

Tiger Pause

Congratulations to Steve and Marsha Caudill upon the arrival of their new daughter, Kaitlin. Marsha is our fourth grade teacher and students.

The kindergarten students of Mrs. Leslie Camie and Mrs. Rita Shaffer have enjoyed making oceans in a bottle this week. The teachers along with instructional assistants, Mrs. Darlene Harris and Mrs. Goldie Blanton have introduced the students to their new book, Sounds, Symbols and Sense. This is a read-aloud book that will enable the students to master the skills necessary for the next primary level.

Our Chapter 1 teachers and IAs are promoting Reading in the Mail Day. This activity is sponsored by the Jesse Stuart Council of the International Reading Association for students, teachers and parents. A day to emphasize the "love of reading" will be Saturday, February 8 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Richmond Mall. We are hoping to have a number of student participants.

The Guidance Committee met Wednesday to make plans concerning self-esteem which will be minimized through a county-wide effort at a later date.

The faculty voted for the school to enter Site-Based Decision Making. The necessary steps toward implementation are now being coordinated.

Mrs. Jane McClure reports that lunch tickets go on sale Jan. 29.

We would like to congratulate Jeremy Reynolds, fourth grader, for winning the H Poster contest at the school level.

If you have been near the school in the last few days, then you've noticed a large black and white mobile unit parked outside the building. Our students, grades K-8, will have nutrition programs from this unit throughout the week. This is one of the many beneficial programs available at our school through the County Extension Office.

The Rockcastle County Family Resource Center is having ADD (Attention Deficit Disorder) workshops at MVES. If you have a child diagnosed as hyperactive/hyperactive, then this workshop is recommended. The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, February 4 at 6:45.

We would like to send along get well wishes to one of our custodians, Mrs. Nancy Bradley. These folks are an integral part of our school and they need to know that they are appreciated.

During the month of February students and staff at LES will be involved with Australian units. LES will host Roundstone K-3 students and selected grades of all ages on three continents with a special program is planned with "Oz Music Award Winner, Australian: Seona McDowell." She has delighted audiences of all ages on these continents with her family oriented musical programs.

Students of the week are: Felicia Dawn Jones, Kimberly Aylene Skidmore, Angela Michelle Carpenter, Malena Fawn Shoemaker, Jimmy Glen Pheasie, Jr., Chrystal Hampton, Liza Sexton, Travis Wynn, David Durham, B.J. Mason, Donald Ray Hopkins, Lisa Kay Hammond.

The High Expectations Committee at LES have been working on activities to build self-esteem. One project that the committee decided on using was that at the end of each six week badges would be given to students making the honor roll and principal's list. Also badges would be given for the students in each class that improved the most. The project began on Monday, January 20. The student body went to the gym for an assembly program. A huge banner reading "High Grades are Cool" hung at the front of the gym.

Mr. Mink explained that students would receive two student badges and most improved student badges. He also explained that on Tuesday, Jan. 21 each student should wear their badge to school that "Good Grades are Cool." Each student was recognized individually by having their name called by Mr. Mink and the badges were presented on stage. We at LES feel that most students will be on the honor roll and principal's list because of the activities planned.

Dr. Thames will conduct a workshop on T.E.S.A., February 3 at 3:30 p.m. The Discipline Committee is working toward an effective discipline policy for LES.

Kindergarten News: During January our focus of study will be the season of winter. In addition to our regular classroom work, we will be doing the following activities in class.

- Discuss colds/germs
- Make a hand covering a sneeze
- Read stories about winter
- Learn poems and fingerplays
- Make a paper plate snowman
- Make a cotton snowman
- Make a Jan. calendar
- Make snowflakes from coffee filters

Make a snowman snack

Do activity sheets that reinforce the concept of winter

The snowman snack will be made from large marshmallows, coffee stirrers, chocolate drops, and licorice. If you would like to see a preview of these items, please let me know soon.

I have seen a lot of progress in the kindergarten students this year. It has been a good semester. I am enjoying working with the five and six year old students.

If you have any questions or doubts about the kindergarten program and expectations, please make an appointment for a conference with me. I want what is best for all of my students. I am looking forward to a great school year.

A Summion of Love

By Steve Carpenter

When the night is strange and the dark is frightening 'till the stars in Heaven above light up the sky and the guardian angels with her hands held high, sings gracefully in the night and suddenly above I saw a light flash and then I knew it was love from God above and thinking to myself, I thought it could be when I saw I saw it again I knew it was for me.

Teen Center Perspectives

By: Dina Murray and Jennifer Blain

This brand new year of 1992 holds many new and interesting events for the teens at R.T.C. This week, on Friday, January 24, we are having "International Day."

There will be posters of different countries on the walls and food from the various countries as well. It promises to be a very exciting and educational event. People of all ages are welcome to stop by and join in the fun. It will be from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Hope you can stop by for a while!

Week's Schedule:

Monday: Jr. High Nite 4:30-7:30 (every Monday unless otherwise noted)

Tuesday: Karate/Human Sexuality 5:30-8:00 A.A. Alton C.O.A. 7:30

Wednesday: World of Work 5:30-8:00 or movie 6:00

Thursday: O.R. Teen Challenge 6:00-6:30 R.T.C. 6:30-9:00

Friday: O.R. til 5:00-5:00-9:00 T.G.I.F. Teen Council

Saturday: Sewance Project, Road Trip, or special event.

Mt. Vernon Message

Mrs. Alexander's class has been studying about the letter "O" and the number 13.

Mrs. Webb's class has two special students each week.

Mrs. Clontz's class has been reading about monsters in math. They have been learning how to write in cursive.

Mrs. Adam's class is gradually working into their T.L.C.

Mrs. Maple's class is using big books.

Mrs. Deborah's class is studying dinosaurs.

Mrs. Cameron's class has three new students that have come from the second grade.

The fourth grade reflections winners are Jennifer McLemore, Debra Spencer, Keisa Singleton, Courtney Hansel and Dale Robbins.

The 4th grade is also working on a multi-act that raises money for the Saint Jude Children's Hospital.

Several of Mrs. Powell's 5th grade students have received replies from their letter writing project. Several students have received letters from President Bush. They have decided to participate in the Valentines for Vets program. Each student will be making valentines to send to the Veterans Hospital in Lexington.

The Girl Scouts are now selling cookies. If you would like to purchase cookies, contact Mrs. Lovell or any members of MVES Brownies or Junior troops. Cookies are $2.50 a box.

MVES would like to welcome Mr. Coffey to our school. He is serving as a student teacher for Mrs. Darst and Mrs. Parsons. Miss Barrett is also student teaching in our school.

Mrs. Kincer's Class is participating in the PTA reflections contest. The deadline is Friday.

We are also working on science projects with electricity and magnetism.

Our class spelling bee is this week. Good luck, study, study, study.

Mrs. Robert's class gave a play in Social Studies titled, "The Return of the Nino."

Everyone in the class had a part. We miss our teacher, Mrs. Robinson, very much. We took up money and bought Morgan and Megan a gift.

We have been studying sound in science. We made homemade instruments and demonstrated them and put them into the 2 categories in which they belonged. Dusty Burdette demonstrated "Hambone" with the spoons.

Ginny Gilpatrick presented four Drug Abuse programs for the class. We made posters to be distributed on places around town.

Mrs. McKinney's class is presently studying about India and are trying to select an act for the 4-4 variety show coming up in March.

Mr. Alexander reported his class has been doing many hands-on experiments.

Saying thank you is not hardly appropriate for all the work mothers and parents gave to the Mt. Vernon PTA during the holidays. We greatly appreciate the help from mothers and PTA officers on our Santa Workshop. The children enjoy purchasing gifts for their parents and friends.

The "Make a Wish Tree" project was a great success due to the great supporters that helped us make 66 children have a wonderful Christmas. We can never thank you enough for caring, sharing, and love of children. We are starting the new year and out with all our friends and supporters. Bringing in the new year and out with the old we say thanks for everything you have done for our Mt. Vernon students.

7th grade presents "Puss in Boots"

On December 19, 1991, the 7-3 reading class of Mrs. Henferson, under the direction of Alan Penzol, presented the play, Puss in Boots, to the students and faculty of MVES. This is the story of a young man who inherits a cat - and very little else - from his father. The cat turns out to be magical, and everyone "lives happily ever after." We wish that Mr. Penzol for making this a very pleasurable and successful experience.

The seventh and eighth grade English classes are collecting material for a book to be printed soon concerning the "old-time" ways of farming, preserving food, etc. We hope to have the book ready for sale by May of this year. We have found this research very informative and interesting. Several students made taped interviews which were presented to the whole class.

7th and 8th Grade Band Report

The MVES 7th grade beginning band meets classes in the RCHS band room each day during first period. Roundstone beginners also have class with MVES, but meet only three days each week.

Their work in class consists of studies from a band method book, "Best in Class," which introduces songs and exercises for practice which help to build sound fundamental techniques for the beginning musician.

This group, along with 7th grade musicians from the other schools, have already given one public performance before Christmas and is preparing for another before the school year is over.

MVES 8th grade band is part of a consolidated group of 8th grade musicians from all elementary schools who meet each day in the RCHS band room during last period. Their work at this time of year consists of studies in "Best in Class" book 2, plus practice on concert type selections in preparation for a spring concert and tour to our elementary schools.

Most of these students will also be preparing individual solos or instrumental ensemble parts for participation in the KMEA state solo and ensemble festival at Eastern Kentucky State University in March.

Students selected from this group because of their advanced abilities also participated in the Middle School Honors Band Clinic at EKU this past November.

These students were: Casey Mullins and Melissa Cummins, MVES; Ginger Mink, RES; and Jeremiah Taylor and Sarah Barrett, BES.

Casey Mullins, whose primary instrument is mallets, along with Ginger Mink a percussionist from RES, perform with the RCHS band this year. Their advanced abilities allowed them entrance into the band when there was a need for more percussionists and they have been a great asset to the high school band this year.

Thirteen from here graduate from EKU

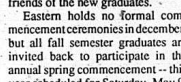

Thirteen Rockcastle County students received degrees from Eastern Kentucky University at the end of the University's fall semester.

They are: Michelle Adams, Charles Asher, Paula Blevins, William Brown, Rebecca Burdette, Clayton Cash, Christopher Craig, Billy Creech, Teresa DeBorde, Dawn Gregory, Roy Martin, William Reynolds, and Melora Wren.

The University's 970 December graduates were honored by receptions Dec. 14 sponsored by EKU's nine colleges.

