Construction will begin soon on the $2 million dollar courthouse annexation project.

Construction on court annex will begin soon

By: Ray McClure

Offices were rolled in and a sign went up this week as CB & S Construction Co. members began preparations to construct a $1,955,000 annex to the Rockcastle County Courthouse. It is estimated it will take until the last of 1992, about 14 months, to complete the annex, according to a construction company spokesman. A trailer that will serve as offices for the company was placed on the site this week. A sign describing the project also was erected. The spokesman reported excavation will begin Thursday (today).

First Street, on which the annex will be partly located, has been closed to traffic.

A groundbreaking ceremony is expected to be arranged within a few days, according to County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins.

Revenue bonds totaling the $1,955,000 were approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court last week, going to Ross, Sinclair & Associates of Lexington at 17.17 percent annual net interest cost over a 20-year period.

The annex is the project of the state court system and the bonds will be paid through a lease agreement from the state Administrative Office of the Court.

All local state offices will be located in the 14,000 square foot annex. The present courthouse contains about 12,000 square feet.

The new annex will allow the county to meet its needs for the next 50 to 60 years, and the building will not cost the county any tax money, the judge said earlier.

Attached to the present courthouse, the building will be accessible to the second and third floors of the courthouse by elevator. Parking will be partly on recently purchased property that was owned by Henry Hines and on the city owned lot that extends from the property to Sears.

For Restaurants

Government approves loan

The Farmers Home Administration has approved a $1 million loan guarantee clearing the way for construction of two new restaurants near Renoir Valley, U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers and Sen. Mitch McConnell announced today.

"This is a technical assistance grant that provides the 'seed money' to help get things started," said Rogers. The museum's directors will use this award to help raise money locally for construction, development and promotion of the Hall.

The Cumberland Valley Area Development District is contributing $12,500 in local matching funds to the year-long technical assistance program, to assist with staff support, office space and other costs, said McConnell.

The non-profit museum will be located near the grounds of the Renoir Valley Barn dance in Rockcastle County and will provide a unique educational and cultural attraction complementing the other facilities at Renoir Valley," McConnell said.

The museum will collect and preserve old music, instruments and other items important to Kentucky's country music heritage, honor Kentucky artists, and maintain archives for the benefit of scholars, school children and country music fans who want to learn more about Kentucky's contributions to American country music.

"Once in operation, the Hall of Fame Museum will be another key element in the total tourism picture in Southern Kentucky," Rogers said. "In the long run, it will mean more jobs, further opportunities for economic development and an improved standard of living for our people."

Alan Purcell

Judge Mullins confirmed the county will lose "some rent money," when the courts move, but he said the Property Valuation Administrators office, the sheriff's office and the county clerk's office are all overcrowded and could use the space that will become available. Also, there is no room now for an office for the county attorney and the county surveyor.

"We will also need space for the solid waste coordinator when a new one is chosen," the judge continued.

"The added space could possibly allow us to expand the number of beds in the jail to overcome loss of the rent."

The state and federal government pays the county to house state and federal prisoners on occasion.

What is required in a court annex? There will be public waiting areas, circuit and district courtrooms and trial commissioner room; attorney client conference room; two rooms for witness waiting; secure holding facility; jury assembly room; jury deliberation room; formal and informal hearing rooms; chambers for judges; court reporter; court clerk room; law library; circuit court clerk offices; Supreme Court justice Lambert's offices; storage areas and restrooms.

According to court guidelines, the court annex should have an overall appearance of dignity and efficiency.

The unique purpose of the court and its status as a separate branch of government should be reflected in the appearance of court facilities to distinguish them from other government operations," the guidelines stress. Further:

"The appearance of court facilities affects the public's respect for the court as an institution. It also affects the attitude of personnel who work in the court building. The court premises, therefore, should be of a character and quality commensurate with the proper and effective administration of justice. The court facilities should be well maintained (by the county). Dilapidated walls, dirty windows, peeling paint, run down furnishings and shabby floors do not convey a proper image of the court."

Among other things, the court annex will have a directory at each public entrance and a coordinated sign system throughout the building. It will have central heat and air conditioning. The building will be accessible to the physically handicapped in compliance with the Kentucky Building Code.

Architect for the annex is Garlan Vanhook of Stanford.

U.K. awards Purcell Gaines Fellowship

Alan Purcell, a University of Kentucky junior from Willalla, has been awarded a Gaines fellowship to study in the humanities.

The son of R.D. and Betty Purcell, Rt. 1, Brodhead, he majors in political science at U.K.

Given to only 10 students each year, the fellowships are awarded on the basis of personal interviews and on essays which describe how the study of humanities will improve the student's life.

