Talent is widespread among our county youth, which was apparent Tuesday evening at the 4-H Variety show. The extravaganza allowed 10 club acts and 14 specialty acts an opportunity to showcase their musical abilities. All of our elementary schools participated.

Debbie Cash, BES girls' basketball coach, took the team to Eastern Kentucky University to watch a game between the U.K. Lady Kats and the EKU Lady Colonels. Enjoying the game were Donna Cash, Tanya Callahan, Angie Moore, Amy Robinson, Jessica Albright, Beth Durham, LaCosta Mason, Heather Shivel, Sonya Peters, Betsy Mink and Kristi Moore. Mrs. Cash and the team would like to thank Violet Cash and Judy Robinson for helping with the transportation. The girls were excited to get the Kats' and Colonel's signatures as well as meeting C.M. Newton, UK's athletic director.

Mrs. Caroline Graves' seventh grade placed yellow ribbons on the trees in front of the building this week to celebrate the end of the war in the Gulf and welcoming home our troops. These ribbons will remain there until our troops return.

The monthly PTA meeting will be Thursday, March 14 at 3:30.

Bus Safety Evacuation Drills will be Thursday, Mar. 14. Nontransported students will be released at approximately 2:15. Transported students will arrive at home approximately 15 minutes earlier than usual.

Students will be dismissed Friday, Mar. 15. Teachers will be attending a professional development workshop at their assigned schools.

The spring pictures that were taken Tuesday, Mar. 5, will be back to the school around Easter. The cost will depend upon the parents' selection.

With less than 50 days remaining in the school year, teachers and students are hoping to have seen the last of the bad weather. We are now looking forward to spring break April 1-5!!!

National School Breakfast Week is March 3 - 9

A school breakfast is available at your child's school.

What is a School Breakfast?

School breakfast is available to students when they arrive at school. Students are served 8 ounces of milk, 1/2 cup fruit or vegetable or juice, and two servings of bread or meat or meat alternate or one of each. The breakfast menus provide the nourishment your child needs to perform in morning classes.

How much does a Breakfast cost?

The price of a paid meal is 45 cents elementary; 50 cents high school; the reduced-price meal is 30 cents. If your child is eligible for a free lunch, he or she can also receive a free breakfast.

Why should my child eat breakfast at school?

Even though your child may not be hungry at home, a morning meal is still needed to supply adequate energy to carry her or him to lunch time. Research studies have shown that students who eat breakfast perform better academically than those students without a breakfast. Breakfast at school gives the student an opportunity to talk with other students and teachers before classes.

Howard and Himes in Honors Band

Two students from Rockcastle County, Kathy Howard and Sandra Himes, were among more than 220 high school band members from 42 high schools in Kentucky and Ohio participating in Eastern Kentucky University's Honors Bands Weekend.

The 1991 Honors Bands Weekend took place Feb. 22-24 at EKU.

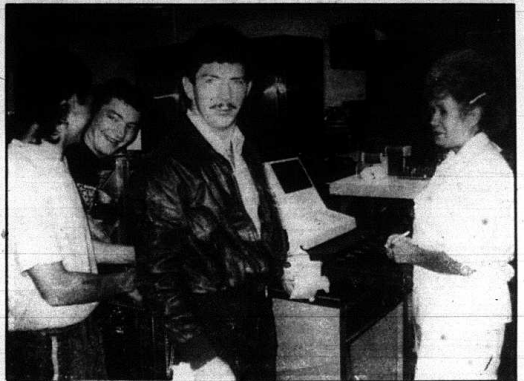

Guest conductors for the 1991 Honors Bands were Robert Cooter, formerly director of the Largo, Fla., "Band of Gold," and Lissa Fleming, director of Jazz Bands at Purdue University.

While attending the Honors Bands weekend, students spent some 14 hours rehearsing in preparation for a concert held Sunday, Feb. 24.

In addition, the students attended clinic sessions on their instruments with members of the EKU Department of Music faculty.

The activities of the weekend were coordinated by Dr. Robert Hartwell, director of bands at EKU, and Mark Whitlock, assistant director of bands.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: Ginny Gilpatrick
Rockcastle Teen Center

Growing up in a single-ethnic community imposes certain limitations on young people in our shrinking world. Never to venture beyond the boundaries of one's native race is virtually impossible, so fears, stereotypes and prejudices are baggage too often carried into inevitable encounters with those of other races and cultures. Rockcastle County youth find themselves in this predicament.

Model Notification of FmHA's Findings

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) has received a preapplication for financial assistance from C.B. & R. Investments, Inc. The specific elements of this proposed action are the construction of a 4,400 square foot Denny's 24-hour restaurant and a 1,600 square foot Dairy Queen restaurant which will be part of the Renfro Valley tourism project.

FmHA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of this proposed action and has determined that it will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment. Therefore, FmHA will not prepare an environmental impact statement for this proposed action.

Any written comments regarding this determination should be provided within fifteen (15) days of this publication to Ms. Mary Ann Baron, state Director, Farmers Home Administration, 333 Waller Avenue, Lexington, Kentucky 40504. FmHA will make no further decisions regarding this proposed action during the fifteen-day period. Requests to review the FmHA environmental assessment upon which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be directed to the above address.

tament. In order to address the issues of racism, Rockcastle Teen Center's Teen Council met recently with some members of the Garrard Teen Center which has a majority black population. The purpose of the meeting was to plan a "color blind" weekend combining the two Centers at Christian Appalachian Project's Camp AJ. In discussion, teens pointed out that inter-racial encounters occur on the playing fields and gymnasiums, and later on in colleges, vocational school, the armed services, and on the job. In these situations there is no place for the pettiness of racial misunderstanding.

Recognizing the importance of breaking down barriers and building bridges of mutual respect, the group developed a schedule for the weekend to include times to shed light on their biased knowledge of the other race and to get to know each other better as individuals. The major portion of the day and a half at camp will be spent in various competitions between two mixed teams (canoe races, volleyball, and other activities which will award points) to encourage working together. The camp

Rockcastle youth shot to death Thursday

By: Bill Estep
Lexington Herald-Leader

An 8-year-old Rockcastle County boy was shot and killed while playing with a rifle that accidentally fired. He had taken the gun from an unlocked cabinet, police said.

Darrion Craig Taylor died Thursday after his friend, Cody Whit, also 8, grabbed the gun to get Darrion to stop pointing it at him, Rockcastle Deputy Sheriff Ronnie Roark said.

The gun went off as the two boys tugged at it, Roark said.

Fayette Deputy Coroner Charles Howell said Darrion died from a single gunshot to the head from a .22-caliber rifle. He was pronounced dead at 11:25 p.m. at the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center.

Roark said that the shooting was accidental and that no charges would be filed.

Darrion's death was at least the 10th involving children playing with guns in the last five years in Kentucky, according to Kentucky Youth Advocates. Police and youth advocates said it was a powerful example of the need for better gun safety.

"People must be especially cautious when they have a gun in the house with children," said David Richard, head of Kentucky Youth Advocates. "It seems to me we're paying an incredibly high price for being such a gun-oriented society. It's just a shame."

Darrion Taylor was accidentally shot to death with a rifle Thursday afternoon.

