

DOMIN' ROCKCASTLE

By HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

People like Ruth Repper Gatlif who lives in Rochester, Indiana but has roots back here in Kentucky, gives me a great lift when she writes, "We love your down to earth home county news. It's just like walking through the hills that I love, especially where we lived for 22 years before coming to Indiana!"

Ruth says they were taking both the Signal and the Citizen but now have to make a choice between papers since this column is printed in both.

I feel so grateful, Ruth, because you like reading this column and being a Rockcastle girl. I can guess which paper you will choose.

You also asked me to give a greeting for you to Kinfolks, Edmund and Marie Todd. I hear they have a nice patch of "greens" in their garden so you might keep that in mind when you all think of coming down for a visit.

You also asked me to give a greeting to Eugene and Hallie Alexander.

I'm doubtful about Eugene for he and I have trouble calling each other names (joking). He calls me Grandma and I pick whatever I think of to call him.

Hallie is such a sweet person, pretty too, he has bound to have told her a lot of "no" to get her to marry him but I'll take your message to her. So thank you very much for the nice card and letter.

I'll send a big "Hello or howdy" to old timer Tom Owen in Hades. Tom is in the business of raising odd shaped gourds.

He sent Tom Legear some seed one year to raise gourds and they were interesting to see vining all over a building with large gourds hanging down.

Tom, you ought to be back in Kentucky this fall with us and see the red and gold leaves falling to the ground, eating persimmons after a frost sweetens them which makes them ripe.

I want to correct the little boy's name which was in the paper last week. He is the son of Mark and Rhonda McGuire. His name is Zachary and not Jackary as printed. I'm going to give you a sure fire cure for arthritis from the hills as told to me.

Mix 2 tablespoons of Apple cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons honey, 8 ounces fruit juice and 4 whole ingredients well then drink, 3 times a day. (Some say they use "Joytice" instead of fruit juice. I can see where they would feel no pain.)

We visited good friends Jim and Fay (Fabra) Dees Sunday afternoon, and were lucky in hearing them make some country music for us.

Fay plays the guitar and sings songs she has composed herself which were good as Jim played on a guitar too.

Then Jim brought out a banjo and picked which he came by natural since his father was an old timer, Tommy Dees, who was one of the best banjo players in the hills of upper Clear Creek.

I'm telling you Jim and Fay made foot tapping music when they played "John Henry and the mile Cracker." I could hardly sit still it was so great!

Their youngest daughter, Viola Northern and baby, came in to see the folks. Fay made some hot coffee which we all drank.

We like these people for they have the true mountain spirit of being friendly.

Fay was telling us that she and Jim wanted up 77 descendants in their children. That would be some reunion for them all.

On their heating stove, sat an iron teakettle and Fay asked me to lift it which I couldn't do with one hand and could barely move it with two. Pioneer women cooked with those things long ago.

We were over at Brummetts Apple Orchard near Crab Orchard a few days ago to get some apples that they raise themselves. Besides hauling apples out of South Carolina and Virginia.

John said we would get some to fry and have for Christmas too. We miss not having young children around at Christmas for they make the holidays. But ours are all grown up.

I talked to Kaye Abney on the phone and she said, "Lee has gotten a swelled head since yesterday when he took off from work at Hysters'."

"Does he have any pain?" I asked Kaye.

"No, no pain but he's awfully excited talking to everybody," she told me.

I wondered what in the world had happened when Kaye talked on.

"It might be because he and Mark McGuire went hunting over at Kirksville and Lee killed a deer. He was so excited Mark had to drive him home!"

I'm wondering if they are going to have a cookout with the deer and invite us all in.

This week's picture with the column shows Lee and Kaye Abney after he quitted down. They really make music when they sing with the choir at Galilee Baptist Church.

Mary Payne, son Johnny and wife, Joyce from Lexington were in Oak Ridge, Tennessee over at the woods to visit Kinfolks.

Woody Gabbard was thought to have had a heart attack and we went to see our deacon from Galilee Church finding him in bed.

Woody is one of the best men we think but, he does have a careless habit of talking back to Jean, his wife, (we believe) as I've told you before, so we had our doubts as to what really took place. When I mentioned this to Jean, she laughed so hard as if we were kidding again.

Woody is better and out. I'm happy to say and Jean is glad he's on his feet again.

I stopped to see Edith Mullins at Snicker for I'd heard that she had been in the hospital recently.

Library News

We still have the display of photographs (Celebrate by Janice) displayed in the library. They will be here until Sunday, Nov. 24 and then there will be a display of photographs from the students of Mt. Vernon Elementary School. Please come out and support these young people and see their work. All the students need our encouragement to continue their interest in art activities.

KEH has installed a satellite at the library and high school and college level classes will be presented. The classes will cost the same as those on campus but it would be a convenience to be able to get the class closer to home.

The Rockcastle County Library is endeavoring to get yearbooks from all the county schools. We feel this will be a good reference tool for our library in later years. We are not able to purchase these as they are no longer in print, so we are asking that anyone who has yearbooks that would like to share them with us, please do so. They will be kept in the library for reference use only. We would greatly appreciate your help.

The new video and audio tapes are here. There are 58 videos and 25 audio tapes in the new collection. Come in and look at the new titles and especially the audio, we would like to see them used more. These are great for people who have difficulty in reading.

Some of our new books are, No Greater Love by Danielle Steel. Her twenty-eight bestselling novel, Danielle Steel portrays the full breadth of human emotions as she sweeps us back to a dramatic moment in history no one will forget. The sinking of the Titanic comes alive through the Winfield family and their experience through those terrifying moments.

As the eldest daughter in a large and happy family, Edwina Winfield was returning from her engagement trip to England with her fiancé, her parents, and five siblings on the maiden voyage of the greatest ship ever built, the Titanic.

In one fatal night, the Winfield family would be changed forever as that great catastrophe sea changed their lives and their future. Edwina instantly becomes a woman mourning the loss of the man she loved, and the mother and father to her five brothers and sisters.

She must return to San Francisco with five young children, to care for them, run the family newspaper, and take on responsibilities that are both overwhelming and unexpected.

Edwina's adventures and struggles to keep the family together go on for twelve long years, as she carefully avoids any romantic involvement. But as each child sets sail at last, to Hollywood, Europe, and elsewhere, Edwina finds her own life finally, and frees herself from the ghosts of those she loved and lost in the Titanic. Her life is far different than it would have been, but in some ways, in the end, far more exciting than she had expected.

Schools and Communities: Partners for a Strong America

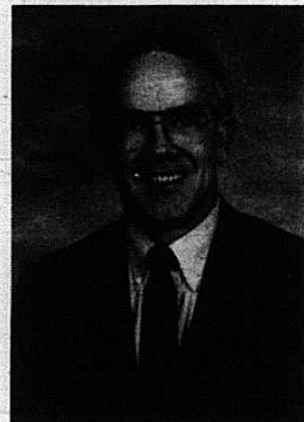

The Rockcastle County Board of Education Provides Equal Education and Employment Opportunities

Superintendent's Message

The theme for this year's American Education Week is "Schools and Communities: Partnership for A Better America." The theme suggests that the role of education is changing and that schools no longer operate in an arena separate from development and improvement of the total community. Our students must be prepared to meet world class standards and compete in a global economy and work force. Schools need the assistance and cooperation of the total community in order to develop and maintain a quality educational program.

I commend the efforts of all our schools in Rockcastle County for their involvement in the Effective Schools Process. This proven program is a national model for substantiated school improvement. The Effective Schools Program requires much input from parents and the total community. All our schools will improve as a result of participation in this distinguished program.

Another program Rockcastle County will be hearing more about in the next several months is "America 2000: An Education Strategy." The Rockcastle County School System, along with the entire Rockcastle County Community, plans to obtain the designation as an America 2000 Community. On April 18, 1991, President Bush announced "America 2000: An Education Strategy." It is a bold, comprehensive and long-range plan to move every community in America toward the National Education Goals adopted by the President and Governors last year. President Bush challenges us all to join him in a populist crusade to make America - community by community - school by school - all that it should be.

The National Education Goals

By the year 2000:

1. All children in America will start school ready to learn.
2. The high school graduation rate will increase to at least 90 percent.
3. American students will leave grades four, eight and twelve having demonstrated competency in challenging subject matter including English, mathematics, science, history and geography; and every school in America will ensure that all students learn to use their minds well, so they may be prepared for responsible citizenship, further learning and productive employment in our modern economy.
4. U.S. students will be first in the world in science and mathematics achievement.
5. Every adult American will be literate and will possess the knowledge and skills necessary to compete in a global economy and exercise the rights and responsibilities of citizenship.
6. Every school in America will be free of drugs and violence and will offer a disciplined environment conducive to learning.

The four-part AMERICA 2000 education strategy will enable every community to achieve these goals.

Family Resource and Youth Services Center

ROCKCASTLE YOUTH SERVICES CENTER

Coordinator: Dawn C. Lang
Counselor: Jill S. Ponder

The Rockcastle County Youth Services Center is now open and operating in the Rockcastle School district for all youth and their families.

The Youth Services Center was created as part of the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990. The primary intent of the center is to enhance student's abilities to succeed in school by assisting youth and their families in meeting some of their basic needs. This will be done by providing community services at the center or by linking families to agencies in our community.

Although the center has been effective for only two months, there is notable progress and positive response from students and families. Up to the present time, the primary focus has been on working with individual youth and their families, meeting their needs. As a referral service, there has been concentration on finding which service agencies will benefit an individual or family and ensuring that procedures are followed in order to receive the service. Transportation is provided as necessary.

Some of the areas that the Youth Services Center will focus on include:

- Employment counseling, training, and placement for youth
- Substance abuse services, counseling, or referral to substance abuse services
- Health services or referral to health services

•Information, education, and/or counseling on teen pregnancy, suicide and substance abuse

•After school programs, activities and projects for youth and families

The Youth Services Center is sponsoring new organization at the Rockcastle County High School called Teen Leadership Council (TLC). Ten students and two parents attended a Regional Teen Leadership conference at Annville Institute (sponsored by "Champions Against Drugs") on October 11th & 12th. These students will provide the foundation for the club and encourage other students to join. The students themselves will establish the by-laws and make their own goals and objectives. The golden rule that must always be honored is that any student in the club must be drug-free in and out of school. This organization goes along with new school reform by giving students the opportunity to make decisions concerning issues they feel are important and need to address.

The Center is located across from the Rockcastle Board of Education in the old bus garage. The counselor and coordinator will also be school-based at the Rockcastle County High School where students will have access to services everyday.

If you have questions or need more information about the center and/or our services, please call 256-2125.

ROCKCASTLE FAMILY RESOURCE CENTER

Coordinator: Betty R. Lewis - Outreach Social Worker: Satica Morgan

The Kentucky Education and Reform Act (KERA) of 1990 mandated that Family Resource Centers be developed to promote partnerships among parents, schools and communities to facilitate school success for our children.

The Rockcastle County Family Resource Center recognizes that parents are key partners in the education of their children. We are a family support system in the process of developing activities and programs in collaboration with existing community systems which will enable families to participate in the learning processes of their children. Our mission is based on the following known facts and benefits of the family-school partnership as stated by Kunesch and Bakker (1990):

1. The family provides the primary educational environment.
2. Involving parents in their children's formal education improves student achievement.
3. Parent involvement is most effective when it is comprehensive, long-lasting, well-planned and culturally appropriate.
4. The benefits are not confined to early childhood or the elementary level; there are strong effects from involving parents continuously throughout high school.
5. Involving parents in their own children's education at home is not enough. To ensure the quality of schools as institutions serving the community, parents must be involved at all levels in the school.
6. Children from low-income and minority families have the most to gain when schools involve parents. Parents do not have to be well-educated to help.
7. We cannot look at the school and the home in isolation from one another; we must see how they interconnect with each other and with the world at large (Henderson, 1987).

