

By Reporter

Tuesday evening, Oct. 9, eight ladies gathered at the home of Edith Lamb. The living room was festively decorated with wreaths, angels, baskets, and tree ornaments, giving the impression that Christmas had come before Halloween!

Wynona Isaacs, the newly elected president, called the meeting to order promptly at 7 p.m. The ladies answered the roll by quoting a proverb remembered from childhood. This was harder than you might imagine.

It was even suggested that the roll call idea for November be given in advance so that those suffering from memory deficit disorder would have time to prepare an answer. (She is my sister, I'm allowed to tease).

After a brief business session, Carolyn Hunt and Edith Lamb presented the lesson "Low Cost Holiday Decorations." We were relieved to know that the items on display around the living room were part of the lesson and that our hostess is one of the few who still wait until December to decorate for Christmas.

Time flies when you are having fun. Before we realized it, the coffee was brewed (Pepsi, for me), the sandwiches were made, and the familiar call "Come and get it" was heard. There was no need to ask me twice.

Our next meeting will be Nov. 13 at the home of Edith Lamb. Our hostess will be Carolyn Hunt. Our meetings are so much fun! In fact, as we were gathering our things to leave, I heard someone say, "You mean we only meet once a month?"

72nd Birthday

for 4-H

Over 1104 4-Hers, parents, leaders and 4-H Council members attended the 4-H Recognition Banquet last week at Brodhead Elementary School. The banquet is held in conjunction with National 4-H Week. 4-Hers were presented awards for the past school club year (1989-90) Outstanding 4-H Club was Mrs. Nancy Hale's 5th grade "Mrs. H's 4-Hers" from Mt. Vernon. Congratulations to each member and leader! The second place club award went to Mrs. Sharon McKinney's 6th grade club from Brodhead and in third place was Mrs. Burton's Busy Bunch from Brodhead.

The 4-H Council also recognized two council members this year: Vernon and Virginia Sowder. The Sowders have been active on the council the last 9 years and have assisted in many programs and activities.

This year's guest speaker was former 4-H member, Satica Morgan. Satica was very active in 4-H at Brodhead Elementary. She spoke on some of the ways 4-Hers could get involved in 4-H activities. Satica is the daughter of Eddie and Patsy Morgan of Brodhead.

The 4-H Council would like to thank the Brodhead School cooks for their great support and cooperation with the 4-H program.

Happy 15th Birthday, Little Sis. Does anyone remember when she looked like this?

to decide to send a donation to UNICEF.

Ella Mae Martin closed the program with prayer.

Christian Church Homes over the state were discussed as well as Brodhead Christian Church's revival Oct. 15-19.

To be able to hear a different minister each night will be fulfilling. The Rockcastle Christian Church Ministers will take turns in delivering the messages.

Motion was made and seconded to buy material and make table cloths for the fellowship hall's dining tables.

The ladies signed November birthday cards that Ella Mae had made for occupants at Sowder Nursing Home.

By this time, we welcomed Betty's announcement of "refreshments served in the dinette."

She had table and counter covered by a Halloween tablecloth with napkins to match. Even the orange jelly ring with fruit looked like Halloween! So did one filling in the ribbon sandwich loaf. Of course, the pumpkin bread carried out the holiday theme. Nuts and drinks rounded out the refreshments.

Ella Mae Martin will be hostess for the November 13 meeting at Dix Point Restaurant at 7:30 p.m.

to decide to send a donation to UNICEF.

Guess Who's 62 and Happy Birthday, Mom!

In recognition for high performance in the month of June, Appalachian Computer Service recognizes Kim Powell as the Employee of the Month in the Berea office.

Outstanding Club
Mrs. H's 4-Hers received the Outstanding 4-H Club Award at the recent recognition banquet. Congratulations on being the outstanding club for 1989-90 year.

Our Friend; Our Family Doctor

It is good sometimes to just visit with friends and mix the past with the present and dream of a better future. This happened the other evening at the home of my friends, Calvin and Dean Mize.

