This hearing will be cancelled if the Cabinet does not receive a request in writing for the public hearing by September 07, 1992.

This is the final advertisement of this application. All comments, objections and request for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

Local 4-H'ers attend 4-H Camp

A total of 75 4-H'ers, Leaders and Agents from Rockcastle County attended J.M. Feltner 4-H Camp in London the week of July 6-10. These youths camped with Bell, Jackson, Clay, McCreary, Letcher and Powell Counties for a total of over 250 campers for the week.

The youth took part in classes such as riflery, boating, swimming, archery, recreation, dance and crafts. Youth not only participated in traditional camp ceremonies, but also experienced new friendships, learned how to live cooperatively with others and learned about independence.

The Rockcastle County 4-H Council would like to express thanks to the following adults and teen leaders: Phyllis Holbrook, Lois Ann Cromer, Amy Thacker, Greg Bullock and Dennis Lawrence.

Several county businesses and individuals donated money toward scholarships to provide youth the opportunity to attend 4-H Camp. On behalf of the 4-H Council, I would like to thank each business and individual who sponsored scholarships. They are: Cox Funeral Home, Citizens Bank, Dowell-Martin Funeral Home, Rockcastle Region Rodgers, The Bank of Mt. Vernon, Ford Brothers, Singleton & Associates, Carter's Market, Mt. Vernon Foodtown, Kiwanis of Rockcastle County, Mantha Eversole, Dabney Feed Sup-

Ford names Rockcastle County Chairman for re-election bid

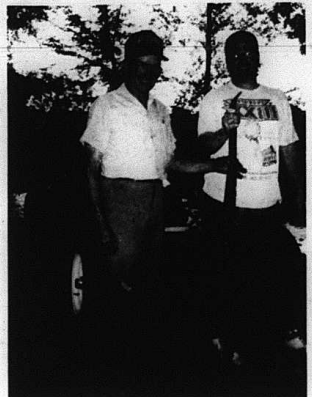

Kentucky's senior United States Senator, Democrat Wendell Ford, today named Larry Doyle to head up his re-election bid in Rockcastle County.

Doyle, who is chairman of the Rockcastle County Democratic executive Committee, is from Brodhead.

Ford said his county chairs will play a critical role in getting people involved with the campaign. "The best organization is built from the grassroots up," Ford said. "A county chairman's job is to be an expert on county needs and to get people involved."

Doyle said he welcomed the opportunity to work on Ford's bid for a fourth term. "The bottom line is Ford delivers," Doyle said. "From one end of this state to the other, from creating jobs to saving taxpayer dollars, Ford has been an effective and tireless voice for Kentucky."

Ford, who has served 17 years in the U.S. Senate, is Assistant Majority Leader and Chairman of the Rules Committee. Ford is a staunch supporter of Kentucky's interests, making sure Kentucky gets its fair share of quality jobs, protecting laid-off workers, cutting government waste, demanding a balanced budget and making the tough choices to reform healthcare.

Proctor Brock and Ralph Baker killed this 52 inch rattlesnake on the Proctor's farm on Copper Creek July 4th.

Sixty-nine youths and six leaders attended J. M. Feltner 4-H Camp at London recently.

Central Kentucky Blood Center expands pheresis program to Somerset

Regular blood donors in Somerset and surrounding areas now have a very unique opportunity to help people with fatal blood diseases. A donation procedure called pheresis is now being performed at the Somerset Donor Center. Central Kentucky Blood Center's pheresis program provides platelets, which are vital to those people who have had a bone marrow transplant or are waiting for a transplant. Platelets also benefit cancer patients who are undergoing treatment for their diseases.

Donating platelets through the pheresis process takes approximately 90 minutes. During the donation, blood is removed from one arm and passed through a machine called a cell separator, which removes the platelets, and then returns the red blood cells and plasma to the other arm. One pheresis donation provides 8-10 times the amount of platelets that can be collected through a regular blood donation. The platelets collected during the process must be transfused within five days. Platelets for the survival of bone marrow transplant patients.

CKBC officials are concerned that the current number of people who donate platelets through pheresis will not be able to keep up with the growing number of patients in need of this blood component. "The need for blood components for area transplants and cancer patients has significantly increased," says Judi Baker, CKBC Special Programs Manager. "We are currently performing the pheresis process in Lexington only, but knowing what an excellent base of donors we have in this area, we are confident the patient needs will be met by expanding the pheresis program to Somerset."

Most regular blood donors are eligible to be pheresis donors. Pheresis appointment times are available on Tuesdays at 11:20 a.m., 2 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.; Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10:30 a.m., 1:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Please call for an appointment to donate.

Find out more about pheresis during Pheresis Awareness Week, August 4-6, at the Somerset Donor Center located at 109 Highway 27. Phone inquiries should be directed to Jolynn Honeycutt at 679-7414.

