Because of less jobs
Mayor says Renfro owes $117,740

By Ray McClure

Renfro Valley Folks got another jolt from the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night when Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the council unless some arrangement is reached on Renfro employment hiring Renfro Folks will owe the city $117,740.

Mayor Cromer said when the new sewer system was installed through Renfro Valley, Renfro Folks agreed to create 212 jobs for low to moderate income residents. On that basis the city applied for and received a $312,000 grant to help toward installing the system.

The mayor said Renfro created only 154 jobs according to a Sept. 13 state audit, or 58 jobs less than the official contract with the city calls for.

The state estimated each job is worth $2,030. So, the 58 jobs would total $117,740 that the state wants returned to the Kentucky Department of Local Government, unless the city agrees for the state to write off the $312,000. The mayor said he did not believe the city should do that.

"Renfro is short on the jobs they promised and that's an injustice to the City of Mt. Vernon," the mayor said. "They (Renfro) want you to give, give, give, but don't want to give anything in return."

The mayor told the council the state had written the city two times about the job shortage, so something has to be done.

The council voted to contact Renfro Folks by letter informing the company it is in violation of the contract with the city and asked for a reply by Nov. 25.

The mayor said he did not know if Renfro knows about the violation, but presumed they did. "If they don't, they do now," he added.

The mayor said he would like to clarify a point in relation to the amusement tax Renfro Folks has questioned: A three percent tax on tickets at Renfro was imposed by the city, but Renfro has never complied.

"I want everyone to understand the tax on tickets is passed on to the customer by Renfro and costs Renfro

Over 200 acres burned in county during recent forest fires, Stone says

By: Ray McClure

Forest fires, probably carelessly set, burned over 200 acres of Rockcastle forest during the past few weeks, according to Marvin Stone, Rockcastle Forest Ranger.

No fires were burning in the county Monday after a shower and cold temperatures settled over the area.

It's been cold!!

Everyone has been talking about how cold it is. They're right.

Temperature Tuesday morning dipped to 12 degrees, probably, the coldest Nov. 5 on record.

There were even a few snow flurries Monday when a few dark clouds drifted over the area. The first snow in the fall of 1991.

The 12 degrees Tuesday probably bottomed out the cold for a few days. Nov. 1 it was 56, Nov. 2 it was 36; Nov. 3 it was 24 Nov. 4 it was 16 and Tuesday the low 12.

The flurries were the only precipitation recorded this month.

Some residents had a lower Tuesday temperature. Lowest reported was 9 degrees.

Incidentally, the total rainfall in October measured 2.20 inches, according to figures at Cox Funeral Home.

But Ranger Stone said fires are not over and could breakout at any time. He said since Oct. 17, a total of 12 fires have been reported and extinguished.

"I would like to thank 20 Berea College students for helping me with the fires," Stone said. "Also, men from Richmond and Berea fire departments as well as nine men from Rockcastle also helped."

Stone said he had not learned the number of fires in the Daniel Boone National Forest in Rockcastle.

Biggest fire in the county was 65 acres near Fort Sequoyah on Oct. 30 and Nov. 1. In the Sand Hill area and along I-75 about 35 acres burned endangering property - houses and barns. There were three fires at Mullins Station and in Boone Hollow, and 14 acres near Fairview Church. There was a 16 acre fire at Climax and a 10 acre fire on Cove Branch. All the fires were on private land. There was also a fire in the Broadhead area extinguished by the Broadhead firemen.

Stone reminded residents no hunting and burning of any kind is allowed in Rockcastle and Kentucky woodlands by order of Gov. Wallace Wilkinson. Police and sheriff deputized.

Police said no charges were filed. They reported the car ran off the left side of the Gene Snyder Freeway and struck the guardrail before splitting apart.

Nothing new on election day
Rockcastle goes for Hopkins, but Jones wins state

All three cities in the county had councilmen to elect, and there were no real surprises.

In Mt. Vernon, Lee Keene, Rockcastle Hospital Administrator, won in a write-in with 58 votes. He was the only person who voiced his intention to be a candidate. Wayne Gregory got 30 write-ins and Lloyd King 5.

All incumbent council members won including, Clark "Joe" Mullins 217; Bobby Bailey 187; Lou Vanhousse 166; Clarice Kirby 153, and Bessie King 128.

In Brodhead, three incumbents and one new comer were on the ballot, the vote was D.A. Robbins Jr., Johnny Wilcox 82; C.B. Owens Jr., 79 and newcomer Ricky Vanant 58. There was one write-in for Ruth Buscell and two for Ricky Kirby.

At Livingston only one council candidate was on the ballot. Incumbent Todd Mink got 28 votes.

Three write-ins were to be chosen. The apparent winners are Margaret Burdine 14, Sue McClure 13 and Verdell M. Sullivan 4.

Gov. Elect Brereton Jones

Councilman Lee Keene

Unlike majority of state, Hopkins carries county

As expected Republican gubernatorial candidate Larry Hopkins carried Rockcastle in Tuesday's election, but not by much.

Hopkins got 1375 votes to Democrat Brereton Jones' 1242, a majority of 133 votes.

Rockcastle was only one of 4 counties in the 5th District to give Hopkins a majority. Others were Jackson, Owsley and Laurel.

In Rockcastle where there are 6,227 Republican voters $252 did not vote. There are 1653 Democrat voters, 411 did not vote, or some Republican joined the Jones' camp. A total of 2790 voted or 33 percent.

Jones carried four Rockcastle precincts - East Mt. Vernon, Orlando, Brown and West Broadhead.

In East Mt. Vernon it was Jones 913 to 911; Orlando, Jones 59; Hopkins 44; Brown, Jones 159; Hopkins 118; West Broadhead, Jones 165 to Hopkins

137. One other county with an incumbent, Coswell, Leonard P. Miller was unopposed. Jones 259 votes.

Circuit Judge Daniel J. Venter also was unopposed. He got 581 votes.