We were discussing the present health care system and the improvements needed in it. This took us backward in time to when we had a different system and different attitudes concerning our care.

The name of Dr. E.T. Smith of Somerset came up and comparisons

"ROBBINS-ISAACS"
(Cont. From A6)

Cromer, Cindy Noe and Angie Winstead. Their dresses were identical to Mrs. Renner's. Their bouquets were of sona roses with matching streamers.

Flower girl was Leanna Walls, cousin of the bride. She wore an identical white gown and veil to match the bride's gown and veil and she carried a white basket filled with white rose petals.

The groom was attired in a white cutaway tuxedo and boutonniere of peach roses.

The ring bearer was Zachary Crawford of Somerset who wore an identical white cutaway tuxedo to match the groom's.

Ferry Noe served as best man. Groomsman were Roger Isaacs, Gary Renner and Jeff Lowery. All wore the classic black tuxedos and boutonnieres of peach roses.

Sherry Washburn, cousin of the bride, attended the bride's book and Linda Erwin of Lexington distributed the rice bags and wedding scrolls. Wedding coordinator was Verna Robbins.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Assisting with the reception were Violet Cash, Connie Graham, Brenda Lovell, Marie Thacker and Lisa Bullock.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, the couple are residing in Mt. Vernon.

lungs. He took this little boy in his arms and spoke encouraging words to him. I'm sure those words to him in his own calm voice helped calm that fever. I know the things said to us helped to calm our fears. You see, we knew he cared.

Several trips were made after this initial visit in his own car. He would drive as far as he could then would walk if necessary or ride a horse or mule borrowed from someone the rest of the way. We were never asked to bring that sick child to his office.

Dr. E.T. Smith lived up to the promise he had made to his father and to the Hippocratic oath he had taken.

Reunions

Jones Reunion

The first annual Jones Family Reunion was held at the William Whitey house on Oct. 14. Those who attended were:

Della Barnes, Gene Mobley, Frank and Ellen Eagle and grandchildren, Kevin, Melinda and Bridget, Willis and Mae Eldridge and son, Randy, Delora Baker, Chester and Irene Engle and sons, Danny and Billy, Paul and Fay Owens, Stanley Holman and daughter, Renea, Lorene Baker, Elthur and Celia Davidson and daughter, Janice, Danny and Julia Helton and daughter, Elizabeth, Howard and Marie Walter, Sr., Earl and Nellie Walter, daughter Patty, and granddaughter, Heather Jo, Eugene and Carol Walter and children, Jenny, Jason and Becky.

Orville and Wilma DeBord and daughter, Deanna, Proctor and Opal Brock, Ruth Holman and daughter, Tonya, Gina Howard and sons, Willie, Adrian and Joshua, Darlene Sith and children, Ken and Crystal, Jennifer Bullens, Carolyn Thacker and daughter, Stephanie, Margaret Jones, Ralph and Judy Baker, James and Darlene Jones and children, Lindsey and Robert, Elizabeth Fletcher, Laura Brandenburg and daughters, Jessica and Jamie, John Ray and Nerissa Baker and children, Nikki, John Nathan and Melissa, Deborah Eldridge and son, Christopher, Becky and son of Paris.

When we would go to his office for service, we would wait our turn to be seen and we know when Emily said, "next" it meant that. We would step through the door leading into his office and he would be smiling from behind his big desk and ask, "What is your problem today?" then sit and talk about it. The examination room was in back and with Emily's help he would do what was needed. Any lab work that was needed was done there in their own lab and was considered as part of the call. If a shot was needed, it was also part of the call. That's what they were there for. To meet the needs of the patients.

