Our Readers Write

Dear Mrs. Nicely and followers, We would like to tell you that the students that attend Mt. Vernon Elementary like our school's mascot. If we changed it, look at the hundreds of dollars we would be wasting. Are you going to give this to us?

We would have to get new jerseys and replace our Red Devil items with others when they are not even worn out.

We would also like you to know that we are against you all the way! Sincerely, Mt. Vernon Elementary

(93 students and teachers signed this letter.)

To the Editor, I think 'Red Devils' should stay the same because ever since the old school was built we have been called the 'Red Devils' and that's been a long time. It has been like a tradition at Mt. Vernon to be the 'Red Devils' and what about the Livingston 'Blue Devils', they should change their name too. And the petition that was signed had names on it that didn't even live in Mt. Vernon. So keep the tradition alive - keep the 'Red Devils'!

74 Class
8th Grader Mt. Vernon Elementary School

This is to Sheila Nicely, We at the school of Mt. Vernon wish for you to leave the mascot of our school alone! There are too many other issues in the world to worry about a small school mascot. You should be more worried about the crisis in the Gulf, besides nobody would get a new school if we had to buy new basketball and cheerleading uniforms and then spend lots of money repainting the walls and putting down a new surface in the gym. So we think you should worry about more things than a school mascot.

Sincerely, Mt. Vernon Elementary

74 Class
Ryan McGuire, Brian Brown, Christopher Renner, Cassey Mullins

Dear Editor,

I really don't have time to write this letter, but just decided to take the time! I have just checked and signed my second MVES survey concerning the mascot change. (Hand delivered, couldn't take the chance of having it lost in the mail!)

I am a 1972 graduate of MVHS. My oldest daughter is a 1990 graduate of MVES where she played basketball for 4 years. And, Lord willing, my youngest daughter will graduate in 1997 from MVES. I think this justifies my interest in the mascot change.

We were the Mt. Vernon Red Devils in 1972 and hopefully will still be in 1997!

When I asked my children how they felt about this, their reply was, "This is STUPID!" This folks, out of the mouths of babes!

You can raise your children to know right from wrong. I'm sure there is not a child in this community that has ever connected the Red Devils to Satan worship. If they have, that idea was put in their head by an adult.

This is absolutely the most ridiculous cause I have ever heard of a group of people campaigning for. There are much more worthy causes in this community that could use the time and energy that this group has put into this mascot change. I'm sure the elderly, homeless and just plain old poor folks in this county would appreciate the time and energy you could give. If you can't find anything else to do, I still see a lot of litter on our roads that could be picked up.

I say let's put this behind us and get on to more important things such as making sure our children get the best education possible. I just don't have time for another survey!

B. Yvonne Carmack
Mt. Vernon

Dear Editor, This in response to Mr. Isaac's letter on 1-17-91. It seems that you are displeased with the police service provided in this county. Now I can't speak for the prosecutors or the court system but as for the patrol officers either in Mt. Vernon or Rockcastle County or the troopers assigned to this county, as far from I can tell, we've firsthand that they are out there and doing the best possible job that they can with the funds and materials they are provided.

Anyone with one eye and half sense knows that they can't be everywhere. (Cont. to A3)

Legislative Update

By: State Rep. Danny Ford

The murky uncertainty surrounding the issues to be considered during the special legislative session cleared last week when we convened in the House facing a 14-subject agenda.

On a personal note, our thoughts and prayers are with our brave troops involved in Operation Desert Storm and with our President and leaders in Washington. As important as the issues we are discussing in Frankfort are, they seem almost trivial in the specter of war. As we deliberate, we hope with all our hearts that these soldiers will return safely - and soon.

Gov. Wallace Wilkinson's special session proclamation contained some expected items, such as proposals dealing with solid waste, stricter drunk driving measures, financial incentives for two economic development projects, laws aimed at curbing vote fraud and the impeachment of the commissioner of agriculture.

But when the governor addressed the legislature in joint session last Tuesday, he provided some details about other proposals which haven't received a great deal of attention around the state. Those issues include:

- A plan to make the Vietnam veterans' bonus available to those who served in wars prior to the Vietnam conflict. This bill was the first to win House approval.

- An income tax filing extension for Kentucky military personnel serving in the Persian Gulf conflict.

- A change in how coal-severance tax income is returned to coal-producing counties.

- An amendment to change how much prison time those convicted of capital offenses would have to serve prior to being eligible for parole. This proposal would mandate that such convicts serve at least half of their sentence.

- Confirmation of gubernatorial appointments to the Council for Education Technology and the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education.

As you can readily see, the legislative plan is big and we'll have to work diligently if we are to complete our work in the 30-day timetable some have predicted for us.

Other than the governor's address, most of our attention was on the solid-waste bill, which is being scrutinized by committees in both chambers. Finding a way to regulate our landfills and make them safer while limiting how much out-of-state garbage we take in was the impetus for calling the special session in the first place.

And despite months of attention by both the legislative and executive branches, a lot of work remains to be done. Many questions need answers. As the committee dissected the legislation - House Bill 1 - questions arose about the cost of mandating.

From My Window

By: Spencer Bengel

As I take a look out of my window at the world around me, I see a drastic change in the making. A change that hasn't been around for nearly twenty years and one that everyone hoped might pass us by.

But it didn't.

The war against Iraq has begun and peace no longer rules.

In fact, by the time this article is published the crisis will be over a week old. Too long of course, for any war.

I like so many other Americans have been glued to the television and radio broadcasts of the war. Waiting and praying that the end will soon draw near.

The estimated duration, as you know, was around 10 to 14 days but who knows now. We do know that the sooner the crisis can be resolved, the sooner we can carry on with our everyday lives and more importantly, the more lives we can save in the Persian Gulf.

I sympathize with all the men and women in the Middle East and their relatives. A lot of times the anguish portrayed by the relatives can almost be as bad as those actually participating in the crisis. The reason, not knowing if their son, daughter, sister, brother, mother, father or whatever the case may be, are alright.

Of course, being there has to be the all-out worse. I can't really express what the men and women, that are there, are going through because I, for one, have never been there.

However, I can relate to them to some extent since I, myself, am a member of the Armed Forces. I spent six years in the United States Air Force and am presently with the Air National Guard in Ohio.

Again, I have never been involved in a war but I have had a lot of practice preparing for it.

While I was stationed at Mountain Home Air Force Base with the F-111 and EF-111 bombers in Idaho and Nellis AFB with the F-117A Stealth fighters in Las Vegas, I did find out one thing, it's neither fun or easy.

I have spent hours on end in a gas mask and chemical suit preparing for biological warfare in a wartime scenario. I've also been left alone, bombed in the night, shot with blanks and even killed. It was all make believe but it made me think and it makes me think today.

I think about how the men and women of our Armed Forces feel today. They are faced into situations, much like the ones I just mentioned, but those situations are not make believe, they're real.

It's definitely hard to imagine, especially for those of us who have never been in a war, of just how it does feel to be a key role playing paricipant in a dangerous crisis like the Gulf war. We may never know.

We may never know how it feels to live an everyday life one day and then be faced with the fact of living out of sand bunkers the next. Just put it in perspective. You are enjoying Christmas dinner with your relatives on one day and nothing could be better. Your wife, children and parents are all there. But the following day you find yourself smack-dab in the middle of Saudi Arabia, nothing could be worse. The transition has to take its toll. Especially the realization of knowing that you may never return.

Unfortunately, we know one thing is for certain. Death is involved. History tells it and every war proves it. It just comes with the territory.

Of course, the Gulf war has been highlighted by the tremendous success rate of limited casualties and hopefully with God's will, will continue. However, I still have a way of thinking that the first life lost is always one too many.

But loss of life dates back as far as time and it wasn't easily accepted then and its not now. In fact, it's probably worse now.

I say that because for nearly twenty years most of our country has been trying to forget Vietnam. Vietnam, in my eyes, was a tragedy with the men and women of the United States Armed Forces being the recipients of that tragedy.

What Vietnam veterans went through during the Vietnam conflict took lots of courage. They experienced things that, in my eyes, shouldn't have to be endured by human beings. Yet they did and withstood and for that, I give everyone of them a place in my heart and all the respect that I have to offer. They are truly Americans.

But unlike Vietnam, I think that the Gulf crisis does have a cause and for that simple reason, the loss of life we experience will be taken more seriously by the American public.

Most of our citizens support the war and our troops and are standing behind them all the way. I think that is a key position we hold now that we tackle in the past.

So, in essence, we are a country pulling together and a country willing to take the good along with the bad along with our men and women serving in the Gulf. We know that we will welcome those that return and cheer and always remember those who don't.

In closing I would like to mention that all men and women involved in the Gulf are truly the unsung heroes of these United States and always will be.

May God bless them.

ing garbage collection. This proposal is hoped to end the practice of dumping waste over hillsides and into sinkholes.

In addition, new solid-waste measures already in place put new restrictions on the construction of landfills. In order to keep costs down, there are studying ways that regional landfills can be established. There are several proposals floating around on this point. Obviously, a lot of work still needs to be done before these questions are answered.

Rogers praises Gulf military effort

By: Congressman Hal Rogers

U.S. Representative Harold Rogers praised the bravery and performance of U.S. military forces in Operation Desert Storm, but echoed U.S. officials' concern about hostilities that have yet to unfold.

"Our massive air arsenal has flexed its muscle with superb precision. U.S. and allied warplanes have knocked out key Iraqi military and communications installations, with little Iraqi response so far.

