run spurt in the first inning. Sargent followed singles by Beth Amys and Melanie Leece with another four batter to top off the Lady Rockets' three run inning in the second and send the score to 7-0. After Somerset posted their only two runs in the fourth inning, the Lady Rockets cashed in their final five runs on three extra base hits to exit the game with the 10 run run in five innings. But not allowing the opposition to leave too early, Somerset bounced back to claim the second game, 5-4. In almost a replay of the second game in the Southern series, the Lady Rockets found things shaky again. In fact, Somerset had only three players to record hits during the game and still managed to send five runs across the plate. Two runs scored by both teams in the first inning but Somerset managed the only one in the second inning on two errors by the Lady Rockets' infield. The lead taken by Somerset in the inning was never relinquished. Corbin Series..... An absolute blow-out took place at Corbin, Monday, as the Lady Rockets cashed in 39 runs to rout Corbin, 39-5. One homer by Bullock and 35 hits as a team were recorded by the Lady Rockets during the game. The first inning brought havoc for Corbin as the Lady Rockets batted around and scored every player once and the first five in the second ground to sport 15 runs in the inning.

Corbin got their only five runs in the second inning but the Lady Rockets equalled their first inning by getting another 15 runs in the same inning to set the score at 30-5 after just two innings of play. The Lady Rockets closed the game with three runs in the third inning, five in the fourth and one in the fifth. The display of hitting by the Lady Rockets, the best this year, caused Corbin to decline to play the second game. The forfeit allowed the Lady Rockets to receive win and even their record on the year at 13-13.

Fishathon at Cumberland

Cumberland Lake will be the main attraction starting May 18. A 50-day tagged fishing event will be taking place for those brave anglers trying their luck to catch the ringleader of a nasty bunch of buccaners. The name? Captain Davy Jones. A sneaky fish, a cunning and smart fish. Come out to Cumberland Lake and try catching this swarthy one.

Along with Captain Davy Jones are Swashbuckling Sue (Captain Davy's wife) worth $2,000, Billy Bones (the cutaway) worth $2,000, Cookie (the ship's cook) worth $2,000, and 12 other Fishathon Pirates waiting to be hooked! These "Pirates" are tagged bluegill, crappie, walleye, and catfish and are worth anywhere from $25 to $50,000 to fishermen of all ages.

Athletes of the Week

for April 21-27

William Bullens, left, and J.D. Harris have been selected by track and field coach Tom Larkley as this week's athletes of the week. Also fine sprinters for the track team. They run the 100, 200 and 400 meter relays and have been very consistent in their respective events thus far this year. Larkley commented that he expected to finish high in the relay events, especially the 400m relay, during the regionals later on this year.

stolen base followed by a single by David Sargent brought in the third run.

However, Southern opened the door in the middle innings with eight runs and closed it in the late innings with five more to vanquish any hopes the Rockets had to score back.

But it wasn't the Rockets trying to come back in Saturday's action but Nicholas County instead. The Rockets scored Sargent, Parkerson and Saylor in the first inning and Greg Bowman in the second inning to hold a 3-2 lead over Nicholas after two innings of play in the first game of the double-header.

Nicholas did come back in the next inning and with their rally, brought disaster for the Rockets. Nicholas stroked the Rockets' pitching staff for eight hits and two home runs to account for 10 runs scored in the third.

Shaffer, who started for the Rockets, was followed by Kelly Gentry, John Kirk and Frank Lefler in, yet, another busy day for the Rockets' bullpen.

However, the bullpen did the job by limiting the Nicholas club to only one run after the third inning.

The Rockets ended the game with one run in the third, fourth, fifth and seventh.

The second game of the series was also ultimately decided in one inning. The Rockets held Nicholas to only two runs through the first four innings but again let one inning, the fifth, get away.

Nicholas bashed six hits with two home runs to score six runs in the fifth to take a relatively close game away from the Rockets.

A Jason Payne single, Lefler walk, J.D. Bussell double and Sargent single scored the only three Rockets runs in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Nicholas closed the game with two more to end the game at 10-3. Scattered hits resulted in only three runs again for the Rockets in their 7-3 loss to Corbin, Monday.

The Rockets scored one in the fourth, sixth and seventh innings

ROCKCASTLE TEACHERS were honored by Campbellsville College president Dr. Ken Winters at the fifth annual Campbellville College "Excellence in Teaching Awards" luncheon April 20. Honored were Martha Sue Eversole, left, who also received the award in 1989, and Jewel M. Davidson.

Three local teachers honored by Campbellsville College

Campbellsville College awarded three Rockcastle teachers "Excellence in Teaching Awards" at the fifth annual ceremony April 20 at the College cafeteria.

Eversole has taught for the Rockcastle County Board of Education since 1984. She is married to Boyd Lee Eversole of Livingston. Her mother is Mary Evelyn Singleton Leach of Livingston. She also won the Campbellville College "Excellence in Teaching Award" in 1989.

Osborne has taught at Rockcastle County High School since 1984. She has also taught at Brodhead and Ravenna Elementary Schools. She is married to Rex Davidson of Mt. Vernon. They have two children, Jewell Jenia Marie and Jeremy Rex Davidson. Her mother is Eugene W. and Halle Marie Powell Alexander of Mt. Vernon.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: Ginny Gilpatrick
Rockcastle Teen Center

Perception of the birth of an infant to a school age child, varies according to the viewer. In 1988, Rockcastle County ranked 63 of 120 counties in teenage pregnancy rate; but the statistic does not tell the human story. While sociologists see the increasing birthrate among young, partially educated girls as tragic due to the high percentage of health problems, dependency on taxpayers' money, and ineffective parenting, the girls, themselves, see things differently. They see the enjoyment and love of an adorable being of their creation. Parents of these young mothers often are loving and supportive to them and help them out for months or even years. Those who are married find the bond between husband and wife tightens as they anticipate the birth of their child.

Adults who work with youth, parents, teachers and others, generally react negatively to teenage pregnancy. They wrangle with each other about why, and what to do about it. Schools and other agencies run education programs geared to discourage irresponsible sexuality. Some teens, on the other hand, often view teens as "natural" and do not discriminate between responsible and irresponsible expression. Lecturing doesn't work. Moralizing doesn't work. Logic is de-valued by youth who see unrestricted sexuality promoted in the media.

So what do you do instead? What can you do if you would like to promote the traditional view that sex is "wedded, a party game, but is intended for expression of committed love between those able to devote their full time to the role of building a home worthy of the responsible nurturing of a child? Take a look at the lives of the many teens who are choosing not to get pregnant. They are generally involved in activities, their parents know where they are and help them get to and from their friends' gathering places. Teens who are busy with meaningful activity, who have a sense of purpose, and have someone to assist them in setting long range goals are less likely to see early parenthood as appealing. The fact is, those who complete their education and experience the success of working, even for a short while, will have the vision to be, and to encourage their children to be, contributing, confident people in their community.

Christian Appalachian Project offers positive, active programs for youth. The Teen Center, Camp Andrew Jackson, Summer Day Camp, and the Child Development Center, serve children of all ages. They also offer Family Life Counseling, GED tutoring, and two live-in programs: the Family Life Center, and Spouse Abuse, for those who may have had their plans interrupted for a variety of reasons.

Being a teenager with time to spend is an important phase of life. Running around after toddlers is not the activity of choice for most teenagers on a warm summer evening. Parents need to help their children find alternatives.

Tiger Pause

Next week, May 6-10, in Faculty and Staff Appreciation week. Busdrivers, lunchroom personnel, teachers, principals, and maintenance personnel will be attending the Reno Valley Bandstand, as a group, Thursday evening. The process of holistic education takes each of these individuals working as a team.

Mrs. Judy Doyle's and Mrs. Donna Owens' fifth grade classes will enjoy the program at the Hummel Planetarium at EKU, Wed. May 8th.

Our field trips are fun, but educational goals are stressed and met through teacher directed preparation and follow-up. These experiences are always correlated with our curriculum objectives.

Junior High teachers, Pam Martin, Caroline Graves, Katherine Bradley, Lisa Johnson, and Mary Cash, helped make Friday night's banquet special.

Carl Sargent, Juanita Norris, lunchroom personnel, Keith Graves, Carol and Bill Riddle, Charlie Napier, Doug Brock, Debbie Cummins and Mr. Payne and Mr. McKinney for their specific contributions. Also, a special thanks to Gary Scott, who had to rearrange his schedule to allow decorating of the gym.

The third grade classes are going to Shakertown, Tuesday, May 7th. The students will have an opportunity to observe sheep shearing, bloom making, weaving, etc. They will enjoy a picnic on the grounds.

Installation of officers will be the order of business at the PTA meeting, Thursday evening at 7 p.m. Please attend, PTA needs the support of parents and teachers.

School psychologist, Kenna Mogg and our counselor, will be assessing the eighth grade students' vocational skills and interest. This will allow better curriculum and schedule planning as these students enter RCHS.

The seventh grade is going to Shakertown, Friday, May 10th. The students will make the tour and ride the train.

Achievement testing has been completed and the tests will be shipped to Frankfort where they will be scored. When the test results have been returned to the county and distributed to individual schools, an announcement will be made in the Signal and a schedule for parents to see their child's results will be available.