The two-year program in the humanities provides each recipient with $2,000 the first year and $3,000 the second year to study in a special multi-disciplinary seminar and prepare a major undergraduate thesis.

The program was established in 1984 with a $500,000 gift from John R. and Joan B. Gaines, well-known Lexington philanthropists.

142 abuse cases reported locally

There were 142 cases of child abuse or neglect investigated in Rockcastle County in 1990, and child protection workers for the State Department for Social Services, (DSS) substantiated 43 of those reports.

Yet, according to Mike Bryant, Family Services Officer Supervisor of the Rockcastle County DSS office, those numbers only tell a portion of the story that is being reported during the April observation of Child Abuse Prevention Month in Kentucky.

Storm does $1 million in damage

A survey by various agencies in the county show about $1 million in damage was done to property in last week's storm, according to Gary Asher, of the Rockcastle Disaster Emergency Services (DES).

The survey, done by ASCS office, American Red Cross, and the DES, shows about $800,000 in agriculture related damage and the remainder in non-agricultural damage.

The survey is not complete, Asher said. Anyone who has not reported damage, should since County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins plans to apply for emergency assistance.

"They should report it as soon as possible," Asher said "in order that we can include it in the final estimate."

never reported, either because people feel -- wrongly in most cases -- that the problem should be solved within the family unit," Bryant said.

Then, some people still misunderstand the role our workers play in cases of abuse or neglect. Once the child is safe, our goal is to help that family find the help necessary to provide a stable and nurturing home for the child.

McCormick indicted

Glenn Eugene McCormick, 32, of Orlando, has been charged in U.S. District Court in a three-count indictment.

He is charged with one count of being a felon in possession of a firearm, and two counts of being in possession of unregistered firearms.

Each of the charges carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and/or a $250,000 fine.

The indictment resulted from an investigation conducted by the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms.

Prosecution of the case will be handled by Assistant United States Attorney Thomas L. Self.

Bryant said, "Even if temporary removal of the child is necessary, we'll be working with the entire family for a stronger home and, ultimately, reunification whenever possible.

"People need to look upon a report to Social Services as an answer to a cry for help, not as some disruption of the family unit. We offer troubled families aid such as parent education, counseling, subsidized day care or direct referral to other agencies providing family assistance services," he said.

$50,000 grant approved

The Appalachian Regional Commission has approved a $50,000 grant to lay the groundwork for construction of the Kentucky Country Music Hall of Fame Museum at Renoir Valley, U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers and Sen. Mitch McConnell announced today.

"This is a technical assistance grant that provides the 'seed money' to help get things started," said Rogers. The museum's directors will use this award to help raise money locally for construction, development and promotion of the Hall.

The Cumberland Valley Area Development District is contributing $12,500 in local matching funds to the year-long technical assistance program, to assist with staff support, office space and other costs, said McConnell.

The non-profit museum will be located near the grounds of the Renoir Valley Barn dance in Rockcastle County and will provide a unique educational and cultural attraction complementing the other facilities at Renoir Valley," McConnell said.

The museum will collect and preserve old music, instruments and other items important to Kentucky's country music heritage, honor Kentucky artists, and maintain archives for the benefit of scholars, school children and country music fans who want to learn more about Kentucky's contributions to American country music.

"Once in operation, the Hall of Fame Museum will be another key element in the total tourism picture in Southern Kentucky," Rogers said. "In the long run, it will mean more jobs, further opportunities for economic development and an improved standard of living for our people."

Yes! Yes! Yes! I have approached June Widman to discuss the subject of the Troybilt tiller that belongs to her family which has relocated itself from a homestead farm in the Rockcastle County Wilderness to a nice little street in Berea with scant room for gardening. The Troybilt has been in my care since about this time last year and I fully expected that June and Gil would want to rent some space from the college and put it back to use this year.

I had hoped that I might be able to borrow it from time to time even though my previous experience with a commuting tiller didn't work out so well. By the time I spent two hours driving, loading, unloading and dead-end loading driving and unloading again, I lost all inspiration to garden. And in my experience, uninspired gardening generally results in a bumper crop of crab grass and horse weeds.

But June indicated, even before I opened negotiations, that her family wasn't in a gardening mood this year and they had decided that I could rent the Troybilt. Best of all, I pay the rent in fresh vegetables. So not be telling me that there isn't a God.

