Kentucky Afield fishing call-in airs on special night

Do you want to know where the fish are biting? Or which Kentucky lakes are the best for crappie? Or when the strippers start running at Cumberland? An hour-long edition of the KET program Kentucky Afield will take questions like these from viewers on a special night, Wednesday, April 8, at 8 p.m.

The Kentucky Afield Spring Call-In Special is a popular annual event for fishing enthusiasts. Host Dave Shuffelt, along with experts from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, will field questions from viewers. The toll-free number -- which will be active only during the live program -- is (800) 944-4664.

KET series about school reform continues

If Kentucky school reform achieves what it is intended to, students will be better equipped to make social, economic, and political decisions and will have a deeper appreciation of the arts and their cultural heritage. School Reform: Answers for Parents will focus on these and other valued outcomes of Kentucky education reform when it airs at 9 p.m. Thursday, April 9 on KET.

Commonwealth of Kentucky 28th Judicial Circuit Rockcastle Circuit Court Civil Action File No. 90-CI-136 DAVID GREGORY VS: NOTICE OF SALE PETITIONER EVELYN GREGORY RESPONDENT

Pursuant to judgment and order of sale entered in this action on the 15th day of October, 1991, for the purpose of partition of jointly owned and indivisible property, I will offer at public auction the hereinafter described real property and personal property in Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle County, Kentucky, ON THE PREMISES ON RICHMOND STREET IN MT. VERNON ON FRIDAY, THE 3RD DAY OF APRIL, 1992 BEGINNING AT THE HOUR OF 10:30 A.M. said property being more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Parcel No. 1 Lots 9, 10, 11, as shown by the blueprint and plat made by John Spott, surveyor, on July 8th and 9th 1938; These lots are each 25 feet wide and front on U.S. Highway #25 and run back a distance of 150 feet each, located in D.G. Clark's subdivision in Rockcastle County, Ky., and known and designated on the plat of said subdivision as lots Nos. 9-10, 11 which said plat is of record in Deed Book No. 57 page 112, Rockcastle County Court Clerk's office. Also part of lots No. 7 and 8, same being 70 feet on the western end of said lots. Also part of lots number 29, 30, 31, 32, 33 and 34. This part being a distance of 44 feet on the eastern end of said lots. This being the land where the motel is presently located.

Parcel No. 2 Part of lots 7 and 8 as shown on the Plat and Blueprint made by John Scott, Surveyor, on July 8 and 9, 1938, of the D.G. Clark subdivision and filed and recorded in the Rockcastle County Court Clerk's office in Deed Book No. 57 at page 112. These lots each front 25 feet on U.S. Highway #25 and are each 150 feet deep. There is excepted from the above and both lots and not conveyed the back 70 feet along lot number 9 of the same survey, same being the northwest ends of lots 7 and 8. Conveying hereby the 80 feet of lots 7 and 8 fronting on U.S. Highway 25.

Parcel No. 3 Parts of lots numbers 29, 30, 31, 32, 33 and 34 in the D.G. Clark subdivision as surveyed by John Scott, July 8th and 9th, 1938, the blueprint for which is filed and recorded in the Rockcastle County Court Clerk's office. There is excluded from this description a distance of 44 feet along the eastern end of said lots, this being where a part of the motel is located.

Parcel No. 4 Beginning at a stone corner on the East side of Richmond Street, corner to lands herein conveyed and Curfew Holt; thence with established line marked by fence southeastwardly to Henry Bales corner; thence southwardly with line of land herein conveyed and Henry Bales to a stone on the North side of High Street; thence northwardly with line of High Street to the Flora Bales corner; thence northeastwardly with Flora Bales line to Flora Bales corner; thence northwardly with line of Flora Bales to right-of-way of Richmond Street or U.S. Highway 25; thence northeastwardly with right-of-way of U.S. 25 or Richmond Street to point of beginning. Also, bounded on the west by the Dixie Highway; on the north by the property of David Gregory; on the east by the property of David Gregory; and on the South by High Street. This being a lot 50 feet square.

Also the following personal property will be sold at the same time and place: 1983 Pontiac automobile, 1972 Chevrolet automobile, 1969 Chevrolet pickup, one yellow and white mobile home, number N9841430 (presently located behind the motel), one .22 caliber rifle, two .22 caliber pistols, one .38 caliber pistol S&W long barrel, one 12 gauge shotgun. All furniture, tools and equipment in the residence, connecting motel office and motel units are to go with the property.

The property will be sold upon the following terms and conditions: 1. The real property will be sold by selling each of the above parcels individually and then combining them into one lot to see if they will bring additional money after being combined. Whichever brings the highest price will be the way they will sell. 2. The property shall be sold to the highest bidder(s) for cash or for a deposit of TWENTY (20%) PERCENT of the bid price at the time of the sale and the balance payable THREE (3) MONTHS from the date of the sale, with interest at the rate of TWELVE (12%) PERCENT per annum from date of sale until paid. The purchaser(s) shall be required to execute bond with surety thereon, to be approved by the Master Commissioner, for the balance of the purchase price. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) PERCENT per annum from date until paid, and to remain and be a lien on said property until fully paid. 3. The purchaser(s) shall have the privilege of paying all of the purchase price in cash or paying the bond before maturity by paying the principal amount thereon, together with all interest accrued thereon to the date of said payment. 4. The purchaser(s) shall pay 1992 County, State and School taxes on the property. 5. Except for the residence, the purchaser(s) shall have possession of the premises upon complying with the terms of sale and risk of loss of improvements shall thereafter be on the purchaser(s). Possession of the residence shall be within thirty (30) days after complying with terms of sale. 6. This sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise. 7. Should there be a lien on the property held by the United States, a federal right of redemption shall exist. 8. The personal property shall be paid for in full on the date of the sale.

ROBERT E. ROBINSON Master Commissioner of the Rockcastle Circuit Court

MVES 6th grade class visits State Legislature

Shannon Bales' 6th grade class recently spent the day in Frankfort. They received a firsthand look at our government at work. They toured the Capitol, sat in on a caucus, were recognized on the floor of the House of Representatives, and visited the Supreme Court where they met Justice Joseph Lambert and discovered how the judicial process works at its highest level. They ended the day with a brief stop at the state's game farm.

This trip was a reward for the outstanding attendance record the class has established this year. Through 131 school days (7 months), the class has had only six absences!

This class would like to thank Larry Hammond for the trip and Mr. Hale for the terrific lunch.

Tiger Pause

The kindergarten classes of Mrs. Rita Shaffer and Mrs. Leslie Camie were in Lexington, Wednesday, March 25 to enjoy the Children's Museum.

The Rockcastle County High School Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Johnna Ward will present a concert, Wednesday, April 1 at 1:30.

Congratulations to John Dyehouse and Matthew Hayes for participation in the 4-H Dairy Quiz-Bowl. Their coaches are Henry and Rita Hayes.

Friday, April 3 ends the fifth six weeks grading period. Report cards will be sent home, Thursday, April 16.

Deadline for picture orders is Fri. April 3.

It's beginning to look a lot like spring in our cafeteria. Mrs. Wanda Carroll and Bill Melchior were busy hanging colorful balloons from the ceiling. All of these extra "coaches" are being and enjoyed by our students. Thanks Ms. Wanda and Mr. Bill!

Helpers for the 4-H Sewing Project are Helen Albright, Geraldine Anglin, JoAnn McClure, Jane McClure, Ginny Gilpatrick, and Wanda Carroll! The students have made impressive sportswear with impressive results.

The Junior High students and faculty are busy planning their dance for the ending of school. Colors chosen are gold, purple, and black. A theme has not been decided.

The Creative Writing class of Mrs. Pam Martin is participating in the Woodmen of the World Creative Writing Essay contest. First, second and third place trophies will be awarded and each will be awarded a ribbon of participation.

The class has also committed to a writing project sponsored by the Rockcastle Jaycees. This project has possibilities of advancement to state competition.

Mrs. Martin's U.S. History students are preparing individual projects. The students will research and present mini-teaching units to the class, after designing study guides, evaluation questions, using visual aids and all available resources. Thirty-two students will present.

The Performing Arts students of Mrs. Pam Martin and Mrs. Caroline Graves are preparing for a major musical production called "American Pop." The program will be presented to the student body Thursday, April 30 at 2 p.m. and later that evening to the public at 7 p.m. with a charge of $2.

Matthew Hayes and Robert Moore were the winners of the bicycle drawing held March 27th. The bicycles are incentives for having good attendance.

Dairy Quiz Bowl

Two teams from Rockcastle Co. participated in the State 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl competition last week. Four junior members and four senior members duelled with 30 other teams from across the state.

The 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl is an annual competition at the University of Kentucky. Junior teams square off with other junior teams and senior teams do likewise.

The purpose of the bowl competition is to learn about relative topics of the dairy industry, whether we be dairy families or consumers of dairy products.

Wins Poster Contest

Ginger Mink of Roundstone Elementary School recently received a first place award for her winning poster in the Area CVADD poster contest.

The Beta Club members in the above photo were treated to a day on the campus of Centre College, Tuesday, March 17. The students and their sponsor, Mrs. Caroline Graves, would like to thank the Bank of Mt. Vernon and Citizens Bank of Brodhead and Mt. Vernon for their support.

Teen Center Perspectives

The Rockcastle and Garrard Teen Center would like the addition to their staff of Connie Branham; the educational coordinator for both the Garrard and Rockcastle Teen Centers.

Connie is from Prestonsburg and worked for another C.A.P. program before transferring to the teen centers. She will be initiating staff training, implementing parent and teen educational programs, and she will work with the school systems and other community agencies to upgrade and improve services. We'd like to extend a very warm welcome to Connie and wish her well in her newest endeavors.

A KIDS (The Kentucky Integrated Delivery System) meeting was held at the R.T.C. and chaired by Dr. Michael Bryant, of the Department of Social Services. His agency as well as other agencies such as the youth resources center, Department of Health, School Board, provide a "think tank" as how to address and remedy problems that crop up and keep children from realizing their full potential in life. The main concern of this group is helping children receive a solid educational standing in society and helping the parents with any problems that may be interfering with the educational process. The KIDS concept preceded the 1990 educational reform act and is known as an integral part of the reform act. C.A.P. and the teens centers welcome the opportunity to work with KIDS program. The next meeting will be April 16th at 1:30 p.m. at the Rockcastle Hospital.

