How to stuff a turkey

Actually, you can enjoy stuffing with your turkey whether or not you decide to stuff the bird. If you are in a hurry, you may want to bake your stuffing in a greased/covered casserole during the last hour while the turkey roasts. You'll save time by not stuffing the turkey and having to scoop the stuffing out to serve it once the turkey is done. And an unstuffed turkey takes less time to cook than one that is stuffed.

However, if you prefer to stuff the turkey, read on for some important pointers.

STUFFING POINTERS

It may seem like a good idea to save time by stuffing your turkey in advance, but that's inviting trouble, because harmful bacteria can multiply in the stuffing and cause food poisoning. Turkeys should be stuffed only at the last minute.

Dry stuffing ingredients may be prepared the day before, tightly covered, and left at room temperature. The perishables (butter or margarine, mushrooms, oysters, cooked celery and onions, broth) should be refrigerated. The ingredients should then be combined just before stuffing the turkey.

The cavity of the turkey should be stuffed lightly, because stuffing expands as it cooks.

Allow three-fourths of a cup of stuffing for each pound of ready-to-cook turkey. Extra stuffing may be baked separately.

To keep the stuffing in the turkey, you need to close the neck and body cavities. Fold the neck skin over the back and fasten with a skewer, trussing pins, clean string, or toothpicks; twist the wingtips under the back of the turkey to rest against the neck skin. To close the body cavity, use skewers, or tuck ends of legs under a band of skin at the tail, or into metal "hock-locks," if provided, or tie legs together with clean string.

HOW TO ROAST A TURKEY

Place the turkey breast side up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Do not add water. Before placing the turkey in the oven, you may want to brush it with cooking oil, melted butter or margarine, although this is not necessary. Then cover the turkey with a loose tent of heavy-duty aluminum foil. To make a tent, tear off a sheet of foil 5 to 10 inches longer than the turkey. Crease foil crosswise through the center and place over the turkey, crimping loosely onto sides of pan to hold in place. This prevents over-browning, allows for maximum heat circulation, keeps the turkey moist, and reduces oven splatter.

When using a meat thermometer, insert it through the foil into the thickest part of the thigh muscle without touching the bone. The inner thigh is the area that heats most slowly. For turkey parts, insert the thermometer in the thickest area.

Roast according to the following chart. To brown the turkey, remove the foil tent 20 to 30 minutes before roasting is finished, and continue

ROASTING CHART

The following times are based on an oven preheated to 325F. Plan the roasting time for a large bird so it will be done about 20 minutes before serving. Allowing the turkey to stand, covered loosely with aluminum foil, makes the meat easier to carve and juicier.

Timetable for Roasting Fresh or Thawed Turkey or Turkey Parts

Weight (pounds)	Unstuffed (hours)	Stuffed (hours)
4 to 6 (breasts)	1 1/2 to 2 1/4	Not applicable
6 to 8	2 1/4 to 3 1/4	3 to 3 1/2
8 to 12	3 to 4	3 1/2 to 4 1/2
12 to 16	3 1/2 to 4 1/2	4 1/2 to 5 1/2
16 to 20	4 to 5	5 1/2 to 6 1/2
20 to 24	4 1/2 to 5 1/2	6 1/2 to 7 1/2
24 to 28	5 to 6 1/2	7 to 8 1/2
Drumsticks, quarters, thighs	2 to 3 1/2	Not applicable

You should not partially roast a stuffed turkey one day and complete roasting the next. Interrupted cooking enhances the possibility of bacterial growth.

It seems every holiday season brings publicity about a new way of cooking turkey, promising excellent results. One that has been publicized recently is long cooking at a very low temperature (250F). This method is not recommended. Because of the low temperature, the turkey (and stuffing) might take more than 4 hours to reach a high enough temperature to destroy bacteria, and could therefore be unsafe. The quality of the turkey might suffer, too. During prolonged cooking, some areas would tend to become very dry. (to B10)

Middle Schools and Community Schools

Lately I've been hearing about the controversy of the middle school that some of the educators are in favor of being a part of the Rockcastle County education system.

This is an issue with much consideration on everyone's part. It, like anything else that changes our life style, especially concerning the education of our children, needs all the pros and cons brought out in public discussion before it goes into effect. I can be the devil's advocate on either side of the issue for I can see the good in both the middle school and the community based school. Ideally we need both.

Each community of any size in Rockcastle County needs a lower grade school for children beginning their formal education. This would be for those from kindergarten through grade four and would keep these young children in familiar areas and close to their parents. This way the parents could be and should be used in the activities and monitoring of these small vulnerable children being introduced to the world of education.

When we keep our very little ones in their community where they know most of the other children and their parents there is a feeling of belonging to something specific. Therefore if a problem does arise it can be found and handled more quickly with the parents help.

When they are bused far from home and everything familiar, into a strange building with more kids than they will ever know the name of, they lose their personal identity along with the parent's care they left behind.

After four years in school they will be bused for a middle school and the mixing with children from other backgrounds. This is the time for cultural differences to be explored and dealt with.

Yes, even Rockcastle County has its areas of cultural differences. These differences can be devastating to a young child when he/she is suddenly exposed to it.

I've heard the argument that small schools don't have good teachers nor modern equipment. If that be so that's where the changes should be made. The first four years of school are the most important years he will ever have, so the very best teachers, not necessarily the highest paid but the best teachers that can be found should be placed in these schools. And little kids don't need the sophisticated equipment that is being considered necessary. They need good teachers, good books, plenty of paper and pencils and drawing books and colors. Most of all they need someone to teach them how to think and use their natural abilities. They need to know how to read silently and also aloud. They need to know how to work problems on a piece of paper. They need to learn their multiplication table and then practice using it. The right kind of teacher will have them telling stories out loud so they will learn how to speak publicly.

When this time is finished and they go on to the middle school they will be able and glad to take their place with any other group for they have been made ready for it. Their identity has been established.

The middle school is for growing up and expanding knowledge. Here is where the nitty gritty of education takes its hold on one. Now it is time for the computers and typewriters and whatever else the educational system deems necessary for an up to date education.

By the time these children reach high school they will be taking their own place in the system. Sure there will be cliques and gangs and problems but this will be of the children own choosing as he/she finds his own level of learning, yet they will all have had the same background for learning.

Parents should be involved with each child as his/her children progress to higher levels. They should support the teachers thereby teaching their children to respect and support them.

Since parents have always been more involved with the schools when they were close by they will be more inclined to be involved with the schools as their children reach the higher grades.

Do any of you remember the one room school? Do you remember how the parents would visit them and take part in the social activities such as a pie supper to raise money for equipment or a social? And do you remember the teacher visiting in the homes of the students and if a child wasn't doing well the parents were told. Back then the threat of punishment from a parent for wrong doing often kept order at school. For the punishment they threatened was more than having to stay home for an evening or going to bed early, they had to do that anyway.

Yep, I'm for the middle school but I also am for the community schools close to home.

You see, I've just described the school system I attended and I know it works. When I entered middle school I was ready for it. I was as thrilled with the changing of classes and the big assembly hall where special entertainment was held every Friday as I was the first day I went to school. More so really for I wasn't frightened by the newness of it. Now I had more competition and had to study harder to maintain the excellence I always strove for. I hope some day to see the same system working in Rockcastle County.