His home was open to his patients in the evenings to those who needed

Anglin and daughter, Samantha, Ellis and Betty Eldridge and grandson, John, Bobby and Sherry Turner and daughters, Tiffany and Victoria, Ron and Sherry Walter and sons, Brian and Justin, Roger Brock, Richard and Audrey Doughman, Teresa Renner and children, Valerie, Amanda and Travis, Paul and Ruth Martin and children, Christopher, Caryn, Anthony and Nathaniel.

Reunion

A family reunion was held Sept. 29 at the home of Charles and Alene Sutton in Mt. Vernon. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller with Brenda, Sandy and Tresea of Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie May, Phil May and Diana Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Morney Owens, Frances Miller, Tommie Miller, Patricia Combs and Jeff Lewis, all of Richmond, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Miller of Christianburg, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Shell of Hamilton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Abney of Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Vanzant, Orlando; Christine Miller, Florence; Lisa Bramlett and Tyler of Troy, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Miller, Matthew and Terry Edward and Jennifer Mason and Britney, all of Mt. Vernon; Gerry Whitaker, Georgetown; Geneva Brockman, McKee; Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Taylor and son of Paris.

care after his day time hours in his office. He would use one of his own beds to examine a person or soothe a sick child in it. He would hold a baby in his arms and charm it with small talk before giving it a shot or further examination.

He would drive the 20 to 25 miles into our area - often times over bad roads, sometimes covered with snow or ice to see an elderly person that didn't feel like making the trip to town. He made night calls as well as day time ones.

He delivered babies at home for those women who wanted to have their babies at home. Dr. he would deliver them in a hospital and sit with the woman all night if necessary to allow her baby to be born without rushing her birth. He could also perform a neat caesarean section when needed.

He didn't get rich by the standards of today but he lived well, drove a decent car and owned a nice home. He and Emily raised two fine girls and educated them. What else does one need?

Emily succumbed to cancer a few years ago and the last I heard, Dr. E.T. was a victim of Parkinson's. I'll just bet I'll find out about him now since I've been remembering him and the years he has served all our medical needs.

Do we have any of these left? Has technology and professionalism taken away the genuine care of people or have the people themselves misused this kind of care until the medical system had to change to survive. One thing for sure, we need a health care system that takes care of the health needs of the sick as well as the financial needs of the physician.

Renfro Creek
Written in 1968 by
Mable J. Reppert

The creek was such a little brook that one could step across. Wild flowers grew upon its banks and spots of soft green moss.

It made its way between rock bluffs, the water always cool. Sometimes, choosing a sunny spot to leave a clear deep pool.

When our first settlers came, good water, a blessing to find. They built their homes and cleared the land. Along the small creek line.

They were proud of home and farm and could hardly be to blame. The creek belonged to everyone, not just a certain few. Sometimes it acted up a bit like all creeks seem to do.

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Week is Oct. 14-20

Across Kentucky every year, nearly 100 families lose babies to Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS). Counselors say that these families need special attention during the tragedy surrounding a SIDS death.

SIDS, also called crib death, is the sudden and unexpected death of a seemingly well infant whose death remains unexplained even after an autopsy. Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson has proclaimed Oct. 14-20, 1990 "Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Awareness Week" in Kentucky.

According to SIDS counselors, the nature of SIDS combined with the natural grieving process call for special help for families. When a baby dies of SIDS, the parents' grief is always complicated by undischarged feelings of guilt. They ask themselves what they could have done differently to prevent the death or what they did to cause the death.

The fact is that SIDS deaths cannot be prevented. So when parents are searching for answers, it's important that they get factual information that will explain SIDS to them. Families in Kentucky can find that the information from a network of SIDS counselors at health departments throughout the state.

When we learn of a SIDS death, a counselor calls the parents and offers to talk to them. If they're interested, the counselor meets with them and tries to answer their questions. Although we can't answer the one question they most want an answer for—Why?—we can give them a factual, medical information that reinforces that the family is not to blame.

Counselors also speak to siblings of the infant. Sometimes older children have a hard time understanding what has happened. And parents are going through such a rough time that it is hard for them to deal with the other children. It sometimes helps for the counselor to speak with the brothers and sisters, specially to address any fears or guilt they may be feeling.