In the county's gubernatorial race there were some close precincts that Hopkins narrowly won.

South Mt. Vernon, 88 to 86; Roundstone, 110-100; East Livingston 65-58.

There were a lot of reasons expressed Tuesday night at the courthouse where the county votes were tallied. But only about 25 persons turned out. Usually there are over a hundred.

Most agreed the Hopkins-Forgy primary campaign was a major factor. Rockcastle voted for Larry Forgy.

Jones elected governor

The polls said so and the man on the street said so, and it was so. Democrat Brereton Jones is the governor-elect of Kentucky.

At press time the Jones vote stood at an amazing $20,000. His opponent Republican Larry Hopkins had about 280,000, or a nearly 2 to 1 majority.

Also winning handily was Democrat Paul Patton who is the lieutenant governor-elect. Patton had 490,000 and Gene Goss 238,000.

All tallies are unofficial. It was a Democrat day everywhere, even in the heavily Republican 5th District, Democrat Jones had the majority.

Hopkins won only Rockcastle, Jackson, Laurel and Owsley in the 5th District.

In all other state races Democrats had piled up large majorities.

Percentage figures showed Jones with about 65 percent to Hopkins' 35 percent, about the figures shown in the Courier-Journal Poll.

On the Republican side, Tom Handy, Attorney General candidate was the major vote getter.

Although Chris Gorman won about 450,000 to Handy's 280,000. Handy's percentage was 38, perhaps putting him in a good position for some future state race.

Many voters said Hopkins poor showing was the result of his close race with Larry Forgy in the May Primary. Forgy carried the Republican 5th District and Forgy voters apparently stayed at home or voted for Jones.

Hopkins concession speech was conciliatory. He asked his followers to support Jones for the good of Kentucky.

Hopkins future is now unsure. He'll likely have several candidates to oppose him for his Congressional seat, State Auditor and Secretary of State-elect, Bob Barabage and Lexington Mayor Scotty Baesler have both been mentioned.

Incidentally, Jones carried Fayette County, Hopkins home.

The Big Paul Patton vote also was a harbinger of things to come. He, the highest ranking state office holder from Eastern Kentucky in 28 years, Patton will probably be a Democratic candidate for governor in the next election.

Members of the Mt. Vernon Fire Department assisted Rockcastle Co. Ambulance Service employees with loading Gary Wayne Miller onto the St. Joseph Hospital helicopter Sunday.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: John Wylie

A date has been set for Jackson County teens to visit the Rockcastle Teen Center on November 23. They are coming to meet our teens and use the center, however they are also hoping to get ideas to use in their own county. Our visit with them is part of a collaboration between our CAP Teen Services Project and Students for Appalachia from Berea College. SFA has provided volunteers under the coordination of Dave Crowley to organize and sponsor teenagers in Jackson County in service projects, fellowship and recreation, and development of local teen services in Jackson County.

Our CAP Teen Services Project is called Project Turning Point. Within this project both the Rockcastle Teen Center and the Garrard Teen Center are provided. In addition to the teen centers and the collaboration with SFA in Jackson County, we are also helping to plan the development of an inter-generational center in Liberty, work for the development of teen services in Lincoln County and will soon be providing STEP classes for parents in Madison County and helping to develop teen services through interagency collaboration there.

It is exciting to be the part of the development of services for teens all over the area. Rockcastle Teen Center is a very important part of our project and local support for RTC is helping us provide other services in neighboring counties more effectively.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In I Cor. 9:25, Paul said, "And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown but we an incorruptible."
In II Tim. 4:8 Paul said, "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only but unto all them also that love his appearing." James in Ch. 1:12 said, "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."
In Rev. 2:10 we read, "be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." Let's make some observations about these verses that deal with the "crown" the Lord has promised.
First, this crown is incorruptible, and will never fade away. It is a crown of life and of righteousness. It is the reward of eternal life in heaven which is provided by God's grace and mercy. Just think living forever and ever, without sorrow, pain, sickness, sin or death; but to live in a perfect habitat of righteousness. Wouldn't you want to have this? You can, if you'd be willing to obey God.
Notice some of the things we must do to receive this crown of life. We must strive for the mastery, (competes in the games NAS) i.e. the "game of life" for us and to temperate in all things. We must love the Lord and his appearing; remember Jesus said, "If you love me, keep my commandments" Jn. 14:15. We must be tried and tested, and endure the temptations and be faithful unto death. In fact, Rev. 3:11 says that we can lose our crown. "Behold, I come quickly hold fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown." Thus, the once saved always saved doctrine is not true.
The crown of life will be given to every faithful child of God, at the day of the Lord. And when God makes a promise, we can rest assured that he will carry it through! We do not receive the crown of life immediately after we die as some think, but we must await the 2nd Coming of Jesus when all will be raised from the dead. In 5:28-29, and the righteous are taken to be even to enjoy eternal life. Let us know if we can discuss further with you about these matters.

On Oct. 28, Sgt. Don Burke from the Richmond Army Post spoke to Ms. Powell's foreign language classes on the importance of learning a foreign language in high school and continuing that study in college. He stressed the relevance of communicating in another language on the job market and its accompanying monetary incentive. He also spoke to Ms. Minor's Spanish classes as well as to Ms. Ruth Allen's German classes. The students and teachers enjoyed his visit.

Some students at Rockcastle County High School were very busy during the month of October writing essays, reports, poetry and drawing graphics for the "Think Global, Act Local" energy awareness contest. The contest was a collaboration of ideas from Mrs. Cooke, Callie Mullins and the teachers involved in the writing grant called "Writing Across the Disciplines." Mrs. Joy Cooke and Callie Mullins attended several workshops this summer and this October concerning SWAT Jr., a student-led audit training where students learn to "energize" their school. There was a rally during 6th period on November 1 to present winners with their cash prizes donated by the Rockcastle County Clean-Up committee. Front row: John Holbrook, special speaker for the energy awareness day rally; Mrs. Joy Cooke, environmentally conscious math teacher; Calvin Mize, chairman of the Rockcastle County Clean-Up Committee. Second row: Ronné Reppert, 1st place graphics winner; James Hines, 3rd place writing winner (essay); Fomina Wallin, 5th place writing winner (poetry); Kelly Cromer, participant. Third row: Stacy Thacker, 2nd place writing winner (essay) and 1st place poetry winner. Not pictured: 2nd place graphics winner, Melinda Smith and 4th place poetry winner, Liz Allen.