I pick on Troybilt every spring because I am a covetous person with a thin bankroll. There is no gardening implement in the same league as this machine, but it is priced both beyond my means and my willingness if I had the means. More than half the cost of the tiller goes to pay for an advertising campaign that costs millions of dollars every year. I have suggested on numerous occasions that they simply drop off the advertising for a year, slash the price tag from $1500 to $299.95 and see what happens. I'd bet anything the company would turn a better profit because there is not a living soul in the civilized world who has not been exposed to various Troybilt propaganda. We all want one. Now make 'em affordable.

If I were the executive in charge of the marketing department at Troybilt, I would be firing the person who wastes all that money on the mail they send to me. They could have just as economically sent me a tiller and paid the freight. And when they find out that I'm using one anyway and paying for it with snow peas, pak choi, zucchini and banana peppers, somebody's job ought to be on the line.

So to heck with politics anyway! I intend to spend what time I have to worry about world affairs concentrating on the development of a three pound tomato. Thanks to Molly Helton for an old heirloom seed that I have been growing for the last four years. I believe the record is within my grasp. I believe that I have found a strain of horse manure that will provide the necessary oomph and I am inspired with the knowledge that the Troybilt is my beck and call.

I have a pint jar full of Buford Caudill White Fall Bean seed and the goal of sowing at least a gallon this year for distribution to gardeners across the land come 1992. The furthest goal is to establish the Buford Caudill bean as the premier garden cultivar in Kentucky before the turn of the century. Over the last several months we mailed seed to 27 other people, asking only that they share too because this bean is absolutely the best eating bean to ever cross my lower lip and the late Reverend Caudill is responsible for getting me started. I fully expect that this bean will be in seed catalogues with Buford's name attached within five years. We'll see.

John pokes a lot of fun at my snow pea endeavors, but Ralph and I actually made 33 cents an hour growing peas when we finally marketed the crop, and yes we're planning another market crop again this spring. But taters? When somebody actually shows me their fertilizer, seed insecticide and other receipts, and then

Bullen, Hamm are co-chairmen for Dr. Floyd Poore in county Democratic candidate Dr. Floyd G. Poore has appointed Joe Bullen and Jerry Hamm as Rockcastle County co-chairmen for his gubernatorial campaign.

"Dr. Poore wants to roll back taxes in Kentucky, and that was only one of many selling points for me," said Hamm. "I'm also impressed with his independent spirit, and his determination to improve the quality of life for all who live here."

"Dr. Poore is compassionate, honest, and hard-working—all the qualities required to make an excellent governor," Bullen added.

Besides rolling back part of Kentucky's burdensome taxes that do not benefit education, Dr. Poore will also bring affordable health care costs to all Kentuckians, and ban out-of-state garbage from entering Kentucky.

Furthermore, he would request a monthly audit of the Kentucky Lottery which would be provided to the media for publication.

"Dr. Poore has a working knowledge of how state government should function, and we're proud to represent him in Rockcastle County," said Hamm.

provides a rundown of their labor to prove that they can grow taters more economically than the Kroger store. "I'll believe it. Too much work in taters to suit me when you can buy 'em washed and sacked for less than $5 a bushel."

Eggplant and banana peppers, yellow crookneck squash, and green onions, cucumbers and Cherokee wax beans, big old yellow tomatoes with purple streaks through them, spinach, iceberg lettuce, and kandy corn are all possible at the end of his hoe handle and John is using half his garden for taters.

We once had a neighbor who complained that her taters didn't make a thing. "Never got a single potato," she said, "but had such beautiful vines."

Late that fall, long after the vines had died, she called me up one afternoon. "The strangest thing is happening," she said. "Potatoes are coming up as thick as grass all over my garden."

"Maybe you didn't dig deep enough the first time," I suggested.

"Dig what?" she asked. "If I were John, I'd dig 'em up before they sprouted the first time and put in a few more rows of peas."

Do you have a gardening tip you'd like to share with others so we can all grow better stuff? Send 'em to me at 9890 Hwy 52 West, Paint Lick, KY 40461 and we'll get 'em in the paper.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
The following letter is written to Martha Wilkinson, who is running for governor.

Dear Martha,
I am a teacher in Kentucky and have been watching your advertisements on television concerning whether teachers in Kentucky are up to snuff.

I have attended college for 6 years (B.S., M.A., and Rank 1) and have taught elementary school for seven years. I have taken the National Teacher's Examination, the Graduate Record Examination, and have been observed numerous times by my principal and fellow teachers. I feel that I am very competent and would not mind taking a Competency Test to prove it. I feel this is also true of my dedicated (but mostly unappreciated) colleagues.

The reason I am writing this is that I, along with my fellow teachers, want to know what your qualifications are to be the leader of this state. Have you graduated from college?

Have you held any elected office? Have you passed a Governor's Competency Test? In other words, Martha, are you up to snuff?