Kesha McClure continues to win awards as she won Champion Saturday at the area competition at Laurel County High School. This will qualify her entrance in the State competition at the University of Kentucky, June 8. Congratulations, Kesha!

We have an abundance of winners at BEST: Abram Joe Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor, won a certificate of merit and a fifty dollar savings bond for making the winning poster in the conservation contest. Brad Hunt, son of Lisa Cassidy and Hal Hunt, won a certificate of merit and a fifty dollar savings bond for writing the winning essay in the Conservation Essay Contest. Shannon Brewer, daughter of Fred and Donna Brewer, won third place in the essay contest. Rebecca Blanton, daughter of Goldie and David Blanton, won 525 first place in the Reading Contest. WINNERS of the County 4-H Demonstration Contest held at Livingston Elementary School.

On April 18-20, several of the regional winners traveled to Louisville to compete in the state FHA contest. Jamie Jones competed in senior storytelling; Donna Wenzel interpreted her version of the FHA creed in the junior recited division; Kim Kirby was interviewed for a job in the Junior job interview division and Tracy Todd completed and won as state champ in the Junior storytelling division. Lisa Blanton, absent from photo, served on the state nominating committee while in Louisville and Danetta Ford represented Region 13 in the opening ceremony of roll call. Also accompanying the group were two advisors, Mrs. Loretta Dillingham and Mrs. June Stevens.

Project Graduation needs your support

Several fundraisers are being held in the community to support the upcoming 1991 Project Graduation Party. Project Graduation is a drug and alcohol free party held for graduating seniors, which will take place approximately one hour after the graduation ceremonies held May 14 at RCHS. The main goal of Project Graduation is to keep students sober and off our roads with hopes to prevent accidents.

For students who attend the festivities several prizes will be awarded, including a Grand Prize check for the amount of $1000. Throughout the night ten fifty dollar checks will be drawn for, every fifteen minutes there will be a twenty-five dollar check given away, and various donated items can be purchased with 'Rocket bucks' during a mock auction. Donations are still being solicited, and will be accepted until May 14. Anyone wishing to donate should contact: Rockcastle County High School, c/o Project Graduation, Mt. Vernon KY 40456 Phone: 256-4816 All donations will be greatly appreciated.

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

On Monday, April 22, Rockcastle's Retired Teachers met at Rockcastle Inn at 6:30 p.m. for their annual dinner.

Shirley Martin, Sarah Faye Hunt and Aslee Bray made all the arrangements for the program as well as the dinner.

The Retired Teachers' president, Sue French welcomed diners, then she introduced Jason Wilson, Cola Grace Wilson's grandson.

He sang "In the Name of the Lord," "Watch the Lamb" and "It is Finished" in his beautiful, trained voice.

Following this, Elizabeth F. Mullins read a short devotion on "Life's Added Dimension." She read Genesis 47:8, and then read about the length, breath and height of life in ambition and his or her resolve.

Mrs. Mullins ended the devotion with thanks to God for gifts He had given us, etc. We then devoured the big less salad before our dinner of roast beef, dressing, green beans and mashed potatoes that was set before us on the table. We ate blackberry cobbler for dessert.

After dinner the speaker, Virginia Smith of Crab Orchard, gave us up on her trips to Frankfort in the retired teachers' behalf.

To add to our entertainment, Pat and Keith Kincer showed us scenes on television (via a VCR) of New Zealand and Australia.

Some of us had seen Danny McKinney's slides of Australia and didn't say it.

When the New Zealanders citizens asked where they were from the answered, "U.S.A."

"They said, 'We mean what state?'"

When the Kincers answered, "Kentucky," they seemed happy.

They liked that answer as they liked the "Kentucky Fried Chicken" restaurant that's one of their favorite eating places in New Zealand.

Pat continued, "They are such loving, trusting people on these islands."

Craft studies offered unusual homemade articles, but the beautiful scenery is what was flashed on the television, that we liked best.

Mountains, rivers, lakes, green fields, sky blue water and colorful clouds (made by sun) were prevalent. Hills looked bare.

Telephone poles signs showing directions to certain towns and one pointing toward New York and Rome. The race track reminded us of Kentucky.

Some modern bridges besides handmade ones, were seen.

"Japanese stores offered their wares as they do in our country," said Keith Kincer.

Of course, the scenery in Australia was similar to New Zealand's, but their cities out numbered New Zealand's.

Greetings and goodbyes included

All that we want you to do is clean our country. We hate to see it not clean. We all hate our country to be as dirty as it might be right now. Do you like litter? No, I don't. We might litter on an accident.

Laura Beth Bell
Litter

One day the old witch came and made the whole place fall down. There was litter all over the place and all around the barber shop. The whole place was a mess. A man killed the old witch.

Richard Lee Santo

Do not be a litter bug. Please do not be a litter bug. We want OUR Country clean. You can keep our Country clean? Yes, we can. Our zoos need to be clean. My house is being littered by some people. I want to clean it. I do not like litter. We all do not like litter. I know we don't like litter. We are not happy.

Laura Beth Bell

Miss Shelley Parkerson

I DO WHAT MY MOMMY SAYS, SHE TELLS ME TO CLEAN MY BED ROOM.

Julia Dooly

We pick up cans around my house and we help clean yards every day.

Virginia Barrett

People should help pick up trash because you will be healthy.

Kyle Mink

people pick up to help our environment. It would look pretty and smell good. We would not want to get our clothes dirty either. Our water would get dirty and not be good for us.

Andrew Hammond

Our environment is important to us. It is not nice to throw trash on the ground for other people to pick up and throw away. So don't be a litter bug.

Courtney Alexander

I will pick up trash on the street. We can't pick it. We do not want our jackets dirty. So I will start making a lot of posters that say if you see trash pick it up.

Tava Robinson

We need to not throw out our trash because it will be dirty and it will be a mess.

Shenea Miller

We will pick up the trash on the street because we can't be dirty. We don't want our clothes to be dirty.

Melissa Cromer

We will pick up the trash on the street to help our environment.

Holly Mullins

If you help clean-up your environment you will be healthy and strong and you won't get sick!

Josh Hays

Your environment is yours. We all have to work.

DJ Bradley

I think you should pick up trash. If you would pick up trash the world would be a better place.

Rachele Riddle

Mrs. Jeri Smith

I don't like litter. I clean it up everyday.

Matthew Reimer

I like Wee Wee's Oo because he helps clean up stuff. He cleans up the woods.

Adam Childress

Clean up Rockcastle County. I asked my Mom will you come and help me pick the litter up?

My Mom wants Rockcastle County to be pretty. She loves Rockcastle County. The people that throw litter out is the ones that make the county look bad.

Shelita Cromer

Mrs. Sherry Webb

The big clean up

Shane's Mom said clean up the yard. How Shane throws trash. Mom said how much you throw is how much you have to pick up!

Timothy Tyler

If you put oil in the water it will run the animals and it will run the world too. And oil is in the water. It will kill the animals and throwing litter will run the world. Take care of the world. It might be the only world we get. Don't throw litter in the water. It might kill the fish. Don't just run the world.

Danny Wilkerson

Any trash I see I will pick up. I will put that trash in a garbage bag. I will have a little stick to pick the trash up. And if people litter our country that is bad. Please people do not litter our country. Keep our world clean. Keeping our world clean is good.

Gretchen Phelps

If you put oil in the water it will kill the fish. And if you put oil in the land it will get dirty.

Marty Reagan

Keeping trash out of the pond is fun. Keeping the road clean is fun. Keeping the trash out of the floor is helping a lot.

Angie Boring

We take care of our earth. We care about our earth. We do not litter. Do you know why? Because we take care of our country. We don't litter. We do not litter like most people.

your art work may do so at your convenience. We are very fortunate to have so much talent in our county and we, at the library, have been very pleased to be able to exhibit their art work so that the public might have an opportunity to view the paintings, drawings and etc. Forty two people came to the reception, April 14th, and over 300 others came in during the two weeks of the exhibit. Thanks to the artists and all those who helped to make the Art Show a success. We plan on making this show an annual event and plans have been made to hold other special exhibits more often.

It is not too soon to be making plans to bring your children in to participate in our 1991 Summer Reading Program. This will be held June 3rd through June 29th. Pam will have different dates on the bookmobile. The theme for this year's program is 'Summer Splash'. We will have books and activities related to water, also crafts will be made each week. There will be a class for the pre-school and kindergarten children on Wednesdays at 1 p.m. and a class for other children, grades 1 through 5 on Thursday at 1 p.m. We ask that you register your children sometime during the month of May so that we can make our plans according to the number of children that will be present. If we have enough requests there will be another day planned for older children. Plans are to have some special people in to work with the little ones. We hope to have a fun filled month.

