Mount Vernon Signal

Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456

Volume 102 - Number 13

Thursday, January 17, 1991

News Briefs Correction!

In a front page story in last week's Signal, written by Richard Anderkin, Rev. Mark Halford, Director of Teen Challenge, was quoted as saying that he would not vote to change the mascot name at Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

The statement should have been that Rev. Halford would vote to change the Red Devil mascot name when he received the survey from the school.

The Signal apologizes for this error.

$180 taken at Burr Chevron

A lone gunman held up the Burr Chevron Service Station early Jan. 10 and escaped with about $180.

The masked white man entered the station while attendant Mark Price of Somerset was doing paper work. Price told Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan he did not hear the man come in and when he looked up he was looking into the barrel of a .12 gauge shotgun.

He said he was told to lie on the floor and the bandit cleaned out the cash register.

Price reported while lying on the floor he saw a car parked near. He noted the car was probably a Mazda with Kentucky license. No one was in the car.

When the robber left in the car, Price shot at it three times as it went toward I-75.

He said he believed two shots went into the car.

The station is owned by Oscar Hornsby of Somerset.

Trailer fire at Poplar Gap

A mobile home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Troy Bowles was heavily damaged by fire about 6:30 p.m. Jan. 12.

The mobile home was located off Ky. 1004 at Poplar Gap. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department answered the call.

Most of the Bowles' belongings were destroyed, firemen reported.

A mobile home owned by Arvyl McKinnery was damaged by fire Tuesday.

According to Mt. Vernon firemen, the ceiling in one room was burned in the mobile home just off old KY 461.

Firemen said the cause was a short in an electrical outlet.

Adams home burglarized

Several hundred dollars worth of items were taken from the home of Tommy Adams on Brindle Ridge last Thursday.

Entrance was gained by forcing open a door.

Taken were color television, VCR, camcorder and case, battery, camera and two pens, pistol, chain saw, jewelry box, two men's and two women's watches, man's ring, chain bracelet, diamond necklace, two pearl necklaces, costume jewelry and a gun pouch.

Sheriff Jimmy Smith and State Trooper Jimmy Silvers investigated the break-in.

Two injured in Ottawa wreck

Two county residents were treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital Jan. 11 when their cars collided near Ottawa.

According to a report by the Sheriff's office, Herbert Brown of Brodhead was traveling on Ky. 1650 when Angela Ellison of Brodhead pulled out on the road from a side road and was struck by Brown.

Ms. Ellison and Mr. Brown were treated for minor injuries according to the report.

The Broadhead Tigers placed second in their own invitational tournament last week. Meecé Middle School in Putaski County won the annual event. A complete run down of the tournament can be found on Page B-2. Above Chad Severence goes for two in the Championship game.

Three local men charged with Lexington robbery

Three Mt. Vernon men have been charged with first degree robbery in an attempted robbery of Sabatini's restaurant in Lexington on Jan. 10 in what police have called an "inside job."

Charged are Terry Cromer, 25, Paul Renner, 29, and Larry Denny, 25. Cromer and Renner were employees at the restaurant. Denny was not an employee.

Denny and Renner remain in jail on $50,000 bond. Cromer has released on his last two days as was Renner, who was a cook.

The robbery was interrupted by Fayette County Sheriff Harold Buchigiani, and his wife, Deputy Sheriff Laurie Buchigiani, when they stopped the pizza at just before 10 p.m.

Buchigiani, who eats at Sabatini's as often as once a week, said he pulled up in front of the restaurant just as Denny was emerging with a gun held on three restaurant employees. The gun was aimed at the head of one of them, Ron Hudson, Buchigiani said, and Denny was wearing a red ski mask.

Sabatini said police later learned that Denny's gun was not loaded.

Sabatini, the restaurant owner, said yesterday that Hudson and another of the employees being led at gunpoint, Kenneth Walker, had been hired as replacements for Cromer and Renner. The third employee being led from the restaurant was Terry Cromer, who police believe was "playing along with it."

Buchigiani, and his wife backed his car up and reapproached the front door. Denny then released the employees, and Buchigiani fired a single shot from the .38 pistol he was carrying, at Denny but missed. Denny fell to the ground and was immediately arrested.

Buchigiani said he fired the shot because Denny "still had the gun in his hand and was looking right at Buchigiani."

Buchigiani said yesterday that he was trying to hit Denny. He said the .38 was smaller than the gun he normally carries -- a Glock 9 mm automatic pistol -- but he had attended a banquet that evening and did not want to carry a big gun.

"My .38 is a hollow point, and the glass deflected it," Buchigiani said. Buchigiani said that in retrospect he was thankful to have missed. He said the only other time he had fired a shot was "years back, when I was on the county police." He missed then, too.

Cromer was the owner of the Pizza Doctor, a carry-out restaurant on U.S. 150 in downtown Mt. Vernon which was opened and closed in 1990. Renner was also a cook at the Pizza Doctor.

Lester Burns paraoled

Lester Burns Jr., former Commonwealth Attorney for Rockcastle and Pulaski counties, is awaiting parole this week after spending more than two years in prison and four months in a work release program in Putaski County.

Don McFadden, director of federal programs at the Laurel County Jail where Burns has been staying, says he is waiting to receive a parole certificate, which Burns, 59, must sign.

The federal parole commission had already set his projected parole date, Thursday, Jan. 3, but McFadden says if the mail is slow, the certificate might not come until early next week. Burns, a former prosecutor turned defense attorney, was convicted in

Charles Reppert shot to death at Big Hill home

By: Richard Anderkin

Charles Reppert of Big Hill, was shot to death at his home last week.

Police are still looking for suspects in what they believe to be a murder and robbery at Big Hill in Madison County.

Kentucky State Police at the Richmond Post said that Charles Reppert, 40, of Big Hill, and formerly of Rockcastle County, was shot to death at his home behind Big Hill Army Park.

Madison County Deputy Coroner Charles Stiles, said that Reppert died from a single gunshot wound to the side of his head.

"It happened between Wednesday and Friday, we are not sure when, and the autopsy report is not back," Stiles said.

Reppert's brother Gary, found his body Friday afternoon around 3:30.

According to family members, Gary Reppert became concerned about his brother when he had not heard from him and could not get a touch with him.

KSP Detective Robert Stephens said Tuesday that he had been unable to find anyone that had seen Reppert later in the week than Tuesday, but that there was apparently some evidence that he was seen alive Wednesday.

Stephens said the shot that killed Reppert came from outside the trailer and traveled through a window. The detective said that it is believed that three to four shots were fired into the trailer. Stephens said the door to the trailer had not been forced open.

According to family members Reppert could have had several thousand dollars in his possession when he was murdered, but they are not sure.

No arrests have been made in the case.

Charles Alfred Reppert, 40, was born in Madison County on Feb. 13, 1950 the son of Mable Johnson Reppert and the late Marcus E. Reppert. He was baptized into the Baptist Church at an early age and was later baptized into the Blue Springs Church of Christ in 1989.

He was a graduate of the Mt. Vernon High School Class of 1969, attended Technical School in Nashville. He was married to Barbara Wheat Reppert 18 years and had two children, Charles Benjamin Reppert, age 3 and Amanda Nicole Reppert.

PSC hearing scheduled in Frankfort

By: Ray McClure

Another hearing has been scheduled by the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) to determine if the formation of a water association in several areas of Rockcastle County is feasible.

The PSC set 9 a.m. Feb. 22 as the hearing date in the Commission's offices in Frankfort.