Roark said the shooting occurred about 7 p.m. at the home of Charles Whit, Cody's father, in the Branch Creek Community, east of Mt. Vernon. Charles Whit is the brother of Eugene Whit, Darrion's father. Roark said Cody told him Darrion was playing with the gun and pointing it at him.

Cody said he told Darrion not to point the gun at him and then tried to take away the gun so he could put it away, Roark said.

When Cody grabbed the gun, Darrion tried to hang onto it. Cody said Darrion accidentally hit the trigger as they both tugged at the gun, which was pointed upward, Roark said.

Darrion's mother, Sharon Taylor, was doing laundry in another room and Cody's mother was on the phone when the shooting occurred, Roark said.

"At first, they said he was pretty well into his fit over it," Roark said. "Charles Whit declined comment Friday."

Teacher Jennifer DeBorde said Darrion transferred into her third-grade class at Mount Vernon Elementary three weeks ago. "He was a lively student, he was sweet," she said. (A complete obituary appears on page A-4.)

City police report seven burglaries in Mt. Vernon Burglars had a busy time in Mt. Vernon during February when seven businesses were burglarized, according to Police Chief Bill Mink.

CB&S Construction Company office and tool trailer at the Rockcastle Hospital was broken in and a concrete saw, 4-foot level and electric drill taken.

Taken at Cox Florist was $29 in postage stamps and other items.

Some charges against Freddie Durham dropped

A charge of assault in the first degree on a police officer against Freddie Joe Durham has been dismissed, but a second charge of weapons endangerment in the first degree is still on the books.

Durham is accused of dragging deputy Sheriff Phillip Chesnut along the road when Chesnut stopped the vehicle for a check.

Durham remains in jail on a $5,000 cash or property bond, and is scheduled to appear before the grand jury on Friday.

An assault charge and wanted endangerment charge against Mark Witt of Berea have been dismissed. Witt was a passenger in the Durham van when the incident took place.

Rockcastle County received $241,415 in heating help

A total of $241,415 was given to 1,870 families in Rockcastle during the Home Energy Assistance Program that ended last week, according to Betty Carter, community action coordinator for the county.

The program across the state ended Thursday after all funds used to assist people during cold weather were spent.

About $12.3 million was spent and 84,000 households served during the crisis phase across the state.

A breakdown of expenditures in the county shows 838 families got a total of $87,369 in the subsidy program phase a non-emergency program.

A total of 805 families received $119,814 during the crisis phase, or those out of heat or would be in five days.

In the emergency program, or those totally without heat, 227 families in the county got $34,231.

cash register and an air conditioner from a window.

A leather coat, change and a box of candy were taken in a break-in at Mt. Vernon Cleaners.

A Renner Construction trailer was broken-in, but no items were listed by police as stolen. The trailer was on East Main Street and was formerly owned by the Comprehensive Care Center.

A VCR and other small items were taken in a burglary at Garstka Lawton Accounting firm on School Street. The burglars apparently ran out of gasoline and stopped at the Citgo Service Station on U.S. 150 and State St 57 worth of gas and cigarettes. The city police report for February includes: 244 complaints; 41 assists; 5 traffic accidents; 1 domestic violence case; 10 motorist assists; 2 public services; 3 transient reports; 19 criminal investigations, seven of which were the burglaries.

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department had 6 runs; 3 false alarms and 2 control burn incidents.

Hale loses Inville boat dock lease

Failure of Jimmy Hale to notify the city he will operate the Lake Inville boat dock for another year, means the city is looking for another operator.

That information was revealed at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

Hale had a five-year contract to operate the boat dock ending March 10, 1991 with an option for one year at a time after that date.

Checking the contract, the council found Hale must notify the city of his intentions by March 1.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer asked City Attorney John Clontz to send Hale a letter informing him his boat dock lease is no longer in effect.

The council agreed to meet at 7 p.m. March 19 to discuss the boat dock.

State official tells council

Land illegally leased to VFW

By: Ray McClure

The City of Mt. Vernon illegally leased land for the VFW post at Lake Inville and must now find land to replace it.

That was revealed at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

On June 9, 1986, the city council leased the land to the VFW for 35 years at a dollar a year and the present building was constructed.

When the city received federal grant money to purchase the land the contract stipulated it could only be used for recreation, forever.

Under the State Department of Economic Development, the VFW does not meet recreation requirements. Such was indicated this week when a state official visited the area to tell the city the land must be replaced.

Bob Chandler of the Department of Local Government told the city it would receive a demerit for the violation, and the only way out of the predicament would be to hurriedly find the land before federal officials came down to check. It could bring the city a hefty fine.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the council the VFW land would have to be surveyed and the property appraised to determine the replacement amount.

Mayor Cromer said he did not have any land in mind that could be used to replace the post land.

However, there may be enough available land nearby that is adjacent to city property, and owned by the city, to replace the needed amount.

The mayor said he would have the property checked.

The exact amount of land would await a survey. Before the Post was constructed some of the property had no specific use, except a ballfield and a nearby picnic area.

One other item could be troublesome.

There cannot be any lines for overhead lines, such as telephones, electric lines, in the area to be acquired. All lines must be underground. In short, everything must be the same as it was when the grant was made.

In other business, Mayor Cromer told the council he was informed by the State Division of Water, that a draft of regulations and requirements has been forwarded to department officials that could result in lifting the ban on water line installation in the county.

The mayor related there could be some changes, but would have to wait until the department makes a final decision. He said the notice could come at any time.

The changes could include a requirement that the city draw up new contracts for the districts with more specific requirements.

The Kentucky Public Service Commission has announced a service investigation of Western Rockcastle Water Association to address service deficiencies concerning supply and pressure in portions of the district.

The hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. March 8 in Frankfort.

If residents have late water bills, blame it on a computer breakdown. Even recent repairs have not lasted long.

The council voted to purchase a computer system for $15,500 a system that can be tied into one of two computer systems the city now has. In the past, the two systems operated independently.

A check with engineers that drew up Renfro Valley's sewer system now under construction is surveying to determine if the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) could hook on. Best estimate is that the system will be able to carry CAP's sewage.

CAP plans to install the system at its own expense.

The council voted to set policy on streets in the city, especially when new streets are opened.

Policy includes informing the city. Streets must be 30 feet wide. The city must inspect the work as it progresses. The street must be ditched, tiled and drained.

The council agreed, if it takes over a street, all requirements must be met. Just because a street is in the city does not mean the city will take over for maintenance, the mayors said.

Towery gets new contract from school board

By: Richard Anderson
Rockcastle County School Superintendent Bige Towery, Jr., has a new four year contract.

At Tuesday's regular monthly meeting of the local board of education, board members voted unanimously to give Towery a new four year deal worth about $65,000 annually.

The yearly salary is an increase of about $10,000 a year from his present salary.

Board Chairman George Poynter said that the $65,000 is the average salary of the superintendents of the 28 school districts in Kentucky that are comparable to Rockcastle. "It is not the lowest and it isn't the highest," Poynter said.

Towery's actual salary was set at approximately $62,000 by the board, but with the increase in pay that is sure to be handed down by the state this year, Towery will make the $65,000 figure.

"We as a board certainly believe that Mr. Towery was entitled to the raise," Poynter said. "I don't think you will find another superintendent who works any harder or takes his job more serious in this entire state, than Bige does," Poynter said.