Rogers, who was briefed by U.S. military officials including Secretary of Defense Richard Cheney, added, however, that "we are clearly in the early stages of a major effort, the length of which can only be shortened by Saddam Hussein's withdrawal from innocent Kuwait."

On Friday, the House of Representatives joined the U.S. Senate in passing a resolution commending the efforts of both President Bush and U.S. troops. In voting for the resolution, Rogers stated, "We have the best equipped and trained forces in the world, and the last two days bear witness to their superiority in the field, particularly those who have successfully carried out absolutely perilous missions in Iraqi and Kuwaiti airspace. The President had no choice but to commit these forces. Saddam must be stopped in his tracks. Rogers lamented the casualties to the (Cont. to A8)

Tragic accident claims life of Roundstone student (from front)

Police said the child had just gotten off his school bus in front of his Conway home, and was crossing U.S. 25 when he was struck by Davis who was traveling south.

Davis, a Mt. Vernon businessman, told police that he thought the bus was moving and did not see the child until he struck him.

The child was thrown almost 100 feet by the impact.

According to school officials, Michael Kirby, was going across the road in front of his eight-year-old sister when the accident occurred.

Police said that the stop sign was out and the safety lights were flashing on the bus.

His sister Jackie was behind her brother, who was in Kindergarten, and still in front of the bus when the accident occurred.

The Rockcastle Ambulance Service transported the child to Berea Hospital and he was later flown to U.K.

Rockcastle County School Transportation Director Larry Hammond, said that it was a terrible and very tragic accident, but it had always been school procedure for children to cross the road and that crossing roads was within the safety guidelines provided by the state.

But, Hammond said that in the wake of this accident, all children will get off the bus on the right side, on U.S. 25. That means many children will have longer bus rides, but none of them will have to cross U.S. 25," he said.

"It has always been the parent's request that children get off the bus as soon as possible, which is why they have always crossed the road," he said.

Davis, who was apparently traveling about 40 miles per hour was cited for improper passing, but no other charges have been filed. However police said they are continuing their investigation.

Arrangements for Michael Kirby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kirby of Conway, are presently incomplete at Lakes Funeral Home in Berea.

Grace Lamb

Mrs. Grace Lamb, 93, of Mt. Vernon, died January 17, 1991 at the Rockcastle Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

She was born on Jan. 2, 1898 in Lincoln County, the daughter of the late Franklin and Anna Hasty Griffin. She was a member of the Pentecostal Church.

Survivors include a sister-in-law, Mrs. Alma Griffin of Rt. 4, Mt. Vernon, as well as several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, James Lamb, and by four brothers.

Services were held Jan. 20 at Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Charles Hirst officiating. Burial was in Langford Cemetery. Pallbearers were Jesse Powell, Brent Kirby, Jack Stallsworth, Roger Isaacs, Steve Griffin and Robert Monk.

Cora Hayes

Mrs. Cora Hayes, 90, of Opelika, Alabama and formerly of Conway, died Jan. 20, 1991 in Opelika. She was born in Bell County, Aug. 20, 1900, the daughter of John C. and Mary Catherine Miracle and a member of the Conway Baptist Church.

Survivors include a son, Bobby A. Hayes of Opelika, Alabama and a daughter, Jessie Miracle of Auburn, Alabama and a brother, Albert Miracle of Berea. She was preceded in death by her husband Thomas F. Hayes.

Services will be Thursday (today) Jan. 24 at 2 p.m. at Osborne-Wray Funeral Home in Berea with Bro. Bill Hamilton officiating. Burial will follow in the Berea Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Osborne-Wray Funeral Home after 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Arrangements are by Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

Joe Mink

Joe Mink, 75, of Calloway, died Jan. 15, 1991 at the Rockcastle Hospital.

He was born in Rockcastle County June 11, 1915, the son of G.D. and Susie Lakes Mink.

He was a retired track driver, a member of the Pine Hill Holiness

Teen Center Perspectives

By: John Wylie
Rockcastle Teen Center

When we entrust the care of our sons and daughters to others, we are understandably concerned about the quality of care they receive. We are very fortunate at the Rockcastle Teen Center to have a coordinator who is very well-qualified, devoted to young people and conscientious about their instruction and care.

I am referring to Ginny Gilpatrick, a woman that many people in Rockcastle County have come to know since she moved into Mt. Vernon last August. As many can attest, Ginny is nearly tireless in her quest to bring quality programming and activities to the teens she is serving.

Ginny came to us from Millis, Mass., where she was a teacher for fifteen years and a school counselor for nine years. She is certified to teach elementary education, science, art, and guidance counseling and has two master's degrees. She has been an advisor to the Student Council, National Honor Society, the International Club, and founded a summer vacation program for the retarded. This is only a small part of her far-reaching experience.

Since reopening, the Teen Center has been well attended and for the first time in its history, teens are responding to a highly structured program. Hats off to Ginny, both Mt. Vernon and CAP are very lucky she decided to become part of our lives here.

An Alton chapter will be starting at the Teen Center this Tuesday evening, at 7:30 p.m. It is a support group for family and friends whose lives have been touched by an alcoholic. Amy, qualified and experienced in beginning this group, describes it as a fellowship of people who share their experiences, strengths and hopes in order to solve their common problem. She expresses the belief through experience that changed attitudes and behaviors can aid in the recovery process of the loved one. Like AA, Alton practices the twelve step principles. There are no dues and they are noted for extending open arms to all those who wish to come.

The group will meet in a separate room at the teen center concurrently with AA; this way, all members of the family, including older children, may come together. It is hoped that an Alton chapter will eventually branch off as a separate entity, but until then, teens from alcoholic homes should make every effort to attend Alton.

The Sourest Note of All

"Peace on earth, good will to men" If the information I have is correct, which I have no reason to doubt, it was General Sherman, during the bloody civil war in our country that made the statement, "War is Hell."

If anyone should doubt this fact or if she should look into the hearts of parents, grandparents and all loved ones and see the agony, hear the sobs, and feel the quivering nerves as their loved one goes off to war or the fear of them going loose on the horizon. War is not only fought on the battle front it is also fought in the hearts of those left behind. The price of "Peace on Earth" must be paid for in many ways.

The other night I had a personal experience that gave me a different insight about the war we are now fighting.

I was agonizing in prayer over losing our sons and grandsons in the war with a madman when a voice spoke to my heart and said "My son also died for peace." What more can we do than to keep praying. His death was not in vain nor neither will the death of our own loved ones if it so happens.

Registration now underway for GED On TV Spring session

Registration is now underway for the spring session of GED ON TV, a program in which students use The KET/GE Series to prepare for the GED exam. Kentucky residents interested in enrolling can call (800) KET-4433 for more information.

Many people who would like to obtain their GEDs need advance preparation. The GED ON TV program is an audio program that you study for the GED at home because of transportation difficulties, child care problems, work schedules, or a desire for privacy.

Enrollment in the GED ON TV program, which costs $19, provides each student with three workbooks that follow the television programs, a pre-test and practice test, and a certificate that pays for the GED examination fee. The certificate is issued once the course has been completed. A KET support staff is available through the toll-free telephone number to answer questions, provide tutorial assistance, and help students determine when they're ready to take the exam.

Manufacturers say tobacco sales will increase

U.S. cigarette manufacturers say they plan to buy 30 percent more burley in the 1991-92 marketing year than they did in the 1990-91 year. As a consequence, burley producers should expect their quota to increase between 17 and 23 percent for the coming year - potentially increasing the state's burley income some $140 million next year.

"We expect the basic quota for 1991 to exceed 700 million pounds - the highest in the history of the U.S. burley program," said Will Snell, an Extension agricultural economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

By law, the secretary of the U.S. (Cont. to A9)

and himself, blowing out the rear window of the Watkins car. He fired a second time as Watkins sped away. One of Durham's shots hit the fleeing Watkins in the back.

Watkins drove over a rise in the road toward U.S. 150 and out of sight. Durham went to Kidwell's aid but he was already dead.

As the wounded Watkins approached U.S. 150, he lost control of his car and it ran into a ditch.

Meanwhile, city, county and state law officers, had found Watkins car and, assuming he was on foot, began combing the area around Goshen Road.

They broke the door down at Watkins' rented trailer on Rice's Lane, thinking he may have gone there. He was nowhere to be found.

Constable Phillips, Watkins' landlord, said he padlocked the trailer on Monday to see that no one broke in and stole anything and let the police know that he had the key.

When he checked on the trailer Tuesday, the door had been kicked off its hinges in a second police search, he said. Replacing the door will cost at least $300, he said.

After Watkins' relatives his hostages and police learned he had another car, police in surrounding counties were alerted.

Young, who had two 15 year old girls in the car with him, saw the lights down in the ditch and stopped to see if anyone needed help.

As he stopped on U.S. 150, he glanced over his left shoulder to see if he had room to make a U-turn and go back to the disabled car. What he saw was a blood-covered man holding a large pistol pointed directly at him.

Watkins told Young and his passengers that he had just shot a police officer and he demanded that they let him in the car.

He got in Young's Escort carrying the gun, a rifle, a bag of ammunition and a bottle of whiskey encoaching himself alone in the back seat while the three hostages were in the front.

Young drove for about 15 minutes, then he turned around for nearly three hours in the eastern part of the county.

"I really didn't think he would let us go alive," Young said.