Each girl received a royal troop patch free from the Girl Scouts.

Sixth Graders
Sixth graders in both of Ms. Bales' classes have begun computer classes. It took some time to work out a schedule, but the wait was worthwhile. We have worked only on math thus far, but plan to try science and social studies soon. The best part is that there are enough computers for each student to work alone. We'd like to go every day!

Ms. Bales' homeroom is still working on perfect attendance. We have the best record in the county for this year. No one in our class has missed yet! We have 53 days perfect attendance. We are trying to top last year's class record of 59 days. We want to collect the reward Mr. Hale promised to the group that passed the 59 day mark.

On October 25, Ms. Bales' homeroom traveled to Sue Bennett College in London. We saw a play called "Dracula." The scenery and costumes were outstanding. After the play, we ate at McDonald's before returning to school. Everyone had a great time!

Mrs. Sue Ford

Mrs. Sue Ford's level three primary students at Mt. Vernon Elementary are using a new instructional system. This system is called Teaching and Learning with computers (T.L.C.). This program integrates curriculum and computer software.

T.L.C. fosters a learning center approach. Students move in groups from station to station while the teacher conducts small group instruction. The T.L.C. stations are set up to guide students through the various stages of reading and writing. As students move from one station to another, they complete the stages of both the reading and writing processes.

T.L.C. helps to achieve the following educational goals: enhanced vocabulary development, increased comprehension, improved writing skills and enhanced listening and speaking skills.

In addition to achieving these goals, students benefit in other ways.

They increase their knowledge of associated subjects such as science and social studies. By using computers and computer technology, students become more computer literate. Students also develop self-management skills by becoming more responsible for their own learning.

The biggest plus for this instructional program seems to be that children enjoy doing it, and therefore are learning and having fun at the same time.

Tuesday, Oct. 29, was a special day for LES. We were privileged to see the Pirates of Penzance, a musical presented by the RCHS Chorus. This program helped us to envision what life as a pirate may have been. Thank you Mrs. Ward, Mr. Pensol and the chorus for a great program.

Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Martin are planning a schoolwide celebration for National Children's Book Week Nov. 11-17. The theme for this year is "The World Is An Open Book." Each day of the week we will have a different theme.

Mon., Nov. 11 - No school
Tues., Nov. 12 - Hats Off to Reading (everyone wears his craziest hat)
Wed., Nov. 13 - Get Mixed Up in a Good Book (Everyone wears mismatched clothes and shoes.)

Thurs., Nov. 14 - Sock It to Me With a Good Book (Everyone wears his wildest socks)

Fri., Nov. 15 - Sweet It Out With a Good Book (Everyone wears a sweat suit)

LES will spend the last 30 minutes of each day doing (DEAR) "Drop Everything and Read."

We are excited about the activities planned for this very special week at our school.

First graders have brainstormed together and filled their classroom with chart pages displaying chosen words. The past two weeks we have been filling the charts with words that rhyme with the writing to Read Cycle Words. Miss A, Miss E, and Miss I each have a page of words that contain their sounds.

Chicken Pox has caused many first graders to miss school. Everyone was well by Halloween. We enjoyed the Haunted House in the gym and all the good candy and cupcakes sent by parents.

Eversole's 4th Grade News student, Monica Cox to our class! We would also like to congratulate the three 4-H members from our class for representing us in the 4-H Talk Contest! Robert Clark's speech, Last: One School, touched all our hearts! Chrystal Hampton's speech, Ancient Civilizations, and Christina Mahaffey's speech, Animal Care.

Mrs. Jerri Smith's multi-age social studies group is learning about different communities, with an emphasis on "Mt. Vernon." Sharing books about community workers is a way of understanding what part each person has in making our community work better.

We have a new program for Writing and Reading in the Primary grades. It is success in Writing and Reading. The students think of words with specific letters each day. For exam.: "id" makes 2 sounds - i and d. Once the students recognize these letters make more than one sound, they will be able to better recognize these words when reading. Each student thinks of a word to list on chart paper. Then we use them in sentences.

The way I have it figured, I should get at least two more columns out of moving. Because the story is getting better as it goes along.

If you keep up with this column you know that snakes have been a rather hard-to-deal-with pest for us in the current residence. When the first rat snake crawled up out of a stove burner this fall, Loretta began house hunting. I didn't take her seriously because this makes three years in a row that she's thrown the same fit. My problem this year is that she has found and rented another house.

If you read last week, you know that we're moving. Between now and next week most of my brothers and their families from Leitch County and a host of other friends from the mountains will converge on Garrard County and relocate us.

Just so Loretta can have electric heat and get away from snakes.

So all this week we've been cleaning carpets, washing windows and stuff like that at the new house. Getting ready to move in. Loretta finds this little nook where we can get into the attic and guess what was the first thing my eyes fell on.

Snake skins. Not souvenirs from Viet Nam, but freshly shedded snake skins somewhere around five feet long. Two of them at that. Mama snake and papa snake, I presume.

And I thought to myself that I should hurry to the nearest phone and call Brent Moore, our land lord for the last three years, tell him that we weren't leaving after all. The snakes we have encountered at the old place haven't been much larger than healthy night crawlers. The sheds at the new place came off critters bigger than mud hounds.

But Loretta never bated an eye. "You better go get some moth balls," she informed me. "They work in Brent's house so they ought to work here."