Dear Rick,

I just wanted to thank you for the article you wrote reminding us of what a special person Pat was. Pat touched a lot of people in the 36 years he was alive and this was obvious by the number of people at the visitation and service. Pat is continuing to give "the Gift of Life" to several people who received his organs. He has given these people a new lease on life. It was my request that they inform me of who received his organs and that they be told what a special person Pat was and that it was his wish to donate his organs.

The hardest part is the fact that Pat was such a great husband and father and he loved his children so much. It breaks my heart that they will never know him except through our memories. Everybody has been so nice and so supportive during our loss and I just want to say "thank you" to all of you. I know we have been away from Rockcastle County for several years, but Pat always thought of his friends and spent time with them when he could.

Thank you and God bless you and yours.

Oh How I Miss you

By: Pearl Newton
(In remembrance of my late husband who passed away 3/3/74, Herman Newton)

The days are so lonely here
Since God called you on home
But I know you are happy there
With them around God's throne
I know you're waiting there for me on heavens shining shore
And soon we'll be together there where death can come no more

Oh how I miss you since you went away, but I know you're rejoicing
in heaven today

Death angels came for you when this life was ore
Now you're with Jesus
on that beautiful shore

As I sit by your bedside and I heard you pray
Lord, be thy will take me home today
Then the gates swing open and you went on through
And oh how I miss you
I'm so alone and blue

As I walked through the garden where the flowers were in bloom
I picked a white rose to lay on your tomb
As my eyes filled with tears
I knelt down to pray
And I'm home sick to be with you
in heaven today.

Only A Boy

By: Everett Higgins

I remember the first time I tried it,
I was only a kid of fifteen,
And even though she was much younger than I,
She was far more composed and serene.

I was eager, yet awkward and backward,
Uncertain of how to proceed,
But she seemed not to notice the hesitancy

With which I prepared for the deed.
I remember I spoke to her softly
And the touch of her body was warm
And my fingers moved awkwardly
over her throat
While she nestled her head on my arm.

Looking back on it I now remember How I stood, while my head seemed to spin
With the thought of the thing I was going to do

cent treatment towards customers at Druthers in Mt. Vernon.
First of all, the food simply is not good. Often it is not hot/cold as it should be, with prices higher than many competitors. Also I usually have to wait longer than 5 minutes for my order after I place it.

My primary complaint relates to money mistakes.
I do continue to go to Druthers once or twice a month, though I vow each time not to return.

It is the truth, that at least 50 percent of the time I go through the Drive Through I am either charged too much initially or given incorrect change. The "window clerk" will deny the error until I point it out mathematically.

My visit through the Druthers Drive Through on 4/10/91 was the last straw. I placed my order (at about 5 p.m.) which totalled $6.59. I gave the girl a twenty; I know I gave her a twenty dollar bill.

I had been to the bank that day and had cashed a check for $50. I spent the 'ten' elsewhere, which left two twenties. I remember looking at the twenty as I gave it to the cashier, "rationing the change in my mind for the next couple days." Well, the girl at the window only gave me $3.51 in return ($10 short). When I said, "I gave you a twenty," she essentially made no comment -- gave me my food and drinks after a 3-4 minute wait. She then informed me that I would have to wait in the parking lot, and she would see about my change, with no explanation why (they had to break down the drawer).

I waited for over five minutes before a different girl came out. She said they had counted the drawer and it was not 'over', and I would not get any money back. I asked to speak to the manager. Inside, Mr. Settle made no apologies, was less than polite in telling me, 'you did not give [us] a twenty.' I tried to explain, but he said, "No...the drawer is only $2.00 over..." I asked if the register couldn't actually be $8 short. I was again cut off with a "No..."

I am frustrated by the unprofessionalism of the establishment and I don't want-need my $10 back. Incidentally, I am sending a similar letter to the International Druthers Headquarters in Louisville.

Sincerely,
Mitham Mallins

The Shoe Place

By: Mayzell Rives

There is a store,
in our Brodhead town.
They have shoes,
for everybody around.

They've got lots of sizes
for young and old.

The prices are right,
at least that's what I've been told.

They have ladies dress shoes,
and men's too.
Some sweat and tee shirts that are all brand new.
They have pretty bows,
to wear in your hair.
And western style boots,
for you to wear.

Converse and Nike's,
and L.A. Gear.
Easy Spirits,
All kinds of name brands are here.

So if you need some shoes, they have them old and new
So come on down to the shoe place,
They'll find something for you.

"The guarantee is important to Southern Kentucky for at least two reasons," said Rogers, R-Ky.

