S.T.A.Y. project underway in county

The Kentucky Youth Association-State YMCA has announced county-wide implementation of the S.T.A.Y. (Students Training Adolescent Youth) Project.

S.T.A.Y., a teen mentoring program involving students in grades 6-12, focuses on community issues education and problem solving.

A total of 25 counties in eastern Kentucky have been targeted to participate in S.T.A.Y., including Rock-castle. High school students in each of those counties will be trained as volunteer mentors of students in grades 6-8.

The students will form a community-based teen council or Y-Club to study and discuss issues important to the Appalachian Region. They will then propose solutions in the form of legislative resolutions and present them at the Kentucky Youth Assembly at the State Capitol in Frankfort.

Young people involved in S.T.A.Y. will gain an increased awareness of the problems facing their communities, region, and state. They will be encouraged to become actively involved in seeking resolutions to these problems through legislative action. Another aspect of the program is that young people will be encouraged to perform volunteer community projects to further their education in community issues. The benefits derived from these activities will be felt by both the student and the community.

Implementation of the S.T.A.Y. program is made possible through funds provided by the Appalachian Regional Commission. Full and partial scholarship assistance will be available for up to twenty students from each participating county to attend the Junior or Senior Kentucky Youth Assembly.

While any ARC county may be eligible for S.T.A.Y. participation, primary funding is focused at this time in Adair, Bath, Bell, Carter, Clay, Cumberland, Elliott, Floyd, Garrard, Green, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knox, Laurel, Lawrence, Lincoln, Madison, Magoffin, Martin, Monroe, Pike, Rockcastle, Rowan and Russell. Interested students should contact their school administrator, guidance counselor, or teacher for nomination to the program. Adult sponsors for community teen councils are also needed.

For more information regarding the S.T.A.Y. program, contact Mike Haynes at the Kentucky Youth Association-State YMCA at (502) 227-7028.

Council on Higher Education to meet

Deputies hit by shots

Serving warrants can sometimes be hazardous to your health. Just ask deputy sheriffs Ronnie Roark and Darrell Dean.

The deputies went to the residence of Ricky Caudill about 10:30 p.m. Saturday on McClure Street in Livingston to serve a warrant on Caudill for failure to appear in court.

While Roark and Dean were talking to Caudill's girlfriend, Debbie Dean, someone shot them with a shotgun coming from the Caudill residence, according to a sheriff's report.

The buckshot struck Roark in the hands, Deputy Dean in the back and Debbie Dean in the neck. Roark suffered burns about the hands. The other two were not injured.

The house was searched but no one was there. Deputies called for assistance and two tracking dogs were brought from Laurel County and Putnam County.

Woods at the rear of the house was searched. The dogs tracked someone from the house to the woods and back to the house, Deputy Dean reported. The incident remains under investigation.

The warrant still remains unexecuted.

Mt. Vernon police officer

Michael Peters, 39, of Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, has been appointed a city policeman, according to Chief Bill Mink.

Peters replaces Chris Baker who resigned.

A graduate of Mt. Vernon High School, Peters and his wife, Artie Faye, have two children.

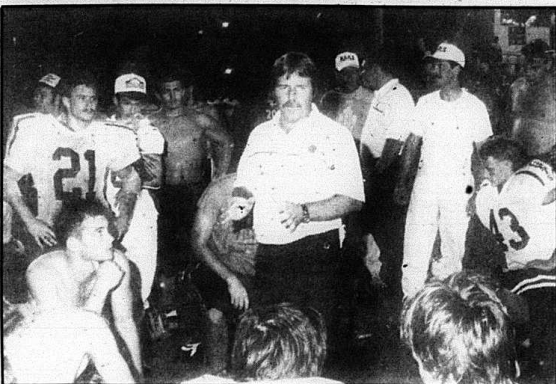

Prior to his police job, he was manager of security at Renfro Valley. He also was previously with Gibson Greeting Cards.

Marijuana found

Shirley Sheriff Smith and deputies found and destroyed 29 marijuana plants last week in a cornfield in Possum Kingdom. There was no one on the site.

Correction

It was James W. Weaver Jr. who was charged with cultivating marijuana not his father, James Weaver, as reported in last week's Signal.

Head Coach Tom Larkey talks to his team after another easy victory Friday night against Whitley County. The Rockets defeated Whitley 34-9 and are now ranked sixth in Class 2A in the state.

State tobacco markets scheduled to open Nov. 25

Tobacco warehouse sales across the eight-state Burley belt should begin Nov. 25, based on recommendations to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan that were approved Sept. 10 by the Burley Tobacco Advisory Committee.

This 39-member federal panel—named in May by Madigan to advise him on burley sales and marketing decision—replaces the regional Burley Sales and Marketing Committee that, since 1950, had determined opening and closing dates for markets in Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

And if the Agriculture Secretary approved the BTAC's Sept. 10 recommendations, then the schedule will include that Burley Warehouses open Nov. 25, which is the traditional Monday-before-Thanksgiving date to begin sales; markets will close three days later—upon conclusion of Nov. 27 sales—for the Thanksgiving break; warehouses re-open Dec. 2; they will follow a four-day-per-week plan with no sales being held on Fridays. Dec. 19 will be the final day of sales before Christmas; Markets will re-open Jan. 6; close Jan. 20 to observe the holiday honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.; and then auction resumes, Jan. 21 until the crop is sold.

An alternative schedule, proposed by William "Bon" Crain, a Lexington warehouseman, failed to receive committee approval. Under that plan, pre-Christmas burley markets would have opened Nov. 18 and closed Dec. 12.

"We have a quirk in the calendar this year," Crain explained. "Thanksgiving is late. But this is an early crop of tobacco, and this is the plenty of it ready to sell by Nov. 18. Plus, all this would do is open the market one day earlier than we did last year."

In 1990, the burley market opened Nov. 19.

However, Crain's proposal was opposed by tobacco buyers on the committee who said that a Nov. 18 opening would not give manufacturers sufficient time to process flue-cured tobacco purchases before turning to burley sales.

In other action, BTAC members reviewed policies and procedures for administering sales of the 1991 crop, based on eight recommendations that the committee had made July 11.

Included among these were requirements that all tobacco be marketed on an approved-scale poundage ba-

$143,000 for Burton farm

The 97 acre farm of Charles Denver Burton at Willalla sold in four tracts Saturday for a total of $142,700.

Tracts 5 through 14 was sold to Don Thompson of Rt. 1, Brodhead.

One tract was sold to Roy Graves of Rt. 1, Brodhead.

Two tracts and house was sold to Burgess Evans of Rt. 1, Brodhead, and two tracts to Gilbert Burton of Rt. 1, Brodhead.

5th district to change under proposed plan

Should the first plan proposed for redistricting Congressional seats in Kentucky be approved, U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers could be "Gerrymandered" out of a job.

Gerrymandering is a term used when the majority political party redraws district lines to benefit that party.

Under the plan, Pulaski County, Rogers' home county, would be divided into three districts, the 5th, 6th (Lexington) and second (Owensboro and Henderson).

However, all may not be lost for the Congressman. He could choose to run in another district. Members of Congress are not required by law to reside in the districts they represent.

Should he choose to run in an adjacent district the could face Chris Perkins, Larry Hopkins, William Natcher or Carl Hubbard.

To say that Rep. Rogers is unhappy is to say the least. His comment was "Quite frankly, I am outraged by the district boundaries proposed to date. What the Joint Subcommittee is recommending is that the legislature destroy the only solidly Republican congressional district in Kentucky."

The one good thing that can be said for the map presented today is that it won't be the final product. Even the chairman of the Subcommittee, in his summary, acknowledged that the panel doesn't agree on its own redistricting plan. So this is just an initial draft, just a starting point.

"To split up an existing district four ways, as this would do, is unheard of. And it would be unprecedented to divide the home county of a sitting Member of Congress in two parts, much less the three proposed in this plan."

"The document presented by the subcommittee would be Exhibit A in any federal lawsuit challenging a classic example of political gerrymandering."

