This card of thanks goes to our family and friends who helped us in every way, or was just there when we needed a shoulder to lean on, this poem goes to our family and friends. In this world of uncertainty and confusion, we have found each other, totally different yet alike. Having the desire to combine these likes with the joys of solved differences. We have grown together in love and understanding climaxing this day. We sincerely thank you, our friends and loved ones for making our joy complete by your presence, thoughtfulness and prayers. Judy and Doug Baker

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wheat wish to express their heart-felt thanks for all the presents and wishes given them during and after their wedding. A special thanks to Rod Top Restaurant for their patience and understanding during the reception. To everyone, we thank you and love you. Eva and Buddy Wheat

Card of Thanks We want to express our thanks to each and everyone who was so kind and thoughtful during the death of our brother Lawrence Abney. Especially for the singers, Bro. ## Local students get degrees from EKU in August graduation

Five Rockcastle County students received degrees from Eastern Kentucky University at the end of the summer term.

They were among the 509 summer degree candidates honored at the University's 84th summer commencement ceremonies held Thursday, Aug. 1.

Summer degree candidates at EKU sought 37 associate degrees, 307 bachelor's degrees and 165 master's degrees.

Dr. Lyman Ginger, executive director of Cardinal Hill Hospital, Lexington and a distinguished Kentucky educator, gave the commencement address. EKU also awarded Ginger an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Following the formal ceremony in the Ravine at the center of EKU's historic Richmond campus, graduates were invited to receptions sponsored by the University's nine colleges.

The new graduates join more than 60,000 EKU alumni in Kentucky, the region, and across the United States.

Eastern Kentucky University serves more than 16,000 students through programs offered on its 350-acre Richmond campus, through its 22-county service region and beyond.

Local EKU graduates include: Sandy Lynn Hayes, Broadhead, paralegal science; Ethyl Charlene Holbrook, Broadhead, Real Estate; Janice Miller, Broadhead, secondary school counseling (Masters Degree); Michelle Parkerson, elementary education; early elementary education (Masters Degree) and Gregory C. Philbeck, Mt. Vernon, business and industrial security (associate degree).

Kentucky Partnership for School Reform to begin public information campaign

For 625,000 Kentucky children, school will never be the same. The Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) guarantees that it will be better than it used to be.

Since this landmark legislation was passed in 1980, educators, administrators, state and local officials, parents and concerned citizens have been working diligently to carry out the vast changes required by law.

Many of those changes have already occurred. On the state level, the Education Cabinet has been reorganized under newly appointed Education Commissioner Thomas E. Boyesen. A new State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education is already functioning. At the local level, 139 of Kentucky's 176 school districts have enacted tax increases to take advantage of the law's funding mechanism. New facilities are being planned. Equipment is being purchased. Parent-teacher councils are being formed. Teacher salaries have been improved. Kindergarten programs are being offered for at-risk four-year-old students. Family resource youth services centers are being created.

That's the short list. A lot of exciting change is taking place in public schools across Kentucky today. So much is happening that it's difficult to keep pace with the changes. Most people have heard of the Kentucky Education Reform Act, but research has shown that few believe they really know what the law provides.

A new public awareness campaign that will kick-off this month should help remedy this situation. This massive campaign is being sponsored by the Partnership for Kentucky-School Reform and funded by private donations. The partnership is a non-partisan coalition of more than 50 public and private leaders representing Kentucky's business, civic, governmental and educational organizations. The partnership is an outgrowth of the national Business Roundtable's 10-year commitment to education and was spearheaded by the chief executives of United Parcel Service, Humana and Ashland Oil.

The public awareness campaign has both advertising and public relations activities. Television, radio, billboard and newspaper advertising, as well as displays in 12 Kentucky malls, will tell Kentuckians about KERA. A traveling display housed in a colorfully decorated school bus features key KERA provisions. A special section of the bus can be tailored for each community the bus will visit.

We hope you will visit the school bus when it comes to your community, but not just to become versed in KERA. We hope you will use the visit to begin asking your local school officials questions about their plans to implement the important changes contained in the reform. If an honest and open dialog can be established, it will go a long way toward helping to institute school-based decision making -- another KERA component.

Kirbys file suit against school board

The parents of 3 Roundstone Elementary school students, who died on January 18th of this year after he was struck by a car has filed suit against the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

Six-year-old Michael Kirby, a kindergarten student at Roundstone, was hit by a car after he exited from a school bus on U.S. 25 at Conway.

Kirby died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington just over 24 hours after the accident.

Phillip Davis, a Mt. Vernon businessman told police that he did not see Kirby as he crossed the road and that he thought the school bus was moving when he met it on the roadway.

In their suit, the Kirbys allege that Michael Kirby was not properly supervised or directed while he was exiting the school bus.

The suit further states that the school system failed to safely operate and plan school bus routes, and more specifically the school bus route in question. That the suit said constituted negligence on the school system's part.

The suit also alleges that the school system, through its agents, servants or employees, violated the pupil transportation safety statutes and regulations duly enacted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

As a result of the admissions and commissions of the school system, Michael Kirby was struck by a motor vehicle on U.S. Hwy. 25, injured and subsequently died.

The suit states that Michael Kirby has been damaged for all medical expenses incurred in the sum of $10,849.88 and funeral expenses in the amount of $4,197.85.

As a result of the death of Michael Kirby his power to earn money has been destroyed to the damages of his estate," according to the suit.

The suit also alleges that Larry Kirby and Iva Jean Kirby were deprived of the affection and companionship that they would have received from their child, had he not died in the accident.

The Kirbys have asked for a jury trial and a judgement against the Board of Education. The driver of the school bus, Willard Wynn was not directly named in the suit.

A civil suit presents only one side of the case.

14-year-old arrested after stealing vehicle

A 14-year-old Kenton County girl was released to her grandparents Monday night after she led police on a 35-mile chase on I-75 near Richmond to Burr.

She will face felony charges in court at a later date. According to State Police at the London Post, ABC agent Jack Miller saw a car going at a high rate of speed on I-75 near Richmond and gave chase alerting Berea Police and later state and local police in Rockcastle.

Three miles south of Burr, State Troopers Charles Wooten and Gary Lane attempted to stop the car when the driver swerved into Trooper Wooten's car knocking it into the emergency lane. Moments later the driver hit the car again knocking it into the median where it continued on and struck an embankment. Police reported the car had been stolen in Kenton County from her grandparents.

New Roundstone principal

Kathryn Howard chosen to replace Bill Jack Parsons

The last time a woman was appointed to a principal's position in Rockcastle County a federal judge had to get involved.

This time, there was no federal judge involved and teachers and administrators think they certainly chose the best candidate for the job, man or woman.

Mrs. Kathryn Howard, has assumed her duties at Roundstone School and things seem to be going well for the veteran educator from Harlan County.

"I have been very impressed with Roundstone School, the teachers, parents and students," Mrs. Howard said Tuesday.

Mrs. Howard was chosen to fill the vacancy at Roundstone that was created by the resignation of William Jack Parsons.

Mrs. Howard said that fact she is very open to the concept of School Based Decision Making, was a big factor in her getting the Roundstone job.

"The committee that interviewed me was very interested in SBDM and I too think that concept is the best thing for Kentucky schools," Mrs. Howard said.

"Rockcastle County Schools are on the move and I am happy to be a part of that," she said. "I am looking forward to working with the parents, teachers and students in the Roundstone community and invite anyone of them to drop by and meet me," she said.