Watkins was "psychotic," according to Young. One minute he would apologize for putting the three young people in their situation and the next minute he'd be threatening them wildly.

Officer Charles Davis and Assistant Police Chief Lawrence Hodge of Williamsburg in Whitley County were watching southbound I-75 for Watkins driving Young's car.

The spotted the car about 4:10 a.m. and followed it for about two miles before attempting to pull Watkins over.

When they stopped the car Watkins opened fire and they responded. Watkins car was hit by a hail of shotgun fire from the police officers. Watkins was seriously wounded but the Williamsburg police officers were not.

Watkins was taken to the Jellico City Hospital in Tennessee and transferred to the University of Tennessee Medical Center in Knoxville.

In the car, Williamsburg police found two handguns, a high-powered rifle and more than 1000 rounds of ammunition. State police could not confirm Tuesday that one of the handguns was the murder weapon. One said that the rifle was a Russian-made AK-47 semi-automatic assault rifle.

He became furious and cocked his pistol and held it to the head of one of the hostages.

He finally found his rifle.

Once, near Crab Orchard, the car had pulled into a driveway. Police cars drove by on U.S. 150 and Young said the hostages were praying for one to stop but none did.

After their final stop, they began heading toward Rockcastle County.

Mrs. Martin was a native of Rockcastle County and the widow of the late Virgil Martin. She was a housewife. She was born Sept. 9, 1918 to the late William and Mattie Harper Green.

Survivors include two sons, Lonnie and Bobby W. Martin, both of Crab Orchard; four daughters, Sue Mitchell of Virginia Beach, Va., Phyllis Howard of Berea, Jean Taylor of Crab Orchard and Dona Brown of Brohead; one sister, Nellie Benge; nine grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Martin Funeral Home in Crab Orchard with Bro. Vola Brown as church. Burial was in Mt. Zion Cemetery.

Palbearers were Marvin Benge, Charles Adams, Tom Adams, Everett Adams, Homer Adams and Leonard McClure.

Hostages released

As Young drove his Escort over the Rockcastle County line, Watkins ordered him to stop yet again.

The hostages had been asking to be let go and this time Watkins relented.

The three were let out about 2:30 a.m. Monday at Slaty Branch Road near the Gum Sulphur community in Rockcastle County.

After Watkins drove further east, Young and his fellow hostages, who the police did not identify because of their age, ran to a house to call for help.

No one was home so they ran to another house and the residents there refused to let them in.

At the third home, a trailer, they found help and the police were contacted.

The manhunt

When he checked on the trailer Tuesday, the door had been kicked off its hinges in a second police search, he said. Replacing the door will cost at least $300, he said.

After Watkins' relatives his hostages and police learned he had another car, police in surrounding counties were alerted.

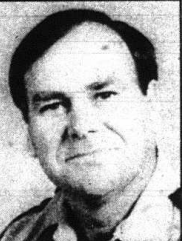

Officer Charles Davis and Assistant Police Chief Lawrence Hodge of Williamsburg in Whitley County were watching southbound I-75 for Watkins driving Young's car.

The spotted the car about 4:10 a.m. and followed it for about two miles before attempting to pull Watkins over.

When they stopped the car Watkins opened fire and they responded. Watkins car was hit by a hail of shotgun fire from the police officers. Watkins was seriously wounded but the Williamsburg police officers were not.

Watkins was taken to the Jellico City Hospital in Tennessee and transferred to the University of Tennessee Medical Center in Knoxville.

In the car, Williamsburg police found two handguns, a high-powered rifle and more than 1000 rounds of ammunition. State police could not confirm Tuesday that one of the handguns was the murder weapon. One said that the rifle was a Russian-made AK-47 semi-automatic assault rifle.

Watkins is no stranger to trouble

Thomas Wade Watkins, who lies wounded in a Tennessee hospital accused of murdering Stanford pastor Gary Kidwell, is no stranger to police or shootouts.

At the age of 17, Watkins broke into Bob Noe's store on Main Street and stole five guns. With the police on his trail, he held up in a barn owned by Bill Dye between Turnersville and McKinney and had a shootout with police.

No one was injured in that gun battle and Watkins, who goes by Wade, was tried as an adult and pleaded guilty the charges against him. He was sentenced to a year in jail and was released after seven months in March 1977.

In December 1977 in Bay City, Texas, where his mother lived, Watkins was charged with burglary, theft and escape. He got a 10-year sentence and served nearly four years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice prison at Huntsville before being paroled in September 1981.

Not much is known about his activities during the 1980s. Police in Conyers, Ga. arrested him on a drunken driving charge in 1988 and he was given a 12-month suspended sentence and $650 fine. That probation record is still "active" according to Rockdale County officials.

By December 1989, Watkins missed having returned to Central Kentucky. He was charged with driving under the influence in Jessamine County.

On December 22, 1990, Watkins, now 32 years old, was passed out in his car in the parking lot at Convent in Stanford. At about 4 a.m.

Officers Keith Middleton and Bobby Durham of the Stanford Police Department were called to arrest him.

They spotted a gun in his car and ordered him out. They arrested him for driving under the influence, possession of a handgun by a convicted felon and disorderly conduct.

The disorderly conduct charge came after he started a fight at the Lincoln County Jail, according to the police report. He was released on a $500 cash bond.

Watkins told his landlord, Ernest Phillips, that he didn't start the fight. Phillips said that he had Watkins handcuffed so tightly, it cut his wrists. Watkins also told him that Durham had reached across a table at the jail and punched him in the face. Phillips said that Watkins wife, the former Linda Owens of McKinney, was home for Christmas from the U.S. Air Force and informed him she wanted a divorce.

Phillips, who operates a gas station across from the Stanford Police Department, said that he knew both the victim, Kidwell, and the accused Watkins and thought both were fine people.

Phillips was as fair a man that ever was," Phillips said of Kidwell.

Of Watkins, Phillips said that he was a hard worker (he worked at Bailey Machinery in northern Garrard County), paid his rent on time and never caused a problem that he knew about as landlord.

Ironically, Phillips said, Watkins and Kidwell knew each other.

"He liked Gary and Gary liked him," Phillips said.

Producers request 3.9 cent boost in price support

Burley growers seek smallest increase in quota formula allows

By: Randy Greene

Of three options for increases in the 1991 basic burley quota that U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter is now considering, grower representatives agreed Jan. 16 to request the smallest one.

But even that option - a 16.5-percent increase - represents a sharp hike above last year's quota. It would allow American growers in eight states this year to market 99 million more pounds of burley than was permitted in 1990.

"We aren't going to get 20 percent more tobacco produced, even with a 20-percent increase in quota," explained John M. Berry, Jr., BTGCA president, who cited as reasons the labor shortages and limited barn space that have hindered growers' production in recent years. "So we went with the lowest option."

If Yeutter concurs, then when the USDA releases figures Feb. 1, the 1991 basic quota for burley would be 70.6 million pounds, compared to last year's level of 60.23 million pounds.

Two other options - increases of 20.1 and 23.7 percent - were rejected Jan. 16 by executive-committee members of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association who met with representatives of the Council for Burley Tobacco, the Burley advisory council, the Kentucky Farm Bureau, and the state chapter of the National Farm Organization.

The larger of these rejected options would establish basic burley quota for 1991 of 74.5 million pounds, or 142.7 million more pounds than was allowed in 1990.

But "the consensus among farmers," said Berry, "is that they simply aren't prepared to raise that much additional tobacco right now."

By comparison, when in 1989 the USDA approved a 24-percent increase in quota, total burley marketings that season fell 87 million pounds shy of the basic quota.

"If you take a 20-percent increase this year, coupled with those given the past two years, then all of a sudden we've got more than a 45-percent increase in three years time," said Co-op CEO Danny McKinney. "And that kind of growth is just too quick."

Growers want price support to be raised

Farmers are also watching 1991 price-support levels "to determine if additional investments in barns and labor are going to be justified," Berry said.

Grower representatives at the Jan. 16 meeting agreed and voted unanimously to ask that Yeutter boost by 3.9 cent the 1991 basic price support for burley.

With the Secretary of Agriculture's okay, such a boost would raise this year's price-support average to $1.597 a pound, compared to $1.558 in 1989.

"The tobacco companies are willing to pay farmers more for their tobacco," said McKinney, citing sizable price gains during the current burley market.

In addition, according to the 1991 buying intentions that cigarette manufacturers have given the USDA, tobacco companies plan to purchase 510.5 million pounds of burley. That represents a 29-percent increase over their 1990 intentions of 395.1 million pounds.

"So the price support should go up," said McKinney, "because - remember - we took a 30- to 40-percent price cut a few years back. Meanwhile, our farmers' production costs have continued to go up. So we need to support that tobacco price as high as we can, in order to keep burley growers in business."

In an effort to assist farmers in lowering damage to stored crops, several groups have come together in providing free rat bait to local farmers. On Monday, January 14, Department of Agriculture employees Steve Wilson and Keith Hamilton mixed 1000 pounds of bait. The county Young Farmers organization bagged over 1000 packages to distribute locally.

If you would like to pick up rat bait this can be done at the Farm Bureau Office, County Health Department and the County Extension Office. Bait will be provided on a first come basis as long as supplies last.

This program is being made possible by sponsorship through the Farm Bureau Federation, the Department of Agriculture Pest and Weed Control Division, Rockcastle County Young Farmers Organization and coordinated by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Adam Smith's Money World Special examines the new Russian revolution

Capitalism is making its debut in the land of Karl Marx. Last fall Adam Smith's Money World became part of the new Soviet revolution as the first American business television series to be broadcast in the USSR and now is seen twice-weekly in prime time and across 11 time zones.