Now we're talking about a yoman who has spent most of her time over the last three months packing a garden hose around the house looking for snakes and crying at night because she's afraid one will get in bed with her. Little old bitty snakes at that. We discover obvious signs of much much larger snakes at the new place and she's as nonchalant as she might be over a house fly.

"Break out the moth balls. Everything's gonna be all right." The moth balls did work in Brent's house. We have, in fact, seen only one snake inside the place since I spread them around, and it acted awfully sick. Loretta killed it and apparently it didn't put up a fight and that's the source of her new found bravery.

Her only comment about the skins in the attic was, "don't tell the kids." So we meander downstairs where they're fighting over where the Nintendo is going to be located and we are marveling at the number of wasps, hornets, flies and other insects that are lying dead on the floors. I had set off six or eight of those "open 'em up and run like hell" bug bombs the day before and they seemed to have done the trick until one of the kids mentioned that a spider was still above in the corner.

Sure enough, dangling from a web attached to the ceiling a black spider was weaving to beat the dickens. Loretta took a closer look. "My God it's a black widow!!!" she screamed. "Come here."

So I go over in about the same kind of hurry I was when she beckoned me to come and kill the 50th deadly cow sucker. Sure enough, though, the spider was the same color as fresh road tar and had this little round ball for a rear end. Instead of sweating, I tapped it with some Raid and it rolled over. There was a red, hour-glass shaped mark on it's underside as plain as the nose on your face.

It was in fact, a black widow. A textbook example of a black widow. The picture in the encyclopedia could have been taken of this very spider. And I inform the family that there's probably fifteen million more under the floor.

"What happens if one bites you?" Chris wants to know and I describe a slow painful death.

"By the time you take your last breath, your carcass is the same color as the spider," I tell him.

"You'd better spray under the floor then," Jennifer tells me. "Cause we have to start moving next week."

No panic. Not a hint of arachnophobia among this family who has previously run screaming in all directions at the sight of a harmless little brown house spider.

This time I'm the one who is scared. Black widows are serious business. Loretta went out and bought a quart of Diazotan and told me to wet the place down and then she went right back to cleaning.

She told the kids that I put the snake sheds in the attic myself just to scare the rest of them out of moving and she knows well that I did no such thing.

So the new set of fumes you may see rising in the distance coming from Paint Lick and Lancaster are, again, nothing to fear. The strange, sulphuric odor you may encounter near the 12 mile marker should be of no concern. It's only moth balls. Ten pounds of moth balls at that. I figure that if they'll work on snakes they ought to have some sort of negative effect on black widows too.

And that's what we're moving into, one of us much more reluctantly than the others. But come and see us anyway. By golly, we do have electric heat.

Sweet and Sour

Communities of Yesterdays
By: ZI Graves

When we moved to Rockcastle County back in 1937 things were quite different from what they are today. In the first place there were no roads fit for a car to drive on in the whole area. There were only wagon roads and paths through the woods. These were scenic paths winding over the hills and valleys, through cornfields and woodland and often along creek beds. No one seemed to mind it though for that was the accepted way of going where one wanted to go. Walking to the store, church or grist mill was all in the days work. The country store was used for supplies was a couple of miles away, the grist mill about three miles and the church about two and a half miles. The school that our children would later attend was close to the church.

Our first project upon arriving was to begin work on a road so our truck could get in and out. This was a major undertaking and took better than thirty years to complete.

There was one church in the area and everyone who attended either walked or rode a horse or mule. When a revival was in progress, that was when most of the people attended, who rode the animals, one could hear the restlessness of the animals tuck outside as they stomped and neighed to each other. But mostly everyone walked, arriving early and getting back home late. The whole family would attend for a revival was one of the social events of the area as well as the place where one worshipped. I am sure many of us went for the social part more than for the sermons we heard. Yet there are memories of good preaching and singing and I am also sure people found God in those little country churches as loving and forgiving as they do in the big city churches of today. God was made more real by the preacher, who preached about hellfire and brimstone being the punishment for those not giving up their wicked ways and the glories of heaven expounded for those who did.

After the service was over slumbering and fretful kids were gathered up from the benches by their parents while the teenagers took off ahead with someone who had caught their eye and probably their heart. This was the real time for socializing and everyone would be chatting at once. The invitation of, "go home with us and stay the night" was often heard and often the invitation would be taken seriously and a family would do just that.

The fun was of these spontaneous sleep-ins can never be duplicated by plans laid months in advance for a vacation. Upon arriving at the neighbor's home, children would be put to bed crosswise so several could sleep in the same bed. Pallets would be made down on the floor for others. Pallets were the forerunners of the modern day sleeping bag.

If a kid said he or she was hungry he was given a cup of milk and bread. If the grown-ups decided they wanted something to eat they raided the warming closet, an attachment over the cook stove that kept food warm and edible for hours and was much better than the food chilled by the refrigerator that is used for leftovers today. Food taken from the warming closet didn't have the warmed over taste that accompanies refrigerated food.

After the stomach had been satisfied and the sermon they had heard gone over and all the neighbors talked about, beds were finally sought by those still awake and multiple snores were added to the night sounds. There were other gatherings of interest in the area that no longer take place.

Is there anyone left who remembers the pie suppers held to raise funds for the benefit of the schools? Taxes weren't raised to buy new books or play equipment or to fix up the old run down school house. In its stead a pie supper would be planned and every female was asked to bake a pie to be auctioned the night it took place. A good auctioneer could bring in a pile of money for people would come from miles around to join in the revelry. Husbands usually bought the pie their wife had taken and many a young swain gladly gave up his whole week's paycheck for the pie his special girl had baked so he, not another young fellow could eat it with her. This was a time of friendly rivalry and rivalry. To the prettiest girl and ugliest man contest was always a sure money maker. To prove the girl of one's choice was awarded the honor of being the prettiest girl bank books would be brought out and a life's saving could be threatened. It seemed no one wanted a daughter or sister or sweetheart to be the loser. But someone always had to lose and really there was no disgrace attached to it. For months after such a contest there would be talk of "well I did all I could and I know my choice was the prettiest girl there but I run out of money."