Some new books that are available at the library are, 1. Aspen Gold by Janet Dailey. The breathtaking terrain of Aspen, Colorado - once a frontier town, now a playground for the wealthy and powerful, serves as a backdrop for this enthralling story. A beautiful 'Urbane Cowgirl' must choose between a glamorous career and the man she has secretly loved all her life. 2. Bright Captivity by Eugenia Price. This is the first volume of The Georgia Trilogy - an all new saga of friendship, love, and loyalty. As always, Price weaves a powerful tale of human conflict and romance, welcoming back many of her popular characters from earlier books and bringing to life actual historical figures. 3. The Wingless Bird by Catherine Cookson. She has created another extraordinary heroine in this wonderful turn-of-the-century romance. The daughter of a middle-class shopkeeper becomes a genteel lady when she marries a wealthy young gentleman, but her life is shattered with the outbreak of World War I.

We also have a large number of new children and juvenile books ready to be checked out. The unauthorized biography of Nancy Reagan by Kitty Kelley has been ordered.

INSPECTION PERIOD For the Property Tax Assessment Roll

The Rockcastle County property tax roll will be opened for inspection from May 6 through May 18, 1991. Under the supervision of the property valuation administrator or one of the deputies, any person may inspect the tax roll.

This is the January 1, 1991 assessment on which state, county and school taxes for 1991 will be due about September 15, 1991.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Any person who wishes to appeal a real property assessment must file a written letter or petition with the county clerk within the above period of time. This letter or petition must state the reasons for appeal, identify the property in question and state the taxpayer's estimate of actual fair cash value (KRS 133.120).

Appeals of personal property assessments shall not be made to the county board of assessment appeals. Personal property taxpayers shall be served notice under the provisions of KRS 132.450(4) and shall have the protest and appeal rights granted under the provisions of KRS 131.110.

The following steps should be taken when a taxpayer does not agree with the assessed value of personal property as determined by the office of property valuation administrator.

- (1) He must list under protest (for certification) what he believes to be the fair cash value of his property.
- (2) He must file a written protest directly with the Department of Property Taxation within 30 days from the date of the notice of assessment.
- (3) This protest must be in accordance with KRS 131.110.
- (4) The final decision of the Revenue Cabinet may be appealed to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

The Conservation office selected, first, a winner from each school and, second, a district winner from that group of first-place school winners.

SAFETY RECORD SET AT MT. VERNON PLASTICS—Employees at Mt. Vernon Plastics have worked 1,259,467 man-hours without a lost time accident. (Lost time accident being time lost from work due to an injury). The last lost time occurred January 1990. We attribute this to the increase safety awareness of the employees. A safety committee is made up of employees from each shift which help promote safe working conditions. Also there has been a safety incentive program in effect since March 1990. Not only do we promote safety on the job, but we are getting ready to launch a home safety program that will promote safety OFF the job. This program will involve the entire family. We are very proud of this accomplishment, and MVP will be recognized at the Governor's Safety and Health Conference at the Gault House in Louisville. Our current goal is to break the national industry record which is 7,000,000 safe man hours. Management at Mt. Vernon Plastics recognizes the hard work that each employee contributed to achieve this goal. We hope by promoting a safe work environment that this will carry over into our home lives. A special thanks to Dr. Kesner and his staff and the local emergency room staff for their cooperation. Mt. Vernon Plastics employs 436 people from Rockcastle and surrounding counties. Back row, left to right: J.D. Mink, Barry Blanton, Don Vanmeter, Mike Phillips, Barbara Heselnie, Safety Director, and Beverly Whitaker. The Love In Grandpa's Hands

By: Debbie Childress

Grandpa used to sit us on his lap
And with his smile so bright
He'd take us in his loving arms
And hold us ever so tight.

As he would place his hands in ours
They felt so hard and rough
But yet to us they felt so gentle
And so much full of love.

And if he'd seen a tear in our eye
He'd wipe it from our face
Oh, the love in grandpa's hands
Could never be replaced.

Grandpa had his trusting ways
If we did not understand
For grandpa always showed a lot
In those loving hands.

Grandpa meant the world to us
For words could never describe
Just how much we loved this man
And what we felt inside.

And when we never forget the day
When God called his name
We thought without our grandpa
Things wouldn't be the same

There would never be nothing
Forgotten
In this wonderful man
One thing we will never forget
Was the love in grandpa's hands.

[This poem is in loving memory of my grandpa, Herbert Lawrence, who passed away June 18, 1977. You are sadly missed by us all]

"Grandma and Her Wooden Swing"

By: Debbie Childress

Oh the things grandma loved
Was many beautiful things
Like her garden and her flowers
That grew in the spring.

Getting up on Sunday mornings
Going off to church
When the weather was warm
Relaxing on her porch.

Grandma was always happy
And she always loved to sing
As she'd set out on her porch
In her wooden swing.

We always loved to visit grandma
Especially in the spring
We would always see who was first
To sit with her in that swing.

Many years has passed by
Since grandma has been gone
For she's with the Lord above
In a beautiful home
Grandma's place it hasn't changed
Except for a thing or two
When we see grandma and her swing
We don't see grandma and her swing
When we're passing through.

But everything comes back to us
As we look toward that way
Grandma sitting in her wooden swing
Like she did just yesterday.

[This poem is in loving memory of my grandma, Mae Lawrence, who passed away April 13, 1982. You are sadly missed by us all.]

Six Steps To A Brand New Life

By: Vickie Petrey

Here are the steps to salvation
I know many won't agree,
But they have only to open the Bible
And they will surely see.

Are you wandering through this world
Looking for love and peace?
Have the horrors of this earth
Sent you in search of quiet release?
Do you long to feel content,
To feel happiness grip your soul?
Are you looking for something more
Than is offered by this world below?
Are you hunting, grasping for the secret to life?

Trying, trying to escape from a sharp and bitter knife?
The answer is very simple,
So much so some scoff and laugh.
They refuse to open their eyes and hearts,
They ignore this straight and narrow path.
At the end of this path is Jesus

Smiling brightly. His arms outstretched.
He's waiting for all who come to Him,
Their hands He's waiting to catch.
He'll fill your life in such a way
No one nor nothing else can,
With His love and wisdom.
All your troubles can be overran.
Jesus gives life meaning,
Your soul He'll be redeeming.
He is the rock to which you'll be clinging.

Through all the tempests of this life,
He'll hold your hand and warm your heart
Through any storm or strife.
Jesus is the answer,
He came and He bled and He died.
For you and me He felt much pain,
For you and me He cried.
Now He's living. He's just around the bend.
But you must come down the path,
So your emptiness he will end.
It only takes six easy steps
To get this new life started.
Then He'll be there to help you along
And if you don't leave, you'll never be parted.
Step one is to hear the message,
To hear what must be done,
To learn Jesus' sordid and commands
To hear and to understand.
So come to Christ's Church,
Please listen to His word.
All the mysteries are revealed,
They're just waiting to be heard.
Step two is to believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God.
To know His blood washes away
sin's stains,
That it was the righteousness road
He trod.
Step three is to repent
From all your sins,
To be sorry for all your wrongs.
To turn away sin, to start fresh, and to Jesus belong.
Step four is to confess,
To make your convictions known,
To state it in Christians presence,
Don't be afraid, you won't be doing it alone.
Step five is to be baptized,
To be immersed in the waters
through and through.
Then when you rise from this
"watery grave,"
You'll be cleansed, fresh, brand new.
Step six is to walk in the newness of life.

To try to live as Jesus lived,
And tell others how to be forgiven.
One last word, a small warning to you and all.
You won't be perfect, problems will persist,
But you'll have someone on whom to call.
Jesus helps us with those problems,
He'll always see you through.
So listen to what He says
It could mean the world to you.

A MOTHER

By: Joy Howard
For: Dee Howard

A mother is a wonderful creature
that's there when you need her.
She loves you and pets you, until you're spoiled.
She makes you happy when you're sad.

And brightens your day when it rains and you're feeling down.
Think of Mama and she'll turn that frown upside down.

Happy Mother's Day, Mom!

By: Angie Ashby

Close to the door she paused to stand as she took her class ring off his hand and those who watched did not dare to speak as a silent tear rolled down her cheek. In her mind the memories ran of all the times they once had. Now his eyes were terribly cold, she would never again have him to hold. She almost broke down and then bent near to whisper "I love you" in his ear and just as the wind started to blow they lowered his casket into the snow and this is what happens too many times when friends let friends drink and drive.

In memory of my son who disappeared 1969 Harold Estel Marion

By: Pearl Newton

My loving son I wonder why
You went away without a good-bye
No one could ever count on the tears
I've shed
When I can't sleep at night in bed
I miss you so when Saturday comes

You come kiss my cheek and always say
Just how is my mommy today.
But I'll always pray for God to let me know
Somewhere out there where you did go
I loved so, you were my first son
Watched you grow up through good times and fun
And when we played games where we had to run.
But God only knows where you are today
As I grow old time slowly passes away
But there's one thing can't be erased
Is the memory of your smiling face
I've tried so hard to find you here
But now it's been so many years
But I have your picture I hold so dear

Nodding Thistle and its control in grass pastures

Nodding Thistle is the most widespread thistle species found in Kentucky. Its name describes the large flowers because they bend over and appear to nod or droop, like other weeds. Nodding thistle lowers the productivity of pastures. Also, the plant discourages livestock from grazing close by because of its spiny nature.