Last Friday night we had a "spring Fling" dance and about 60 teens attended. Many activities such as a dance contest and lip sync contest were held. The R.T.C. would like to thank the CAP Volunteers who helped chaperone the event, officer John Bradley for his support and D.J. Johnson for his talents.

Saturday the R.T.C. began its commitment to the "Adopt-a-Highway" program to keep two miles of Lake Linville litter free. Two teens, Melissa and Debbie suggested a $500 fine sign be added to our sign. This service project will be carried out once a month.

Spring Break Schedule
Friday night skating - leave Center at 6:30 return 11:30 p.m.
Saturday hours 12-6 p.m. outdoor games and volleyball

Boy Scout Troop 263 hold Court of Honor

By: Justin Thomas
Troop Scribe

On March 10, the Boy Scout Troop 263 from Mt. Vernon held a Court of Honor. Northside Baptist Church has provided a place for our troop to have meetings and the Court of Honor. Several Scouts received their Tenderfoot rank.

In order to get the Tenderfoot rank many requirements had to be filled. Each one was fun to do and the Scouts learned many things. A few Scouts are very close to earning their Ten-

Mt. Vernon Cub Scout Pack 263 will be holding their annual Pinewood Derby on April 3 at 6 p.m. at Mt. Vernon Elementary School, Cub Scouts will be racing cars they made themselves. Visitors are welcome to attend and watch the race.

Mrs. Shannon Bales' 6th grade class was recently treated to a trip to Frankfort and had their picture made in the capitol rotunda with State Rep. Danny Ford. The treat was for the class' attendance record of six absences in the first seven months of school.

The Senior 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl team participants were Melissa Hayes, Larissa Hayes, Heath Saylor, Jason Alcorn and Coach Henry Hayes.

The Junior 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl Team participants were Matthew Hayes, John Dyehouse, LaCosta Mason, Jason McFerron and Coach Rita Hayes.

March is National Nutrition Month

March is National Nutrition Month. In honor of National Nutrition Month, the Cumberland Valley District Health Department would like to recognize Lynett Fortney and Chesla Blaydes who are nutritionists with the Rockcastle County Health Center.

Lynett is a graduate of Berea College with a major in dietetics and has earned a Master's degree in Community Nutrition from Eastern Kentucky University. She is also a Registered Dietitian by the Commission on Dietetic Registration of the American Dietetic Association and has been with our agency nearly five years.

Chesla is a 1991 graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a degree in dietetics. She has been working with the health department as a nutritionist since the beginning of March.

Nutritionists provide nutrition education to the public and coordinate and provide direct nutritional care to clients of the health department. They work in Maternal and Child Health Programs such as the Special Supplemental Feeding Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), Well Child, Prenatal, Family Planning and the Commission for Handicapped Children Program. They also provide nutrition services to clients in Chronic Disease Programs such as Hypertension and Diabetes. The Registered dietitian provides nutrition services to clients with significant nutrition problems and provides consultation and assistance on nutrition matters to a variety of community agencies.

The Cumberland Valley District Health Department would like to say thanks to Lynett and Chesla for all the hard work!

Falcon Cable TV to help CF

During the month of April 1992, Falcon Cable TV will offer free installation and a free month of service to customers who donate $10 or more to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Cystic Fibrosis, the most common fatal genetic disorder in the U.S., affects 30,000 children and young adults, killing more than 500 every year. Thanks to a series of breakthroughs, Cystic Fibrosis researches are closer than ever to a cure.

Last spring, Falcon helped raise over $166,000 for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. One thousand Falcon employees nationwide contributed to the successful month-long promotion. This April, the entire organization will again work together to help raise money to cure this devastating disease.

Said Frank Intiso, Chief Operating Officer of Falcon Cable TV, speaking of next month's campaign, "Falcon Cable systems nationwide are proud to be able to contribute to the great strides the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is making toward a cure."

Falcon Cable TV operates in more than 250 communities and has over 800,000 customers nationwide.

For more information contact Roy Baker, Falcon Cable TV, 800-264-8308 or for more information about Cystic Fibrosis, call 1-800-FIGHT-CTF.

"Putting Your World Together" was the topic of last week's Champions Against Drugs conference in Corbin. The presenter, Dave Williams, is a profound and entertaining speaker and he involved the participants in a number of activities that heightened our awareness of how each of us, personally, makes our world work for us. There is no right or wrong way to view life, according to Dave, but if each of us is to experience a sense of satisfaction with our lives then we must become aware of the elements that keep us in balance. Dave talked a lot about the various "filters," or hypothetical lenses, through which one perceives life. Some of us see things in visual terms, while others are more auditory or kinesthetic. Some of us need external feedback while others are internally motivated; some see sameness more readily than differences in other places and surroundings. His point is that in order to communicate effectively and avoid frustration with those around us, it helps if we can recognize their filters and put things in terms they can comprehend. You might explain something until you are blue in the face to a visual learner and get nowhere until you show him something he can actually see with his eyes. Or you might do well to set up a reward system with a child who is externally motivated, but the same system would not be effective with one whose satisfaction comes from within himself.

This is all very interesting but bears more explanation than can be given in this column. However Dave did present one concept that is more immediately useful. That is the idea that happiness, true satisfaction and contentment with one's life, is dependent on the balance of two factors: self-care, and care for others. We all know of the proverbial rich man, or successful athlete, who is not happy. In fact there is much publicity about those rich and famous who turn to drugs, a sure sign of discontent. What is missing in their lives is an outlet for awareness, caring and concern for other people. Witness the recent stories about the radiance of Magic Johnson who has turned his tragedy into an opportunity to reach young people.

On the flip side are the so-called work-a-holics, or those whose lives are so focused on other people that they do not take time to care for themselves. Indulgent parents who cater to their children's and husbands' whims fall into this category. This kind of behavior may look or feel good on the surface, but the fallacy is that the perpetual "giver" cannot maximize his effectiveness unless he takes time to refresh and collect himself.

Taking a look at oneself on a regular basis is important. If you are caught up in a whirlwind of responsibilities, take off an occasional half hour for a walk in the budding woodlands, read a book, make something, take a bubble bath or call a friend. Better yet, plan a weekend away if possible. On the other hand, if you have fallen into a pattern that is somewhat lazy, or thoughtless, or self-centered, spend some time with a lonely person, volunteer at the library or AARP help out with a sports team, or adopt a piece of highway to clean up. You will be amazed at the sense of well-being you will get from making a few simple changes in order to balance out the caring aspect of your life.

Lifestyles and priorities come in all shapes and sizes, as do the people who practice them. Variety enriches our culture. But each individual must seek ways to love others, as well as himself, if he is to put his world together in a way that feels really good.

Local parents attend area conferences

By: Ginny Gilpatrick

Recently three local parents attended area conferences that focused on drug prevention or awareness issues. Many citizens are concerned about the problems facing youth today, but these women went one step further by participating in two-day training sessions which taught them some skills needed to confront the growing threat of drugs head-on. Mrs. Beverly Garrett of Conway received a certificate from the Family Care Center in Lexington after two days of intensive training at a seminar entitled, "Drugs: The Impact on Children, Children and Families". She will be co-teaching some classes in the high school with Ginny Gilpatrick, on the topics of Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) and children of alcoholics.

Mrs. Bonnie Wynn of Livingston, and Mrs. Joy Roberts of Mt. Vernon participated in the Region XIII Champions Against Drugs workshop in Corbin. Dave Williams presented an experimental-based training designed to enhance interpersonal and problem-solving skills. These parents each received a certificate from the Champions Clubs for youth in their respective schools.

Skills learned at these workshops will increase the effectiveness of these women as they work with the youth in our community. Future conferences will be publicized, and area citizens are encouraged to take advantage of opportunities to learn about topics that interest them by attending a workshop or conference.

Fairview News

By: Mrs. Hubert Chastain

Hello to all you good people every where, just hope all is well with you. We, around here, are having a rainy Monday morning. We have had so much rain this past winter but whatever God sends is alright with me. I've heard it said many times. "We've had enough rain," but to me, I feel like we should be thankful for the wonderful blessings of God. And there comes a time when we wish for rain. After all what do we do for our Lord to deserve the many blessings that we receive?

We had a large crowd for worship service at Fairview March 29th but our Sunday School attendance was down to one hundred and ten. But we are thankful for that number.

Our pastor, Rev. Harvey Pensel delivered such a good message for the morning service. We thank God for Bro. Harvey and all our good God-fearing ministers the world over. They need our support, love and prayers.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. David Gilliam, who were united in marriage Saturday evening March 21st at the Berea Baptist Church in Berea. They are both members of our church. Dawna is the daughter of Roy Lee and Velma Croacher of Conway. We wish for this nice young couple many happy years of love and prosperity. They have our prayers.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgel were last Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgel of Corbin.

Guests of Mrs. Mary Cope last week were her son William and family of Bay Lick and her daughter Jean Hayes of Winchester.

Relatives from Franklin, Ohio here over the weekend for the wedding of Dawna and David Gilliam were Mrs. Becky Wright and two children, Mrs. Jackie Wilson and three children, and Mr. and Mrs. Todd Johnson and two children. Also Mr. and Mrs. Virgie Tinch of Franklin.

Hope Scott of Owensboro visited her brother Robert L. Banks and Mrs. Banks of Boone last week. They were so pleased with her visit and loved having her.

Oscar Alexander of Madison county visited at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chastain and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander, March 18th.

Our daughter Joyce Seals and daughter Kim visited us Sunday afternoon.

Cody Alexander, son of Gerald and Jean Alexander, celebrated his 6th birthday last Tuesday at the home of his grandparents Eugene and Halie Alexander. Attending were his parents and his sister Courtney and his grandparents, also Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davidson and children Jenia and Jeremy. We all wish for him many more happy birthdays. He is such a pretty child and we all love him.

Our Spring Revival is scheduled to begin Sunday morning April 5 and run through Wednesday night April 8. Rev. Seymour Wattenberger of London is the evangelist. We extend a warm welcome to everyone. We so appreciate your presence and your prayers. Please remember church and Sunday School. May God bless and keep you in my prayer.

RCHS band students perform solos at EKU

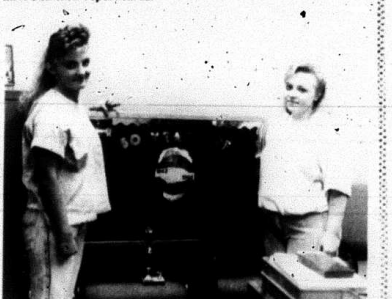

Thirty band students from Rockcastle County schools, (grades 7-12), played instrumental solos at the Kentucky Music Educators Solo and Ensemble Festival held at EKU on Saturday, March 14.