Really the key to a good education is more than the buildings where classes are held, it is the people occupying them.

If we have qualified, knowledgeable and concerned personnel all the way from the superintendent of schools down to the newest hired teacher's aide, and if we have parents who appreciate an education for their children enough to take an active role in furthering it, including contact with the school as well as participating with their home work, and if we have children who want to learn or at least be willing to try, then and only then will we see the results we are looking for.

sell quotas since 1986. Prices have averaged about $1.50 a pound, Snell said.

Farmers who grow flue-cured tobacco, a second major type of cigarette tobacco, have been allowed to sell quotas since 1986. Prices have averaged about $1.50 a pound, Snell said.

From 1984 to 1989, the number of growers in the flue-cured market has decreased to 26,000 from 35,000, a drop of almost 26 percent, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In the same period, the number of quotas in the flue-cured market declined to 68,818 from 183,009, a decrease of 62 percent.

But Snell is not expecting a repeat of that scenario. "They've had massive consolidation, but we don't think that will happen in burley because of the high cost of mechanization and labor constraints," he said.

Others think burley farmers finally will grow all they are allowed. "This is critical," said Derek Vaughan, president of G.F. Vaughan Tobacco & Storage Co. in Lexington. "Over time, I think you'll see a dramatic change in terms of pounds grown and in allowing small growers to become large growers."

TESTING FOR DONENESS

The most reliable method for detecting when your turkey is thoroughly cooked is using a meat thermometer. A whole turkey is done when the temperature reaches 180 F to 185 F in the inner thigh. Dark meat turkey pieces are done at 170 F and white meat turkey pieces at 170 F. Stuffing temperature should reach at least 165 F. To check the stuffing, insert the thermometer through the body cavity into the thickest part of the stuffing and leave it for 5 minutes. The stuffing temperature will rise a few degrees after the turkey is removed from the oven.
Another method for testing doneness is to press the fleshy part of the thigh with protected fingers. If the meat feels soft, or if the leg moves up and down easily and the hip joint gives readily or breaks, the turkey is done.

Doneness can also be detected by inserting a long-tined fork into the thickest area of the inner thigh. If the juices run clear, not pink, the turkey is done.

As soon as your turkey is completely cooked, you should remove all the stuffing from the cavities. Harmful bacteria is more likely to grow in the stuffing if it sits in the bird after cooking. If you do not need all the stuffing for first servings, you can put the remaining stuffing in the oven at 200 F to keep hot until you need it.

"Burley Changes"

Burley belt have been granted that right.

The law, which applies only to burley, also will double the size of the allotment that farmers can lease from others and grow themselves.

Bush signed the legislation late Thursday, but farm leaders and congressional aides learned about its approval yesterday.
Quotas -- the right to grow a specified amount of burley -- now are held mostly in small allotments. Not all of the nation's quotas are held by tobacco farmers; many are held by property owners who do not farm their land.

There are 312,000 tobacco quotas in the Burley belt. The average size of a quota is 2,379 pounds.

Century is allowed more than 60 percent of the national burley quota. Although most tobacco industry representatives hailed the law, some farmers and warehouse owners expressed concern that a few growers would acquire a large share of the national burley quota.

The law includes five reforms that will:

Permit the sale of quotas within a county. The sales will begin next year and be limited to 30 percent of the buyer's basic quota each year or 20,000 pounds, whichever is greater. Double the amount of tobacco that can be leased to 30,000 pounds from 15,000 pounds.

Require that quotas be leased or grown in two of every three years to retain the quota. Growers now must use their quotas in one of every five years.

Prohibit quotas from being divided into amounts less than 1,000 pounds. Only farms that are divided within a family are excluded.

Allow cross-county leasing in Tennessee if burley producers there approve the change in a referendum.

It will be several growing seasons before the reforms have a significant effect, said Will Snell, a tobacco specialist with the University of Kentucky.

"I'm speculating that not a whole lot of (quotas) will be sold the first year," he said.

Still, he called the reforms a giant step in the right direction. Snell predicted that quota prices would vary among counties. Prices will be higher in counties with high lease prices and heavy demand to grow tobacco, he said.

Farmers who grow flue-cured tobacco, a second major type of cigarette tobacco, have been allowed to

County residents say "No" to middle school

Several concerns voiced at Livingston forum

By Richard Anderkin
Most Livingston residents do not want to lose their school and Thursday night, during a public forum in the school's gymnasium, they made that perfectly clear.

And, parents that do not want their children taken out of Mt. Vernon school and moved to Livingston also made themselves heard.

For over an hour about 20 concerned parents and community members spoke before the local school system's subcommittee for a "Long Range Building Plan".

The subcommittee has made two proposals, a new middle school for the entire county that would include grades six, seven and eight or build a new Livingston Elementary School and renovate and add needed space at Brodhead and Roundstone Elementary Schools.

"There is a sense of family at Livingston school and our children have always received a good education here," said Mrs. Lucille Carolofis, a teacher at Livingston.

"This school is the heartbeat of Livingston and without it the town is gone," said Livingston Mayor Billy Medley.

And, referring to the possible building of a middle school, Buzz Carolofis said that bigger is not always better.

Mrs. Elsie Jones said that she was under the impression that there was new data that said the middle school concept was not working across the country.

Other parents, including Carolyn Hellard, told subcommittee members that they thought children should be allowed to go to school in the community where they lived and not be bussed all the way to Mt. Vernon.

"When we lose Livingston school, we've lost everything," said Darinda French.

After most of the comments made there was applause from the over 200 people in attendance.

Livingston residents are also circulating a petition for a new school at Livingston. To date they have 411 signatures on the petition.

There is also a group of parents forming an organization to fight to keep their children in Mt. Vernon school, Bobby Wynn of Orlando is heading that group.

The petition being passed at Livingston reads as follows: We (the teachers, parents, students, citizens, and supporters of the Livingston Elementary School) wish to express our desire to preserve our heritage and sense of community in our town. We feel the only way to achieve this is to request that Livingston receive the new school to be built in the county and that the county be restricted to once again place students from other areas within the school district-- back in our school as they were in previous years.

We also feel if Livingston does not receive the new elementary school that eventually we will be placed in another school in the county, and we do not and will not support the building of the Rockcastle County Middle School at our expense!

We have been promised a new school for the last several years and we have waited patiently for "our turn." We believe it is now "our turn" and we request that Livingston receive the new school to be built in our county.

But, Henry Richardson and Kathy Owens among other parents told the group that they did not want to be put in the Livingston school district under any circumstance. They said that it would be unfair to their children who were already attending Mt. Vernon and they would also have to ride the bus for a longer span of time. They also voiced concern about the school bus being on the road for a long period of time.

Some other voice concerns included Carolyn Jones, Faye Baker, Patty Bumgardner and Fannie Smith.

The next public forum is at Roundstone School on Monday Nov. Cont. A-10

Carolyn Hellard was one of many people that got a round of applause last Thursday night after they told sub-committee members that they did not think a new middle school was needed and wanted a new school built at Livingston.