An understanding of the nodding thistle's growth and life cycle is useful for controlling it. Nodding thistle usually requires two years to complete its life cycle. Its only method of reproduction is by seed. Seeds germinate in the fall or early spring, and the seedling forms a rosette. The rosette is a circular cluster of leaves with the growing point close to the ground. A young rosette can range from 4 to 8 inches in diameter.

The plant remains in the rosette stage throughout its first year of growth. The second spring after emergence, the rosette size increases to about 12 to 18 inches across, the stem begins to elongate and flower stalks develop. Flowers begin to form in late May to early June. Nodding thistle produces a red to purple flower about 2 inches in diameter. The flower is attached to an erect stem and the flower frequently droops or nods. Large plants are capable of producing 50 or more flowers. Also, the seeds are easily carried or spread by wind, water, animals, farm equipment, and in hay. Since nodding thistle only reproduces by seed, effective control programs depend on preventing seed production and spread.

In an effort to help local farmers start eradicating nodding thistle, the Department of Agriculture recently sprayed 10 acre demonstration plots. The demonstrations are conducted each spring free of charge to encourage farmers to help bring this noxious weed under control. Farmers interested in next year's program should contact the County Extension Office to sign up.

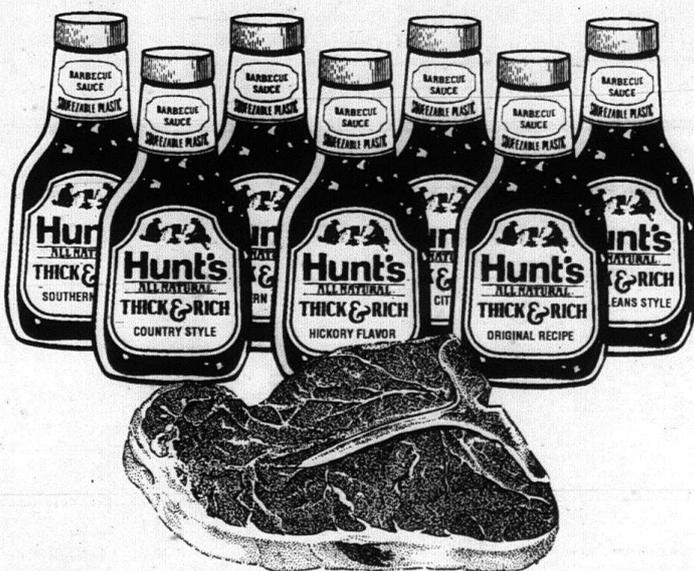

Earl Bailey, a painting contractor and ring maker from Northern Kentucky, was the special guest, Tuesday, at the Livingston Senior Citizen Center. Bailey, who has been making rings from copper wire for the past 13 years, is shown above demonstrating his ring making technique with some of the senior citizens at Livingston.

Raymond McKinney's farm at Mareburg was one of several farms that participated in the Department of Agriculture's Thistle Eradication Program. Steve Wilson and department employees spent one day with portable sprayers helping farmers spray 10 acre demonstration plots. Persons interested in next year's program should contact Tom Mills at the County Extension Office for information.

Members of the Rockcastle County Rescue Squad, Sheriff Deputies and deputy coroner Roy Martin remove the body of Lee Roberts III, from Buffalo Hollow near Flat Gap, Tuesday afternoon.

In Buffalo Hollow

Local man found dead

The body of a Rockcastle County man who was last seen alive early Sunday was found yesterday in a wooded area in the county near the Madison County line, Rockcastle Deputy Coroner Roy Martin said. Roy Lee Roberts III, 23, of Buffalo Hollow Road, was last seen alive about 1 to 1:30 a.m. Sunday after he was let out of a car in the wooded area off Flat Gap Road. He had been in the car with two other people. He apparently wandered into the woods and fell over a steep embankment, the deputy coroner said. Drugs and alcohol may have played a part in the death, he said. An autopsy was to be performed today. A member of Mr. Roberts' family apparently notified the Rockcastle sheriff's office after he did not return home, and a search was begun early yesterday, Martin said. Sheriff's office and Mount Vernon Fire Department personnel found the body shortly after noon. Mr. Roberts, a farm worker, was the son of Roy Lee and Lela Roberts. Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Williams Funeral Home in Berca. Visitation will be after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Two women hurt in wreck

Two Mt. Vernon residents were injured, one critically, in a two-vehicle accident just after noon Sunday at Centro Valley. Mrs. Hazel Ramsey, 85, is in critical condition at the University of Kentucky Medical Center where she was taken by helicopter after treatment at Rockcastle Hospital. Mrs. Patricia Holland, 71, was taken to Berea Hospital where her condition is listed as fair.

461 and Ky. 1326 (old Brodhead Road) about 8:45 a.m. Saturday. According to a report by city police, Mrs. Hale pulled out of 1326 and struck a bus hitched to a truck driven by Danny Roberts, 45, of Berea. His wife, Claudia, 42, and son, Jeff, 19, were treated at Rockcastle Hospital and released. Mrs. Hale told police she did not see the truck and boat. City policeman Eddie Delaney investigated both accidents.

According to city police, Mrs. Holland was driving south on U.S. 25 at the County Store when she struck the rear of a car turning left into the store parking area, driven by Rick Fry, 31, of Mt. Vernon. In the car was his wife, Barbara, 31, and children, Sheena, 5, and Whitney, 10 months. Police said the Fry's had no visible injuries. Occupants of both cars were returning from church at the time of the accident. Mrs. Sallie Hale, 82, of Mt. Vernon refused treatment following an accident at the intersection of Ky.

2.87 inches rainfall

A total of 2.87 inches of rain fell during April, according to figures at Cox Funeral Home weather station. That amount compares to 2.33 inches in April 1990. High temperature this April was 81 on April 18. The low was 28 on April 1.

Rockcastle residents spend 1.3 million on lottery

The Kentucky Lottery which has had total sales of $1,275,298 to Rockcastle County retailers during the past two years is "headed in the right direction for a successful future," according to State Auditor Bob Babbage. The Lottery can become a leader in its industry by developing ways to encourage more play by middle and upper income participants, Babbage said.

Contel phone customers hit with increase

Telephone customers in the Mt. Vernon exchange has a rate increase as of April 22, Contel announced in its April bill. Rates are being raised because of an increase in the number of telephones in the Mt. Vernon (256) area. The raise is in accordance with the statewide rate schedule approved by the Kentucky Public Service Commission. The base rates are residential; individual line, $14.95, four-party, $11.36; business, individual line $26.20, four party $16.88. The rates are subject to applicable federal and state taxes and mileage charges.

Tractor stolen

A tractor was reported stolen from the residence of Clifton Kearney on Chestnut Ridge sometime Monday night. The Ford, 4-wheel drive tractor with a bush hog and mower was valued at $20,000. J.D. Rice of Livingston reported three rods and reels, a radio and ice cooler were taken from his van Tuesday night while it was parked in his driveway. A Tennessee man swerved his car to miss a opossum on I-75, lost control, crossed the median and overturned on the top. Driver was Ronald Cressinger II of Johnson City, Tenn. The accident was investigated by deputy sheriff Phillip Chester. Four fender-benders were also investigated by deputies during the past week.

though there were no findings of intentional mismanagement, past management practices at the lottery were insufficient to allow the lottery to fulfill its complete potential.

Project Graduation

Project graduation will be having a bake sale Saturday, May 4th from 9 - 12 in front of the Bank of Mt. Vernon. There will be a car wash in the city parking lot Saturday, May 4 from 10 - 2. There will also be a Project Graduation Yard Sale Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 1, 2, and 3rd at the home of Jim and Lou Vanhook on Bertram Street across from Rite Aid. Money raised from these events will go toward the many prizes and money given away at this year's Project Graduation including a grand prize of $1000 cash to some lucky student. Donations are still appreciated. Anyone interested in helping may call 256-5535.

Groundbreaking held at new court annex

By: Ray McClure

"Progress abounds in Rockcastle County, and the new courthouse judicial annex is only the latest item on a long list of new and progressive things happening here." So said Kentucky Supreme Court Justice Joseph Lambert to a crowd of about 300 at groundbreaking ceremonies for the annex and Desert Storm veterans recognition day Friday. He posed the question: "What could be more appropriate than to recognize those who fought for freedom and justice on the day we break ground for a new justice center?" The new annex, costing $1.9 million is expected to take at least 10 months to complete. It is connected to the present courthouse on the east side, and will contain offices of Circuit Judge Daniel Venters, District Judges Walter Maguire and William Cain, Circuit Clerk Denver Miller, Property Valuation Administrator Elmer Hale, Justice Lambert and Trial Commissioner Robert Robinson. Justice Lambert, who used his influence to help obtain the annex, pointed out the help received from Chief Justice Robert Stephens, the Rockcastle Fiscal Court and County Judge/Executive, Roland Mullins. Justice Lambert said the existing courthouse is "woefully overcrowded and generally inadequate." The construction of the judicial annex should completely resolve our problems well into the next century," he added. "The building will be the finest judicial complex for a county of this size anywhere in Kentucky." The justice pointed out various projects under way in the county and stated: "Let me say to all of you, but especially these young people here: This is a great place to live, work and raise a family. We should be proud of our community and never doubt that the highest quality of life can be enjoyed here." The young people to whom he referred were about 100 students from Mt. Vernon Elementary School who were bused to the ceremonies. Garland Vanhook, architect for the project, said the groundbreaking is the culmination of nine months of work with 10 months, or more, work ahead. He praised the project but warned residents of some inconveniences during the construction period and asked for their patience. Contractor on the project will be CB & S Construction of Somerset. The firm is now constructing an annex at the Rockcastle Hospital. Judge Mullins opened the Veterans ceremonies with a welcome, followed by State Rep. Danny Ford who acted as master of ceremonies. Rep. Ford lauded the service men who served in Desert Storm. Mrs. Margie Wilcox sang the National Anthem and Livingston Mayor Billy Medley gave the opening prayer. Rev. Harvey Pensol recognized the Desert Storm veterans for their sacrifice.