Preparation for the solos began six to eight weeks in advance of the event. About two weeks prior to their performances rehearsal sessions were scheduled for each soloist to practice with their piano accompanist. This also gave Mr. Pybas, the band director, an opportunity to critique each soloist as they made final preparations on their solo.

Bandists, from all over southwestern Kentucky had students who participated in the festival. Each solo and ensemble is performed in the presence of a KMEA judge who rates each soloist according to several different criteria, including grade and experience. Ratings are recorded as: I-Superior, II-Excellent, III-Good, IV-Fair, V-Poor.

Rockcastle musicians received fifteen "A's, twelve "B's, and three "C's". Accompanists for the soloists were Mrs. Johnsna Dell Ward-wal-cornieus teacher at MVES and LES, and Angie Eaton-band student at RCHS. Mrs. Elizabeth Pike, music teacher at RES and BES, also helped with accompaniments in some of the practice sessions at BES.

These 4th through 8th grade students at Mt. Vernon Elementary School distinguished themselves in the 4th six weeks grading period by making all A's on their report cards.

Ms. Regina Stewart and Patty Phelps are shown with their bulletin board which placed second in FBIA Region VI competition at Eastern Kentucky University March 10. The bulletin board, which is a replica of a larger one located in the Business Department, will advance to state competition in Louisville. The local center was also recognized for contributing to the state scholarship fund.

Many attend Lincoln Day Banquet

Despite the Wildcat/Duke game on Saturday, a crowd attended the Annual Lincoln Day Banquet on March 28. Pictured above is Republican Chairman Juanita Davis, State Representative Danny Ford, U.S. Representative Hal Rogers, County Attorney James H. Lambert, Young Republican Chairman Jeff Burdette and State Political Director Jim Coursey.

The writing of cold checks was not the issue at Saturday's Lincoln Day Banquet, as Representative Hal Rogers assured the audience that he was not among those abusing the house banking system.

Rogers, who represents the Fifth Congressional District, was among the guest speakers at the annual Republican Lincoln Day Banquet, which was held on Saturday, March 28. Other speakers included State Representative Danny Ford and State Political Director Jim Coursey.

David Williams, Phillip Thompson and Dennis Ormerod, all three Republican candidates for U.S. Senate, and both potential state senators, Pete Frye and Richard White attended the banquet and addressed the audience with an overview of each candidate's goals and concerns.

The banquet, an annual event that is normally held by the county Republican Club, was this year hosted by the Young Republican Club.

Tom Kelley and his family moved to Rockcastle County this past Wednesday, as Bro. Kelley is now the new pastor at the First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon.

Rev. Kelly comes to First Christian Church

"I've always liked this area and the people I've met in this church are the finest," said Tom Kelley, pastor of the First Christian Church in Mt. Vernon.

Kelley has been pastoring the church since February, and his family moved here April 1 from Belleville, Ohio, where he pastored a church for seven years.

Bro. Kelley's brother-in-law, Ernie Johnson, was pastor of the church at two different times. He, therefore became familiar with the church through visits and told Bro. Ernie that if he decided to leave that church, he (Bro. Kelley) would like the opportunity to fill his shoes.

After becoming aware of the opening at Mt. Vernon First Christian Church, Bro. Kelley immediately submitted a resume, and in a short time, was called to the position of pastor.

The Kelley family consists of Bro. Kelley's wife, Becky, and their three children, John, Sean and Kara.

The oldest son, John, is graduating from high school in June, and has arranged to stay with a family in Belleville so he can graduate with his friends in his old school. He will also move to Mt. Vernon following his graduation and will reportedly enroll at Kentucky Christian College in the fall.

Mullins asks residents to keep county clean

Participation in household and commercial garbage collection is now 50 percent despite written and verbal reminders from county garbage officials.

The goal at the end of March was 70 percent, but "We're proud that the number of households in Rockcastle who properly dispose of household waste has increased to 54.5%," County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins said. County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins talked with some residents this week telling them as well as the public, "If you're not on a hauler's register, please call one right away. The county already looks better, but it's important that everyone participate."

Contest rescheduled

The County Demonstration Contest has been rescheduled, according to John McQuary, County Extension Agent for 4-H Youth Development. The contest will be held from April 14 to April 21 at 7 p.m. at Livingston Elementary School. Participants should call 256-2403 and register their demonstration by Friday, April 17.

City Council

The Mt. Vernon City Council will hold its regular monthly meeting April 13 instead of April 6. The meeting is at 7 p.m.

Vehicles stolen

Two vehicles stolen from two parking areas in Mt. Vernon were recovered in Laurel County but without wheels.

Steve Coffey's 1989 Chevrolet Blazer with 4-wheel drive was stolen from the parking lot at the railroad. The thieves had taken the wheels and tires only.

Michael McGuire, of Rt. 2, Orlando, had his 1989 Chevrolet pickup stolen from a parking area at Rockcastle Hospital. The thieves took the wheels and tires.

Both were taken during daylight hours and the thefts went unnoticed.

Accident

Two Mt. Vernon women were treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital Monday following a one-car accident on county road 1912.

Ms. Laura Abney, the driver, and her passenger, Vicki Northern, both of Mt. Vernon, were involved.

Ms. Abney told sheriff Deputy Darrell Doan she lost control of the car and it went over an embankment.

Fire

A mobile home belonging to Lewis Mink at Pine Hill was destroyed by fire March 25.

The home was completely engulfed in flames when Mt. Vernon firemen arrived. The home was a total loss.

"It's time to clear the county roadsides of garbage and debris," the judge stated. "The county will furnish garbage bags if you will help pick up the trash on our roads."

Garbage may be picked up at the courthouse and left on the side of the road for county road crews to dispose of after pickup.

Citizens are urged to do this even if the road has been adopted. "It's encouraging to see all the clearing of fence rows in the county," the judge related. "Now let's pick up all the garbage thrown from vehicles during the winter."

Haulers with permits include: Bee Garbage, Mt. Vernon; William K. Bullen, Mt. Vernon; Helton Sanitation, Gray; Glen Parker, Livingston; John Perkins, Boreas; Charles Ingels, Boreas; and Linda M. Whorler, Renfro Valley. Call the solid waste office at the courthouse at 256-2313 if there are any questions or suggestions; if garbage bags are needed, or if you have any illegal dump to report.

Remember, it is unlawful for any person to: dispose of garbage, refuse, rubbish or debris by illegally dumping same on any premises in the county with or without the consent of the owner of the premises; dump or permit the illegal dumping of garbage, refuse, rubbish, and debris on any property within the county limits; deposit solid waste collection and disposal.

Fail to have solid waste disposed of as provided by the county ordinance; interfere in any manner with solid waste collection and transportation equipment; dispose of dead animals in any container to be collected by a solid waste collection service; own or operate a dump; dispose of solid waste at any facility or location which is not approved by county and the Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection; engaged in the business of collecting solid waste without a permit issued by the county; fail to be catalogued by a permit holder for proper collection and disposal of solid waste.

Grass Tetany time is here

The season for grass tetany in cattle has begun and cattle farmers need to be aware of the dangers and prevention methods for the disease.

Grass tetany, caused from a lack of magnesium in the animal's system, stems from basic malnourishment of the animal, and mainly occurs in the spring.

According to Tom Mills, county extension agent, when the cattle graze on the first growth of grass each year, they are susceptible to the disease because the first growth "contains a lower nutrient content than the grass that comes on later in the year." Mills stated that grass tetany is worse when temperatures begin reaching 60 degrees.

In addition, beef herds often calve

Rockcastle will be part of Kentucky's Bicentennial celebration

This year Kentucky celebrates its bicentennial - 200 years of existence with a lot of hullabaloo.

Many counties and cities have set celebrations of one kind or another including Rockcastle.

Currently, Wayne Gregory is chairman of the events that are planned to take place in the county. However, that is still in the very early stage. One thing is known, the Bittersweet Festival on Oct. 2 and 3 is the centerpiece for county observances.

Gregory said grant funds are still available for a county bicentennial project if anyone has an idea. May 31 is the deadline and Gregory stressed that persons with non-profit ideas see him at the motel or call 256-4621 for applications.

"It can be any kind of a project so long as it isn't for profit," he said. "I'll be glad to help anyone who has something to offer. Fixing up an old house or some special event would meet the criteria."

Presently, Citizens Bank is selling commemorative coins for $5. One dollar out of the five will go to the local committee for use in bicentennial projects.

He is also taking orders for caps, t-shirts, mugs and other items that will have the county name included.

Arbor Day will also be celebrated in conjunction with the bicentennial. County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins, Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary R. Cromer, and 4-H officers from each county school will be at the courthouse at 10 a.m. Friday at which time a Kentucky Coffee tree will be planted.

During the festival in October, there will be balloon rides and various booths from schools, also, plans are to have a Rockcastle Cancellation stamp at the Post Office with a bicentennial logo.

Business Woman Award Mable R. Burdette gets Bicentennial award

Two 1992 Kentucky Bicentennial Awards were presented at the 1992 Ky. Bicentennial Women's Conference held at Berea College on Saturday, March 21.

Former Governor Martha Layne Collins received the 1992 Ky. Bicentennial Leadership Award for Outstanding Achievement to the First Woman Governor of Ky., 1983-87.

Mabel Reppert Burdette of Renfro Valley received the 1992 Ky. Bicentennial Business Woman Award for Outstanding Achievement as a Ky. Business Woman for 32 years, promoter of tourism in Renfro Valley, wife and mother of six children.

The presentation to Mrs. Burdette was made by former Gov. Collins who said in her presentation: "On behalf of the Bicentennial Women's Conference, we would like to recognize another native Kentucky woman for outstanding achievement as a Kentucky Business Woman for 32 years, wife and mother of six children.

This enterprising woman has done what many Kentucky women want to do. She found a way to balance her love for family with a career by building her business near the family's home.

This woman's knowledge of business enabled her to teach her own children business principles just as her own father, George Johnson, had taught her in Wilmore, Kentucky; and as her children who are in business will teach their children.

Throughout her business career, this Kentucky woman has known both success and loss in the premature death of her father, husband and son, yet she has successfully survived with the strength of a pioneer woman and the wisdom and gentleness found in a Kentucky

Dear Editor,
 I am a student at the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy, and I recently completed a rotation in Mt. Vernon. I had the pleasure of working at Mt. Vernon Drive Thru Pharmacy with Tina Hasty, Jack Renner and Susan Coffey. These three people are excellent examples for your city.