Faculty and administrators of the college were on hand, as well as hundreds of family members and friends of the new graduates.

Eastern holds no formal commencement ceremonies in December, but all fall semester graduates are invited back to participate in the annual spring commencement - this year scheduled for Saturday, May 9.

Father and son team, Charlie and Robbie Napier, break boards during a Karate demonstration for the 5th grade at Mt. Vernon Elementary.

Dean's List

Detrina Loece of Crab Orchard has been named to the Lindsay Wilson College Dean's list for the 1991 Fall semester.

Students who are named to the Dean's list must make at least a 3.5 semester grade point average on a 4.0 grading scale.

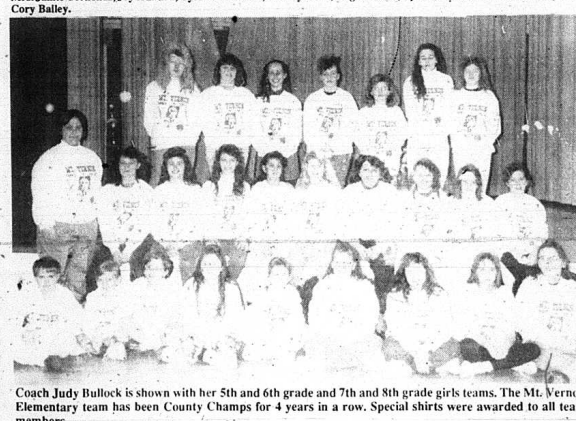

John David Stephenson of Rt. 3, Berea, has been named to the Dean's List at Western Kentucky University for the fall semester.

Daniel R. Gutenson has been named to the Dean's List at Clear-Creek Baptist Bible College. His inclusion in the Dean's List means that he has achieved a grade point average of 3.30 or higher for the 1991 fall semester.

Gutenson, a native of Waynesburg, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gutenson of Waynesburg. He is pastor of Watts Chapel Baptist Church, Crab Orchard. Gutenson is married to Sheila Kirby of Brodhead, and they have two children, Jacob and Hannah.

The MVES 6th grade class, under the direction of Mrs. Sheila McQueary and Mrs. Sharon McKinney, presented "The Nutcracker" on Dec. 20, 1991. The remaining students of 16th grade performed as Victorian Christmas carollers under the direction of Mrs. Jamie Corneilus, Blake Childress, Jason Houk and Jessica Johnson were stage managers. In the photo are, front row, from left: Kenneth Cromer, Matt Sowder, Jason McGuire, Travis Anderkin, Greg Lewis, Phillip McLemore. Second row: Mrs. Ruby Corneilus, Mrs. Sheila McQueary, Ronna D. McClure, Becky Dykes, Melissa Cromer, Lorahen Payne, Leigh Ann Jones, Dusty McClure, Chad Shivers, Chris Miller and Mrs. Sharon McKinney. Third row: Mrs. Jamie Corneilus, Joy Howard, Crystal Childress, Christy Mink, Angie Reams, Xylene Prather, Matthew Muncy and Cory Bailey.

Coach Judy Bullock is shown with her 5th and 6th grade and 7th and 8th grade girls teams. The Mt. Vernon Elementary team has been County Champions for 4 years in a row. Special shirts were awarded to all team members.

Rogers announces candidacy

Kentucky Congressman Harold Rogers announced today that he is seeking re-election to a seventh term in the United States House of Representatives.

Kicking off his campaign announcement tour before a hometown crowd in Somerset, the veteran Republican lawmaker promised to continue his efforts to create jobs, promote family values and help people in need.

Rogers, who also made campaign stops in Hazard and Pikeville today, said he would work just as hard for the Eastern Kentucky counties new to the Fifth District as he has for the Southern Kentucky counties he has served for the past eleven years.

"I'm asking for your support in my campaign for Congress, I lay before you my record...and invite you to examine it," Rogers said. "I hope, then, you will join me in this fight for a better life for our people."

Rogers, who was born and raised in Wayne County, noted that he has strong ties to all the people of the Fifth District.

"This is my home, and home is where my heart is," he said. "These hills hold the people I am devoted to whom I love so much, and for whom I hope to accomplish much -- especially, for our young."

Rogers cited a number of accomplishments since his election in 1980, including bring flood control to the Cumberland River, ensuring that the route for Interstate 66 runs through Eastern and Southern Kentucky, building the U.S. 25 tunnels beneath the Cumberland Gap, providing fresh, pure drinking water to thousands of rural families and in helping to create thousands of new jobs in the region.

"My goal, in all I do, is to provide opportunities for you and your children," he said, "so that you have better jobs and so that we reduce the number of young people forced to leave home for cold and distant cities in the north."

"Our region has suffered because we have been forced to export our most talented young people," Rogers added. "For generations, we have sent

Homecoming Queen and her court

Cows stolen

Thieves got a herd of cattle belonging to Billy Graves of Rt. 3, Somerset, Jan. 17, from a farm belonging to Clarence "Jib" Hasty at Otwa.

Hasty reported to the Sheriff's office that the 31 cows were gone. He did not know if they were stolen or strayed.

Missing are 12 Holstein, 11 red and white faced heifers and 8 Simmental and Charolais, all valued at $16,550.

The bull was later found on a neighboring farm, deputies reported. Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan investigated.

Housing needed

If you know someone in Rock-castle County who does not have adequate housing, please call the Rockcastle County Community Housing Board at 256-2313. The board needs their name, address, phone number, family characteristics and any other information about the household.

The board is in the process of compiling a list of applicants to apply for grants. Your help was appreciated.

Homelessness is closer than many think

By: Richard Anderin
Had a 21-year-old Mt. Vernon girl not wandered into the Berea Citizen's office last Thursday morning, she might have suffered the same fate as a Lexington man who was found dead last week after seeking shelter in a vacant apartment.

Thursday the wind-chill factor was 30 degrees below zero. Thursday the Red Cross office in Berea was closed and Thursday Billea, and her 2-year-old son Jamie, were homeless.

We've all heard about homeless people and many of us think that problem exists only in the big city. After Thursday, we can vouch that it doesn't only happen in bigger metropolitan areas. When you have no food, shelter or money you are homeless.

Here is how we got involved. A slim girl with long red hair carrying her two-year-old in her arms entered our office looking for the Red Cross office.

After learning that the office was closed Billea looked confused, she hung her head and left our office. It was evident when she left, that she was very pregnant. It took only a few minutes for a staff member to get the girl and her little boy into our warm office, where she informed us that she had no place to stay, no money, no transportation and no food for her or her son, who is still taking a bottle. It was obviously that she needed help.

People's Bank closed showed a reading of eight degrees and that was even more evident by the red nose and teary eyes of the child in her arms.

The next few hours was a blur of endless phone calls. We called our organization after organization, social services offices, charity groups and churches.

After long, long waits, each place called would inform us of a reason they couldn't help Billea and Jamie. Some couldn't help because she was pregnant, some because she already had a child, some because she hadn't been been recently and some said they just didn't have any more money in that fund.

Through the South Madison F.A.C.T.S. Center we got several names of organizations who might have helped and the lady at the center was very helpful and called back very few minutes to see if we had found anything for Billea.

According to Billea, she and her son were made to leave their Mt. Vernon home just before Christmas and ever since then she has been moving from place to place most of the time spent in a motel room in Berea. But, when her money ran out she had to find somewhere to go.

Eight months pregnant, a two-year-old son, and relatively uneducated, Billea had few choices on that Thursday morning.

But, Billea's problems didn't just start right before Christmas, they actually began when she was placed in an orphanage in Indiana at a young age. She and her older sister were adopted by a couple and lived there for a couple of years, before they talked their real mother into taking them back. However at about the age of eleven, Billea's mother decided she couldn't handle being a parent anymore and left.

It is obvious that Billea has had little chance in life, and had it not been for kindness of strangers she and her son may have not had any other chances, ever.

She receives no help from the state except for a medical card and once her other child is born, she will have even more trouble finding help.

Warm and safe now, Billea still doesn't have many choices. She is basically alone, except for a couple of friends and help from some social agency she may end up on the street again, and again.

Solid Waste Joint Committee adopts clean-up program

With spring just around the corner, the Solid Waste Joint Committee has adopted a clean-up program for the year ahead.

The road adoption program has nine new roads that have been adopted by residents for clean-up.

Larry Shepherd, county employee, told a meeting of the committee that some of the roads are looking bad now but hopefully will be remedied as the weather permits.

The roads are Roundstone Baptist Church from Parsons Gas to Hayes Grove School and part of Conway; Clear Creek Baptist Youth Group for Anglin Falls Road from two-lane bridge 2 1/2 miles; All American Club, old Somerset Road a mile off railroad tracks on U.S. 150; Diane Raffitt and Sue Cadena, Buffalo Hollow Road, two miles; Sigmon Hill; Byron Baker, Old Sigmon Road; William K. Baulton Foundation, Clear Creek Road from Hugh Ramsey property; Herman and Emma Burdine, Shady Grove Road to John Martin Graves property, 1.7 miles; Grace Baptist Youth Group, U.S. 25 north to Church of God; Rockcastle

Teen Center, Lake Linville Road. Shepherd told the committee that 23 dump sites have been cleaned and picked up since August, with the worst parts of the county covered first.

He said he is finding that the week after they clean up a dump, it looks as bad as it did before with diapers and appliances as the main source of garbage.

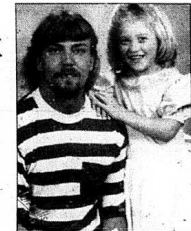

Shepherd listed nine waste sites that are to be cleaned up in the next three months: they are: Trace Branch Road, 3 dumps; Indian Creek, 2 sites; Robert Griffin on Red Hill and Sigmon Hill Road; Copper Creek Hill; Cupps Chapel Road, 2 sites; Cove Branch, 1 site; Brush Creek bridge, 1 dump; Saltpetre Cave Road.

Also, a report to the committee showed an increase of 167 active customers signed up for pick-up during November, which is about 25 percent participation.

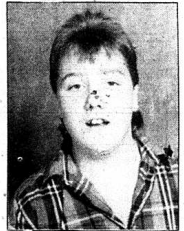

It was reported 400 letters pointing out violations have been sent to residents during December, their letter asks for the residents to list where he takes his garbage and points out the cost of a violation.

Brothers killed in accident

By: Richard Anderin
A Conway family suffered a tragic loss Saturday night when two brothers were killed in a single car accident.

Johnny Allen Ballard, 18, and William Keith Ballard, 28, died after the car they were riding in left the roadway and struck a tree on Hwy. 1505, near Hurricane Hill.