Groundbreaking

Dear Editor and all the citizens of Rockcastle County, that are interested in "good" state government; I would like to ask you to vote for John Frith Stewart for Lt. Governor. John was born in Rockcastle County and grew up in Danville and Louisville and is a partner in a large, labor law firm in Louisville and lives in Peewee Valley.

While growing up, through many summers, John visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Frith and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gray of Broodhead.

John Frith Stewart was a born leader. He won many academic awards in high school and college. He was elected the "Youth Governor" of Kentucky by the Y.M.C.A. Kentucky Youth Assembly; a recipient of the Ford Foundation scholarships during four years to the University of Louisville; he was an International Living Scholarship recipient to Geneva, Switzerland in 1955 and obtained his Juris Doctorate, University of Louisville in 1960 (age 22).

John has been honored by many labor unions throughout Kentucky and by the Kentucky Education Association. He is a respected lawyer in all legal circles and labor circles in his community and throughout Kentucky.

He is only asking for $50 per individual for his campaign and is traveling continuously across the state seeing people. So people to people, he is probably getting more votes than all of those hundreds of dollars are on TV.

Sincerely, Elthora Gray Broodhead

Dear Editor, To the people of Mt. Vernon Plastics:

I would like to say as an employee of Mt. Vernon Plastics I have seen a lot of changes take place in the last seven years I have worked here and lately a lot of them have been bad ones. I keep telling myself that things will get better but they haven't. This is plain in the fact that we received no profit sharing check or raises this year except for a very few. The company also took away the operators jobs in printing that so many had. I will get better but they haven't. This is plain in the fact that we have hired people right off the street to fill good jobs in the plant when we had qualified people inside who would have loved the opportunity for a better job. It would look as if they care little for seniority as well since good jobs are only given to relatives and their own special friends. It makes no difference if you are qualified for a job and have a good work record and seniority. If you are a woman you don't get it. If a woman and man put in for the same job, the man will get it.

Jake and Wayne tell us we have an open door policy, well we do, it opens they listen to your complaint, then the door is closed with no results. They don't care if we like the way the plant is run or not. If they did would we still have relations?

We have no voice in anything in this plant. One person can not do anything but many can, as a union we will have rights and a voice in this company. Remember the Teamsters stood with us before and will do so again.

Please don't be afraid of signing a card your rights will be protected. Please vote. Yoc Union, Rita Smith

Dear Editor, As Memorial Day draws near again, I would like to thank the following people for their support of the Negro Creek Cemetery Fund. Without their help we could not have accomplished anything. We are still short of our goal if anyone has not contributed, or wants to increase their donations, it will be highly appreciated. I hope to be at Negro Creek Cemetery on June 2, for the Memorial Services. Perhaps someone will be there also. Let's all join in. Many thanks to each and every one who has given to the fund and a special thanks to you the editor for printing this.

Dear Editor, The Lexington Herald-Leader (4/24/91) carried a supplement: Reading for Fun. Hurray! It was loaded with ideas for parents and readers. We are urged to read to children at an early age.

I can vouch for the benefits of reading to children. My four daughters are doing well in their education. Reading all those "dumb stories" to them was good preparation. For years they enjoyed taking my girls to the library almost every week for an armload of books. I showed them example by my armloads too.

My most recent discovery of good reading is C.S. Lewis' "seven volumes" set: "The Chronicles of Narnia." I beca-

The mountains of eastern Kentucky are in full bloom right now and it's a wonderful sight to behold. Last Wednesday, I was on a flight from Atlanta to Lexington and the Captain came on the intercom to announce that we were a few minutes ahead of schedule and that he was veering about fifty miles off course — a mixture of white and lavender that, from 30,000 feet, looks as if it has been brushed onto the landscape.

I'd like to suggest to my central Kentucky readers, that you hop in your car this weekend and drive up into the hills via the Mountain or Daniel Boone Parkways to Hazard and then take highway 15 on into Letcher County. While you're there, come down highway 7 to Blackey on Sunday afternoon (May 5) and take in one of the finest photography exhibits you're ever apt to witness, while you're at it.

The Blackey Public Library will display the work of Lexington photographer, Kate Smith Adams in a memorial tribute to her mother-in-law, the late Mary Ann Adams. Kate, who grew up in Blackey, and I are among a group of people who owe our inspirations for becoming what we have become almost exclusively to the guiding touch this amazing teacher had on our lives.

If you live in the mountains and you know Mary Ann, please try to join us around 3 p.m. so that we can talk about and remember her just like she would have wanted us to do. You will also discover that the Webb Brothers are not the only Letcher countians making a mark for themselves in the flatlands. Kate Adams is rapidly becoming one of the most respected professional photographers around and she is president of Walden Photography's Commercial Division. Kate says the exhibit will be mostly artistic, not commercial, and she hopes that it captures the kinds of beauty we learned to identify with Mrs. Adams.

The exhibit is open to the public and it promises to be a most entertaining enlightening show. It will be a good thing for you to do on Sunday afternoon. Loretta and I plan on driving up from Paint Lick.

In other news this week, more than a dozen people have written or called wanting a start of Buford Caudill fall bean seed. I wish I had a gallon, because some folks are offering big bucks. However, I only have enough left to plant three or four rows myself, but here's what I plan to do. I have your letters and your address on my bulletin board. If the Good Lord is willing, I will save most of what I grow for seed and I will send you a start just as soon as they are dry enough to mail. I am as sorry as I can be that I'm simply out right now. When I send them to you this fall, I won't take money for them. You can grow me by giving some to another person.

I hope that those of you from all over the place to whom I have already shared seed will also get in touch with me at the end of the growing season and let me know how they did and whether or not you have seed to spare. I would like to put some other readers in touch with you, so that we can get a real seed exchange going. Gladys Thompson wrote from Newcastle, Indiana to say that she grew up on Doy Creek with Buford and it makes me feel so sad that I don't even have enough seed for her or others of his close friends yet.

Give us another year though and a bit of your patience.

Gladys was also among several folks who have sent in gardening tips. She says that you should cover your potatoes back up when they first come up through the ground. They'll come up again. When they come up the third time, place newspapers, a few pages thick all around them. This will hold in moisture and hold off weeds. When digging time comes, all you have to do is rake them up and you'll have way more spuds than you would have otherwise.

Martha Parsons, who is 87 years old and lives in Partridge, Kentucky sent a tip suggesting that you put a handful of book matches in every hole you set a pepper in. When the plants start growing, spray them weekly with epsom salts. She says this will make bell peppers grow as large as canteloupes. We are, by the way, sending Martha about a dozen Buford Caudill fall bean seeds. When you're 87, you don't have to wait a whole year if I have any seed.

Rose Ballard of Harrison, Ohio who has published a book of poetry wrote to tell about her first experience with tough hull peas. She didn't know there was such a thing, so when someone gave her a big sack of them, she canned 'em just like you would beans. Rose, if it's any consolation, I did the same thing about ten years ago when Robert Nix gave me a bushel. I got 21 quarts and they were so tough that I sent a sample off to the army to see if they had any use for the material. I thought they might build planes out of it.

Mrs. Dan Proffitt of London wrote to inquire if anyone knows of a bean called "Ice beans" because the hull looks almost clear. She also wants a start of what is rapidly becoming known as the Molly Helton tomato and Buford Caudill beans. We sent her the last tomato seed we have, and plan on saving a bunch this year.

Daryl Collins of Gate City, Tennessee sent a lettuce tip that makes sense. Daryl says to scoop some plants out of your lettuce bed with a trowel and set them out in hills about a foot between plants. Fill the hills with lots of rotten manure and you can grow head lettuce as big as basketballs. He says Great Lakes and Iceberg make better heads, but it will work with about any kind of lettuce.

Send your tips to 9890 highway 52 West, Paint Lick, Kentucky 40461 so we can get 'em in the paper and let everybody grow better gardens. If you want bean seed, send a self addressed stamped envelope and we'll get back to you in September.

"OUR READERS WRITE"

Ily recommend it for adults as well as juveniles. "Creatively imaginative and profoundly stimulating" would be my evaluation. The Rockcastle Library has it.

I am currently volunteering at the C.A.P. Family Life Center School, tutoring in literacy and GED preparation.

As good weather and longer days are upon us, I would beg everyone to call us to discover the excitement of improving reading skills and even better, get that diploma called a GED - if you did not finish school.