Most families would like to provide healthy environments for their children to grow and develop. Unfortunately, there are many barriers. A major deterrent to building successful family relationships and environments is stress.

Research has documented that economic stress, lack of social support and other protective factors, a fragile or immature parent, and sometimes a difficult infant can combine, in the absence of outside help, to create an environment so bad that it interferes with the normal development of the child.

Families along the economic continuum from poor to affluent are subject to stresses. An expert has stated, "unless you have the external supports, the internal systems don't work."

The Rockcastle Family Resource Center (FRC) staff is prepared to work with families of children ages 10 to 12, to relieve some of the stresses and to help remove some of the barriers to successful family relationships and environments. The goal is to enable families to provide their children with those positive experiences on which successful lives are built.

Please call 256-2125 for more information or to request services.

The Family Resource and Youth Services Centers are soon to be located in a renovated section of the old school bus garage building across the street from the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

Instructional Styles Change

Why Should I Get Involved with PTA/PTO?

"Once there was a PTA/PTO looking for leaders and volunteers to work for the welfare of children and youth in the community during the school year. Some parents and teachers said, "I don't want to leave the comfort of my home: I'm tired after working all day and I enjoy resting and watching television." (But, the local drug pusher said, "Nothing will keep me from working with your children: not even the threat of being arrested.")

Some parents and teachers said, "We have to be out-of-town too often on the weekends and we are usually busy almost every evening of the week." (But the pornography dealers said, "We'll gladly spend our weekends and evenings to oblige your children.")

Some parents and teachers said, "I know nothing about PTA/PTO; I'm not qualified to work in such a responsible role. Let someone else do it." (But the movie producer said, "We'll review, analyze and expend millions of dollars to produce whatever turns youth on.")

Some parents and teachers said, "I don't have the time to go to committee meetings, PTA/PTO meetings and PTA/PTO functions." (But the pushers, the pornographers and the movie producers said, "We'll remain open as many hours as necessary, every day of the week, in order to win the minds of the kids.")

So, the parents and teachers stayed in the comfort of their homes, went out-of-town frequently on weekends, and maintained their busy schedules instead of working for the welfare of the children and youth in their community."

What do you suppose happened to the children? Can't you hear the same things being said today? Research has proven that one of the keys to quality education is PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT. "All other things being equal, students achieve better in schools that have Parent-Teacher Groups."

Contact community groups, other co-sponsoring organizations, and your school principal to see what support and involvement you can contribute. Be an involved parent/teacher/school administrator/concerned community leader. ROCKCASTLE COUNTY STUDENTS DEPEND ON US!!!

School-Based Decision Making

Mt. Vernon Elementary School has elected its first Site-Based Decision Making Council (S.B.D.M.). The council consists of two parents, three teachers and the principal. The parent members of the council were elected by the Mt. Vernon PTA. They are Pam Chaliff and Serena Stratton. The teacher members of the council were elected by the faculty. They are: Doris Cash, Paula Clark and Charles Carter. Mr. Hale, the school principal, serves as chairman as required by the Kentucky Education Reform Act.

The council attended a two-day training session provided by the Kentucky Department of Education and the Gheens Academy of Jefferson County. The initial council meeting was November 7, 1991. At that meeting, the council adopted a budget for the school and received information about policies and procedures from Libby Harvey of the Kentucky School Boards Association.

The next meeting of the council is planned for Monday, November 18 at 4 p.m. The purpose of that meeting will be to begin on written policies and procedures for Mt. Vernon Elementary Schools. All council meetings are subject to the open-meetings law and the public is invited to attend.

KERA Goals Being Implemented

Instruction in Rockcastle County is in the process of changing as Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) is more fully implemented.

KERA requires that students become active, life-long learners who can gather information and use it to solve problems and enhance quality of life. Rockcastle County School System is now very busy working to change its curriculum and instructional practices to accommodate the worthy goals of KERA.

If a person visits the schools of Rockcastle County now, he or she might see some very interesting and actively engaged learning techniques taking place.

Last year at Roundstone Elementary School, our system piloted a new science program called Activity Centered Elementary Science (ACES). This whole program is built around the philosophy that if students are going to learn science, they need to be doing things that pertain to science. This year, we have expanded this program to all four of our elementary schools. Our teachers are working very hard to learn the program and helping students conduct experiments and learn the scientific processes that will enable them to process information and make good decisions.

Our elementary schools have worked very hard to change our methods of teaching reading and the necessary materials for reading. Our teachers realized that in order for children to become good readers, they need to enjoy what they read. Due to that fact, we have bought many new and interesting books for our students. Teachers are very effectively using these good books and reading materials to teach the skills that must be taught in order for our students to continue learning.

I also think it is very interesting that many of our math teachers now teach by using high-tech calculators. A few years ago, calculator use in the classroom was not permitted. We have learned if a student masters the basic skills, they can then use calculators in order to achieve higher levels of mathematical knowledge.

Along the very same line is the use of computers and other technological devices. Students in grades K-12 now spend part of their school day doing assignments with a computer. Computers are very creatively and effectively being used in all our schools along with textbooks, paper, pencil, reference materials, etc. in order to teach our students what they need to know.

Rockcastle County High School has worked very hard this year in the area of writing. They believe and know that it is essential that students be able to communicate through clear writing expression. In years past, it was accepted that writing would be taught by English or language teachers, but at Rockcastle County Teachers receive intense Professional Development in Cooperative Learning Strategies.

THE BANK OF MT VERNON

The Bank of Mt. Vernon Supports Rockcastle County Students and Teachers - In the above photo, bank vice president Rick Ikerd, presents school administrator Richard Bray with pencils for each student and chalk and chalkholders for each teacher. The pencils and chalkholders state that "The Bank of Mt. Vernon Supports The Students of Rockcastle County In Their Academic Pursuits." The items have been passed out to students and teachers.

Rockcastle County High School teachers in every area of the curriculum are helping teach writing.

Our high school has also increased its efforts to help students who are not "College-bound" to look more toward vocational school or work transition programs. We now have more classes to teach students the skills they will need in order to obtain employment and stay employed. We are now trying to not only insure that our students get an education but that they get an education that will prepare them for a quality life after they graduate or finish their course of study with the Rockcastle County School system.

If one visits our schools and witnesses all these wonderful changes, I believe they will be very impressed. I also feel that the changes brought about by KERA and the wonderful things that were already in place by the fine hard-working teachers in Rockcastle County will insure a quality education for our children.

Three years ago, The Rockcastle County School System began integrating the Basic Arts into its Education Curriculum. Since that time, Rockcastle County Schools have witnessed a gradual development of art, music, drama and creative movement into the daily classroom routines. With the support of teachers, parents and the administrative personnel, the Basic Arts have evolved from simple seasonal color sheets into a broad creative program, presented as a logical extension of the general school curriculum.

The Arts in education are critical components of any well-rounded curriculum purporting to prepare learners for leadership in the Twenty-First Century. The arts are foundational to establishing order and meaning in the individual's life. On the simplest level, the arts involve imitating life in order to understand life. On a more sophisticated level, the arts involve the creation of metaphor for society.

Arts education may be viewed as a process of social, intellectual, and creative exploration. It develops from the human need to communicate and is one of many processes by which humans learn about themselves and their world. Through the language of art, music, drama and creative movement, individuals interact with each other, sharing thoughts, feelings and experiences.

As children develop communication skills, they explore their immediate environment and learn to interact with persons in it. As such, they will naturally and spontaneously explore the arts as a means of communication. Children enter school already using the arts to make discoveries, order their universe and test ideas. With proper nurturing, their interest, involvement and skill in the arts will continue to expand and develop both within and outside the school environment. Because children grow and develop at differing rates, each learner's interest is heightened, and success in the development of expression is enhanced, when a flexible and positive learning environment is established--an environment where both student and teacher responses are sought and respected, where learning builds on prior knowledge and where active learner involvement is constantly evident.

As students engage in the arts, both expressively and receptively, they will not only learn about the arts but they will also learn through the arts. Each child's social, emotional and intellectual success will be significantly affected by an ability to communicate effectively. The arts, as an important form of communication, must be infused with the curriculum to empower children to achieve an optimum level in all areas of development.

TECHNOLOGY IN OUR SCHOOLS

WHY? The Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) created a nine-person Council for Education Technology. KERA directs the Council to develop a five-year plan for the equitable and efficient use of instructional and administrative technology in Kentucky schools. KERA states the plan shall outline the use of technology to: "1) Improve learning and teaching and the ability to meet individual student's needs to increase student achievement; 2) Improve curriculum delivery to help meet the needs for educational equity across the state; 3) Improve delivery of professional development; 4) Improve the efficiency and productivity of administrators; and 5) encourage development by the private sector and local school district acquisition of technologies and applications appropriate for education."

Rockcastle County recognizes the importance of technology as a motivational tool, to improve instruction, and to provide students with skills which they will encounter in life.

WHEN? The Rockcastle County School System did not wait for KERA to provide for technology in the schools. Although KERA mandated a five-year plan for using technology in all schools and allocated funds to assist schools, Rockcastle County recognized this might be "too little too late." They realized the need to begin early implementing a base of technology in all the schools. This base provides the foundation for continued implementation of technology funded through state and local funds. Funding from the state is expected no sooner than April of 1992.

WHAT? When we hear about technology in our schools, we generally visualize students working with a keyboard, a monitor and some type of computer software. While this form of technology is probably the most common and widely used in schools, there are many, many more types and uses available.

Each school in the county has in place the Novell Local Area Network. The network consists of computer workstations connected to a file server, which stores software. These workstations are distributed throughout the building and/or placed in a lab. All workstations can access the software in the file server. This eliminates purchasing a software program for each individual workstation. The students and staff simply log on (connect) to the network and choose from the available programs on the file server. Rockcastle High has a CD Rom Player attached to its file server, which allows an entire electronic encyclopedia to be accessed from a workstation.

A network will eventually be used to connect the classroom to the office for administrative applications such as student management, attendance, grading and scheduling. In turn each school office can be linked with the Board of Education.

Brodhead Elementary and Mt. Vernon Elementary have laid the groundwork for a library management program which uses bar codes for circulation of books. When complete, this system allows the card catalogue to be viewed on a computer monitor. Teachers and students will be able to access the library's card catalogue from their classroom to search for book titles and materials.

Three of the elementary schools, Livingston, Mt. Vernon and Roundstone are using an approach called Teaching and Learning with Computers (TLC). This program consists of 3-5 computers and a printer in each classroom. These mini labs are currently being used in either 2nd, 3rd, or 4th grade classes. This allows the teacher and students access to computers throughout the day.

The math and science departments at the high school are awaiting the arrival of a Chisolm Looking Glass. This is used in conjunction with an overhead projector so a whole classroom can view instruction or a presentation from one computer. A computer workstation can also be interfaced with a television monitor and used as a projection device.