"But I am confident that in the long run, wiser heads—such as former Gov. Bert Combs, who spoke so eloquently today about the need to keep our two Appalachian districts—will prevail and that the Southern and Eastern Kentucky districts will remain more or less intact."

"Congressional reaction was mixed. Republican Rep. Jim Bunning, whose 4th District would be expanded to run from Olmuth County to Boyd County along the Ohio River, said the proposal could actually work in favor of Republicans."

The plan drew criticism from all over the state, but it was also defended as the closest possible alternative to a mathematical ideal.

Rep. Jody Richards, D-Bowling Green, protested that Warren County was separated from neighboring Simpson, Allen and Barren counties, which were placed in a newly elongated 1st District that follows the Tennessee border.

"I think it's an ugly plan, to be real

Tax paying time here

The 1991 county and school taxes will be payable beginning Oct. 1 at the Sheriff's office, according to Sheriff Shirley Smith.

A two percent discount is in effect until Oct. 31. Face value is in effect until Dec. 31. A two percent penalty is added beginning Jan. 1 and a 10 percent penalty after Feb. 1.

All taxing authorities have a lien against all real estate and personal property effective Jan. 1 when the unpaid tax liability becomes delinquent.

Be sure to bring or mail your tax bill when making payment. When paying by mail, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope if a receipted copy of the bill is needed.

Former resident celebrates 102nd birthday with eventful evening at Renfro Valley

Lou Dailey Moore celebrated her birthday Tuesday night by going to dinner and Barn Dance Show at Renfro Valley. That may not be such a big deal for some people, but Lou Dailey Moore was born across the mountains from Renfro Valley, says Lou. The birthday she celebrated Tuesday was her 102nd.

The Dailey clan was on hand to help celebrate the occasion, including Mrs. Moore's great-grandson, J.B. Dailey, Jr. J.B. is married to Donna Dailey, who is one of Renfro Valley's popular vocalists. Ms. Dailey dedicated Tuesday evening's performance of "Grandpa, Tell U 'Bout The Good Old Days" to Mrs. Moore, who she refers to as "Mom."

"Mom made my wedding dress," said Ms. Dailey. "That was 19 years ago, and she stitched nearly everything by hand. She's a remarkable lady, and I just adore her," she added.

The Dailey family and Renfro Valley go back a long way together. William Cecil Dailey, son of Lou Dailey Moore and grandfather of J.B., had his own electrical business in the 1930's. He helped build the original Old Barn, Lodge Restaurant, and Honeymoon Cottages at Renfro

Fall Craft Festival this weekend

If you're a collector of Appalachian and other handmade crafts, both traditional and contemporary, you're in for a treat the weekend of Sept. 20 through 22 when the folks at Renfro Valley hold their annual Fall Heritage Crafts Festival.

Actually, there is never any shortage of country crafts at Renfro Valley, since many shops in the Renfro Village offer a variety of regional items throughout the year, but during the Fall Heritage Crafts Festival, the Valley becomes a veritable crafter-lover's paradise as guildmembers from several states descend upon Renfro Valley to exhibit their work during this three-day event.

"We'll have a good representation of craftspeople this year," said Tamara Van Winkle, special events coordinator at Renfro Valley, and it's impossible to list all the different items—pottery, weaving, baskets, brooms, wooden toys, doll furniture, children's clothes and lots more.

Valley, and attended the very first Barn Dance Show on November 4, 1939. "Cecil had to be on hand to help out in case anything went wrong," said Mrs. Moore. But nothing did go wrong, and the buildings Cecil Dailey helped to erect are still in use at Renfro Valley. Although the interiors have been recently remodeled, the exteriors have much the same appearance as in those early days.

Mrs. Moore resides in Berea now, and quite active for her age. "I can't see Donna sing at the Barn Dance last year," she said, "and I'm planning to come back. When J.B. and Donna traveled with the Joshua Cooley Band, they played and sang rock and roll instead of country music, but I still caught their show whenever I could," she added.

Renfro Valley folks made sure that Mrs. Moore got the red carpet treatment during her visit. "We were very honored that Mrs. Moore chose to celebrate this momentous occasion with us," said Don Henrickson, Executive Vice President. "It was a real treat to hear her reminisce about old times here in the valley, and we hope she'll come back soon and often."

Mrs. Lou Dailey Moore was honored on her 102nd birthday Tuesday night with a dinner at the Renfro Valley Lodge given by her family. As I do, then he would not have time to write letters and try to run the schools affairs. Also, if William Mullins wants to live by the scriptures maybe it would be wise to read 1 Timothy 5:8 Also Genesis 3 - 19.

Dear Editor,

One of my grandsons came in around 11 p.m. Saturday night and asked if I knew there was a man hunt going on on our hill.

He stopped at their car and asked if they had told me what they were doing up there.

They said no. He was concerned we might shoot at anything out of the main road. They allowed that wouldn't happen unless you have badges that glow in the dark. Please don't be stupid enough to get off the road on this hill. We tell our grandsons to be sure they stay in the road at night. I have neighbors that feel the same. We don't allow hunting up here in the day time or at night. We can't tell if it's official business at night. All you have to do is pull up and blow the horn and yell that you're out there and who you are.

We live in peace on this hill and we don't know what people are up to if they don't let us know what they're doing.

This isn't asking too much.

At the August meeting of the Rockcastle County History Book Committee, members were encouraged to write their own free 500 word family household story, and obtain a picture to bring to the next meeting of the Book Committee; October 1. These will be used as samples to encourage other Rockcastle Countians to prepare their own stories and pictures. Deadline for the public will be early 1992 for submissions. Complete details will be printed in an instructional brochure, which will be inserted in the Mt. Vernon Signal in the near future.

New members of the Book Committee were welcomed, and discussion included who, what and how to submit church, club and organization histories and pictures. These will also be a vital part of the book, as will town and community histories. The submission of an excellent manuscript from Elizabeth F. Mullins of Brodhead, and Georgia Blanton of Richmond, KY should be especially noted. Thanks for these fine articles!

What are the dues for membership in the Rockcastle County History Book Committee? Simply a strong interest in preserving our County History! Membership is free and open to all persons with roots or residence in Rockcastle. Come join us at our next meeting: Tuesday, Oct. 1, 7 p.m. at the courthouse (fiscal court room). We're making history in Rockcastle County!

ROAMIN' ROCKCASTLE

By HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

Hello from Jackson county!
On a recent trip to Sand Gap we saw an interesting place where the house with a garden seems to be perched on the side of the hill.

We met Rex Miller, owner and farmer of the great built on the ledge behind the house.
It was so unusual I became interested. Plots of ground framed by railroad ties were laid on the edge behind the house. Everything that could be raised in any garden had been planted and grew well. Cucumbers were hanging from wire fencing as well as tomatoes. The garden stretched the length of the house.

A tall pole held an old drier well which I suppose Miller's wife rang to keep him from overworking (if there is such a thing as that in a man).
Rex said that Highway 421 was built on tops of hills along valleys which opened up the outside world to folks in the hills.

Miller advertises himself as a buyer of herbs and roots after September 15th. He has been a bird hunter, is a retired handyman, and grows yellow root on the deep slope behind his house.

In another field, across the highway, Miller said his son grew wild bird seed for the birds winter well. Next we went to Clover Bottom where old friends, and mountain doctor, Bob Sparks, lived before he passed away, and visited with his wife, Kathleen Sparks.

She does lots of handcraft to pass the time since she is alone and misses the companionship of a good husband.
Kathleen said Delmas Singleton, who gave me the prettiest wreath when we stopped at the garage that he ran sometime ago said Delmas was still in the garage business but closed that day for the holiday.

In the town of Morrill, we met Dewey Clark's (deceased) son, Tommy who does some farming but mostly his work is building greenhouses— His address is R 2, Box 433 in case you need one or two.
Tommy was one of those mountain farmers who lost his tobacco crop in the hail stones that swept the country not long ago. He lost his means for living expenses this winter.