Now, in one-hour special, George J.W. Goodman (aka Adam Smith) looks at the latest bends and bumps in the Soviets' road toward a free-market economy. The New Russian Revolution: From Marx to McDonald's: An Adam Smith's Money World Special airs on KET at 10 p.m. Thurs, Jan. 24.

date in Operation Desert Storm, but expressed confidence in our ability to limit losses. "Our forces have very specific orders and targets, and they are relying on state-of-the-art technology and tactics. Saddam likely underestimated the speed and effectiveness of our air operation. I have tremendous faith in our ability to keep the upper hand in the combat zone."

Rogers also said that the international response to the crisis has so far been positive, noting the drop in world oil prices. "Everyone realizes that the world economy is jeopardized every day that Saddam's hand rests on the oil spigot."

"I share the pain that families in Kentucky and around the country are experiencing, knowing that loved ones are in harm's way. Our men and women should know that America's prayers are with them as they defend our vital interests."

Colting the Country

Points East

By: Ito Adams

I was getting ready to go over to the courthouse late last fall and change my voter registration over to the Democratic Party so I could participate in their election this spring. Garrard County is a strong Republican county but there are enough Democrats around who haven't been run off yet that I figured it would be safe for a few months because I aimed to vote for Larry Hopkins this fall, no matter who the Democrats send up. I just wanted to be a short-term demagogue so I could vote against Wallace Wilkinson one more time.

As far as I'm concerned, Martha Wilkinson is just Wallopoo in a dress and panty hose. And I refuse to believe that there are enough Kentuckians so blind to the Governor's scam to ever send a Wilkinson back to the Governor's Mansion. The Democrats may nominate her yet, but I don't believe it'll happen so the May Primary may be the last opportunity I'll have to voice my disgust at the polling place. And, by golly, I kinda like Scotty Baesler anyway. I don't think he's got a prayer, but I probably would have voted for him had I temporarily become a democrat.

Or Gatewood. I don't go along with Gatewood Galbreath's stand on marijuana. On the other hand, that would never happen even if he were elected. So why not? He's broke and has an ex-wife hounding him because he's behind on his child support and alimony payments. He can't answer the phone to talk politics because too many bill collectors are after him. His car breaks down. He needs a new pair of shoes and his suit would look a lot better if he'd get it pressed once in a while. But through it all he manages to scrape up a living. From my observation there are a lot of Kentuckians in the same boat as old Gatewood. And wouldn't it be nice to know that your governor really understood what it was like to be down and out?

Course the Democrats also have Pore ole Floyd, the doctor who dresses like a Christmas Tree and runs around asking everyone to put presents around him. He is particularly fond of envelopes containing $25,000 or so and in the past he's forked the cash over to his favorite candidate for governor in exchange for letting him be Transportation Secretary or something that lets him have almost as much power as the governor without having to run for it. He may yet be able to buy the nomination. Less than 30% of the vote will win it.

You've heard of Brer Rabbit and Brer Fox if you ever listened to Uncle Remus on the radio. Now we've got Brer Horse running for governor and he's the odds on favorite to win the Democratic nomination from what I hear. I'm sorry, but I question the wisdom if anyone who will pay good money for a horse that ain't broke to plow and I sure ain't going to vote for one. I figure if Breton Jones wins, as he is likely to do, I will, at least have colts fodder through the middle of the decade.

Perhaps, though, I should be hoping that Martha Wilkinson does win the nomination. I really do believe that she would be easier for a Republican to beat than Gatewood.

If you don't believe that this state is in need of serious political reform, you need look no farther than the current occupants of the governor's mansion for the consummate example of all that is wrong with politics in Kentucky. We have a governor whose primary objective at the moment is to attempt to take credit for dozens of things that came to pass in spite of his best efforts to stop them.

Wallopoo cried alligator tears over Toyota. He railed and fussed about how wrong it was for the state to provide the support and financial encouragement it offered that company to locate in Georgetown and he received many votes for his denouncement. Toyota was too scared to ask for his assistance when they recently announced an expansion that will create 1300 new jobs. They did the entire expansion without a nickel of state money.

Now the Governor would have you believe that he was responsible for Toyota and he is spending thousands of dollars in television advertising to convince you that the whole thing was his idea.

The Governor fought education reform local and national. "We don't need more money. We need to get back to basics", he proclaimed loud and long. "We certainly will not raise taxes!"

A court ruling was required to get Wally off his duff and the State Legislature passed an education reform bill in spite of him. Along with that, those of us who pay taxes received the largest increase on our tax bills in the history of the state. Wally doesn't even mention taxes in his ad. He just claimed to have fixed education.

Wally was going to fix everything with the lottery if you remember the rhetoric. He doesn't talk much about it anymore either.

Now he has Marthy favoring around the state delivering federal grants that she doesn't really comprehend but she wants folks to believe that she was responsible for getting them, when, in fact she was not at all involved.

The lies and deceit are what is wrong with Kentucky politics and to the extent that Martha Wilkinson gets a vote, they are still at work and obviously so in this state.

But I didn't register Democratic, so what do I know? Woodrow Burchett was quoted in the Lexington paper predicting that the next Governor would have at least two r's in his name. There's Breton Jones, Larry Hopkins, Larry Forgy and I'll bet we're going to hear in the next round of Wilkinson ads that one of them is really named Marrtrha.

stay out longer.

Wind, wetness and exhaustion aggravate the situation. But outdoor sports lovers can save the day, and perhaps even a life, by knowing the weather forecast, knowing their capabilities, and choosing the proper clothing.

The following are suggestions on how to "dress defensively" for cold weather sports:

1) Dress in layers of clothing that can be taken off or added depending on your level of activity and the weather. The energy you expend, the body heat you generate, and the air temperature all may change during your outing. Several light layers also provide warmth as dry, warm air is pocketed between layers.

2) Begin with heavy, knit underwear with high heat retention and good breathing characteristics. Wool is best for warmth. Cotton is good, but offers little warmth when wet.

"Tobacco Sales Will Increase" (Cont. From A6)

Department of Agriculture uses a formula to determine burley needs that includes manufacturers' buying intentions, a three-year average for exports and an adjustment for pool stocks. He then has the option to increase or decrease this figure by three percent, Snell said.

Snell said that the increase in quota is being fueled by the large volume of underproduction for the past few years, where many farmers were unable to market their full quota. In addition, the supply of high quality burley for the increasing world market is tight.

"Other factors that may have Synthetics also are warm but do not retain heat when wet. Look for synthetics labeled for cold weather protection.

3) Add a shirt, sweater, warm, tight-weight pants and a 60/40 parka or windbreaker (60 percent cotton, 40 percent nylon). A 60/40 parka is not heavy, and the cotton allows the fabric to breathe, while the nylon offers outer protection.

4) Wear good head covering, preferably a knit cap and a hood on the parka to flip on in rain or snow. Heat loss from your uncovered head can account for 20 percent of your body's total heat loss.

5) Choose clothing that allows free movement and which is adequately loose to retain heat. Select boots, in particular, that fit well but provide enough room for toes to move and stay warm - even with thick socks.

increased purchase intentions include the completion of the loan stock buyout program, continuing strong demand for American blended cigarettes in Asian markets and potentially expanding markets in the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe and Thailand," Snell said.

A final factor that may have boosted intentions is widespread belief that program changes that allow the sale of burley quotas and higher leasing limits will not increase burley production quickly enough to meet anticipated needs, he said.

Snell said that limited farm space and available labor will provide major constraints to take advantage of the increase for many farmers.

Know cold weather hazards; dress defensively

Winter sports, such as hiking or hunting, or working outdoors can be deadly if outdoor enthusiasts ignore the dangers of the cold. Cold can kill in two ways, through exposure and from hypothermia, or subnormal body temperature.

Exposure begins when the body loses heat more rapidly than the body can produce it. When people begin feeling the cold and increase movements to generate more heat, they start to drain reserved energy. Involuntary exercises, such as shivering and physiological processes the body uses to protect vital organs also speed up the loss of body energy.

Cold extremities signal the beginning of exposure, which has a way of sneaking up on the unwary. When hands, feet, ears or face begin to suffer, frostbite can develop before a person realizes it.

Hypothermia begins when body temperature falls too low for the body to maintain necessary functions. Symptoms are shivering and fatigue, followed by clumsiness and garbled speech. By the time clumsiness sets in, body energy reserves are exhausted, judgment is impaired, and internal temperature is sliding downward. This leads to stupor, collapse and death.

If you are with someone who shows symptoms of hypothermia, take immediate steps to warm him, and get him out of the cold and into dry conditions. Also give hot liquids and food to replenish body temperature and body energy.

Hypothermia, known as the killer of the unprepared, occurs frequently when temperatures are between 30 and 50 degrees.

Many people just don't believe such weather can be dangerous and so they don't take the precautions they would in much colder weather. They don't dress warmly, and they may

What do you think about the War in the Persian Gulf?

Nancy Sigmon, Brindle Ridge
"I know we have to be over there, but the entire thing bothers me, and I do not like to see the protesting, if they want to protest they can go somewhere else."

Dr. Bill Reynolds, Lexington

"I am totally behind our efforts, the sanctions were not going to work and all we were doing was giving him 'Hussein', more time to build up his arsenal and if we had not have gone in he would have tried to rule all of the Middle Eastern countries."