Summoned to the hearing are County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins, Attorney Carl Clontz, Byron Baker, Charles D. Burton, Eddie J. Madden of Jackson County, and judge executives and mayors.

The second hearing on the project was called because "the Commission finds that, due chiefly to the lack of input from existing water suppliers, insufficient testimony was presented at the first hearing to enable the Commission to make a determination."

The Commission also noted there is insufficient evidence to determine whether existing suppliers are unwilling to extend service to the applicants.

In short, can the PSC force the suppliers to serve an area, especially in cases where long water lines must be installed to serve an area, or a supplier declines to serve.

The suppliers are, according to the PSC, Mt. Vernon Water Works, Broadhead Water Works, Northern Water District, Livingston Water Works and Western Water Association.

The proposed system of which Judge Mullins has had a major interest and influence, consists of 44 square miles with a population of 1,860.

Included are the communities of Lamerco, Three Links, Climax, Jop Hill, Sand Springs, Cedarville, Pongas, Sand Hill, Wabdl, Flat Gap, Clear Creek, Brush Creek and Spiro.

The association would use 104,809 gallons of water a day, according to engineers, and 3,144,284 gallons a month. The system would require four pumping stations, five hydroelectric stations, and five water treatment tanks.

Total estimated cost of the project is $3.8 million.

The Commission also stated the water districts/associations shall conduct an investigation into the feasibility of supplying water to the proposed service areas and write a report of the findings of the investigation no later than Feb. 7.

Judge Mullins said he still has no idea how the PSC will eventually rule. He added he is anxious for all the areas to have service no matter where the water comes from.

Rogers votes for use of force

U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers supported a House resolution authorizing military force against Iraq, saying that "it is the best way of avoiding actual military force to free Kuwait."

The House today approved H.R. Res. 62, sponsored by Representative Stephen Solarz of New York and House Republican Leader Robert Michel.

"We are kidding ourselves if we believe Saddam Hussein will withdraw without a clear threat of military action from the Congress," Rogers said. "I dread the prospect of conflict, but I dread worse the possibility of his naked aggression against Kuwait being repeated elsewhere in the world. We must call his bluff."

Rogers stated that the resolution supports and authorizes the use of military forces by President Bush to force compliance with the terms of several United Nations Security

Dear Editor,

I would like to explain why there were so few people at the Jan. 5th Mt. Vernon Council Meeting to express their views on their concerns over the service of Falcon Cable TV.

I told people to watch the Signal for details of when the representatives would be at the council meeting to discuss their problems. I put the notice in the Signal but it was not published. Why it was not is debatable. Also five out of six of the city councilmen do not believe we have better service than we ever did. I haven't asked one of them so I don't know his opinion on the matter. We did not nor was it printed in the Signal. We said it was the best in years. It has improved a great deal. It had to improve it couldn't get much worse. I know it was printed in the Signal of the December council meeting that a representative would be at the January meeting, why not tell the people someone from Falcon would be there for sure?

Dear Editor,

We have a son in Saudi Arabia. We attended the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department Candlelight Vigil Monday evening in Brodhead.

I would like to thank the B.V.F.D. women's auxiliary for their caring, sharing and support.

Also, the Catholic priest from Mt. Vernon and the Baptist preacher who came from Cincinnati, Ohio.

It was a very emotional and up lifting experience.

We relocated in Rockcastle County four years ago. No where have we seen such caring and sharing as here.

Again thanks B.V.F.D. Women's Auxiliary and everyone who was so kind. Keep us and our boys in your prayers.

We are now in the process of getting our daughter-in-law and nine month old grandson home from Germany.

Dear Editor,

I attended the B.I.T. tournament Saturday night. I was sitting in the Brodhead section, waiting for the championship game so I could cheer for Brodhead!

While sitting there Mt. Vernon was playing for third place so my family and I were cheering Mt. Vernon on also!

During this game, two "I guess" you could call them adults were making very rude and cruel remarks toward one certain Mt. Vernon player. It didn't upset me the fact they were cheering against Mt. Vernon, but it did upset because of the rude things that were said to that player.

I was told that if I didn't like what was being said then I could move over to Mt. Vernon's side. Well I did not move at that time, however later on I did move, "but not because I was asked to by that adult."

No other person in the section I was being said then I could move over to Mt. Vernon's side. Well I did not move at that time, however later on I did move, "but not because I was asked to by that adult."

No matter what happens in a game, there is no excuse for the rude remarks that were made by those two adults, toward that player.

I will not repeat what this said for the simple fact that I don't want to embarrass the player they were talking about! But they know who they are and they know what they said.

This opened my eyes to the fact that it's not the children who show bad sportsmanship, it's the adults. I'm a Poynter.

Brodhead.

Dear Editor:

I was reading over one of your letters today and found it very interesting. You were wondering about crime in Rockcastle County as also are other citizens and I really began to think about your story and I know others are doing the same. The one big question I'd like to ask you and others of this county is, why is there so much crime in Rockcastle County? Is it the law enforcement, the prosecutor, the judge, or the jury? We all know there is a problem. Who can we lay the blame on? When your paper dispensing machines got stolen, even though they were only worth $2.00, where was our police officers?

The pharmacist who identified the robbers seemed to insinuate that the blame could be put upon the prosecutor because it is his duty to uphold the law and prove to the jury the charged criminal is guilty which he can do if there is not a relative or good friend on the jury to get the criminal set free. What more does 12 honest men and women need other than one or two eyewitnesses to a crime, to give a guilty verdict? Is it during a murder trial back in November and it was very clear who the criminal was. However, the prosecutor did do his

Project Graduation

Dear Rockcastle Countians,
Our children are very precious to us. Realizing that every year we lose youth in our community to death or injury due to accidents, many of which are alcohol or drug-related, the school system and the community are promoting Project Graduation for the fourth year.

Project Graduation is a planned program of entertainment for graduating seniors to attempt to attract them to an alternative, alcohol-free, supervised activity instead of the likelihood of their drinking and driving at commencement time.

Tuesday, January 22 at 6:30 p.m.

in the RCHS library, a meeting will be held to begin plans for Project Graduation. Help is needed in the forms of financial support, door prizes, organization, food, and supervision. We invite everyone, community organization, parents, business people to come to this meeting.

We love our young people. Won't you join with us to help them to survive to attain adulthood and fulfill their lives. We need you -- and so do our children.

Sincerely,
Comie Hamm

Points East

By: Ike Adams

For several weeks now, Bogart, my Bassett Hound pup has shared the basement with the biggest possum I've ever seen in my life. Bogart spends his nights in a spacious, cardboard box that is almost exactly the same dimensions as my pick-up truck bed except that it is more than three times as deep. I found the box at L.A. Joe's around Thanksgiving and talked the warehouse man out of it. Apparently it once held two side-by-side refrigerator freezer combinations. It doesn't say that on the side or anything, but it's big enough to have served the purpose.

By folding up the box, I was able to get it through the basement door and reassemble it. Bogart thinks it's a condo. And because it is only ten feet or so from the furnace, the pup has the warmest room in the house. But this dang possum had, up until tonight, the rest of the basement to himself.

I read somewhere that possums will kill and eat snakes and last October we had baby snakes getting into the house every day for two weeks. Loretta was out trying to hire somebody to help her move to the barn during all that, but after we'd had a couple of frosts the snakes just disappeared. I figure the rest of them are hibernating under the floor and that the possum has made that discovery. So I've been leaving him or her alone. Loretta would have had it sleeping on the foot of the bed like our cats do if she thought it was killing snakes.