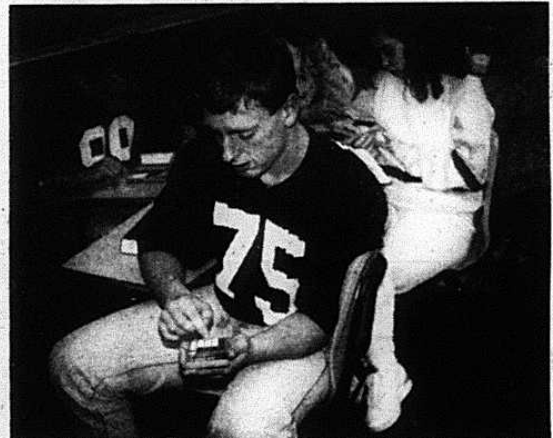

The Kentucky Education Television Star Channel program allows students to take courses they would not otherwise be able to take. The students view the instructor on a television screen. Communication takes place through the use of a computer keypad response system and electronic mail. Brodhead Elementary is utilizing the Star Channel to offer Latin and German to a group of 7th and 8th graders. Rockcastle High has two students enrolled in a higher mathematics course that would not otherwise be offered.

Calculators are another form of technology which supplement math instruction. Many classrooms now have several calculators which were purchased with federal dollars. The TI81 Graphing Calculators are targeted in grades 6-8 with some use in the higher level math classes at the high school. TI12 Explorers, used in grades 3-6 and also some higher level math classes at RCHS, are the only calculators currently able to show fractions.

The task of today's schools is to prepare students to meet the challenges of an ever-changing society. Our schools must accommodate an increase in information as well as the varied technologies used in harnessing that information.

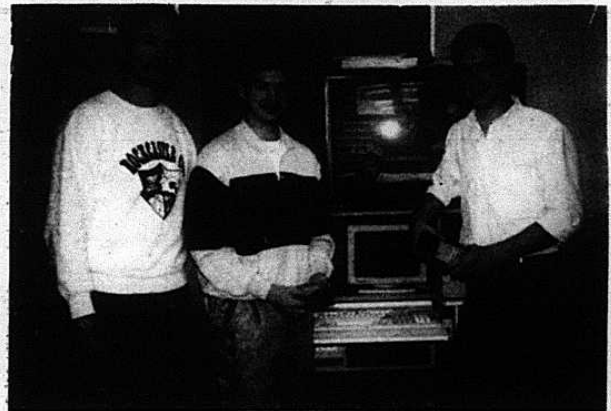

Patty Renner's 2nd grade students at Roundstone benefit from a mini-lab in their room.

Seventh grade students at BES utilize the KET Star Channel.

Partners in Early Childhood Education

Rockcastle County's Early Childhood Programs have undergone tremendous growth over the past three years and this year has been no exception. We now have four-year-old "At-Risk" preschool available on the Rockcastle County High School campus for Mt. Vernon and Livingston children, on the Roundstone Elementary campus for the Roundstone area children and on the Brodhead Elementary campus for those children. We have also been able to serve many four-year-olds who do not meet the "at-risk" criteria due to the support of our Superintendent and School Board. We also provide services to handicapped children, ages three to five, on an itinerant basis in the home, at a preschool center, or in a hospital setting. Rockcastle is also very fortunate to have a PACE program where parents can work on their GED while their three-or-four-year-olds attend a developmental preschool program. For more information, please contact Tammy Gabbard, Early Childhood Coordinator, at 256-2125.

Children are hard at "work" on their masterpieces in the "Art Area."

Preschoolers enjoy the "Book Noon" at Mt. Vernon Preschool.

Sherry Uffman and her daughter, Minnie, and Renee Gadd and her son, Kenny, enjoy spending time with each other at PACE in Brodhead.

Mrs. Stevens does an art project with a small group of preschoolers at Brodhead.

Architect, construction manager for new high school hired

The long process to construct a new Rockcastle County High School has started with the hiring of an architect and construction management firm by the board of education.

Architect-planners is Johnson-Romanowicz of Lexington. The Alliance Corporation of Glasgow is the construction management firm.

The two firms will gather data including design, site preparation costs and site acquisition for the board to decide.

Of five sites initially selected as suitable for the school, the State Department of Education has approved two, the Carter-Ford property or the KY 461 bypass and the Henderson property on old KY 461.

All designs and bids must be in by July 1, 1992 with paper work submitted in August. The bonds for money to construct the school must be sold by Sept. 1.

If the bonds are not sold by Sept. 1 the school system stands to lose $1 million, according to Richie Bray, finance officer, "so you see we are rushed to get all this together."

The construction schedule call for starting the project Oct. 1, 1992. With an 18-month construction period it should be completed by Aug. 1, 1994 with the first class in the fall of 1994. Final approval of the project will be made by the State Department of Education.

That same fall, the present Rockcastle High School will become a middle school for grades 6, 7 and 8.

The new School Based Decision Making Council at Mt. Vernon Elementary School has already taken over the actual running of the school. They are pictured above from left, Charles Carter, Pam Chaliff, Doris Cash, Serena Stratton, Paula Clark and principal John Hale, who serves as chairman. The monthly meetings are open to the public.

Rickles rejects city's offer

By: Ray McClure

A plan by the city to obtain an option on land in West Mt. Vernon for a city park fell through Tuesday when the owner turned down an offer of $150,000.

At a council meeting last week the council voted to spend up to $150,000 for the Raymond Rickles Jr. property on West Main Street opposite Rockcastle County High School.

The asking price was $169,900 the 18 acres is the largest remaining tract in the city. The council had capped the price at $150,000.

The city first offered $125,000 then upped it to $140,000. Rickles noted he was not interested. Then the price went to $150,000 and again Rickles rejected it. Since the city could not offer more than $150,000 the purchase failed.

Morgan shot at Stanley home

A Mt. Vernon man is reported to have been shot at the University of Kentucky Medical Center Wednesday after he was shot about noon Sunday.

Mt. Vernon policeman Mike Peters was called to the home of Peggy Stanley on Fish Street and found Marty Morgan, 34, on the floor.

According to police, Morgan was shot after he broke down the door and entered the home. He had been shot in the chest. Stanley was a former girlfriend of Morgans.

According to Mrs. Stanley she shot Morgan while he was beating her. She said he hit her about 10 times, choked her and twisted her arm and she warned him she would shoot him. She stated he had beaten her on several other occasions.

She reported he said he was coming to the house and she notified city police but they did not arrive until after the shooting.

No arrest has been made and no charges filed. The shooting remains under investigation.

In a shooting early Nov. 3, Gary Wayne Miller, 28, is reported improving at the U.K. Medical Center.

Charged in the shooting with assault in the first degree is Jeffrey Philbeck of Mt. Vernon.

His case was continued in District Court until Nov. 27.

Others noted the city owns land at Lake Linville and suggested a recreation facility be constructed there.

"It's out of the way for youngsters," the mayor said. "People with children and who work don't have time to take off and take them to Renfro and come and get them. We just need a place closer to town."

The plan had worked out the city would have developed two ball fields, swimming pool, picnic areas, walking trails and other activities.

Problems abound at local lake

Lack of rainfall and fluctuating temperatures has put Lake Linville in the worst shape it has ever been, according to Mt. Vernon City Water Superintendent Matt Powell Jr.

He reported Tuesday the lake was about 30 inches below normal and continuing to fall.

"We've not seen an overflow of the lake since the first of August," Powell said. "The banks of the lake are really showing up."

He explained that manganese, prices of timber and especially leaves are turning the water brown. Cold nights and warm days cause the lake to "roll over" bringing decaying vegetation on the bottom of the lake up, and into the water plant intakes.

"Some of that water is coming into the plant black and we're having a hard time clearing it up. It has been brown several times. All the fish at least said it is not harmful."

He added when the temperature of the lake and the air temperature are the same the problem will go away.

There is plenty of water in the lake, Powell related. "There is no shortage."

"There is considerable more water than in 1987 when the dry summer caused the lake to fall six feet."

To date this year there has been little rain since Oct. 23, only a trace on two days at Cox Funnel Home weather station.

John Dooley indicted by grand jury

At least three indictments were handed down by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury at the November 8th session.

An October 28th indictment resulted in a five count indictment of a Chestnut Ridge man, John L. Buckley was charged with receiving stolen property over $100, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of marijuana over 8 ounces, illegal possession of alcohol and food stamp fraud.

The 19-year-old man reportedly had a stolen 4-wheeler in his possession, which was reported stolen by Wilma Ledford.

The defendant had marijuana, pipes and clips in addition to the illegal possession of alcohol and the food stamp fraud.

Betty Jasper, 45, Mt. Vernon, was charged with two count indictment for the illegal sale of alcohol as well as food stamp fraud.

The arrest by Trooper Jack Lawless of a 35-year-old Livingston man resulted in a one count indictment. Larry Cecil Hubbard was charged with driving under the influence, 5th offense.

All three defendants were released on bond and an arrangements are set for 22nd of November.

Work underway on two housing projects

Work began this week on two multiple housing projects in Rockcastle County.

At Mt. Vernon, Meade, Inc. of Irvine is constructing a 24-unit project near the Ky. 461 bypass at West Main Street.

The unit will contain 16-two bedroom and 8 one bedroom apartments.

At Brodhead, there will be 24 units all one-bedroom and all strictly for the elderly, according to Perry Meade of the Irvine firm.

The units will be managed by Wilson Management of Waco. A local on-site manager has not been named.

The complex is located behind Dix Point Restaurant on property formerly owned by Lynn Luford.

The project is a Farmers Home administration program and not HUD, Meade emphasized.

"We hope to have the projects completed by March, weather permitting."

The company has projects in Irvine, Winchester and Clay City.

Meade Inc., has had the projects here in the planning stage for several months, in spite of complaints by residents in the area.

At one time residents complained to the Mt. Vernon City Council, but were told the city could not stop construction since the city is not zoned.

Nothing further evolved until the excavation work began.

Good evening I told and promised the 1991 football team I have nicknamed Rockets are Rocking this year and to my point of view is one of the best football teams that head coach Tom Larkey has ever, ever, ever, put on the field. This team is a better team than the team Chris Cornelius, Rockets assistant Coach, was on. This football team does not get enough publicity except from our local newspaper, the Mt. Vernon Signal. I think maybe the Lexington Herald and the Courier Journal thinks the Rockets are rocking. Is that important. Well

Dozens of people have written from all over Kentucky and the great Midwest over the last couple of weeks wanting to know whether or not they should be buying more or less coal or wood. Odds was not known whether or not they should be hearing their check to pay the electric bill or spending it on Christmas presents. They all want to know what has happened to the Woolly Worm Weather Forecast. There's a simple explanation. As you may already know, I am rather unique among the human species in that I am the only two legged critter allowed to attend the National Association of Woolly Worm Weather Watchers, (NAWWWW). The figure of the matter is that NAWWWWW's annual convention was scheduled for the first weekend in November. However, the temperature dropped to 15 degrees before we could get a quorum.

Not only that, but according to the latest reports, more than a thousand delegates froze to death on their way to Lancaster, the site of this year's convention. Rescue crews have been coming through mail boxes, culverts, wood piles and even ditch lines for the last several days and we are told that there is an awesome number of fatalities. It has been a horrible and grief filled couple of weeks for the Woolies.

However, the Board of Directors of NAWWWWW gathered in the bottom of a bushel basket full of the biggest turnips that I have ever seen grow that were sitting in the storage room of E.J. Hasty's Grocery Store on Crab Orchard Street last Wednesday night. While the session was not as holly debated as it usually is, a forecast for the coming winter was issued.

In fact, the forecast didn't take all that much time. The Woolies spent the greater part of the meeting debating what should be done about Byron Crawford. You may recall that last year, the NAWWWWW, after a rather close vote, named our friend, Crawford, as the second Human Being with whom it would associate. Crawford has more readers than I do. When he's not on vacation, you may know that he writes a rather delicate column for The Louisville Courier Journal and NAWWWW had diplomatically suggested to me that I could use a little help in getting their news spread around. I like Byron and, in fact, looked forward to the joint venture.