It was the second week of September that we made this trip around in the hills. Leaving the highway at Morrill, we drove over Burnt Ridge Road (there's a difference of opinions about this name) out to where Clear Creek Road meets Scaffold Cane Road making a meeting at nearby Blon Holt's Grocery.

The roadside was lined with yellow flowers which make sick lights, and are the worst things beside yellow jackets that you can get near.

One reason I'm so proud of Rockcastle is the good blacktop road that the Road Department put in from Holts' to the Jackson County line making it safe for the school children to travel over by bus. That is a pretty drive for anyone to take and see the mountain beauty of Rockcastle and look through a blue haze to Madison County.

Edd and Juanita (his first wife) Croucher had their children come in to see them over the holidays.

Ruby and her husband, Larry Schwartz, and daughter, April from Dayton, Ohio came to sample the cooking at the Croucher's.

Next Angie and Ralph Coffey, hearing about it made a visit to see the folks but I truly believe it was the cooking they heard about.

While in Berea, Ralph and Angie went to see his Aunt Lou Coffey

Dailey at the Berea Heth Care Center because she is about to have her 102nd birthday this month.

If she gets a party with cake and ice cream, I'm going and pretend I went to see Virginia Morris.

Eugene and Linda Johnson on Summit Road in Madison County have a gourd vine that wanders all over an old building near their garden.

Hanging on the vine are some long neck gourds, one which has been measured at 41 inches from bottom to top and is still growing.

Gosh, what gardeners! Arthur Davidson is a sportsman. I mean he likes to hunt, fish, and whatever, anytime.

Being a close neighbor, he and John spent alot of time recently getting Arthur's camper ready to go on an overnight fishing trip to Laurel Lake near London. So they took off one morning with dreams of a big catch to bring back.

Well, you've heard of the nursery rhyme game played on a child's foot where you pick up one toe at a time and say, "This little piggy went to market," and so on.

Arthur and John were like the fourth little pig all the way home.

But I had fried fish for supper, where did I get the fish I had for supper?

Why I bought them!
Roscoe Whitmore is a super mechanic working at Jennings Machine Shop. Having some nice pear trees in his yard, he told John to come and get the pears lying on the ground.
John not only peeled the pears, he made preserves out of them which tasted very well.
I heard Roscoe got a bad tummyache from the jar John took him after they were made.
The sore thumb (which I didn't have) kept me from helping John.
I've begun to pass out those wonderful smelling, and having great powers, plumgranies to folks to help them out in their daily life problems.

I was asked to take one to Shirley Abney at the bank where she works.
I said, "I'll bring a plumgranmy to you and you can give it to her!"
Shirley is such a pretty woman, she really has no need for one but they (?) insisted I give it to her. Someday, I'll tell. That is if a wedding should happen and it could!
I walked into the store and saw John Bill Allen standing alone in front of Saylor's front office at Superior Market one night.
The checkout line was full but he seemed to be alone in the noisy crowd.

Ladies Aid Missionary Group meets at Watson home

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

The missionary group met Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Barbara Watson's home.

They welcomed Matilda Brooks and Elizabeth Mullins back to their fold.

Ella Mae Martin presented the lesson on "Where is God When I'm Hurting?" in 1 Cor. 10:13. Paul states that God will not put upon Christians any more temptation than they can bear.

She also read "How to take the Sting Out of Birthdays." Think positive! Regard each passing birthday as a gift from God. Count your blessings and "Praise God".

Nellie Colson closed this part of the program with prayer. She received a thank you letter from Brenda Diskin for the clothing package the group had sent her, she reported.

Margorie Shivel read the news from Sowder Nursing Home. We always enjoy that. Then we signed 12 birthday cards to give the home's patients.

The group voted to help REAP. In October, we'll meet with Ella Mae Martin and Elizabeth Mullins will give the lesson.

Breaking the cycle of abuse

Freedom from Addiction

As human beings, we cherish our freedom—the freedom to think, the freedom to feel, the freedom to speak out, the freedom to choose our actions. Used responsibly, freedom is a doorway to happiness and creativity. Unfortunately, addictions of all kinds severely limit our freedom. For example, a woman who is an alcoholic becomes a slave to alcohol.

Alcohol becomes an obsession that eventually rules her life. Her freedom is stifled.

WE ALL STRUGGLE WITH ADDICTIONS. If someone says, "He is an addict," we usually form a mental picture of a drug addict or an alcoholic. But the problem of addiction is much more widespread and subtle.

Addictions come in all sizes and shapes, and nearly all of us struggle with them. We can be addicted to money, work, a relationship, shopping, tobacco, pornography, sex, gambling, religion, popularity or food. We can be addicted to being nice, being taken care of, being right. Of course, some addictions are much more serious and damaging than others. The point is that addiction is a problem we all have in common.

WHAT IS AN ADDICTION? An addiction is a state of preoccupation and compulsion that makes you act in ways that are not in your best interest. Although the process may be subtle, the object of your preoccupation begins to control you. As a result, you have trouble making good decisions.

An addiction is an idol that, at best, delivers only short-term pleasure. It is a misguided attempt to avoid pain or experience happiness. Even minor addictions cut away at your freedom of choice and take away from your well-being. At the root of a person's addiction is a failure to listen with respect to his or her deep feelings.

ABUSE & ADDICTION GO HAND IN HAND

Abuse is the act of hurting someone—ourselves or others. As with addiction, abuse stretches along a continuum from very mild to tragic and life threatening. Mild abuse may be as subtle as insensitivity to ourselves or others. Battering a young child is an example of severe abuse. Addiction and abuse are two sides of the same coin. Human abuse encourages addictive behavior and addictions feed abuse. Addictions cloud our understanding. As a result, we are more apt to make poor choices and wind up hurting ourselves or others. By the same token, individuals who grew up in families where there was physical, sexual or emotional abuse are more likely to develop addictions.

It's part of a cycle. One kind of abuse leads to another, down through the generations. It's a cycle that hurts everyone it touches, a cycle with wide-ranging negative effects.

TYPES OF ADDICTIONS

Some addictions involve objects that attract us, perhaps tobacco or soap operas. Other addictions involve things we try to avoid, maybe going to the dentist or public speaking. It's natural and healthy to have likes and dislikes. However, when our likes and dislikes begin to control us, when our willpower grows weak, when we begin to make choices that are not in our best interest, we have

New 800 number for social security office

The Social Security Administration (SSA) will change its toll-free telephone number as of October 1, 1991. Gerry Hunt, Social Security manager in Richmond said today.

The new number is 1-800-SSA-1213, available weekdays from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

"We are giving early notice so that people will not be taken by surprise when they call," Hunt said. "We want people to be on the lookout for it and make the change before they have to use it," he said.

The SSA number change resulted from Congressional legislation that requires Federal Government agencies to convert to a new telecommunications system called "FTS 2000."

Since the new system is managed by a different service carrier than the agencies had used in the past, SSA had to change its toll-free number.

Hunt said that since its nationwide implementation two years ago, the 800 number service has become a popular option for people who have Social Security business. Callers find that their requests can be handled easily, conveniently, and expeditiously by phone. In many instances, their business can be completed at the time of the initial call. Recent studies show that more than two-thirds of the 800-number callers prefer using the telephone over having to visit a Social Security office in person.

Changes in drivers licenses begin Oct. 14

Transportation Secretary and Commissioner of Highways Milo D. Bryant announced that beginning Oct. 14, the transportation cabinet will be adding more information to Kentucky's driver licenses.

The new items appearing on the licenses will include weight, eye color, hair color, race and sex. The additional information is being prompted by the Commercial Driver Licensing Act, a federal law requiring commercial drivers to possess minimum knowledge and skills levels.

A new "on-line" driver licensing computer system has been developed to accommodate this federal requirement and to facilitate license issuance and recordkeeping for all drivers. This new system replaces a "batch" system where licenses were issued by circuit clerks and then mailed to the central office in Frankfort to be entered onto a computer system.