Mt. Vernon School Dedication
Two former county superintendents, Charles B. Parsons and Mrs. Neureul Miracle, were present for Sunday's dedication of the new Mt. Vernon Elementary School and are shown in the above photo with superintendent Blige Towery and Dr. John Brock, keynote speaker. Mr. Parsons was recognized by Mr. Towery during the ceremony for the decision he made while superintendent to build the new school and the groundwork he laid.

County will be audited for irregularities

Rockcastle has been chosen by the Kentucky Attorney General to be audited for voting irregularities in the Nov. 6 General Election.

The county joins with Laurel, Greencamp, Oldham, Ballard and Hancock in the audit.

The 1988 law requires the audit. Even though the State Supreme Court struck down state laws on vote fraud, the audits will focus on such areas as absentee ballots and campaigning at polls.

The Kentucky General Assembly is expected to re-write vote fraud laws during a special January session.

Two men serving a 22-year sentence in Edyville penitentiary for the armed robbery of a Barbourville jewelry store pleaded guilty in Rockcastle Circuit Court Monday for robbery in the first degree of Mt. Vernon Drive Thr Pharmacy.

Benny Stevens, 36, of Cranks and James Bowling, 33, of Hamilton, Ohio, were charged in the Dec. 1, 1989 robbery of the pharmacy. Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham recommended a 20-year sentence to run concurrently with the 22-year sentence.

In the Mt. Vernon robbery the two took $600 in drugs, over $600 in money and a pistol belonging to Tina Hasty, owner of the pharmacy.

The men were brought to court in shackles and under heavy security. State, county and city police were in the courtroom and persons arriving had to pass a metal detector to get into the courtroom.

State Trooper Jack Lawless and City Police Sgt. Jack Forner went to Portsmouth, Ohio, earlier to bring a witness who was with the two men at the time of the robbery to testify for the commonwealth. She did not testify because of the guilty plea.

A sentencing date for the two men has not been set. They have been returned to the penitentiary.

Mrs. Hasty said she wished the men had received more time, but she was glad she did not have to go through the ordeal of another trial.

This was the second time the pharmacy has been robbed. The first time was on Dec. 20, 1985 when two North Carolina men were tried for robbing the pharmacy and tying Mrs. Hasty and Carla Baker.

The two were found not guilty in the circuit court trial in April 1987.

And, at Brodhead...

At Brodhead Elementary School Monday night, there was one difference in the public forum, several parents spoke in favor of the middle school concept but, by and large, the story was the same there as at Livingston Elementary last Thursday night, the biggest majority of parents want the schools left as a K-8 and 9-12 system.

Two of the most outspoken advocates of the latter were former Brodhead principal D.A. Robbins and former teacher/coach Billy Riddle. In Mr. Robbins case, he said that the major question to him was "Will the children learn more? If they don't, it's a failure." Robbins went on to say that the middle school concept would effectively destroy three communities and based his thinking on the fact that, in his opinion, "communities need something to rally around." Mr. Robbins said it appeared to him that the bigger cities, New York and Philadelphia were mentioned, were coming back to the smaller school concept and pointed out that Nebraska still has all their one-room schools. "Prove to me that children will learn more and I'll be for it. If not, I'm for spending this money for higher salaries for teachers," Robbins told the committee.

Riddle told the crowd that he was against a county school system and that he doesn't think the high school has improved anything-- especially sports, except in the football program where numbers were necessary, and said he was against anything that takes away from a small system.

Bill Sowder, a BES graduate, was the second speaker of the evening and the first for the middle school concept. Sowder said that he favors the middle school concept primarily because he thinks it will provide a better education for children and prepare them better for the high school setting.

Charles Shelton was another middle school advocate who said he went to school in Indiana in a junior high system and then came here and graduated from Livingston and he felt it was not good to mix 8th graders with kindergarten and first and second graders because younger children were very impressionable. However, Ann Taylor, another BES graduate who spoke against the middle school concept, took the opposite opinion that older children could serve as role models for the younger children and that she was not convinced that it was natural to group children in the 6th, 7th, and 8th grade setting. "I think it's important for children to go to school in the community they live in," Mrs. Taylor said.

One fact pointed out while Mr. Shelton was speaking was that the argument that the middle school would mean "bigger" didn't necessarily apply since the middle school would only have about 663 students and Mt. Vernon Elementary now has 800 plus students so we already have "bigger" to some extent in the county grade school system.

Brian Bussell, the first speaker of the evening, voiced one concern that a great many parents seem to have with the middle school concept and that is the bussing involved-- the greater distance and longer time spent on a bus for some children.

Sharon McKinney, now a teacher at MVES, said she did not see any reason why more variety in classes couldn't be offered the 6th, 7th and 8th grades under the present set-up.

36 signed up to speak at the forum, most of them from the Orlando area who are adamantly against being restricted to Livingston. Subcommittee chairman Richard Bray pointed out that there would be no restricting to Livingston unless a new school were built there. Bray also emphasized that this subcommittee is working on long-range building plans and has recommending power only.

Burley tops $1.74

As expected, tobacco sales got off to a rousing start Monday with prices starting out in the $1.70s a pound and remaining there all day.

Farmers were reported to be pleased with the increase in price over last year with the average Monday at $1.75 a pound.

"Farmers have to be satisfied any time we can get a seven-cent increase (in the average price), but I would have liked to have seen the better quality tobacco to bring even more," said Danny McKinney, executive secretary of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

The uniformity of prices reminded some growers of last year, when almost all tobacco sold for $1.67 a pound.

With uniform prices, few farmers Cont. to A-10

Dear Editor,
I am seeking information on the Tinch family. Mills W. Tinch, born 1860 in Tennessee, his second marriage (1893) was to Rosa A. Day born 1875. They lived at Hazel Patch in Laurel County, part of their children married in Laurel County. According to census records his parents were born in Virginia. Who were his parents? Who were Rosa's parents? Who was his first wife? Anyone who can give me any information on the Tinch family please write me.

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the members of the Mt. Vernon Pentecostal Church who donated items or money for the care packages for the soldiers.

I would like to thank those who took the time and energy to fill them, especially the young people for their time and generosity in mailing the packages.

I would like to thank Drubers of Mt. Vernon for donating the food items of condiments. I would also like to thank Wal-Mart of Richmond for the boxes.

This was truly a joint effort, and one of love. This was our way of saying to the boys - we love them and we're praying for them. We hope they come home soon.

Sincerely and in Christian love,

Dear Editor,

I'm writing this about the earthquake that may come in December this year. No one can stop it if it comes but we can get ready for it or should I say some of us can. As you know this letter is coming from an inmate at the Kentucky State Penitentiary.

I know we did wrong or we wouldn't be here but does that mean here we are right on top of where the earthquake is supposed to be and we will be locked in a cell. We haven't had any kind of training for an earthquake or haven't been given any kind of rules on what to do in an earthquake. The buildings here are in bad shape and I don't think they will hold in an earthquake. Just because we are inmates and have to stay our time in here, we are still people. I don't think there is one officer here that will stick around when it comes. They will run off and leave us locked in a 6x8' cell alone. This earthquake may be the end for a lot of us here at the prison and I've been here for about five years.