Their friendliness and hospitality were greatly appreciated.

Furthermore, Tina Hasty was an excellent mentor for me. I am thankful to have had the opportunity to learn from a pharmacist with such knowledge and expertise.

Sincerely, Donna K. Daniel

Dear Editor,
 'In memory of Dave Westerfield'

Oh daddy how we miss you. Although you have been gone so long. We talk about you. You were such a good man. You left such a good testimony behind you, for your grieving family. When you said you saw this beautiful place. So why do we worry? We seem to be selfish. We just miss your presence. I know you met the Lord in peace and He welcomed you home. You had so much suffering and trouble the Lord didn't want His child to suffer any longer. Your two daughters will be up there to join all the family. Our circle won't be broken anymore. It's not the denominations or the deeds you do. It's what we have in our hearts when we meet the Lord. There's not but one church and that God's church. Dear daddy just look what you have gained.

 Your loving daughters,
 Mollie Westerfield,

HERESAY

By: Jon Norman

Springtime means revival time, and Harmony Chapel's meeting begins next Sunday and goes through Wednesday. The deacons and Pastor Aeshal Gotroff said five services in four days "is ample time for the Spirit to move." (Besides, it's unreasonable to expect working people to come out every evening for a week or more like they did years ago. Back then there was little else to do at night except go to the picture show or go watch the dumb run.)

Bro. Hilby Wright from Druetherville is the evangelist and chalk artist. I hear he can draw a river so real looking people on the front row are apt to get wet and... the Pearly Gates Trio will sing at every service.

They expect "great things" at Harmony. Who wouldn't with a line-up like that? Bro. Wright and the trio have been together before. They carried on a meeting for Heavenly Haven Church in Warburg last fall. Over fifty people walked the aisle, including three Catholics, two bootleggers, and a Campbellite.

Dear Reader,
 Voter registration books will be open until April 27. Between now and then each person who would like to vote in the May 26 primary election can register at their county clerk's office.

Also teens who will be 18 on or before November 3, the date of this year's general election, can register and vote in both the primary election and the general election, provided they meet the residency and other requirements.

Teens may also register at their county clerk's office or check with the principal of their high school for voter registration forms and assistance in registering.

Nearly 800,000 Kentuckians are eligible to vote, but are unregistered. In the last general election over a million registered Kentuckians didn't make the effort to vote.

Kentuckians have the right and

Ping

Jesse E. Ping, 78, of Walnut Grove, died Tuesday March 31, 1992 at his home.

He was born on June 28, 1913, in Pulaski County, the son of the late Charlie and Evie O'Neal Ping. He was a retired farmer.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Lora Burton Ping of Walnut Grove; three daughters, Mrs. Faye Evelyn Reynolds of Berea, Mrs. Deloris Brickner of Owensboro, and Mrs. Sandra Mink of Somerset; a brother, Kermit Ping of Covington; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Stevens of Somerset; 13 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren also survive. He was preceded in death by his first wife, Ida Cromer Ping, and by two sons, three daughters, two brothers and a sister.

Services are scheduled for Thursday, (today) at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Zade McClure officiating. Burial is in Ping Family Cemetery.

Ballinger

Odus Ballinger, 51, of Rt. 1, Orlando, died March 25, 1992 at his residence.

He was born in Rockcastle County, May 27, 1940, the son of Murphy Ballinger and the late Effie Clark Ballinger. He was a self employed brickmason.

He is survived by his father and step-mother, Murphy and Virgie Ballinger of Orlando; two brothers, Jerry Ballinger of Berea and David Ballinger of Orlando; three sisters, Shirley Harris of Lexington, Vivian Armstrong of Louisville and Vonda Stewart of Orlando and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in purpose. Jan is the church secretary and also sings soprano in the choir.

Other spirits are piqued at Harmony. Callie Farkleson says she and Tom are thinking about joining the Hemlock Methodist Church. She's hurt because no one gave her a shower when her last baby was born. It shouldn't have made any difference that it was her seventh child. Besides, she heard they need an adult women's teacher at Hemlock. That appeals to Callie. Lately, she's had a recurring dream in which an angel, who resembles Michael Landon, warns that her talent is going to waste in the Children's Department at Harmony. Tom doesn't like the idea of driving twenty miles one way over Sky Mountain to go to church, but Callie says he's not one to sit by and watch his wife go unappreciated.

Harmony's foremost problem has to do with a tempest whipped up by Seth Amburgy. He has been listening to Bro. Bradley Hadley on station WRIP and is talking "predestination" all over the place.

Bro. Aeshal his BASS Class (Brothers for the Advancement of Sainly Scruples) there is no need to visit the 'hard-hearted' around their church. He says the Almighty decided before creation who would be saved and who would go to hell. And at last week's ACGH meeting (Alliance of Good Godly Homemakers), Tillie Hahn took up the whole time rinning Scripture references in defense of Seth, her brother.

"God will save 'em if it is his good pleasure.", Seth said to the men last Sunday. "If not, it'll be his will that they go to the fire. Men, there ain't nothin' we can do about it. And if the Almighty ordains it, then I'm for it." That got an "Amen!" out of Carl Burgess, who doesn't like visiting anybody.

Bro. Aeshal told Seth he was 'spreading false doctrine and denying freewill.' Seth said there is no such thing as freewill and pointed to some verses in Ephesians 1 that teach predestination. He said Esau and Judas were two who got passed over when God doled out grace before time began.

"Preacher, do you like the song 'Amazing Grace'?"

"Sure I do, Seth. It's my favorite."

"Well," said Seth, "did you know that John Newton, the feller that wrote it, believed like me and Bro. Hadley? And so did the founding fathers of our seminary in Louisville."

Bro. Aeshal doesn't believe in arguing about the Bible. So, he asked Seth not to talk predestination for a while so folks could settle down and the church might have a "great harvest." Seth said he would, but just as Bro. Aeshal left, Seth put in a last word.

"Preachér, if some souls are saved, it'll be the Almighty's doin' -- not the preacher or the singers."

death by a sister Dessil Ballinger. Services were March 28 at Dowell and Martin Funeral Home with Bro. Billy Joe Cameron, William I. VanWinkle and Wendell Romans officiating.

Pallbearers were Boyd Stewart, Bill Armstrong, Kenny Ballinger, Clifford Himes, Charles Clark and Ed Baker.

Fritts

Richard "Dick" Fritts, 70, of Trinway, Ohio, died March 21, 1992 at Good Samaritan Medical Center in Zanesville, Ohio following a brief illness.

He was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., July 22, 1921, the son of the late Wiley M. and Virginia Robinson Fritts.

A veteran of World War II, he served with the Navy Seabees in the Pacific Theater. He retired from Arch Mineral in St. Louis, MO, and formerly worked for Adams Mills Coal Company and Peabody Broken Aro Mine. He was a member of American Legion Post 399 of Dresden, Ohio and V.F.W. Post 2040 of Coshocton, Ohio. He attended Trinway United Methodist Church and was a Kentucky Colonel.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth

Kelley Fritts, formerly of Livingston, whom he married on Feb. 7, 1942; a daughter, Mrs. Richard (Martha) Prince of Trinway, Ohio and two grandsons.

Preceding him in death were his parents, one brother and two sisters.

Services were held March 24 at Baughman-Vensil-Orr Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. Scot Williams officiated. Burial at Dresden Cemetery with military honors.

Proctor

Sarah Hester Proctor, 86, of 106 Bob-O-Link Drive, in Berea, died Monday, March 30, at the Berea Hospital of heart failure.

She was born in Rockcastle County and lived in Berea for many years. She was a member of the Wildie Christian Church in Rockcastle.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. H.C. (Irene) McNew of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Hobert (Lucille) Hill of Richmond, Indiana; two brothers, Johnny Coffey of Wildie and Glen M. Coffey of Mt. Vernon and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, April 1, at Lakes Funeral Home in Berea with the Revs. H.C. McNew, Kenon Parkey and Tim Powell officiating.

Burial followed in the Berea Cemetery.

Ms. Proctor's nephews served as pallbearers.

WOMEN and MENOPAUSE:

Estrogen can alter the negative effects.

Menopause occurs because the ovaries cease to produce estrogen, an important hormone in every cell in the body.

We now know that the "symptoms" of menopause - hot flashes, mood swings and vaginal dryness - can be relieved with hormone replacement therapy (HRT).

...with HRT, several degenerative disease processes can be averted.

Estrogen provides women with a significant degree of protection from heart disease. Postmenopausal estrogen therapy can reduce a woman's risk of heart attack by 40 to 50 percent.

By preventing the depletion of calcium stored in the bones, estrogen helps prevent osteoporosis, a loss of bone mass which leaves the bones weak and brittle.

Women approaching menopause - and those who have experienced its effects - should ask their physicians about HRT. Today's combinations of estrogen and progesterone can provide valuable, safe benefits.

Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program

By: Lu Ed Nielsen, LPN

R.E.A.P. has really proved that it is an Emergency Assistance Program during the past few months.

During the week of February 24th I was contacted by Judge Executive Roland Mullins' office and asked to see if I could help Frank Watson from Watson's Funeral Home in Brodhead. There had been the death of an elderly gentleman from Brodhead who had no funds available for a proper or Christian burial.

After contacting a number of churches for donations, and businesses for their help, and putting an appeal on the radio, we pulled everything together and his burial was performed Thursday afternoon at Scafold Cane Cemetery.

It is extremely sad that people in our country are unable to have funds available for their final resting place, but I am very thankful to those who helped in every way.

Whatever money is received over and above the funeral costs will be placed in a separate bank account and kept on hand, just in case this happens again.

I want to thank Bro. C.M. Riley, Brodhead Baptist Church for performing the service, Frank Watson, who was very gracious and supportive in helping me with arrangements; Steve Bullen and Lewis Linville for providing the plot in Scafold Cane cemetery, the teens from Teen Challenge and Bro. Mark Holcomb for preparing the gravesite, for the men who covered the grave after the funeral, Randall Adams and Hickory Grove Pentecostal Church, Citizens Bank, (Brodhead and Mt. Vernon), Bobby Proctor, Ford Realty, Maertburg Baptist, Wildlife Christian Church, the Johnson family, Adams family, and Randolph family for their donations. A special thank you to the Bank of Mt. Vernon for their donation to complete our appeal. I know that there are several pledges that were made and that they can be sent to R.E.A.P., P.O. Box 60, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456. A total of $685 was collected. $450 to Watson Funeral Home, and a plaque will be placed at the gravesite with the balance.