The problem is that Crawford didn't show. Apparently he didn't even acknowledge the invitation. Several delegates suggested that his mail box would make an excellent morgue and as I write, preparations are being made to stuff it full of frozen woolly worm carcasses. If you see Byron, please tell him that I had nothing to do with this decision. I'm not allowed to vote. I'm simply the reporter in this thing.

Rockets are rocking in 11 games won, 1 lost. If that is not good enough what is Rockets are Rockin baby, they are rockin down to Danville this Friday night to take on the Admirals. Date, Nov. 22nd, if you cannot make it down to Danville to see the game in person, WRVK, 1460 am on your radio dial will broadcast the game. Game time is 7:30 EST with Chad Burdette and Les Seal. This game is for the regional finals.

Go, Go, Go, Rockets will rock the Admiral hopefully!
 This past Friday night, Nov. 15, the Rockets rocked over the Corbin Redhounds in overtime. A nailbiter. It came down to a 17 yard field goal in overtime.

Rockets are rockin defense had to rise to the occasion and that they did too. Hummingbird Harris made the game saving tackle from his inside line back position. Good job Hum, in mingbird Harris. Keep Rockets rockin.

Football assistant coaches are Chris Larkey, Chris Cornelius, Burley Burkhardt, Tony Saylor, Charles Bulens and Jerry Pensol.

Better close for now. God go with the Rockets football team all the way to Louisville and the state tournament. Hopefully Rockin Rockets and #1 fan David Brock

P.S. - You have to believe in God, and yourself only one game at a time gentlemen. Please publish in Signal, date, Thursday, Nov. 21. Thank you very, very, very much.

When I told E.J. what had happened, he suggested that we try to warn Byron. E.J.'s afraid Crawford will write something bad about Lancaster if he finds out this awful trick was conceived in his store.

I'm not worried though. I know Crawford well enough to also know that he will find a good use for the dead caterpillars. If you read in the Louisville Paper that Byron has been catching gobs of big bluegills this winter with a secret bait... need I say more. If, next summer, he announces that he has personally grown the worlds largest bushel gourd with a secret fertilizer you won't have to figure what it was. Composed members of NAWWWWW, I know that sounds awful, but Crawford is a most resourceful man.

This column, however, was supposed to be short and sweet and believe it or not, I'm almost ready to tell you the news that you have been waiting for these last few weeks.

According to NAWWWWW, it's going to be a rather pleasant winter. I know that you have read countless articles from a great number of preachers who have informed you differently, but don't be believing a word of it. Most of this winter, according to NAWWWWW will not be as bad as the first week of November. In fact, look for an almost carbon copy of last year except we're going to have more snow.

The first three weeks of December will be nippy but nice. Look for a hard freeze between Christmas and New Year's Eve and a good snow also in that period. The chances for a White Christmas are excellent. Look for a warming trend by the middle of January and for the kind of record temperatures you like to get at that time of year. According to the NAWWWWW, we should have at least three days in January with daily highs of 70 degrees.

January will be wet, but it will be rain, for the most part. We should get some snow at night, changing to rain the next day. Tell the kids to not play on lots of days out of school unless they live in Jackson County where school is frequently canceled due to heavy frost.

Mild weather will continue into mid February and the coldest weather of the season will occur between Valentine's Day and the end of March. The last two weeks of March and the first two of April will produce the deepest, heaviest snow of the season. According to NAWWWW we'll have both a White Christmas and a White Easter. Spring will be late again. Don't be planting any beans on Good Friday unless you have something to cover them with after they sprout.

"POINTS EAST"

Now I don't have time to go over last year's forecast item by item, but I'll tell you for sure that everyone except NAWWWW predicted an awful winter. NAWWWW said it would be mild and mad similar predictions to the one I have just written. That forecast turned out to be more accurate than the farmers' almanac, all the Lexington television stations and host of other prognosticators. In fact, it was right on the money. Let me suggest that you post this one on your refrigerator door and compare notes as the season progresses. I think you'll be surprised if you've been listening to anyone else.

In Loving Memory of Jerry Lynn Brown

The family of Jerry Lynn Brown would like to express sincere gratitude to all for the flowers, food, sympathy cards and words of comfort received during our bereavement.

Special thanks are extended to Brother Gene Noe, First Assembly of God Church (Lexington) and Mary Laswell, along with Dowell and Martin Funeral Home for the service and support during our loss.

The song entitled "FRIENDS ARE FOREVER," rerecorded this year by Marc Gibson, was in Jerry's pocket when the accident occurred on November 4, 1991. As many know, the song was incorporated into the funeral service, the family would like to share the words of this song once again in loving memory of Jerry Lynn Brown.

FRIENDS ARE FOREVER

Thank you for the times we've had
Thank you for your smile
Thanks for being there for me,
And giving me your time.
The time has come for us to part,
And pass along the miles.
Many memories, I shall have
And that is all because:

Friends are forever
Friends can last forever
Never matters close or far
Good friends is what we are
Friends, we are forever
Friends, I will remember
Times we've shared together.
Our times we'll always have as friends
Never wonder where I am
Never say good bye
Time will pass on quickly now
And I'll be back again

Before you know
We'll share a song or two
And join the band
We'll always have as friends

Friends, we are forever
Friends, can last forever
Never matters close or far
Good friends is what we are.
Friends, Thank God for you
My friends, I live for you
Times we've shared together
Are times, we'll always have as friends
As friends, I love my friend(s).

Of the one I loved so much.

For you there is no more suffering
I guess it was for the best.

pain.
For them that may be true
But they won't know how much it hurts,
Until they're walking in my shoes
God took you before me

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin

I've often thought that if I were Governor for just one day I could straighten out a lot of problems that now face the state.

Of course I would have to have complete power, that is the legislature couldn't go back and change everything I did, just to show me who really has the power.

My first decision, do away with our state lottery. It is absolutely the worst thing that has happened to Kentucky since the veteran's bonus was used as an excuse to put on the state sales tax. That original sales tax was three percent and was to have replaced Kentucky's personal income tax.

We all know the story about the sales tax, which is now 6 percent, and unless I'm mistaken we pay every tax known to man in our Commonwealth, including personal income tax, but do we really know what impact the lottery has had on this state.

Wilkinson used it to get elected, promised to use the revenue from it to keep from having to raise taxes and well you all know the story....

A good friend of mine, who can afford to play the lottery if he so desires, admitted last week that during the period when the lottery got to lottery had reached enormous proportions, I had a gut feeling that many children were going to be hungry. That many parents had spent money on the lottery instead of buying food. I hope I'm wrong, but taking everything into consideration, I don't think so.

Also, the state prosecutes people for illegal gambling, I guess that is because they don't get a cut of that gambling.

I made the statement at the Berea Forum, that I felt officials should cut waste out of government and one gentleman said that was fine and dandy, but that he had heard that all of his life and he wanted to know just how I proposed to do that...Where the waste was and which waste should be cut and so on.

It was a good question, because unless you have access to all state financial records it would be impossible to say how and where you would cut.

First, I would freeze everything but essential state jobs. No spending on roads, no spending on buildings, no unnecessary spending whatsoever until everything could be reviewed and cuts made.

And I would cut out unnecessary state jobs. I know that would go over like a lead balloon, but John Y. Brown Jr. did it and he saved the state money. Anyway, you get the idea. Stop just about everything and get our priorities back in order.

OUT of SIGHT in BLACK and WHITE

A PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBIT

"Out of Sight in Black and White" is the title the students of Mt. Vernon Elementary School have given to their photography exhibit. This is the culmination of a program designed by Janice Braverman during her three month Artist-in-Residency.

Using a creative and innovative approach, the students explore the art of photography and various photographic techniques. Some students learn how to make and use pin-hole cameras built from cardboard boxes, others learn how to use a 35mm camera, develop their film and print their photos. Still other groups of students learn how to create photographs without using a camera (photograms and handmade slides). The technical aspects of photography are applied to a creative interpretation of the students' real and fantasy lives.

Two groups of 8th graders will exhibit photos taken with their pin-hole cameras. They focused on self-portraits. Another group used 35mm cameras to photograph aspects of life in Mt. Vernon and school.

The 6th graders, using their own handmade cameras, photographed themselves and their imaginary alter egos while wearing masks and costumes of their own design.

The 5th graders have a multi-media program in progress. This includes handmade photographic images, creative writing, original music, video, masks and costumes. Ms. Braverman introduced all the arts through one day workshops conducted by visiting artists who are specialists in the fields of poetry, music, dance, costume design, and maskmaking. Students experienced firsthand how all art forms interact and can influence each other.

All of the students in Ms. Braverman's classes will exhibit at least one piece of work.

The public is invited to an artists' reception and exhibit on Sunday, Nov. 24 at 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Rockcastle County Public Library. The exhibit continues through Dec. 3.

Regular library hours are as follows: Mon., Tues., Fri., 12 - 5 p.m.; Wed., 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Thurs., 12 - 8 p.m.

Sat., 8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m.
This project is partially funded by Mt. Vernon Elementary School and a grant from the Kentucky Arts Council with funds from the National Endowment of the Arts.

Conway Sunshine Homemakers

"Staying Home Alone" was the subject taught by Linda Williams and Brenda Powell of the Sunshine Homemakers of Conway. But it wasn't taught at our homemakers meeting, it was taught to the fourth graders at Roundstone Elementary school during the month of October. The homemakers have volunteered to do this for the past three years at all the grade schools. This year only Roundstone received it because we were having trouble finding volunteers.

This lesson would be good for the P.T.A.'s and P.T.O.'s to take over because it concerns your children. They are taught how to cope when they have to be left by themselves after school for a period of time till their parents come home.

We teach them how to cope with fear; how to deal with loneliness and boredom, how to get along with the other children and establishing effective rules fire safety; medical emergency, first aid, personal safety; how to use the phone in an emergency, and food safety when parents aren't home to help.

It's very important for children to know how to take care of themselves when mom and dad are at work. Eighty percent of fourth grade class are left by themselves after school for a few minutes or for a couple of hours. Parents, take this up with your children's teachers and see that this is taught every year. This will help keep your children safe while they are alone.

After thanking Linda and Brenda for their service at Roundstone we got into our homemakers meeting. Our Christmas dinner is Dec. 14 and we are each bringing a covered dish and a present to exchange. Some of us are bringing crafts that we have made to show the other members. We are always looking for something new to do.

A reminder that our bears need to be done by the third week of December and don't forget the canned goods that we will share with needy families.

Our lesson was on "Strengthening Your Self-Discipline." [This just might help me get this letter in on time, next time!]

The lesson was taught by Jean Towery and I think she woke us all up to the fact that none of us have much self-discipline. I'm going to start the first of January to do much better. Got to get through Thanksgiving and Christmas first!

Pearl Burdett was our hostess this month and after eating the good food she brought, we got into our mini craft lesson, taught by Brenda Powell. We made angels out of snobby cloth, polyester tanning, ribbon, paper ribbon, baby's breath, Spanish Moss (for hair) and used the glue gun. Everyone was different so that gave us ideas on how to do the next one. Meeting was adjourned. Next meeting, Dec. 14 (Saturday night) at Conway Baptist Church at 6:30 for our dinner and exchange of gifts.

and come on out. Let's do a basket before Christmas!

Our Christmas party will be December 13 at 6 p.m. at Rockcastle Steak House. We will be revealing our Secret Pals that night. Everyone is welcome to bring their family or friend.