Occasionally, when I go to tuck Bogart in, or make my daily maintenance old Pos, as I've started calling it, and I will meet in passing. He doesn't want anything to do with me and I have the same sentiment towards him. The first time or two that I saw him, I fell over backwards and ran my head to get a gun, but he will scurry out of the basement and back into the deep recesses under that portion of our floor that the basement doesn't occupy. We live in a very large house and ole Pos has lots of space in which to maneuver when I get after him.

I could have shot him a couple of times, but he was way back in a corner that we'd have to tear the floor up to get to. I started thinking about what a sink he'd put up if I couldn't reach him and decided that the way to get serious alive than he would be dead in that particular situation. After I read about possums eating snakes, I even started considering him an asset.

He doesn't bother the pup and Bogart doesn't even acknowledge his existence. I've decided to tolerate the arrangement as long as ole Pos doesn't start to bring a spouse into it and start a family. Three different game wardens have told me that's what I can expect next.

Anyway, tonight when I went to put Bogart to bed I heard a can rattle way back under the floor. I figured it was ole Pos and I went on about my business until directly, I heard the noise again. Normally the possum will give no indication that he's around unless I catch him off guard, at which point he makes haste to put some distance between us.

I climbed up on some cinder blocks to peer back in the crawl space after I heard the can rattle a third time. Sure enough, my flashlight reflected off two little beady eyes, but they weren't ole Pos's. Scurrying in the middle of the light beam and directly behind the eyes was a long, snow white streak of fur, broadly rimmed on either side in jet black. Bigger than ole Pos.

In an instant the eyes disappeared and I found myself tumbling backwards as I peered directly into the north end of a pole cat headed towards me. And he was in no hurry to get there. As his exhaust fumes wafted in my direction, I tumbled and pitched heading into Bogart's pride and joy, landing on top of him. The dang dog commenced squalling like he had a vice grip clamped to his ears and I heard one of the kids upstairs yell, "Mom!!! He's killing the pup!!!", all panicky like I was doing it on purpose.

I slipped and fell three or four times in Bogart's pad before somehow managing to flip over the cellar door. I can't remember ever being as tickled about making an escape. Relief has taken on an entirely new definition for me.

I caught my breath and walked into the house. When I walked by wife who was quizzically staring at me in wait of an explanation about the noise downstairs, she wrinkled her nose. "Sniff. Sniff. Sniff."

"Do you smell a skunk honey?" I wanted to know.

"I did when you walked by", she replied and the kids broke up in laughter.

"We've got a skunk under the floor," I announced, figuring that she would prefer packing immediately.

"They eat snakes too", she said, as calmly as if she were talking about a skunk on television instead of the one in our basement. In other words, she's learned to live with ole Pos and she has come to the conclusion that anything that eats snakes is welcome to winter under the floor. And I'm thinking what if it takes a spouse? What if it's already pregnant out of wed-lock? One of the neighbors suggested that I make a point of sealing up all the places that a varmint could get under the floor. Yeah Buddy. And what if I took a possum and a pole-cat up together under there and they can't get out. And I'm hoping that it doesn't get cold enough for the pipes to freeze again, because if they do, they'll either bust or thaw when the weather warms back up. Or maybe Bogart will fix em. I ain't going back.

best. Two eyewitnesses, one of which was a child, told the jury what they saw, yet, people in our county even refuse to believe a small child who was at the crime scene and was very close to the action. Even though they couldn't believe anyone else, for whatever reason, I pray God will open our citizens eyes and forgive the injustice that was done to this child and the child's family. How could anyone have a heart and not believe a young eyewitness such as this? Was there a relative or friend of the murderer on the jury? Can God ever forgive people who would even put a child through the ordeal, insinuate the child is a liar, and allow the criminal to go scot free. In the first place, how could our judge and prosecutor allow a convicted felon who is on probation to post bond and walk our streets anyway?

The criminals lawyer said the criminal had a clean record. He lied! Why isn't the truth ever brought out in our county? Murder is a serious crime and a child's life can never be brought back! It is plain to see that we don't want to house, feed, clothe, and pay our money to keep someone up that's committed a crime such as this, and we shouldn't have to. However, Kentucky Law now permits the death penalty, although it is never imposed. Why send our good guys and women off to war? Why not send these criminals who love to kill, steal, and rob? After all, if they never return home, who will miss them? Our city would be more peaceable without them! I most certainly agree with you that there is no worse crime than someone whom would intentionally harm or neglect a child. But will the person who does this ever have to pay for it, or will he/she continue to walk free?

You gave a number for people to contact social services concerning whom ever was involved in this tragedy. However, our citizens refuse to even believe a social worker who testifies under oath. How can they protect children when they try, but are called liars? May God forgive us all for our blinded eyes! We must pray that our eyes will become open so that we will be able to help stop all this crime in our county. Our county is a disgrace to the society for these crimes committed here, and especially the crimes against children! I wonder how this child and the family feels to know the criminal is still on the loose? We all know everyone is not inno-

The Mount Vernon Signal, Thursday, January 17, 1991, P-3 decorations were taken from the tree during the holidays. These decorations are put there with love for those who have died with cancer, or who have survived cancer. These were bought with my personal funds, not the American Cancer Society. It makes me sad to think that people do not respect things that do not belong to them.

Owen Allen celebrates 80th birthday

Owen Allen of Rt. 2, Orlando celebrated his 80th birthday at his home Sunday, January 13 with a bountiful dinner. Mr. Allen was born January 15, 1911.

Those present to help him celebrate and enjoy the delicious food were: Ulus and Eva Allen; Money Ed and Bernice Cummins; Wayne Allen; accounted with French lace and pearls. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of mauve and white silk roses. The groom, meeting her at the altar, was in a white tuxedo.

Rena Anglin; Steve, Judy and Todd Anglin; A.L., Lois, Stacey and Stephanie Singleton; Tim, Debbie and T.J. Singleton; Alfred and Audrey Carpenter; Mark Carpenter; Johnnie and Jennifer Norborn; Darrell, Robbie and Jason Allen; Berkeley, Martha, Gena and Nathan Allen and Maitha Allen.

Donita Burdette of Conway was the bride's matron of honor and Donna Conn was bridesmaid. They were each dressed in mauve satin floor-length dresses.

Attending the groom as best man was Stacy McCracken of Conway. Groomsman was Robin Stewart, cousin of the groom. Joshua Singleton of Fairview was ring bearer. They were attired in gray tuxedos.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white linen tablecloth and featured a white four-tiered wedding cake with clusters of mauve roses, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

After a honeymoon trip, the couple are now making their home in Mt. Vernon.

Five Generations

Library News

We have received some new books at the library and we'd like to share these with you. Four of these are non-fiction. 1. "Blue Book of Dolls and Values", 9th ed. Complete with description and values for 1,600 dolls. 2. Collecting Baseball Cards, New ed., helps beginners as well as advanced card collectors and investors learn the best way to buy, sell and trade cards. 3. Kovel's Antiques & Collectibles Price List", 22nd ed. Includes a special report on "collectibles under $100. Prices are based on actual reports. 4. "I Wish You Didn't Know my Name" by Michele Launders: A young unwed mother gives her baby up for adoption and six and a half years later, Michelle, like the rest of the nation, walked in horror as the story unfolded on television and in the newspapers of the abuse and murder of 6-year-old Lisa Steinberg by her adoptive father in Manhattan. Then came the shocking revelation that would break Michelle's heart: tortured little Lisa was the beautiful little baby she had given up. This tells of her fight and struggle for the right to bury her child with dignity and love.