Then there was the cake walk that always brought in its share of money and ended the evening on a happy note. Ruffled feelings over the pretty girl contest would be soothed by the joining of hands to form a circle that

The classes of Mrs. Katreka Cash and Mrs. Kathy Reynolds have successfully completed the Pizza Hut Book-It program. They will be having a Pizza Party soon. 4-H Speech representatives in these two fourth grade classes were: Susan Brown, Kassie Tucker, Angela Owens, Matthew Hayes and Cassandra Falin.

The students in Ms. Tammy Napier's Resource Room made their first visit to Sowder Nursing Home to meet their adopted "grandparents." Anthony Martin and his "grandmother" Mrs. Myrtle Tucker had an immediate rapport. Mrs. Tucker, described as reluctant to accept a newcomer, took Anthony by the hand and led him to the piano where she played "Buttons and Bows" without missing a note. The students have made plans to bring their "Grandparents" to school activities and they will eat a meal at school with the students. Following are the students and residents that are participating: Sherry Pugh-Saah Bowman; Rodney Ellison - Maudi Owens and Beulah Renner; Kenneth Evans - Lina Tredeley; Clyde Hasty - Zella Stencel; Dewanna Simpson - Betty Atwood; Jerry McFerron - Eugenia Skidmore; Ms. Napier - Betty Carpenter.

Mrs. Caroline Graves and Mrs. Pamela Marin, along with PTA are planning a musical/dinner extravaganza. The production will feature drama, choreography and singing. Details will be forthcoming and we are looking forward to this event.

The primary classes of Mrs. Lillie Parson, Mrs. Duina Thompson, Mrs. Sharon Ponder, Mrs. Jeannine Parsons, Mrs. Lena Hayes and Mrs. Jennifer Adkison have not been completely involved in the Non-graded program. Next week these classes will begin a phasing-in stage for one hour a day, which will increase throughout the year. The "yods" are brainstorming for an acronym to represent their groups.

We would like to thank Mrs. Johnna Ward and members of the RCHS Chorus for the outstanding performance of "Primes of Penzance." Our second six-week grading period ends Thursday, November 7, and report cards will be coming home the following Thursday, Nov. 14. Since we are well into the school

First associational Brotherhood meeting

The first associational Brotherhood meeting of the new church year is Thursday, Nov. 7, at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. This meeting is for men, young men, and boys from all of the Rockcastle Baptist Associational churches, especially if your church is not now having Royal Ambassador, High School Baptist Young Men, or Bapyear, if your child is experiencing difficulty, please contact the school for a conference with your child's teachers. Also, when your children are successful - tell them how proud you are and if a teacher is doing something that you like - tell them. We all appreciate an encouraging word and the school appreciates supportive parents, of which we feel we have many.

STATIC, the primary block of Mrs. Kathy Dychoose, Mrs. Jelitta Bradshaw and Mrs. Margie Bishop, went to the polls, Tuesday, Nov. 5, Election Day. North Brodhead is Mrs. Bradshaw's voting precinct and the students watched her vote. In Language Arts, the students wrote about the job of Governor and talked about the reasons that they themselves are unable to vote. The students had a mock election and made winner predictions which correlates with Math.

The fifth grade classes of Mrs. Judy Doyle and Mrs. Orna Owens have made plans to attend a performance of "The Nutcracker" at Eastern Kentucky University by the Lexington Ballet, Dec. 4.

The Academic team, BEAST, will travel to Whitley Co. Tuesday evening, Nov. 12. We wish you luck, Tigers!

The monthly meeting of PTA is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 14. The students of Mrs. Lillie Parson, Mrs. Jeannine Parsons, and Mrs. Jennifer Adkison will perform a short skit entitled, The Second Thanksgiving. Please attend and show your support. If you have not joined PTA, the cost is $3. You may send the dues to school by your child.

Jim Ward, our junior High Science teacher is really applying his "hands-on" in science skills of which he received training prior to the beginning of this school year. The 8th grade classes are forming crystals from minerals. The 7th grade classes have grown bacteria cultures and paramonium in pond water. Using microscopes to view their projects have shown that they have been successful. This week the classes are dissecting mushrooms, defining the parts and determining their edibility.

Extended School Services began Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 5 with many teachers and students participating. If you have inquiries regarding this program, call 758-8312.

Remember - There is no school Monday, November 11. This day will be used for staff development.

Little League baseball board debating grant application

By: Laura Mize

Application deadlines for a possible $40,000 grant are fast approaching as the Rockcastle County Little League Baseball Board decides whether or not to apply.

A meeting was held on Tuesday, at which approximately 50 parents, league board members, and coaches participated in a discussion concerning the grant and how it should be used if it is obtained.

According to the league, the teams do not have ample space, therefore the grant could be used to construct a new field that has enough surrounding land for building other fields in the future. The problem in building a new field is where to build it, and the cost of buying enough land in addition to the price of lights, fences, etc.

Throughout the discussion, the issue arose as to whether the funds should be used to build just a field, or to construct a full sized park or recreation area. Although the park concept accommodates many different sports and recreations, the grant amount is insufficient to make such construction possible.

The grant, through the Cumberland Valley Regional Development and the ACS office, is available for up to $40,000. The spokesmen from both the development and ACS offices discouraged applying for the full amount. The amount most obtainable is an estimated 10 thousand dollars, which then must be matched by the league.

Since the grant must be applied for through either the city or the county, Jack Chaliff, Little League Baseball President, urged everyone to attend the upcoming fiscal court meeting, which was held on Wednesday. He stated that with a large amount of supporters, the county may realize how many people the grant would affect.

Chaliff explained that in a previous meeting with the county judge executive, he learned that no extra funds are available from the county. He implied that the judge was unresponsive to him and felt that if many attended the meeting, the results would be great. One member of the board stated that if the county is "building a new court house annex, they could come up with some money for a new ball field."