Dear Editor,

There has been a lot of adverse publicity about law enforcement officials in the past few months but in Kentucky, the sheriff and his deputies are to be commended for the many good deeds they perform and for taking care of needy children by making the Kentucky Sheriff's Boys and Girls Ranch summer camp possible.

Last summer, the Sheriff's Ranch had a record number of boys and girls. Eleven hundred and three children, split almost equally between boys and girls, attended the summer camp, free of charge to them. The sheriff in each county is responsible for selection of the children and their transportation to and from the camp in Gilbertsville, in Western Kentucky.

In addition to being involved with the Kentucky Sheriff's Boys and Girls Ranch, over seventy Kentucky Sheriffs have a DARE Program in the school systems; many have started a Neighborhood Block Watch Program; and some are starting a TRIAD Program to assist the elderly in their county. Sheriff Shirley Smith, Rockcastle County, is one of many sheriffs across the state involved in community service programs.

Our summer camp will open Sunday, June 9th. If you know of an unfortunate child between the ages of 9-13, please call Sheriff Smith. This is the greatest summer camp in the nation and we are eager to accommodate children from Rockcastle County.

Remember, "No sheriff ever stood so tall as when he stoops to help a child."

Sincerely,
Ray H. Stoess
Executive Director

Dear Editor,

Every year in April, I start to study the greenery, each day I watch from my window. As the weather gets a bit warmer, I go out and find flowers and trees, in many colors. The warm breezes flow and there is a feeling of joy that I never know for another year. In the month of May, when I see the cups of lovely applerees in full blossom, I enjoy so much, and my mind is filled with memories from the old days.

I recall from my early school days the story of Johnny Applesseed... His real name was John Chapman, Born sometime during the years of the eighteen forties. First Naturalist in this area. During the frontier days the Indians did not bother him as he sowed the seeds, they considered him a goof. So Johnny sowed seeds right on.

A man from Louisville grafted some trees from the trees which had grown from the trees Johnny had sown, he brought his trees and set them out in Cincinnati's Spring Grove Cemetery, where John Applesseed is buried. The name "Johnny Applesseed" is engraved on Johnny's stone. One day this April, I was privileged to see it as I had gone to the cemetery to do some shopping there for my own facilities.

Thank you,

Margaret Dychose

'Mayday'

The first day of May has always been a day of magic for me. It was the first day of spring, the last day of winter and the beginning of summer all rolled into one day. Now if that isn't magic I don't know what is.

When I was a child the first day of May was the beginning of freedom from the horrible long underwear and long black stockings we had to wear. The stockings were not always black but black, brown or white, they still had to be pulled up over the long underwear and secured by some means above the knees. I never could figure out an art of doing this without leaving lumps under the stockings. There was an art to it; if one held the underwear snug beneath the heel with one hand and maneuvered the stocking over it sometimes one could get it all the way up without bumping it. Or sometimes the underwear legs could be folded into a tight scam and held while the stocking was pulled up leaving only one crooked ridge beneath it. My clumsy hand couldn't accomplish either so I always had lumpy legs. These stockings also had to be held up by some means which was usually elastic garters. If one of these happened to break or get lost a piece of string was substituted and it was tied above the knees. These tied bits of string never held the stockings as well as elastic garters so the stockings were always creeping down into wrinkles. Since I have always been a loser of things it was I that had to use strings more often than anyone and it was my stockings that were the luckiest and most wrinkled of any one about or it seemed to me.

My first was our first day of freedom from these burdens. It was also the day we were allowed to discard our high top shoes and go barfoot. It didn't matter how warm it had been in April nor how cold the first day of May was it was the day we were allowed to sink our bare feet into the dirt and feel the warming earth beneath them. There is no other sensation to human body like the creeping warmth of the earth soaking into tender young feet.

The freedom from that underwear with the dreadful long legs, and sleeves with cuffs that seemed to be forever dirty and in the way, and the carting of those loveless high top shoes was a relief that only those of us who can remember do so with nostalgia and relief. I looked forward to the first day of May with the same kind of excitement that accompanied the coming of Christmas.

On May first I would wake with the sun and when I dressed it was without those sweaty, hot, long sleeved and long legged garments. I was free and could hardly wait to get outside to wiggle my toes into the warm dirt and run across the tender new grass. My feet were still too tender to walk on the gravels but it wouldn't take long for them to toughen up enough till I could run anywhere and wade creeks with rocky bottoms. That was another feeling of ecstasy, cool mountain water running swiftly over hot dry feet.

I remember much of my mother's teachings and appreciate the knowledge and lack of knowledge she showed in rearing her nine children but I'm afraid I swayed somewhat from them for I'm sure my children were allowed to share this joy as soon as the April sun brought forth her warmth enough to make the grass spring up and blooms pop out on every hill and tree. What better time is there for a child to also be a part of that breaking away from the bonds of winter?

May day had many other joys to anticipate. One was the sunrise youths usually sponsored by the youth of the churches participating. The one I finally had the privilege of attending was followed by a breakfast cooked over an open fire. This was held on the top of the highest hill in the area and as the sun rose songs of praise were sung by the group. This was an awesome sight and sound and one I'll never forget.

The breakfast that followed completed the fulfilling of body and soul.

The maypole dance, performed at celebrations on the first day of May was popular in the area I grew up in. It is a beautiful dance performed by children dressed in spring pastel colors and each child holds the end of a ribbon to match the color of clothes worn. The other end of the ribbon is attached to the top of the maypole. As the children dance the ribbons weave in and out as they dance around the pole their ribbons become a multi-colored braid from the top of the pole to the bottom. By the time this is accomplished all the children are in a tight colorful group at the bottom of the pole. It is so pretty I wish all children could be a part of it.

Mayday - the day of magic and I look back to with nostalgia.

The Week at Livingston

By: Frances Dickerson

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mullins were their grandson Brad Mullins and his wife and little son Cody of Robinson, Ill., Mr. Mullins' sister Alma Brossard of Covington and grandson Stuart Mullins of Frankfort.

Mrs. Hazel Halcomb visited with her daughters last week. She and her daughter Irene Shelly flew to Florida and spent the week with James Gearty and her family. They returned by way of Louisville and visited with Mrs. Pauline Pennix and her family.

Eugene Wilt of Lexington visited with friends in Livingston Saturday. Norman Mullins returned home to Spokane, Washington after spending several weeks with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Denver Mullins.

Buelah Black and Juanita Medley were in Richmond on business one day this week.

Oscar Oliver spent last week in Tennessee visiting.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mahaffey's grandson, David Lee Mahaffey of Louisville, spent several days with his grandparents this week.

Ann and Louise Cook of Miaming, Ohio spent Tuesday with Mrs. Myrtle Durham and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Smith and son of Bakersville, CA. visited Mrs. Jane Smith Sunday.

Juanita Medley and Margaret Burdine visited Mrs. Biha Brockner and Mrs. Resse Smith of Somerset in Sowers Nursing Home Tuesday afternoon.

Columbus Jones of Indianapolis, Ind. made his annual trip to Livingston Saturday visiting with the ones he knew when he lived in Livingston.

Mrs. Jean McClure spent last weekend in Onida, Tenn., visiting her mother Mrs. King.

Bill Shackelford is doing some work in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl visited Mrs. Ponder's brother, Bro. Leck Arnold, Tuesday.

The Carpenter family reports that Holt is some better. We all surely hope so.

Work is still going on at the Ward Cemetery this week. Work is credited to Lois Mullins, Neil Nicely, Larry and Jerry Hubbard, and Carl Gross. If you haven't already given a donation and wish to, please do so. It will be greatly appreciated. Make your donation to either Frances Dickerson or Lois Mullins.

Brodhead Homecoming

The Homecoming dates for this year's Homecoming are: Friday, May 24 and Saturday, May 25 of the Memorial Day Weekend.

A theme has been chosen for this year's Homecoming. It is "Old Memories of Brodhead." Anyone with pictures and/or information of old businesses and places of interest in the area may wish to contact Diane Ott at 758-8850. It is the hope of the Homecoming Committee that memories of past years in Brodhead can be displayed in the store windows on Main street. Any pictures given to the Committee will be returned.

A Gospel Singing Concert kicks off the Homecoming festivities Friday evening beginning at 7 p.m. at the Brodhead School. The concert is free to the public. Some of the groups scheduled to perform are: "Daughters of the Way, Jubilee Echoes, plus many others.

Nominations are now being accepted for the Outstanding Citizen Award. Someone interested in nominating another person for this award can do so by sending the person's name and a short paragraph telling why this person deserves the award to the Brodhead Homecoming Committee, c/o Diane Ott, P.O. Box 707, Brodhead, Ky. 40409. Deadline for nominations is Wednesday May 15th.

The Pretty Baby and Tiny Toes District 12 grades 6th through the 12th grades can enter the Homecoming Queen Contest by placing their picture on a box or container and putting it in a local business or school. Votes are counted as a jury a week. The Pretty Baby and Tiny Toes contests are being run the same way as the Homecoming Queen contests. Ages for the Pretty Baby contest are up to 2 years and for Tiny Toes is 3 to 5 years of age. All entries from all Brodhead residents will be judged Saturday 9 a.m. at the Brodhead City Park of Saturday morning. Watch for information ads in the Signal for upcoming contests may contact Ruth Bussell at 758-8918.