"It would be disservice for our school system to lose him at this particular point," Poynter said. "He has stayed right on top of all the changes brought about by the Education Reform Act and we think he is the man to lead Rockcastle County education into the future. He has done an outstanding job for us."

In other business, Towery announced that Rockcastle County has been selected as one of the ten districts statewide for admission into the Institute for the 21st Century, sponsored by the Kentucky Education Foundation.

Towery told the board that the program is focused upon enhancing leadership skills, dealing with change and the successful implementation of the Kentucky Education Reform Act. Renfro Valley Folks, Inc. committed to the sponsorship by providing the $4,000 business match to help incur the cost of the Institute.

Team members are Dónna Hopkins, Nancy Mullins, Shelby Reynolds, Ronnie Cash, John Hale, Mark McKinney, Claudina Cash and Towery.

The superintendent said that the first resident session for team members will be held in Louisville, April 19-23.

Towery also announced that Kentucky's new Commissioner of Education, Thomas Boyesen will be in Rockcastle County, Thursday (today) for a short meeting with local educators and board members in the morning and an informal reception at the old barn in Renfro Valley at 3 p.m. Towery said that the public is invited to attend the reception at Renfro if they want to meet the Commissioner.

The board also approved applications for emergency substitute teachers: Kevin G. Fleicher, Joseph K. Miller and James E. Mullins.

Gary Mink Construction of Calloway was awarded the bid to clean a site at MVES and prepare it for tile drainage and seeding. The bid was $7,300.

Board members also approved G.E.D. certificates for Phyllis A.

Rockcastle School Superintendent Bige Towery, Jr.

A public reception is scheduled for Thursday at 3 pm at the Old Barn in Renfro Valley for Kentucky's Commissioner of Education Everyone Welcome!

Dear Editor,
I would like to thank the people of Rockcastle County who came to show their respect and to support my family when my father was killed on January 22.

My father was Stanford Police Officer Gary Kidwell who was killed in the line of duty. He grew up on Copper Creek and played football for Roundstone and Mount Vernon.

So many people sent flowers and came to the funeral home from Rockcastle I want them to know how much my family appreciated them.

Thank you,

Education needs ignored in Southern Kentucky

Dear Editor,
How can the state of Kentucky approve paying for those two additional dormitories at Northern Kentucky University, and how can Eastern Kentucky University have a budget for next year of more than a hundred million dollars when there is no Southern Kentucky University and not even enough classrooms are available for the southern Kentucky students who want to attend Somerset Community College.

Why? Why? Why? The people of southern Kentucky cannot accept this unfair neglect and discrimination without appealing to the fairness and justice.

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin

As I heard the news last week that Pat Crawford had died in a car wreck I became sick to my stomach. It was almost unbelievable.

Pat was not a close friend, but Pat was a friend. As a matter of fact, Pat was the type of person who had a lot of friends. That was evident by the almost 1200 people that attended his visitation.

If you didn't know Pat, this column won't mean anything to you, and if you did, you'll understand it completely.

In the ten years or so that I knew Pat I never knew the man to be any different from one day to the next.

He treated people with kindness, yet he was stern in his beliefs and he was a staunch, but fair competitor.

I don't think I ever heard Pat say an ill word about anyone and if he did have something to say about you, you no doubt deserved it.

Hours after Pat died in a Lexington hospital, many of his vital organs were taken so that others would have a chance at living. Pat had the foresight to fill out his driver's license knowing that he wanted others to benefit should a tragedy occur. Most of us don't think that that's about our fellow man, but it certainly wasn't surprising that Pat did.

It is tragic that Pat left behind a loving wife, but she will be able to remember what type of man Pat was because of the years they had together. The worst tragedy is for his two small children, who will never really know what kind of father they had. They had the best. I guess Billy Joe's song, "Only The Good Die Young," really applies in some cases. (Ed's Note: Pat Crawford was killed in a car wreck near Corbin Thursday, Feb. 21.)

On a lighter note, I certainly do not live and die by U.K. sports. As I have gotten older I have come to realize that there are much more important things in life, but I am still basically a Big Blue supporter.

When the NCAA tournament kicks off next week the Wildcats will be at the house still reeling from an went with him for a reason.

Manuel was hit the hardest by the investigation, but he could have probably avoided it all by rolling over on Sutton, Casey, or Cliff Hagan. But he didn't.

1) I try to be optimistic in every situation and there were some good things to come from the investigation.

2) Kentucky got rid of a coach who couldn't recruit intelligent enough players to pass the ACT test.

3) They got rid of the worst point guard in the nation and the biggest baby that ever tried to play inside.

4) They got an excellent coach who is rapidly rebuilding the program and one that will no doubt keep them off probation.

But, as I stated earlier, I don't live and die by UK sports, can't you tell?

"OUR READERS WRITE"

honor of our fellow Kentuckians. Surely, those who are aware of what the 1980 census showed about the level of education in southern Kentucky must be concerned enough to be wondering what can be done to correct this humiliating situation.

The last three governors have been asked to provide more equal higher educational opportunity by expanding our Somerset Community College into Southern Kentucky University. This happened in northern Kentucky in 1968 when NKU was established. We wonder why Southern Kentucky University was not established at the same time.

It just is not fair to our southern Kentucky people to have our needs ignored! Three governors, the Council on Higher Education and every senator and representative in Kentucky have received letters from me asking that Southern Kentucky University be established here in Somerset which is the regional center of southern Kentucky, easily accessible by the network of roads from other southern Kentucky counties.

The eagerness for education is shown by the increases in enrollment in recent years at Somerset Community College. Enrollment was 1,161 in the fall of 1985, and 2,087 the fall of 1990, when 90 classes were filled and closed because of lack of classrooms and/or teachers. This spring 1991 semester there are 2,270 students and at least 125 classes were filled and closed.

Why can't we have classrooms and teachers? When money is available for other colleges and universities, why are our needs ignored?

Last week and this week I have discussed this with leaders in Pulaski, McCreary, Wayne, Clinton, Russell, Rockcastle, Lincoln and Casey Counties. We have not had results yet from providing information about how we have outgrown our community college and are asking for expansion into Southern Kentucky University even though we have made this request to governors, legislators, and the Council on Higher Education.

We believe that there needs to be a recommendation from the Council on Higher Education, approval and support of the new governor, (whoever that may be), and a bill passed in the 1992 Session of legislature to establish Southern Kentucky University.

This action is long overdue and it should and can be established in '92.

County chairpersons of both parties are being asked to discuss this matter with the candidates for governor before the May primary. I am of the opinion that any candidate seeking votes in southern Kentucky would find more support from people who are interested in education by letting it be known that there is a commitment to help us have our much needed, deserved, and belated Southern Kentucky University established in

Dear Editor,

With the recent war over, over there, once more the great bombs silenced. What a terrific relief for millions of people. How much do the people know about the after-math? Long time anguish from the death of loved ones. The mass torture to innocent ones who do not deserve it. The enforced sacrifices, unnecessarily. Young men forced to hide under ground in darkness and without food and water. The whole battle grounds laced with mines. Death to children, by hideous methods. Hundreds of oil wells destroyed while there is such strong need for oil. Marine life destroyed. Young men hanged in humiliating display. Others too numerous to mention here. The superior genius of the Allies, maneuvered such a hideous situation to a halt in record time, but the heartaches will linger on and on with the mothers and other members of the families.