Some new fiction books are 1. "Circle of Friends" by Maeve Binchy. Set in Ireland, Circle of Friends features three young women: stocky,

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Floyd Knuckles

Niceley-Knuckles vows said in double-ring ceremony

Alvin Floyd Knuckles and Christy Michelle Niceley were married Sunday afternoon, Oct. 7, 1990 at the Brush Creek Holiness Church. Christy is the daughter of Ronald and Betty Niceley of Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon. Alvin is the son of Mrs. June Knuckles Kidwell and the late Floyd Knuckles of Mt. Vernon.

The double-ring, candle-light ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Baxter of Corbin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length white satin gown accented with French lace and pearls. The chapel-length train fell from the waist with rows of soft ruffles. Her veil was also

Now that winter is here and the weather is too bad to be outside, why not come into the library and see the many other services we have to offer besides the books. We have a new collection of videos for you to enjoy and we are expecting the audio tapes soon.

There is a story hour for the preschool children each Wednesday at 1 p.m. We have toys for the children to play with and books will be read and a movie will be shown. Also the ladies will meet for a craft class on Tuesday at 1 p.m. We will have a special class taught by Cheryl Witt, Feb. She is a button jewelry.

Also in February there will be an art exhibit (Images From the Mountains). An open house has been planned for February 8th. We will have more information about this later.

Recently we had a large number of very good magazines, given to the library. We would like especially to share these with the teachers for their students to use and cut out items for displays and etc.

wright, report that all of our first graders are reading. Of course, the students are not all reading at the same level, but they are all learning. In Math, they are counting by 2's, 5's and 10's.

Our attendance continues to be above average. We appreciate your support in our efforts to remain Number 1.

Mrs. Patsy Morgan's class enjoyed an ice cream sundae party, Monday after for their efforts regarding a recent contest sponsored by our Beta Club.

There will be a Beta Club Induction Ceremony next Friday afternoon.

Jan. 25. The event will be chronicled by pictures and a story in the Signal at a later date.

Mrs. Charlotte Bullock, Mrs. Regina Burton and Mrs. Caroline Cash attended the Math and Science Alliance, sponsored by Eastern Kentucky University, Tuesday evening in London. They enjoyed dinner with fellow teachers from throughout eastern Kentucky, and then previewed Math textbooks, which are available for adoption by school systems.

Teen Center Perspectives

PARENTING
By: Ginny Gilpatrick
Rockcastle Teen Center

Parenting is a complex profession. If children could somehow be isolated from the influence of the outside world (television, drugs, peers, cars, partying, etc.) then parenting would be relatively easy. Parents cannot simply hope to follow the Yellow Brick Road to Oz to get the courage, love, and wisdom required to guide children effectively through adolescence.

The road begins at birth with certain predictable patterns of healthy developmental stages through which a child must pass. Dr. Maslow's concept of a child's needs at certain stages has been widely accepted for decades: survival, safety, intimacy, recognition, and self-actualization. Break-down at any of these phases signals trouble. It is important for parents to be able to distinguish between the "real" (healthy) child, and the "counterfeit" who is getting his needs met by self-defeating or self-limiting means. Further, the parent needs to recognize when and how to intervene. What is "normal" child or adolescent behavior? Why is simply "cracking down" not enough, and what else can a parent do? How does one effectively provide ten minutes of prevention to ward off several years of "cure" if children are expected to "just say no," parents must model how it's done.

A parenting skills workshop will be held at the Teen Center on Williams Street on Monday evenings, at 6:30 p.m. beginning January 21. Ginny Gilpatrick, Coordinator of the center and Family counselor and teacher of adolescents will lead the sessions. Videotapes from the Bride, Parent to Parent, series, promoted by the Rockcastle Board of Education, will provide a stimulating basis for discussion at each meeting. While the content of the workshop is most relevant to parents of children during the period of emerging adolescence, the principles apply to any age.

The Teen Center is an agency of Christian Appalachians Project; the workshop is offered free of charge to all interested parents.

New administrative facility for Laurel County approved

Laurel County will receive a new administrative facility to enhance economic development in the Cumberland Valley region area as a result of a state grant announced recently by Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson. A $150,000 grant from the Area Development Fund has been awarded to the Cumberland Valley Economic Development Foundation, Inc. to amend its building project. This is a continuing grant originally initiated in 1989 to construct new housing for the Foundation. The amendment will cover contract payments. Local funding of $450,000 plus prior Area Development Funds of $150,000 supplement the project for a total of $750,000.

NUTRITION RESOURCES
Grades K-8

The need for nutrition programs in our schools is evident. In Kentucky, 70 percent of teenagers and younger youth have inadequate diets. Thirteen percent of our nation's preschoolers are considered obese. Students throw away up to 25 percent of their lunches and up to 53 percent of the vegetables they are served.

By beginning nutrition programs in kindergarten and continuing the training each year, youth will be better informed on the proper food choices to make.

The Cooperative Extension Service would like to work with you in meeting the educational needs of your students. Review our resources, they will fit directly into your curriculum!

Programs scheduled for 1991 are as follows:
Jan. 22 - 25 - Brodhead Elementary; Feb. 18 - 22 - Mt. Vernon Elementary; Mar. 18 - 20 - Roundstone Elementary; Mar. 21 - 22 - Livingston Elementary.

4TH GRADE: ACCENT ON VITAMINS

1991 Burley Quota

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

Despite a significantly larger 1990 burley crop, U.S. Burley supplies remain very tight entering 1991. Both manufacturers and loan stocks are critically low. Given tight supplies, the industry will likely see another quota increase this year.

The Secretary of Agriculture will announce the 1990 burley production quota on February 1, 1991. According to the 1985 Tobacco Improvement Act, the quota is comprised of three components: (1) manufacturer's purchase intentions, (2) preceding 3-year average of exports, and (3) an adjustment for the reserve stock level.

Currently, it appears that loan stocks will be well below what is considered to be an adequate level of reserves. Furthermore, the 3-year average of U.S. burley exports is

How to help your kids with their homework

Take some of the hassles out of helping your child with homework. Get organized.

That's the advice of Sam Quirk, an Extension Family Life Specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Kids sometimes think of homework as a punishment, rather than a means by which they can learn things that make life more pleasurable. Sometimes, parents also feel like homework is their punishment as well.

Parents' constant nagging and children's avoidance of homework can set up battle lines where every one loses. The best way to avoid the every night skirmish is to make some rules about homework and enforce them fairly.

Quick offered these tips:
First, set up a time for children to do their homework. The decision as to what time should be agreed upon by both parents and child. The length of this dedicated time should vary with the child's age and amount of homework.

Homework should be done at the same time each evening, unless agreed upon between both parent and child. Deviations can be made sometimes, for good reason, if the child has another commitment one night. But the schedule should be observed as much as possible.

If a child finishes his homework before his allotted time is up, encourage him to use the time to read a book. Help kids who need help with their homework. Help the child complete only one or two problems rather than all of them. Explain the process of the problem while helping. Make sure he understands the process so he can finish the assignment himself.

Provide positive support for the problem-solving process. Instead of saying, "That's wrong, here's the right answer," ask the child how he arrived at his answer. Then determine whether he erred and help him learn the correct way to tackle the problem.

Sometimes parents find that they become too frustrated trying to help their youngster with homework. If that's the case, try finding a tutor in the neighborhood or an older child to help the younger one with his assignments.

Big projects require special attention. Help the student organize the project by breaking it up into tasks. For example, a term paper may be broken into the tasks of library search, abstracting what was read, synthesis and writing the paper.