Kirby Calloway, West Brodhead

"I think we should use whatever means we have to drive that guy out of Kuwait and put him out of power in Iraq. We should consider using the nuclear bomb on him."

Wayne Vanzant, Poplar Gap

"It certainly worries me that the longer it carries on, the more divided the country will get. I would like to see a quick end to the war over there."

Myrna Childress, Brodhead

"It makes me sad that we had to go to war, but I am behind the government's efforts and I certainly support our troops. It kills me to see the demonstrations on television."

Nine-year-old shoots out car windows

Mrs. Myrtle Smith, wife of William Smith of Wildie, escaped injury Monday when the windows of her car was shot out on Ky. 1786 (Wildie Road).

A nine-year-old boy later admitted shooting at the vehicle with a pellet gun.

Mrs. Smith was on her way to deliver medicine to her parents when the vehicle window "popped out." Unaware it was shot out, she made the delivery and returned to the scene where the youth shot out the window on the other side of the car.

Sheriff Smith and other officers came to the scene and brought a dog that tracked the youth to a nearby barn and later to his house.

State needs assistant for veteran affairs

Veterans assistance officers are needed for Rockcastle County.

The Department for Military Affairs, Division of Veterans Affairs, is reorganizing and initiating a state-wide campaign to recruit at least one volunteer veterans assistance officer for each county.

The county officer will be fully trained on how to assist veterans in filing for VA claims now in effect. All supplies and materials will be furnished.

Judge Mullins receives plaque

A plaque in recognition of extraordinary efforts to clean and maintain the roads and highways of Rockcastle County, has been sent to County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins by Milo D. Bryant, Secretary and Commissioner of Highways.

Known as a "Golden Blade Award", it commemorates "your efforts to clean and maintain our highways."

Deadline for May primary

Filing deadline for the May primary is 4 p.m. Jan. 29. Up for election will be six Mt. Vernon councilmen, and four at Brodhead and Livingston.

Petitions may be obtained at the office of county clerk Norma Houk.

Friday meeting may determine fate of local ambulance service

By: Richard Anderkin

A 2 p.m. meeting Friday at the Rockcastle County Courthouse may determine whether the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court finds themselves back in the ambulance service business.

"We will do everything we can to work through this problem," said Rockcastle County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins.

The problem is that members of the Rockcastle County Ambulance Service Board say there is not enough money coming from the county to operate, and that unless something is done very soon, they will give the county the required sixty day notice and turn the service back to them.

"We have had to borrow money to meet our payroll and a lot of our equipment is worn out and we are going to have to replace it to stay in business," said board member C.B. Owens, Jr.

Presently an independent board made-up of Owens, Chairman Tom Welch, David Pensol and Kevin Fletcher run the ambulance service for the county. They have done so since 1983.

"We are going to lay it all out for the magistrates and see what we can come up with," said Mullins. "I have researched this problem for the past few weeks and hope we can do something about it before it becomes a serious one," he said.

Members of the board admit that much of their problem comes from the fact that the state Medicare and Medicaid programs owe the ambulance service about $50,000. But, they also want more of a stipend from the county, so that they can upgrade their equipment and pay off a $20,000 debt to a local bank.

Presently the county pays the ambulance service $1,500 a month, but board members want $3,000.

"We will know more after Friday's meeting," said Mullins. "I'm sure other members of the fiscal court want to solve the problem as soon as possible and so do I," he said.

Ford Realty changes firm name

Sam Ford has announced a name change for his three Kentucky auction and realty companies to Ford Brothers Inc.

Ford Realty and Auction Company, with offices in Mt. Vernon and Somerset, and Hamblett-Ford Realty and Auction Company in London changed their name Jan. 1.

"Our goal is to continue to be the dominant auction and realty company in southern and eastern Kentucky," said Ford, president of the firm.

"We can achieve this goal because our fine staff brings a combination of experience and integrity that are second to none in this region," added Ford.

As a past president of the State and National Auctioneers' Association, Ford has seen the auction industry rise in recent years.

"Our current emphasis is in the growing auction business, but our expertise remains strong in private real estate sales as well," continued Ford. "People are becoming more attracted to auctions as a hassle-free and quick method of selling their property rather than a last resort."

The evolution of Ford Brothers Inc. dates back to Mt. Vernon in 1965. Ford's first year in the auction business after graduation from Reppert School of Auctioneering in Decatur, Ind.

Three years later, Ford added the real estate field to his business and now has over 20 years' experience in these professions. His brother, Danny, now vice-president of the company, joined the business in 1975 and together they opened a second office in Somerset, in 1985.

The company continued to grow in 1988 with the purchase of Humblett Auction and Realty in London, Ray Humblett, founder of that company, is still associated with Ford Brothers Inc. in their London office.

"Ray did a wonderful job of building his company into a respected auction and realty company in London," Ford said. "We are honored that he has entrusted Danny and I with continuing his fine tradition of service to the area."

Berea Hospital ok's endowment fund

The Berea Hospital Board of Directors recently approved the establishment of an Endowment Fund for the purpose of long-term financial planning and development.

According to Board member Judy Stammer, "The Endowment Fund is a wonderful way for community members, patients and their loved ones to remember Berea Hospital."

"There are many ways to contribute to the Endowment Fund, including creating a trust fund with the Endowment as beneficiary, bequeathing a gift in one's estate or simply donating to the Fund. Donations made in honor or memory of a special person are long remembered."

"Many people request that donations be made in lieu of flowers," Mrs. Stammer added. "We are very grateful that a good friend has just informed us he is remembering us in his will with a substantial donation. Here's hoping for many more!"

For more information about the Endowment Fund, call Berea Hospital Administration at 986-3151. All contributions are tax-deductible.

Ely named Advertising Manager at the Signal

Sammy Ely

Mount Vernon Signal Managing Editor Richard Anderkin, announced this week that Sammy Ely has been promoted to Advertising Manager at the newspaper.

Ely, 48, has been with the newspaper since May of 1990. Originally from Knoxville, Tennessee, Ely makes her home in Berea with her husband, Robert. They have one daughter, Stacey, who attends Berea College.

Ely has vast experience in newspaper advertising having worked at the Berea Citizen in Madison County for twelve years and at the Richmond Register in Richmond for a short period. Before taking her position at Berea, Ely worked in the Graphic Arts Department at the University of Tennessee for 15 years.

Livingston resident new postmaster at Brodhead

Elizabeth A. Senters-Tipton, a former employee at the Danville Post Office, has been appointed postmaster at Brodhead.

Mrs. Senters has worked for the Postal Service for over nine years. She served at the Mt. Vernon Post Office for five years and has served on various details and special assignments at the Lexington Post Office prior to reassignment to Danville.

While at Danville, she served in positions of bulk mail clerk, bulk mail technician, and as acting supervisor at the detached mail postal unit at the R.R. Donnelley and Sons plant.

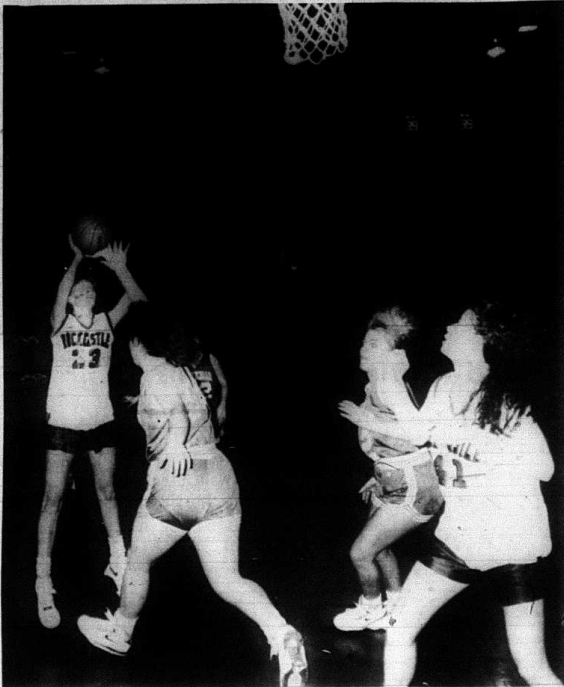

Mrs. Tipton and her husband, Ralph, reside in Livingston. She has a daughter, Lori Mink Caldwell. She joined the Postal Service in 1981 as a window distribution clerk at Mt. Vernon. A native of London she attended Livingston High School. She succeeds Barbara Russell, who transferred to the Cleveland, Tennessee Post Office.

Senior center April Burton tries for two of nine points on the night down in the lane for the Lady Rockets against visiting Monticello in the girls' high school basketball action Monday night. Rockets lose to Barbourville, 70-58, and to Garrard, 65-58, in overtime

By: Spencer Bengel
Not everyone likes to hear excuses on why teams fall into bad losing streaks or slumps. But for the Rockcastle County Rockets, who lost to host Garrard County, 65-58, in overtime last Friday and to visiting Barbourville, 70-58, Monday night, they deserve at least a couple.

"Don't get the wrong idea, this year's Rockets are playing some very strong basketball and are having one of the best seasons in years. They are playing head to head with almost everyone and are giving Rockcastle fans some very exciting games to watch and to be proud of.

The Rockets have shown some very high potential while taking more losses than wins, now 7-10. But the majority of losses that they have received could have been wins, as everyone may already know.