Six indictments released

Six indictments were returned by a Rockcastle Grand Jury last Friday.

Michael Mason of Sand Hill posted bond for his appearance Sept. 13 on a charge of cultivating marijuana over five plants. Police found 110 plants.

George Lee Demney, 32, of Mt. Vernon was indicted for receiving stolen property over $100. He is accused of receiving a Winchester Rifle belonging to Randy Bullock.

Manuel Shepherd Jr., 25, of Mt. Vernon was indicted for flagrant non-support of a minor child.

Frank Napier, 59, of Mt. Vernon, was indicted for theft by failure to make required disposition of property over $100.

He is accused of taking a vacuum cleaner, 2 rods and reels, tackle box and lures, clothes, cleaning supplies, cigarettes and sunglasses belonging to Verda Shelton of Mt. Vernon.

William Morris, 27, of McCrewe was indicted for driving under the influence, fourth offense.

Frank Cope, 26, of Mt. Vernon was indicted for theft by unlawful taking of 3 air conditioner heat pumps not stopping now. The Strike Force agency personnel are finding plenty of marijuana, and they're keeping busy destroying it.

The number of marijuana plants destroyed in Rockcastle this year now totals 6,676, according to a report from the Governor's Marijuana Strike Force.

"I'm proud of this accomplishment. It shows what hard work, preparation, and a concentrated, coordinated approach to marijuana eradication can produce," said Gary Faulkner, chairman of the Strike Force. "But we're not stopping now."

The cruiser sustained about $1,000 damage. There was also damage to the other car but no estimate was made.

Only 2.74 inches rain

A little rain is better than none. And that's what it was this week when a total of .49 of an inch fell at Cox Fincher-Howe weather station. That amount was the total for Monday and Tuesday and it brought the total of 2.74 inches for August.

The 2.74 inches is the lowest amount recorded for a month this year. June had 2.92 inches and April 2.87. There are still three days left this month.

Mrs. Howard is presently living in Lexington with her husband and two sons, but plans a move to Rockcastle County very soon.

from Parsons Gas Warehouse.

He will have a Sept. 13 arraignment.

Cain dismisses DUI charges

Rockcastle District Court Judge William T. Cain dismissed drunk driving charges against a Poplar Gap man in District Court Tuesday afternoon.

After Rockcastle County Attorney James H. Lambert presented his case against Charlie Durham, 57, of Poplar Gap, Durham's attorney, Jerry Cox asked for a dismissal on the case because the prosecution did not show probable cause for the arrest.

Cain granted the motion and Cox did not have to present his side of the case.

Durham was arrested on May 4, 1991, by Rockcastle Deputy Sheriff Ronnie Roark on Poplar Gap road.

Court holds line on taxes

By: Ray McClure

As in 1990, the tax rate for county real estate for 1991 and 1992 remains the same and was approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at a special meeting Monday.

The rate is 8.4 cents per $100 assessed property value. The tangible property rate is also the same at 8.2 cents per $100.

The rate is expected to bring in $127,124 to the county this year. Only change in county tax rates was for bank shares which are up from 23.14 cents per $100 assessment last year to 24.0 cents this year.

The bank shares will bring in $20,637. The motor vehicle tax rate remains at 8.2 cents per $100 which will bring in $27,094. With the same rate, watercraft will bring in $587.

Other tax rates include the library which has real estate at 1.45 cents per $100 and tangible property also at 1.4 cents.

Soil conservation is .7 of a cent per $100. Tangible is not applicable.

Health department tax rate for real estate is 3.2 cents per $100 as is tangible property at .32 cents.

Extension Service has real estate and tangible property at 2.5 cents. A 3 cents per acre forest land tax is levied on all privately owned forest land for forest fire protection, the same rate as last year.

The Rockcastle County School system sets its own tax rate, not the fiscal court.

The rate this year for both real estate and tangible property is 46.3 cents per $100, up from 44.7 cents last year.

The total valuation of adjusted county property at full rates continues to climb and stands at $179,902,835 for 1991-92. Last year it was $142,260,181, an increase this year of $7,671,050.

There will be more homestead exemptions this year with a total of $20,615,700. Last year's total was $19,038,350, an increase this year of $1,577,350.

As approved by the state, the breakdown of assessments for 1991-92 for the county are:

Real estate, $148,353,881; tangible personal property, $11,190,317; public service companies (real estate), $2,948,772; public service companies, (personal), $17,373,865; watercraft, $715,494.

In other business, the court approved allowing the Rockcastle County Tourist Commission to collect the hotel-motel tax on transient rooms which is 3 percent on a room.

The commission will present a financial statement to the court. The court hired Cumberland Valley Area Development District for $20,000 to upgrade the county's solid waste management plan.

The last General Assembly made changes in the solid waste regulations and mandated that the changes be made in all counties in the state.

The county received $10,000 from the state to help finance the project, plus $4,500 credit for setting up a computer system for the garbage program in the county, leaving the county to pay the remaining $5,500 which will be budgeted in next year's county budget.

The court approved the 1990-91 county financial statement, and issued a quibus for the 1990 tax audit of Sheriff Shirley Smith, meaning the sheriff does not owe the county. Actually, the sheriff overpaid the county about $1,300 but it will be returned.

The court approved payment of $40,721 to Cherokee Equipment and Supply of Lebanon, Tenn. for equipment purchased earlier this year, including a diesel tractor, two rotary boom mowers and a rotary ditcher.

The regular meeting of the fiscal court will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 6.

$904,654 Livingston renovation project may start in September

Planners for Livingston's proposed city water project say they believe the $904,654 project could get under way in September.

"It's very, very, very close," said Tim Schwendeman, of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District. "We had to get 45 easements, get final approval from FIMHA, and we'll have to do a lot of legwork before we can take bids on the project. But it is very close."

Under the plan, Livingston will add about 50 new water customers bringing the total to about 200.

The major part of the project, includes installing the main source line from a Woods Creek line near the Livingston Interchange of I-75. It will run along the side of US 25 to the city water tank.

Some areas to get water service include up Gaulay to the Wagers property; up Finley Branch to the Robinson property and up Ford Hollow to Whitaker property, and smaller lines in other areas.

To be installed in downtown Livingston are fire hydrants and one or two small lines, Schwendeman said. Replacements of all old lines in downtown Livingston will not be done under the project, but could be done later under another project.

Schwendeman reported once the project gets started it should be finished in about 180 days, depending on the weather.

Rockcastle County High School assistant coach Tony Saylor instructs his defensive squad during a practice at RCHS last week. The players will kick-off their 1991 season Friday night at home against Lynn Camp. The football team will play in a new district this year which includes Corbin and Somerset.

Kentucky State Fair "SALE OF CHAMPIONS"

By Steven C. Mobley

Kentucky 4-H'ers stood out in this year's prestigious "Sale of Champions" by winning Supreme Champion honors in all three categories -- Market Lamb, Market Hog and Market Steer.

They earned the honors by winning the Grand Championship in their respective categories and then beating FFA winners in the same categories for Supreme Championships. All six animals were auctioned at the "Sale of Champions" for considerably more than market prices.

Shawn Smith, 15, of Paris, won the Supreme Market Steer championship with her 1,266-pound Limousin which had earlier won the 4-H grand championship. Jeff Arnett, of Mt. Sterling, won the FFA competition and was runner-up to Smith with Limousin weighing 1,212 pounds.

Lishawna Daulton, 16, of Mason County, won the Supreme Market Lamb competition with her 132-pound Suffolk lamb. The FFA runner-up was Troy Keith, 18, of Owen County, with his 128-pound Suffolk.