Some children become too committed to other projects. One or two extracurricular activities are usually enough for most children.

There were no first year pins but 2nd year pins went to Jeffery and James Linville and Lucille Ponder; 3rd: Jo Ann and Kelly Croucher, Glen Ponder, Thelma Thacker and Gertrude Anderson; Wallace Williams, Amy and Chad Croucher and Jim Poynter; 5th: Debbie McCollum and Nancy Williams; 7th: Dewey Thomas; 9th: Twila Croucher; 10th: Monica Cummins; 12th: Jamaica Cummins; 13th: Doris Gabbard; 14th: Gail Le; Gabbard; 15th: Drea Cummins; 19th: Shirley Poynter and Jimmy Cummins; 21st: Judy Cummins; 22nd: Buddy Gabbard; 25th: Wesley Lambert.

I'm so proud of those who have sacrificed and made an effort to attend every Sunday for another year. May God bless and keep you always. Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and Sherry visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin on Sunday.

Eugene and Hallie Alexander visited in our home Tuesday night Jan. 1st. We enjoyed them so much. They are always so loving, kind and friendly. We all just had a good time talking to each other.

The last time I was at the Signal office I enjoyed talking to Perline. She is always so nice and friendly. Mrs. Jean Hayes of Winchester was an overnight guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Cope, last Sunday night. Visiting their grandparents over night Saturday were Ronnie Dale Reppert of Conway and Allis Reppert of Berea.

Mrs. Irene Barnett of Mt. Vernon is convalescing at her home after submitting to surgery Dec. 28th at Shoney's Hospital in Lexington. She is so thankful she is now recovering and (we are too). She is such a good person and has many friends. She told me she was so thankful for the many prayers, phone calls, visits and concern shown her during this. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Eugene Alexander recently visited at the home of Mrs. Lela Alexander and son Jerry at Macedonia. Other visits by Eugene and Hallie have been to the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Aster Shouse of Berea, Mrs. Tretha Alexander of London and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Burdette of Renfro Valley.

Our recent guests have been Wayne and Carolyn Chasteen, Darrin and Monica Chasteen, Junior and Lynetta Chasteen, Joyce and Kim Scals and Mary Mullins.

Please remember church and Sunday School and try to love and be good to people. We need more love; our world and not so much greed and hatred.

Health Dept. building may have been killed for wrong reason

While I was certainly not entirely sold on the idea of a new Rockcastle County Health Department, because I think during tough times everybody should cut back a little, including the government, I don't think that is the reason the project was turned down in Frankfort.

You see it wasn't part of the barrel, that is the pork barrel that came about as the result of the state legislature lowering the boom on the Kentucky taxpayers last Spring.

Local representative Danny Ford did not vote for the education package because of the way it was being handled in Frankfort.

He did not in fact sell his vote, which is all most of the senators and legislators did. And most of the ones that did were paid nicely -- by way of swimming pools, amphitheaters and city parks.

Governor Wilkinson enticed legislators to vote for the education package by promising the pork barrel projects and he has delivered, at your expense.

I sincerely do not think we need a new health department, but I do believe it was turned down because of Ford's no vote on education.

They say that Kentucky politics are the dirtiest anywhere and I don't think the last three years have hurt our reputation any.

Of course the commercials by Wilkinson's political action committee are nothing other than a head start on advertising for his wife.

And those commercials, to be kind, are misleading at best. One says that Kentucky, of course under Wilkinson's direction, went from 48th in education to first in education reform. I think that is two different categories. We'll have to wait and see just how far the education reform act avails us up the ladder. Personally, without Judge Ray Korns' decision, I doubt if Wilkinson would have even thought about education reform and I certainly do not blame Ford for his vote on the education/tax bill and most Kentuckians will understand a little better why he voted against it, when they try to pry their income tax this Spring.

RE-A-
Bart Simpson, Pee Wee Herman and Hulk Hogan. They are just about

out of things to show on television when programming includes the above mentioned shows.

I don't think television is as much to blame for our country's ills as some do, but I do think programs such as I have mentioned are totally worthless. I wonder how many parents really want their children to act like Bart Simpson, who is nothing more than a spoiled obnoxious brat, who should be locked in the television archive room and forgotten.

Many people may think I'm crazy, shouldn't sweat the small change and so on, but these types of programs, especially Bart and big time wrestling, are forbidden at my house. The least harmful of the three above mentioned shows is Pee Wee Herman, if you don't mind your kids growing up with an overaged sissy as their idol.

I have never really understood how any mature adult can watch big time wrestling for longer than the time it takes to scan the channels on the television set, because it is nothing more than grown men and sometime women, acting out their parts for the audience and cameras. The only thing real about wrestling is its certainty that it will be on cable ten times each week.

Council resolutions, including the requirement that Iraq withdraw from Kuwait by January 15. Rogers also said that the resolution, which the President requested, provides a clear, credible signal to Hussein that the U.S. is unified in its resolve to use force, if all peaceful efforts to end the crisis are fruitless.

"With this resolution, the President now has congressional support for a military option, should he determine that peaceful initiatives will not work. Hopefully, Saddam will take the U.S. and the U.N. resolutions seriously, and back down.

Rogers added that failure to pass the Solar-Michel resolution would have undermined efforts to remove Hussein peacefully, with disastrous effects. "If this ruthless dictator is allowed to remain in Kuwait, his ability to manipulate the world's oil supply could bring the world to its knees. Without a credible threat of force, Hussein will hang on, forcing military action.

"The vote I cast was the hardest thing I have ever been asked to do during my long years of public service. The possibility of young men and women, many from Kentucky, being thrust into battle made my decision painful. However, I hope and believe that by supporting the President, Saddam Hussein will surrender his hold on Kuwait, offering our forces the best chance for avoiding combat.

Four Congressmen from Kentucky voted for the resolution and three voted against it. Sen. Wendell Ford voted against the resolution. Sen. Mitch McConnell voted for the resolution.

Handy to announce

London Attorney, Thomas V. Handy will formally announce his intentions to seek the Republican nomination for Attorney General at 12 noon, Friday, January 18th in the state reception room of the Capitol at Frankfort.

Forgy announces

Noted Lexington attorney Larry Forgy announced his bid to seek the Republican nomination for Governor in an afternoon press conference in the Rotunda of the State Capitol Building in Frankfort.

In the surprise announcement, Forgy blasted rampant corruption in Kentucky government and politics, announcing that his campaign would not accept contributions of more than $300 from any individual and would not accept political action committee (PAC) money.

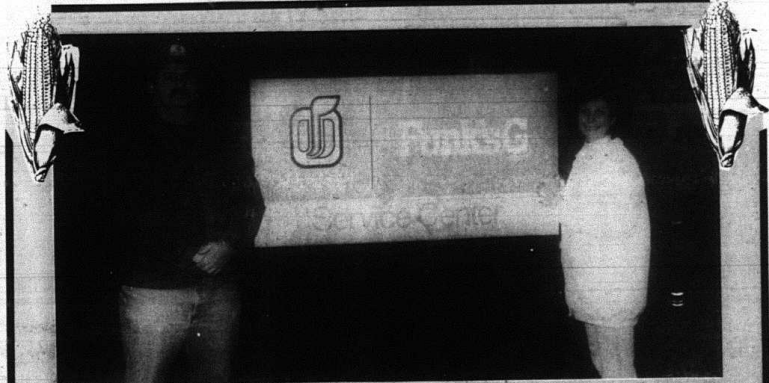

"Kentucky is floundering in a vast pool of corruption caused by the obscene levels of political fund-raising that is presently allowing in the state," Forgy said. "We believe the people are fed up with PAC's, multi-million dollar political races, negative commercials and deals that work against the public interest."