SIDS counselors can be reached by calling—the local health department in your county or Leanne Smith, 878-0610, extension 202, Kentuckians can also contact Lida Lyons, state SIDS Coordinator, Department for Health Services, 275 E. Main Street, Frankfort, Ky. 40621.

Her telephone number is (502) 564-3236.

"POET'S CORNER"
(Cont. From A9)

But years ago when need was great, it powered a water mill.
And from the clear pool of its length, wild creatures drank their fill.
The best sun perch in all the world were caught with hook and line,
While small boys dreamed of other things.
Out in another time.

Farmers worked and planted the soil, they too dreamed and planned.
They built strong barns and sturdy homes, some of which still stand.
Acres and acres of fertile fields spread for miles around,
Some of the country's best farm land among these acres found.

Now after all these years we find we need a lake
To build a dam
Across old Renfro Creek.
So I took my last long look at it
In water that all my life had been my secret place.

It is stocked with fine fish now not found in a small creek,
And boats motor along the places that were touched by my small feet.

It is a blessing once again to farms and homes alike.
Its waters flow county wide both hot and cold alike.

To fisherman dreams and swimming pools,
Oh, what a delight!
But me, I miss the clear cool stream of old Renfro Creek.

"HOMEMAKERS' TOUR"
(Cont. From A6)

The three acres have been opened to the public in recent years.
After all the exercise of viewing these building, the groups was ready for lunch in the Trustee's dining Room, at 11:30 a.m.

The food was delicious as usual. After this, the gift shops were visited before riding to the wharf where the boat cruise on the Dixie Belle started.
High Bridge came into sight soon on Kentucky River. Trailers, motor homes and houses could be spotted on the left bank toward High Bridge. The right side of Kentucky River was steep and rugged with cliffs that looked like castles.

Orange, yellow and mauve leaves could be seen amidst the green leaves of the numerous kinds of trees.
The tall straight white water birch trees looked like handles of paint brushes with leaves up for brushes.
Barbara Watson yelled, "There's Dix River coming into Kentucky River."

The many small branches of water near Broadhead, gives "bimb" to the Dix River.

The most surprising sight was the long narrow water fall that had worn a ditch in a rocky cliff to splash into the Kentucky River.

A male duck with its baby swam along nonchalantly. Someone saw a pelican dipping its head for small fish, but the pheasant family brought more "Ohs and Ahs" from the boat's passengers.

We couldn't agree on what the purple flower was along the hilly bank.

From the living quarters along the left bank, blockbuster driveways led to the river where they kept their boats.

Some of the residents came down and waved at the Dixie Bell passengers.

Old Glory could be seen flying in the breeze now and then.

On the return trip, we tried to sight anything we'd missed seeing from the Dixie Belle as we went down the Kentucky River.

No complaints were heard about this Shakerown Tour! Everyone seemed to have had a rewarding day in all they did.

I just wish more Rockcastle County Homemakers could have gone! I enjoyed it in a wheel chair that Ruth Bussell acquired for me, with Eugene McBee pushing it along.

income families access to the private housing market, offering them freedom of choice to select the neighborhood and type of housing in which they would like to live. The family receives federal rental subsidy which represents the difference between an average monthly rent, including basic utility consumption for a particular area, and 30 percent of the family's monthly income. Types of housing families may rent include duplexes, single family homes, mobile homes or apartments.

Mc. Van Ness stated, "This rental assistance is clearly needed, and we are very pleased to be able to assist in providing decent and safe housing for an additional 8 families in these counties.
During fiscal year 1990, the Kentucky HUD Office allocated $19,747,960, for a five-year period, to fund housing vouchers and certificates for an additional 916 families across the Commonwealth.

Alleyne Davis retires . . .