The objective for attending organization was formed to collect, preserve and show case Kentucky's musical heritage.

Westbrook explained the museum's main objectives will be: To collect and preserve old music, written and unwritten, musical instruments and other artifacts important to Kentucky's music heritage;

To maintain archival records for the benefit of scholars, school children and country music fans, who are interested in learning about Kentucky's music heritage;

To stimulate respect for and continued interest in Kentucky's contribution to American music;

To honor the contributions of Kentuckians to music in America;

To encourage artists young and old to perform, write and/or study Kentucky music;

To inform visitors to Kentucky about the important role Kentucky has played and continues to play in our nation's musical heritage.

The building of approximately 19,000 square feet will contain exhibits tracing Kentucky's music from its roots to the present. Other features will include a small auditorium for audio/visual displays, a replicated recording studio, and a Hall of Honor. The Hall of Honor will feature Kentuckians who have had a major impact on country music.

The council agreed to set aside $3,000 for 10 years as a contribution to the museum.

The money will come from the $10,000 that is to be returned annually to the city from a loan to the Days Inn project at the I-75 interchange at Renfro Valley.

The council was told the Christian Appalachian Project plans to hook on to the Renfro sewer with work estimated to begin in about a month. CAP will foot the bill on all construction.

October activity for the Mt. Vernon police and fire departments include: Complaints, 216; traffic accidents, 7; arrests, 16; motorist assists, 6; transition reports, 4; cases opened, 8; citations, 21; DUI, 1; arrests, 9; Mt. Vernon fire department runs, 20; Livingston fire department runs, 3.

Wednesday's fiscal court meeting was to encourage the court members to attend the next little league meeting. When posed the question, what if they don't come, Dr. John Parsons spoke up and said, "Then don't vote for them."

When questioned about the grant, Judge Mullins stated that his official policy is to make known the grants and money available and assist in any way to obtain those monies. The grant was made known to the Little League Board through a letter sent from the judge. Mullins also suggested that consideration be given to building a future field in the Livingstone area.

According to Mullins, when Chaliff and his group met with him previously, the judge stated that he supports the league and will help them obtain the grant when they decide where to locate the field.

The meeting adjourned with a vote to apply for a $10,000 grant to be used in renovating the existing field at Broadhead.

Chaliff reminded the group that the grants are given each year and the league will be eligible to apply again next year.

200 Acres Burned

ties are issuing summonses for burning.

The Forest Service has reported over 24,000 acres of forests were burned during the past weeks, with smoke covering most of the state and surrounding states.

Arsonists have been blamed for nearly all the fires in eastern Kentucky. Stone said he suspected fires in the county were set.

Surprisingly, some people don't see the seriousness of a forest fire — especially smaller fires that don't attract mass media attention.

They ought to, said Doug McLaren, Extension forester with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Since numerous forest fires in Boone forest and other areas have captured media attention, now is a good time to focus attention on the seriousness, he said. Damage can be severe even to those trees that survive.

Forest officials reported that about 2,200 acres of timber have been burned in Boone National Forest in just the past two weeks and more than 3,000 acres of private woodlands have burned.

An unsightly load of roofing and shingles were recently dumped on the Lovell Cemetery at Burr.

Lovell Cemetery getting hit hard by "trash vandals"

The problem with trash in the area is a constant battle, and as of late, the battle is getting tougher to combat for some Burr residents.

The Lovell Cemetery on old Highway 25, received an unwelcome load of roofing and shingles.

The caretakers have made great efforts to maintain the cemetery and keep it clean, however, the garbage is continually dumped in and around the cemetery.

Two names and addresses were obtained in the trash, one from Gray,

Kentucky, and the other from Rockcastle. The names were taken to Solid Waste Coordinator, Lillie Lawhorn, who then sent violation letters to the addresses stating that they have two options. They can either clean up the mess or contact the court house for further instructions. If the two neglect the letter by not calling or cleaning up the trash, they are then turned over to the Sheriff's office where further action takes place.

Folks nothing," the mayor stated, "Renfro is just the collector of the tax."

Glen Westbrook from Cumberland Valley Area Development District asked the council to help contribute to the construction of a Museum of Kentucky Music and Hall of Honor at Renfro Valley on land given by the John Lair family.

Westbrook said the $3,250,000 project is projected to be bid in March with construction beginning in April and with completion in 1993.

He said contributions now total $140,000 with several additional promises. He asked the council to pledge some money to the project so the board of directors could get at least $500,000 pledged in order to get a state grant of $2 million.

He explained the museum would be a boon for Renfro Valley and the area.

Westbrook said the non-profit would move to the rhythm of clapping hands or a guitar being played. A blindfolded person standing in the center of the circle would call stop after a few turns had been made and would gropingly reach out to touch someone and that one touched would be the winner of the cake baked especially for the occasion. These pie suppers were the highlight of school season and kept the expense of the local school in the control of the local people.

A barn raising was the time for all good neighbors to bring their saws and hammers and strong backs to the home of someone in need of a new barn. Usually this was after a fire had destroyed one but sometimes it was simply because someone needed a new barn.

This gave the men a chance to use their building talents, swap jokes and brag about all their accomplishments while helping a neighbor in need. Plans would be made ahead by one getting the new barn to have all the nails and lumber ready and the day would be set for it. On the day set the men would come early and measuring and sawing began. In our area Mat would usually do the measuring and particular sawing for its accuracy in measuring and sawing lumber so every joint would fit perfectly yds undisputed. As the framework would begin to rise the sound of hammers could be heard for a mile away. More ladders would be put together from bits and pieces of lumber as other men would arrive to help, by noon the skeleton of the barn was evident and the men slow to complaints of "I'm hungry, when do we eat."

By this time the women folk had prepared a meal fit for the finest restaurant in the land. The tables overflowing with food of every description as each woman contributed her specialty. If the men could build a barn in a day the women could surely do their part by cooking for it. These are a few of the memories I have of days gone by when communities were held together by work and play.