Also, thank you to First Baptist Church, Mt. Vernon for their donation. All of the agencies in the county worked very well together and made a difficult task much easier. If I have left out anyone, please excuse me. I know several others were involved in many different ways, and helped the E.V. Reynolds' family in their loss. If you have an emergency and don't know who to call, or where to go, remember that Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program is here for you. We are on W. Main St., across from Pain Furniture. The phone number is 256-9599 or 256-3217.

Marketing season leaves message for tobacco growers

The smaller price differential among grades this season and the impact of international competition on prices and quota carry a message burley tobacco growers should heed for next season, according to an agricultural economist at the University of Kentucky.

"The price differential was one of the most notable aspects about the season," said Will Snell, Extension tobacco policy specialist at the UK College of Agriculture. "We'd had three years of a one-price market with no reward for separating by stalk position. That didn't happen this year. In fact, mixed, stripped grades were formerly penalized, especially after Christmas."

Snell said the lesson burley growers should learn from this marketing season is "stripping tobacco in one grade prior to the opening of the marketing season is a risky strategy. Keep a close eye on the market throughout the season to see if there are rewards or penalties for various marketing practices."

The price differential is evident in the variance in average prices for grades. For tan and red colored marketings, the average sale price improved about $2 to $8 per hundredweight (cwt). But variegated, mixed or greenish color offerings had losses of $2 to $8 per cwt. Most nondescript, mixed striped and green-colored leaf had even higher declines, generally in the range of $20 to $40 per cwt.

"The underproduction of burley quota the past two to three years brought about higher prices in foreign markets," Snell said. "This led to a tremendous increase in foreign burley production."

"The growth in foreign production is illustrated by a considerable increase in imported tobacco stocks in recent years. Foreign-imported burley stocks totaled 314 million pounds as of January 1, 1992 -- an 89-percent increase compared to a year earlier.

"The increase in foreign-produced burley constrained price increases this season," Snell said. "It also contributed to the larger price differential among grades and the near eight-percent decrease in quota for '92."

This season, Kentucky burley growers sold more leaf at a higher average price than the 1990 marketing season. They sold about 460 million pounds, up from 415 million pounds, at an average sale price of $178.73 per cwt, an increase of $3.54 per cwt. The 1991 Kentucky crop has a value of nearly $820 million, a value of the burley crop belittle is about $1.2 billion.

"Although we had a two-percent increase in the price from last year, production costs increased eight percent and yields were down four percent," Snell said. "As a result, growers had a decline in net profits on a per-acre, per-pound basis. But on a farm enterprise basis, this was offset by the 20.5-percent increase in quota for the 1992 marketing year."

"Crop quality was not as good as in recent years, especially after Christmas," he added. "This lowered prices. Higher fertilizer, labor and marketing expenses led to an increase in production costs. Extreme weather variations and disease problems had a negative impact on yields."

Snell said about six percent of the crop went into the pool, compared to none last year.

"Most of the sales placed under loan in the latter part of the (marketing) year as demand weakened," he said. "While the industry was surprised by the amount going to the pool, this is not anything to be alarmed about because we're still below the desirable level of pool stocks set by the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

Wheat and Feed Grain program

Sign up for the 1992 Wheat and Feed Grain program is open for applications through April 17. Corn, grain sorghum, barley, and oats are considered as program crops for the Food Grain program.

The established target prices will be: Wheat ($/bu) $4.00; Oats ($/bu) $1.45; Barley ($/bu) $2.36; Sorghum ($/bu) $2.61; Corn ($/bu) $2.75.

The maximum payment acreage will be 85 percent of the crop acreage base, less the quantity of reduced acres required in the annual acreage reduction program (ACR). Producers have several planting flexibility options on the cropland affected by the 15 percent reduction in payment acres (the "normal flex acres"). Land designated as ACR must have been devoted to a row crop, small grain, perennial, biennial, or another annually planted crop in one of the last five years. Haying and grazing will be permitted, except during a five-month period between June 1 and October 31 as established by the State Committee. On normal and optional flex acres, haying and grazing is permitted year round. Haying and grazing of CRP acreage is prohibited.

Producers may request an advance portion of the projected deficiency payment at signup. This advance payment would be paid to the producer within 30 days of approval of contract.

ASCS programs are open to all persons regardless of age, color, disability, national origin, marital status, race, religion, or sex.

Library News

By: Geraldine Robbins

We now have the Local Art Show on display at the library. This is a very good exhibit and we're extending a special invitation to everyone to come and see the paintings and other art work.

There will be an opening and reception for the local artists Sunday afternoon, April 5th, 2 to 4 p.m. Several of the young people in the county have their work displayed. Come out and give your support and encouragement to them.

Those people participating in the show are: 1. Catherine Pridemore 2. Mable Ruppert 3. Pat Keene 4. Janette Vickers 5. Mabel Davidson 6. Debbie Bugg 7. Thelma Bullock 8. Sharon Hines 9. Tracy Owens 10. Scott Everett 11. Janet Robinson 12. Lawrence Bullock 13. Mindy Bullock 14. Nathaniel Bullock 15. Jeremy Lewis. Allen Pensel will also have an exhibit of some students work that has on display in Louisville.

There is still a good supply of tax forms available, also have John Lari's book, "Rockcastle Recollections" for sale.

Some new books are: A mystery novel "Blood Relative" by Carolyn Hougan. Blood Relative is a story of sorrow grown into a grievance, nurtured into hatred, then cherished until it becomes an obsession for revenge. It is also a story of the persistence of memory, a story of youth, romance, innocence, and hope shattered by what can sometimes emerge from the darkness of the forgotten past.

When Rolando Carrera's wife and daughter disappeared by the Argentinean junta that Rolando had faithfully served, he could find consolation only in exacting punishment. Though Rolando knows it is absurd, he has also known for years that his four-year-old niece will pay his life for what he has lost.

At sixteen, Mariah Ebinger is a bright American teenager, living an average life of family, school, and her first love. She knows no life but her own, imagines no past but the one she never doubts she had. She does not dream of the terrible tragedy for which she will soon be called to account, by a man from a far-off country whose evil was once made manifest, a man who knows he cannot live again until Mariah is dead. And now finally after years of searching, he knows where she is.

A non-fiction book, The Miner's Canary by Niles Eldredge. In this important new book, renowned paleontologist Niles Eldredge has sifted the available evidence—from the past and present—to compile a provocative general theory of extinction that illuminates today's environmental issues. The extinction of species is a fact of life for paleontologists, who often study creatures that vanished from the earth millions of years ago. But even scientists as knowledgeable as Niles Eldredge become concerned when sightings that should populate our backyards diminish noticeably in a few short years. In The Miner's Canary—named for the birds that once alerted coal miners to odorless gases—Eldredge brings his considerable expertise to bear on the search for a general theory of extinction: What causes it? Does human activity accelerate it? What are the simple workings of nature's order, and which are ones of ecological disaster?

The result is a fascinating account that sheds new light on the headlines of today and tomorrow. His conclusions have crucial impact on how we should interpret the environmental dilemma and the disappearance of species around us.

Also we have some new westerns and Sweet Valley High books.

Managers of Dairy Queen attend school

Linda M. Johnson, and Valerie Williams, who manage the "Dairy Queen"/"Brazier" store in Mt. Vernon, successfully completed a two-week management training course at Minneapolis-based International Dairy Queen, Inc. (IDQ), according to an announcement made by Sara Blasing, IDQ Training Director.

Johnson is one of the more than 9,000 owners and/or managers who have successfully completed the IDQ National Training School Course since its inception in 1968. With more than 5,400 "Dairy Queen" stores in the United States, Canada and 16 other countries, IDQ is one of the world's largest retailers of fast food and frozen dessert products.

Roamin' Rockcastle

BY HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

A cold spring rain has been falling the last day or two. I go back to sitting close by the fire, drinking a cup of fragrant spiced tea.

Folks didn't have "brought on" orange herb spice tea from China then. If someone came in to sit a spell, you offered them a cup of spiced wood or saffron tea made by boiling limbs from the spiced wood roots from the saffrons.

I've been planning to invite Mary Casey, once a Rockcastle girl, and Bobby Siver (the girl who wears the wrinkled pants - because she is reducing) in our Body Recall Exercise class to come home with me and drink some spiced tea.

They say April showers bring May flowers and I guess that's why we're having all this rain.

A science teacher once said to our college class, "There are some plants that must go through a freeze before they will bloom," and I'm thinking that's what is happening now. The season has been coming before the month.

I want to send a message to the man who called from the library at Berea wanting to know how to make "turnip preserves" after he read my column in the paper. He talked to John who doesn't know of the things I write about. Please call again for I also would like to know your name.

I went to see young Dr. Bill Stewart last week. (Who is laughing and saying, "Probably, for old age?")

I had lost my empty bottle of tub-lets and needed a new prescription. I guess I was in the "dumps" and needed someone to console me. In talking to Dr. Stewart, I said I didn't think I had any friends.

He asked of my column saying how well I handled the news that I wrote about folks, and what a good job I was doing in making others enjoy life.

All the talk was just what I needed to think better thoughts.

I didn't mind going out to see the office girl and paying my bill.

But the writer in me wouldn't let well enough alone until I found out what his purpose was in growing a red beard and with long hair down to his collar and when I asked him, Dr. Stewart threw back his head and really laughed.

"When I was younger, Grandpa Bill Stewart at Wildie was betting me I couldn't grow one so I suppose I'm showing him I can, and collect the bet," he said.

"Way, I don't think I'm going to your pretty wife, Ginger," I told him and left the man to think on that. I hope she gives him razor blades for a birthday.

We went back in Wildie a week or so ago and I was doing better with Mayor Jan Stevens who said he was thinking of not running another term for Mayor of Wildie.

"I've heard Buck Baker might run," and Jan motioned his hand to a fellow sitting at a table in the post office restaurant (well, that's where it is) with John and me.

"No way would I run for mayor of Wildie," the man replied.

Jan said he was thinking of retiring from the post office and store and just taking life easy.

I'll bet it's on a creek bank.

We met Hampton Smith who lives around in Sigmon Hill. Also a Steve Ponder who was the son-in-law that Jan doesn't let about. Steve is the fellow who has built a new brown house in Scaffold Cane near the churches.

I had been watching the house, every time we went by, and found it so interesting in the way it was built.

James "Buck" Baker from Green Hill was a sportsman who started the club of young boys interested in deer hunting, coon hunts, and other wild animals.