John Poskin, 12, of Elizabethtown, gave the 4-H'ers a clean sweep of Supreme honors with his 256-pound Hampshire-York market hog. Keith Phillips, of Mason County, won the runner-up honors for FFA with his market hog.

He doesn't know yet what he'll do with the money. He's not even thinking of college yet, but he does like the experience and hopes to be back again next year. His animal was bought by the Montfort Packing Plant of Louisville.

Jeff Arnett, 15, of Montgomery County, FFA's winner in the market steer division, earned $3,500 for his animal, purchased by Executive Inn Rivermont of Owensboro.

Keith Phillips, of Mason County, FFA's winner earned $2,200 for his runner-up market hog. Miss Hitron also purchased that animal.

Troy Keith, 18, of Owen County, FFA's winner earned $8,500 for his runner-up market lamb, purchased by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Insurance Company.

Asked if she'd take part to buy a new lamb for next year's contest, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Daulton said, "No, this goes for college. But we'll take care of a new lamb with other money. I do plan to come back."

It does pay to come back.

15-year-old Shawna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Smith, was back at the Sale of Champions for her third straight year. Two years ago she had the runner-up champion steer, and last year and this year she brought in the Supreme Champion Steer, setting a new record for consecutive appearances at the sale.

Her animal sold for $8,200, considerably over the $15,000 she earned for last year's Supreme Champion steer. Young Miss Hitron purchased that animal also.

"We made history another way too," the happy Shawna said. "It's the fifth straight year my family has owned or bred a top steer."

The other two years were for family members winning in the open division, she said. She too plans to use her winnings for her college fund.

John Poskin, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Poskin, represented the youngest member of the Sale of Champions auction team. The 4-H'er will be in just the sixth grade when school opens, but he'll be $6,000 richer thanks to the sale of his market hog.

He doesn't know yet what he'll do with the money. He's not even thinking of college yet, but he does like the experience and hopes to be back again next year. His animal was bought by the Montfort Packing Plant of Louisville.

Jeff Arnett, 15, of Montgomery County, FFA's winner in the market steer division, earned $3,500 for his animal, purchased by Executive Inn Rivermont of Owensboro.

Keith Phillips, of Mason County, FFA's winner earned $2,200 for his runner-up market hog. Miss Hitron also purchased that animal.

Troy Keith, 18, of Owen County, FFA's winner earned $8,500 for his runner-up market lamb, purchased by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Insurance Company.

AARP Expo coming to area

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) is inviting the public to join them at the Corbin Civic Center in September to discuss the "Health Care Crisis" now facing the nation.

According to Dolly M. Sears, assistant state director for Kentucky's AARP, this will be the first exhibit of its kind in this area, with 35 to 40 exhibitors planning to attend to give information on various health care services and programs available.

The Expo is also planning on carrying out the AARP national president's goal that "education" be stressed in four categories: children, mid-life and older, illiteracy and intergenerational.

The AARP Expo will be held at the Corbin Civic Center Saturday, September 14, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

For more information call 528-4207 or 528-0894.

Police encourage use of safety belts Labor Day weekend

The Labor Day weekend signals the end of summer and many people will be traveling the highways and interstates headed for outings of all kinds.

The Kentucky State Police reminds motorists that no matter where they're headed, the main goal is to get there safely. Last Labor Day weekend, four people died on Kentucky highways, half in alcohol-related crashes. Alcohol or drugs, in any amount, affect driving skills. If anyone does drink, a non-driving driver should be designated before traveling any distance.

The driving public can also assist the state police in stopping intoxicated drivers. If a driver spots someone on the road believed to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol, he or she should stop at the nearest phone and call the State Police toll-free hotline at 1-800-222-5555. Give a description of the vehicle, the location last seen, the direction headed and the license number if possible to the person on duty. The caller can remain anonymous. An officer will be dispatched to the location. This action could help prevent a serious injury or worse.

The police encourage the use of safety belts and placing children in federally-approved child safety seats. In Kentucky, a child under 40 inches of height is legally required to be in a child safety seat in a moving vehicle. Failure to do so is subject to a fine.

More importantly, safety restraints save lives. Of the four people killed in last year's Labor Day accidents none were wearing safety belts. One of the fatalities was ejected from their vehicle.

The state police will be placing special emphasis on holiday traffic patrols this Labor Day. Using high-speed, pursuit Mustangs, officers will be equipped with radar and Visual Average Speed Computer Recorder, or VASCR, in order to enforce the speed limit. Selected cruisers will be equipped with video cameras to record traffic stops and field sobriety testing.

The Labor Day weekend is an Operation C.A.R.E.-Combined Accident Reduction Effort-holiday. C.A.R.E. is comprised of state highway patrols and state police agencies nationwide who support highway safety through promotion and enforcement of sober driving, safety belts/child safety seats and observation of the speed limit.

The official Labor Day weekend begins Friday, Aug 30 at 6 p.m. and ends Monday, Sept. 2 at midnight.

KET looks at abstract expressionism movement

In 1940, a young painter, the late Robert Motherwell, came to New York city and joined a group of artists -- including Jackson Pollock, Willem de Kooning, Mark Rothko, and Franz Kline -- who set out to change the face of American painting. The story of the struggle and eventual triumph of the Abstract expressionist movement, as seen through the eyes of one of its last survivors, is told in "Robert Motherwell and The New York School: Storming the Citadel," and American Masters presentation airing on KET at 10 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 5.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

It's amazing how many folks in our country commit suicide (or at least attempt to do so) every year. The problem happens among teenagers, young people, middle age, and even the old, seek to end their life. Despair and hopelessness, (feeling that there is no way out, and no hope for a solution to their problem(s)). The Bible gives us an account of a man who was about to kill himself, but found the true solution to ALL of life's problems.

In Ac. 16:25-34, we read of Paul and Silas in prison for preaching the gospel. "An suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately all the doors were opened, and every one's bands were loosed. And the keeper of the prison awaking out of his sleep, and seeing the prison doors open, he drew out his sword and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fled." A Roman jailer who allowed prisoners to escape, according to Roman law, would be executed. This jailer felt that the situation was hopeless. In his despair, he contemplates killing himself and would have, but "Paul cried with a loud voice saying, Do thyself no harm for we are all here. Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas, and brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" A great question that all men should ask, seeking for an answer which they should believe and obey. Paul and Silas responded, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." Now a lot of people want to stop here and say, that is all that they must do to be saved, just believe on Christ, but let's read on. "And they spake unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house." Notice they continued to preach the things he needed to hear from the word of God.

"And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he and all his, straightaway. Why did they go in the middle of the night for these people to be baptized? Because, Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." Mk. 16:16. This man wanted to be saved and he was not going to wait around, about obeying the Lord's command. He wanted to be saved that night. "And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them and rejoiced, believing in God with all his house." From the despair and intentions to commit suicide this man was lifted up to the rich spiritual blessings in Christ Jesus. You too can enjoy the hope of the gospel. Call if we can help.

ROAMIN' ROCKCASTLE

By HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

Hello from Roundstone, Scaffold Cane and my mailbox.

These are places and people that I get news from last week. If you'll sit down and behave, Dwayne Dollins, I will get to Copper Creek soon.

The Boss has just gotten back from a vacation trip he took with his family and he needed one. He has to settle squabbles on three newspapers plus the Renfro Valley Bugle where he is listed as editor too.