William Keith Ballard was pronounced dead at the scene by Rockcastle Coroner Bill Dowell and his brother, Johnny Allen, died a few minutes after the accident on the way to the Rockcastle Hospital, according to Kentucky State Police Public Affairs Officer, Gilbert Acciardo, Jr.

According to Acciardo, Eric S. Cromer, 19, of Berea, the driver of the car, a 1977 Ford Mustang, was not seriously injured in the 10 p.m. accident.

Cromer told police that he had drunk three beers all day, and according to police, he passed a portable breath test at the Rockcastle Hospital. Cromer also consented to a blood and urine test. Results from that test are still not available.

Cromer's car traveled 109 feet before hitting a tree with the right side of the car, cutting it almost completely in two, according to Acciardo.

KSP officer Jimmy Silvers, who is investigating the accident, will present the case to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury in February.

William Keith Ballard was born on January 9, 1964. He was a mechanic. He is survived by his wife Kathy Willis Ballard, two daughters, Sheena Gail Ballard and Gwendolyn Renea Fowler, his mother Esther Gail Anderson, a brother, James Harold Ballard and two sisters Beulah Lynn McQueen and Tracy Lynn Ballard, all of Berea.

Pallbearers were: Danny Saylor, Thomas Alexander, Pete Scogdy, Joe Knuckles, Lloyd Kneely and David Abrams.

Johnny Allen Ballard was born on June 27, 1971. He is survived by his mother Esther Gail Anderson, a brother James Harold Ballard and two sisters Beulah Lynn McQueen and Tracy Lynn Ballard, all of Berea.

Pallbearers were: Steve Stamper, Tommy Saylor, Bran Damrell, Jason Poynter, Aaron Sturgill and Steve Mason.

Joint funeral services were held at Williams Funeral Home on Tuesday by Rev. Jack Frost. They were buried in Madison Memorial Gardens.

Dear Editor,

Rockcastle County as a whole, do you think you can get justice served in District Court in Rockcastle? Don't bank on it. Here is a case where a citizen and resident of the county was brutally attacked on his front porch in Sept., 1990, with several witnesses at that time and several 100 or more homecoming participants.

No arrest was made in this matter, on subject being attacked, but four charges were filed and placed against the assailant. Now 18 calls have been before the court, all being postponed and continued.

Now a year and about 15 calls, the prosecution for the Rockcastle County say they can't handle this

People Poll

What is the one thing about 1991 that you'd like to forget?

"The farming situation. Tobacco prices have gone down. It seems like everything in the stores have gone up but the price the farmer gets for their goods is down."

Geraldine Morgan

"The Gulf War because a lot of our soldiers had to go to war."

Tracy McClure

"The lottery. I think it is a bad thing, myself. I think it is gambling, that's all it is in my opinion."

Lela Harrison

"I'd like to forget about how much I worried about the conflict in the Gulf. I have a son who is a fighter pilot and I worried he'd have to go, but he was lucky -- he didn't have to go."

Let a person be charged for operating a motorcycle with no head gear and see how soon this case gets before a jury.

I guess this case: assault and battery, destruction of private property, false arrest, invasion of privacy will take an Act of Congress to get before a jury.

Dear Marvin:

Thank you very much for your help when we were stranded with a broken driveshaft just before Christmas. You and your partner, Jack Dalley, were very helpful in arranging to have a new one sent by Federal Express.

Would you please thank, on our behalf, the man with the truck who towed our trailer to the KOA Campground and wouldn't accept any payment for it. Also the young man who drove us to the campground. The Christmas spirit was indeed alive and well in Mt. Vernon. We were on our way to Florida for Christmas and two serious breakdowns with our truck stretched a three day trip into nine days. We finally arrived at our destination in Florida late on Christmas Day.

If we had to have a breakdown, we couldn't have chosen nicer people or better mechanics than we found in Mt. Vernon. You showed us the true spirit of Christmas by helping a traveler in distress.

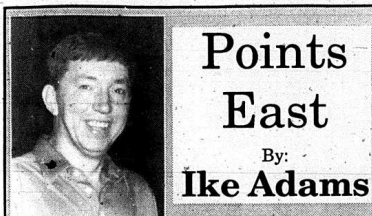

Thank you again, Marvin, and we wish you a very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Sincerely,
Doug and Helen Kaulbach

Dear Editor,

The church is asleep, the watchmen have dozed off. The enemy is gathering at the gates and someone needs to sound the alarm. I've been trying to help do that the past four months by reporting some of the activities, locations and movements of the enemy. So here is some news behind the news.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

Somewhere in our neighborhood, there is a rooster with a most melodious song that echoes across the ridge on which we live about 30 minutes before daybreak each morning. The lay of the land is such that I really can't tell where he lives in relation to our house but I would like to get acquainted with this chicken. I think that perhaps there is a place for him in the movies or, at least, a television series.

Three times lately, I have gotten up around 5:30 and driven to various locations in all directions within half a mile of our house to see if I can pinpoint his location. I've even driven way back on the farm, but no matter where I go he seems to be no closer nor any farther away. All I have been able to determine for sure is that his daily concert lasts about 20 minutes and I know for sure that I'm not imaging all this. On the other hand, it's starting to feel ghostly.

Yesterday morning, I listened for three or four crows and decided that he must be pretty close to highway 52 directly to the west of my house. I drove out the road, found a place to park, got out and listened and in a matter of seconds, there he was. A beautiful, draws-out announcement with distinct authority to it as the first red streaks of light hit the eastern horizon. His volunwaws no higher or lower than it sounds in my back yard and I was at least a quarter mile from the house. Only this time, he sounded as if he was coming from the east.

So I backed tracked and headed back in that direction. I passed our house, drove several hundred yards on the road and pulled into the driveway of an adjoining farm. I got out again

According to a new survey: Most Americans think there is no such thing as absolute truth and believe that people of different religions all worship the same God.

George Barna, whose Barna Research Group of Glendale, Calif., conducted the survey, says the book from it called "What Americans Believe." His findings show that we are interested in religion. However, "if there is a revival going on," it "must be viewed as a religious revival, not a Christian revival."

"Traditional Christian beliefs are eroding, too." For instance, the report says, 82% of adults think that "God helps those who help themselves," and 56% mistakenly think the idea comes directly from the Bible.

Actually, the saying is attributed to Benjamin Franklin. The report says it runs counter to Christian teaching that people cannot attain wholeness by their own deeds, but only through God's forgiveness of their failings.

However, the self-sufficiency streak also shows up in another finding: 82% of adults think that "every person has the power to determine his or her own destiny in life."

This is "one of the guiding principles of the New Age movement," the report notes, adding that many Christians have "unwittingly embraced a perspective of personal responsibility." Christian religious, 65% of Americans say Christians, Jews, Muslims and Buddhists all "pray to the same God," although called by different names.

"Two out of three adults believe that it doesn't matter what god or higher power you pray to, because that universal force will respond regardless."

Also, 62% concur that "there is no such thing as absolute truth," and that "different people can define truth in conflicting ways that will still be correct." That figure rises to 74% for those 18 to 25-year-olds.

The results found that most people - 63% - think the "purpose of life is enjoyment and personal fulfillment," which contrasts with the biblical vision of serving others and the ultimate purposes of God.

and sure enough my rooster was still on the air at what I believe to be precisely the same volume. By then it was light enough to see well. He crowed a couple more times and signed off and the only real conclusion I could reach was that he was out there somewhere.

He isn't loud enough for me to hear indoors and that is the problem I ultimately aim to solve. When you live in the country, being able to hear a rooster crow is almost a divine right as far as I'm concerned - a part of the natural order of things. Over the last three years, I have either kept chickens myself or lived in close proximity to someone who did. Whether or not I intend to get up with the chickens is beside the point. Hearing a rooster crow has been my way of knowing that night is over and that we have survived it.

But we don't live very close to any chickens now and the aforementioned rooster is the only indication I've had that there is another chicken fancier in the vicinity. He obviously isn't as close as I thought at first.

I have commenced imagining what this chicken must look like. He definitely is not a bantam or game rooster. A dompter perhaps, or a mature Rhode Island Red and I believe he is, in fact, the boss of his barnyard, wherever the chickens live.

I want to locate him to see if I can trade for a setting of eggs or talk my way into acquiring a small flock of his offspring because his crow is as perfect as any I have ever heard. I want to see if I can't manage to have it within a hundred feet of my bedroom window instead of being so off in the distance.

In the meantime, I need to see if I can bring our Seed Catalogue Scam to a screeching halt. Jennifer is poised and ready to put the mailing list together and Chris is ready to begin licking stamps. The trouble is that we're still getting about five new requests in every day and we are literally overwhelmed with the popularity we have achieved this year. I'm talking about more than 150 people having signed up and we need to have some sort of deadline in effect.

Jennifer says that she can work all day on Saturday, January 25. We simply won't be able to get you on the list if we hear from you any later than that. We'll have to hold your stamps till next year and by then, they'll probably be obsolete.

2. Newcomb Avenue
3. Spring Street
4. West Main Street
5. Old Somerset Road
6. Fish Street
7. Williams Street
8. School Street
9. High Street
10. City Parking Lot, by railroad
11. Maple Drive, between the railroad and Cox Funeral Home
12. Old U.S. 25, around the Elmwood Cemetery

Mayor Gary Cromer has worked so hard with us in this program to keep the City of Mt. Vernon litter free. He is concerned like we are.

An Open Letter to Rockcastle Countians:

Letters to local newspapers is not what I normally do best, but I do feel this message is important and possibly this is the way to reach the greater number of present and past Rockcastle County citizens.

The Rockcastle County Historical Society, in cooperation with Walsworth Publishing Company of North Carolina, is attempting to compile a history of Rockcastle County and its people. In no way can this be accomplished without the cooperation and assistance of the people whose stories we wish to record.

It is human nature to be suspicious and to wonder "why" and "how much is this going to cost me?" For obvious reasons, it will cost someone. Walsworth Publishing Company is in business to make money. The people who buy the books and those who wish to insert business histories, memorial pages and other special entries will pay for the publication. Whether or how much it will cost you is a personal decision for you alone to make. Contribution of a 500 word narrative and one photograph is absolutely free. Honest! No strings attached. Additional words or pictures will cost, but that is your decision.

"This is not a book sales pitch. As a member of the committee to publish and distribute this worthy endeavor, I will probably, through advertising at a later date, seek to sell, but not today. Rather, this is an appeal to all present and former Rockcastle Countians to make a contribution of your written word in order that there may be a book. Everyone has a story, whether it be handed down from an ancestor or events within your present-day family. If you do not record it for future generations, who will?