None has been seen anyone checking the cell houses to see what they will hold during an earthquake. Is there anyone out there that knows what a person should do in a place like this during an earthquake? If there is please write me at this address and let me know. I appreciate your reading this and putting it in your paper. Thank you very much.
Respectfully yours,

Dear Readers,

I've heard too much about the mascot name at Mt. Vernon. I'm a former student at MVES and I think the name should be left like it is, Red Devils. Not once during the nine years I attended the "old" building, did I even think about having anything to do with Satanism. Why are people coming up with these wild ideas about their children being little devils?

In a recent discussion in my Sunday School class the teacher said she didn't see the devil being dressed in a red outfit with horns on top of his head (like the mascot at MVES). I don't see the devil as being anyone or anything to her than a person that's done wrong and God didn't want him in heaven with Him. If the devil had a color so would God. No where in the Bible does it say that God or the devil have a color of skin or outfit. Sheila Nicely might have over 800 names of people in favor of a name change, but does anyone have a list of names who want to keep the mascot.

"Red Devil?" If so, look me up. I'll proudly sign my name to let people know I'm proud of my elementary school.

Thanks,
Jennifer Kay Prewitt

P.S. This question is for Sheila Nicely. Did you ever think of the name while you were attending MVES?

Dear Editor,

I've been thinking about an article I read recently about changing the name of the Mt. Vernon Elementary School's mascot, "Red Devil."

I'm a Christian and involved in my church. I went to school at Mt. Vernon Elementary 1st through 8th grades. Not once do I remember the "Red Devil" affecting us as students. I think there are more serious problems we should be concerned with such as the drug and alcohol problem and making sure our kids get a good education.

I think the people who have a problem with this mascot issue, should make sure their kids are prepared to face the temptations in this life, rather than making a fuss over a mascot named "Red Devil" which I don't think is affecting our kids at all. Besides who says the devil is red?

Thank you,
Libby Ramsey

Dear Editor,

Today leaves me more concerned more-so than ever, regarding world conditions, as I am sure all conscientious people are. It's my opinion that world conflict is not very far off. I do pray for all of our brave military personnel, as they are the most deserving of all.

I had one son in the Air Force and one in the Marines. I felt the depth of only asking to urge the ones of us who are left behind to help pray for the world that conflict can be averted. I fear that if war does come the whole world will be devastated. Most of it is awful.

I feel that all sensitive and loving people feel as I feel. I want to thank all news paper companies for printing the news as it develops so people may know, in part, just what we might expect.

I thank you and remain as ever,
Margaret Dyehouse

Dear Editor,

On November 15, 1990 a forum was held at Livingston Elementary gym and as I sit here pondering over the last two hours events, I'm deeply touched. I am not a native born Livingstonian, merely adopted. Not only is it an area of people who adopted me but I adopted it. There's controversy in the air, two points of view. Build a middle school. Locate in the Mt. Vernon area. Phase out Livingston Elementary and combine with Mt. Vernon Elementary. Second, build a new Livingston Elementary, add additions to other schools of Roundstone and Brodhead to accommodate the overflow. There'd be no such overflow if a middle school was the choice. Also, possibly add to the new Mt. Vernon Elementary. It's already above capacity.

The heartblood of any community is its school. Those who have attended L.E.S., throughout the many years hold it dear and have loving, fond memories. They were educated academically and socially with care, love and understanding, as are the children today.

A question arises as to which type of school is best. You'll find research indicating middle schools are more advantageous than the small community schools and visa versa. Here in Rockcastle County which is best?

We all love our children and the students we teach and want the best for them.

If a new Livingston Elementary is built it will be necessary to restrict the county. Many from Mt. Vernon, who are in the likely areas to be restricted to Livingston, object; however, we also object to routing our Three Links and McKeo area children all the way to Mt. Vernon. The Burr, Brush Creek and Chestnut Ridge children will be on the road much less time than some of the Livingston children. There's only a fifteen minute difference in the Mt. Vernon route to Livingston.

Now to the heart of the matter, I, as a teacher, want the best education for each student in Rockcastle County. We must have this as our first and truthfully our only priority.

With our new school reform based management our educational status in Kentucky is supposed to greatly increase and no matter what type of school, it is supposed to upgrade and improve our total education system. Therefore, let's consider Livingston's children. One can ask students at Rockcastle County High school how they like the consolidation. The outer schools of Livingston, Roundstone and Brodhead feel they are not as much a part of the whole, as they should be. Many feel their elementary schools are put down, by fellow classmates and others. It's a struggle for one to rise above the stigma and to shine, and to succeed. Many have achieved great heights academically, socially and athletically. Conditions and feelings are greatly improving but look how long it has taken.

A middle school will simply form another place where many feel they

CLOSED THANKSGIVING DAY

Points East

By: Ike Adams

Just over a month ago I drove over to Stanford and paid $42.50 for half a ton of coal. Waaaay too much, but when you can't find it anywhere else and the house gets cold you can get frozen into doing things in spite of how mad they make you.

Sources of stoker coal are scarce in the flatlands. The fellows in Rockcastle County where I've bought mine for the last six years are out of business and what they'd been selling me was about 25 percent dirt anyway. I did business with them because Miley's truck was only licensed to operate in a ten mile radius of Berea and they were the only ones that close.

Also, since last year I have acquired a Jeep tenon that looks like a pick-up truck and occasionally functions as one. Miley Cain has also obtained a commercial license for his dump truck and he's willing to go anywhere and haul me a load of coal when I find something that will suit me. So what I've been doing on my Saturdays of late is going out and buying a little bit at a time till I can figure out what burns best. Then I'll get Miley to haul me five or six tons.

So far I've tried Lee County Coal, Jackson County Coal, Letcher County Coal and Barbourville Coal, assuming the folks I've been dealing with are honest and as up on the origin of their product as they claim to be. Except for the Barbourville Coal that I found in Stanford for $85, it's all been $60 a ton. After paying Miley's haul bill, I can get it in the basement for around $65 per.

But I want Barbourville Coal. I've always thought that the claims people make about that stuff were exaggerated and I have contended that coal is pretty much coal no matter where it comes from. A black, sooty, inconvenient way to heat the house, that used to be economical.

But I burned a couple of furnace hoppers full of Barbourville Coal and now I have changed my mind.

I've spent most of what should have been my spare time over the last several winters cleaning ashes and ten-pou, seal-hard clinkers out of the bowels of my furnace. The clinkers will form into a solid mass much too large to come through the furnace door so I keep an assortment of hammers, pry-bars, iron diggers, crow bars etc. lying around the basement and sometimes it's still a half day job to reduce a clinker into rubble small enough to remove from big Bertha.

With the stuff I've been burning over the last several years, the furnace has required attention at least weekly and sometimes every night during real cold weather.

Loretta makes me take my clothes off outside after I perform this service, because it is, without question, the dirtiest chore I've ever done. Coal miners don't get as filthy in a ten hour shift as I do in 30 minutes around and/or inside the furnace. If and when we move again it will not be anything heated by coal.

In the meantime, however, I have discovered that the Barbourville Coal I came into does not form clinkers won't fit in. From these feelings and attitudes develop resentments, through which little learning and educational values can be achieved.