As to why I call him "The Boss" at our first interview I asked what I should call him, Mr. Anderkin or Mr. Richard.

While attending E.K.U., one professor told the class to never call anyone by their first name who was our superior on a job.

Being a little older (49) than The Boss, I hated to say Mr. Richard so I asked him what title I should give him.

"Oh, I want to be friends with everybody so just call me Richard," he answered me.

No, I couldn't do that. It seemed that wouldn't give him any respect so I scouted on "The Boss". Not a tough overbearing man throwing his weight around, but a kind person who made you feel you were doing him a favor by writing a column.

I told The Boss that for one was glad to see him back because some of the staff weren't treating me very well.

"Oh, how's that?" he asked.

"It's about that picture you had made for me to head the column, so that if anyone didn't like it, you could point to me and say, 'Don't blame me, she's the one who wrote the words'. But I had several folks write to me here saying I had an intelligent looking face. Dorothy Miller and Brenda Rogers laughed so, saying I couldn't get back out the bucks.

So I'm not going to do it I may not even run the catalogue scam because I can tell you with some assurance that the Goose Neck Bean and the Buford Fall beans are where I'm going to stop and start. They can't be improved upon for either taste or attractiveness.

The Goose Neck looks like a white half runner multiplied by three. When it gets full, the hull starts to turn a combination of deep red and pink. The seed is the color of tarnished copper and almost as large as a red kidney bean. The mess that Mrs. McQuerry gave to me were full and a few had started to turn. I saved most of those for seed and still cooked a six quart kettle full. We ate the entire thing between 12 noon and dark on a Saturday that didn't involve any company. The same kettle of half runners would have lasted a week.

Bertha showed me several jars that she had canned and she promised me that they are better than anything else that you can put up. I'll reserve judgement on that one, because my Buford Fall beans are going to be awful tough competition. On the other hand, Bertha has never tried the fall beans.

Now please don't be writing and asking either us for seed this year. Maybe next year I'll save enough to share, but right now I have many more requests for fall beans than I'm going to be able to accommodate.

And next spring I aim to be knocking on Bertha's door when planting time rolls around to see what she's growing that I can get a start of. I'll probably grow some lettuce, spinach and other green stuff that will have to come from a seed catalogue, but mostly I aim to go for stuff that I can save myself. Call me an old dog who has finally learned a new trick.

Speaking of which, Molly Helton has taught me a trick that Mrs. McQuerry also employs in saving tomato seed. You don't even need to know how much trouble I've been going through and still winding up with a mess that would, at least, sprout.

Scoop the seed out of the fruit with a spoon from two or three non-hybrid tomatoes. Dump whatever flesh, juice and other residue you happen to get with the seed into a quart jar. Fill the jar about half way with water and let it sit for three or four days. All the flesh will rot and come to the top. Pour that off, then rinse the seed a couple of times, dry them on a piece of cloth for a few days, then tie the cloth into a bundle and label it. That's all there is to it and the seed will be prettier than anything you ever got out of a packet. They'll also come up. I've been planting seed that Molly saved five years ago.

door because my head was swelled so much.

Putting his hand over his mouth to hide a grin, The Boss said he would talk to them!

Mary Payne of Berea and I attended the funeral of a cousin, Lawrence Abney, in Mt. Vernon recently. He had been living in a nursing home in Hartford City, Indiana. Lawrence was 88 years old and one of a set of twins belonging to Uncle Jack and Aunt Winifred Abney on Brush Creek. The other twin was Lester Abney who also has passed away.

Dorothy Abney, wife of Lester, had a reunion of family members at her home in Renfro Valley recently. Ruth and Joe Abney attended.

At the reunion, Joe said a young woman came to him saying she was his niece, Carol Hayes, from New York who was the daughter of his brother Edd (deceased) and Sue Abney from Berea. Carol told Joe she took the Berea Citizen and read all about his "doings" and got a kick out of this column.

See, am I proud! We have a good reader of the Citizen in far away New York! That makes me so happy to know. I sure will save you some "plumgranny seeds" so those city slickers will see them growing vines around. You can tell them what all the fruit is good for in helping out folks. Don't forget to give Mayor Dinkins one, it will help him run New York.

This month's birthdays and one anniversary — we want to send a great big congratulations to Eli and Pearl Chastion on Davis Branch Road for their wedding anniversary on the 3rd day of August.

Eli wouldn't tell me how many years ago this happened, he's afraid to let me know his age but I can tell you he robbed the cradle.

Pearl was a pretty young girl when they married.

Now for some birthdays in August.

Dale Lamb became a 12 year old on the 3rd. He goes to school at Paint Lick but watch it, Dale. The girls down there know you are almost a teenager and they will chase you, so practice running.

Now these folks are all kinfolks — cousins that is with Peggie Rowlett getting to be one year older on the 12th. Dr. Susan Payne Dalton of Arizona; Martha Faye Rowlett, Madison County; and Douglas Dorman of Florida, all cousins whose birthdays came on the 20th. Hallie Alexander on the 25th (who spends a lot of time keeping husband Eugene in line), Martha Hill on the 28th, Debbie Lynn Spurlock, who had a birthday party given for her on the 31st, and Robert Spurlock on the 29th.

Stella Dees and I went out for her birthday (back in March) dinner to the People's Restaurant in Berea. Better late than never and Stella agreed.

Also eating lunch there were Oma Baker (Raymond's Better half) Linda Jennings, and Bernice Robbins enjoying a day from homework.

We went to Scaffold Cane last week and stopped at Cousin Bill and Flossie Stephen's home.

Bill was telling us that the hail storm that went through Rockcastle County had cut his, and son Donnie's, tobacco crops into ribbons and left only the stalks standing.

"The crop is a loss, I'm plowing mine under", said Bill. "The hail beat it to pieces".

Bill said he had a tale to tell me (which I will write about next week) when he had a run in with some heavy stinging insects. It seems a lot of folks have battled with them lately.

Clyde and Margaret Linville were talking it easy at their place. I had taken Margaret some presents (to be sure I would be welcome) and she was excited.

Margaret has a hobby of collecting pretty colored, odd shaped bottles so I had saved her some.

I told Margaret I had to wait until John drank the beer out of one bottle in order for me to bring it. You never heard such laughing that they did as John scooped me so I told the truth. We found the beer bottle in a ditch in front of our house. Then I gave Margaret a ripe plumgranny for her to use on Clyde when he gets cantankerous (out of sorts).

Rosa Finnell from Berea had been out to spend the day recently with the Linvilles. Wonder if they cooked her any fried pumpkin?

Katherin Mullins Greene from Hollywood, Fla. is visiting Margaret, her sister, and Ed Mullins, her brother this summer. "Clyde, what are you doing now?"

I asked him, having garden work in mind.

"Why I've got the best job. I don't do anything in the world," he told us. I got John out of there quick. I didn't want him to catch whatever Clyde had.

A nice trailer home has been set across the road from the Linville's.

Wilma Martin and her very pretty daughter, Amy, have moved in but it will take several days to hook up their utilities and the women were upset, but things change.

In Roundstone, we attended church and heard Brother Jim Kirby of Mt. Vernon preach again after a ten year absence. We plan to attend their Homecoming Day, Aug. 20th.

I will write on this next week. Mail has begun to come in from my readers, one from Georgia, two from Ohio. Will answer you in here next week. Thank you for your interest in this column.

Till next week; you know you're very sick when your relatives start telling you how wonderful you are!

Watch out for our children!
Drive with care!

Health Wise

Great News!