Mrs. Alleyne Davis was presented with a plaque and a VCR at a retirement dinner in her honor at the Rockcastle Steak House last week. At left is her husband Phillip Davis and library board chairman Gaffitt Craig.

was librarian 36 years

By: Richard Anderkin

Thirty six years is a lifetime and that is what Mrs. Alleyne Davis has given to the Rockcastle County Library.

On November 1 Mrs. Davis, 77, will retire from her position as librarian of the local library.

Friends and library board members held a special dinner for Mrs. Davis at the Rockcastle Steak House last week.

With the help of Mrs. Joyce Henderson and other local folks Mrs. Davis opened the library in 1954.

Friends and library board members held a special dinner for Mrs. Davis at the Rockcastle Steak House last week.

The first library was located in the Mt. Vernon City Hall behind the fire trucks and Mrs. Davis recalls that it was open only one hour a week.

"We were open one hour on Saturday afternoon and the books in the library were all donated by people that knew we needed a library," she said.

After a couple of years in the city hall, the library was moved to the old L & N Depot and then to the Rockcastle Hotel, which is now the Signal Building. The library remained in the basement of the hotel until 1974 when it was moved to its present location.

Mrs. Davis is very proud of her many accomplishments while librarian, but she is most proud of the present building that houses the library.

"A lot of us worked very hard with very little money to get this structure built," she said Tuesday. "I think we did a k. considering that the county judge at the time would not even pay for an architect to design the building," she said.

The library building is located on Ford Drive in Mt. Vernon and, besides housing 39,000 volumes, it also is home to the Mt. Vernon Senior Citizen program and the Rockcastle County Library Program.

It is also home to the Rockcastle County Bookmobile, a program that was actually in place before the library started.

Small children also enjoy story hour on Wednesday and there is a craft class for women on Tuesdays.

Elementary, high school and college students use the library extensively for research and of course thousands use the library each year for pure reading enjoyment.

Mrs. Davis said Tuesday that her husband Phillip was always a big help and that he and several other community members built the first book shelves for the library.

From one hour a week in 1954 to 30 hours a week and a budget of $40,000, the library has come a long way in its 36 year history.

And Mrs. Davis is not going to quit completely, she plans to help out part time with the craft class and just help out when needed.

Mrs. Geraldine Robbins, who now operates the Bookmobile will take over as librarian and Mrs. Pam Chaffitt will run the Bookmobile.

An open house will be held in Mrs. Davis' honor on November 1.

Pam Chaffitt, left, is the new bookmobile driver and Geraldine Robbins will be the new librarian.

Fundraiser for Vanwinkle is October 27

Family members are planning a fund raiser for a Flat Gap woman that was critically injured in Tampa, Florida on September 28.

Melissa Vanwinkle, 21, of Flat Gap Road, Berea, was struck by a car in Tampa around 11:30 p.m. on September 28 as she walked down the street with another family member.

According to family members, Vanwinkle received a broken neck, broke both legs and one arm. She is presently in the Tampa General Hospital while awaiting transfer to Cardinal Hill Hospital in Lexington.

Vanwinkle is the daughter of Bill and Margaret Vanwinkle.

The fundraiser will be held Saturday October 27, starting at 10 a.m. at Huff's Carpet Barn in Conway.

There will be a bake sale, raffle and singing. Anyone wishing to donate anything to the fundraiser should contact Kathy Felner at 256-3252.

Melissa Vanwinkle was critically injured in a September 28 accident in Tampa Florida. A benefit for Vanwinkle will be held at Huff's Carpet Barn in Conway on October 27.

Climax grade school reunion

Former students of Climax Elementary School in Rockcastle County held a reunion at Oh Kentucky Campgrounds in Berea, on Saturday evening September 29, 1990.

They were joined by their spouses and eight teachers for a total attendance of approximately 160.