Rockets exterminate Yellow Jackets; take district title

By: Paige Bengé

Call it coaching, desire, ability, call it whatever you want too, but one thing is for certain, the Rockets are good, real good and Friday night they showed fans the difference between a good nine and one team and one that is just mediocre. The Rockets destroyed visiting Middlesboro 42-7 to take the district championship.

With the win, the Rockets are now ranked 20th in the state and fourth in 2A.

In what was expected to be a "dog-fight" - the Rockets made no "bones" early on about who the victor would be. The Rockets took the ball and scored on their first four possessions and then scored on a fumble recovery all before the end of the first half.

"I was in as much shock as everyone else about the outcome," head coach Tom Larkey said. "I felt we won because we played a really great football game. We were mentally prepared for the game, much more than Middlesboro. I think our kids wanted it more."

The biggest question of the night was if Larry Carter, president of the Quarterback Club, was going to have enough fireworks to last the night. Carter was setting off fireworks after every Rocket touchdown. Comments from the fans suggested that this was a very nice touch added by the club.

The Rockets started their first scoring drive from the Jackets' 20 and after good runs by Johnathon Saylor, J.D. Harris and William Bullens, Saylor scored from Middlesboro's 49 yard line with 7:52 left in the first quarter. Curtis Cotton's extra-point kick was good and the Rockets had an early seven point lead.

On their first drive, Middlesboro could only get four plays off before William Hellard sacked the Yellow Jackets quarterback and Cotton was there to recover the fumble on Middlesboro's 48 yard line. Again, Saylor, Bullens and Harris marched the Rockets down the field and Saylor scored the second Rocket touchdown from the four yard line. Cotton's kick was good and the Rockets had a 14 point lead with 1:38 left in the first quarter.

"Saylor and Harris did a great job offensively, our offensive line did a great job blocking," Larkey said. "I feel we have the best offensive back field anywhere," Larkey added.

The Rockets held Middlesboro on their next drive and Bullens was there to partially block the Yellow Jackets punt.

The Rockets took over on their own 43 yard line and 12 plays later Harris scored from the one yard line. Cotton's extra-point kick was good and the Rockets were leading 21-0.

The Rockets had what appeared to be their only mental error of the game next when they let Middlesboro score on the first play of their next drive on a 74 yard run. Middlesboro's extra-point kick was good and the Rockets lead was cut to 14 points.

Ironically, while the Rockets awesome defense held Middlesboro to only 99 yards rushing on the night, 74 of them came on this one play.

"William Hellard did a great job rushing the quarterback," defensive coach Tony Saylor said. "I thought we contained the quarterback very well."

The Rockets defense set a new record for the fewest points given up by a Rockets team in one season.

The Rockets showed just how good they are when they started their next scoring drive on their own nine yard line. Twelve plays later, Harris scored from the nine yard line. This drive featured runs by Harris, Saylor and Bullens, a pass from Scott Parkey to Harris and a pass from Parkey to Jason Kirby. Cotton's extra-point kick was good and the Rockets led 28-7 with 2:00 left in the second quarter.

William Hellard made a good hit on the kick-off returner and Gordon Sowder was there to recover the fumble and the Rockets took over on the Jacket's 32 yard line. Two plays later - Harris scored from the 27 yard line for the last touchdown of the half. Cotton's extra-point kick was good and the Rockets had a 28 point lead.

This fumble recovery by the Rockets was just one of the never ending (Cont. to B-2)

District Showdown

By: Preston Parrott

Halloween was over
November was at hand.
In the heart of Rockcastle
Smoke was hovering over the land.

Down in Middlesboro the Yellow Jackets
Were singing their fight song,
As they lined up their convoy
One hundred cars and four buses strong.

They headed north to Rockcastle
We're going to bring the Rockets down.

For we've worked all year
To win the district crown

At the home of the Rockets —
There was a festive air,
As hundreds of Rocket faithfuls
Were shivering and shaking their.

The cold was bone chilling
A strong wind swirling about,
As the Yellow Jackets took the field
With a mighty stinging shout.

On the other end of the field
Three hundred rabid fans,
Had formed a tunnel
And were holding hands.

The proud Rocket team
Roared out upon the field,
As fans stood and shouted
"Our defense shall not yield."

The Rockets took the ball
Their offensive line laid the Jackets
low,
And in the first Rocket series
John "Dog" Saylor stole the show.

He took the hand-off from Parkey
Over the right side did crack,
He crossed over the goal line
Carrying several jackets on his back.

For the game the Rockets added something new
And after each Rocket score,
They'd blast a Rocket heavenward
Light up the sky amid the roar.

Now up in the crowd
Grandpa Saylor would chew and spit, Saying, "That's the way to go grandson,
When you're loaded down, don't ever quit."

The Yellow Jackets took the kick-off
Wanted to show the Rockets their fire,
But the runner was tackled hard
And coughed up the thing.

The Rockets took the ball
Laid the Jacket defense flat,
As they took her down the field
And over the goal line John "Dog" did scat.

The quarter was finally over
Much to the Jackets relief,
But it lasted only a minute
And their rest was very brief.

For in the second quarter
The Rocket defense was stout,
And they continued on Shutting the Jackets out.

Meanwhile the Rocket offensive line
Was opening up the gap,
And Humming Bird Harris
Was flying through on every snap.

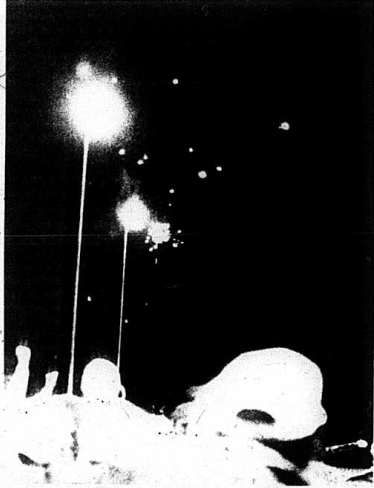

Touchdown after touchdown was scored by the Rockets during their 42-7 win over undefeated Middlesboro in the district title game last Friday at RCHS.

great plays by the Rocket defense.
The defense, led by Bobby Coffey,
Saylor, Mike Durham, Cotton and Hellard, seemed to always be in the right place at the right time. They made some of the hardest hits probably made in high school football.