Fairview News

Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello to all my good friends and readers everywhere. It is a dark cloudy day here but warm. We have had such a beautiful fall season. Hope you are well and able to be out and enjoy the great blessings that God gives us every day. It is so wonderful to be living. I've always enjoyed life and thank God for every day of it. The Lord has been so good to us down through the years.

One hundred and twenty eight persons attended Sunday School at Fairview Nov. 17 and we had a large crowd for worship services. We are so thankful for our pastor, Rev. Harvey Pensol and his family - they mean so much to us. And I must include Mrs. Pensol's mother, Mrs. Bernice Dixon who moved to Mt. Vernon some time ago, and is now a member and faithful attendee of our church. She has been a great blessing to many of us. She is a great lady, so precious and kind. We all love her dearly.

Another thing that I would like to say, if you love someone or want to come to me in any way, go ahead and tell them because we never know if we will ever see or talk to them again. I guess as I grow older I realize more and more just how quick something can happen to us, like a heart attack, or an instant death of some kind or even strokes where we can never speak again. So lets love and be good to everyone. But most of all we need to be ready to die when the Lord calls.

Friday night guests of Mrs. Edith Mullins were Mrs. Stella (Thomas) Coyle of Muncie, Ind. and daughter Catherine of Florida. Catherine had been to Indiana to get her mother, so she could spend the winter with her. They left for Florida on Saturday morning. Mrs. Coyle (which is my aunt) is the last living member of the Thomas family. She is such a good person and loved by everyone.

Hubert and I visited at the home of our son Junior and family in Berea and Hubert's stepmother, Mrs. Annie Chasteen near Berea, last Monday. Mrs. Chasteen's health is very good for which we are thankful.

Mrs. Mary Cope's daughters, Christine Barnett and Helen Powell of Berea and Jean Hayes of Winchester visited their mother Wednesday and they all went out for supper that night, then Jean spent the night with her. Mrs. Cope's children are so good to her and she is so thankful for them. There is a lot of love there which is wonderful.

Last Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hale of Roundstone were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kendrick. About two weeks ago visiting were Mrs. Hale's brother, Gilbert McCracken, his wife and daughter, his wife's sister and a niece from Shelbyville, Ind.

Other guests at the Hall home have been Rev. and Mrs. Ira Dean and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Spires of Berea. Ruby Coyle and son Wayne; Gladys Coy; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hale; and from Mt. Vernon, Billy Hale. Mr. and Mrs. William Cope and family have moved from Dayton, Ohio to their farm at Bee Lick in Pulaski County.

Mrs. Dorothy Potter of Snider visited Mrs. Mary Cope recently. Mrs. Lillie Johnson, Richmond, also was a recent guest.

Our recent guests have been my brother Tip Reppert, my nephew Eugene Alexander and wife Hattie, also our sons Wayne and wife Carolyn and Junior and wife Lynetta and our daughter Joyce Seals and husband James.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander recently visited with Mrs. Evelyn Reppert at Eubank and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davidson and family of Brodhead.

Farmers here were very glad to get the light rain and fog over the weekend as they could now get their tobacco bulked. It has been a very dry time here lately.

Please attend Sunday School and church every time you can. Love and prayers to you all.

Mrs. Christine Brown visited Mrs. Edna Caldwell one day last week.

VFW to honor David Smith

By Laura Mize
David Monroe Smith is the only veteran in Rockcastle County to receive a Congressional Medal of Honor, and Saturday, Rockcastle Countians will honor him as well.

Born in 1926, David was the son of David and Lou Smith of Livingston. David Monroe Smith attended the Livingston school before enlisting.

During the Korean War, in 1950, Smith threw himself on top of a grenade to protect his buddies.

He received the Congressional Medal of Honor, which is a medal of valor, after his death, to symbolize individual heroism.

According to Tom Welch, a long time friend of Smith, David was a very kind, fine young man who was well liked and well disciplined. Smith's sister-in-law, Irene Smith, recalled the day Monroe, as the family called him, died. "The day his dad was buried was the day we got word that Monroe was dead."

A stone will be placed in the Ponder Cemetery and dedicated to the memory of Smith. All veterans, their families and all families of Rockcastle County are invited to attend the ceremony at the Livingston Pentecostal Church on old Highway 25.

A memorial picture and verse hangs in the court house as a reminder of his heroics. It reads:

"Private Smith was a gunner in the mortar section of Company E, emplaced in rugged mountainous terrain and under attack by a numerically superior hostile force. Bitter fighting ensued and the enemy overran forward elements, infiltrated the perimeter, and rendered friendly positions untenable. The mortar section was ordered to withdraw, but the enemy had encircled and closed in on the position. Observing a grenade lobbed at his emplacement, Private Smith shouted a warning to his comrades and, fully aware of the odds against him, flung himself upon it and smothered the explosion with his body.

Although mortally wounded in this display of valor, his intrepid act saved five men from death or serious injury."

Fires hurt more than beauty of trees

Fires do more than damage the beauty of the 12 million acres of hardwood timber in Kentucky. The blazes also cause economic damage that is not immediately evident, according to a forestry management specialist at the University of Kentucky.

"A fire doesn't kill trees right away, so people don't see the extent of damage," said Doug McLaren, extension specialist with the UK College of Agriculture. "The real damage is to the quality of the remaining trees. And this damage has a tremendous economic impact on the nearly 42 million board feet of hardwood sawlogs sold annually."

The danger of forest fires is greatest now through mid-December, according to McLaren. "We have all the ingredients for potential forest fires," he said. "Dry leaf litter provides a fuel source and slight to brisk winds help carry the fire. In addition, yard and field cleanups often involve burning leaves or field debris."

McLaren said the extent of fire damage is not evident immediately because trees are still standing and spring buds open to provide another year's growth of leaves.

"What people don't see is the hidden damage," he explained. "A fire moving through a hardwood stand normally burns close to the ground, affecting the lower part of the tree which is the most valuable. The first 16 feet of a tree is the highest quality because it has the fewest defects except when burned. As the fire surrounds the base of a tree, it raises the internal temperature of the trunk, killing the bark and underlying cambium layer."

"It usually takes a year or so for the bark to drop off. But by this time insects and diseases have already entered the trunk and begun the process of lowering the potential quality of the tree. Continued fires increase the process."

Mount Vernon Signal

RCHS featured on star channel

Rockcastle County High School received special recognition on Thursday, November 7 when it was featured as "School of the Day" during a KET Star Channels satellite course. KET Star Channels' satellite courses are advanced high school courses delivered live every day by satellite to schools across Kentucky and 18 other states.

Instructor Tom Graviss introduced Rockcastle County High students William Linnville and Anthony Mink of the Star Channels Probability & Statistics satellite course on the air while showing a picture of the students. Throughout the course, Graviss wore a shirt displaying the Rockcastle County Rockets mascot.

Classroom facilitator for the course is John L. Wells, Jr. "This is a fun way for students over such a vast area to get to know each other a little better," said Graviss. "The students really enjoy learning about their classmates and other schools."

The KET Star Channels courses were recently recognized as a 1991 winner of the Ford Foundation Innovations in State and Local Government Award administered by Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government. Currently, KET offers satellite courses in German I, German II, Probability & Statistics, Discrete Mathematics, Physics, Pre-calculus, and Latin I.

Sam Ford speaks at National Auctioneers Convention

Sam Ford of Ford Brothers Auctioneers-Realtors recently addressed the National Association of Realtors (NAR) at their convention in Las Vegas, Nevada.

This topic was "Seller and Buyer Benefits of a Real Estate Auction." This is the second time that Ford, past president of the National Auctioneers Association (NAA), has been asked to speak to the NAR national convention.

"Coming from a rural area here in Kentucky, I certainly feel honored to have been selected as a speaker for this important national convention," said Ford. Ford Brothers has offices in Mt. Vernon, Somerset, and London, Kentucky, and conducts auctions of real estate throughout the Southeastern Kentucky region.

The NAR is the largest trade organization in the U.S. with over 800,000 members. Over 27,000 Realtors representing every state in the country attended the recent convention.

Christmas in Renfro Valley

How do you plan a month-long Christmas celebration so that everyone who attends - regardless of age - takes away memories that will last long beyond the holiday season?

At Renfro Valley, folks, you include as many opportunities for traditional Christmas sights, sounds, flavors and scents as possible. Then, you add "the spice" - extras not found elsewhere, like a yodeling Santa Claus, a highly acclaimed puppetry caravan, sing-a-long Christmas caroling with the Renfro Valley show cast - and a village sparkling with hundreds of thousands of twinkling lights.

Christmas in the Valley '91 will be a patchwork quilt of activities, according to Dean Henriksen, Executive Vice president. Beginning November 29 (the day after Thanksgiving) and continuing through December 23, there will be literally dozens of holiday happenings at Kentucky's Country Music Capital.

The month-long celebration officially begins at 5:30 p.m. Friday the 29th, with the ceremonial lighting of the Valley's buildings, show barns, streets and Christmas trees. The magical result will generate enough special glow to make Renfro Valley easily visible not only from the nearby interstate and from commercial airliners flying over, but also from the North Pole - something of critical importance this special time of year.

Renfro Valley's "North Pole" emissary not only "HO! HO! HO!" - he also yodels. In fact, Lexington native Richard Baker (who is in the Guinness Book of World Records for his 5 hour, 24 minute non-stop yodeling effort) is one distinctively different kind of a Santa, dressed in the traditional red suit, he'll pose in his workshop for pictures on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, but - when the carolers sing "FALALALALALA, LA LA LA LA" - Renfro Valley's Santa will likely chime in (in perfect harmony) with "yodel-a-de-dee!"

And what would Santa's workshop be without elves? At Renfro Valley's "Christmas in the Valley" celebration - even the elves are unique - they cloag and they'll be doing so to entertain weekend visitors all through December.

Since music is really Renfro Valley's reason for being, costumed Christmas carolers strolling along the beautifully decorated village streets are a "natural" - and will be singing every day except Mondays throughout the holiday season. In addition, there will be special performances by hand bell and a cappella choirs during the festive season.

Those coming to the famous Jamboree shows on Friday evening or the Barnband Shows on Saturday nights (both at 7 p.m.) will want to arrive early enough to tour the most traditional of all Christmas activities - the live nativity scene, presented from 4 to 7 p.m. daily except Monday.

A special free performance by the Berea College Puppetry Caravan, under the direction of Neil Di Teresa, is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 7 at 2 p.m. in the Old Barn. The fascinating puppets and their four masters have performed at festivals and shows all over America for the past twenty years - and will bring the time-honored art of Appalachian puppetry to life in an audience-participation-encouraged performance guaranteed to fascinate everyone in attendance.

For additional information on Christmas in the Valley at Renfro, contact Tamara VanWinkle at 1-800-765-7464.

8 percent rate on unpaid taxes set for 1992

The 1992 tax interest rate charged on unpaid and delinquent taxes has been set at 8 percent, Revenue Secretary C. Emmett Calvert announced today.

The rate becomes effective Jan. 1 and is based on the prime interest rate charged by Kentucky banks during October, 1991.

Calvert said the rate on tax refunds will also be 8 percent. The Taxpayer Bill of Rights, enacted by the 1990 General Assembly, repealed prior law restricting interest paid on most tax refunds to 75 percent of interest charged on delinquent taxes.

The current tax interest rate is 10 percent. A survey of Kentucky banks showed that the average prime interest rate in effect during October was 8.41 percent, which the law requires to be rounded to the nearest whole percent (8 percent). The Revenue Secretary is required by 1982 law to set the tax interest rate by Nov. 15 for the year beginning Jan. 1.