For State And Board Of Education Employees...

As a second grade teacher, Sarah saw how active young children can be. She worried about her own six-year-old and the accessibility of quality care for him in time of need.

Over 25 Of The Area's Best Hospitals Are A Part Of HealthWise's Coverage.

HealthWise gave Sarah the security she was looking for. In case of an accident, emergency room care was only minutes away. And she didn't have to change physicians with HealthWise.

Her Family Doctor Was One Of 750 HealthWise Physicians.

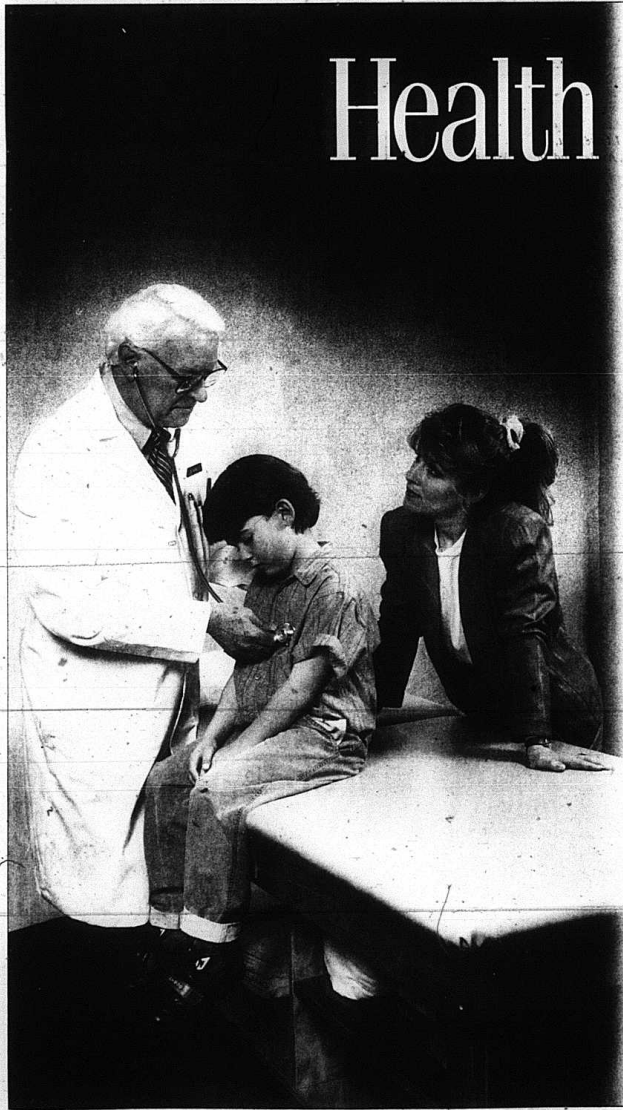

At HealthWise, we understand that healthcare is a family affair. To Sarah, it means having the same quality care her family has counted on for years...right in her hometown.

Over 750 Of The Area's Leading Physicians, 175 Of The Region's Top Hospitals And Pharmacies, Plus No Claim Forms.

It's easy to see why more and more state and board of education employees are choosing HealthWise.

Junior high students respond to new program

The 1991-92 school year offers the junior high students at Brohead Elementary School many new opportunities. Students have individualized schedules designed to offer them a variety of elective classes such as pre-algebra, algebra, Latin I, German I, art, performing arts, and creative writing.

In response to this new program concept, Mrs. Pam Martin's creative writing class expressed their feelings after the first week of classes:

This year is very different from last year because of all the new classes. It was exciting Monday to see what classes and teachers I have. So far I like all my classes and my teachers.
Michael Todd- 8th

I think it's better this year because it is more interesting. I thought that this year would be awful, but now that I have gotten used to it it's okay. Nathan Anglin - 7th grade

This first week here at school has been a big change for all of the junior high students. The junior high has two new classes and one new teacher. I like school better this year than last year.
Kyle Robinson - 8th grade

This year is totally different from last year. Let me explain: we have gym every day of the week, the home room doesn't travel as a group, and we don't have library.
David Carpenter - 8th

I think this week has been more fun than what I expected. I think I will have fun and learn a lot this year. I like all my classes. I like Latin the best. Some of my classes are harder than others. I also like all my teachers.
Slade Calhoun - 7th

I thought this year would be different. It's a lot like I thought it would be. It is a big change from last year. I think it's a lot like high school. I also think it will prepare you for high school. I like it a lot better.
Chad Severance - 8th

"Rock with a Message"

By: Sara Wilson
Rock with a message was the focus of the free concert by XL on Friday, August 23, at the Rockcastle County High School. During second period, Mr. Cash allowed a band from Tampa, Florida to entertain the student body while also promoting a message. The five-member group is anti-drug and alcohol, and promotes positive self-esteem. XL visits approximately 500 schools a year nationwide giving their message of high moral, spiritual values and stressing the importance of life. Friday's concert was followed with another on Monday evening at the school. The band is one of many associated with World Wide Showcase using rock with a message.

Tammy Stevens and Annette Gevedon, Early Childhood teachers are excited that 38 children have enrolled in the PACE and Four-year-old program. This enrollment exceeds expectations, but, Tammy Gabbard, Early Childhood coordinator, states that accommodations will be made for all children.

STATIC (Students and Teachers in Caboons), the ungraded primary pilot team, reports the adjustment to changing classes and teachers is running smoothly. Mrs. Kathy Dyehouse, Mrs. Margie Bishop, Mrs. Jeleta Bradshaw and instructional assistant, Mrs. Doris Wright, are involved in the second week of teaching six, seven and eight year olds in teams that allow students to progress at their own rate of development. This concept will be adapted to our total primary program in the next school year.

We welcome additional instructional assistants, Mrs. Joanne McClure and Mrs. Mary Ellen Wright.

The faculty elected Katherine Bradley, Gary Scott, and Molly Hamm, as members of the Effective Schools Council. The council membership, when completed will consist of the principal and two parents chosen by the PTA. This council will be instrumental in the process of making Brohead a more effective school.

Our school psychologist is now available for consultation upon request through the guidance counselor. This request may be made by the parent or teacher.

Mrs. Katrina Cash, fourth grade teacher, and students have been involved in our state's history. The exhibit outside their classroom door consist of coffee trees made from ground coffee. Mrs. Cash and her class are making plans to plant a coffee tree, which is designated as the state tree, on the campus. According to the students, one of the largest specimens can be seen on the grounds of White Hall State Shrine, Madison County, near Richmond. It is 68 feet high and nearly five feet in diameter. Jim Ward's social studies class visited Monroe Hermer, Monday afternoon, to see his arrowhead and fossil collection. Mr. Renner, who has collected since a teen, also had some primitive tools for the students to view. We appreciate Mr. Renner's sharing with the Junior High students.

Mrs. Pam Martin and Mrs. Katherine Bradley, instructors for Latin I and German I, report that the seventh and eighth grade students received their first lesson from the Star Channel and are excited; but realize there is much work to be done.

The Performing Arts classes are preparing for their first concert to be presented in about four or five weeks. We are looking forward to this event.

The PTA membership drive begins today. Memberships are $2 single and $5 per couple. The Book Fair begins October 17 and runs through the 24th. Basketball tryouts for the 5th, 6th, and 7th grade basketball teams will be held Saturday, August 31, and Saturday, September 7 from 9 until 11. Dennis Lawrence is the coach for the 5th and 6th grade. Seventh grade coaches are Randall Adams and Gordon Pope.