Paul Cash is sponsoring a Volley Ball Tournament which is to begin at 9 a.m. at the Brodhead City Park of Saturday morning. Watch for information ads in the Signal for upcoming contests may contact Paul at 758-8083.

A contest being added to the Homecoming Festivities for the first time this year is the "Pretty Man" contest. It is being sponsored by William Taylor and Danny McClure. It is sure to be a lot of fun and anyone that would be willing to participate can get in touch with William or Danny. Winners will be judged Saturday afternoon at the Homecoming Grandstand on Main Street.

Jim Sayre of Lawrence will once again be present at the Homecoming doing his impersonation of Abraham Lincoln. The resemblance between Bro. Sayre and Abe Lincoln is remarkable and it is worth taking the time to come out to see and hear him.

Clogging performances Saturday afternoon will be by the Helen Neal Cloggers and the Bittersweet Cloggers.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. Line up will start at the Brodhead Fairground St. 1 p.m. First, Second and third place prizes will be awarded for float entries. Any person or group interested in entering the parade can contact Larry Albright or Dave Ott at 758-8630.

Some other events scheduled for Saturday include Mill Grinders, a flea market, refreshments, carnival games and go-cart races.

The finale of the Homecoming Weekend is a Donkey Basketball Game that will be held Saturday evening beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased in advance for children (6 to 12 years) at $2.50 or adults of $3.00, or tickets can be purchased at the door the night of the ballgame at children (6 to 12) for $3.50 and adults for $4.00 under school age is free.

At half time of the ballgame there will be an auction by Ford Brothers Inc. Anyone wishing to donate items for the auction can do so by contacting Margaret Brock at 256-8918. The auction will continue after the Donkey Basketball game if there are still items left to be auctioned.

The homecoming is filled with a lot of events and happenings and fun. Come out and enjoy, meet old friends, make new friends, share in the memories of Brodhead with friends, family and neighbors.

The Carpenter family reports that Holt is some better. We all surely hope so.

Brodhead Homeomakers

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

Willing Workers met with Jean Albright as hostess, April 25, at 7:30 p.m.

The lesson, "Kentucky's Heritage in Crafts," was presented by Carol Riddle. She showed slides to go along with the lesson. The homeomakers present saw the crafts made by pioneers. Some of the old patterns were preserved. The names of the crafts are the same now as they were known then.

Basketry, whittling, rug making and quilting were only a few of the pioneer skills. Basketry is probably the oldest craft in the world, with the Kentucky Egg basket the oldest in the mountains of U.S.A.

It was in America that quilting became uniquely individual folk art which became an absolute necessity.

The designs and patterns of early quilts were based on objects used and everyday activities. There are more star patterns than any other design with the rose design a close second choice in popularity.

Carol gave those present at the meeting a booklet of "Preserving Our Heritage in Quilts." She also gave out leaflets on Heritage Skills.

Announcements made were: Deadline for Dairy Licenses Receipts is May 3, 1991; Fall Festival Oct. 4 & 5 at Benfro Valley; State Homeomakers Meeting March 15-17 at Lexington and don't forget to take something you made to Doug's Cdp and Carl Photography building for display in his window for National Homeomakers' Week - Aug 5, 1991.

We need to have a membership drive! Suggestions were: bring a guest at a certain meeting and have everyone make a craft item.

Also, remember the special interest class at Rockcastle County Extension Meeting Room in Mt. Vernon. You can make your own toys.

Lesson next month is "Diet and Chronic Diseases."

Before adjournment, Jean Albright served some of her specialties - both delicious and good for us!

Early Hay Harvest

An early hay harvest is like money in the bank for dairy farmers, according to a University of Kentucky dairy nutritionist.

"With a grass hay forage program, a dairyman can save up to $750 a month by cutting early, or before the grass heads out in the field," said Donna Amaral-Phillips, an Extension specialist with the UK College of Agriculture. "This estimate is based on a 50-cow herd averaging 50 pounds of milk per cow per day."

"The early harvest produces a higher quality forage with more leaves and a higher nutrient density," she explained. "Harvesting early lets you lower feed costs and increase milk production."

"By using the early-cut hay, it costs less to feed cows, while still meeting their nutritional needs," she added.

"Cows get more nutritional value out of the hay," she added. "Cows get more nutritional value out of the hay, and, as a result, give more milk. In addition, ration costs are cheaper because you are feeding less grain."

Getting an extra cutting off the field is another advantage of an early hay harvest.

The two keys to harvesting an excellent quality hay are when and how you harvest the hay crop, according to Amaral-Phillips.

"When to harvest is determined by the state of maturity of the crop," she said. "Grass hay (orchardgrass, fescue and timothy) wheat, oats and rye should be harvested when the first few heads appear in the field (late boot stage). You don't want the whole field headed out; harvest when the head is still in the plant but is just about to come out."

She said alfalfa-grass mixtures should be harvested just before the first purple blooms are seen in the field.

How hay is harvested, she added, involves baling at less than 20 percent moisture to prevent mold and heat damage.

"Harvesting quality forages greatly affects the profits and survivability of Kentucky dairy farmers," Amaral-Phillips said. "When raising forages, remember you are in the business of producing milk from an acre of land. You will make more milk with forages harvested early."

Piney Grove Cemetery

The grass is growing and now you want it cut. Here is how you get it cut. Bring your money to the cemetery on Friday, Saturday, Sunday or Monday during the decoration period someone will be there to take it.

You may give it to a grass cutting fund or you can give to the Perpetual Fund which will go into the cemetery trust fund. You may be interested to know this has passed fifty thousand dollars. Our goal is one hundred thousand.

Give your money to people at cemetery or mail it to Billy Bussell, Brodhead.

FFA Banquet 1990-91

Receiving honorary chapter degrees were Supt. Bige Towery, Henry Hayes, Russell Parsons and Judy Sowder.

Two Rockcastle County vocational students, Eddie Mosley, left, and Sherman Cook, recently returned from the State VICA Skill Olympics held at Fort Mitchell, Ky. Cook received second place honors within the state in the welding category while Mosley entered in the electronic technology category.

Diabetes Workshop

Do you have diabetes or know someone who does? Would you like to learn more about diabetes? If so, you are invited to attend a one day workshop to learn about diabetes. This workshop is sponsored by Rockcastle County Health Center and the Cumberland Valley District Health Department. The workshop will begin at 10 a.m. and will conclude at 3 p.m. and will be held in the local health center on May 8, 1991.

Topics for discussion will include: causes and complications of diabetes and the importance of nutrition, exercise, medication and monitoring in controlling your diabetes. The classes will be taught by a registered nurse and a registered dietitian who are specialists in diabetes. Bring a sack lunch and join us for a day to learn how to better control your diabetes. To register call 256-2242!

The importance of livestock futures

What do livestock futures mean for cattle and hog producers? Prices have been high in futures for both cattle and hogs recently. May Feeder Cattle Contracts traded at $88 per hundred weight this week compares with the $85-87 range last fall. The Live Hog Contract price was over $36 for June and July. Farmers should keep up with futures prices even if they're not trading the commodities, said Lee Meyer, Extension Economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"They can be used for risk management and to forecast prices," he said. "Futures prices are consensus prices based on traders' buying and selling decisions. They are a different type of forecast from 'fundamental factors' forecasts such as that released by the UK agricultural economists."

"Futures markets are a pretty good predictor, Meyer said, but like other predictors they can be misleading sometimes.

For example, the price of a Feeder

Cattle Contract is based on a national, weighted price for 600 to 800 pound yearling steers. Over the years, Kentucky prices average about $5 per hundredweight lower. That's because of shipping costs as most Kentucky cattle are shipped to out-of-state feedlots for further feeding before slaughter, Meyer said. "That means an October futures price of $86 suggests a Kentucky price for yearling steers in the lower $80s," Meyer said.

Spring cash prices for Kentucky hogs tend to be $1 or $1 below the futures prices, while summer prices may be near or even over the quoted prices. That's because of differences in local supply compared with national supplies, he said. Kentucky tends to have an oversupply in the spring and undersupply in early summer.

"That translates to futures-based predictions in the low $50s with early summer prices expected in the upper $50s," he said. "That can be important knowledge for the producer." A real emphasis on futures for farmers should be risk management, he said.

"A farmer who buys calves or pigs because of high futures prices sets himself up for potential problems, because the market could change dramatically by the time the animals are delivered," Meyer said. "The way to minimize those problems is by hedging or using options."

He added, "Summer futures prices for hogs are near where I expect cash prices. That suggests now may be a good time to sell futures (hedge) or buy a put option for a risk protection."

By hedging (selling futures) producers can set a price for future delivery which they will get regardless of whether the market goes up or down. Buying options can set a floor under prices, which serves as a kind of insurance for the producer.

Renfro Valley All-Night Gospel Sing set for May 10

Renfro Valley Folks, Inc. will kick off the 1991 series of Special Gospel Concerts at midnight, Friday, May 10, with the first Annual Midnight Spring Gospel Sing.