We shall never have peace and harmony until Jesus Christ comes back to take charge. He will never tolerate such evils as we see which

Military Family Support Group first meeting was success

By Lu Ed Nielsen, American Red Cross

On Feb. 22, the American Red Cross, Rockcastle County Unit, co-sponsored a military family support group with radio station WRVK and Larry Burdette. Many families had asked to have something they could look forward to, as a group, with family members abroad, called to active duty, or involved in the current Middle East crisis. We decided that we could best serve the community if we included all military, whether they are in the Middle East, enroute to a duty station, stationed state-side, or whatever the particular situation might be. Any family is disrupted by the sudden departure of a loved one, and very much so in this crisis situation that the USA is in at this time. The night we met, the world situation was very "ifly." We were on the brink of our first "ground attack" and naturally everyone was very concerned about the well being of their family members. Needless to say there were some tears shed, but I hope and pray that everyone realizes that there are those of us who care and are willing to help in any way we can. It does help some to know that you have emotional support and the prayers and concern of many people in the community.

Bro. Eddie Hammond spoke about the war and what this part of the world means to everyone. Betty Lewis spoke for Comprehensive Care Center and thoughts were exchanged about feelings about the war, the changes that will take place in everyone who is involved in the war and ways that we can be better prepared to help our loved ones when they return home.

We had 60 people present, representing 16 members of the Armed Forces. We decided we would like to have a monthly meeting and our next meeting will be held at Comp Care on March 15 at 6 p.m. with a potluck dinner and starting at 7 p.m. All family members of our military personnel are invited to attend and share thoughts and feelings with us. The American Red Cross does have some programs available to help families in various ways during the wartime crisis. Betty Carter, Mary Falin, Lillie Lawhorn and Irene Reynolds are all at the courthouse and can take information and get in touch with me if I am unable to be contacted. I can be reached at 758-4088. If it is a military emergency your case call the courthouse at 256-5315 and leave word. Tell them it is an emergency and they will find me.

Larry Burdette and his staff have been working very hard on the Military Salute that is on the air at 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. each weekday. We have had some trouble in getting names, addresses, etc. together and we hope that we can get all of the names correct as many people are interested in corresponding with our Rockcastle people. Library News

By: Geraldine Robbins

Plans are well under way for the local art exhibit at the Rockcastle County Library. The exhibit will be April 13 - 26th. Several people have already responded to our request for exhibitors. If you would like to display some of your art work, or for more information please call 256-2388, or write to Geraldine Robbins, Rockcastle County Library, Rt. 1 Box 115, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456. Please respond by March 20th. Both amateur and professional artists are welcome.

The library will be receiving a new collection of audio tapes and videos March 15th. We're sure there will be something interesting for both adults and children. The audio tapes are new to the library and they are especially helpful for those people who like to listen while they work or travel in their auto, also for those people who have difficulty reading books.

We have a story hour for the preschool children each Wednesday at 1 p.m. There are toys for the children to play with, books are read to the children and a movie is shown each week. The little ones may check out books to take home.

Since February 1st we have been trying to re-register all of our patrons. This hasn't been done for several years and we need to update our files. Many of our patrons have moved and some are deceased. If you haven't re-registered or registered for the first time, please ask for a new card if we forget to ask you. Also all children that can sign their own name may have a library card, with their parents permission and signature.

We have an excellent display of Family Histories in the library now. These histories are from Mrs. Nancy Mullins 9th grade "Honors English Class." These students have done an excellent job of tracing their family history. Their books are very interesting for anyone to read and a lot of valuable information about local families are included.

Some new books that are ready to be checked out are: Honey at Day (Cont. to A6)

The American Red Cross in Rockcastle County

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is celebrating Red Cross month in March. The Daniel Boone Chapter serves Madison, Garrard, Lincoln, Jackson, and Rockcastle counties.

The chapter goal for March is to make Rockcastle countians more aware of the services offered by their Red Cross chapter. One of the major areas of service is the Family Fire Program which provides financial assistance to victims of family fires.

The chapter will purchase furniture, clothing, household items, help with the first months rent or assist in any other way to help a family recover after a fire. The contact for this service is Mary Falin in The Daniel Boone Development office in the courthouse.

The service to military is another area of service that has been much in demand recently. The Red Cross is the communications link between military families and their service members in Saudi or anywhere else in the states or overseas. Only the Red Cross works with the military to obtain emergency leave in the event of a confirmed emergency at home. The local chapter is also processing emergency loans for military families in the area. The chapter will also assist with compassionate reassignments and hardship discharges. For this assistance contact the chapter headquarters in Berea at 986-4221. For communications only, contact 758-4088.

Of course, in the event of a natural or man made disaster, the Red Cross would come into the county and set up Disaster Relief Operations.

Mike and Mark rolled in before midnight and we sat up way past talking about all the fish we were going to catch and reading up on the limits. We discussed whether we ought to take two or three coolers and finally decided that we'd just dump them out in the back of my truck because it has a bed liner and the temperature was only supposed to get up around 30 degrees anyway. I figure that between the three of us, we put a combined total of over 1,000 miles on our vehicles in connection with this trip and we spent over $1000 on boat rental, bait, ice and stuff like that.

We found the island and the tree in just a few minutes. Trolled just like we were supposed to and trolled some more. Tried fishing still with worms and minnows. Tried various plugs with worms and minnows hooked to them and then trolled some more. Froze and fished till pitch dark and I caught one little bass just before we came off the lake. The only fish we saw all day that wasn't hanging on the wall of a bait store.

We never saw a single bear or groundhog out making fools of themselves and I can guarantee that I slept as soundly as either that night. I wish now that I'd just stayed hold up all day.

View KET in Primary Colors on March 13 in the story of Corita Kent

Corita Kent led a life of contradictions. She was a teacher and a revolutionary; an artist who symbolized hope despite her own tragedy; a nun who left the church at age 50 to find God -- and herself. Narrated by Eva Marie Saint, Primary Colors: The Story of Corita airs on KET at 10 p.m. Wednesday, March 13.

March is National Nutrition Month

Bite into a health lifestyle

Maintaining A Proper weight Vital to Healthy Lifestyle
Maintaining a healthy weight is an important goal, especially if you tend to gain weight easily.

Since March is National Nutrition Month, it is a good time to remember that what you eat has a great influence on your health, especially a healthy weight. In keeping with the National Nutrition Month theme, "Bite Into A Healthy Lifestyle", I encourage everyone to think of maintaining a healthy weight and lifestyle by biting into the right amounts of each food group: vegetable and fruit, bread and cereal, milk and cheese, and the meat, poultry, fish and beans group.

If a person is too fat or too thin, the likelihood of developing health problems increases.

Being too fat is linked to high blood pressure, heart disease, stroke, diabetes, certain cancers and other illnesses. Although being too thin is a less common problem, it is linked with osteoporosis in women and greater risk of early death in both women and men.

The concept of a healthy weight has three parts -- amount of body fat, location of the fat in the body, and existence of health problems requiring weight loss or gain.