As an amateur geneologist (seeker of ancestors), I can personally vouch for the frustration and disappointment of scouring library card catalogs and grubbing in dusty and dirty old used book stores, seeking just any little snippet of my family or Rockcastle County history, and finding nothing. Trust me, often at the end of another day of fruitless research, I have been frustrated to the point of wishing to strangle long dead ancestors for leaving behind nothing to give me a clue to how their lives were lived.

Aside from the great work of Opp Russell, Jr. in his profiles of Col. Maret and Bert Mullins and the recently published Rockcastle County Recollections by the late Mr. John Lair, almost nothing can be found of the history of Rockcastle and Rockcastle's people. They each have made a major contribution and we can be tremendously proud of the accomplishments of these native sons. We wish only to expand and continue the task they began.

Occasionally, in a yellowed old newspaper, one can find an article on some distinguished citizen of the county. This is good and historians rejoice when they find them. But, it is rare indeed that newspapers feature a good old farmer who has made no significant impact on the politics, medical advancement or business development of the county. Perhaps he has just minded his own business, tended his chores, raised his family and been important to no one but his children, neighbors and friends who love, or have loved him. His place in the history of the county is no less and no greater than the business tycoon, the benevolent doctor, the brilliant attorney and the notable educator. To publish an honest account of our county and her people, we must hear from all of you: attorneys and farmers, educators and coal miners,

Some where in the future, your children, or great great grandchildren will be searching for some word of who you were and what you did, and they will not mind if your fame was great or small.

Is there an old log cabin on your farm that has been there for many long years, and do you know who built it, or when? Did your great grandfather work for the railroad when it first came to Rockcastle County? Was your mother or grandmother a teacher in a one room school back when teachers were hired by trustees instead of a county school board? Do you know where a Revolutionary soldier is buried that has not been previously recorded? Do you live in a house that dates from pioneer days? Did your great-uncle, a Civil War soldier, as they passed by? Aside from personal family histories, which we are most anxious for you to record, historic places and event have their place in any history of the county. You may

Protective Parenting

By: Ginny Gilpatrick

It should not surprise anyone that tenth grade students rank as their highest values, "health", "love", "friendship", and "family". Well, "family" might surprise some people because of the notoriety teens have about being rebellious toward their parents, but nonetheless, more than a quarter of the teens in six classrooms rank their families right up there on top. The values were used as a springboard to help teens focus on their motivation for making social choices, including their choices about alcohol consumption.

Their lowest ranked values included "luxury", "wealth", "arts/culture", and "creativity." You can draw your own conclusions about the luxury and wealth (is this a sign of low aspiration, or does it indicate a healthy rejection of elitism?). But the rejection of the arts and creativity is counter to the theme of my last week's column, and I find it dismaying. I like to think that possibly the teens interpret creativity in a narrow sense and that they were not rejecting the value of innovation, self-expression, and originality. These are the qualities that sustain us during difficult times and are required continually in successful child-rearing, homemaking, and in the world of employment. They are the qualities that can make every situation joyful.

Parents who refuse to solve their children's problems for them are encouraging them to be creative in solving their own problems. Children who are not handed everything learn to create their own amusement and perhaps their own clothes or other wants and needs. Creative toys such as blocks, balls, scissors, tools, musical instruments, and art materials are better selections than elaborate battery-powered or electronic devices that do it all with a push of a button. Elizabeth West has almost finished the jumper she started making at the Teen Center. She now comes to my house whenever she can't work on the finishing touches. It is very carefully sewn; Elizabeth has chosen to rip out crooked seams and re-sew them. The pride she has in the almost completed project is ample reward.

She values her creation.

The tenth grade "values" unit includes a video which underscores the dilemma of teens growing up in a society with a top-sided emphasis on the physical. The video makes the point that, not by their own choice, most young people are reared in the spiritual, intellectual, and emotional realms. Since their physical side is the only one they understand, they can only find satisfaction in self-indulgent behavior. This trend has been escalating over the past twenty-five or thirty years with the loosening of values by the media and the availability of instant gratification in the form of gadgets and drugs. It is our job as parents and educators to help our children find joy in learning and in spirituality. If young people are bored with their inner selves because they have never developed, they are going to find most of what we consider worthwhile to be boring. Boredom is the major reason children give for turning to drugs. We need to constantly reinforce the "highs" associated with achievement and the wonders of God's creation.

KET is excellent state program, leave it alone

Big Bird, Ernie, the Cookie Monster, Kermit the Frog and Mr. Rogers... those shows were a big hit at our house, and although I knew there never seemed to be any commercials I wasn't sure why, until later of course.

And now Kentucky Educational Television is feeling the state's budget squeeze. They are cutting back the time they are on the air, which of course cuts out some of the excellent program.

The state of Kentucky does a lot of unnecessary things, has a lot of unnecessary programs and whether you like it or not, a lot of unnecessary employees. So why cut one of the very finest programs they have or have ever had. It just doesn't make sense.

KET is used in the classroom, for university classes, to entertain and educate the pre-schooler and to keep those people in Kentucky, that can't get any other television, informed. Without all the satellite stations in many areas of the state some folks would get no television.

It is hard to believe that the state is broke, especially with the huge tax increase the legislature laid on us during the last session. Lawmakers used education for an excuse to rape the taxpayer. Now they tell us they are broke and are going to have to cut programs like KET.

I personally think the state could use one less ton of salt in each county of the state, when it snows a 1/4 of an inch, and have enough money to allow KET to continue to operate as they have in the past.

As a matter of fact, lawmakers could simply make all state employees including the Governor be more accountable for their expenses. For instance, I think we could have done without Wally and Martha's so called business trip to England during his final days as Governor. That cost the state a cool $90,000 and when it is all said and done, that trip will be of no benefit to Kentucky. State officials who are leaving office should not be allowed to make any trips after the general election.

The McNeill-Lehrer news hour is possibly the most comprehensive hour of news on television and I'm sure it cost KET big bucks to carry it, but it is only one example of the quality programs KET carries and well worth the money.

At the Wilkinson news hour into office there suddenly had to be two state office buildings in Rockcastle County, never mind that one was always enough before and the second was being rented from the local Democrat County Chairman. Of course Rockcastle wasn't the only county where this happened and evidently this kind of useless spending has broken the state, again.

With all of the cable channels now available, a lot of people might not even watch KET and maybe could care less that money has been taken out of their operating budget. But they should.

I certainly don't qualify to be any type of budget director, but sometimes I think that the average citizen could do a better job balancing the budget than those who are paid to do so.

Roamin' Rockcastle

BY HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

Winter is here with some of the coldest weather we've had yet. Snow too, for the kids.

Several folks have asked why I didn't have my Reader's Fantasy Christmas Party as I've been doing every year. When I tell you the problem that faced me, you will know why I backed out.

Being joined by the Mt. Vernon Signal's readers this year, I couldn't find a place big enough to have that many people there.

I had my gifts ready for all my readers, but it would have to be awfully big to hold that many presents.

There are 5,400 readers to the Signal and 3,700 Citizen readers. The Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association estimated that each copy was handled by four people, so if they came to the party, then the Signal would have 21,600 readers to be there and the Citizen would have 16,800.

The rule is if you are a reader of these papers, then you will be at the Fantasy Party. So in looking to the future, I may have to rent Renfro's big barn next year.

Cleve Payne (my brother who won't claim it) has been having a tough time with the "flu." He was in the hospital for a few days then came home still fighting the sickness.

Right in the middle of all that, Cleve had a birthday on January 8th. We couldn't have a party for him as we've done in the past for folks were scared of catching the flu.

He doesn't want his age told but I can tell that it was a long, long time ago.

Before his birthday, John and I went out so he said to me, "I don't want a party and don't bring me any presents out here."

I said nothing. I don't have to mind Cleve so we went home to plan what we'd do.

Later, in Richmond, I bought a big 12 roll package of toilet tissue, wrapped it up in fancy fancying gift paper with beautiful ribbon bows and we went to Clear Creek on January 8th.

Cleve was lying on the couch when I went in singing, "Happy Birthday to you" over and over.

He sat up quickly like a boy who sees he has a full sock on Christmas morning. Blanche sat down on the couch beside him to see what he had gotten as Cleve tore, excitedly at the paper.

When the rolls of toilet paper came in to view, we all had a big laugh. Blanche said, "Well, I, for one, am tickled for him to get this present for it sure can be used."

Cleve laughing, said, "Well, I just save this and only use when Hilda and John come out here."

I owe an apology to Brother Bill Hamilton, Baptist preacher, who filled the pulpit at Galilee several week ends while the pulpit committee was trying to find a new pastor.

I had said he was retiring from doing the Lord's work in preaching, but not so he has told me - I thought I had heard that remark from someone. I'm forever messing up the news but he very much can hold services.

When I talked to his wife, China, on Friday and thanked her, for her calling to thank me, for my remarks I had made about them.

Brother Bill came on with another phone and when I asked him for a resolution, he said, "Why, yes, I will use a verse of scripture from Proverbs 22-28 which says, 'we should remove not the old landmark.'" Figure that one out, if you can.

Teresa Singleton, will probably enter the "Miss Rockcastle" contest this fall and I would put my money on her to be the winner.

Nog, she is making this resolution for 1992 to keep up with her pocketbook better when she goes shopping than she did before Christmas.

Teresa took $500 dollars with her, having saved it up to shop for her family. This tale doesn't end well. Teresa lost the pocketbook, money and everything else in it. (Next time wear a money belt, Teresa.)

Liz Anderson, a teacher at EKV and customer of Jair Plus Beauty Salon gave me her resolution. "I resolve to try harder to keep up with my students this year. (As some will still keep your burning the midnight oil, Liz.)"

Mondella Spurlock resolved to quit smoking (how many times does this make, kid?) and get in shape for '92. (There's nothing wrong with the one you have now, cute thing.)

Mark McGuire, song leader at Galilee Baptist Church now has three bosses at home when he comes in from work.

Of course, Rhonda, being his wife, comes in first who needs things done around the place.

Next, Zachary wants Mark to play with him when Mark had rather go to sleep in an easy chair. Now Mark has a third boss who in fact can cry and is everybody's boss.

Cassy Carol McGuire born on December 14, 1991 in to this nice little family is the current little baby. I thought, when we went out to greet this new member of the McGuire family.

Rhonda was holding the little girl while she took her bottle. So Zachary was appointed "gift opener" to make him feel he was important in the family too.