Forgy said he pulled out of a possible race for Governor in 1987 because he could not honestly tell Kentuckians that taxes would not have to be raised as well as wanting to compromise his integrity when soliciting enormous campaign contributions. Forgy returned the campaign funds to his contributors.

Could cannons be in the Rockcastle River

By: Spencer T. Bengt
 Could cannons that were used in the Civil War battle of Wildcat Mountain, some 130 years ago, still be submerged in the murky bottoms of the Rockcastle River.

Moreland Blaine, a 76-year-old Lakeside Park man, likes to think so. As a child, Blaine heard stories about the battle of Wildcat Mountain and the part his grandfather, 2nd Lt. Robert Clay Blaine played.

The story, as told today, extends back to the year 1861 when the Union forces, in a frantic maneuver, dumped cannons down a hillside into a river. And over the years, Blaine has heard several stories about youngsters who swam in the river where the cannons are supposedly submerged. They recalled the glint of shiny objects on the bottom.

The swimming hole came to be known as Cannon Hole. Blaine and a group of Civil War enthusiasts are planning to separate fact from fiction in a massive search this summer when the water level lowers.

"We've got to go down there and get those guns," said Blaine, who recently led an expedition to the area of the Rockcastle River where the cannons are thought to be.

Accompanying Blaine were his son, Alex, Alex's soon-to-be son-in-law, Ed Bosch Jr., and Blaine's friends, Larry Farwell of Irvine and Charles and Ruth Korzenborn of Ft. Mitchell. Also interested was Thomas Clark, the renowned Kentucky historian, who planned to make the trip but didn't due to a family illness.

The exact location of the cannons is thought to be, "Somewhere between Laurel and Rockcastle," according to Blaine. But realistically, Blaine pointed out that, "We're not assured of anything." All he was a story about 150 years old. "Blaine went on to say, 'Still the search is on."

Korzenborn, a semi-retired garage operator who has some vehicles with wrenching equipment, will probably be assigned to the retrieval portion of the operation.

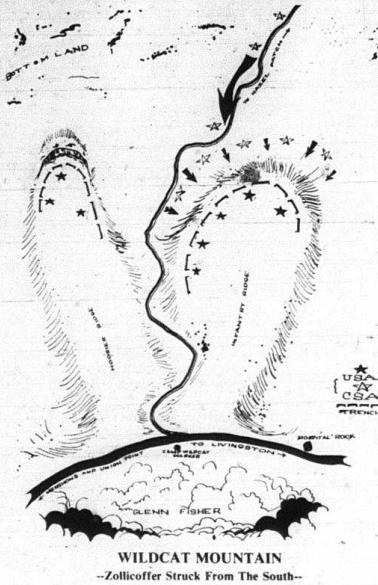

As for the searching/locating portion, Blaine already has one scuba diver ready to make the dive. Blaine hopes with a scuba diver, metal detector and some luck that the cannons, if they indeed are there, can be found.

It all boils down to theories on how the cannons came to rest at the bottom of the river. Also a history buff, Korzenborn has some theories of his own. Wildcat Mountain was the first battle between Union and Confederate forces in Kentucky and may have been more significant than some would like to believe, he said.

Confederate forces under Gen. F.K. Zollicoffer were in Kentucky in October 1861, in an effort to implement the state's course of seceding and joining the Confederacy. And Union forces under Gen. George Thomas, the ramesack of Ft. Thomas, were protecting Kentucky from invasion.

And at Wildcat Mountain, the forces met.

Both sides made a hasty retreat.

with the Union withdrawal nearing panic. But had the Confederates realized the road to the bluff was virtually open, Kentucky's role in the war, if not the war itself, might have been different.

Both Korzenborn and Blaine think the cannons were dumped in the river because they impaired the maneuverability or retreat, depending upon who told the story. Blaine thinks his grandfather dumped the cannons in order to reach the main Union force and warn them about the approaching Rebels.

Bob Fields, a Baptist missionary who grew up near Cannon Hole and learned of Blaine's expedition, said he had always heard that the Confederates were the ones who ditched the cannons. But Fields, who remains a skeptic, doubts that there are any cannons in the Rockcastle River.

Undaunted, Farwell led Blaine's party to Cannon Hole. Farwell, a longtime friend of Blaine, had been taken to Cannon Hole years ago by Ray Stallsworth of Florence, another native of the hills near the river.

Surprisingly, the area around Cannon Hole turned out to be more accessible than expected. The expected, that was said years ago and by Blaine today, was to find an area around Cannon Hole to be, "Inhospitable country."

Nevertheless, a railroad now runs nearby, leading to the further skeptical conclusion that the glint and glimmer swimmers may have seen may have been discarded steel rails.

But again, for Blaine and his Civil War buffs, the search is on. (Ed's note: Jack Hinkley of the Kentucky Post contributed to this article.)

Wilkinson announces road project for Ky. 1505

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson has announced that the state will spend an estimated $39,550 for guardrail installation and a culvert replacement project on KY 1505, the Broadhead-Comey Road in Rockcastle County. Wilkinson said an estimated $19,950 project will provide guardrail installation on 0.3 mile of KY 1505 from milepost 6.725 to 7.035. A box culvert located 0.2 mile west of E-75 will be replaced with a multiple arch culvert and is expected to cost $19,600.

make our roads safer and more efficient," said Wilkinson. "These two projects will obviously increase safety for motorists, and enhance the overall effectiveness of the road. According to state Transportation Secretary and Commissioner of Highways Milo D. Bryant, the work will be accomplished by contract and will be financed with funds from the 210 State Construction account. He said the culvert replacement will be accomplished by state forces and the guardrail work will be let to contract.

Farmers will be allowed to sell 5% more tobacco

D.G. Albright, Chairman of the Rockcastle County ASC Committee, announced the Secretary of Agriculture is authorizing burley tobacco farmers to sell additional tobacco without incurring marketing penalties.

Under the provisions of law, the Secretary has authority to encourage additional marketings of burley tobacco to meet normal demands of export and domestic markets. The law limits the additional marketing that may be authorized to 5 percent of the basic quota on the farm on which the tobacco was produced. For example, a farm having a basic quota of 1,000 pounds and an effective quota of 16,000 pounds could market 50 additional pounds of tobacco without penalty.

A producer who has 1990-crop burley tobacco available for marketing exceeding 103 percent of his or her farm's effective quota may market additional tobacco exceeding 103 percent of the effective farm quota without incurring marketing quota penalties. Additional marketings, not exceeding 5 percent of the farm's basic quota, will not be deducted as an overmarketing when determining a farm's 1991 burley tobacco quota as the additional marketings are eligible for price support to the same extent as any other burley tobacco marketed from the farm.

To qualify for additional marketings, you must return the marketing card issued to your farm to your local County ASCS Office for adjustment and sign a certification that the farm has burley tobacco available for marketing exceeding 103 percent of the farm's effective quota.

Indictments returned

Four indictments were returned by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury last week.

Two of those indictments have been released.

Tanya Elaine Saylor, 29, of Charlestown, IN, for a December 23, incident in which she apparently shot her husband.

According to the indictment on file in Circuit Clerk Denver Miller's office, Rick Saylor, of 202 E. Haiti Road, Berea, was shot in the right leg with a nine millimeter gun, apparently by his wife.