Remember, there is no school, Labor Day, Monday, September 2.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: Jenny Gilpatrick
Rockcastle Teen Center

Some things never change: but the Rockcastle Teen Center is not one of them. It has changed a lot since last September when it re-opened after a year of rest. The intervening year has been anything but "restful". The dynamics of more than 400 teens passing through the doors has created a welcoming atmosphere at the CAP Center and made it a place where it is comfortable to be.

The new kitchen will add to the hospitality of the building. Baking after-school cookies and creating special dinners will now be part of the program. Musical interest and talent discovered last year will be expanded into a travelling chorus led by Miss Theresa Renner. There will be more trips on Saturdays, and games with the Garrard Teen Center. Making friendship bracelets or sewing school fashions and other handwork are new options.

Dances, game nights, movies, music... some things won't change. There will still be plenty of time to just hang out with friends, but there will be an increasing number of structured activities. Transportation will be provided for teens who want to come to the Center for a purpose.

Open House is Tuesday, September 3, from 3 to 8 p.m. Stop by, have a look, pick up a calendar and a general permission to be signed. Parents are welcome, refreshments will be on hand. To keep changes happening, the Teen Center needs new faces.

"ROCKCASTLE RECOLLECTIONS"

At long last, the History of Rockcastle County written by John Lair is about to be published... sometime in early to mid fall of this year!

As Mr. Lair was putting together material for this book in the 1970s, he published a series of these articles in the Mount Vernon Signal, with the promise that they would one day be edited and published in book form.

Last year Mr. J. Allen Singleton of Eastern Kentucky University, in cooperation with the John Lair heirs, began compiling and editing these articles along with other manuscripts of Mr. Lair's, and the completed work is now in the hands of the publisher. The book will be approximately 200 pages and will include at least 15 to 20 photographs. As the title suggests, "Rockcastle Recollections" is an early history of Rockcastle County as remembered and recounted by many early settlers and citizens of the county... including events and places remembered by Mr. Lair himself. But the book also details much of the early development of Kentucky as a whole and the area which became Rockcastle County in particular. This was a subject on which Mr. Lair spent many years of research and study, and history buffs will find it of special interest. In addition the book deals with such subjects as Rockcastle countians' involvement in the War of 1812, the American Revolution, the Civil War, World War I and the Alamo; county statistics and officials; schools and churches; industries and professions; and much more. The book also includes a biography of the author, Mr. John Lair, along with a sketch of his career as originator and developer of the Renfro Valley Barn Dance and Country Music Center located in Rockcastle County.

At Livingston Homecoming

Smith, other military men from area, to be honored

It's homecoming time again for everyone at Livingston. All of you have made it successful in years past and this year we have more to celebrate since we have come through another war.

We, the city council, in the beginning set aside a segment during the parade to honor all the men in the military from this area who served or died. They are truly heroes. As we could not get all their names, we have selected the one, David M. Smith, among them who received the highest honor the military can give, "The Congressional Medal of Honor".

So along with all comrades who lived or died we give this day. We feel sad but yet honored to have David Smith and all those who served from this area.

Come enjoy the weekend at Livingston and don't miss our tribute to David Monroe Smith at 12 o'clock at the flag pole in the center of town.

Beef, tobacco are profitable enterprises

Beef cattle and burley tobacco are a profitable duo on many Kentucky farms. However, problems can develop when both enterprises compete simultaneously for management time and labor.

Farmers can overcome this obstacle by planning the overall farm operation around critical production periods of each enterprise, according to Extension specialists at the University of Kentucky.

In recent years, beef cattle-burley tobacco has been a great combination as tight cattle and tobacco supplies led to higher producer prices and improved profit margins," said Will Snell, extension agricultural economist with the UK College of Agriculture. "Survey results indicate beef cattle-burley tobacco is very popular with part-time farmers, especially in central Kentucky, where many farmers work off the farm, and on family farms."

One advantage of combining beef cattle and burley tobacco is that they have opposite land and labor requirements, according to Nelson Gay, associate chairman of the UK Department of Animal Sciences.

"Cattle require a lot of land, but not much labor," Gay said. "Burley, which is a high value crop, doesn't require all that much land, but is extremely labor intensive."

This combination works well in a situation where most of the land is better suited to forages than to row crops, according to Gay. "You can put cattle on the pasture and raise burley on the small amount of more productive land," he explained. "This mixture puts all your land to best use."

Gay said overall farm management is the key to combining cattle and tobacco successfully. "You need to manage each enterprise to avoid heavy demands on management time and labor simultaneously during critical production periods of either enterprise," he said.

Critical beef cattle production periods are calving, breeding, hay harvest, weaning and marketing. Plant bed preparation, land preparation and transplanting, harvesting and market preparation are among critical burley tobacco production periods.

"Cattle producers can simplify herd management by restricting breeding and calving seasons to a limited period of time, say 70 days," Gay said. "To control breeding and calving seasons, you must restrict bulls' exposure times to the cow herd; so you need bull pens and handling and working facilities. Managing the herd as a unit enables you to devote more time to other farm operations."

Gay said proper layout of pastures, fences and water supply also are part of efficient herd management.

In some situations, a farmer could improve herd management by switching to a fall calving season, where breeding takes place in December and January, calves are born in September and October and are weaned in June, according to Gay.

"For example," he said, "a fall calving season would be more efficient where a farmer produces burley as the major enterprise, with the cow herd as a secondary income source, and has Kentucky-3 fescue as the forage supply."

"In this situation," he added, "the farmer could reduce fescue toxicosis problems during breeding, possibly spread out labor requirements to better meet the needs of the burley enterprise, receive cash returns at mid-year and have more flexibility to market the calf crop."

Another way to avoid conflicting demands on management time and labor is to use innovations to offset these demands during critical production periods, Snell added. "Using a float system in the burley enterprise reduces labor time during transplanting, allowing you to devote more time to pasture and cattle management." A float system won't necessarily reduce overall labor requirements, but it will mean less labor is needed at critical "crunch" times on the farm.

Baling innovations are another labor saver," Snell added. "They help reduce harvesting time, enabling you to spend more time on management prior to winter/spring calving."

KET expands daytime programming

KET's daytime audience is a widely diverse group. It includes college students, senior citizens, preschoolers, adults interested in obtaining services, and even people at home for the lunch hour.

And KET's new expanded daytime schedule offers something for each of them. The schedule includes college telecourses, The KETIGED Series, Learn to Read, and preschool favorites such as Mister Rogers' Neighborhood, Sesame Street, and Captain Kangaroo.

A new KET "lunch hour" will appeal to a variety of special interests in the daytime audience. During September's lunch hour, viewers can learn to speak French, create masterpieces with needlework, and cook like a gourmet chef. The lunch hour also features a lively talk show for senior citizens, and the PBS favorites This Old House and The Colorists.

Signal office will be closed Monday for Labor Day

Hungry children cannot learn

The School Lunch and Breakfast Programs play important roles in the educational setting and alleviating childhood hunger and undernutrition. Studies have documented the significant relationship between eating a nutritious breakfast and the ability to perform in school. The Boston University Schools of Medicine and Public Health (Boston City Hospital) and Tufts University School of Nutrition conducted a study among low-income elementary school children participating in the school Breakfast Program. The study showed that those children increased in their standardized test scores and decreased their tardiness.