What exactly is a healthy weight? The healthy weight range varies according to a person's height and age.

For instance, the healthy weight for a person 5-feet, 6-inches tall, age 19 to 34 years, would be 118 to 155 pounds. For a 5-feet, 6-inches tall person, age 35 years and older, the range would be 130 to 167 pounds. The range for a 19 to 34-year old, six feet tall would be 140 to 184 pounds. A six-foot-tall person, age 35 and older, would have a range of 155 to 199 pounds. (Heights and weight ranges are without shoes and clothes). The higher weights in the ranges generally apply to men, who have more muscle and bone. Women, who usually have less muscle and bone, should aim for lower weights in the ranges.

Second, your body shape as indicated by your waist-to-hip ratio must be considered. A healthy shape is one in which the waist is smaller than the hip. In other words, excessive fat over the abdomen is unhealthy. A look at your profile in a mirror is a quick way to check on abdominal fat. Hereby, exercise and diet influence a person's body size and shape. Some people can eat heartily and still maintain a proper weight while it's hard for other people to maintain a good weight even with dieting and exercise.

The third consideration is that you have no health condition for which your doctor has advised you to lose or gain weight.

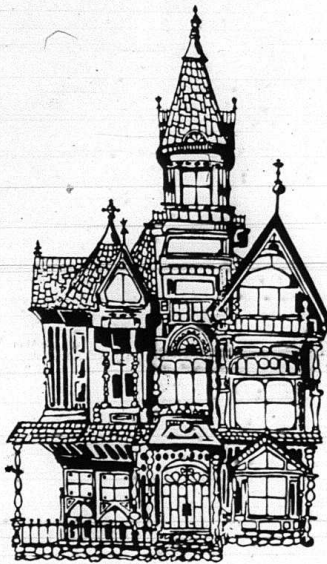

If you fail to meet any of these three conditions, you are advised to check with your doctor about how your weight might affect your health and what to do about it.

If you need to lose weight, steady loss of one-half to one pound a week until you reach your goal is generally safe. Avoid diets that severely restrict the variety of foods or the amount of calories consumed. It is difficult to obtain enough needed nutrients on diets of 1,200 calories or less. The National Research Council recommends an average intake of 2,200 calories for women and 2,900 calories for men. The guidelines are based on people age 50 years old or less and who engage in light to moderate activity.

If you are not physically active, regular exercise may help you lose weight and keep it off.

During National Nutrition Month, bite into a lifestyle that will help you maintain a healthy weight!

George Burkhardt and his wife Betty of Chicago, Ill. visited his brother Arvil Burkhardt in Livingston, also visited his sister Mrs. Opal Burke and his mother Mrs. Alfair Burkhardt on Negro Creek. He came to his sisters first, his mother called him and said she had supper almost ready so he told her that her daughter Opal had supper and for her to come over and eat with them. She told him she wasn't coming, then he sent Sharon over after her. When they got back the table was set with lots of good food that he had brought at Mt. Vernon and also had a lot of gifts. There were 11 who ate and enjoyed a very nice visit together for her birthday which will be in May as he couldn't be here then.

It was a big surprise for her, lots of gifts and a special birthday cake with Happy Ely Second Birthday Mother. Now who says it doesn't pay to have birthdays.

Benny and Corey Craig were Sunday dinner guests of Willie and Mahala Taylor.

Bob and Linda Clark and daughter Andra of Lebanon, Ohio spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Esther Hubbard and husband Roy. They also attended the Baptist Church with Mrs. Hubbard.

Recent visitors of Fannie B. Albright were Michael and Deloris Albright, Emma and Lloyd Shush and Teet Stephens.

Clara Proctor was a Saturday evening visitor of mine and also her grandson Mark Proctor of Mt. Vernon was a Saturday morning visitor.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Proffitt were David Proffitt and wife Sharon and daughter Diane and friend Dave and her two children Danielle and Brandi of Bellefontaine, Ohio, Hester Resseman and her son David Resseman and his son David Jr., all of Ramsey, Indiana.

Mrs. Velma Pingleton visited her room, Mrs. Cuba Croley a few days and also visited me awhile Monday evening.

Mrs. Byron Young of Lexington drove to Cincinnati airport to meet her aunt Elizabeth Mullins, March 1, to bring her home to Brodhead after spending two and half months in Sun City, Florida with Mr. and Mrs. John I. Gaines. We always welcome Mrs. Mullins and Mrs. Gray home as we miss them so much.

Mrs. Lula Bussell and daughter Janet spent the weekend in Morrow, Ohio visiting her daughter Geraldine Glass who has been in poor health for awhile. We wish her well.

Mrs. Eleanor Gray spent the winter with her sister Mrs. Corinne Brooks in Pompano Beach, Fla. and Geraldine and Bill Curron of Sun City, Fla. She sure enjoyed the warm weather and being with her folks. Her niece Mrs. Henrietta Fultz met her at the airport and brought her home.

Mrs. Dolly Taylor is slowly improving after an illness. We wish her well.

Mrs. Mina Laswell and her sister Mrs. Susie Sigmon of Mt. Vernon and their two nieces Gloria Sears and Pearl Burdette were in Dayton, Ohio Sunday helping their sister and aunt, Mrs. Celia Abney celebrate her ninety second birthday.

in marriage, joy in having a baby and the turmoil of marriage had to be tolerated and worked through if they were to enjoy the future as a family unit.

Today's child seems to have a different role in the family. He or she monopolizes the family scene from the time of conception. The fetus is monitored to determine the sex and any abnormalities that may exist. When the time comes for delivery he is delivered by a high paid specialist with still another specialist on hand to receive him and begin his lifetime care. He or she has been delivered in a hospital especially equipped to handle deliveries and more and more often these deliveries are by cesarean section instead of normal birth. The cost of having a baby today would have put one of us old timers through college.

Today's mama is sent home usually on her second day "we were usually kept in bed for ten days so our bodies would get the much needed rest and our babies would get started on their schedules by the attending nurse. This new mama, while still weak from her labor and delivery is expected to care for the baby until a baby sitter can be found to take over. This, in itself, can be a traumatic experience. Here is a little, squirming, squawking bit of humanity thrust into your arms to feed and diaper and bathe and soothe and you realize it is your responsibility to raise and care for it the rest of its life. But there is relief in sight. The baby sitter can handle these unpleasant tasks as soon as one can be found. Then mama can go back to her job which is far different from raising babies.

The baby sitter takes over and it is she who discovers the first stool and hears the first mama or dada. She coaxes the first wailing steps into open arms and soothes the feverish crying. Of course it has also been she who changed the dirty diapers and cleaned the rest of its life. But there is relief in sight. The baby sitter can handle these unpleasant tasks as soon as one can be found. Then mama can go back to her job which is far different from raising babies.

baby from birth until he enters school. It takes mama and daddy's paycheck to pay for the baby sitter, the plastic diapers that she uses, to keep from washing the cotton ones, and much of it is spent on fancy little clothes that is required to keep in style. Of course there are other expenses that have to be met such as food and entertainment.