The more I ponder over this situation, the more I think of heritage. When one has no heritage to fall back on or return to or depend upon, one has truly lost their identity. Do we want this for any of our children in Rockcastle County? No, we as educators, parents, citizens cannot support actions which will destroy the efforts, care, love, and teachings of those who came before us and left a legacy entrusted to us to carry on (Teachers like Mr. Parrett, Ms. Josephine and Ms. Francis Dickerson and others, I did not have the fortune or opportunity to know). In small community schools, love, care, individual recognition and acknowledgement flourish. In larger consolidated schools many times these important things of character are lost forever. In all true consciousness, I can only support a new Livingston elementary.

nor does it leave much of anything behind. All of the other stuff does.

I've run a fairly complicated experiment, and while there are subtle differences between so-called Letcher, Lee and Jackson County specimens of coal, all three offer ample evidence to the notion that dirt and rocks will weld together but they will not burn.

I've also discovered that Barbourville Coal can be had in Barbourville for less than $60 per ton and now I'm trying to convince Miley that we need to make that trip and find some other way to get my basement full of it for less than $85 a ton. Without the furnace to contend with, I could, perhaps take up rabbit hunting again or maybe start bowling on winter weekends. Maybe even spend a little time with the family instead of playing building superintendent.

If I thought my Jeep/Lemon would make it there and back, I'd be hauling it myself. Wonder what a wrecker bill is from Barbourville to Paint Lick. Shoot. That might turn out to be the way to go.

FOOTNOTE:
If you intend to get in our great garden seed catalogue scan which will be coming up in January, you may ignore the following information because you'll get the book I'm about to plug as part of it.

However, if you do not enjoy piles of junk mail and prefer to be a bit selective in what you send off, may I suggest that you write to the folks at Murray McMurray Hatchery and request a copy of their 1991 catalogue. If you've ever thought about raising a small flock of chickens this book is a must. I'm serious.

It is so nice to get something in the mail that promotes a quality and reasonably priced product, that I believe it deserves to be mentioned in the press. We've ordered from the McMurrays on several occasions and we don't even think about doing business with anyone else now. The 1991 catalogue is a pleasure to read and browse through because it is literally a work of art. It's also the history of a business that has been in operation for 74 years - a family business - run by folks who really mean it when they make a guarantee. Write to the McMurray Hatchery, Webster City, Iowa 50595. And send them a couple of bucks if you don't intend to order. The book is worth it and then some.

Ladies Aid Missionary Society

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

The Ladies Aid Missionary met at Dix Point Restaurant, Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

First they filled the ladies orders for this year's pecans, then the president asked Barbara Watson to give the lesson.

She quoted some of Billy Graham's sermon. His life was changed when he accepted God's Son, Jesus, when he heard the glorious news! Songs written by Charles Wesley, stories of the pilgrims hard life and their lasting faith in God and His Son helped in his conversion to Christianity.

She also read the Sowder Nursing Home Newspaper. On Oct. 10th some of the residents went to Renfro Valley and adjoining countryside. On Nov. 8th at 2 p.m. the Golden Years Homemakers had their Christmas Craft Lesson. October birthdays were listed.

Ella Mae Martin made cards for each of us to sign for November birthdays. Then she read a letter from Mike and Brenda Disken, who are missionaries.

Announcements were made that Brodhead Christian Church will have Thanksgiving Dinner, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. and Marjorie Shivel will have the Ladies Aid Missionary Christmas Dinner, Dec. 15, at 6 p.m.

After a Thanksgiving prayer, the group of ladies went to the beautifully decorated tables.

Sybil had a Thanksgiving center piece, basket of a variety of gourds and a fancy artificial turkey on the table.

She set in front of each lady a piece of slice turkey with a turkey's face on the lower half of a sandwich and upper part had lettuce and mayonnaise on it. If that weren't enough she had vegetable salad and cranberries.

Then when we devoured this she served pumpkin pie with cool whip and a choice of drink.

Ella Mae Martin was the hostess. Thanks to Will Lawrence there were enough pens for each lady to sign the birthday cards to take to the nursing home.

Remember ladies to bring a dish to go with turkey and dressing that Marjorie Shivel will prepare Dec. 15th.

Also Secret Sisters and gifts will be exchanged on that Saturday night at Marjorie's home.

Brodhead Willing Workers

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

Brodhead Willing Workers met at Barbara Watson's home Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m.

The flickering logs in the fireplace caused the hanging brass pots to gleam. As the group had neglected recording their volunteer hours this was taken care of first.

When Clara Prector presented the lesson, "Stains and Spills", she gave us a test before she started. Since we all made 100 percent on the test she remarked, "You don't need this lesson".

But as she continued we learned to be prompt, be patient and be persistent when we try to remove a stain. She told the homemakers to try a remover on a fabric that is on an unexposed part of the article, wipe toward the center of the spot to prevent a ring and allow it to dry. Leaflets were passed out with more information.

Secretary/treasurer report by Nina Cash ended in making us wonder if our bank account would cover expenses of our upcoming project

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Carpenter on the occasion of her birthday.

Birthday celebration

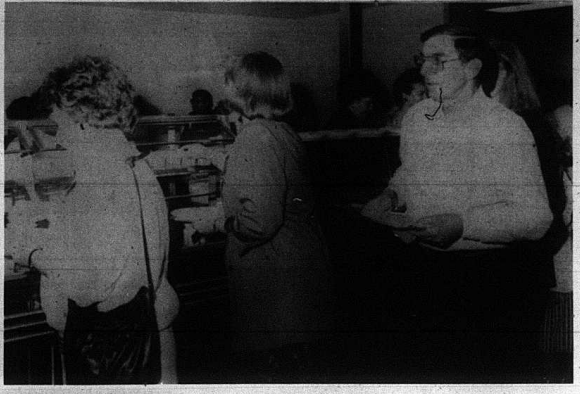

Sue Carpenter was recently honored on her birthday with a big celebration planned for her by her friends and family.

Her husband, Dean, surprised her with a dozen red roses, delivered to her at her place of employment at Renfro Valley.

She also received many nice cards and gifts from the many who came to show their love and appreciation.

Sue plans the piano at Brush Creek Holiness Church. She has been faithfully playing and singing since the church was built and dedicated on Oct. 19, 1970. The old church was located in Orlando at the bottom of Brush Creek Hill.

Sue and Dean have one daughter, Crystal, a student at MVES, who also helped her mom celebrate.

Mrs. Jamie Cornelius, music teacher at MVES, and fourth graders provided entertainment for the dedication, attended by over 300. Following the invocation, the group sang "America the Beautiful" and "Here's to America" and closed the ceremonies with a medley of songs with Mrs. Johanna Wilcop at the piano.

Mrs. Joyce Whitt attended the dedication ceremony and registered beforehand with her son, Justin, looking on. Mrs. Eva Sparks of Mt. Vernon was next in line.

Refreshments, following the ceremony, were a caramel cake, peanuts, hot apple cider and fruit punch and they were delicious. Candace Rickels and other MVES school cooks served the crowd, including Barbara Fain, Shirley Mullins and Jerry Mullins, in the new cafeteria.

What Is Pain?

By Dr. Stacy K. Edwards, D.C.

Pain is something you hear a lot about. It seems like everyone you talk to or every time you turn on a television or radio, someone is telling you how to get rid of it. Pain is not pleasant, and I don't know of anyone that likes being in pain, however, does this mean that pain is a bad thing?