I have heard that when God takes someone home, he always sends one to take their place on earth.

So when Bro. Heschel Logsdon was called home from Galilee Baptist Church, the Lord sent a new life to Mark McGuire, who is a great worker in our church, and his pretty wife, Rhonda.

Herschel had worked for 60 years in the Sunday School department leaving memories with many who grew up under his teachings.

It had been snowing hard the day Herschel was laid to rest. Like the last leaf that hung fluttering from the tree of life in the December cold winds, Herschel's leaf dropped slowly to the ground to join the other members of his family who have gone on.

It seemed he was buried under a white blanket of snow in the Berea Cemetery.

The names of last week's people in the picture in my column were J.T. Gadd and wife Doris who are members of Galilee Baptist Church. Sorry, the picture had been lost.

I want to congratulate my great niece, Onna Kay Owens of Brohead Elementary School who has been appointed assistant principal in the school.

Being a teacher for 23 years gives her a head start on the boys who don't know she will deal with the problems of discipline. I'm going to give you boys some advice: wear a pillow in the seat of your pants in case!

Onna's husband, Stephen, my nephew, said for me to tell my boss, (Rick), that I was in to Stephen. "I know Rick well," he told me.

My answer to that was, "No buddy! That could get me fired."

Next week, I will be starting with, remedied from mountain plans. (No charge.)

our bright high school graduates to the Detroit of the world because we didn't have the jobs to hold them here...Yet, if we could keep just one generation of our talented graduates here at home, our region would be transformed.

He then challenged residents of the new Fifth Congressional District to join him in a cooperative effort to bring opportunity to the region.

Teachers from Roundstone Elementary School participated in a "Guess Who" Baby Contest. Some of the teachers brought baby pictures to hang on a Christmas tree and the students, fourth grade through eighth grade, tried to guess who they were. The top winner, on the right, was Tiffany Gabbard. Runner-up on the left was Tracy Sears. Both girls are in the sixth grade and received a white satin jacket.

be in possession of an historical tidbit that no one else knows. If you believe you know of something that would be of interest to present and future readers, please contact a member of the History Book Committee and share it.

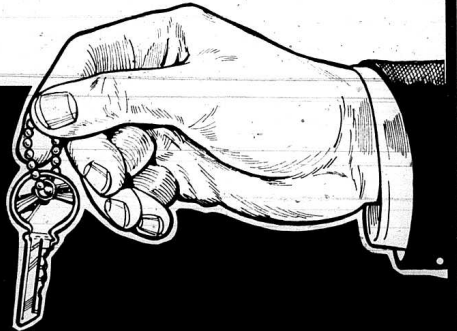

For one who is unaccustomed to writing newspapers, I have certainly outdone myself today. I have such a strong and personal recognition of the importance and need for a county history. It is long overdue and if we do not grasp this opportunity, how much will be lost before it is again attempted at some time in the future? Please help us make it a history representative of all of Rockcastle County's people.

STUDENT COUNCIL--In the ongoing school improvement at RCHS, students are also involved. This year, Ronnie Cash, principal, endorsed the implementation of a student council. The council is made up of two representatives from each grade level. They were selected by majority vote by all students in each respective grade. The council has met several times thus far but now plan to meet weekly to write policies and by-laws to govern students. Shown above during the Dec. 8 meeting with Mr. Cash were, from left: Brian Carter, Amber Hodges, Danna Ford, Julie Coffey, Andy Martin, president, Sarah Wilson, Eric McKinney and Kris Kirby.

Future Homemakers of America is a curriculum-based club at RCHS. This club assists in building leadership in many aspects of life. Each year, the FHA sponsors a "Christmas Tea" at the high school. Faculty and invited guests are allowed a time to sample holiday treats. Shown in the photo are: Joy Cooke, Janet Wells, Angie Parsons, Brandi Chasteen, Cathy Short, Diane Masters, Loreta Dillingham, Florence Winstead (hidden) and Judy Bradley.

Girl Scout Cookies sales

It's January and Girl Scouts in Rockcastle County are out selling cookies again, this is a Girl Scout tradition for over 50 years. The Girl Scouts go from door to door taking orders for the seven different kinds of cookies. Customers and Girl Scouts look forward to this time of year as they will be taking cookie orders until January 26th.

Cookies will cost $2.50 per box. The delivery date will be the last week in February and the first week in March. If for some reason, you happen to miss the Girl Scouts and you want to order cookies, you can call 256-4817 or 256-5671 for information about the cookies.

Beatitudes for Myself

Blessed are they who understand my faltering step and shaking hand;

Blessed are they who know that my ears today must strain to catch the words they say;

Blessed are they who seem to know that my vision is dim and my wits are slow;

Blessed are they who looked away when I spilled the coffee at lunch today;

Blessed are they with a cheery smile, who stop to chat for a little while;

Blessed are they who never say, "You've told that story twice today."

Blessed are they who know the ways to bring back memories of my yesterdays;

Blessed are they who make it known, that I am loved, respected and not alone;

Blessed are they who know I'm at a loss and find the strength to carry my cross;

And blessed are they who ease the days, on my journey home, in loving ways. Copied from Sun City Center's Community Church's Bulletin of Jan. 12, 1992 by Elizabeth F. Mullins

Baby Shower

On Friday, January 24 at 7 p.m. at the Library Community Room, a baby shower will be given for Morgan and Megan Robinson, twin daughters of Kim Dale and the late Juanita Cox Robinson. Clothing item sizes requested are 6 mos. to 24 mos.

Bathing items and crib sheets are just a few of the needed items. Any and all else will be much appreciated. The Robinson Family would like to thank all those who have already been so thoughtful and kind with their prayers, gifts, cards, calls and concerns during their time of loss.

All friends and family are invited to attend. The shower is being given by Audrey Bishop, Reda Bowman, Teresa Robinson, Esther Hacker and Kathy Robinson.

Decline in Student Attendance Continues as Enrollment Increases Slightly

Enrollment in Rockcastle County schools at the close of the 4th month of school was 2922 in comparison to 2893 one year ago. Along with this slight increase in enrollment, there is a notable reduction in average daily attendance. The average daily attendance for the 1990-91 school year was 96.27%. The attendance for the first 4 months of the current school year is approximately 1% less than corresponding months of the 1990-91 school year. Various factors have contributed to the decline, including sickness due to flu-like conditions as well as complacency on behalf of the students. As the district progresses through the second semester, continued emphasis will be placed on good attendance (exceeding 96%) by all school personnel.

Time is a most valuable asset and can never be regained once lost or wasted. The benefits gained through good attendance in school are lifetime benefits. These benefits are not only for the individual, but society as a whole when this time in school helps promote a useful and productive citizen for the future. The Rockcastle County School System considers both these benefits when promoting good attendance.

The statistics below provide a comparison for all schools in the district for the 3rd and 4th months of the current school year as well as the 1990-91 school year.

	1990-91 Month 3	1991-92 Month 3
Brodhead Elementary	98.1%	97.5%
Livingston Elementary	97.2%	94.6%
Mt. Vernon Elementary	97.6%	96.8%

with cancer, or other terminal illness; our burn-outs, disabled fathers, unemployed fathers and single mothers with children who are trying to better themselves by getting their education, etc.

Last year, we served 381 clients and served food for 3,429 meals. We had an increase of 164 clients served and an increase of 8,436 meals served as we now give out an approximate 7 day supply of food, if it is available. This is in accordance with the guidelines issued by God's Pantry.

Since the last article that was published, we have received donations from the following individuals, churches, organizations, Sunday School classes and businesses:

Ron and Debbie Brown; Come Single Come Double Sunday School Class; Different Way and The Reners (Renro Valley Benefit); AARP; Livings - Elementary School; Harry Sparks - Technical School; Rockcastle Co. 4-H Clubs; Buckeye Christian Church; McCauley Egg Co.; Maple Grove Baptist Church; Rockcastle Manufacturing Co.; Patsy and Leo Hopkins; Mt. Vernon Church of Christ; Trail Pleasure Saddle Club; Mt. Vernon Machine Shop; First Christian Church (Christmas program) and the Dept. of Social Services (Repro Benefit).

A deposit of $561.37 was made, bringing the total deposits for the year to $4,075. Expenses incurred were $2,552.82. Our carry-over from 1990 was $202.06. We were able to buy a refrigerator for food storage, a fuel oil heater, pay our operating ful job they did. A total of 2,367 items were collected. Mrs. Shannon Bales' class at MVES collected 1,200 items and, in working on their project, they also learned that a can of Vienna sausage may be inexpensive looking but doesn't go far in feeding a family. I am very proud of the 4-H. Next year, I am going to challenge this 1,200 item collection. I am sure someone can beat it if they try hard enough.

A number of local businesses are now accepting our American Red Cross vouchers and this is a big help for those who have lost everything or whatever the need may be. I like to be able to keep our business in Rockcastle Co. and not have to go to Madison County for household needs. Thank you again. If anyone is interested in working with us, please contact the American Red Cross at either the courthouse or by calling 256-9599. We need local participation.

Our needs are on-going and we are seeing more and more people each day. If you can donate household items, furniture, toys, food or make a tax deductible donation, please contact me. I can be reached at 256-9599 or 256-3217. If I am not in, please leave a message.

If you know of someone with any type of need and don't know where to send them contact the Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program.

Please accept my heartfelt thanks in helping others in need. No one knows when they may be the person asking for some type of assistance. I hope and pray that I will be able to help with that assistance. God bless you all.

Robert H. (Bobby) Gentry III and his lady, Janice. Gentry installed as Potentate

Robert H. (Bobby) Gentry III was installed as Potentate of Bahá'í Shrine Temple in Orlando, Florida, January 5, 1992. Bobby is formerly of Mt. Vernon and attended both elementary and high school here. He is the son of Robert H. Gentry, Jr. of Orlando, Florida and the late Bernice Dixon Gentry. His lady Janice, is the daughter of Hazel Halcomb of Livingston and the late Chester A. Halcomb.

Gentry is a member of Orlando Lodge No. 69, York Rite, Scottish Rite and the Bahá'í Shrine Temple. He is also a member of the Flying Fezzes, Bahá'í Mustangs, Lake-County Shrine Club, the Camel Herders, the Hillbilly Clan No. 49, Kentucky Colonel Club, Royal Order of Jesters, Rachael Chapter of Eastern Star and a chapter advisor to the Order of DeMolay.