Tanya Saylor is free on bond until January 25 arraignment before Circuit Judge Dan Venters.

Bobby R. McClure, 35, of Rt. 1 Stanford was charged with third offense D.U.I. after he was arrested by Broadhead city police officer Joe Bussell.

Blood donated

Thirty-seven people donated blood at the Agricultural Services Center in Mt. Vernon on Dec. 18.

The drive was sponsored by Central Kentucky Blood Center and Rockcastle County Homemakers. Contributing to the successful drive was Cheryl Witt who organized the drive.

The Rockcastle County Blood Program is greatly aided by the community support of the Rockcastle County Homemakers. The following dates have been scheduled for upcoming blood drives April 24, July 16, and Dec. 19, all at the Agricultural Services Center.

McClure is also due in court on January 25.

Break-in at gun shop

A break-in at a gun shop located in the country store building at Kentro Valley resulted in the loss of four guns.

According to Mt. Vernon Police-man Eddie Delancy, the guns were a Remington 12 gauge shotgun, a 306 rifle, Russian Mauser pistol and a Remington 264 caliber special rifle.

Entrance to the shop, operated by Brad Proctor, was from the rear of the building located in the Country Store. The thieves tore off the siding and broke through the wall. The building is owned by Raymond Carl.

Wet weather

A total of 3.03 inches of rain has fallen in Mt. Vernon to date during January, according to records at Cox Funeral Home weather station.

Since last Thursday a total of 1.17 inches has fallen with nearly an inch last Friday.

Colder weather is expected through Sunday.

Police recover stolen vehicle

A 1989 Toyota Camry stolen from Larry Smith of Leslie County was recovered by Deputy Sheriff Phillip Chesnut Jan. 8.

The vehicle was found in Sand Hill. It was stolen from Lexington.

Former Rockcastle County Sheriff William Taylor escaped injury last week when his transfer truck overturned on Hwy. 61, three miles from Columbia Kentucky. Taylor's 1980 Kenworth was hauling about 41,000 pounds of tobacco when the accident occurred. Taylor said that he lost control of his truck after he met a car that was on his side of the road in a curvy section of Hwy. 61. The former Sheriff was enroute to North Carolina.

Brodhead and Mt. Vernon place in BIT; Meece wins

By: Spencer T. Bengel
The BIT in its own right is becoming, if it hasn't already, one of the premiere elementary basketball tournaments in the state. Since 1981 when the tourney originated, the BIT has been awing and wooing crowds with a week long package of fun-filled basketball excitement. And this year was no exception.
It was elbow room only during Saturday night's finals of the Brodhead Invitational Tournament at Brodhead. As players, cheerleaders, parents, relatives and fans squeezed into the Brodhead gymnasium to form another capacity crowd and yet another successful BIT.
For Rockcastle countians, they had a lot to cheer about Saturday. The Brodhead Tigers, the defending BIT champions, placed second in the tourney to this year's winners, Meece

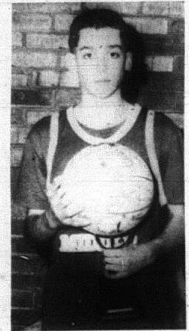

Middle School, 66-47. The Mt. Vernon Red Devils settled for fourth place after a 57-40 loss to Red Foley Middle School. The Brodhead Tigers' cheerleading squad captured the cheerleading competition for the second straight year. And the Roundstone Eagles' cheerleading squad rounded out the Rockcastle finishers by taking a third place position in the cheerleading competition.
The spirit stick was awarded to the Red Foley cheerleading squad.
Six Rockcastle players were also selected to the all-tourney team along with five out of county players. Those players were Bobby Miller of Roundstone, Mike Smith of Livingston, Chris Kirby and Ken Hopkins of Mt. Vernon, Anthony Noel and Chad Severance of Brodhead, Scotty Pennington and Jody Coyle of Red Foley and Michael Wilson, Mack Goddy and Eric Randall of Meece. Randall was also selected as the Most Valuable Player of the BIT.

The BIT was set up just a little differently of last years. All four of the Rockcastle County teams were seeded in the same bracket as were the remainder of the teams in another. The end result was at least one Rockcastle team gaining a berth in the championship along with an out of county team.

The Brodhead Tigers, hosting the tourney and favored, won their bracket with wins over Livingston, 55-44 and Mt. Vernon, 44-30.

On the other hand, Meece Middle School may have been considered by most as only the second best to Red Foley Middle School. However, the results proved otherwise. Meece clinched their bracket by defeating Richmond Model, 78-34 and Red Foley, 54-47. And finally Brodhead, 66-47, for the crown.

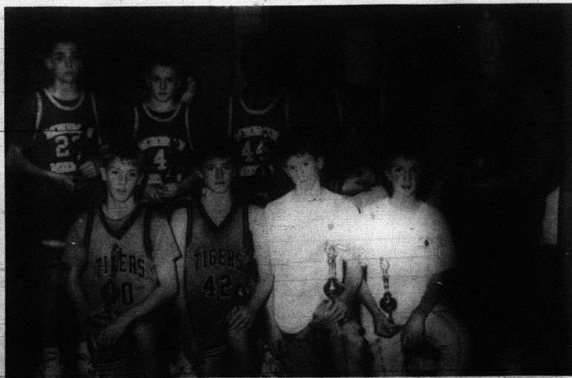

Meece was indeed a very talented ball team and definitely carried the upper hand into the final game against

Brodhead with their 14 man roster consisting of 13 eighth-graders and only one seventh-grader. Of course they were illuminated by their star player Eric Randall who fired in a tourney high of 62 points and was voted as the tourney's MVP.

Still, Brodhead, who will have all of their players returning next year and are now nine and five on this season, gave it their best.

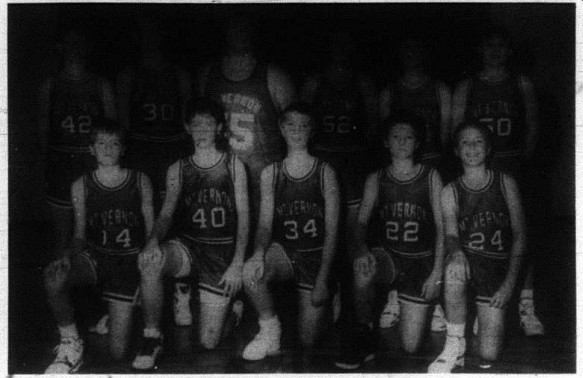

Although Brodhead did play a good first period and limited Meece's lead to only nine, 20-11, in the period, they were just out matched.

Meece, led by Randall and his single game high of 23 points with 10 of those coming in the second quarter, pushed their lead to 45-20 at the

The Brodhead Tigers and defending champions captured second place after losing to Meece Middle School in this year's Brodhead Invitational Tournament at Brodhead. Members of the Tigers are, from front from left, John Adams, Ryan Bradley, Kevin Jones, Jason Childers and Jonathon Poe. Back row from left are Head Coach Gary Scott, Corey Scott, Anthony Mink, Chad Severance, Pernel Brummett, Anthony Noel, Brian Hammons, Bobby Bengel and coaches Nelson Graves and Dennis Lawrence.

Lady Rockets romp, defeat Garrard, 63-57 and Madison Southern, 54-48

By: Spencer T. Benge

The Rockcastle County High School Lady Rockets, after a slow start this season, are cleaning up their record and now stand at five and seven, only two games away from breaking even.