Pain is simply a symptom or warning that the body may be having a problem that needs to be taken care of by a health care professional. Sometimes the pain can be minor like stubbing your toe and the body is telling you, "Hey, you should be more careful." Pain also tells you of a serious problem, and it should be taken seriously and not just covered up or ignored. The five most dangerous words I can think of are "Maybe it will go away." Then again, maybe it won't.

Another thing to remember when it comes to pain is that during an ongoing health problem, pain is usually the last symptom to show up and the first one to leave. This is why that with any health care professional, whether it's a Doctor of Chiropractic or another type of health care professional, it is very important to stick with the treatment program. This will give you the best results and keep you from having those painful warning signals.

Was it a Happy Halloween - or - A Happy Birthday??!

Poet's Corner

To My Daddy

(Buster Gadd)
By: Linda Irene Kirby

There's one person in my life that I love so dear
He's my daddy, because I know he's always there.
I've watched him lay and suffer through thickness and through thin
But he'll always be my daddy
To me he's the strongest of all men
I know I've done things that hurt you said things I didn't mean
But I've got a temper just like yours and all your self esteem
I've helped you feed your coon dogs helped you give them pills
But daddy, I would help you do that a thousand times all over again.
Cause somehow I believe that it's my will to help you do these things.
So daddy I thought I'd write a poem
just for you
For daddy I really love you and I know you love me too.

(I'll always love you daddy) LIK

My Old Guitar

By: Billy Bullock

There's a lonesome wind blowing
Oh, it gives me the chills
It reminds me of a woman that I

Well, I hope that she is happy

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

This past week two public forums were held and one thing is for certain, most people want things left alone.

Livingston residents made it quite clear Thursday night that they do not want a middle school for fear of losing their school entirely and Monday night many Brodhead area residents

"WILLING WORKERS"

"Santa Claus Coming to Town", Dec. 8th.

Our talented committee Roberta Taylor, Margie Brock, Clara Proctor and Barbara Watson will visit Brodhead businesses to get donations of gifts and cash for the lucky names drawn from boxes placed in the business places.

Deborah Newland is in charge of getting treats ready for Santa's bag. Drawing will be at 2 p.m., Dec. 8th, and then Santa will come to town on a fire engine.

Hopefully more floats and Rockcastle High School County Band will take part in this Christmas celebration this year.

When Jean Albright told about the Christmas food, that Cheryl Witt prepared and served recently at the Agriculture service Center's Meeting Room, we wished we'd signed up to learn and partake of the food.

To our delight, Jean had copies of the recipes that were served and more.

On Dec. 7th at 6:30 the Willing Workers will share a meal together at Kasie Inn.

Secret Pals will be revealed so don't forget gifts. The men attending will bring gifts to exchange also.

Delicious, as well as nutritious, food was served by hostesses Barbara Watson and Deborah Watson, after Clam gave a blessing.

echoed the same sentiments.

The reason behind the public forums was so that parents, teachers and community members could voice their opinion on school building needs, so that the school district's long range planning sub-committee would have input when it comes to future building needs.

As in most cases when a matter directly affects an individual emotion plays a much larger role than it should.

When the school board makes a decision on building needs it is no doubt going to be a tough one. As most know I have said I was in favor of a middle school, but after listening to several opinions I have mixed emotions about the whole situation. I don't blame people in Livingston for not wanting to lose their school, as many have said it is the heartbeat of their small community. I don't blame people for not wanting their children moved from one school to the other because I can put myself in their situation and I know I would not want my children moved either.

But, the argument that bigger is not always better just doesn't wash. Fact is, if the middle school is built, it will have less than 700 children. Mt. Vernon has over 800 now. All of the county elementary schools would have less students and I don't really blame some high school teachers who took it personally Monday night when several people inferred that students get lost in the shuffle at RCHS and they were afraid that would happen in the middle school as well.

Taped before an audience of Jefferson County schoolchildren, "A Louisville Bach Society Concert for Young People" also provides biographical information on the life of Mozart and offers demonstrations of 18th-century dances and opera reenactments in period costumes.

Don't forget that Brodhead has about 600 students at this point and few if any students seem to get lost in the shuffle.

Sometimes, everyone simply has to put aside personal feelings and "bite the bullet" so that children in Rockcastle Co. can have the same educational advantages as children in other parts of the state.

And, a middle school would help provide a cohesion among students from all over the county that does not happen until the latter years of high school now, if ever.

A big part of the problem is what occurred 20 years ago when the school board at that time decided to redistrict one of the board members out of her seat. At that time, the Orlando/Brush Creek area was brought into the Mt. Vernon district. Prior to that, these children had gone to school at Livingston and there was apparently no problem. Of course, that is no fault of the present day students and their parents and they are the ones who will have to pay now, if redistricting comes about, because of the politics played years ago.

One thing is for certain, whatever the board of education decides, some people are not going to be happy, but I guess that is the problem of the school board members.

Miller attends Fall clerk's conference

Rockcastle Circuit Clerk Denver Miller attended the 1990 Circuit Clerk's Fall Conference at Owensboro's Executive Inn Hotel, Nov. 7-9.

Steve Coffey, Director of Driver Licensing, State Transportation Cabinet, and support staff addressed the Driver Licensing, On Line System and Commercial Driver Licensing Procedures. The new computer system will be installed and in effect by July 1, 1991. The system will eliminate lag time for changes made to licenses, license status, and provide better and faster service to the public. Commercial driver license testing will begin in January 1991. Notification will be sent to all operator/chauffeur licensees by birth month beginning in December 1990. Everyone driving a commercial motor vehicle weighing 26,000 lbs., carrying hazardous materials or 15 passengers or more will be required to have a commercial driver license by April 1, 1992.

Other conference matters included a report on issuing citations from Major Jack Adams, Kentucky State Police, timesaving jury management techniques and new legislative procedures presented by a panel of circuit clerks and AOC staff.

Don Cetrulo, Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts, gave an update on court technology.

The Mount Vernon Signal, Thursday, November 22, 1990 P-A9

Customer relation techniques were presented by Melinda Wheeler to the 297 attendees.

Clerk's conferences are held twice yearly to provide continuing professional education and technical training for court personnel. The programs are planned by the Circuit Clerks' Education Committee and conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Open Forums

to discuss new construction project for Rockcastle County School System

Mon., Nov. 26, 1990 7 p.m. - Roundstone Elementary

The forums are being held by the subcommittee for a 'Long Range Building Plan' of the Strategic Planning Committee and two plans will be presented for discussion. After all forums are held, the subcommittee will then make their recommendation to the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

Plans for discussion are:

Construct a new county consolidated middle school (grades 6-8) This would alleviate the need for additional classroom space throughout all elementary schools in the county. This would also place the status of maintaining Livingston Elementary School in jeopardy. The concept would be that our school system would have elementary school centers (Grades K-5); a middle school center (Grades 6 - 8) and a high school center (Grades 9 - 12).