The federal safety act requires every commercial driver to be tested and licensed before April 1, 1992. The federal licensing requires a nationwide computer check of drivers before a license can be issued.

Secretary Bryant said that, "The on-line computer system will allow the driver's license status to be updated instantaneously. The additional information on all licenses will help prevent the issuance of fake licenses and prevent bad drivers from being licensed through the use of a nationwide system of computers. The system is designed to enhance public safety and provide more up-to-date information to the public and its users. The cosmetics of the driver license itself will not change except for the added information."

Bryant added that other state agencies will benefit from the on-line driver licensing computer system, including the state police, court system, the Cabinet for Human Resources, and the Revenue Cabinet.

Training to familiarize driver licensing and circuit clerk employees with CDL and the new system is underway through September at the highway district offices. The new driver license will be issued by the Circuit Court Clerks' offices beginning Oct. 14.

Driver license offices in Rockcastle County will be closed Thursday, Oct. 10, Friday, Oct. 11 and Saturday, Oct. 12 due to the implementation of the new computer system.

No driver licenses or driving tests will be given on these dates. Driver license offices will re-open on Monday, Oct. 14.

Medicare will now help pay for Pap smear screening

Women with Medicare coverage should know that Medicare will now help pay for the cost of Pap smear screening for early detection of cervical cancer.

Available since July of last year, this coverage can save lives by increasing access to this effective method for detecting cervical cancer at a stage when it is more easily treatable.

Before the change in the law, Medicare paid for Pap smears only for patients who were being treated for certain medical conditions, including certain forms of cancer. But now, Medicare will help cover the cost of Pap smear screenings once every three years for all women who are enrolled in Medicare medical insurance. In addition, Medicare may help cover the cost of more frequent Pap smears for patients who are at a high risk of developing cervical cancer.

Medicare will pay 80 percent of the approved charge, after the beneficiary meets the usual medical insurance annual deductible ($100 in 1991).

It is important for women to take advantage of this Medicare provision. The American Cancer Society estimates that 13,500 new cases of invasive cervical cancer will be diagnosed this year. Six thousand American women will die of the disease in 1991 alone. Pap smears can help reduce this number.

New Madrid Fault Zone effects Ky

Is Kentucky ready to respond to a major earthquake from the New Madrid Fault Zone?

For the fifth consecutive year, Kentucky Disaster and Emergency Services and the American Red Cross are sponsoring an earthquake conference to explore a wide range of earthquake-response issues.

Each year, this conference has drawn hundreds of people interested in getting ready for a major quake. They include business people, local government officials, emergency responders and many others.

This year's conference will be held Oct. 26-28 at the Hursbame Hotel and Conference Center in Louisville. Sessions during the conference will deal with issues such as the effects of last year's earthquake "projection" by Dr. Iben Browning, organizing workers immediately after an earthquake, corporate planning, communications needs, medical and psychological problems related to major disasters and search and rescue in damaged buildings.

The conference is scheduled for the end of Kentucky's Earthquake Preparedness Week '91. The theme for the week and the conference is "Earthquake: Are you Ready?"

Pre-registration for the conference (before Oct. 7) is $35; multiple registrations of four or more people from one organization are $30 per person; registrant after Oct. 7 is $40.

For more information or a brochure and registration form for the conference, contact the Center for Continuing Education, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292, or call (502) 588-6061.

How We're Making Sure Kentucky's Kids No Longer Have To Take A Back Seat.

Currently, Kentucky's kids rank well below the national average in math. Our nation's average 13-year-old fares even worse - being surpassed by those in Ireland, the UK, Spain, Canada, Korea and Japan.

Fortunately, the wheels of reform are beginning to turn. Thanks to the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA), money has been allocated, programs put in place. Schools all across the state are gearing up to meet this enormous challenge. There's even a school bus that will travel the state as a mobile exhibit.

But to make any real headway, we need you to get on board.

Because this is a bus that needs more than one driver.

To bring the mobile exhibit to your area, or to find out how you can get involved in supporting education reforms, please call: 1-800-928-2111.

New Districting

honest," Richards said. "I think this is a gerrymander plan."

The root of the problem of redistricting is that Kentucky will lose one of its seven seats in Congress next year. The state's population grew slightly during the 1980s, but other states grew more and gained seats.

"When you move from seven to six congressional districts, you will feel some pain," said Sen. Joe Meyer, D-Covington, co-chairman of the legislative Subcommittee on Redistricting. "I think this plan is an equal opportunity offender."

Another complaint was lodged by former Gov. Bert Combs, who pleaded that the poverty-stricken areas of Eastern and Southern Kentucky retain two congressional seats to increase federal clout.

The proposal essentially leaves only one mountain district in the southeastern part of the state.

Yet some regional concerns were met.

Lexington and Fayette County would remain at the center of a Bluegrass district, and the Northern Kentucky counties of Boone, Campbell and Kenton would remain in the 4th.

Meyer emphasized that the map was only a preliminary proposal, but he said someone would have to come up with a better idea to change it.

With six districts, the mathematical ideal contains 614,216 people. The boundaries contained in yesterday's proposal vary by only 47 people from the largest to the smallest district. Additionally, only three counties are split between districts, and Jefferson County has to be divided because it is too big by itself.

Meyer said federal courts invariably leaned toward the plan that most closely adhered to the mathematical ideal.

"Everybody in the world has said they're going to challenge this in court," Meyer said. "Somebody's got to come up with numbers that are better than this."

The General Assembly must draw new boundaries before the 1992 primaries, but when it will happen is uncertain. Gov. Wallace Wilkinson has said he will not call a special session to deal with the issue, but the new governor could do so in December before the regular session begins Jan. 7.

Breaking Abuse Cycle

crossed into the territory of addiction. Addictions fall into four broad categories.

Activities (Such as television, work, sex, marketing, gambling) People (Hurtful relationships based on fear and control instead of honesty and love)

Substances (Alcohol, street drugs, prescription drugs, food, nicotine, caffeine)

Thoughts (For example, self-defeating thinking that causes worry, resentment, depression, jealousy, low self-esteem)

BREAKING FREE

If you are involved in addictions and want to break free of them, consider these suggestions:

- Honestly admit your shortcomings.

- Acknowledged, get professional help.
- Build on your strengths; keep your blessings.

- Stay away from blame. As an adult, you are responsible for how you respond to the challenges that come your way. Accept that responsibility.

- Do not cooperate in allowing any person or organization to mistreat you.

- Consider joining a self-help group, such as Overeaters Anonymous, Codependency Anonymous, AI-Anon (for mates and concerned persons), or Alateen (for teenagers of alcoholics).

- Focus on the here and now, choosing to take one positive step at a time.

- Nourish yourself spiritually.
- Pay attention to the promptings of your heart. Trust yourself enough to act on your inner guidance.

- As we break free of our addictions, we become more alive, energetic and spontaneous. Our need to control and be right diminishes. There is greater humility, increased openness. A childlike joy and enthusiasm wells up from within. We experience and share more creativity, strength and love.

six, with only ASCS personnel being allowed to deduct pounds from growers' marketing cards; there is limits on the auction sales of "non-auction" tobacco; warehouse purchases at auction also be sold at auction, and daily sales be limited to 14-million pounds, excluding Weston, Missouri, with a 10-percent allowance being permissible prior to Christmas if belated-wide sales drop dramatically during any consecutive 2-day period.

According to the Agricultural Marketing Service, the $3-million-pound "cap" on daily sales means that each set of tobacco buyers can purchase no more than 750,000 pounds of burley per day—although carry-over provisions will allow up to 5,000 pounds of "unused sales opportunities" to be sold on "the next immediate sales day."

Constitution Week

Constitution discussed at gathering

A small crowd was on hand Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse to observe Constitution Week in Rockcastle County.

On hand to discuss the branches of government were District Judge Walter Maguire, State Rep. Danny Ford and Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer. County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins was master of ceremonies.