The Lady Rockets handed Madison Southern a loss, 54-48, Monday night and dished out another to Garrard County, 63-57, last Thursday night. Both games were at RCHS.

The win over ninth ranked Garrard in the 12th Region for the 18th ranked Lady Rockets in the 13th Region was nothing but satisfying. Especially since they trailed through the first half.

The Lady Rockets, who were led by April Burton with 16 points, put together their biggest scoring run of 24 points in the third quarter to over-power Garrard and take over the lead by five, 42-37.

The Lady Rockets followed suit in the fourth period, backed by eight of Cindy McCauley's 14 points coming in the period, to edge Garrard out in a scoring spree, 21-20, for the prize.

Southern's game was another tight ballgame for the Lady Rockets as Southern came from a 10 point deficit in the first half to finally tie the game in the second half.

"It was a real close ballgame," said Lady Rockets' Head Coach Christy Beaver earlier this week.

The Lady Rockets, who led 14-7 in the first period, were up by as much as 10 at one time when they committed four consecutive turnovers in the closing minutes of the first half to allow Southern to pull within only one point of their lead, 24-23.

Rockcastle Girls' All-Stars win two and lose one

The Rockcastle County girls' all-star team sported a two and one record this past week with wins over Estill County and a loss to Madison Southern.

The Rockcastle 'A' team, led by Melinda Smith and Becky Osborne with seven each, whipped Estill's 'A' team stars, 35-17, at Estill last Tuesday night. Rockcastle's 'B' team also walked away with a victory as Susie Carpenter led the way with her game high of eight points to help Rockcastle easily overturn Estill, 26-15.

Rockcastle's only loss came in their 'A' team match-up with Southern at Broadhead, Monday night. Southern led all four quarters to topple Rockcastle, 37-20.

Scoring along with Smith and Osborne for the Rockcastle 'A' team against Estill were: Brandy Chastain, Amy Robinson and Dee Reams, 4 each; Heather Dockard, 3 and Donna Cash, Ginger Mink and Melinda Alcorn, all with 2.

Rockcastle's 'B' team scouted along with Carpenter against Estill were: Janica Cummins and Dee Reams, 6 each; Dana Reynolds, 4 and Amy Robinson with 2.

Scoring in the Southern game for Rockcastle were: Melinda Smith, 6; Donna Cash and Janica Cummins, 4 each; Becky Osborne, 3; Melinda Alcorn, 2 and Amy Robinson with 1.

"Turnovers have killed us," Beaver said. "We committed 21 turnovers against Southern which is all but it was under our goal of 25," she added.

The Lady Rockets have been committing up to as many as 35 turnovers in one game so in Beaver's eyes, progress is coming along.

Southern eventually tied the game at 31 all in the third quarter and it appeared that the Lady Rockets, who have had their problems late in games this year, might fall victim in the closing minutes of the game.

Not this time.

April Burton, Cindy McCauley and Kristi Sargent, who all reached double figures along with Karla Bullock's high of 14, combined for 19 of the Lady Rockets 23 points in the final quarter of play to send the nine- and five-Southern team home empty handed.

"We did alot of things well during the game," said Beaver. "We passed well and improved our free throw shooting."

Rockets whip Lynn Camp but lose to Madison Southern and Jackson

By: Spencer T. Benge

Call it a fourth quarter syndrome or what have you but however you look at it, the Rockcastle County Rockets are struggling down the stretch.

The Rockets pulverized visiting Lynn Camp last Thursday, 113-55, but dropped the two following games down the stretch. One to Madison Southern at Madison last Friday, 64-59 and the other to visiting Jackson County Tuesday night, 75-61.

As for the Lynn Camp game, it was fine and dandy. The Rockets played well and demonstrated just how strong they are this season.

But as for the Southern and Jackson games, the Rockets may have a few regrets to deal with.

"Considering everything other than the free throw line, we beat Madison Southern," Rockets' Head Coach David Perkins said earlier this week.

The Rockets did indeed play a solid basketball game against the much larger Southern team. In fact, the Rockets, who were led by senior guard David Sargent with 23 points, led Southern by one in the first quarter, 13-12, and only trailed by one at the half, 27-26. They stayed within three in the third quarter and then pulled within two in the final period.

But only making 9 of 21 free throw attempts makes one wonder, especially since the Rockets ended up on the bottom by only five points.

To the Rockets, it was game that should have been won.

And finally not unlike the Jackson County game.

The Rockets have stood toe to toe with almost every opponent this year and in essence could very well be 12-3 on the season instead of 7-8. They have worked their way up in the Extralines from being ranked 12th in the region to 8th and had a chance to advance further in Tuesday's game with fifth ranked Jackson.

But they let it slip away.

A lot had to do with early foul trouble by Rockets' big man Micah Parkerson and playmaker David Sargent. Of course the absence of starter Tim Cottrell, who suffered torn ligaments against Corbin two weeks ago, is still noted. Cottrell may return this Friday.

"Foul trouble got us into trouble early," Perkins said.

However, aside from foul problems that forced Parkerson and Sargent to take a seat for a large portion of the game, Perkins felt that the Rockets were not playing up to par.

"I think neither team played well in the first quarter," said Perkins. The Rockets did have their moments and a lot of that came from senior center David Eaton, Jr. and junior guard William Bullens.

Quick tips on U.S. Savings Bonds

Each U.S. Savings Bond you own is unique. The following information applies to all Series E & EE U.S. Savings Bonds:

All bonds do not increase in value at the same time.

All bonds do not earn the same rate of interest.

All bonds issued prior to and including November of 1965 will earn interest for 40 years from the date of purchase.

All bonds issued from December of 1965 until the present will earn interest for 30 years from the date of purchase.

Each bond held two and a half years, or longer, will increase in value (accrues interest) twice a year. For each bond this could be a different two months.

Cashing in a bond just prior to an interest accrual period will result in forfeiting up to six months of interest.

Obtain specific information about each bond you own before you redeem or exchange them. You need information about when the bond increases in value, when it stops earning interest, how much interest it is currently earning and what each bond is worth. A personalized savings bond portfolio from The Savings Bond Informer, Inc. will provide this information to you.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Our Lord said in Mt. 10:34-36, "think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I come not to send peace, but a sword. For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law. And a man's foes shall be his own household." Controversy is a part of the gospel. Christ is a radical teacher in the word, and his teachings are in sharp contrast to the philosophies and doctrines of men. Families have been split and torn asunder because of the gospel. Some accept the Lord and his truth and some vehemently oppose Jesus and his truth.

As long as the world continues to stand, there is going to be a spiritual war, and the devil and his forces are tireless enemies of truth. Paul said "fight the good fight of faith" in I Tim. 6:12; in Eph. 6:10-17 he describes this war and the armour the child of God is to wear, and in II Cor. 10:3-4 he said "for though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds." Yes, wars demand controversy and division.

How wonderful it would be, if all people would accept the truth and do what is right, then controversy would never be necessary. But, folks are going to promote false doctrines and this forces the servants of God to stand up and be counted. The Lord found himself in controversy many times, Mt. 22, Jn. 9, Lk. 4, etc. Jude 3 exhorts us "that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." Some folks think that controversy in religion is wrong, and that to "argue" about the Bible is sinful. Now if one is contentious and argumentative, having a spirit of strife and ill-will, certainly such would be wrong. Gal. 5:20, II Cor. 12:20, I Tim. 6:4.

Let's speak the truth in love (Eph. 4:15); and when an issue of truth is at stake, let's not be afraid to stand up and contend for the faith, in defense of the gospel, Phil. 1:17.