Construct a New Livingston Elementary School; Renovate and add needed space at Brodhead and Roundstone Elementary Schools. This would require redistricting approximately 150 to 200 students presently attending Mt. Vernon Elementary School to attend the new Livingston Elementary School. The concept would be that our school system would continue to maintain four elementary school centers (Grades K-8) and a high school center (Grades 9 - 12).

Some very important decisions need to be made in order for the subcommittee to make a recommendation to the Board of Education in regard to the school system's future facilities construction plans.

It is important that the general public attend the public forums to give comments and concerns to the subcommittee.

Juanita Robinson, at right, was one of the many who signed a petition at Livingston Elementary last Thursday night just before the public forum there. The petition asks that Livingston get to keep their school.

venber 26, at 7 p.m.
Chairman of the subcommittee Richard Bray said Tuesday that Roundstone's forum was for Roundstone residents and that he felt parents from other school districts had made their concerns well known to the subcommittee in the other forums.

"Beverly Carter Sexton"

Dale - a third grader at Brodhead Elementary. Beverly is the daughter of Ollie Bowman Carter and the late Dale W. Carter. Her paternal grandfather was Dan Carter, who many older Rockcastle Countians will remember as operator of the old Kentucky Freestone Company at Hummel.

Beverly hopes to teach history and/or English at Rockcastle County High School someday - however, she will be equally qualified and eager to teach the middle school grades. One of her goals is to help the youth of the Appalachian region take pride in the rich heritage they possess. She believes she is already contributing toward that end by sharing her talent in storytelling with them where she tells tales of Appalachian folk who in one way or another are always spectacular people.

Bugs that bother pine trees

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

Two sucking insects that feed on pines and other conifers are easy to spot, according to Lee Townsend, Entomologist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The reason is because they both leave a whitish residue that's readily visible on the infested tree.

Pine needle scales are one-tenth inch long, flat and narrow. The scales can be found on the needles of pine, spruce or fir trees. Heavily infested plants may appear gray as a result of thousands of these insects present.

The other insect is called pine bark adelgid. They are similar to aphids. Their presence can be determined by the patches of cottony material on the bark, trunk and limbs.

Heavily infested trees appear to have been whitewashed. Attack by this insect does not seem to cause permanent damage if the tree is otherwise healthy. That's not true in the case of pine needle scale, however.

Townsend said these pests can cause yellowing of the pine needles by removing the sap. Entire limbs or trees may die. Pine needle scales tend to be most numerous on the lower branches.

Ornamental plantings in urban situations may be severely damaged.

Treatment for both pests is to apply a dormant oil spray late in the year. Be sure to check the label of the oil for information about possible injury to the tree before you apply it.

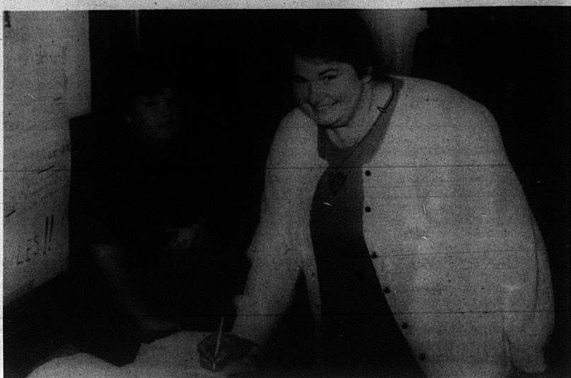

Specials of all kinds -- from Bach to bands -- highlight KET's holiday daytime programming Wednesday, Nov. 21; Thursday, Nov. 22 (Thanksgiving Day); and Friday, November 23.

Special programming begins at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21 with Kentucky Center Presents: The Young Mozart "A Louisville Bach Society Concert for Young People." The special, coproduced by KET and the Kentucky Center for the Arts, features music written by Mozart before he turned 18. The Little Summer

Three KET productions also are in store: A repeat of Kentucky Center Presents: The Young Mozart "A Louisville Bach Society Concert for Young People" airs at 11 a.m., On the Ohio with John Ed Pearce features a boat ride with the Kentucky columnist at 12 a.m.

Plans for new Copper Creek bridge

The state is beginning design phases of the Copper Creek bridge in Rockcastle County, according to Gov. Wallace Wilkinson.

This project, included in the Transportation cabinet's Six Year Program, consists of the replacement of the bridge on County Road 5359 which passes over Dix River and is tentatively scheduled for construction in 1992.

"We are extremely excited about the work that's being done in Kentucky to replace and repair these bridges," Wilkinson said. "We will continue to ensure that all of Kentucky's bridges allow travelers safe passage."

"Projects like these throughout the state, as well as our County Bridge Replacement Program, will reshape Kentucky's bridges and provide safe travel for the citizens and visitors of our Commonwealth," Bryant said.

Dr. John Brock, former state Superintendent of Education, gave the dedicatory address for the dedication ceremonies Sunday at the new Mt. Vernon Elementary School. In his opening remarks, Supl. Towery credited Dr. Brock with extra effort from his department in order for the school not to have to be built in phases. Also on stage were: Buford Parkerson who gave the invocation; John Hale, present principal at MVES (far right); Clifford Mullins, president MVES Student Council who accepted the school on behalf of the students; Angie Parsons, officer, MVES Student Council, who led the pledge of allegiance; Darlena Bowles, PTA president, who accepted the school on behalf of the community; board chairman George Poynter, accepting on behalf of the board of education; Charles Carter, MVES teacher, who accepted for the staff and officers of Branscum Construction Co. and Johnson/Romanowicz, architects for the project.

Interest will be 10 percent on unpaid taxes

The 1991 tax interest rate charged on the unpaid and delinquent taxes has been set at 10 percent, Revenue Secretary C. Emmett Calvert announced today.

This rate becomes effective Jan. 1 and is based on the prime interest rate charged by Kentucky banks during Oct., 1990.

Calvert said the rate on tax refunds will also be 10 percent. The Taxpayer Bill of Rights, enacted by the 1990 General Assembly, repealed prior law restricting interest paid on most tax refunds to 75 percent of interest charged on delinquent taxes.

The current tax interest rate is 11 percent. A recent survey of Kentucky banks showed that the average prime interest rate in effect during October was 10.36 percent, which the law requires to be rounded to the nearest whole percent (10 percent). The Revenue secretary is required by 1982 law to set the tax interest rate by Nov. 15 for the year beginning Jan. 1.

Several school officials were on hand for Sunday's dedication of the new elementary school at Mt. Vernon. Taking a moment to talk before the ceremony were, from left: Buford Parkerson, MVES principal from 1972-85 and now Director of Pupil Personnel; D.A. Robbins, principal at BES for many years and school board member; Debbie Whitehead, Clayton Cash and board chairman George Poynter. Other members of the school board are Earl Cummins and Kenneth Adams.

Beverly Carter Sexton was at Livingston school last week, courtesy of the Rockcastle County Arts Council, telling students many of her tall tales.

Noted storyteller at Livingston

Beverly Carter Sexton has a rich heritage rooted in Appalachia. She inherited Cherokee blood from both her mother's and her father's family. She grew up hearing stories from both her maternal and paternal relatives about wonderful events, some true and some very tall tales. Many of these stories had been told and retold for many lifetimes. Therefore, Beverly says that her storytelling is not unique, she thinks of herself as merely "continuing a family tradition."