"First, it means the creation of 60 new jobs, and every new job represents progress in our economic development efforts," he said. "Second, expanded restaurant service is a key element in tourism development plans for the Mt. Vernon-Renton Valley area."

McCormick said the Masticello Banking Company will be the lender for the restaurant project.

"The FmHA loan guarantee is another form of recognition that we are on the right track in trying to expand on tourism," he said. "It is evidence that the government has faith not only in our plans but in our people."

Teen Center Perspectives

By: Ginny Gilpatrick
Rockcastle Teen center

On Your Minds is the name the editors chose for their new monthly publication. The first edition was printed April first, and copies are available at the Teen Center.

So what is on teens' minds that they wish to commit to print? The creative writing, poetry, and illustrations carry themes of bravery, sadness, and reflections on the environment on the Teen Center, itself. Some pieces are objective reporting on programs and events. The editors, Heather Neal, Katie Wilson, and Sarah Wilson, accepted all suitable contributions. Developing typing and layout skills proved exciting, and the end result is a neat, six-page paper.

Monday afternoons, anyone can come to the Center to write. This is a time for creating, conversing about ideas, and exchanging work for critiquing. It is also a time for drawing or painting. Our staff has set itself comfortably in the parking lot one day and sketched his perception of the Teen Center building; this sketch illustrates the poems and editorials on that subject. Others come to paint ceiling art, graphics which will decorate the back wall, and mellow the acoustics. Monday is a great afternoon for those who can fill the pop music void with their own thoughts and creations and turn them into sharing form.

The next issue of In Our Minds, will be out the beginning of May.

Ms. Lisa Johnson 7A class has contributed to the 'Clean-Up Awareness' in our school by cleaning the bathrooms, picking up paper, writing poems, displaying their work in the halls and on bulletin boards. All of the junior high have signed a banner pledging to do their part to save our earth.

Ms. Jeanine Parsons' class has written stories and made posters expressing their concern for the ecology.
Screening for kindergarten was held Saturday by Mrs. Gobbie Blanton, Ms. Beverley Owens, Ms. Kelly Penns, Ms. Rita Shaffer, Ms. Mary Ann Childress, Tammy Stevens, Annette Goveada, Mrs. Doris Wright and Mrs. Regina Little.

Chicken Box has certainly taken a toll on our attendance for a couple of weeks. Good attendance is imperative next week - test week. If a student is absent, then the test must be made up at a later date. Since these tests are made to be given in a group setting - a child seldom does as well when the test is administered individually.

Jennifer Adkison first grade teacher, was honored by the faculty, Thursday, with a shower. Mrs. Adkison will be taking maternity leave soon. Best wishes, Jennifer! Word was received that Mrs. Julie Vannatter has a baby boy. Congratulations to the Vannatter family!

Jeremy Reynolds' parents, Rick and Julie, visited his classroom recently. Rick and Julie have a business, R & J Printing, Mrs. Dyehouse asked the parents to visit the third grade classroom to highlight a unit objective: Career Awareness.

The Comprehensive Care and Family Life Center Pre-school students visited Mrs. Littles and Mrs. Shaffer's kindergarten last week. These students will be enrolling at BES this fall.

Mt. Vernon Message

Mrs. Sherri Webb, attended E.K.U. to get her teaching degree. She was encouraged to teach by her family and she has taught for twelve years. She taught at other schools as a substitute teacher before coming to M.V.E.S. If she could change one thing to help or improve the school or someone's education it would be to set a limit on the amount of television watched in the home so that students could have more study time.

Hamm, Bray, French attend convention

Ms. Sarah Hamm, Aslee Bray, and Sue French attended the Kentucky Retired Teachers Annual Convention on April 2-3 at the Executive West Hotel in Louisville.

One of the highlights of the convention was luncheon speaker, Liz Curtiz Higgs, a former radio personality. Ms. Higgs gave a humorous, motivational and inspirational talk. The Rockcastle County Retired Teachers Association received a gold certificate of recognition for the 1990-91 year. This is the highest award given to a local association. President Sue French accepted the award for the local association.

All retired teachers are invited and encouraged to become a member of the local and state association. For information contact any of the local officers. Vice president Juanita Witt, secretary Barbara Rader and treasurer Sarah Hamm.

These are all excellent teachers," Creamer said. "We want to congratulate them on their election to Kappa Delta Pi."

He noted that for years Eastern has produced outstanding educators at all levels, and is the largest producer of classroom teachers in Kentucky.

"We expect the Kappa Delta Pi members to go on to become leaders in their profession," he said.