Several injured in local wrecks at Sand Springs, Roundstone and Quail

A car belonging to Betty F. Lindblom of Renfro Valley was heavily damaged Nov. 13 when she struck a deer that ran in front of her home at Roundstone.

She told Sheriff Deputy Darrell Doan she was going north on US 225 when the deer jumped out of the brush and ran into the front of the car. She said the deer then ran into the woods.

Ora G. Hurst of Rt. 1, Brodhead, was treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital after her car was struck by another driver by Betty Whitehead off US 5 Mt. Vernon on Nov. 11.

Deputy Doan said Mrs. Whitehead reported she did not see the Hurst vehicle when she pulled out of KY 618 on KY 70.

James C. Sandusky of Mt. Vernon was admitted to Rockcastle Hospital last Thursday after an accident on Sand Springs Road, Nov. 14.

Deputy Doan said Sandusky ran off the road, traveled 195 feet went through a wire fence and overturned two or three times coming to rest on the edge of a steep embankment.

He was charged with driving under the influence probable cause.

James C. Sandusky lost control of his vehicle on Sand Springs road last Thursday afternoon. His car tumbled over a steep embankment after going through a wire fence.

A meeting of the committee seeking a grant to build a new outdoor park will be held Dec. 3rd at Mt. Vernon School at 7 p.m.

Signal trivia

Once each month, the Signal will list five trivia questions. The questions are made up from issues from the current month. For example, this week's questions were taken from the news in the November 7th, 14th, and 21st issues. Since this is November, the questions are only taken from November issues.

Answer all five questions and send them into the Signal and you will be eligible to win a twenty-five dollar cash prize.

Signal trivia regulations

Each time the Signal Trivia game is offered, players have five days to submit their answers. All five questions must be answered and the entries that have all questions answered correctly will then be placed in a pile and one winner will be chosen at random. That one player will be the recipient of the cash prize.

Clip the Trivia game out from this page, fill in your answers and send it to:

Tracking the Cats

Will great expectations translate into superior results?

That is one of the primary questions that face the Kentucky Wildcats as they embark on a season that has been anxiously awaited for the past 3 1/2 years. An NCAA investigation, probation, miracle makers and a magical mystery tour last season have weltered the appetite of Wildcat fans across the Commonwealth and the country.

This will be Kentucky's season in the spotlight and Rick Pitino's best team in three years. Last season, the Wildcats finished in the top ten and this year should be even better. Isn't it amazing that after some said the Wildcats would not recover until 2000, they are ranked anywhere from #2 in the nation to #9?

After watching the first two exhibition games of the year, here are my impressions and predictions for the 1991-92 season.

First and foremost, I do believe that the Wildcats will have a spectacular season. There are times when the hype over exceeds justification and disappointment sets in after a 20-10 season, but that will not be the case.

There are 17 home games scheduled and only 11 on the road, excluding the NIT (except the opener on Wednesday against West Virginia.) Obviously, the Wildcats are a much more aggressive team in Rupp Arena than on the road and their style plays in to the hands of the 23,000 fans in Lexington.

One of the great strengths of this team is a simple basic fundamental of basketball—shooting. Pitino has said it may be his best shooting team ever. With marksmen like John Pelphrey, Jamal Mashburn, Deron Feldhaus, Richie Farmer and Dale Brown, the depth is there if someone is having an off night.

The guard play should be excellent, with good quickness in the backcourt in the names of Sean Woods and Trevis Ford. As I've said the last two years, Woods is one of the big keys. He is probably the best point guard in the Southeastern Conference. Ford, once he recovers from his knee injury, will make a great addition, but the Madisonville native could be rusty the first several games. He is expected back in late December or early January.

Farmer is in the best shape of his life and should follow up with an outstanding conclusion to his junior season. Jeff Brassow is a tenacious player who goes 110% every second. His versatility as a shooting guard or small forward makes the Kentucky bench deeper with more quality. Junior college transfer Dale Brown has not lived up to preseason expectations, but that indicates how difficult it can be to step into a major college program and adjust immediately. His shooting eye will be needed this season.

The overall quickness of Kentucky is good, as well, but there enters one of its weaknesses—a lack of height. The Wildcats are suspect on the boards and could run into trouble against a great rebounding team.

The maturity level of this team is a great asset, especially with two defunct five year seniors like Deron Feldhaus and John Palphrey. Pitino has stated that he would not trade Pelphrey for any player in the country. Feldhaus will continue to sparkle as the sixth man and will be on the floor when the game is on the line.

The big question is who will replace Reggie Hanson at center. Gimel Martinez was given first shot because normally freshmen are not relied on immediately. A disappointment thus far, Martinez did play his best game ever as a Wildcat against the Soviet Union last week.

Andre Riddick, at nearly 6-10, has the most long term potential of the big men inside. His long arms should help on the defensive end and he will be counted on to hit the boards. Nine rebounds against the Soviet Union was encouraging.

An estimated crowd of nearly 5,000 people filled the stands. Echoes of noise also filled the crisp night air as they cried out, "Go Big Red." Two teams scattered across the football field responded to the cheers. One, a red team called the Redhounds and the other, a red team named the Rockets. The only difference in responses, the Redhounds crashed while the Rockets clinched—the victory that is.

In one of the premier match-ups and best high school football games throughout the state this past Friday night, the Rockcastle County Rockets moved onward in the regional play-offs with a heart stopping, 24-21, overtime win over the Corbin Redhounds at RCHS.

After a pressure field goal by Curtis Cotton to move the score in the Rockets' favor, 24-21, the final outcome was determined on an exciting last play when the Redhounds attempted the touchdown on a fourth and goal from about the five yard line. The end result would have been a win for the Redhounds and, to most in attendance, appeared to be. But an exceptional tackle by Rockets' J.D. Harris stopped Corbin's runner in his tracks just inches from the goal line.

Questioned by a reporter on his decision to go for the win in the overtime instead of a tie with a field goal, Corbin's coach Larry Adams said, "I'll never change. To the day I die I'll never change." "If I have a chance to beat somebody, I'll go for the jugular."

"This was publicized all week as a game of intensity and it was indeed an intense game," said Rockets' head coach Tom Larkey earlier this week, "it was not totally a play-off game for us coaches and players, it was a game for us to beat Corbin—to show Corbin that the first win wasn't a fluke."

Corbin head coach Larry Adams' response, "I thought we would score, I really did."

Corbin didn't score and it definitely wasn't a fluke, and Larkey pointed out, it was the Rockets' second win over the Redhounds this year and one that has now moved their 1991 record to 11-1.

Of course, the game was billed as a grudge match for Corbin to retaliate their earlier loss and, again, for the Rockets to prove that they are, indeed, a better football team. The game lived up to its billing.

Obviously, the best player on the team is sophomore sensation Jamal Mashburn. He is so good that the NBA could be looking after this season. At 6-8, 240 pounds, he resembles the great Magic Johnson with his style and elegance. Mashburn is like an elephant in a china shop, but this one doesn't break any glass because he's so graceful. After playing against Mashburn, Athlete in Action's Ray Tolbert marveled about his ability and long term potential. The former Indiana Hoosier great said that Mashburn was an NBA can't miss prospect, as long as he keeps his head on straight.

National and SEC preseason polls have placed the Wildcats high, but sometimes only third in the conference behind LSU and Arkansas. That is how good the Wildcats should be this season.

The Wildcats will have a great regular season and should make the Sweet 16, but it is there that the Wildcats' weakness could be exposed. Bigger and stronger teams like a Duke could cause havoc, especially on a neutral floor in the NCAA tournament. The Wildcats are not my pick to win the 1992 NCAA championship, but they will make an impact and affect who does. Kentucky may be only one player away from a title and reinforcements are on the way for next season. However, the Wildcats will lose four great seniors, Pelphrey, Feldhaus, Woods and Farmer.

It's going to be a great season, so sit back and enjoy Kentucky's return. Happy hoops!

"We came out as fired up as I've seen all year," said Larkey, "we proved that early on when we came out and held them first and then just rammed the ball down their throats on our first score."

After holding the Redhounds on four consecutive plays, the Rockets marched 68 yards for the first score of the game. Harris took the first carry for seven yards and then capitalized on his second with a 37 yard blast to move the Rockets from their own 36 yard line to Corbin's 27.

Backfield teammate Jonathon Saylor followed with one of the more exciting runs of the night. Saylor gained 21 yards while literally carrying four Redhound defensive players at the same time. And from Corbin's six yard line, Harris was in the end zone for the first touchdown of the game. Now known as the Sure Foot, Cotton's extra-point attempt was good and the Rockets led, 7-0.

Corbin's next drive started on their own 20 yard line and on fourth down and six yards to go the Redhounds faked a punt but Bobby Coffey and William Helford were there to keep the runner from making a first down and the Rockets took over on their own 47.

Corbin's defense held the Rockets on fourth and three on Corbin's 21 yard line and Larkey said this was the crucial play of the game.

"I feel the most crucial play was when Corbin held us on fourth down early. If I had converted the first down I know we would have scored

Will it be the title game?

They know how you feel, Rodney

By: Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Rockets are probably feeling a little like Rodney Dangerfield these days. Like Dangerfield, it seems the Rockets are getting little respect from the self-proclaimed pollsters in the daily papers and the coverage of their games by the Lexington Herald-Leader has been pathetic.

For whatever reason, little has been written about the Rockets 11 and 1 season in the pages of the Herald-Leader but, when Corbin, a third place finisher in the district, defeated Estill County there was an in-depth story about the Redhounds.

Last week, after the Rockets defeated the perennial state power for the second time this season, nothing was printed in the Herald-Leader on Saturday and on Sunday only a line score of the over-time game appeared.

If you were among the 1,000 or so in attendance last Friday night, you know that the Rocket, Corbin game was probably the best game in the state Friday night.

Even Alan Cutler, who boasts about his dedication to high school sports, slighted the Rockets Friday night when he did not have any footage of the game on his Prep Sports Report and only mentioned in passing that Rockcastle had defeated Corbin in overtime.

One thing is for certain, with the new playoff format in high school football and the quality of Rockcastle's program, the Rockets will be a fixture in post season play. If indeed the Herald-Leader and Lexington television stations want to cover high school football properly they had better find out who Rockcastle is and just how good their program is year after year.

Friday night, the Rockets travel to Danville and you can rest assured that their will be plenty of coverage. That is because Danville is and has been one of the best teams in Class 2A football for years.

But, they are no better, at least in this sports fan's mind, than the mighty Rockets.

Playing in Danville will give the Admirals a small advantage. But, if we take as many fans as they have, there actually will be no advantage. The Rockets are pretty healthy, John Saylor is slightly injured, but will play and the two teams have identical records. It should be another great high school football game and with proper support from their fans the Rockets could very well beat the Admirals. Many people have said that Friday night's game is actually the championship game in Class 2A because the winner should go on to win the state title.

No matter the outcome Friday night, the Rockets have had a great season and are no doubt one of the best teams in the entire state. Let's show our support and remember game time is 7:30 p.m. at Danville Rate.

Good Luck Rockets

At three different schools

Four former RCHS players enjoying football in college

A high school football players success is not measured just by his accomplishments on that team, but as a college player as well.

Whoever forged the old adage that great things come in small packages never knew Union College's Scottie Hines. The powerhouse freshman, a defensive tackle, has earned a letter and is a projected starter for next season.

Defensive line coach, John Gilliam, stated that when he recruited Hines and Hines chose Union, the coach felt like he "got a steal. He had other schools who wanted him, like Murray and others."

Hines started his college football career with a bang as he placed first in the defensive line 1 1/2 mile run. Having graduated in 1989, Rockcastle County's Adam Coleman has been a vital contributor to the Cumberland College Indian's success.