The group is called the Rockcastle Coon Club and they have trophies that prove they won in contests.

Mr. Baker made it sound so interesting I wondered at first if women (they want to be in everything) could get in.

Then I remembered once I was afraid to kill a mouse when I found it in a barrel in our basement. I took the barrel outside and turned the mouse loose, advising it not to come back in the house. The mouse flipped its tail at me and left.

Back to Superior Market's list of "Wanted - er - I mean employees pictured in the store that I was writing about last week. I'd like to correct the paragraph on Shirley Turner which was cut short and jammed in, with another clerk.

It should have been written like this:

Shirley Turner is not only one of the prettiest, but also one of the nicest employees I know.

When I bring a large order of groceries to the checkout counter and discover I have no cash with me, I have left my checkbook at home, which I have done several times, Shirley doesn't scream at me, "Oh, you're trying to pull that trick again!"

She very nicely says, "well, we'll have to bill it to you until when you come in again," proving Shirley deserves her title under her picture as Customer Service Manager.

Clark Quinley of the meat department who wears a snazzy mustache, must be an all right kind of fellow else why did a girl from Clear Creek marry him?

Now I tell you one that I "walk the line" for at the checkout counter is Loretta Livesay who has the title of Sheriff with her name. I used to joke around with Loretta until I saw her title. Now, I don't dare ask for credit I go home and get my checkbook!

Margie Causey is the friendliest one of the clerks, at least to me. She makes remarks to cheer me up if I look like the world is about to end.

I'll try to get some other helpers in here next week, not Conley with those sugar cane tales.

You can tell when folks food crops are in the cellar or "holed up" in the garden, are running low.

Clay Gabbard, Arthur Davidson and John went to Big Sandy Mountain to look for dry land fish or mushrooms to help out on the table. Neither man got nary a one. At least they might have picked a mess of wild greens to go with some fat back.

We welcome new subscribers and readers, Nathan B. Payne and wife, Laura, who have lived in Michigan almost 69 years but like to come to Kentucky often.

"A Country Burial"

All burials in the Buffalo area were not as the one I am about to write about. This was an unusual one but it is a true story and the memory brings back the reality of how things were back in the thirties and forties before wars were built in our area and many of the people still lived in deep hollows without the benefit of transportation to get them in and out of even in times of their dire need. This alone was a cause for the lack of knowledge of how to handle strange situations such as a child dying in one's arms in town while searching for medical help. Then having to find a way to get back to the home 25 miles away that had been traversed that morning by bus. But one doesn't ride a bus back home with a dead baby in one's arms. And so the strange burial or funeral, if that is what we should call it came about in our home.

It was August, I remember well for it was a plague making time and we were in the midst of it. Our apples were loaded that year with big juicy, tart apples that turned out the whitest appearance with the best flavor I have ever eaten. We took them to the cannery at Shoville where a co-op was located for the farmers and wives to do all their canning, so we naturally took big quantities at a time. This day we had several bushels picked up and were already busy washing and trimming them before putting them in the big white find sacks we used to take them in. When they were brought back home they would be canned and packed in boxes ready for storage. All our efforts had been used for that purpose so the houses had not been tidied up and things in general were a mess, but so what, we were in an isolated area and it wouldn't anyone come and even if they did they would understand our concern for getting the apples taken care of. This was a one day occasion and all our appearance would be done for the year, and even there would be big jugs of apple juice left from the cooking and straining of the apples to make jelly with if that was what we wanted, or store for drinking if that was it.

This day it was a sultry, humid day with scarcely a breeze to be felt and the flies were having a heyday along with the yellow jackets as they vied for the juice coming from the trimmings and cores that were being left in the tub for disposal on the compost heap. We had to be at the cannery before noon and the sun was getting pretty high so we scurried into our heads when an old car parked outside front yard. One of the women who lived a couple of miles down the hollow had passed by early in the morning with a sick baby taking to the doctor in Somerset so if I thought anything at all it was that it was the returning. Then a voice spoke and I looked up to see a man and woman standing in my doorway with a bundle in her arm, his voice was matter of fact as he said, "the baby is dead, where can we lay it?" Then the background I saw the mother of the baby and she said, my baby died in the bus station in Somerset while I was waiting for the bus to come home, they had taken it to the hospital but it had been too late so a cab had been called and this was the driver and he and the lady holding the dead baby had to get back and I was left with a dead child and a mamma to look after Plus bags of apples waiting to be taken to the cannery, a house full of flies and yellow jackets to be shooed out somehow or other and a family to be notified of where their mom and wife was. Our old truck was broken down so we couldn't take her home even if she would have gone, and which she refused to do when another neighbor offered to do so.

I called a neighbor to come help me with the laying out as it was called. I had never touched a dead person before and dreaded to even dress him. My neighbor, Tilda, hadn't either so we both talked it over to try to get the courage to do it. Judy, was a teenager so of course she had never even seen a dead person but she offered to do it. I guess that made me ashamed of myself so I gave him a wash and by that time Mat had got back from the store where he had bought some clothes for him and I dressed him. Poor little guy, he had died of malnutrition and neglect and I will never forget the pitiful condition his little body was in. Nor will I ever understand a doctor who sent them back-home on the bus knowing he was dying at the time he was being examined. I think I know why the mother brought him to our place and even though I resented it at the time I am glad now she did it. Her house was a shack on a hillside and was filled with children. There would have been no place to even lay him out. At least at our place he had a place beneath the window where the light breeze, if there happened to be one could touch his little face and help prevent more rapid discoloration. We kept cold wet cloths on his face all night, that was the way the dead was cared for before undertakers explained them, and cold storage was used to stop deterioration.

The families had been notified and by nightfall the grandparents and aunts and uncles began to arrive. Some with children and all planning to spend the night. This also was the custom of the times. When there was a death the whole clan appeared, whether they knew the deceased or not and spent the night, usually telling tall tales and drinking coffee, or if it happened to be with people who liked the mountain brew, that was the drink. I'm not even sure we had coffee that night for I had not been prepared for this in any way. I do remember pretty early in the evening I was asked where a bed could be found for some of the children and pretty soon we had bedded down more than twenty people. They were sleeping cross-way the bed and on pallets all over the place. I know I did not get a wink of sleep for there was no place left to even slump down in and doze.

The baby's grandma was the only relative that completed the death wish. My neighbor, Sally, whom I had called in for moral support and I were the only others who watched for daylight to end the long night vigil. Drowsy, half awake people began to come downstairs or get up off the floor early the next morning, but it was not too early for me. I wanted to get this over with and see if I could salvage the apples that had been shoved back out of the way. Now the problem was what to feed this hungry crowd that I hadn't planned for. No one had brought any food along to help out with the feeding so it was up to me to do it. Milk was plentiful, so was eggs and we always kept a twenty five pound sack of flour in the flour bin so the old breakfast of cooked oats, eggs, and biscuits and gravy was prepared for the crowd, with a big pot of coffee and a pitcher of milk for drink. No complaints so far. The grandma of the baby now came into the room and offered to do the dishes. Her offer was really appreciated for I was swamped with things to do. Her offer was, "the least I can do to clean up the mess these people have made." "How true I thought." The rest of the mourners were out looking the place over like it was a resort they were staying at. So far no one had looked at the baby to see if his face cloth needed to be refreshed or if a fly had discovered the tiny bit of decaying flesh. At that time screens were not as fly proof, especially in the country, as they are now and in a death situation someone had to be constantly on the lookout for them around the corpse. So far my children had been doing that but I thought it was about time for the own family members to take on some of that responsibility, so appointed this task to them.

Mat had gone to East Burnstadt to get a preacher to come and speak a few words of comfort before putting the little body away, so I was left to deal with the crowd coming in and try to find something to Sweet and Sour . . .

we were twenty miles from town where one might find a restaurant so again it was up to me to feed the mob. I had Mac bring in a couple of pounds of balogna when he went out for the clothes but that was before the big crowd had appeared so two pounds was only a starter. There hadn't been time to cook beans, turn and garden vegetables so I had to be something in the sandwich line. I ground the balogna and mixed it with any and everything I could find to stretch it and began to make small sandwiches hoping no one would ask for bigger ones or more but they did. One fellow, a distant relative had the nerve to ask for mine and I made a derogatory remark when I told him we didn't have any. The balogna run out and I had to improvise so I opened a can of mackerel and began adding to it like I had the balogna. I even went to the garden and got cucumbers to use in the place of pickles which I had also run out of and was making my own salad dressing for the filler. You would be surprised to know how good a sandwich can be made out of mackerel, fresh onions and cucumbers and held together with homemade mayonnaise, especially if you use the best twenty miles from the closest restaurant.

Lunch was finally over and the preacher was there along with all the other little brothers and sisters of the baby. This was a strange occasion for them for they seldom ever got out of the hollow and this you can see by his picture, but enjoys mountain food. So, we send him country ground meal, cracklins, side meat, shuck beans, yellow roots to put in water and drink for his stomach, and some sassafras root for tea. Just heard the weather people say we could have some snow tonight.

I wish nature would make up her mind.

I met the boss's wife, Cindy, in the office and boy, was she a looker! No wonder he's accused of not having his mind on his business. I know where his mind is!

in the spring, which drains the adult cow's system of many essentials that she gives up for the calf. If the cow is having nutritional problems due to grass tetany, the risk of malnourishment is much greater.

Both Mills and Dr. Lenn Harrison, Director of the Diagnostic Lab at U.K., the best treatment to prevent grass tetany is to supplement the cattle's diet with a small amount of a protein source, such as soybean meal, and an energy source such as corn or oats. A magnesium oxide supplement can also be added. "The cost of this supplement is minimal. The cost of losing one cow to grass tetany is equal to purchasing a ten year supply of supplement," said Mills.

According to Harrison, although grass tetany is not an unusual occurrence around Kentucky, studies show that too many cattle are dying from grass tetany, especially when it is so preventable. "The quality of hay is not 'up to par' with the dietary need of the cows." Although we have had lots of grass tetany cases in this year, we have to take into consideration how many cattle there are in this state, said Harrison. "By normal events, people will have problems with their cattle, such as respiratory problems and pneumonia, but too many cows are malnourished."