Rep. Ford told those present what makes this nation great "is the fact that the Constitution modeled a representative government that depends on the creative energies of the people it governs."

"Thanks to the Constitution," he continued, "our government is run by leaders who share the same home life, the same religious devotion, the same commitment to a better society, the same love of liberty as the people who elect them to serve."

The representative said, "We have an executive branch with one leader to enforce the laws and we have a Judicial Branch who interpret those laws. But I want you to appreciate the Legislative Branch - charged by the Constitution to make the laws of the land - because the legislature represents the people."

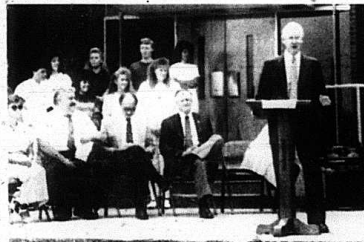

Thomas Jefferson said: "The Constitution of the United States is the result of the collected wisdom of our country." He was right, but two centuries later, we can also say that overrule the President's veto and deny his judicial appointments means that the people of this land truly have an impact on every aspect of their own government through their representatives in the legislative branch." Ford concluded.

The Rockcastle County chorus performed under the direction of Mrs. Joanna Del Ward.

William Lynch's social studies class at Rockcastle County High School gave short talks on the Constitution.

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Roland Mullins was master of ceremonies at a small gathering on the courthouse steps.

A Taste of Country, at Renfro

Former sheriff to fix famous barbecue during special food fair weekend

Visitors to Renfro Valley's "A Taste of Country" Food Fair the weekend of Sept. 27 through 29 can sample such country "delicacies" as Kentucky Burgoo, sweet potato biscuits, Hoppin' John and cheese grits.

They'll also get to meet Clarence "Jib" Hasty, a Rockcastle County farmer whose barbecue pork is the taste of Rockcastle, Lincoln and Laurel counties.

Hasty, a former Rockcastle County sheriff and deputy, said he learned how to barbecue at political rallies about 10 years ago. Since then he has developed his own homemade recipe for a sweet barbecue sauce, and his barbecue has become a favorite at local rallies, family reunions and homecomings, including his annual cookout/birthday party in June at his farm near Brodhead, where he cooks for 400 to 500 guests.

"Some of the folks at Renfro Valley had been at some of my cookouts and tasted my barbecue," Hasty explained. As a result, he will be barbecuing a pig at the Food Fair on Saturday, September 28. Visitors can have a barbecue sandwich as a part of the special buffet at Old Joe Clark's Place in the Renfro Valley Village or take home a quart or a pint for later.

Although he won't divulge his sauce recipe, Hasty says that the cooking procedure for his barbecue consists of first cutting the pork into 3 or 4 pound chunks, which are boiled for a couple of hours to "get the grease off." Then he soaks the pork in his barbecue sauce for about half an hour before grilling it.

In addition to Hasty's barbecue, the Food Fair Weekend buffet will feature other traditional country dishes such as Kentucky Burgoo, green beans with ham hocks, cheese grits, Hoppin' John (a vegetable dish made with blackeye peas and bell peppers), catfish strips, Kentucky country ham, chicken wings, corn bread, hush puppies and sweet potato biscuits, bread pudding, pecan chess pie and blackberry cobbler. Admission to the buffet is $5 per person.

"Good, home-cooked food is a country tradition as much as good music is," said Renfro Valley Food Manager Bill Thorne. "We thought our visitors might enjoy a chance to try some of the many local and regional specialties."

"For many dishes there are as many ways to make them as there are cooks," he noted.

Visitors are also encouraged to bring their own favorite recipes for possible inclusion in a Renfro Valley cookbook.

Before and after eating, guests can enjoy performances by clogging teams and Renfro Valley entertainers, as well as demonstrations of whittling and knife forging - all part of a weekend that's definitely going to be "full."

"A Taste of Country" Food Fair Weekend buffet will be served from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 27; from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 28; and 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 29. The buffet will be served in Old Joe Clark's Place in Renfro Village. The cost is minimal - just $5 per person entitles guests to a taste of over 21 different country recipes.

Cook-out to benefit KCCA

Fingerprints are not just for criminals according to the Kentucky Child Care Association.

The fact that this year, over one million children will be reported missing or abducted is a startling statistic that should grab the attention and concern of all parents.

KCCA urges parents to have their children fingerprinted and to complete a personal identification card. The Association is dedicated in assisting parents and guardians with learning some protective procedures in the event their child becomes one of the many missing children.

A goal has been set by KCCA to have every school age child in the state of Kentucky fingerprinted and have a personal identification card which is to be kept by the parents.

To help raise money for the cause, KCCA is having their Summer Fun Fest on Saturday, Sept. 21, at 4:00 p.m. at the Brodhead Fairgrounds. The festival will feature The County Rebel Band and the magic of John Hallbrook for entertainment.

The admission charge is $5 per person or $8 per couple, with all children admitted free. The charge includes the entertainment as well as a cook-out. All proceeds go to the Kentucky Child Care Association.

Helping fund such events is helping to fund our future. For additional information, call KCCA at (606) 986-1800.

Rockets move record to 3-0; ranked sixth in state in 2A

By: Paige Benge

Slated against what most thought would be the toughest game thus far this year, the Rockcastle County Rockets proved otherwise with strength and speed and overwhelmed Whitley County, 34-9, at Whitley last Friday night.

Aside from boosting their record to 3-0, the Rockets have now earned themselves a ranking of sixth in the state in Class 2A. And, based on powerpoints given within the Likelihood ratings, the Rockets fell only four points shy of being ranked (overall) in the top 20 high school football teams in the state.

"One thing that is scary is, we had more power points than a lot of the teams in Class 4A," head coach Tom Larkey said Tuesday afternoon. Power points are figured by who a team's opponent is, their score, their opponent's score and who their opponent has played.

Larkey also feels one of the biggest reasons his team is ranked high is due to the Rocket's outscoring their opponents 92-9 in only three games.

Friday night's game against Whitley County was nothing but an excellent game for the Rockets. "We didn't make any mistakes," Larkey said. "Whitley County had a good football team. Their offense was smooth," he added.

It took only six plays into the game before J.D. Harris scored the Rockets' first touchdown from Whitley's 15 yard line. Curtis Cot-ton's extra-point kick was good and the Rocket's led 7-0 with 9:51 left in the first quarter.

Whitley County also marched down the field on their first possession and was inside the Rockets' 10 yard line when the Rocket's defense managed to hold them to a fourth down and Whitley had to settle for a field goal.

"Our defense played well after they finally shifted around and stopped the one big play that kept working for Whitley," Larkey said. "Coach Saylor made a few adjustments and Whitley County discovered how well the Rocket's defense is," he said.

The Rocket's marched down the field once again and, as the end of the first quarter came, the Rocket's were threatening to score. Then on the first play of the second quarter Harris scored up the middle from Whitley's five yard line. Cotton's extra-point attempt was good and the Rocket's led 14-3.

"I was surprised that we moved the ball as easy as we did on Whitley County," Larkey said. "I was especially happy with the way our offensive line blocked and how well the backs blocked for each other," he said.

With about three minutes left in the first half, the Rockets were faced with a fourth and goal when Jonathon Saylor scored from Whitley's seven yard line. Cotton's extra-point kick was good and the Rocket's led 21-3.

Whitley County's first and only touchdown came with about a minute to go in the first half when Whitley's quarterback threw up a "prayer" and connected for a 62 yard pass to the Rocket's 1 yard line.

On their second attempt they scored and their two-point conversion attempt was no good. The Rocket's took a 21-9 lead into the locker room.

Early in the third quarter, Harris scored yet another touchdown from Whitley's 20 yard line with 6:48 left in the third quarter. Cotton's extra-point kick was no good but the Rocket's had a comfortable 27-9 lead.

The Rocket's held Whitley and after a short punt, the Rocket's had good field position on their own 30 yard line.