The Greek letters Kappa Delta Pi stand for the English meanings "knowledge," "duty," and "power," the motto of the Society. Kappa Delta Pi supports excellence in scholarship, high personal standards, improvement in teacher preparation, distinction in achievement, and contributions to education. The Society, based in West Lafayette, Ind., chartered its E.K.U. chapter on May 5, 1935. Eastern's was the second Kappa Delta Pi chapter established in Kentucky.

Ms. Sarah Hamm, Aslee Bray, Sue French

Mrs. Yanzant was interviewed by Ann Owens and Julie Eaton. She has taught at Mt. Vernon Elementary for 18 years. She went to college at Cumberland College in Williamsburg and graduated from E.K.U. What she likes the best about her job is the students and the faculty. If she could change teaching she would like to have someone help in the middle of the day with grading papers or routine tasks in the classroom.

On Monday, April 8, our county schools were treated to a sampling of Edgar Allan Poe's stories. The Lexington Children's Theater presented "The Fall of the House of Usher" and "The Cask of Amontillado." The plays were very interesting and I think all kids enjoyed them. The best part was when the woman died.

On Thursday, April 11, the fifth grade went to the Horse Park in Lexington. The fifth grade has been very busy with the Spring Fling. Congratulations to Blake Childress and Christy Mink from Mrs. Kinser's room who won as King and Queen of the Spring Fling!

The junior high prom will be this Friday night at M.V.E.S. We urge all students to attend and have a social evening with fellow classmates.

We have four first grade teachers at M.V.E.S. and approximately 93 students. Our teachers are: Mrs. Janet Carter, Mrs. Jerri Smith, Mrs. Sherri Webb, and Mrs. Janice Yanzant.

Mrs. Janet Carter attended Somerset Community College for two years and graduated from E.K.U. She told our reporters, Wendy Deana, and Julie, that M.V.E.S. has a nice atmosphere and that the people here are friendly and cooperative. She says that the best kind of student is one that sets goals and tries to reach them. If she could change one thing, it would be to have a lower teacher-student ratio.

Mrs. Jerri Smith graduated from E.K.U. She has been teaching for 16 years. She told Kim and Sabrina that she likes teaching because every day is different. "I get to be a child all over again," she said. "I learn new things from the children." "A good student," Mrs. Smith says, "is a good listener and is at school everyday." Mrs. Smith feels that the pressure for performance and goals that are unattainable from outside the classroom makes teaching unpleasant. She says she would probably not be quite as structured as she is if there were fewer guidelines to follow.

Now life isn't the same now that you're gone.

Do you remember our long summer walks and important talks?

Well, now there isn't anywhere to walk to and no one to talk to. I just sit here bored and alone. Life isn't the same now that you're gone.

Do you remember being here for me, close to love and care for me? Well, now there's no one here for me. No one to love and care for me. I just sit here wishing you were home.

Cause life isn't the same now that you're gone.

Rogers announces

Recreation opportunities will increase in forest

The House Budget Committee gave approval today to a recommendation proposed by U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers for expanded recreational opportunities in the Daniel Boone National Forest.

The panel also approved a policy statement, initiated by Rogers, making it clear that coal must remain an integral part of the nation's "energy mix" in the years to come.

Rogers offered an amendment to the Fiscal 1992 budget bill recommending full funding of the President's Recreation Initiative for National Forests. The committee approved the recommendation in its report language on the budget bill.

"This initiative would help expand recreational use of our forests and improve access for all Americans," Rogers, said of the three-year program.

"It is long overdue," he added. "Right now, 42 percent of our national forests do not meet adequate health or safety standards. It is especially important to Southern Kentucky, because the growth of tourism is directly related to the quality of maintenance and management of our national forests."

Projects in the Daniel Boone National Forest that could be funded under the initiative include the development of resorts and lodges in partnership with the private sector, the creation of centers that educate the public on the importance of our natural environment and construction of wayside exhibits, hiking and biking trails, and swimming and camping areas.

"The Budget Committee also approved in its report language an amendment offered by Rogers endorsing the continued use of coal. "In order to meet the nation's growing energy demands, and to maintain economic stability, all forms of energy will be needed," the panel said. "But to ensure continued growth and expansion, competitiveness in international markets and continued environmental progress, strong consideration must be given to the efficient and environmentally sound use of coal."

Rogers noted that coal remains the nation's most plentiful, versatile and reasonable priced energy resource.

"Any comprehensive energy strategy must focus not only on environmental forces but also recognize that these choices impact thousands of jobs, millions of consumer and business dollars, the federal trade and budget deficits and U.S. energy security for many years to come," Rogers said.

Blood Drive

As a reminder, the Rockcastle County Homemakers will sponsor the next Rockcastle County blood drive from noon to 7 p.m. April 24 at the Agricultural Services Center.