Notice of Intention to Mine Within 100' of a Public Road Pursuant to application #902-6000

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: BenLe Coal Corporation, P.O. Box 41, Middlesboro, Kentucky 40965 has filed an application for a RENEWAL for a loader coal processing facility affecting 4.95 acres located within the city limits of Livingston in Rockcastle County. The proposed facility is approximately 0.2 miles south from KY 490 junction with US 25E and located 0.1 miles west of Roundstone Creek. The latitude is N-37° 17' 41". The longitude is W84° 12' 51". The surface area is owned by CSX Corporation. The proposed facility is located on the Livingston U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will affect an area within 100 feet of public road US 25E. The operation will not involve relocation of the public road. The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining-Reclamation and Enforcement, London Regional Office, 85 State Police Road, London, Kentucky 40741. Written comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permi-

#2 Hudson Hollow Com'r Frankfort, Ky. 40601. This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections and/or requests for a permit conference must be received within 30 days of this notice.

was probably the first time they were ever at a funeral. The little corpse was in a tiny homemade casket that Mac and another neighbor had made and we women had lined up with white coffin material.

Back then it was a common thing to make coffins and the material for it was available at the local drygoods store. His little throat was a pair of light blue rompers, if I remember correctly, that Mac had bought at the local store. The room was too small to hold all of the people as many of them were still rooming the fields and nearby woods as the singing began. It wasn't much of a singing but it sufficed for the occasion, then the preacher said his few words of comfort and asked God's blessings for the remaining family and we loaded the small coffin on the back of our old truck along with the rest of the family and anyone else who wanted to go along and took off down the hollow toward the Rockcastle River. Just before we reached the home on the hillside where he had been born we stopped and he was led to rest beside his grandpa and grandma in a small grave on another hillside strewn with limestone rocks and swaying pine trees.

Since then both of his parents have passed on and the remaining members of his family have moved to other parts of the country. And time passes on.

Willing Workers meet

By: Elizabeth Mullins

On March 16, we met at the home of Blanche Johnson. We had 10 members present. Our lesson was given by Betty Castro on Food Safety, Pesticide Residue in Grains, Vegetables, Fruits and Nuts. She showed us a tape and gave an interesting lesson. Also, she gave us a vegetable wash to use on vegetables to clean them. One quart of water, 1/2 teaspoon of vinegar and 1 teaspoon of salt. We talked about Brodhead Homecoming, also us not having an agent, interest has been lost. Hope we get one soon. We finished our fundraiser, where we have sold cards and gift items. We had a good campaign. Blanche served us delicious refreshments and a good time was had by all.

Speaks named DAR outstanding member

Laura Lee Durham Speaks, member of the Logan-Whitley Chapter DAR, won the Kentucky State Outstanding DAR Junior member contest.

The winner was announced at the DAR State Conference. Ms. Speaks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Durham of Mt. Vernon and mother of Lee H. Speaks of Stanford.

Ms. Speaks is a member of the Calvary Hill Baptist Church and serves as a site organizer. She is a member of Pi Chapter Delta Kappa Gamma Professional Sorority, Lincoln County Homemakers, Forward in the Fifth Congressional District Non-Profit Educational Association, Lincoln County Education Association, Executive Board of Stanford Elementary PTA, National Education Association and Centre College Colonel Club.

She holds her masters degree and rank one from Eastern Kentucky University in elementary education and teaches 5th grade at Stanford Elementary.

Ms. Speaks will now represent the state of Kentucky at the DAR Continental Congress April 19-23 in Washington, D.C. where she also will receive national recognition for her accomplishments.

Funding available through KHC

Kentucky Housing Corporation announced today that additional funding is available under the Housing Finance Program, which provides low-to-moderate-income homebuyers with a special low-rate loan.

The loan has a rate of 6.75 percent for the first year, 7.25 percent the second year, 7.75 percent the third year and 8.375 percent for the fourth, through the thirtieth year.

According to John G. Martinez, KHC executive director, "Continuation of this program will provide access to homeownership by the household that might not otherwise have been able to qualify through conventional programs. This step supports Governor Jones' commitment to provide affordable housing for the residents of the Commonwealth."

These rates are available to KHC-eligible individuals and families through participating lenders across the state on a first-come, first-served basis. All loans will be either FHA-insured or VA-guaranteed. Down payment is less than 5 percent.

For prospective homebuyers having trouble saving for down payment and closing costs, KHC offers assistance through its Equity Partners Investing in the Commonwealth program (EPIC). EPIC allows homebuyers to borrow up to 60 percent of their down payment and closing costs (up to $3,000) at a 6.5 percent interest rate for seven years. The applications for the special low-rate loan and the EPIC loan are taken at the same time by a participating lender.

For more information about homebuyer eligibility and participating lenders, contact KHC's homeownership department at (502) 564-7630, (800) 633-8896 or (800) 247-2510 (for the hearing impaired only).

Angie Robinson won first place in the girls 100 hurdles race at Rockcastle's first home track meet Tuesday. The new track was completed last fall and Rockcastle hosted the meet of six participating schools.

Wendell Berry to read in Berea at CFA Benefit

Saturday, April 11 at 6 p.m., Wendell Berry, internationally renowned essayist, novelist and poet will give a reading at the First Christian Church on Chestnut Street.

Berry's reading is a benefit for the Community Farm Alliance (CFA), a state-wide grassroots organization, whose home office is in Berea.

As a member of CFA, Berry supports the organization's dedication to preserve family farms and strengthening rural communities.

"Support CFA because CFA opposes the sacrifice of farmers and farmland for the enrichment of agribusiness corporations. CFA believes that American farmers will succeed if their communities are strong, their economies are sound and their soil is good," Berry said.

Before the reading, there will be a soup beans and cornbread supper and following Berry, Berea's own musical trio of Jim Gage, Al White and Alice White will perform.

Tickets can be purchased at the door - $5 for individuals, $3 for students, and $10 for families.

AISE seeking host families

As Americans we are honored to live in a country that students from around the world are eager to visit.

American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE) is a non-profit tax exempt educational foundation dedicated to fostering international understanding. We are actively seeking host families for high school exchange students from over 20 countries for the 1992-93 school year.

What is a host family? Host families are open minded people from different backgrounds and professions. Some have children. Some are small and some are large, both in size and heart. The most important aspect is that they are Americans. Host families provide a bed, food, and a supportive environment for the student.

The exchange students arrive in August, 1992 and return to their home countries in June, 1993. They attend the local high school, have medical insurance and spending money. They come to America to share their lives, cultural heritage, to study and learn first hand about America. Their lives will never be the same!

Make their dreams become a reality. Call now for further information about hosting a student. Toll free: 1-800-SIBLING.

Tammy Sturgill was the first winner of the Rockcastle County Sale Days. Watch each week to see if you are the next winner.

Be careful if someone offers to help with tax refunds

Some individuals may have recently been contacted by an organization offering assistance in obtaining undelivered refund checks from the IRS. The organization is charging a fee for this service.

If anyone feels they are due a federal tax refund from 1990 or before, they should contact the IRS. If they are still due a refund, the check will be reissued. There is no cost. The IRS number to call for information on undelivered refunds is 1-800-829-1040.

The IRS asks that everyone report such contacts to the Internal Security Division by calling, collect, (502) 582-5298. If no answer at the local number, call the Office of regional Inspector in Cincinnati, collect, at (513)684-3564.

The Brodhead High School Alumni Banquet will be held Saturday evening, April 18 at 7 p.m. in the Brodhead School gymnasium. All graduates, husbands, wives, and guests are invite to attend.

There will be an admission charge of $7 per person. Special honors will be given to the classes of 1922, 1932, 1942, 1952, 1962, and 1972. Please make reservations as soon as possible by writing Brodhead School, P.O. Box 98, Brodhead, Kentucky, 40409 or phone 768-8512.

The construction of an Alumni Memorial Garden is planned between the stone building and the gym. Labor for the project has been donated and the approximate cost of the project will be $1,000. If you would like to contribute to the lasting memorial to Brodhead School Graduates, please send donations to Alumni Association, Blanche Johnson, Treasurer, P.O. Box 554, Brodhead, Ky. 40409.

Meads Sowder and her daughter, Irene Thomason, behind, enjoyed the dolls on display at Sowder Nursing Home last week. Residents and friends were invited to exhibit their doll collections, which ranged from homemade fine porcelain dolls to sweet Cabbage Patch dolls.

GED classes offered to hospital employees

This past fall the Rockcastle County Hospital and the Family Life Center School joined together to offer on site GED classes for hospital employees.

Hospital Administrator, Lee Keene, said he felt that encouraging employees to further their education benefits the hospital as well as employees. He pointed to the constant demand for trained medical technicians, therapists, LPN's and RN's and said the hospital is committed to providing the training needed to help meet this demand. For a few hospital employees, the GED is the first necessary step to advancement in the medical field.

The hospital provided a $100 bonus to encourage employees to try to earn the GED and gave employees time during working hours to meet with an adult education teacher in the hospital's conference room. Several employees expressed an interest in the program and three completed. After four months, the program can now congratulate its first graduate, Joyce Stewart, and wishes her success in continuing her education. Mr. Keene and Lisa Bosley, manager of the adult learning program, believe that similar efforts by other Rockcastle County employers to offer monetary or time incentives would greatly encourage those employees who need the GED to move ahead in their jobs. Earning the GED also increases people self esteem and helps them encourage their children in their educational efforts. Any employer interested in launching a similar program may call the Family Life Center School at 256-5307.

Many support Amtrack route through local area

Melissa Gross, Berea Tourism Director, and J. Carroll McGill, ARC Chairman, presented a packet to the Berea City Council Tuesday evening concerning the Amtrack plans.

Gross said Amtrack is considering several options for their new route from Chicago to Atlanta to be completed by 1996.

She said one of those options include the track in Old Town Berea. Gross pointed out several advantages to having Amtrack running through Berea. Those points are advantageous to Amtrack and Berea.

"We want a stopping station so that the trains will not simply pass through Berea. Instead, more than 100 visitors on each train could get off and visit our town," Gross said. McGill said this would present a "golden opportunity to those in Berea and surrounding counties. McGill said ARC fully supports the project as suggested by Gross and pointed out the many pluses that Berea would feel from the move.

He also said local residents could utilize Amtrack as a means of inexpensive transportation.

The council had drafted a resolution in support of the plan as presented by Berea Tourism and ARC and Councilman William Hamilton made the motion to adopt the resolution.

Hamilton said he commends both committees for their pursuit of this project. The motion passed.

The resolution will allow support for establishing strategies to gain an Amtrack station in Berea and to support a lobby with congressmen.

Renfro Valley shows to be televised again this year

Last summer, the Renfro Valley Barn Dance and Jamboree shows made their local television debut on Lexington station WKYC (CBS).