Potentate Gentry is one of three generations in Bahá'í Temple. His father Noble Robert H. Gentry Jr. is a member of the Flying Fezzes, while his son, Robert H. Gentry IV, is a member of the Roadrunners. Not to be outdone by his elders, the younger son, Cheston, is Master Councilor of the Bahá'í Chapter Order of DeMolay, presently serving a second term in that office.

Rockcastle native named head of CSX transportation

by Laura Mizé

Rockcastle may not have large shopping malls and cultural arts centers, but it does possess one quality that no populous city can hold a candle to — that's small town values.

One successful small town native credits these values as a great influence in obtaining his flourishing career.

At age 13, Pete Carpenter began working in a grocery store to save money for college. This early employment introduction prepared Pete for many good things to come, the most recent being his promotion to president and CEO of CSX Transportation.

"Small town values are very important to me -- integrity, trust. You develop a good deal of confidence in small towns," said Pete, "everyone knows you -- you're not just a number."

Carpenter spent the first eleven years of his life in Rockcastle County, attended Transylvania University on a basketball grant, received a B.A. from the University of Cincinnati, and furthered his education at Columbia University in New York.

After landing a part-time summer job as a brakeman with L&N Railroad during his college years, Pete remained with the company full-time following his graduation from the University of Cincinnati. L&N is now CSX.

Pete worked in various locations performing various jobs for CSX and says that flexibility is important to be successful. "I did set goals for myself," said Pete. "At CSX, my wife and I have been willing to move to any location where a new or more lucrative assignment was available."

Pete, his wife Marilyn and daughter Dana, have lived in such towns as Cincinnati, Baltimore, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and now Jacksonville, Florida. Pete headed various departments within the company, including Operating, Sales, and Marketing.

Hard work, a supportive wife, and a "great company which always seemed to have faith that (his) willingness to work hard would overcome obvious weaknesses" are some of the characteristics that Carpenter credits as key factors in his rise to success.

As president and CEO of CSX, since January 1, 1992, Carpenter is responsible for some 20,000 miles of track in 23 states and the province of Ontario.

Like many boys of any age, Pete had a childhood ambition of becoming a basketball star as well as an attorney. "I never accomplished either goal," said Pete, "and am probably lucky that neither goal was obtained."

When asked if he saw himself 20 years ago as the CEO today, Pete replied,

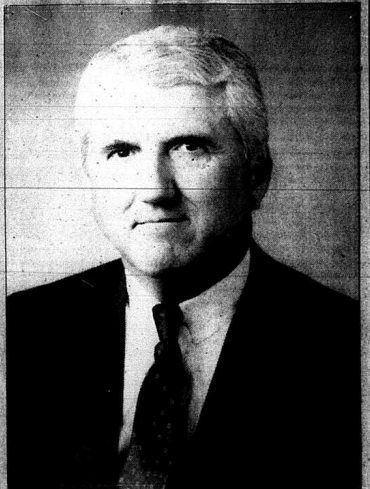

"Twenty years ago, I was managing a railroad yard in Chicago. I was trying to get the trains out of town on time, improve the safety record and keep my costs in line with my budget. I was too busy trying to do that job well to dream of anything as remote as being the president and CEO of CSX."

Since he enjoys tennis, golf and quiet hunting, Pete is not all work and no play. He has been able to create a balance in his life that he deems necessary to success.

Education is a key factor to a prosperous career of any kind, and with his long list of academic accomplishments, Pete certainly is a product of that fact. He said young people should "become excellent junior high student rather than dreaming about the fruits of a legal career, fall in love with the non-economic benefits of education -- reading a great book and find the joy of knowing the geography for the sake of knowing it."

When asked what advice he would give a Rockcastle County youth concerning life and success, Pete said, "Be flexible about your location and career. You are now in a world-wide economy, not a Rockcastle County economy. There is no easy answer for success. No one ever said that good things come easy."

Pete's grandparents, Mattie and Alvin Carpenter, were both lifelong residents of Mt. Vernon. His childhood in Rockcastle County is fondly remembered, and he recalls many of his friends who have reached a height of success as well. "Jean Lambert, Joe Lambert, Penny Nunneley, Charles Bennett Farris," he said, recollecting their names, "and C.C. Ponder, a fellow CSX railroader, who is one of the best bass fishermen in the country."

Rockcastle County native Pete Carpenter has been named head of CSX.

Firefighters were called to a house on Juanita Davis Road last Thursday to extinguish a fire. The blaze was thought to have been caused by a wood stove that was not properly ventilated. The house is owned by Sylvester Kirby.

Watkins murder trial begins

The trial of Thomas Wade Watkins, 33, charged with the murder of Stanford policeman Gary Kidwell, began in Jessamine Circuit Court Tuesday.

Kidwell was shot to death by Watkins on Jan. 20 after Kidwell and officer Keith Middleton stopped him of suspected drunk driving. When Kidwell approached the driver's side of the car, Watkins shot Kidwell killing him instantly. Watkins also sustained a gunshot wound in the shooting that followed.

Watkins sped away but later lost control of his car and ran into a ditch.

About that time, James Young, 21, of Stanford, and two girls riding with him saw the car in the ditch and stopped to see if help was needed.

Watkins pulled a gun on the three and told them he had just shot a policeman and demanded they let him in the car. After driving around, Watkins told them to drive to Rockcastle where the three were released at Gum Sulpher.

Watkins then took the car and drove to I-75 at Mt. Vernon where he turned south. At Williamsburg, police stopped the car and Watkins opened fire. Watkins was wounded but later recovered.

Kidwell, 41, was born in Rockcastle the son of Elmer and Bernice Conn Kidwell in the Copper Creek area of the county. He was a veteran of the Air Force and served in Vietnam. He had been a police officer in several area towns.

He is survived by his wife, a son, two daughters, two brothers and five sisters. He was buried at the Wilnot Cemetery in Rockcastle.

The trial was moved to Nicholasville from Lincoln County because of publicity. The jury is expected to be seated by Friday.

REAP year end report

Edna Kirby and Lu Ed Nielsen

For the 4th year, the Renner Family and the group Different Way have donated their talents to aid in the programs that are involved in making the Christmas holidays a little better for those in our community who may not be able to have much of a Christmas.

Tamara Van Winkle from Renfro Valley coordinated for the Renfro Valley Christmas tree on which over 60 names were placed. Each name received gifts. With the combined efforts of Social Services, REAP and Renfro Valley, a total of 29 families were reached with many getting food boxes and gifts.

Special recognition should be given to Norman Brice who "adopted" several families for the holidays; Denver Miller's office gave 19 gifts and the Rockcastle Street Rodders who gave out stockings full of fruit. The Renfro Valley Folks donated the use of the barn for the benefit and the old barn for the distribution of food and gifts. Thank you to everyone who played a part in this program.

Total donations received from the program were $165., 21 gifts and several items of clothing.

We are already making plans for the benefit to be held in 1992. The needs of our community are a year-long event and we appreciate all of the help that we have received and we especially enjoy being able to work together and see our efforts make someone happy.

Year-End Report

If a rich person sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against his brother, how can he claim that he loves God? My children, our love should not be just words and talk; it must be true love, which shows itself in action.

1 John 3:17-18

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

Requests for food assistance, and other assistance, increases monthly. Since we receive no regular governmental funding, Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program (REAP) is dependent upon individuals, churches, businesses and organizations to keep its program operational. Your assistance is needed in the following ways:

- Donate canned or packaged non-perishable foods;
- Make a tax-deductible contribution for the purchase of nutritious foods;
- Volunteer time to transport, sort and distribute food. Food distributors, brokers, retailers and wholesalers can help in the following way:
- Donate surplus, improperly weighed, cosmetically imperfect or about-to-expire food.
- Donate warehouse, refrigeration and freezer space; office supplies and transportation facilities.

With Your Help, Kentuckians Need Not Go Hungry!

During the month of December, 1991, we helped 190 clients and gave out food to make 3,990 meals.

During the year of 1991, we served 565 clients, gave out food for 11,865 meals and gave out 40 food boxes. We gave 33 boxes for Christmas with gifts for each family member. This was made possible with donations from the community, churches, Renfro Valley Benefit, Street Rodders, anonymous donors and the help of Edna Kirby of Social Services, my granddaughters, daughter and my husband. We reached families that other agencies do not serve. Several families have a member of the family

Parkerson's 34 leads Rockets to victory, 78-75, over Garrard County

Micha Parkerson scored 16 of his 34 points in the fourth quarter to help the Rockets hold back the visiting Garrard County Lions in Friday night's Homecoming victory, 78-75. With the win the Rockets have upped their record to 8-3 on the season.

The Rockets were forced to hit free throws at the end to clinch the victory and they rose to the occas-sion. The Rockets hit 24 of 38 for the game.

"I thought we played a really good game," head coach David Perkins said, "we had to hit our free throws at the end, and that they did," he added.

The game was close throughout with the lead going back and forth. The Rockets had a two-point lead at the end of the first quarter, 13-11 but managed to outscore Garrard 27-21 to take a 40-32 lead at the half.

"I thought we played a really good second quarter, we played good pressure defense that caused a lot of turnovers," coach Perkins said.

However, the third quarter was all Garrard County as they outscored the Rockets 24-11 to take a five point lead at the end of the third quarter. But, pressure defense by the Rockets and good rebounding inside by Mike Durham and Corey Craig helped lift the Rockets past Garrard in the final period.

Sparked by free throws, aggressive defense and some three-point shooting by Parkerson and William Bullens the Rockets managed to come back and outscore the Lions 27-19 in the fourth quarter for the final score of 78-75.

"Parkerson, Bullens, Durham and Mikhael Shaffer along with the rest of the squad all hit some crucial free throws in the fourth quarter that really helped us," coach Perkins said. "I feel our team beat a very good Garrard County team, it seemed that no matter how much our team gets down, they find ways to come back."

Coach Perkins said. The Rockets now go on the road to face Bell County Friday night. They go to Mercer County Saturday night and to Madison Southern Tuesday night.

Scoring for the Rockets were: Micha Parkerson, 34; William Bullens, 18; Mike Durham, 10; Corey Craig, 9; Mikhael Shaffer, 5 and Kevin Mullins, 2.