Every day, at least 200 pints of blood are needed by Central Kentucky Blood Center for patients in a 57-county area. Blood drives like the one sponsored by Rockcastle County Homemakers help to fill those needs and assure that blood will be available when an emergency occurs.

You can be a part of this lifesaving effort by donating blood on Wednesday, April 24th at the Agricultural Services Center. For more information, contact Rebecca Durham at 1-800-432-9528.

Welcome home

Rockcastle's servicemen

Duncan happy to be home

By Richard Anderkin

Senior Airman E-4, Lee Duncan knows why he was sent to Saudi Arabia and no time did he question the United States role in the Gulf War.

"That is what we were trained for, that was our job," the smiling Duncan said Tuesday.

Duncan has been back in Rockcastle County since March 25, but from August 11 until March 15, he was in Saudi Arabia as part of an Air Force Security Unit which was deployed from Tindale Air Force Base in Florida.

Duncan recalls the Gulf War with pride and says that he will re-enlist in the Air Force very soon.

"I like my job and I'm going to start college when I return to Tindale," he said. "The service is not for everyone, but it has been good for me, it has taught me self-discipline and helped me to grow up and understand what things are about," the Rockcastle County High School graduate said.

Being only the second security unit to arrive in Saudi Arabia, Duncan said that his unit stepped off the airplane with gas masks in hand. "We were told that we could be going directly into a chemical environment and we had to be ready," he said.

Duncan's Unit, the 325th, dealt mostly with terrorists problems and security for a make-shift base near Riyadh Saudi Arabia.

What they were not ready for was the searing 120 degree heat. "A lot of guys dehydrated, a lot of men and women got very sick," Duncan said.

"We drank four 2 liter bottles of water a day and never had to use the restroom, we simply sweated it out,"

Duncan said. "The soldiers that worked out in heat daily and the ones that tried to get themselves in better physical shape during the early days, handled the heat pretty well, the ones that didn't stayed sick a lot and could not perform their duties," he said.

"There were about 17,000 people on the base where we worked, we worked the main gate and helped the local police with terrorists problems, and there were many," Duncan said that he could not elaborate on the terrorists problems, but he said that many of the terrorists that were caught were supposedly executed by the Saudi people.

Just as the American public sat with bated breath each time an Air Raid siren sounded, so did the soldiers in Saudi Arabia, only they were equipped with a chemical suit and gas masks and the fear that the errant Scud Missile could actually kill them.

"The first several times the air raid sirens sounded we were scared and one Scud landed about a quarter of a mile from our base," Duncan said.

Because radar detectors could not initially tell where a Scud was headed, each time one was fired in the Saudi theatre the siren would sound.

"I got to where we would sleep in our chemical suits, when we could sleep," Duncan said.

During the war Duncan said that most soldiers trained themselves to survive on about three hours of sleep a night. "We were right next to a Patriot launch site and it would rock our barracks each time one was fired, and a lot of them were fired," he said.

While the United States people may not have known when the war was going to start, that was not the case for the soldiers. "Because we were part of the security force over there we were informed of a time frame for the war to start, so we knew within a few hours when it was going to be, the night it started we did not go to bed because we knew it was going to start. "It was pretty scary," he said. "But, a couple of the things that bothered the troops as much as the war itself was the news that people were protesting the war at home and the letters they received talking about the end of the world."

"We would get some of those letters that were written to any troop and get the address of them and write them back, many times they would write us back that the world was coming to an end and hoped us the best when it happened," Duncan said.

"Being stuck in the desert in the Middle East was sure did not want to hear that," Duncan said.

Of the care packages sent from Rockcastle, most of those were received and Duncan said they were certainly appreciated. "It was a very big deal to get mail over there and when you got something like one of those care packages from home it was a special treat, it really made you feel good," he said.

On the way home Duncan's unit

stopped for a short lay-over in Massachusetts. "I wasn't sure even where we were and when we got off the plane there were all these cheering people, giving us hugs and congratulating us, that was great, knowing we were appreciated," he said.

Of the 17,000 troops living on Duncan's base no one was killed during the war, and luckily there were only a few injuries.

"We had several pilots who flew the AWAC planes so we knew when something big was happening or going to happen, because all of them would leave the base in a hurry," Duncan said. "We were not always briefed on what was going on, but the pilots told us how well the bombing was doing, so we were very encouraged about an early end to the war."

Some of Duncan's highlights included checking Gen. Norman Schwarzkof's entourage each time it came and went from the base and the day that Bob Hope came to their base to entertain. "We had to check those people just like everybody else, that was our job," Duncan said. Having spent a year in Turkey before the Gulf War and then six months in Saudi Arabia, Duncan is in no hurry to return to the Middle East.