According to Barbara Carden, WKYC's program director, the show's popularity has earned them a return engagement on the Lexington station.

"Last year's 13-week schedule was a test," said Carden. "We knew the live shows were extremely popular with local audiences, but we did not know whether the personality and excitement of the live shows would translate well into television programming."

The first show produced, I knew we had a solid program," said Carden. "And the ratings bore this out. The Renfro Valley shows achieved ratings even higher than the most popular Saturday night competition, 'Golden Girls' on WLX (NBC)."

"Renfro Valley Folks," which is a composite of the live Renfro Valley Barn Dance and Jamboree shows, begins its second season on WKYT (Channel 27) on Saturday night, April 11. The one-hour show begins at 10 p.m.

Filming of the live shows will begin immediately at Renfro Valley, WYMT, the CBS-affiliate in Hazard, and sister station at WKYT, also plans to air the popular "Renfro Valley Folks". Air dates and schedule are currently in planning stages.

Any questions about the appeal of the Renfro Valley shows were quickly answered by the ratings. "After I saw

by Paige Benge

When Sean Woods hit his jumper over Christian Laettner with 2.1 seconds to go to give the Cats a one point lead over Duke all I could think of was, "these boys are going to beat Duke, they're going to the Final Four!"

But, reality set in and the game wasn't over, yet I realized that it was almost impossible for Duke to go the length of the floor in only 2.1 seconds and score. NOT!

During Duke's final timeout, the feeling I had about this game was overwhelming. I just wanted the game to be over so the Cats could enjoy this victory, but in a matter of seconds the rug was pulled out from under me. I stood there in total shock that the Cats had just gotten beat. Two seconds ago they had won. But there was actually no loss, the Cats won in every fan's heart.

When I realized the Cats had actually got beaten, all I could think of was these four seniors who had gone through all the bad times, would now be denied the chance to really enjoy the good times.

The Cats have had some good times, even this game. No one expected them to even come close to Duke, yet they had them beat. Everyone said Duke would have to have an off night before the Cats could win. Duke didn't have an off night and the Cats were not at their best form, so how could the Cats have come this close to Duke? Maybe because everyone has been underating these Kentucky boys all season long.

The Cats came off probation and had the season Cat fans are used to seeing, 29 wins and an SEC tournament title.

So, as I stood in front of my television set watching this big game, those are the thoughts I tried to keep in my mind. Win or lose, they had a great season. But, yet for a minute there, that wonderful taste of going to the final four and the eventual loss was more than I could handle.

I kept seeing that last play over and over not only in my mind but on the news, thinking, what could they have done differently? It just kept making me sicker and sicker. I really took it to heart.

All day Sunday, that was the only thing on my mind, my every thought, Spencer got home from the golf course and I am still grieving over this game. He tells me to get a life, it was only a game. Sure he hated to see the Cats lose, but he put it in perspective, I couldn't.

But, Sunday night as I watched the Sunday night movie, "Something to Live For," about a 22-year-old girl who found out she had contracted AIDS from a male, practically a stranger, at the age of 16, it helped put the loss in perspective.

The movie focused on her illness, struggle and her uncertainty of how long she had to live. After watching this tear-jerking movie, I finally realized it was just another game. There is more to life than winning or losing a ballgame. If all I had to do was worry about a crazy ballgame, then I wouldn't have much to do with my time.

But, all in all, it still bothers me that the Cats lost, that's normal, but at least I can function now on a daily basis without constantly thinking about those final two seconds.

The Cats did have a GREAT season and they can hold their heads high and know that game was theirs to win.

On a similar note about the ballgame, CBS analyst Bill Walton said he saw nothing wrong with Laettner stomping on Aminu Timberlake. He felt that big men get picked on all the time and are not taken care of. I think that's for the referees to decide, don't you Bill? Instead, Walton would rather sit on national TV and condone behavior such as Laettner's. I guess Walton saw nothing wrong with LSU's coach Dale Brown leading a charge off their bench to push a Tennessee player either? If I were CBS, I believe I'd put an ad in the paper for perhaps another analyst?

In season opener

Rockets beats McCreary Central 10-9 and 10-1

The Rockcastle Rockets girls softball team started their season off in a big way Tuesday afternoon as they defeated McCreary Central, 10-9 and 10-1 at Rockcastle.

Melanie Leece started the first game with a lead-off hit and then scored on a home-run by Christy Coleman. The Rockets held McCreary and had a 2-0 lead at the end of the first inning.

Lori Barrett and Donna Cash got back-to-back hits to start off the second inning and Beth Amyx was there to drive them in with a double. Janet Kirby reached on a double and Leece droyg her in with a single. Coleman was there again to drive in Leece with a triple to give the Rockets a 7-0 lead at the end of two innings.

After scoring only one more in the third inning off a Cindy McCauley single and a Barrett RBI, the Rockets bats fell silent in the fourth inning.

McCreary County finally got on the scoreboard in the fourth inning scoring three runs and cutting the Rocket lead to five, 8-3.

The Rockets managed only two more runs in two innings off hits by Coleman, Kristy Sargent, McCauley and Barrett.

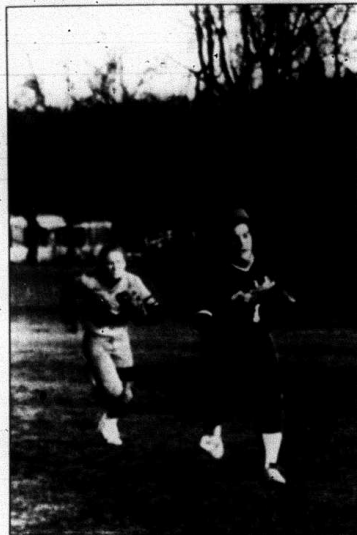

Central made a run at the Rockets scoring six runs in the final two innings but the Rockets held on for the one run victory, 10-9.

In the night cap the Rockets easily handled Central, 10-1.

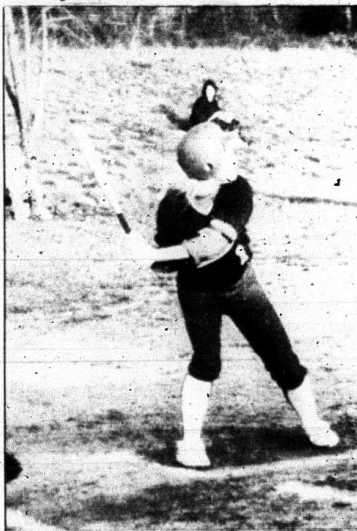

Leece went one-for-two, Coleman, Sargent and McCauley, two-for-three. Moore, one-for-two, Barrett, one-for-three, Becky Osborne, two-for-two, Amyx, one-for-one, Kirby, one-for-two, Irene Gruter, one-for-one, Melinda Smith, one-for-one.

Barrett had a good night on the mound walking only one batter and striking out eight in two games.

The Rockets will travel to Madison Southern Thursday night and will host Pulaski County, April 13.

Christy Coleman gets caught in a run down in the Rockets season opener against McCreary Central Tuesday afternoon. The Rockets won both games, 10-9 and 10-1.

Kristy Sargent tries for a hit in Tuesday's action against McCreary Central.

Dreama Plummer competes in the hurdles race at the Rockets first ever home track meet Tuesday afternoon.

Lori Barrett walked only one batter and struck out eight in two games Tuesday afternoon.

"Tracking the Cats"

By Jim Master

One for the ages. It may be a cliché, but nothing is closer to the truth.

The Kentucky-Duke classic was truly the greatest basketball game that I have ever witnessed. On CBS Sports' coverage of the NCAA Tournament, its panel of experts voted it the second greatest game in college basketball history, trailing only the UCLA (Lew Alcindor) and Houston (Elvin Hayes) Thriller in 1968 at the Astrodome.

Back to the Bluegrass. What more can you say about the Wildcats, starting with the four seniors and then Jamal Mashburn, Dale Brown and Company? If there was a basketball junkie in the country who doubted Mashburn's belonging among the top 10 players in the nation, there isn't one now.

John Pelphrey showed the courage and guts in the final minutes, wanting the ball. Dino for Sean Woods, Deron Feldhaus and Richie Farmer complemented with gritty play and determination. Never again will Kentucky have a group of seniors that exemplify the spirit and dedication of this group of four. Maybe more talented, but this is a special group.

It will be difficult to open next season without these fabulous four, but in keeping step with the tradition of this marvelous program, someone will step forward. Someone needs to become the vocal leader and the heart and soul of the team. Maybe Mashburn will shed his laid back style (but who can complain over the current way?). Travis Ford has the spunk. Regardless, with Roderick Rhodes (hopefully), Tony Delk and Jarrod Prickett coming in next year to team with Mashburn, Dale Brown, Martinez, Ford and the rest, Kentucky basketball may never again be cast into the underdog role that it has been over the last three years.

Those last three years, since the lowly days of the spring of 1989 have rekindled the flame of Kentucky basketball. Kentucky has gone from an embarrassing laughing stock to a revered and respected team across the nation.

Give Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski all the credit in the world, A class act. Minutes after the game, Coach K sought out the "Voice of the Wildcats" Cawood Ledford and wanted to say something to the Kentucky fans. It was a proud moment for college basketball, the Kentucky program and Duke.

The season is over for the Wildcats, but the march to Minneapolis moves on: Michigan and its fantastic five freshmen will play Cinderella Cincinnati in the first game, while the heavyweight battle of Duke and Indiana follows. Michigan used the same route to get to the Final Four this year that it did in 1989. Through Atlanta and Lexington and on to a domed stadium (Seattle in '89). Cincinnati has no apologies to make, but they had the easiest road to the Final Four. Delaware, Michigan State, UTEP and Memphis State were all seeded fifth or lower in their region. The becats destroyed Delaware and Memphis State, got past Michigan State and held off UTEP by two.

THERMA-TILT Replacement Windows

TRIPLE INSULATED!
Here is our triple glass insulated window. Practical use of space age technology.

(Backed by 53 years of manufacturing expertise)

Old Windows WASTE Energy and Money
Over 50% of the heat loss of a typical house is through windows and doors. Heat conducted through glass and frame can lose the equivalent of a pint of oil every day - for every window! In a properly insulated house (R-19 insulated attic) with Insul-Glass windows, the thermal-induction draft is dramatically reduced. The heat will evenly distribute (about 1° per foot) is normal). By properly utilizing the heat created by the furnace, the house is much more evenly heated using less B.T.U. This increases comfort and drastically reduces fuel bills.