Beverly is a native of Rockcastle County and is proud of her local dialect and traditions. She has traveled throughout Kentucky sharing stories with avid listeners in schools, festivals, church groups, and more. Her repertoire of stories include tales she learned from family members and professional storytellers, and several she created herself. She recently attended the Corn Island Storytelling Festival in Louisville where she told a story at their popular Yarn Shop. Corn Island is the largest storytelling festival in Kentucky and possibly in the world. There were more than 16,000 visitors to the festival. Among the hundreds of storytellers who auditioned at Corn Island, in hopes of being asked to return next year, Beverly was one of the five who was chosen. She will be featured as one of their new storytellers next year.

In addition to being a professional storyteller, Beverly is a published author of several short stories and is a senior at Berea College where she is working toward a Bachelor of Arts degree in history education with an English minor and a middle school endorsement.

Beverly resides in the Brodhead area of Rockcastle County with her husband, Marion Sexton, and children, Chastity - a senior at Rockcastle County High School and Ellis

Three Consecutive Years

Red Devils sweep county tourney

It would appear that the Mt. Vernon Red Devils girls' 7th and 8th grade teams have a franchise on the annual girls' county tournament because not only did they dominate the tourney this year but have in the past three years.

And one of the more important highlights is that the Red Devils captured the titles by going undefeated within Rockcastle County for the past three years.

Another would be the fact that this year's team have been together since the fourth grade in 1986 and since then have won five Rockcastle tourneys while losing none. Their titles include: three 5th and 6th grade titles in 1986, 87 and 88, one 7th grade or 'B' team title in 1989 and this year's 7th and 8th grade county tournament win.

And as in the previous years, this year's title was uncontested. The Red Devils destroyed the Roundstone Eagles, 35-16, in the first round, which began at Mt. Vernon Elementary last Thursday night, and then captured the title with a big, 44-28, win over the Brodhead Tigers in the championship game Friday night.

Other results were the Tigers defeating the Livingston Blue Devils, 44-14, in the first round Thursday and then the Blue Devils edging out the Eagles, 25-22, for third place in the consolation game Friday.

The Championship
The Mt. Vernon Red Devils, who have dominated play all year, were matched stride for stride by the Brodhead Tigers in the early going of the championship game Friday night.

And it was all thanks to a full court press set by both teams that tied the score at four points at the end of the first quarter.

But head coach Judy Bullock's Red Devils extensive continuing pressure finally took its toll and in the second quarter stretched out a nine point lead by holding the Tigers to only seven points.

And despite Donna Cash's 11 points to lead the Tigers, the Red Devils moved the margin to 32-19 in the third quarter, thanks to an equal 11 points by Heather Deckard.

And Deckard's 11 was backed by some superb play by Red Devils' center Brandy Chasteen, who fired in a solid 10 points. And it was double figures by Deckard and Chasteen, along with Melinda Alcorn's nine, Melinda Smith's eight and Becky Osborne's six that allowed the Red Devils to nurse their lead in the final quarter and win, 44-28, for their third consecutive county tournament title.

Scoring along with Donna Cash's 11 for the Tigers were Amy Robinson and Angie Moore with six and Kristi Moore with five.

Consolation Game

The Livingston Blue Devils surprised the favored Roundstone Eagles, 25-22, in the consolation game Friday night for the rights of third place in the tourney.

The Blue Devils, who led most of the game, allowed their biggest lead of six at the half, dwindle to only two in the fourth quarter. And finally vanish as the Eagles tied the score at 22 with only seconds remaining in the game.

But it was all Kathy Short's Eagles

Teen Center Respectives

By: Ginny Gilpatrick
Rockcastle Teen Center
Coordinator

Satanism is at once intriguing and frightening to teens. All of us at one time or another fantasize about the intervention of a magic solution to some of our problems. Young people growing up in today's complicated world are especially vulnerable to the appeal of the promise of instant success, instant power, instant elevation from the struggles that accompany life. Satanism promises all this, and adds the excitement of bizarre rituals and practices to its appeal.

Most young people have at least a rudimentary knowledge of the dangers of Satanism. They have accepted some degree of Christian teaching and/or seen movies depicting the inevitable doom of those involved in satanic cults. The gossamer appeals to a few, but most would not venture very far into that realm. However, it is the nature of teens to flirt with danger and the forbidden, and it is trendy to dabble in occult boards and astrology. It is definitely "in" to listen to rock music and identify with rock groups that promote satanic symbolism, both subtly and explicitly.

Teen Challenge will address the subject of Satanism and talk with teens at the Rockcastle Teen Center on the Thursday following Thanksgiving, at 6:30 p.m. Teen Challenge was founded in 1958 by David Wilkerson, author of the widely read true novel, "The Cross and the Switchblade." They address all kinds of life-controlling issues that teens face. Satanism is only one of these issues. Substance abuse, sex, eating disorders and a wide range of other compulsions are capable of ruining the present's life, and these problems most often begin to surface during the teen years.

Supported by the non-denominational policy of Christian Appalachian Project, Teen Challenge will present a series of programs each Thursday evening at the Center. Bro. Mark Halford heads the group and will be assisted by a recent graduate of their highly successful recovery program. This promises to be an exciting series and teens who have not previously visited the Center are encouraged to come. Programs will last about an hour but the time afterward will be devoted to personal questions and support for individuals.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

One of the popular slogans in the campaign against drugs is, "Just Say No." Our young people must have the courage and desire to "Just Say No," and mean it. Drugs and alcohol are extremely destructive to folks who abuse and misuse them. Certainly drugs and alcohol have been used for medical purposes since Bible times, 1 Tim. 5:23, Lk. 10:34, Pr. 31:6-7. And it is just as true, that drugs and alcohol have been misused since Bible times, Gen. 9:21; Pr. 23:29-35, Gal. 5:20-21. Peer influence can lead many down the path of destruction who would say "No" and not mean it.

Drug and alcohol abuse can have many severe consequences. One can destroy his health and body. You can lose your job and career because of booze and dope. Families are torn asunder because of a family member, father, mother, son or daughter are involved with these mind altering substances. And the highest cost of chemical abuse is that this one will lose their soul if they should die in this condition. Gal. 5:20-21 lists, witchcraft, from where we get our word pharmacy, i.e. drugs and drunks used to "cast spells," enchantments, conjure demons, etc. and drunkenness as things, "that those who do them shall not inherit the Kingdom of God." But can a person be forgiven of such deeds? Yes, the Corinthians had been guilty of such, 1 Cor. 6:9-11, but they had turned from such wickedness and had turned to Christ and had been washed, sanctified and justified. You see repentance demands that one change his mind and turn from drug and alcohol abuse or whatever may be the sin. A lot of folks like to say these things are just a disease or just something that many just get or even inherit. Yes, it is a sickness called sin, and the disease is disobedience toward God. Don't let anyone fool you, you are the one that say "Yes" to drugs or you will be the one that says "No" to drugs, you are personally responsible.

Let me also point out that the slogan is just as applicable to premarital and extra-marital sex, to using bad language, to stealing and cheating, to lying and dishonesty. "Just Say No" can be just as effective if we determine to say it and really mean it. "Resist the devil and he will flee from you," 1m. 4:7.