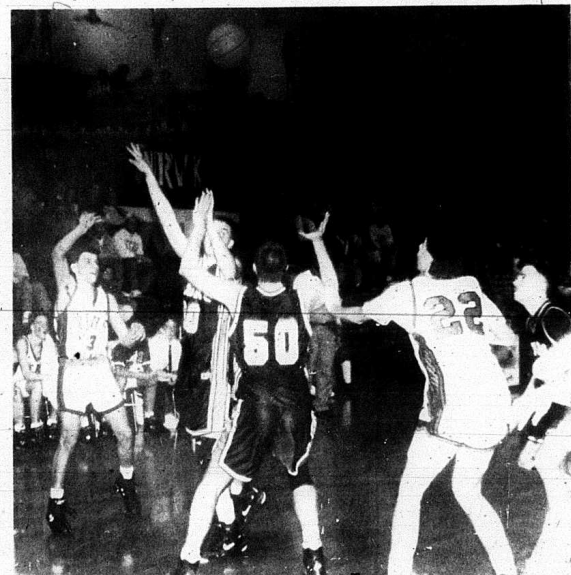

Bullens: The Rockets lost to Barbourville Tuesday night, 77-68, to bring their record to 8-4 on the year. A complete story will appear next week.

Rockcastle Church League results

The Rockcastle Church League resumed action last Monday night and First Baptist #2 defeated Team Challenge, 48 to 32, in the first game. Darin Smith had 13 points and Billy Phillips had 11 to lead First Baptist #7. Team Challenge was led by Jeff Edwards with 17 and Bryan Reed with 11. The second game was a close and exciting game as Ottawa #1 defeated Scaffold Cane, 64-63. Jeff Lawwell hit six three point shots for a total of 22 points and Mark

Bishop added 13 for Ottawa. Scaffold Cane was led by Kenny Graves with 25 and Larry Nicely with 16. The third game of the night was a low scoring game between Ottawa #2 and First Baptist #1. Ottawa #2 (Cont. to B-3)

Player of the Week

Micah Parkerson
Jan. 16-22

Parkerson was chosen player of the week for his performance against Garrard. Parkerson scored 34 points and was 13 of 14 from the charity stripe.

Player of the Week

Beth Amyx
Jan. 16-22

Amyx was chosen player of the week for her defense and hustle against Garrard Co. last Thursday night. Amyx also scored nine points.

Lady Rockets fall to Garrard County, 53-48

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets lost another close one last Thursday night as they traveled to Garrard County and were defeated 53-48.

With the loss, the Lady Rockets are 10-6 on the year.

After being up by as many as 13 in the first half, the Lady Rockets hit a sour note and couldn't seem to get it right the rest of the game.

"I don't think we played to our ability at all," head coach Christy Beaver said, "we played a great first quarter, but that was it," she added.

Jennifer Thacker scored nine of her 17 points in the first quarter to help the Lady Rockets take an early 17-7 lead. But, the Lions came back and outscored the Lady Rockets 12 to 5 in the second quarter to cut their lead to 22-19 at the end of the half.

However, the Lady Rockets lost their lead in the third quarter, when the Lions outscored the Rockets 22 to 14 to take a 41-36 lead at the end of the third quarter.

"We ran out offense, but we didn't look for our shots," Beaver said, "we also missed a lot of lay-ups that really hurt us," she added.

Garrard County held on to their five point lead in the fourth quarter to take home the 53-48 win. "We shot our best game ever from the outside, but it just wasn't enough," Beaver said.

Coach Beaver was pleased with her team's aggressive defense in the second half. The Lady Rockets committed only three team fouls in the second half.

The Lady Rockets record does not show just how good they actually are. In their six losses, the margin of loss totals only 21 points.

"We've not played anyone we're not capable of beating," coach Beaver said, "the girls have just got to want to win," she added.

The Lady Rockets now play at home for their next three games. Thursday night against Estill, Friday night against Cawood and Monday night against Monticello.

Scoring for the Rockets were: Jennifer Thacker, 13; Kristi Sargent, 11; Beth Amyx, 9; Cindy McCauley, 10; Christy Coleman, 3 and Danetta Ford, 2.

Library News

By: Geraldine Robbins

The Rockcastle County Library Board members are pleased to announce that the library has received a grant from the Liff Craig, Carol Bryant, Martha Eversole, and Don Thompson as board members. These people donate a lot of their own work of materials to the library supporting the work carried out by the staff of this library.

The library has a serious problem that is not counting overdues. How that we are into the new books and cards from 1991 have been checked and we have found that there are approximately 400 books that have not been returned. This is not counting overdues on the bookmobile and Pain has several missing, also. This hurts our library badly. A lot of these books are non-fiction and other people need them for information, especially students that are doing reports and other school work.

If each of the overdue books cost $10, and many of them cost quite a bit more, this would amount to $4,000. Our book budget for the fiscal year 1991-92 is only $4,000, so you can see if we have to keep replacing lost books, we will not be able to continue buying the new books that are needed.

I feel that it's one of our responsibilities to our patrons to make sure that the books and those on the best-seller list, but if there isn't a change in getting the books back that we already have when they are due, some action will have to be taken. The library belongs to and is to be used by all the citizens of Rockcastle County and we would not want to deprive anyone of this privilege, and it is a privilege to be able to borrow books, magazines, videos and other materials free of charge. Also if we do not have a special book that is wanted, we have access to most of the libraries in the state of Kentucky and other states to borrow from them. I do not understand why people want to abuse these privileges.

Most of our patrons are very reliable and it is a pleasure to serve you, but as you can see from the number of books that are overdue, many aren't. I'm asking those of you who have these books to please look around your house and find them and return them to us. There will not be any fines charged for the remainder of January. If you don't want to bring them inside the library, just drop them in the box outside.

We make every effort to have a library that you can be proud of and one that you can enjoy coming into and making selections of those books that you want or need. We hope to continue to provide the best materials available with the support of all our patrons. Cards will be mailed out again soon, so that those who have the books will know the number and titles of them. The shelves will be checked first to see if the books have been returned and shelved incorrectly.

If this measure fails to bring results, we will have to consider legal action. We want to be fair and courteous to everyone and we understand that sometimes it is impossible to get books back on the exact date, due to illness or being out of town or other reasons, but all that is required of you is to call us if possible and renew them or bring them in as soon as possible. A small fine of 10¢ per week is charged when overdue.

We have tax forms available to the public, both federal and state. The ladies in the Craft Class want me to remind you again to come in and join their craft class each Tuesday at 1 p.m. They are crocheting afghans now but will be making other crafts later. Come in and share your ideas with the ladies.

Some new books now available at the library include:

Then Firm, by John Grisham. Mitchell McDerehas worked hard to get where he is: third in his class at Harvard Law. Aggressively recruited by the top firms and initially headed for Wall Street, Mitch surprises everyone by joining Bendini, Lambert, and Locke, a very private, very rich law firm in Memphis, Tennessee and quickly settles into their new life. They're young, happy and on the fast track, or so they think.

Soon though, Mitch senses trouble: two of the partners die in a suspicious diving accident off Grand Cayman; the firm's management is overly proud of the fact that no one has ever resigned, and some measures at the firm are - even for a company with billionaire clients - more than a little stringent. Then suddenly Mitch's vague suspicions come to life. While eating alone at a nearby diner, he is approached by a man named Tarrance who claims to be with the FBI. Tarrance tells Mitch that the firm's security people have bugged his phone, his house, and probably his car; that he is in great danger and should be extremely careful; that he cannot tell a soul of their meeting; and that the FBI will contact him again soon.

In subsequent meetings with Tarrance, Mitch is told that the FBI has been studying Bendini, Lambert and Locke for years, and that while they have few legitimate clients, they are most assuredly not a law firm. When Mitch learns what they really are, he is at first shocked, then frightened; when he learns what they really do, and how they do it, he is terrified. And then Tarrance tells him the FBI will bust him if he doesn't cooperate, and the firm will kill him if he does. There's no way out, or is there?

A non-fiction book, When a Child Kills, Abused Children who Kill their Parents, by Paul Mones. To the outside world, Cindy had everything: intelligence, beauty, and a wealthy father who lavished her with presents. But her role as favorite daughter went further than anyone knew, for her dad had slowly turned her into a prisoner of incest. Unable to see an end to his brutality, she tries to escape by running away, only to be trying to kill herself. Finally one night she stopped him with a blast from a shotgun. Cases like this one inspired author Paul Mones to champion the cause time you need to read. When a Child Kills, tells Cindy's story -- and the gripping stories of seven of the almost one hundred children Paul Mones has helped. When a Child Kills in the last ten years. These are seemingly normal kids who have never been jailed, but who one day commit the ultimate taboo of taking the life of their father or mother.

Written in compelling and disturbing detail, by the only attorney in the nation specializing in parole cases, Mones takes the reader where a journalist never could, in some of the darkest corners of humanity, revealing how these terrible tragedies occur and how society responds to them.

A juvenile non-fiction book, Looking Good, Eating Right by Charles Salter. Are you a card-carrying couch potato? Do you munch away the hours in front of the tube and then for exercise, trot back to the refrigerator when the plate is empty? When was the last time you tried an apple for a snack? It can be very hard to be an adolescent. You're growing and your body is changing almost daily. Maybe you're overweight and unhappy with yourself. Will you outgrow it, or are you eating habits all wrong, causing not only unattractive bulges but also adding to the likelihood of you eventually developing heart disease or diabetes.

How are your eating habits? How long can you get away with them and not see evidence of the damage being done? How do weight control and proper nutrition tie together? And how does exercise fit into this puzzle of a healthy body and sound mind?

Dr. Salter will introduce you, in a clear and engaging manner, to the basics of good nutrition and safe weight control. You can have your cake and eat it too - occasionally. With Dr. Salter's help and some determination to mend your ways, your body will feel good and you will look your best. Try it and see.

A non-fiction book, Walking the Trail of Tears, by Jerry Ellis. In 1828, the Cherokee Nation thrived in Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and North Carolina. The eighteen thousand Indians had their own newspaper; they raised corn, cotton, hogs, and cattle; they lived in peace, but that same year, U.S. soldiers rounded up the Cherokees and forced them to walk 900 miles across eight states to Oklahoma, where they were put on reservations. Along the way, thousands of them died, and this haunted path became known as the Trail of Tears.

One fall morning in 1889, a Cherokee descendant set off on a journey of a lifetime: he would walk those nine hundred miles along the Trail of Tears, following the route of his ancestors. Born and raised in the old Cherokee Nation in Fort Payne, Alabama, Jerry Ellis started his journey along lonely roads, through small southern towns and miles of forest, he also came face-to-face with America and the people living there. What he discovered is captured in this moving story of his walk.