For instance, the past four losses have been taken without the skills of starting guard Tim Cottrell, who suffered torn ankle ligaments in the Coburn game three weeks ago. Cottrell is starting to phase back, but he is still not at 100 percent.

And the Rockets have taken the last two losses without starting forward Billy Todd, one of their best shooters. According to Rockets Head Coach David Perkins, Todd broke his ankle in practice last Wednesday and as a result, will be out the remainder of the season. For Todd, it is now the second time this year that he has broken the ankle. He had to sit out most of the football season after breaking it in the opening game of the Rockets' football season against Lynn Camp.

So the last few weeks haven't been a ferry ride for the Rockets. Especially since over half of the season has already been played and the distract journey is drawing near.

However, there is some sunshine in the Rockets' game. In a special meeting by the players and coaches last week, the Rockets voted and decided to allow a new player to walk on to the team midway through the season.

Scotty Hines, a 65" senior, will now wear a Rockets basketball uniform and take the empty slot created by Todd's injury. Hines, who is known for his football ability, does have some much needed basketball skills, especially size, and will give the Rockets another weapon on their inside game.

Rockets vs. Garrard
The Rockets knew they had to walk into Garrard looking strong and they did. But while the Rockets looked good, Garrard did too. It had all the makings of a fine ballgame and it was.

For the Rockets, it was one of their best scoring nights as a team. Four players reached double figures while one player just missed by one point. And, in the process, put Garrard through the test during regulation time.

As no surprise, Garrard did have the height advantage but the Rockets have been faced with that situation throughout this year and they tackled it well Friday night. Except for the overtime period.

Neither team dominated the other in regulation time until the overtime. Garrard's big man at 65" took control in overtime and in doing so, led Garrard to an even 52 tie with the Rockets to a 13-6 scoring spree in the overtime to topple the Rockets, 65-58.

And for the Rockets who played so well, it was just another game within arm's length that slipped away.

Scoring for the Rockets in the game were: Chris Newland, 13; Micah Parkinson, 12; David Sargent and David Eaton Jr., 10 each; William Bullens, 9 and Tim Cottrell, 1.

Rockets vs. Barbourville
The Rockets had a tough time with Barbourville, who are 13-5 this year. In fact, it was one of only a handful of true losses the Rockets have received this year.

Falling into a bad scenario from the start, the Rockets didn't do just a whole lot right. It was one of those nights where cold iron prevailed as shots would not fall, turnovers were

Top Guns trail first place Pin Busters by only one game in Rockcastle Bowling League

The Top Guns, 53-27, have been inching their way to the top all year and now have paved their way to only one game behind the first place Pin Busters, 54-26, and four games in front of the third place Ten Pins, 49-31, in the Rockcastle Mixed Bowling League in Richmond.

In action last week, Babe's Bunch captured high team series HDCP with a 2473. Second high went to the Jets with a 2387 and third high to the Ten Pins with a 2380.

Babe's Bunch also took high team game HDCP with an 854 and second high with an 842. The Jets followed in third with an 822.

Babe Daugherty bowled high men's series with a 663. Roy Winstead took second with a 620 and Spencer Bengel had third with a 593. Babe Daugherty also took high men's game with a 248. Following in second was Henry Vanzant with a 232, while third went to Roy Winstead with a 226.

Wavelene Mullins had high women's series with a 509. Kim Daugherty was second with a 494 and Alice Faulkner was third with a 491.

High women's game also went to Wavelene Mullins with a 199 while Paige Bengel took second high with a 178. Wavelene Mullins, Kim Daugherty and Jamie Bryant all tied for third high at 176.

Pat Winstead took high men's series HDCP with a 705. Roy Winstead was second with a close 704 and Babe Daugherty was third with a 699.

High men's game HDCP went to Babe Daugherty with a 260. Roy Winstead followed in second with a 254 and Spencer Bengel in third with a 248.

Paige Bengel had high women's series HDCP with a 621. Wavelene Mullins placed second with a 585 while third high went to Melissa Davis with a 585.

High women's series HDCP went to Wavelene Mullins with a 236. Leslie Singleton took second with a 227 and following in at a close third was Paige Bengel with a 227.

Babe Daugherty holds high men's average with a 187 and Jamie Noe is second with a 185. Tied for third are Henry Vanzant and Bill Reynolds at 183.

Kim Daugherty holds high women's average with a 162. Holding close at second highest is Alice Faulkner with a 161 and third high is Jamie Bryant with a 159.

Lady Rockets playing well but finding wins hard to come by

By: Spencer Bengel
The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets, despite losing three straight this past week, have been playing relatively good basketball. However wins are just not falling into place.

The Lady Rockets trailed most of the game against host Knox Central last Tuesday but were still able to play solid basketball and only give the game to Central by two points, 61-59. And again last Thursday night, they trailed for the majority of the game but only gave up a respective three point loss to visiting Berea, 54-51. And finally against visiting Monticello Monday night the Lady Rockets played a toe to toe ballgame except for a rocky first quarter. Other than that a good game but still a loss, 72-61.

The losses now set the Lady Rockets at 5-10 on the season.

Junior guard Kristi Sargent paved the way with 20 points for the Lady Rockets in what was to be good final three periods of play against Monticello Monday.

And if it just wasn't for the first period, who knows.

The Lady Rockets had a difficult time getting the offense in gear which did result in a nine point deficit in the first period, 17-8.

But from the second period on out it was a very evenly matched game. The Lady Rockets had a nice rounded scoring rotation with some extremely good shooting from at least six players. They kept Monticello busy all night with their full court press which resulted in some key steals for easy baskets. And more importantly, they kept their enthusiasm for the game and took it to the final buzzer.

The results for the final three periods were the Lady Rockets outscoring Monticello, 17-16, in the second quarter, matching them at 48 all in the third and only losing three points in the final period, 21-18. Again, aside from the first period, some very good basketball.

The game against Berea marked yet another good balanced scoring attack by the Lady Rockets.

In fact, eight players reached the scorebook with April Burton's 15 points and Cindy McCauley's 14 leading the pack. However, the first and second quarters were the deciding factor of the game.

Berea managed only a three point lead in the first period, 16-13, but were able to stretch a nine point lead by the half, 31-22.

The Lady Rockets tried to retaliate in the second half by posting a 10-8 scoring run in the third period and a 19-15 run in the fourth but found their slow start once again just three points too many to overcome.

And in almost an instant replay it happened again, this time to Knox Central.

Led with another night of balanced scoring, the Lady Rockets trailed most of the game and found themselves in a nine point hole to Central in the third period.

But a big night from Karla Bullock with 18 points, several of those in the fourth quarter, and Cindy McCauley with 16 allowed the Lady Rockets to surge in the final period for 18 points. Still, the spice came in a losing effort as the slow first half by the Lady Rockets prevailed and the final outcome was separated by only two points, two in Central's favor.

The Lady Rockets will now host Mercer County Monday night at the Rockets' freshmen find road trip hard, lose three straight

The Rockcastle County Rockets' freshmen found worthy southern opponents waiting on the other end when they ventured out on their three road trip games these past two weeks.

The freshmen lost to Southern Pulaski, 66-53, Tuesday January 8th. Another to Madison Southern, 60-43, last Monday and the last to South Laurel, 56-52, this past Monday.

The three losses to the southern teams have now set the freshmen's record at four wins and five losses on the year.

Despite Mikhael Shaffer's 21 points, the Rockets, who've trailed by more than three in the first three periods, allowed Pulaski to outscore them, 21-12, in the fourth quarter and take the game outright. Scoring double figures along with Shaffer for the Rockets were Jason Fletcher with 12 and Marvin McCollum with 10. Rounding out the scoring were Mickey McClure and Freddie Pruitt with four each and J.D. Bussell with two.

Just as in the Pulaski game, the Rockets let Madison slip by after leading by one, 26-25, at the half. The Rockets fell to a 10 points deficit in the third period and on to a 17 point deficit in the final period. The leading scorer for the Rockets in the game was Jason Fletcher with 14 points. Following him were Mickey McClure with eight, Marvin McCollum and Freddie Pruitt with four each and J.D. Buses with two.

Against Laurel, the Rockets again trailed by only two, 24-22, at the half. Although they outscored Laurel, 20-14, in the final period, they were haunted by the third quarter when they managed only 10 points which resulted in them falling behind by 10. Jason Fletcher led the Rockets in the losing effort with 14 points. He was followed closely by Mikhael Shaffer with 12. Other scorers were Mickey McClure with nine, Freddie Pruitt with eight, Marvin McCollum with seven and Shannon York with two.

The freshmen will take on Southern Pulaski Thursday (tonight) at Pulaski at 6:30 p.m.

Lady Rockets' Player of the Week

for Jan. 6-12

Lady Rockets' Head Coach Christy Beaver has awarded the honor of player of the week, normally a one player honor, to her bench for their efforts in the Walton Verona and Garrard County games. Greta Burdette, Danetta Ford, Christina Silmon, Jan Durham, Christy Coleman and Jennifer Clark (from l-r at top to l-r from bottom) all made important contributions for the Lady Rockets from a bench role. Beaver emphasizes how important a team's supporting cast should be and said that all of her players have done that, not only during the games just mentioned but throughout the year. Beaver also said that her bench has made the key plays when called upon, kept the enthusiasm up when needed and did it all extremely well. And for that, these six players are recognized for a job well done.

Mammograms offered at local Health Dept.