Material things such as clothes and toys, better cars and entertainment are taking the place of teaching the art of saving for the future. Do you remember the only fashioned piggy bank that was an important part of every child's possessions? Can you remember when a child's dress or pants were bought for their wearability and not for the name tag on them? Do you remember when a child was taught to say thank you, and yes mam, and please, and excuse me? Have you missed these expressions in today's society? Oh yes, we have a few of them left and thank goodness for them. We at least have a fragment of the past to set some examples for the rest to hopefully follow.

The babies being born today are entering a world where more changes are taking place than at any other time in history. We have gone from a family oriented community where roots were established and there was always a home to return to. That was when parents not only cared for their own children but included the neighbors as well. This was a time of genuine neighborliness and everyone contributed to the wellbeing of the whole community. Today the economic situation has caused families to splinter as members have to seek elsewhere for employment. In turn this has been the cause of neighborhoods to all but disappear. Now the burden of correcting this tragedy falls on the shoulders of our youth. They are the ones who will have to bring back the values of honesty, hard work, and discipline to their offspring. In so doing they will also bring back family unity and a sense of pride in a community. From what I have seen of the majority of our youth they are more than capable of doing it.

The care of our aging population is another problem of our changing world. The changing of the care they receive today versus the care they gave to their parents is as different as the change in our babies care. One of the biggest problems facing us in the care of these citizens who have contributed so much in their life time and are now on the fringes of a society that doesn't seem to know what to do with them. The advent of smaller homes taking the place of the older big old homes of the past has left no room for the widowed or ailing parent in the homes of their children so they must live alone and do the best they can with their problems.

When a widowed mate is left alone in a home that has been shared for most of their lifetime the aloneness can be overwhelming. This loneliness can in itself cause the mind to deteriorate.

Our brain, like every other part of our body needs exercise and stimulation if it is to function properly. There isn't much chance for this kind of stimulation when your mate is gone and the children have gone to their homes in far away places and the silence seems to bounce off the walls and penetrates the very innermost parts of one's being. This is one of the causes of our nursing homes being overcrowded. The lack of mental stimulation has undoubtedly caused many seniors to end up in nursing homes where companionship and a healthy diet will often clear their thinking and put them back on the road to relative good health.

We need more doctors who specialize in the care of older people. The needs of an aging body are different from those of younger people. We need maintenance care for worn out bodies that will keep us free from the pain that accompanies it. We need doctors who understand this and are willing to listen to the constant cries of "I forget, I hurt, I'm so weak, all the time." I'm sure we are a trial to the physician specialized in the care of the younger generation whose illnesses are soon relieved and they are back to normal in no time. We, or most of us any way, don't expect this to happen to us. We know when any thing is wrong it can never be made to run again as it did when it was new.

What we need is to be treated equally with other adults, our complaints listened to carefully and all treatments explained in a way we can understand. We would like to be kept relatively free from pain and by all means find a way to keep our wits with us until we finally get the long rest our worn out bodies need.

The solving of this problem alone is a challenge to our nation and should be taken on by some of our bright students entering the adult world. Next week we will try to look into the crystal ball and see what the future might hold.

Sweet and Sour

By: Zi Graves

Today

Sometimes it seems strange how I get the ideas for my Sweet and Sour column. This series began as a consequence of a conversation with a senior citizen worker. She was telling me and the joy she receives in caring for those who can no longer care for themselves. She drives the bus for the transit system along with her many other duties. This day she had taken me to the doctor in Richmond for x-rays. This is a much needed and appreciated service for those of us who sometimes have difficulty driving or finding a way to get to places we need to be. It is people like Lorene and Shirley and all their co-workers nationwide that help to bring about a change in the lives of our aging people.

The other day by a strange coincidental conversation at the Signal office bolstered this idea of all the changes taking place in our lives. The subject of the lack of discipline in the schools came up and it was Sara's opinion that it was the teachers job to discipline and keep better order in the classroom, Cindy, being a mother, student aid teacher in the making thought differently. Each had valid reasons for their opinions but I had to side with Cindy. Our argument was for better home training and discipline that would be continued in the classroom. This would bring about a unity in the life of the child and respect for parent and teacher would be increased. It seems today's child does not respect what so ever the teacher. In my day when a child was disciplined by the teacher he or she was called to task at home. We went to school to not only learn to read and write but to learn how to be respectable and caring people. The teachers were to be looked up to for their ability to teach and their dedication to their profession. I am still of the belief that this profession deserves the best brains in our nation. It will take the very best to compete with today's children.

Last week I wrote about children being raised by their mamas and discipline beginning at her knees. That was the era of home births and breast feeding and of children being a normal part of every family. They were not special creatures that whole families looked up to nor were they creatures to be doted on at will. They were a part of each parent therefore a unique and lovable little being to care for and share in the raising of. This child was the today in their life, his future would be their tomorrow. Many a couple stayed married and held their family together for this reason alone. Love had been shared

Rotary Club news

The weekly meeting of the Mt. Vernon Rotary Club was called to order Tuesday by Dr. Osorn Arvin at Kastle Inn. With 10 persons present Dr. Arvin said, we are pleased to note that the spirit of Rotary is alive and well and growing in Mt. Vernon.

Dr. Arvin reported on the success of the rally in support of our troops in the Middle East, sponsored by Mt. Vernon Rotary Club and other civic organizations. In spite of the bad weather, the VFW and other civic groups presented an inspiring program dedicated to the men and women from Rockcastle County who have been called to active duty in the Middle East in defense of freedom and justice. Larry Burdette will be making copies of the video tape of the ceremony to send to our service men and women as a memento of our appreciation of a job well done.

Among those present, the club was pleased to welcome visiting Rotarians Hunt Perkins, District 674 Governor from Lexington, and Bill Perkins, President of the Lancaster Rotary Club and Pete Gleich, Area Representative, also of Lancaster.

The club target program was staged presentation by UK Coach Bill Curry on the topic "Winning in life is giving Meetings will be held each Tuesday at 6 p.m. at Kastle Inn. Future programs include: March 12, Representative Bill Lear, "Special 1991 Legislative Session: New DUI Bill." Any one interested in Rotary membership is invited to attend the weekly meetings.

The club will meet with city and county officials to begin work on a county wide solid waste program. Anyone interested in joining this initiative should contact Dr. Arvin.

Danbury cellular phone given permission to operate

The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has granted Danbury Cellular Telephone Company of Rochester, N.Y. approval to operate a telecommunications system in Madison County and to construct a mobile telephone switching office and antenna tower.

The system will consolidate service between Lexington and the Tennessee state line.

The company had checked several sites in Rockcastle for a tower including Burr Hill, Chestnut Ridge and Orlando before making a final decision. Rockcastle was turned down because of low-flying army aircraft that interfere with the signal.

The proposed site consists of a 285-foot antenna tower to be located at Ky. 1580 off U.S. 25 in Richmond. Only one structure lies within 500 feet of the proposed site.

The PSC said the tower design conforms to all standard engineering codes, and should withstand high winds, tornadoes and earthquakes.

Also, a second company, Contel Cellular 1 of Louisville and Lexington, will also be operating a cellular phone system in Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties, but few details have been released.

However, a company official did say the Contel tower will not be constructed until the end of the year. Location of the tower has not been reported.

Neither company has as yet released an installation cost or monthly rate for service although basic proposed rates have been approved for Danbury by the PSC.