Centre College in Danville gained two 1990 RCHS grads, Dane Cox and Kevin Rowe, both sophomores. According to coach Joe McDaniel, Dane Cox has progressed immensely. Having earned a letter this year, Cox is becoming a vital part of the team.

First positioned as a running back, Cox determined his strength as an outside line backer. Since his switch, he has had to concentrate on learning the defensive line strategy and has done so effectively, according to McDaniel. "Dane is a good player who we hope will remain steady," said McDaniel as he elaborated about his future expectations for Cox.

Centre running back and kicker, Kevin Rowe, has spent two years with the team. Rowe proved his vitality this season by replacing an injured full back, who was a junior. "Kevin got the opportunity and he was ready to step in and take over. He has done an excellent job blocking and has proved to be a solid player," said McDaniel.

Rowe received a letter this year as he received a great deal of playing time. Rowe participated in every quarter of this season, mostly kicking and some as a line backer.

Rockets -vs- Corbin

By: Preston Parrett

In the middle of October Redhounds were flying high. Until the Rockets rolled into town and bludgeoned them from the sky.

Since then they've wanted revenge in anticipation were licking their chops.

And in the District Play-offs Were going to pull out all the stops.

With pep rallies and bonfires They began to set the stage, And on the Champion Rockets Were going to vent their rage.

They rolled down Interstate Seventy-Five With a mighty clash of gears, And the cheers of thousands Were ringing in their ears.

Down in the heart of Rockcastle Rocket fans were in hog heaven, And they wanted their heroes To make it win number eleven.

Rocket fans spread out On the bank and around the field, Again they shouted their slogan Out "Defense shall not Yield."

Players on both teams Surely had the jitters, But among the Rockets and Red-hounds There were not any quitters.

When the game was over There wasn't any doubt, Two powerful well coached teams Had met and slugged it out.

In the first quarter Humming Bird Harris got the cue, He took the ball on a hand-off And over the goal line he flew.

In the second quarter The Hounds raised the bristles on their back, A sixty five yard pass from Mauser To McCowan got them on track.

A few minutes later The Redhounds struck again, A twenty five yard pass from Mauser To Pierce and he took her in.

The Rockets were trailing by seven And they said "This won't do." A pass from Parkey to Kirby And "Sticky Fingers" carried it on through.

In the third quarter The Hounds were having fun, As Mauser on a keeper Scored on a sixteen yard run.

Once again the Rockets trailed And they showed a lot of poise, As Humming Bird Harris Took it over amid all the noise.

When the regular game was over The score was tied you know, And Rocket chances rested On Sure Foot Cotton's educated toe.

When the ball split the uprights Rocket fans let out a roar, For again they were up, On the long end of the score.

The Redhounds had another chance In this overtime of "sudden death," And fans in the stands Waited with bated breath.

The Hounds had one last down Their coach made a courageous call, Instead of going for a tie He opted to win it all.

Rocket and Redhound fans Were all on their feet, As the Redhound racing for the goal line Was knocked back on his seat.

Rocket fans roared across the track And out upon the field, Where they all got together Yelling "Our defense did not yield."

To coaches, team and cheerleaders Rocket fans are proud as can be, For this will forever rate As a great Rocket victory.

Join the convoy to Danville Friday night to show your support for the Rockets. Meet at RCHS at 5:30 and tie a red and blue ribbon around your antenna.

and been up on their own 20 and after a series of plays Corbin broke loose for a 66 yard touchdown with 9:42 left in the second quarter.

Corbin's extra-point attempt was good and the game was tied at several all.

Corbin's next scoring drive began from the Rockets' 37 yard line after the Redhounds intercepted a Scott Parkey pass. Only four plays later Corbin's quarterback found his receiver in the end zone for the Redhounds second touchdown of the night. Corbin's extra-point attempt was good and the Redhounds had a second point lead with 6:22 left in the second quarter.

But the Rockets' wouldn't be denied. Their very next drive the Rockets marched down field on good runs Corbin could get only one more play off before Hellard forced Corbin's runner to cough up the ball and Jason Fletcher was there to recover the fumble for the Rockets.

The Rockets could get only one play off before the end of the half and the Rockets and Redhounds went in the half all knotted up at 14.

"I was pleased how we kept fighting back, that showed a lot of spirit," was real confident when we went in at the half tied up," Larkey said.

Corbin was the first to capitalize in the third quarter. The Redhounds began their drive on their own 37 yard line and six plays later Corbin's quarterback ran it in from the 17 yard line. Corbin's extra-point attempt was good and the Redhounds had a seven point lead with 6:02 left in the third quarter.

But once again the Rockets would not give up. Harris started their next drive with a 30 yard run to Corbin's 44 yard line. William Bullens then picked up another Rocket first down, Harris picked up five yards and then Kirby made an awesome catch on Corbin's 19 yard line for another first down and this set up the Rocket's last touchdown. Two plays later Harris scored from the one yard line. Cotton's extra-point attempt was good and the game was tied at 21 with 1:57 left in the third quarter.

Fletcher stopped Corbin's next drive when he recovered yet another fumble on Corbin's 48 yard line.

The Rockets and Redhounds were silent throughout the rest of the fourth quarter until Corbin went for a game winning 46 yard field goal and with the ugly miss Bullens was there to take the ball back to the Rockets 31 yard line.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: John A. Wylie

According to a recent article carried by the Associated Press studies are now showing that the teen years may not be as bad as we often expect them to be and that most teens make a relatively smooth transition to adulthood. Whether this is true or not, the teen years are often a time when a person begins to use writing more frequently to express ideas and communicate to others. Some teens write letters, some keep diaries, and some write poems, fiction, or articles.

About a year ago a group of our teens started a newsletter called "In Our Heads." They are ready for their third issue of original writings and drawings. We are encouraging teens to write more and whenever possible I will reprint some of their works here. This first item is a poem written last year, the second was written last week.

"The teen center is a place to go Even during rain or snow. It's a little building but it's fun, You can't go in there with a gun. It's made of brick and paint and glue. It was made just for you. There's hockey, ping pong, soccer, pool, Or you just sit around, drink Coke and be cool."

Katie Wilson

"The teen center is a place I can go to get stuff off my mind. The teen center is a place where teens can come and have fun and be happy. You would really like the staff, they are John, Dina and Mike. There was a woman who used to be at the teen center and she helped me through problems I had, her name was Ginny. Some people think that it wouldn't be fun to come to the teen center, but they are wrong - the teen center is an important place."

 Mr. Napier's class is finishing their production of a play called "Johnny Meets his Dinner." The play was designed for K-1 grades to watch and learn how important their foods are.
 Mr. Napier's class has several new members. All are from the Wheat family. They studied George Washington and decided to experiment with Washington's favorite crop, wheat. The wheat is about 10mm tall.
 Mr. Napier urges all students and their parents to attend the Community Scholarship Fund music program Nov. 26 at 6:30 p.m. Strait Shot Band and New Found Gold will be featured. The cost is $2 for students and $4 for adults. Tickets can be bought from Mr. Carter, Mrs. Powell or Mr. Napier. We're hoping for $10,000.

Mrs. Karen Powell's 5th grade class recently invited Mrs. Debbie Brown to their classroom. Mrs. Brown, a radiology technologist, shared some of her knowledge about the skeletal system with the students. She even shared some interesting X-rays. The students enjoyed Mrs. Brown's presentation and wish to thank her for coming. On Monday, the students enjoyed Mrs. Brown's presentation and wish to thank her for coming. On Monday, the students enjoyed the Richmond Children's Theatre production of "Alice in Wonderland." Afterwards, the students were treated to lunch at McDonald's. Upon their return to the classroom, the students practiced their creative-writing skills by writing a review of the play. Look out Sister and Ebert!

The holiday spirit is getting an early start at Roundstone Elementary. Secret Santa's are busy bringing treats and surprises to staff members. This is an enjoyable way to help staff and students deal with holiday stress.
 Due to scheduling conflicts, the Thanksgiving mini-play to be presented at the November 19, P.T.A. meeting has been rescheduled for November 27. There will be two presentations of the play. The first presentation will be at 9:20 a.m. and the second presentation will be at 1 p.m. The play will be presented by Mrs. Hale's 6th grade and Mr. Penso's second graders. Parents of these students are invited to view the play at either presentation.

Mrs. Little's 8th grade science classes at Roundstone Elementary recently constructed biosphere models for a science project. The students began their project by connecting toothpicks to form their model. Inside the model, the students created a life-supporting system. After all components were in place, plastic wrap was placed over the toothpicks, creating a dome effect. Pictured are, from left: Deanna Stallworth, Marcia Coffey, Melanie Coffey and Ginger Mink.

Thursday, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m., Project Graduation and Jubilee Promotions will present an evening with "Perfect Hearts Ministries." Fast becoming one of America's favorite gospel quartets, Perfect Heart has already been named "New Group of the Year" by the Singing News Fan Awards at the 1991 National Quartet Convention. Also, this group received the award "Song of the Year 1991" for their release, "Somebody Touched the Lord." All proceeds will go to Rockcastle County High School's Project Graduation night. Also appearing with Perfect Heart will be The Jubilee Echoes.

Kyle Lamb and Sue Lamb created this cover for the LES school newspaper. The newspaper will be produced right before Thanksgiving. Congratulations students!

The fourth grade students of Mrs. Kathy Reynolds and Mrs. Katreka Cash are visiting the Lexington Children's Museum Thursday, November 21.

The PTA fundraiser deadline was Monday, November 18. The orders will be filled and delivery will be near the first of December.

Using a creative and innovative approach, the students explore the art of photography and various photographic techniques. Some students learn how to make and use pin-hole cameras built from cardboard boxes, others learn how to use a 35mm camera, develop their film and print their photos. Still other groups of students learn how to create photographs without using a camera (photograms and handmade slides). The technical aspects of photography are applied to a creative interpretation of the students' real and fantasy lives.

Two groups of 8th graders will exhibit photos taken with their pin-hole cameras. They focused on self-portraits. Another group used 35mm cameras to photograph aspects of life in Mt. Vernon school.

The 6th graders, using their own handmade cameras, photographed themselves and their imaginary alter egos while wearing masks and costumes of their own design.

The 5th graders have a multi-media program in progress. This includes handmade photographic images, creative writing, original music, video, masks and costumes. Ms. Braverman introduced all the arts through one day workshops conducted by visiting artists who are specialists in the fields of poetry, music, dance, costume design, and maskmaking. Students experienced firsthand how all art forms interact and can influence each other.

All of the students in Ms. Braverman's classes will exhibit at least one piece of work.

The public is invited to an artists' reception and exhibit on Sunday, November 24 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Rockcastle County Public Library. The exhibit continues through December 3. Regular library hours are as follows:

Mon., Tue., Fri., 12:00 - 5 p.m.
Wed., 10:00 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Thurs., 12 - 8 p.m.

Sat., 8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m.
This project is partially funded by Mt. Vernon Elementary School and a grant from the Kentucky Arts Council with funds from the National Endowment of the Arts.

The 12th Annual Breadth/Endowment Tournament is scheduled for January 5, 9, 10 and 11. Participating teams are the four county elementary teams and Wayne County, Foley Middle School, Crab Orchard Elementary and Houstonville Elementary.

The fourth grade students of Mrs. Kathy Reynolds and Mrs. Katreka Cash would like to thank Mrs. Ann Taylor, PTA President and Gary Gentry of Southern Belle for the quart milk cartons which will be used in making persimmons for science.