The Rockcastle County Health Center is now offering mammography (breast cancer) screening services to low-income women.

Only low-income women over age 45 who have never had a mammogram are eligible. Women age 35 through 44 who have a family history of breast cancer and meet the other criteria are also eligible.

Herman Johnson, administrator of the Cumberland Valley District Health Department, says the screenings will benefit Rockcastle County women who until now have not had access to this medical service.

"For the most part, the women who will receive mammograms through the health department do not have private medical insurance and are ineligible for Medicaid," he said. "With this new program, these women will be able to have this valuable health screening."

The American Cancer Society estimates that in 1990, 22,000 Kentucky women will be diagnosed with breast cancer and 650 more Kentucky women will die of the disease. Mammography screening can detect breast cancer in its early stages thereby greatly improving survival rates.

State Health Services Commissioner Carlos Hernandez, M.D., says that the new service, eventually to be offered by health departments statewide, provides a more comprehensive cancer check-up for Kentucky women.

Health departments have traditionally provided Pap tests to catch cervical cancer in its early stages, taught women how to examine their own breasts for lumps and counseled smokers about the risks of lung cancer," he said. "With the addition of mammography screening to health department services, low-income women will be offered a chance to detect breast cancer in its earliest, most treatable stages."

Hernandez says that women at the highest risk for breast cancer are being targeted for the screenings. "We know that women over age 45 are at more risk of getting breast cancer than younger women," he said. "That's why our screening program, in accordance with established medical guidelines, will emphasize women of this age."

The new service is being added across the state as a result of a $1.3 million appropriation by the legislature in its 1990 session.

Rockcastle County women who want more information about mammography screening through the health department should contact the health center at 256-2242.

Library News
By: Geraldine Robbins

The audio tapes have finally arrived at the library. The titles are 1. "Anne of Green Gables", 2. "The Hobbit" and "The Fellowship of the Rings", 3. "Hollow Hills", 4. "How to Save the Earth With Laughter", 5. "Lone Star", 6. "Ramona and Her Father", 7. "Tales of Suspense", 8. "The Body in the Closet", 9. "Texas", 10. "Lightning".

For a long time several people in the county have used either a record player or tape player from the Department for the Blind and Physically Handicapped in Frankfort. Our audio tapes will be an addition to those that have the tape players, but you don't have to be handicapped to use our tapes. They are great for busy people that like to listen while working or in your auto going to and from work. We will be adding more titles later.

We would like to thank the Citizens Bank of Brodhead for donating money to us to pay for several new magazine subscriptions. These magazines are, Field and Stream, Vietnam, Creative Quilting, Better Homes and Gardens, Quick and Easy Crochet, Seventeen, craft Stitch, and Jack and Jill. In addition to these we still are getting Southern Outdoors, Time, Golf, Organic Gardening, House and Garden, McCall's, Popular Science, The Kentucky Explorer, Family Living and Southern Living. Some of these have been paid for by the Bank of Mt. Vernon. Thanks again to both the Citizens Bank and The Bank of Mt. Vernon for their donations so that we might have these magazines for your reading pleasure.

Don't forget our special craft class Tues. Feb. 5th, when Cheryl Witt will be bringing a lesson button jewelry. Just bring all your extra buttons, assorted colors or different shades of a color if you choose. Cheryl will bring the other materials that are needed. If you have a hot-glu gun, it would be helpful to bring this.

We have all federal and state tax forms.

We are growing for you and because of you!!

Thoughts about War

MVES Writing to Read Lab

These stories and ideas about the war were written by six year olds. Please keep in mind that we want them to express their feelings without being held back and worrying about how the words are spelled. By doing this we are stimulating their creativity as a writer. The spelling comes with age and classroom guidance. We hope you enjoy each story as much as the children enjoy writing them.

The Mt. Vernon Messenger

By: Ann Owens

Welcome to the new Mt. Vernon Elementary School. This year has been a good year for the teachers and students. Students in the 8th grade have been working on articles for the Mt. Vernon Signal. Here at Mt. Vernon we have three eighth grade teachers: Mrs. Judy Brock, English, math, and reading; Miss Deborah Abney, Social Studies, science and reading; Keith Singleton, Math.

The attendance has been good this year. Eighth grade has eighty one students. The total of kids that go to Mt. Vernon is eight hundred twenty six. If it had been for our principal, John Hale, we wouldn't have good attendance. Our assistant, Paul Waddles, takes care of the discipline problems. We have a total of ninety-five people on our staff.

Sports: Chris Kirby, reporter
Last Monday, Jan. 7, MVES played Berea Community School in basketball game. This was the second time these two teams have met. The last time they met, Berea beat Mt. Vernon by one point. Monday when they met, Mt. Vernon was ready. Mt. Vernon won. It was a back and forth game but in the fourth quarter MVES pulled it off.

Sports continued: Tim Miller, Jason Cromer, Brandy Chastener and Angie Miller, reporters
As the season draws to a close we can look back at our accomplishments for the year. The 7th and 8th grade girls won all of our games in the county. We also brought home the county championship for the fifth consecutive year. The 7th and 8th grade boys lost three games and won seven in the county. We brought home 1st place for the first time in five years.

Mrs. Henderson's 8th grade social studies class has had a mock election. Amber Hodges won as president and Sasey Kirby, vice president. We also elected Senators and Representatives. Now, we are working on a Student's Bill of Rights. Our Congress will be in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. McKinney's 5th Grade
Friday, Jan. 18, our class got a trip to Pizza Hut as a reward for 10 consecutive days perfect attendance. We appreciated it very much and had a good time. We were grateful to Mr. Singleton for driving the bus for us and to Mrs. C. Griffin for helping chaperone.

Thursday, Jan. 24, our class will be host to a drama presentation from 1:10 - 2:10. Teachers having planning periods during that time are welcome to visit us.

We are very proud of our District PTA. Reflections winners, Chesic McHargue in art and literature and Jason Denney in photography. Their entries will go on to state competition.

Mrs. Nagler's 5th grade reports that they have had perfect A's in spelling for 17 weeks. Congratulations!

MVES Brownies, Troop 242 will be selling Girl Scout cookies beginning Jan. 18. Each box costs $2. For more information or to order, call Sharon Lovell 256-5671 or 256-2953.

Comments on War

I hate the war. All the children that will get killed and the soldiers, just makes me sick. All the relatives of the soldiers who's sons and daughters are getting killed, its all just like a madhouse. I know somebody in Saudi Arabia and I hate to think he might get killed.

Melinda Alcorn

The war to me is blood for gas. I wouldn't have blood for gas.

Ernestine Downs

This war could have been avoided if Saddam Hussein would have pulled out of Kuwait.

Brian Brown

I think it's very sad and I hope it ends soon.

Melissa Commins

I feel like we don't need a war because our friends and family are worth more than a gallon of oil.

All friends and relatives are invited. No formal invitations will be sent.

Around Brodhead

By: Mary McWhorter

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker of Fairfield, Ohio spent the weekend with her mother and sister, Mrs. Maggie Fletcher and Audrey, also visited with her brother Charles and wife Patsy.

James Barton Carey of London, who has been in the Persian Gulf, has been sent to Ft. Campbell. We wish him well. He is the son of Rebbecca Carey and the late Glen Carey formerly of Mt. Vernon.

Pat and Freddie Pruitt Jr. and I joined Mickie Lea Pruitt and her roommate from Ashland, also one of her roommates from Richmond. We all had dinner together and a visit before they and we returned to our homes.

Estill and Teresa Phibeck were visitors of Mae Don on one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Adams visited Mrs. Julia Adams and son Asa at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. George Adams visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Cash and Donna Lynn.

Sunday dinner guests of Bob and Clara Proctor were Elizabeth Clay of Lexington, Paula, Heather, Tanner Allen, Doug, Linda, Mark and Jason Proctor of Mt. Vernon, Darrell, Darlene, Stephen, Kyle and Adam of Covington, Louise, Billy and Suzanne Graves and Sandi and Betsy.

Langham - Kerr

Kimberly Ann Langham of Danville and Nathan D. Kerr of Mt. Vernon were united in marriage Oct. 27, 1990 at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Lexington. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Langham of Danville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary L. Kerr of Mt. Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr are residing in Lexington.

Mt. Vernon Personals

By: Mrs. Vallie Burton

Everett Burdette has returned home after spending several days in the Rockcastle Hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Sami Newton of Somerset and Mrs. Vallie Burton visited Miss Penny Newton in Lexington Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Houston of Ohio visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Houston Sunday.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to all who have lost loved ones recently. May the Lord comfort each one.

Raymond Kirby was in Lexington last Thursday to consult his eye doctor at the V.A. Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barron and Judy of Paris and Crystal and Kelly Rose of Winchester visited Mrs. Arbie Kirby and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kirby Sunday.

Mrs. Lavada Graves visited Mrs. Bessie Kirby recently.

Sunday night visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney were their daughter Mrs. Sharon Lovins and granddaughter Jamie.

Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney visited Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Miller Sunday afternoon.

Jim Lovins and girl friend Jenny visited his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney visited Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Brown Friday.

Patricia Highland and grandson Johnny Eaton were in Lexington Monday.

Let's pray for our servicemen and women that are so far from home and also for their families.