Kentucky Housing now accepting applications

Kentucky Housing Corporation is accepting preliminary proposals for below-market-interest-rate interim and/or permanent financing of multifamily housing throughout the Commonwealth. The deadline for preliminary applications is April 15, 1991. The results of this request for proposals will enable KHC to determine demand and plan financing strategies for Fiscal Year 1992, beginning July 1, 1991.

"This initiative is proof of the emphasis Governor Wilkinson and the Administration have made toward meeting the rental housing needs of Kentuckians with very low incomes," said John Martinez, executive director of KHC. "We are pleased to announce the potential availability of additional multifamily housing financing throughout the Commonwealth."

Projects may have new construction or acquisition and substantial rehabilitation. Projects should have a minimum of 8 but no more than 80 units to qualify. Tenants will be required to meet KHC income eligibility requirements at initial occupancy. All projects must be insured under Department of Housing and Urban Development programs.

A loan review committee will evaluate the proposals on the basis of developer's experience and financial strength, project cash flow, rental market, location and tenant management programs.

Preliminary applications can be obtained by contacting Penny Young at (502) 564-4598, (800) 633-8896 or (800)247-2510 (for the hearing impaired only).

National Forest timber sales continue to decline

It could be called Troublesome Forest if sales of timber in Daniel Boone Forest continues to slide.

In fact, according to Forest Officials, it is now costing more to prepare a tract of timber for sale than the timber will bring.

By the Forest Service's accounting, the 30 million board feet of timber it sold from the Daniel Boone National Forest last year brought in $14 million, but the timber program cost $2.5 million to operate.

Of the $14 million in sales, $352,000 went to the state, which distributed it among the 22 counties that make up the forest.

On the bottom line, the Forest Service calculated it lost nearly $14 million. That's what is known as a deficit timber sale, a hotly debated issue across the nation.

The Wilderness Society, an opponent of deficit sales in national forests, charges that the government's accounting methods disguise an even deeper loss.

Richard Rice, a research analyst at the society's headquarters in Washington, D.C., said his figures show the Daniel Boone actually lost $3.7 million last year.

Whatever the actual loss, the society argues that the Forest Service should stop cutting trees in forests where the timber programs lose money.

"I don't think it makes any sense at all for the taxpayers to be subsidizing damage to the environment," Rice said.

The debate over deficit sales has been gaining interest in the last several years.

For the last two years, Sen. Rex Mann, the timber, wildlife and fire staff officer for the Daniel Boone National Forest, said that before a tract of timber is sold, biologists come through looking for rare or endangered species of plants or animals. Archaeologists come through looking for prehistoric Indian sites.

In some areas, cliff lines are being surveyed and put out of bounds for loggers because they harbor rare bats. All those costs are charged against the timber program, Mann said. But the benefits of finding an Indian site or a bat cave are not calculated.

Last week, Mann stood among a group of red-cockaded woodpecker

Homes and businesses to be numbered

A project to number homes and businesses in Mt. Vernon will be done by the Postal Service, Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the city council Monday night.

The mayor said the service had agreed to take on the project but will do small sections at a time and in the proper infill.

Unnamed streets will be named if not already.

The postal service estimates it will take from six months to a year to complete. No starting date has been set.

The mayor said the numbering does not mean there is going to be walking mail delivery. House to house delivery depends on the size of the city and number of households.

The only cost to the city will be to finalize a city map and put the residences on the map, the mayor said.

He added the greatest benefit will be to allow police and fire departments to respond more quickly as will ambulances.

Underwood Jr., Barry Drew Barmore, Leonard W. "Buck" Besley, Randall Gibson Curry, A. Ardeman, Democrat, Glen D. Holtbrook, Ed Logsdon, Willard Farmer Morris, Donald W. Gooch, Michael J. Greene, Julian T. Harris, Harry W. Hieneman.

Burley tobacco

Farmers will pay 1 cent assessment

Farmers and tobacco companies each will pay an assessment of 1 cent for every pound sold of the 1991 burley crop; the U.S. Agriculture Department announced yesterday.

Farmers and companies each have paid 1 cent for every pound sold during the last three marketing seasons, which delays government costs for the federal burley program. The fee operates the program at "net cost" to taxpayers.

But there is a slight change in the fee structure this season.

The no-net fee will drop to 0.2 cent for every pound sold, but federal officials added an assessment because of the growing U.S. deficit. Because of that fee, the overall cost to farmers and companies is unchanged.

Feed Mill burglarized

During Friday night or Saturday, burglars broke into Jasper Feed Mill and took about $200 from the cash register and other items.

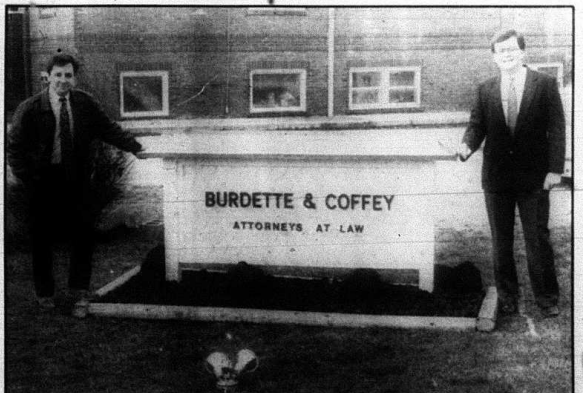

Entrance was gained by breaking a chain on a rear door, police reported.

All recent break-ins are under investigation.

Mobile home destroyed

A mobile home belonging to Boyd Durham on Carter Drive in Mt. Vernon was destroyed by fire about 9 p.m. Saturday.

Mt. Vernon firemen reported the mobile home apparently was not occupied. Firemen were also unsure how the fire started.

Jeffery T. Burdette and Willis G. Coffey have opened a new law office on West Main Street, across from DeBoard Oil Company, in Mt. Vernon.

Could the Rockets have defeated Clay?

The question is, "Could the Rockcastle County Rockets have really defeated Head Coach Bobby Keith's 14th state ranked Clay County Tigers in the 49th District Tournament at the Rockcastle County High School last Tuesday night?"

The answer, yes with an if.

Yes they could have if the structure of their season hadn't changed, due to players lost, shortly after the Rockets entered the latter half of their regular season. And if injuries would have been at the bare minimum instead of four players suffering some kind of injury from which two of those are still out.

I'm sure everyone knows that the team Rockets' Head Coach David Perkins put on the floor at the beginning of this season was probably one of the best that has been assembled for years.

Their run and gun style of play caught the eye of many who attended their basketball games throughout the year. And it was this very aspect of their game that made the running Rockets a very competitive basketball team.

And, no surprise, the Rockets lacked in size again this year, but it didn't matter. The Rockets played stride for stride with many basketball teams that dressed front lines in the 6'7" height range and forced such teams to play their best game just to slip away with a win, some didn't.

For a team, whose tallest player measured only 6'2", the Rockets were on the right track. Although their record only portrayed a 5-7 standing 12 games into their season, it could have very easily been 10-2 had a few games leaned in the other direction. And through it all, the Rockets were not just another team but a very challenging team to their competitors.

But as most know, the Rockets found a flaw in their system shortly after the midway point of the regular season. A flaw that not only hampered the Rockets but proved devastating. I'm talking about injuries and injuries that sent a very hopeful season down the tubes while taking the remaining players with it.