The study, also, compared low-income students participating in the school Breakfast Program with students not participating in the program. The results showed that the group participating in the School Breakfast program improved the achievement test scores at a greater level than those students not eating breakfast at school. On a scale of 200 to 800, children who ate breakfast at school improved their scores an average of 48.4 points over the previous year. Those who did not receive a school breakfast improved only 40.9 points.

Simply put a hungry child cannot learn. A child who cannot learn becomes an adult who is ill-prepared for the workforce and cannot compete. Breakfast is a key element in developing a healthy body and mind.

The School Breakfast Program, targeted to reach poor and near-poor children, is for all children who attend a school participating in the Program. In poor families, there may not be enough money to buy nutritional adequate breakfast foods. Without the program, many children would eat no breakfast at all. In most families, the morning rush to school and work leaves little time to eat a good breakfast. Children who have long bus rides to schools in rural areas or in large cities often arrive at school hungry. Providing a breakfast at school is the answer. Every Kentucky school does not have a breakfast program, though.

In Kentucky, 80% of the schools serve breakfast. According to the Kentucky Task Force on Hunger's estimates only 61% of the students receiving reduced-price lunch participate in the program. Some of the reasons, schools do not participate include: the idea that it is not their responsibility to serve breakfast; rearranging bus schedules would be difficult; it would cost more money. Students do not participate for various reasons. Some reasons are: buses do not arrive on time or the food is not good. There are solutions to all these reasons if school administrators, parents and other concerned citizens would take time to evaluate the problems and develop solutions.

As Kentucky moves ahead to guarantee equal educational opportunity, offering a breakfast program to school children should be one of the building blocks for our program of education reform.

The Kentucky Task Force on Hunger is continuing to work to increase participation in the School Breakfast Program. If you would like more information about this project, write the Kentucky Task Force on Hunger at 1039 Goodwin Drive, Lexington, Ky. 40505.

Domestic issues need attention

As I got off I-75 Tuesday afternoon at Renfro Valley, I noticed a man sitting by the roadside with a piece of cardboard that had a handwritten note on it, saying "work for food."

The guy looked capable of doing some kind of work and usually I don't get too torn up over adults. Hungry and/or abused kids get me more than anything.

I drove past the guy when I got off the interstate, but the moment got the best of me so I drove back down to the interstate and gave him some money to buy food with.

Of course the cynic in me, thought, "If you'd get out and find some work, you wouldn't have to sit on the side of the interstate and beg for food?"

But, I think that more and more often in this country people are going hungry, that they have no place to live and that they are subjected to abuse of all kinds.

Of course, we are not in the USSR with all their problems, and I guess we should be more thankful about the things that we do have.

But it does get disheartening year after year hearing all of the politicians tell us all of the things they are going to do to correct our economic, social and foreign problems.

Most of us have no idea what goes on behind the scenes, which special interest group controls which politician and who really calls the shots when it matters.

We do stupid stuff, like send millions of dollars to foreign countries, while our own deficit reaches

CHARTING ROCKCASTLE

By Richard Anderkin

three trillion dollars and people are still out of work and their kids going hungry. President Bush says he wants us to be a kinder, gentler nation, yet he doesn't extend unemployment benefits for those who desperately need them.

I can count the number of times on one hand that I have voted for a Democrat, not that I'm such a diehard in the wool Republican. I just thought that most of the time the Republican was the best candidate, but Democrats could have done no worse than the Republican administration has done on the home front. Bush's foreign policy has been o.k., but his domestic policy leaves a lot to be desired.

I simply think that his administration has some of their priorities in the wrong place.

And, when our next Kentucky Governor takes office he too will have a lot of problems on the home front.

Eastern Kentucky has always had their problems, but the recent coal bust has left thousands of Kentuckians out of work and left many communities reeling. The next Governor needs to come up with some solid program to attract new industry to Eastern Kentucky, to help keep a unique part of Kentucky's heritage from vanishing all together.

I'm not sure that Jones or Hopkins will be able to do that, Wilkinson certainly wasn't able to do it.

P.O.V. dons shorts Saturday, August 31

Before there were commercials, before the "sound bite" -- even before MTV -- there was the short film. P.O.V., celebrates this enduring, foxy genre in "Short Notice," airing on KET at 11 p.m. Saturday, August 31.

Featured films include a loving profile of the "Crutemobile," filmmaker John Hardin's Ford Pinto Runabout, acquired when he was 16 and which expired 10 years later; a look at children born with AIDS; a reflection of women in every size, shape, and color; and people truly passionate about cars in "Auto Bond."

School Has Started. Watch Out For Our Children.

BE ALERT TO VISUAL CUES:

Watch for school zone signs, cross walks, school crossing guards, buses, and kids walking along the roadway. Around parked cars, watch for shadows and motion-signs that a child may be present.

SLOW

SLOW DOWN: At only 20 mph, a car travels 41 feet between the time you see a child and actually stop. If you're sleepy or distracted, reaction time and stopping distances increase. Worn tires and wet pavement have a similar effect.

SLOW

ALLOW YOURSELF TIME TO REACT: On two-lane streets, move as close to the center line as possible, allowing room for bicyclists and pedestrians. As mornings become darker this fall, drive with your headlights on so that you can see and also be seen.

SLOW

USE YOUR HORN JUDICIOUSLY: A light touch is all that's really necessary, whereas a blast might scare a child.

SLOW

USE CAUTION AROUND BUSES: Motorists are required to stop for loading/unloading buses and remain stopped as long as the bus has its red lights flashing and stop sign extended. However, drivers on multi-lane highways (more than 4 lanes) need not stop for loading/unloading school buses traveling in the OPPOSITE direction. Keep in mind that buses require extra room for turning at intersections.

SLOW

BE PATIENT, PARTICULARLY ON THE WAY HOME: Risk of accidents is FOUR times greater in the afternoon - due to human psychology. Drivers are less alert and are irritable after a long day at the office. Kids, however, are excited to be out of school. As frustrating as it may be, keep your temper. Being two minutes late for dinner won't kill you or anyone else. Rushing just might.

Livingston Homecoming this weekend

For those who have not heard, this is Homecoming weekend at Livingston.

Activities begin Friday night with gospel singing. Left out in last week's Signal in entertainment were the Hilltop Stompers. They will perform from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Also, a note on the Fire Department Auxiliary dinner in the Baptist Church basement. They will sell Famous Recipe Chicken.

One other reminder. The annual parade is at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Bluegrass Festival scheduled in Renfro

The hills around Renfro Valley will be ringing with the sounds of banjo, mandolin, guitar and fiddle during the Labor Day weekend.

Aug. 30 through Sept. 1 are the dates for the First Annual Bluegrass Festival in Renfro Valley.

Entertainers scheduled to appear include: Ralph Stanley; Old Joe Clark and his son Terry; Kenny Baker and Josh Graves; David Marshall; Doyle Lawson and Quicksilver; Lost and Found; The Parker Brothers; John Cosby and the Bluegrass Drifters; Timbreling; and Sam Wilson.

Renfro Valley has been host to various Bluegrass get-togethers over the years including the popular Old Joe Clark Bluegrass Festival held in July each summer.

McKenzie property sold at public auction

A large crowd attended the auction of the property of Miss Edna Grace McKenzie Saturday.

The house and motel was purchased by Charles Saylor for $62,750. Saylor also bought the furnishings in the 12 motel rooms.

He plans to continue operating the motel.

Saylor has been in the restaurant business on Main Street in Mt. Vernon and presently operates a antique store at the corner of West Main and Williams Street.

The farm on U.S. 150 was purchased by Kentucky Stone Company for $74,000.