Scott Parkey needed little time before he kept the ball for the last touchdown of the game from the one yard line. Cotton's extra-point kick was good and the Rocket's finished the game with a 34-9 victory and their third win of the season.

"After viewing the film, I feel that Stacy Nicely, William Hollar and Mike Durham did an excellent job blocking on the offensive line," Coach Larkey said. "We ran right behind them every play and they did the blocking they were asked to do," he added.

Larkey also commented, "We've been very fortunate that a bad mistake hasn't beat us yet this year."

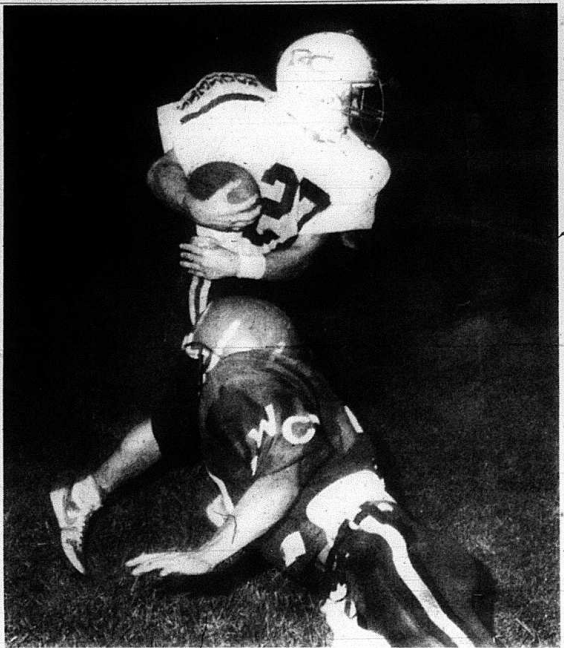

The Rocket's now face off against Pulaski County Friday night at home, which is also Homecoming. Festivities will be at halftime.

In the statistics department, the Rocket's rushed for 253 total yards and passed for a total of 74 yards. Individually, Jonathon Saylor had 15 carries for 120 yards. J.D. Harris had 15 carries for 119 yards. William Bullens had 2 carries for one yard. Michael Shaffer had four carries for seven yards. Scott Parkey had three carries for four yards and Greg Bowman had one carry for two yards.

Scott Parkey was 3 for 4 in passing for 74 yards. All three passes were completed to J.D. Harris.

This makes two weeks in a row that two backs have rushed for more than 100 yards each. Harris and Bullens did against Metcalf and Harris and Saylor against Whitley.

Thus far this year, Parkey is nine for 18 in passing for 222 yards and Harris is the leading rusher with 444

Rockets' running back J.D. Harris runs for one of the three touchdowns he scored against Whitley County last Friday night. The Rockets easily uprooted Whitley, 34-9, to boost their record to 3-0 and earn themselves a sixth ranking in the state.

yards in three games. Defensively, Jonathon Saylor had 10 tackles and one sack. Stacy Nicely had two tackles and one sack. Mike Durham had two tackles and one sack. Bobby Coffey had five tackles and one sack. William Hollar had one tackle. William Bullens had five tackles. J.D. Harris had four tackles. Curtis Cotton had eight tackles. J.D. Bussell had eight tackles. Jason Fletcher had five tackles and Michael Shaffer had two tackles.

The Junior Varsity's next game is Monday, September 23, at Madison Southern.

The Freshmen's first game is Saturday at Lynn Camp. Game time is 10:30 a.m. Their first home game is next Monday against Whitley County. They also play South Laurel at home Thursday, September 26.

The Quarterback Club will be hosting a spaghetti supper Friday night 5:30 to 7:30 at the school cafeteria. Anyone wishing to eat must have a ticket, which costs $4.00. Tickets may be purchased from Larry Carter or any other Quarterback Club member while they last. Other supporters will be given throughout the season.

Coach Larkey also wanted fans to be aware that if possible to stay off the new track in front of the stands. The track flus just been covered with a rubberized coat. Absolutely no bikes, skateboards or any shoes with spikes can be on the new track.

Rockets' field goal kicker Curtis Cotton was successful in sending four out of five attempts through the uprights Friday night against Whitley County.

Bass dip at Kentucky and Barkley Lakes

Largemouth bass populations are shrinking at Barkley and Kentucky lakes. It's that simple. And their numbers will continue to dip each year until they reach a more "normal" level—probably sometime in the mid-90s. Anglers who've become accustomed to catching high numbers of exceptionally large bass will likely notice a substantial decline over

Scouting Report for Pulaski County

Game time: 8:00 p.m.

Homecoming Festivities: Halftime

Scouting report: Head Coach Tom Larkey feels Pulaski County is holding the best team they've ever had. They beat Somerset 6-0, Wayne 14-6 but lost to Everts, 24-14, which is no disgrace. Everts had a back who rushed for 288 yards. Pulaski is returning a lot of last year's team. They're definitely more experienced. Larkey feels that Pulaski is confident they can beat the Rockets this year. But he also said the Rockets are playing under-a lot of pressure to win and they feel they're expected to win. He says they'll play harder with that attitude. Larkey feels they'll go out and win. He says they will be highly motivated to beat Pulaski.

Bass dip

the next few years.

Edward Buynak, black bass research biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR), spent a large part of this past summer, as he does each year, measuring fish populations at Kentucky and Barkley lakes. Buynak says all data indicate the "bass boom" brought on by drought years in late 1980s, has reached its peak and bass numbers are returning to a much more realistic mark.

The largemouth bass boom, in terms of pounds of fish per acre of water, probably peaked out in 1989 or '90," said Buynak. "The decline we've been seeing the past couple of years is exactly what we expected."

This natural decline in largemouth bass, though scientifically evident, has not yet become noticeable to the average angler. However, over the next few years, fewer fish and somewhat smaller sizes will become the rule and anglers should prepare themselves for the change.

"People have gotten used to catching artificially high numbers of really big bass out of both lakes," said Ted Crowell, KDFWR's assistant director of fisheries. "But now, things are starting to come back down to earth, much like the way they used to be."

A big problem, Crowell believes, is people won't remember the lakes as they were 10 years ago and not understand the change back to normal.

"They'll remember how it was last year and the year before, when it took six fish weighing 28 pounds or better to win a tournament," Crowell contends. "By 1995, six fish weighing only 18 pounds might win a tournament."

"Folks may have gotten a little spoiled," he added.

The bass booms at Kentucky and Barkley lakes were brought on by the drought years Kentucky experienced between 1984 and 1988. During those years, total annual rainfall amounts nosedived to about half normal levels. Think of it as two years' worth of rain spread over a four- or five-year period.

Actually, drought conditions don't directly affect the fish as much as they impact the water fish live in.

First of all, rainfall largely affects how quickly the water in a reservoir is "exchanged" -- or passed beyond the dam and replaced by fresh, new, incoming water.

At Kentucky Lake, for example, the water is completely "exchanged" about every 30 days -- under normal conditions. When rainfall is heavier than usual, incoming water flows more rapidly and lake water is exchanged more quickly. When rainfall amounts are less than usual, incoming water flows much more slowly and the exchange rate is slower. That is, water stays in the pool for a much longer period of time.

Now this may not sound very significant, but the fact is the length of time that water remains in the pool has a tremendous effect on those things which naturally grow in the water -- the fish food supply, for example -- which in turn affects the bass population, especially young fish which feed entirely on plankton.

Plankton reaches its greatest density level when the exchange rate in a lake is lowest.

The result is a virtual paradise for hungry young bass -- more available food than they could possibly need. What you've got then is a higher than average number of young fish surviving the difficult early stages of life -- and some extremely well-fed fish, to boot.

Before long, the size of the fish population goes through the roof, primarily due to an uncanny survival rate among the young of the year. What's more, the fish all look as though they've been struck to the food bucket.

During the drought years, several other species, namely smallmouth bass, bluegill, shellcracker and channel catfish, also showed sharp upswings. But, as with the largemouth bass, data now indicate these species are also declining to more realistic levels.