Along his journey, Ellis often slept in the woods or meadows. He fished in the streams and built campfires under moon-

Kentucky in size and athletic ability, but the Wildcats counter with savvy and leadership. Arkansas is a senior-laden team and if any team can break the Rupp Arena win streak against Southeastern Conference schools, it's Arkansas. Fortunately for Kentucky, its two most difficult SEC games of the year are both at home -- Arkansas and Alabama. With the new divisions in the SEC, Kentucky plays the western schools only once. The Wildcats must travel to Louisiana State, Auburn and Mississippi State and host Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama. Next year, the rotation changes and the Wildcats must go to Arkansas and Alabama.

Only one of the ironies about this game is that Eddie Sutton formerly coached both teams and this is the first time they have played each other since the 1978 Final Four. Sutton was the coach of that Arkansas team and fair coached at Kentucky from 1985-89. The oddity is that neither team plays close to reflecting the style of play Sutton employs. He did recruit this year's Kentucky seniors, but is not associated with any of the Arkansas players.

Expect a war here. This game will be so much fun to watch, both in person and on the SEC television network. At this moment I have to give a slight edge to Arkansas, but come game day, my opinion could change. At this time, I would place Arkansas among the top four teams in the country, along with Ohio State, Duke and UCLA. Kentucky, Indiana and Arizona fall into the top seven.

lit skies. As he walked, cranes flew overhead, a good omen according to the Spirit World and with Nature. The men and women he met told him stories of their lives -- of happiness and heart-ache, love and loss. The young girl who put an Indian cross on him with her finger; the sad woman with beautiful eyes who he grew to love; the Indian who believed she could turn into an owl -- all of these strangers helped him to understand that the rich, tragic history of the Cherokee survives in the beauty and mystery of the trail and the people who love along it.

The library has had 24 new juvenile fiction books given to us, these will be interesting for both boys and girls.

A look at the history of Mental Health Centers

Only three weeks prior to his death, President John F. Kennedy signed into law a bill that has positively affected the lives of over 100 million people in the U.S. The signing of the mental retardation facilities and community mental health centers construction act received minimal public attention in 1963, just as persons with mental illness received little attention to their needs. Most mental health care was provided in secluded hospitals and institutions. The new law drastically altered the delivery of mental health services and inspired a new era of optimism in mental health care. The original act was amended eight times between 1963 and 1978 and was responsible for construction and staffing over 750 community mental health centers throughout the country.

The funding methodology changed significantly since 1963. The Carter administration developed a mental health systems act which linked the new community programs with a state and federal partnership. The Reagan approach has continued support at lower levels, through the alcohol, drug abuse and mental health services block grant which sends the funds directly to the states.

President Bush continues to pledge his support, particularly in the field of substance abuse prevention and treatment. Altogether, almost $4 billion has been granted to local centers from the national treasury during the 26 years of federal support.

Community mental health is one of the few social programs of the 1960's that survived and grew. The population of large mental institutions drastically declined in the past three decades due to the development of more effective psychotropic medications, new approaches to psychotherapy, and a variety of early intervention strategies that made community care a more feasible alternative. In 1955, the mental institution population was 600,000. By 1973, the population had declined to 160,000. In a 1987 survey by the national council of community mental health centers, almost 45% of the community mental health agency clients are seriously mentally ill. Persons who are physically or mentally handicapped, the elderly, substance abusers, troubled youth and minorities, are obvious critical needs for community mental health programs to address.

For more information on services provided by the Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center, call 864-2104 or 528-7010. This mental health brief brought to you by the Kentucky Association of Regional Programs, representing Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center, and the state's 13 other private, non profit community mental health centers.

EKU making calls to 379 Rockcastle Countians during drive

Beginning Feb. 2, EKU will call many of the 379 EKU Alumni living in Rockcastle County.

The calls are part of a five-week effort by 400 student volunteers to raise $105,000 for scholarships and other University programs. The students will call more than 25,000 graduates nationwide "during Phonathon 92, EKU's 7th annual telephone campaign, which will run from Feb. 2 through March 8.

The student volunteers will ask Eastern graduates to contribute to the University's Alumni Annual Fund," said Lana Carnes, assistant director of development at EKU and phonathon coordinator.

Eastern graduates have made the annual phonathon one of the University's most successful support programs, Carnes said.

"Students gain a better understanding of the importance of private support for public-assisted universities like Eastern, and it also provides a good lesson in volunteerism."

Class enjoys log cabin Christmas dinner

Mrs. Ruth Allen's Humanities 203 class from Somerset Community College topped off a great semester of classes recently with a potluck Christmas dinner held at a log cabin in Pulaski County.

The class has been studying Appalachian culture, so the setting of the one-room cabin lit with kerosene lamps with a freshly cut Christmas tree was very fitting. After a delicious meal, Beverly Sexton, a professional story teller from Brodhead and a favorite of the class, entertained with several of her stories. She told a Christmas story she had written herself and two "Jack" tales.

Mrs. Sexton recently graduated from Berea College, after doing her student teaching at Rockcastle County High School. She plans to teach and is available now for story telling for anyone who is interested.

Mrs. Allen taught the class about Appalachian customs, as well as how remedies, family traditions and sayings, past-times, and stories. The class was required to do a project pertaining to Appalachia and present it to the class to be graded. The class also read novels by the likes of James Holt Giles, and Wilma Dykeman. The students agree that this class has given them a greater awareness of their ancestors and an appreciation for Appalachian life and culture. Those involved in the class who were present at the dinner were: Mrs. Allen, Louetta Deborde, Sheila Smith, Norma Cummins, Judy Owens, Greg Rowe, Members of EKU's student organizations, mainly fraternities and sororities, will place calls to alumni living in Kentucky and throughout the U.S. Calls will be made in the evenings, Sunday through Thursday.

"Students tell us they enjoy the campaign, and they certainly do a great job in generating support for their university," Carnes said.

Members of EKU's Student Alumni Ambassadors will provide additional support for the project, which is coordinated by EKU's division of Alumni Affairs and Development.

Eastern's first six phonathons received over $400,000 in total pledges, and each phonathon has exceeded its original goal for both total dollars and number of contributors.

The annual project also receives considerable support from the local business community in the form of food and prizes for student volunteers.

Michael Bullock, Francis Whitehead, Myrna Childress, Linda Proctor, Roselind Philbeck, and Sue Philbeck. Guests at the dinner were Charlie and Louetta Head, Nelson Hamilton, and Jason Allen. Everyone reported having "a mighty nice time."

We would also like to share the poem written by Kentucky writer James Still that we learned in class and was recently read at the funeral of former Governor Bert Combs.

HERITAGE

I shall not leave these prisoning hills
Though they topple their barren heads to level earth
And the forests slide uprooted of the sky

Through the waters of Troublesome, of Trace Fork
Of Sand Lick rise in a single body to glean the valleys.

To down fish Pennyroyal,
to unravel rain fences;
Though the sun-ball breaks the ridges into dust
And burns its strength into the blistered rock

I cannot leave. I cannot go away.
Being of these hills, being one with the fox

Stealing into the shadows, one with the new-born fowl.
The lumbering ox drawing green beech logs to mill.

One with the destined foot of man climbing and descending,
And one with death rising to bloom
again, I cannot go.
Being of these hills I cannot pass beyond.

Service awards dinner held for bus personnel

A Service Awards Dinner was held recently for the Rockcastle County School System's bus drivers, mechanics, bus monitors and substitute bus drivers. Those with five or more years of service were presented service awards in appreciation for their years of conscientious service to the Rockcastle County School System.

Those attending who received awards for five or more years of service were: Everett Albright, Bill Barnett, J.T. Boone, Darlena Bowles, Arnold Brown, Garner Brown, Clyde Burdette, Benny Craig, Barbara Deborde, Harold Kelley, Mildred Kindred, Brownie Martin, Bob Pybas, Jimmy Taylor, Larry Travis.

A special award was presented to Danny Sargent who retired in May of 1991. He was honored for 26 years of dedicated service as a bus driver for the school system.

On Friday, November 1, seventeen 5th and 6th grade students represented Rockcastle Co. in the 11th Annual Central Kentucky Music Educators Association Choral Festival. Students from Mt. Vernon and Livingston Elementaries traveled to EKU for a day of rehearsals which concluded with a public concert that evening. Students attending were, from left, front: Tammy Renner, Josh Bray, Becky Davis, Brad Powell, Raymond Carpenter, Honey Decker, Jasmín Carmack, Jamie Settles, Layne Ross Nicely, Judy Spencer, Cody Cox, Heather Bray, Holly Machal, Michael Parsons, Brandi Sexton, Crystal Lear and Ronna Dee McClure. The students were accompanied by their music teacher, Mrs. Jamie Cornelius and Ruby Cornelius.

Roundstone Elementary School would like to congratulate several students on outstanding achievements.

Jeffery Linville, Mrs. French's fifth grade, was the winner of the National Geography Bee at RES. The National Geography Bee is a nationwide contest for grades four through eight. Jeffery recently completed the state level Qualifying Test. He hasn't received the results of that test. Mrs. Carol Pybas was the Geography Bee Coordinator for RES.

Matt Bryant honored by 36

A Rockcastle County High School student, Matt Bryant, was featured on WTVQ's Student Achievement segment this week.

Channel 36 in Lexington features students from Central Kentucky who excel in academics and/or sports.

Matt is involved in over 15 extracurricular activities and sports an impressive list of awards and recognitions while maintaining an impressive academic standing.

"I don't know if we've ever had a student who is involved in more activities in school," said Dale Whitaker, RCHS counselor, "plus he excels academically."

Roy Stephen Martin, son of Judy and Jack Lawless and Roy and Pam Martin, all of Mt. Vernon, recently graduated from the College of Natural and Mathematical Sciences at Eastern Kentucky University.

Stephen received his Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in chemistry and a minor in physics. He was recently named to the Dean's List as a result of his academic scholarship during the 1991 fall semester.

The Dean's List recognizes undergraduate students who compile a 3.5 gpa or above.

Stephen is a 1987 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

Dean's List at EKU reported

Twenty-one Rockcastle County residents are among 1,175 students at Eastern Kentucky University to be named to the Dean's List for fall semester study.

To achieve Dean's List honors at EKU, students attempting 14 or more credit hours must earn a 3.5 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Students attempting 13 credit hours must earn a 3.65 GPA, and students attempting 12 credit hours must earn a 3.75 GPA.

"We are always happy to recognize outstanding academic achievement at Eastern Kentucky University," said EKU President Harry Funderburk. "The academic performance of these students reflects both their diligence and the hard work of our teaching faculty."

Of the 1,175 Dean's List students last semester, 374 earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

Eastern Kentucky University is a comprehensive, regional University serving more than 16,500 students on its 35-acre Richmond campus, throughout its 22-county extended service region, and beyond.