The All-Night Sing will be held in both barns due to a projected attendance of over 2,000 people.

Featured groups include: The Perry's, The Fox Brothers, Chronicle, Charles Johnson and the Revivers, New Harvest and Spirit of Praise, (the winners of Renfro Valley's 1991 Gospel Quartet Talent search).

Tickets for the event are $9 for adults and 1/2 price for children under

12. "The Friday Night Midnight Spring Gospel was formed and is designed to serve several purposes," says Michael Bryant, assistant marketing director and gospel music promotions coordinator for Renfro Valley Folks, Inc. "but first and foremost, a lot of people have suggested expanding gospel music in Renfro Valley this year. We are trying to accommodate."

The regular shows in Renfro Valley, "Kentucky's Country Music Capital", have more than doubled since this time last year. Bryant says that gospel music promises to be no exception to the rule.

News conference in valley

Kentucky Tourism Deputy Secretary Arnold Marshall will conduct a news conference at 5:30 p.m., May 7 at Renfro Valley to announce the newly compiled 1990 tourism spending and employment data at the state, regional and local levels.

Secretary Ron Gentry will be making appearances in the western half of the state, while Deputy Secretary Marshall will make stops in the eastern half. The announcements coincide with National Tourism Week, May 5 to 11, a celebration designed to spotlight the economic impact of the nation's third-largest industry.

The press conference is expected to include the symbolic presentation of a check representing state matching funds allocated for local tourism promotions.

Western applies for $750,000 grant

An application for a $750,000 grant to upgrade the Western Rockcastle Water Association is being prepared. In a called meeting last Thursday, the Rockcastle Fiscal Court approved the resolution in support of the grant. All magistrates voted yes.

The money, if approved, will be used for more water storage, installation of line inside the district to correct water pressure. There will not be additional lines.

The district remains under a state ban on more lines. It was reported work is under way for extension of lines in the Brodhead water district.

The estimated $6,000 project now under way is providing service to about 12 customers along a route to the Christian Church Camp. The state approved the extension to the camp.

Killed police officer Watkins trial moved to Jessamine County

The trial of a man accused of slaying a Stanford policeman has been moved to Jessamine County.

Thomas Wade Watkins, 32, of Lincoln County, was charged with capital murder in the shooting death of Officer Gary Kidwell of Lincoln County in January.

Lincoln Circuit Judge Robert Jackson granted the change of venue. Police allege that Watkins shot Kidwell, 41, with a .357-Magnum handgun after being stopped for suspected drunken driving.

Watkins is also alleged to have kidnaped three people as he fled south toward Tennessee after Kidwell's shooting. Watkins finally was stopped in a shoot-out with Williamsburg, police four miles north of the Tennessee line.

Watkins has pleaded not guilty to the murder charge. Bond for Watkins has been denied.

A Kentucky State Police detective testified in pre-trial proceedings that a ballistics expert matched a bullet from Kidwell's body with a gun found in Watkins' possession.

A spokeswoman for the circuit clerk's office says a trial date has not been set.

186 register to vote

About 20 persons registered Tuesday, the last day for registering to vote in the May 18 Primary election, according to County Clerk Norma Houk.

A total of 186 persons have registered since the November General Election.

Mrs. Houk said she did not have a breakdown along party lines.

Indictment returned

Sherry Fagan, 41, of Cow Trailer Park in Mt. Vernon, has been indicted by a Rockcastle grand jury for theft by deception, $100 or more.

She is accused of obtaining cash from Rodney Jones (Sav-a-Lot) in return for a worthless check drawn on Central Trust Bank of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Brodhead Alumni Banquet

The A's and the Reds stood at attention at Thacker Field in Brodhead as the National Anthem sounded before the opening game of the 1991 Little League season.

League season. Last year's league and tournament champions, the A's, won the opener, 6-0, over the Reds.

Lady Rockets use mid-season winning streak to up record to even, 13-13

They may have struggled somewhat in the beginning but no longer. The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets' softball team stretched out four wins in six games this past week to bring their season record to a nice round figure, even at 13-13.

The first two-game series, last Wednesday at home, was a split with Madison Southern. The Lady Rockets took a hot bat to the plate in the first game to whip Southern, 14-11, but allowed the bats to go silent in the second as Southern received the win, 11-5.

The next series at Somerset last Thursday went the same as the Southern series. The Lady Rockets pounded early for a first game win of 12-2, but let Somerset squeak by in the second game to win, 5-4.

However, dates were paid in the final series this past week as the Lady Rockets literally rocked host Corbin with a blow-out score of 39-5, Monday night. In fact, the game was so lopsided that Corbin declined to play the second, resulting in a forfeit and an easy win for the Lady Rocket.

Southern Series.....

The first key for the Lady Rockets' win in the Southern series was the fact that every player in the line-up managed at least one hit on the night. And that's not to mention the round-trippers by Kristi Sargent in the first inning, Donna Cash in the third, Christy Coleman in the fourth and Karla Bullock in the sixth.

The 21 hits out of 37 at bats resulted in the Lady Rockets scoring two runs in the first inning, three in the second and three in the third, one in the fourth and five in the sixth.

The second key was their ability to come up with runs in the late innings of the game.

Southern played catch up through the first three innings but snatched

Wins hard to come by

Rockets struggling; lose five games this past week

It's no secret, the Rockcastle County Rockets' baseball team is a young team but a good team. However wins are just not coming.

The Rockets lost five games this past week to fall into a losing streak which began April 8th. They now only sport three wins and have 13 losses.

The week started when the Rockets hosted Barbourville last Wednesday. Barbourville pounded the Rockets in five innings, 25-5.

The second loss came the day after when Madison Southern came into town to take one away from the Rockets, 18-8.

Although last Saturday brought two more losses, the Rockets did perform well and did so against one of the better teams in the area or state to say the least. The Rockets hosted a double-header against Nicholas County and only lost the first game, 13-8, and the second, 10-3. A fairly good display by the Rockets considering the scores that Nicholas has posted over some of their opponents this year.

The final loss came at Corbin, Monday, when Corbin slipped by 7-3.

Not much can be said except that the Rockets have been hitting the ball well but haven't been able to play the glove as well.

Against Barbourville, the Rockets punched in four runs in the first inning to counter six scored by Barbourville in the top of the inning.

Account for their 25 runs.....

Barbourville had a very good contact hitting ball club. Six hits in the first inning set the Rockets' starting pitcher, Chris Ponder, out of the game early.

However, four other pitchers would enter the game to try to shut down the Barbourville bats before the game would conclude with a 20 run margin.

The Rockets put the only other run on the board in the fourth. Lead-off hitter David Sargent walked and stole second and third before he reached home on a sacrifice by Mitchell Parkerson.

Barbourville went six, two, four and finally nine in the seventh to Somerset series.....

Again, backed by the entire lineup, achieving hits and all but two with one or more hits allowed the Lady Rockets to easily handle Somerset in five innings, 12-2, in the first game last Thursday.

A's shut-out Reds, 6-0, in opening game of Little League season

Compiled by: David Brock
After Saturday's ceremonial first pitch by Preston Parret and the traditional playing of the National Anthem at Thacker Field in Brodhead, the Little League season was officially opened again in Rockcastle County.

And there was no better way to open the 1991 season than to watch last year's league and tournament champions, the A's, take on the Reds in the opening game.

Pitcher Nathan DeLeon was successful in continuing the A's winning ways by striking out an impressive 15 Reds' batters while only walking two to get the distance and receive the 6-0 victory.

The Twins followed suit in Saturday's second game by defeating the Cubs, 13-4. The game proved close through four innings when the Cubs locked the score at 4-4. But a rally in the fifth, resulting in nine runs, concluded the game in strong fashion by the Twins.

The final winners Saturday were the Pirates. Noted for a solid defensive performance by both teams, the Pirates took a close one, 4-1, over the Padres.

And in Monday night's action, the A's earned their second win, highlighted by a Josh Blanton homerun, with a 11-1 win over the Cubs.

(Editor's Note: Coaches, please feel free to call the Signal before noon, Tuesday, with any game, score or highlight.)

Preston Parrett, former basketball coach for Livingston High School and Elementary and the Rockcastle High School, tossed the ceremonial first pitch, Saturday at Thacker Field, to open the Little League season in Rockcastle County. Catcher Jonathan Jasper of the A's caught the pitch.

Girls' Track and Field Athletes of the Week

for April 21-27

From left, Traci Phillips, Amy Thacker and Gina Sigmon, all Roundstone Elementary students, are this week's track and field athletes of the week. Thacker, who is in her second year of track, is the veteran of the trio and already holds records in the 400, 800 and 1600 meter relays. She is a fine sprinter and holds her personal best in the 200m dash with a 29 second run. The youngest of the group, Phillips, is only a seventh grader and has established herself early as a fine track athlete. Not only can she run but she can jump and long jump as well which earns her a placing at most of the meets. The final member of the group is Sigmon, who helps out on the 400, 800 and 1600 meter relays as well as the 100 and 200 meter dashes. Although another newcomer, Sigmon works very well with the other girls on the relay teams and is known for handling and passing the baton well.