A 1988 S-10 pickup truck was purchased by H.C. Lynch of Lexington for $8,200.

A 1981 station wagon was purchased by Preston Parrett for $4,600.

Several hundred other items, including furniture, tools and utensils were sold during the day-long auction.

Ford asks for help for tobacco farmers

State Rep. Danny Ford has sent a letter to Gov. Wallace Wilkinson urging the governor to declare an emergency for county tobacco farmers who lost crops to hail.

Rep. Ford wrote:

"As you know, the summer of 1991 has been hard on the Kentuckians whose way of life depends on the productivity of the land. Here in Rockcastle County, times got a little tougher on Monday, August 19th.

"After a summer with inadequate rainfall, we experienced a devastating storm that included a torrent of damaging hail.

"The severity of the hail's wrath has ruined tobacco crops that affect about 125-150 people in Rockcastle. You and I have constituents down here who depend on a healthy crop for their livelihood. But this year's crop sustained irreparable damage from the hail.

"I know that you want to do everything you can for these good people who do so much for our economy and

Sings at Renfro Valley

Chuck Johnson is coal miner by day, entertainer by night

By: Kathy McCracken

Years ago, a singing coal miner started his career at Renfro Valley. He went on to become a member of the Country Music Hall of Fame and to write such country classics as "Sixteen Tons" and "Dark as a Dungeon." All country music fans know this was Merle Travis.

Now, Renfro Valley welcomes its second coal miner, Chuck Johnson, from eastern Kentucky. He, too, has all the makings of a very successful entertainer.

Chuck was raised in the coal camps of Jenkins. He says each hollow had a name or a number, and the official name of their section of town was "Elkhorn Avenue." Everybody called it "Mud Town."

Both a son and a grandson of miners, Chuck himself has worked in Kentucky's "black gold" for 17 years. One of seven children, he is the only one who chose to make mining his livelihood. He recalls that his dad couldn't believe that he was hired to load coal with a number four shovel, one about as wide as a snow shovel but longer. It was the same job the elder Johnson had landed at the age of 15.

Ezra Johnson—Chuck's father and his biggest musical influence—passed the fiddle to his son, Fredrick Baptist Church for 23 years. As a part-time music teacher, he held singing schools at various churches, and his own family was known as the Johnson Family Singers. "As soon as we could talk," Chuck says, "Dad was trying to figure if we were tenor or alto."

As each of the Johnson children married and left home, another filled his place in the singing group. When Chuck was in the second grade, his older brother went into the Army, and Ezra Johnson wondered what to do for a lead singer. Chuck volunteered, and to his father's surprise, handled the job well. "I was itching to get in there and sing," says Chuck. "I hated to see George leave, but I sure was glad to get his place!" His singing led into a performance with none other than Renfro Valley's Old Joe Clark.

Around 1965, Chuck was working at the local theater in Jenkins when the Renfro Valley folks came to town to do a road show. He says, "We were in the back singing along with everybody, and somebody introduced me to Old Joe Clark. He was very nice to me. The theater manager asked if they could put me on the show that night, since I was a local boy. I did two gospel songs with Old Joe's band (Dad wouldn't let us sing anything else). Right then, I knew that the greatest thing in earth would be to be singing, just one time, in the barn at Renfro Valley."

But before his chance came to sing at Renfro Valley, he had a go at acting. The movie "Coal Miner's Daughter," the story of country singer Loretta Lynn, was filmed in Leslie County, and Chuck landed a part as one of the extras.

"We used to ride four-wheelers at the place where they filmed the Butcher Holler scenes," says Chuck. "And the scenes that are supposed to be set in Washington state are really in Blackey, Kentucky."

There was some opposition among the local folks when the film crews came in, Chuck remembers. "There had been TV people in before, and they had showed only the worst things they could find. They didn't show the nice houses or the good things. People were afraid that would happen again." The movie company assured the local residents that they had no intention of making people look bad. The film was shot and everyone was pleased with the result.

Chuck says, "I got to meet Tommy Lee Jones (the actor who played Lollie Lynn), and we became good friends. He would tell me where they would be filming and he'd say, 'Bring your guitar.'"

Does Chuck ever sing coal mining songs? "Yeah, around home, I sing 'Sixteen Tons' and songs like that." One of the highlights of Chuck's boy-hood came when he got to meet the song's author in person. "Merle Travis came to Jenkins in his motor home. I talked some with him and watched him change the strings on his guitar. I asked him what he was going to do with the old ones, and he gave me a new set. What I really wanted was the ones that he had used."

About a year ago, Chuck was on the Nashville Network talent show, "You Can Be A Star," hosted by Jim Ed Brown. Chuck laughs, "I didn't win, but I met Susan Tomes there. I told her that I always wanted to sing in Renfro Valley, and she said she would introduce me to Ann Henderson (John Lair's daughter) and I might get an audition."

Chuck did get to audition, and about a week later received a letter from Pete Stamper, the current Director of Entertainment. That led to three guest appearances, and then an important phone call.

"It was kinda funny," says Chuck. "I had been thinking all day at work that Pete would call me again. When I walked in the house, the phone was ringing, and it was him. They wanted me to be a regular at Renfro Valley. It didn't take me but just long enough to get a breath to say 'Yes.'"

And Chuck has stayed busy here ever since that phone call. He originally sang on weekend shows. This month, he has started co-hosting the Tuesday night Barn Dance with Jim Gaskin, and in September, he will be

Beverly Carter Sexton, to participate in Corn Island Storytelling Festival

Take a trip into the hills, into a rich tradition of folk tales, family pride and homespun humor, take a trip to see featured new teller Beverly Carter Sexton at this year's Corn Island Storytelling Festival, Sept. 19, 20 and 21.

A native of Rockcastle County, Sexton is proud of her Appalachian heritage. Raised among people to whom storytelling is a part of everyday life, many of her stories have been told generation after generation.

A teller of Jack tales, folk tales and spook tales as well as "true" tales, Sexton has performed at festivals, workshops, for church groups and schools, and at various Berea College events.

Sexton sees storytelling not only as "continuing a family tradition," but also believes it can help the youth of the Appalachian region take pride in the rich heritage they possess.

With rich dialect and a pot porch kind of casualness, Sexton brings a wealth of stories, old and new, to delight the lucky listener.

The featured new teller section of the Corn Island Festival provides a showcase for new and rising talent in storytelling in the U.S. and across the world.

Ms. Sexton now lives in Brodhead.

Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources Division of Law Enforcement

Our law enforcement officers will be out in force during the days preceding the opening of season looking for any potentially baited areas. They will be glad to answer questions from anyone concerning illegal baiting.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife encourages all dove hunters to have a safe, enjoyable and legal dove hunting season.

If you have been invited to a dove hunt or if you have asked someone to allow you to hunt on their land, remember, it is up to you, the hunter, to be sure there is no bait on the field where you intend to hunt.

Some things a hunter should look for on a field which might indicate bait are: shelled or cracked corn, what or other grains or feed which were not grown on that field. Excessive amounts of any of these grains may indicate that the area is baited. The presence of obvious piles and strips of grain or feed in any location where they would not normally be found, or a heavy concentration of dove over a field where no feed is apparent could indicate prior baiting. Remember, if in doubt about whether not a field is baited ask the landowner, obtain permission to hunt, abide by the daily bag limit and have an enjoyable dove hunting season.

Dove season to open September 1
The opening dates for dove season: September 1 through September 30; October 5 through October 28; November 30 through December 5.