As difficult as it may be to fully understand, climatic and environmental changes don't have the same effects on all species. The very conditions which initiated the bloom in largemouth numbers, had a totally negative effect on the crappie spawn. Crappie (and other fish species) struggled while black bass prospered. As might be expected, populations of other species are also coming back into balance. While bass, crappie and sauger populations, for instance, are gradually -- and naturally -- increasing in numbers. It's reasonable to anticipate that over the next few years, these once flourishing fish populations will again reach normal levels similar to where they used to be.

Remember, over the long haul, a reservoir can support only a certain number of fish relative to the volume of water, just as 10 acres of forest can support only so many deer, and a 10-acre pasture can sustain only so many cattle. And although unusual natural occurrences can temporarily throw the system out of balance from time to time, eventually all living things return to their natural, normal levels.

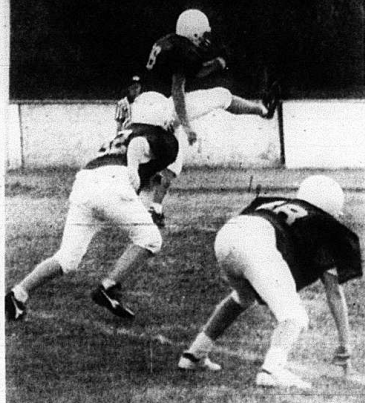

Keep in mind too, that largemouth bass populations are so strong at Kentucky and Barkley lakes that even a major decline in these artificially high numbers will leave the lakes as solid, productive fisheries -- far better than most.

Largemouth bass at Kentucky and Barkley lakes are simply returning to their natural, normal levels. Nothing is wrong. Nothing is out of whack. The lakes are not dying, as a matter of fact, they're not even a little bit under the weather. Nature is just putting things back the way it intended for them to be -- back the way they used to be, only a decade ago.

by: perlina m. anderkin

Two things have kept me upset this week -- one I can probably do nothing about, the other I'm fortunate in that I have complete control over. Friday's Herald had the new redistricting proposal which -- guess what -- guts the former 5th district and puts Rockcastle, which is 58 miles due south of Lexington, into the same district as Eastern Kentucky counties with whom we have absolutely nothing in common and, for good measure, breaks up Harold Rogers constituency, taking populous Pulaski Co. and putting it into another district. But, enough said, I really didn't expect better. Eastern Kentucky has always gotten the shaft in state politics because (a) our tax base is lower than the higher priced western, Bluegrass and heavily industrialized Northern Kentucky areas (b) we have never voted Democratic in a heavily Democrat state (c) our education achievement levels lag behind other areas (d) all of the above. We could, of course, raise per capita with anyone in the state legislature who will listen to us, and we intend to do that but it wouldn't hurt if you, too, would voice your displeasure.

No! to something I can control with the simple flick of a wrist (and feel powerful while I am doing it). I first noticed, a few months back, that Travis, 11 and Allison, 5 were engrossed in a TV show by the name of Beverly Hills and a bunch of numbers. On one of my trips through the family room, I noticed the program was about a family who was moving back to Nebraska from California because of a job transfer for the father. The children were having to deal with being upset because of leaving their friends. O.K. so far, right? Then, the scene switched and the daughter, 15-16 or so, was bedded down with her boyfriend, "telling him good-bye."

I changed channels and I have found myself doing a lot of that recently. Other than Disney, ESPN, the Family Channel, Nickelodeon, TV is not fit for children, young innocent adults or anyone who doesn't have a firm grip on reality.

My girls consider me a reactionary and maybe I am, I don't mind being labeled as someone who doesn't want to make sex the most important thing in the minds of my 11 and 5-year-olds.

They are soon enough exposed to all the pressures of adult living and I would like for them to not enter the adult world too soon or with, I think, the wrong preconceived notions about male-female relationships.

In spite of my interference, I know they are much more knowledgeable at their tender age about these relationships than necessary and I despair that I will ever be able to counteract the daily bombardment they undergo from the "real world".

There's a great deal to be said, I think, for "closer" lifestyles and I will no doubt be brought to task for not being more realistic about life but, excuse me, realism is forced on us all too quickly and I feel I can prepare them a little better than some two-bit TV show which depicts characters with the morals of alleycats.

I have now vented my spleen in print and I will vent it at home by monitoring every show my children watch.

And, no, I don't watch soap operas.

Mt. Vernon Rite Aid takes on new identity

Changes that will bring greater variety and lower prices are underway for customers of the Rite Aid drugstore on Richmond Street.

The Midnight Fire Band will be one of the features of this year's World Chicken Festival in downtown London the week end of Sept. 26-29. The group will be performing on the Broad Street Stage Friday night, Sept. 27 at 11 p.m. Members of the group are T.W. May, lead vocals, lead guitar; Lenzo May, lead vocals, acoustic guitar; Rick King, bass guitar, keyboards, lead vocals; Chris Neeley, drums, percussion and lead vocals

On Monday, Sept. 23, a new Thrif-D Discount Drugstore will officially begin operations, signaling a new approach to meeting the needs of Rite Aid's customers. Thrif-D is Rite Aid's deep-discount alternative, but with all the pharmacy services of a traditional drugstore.

According to Dinah Moore, front end manager of Rite Aid, the change in format will allow her to offer the same quality merchandise, but with savings available to 30 percent to 50 percent on most items. With lower prices and more promotional merchandise, Thrif-D outlets are competitive with the nation's deep-discount health and beauty aid stores.

As it has since its opening for business in March of 1987, the store will offer a wide variety of brand name items and over 1,000 Rite Aid private label products. The store will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays.

While the look of the store is changing, the pharmacy will provide the same level of service Rite Aid patients have come to expect. Rite Aid pharmacies employ the latest computer technology and remain dedicated to personal patient care and professional counseling.

Rite Aid Corporation currently operates 2,348 drugstores in 22 eastern states employing over 29,000 people. It also operates 86 ADA/Pand Auto Palace auto parts stores, 77 Encore bookstores and 172 Concord Custom Cleaners drycleaning outlets.

American Masters Pays Tribute to Harold Lloyd

Harold Lloyd, the film comedian best remembered for dangling from a clock in Safety Last!, is saluted in "Harold Lloyd: The Third Genius," an encore presentation of American Masters airing on KET at 9 p.m. Thursday, September 26.

At the height of his career, Lloyd was more popular than either Charlie Chaplin or Buster Keaton, and he eventually made more comedies than the two of them put together. Safety Last!, released in 1923, is the most famous example of how Lloyd, as much stunner as comedian, exploited terrifying situations for laughs.

Part VI - Executive Summary

The 1990-91 school year was a busy year for the Rockcastle County School System. The staff and the entire community were constantly studying and reviewing the comprehensive Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990 (KERA). It was a year which involved much planning for the implementation of the various reform efforts. The citizens of Rockcastle County can be proud of the manner in which KERA has been accepted and supported by all stakeholders. In some districts, a resistance to change and innovation has occurred, but in Rockcastle County there remains a cooperative and optimistic spirit to improve schools.

Primary accomplishments of the Rockcastle County School system for the 1990-91 school year:

1. Attendance reached an all time high for the district - 96.3%.
2. Student academic performance as measured by the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) continued to improve.
3. The District Strategic Planning Committee completed eighteen (18) months of work; a Final Report was compiled, which was approved and adopted by the Rockcastle County Board of Education.
4. The district became involved in the National Effective Schools Process and in June of 1991 the Rockcastle County Board of Education approved the Effective Schools Plan.
5. Participation in the three (3) year Basic Arts Program was completed; resulting in the formulation of a specific curriculum for the arts and a strategic plan for future years.
6. The Rockcastle County Board of Education developed and approved a comprehensive plan for the implementation of technology in all schools.
7. The school system planned extensively during the year for the successful implementation of KERA and began operation of various components of the reform.
8. A highly successful Early Childhood Education Program was established in the district.
9. A comprehensive plan to upgrade facilities in the district was initiated.
10. The community was informed and involved in efforts to improve education in Rockcastle County.