Rockcastle and Middlesboro exchanged the ball back and forth before Rocket's new quarterback J.D.
Bussell could find Hellard in the endzone for a six yard touchdown pass.

Rockcastle fans and players celebrated Fourth of July early last Friday night against Middlesboro when the Quarterback Club sponsored a fireworks display after every score by the Rockets.

Members of the Brodhead Bengals little league football team who went undefeated in the age 11 and under division are front row from left: Heath Payne, Brandon Bishop, Greg Harper, Patrick Sevier, Chris Benge, Dustin Crawford, Derrick Bussell and Courtney Payne. Second row from left: John LaFavers, J.R. Hammock, Andrew Carrera, Billy Kirby, Josh Martin, Billy DeBorje, Jimmy Houk, Nathan DeLeon. Third row from left: Neil Childress, Joel Deatherage, Ellis Sexton, Anthony Spoonamore, Brandon Martin, Chris Bishop, Clifton Matekovich, Stephen Carrera, Kyle Fletcher. Back row from left are coaches Devin Ford, Troy Taylor, Larry LaFavers and Robbie Crawford. (A picture of the Redskins who won the upper division will be printed when available.)

When halftime rolled around
The Jackets were down 35 to 0,
And they wished they were back in Middlesboro
But they had another half to go.

In the third quarter
They finally got a score,
But the mighty Rocket defense
Said "There'll be no more."

In the fourth quarter

The Rockets put in a new crew,
And Bussell and Hellard.
Teamed up on a pass to make it forty two.

When the game was over
The District Championship was not in doubt,
For the powerful Rocket team
Had beaten the Jackets in a rout.

To coaches, team and cheerleaders
Congratulations are coming down,
For you've got another victory
To add to your starry crown

Clarification in 1991-92 deer hunting guide

This year, the General (gun) season for deer is November 9-18 through out most of the state. Some counties in Eastern Kentucky have a shorter

General (gun) season, due to lower deer populations.

During the General (gun) season,
any equipment, archery or firearm, that is legal for deer hunting may be used. However, regardless of whether a bow, modern gun, handgun or muzzle-loader is used, all hunters who hunt deer the Nov. 9-18 General
(gun) season must follow the same zone and tag restrictions. This requirement has been in effect for several years.

The 1991-92 Kentucky Deer Hunting Guide, which provides information about the deer seasons, lists the zone and tag restrictions for the Nov.
9-18 segment of the deer season under the general (gun) season section of the guide. However, some muzzleloader deer hunters may notice that this requirement is not completely clear in the information provided in the portion of the guide regarding muzzle-loading hunting. Hunters who may have questions about the deer season should contact the KDFWR at (502) 564-4336 Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

REYE'S SYNDROME ALERT

Reye's Syndrome is a very serious disease that you should know about. Some people develop Reye's Syndrome as they are getting over a viral illness like the flu or chicken pox. Reye's Syndrome usually affects people from infancy through young adulthood; however, no age group is immune. It can develop 3 to 5 days after the onset of chicken pox, upper respiratory infection, or other fever-causing illnesses. It affects the liver and brain, is non-contagious, and is often mis-diagnosed as encephalitis, meningitis, diabetes, poisoning, drug overdose or sudden infant death.

Typically, Reye's occurs when someone is recovering from a viral illness and begins to feel better. A person's life can depend on early diagnosis. Watch for these symptoms, usually occurring in this order:

- Relentless or continuous vomiting
- Letharginess (lack of pep and energy with little interest in their environment)
- Drowsiness (excessive sleepiness)
- Personality change (such as irritability, slurred speech, sensitivity to touch)
- Disorientation or confusion (unable to identify whereabouts, family members, or answer questions)
- Comativeness (striking out on those trying to help)
- Delirium, convulsions or loss of consciousness

Reye's Syndrome should be suspected in anyone who vomits repeatedly. Phoned your doctor immediately if these symptoms develop. Voice your concern about Reye's Syndrome. If your physician is unavailable, take the person to an Emergency Room promptly. Two liver function tests (SGOT, SGPT) can be done to determine the possibility of Reye's Syndrome. There is a 90% chance of recovery when the syndrome is treated in its earliest stages by physicians and nurses experienced in the treatment of Reye's.

Studies have shown that using aspirin or aspirin-containing medications to treat the symptoms of viral illnesses increases the chance of developing Reye's Syndrome. If you or a member of your family has a flu-like illness, do not use aspirin or aspirin-containing medications. In fact, you should consult your physician before you take any drugs to treat the flu or chicken pox, particularly aspirin or anti-nausea medicines. Anti-nausea medicines may mask the symptoms of Reye's Syndrome.

The National Reye's Syndrome Foundation (NRSF), the U.S. Surgeon General, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Centers for Disease Control recommended that aspirin and combination products containing aspirin not be taken by anyone under 19 years of age during fever-causing illnesses.

Aspirin is a part of the salicylate family of medicines. Another name for aspirin is acetylsalicylate; some drug labels may use the words acetylsalicylate, acetylsalicylic acid, salicylic acid or salicylate instead of the word aspirin. Currently, there is no conclusive data as to whether other forms of salicylate are associated with the development of Reye's Syndrome. Until further research has answered this question, the NRSF recommends that products containing any of these substances should not be taken during episodes of viral infections.

The NRSF is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization with affiliates located in 45 states. The NRSF has pioneered the movement to disseminate knowledge about the disease and to offer aid in early diagnosis and also provides funds for research into the causes, cure, care, treatment and prevention of Reye's Syndrome.