As he prepared to head back to Tindale this week, he said that he forgot to cash in his 80 dollars of Saudi money before he left, but that he did not want to return to the desert to redeem it, if he could help it.

"But, then again I'll be glad to go where I'm sent," he said with a smile.

Lee, 23, is the son of Jerry and Jane Harper of Mt. Vernon and is not married.

Barracks where Duncan lived while in Saudi.

A Saudi dollar bill is equal to about $4 of American money.

U.S. planes dropped a pamphlet telling Iraqi soldiers how to defect and that they would be safe.

Lee's unit built outposts all along the fence around the base in Riyadh.

Rockcastle County coaches attend coach of the year clinic

Chris Larkey, Tony Saylor, Chris Cornelius, Jerry Pensol and Tom Larkey, football coaches at Rockcastle County High School, attended the Toyota Coach of the Year Clinic held February 22-24 at the Galt House in Louisville.

More than 1,000 high school and college football coaches participated in the clinic, now in its 29th year. Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A., Inc. sponsors the clinics held each winter at 11 sites around the country.

During the clinic, coaches, Larkey, Saylor, Cornelius, Pensol and Larkey had the opportunity to hear from and talk with more than 20 college football coaches including: Gary Moller, University of Michigan; Kevin Donley, Georgetown College; Bill Joe, Central State University (Wilburforce, Ohio); Howard Schnellberger, University of Louisville; John Majors, University of Tennessee; and Bobby Ross, Georgia Tech -- the Toyota Coach of the Year and Bobby Dodd Award winner.

At the Louisville Clinic, the use of a 1991 Toyota Camry for one year was offered as a door prize. The winner was Marty Juggers, assistant coach at Elizabethtown High School, Elizabethtown.

The Camry, manufactured at Toyota's Georgetown plant, was provided by Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A. and the three Toyota dealers in the Louisville area: Toyota of Louisville, Oxmoor Toyota (Louisville), and Green Tree Toyota (Clarksville, Indiana).

In addition to hearing from the college coaches, each coach had the opportunity to visit with representatives of over 50 companies who sponsored exhibits at the clinic.

greeting the ladies, two daughters Stephanie and Rebecca.

First Ella Mae Martin gave a lesson on "The Goodness of God."

She referred to the book of Corinthians often. Then she told us when we pray, to talk naturally and be yourself when praying. Have complete faith and give attention to each word. Ask Him for strength in our work for His glory.

Nellie Colson commented on prayers which were liked and discussed. After Ella Mae finished the lesson, she asked Nita Ritter to close with prayer before letters were read. Barbara Watson read a letter from Mike and Brenda Disken that included their yearly expenses in their mission field.

Then Ella Mae read the news from Sowder Nursing home before we signed birthday cards to May's patients there.

Elizabeth Mullins made a motion that was seconded by Barbara Watson to donate something to Kentucky

Assembly Camp

We were asked to remember Ladies Retreat the last of May and plan to attend this spiritual retreat.

The Monday after this retreat the camp starts for the summer.

This camp has grown until it has modern facilities to offer boys and girls that live far and near. Baptisms in near-by Broadhead Christian Church is an experience to warm all Christians hearts. All the campers are brought to see this done.

To end the Ladies Missionary Meeting we sat around the dining table to refresh our physical bodies. Thanks to Ellen Brown we ate a piece of her chocolate pie.

One of her talents is baking! She likes to cook!

To get the sweet taste out of our mouths, we were served a delicious cheese ball to put on crackers, made by Nita Ritter, the hostess.

Next meeting of the Ladies Aid Missionary Society will be May 11 with Jenney Caperton at 7:30 p.m.

Expression of Appreciation

The family of James Patrick Crawford who died as the result of a car accident on February 21 would like to express our appreciation to all the people who helped during our loss.

We will always remember your thoughtfulness whether you brought food, sent flowers or provided words of comfort. We would also like to thank Dowell and Martin Funeral Home for their kindness, the special music by Rick Sexton and the Blue Springs Church of Christ singers. We appreciated the kind words provided by Bros. Zade McClure and Eddie Hammond. A special thanks to Coach Bill Riddle who reminded us of what a great person Pat was to all who knew him. I appreciate all the help and support we have from the staff of Somerset High School and CSX Transportation. All the support and prayers have helped more than you will ever know.

Pat always appreciated his friends and would have been proud of all the kindnesses you have shown during his loss. To all Pat's friends, hold on to all the good memories of Pat and please share them with Zachary and Tiffany as they get older so they will know that a wonderful person their father was. Pat will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him.

Again, thank you and we will never forget you.