The following goals have been established for the 1991-92 school year:

1. To continue the successful implementation of all the components of the Kentucky Education Reform Act.
2. To promote the Effective Schools Process in all the schools in Rockcastle County.
3. To develop an updated District Facility Plan which will comply with KERA regulations and ensure a sound strategic building plan for future years.
4. To continue efforts to promote higher attendance and improved academic performance.
5. To promote effective staff development at the district and individual school levels.
6. To promote a spirit of optimism and cooperativeness in our schools which establishes high expectations for all staff and students.
7. To inform and involve the public in all efforts to improve schools.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Rockcastle County Schools is to develop students who have the knowledge and basic life skills to lead productive, fulfilling lives; therefore, we must create a positive, educational environment which requires a well-defined curriculum, appropriate facilities, and a total commitment from school personnel, students, parents, and community.

Destination Graduation at Eastern Kentucky University is currently recruiting outstanding Rockcastle County EKV sophomores, juniors, and seniors to serve as tutors at Rockcastle County High School during the 1991-1992 academic year. Pictured here are the Rockcastle County High School counselors and teachers who have been instrumental in implementing the Destination Graduation tutoring program at Rockcastle County High School for the past three years. (Left to right - teachers: Orl Prater and Chris Cornelius; counselor, Dale Whitaker, teachers: Nancy Bassell, Ed Peterson, Judy Thors, Bill Lynch, John Wells, Eric Young, Joy Cooke, Nancy Mullins, Ruth Allen, Patti Reece, and Janet Wells, counselor, Betty Conley.

Destination Graduation begins this fall

This fall, the Rockcastle County School System and Eastern Kentucky University will continue a partnership tutoring program for at-risk high school students which has as its objective, early intervention with potential dropouts in Rockcastle County. This program, Destination Graduation, allows Eastern Kentucky University to recruit EKV students who are natives of Rockcastle County and pay them to serve as tutors in the program. The Destination Graduation tutoring program begins this fall, its fourth year in partnership with the Rockcastle County School System.

The Destination Graduation program provides tutorial assistance primarily to at-risk ninth and tenth grade students to build academic skills in math, language arts, and study skills. The tutorial assistance is provided by Rockcastle County Eastern Kentucky University students of sophomore standing or higher with a GPA of 2.5 or higher recruited to tutor in their native county.

The tutors also serve as role models to the Rockcastle County high school students, whom they tutor, as examples of Rockcastle County natives who have graduated from high school and who are successfully attending college. The tutors work with the students one hour a week for twelve weeks during the fall and spring semesters. For their tutorial assistance, the EKV student tutors are paid $5 an hour per student.

Training for the tutors is provided at the beginning of the semester with follow-up monthly training and field mornings during the fall and spring semesters in Richmond at Arlington House or at EKV Powell Student Center. Tutors are paid $5 an hour for all training seminars. Tutor training is conducted by the Destination Graduation Director, Nancy Thames, along with other EKV College of Education faculty.

Tutor training focuses on the following topics: Steps to successful tutoring; Communication and listening skills; Characteristics of at-risk students; Building self-esteem; Increasing study skills; Developing tutoring skills through group discussion and role playing; Assessing student achievement; and Counseling do's and don'ts.

"Tutoring at-risk high school students in the Destination Graduation program is a rewarding experience for the outstanding EKV students selected to work in the Destination Graduation tutoring program. Working as a tutor in the Destination Graduation tutoring program requires total commitment of the tutors to both their tutees and to the Destination Graduation tutoring program and its objectives.

The objectives of the Destination Graduation program are to provide basic skills and study skills, to increase understanding of specific subjects; To increase opportunities for post-secondary enrollment; and To increase prospects of employment.

As the Rockcastle County EKV students apply for positions as a paid tutor in the Destination Graduation tutoring program, they are asked to consider the following: (1) Am I committed to serving as a role model to ninth and tenth grade at-risk students in my behavior, in my appearance, and in my dedication to the objectives of the Destination Graduation tutoring program? (2) Am I committed to assisting these at-risk students in their math and/or English studies to the best of my abilities? (3) Will I assist students in both subjects or the subject in which the tutor feels most skilled? (3) Am I committed to confidentiality should the students with whom I am working experience problems? (4) Am I committed to participating in all tutor training sessions? (5) Am I committed to working in the Destination Graduation tutoring program for the entire academic year, Destination Graduation tutoring program for the entire academic year, October, 1991 - May, 1992? (6) Am I committed to participating in tutoring, weekend and activities twice during the academic year? (Activities fee to tutors, students, and chaperons tentatively planned: (a) Attendance at an EKV football game in November, (b) Attendance at an EKV basketball game preceded by a visit to EKV's plant and dinner in the EKV Grill.)

National reform reports have recommended partnerships between institutions of higher education and public schools. The coordinated efforts of Rockcastle County and Eastern Kentucky University's Project Destination Graduation to provide tutoring for at-risk high school students is an example of such a partnership.

The Rockcastle County/Destination Graduation tutoring program directly supports the Kentucky Education Reform Act, Section 27, which advocates that continuing education be provided for those students identified as needing additional time to achieve the outcomes required by Section 34 KERA '90. In an address to members of the Council on Higher Education Destination Graduation administrators and coordinators, State Representative Harry Moberly, praised the Rockcastle County/Destination Graduation partnership as a model for the KERA '90 mandate in providing continuing education for at-risk students.

Destination Graduation is funded through the Council on Higher Education to serve at-risk high school students in the Fifth and Seventh Congressional Districts with monies provided by the HillSmith Foundation, the Federal School, College, and University Partnership Program, and the Kentucky State Legislature.

Rockcastle County EKV students who are sophomores, juniors, or seniors with a GPA of 2.5 or higher, who are currently being recruited by Destination Graduation at EKV, should mail application materials by September 23 to: Mrs. Nancy Thames, College of Education, Combs Classroom 424, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, KY 40475-3111.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: Ginny Gilpatrick, Rockcastle Teen Center.

Fashion is the latest passion at the Teen Center. Several girls have started making dresses or shorts on Monday afternoon when there is a solid three hours to concentrate on projects. Help and instruction is given at all levels. Selection of appropriate fabric, cutting from patterns, use of the sewing machine, and proper finishing of garments.

Thursday, it is T-shirts and jewelry. This week teens will learn to applique buttons and their own designs and outline them in gold or other decorative colors. Teens must bring their own plain T-shirts, new or used. Upcoming projects for Thursday crafts, usually with Jenny and Theresa Robinson, will include leather and wood work. Some tools and probably a kiln will be loaned for use. Needle for these and other crafts which are more appealing to most boys.

Becoming proficient hand work skills provides added alternatives for leisure time. It also extends one's ability to concentrate and problem solve. Confidence increases with each finished project. Cost savings is an added bonus; one girl is making a jumper which retails for $25 or $30, for just $5 (plus the pattern which is being shared).

Sally-hall tournaments will be held on Wednesday evenings from about 5 to 7:30. This program is open to anyone in the community over the age of twelve. The idea for the tournament came from one of the older teens who would like to see adults especially parents, coming into the Center more often. CAP encourages adult interaction with youth as a way of generations staying in touch with one another. It is a great way to get to know one another that doesn't end at twenty-one.

Volleyball for all at the Teen Center

Beginning Sept. 18, a fun-for-all ages volleyball tournament will be held at the Teen Center on Wednesday evenings. The first games will start at around 5 p.m., but those who cannot get there until later will be incorporated into teams that will play until about 7:30.

The idea, spearheaded by teen helper, Andy Pigg, is intended to provide evening activity that will bring the community together during the beautiful, bathing hours of early fall. Teens are definitely encouraged to bring their parents, but other adults and teens in the community are more than welcome.

Prizes will be awarded nightly and at the final games in late October. For winning teams and for individuals who come on the most consistent basis. The only requirement for participation is enjoyment of the game.