Senior forward Billy Todd was the first to go. Todd, who was last year's leading scorer, was probably the best shooter for the Rockets this year and his absence alone was felt in many ways, especially when a three-pointer or crucial basket was needed.

Senior guard Tim Cottrell's injury came second. Noted mostly for his speed and quickness, Cottrell's absence sent a running Rockets' basketball team in the wrong direction. And although Cottrell was able to come back in the line-up, Perkins said that Cottrell was never really back to 100% for a large part of the remaining games in the season.

The third injury was claimed by senior Scotty Hines. Hines, who joined the team midway through the season to fill Todd's vacant role, proved to be a much needed asset with his size and was quickly beginning to play an important role underneath the basket with his rebounding and put-backs. But as we all know, Hines was not able to use his full potential for the Rockets because of the spreading injuries.

The final and most frightening injury came when senior center David Eaton, Jr. went down in practice with a thought-to-be broken foot. However, Eaton's foot checked out alright and he was back in the line-up the following game, the one and only thing that did turn out for the better instead of the worse.

Through it all, the Rockets have had, by far, more bad luck than good luck. Perkins said earlier this year, "If I didn't have any bad luck, I would have no luck at all." The statement by Perkins and the phrase used by most everyone is probably the best description that can be used to describe the Rockets this year.

Bad luck haunted the Rockets from the midway point and right on through to the district tournament, which leads us right back to the question, "Could the Rockets have defeated Clay?" I honestly believe they could have beaten them had they not had all the injuries and had they played one of their better games.

Clay County, to me, didn't play one of their better games against the Rockets last Tuesday night. In fact, I didn't see them as being as good as the so called experts say they are. Don't get me wrong, they are a very talented team and if the truth be known, are probably the best team in this area. But the facts are, any given team can be beaten on any given day.

Clay has won 90 consecutive games at home and Clay is ranked in the top 20 teams in the state, but in my eyes, the Rockets could have edged by with their whole team fully dressed and ready to play on court.

Why I'm thinking this is because of the evidence that was handed to me in the second half of the Rockets vs Tigers game Tuesday. Bluntly, Clay only beat the Rockets by four points in the half, 43-39. That's close in my book, especially when a team like Clay is supposed to wipe the floor clean over other teams seeded in the district.

Sure, the final outcome was by more than twenty, 89-66 Clay's favor, but what can you expect. The Rockets went into the game knowing from the start they were the underdogs and I'm sure they probably thought they would be beaten. Still, the Rockets also went into the game knowing they were two players short and realizing they hadn't won a game (seven game losing streak) since their eighth and final win over Woodbridge.

The sad thing is that the Rockets had everything, except for the injuries, going in their direction. The key aspect was they were playing at home and for Clay, who plays the majority of their games at Clay County, they are not always at the top of their game when they play away. Another key was that the Rockets and Clay were basically playing the same in size. Except for maybe some upper body strength, Clay really had no serious advantage from a physical standpoint.

And still, with injuries or not, the Rockets put the remaining strong aspects to work for them and played a very respectable game against Clay. I think that Head Coach Bobby Keith even knew that the Rockets gave Clay a much better game than they had bargained for; he acted like it anyhow.

Number one ranked Tigarettes rout Lady Rockets, 95-43

The number one state ranked and eventual district winners, Clay County Tigarettes, easily turned away the challenging Rockcastle County Lady Rockets, 95-43, in the semi-final round of the girls' 49th District Tournament at RCHS last Wednesday night.

Lady Rockets' Head Coach Christy Beaver said before the game that they (Lady Rockets) had nothing to lose. "We know we are the underdog but we are still just going to play our normal ball game," she added.

It was all the Lady Rockets could do since the Tigarettes are the top team in the state and the 10th in the nation.

A good eight point first quarter by senior forward Karla Bullock helped spark the Lady Rockets in the first few minutes and keep the score respectable and, at the same time, competitive, 22-15.

However, it only took until the second period for the stacked Tigarettes' ball club to take charge of the game. The Tigarettes were able to post 21 points in the period, compared to the Lady Rockets' 11, with a very well rounded scoring spree and boost their lead to 43-26 at intermission.

The landslide only increased in the second half as the Tigarettes, led by senior forward Dawn Dinsmore with 19 points, put five players into double figures. In fact, the Tigarettes had seven players to reach the score-book in every quarter except for the first when they had six and with these totals, took a whopping lead in the third period, 71-38.

And, although the Lady Rockets had another unsuccessful night from the free throw line, 9 of 31, the Tigarettes off-set the missed free throws by also displaying a poor shooting percentage from the stripe by managing only 19 of 40 attempts.

But aside from the relatively equal night from the charity stripe by both teams, the final period was the most devastating period for the Lady Rockets. While the Tigarettes were hammering away to an eventual 25 points in the period, the Lady Rockets managed only five, all scored by junior guard Kristi Sargent, and fell to a concluding 96-43 loss.

The key aspect for the lopsided score was the Tigarettes limfing the Lady Rockets' scoring to only their starting five with Bullock the only player to reach double figures, 16 points. While in the process, the Tigarettes used their depth to produce 10 scorers and remain as the team to beat.

For head coach Dominic Gray's Tigarettes and district champions, it's off to the region. As for the Lady Rockets, who finished at 7-18 with the loss, they will gear up and focus on next year.

Scoring for the Lady Rockets in the game were: Karla Bullock, 16; Kristi Sargent, 8; April Burton and Cindy McCauley, 7 each and Beth Amyx, 5.

QUARTERBACK CLUB ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING

Coach Larkey, along with other supporters of Rockcastle County Football, would like to invite all parents and fans to join them in organizing a club whose main goal will be to support the young men who play football for R.C.H.S.

After five consecutive winning seasons and a record of 39-15 over that period, the young men involved in the program have proven they are willing to sacrifice in order to win. Our kids should have the same community support as the kids at Corbin, Somerset, Middlesboro, Wayne County, and other teams we must play in the future.

Mothers and female fans are welcome and encouraged to join.

Christian Basketball Tournament Results

Every game was relatively close on Monday night's first round of the Rockcastle Christian Basketball League tournament at Mt. Vernon Elementary School.

The first game, which was logged up at 14 all at the half, saw Teen Challenge, led by Brian Reed with 22 points, come back from trailing by one in the third period to a 41-36 win over Broadhead Baptist at the conclusion.

Losing David Pensol led Broadhead in the losing effort with 13 points. "Red" Bryant led Bible Baptist with 14 points in the second game of the tourney and helped his team maintain a small cushion over Ottawa Broadhead Baptist throughout the duration. Although Bruce Blanton of Ottawa led all scorers with 17, Bible Baptist nursed their limited lead for a 55-50 win.

Benny Blanton's 14 points and Jeff Burdett's 12 worked for Northside/Mareburg as they edged out First Baptist I, 43-39, in the third game Monday night. First Baptist I was led by Mike Smith and Jason Coguer with eight each in the effort.

In the fourth and final game Monday night, First Christian squeaked by First Baptist II, 39-36, after an equal first three periods of play. Rick Bryant led First Christian with 13 points while Billy Phillips fired in 15 for First Baptist II.

The tournament will continue this Monday night at MVES although teams and times have not been announced as of yet.