Our fourth grade and eighth grade teachers attended a staff development workshop at MVES, Thursday evening. This workshop was designed to increase teacher understanding of portfolio completion.

Happy Thanksgiving to all our preschool families from Paula Davis, teacher and Kathy Coffey, instructional assistant.

The super 6th grade class is still talking about the awesome, fabulous, radical, super trip to the Museum of Natural History in Cincinnati. All the students rate it as a "five-star" experience. It would be hard to say what section of the museum the students enjoyed most -- The Cavern, the Ice Age Cave, and "Ring of Fire" presentation were definitely tops. A big Eagle thank you to Citizen Branch Bank, Mt. Vernon Drive-Thru Pharmacy, Dowell-Martin Funeral Home, Cox Funeral Home, Roy G. Todd Construction Company, Lambert and Lambert Attorneys, H.E. Hale, and Judge Roland Mullins for their financial assistance. The students rated Jack Noe a super bus driver. The students will remember this trip always.

"Tiger Pause"

Mrs. Jeannine Parsons, Mrs. Jennifer Adkinson, Mrs. Lillie Parsons, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pike for the entertainment at the PTA meeting Thursday evening.

The kindergarten students of Mrs. Rita Shaffer and Mrs. Darlene Harris had fun making Big Books with a Thanksgiving theme.

Mrs. Sharon Ponder's second graders had a surprising result of their experience in creating Big Books. The class chose the praying mantis as subject and wrote and illustrated the pages. The class had a praying mantis man aquarium in the classroom which actually spun an egg sac during the weekend. Of course, the mommy died, but the children are eagerly awaiting the possibility of the arrival of 400 babies in the spring.

The primary classes of Mrs. Jeannine Parsons, Mrs. Jennifer Adkinson and Mrs. Lillie Parsons painted on muslin material with paint prepared from the juices of mashed cranberries, blueberries and beets. The Indian paintings increased interest for the students in a study of the Navaho people. The students will be making pottery, totem poles, and fringed bread with homemade butter.

Mrs. Ginny Gilpatrick, Drug-Free Schools teacher/counselor, will be leading a Drug Free America Poster Contest Workshop for students grades 3-6 after school Tuesday, November 19.

The Junior High Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Caroline Graves and Mrs. Pam Martin will present "I Love Christmas" for the student body, Monday, December 16 at 1:30. Later that evening a second performance will follow a chili supper sponsored by PTA. The chili supper will be from 4:30 - 6:30.

The students of Mrs. Katreka Cash, Mrs. Kathy Reynolds and Mrs. Charlotte Bullock will present "Merry Christmas Mix-Up" at the next PTA meeting, Thursday, December 12.

Mrs. Mabel Cash, our nurse aide, is busy screening students' weight, height, vision and hearing. Mrs. Cash is a valued and appreciated part of our school.

The school would like to thank Mrs. Wanda C., Mrs. Brenda Bradley, Mrs. Betty Brown and Mrs. Doris Blanton for helping our sixth and seventh grade girls make "pooodle" skirts to wear for 50's Day.

School will be dismissed for Thanksgiving, Thursday and Friday, November 28 and 29. Tiger Pause will not appear next week. We wish you and yours a happy holiday!

outstanding posters were Conley Durham, Bridgette Hillard, Cynthia Langford, Lucy Sexton and Kristy Sturgill. The winners for outstanding Indian village projects were Daniel Ashcraft, Conley Durham, Lucy Sexton, Amy Smith and Travis Wynn. All students did an excellent job and should feel proud of their accomplishments. The fifth graders are beginning work on a Thanksgiving play and studying the lives of the pilgrims.

The Livingston Elementary cheerleaders are working hard to get ready for the girl's tournament. These girls have a lot of spirit to give to their teams and are very happy to be there to show it. Good luck, L.E.S.!!

LES vs. RES at home Monday, Nov. 25, 6 p.m. Students of the Week are: Alex Daniel Martin, Jeffery Steen Carpenter, Mathew Faulkner, Amanda Rose Parker, Jeffrey Clayton Powell, Rebecca Blake, Evelyn Sealf, Sonny Parker, Robert Lee McClure, Christopher Blake Kirby and Michael Crouch.

Our celebration for National Children's Book Week was very successful. Many participated and we hope that the students have an increased awareness of the need to read. We encourage families to read together. The Schoolwide Project Committee met on Wednesday in the library. Mrs. Martin reported that students are progressing with book reports. A new video camera has been purchased for our school through the Chapter I Project.

Mrs. Carolotis and Mrs. Everlove will be attending a conference in Louisville next month.

The kindergarten students met Mr. S. This week. The children thought his Super Socks were really cool! The students have been learning how helpful the Indians were to the pilgrims. The students did some role playing as Indians and pilgrims. The "Indian" shared popcorn with the hungry "Pilgrims." Also in keeping with the theme, the kindergartners worked cooperatively to make a totem pole for display on the door. They also made pictures of Indian corn.

Ms. Phillips class continues to work on Dinosaurs. The children have each displayed some very interesting projects about the dinosaurs they chose. Students were very eager to present displays to the class. You can share these interests by viewing their projects in the hall. Students are also learning to subtract using different types of manipulatives.

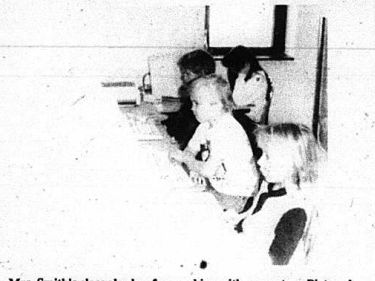

The fifth grade students have completed their research projects on different groups of Native Americans. Each student was assigned a different Indian group to find as much information about as possible. Each student had three different projects to complete. Five winners were chosen from each project. The winners for outstanding written reports were Conley Durham, Stephanie Hamilton, Cynthia Langford, Jeremy Martin, and Judy Spencer. The winner for short response ("Okay.") don't immediately try to fill the silence. Take another sip of coffee and maybe ask another safe question about a friend, weekend plans or Christmas. Nothing too controversial. If the answers are still monosyllabic, relax, finish your coffee, and try again tomorrow. Don't give up. It may take a few tries before your teenager catches on that you really do want to hear what he/she has to say. It might require being sensitive to your child's timing rather than setting your own. My son almost always did his best talking at about 11 p.m. when I was about to fall asleep reading in bed.

But what if they do start talking? Restrain yourself from making judgements. "How was your day?" If you get spontaneous giving orders or processing routine questions ("What's for dinner?"). Only thirty seconds involve the average father! So if you set aside just ten minutes a day for real dialogue you are about 300 percent ahead of the average.

(Cont. to B-12)

Mrs. Smith's class also has fun working with computers. Pictured are Ashley Lake, Eric Denney, Joseph Bostic and Maranda King.

Mrs. Jerril Lynn Smith's class at MVES enjoy listening to tapes at the Learning Center. Pictured, from left to right, are Amanda Sturgill, Chris Kerns, Terri Cromer, Jason Pannell, Tiffany Daugherty and Jessica Owens.

Researchers have found that in the average American family, parents and teenagers spend an average of fifteen minutes per day talking to each other. Of that fifteen minutes, twelve are

"Strait Shot" and "New Found Gold" will be features of Scholarship Benefit Concert

Please get your tickets in advance for the Country and Bluegrass Music Benefit Show scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 26 at the high school. Tickets are $25 for students K-12 and $4 for adults or $5 at the door. So, get your tickets early and help us meet our goal of $10,000. The total now in the fund is over $9,000 so the $10,000 goal is realistic but it is going to take a good turn-out at the concert to meet it so, help us and treat yourself to an evening of fine entertainment by two top country/bluegrass bands.

Strait Shot has been together for about six years. Along with other bands, changes in musicians were made during these years. Based out of Rockcastle Co., its members now consist of James Miller, bass guitar, vocals and band manager; Keith Mink, guitarist, vocals; Roger McGuire, guitarist, vocals; John Martin, drummer, vocals; Keith Bussell, lead vocalist and percussion; Terry Cromer, lighting and sound tech. All members are from Rockcastle except John Martin on drums who is from Frankfort.

During the years of Strait Shot, they have been the opening act for T. Graham Brown and the Ky. Headhunters. With the help, from a longtime favorite of the band, Joshua Cooley has opened up some doors for Strait Shot. Strait Shot has played numerous clubs from Somerset, London, Wayneburg, Richmond, Lebanon, Lexington and also in Tennessee. What started out as a hobby and for enjoyment has led up to a business venture. On their own, Strait Shot members have written and recorded their original material. They have a cassette tape available with their songs on it. Featured on the tape are each member singing lead as well as background harmony. This gives the band a versatile aspect in music as well as showing each band member talent in singing as well as playing.

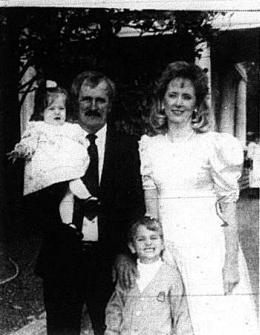

What kind of music do they play? Everything from Merle Haggard, Keith Whitley to Exile, ZZ Top and Lynard Skynard. Whatever the crowd may want, you'll not be disappointed. Expect to hear a lot of their originals from their cassette entitled "Ky Nights." You'll also hear some familiar Top 40 Country as well as some older classics.

Whether the crowd be young or old, this will be a night for the whole family you'll not want to pass up. Plus 100% of the proceeds go to the scholarship fund.

By the way, Strait Shot has a fan club that is free to its members. Just send a postcard saying you'd like to be a member of the fan club to: Strait Shot, P.O. Box 156, Brodhead, Ky. 40409.

In next week's issue of the Signal, there will be a complete rundown of donors to the 100 Club and others and a final report of total donations. Help us to reach our goal of $10,000 -- it's a reality, not a dream and all that is needed is your help to reach the top.

Pat and Lana Crawford and family in last photo before his death. In Memory of my son Pat Crawford

Oh dear Pat, we miss you so
And the tears still overflow
We miss that smile and laughter
That you have taken to the hereafter
Your son Zack, misses you so
But his little tears, will not flow
And little Tiffany walks with a strut
And says her dad's with lots of gut
Lana and I are still in a daze
And always have that far off gaze
Life for all of us started too slow
The day we heard you had to go
But you always said, "we are tough"
And we all know it will be rough
We know the heavenly bells are ringing
And that you have everyone singing
Heaven will never be the same
Because of a new angel and Pat's his name.

There were parades and flags for the dying
But for Vietnam Vets; no flags were flying.
For them I know the hurt is deep
And for them and my son, Mike, I will weep.
Let us pray, it doesn't happen all over
And our girls and boys have a bed of clover.
Take away, all the hate forever
And no more wars, no, no, never.
The monument was a great start
For the loved ones that did depart.
Now its time to start giving
To Vietnam War Heroes, that are living.

We All Miss You.

'The Overlooked'
Happy Birthday
For my son: Mike Crawford
By: Jean Crawford Jones

Our boys and girls went to war
From families of the rich and poor
Everyone became very sad
And ended up very mad.
This was the war of Vietnam
Against our good, Old Uncle Sam.
A lot were killed and left in pain
For a war that was fought in vain.
Parents at home lived in fear
For the ones, they loved so dear.
Then the girls and boys came home.
Most of them, never more to roam.
A lot ended up on the streets
To hide their feelings of defeat.
There were no parades, and waving flags
Their once broad shoulders, began to sag
We let them down, and that's no lie
But for us they laid down to die.
Then there comes another war
But not as long as the one before.
There was pain, and more killing
And the name Hussein was very chilling.