Many family members sat together during dinner and enjoyed this opportunity for their own reunions. Many of the family names represented included: Abney, Abrams, Allen, Anglin, Baker, Ballinger, Clark, Cobb, Cook, Cornett, Fields, Forsythe, Galiff, Hall, Johnson, Jones, Moore, Mullins, Northing, Owens, Phillips, Richards, Sexton and Woolley. The teachers in attendance were: Burgess Robbins, June

Plans underway for 1991 reunion

Stewart, Verla Scott, Nancy Williams, Thelma Dillingham, Delia Prather, Harold Ballinger and Edna Parsons.

They came from near and far. In addition to many communities throughout Kentucky, the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Florida, Tennessee and South Carolina were also represented. Juanita Johnson Moreland and her husband traveled the longest distance by driving 800 miles from their home in Florida.

The oldest person present is believed to be Jim Cornett who is 86 years old. The youngest is believed to be Nancy Sarah Owens.

"We often hear about high school and college reunions but we now know that a grade school reunion is really unique. Everyone in attendance appeared to have a good time greeting old friends and talking about the experiences they had during their years at Climax School."

At the end of a short program, the group agreed to meet again in 1991 and plans are already underway to make this next reunion bigger and better. If you missed this year's event and would like to be added to the mailing list for next year, please send your name and address to:

Mrs. B. J. Anderson
109 Chestnut St.
Berea, Ky. 40403

A large crowd turned out for the Climax school reunion.

Groundbreaking for new sewer line

City, county and interested persons were on hand Tuesday for groundbreaking ceremonies for a new $490,000 sewer line that will run from the Mt. Vernon sewer plant through Renfro Valley.

The line runs down Daily Street ag U.S. 25 through Renfro Valley to the bottom of Green Fish Hill.

State Rep. Danny Ford set the tone of the ceremony stressing the importance of sewer service in bring businesses to the area. He introduced Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer who thanked those who attended for their help in getting service to the area.

Bill Wolejsza, branch manager for economic development in the Department of Local Government, told those present the sewer line that will furnish service to Renfro Valley and others along the way has had the interest of Frankfort since it was first suggested. He promised his department would help in any way possible to develop the area.

Ralph Gabbard, president of RenfroFolks, Inc., recited the interst Renfro has in getting sewer service to the area.

Gabbard said his group is "excited and dreaming" of the many things that have been happening in Renfro Valley. He said he believes the area will continue to grow with new businesses coming to the area.

Mike Williams of Cumberland Valley Area Development District, who has worked on the sewer project for a year, spoke briefly of the long process of getting approval of the project through various agencies.

Others on the speaker's platform were county Judge/Executive Roland Mullins; Paul Nesbitt and B.J. Ewen of Nesbitt Engineering, project engineers of Lexington; Harlan Kenny of Kenny, Inc., contractors for the project and Attorney John Clontz, representing the Rockcastle Industrial Board.

Work on the line is to begin Oct. 26 and be concluded Dec. 24.

Fiddler's Convention at Renfro Valley set for November 2-3

The eighth annual Renfro Valley Old Time Fiddler's Convention is set for Nov. 2 and 3 at the Old Barn in Renfro Valley.

The Renfro Valley Fiddler's Convention is not a contest. This event is held with full respect for the individuality of each fiddler and with each person seeking to see or hear the skill of all others, not compete against them. Young or old, professional and beginner alike, all fiddlers can relax and enjoy the music and fellowship.

On Friday night, each fiddler will be introduced individually, interviewed briefly, and asked to play three tunes of choice. We suggest a reel, a set, and a breakdown, but it's really up to the individual fiddler to play what he likes. Performers may bring their own sidemen, or the Renfro Valley entertainers will be happy to provide accompaniment. We do ask that no electric instruments or drums be used.

Saturday will be filled with jams, tune swaps and work shops. Anyone who makes or repairs fiddlers is invited to bring samples or repairs for display and demonstration.

A certificate of participation will be given to each fiddler. This special certificate, suitable for framing, will serve as a long-lasting reminder of an enjoyable weekend in historic Renfro Valley.

Shows are scheduled for 4 p.m.