Quail News

By: Vivian Owens

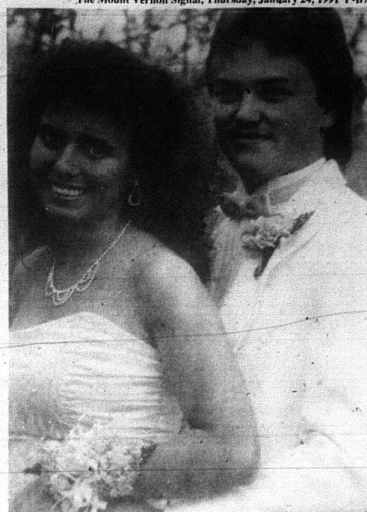

Don Steven, Jewell Albright and Tooter were in Louisville recently to visit Dr. Don A. Stevens and family. Mrs. Don Stevens spent a week in Louisville helping take care of a new granddaughter, Leah Ambrose Stevens.

Captain Matthew Brauldus and family have recently visited relatives in Rockcastle. He has just returned from Saudi Arabia. He is the grandson of Mrs. Colson Stevens.

Turner - McFerron

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Turner of Crab Orchard announce the engagement of their daughter, Shanna Lann, to Michael Lynn McFerron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McFerron of Broadhead. Miss Turner is a graduate of Rockcastle County High School and is presently attending the Respiratory Care program at Harry Sparks Vocational School. Mr. McFerron, also an RCHS graduate, plans to attend the Respiratory Care program in the spring. Both are presently employed at Rockcastle Co. Hospital and Respiratory Care Center. No date has been set for the wedding.

Busy Bee Homemakers

By: Club Reporter

January 8, marked the 56th birthday of Elvis Presley and also the monthly meeting of the Busy Bee Homemakers. The ladies gathered at the home of Wynona Isaac of Tuesday evening and answered the roll by naming their birthstone.

The lesson "Aging Parents: Helping When Health Fails" was presented by Vickie Tyler. The lesson handout contained very valuable information on caring for the elderly as well as tips for obtaining financial support and possible tax breaks.

The treasurer of the Busy Bee Homemakers, Carolyn Hunt, was not present at the meeting but the excuse for her absence was valid; she had given birth to a baby girl, Carré Dolores, just days before.

The Annual Homemaker International Dinner will be held March 14. All homemakers are encouraged to attend. If you have never attended one of these dinners, you don't know what you are missing. Many of the ladies dress in the traditional dress of the country (this year New Zealand) and the food served is typical of that country. The evening is educational as well as fun.

The next monthly meeting of the Busy Bee Homemakers will be February 12 at the home of Vickie Tyler.

Richard Valentine will be in our school, Friday, January 25, to present a Drama demonstration for professional development. The classes receiving the instruction will be Lillie Parsons, Judy Doyle, Linda Cummins, and Nelson Graves. Other teachers are invited to attend the performance to learn "How To Use Drama In The Classroom".

County Home Economics Agents, Cheryl Witt and John McCree will be presenting nutrition programs to our students K-8, beginning tomorrow and running through Friday. Each grade level will receive a

Kirby on Dean's List

Linda Kirby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kirby of Mt. Vernon, has been named to the Dean's List at Berea College for the term just completed.

To be eligible, a student must maintain a 3.0 average and earn grades of B or better in at least four full-credit courses, the equivalent of 16 semester hours.

Berea is a non-denominational, liberal arts college which also offers degrees in agriculture, business administration, industrial arts, home economics and nursing. There is no charge for tuition and each student works at least 10 hours a week to pay living expenses.

different nutrition program. The lessons will be taught on a mobile unit that will be parked near the school. EFNP assistants, Judy Hudson and Brenda Saylor will be helping with the lessons.

Mrs. Lisa Johnson's classes are keeping abreast of the Middle East Situation, by having debate panels presenting views of the involvement of the United States in the liberation of Kuwait. Students acting as reporters/general public, question the panelist to defend their opinion. Sources used for these debates include the Courier Journal, Lexington Herald, television, radio, parents, and letters from the class correspondents in Saudi Arabia.

Mrs. Duina Thompson's class is compiling a book of recipes entitled Grandma's Favorite Recipes. The third graders are also writing and constructing a class newspaper.

Ms. Beverly Owens's class writes a story each Friday. The activity incorporates the whole language approach, (reading, writing, etc.). These stories will be compiled into a booklet for each student to have for their summer reading.

Lillie Parson's class is anticipating the coming of spring. They have planted bulbs and are marking the daily progress of each. Over the weekend the amaryllis grew two inches!

Doris Wright our instructional assistant, has become quite a celebrity in the fourth grade this week. Mrs. Wright who was born in Taiwan, Shantung, China, to missionary parents (Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Randall) was resource person used by Mrs. Bullock to enhance the study of China.

Mrs. Wright, a gifted musician, has been an asset to our school for many years. We appreciate her hard work and dedication to our children.

The D.A.R.E. graduation was very impressive. Dr. Mike Bryant gave an eloquent talk and we wish to thank him. Also, Becky Bussell and Janie LaFavers provided some delicious refreshments.

The Bookcase All-Stars play at South Laurel, Thursday night and at Mecca, Thursday, January 31.

Beginning December 1, Mrs. Little's kindergarten classes started Reading free, "Involving the parents. One class surpassed their goal of 800 books. Each class was rewarded for their efforts with a popcorn, Pepsi and movie party. We are proud of our kindergarten students and wish to thank the parents for their involvement with their children's education.

Wednesday, January 30, Mrs. Shaffer and Mrs. Little, will host a county kindergarten meeting. All kindergarten teachers meet to share what they are doing. The meeting is Kindergarten is No. 1 in '91.

"QUAIL NEWS" (Cont. From B7)

Hayes and family were Bro. and Mrs. Ed Gibbs of London.

Weekend visitors of Mrs. Juanita Scott were her family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mecca of Indiana and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Scott of Ohio.

Mrs. Christine Brown and Mrs. Ruby Thompson visited their aunt Mrs. Molly Bryant at Mt. Vernon.

Curtis Bullock celebrated his birthday Sunday afternoon at the home of his father Ricky Bullock and Mrs. Bullock and daughter Sasha. Others to help him celebrate were his grandmother Mrs. Delmas Bullock and other relations and friends.

Mrs. Florence Albright was Sunday guests of her daughter Mrs. Charlie Cupp and Mr. Cupp.

(Delayed)

Mrs. Vivian Owens had lunch with Mrs. Edna Caldwell when they visit Mrs. Grace Brown and daughter Evon and Mrs. Pat Chestnut then visit Mrs. Sarah Cash, Mrs. Owen's aunt Mrs. Sella Scoggins and Gervis and Mrs. Caldwell's daughter Mrs. Roy Burton and Mr. Burton.

Announcement

Dr. and Mrs. Don A. Stevens of Louisville wish to announce the birth of their new daughter, Leah Ambrose. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens, Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Virginia Fields of Louisville. Leah is welcomed home by three brothers: Brett, Tyler and Micah.

"Comments on War" (Cont. From B5)

War isn't something to say "Well, I don't care," or "It doesn't bother me any" about. It is very serious. Most of the time the only reason war makes peace is because everyone who wanted war ends up dying. So why can't they just reason it out? It could save a lot of innocent lives.

Emily Mullins

People our age have never been through a war before and it makes you feel kind of funny. I hope that they don't drag on long and that the U.S. wins by a long shot.

Edna Hines

I think that the war is a bad thing because your loved ones could be fighting in it and get killed and moms and dads worry alot when they're over there.

Crystal Issacs

I think that the war is awful but if we have to we will kick their butts.

Angie McFerron

I hope that my cousin doesn't get killed over in the Middle East crisis.

Scott Barnes

We shouldn't be fighting over some stupid oil and getting people killed over it.

Derrick Price

I think we should have bombed Saddam insane and bring them home by now.

Kristi Cummins

I'm scared but I'm confident that the Americans will win the war.

Lisa Robbins

I feel that this war is just a big mistake.

Priscilla Jones

I think the war is for a good cause and I back the President 100%. I hope everyone comes back safe and all in one piece.

Robby Napier

War By: Brandt Cormier

On one cold, windy, church night I received some news that made me cry.

It made me feel so sad inside. For it made me wonder how and why Someone could do this, way down deep inside. Then I finally sat down to realize, That Hussein didn't do it just for greed.

He did it to see if he could succeed. Now I know how many people felt And what World War II was about. For I feel pain and concern inside. It made me want to crawl away and hide

So just remember, way over there on the other side, There are soldiers who want to cry, But they are fighting for freedom They don't have to come to cry and weep

So now you know WAR IS ALIVE!

There are some things that you should decide. Pray for the soldiers and for peace. Encourage the soldiers and let them know That we love them and thank them for the courage they show.

May God bless them and keep them in His care until they return home.

Walter D. Hail, Location Manager

Walter is a life-long resident of Pulaski County. The son of Charles L. and Helen Phelps Hall, is a 1961 graduate of Somerset High School.

Walter is a single parent of two children: Donna, age 23, who resides in Lexington and is a registered nurse employed in the I.C.U. department of Central Baptist Hospital; and Scott, age 27, who resides on Hamilton Avenue and is married to Lisa Vaught Hall. Scott is the co-manager of the London, KY, Winn-Dixie.

Walter is on the Executive Committee of the Republican Party, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, on the advisory board of DECA Clubs at Pulaski County High School and Somerset High School, and on the Executive Committee of the March of Dimes. Walter has been a Winn-Dixie associate for 23 years. Twenty-two of these years he has been the manager of the Winn-Dixie at Tradewind Shopping Center.