Mayor tells council, city is broke

Annexation dedication is set for Saturday

A reminder: The official grand opening of the Rockcastle County Judicial Annex will be at 10 a.m. Saturday Aug. 8.

According to County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins, "We have a new building paid for by the state. As taxpayers, we still pay this bill. By dividing the cost among all Kentuckians our individual cost is $4 cents versus $134 if Rockcastle had to carry the entire burden."

He said the state is scheduled to build a certain number of facilities this year.

Judge Mullins continued, "as you know, county court and judicial facilities are generally 50-100 year projects. This endeavor has been made possible through bond sales by the county, thus the facility belongs to us."

The subsequent negotiations resulted in a contract whereby the state pays the bond payments twice annually to the bond holder.

The first payment has already been made.

Secondly, the state pays the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court sufficient amounts quarterly to operate and maintain the facility. Once the bonds are amortized, the state payments will come directly to the county. This will be as added income.

The judge asked that everyone join in the celebration Saturday morning. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Ann Benson, owner of Mt. Vernon Dairy Freeze, surveys the site Saturday, immediately following the incident.

Water advisory lifted in Western by state

A boil water advisory in four Western Water districts has been lifted, it was announced Tuesday.

However, Livingston is now under a boil water advisory.

The potential exists for bacterial contamination as a result of low chlorine in the treated water. Livingston customers were told.

Customers are advised to boil water for consumption and food preparation for a minimum of two minutes at a rolling boil before usage.

It will remain in effect until contamination is identified and eliminated.

In other water news, a $110,000 grant to the Western Rockcastle County Water Association from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) will improve water service provided by the water association, according to Senator Mitch McConnell.

This grant will enable the Western Rockcastle County Water Association to increase water supply and water pressure for its 1,450 customers," said McConnell. "The project will include the construction of a 200,000 gallon water storage tank, a pump station and additional distribution lines."

"These funds will ensure that all customers of the Western Rockcastle County Water Association have an adequate water supply available," said Congressman Hal Rogers. "This project combines ARC funds with state and local funding, and I am very pleased that agencies at all levels have recognized the importance of this project."

The total estimated cost of the project is $778,500. The state has approved $249,237 in Community Development Block Grant funds and $368,618 from the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority. The Western Rockcastle water association will contribute $50,645 to the project.

Drive-in damaged

By: George Ferrell

Mt. Vernon police are searching for a man who allegedly drove his pickup truck through the front wall of the Mt. Vernon Dairy Freeze on Richmond Street.

The incident occurred Saturday evening at approximately 7 p.m.

Before police could respond the driver of the pickup left the scene.

The owner of the business, Ann

Benson, said she did not know when she would reopen the business or how much the damage would cost to repair.

She said the suspect was driving a white pickup truck.

No arrests have been made in the case but the investigation is still underway.

Mt. Vernon Police Department Officer John Bradley was on the scene and investigated the case.

Burglaries

William Carpenter of Livingston told Sheriff Deputy Darrell Doan, someone broke a side window, entered his home, and took 10 travelers checks.

Laurel Smith of Mt. Vernon reported a 30-30 rifle and a 12 gauge shotgun were stolen from his home recently.

A front door was forced open by the burglars.

Weather

A big total of 6.14 inches of rain fell at Cox Funeral Home weather station during July.

Most was 1.11 inches on July 3.

The high temperature for the month was 89 on July 11 and 12.

The low for the month was $6 on July 7.

Jail remodeling

By: Ray McClure

Bids will be taken in 60 to 90 days on remodeling the county jail to bring it up to state standards, the Rockcastle Fiscal Court was told at its meeting Tuesday.

Jailer Billy Kirby told the court, he'd like to see the project completed before he leaves office.

But he said it should be completed as soon as possible and not in phases since the county could lose the state prisoners kept in the facility now.

"The jail makes money," Kirby said. "We've taken in over $500,000 in the past seven years and you wouldn't want to lose that."

The remodeling would include taking over the offices of Property Valuation Administrator Elmer Hale, who is moving to the third floor of the present courthouse.

The state also demands a prisoner recreation area, including a basketball court outside, and to the rear of the courthouse.

The jail also need a booking area and other areas cannot be used for booking.

The court voted to advertise for bids on the jail project to get an idea of the cost.

Deputy Darrell Doan and State Trooper Craig Sutton with confiscated marijuana.

Over 2,000 plants found in county

A total of 2,183 marijuana plants have been confiscated by the governor's task force and others in the past several days.

Southeast of Mt. Vernon, 9 plots revealed 207 plants. Southeast of Ky 1004, one plot revealed 59 plants.

On Croner Ridge Road, there were 2 plots with 335 plants.

Southeast of Mt. Vernon, one plot had 398 plants.

On Cupp Chapel Road one plot had 1,216 plants.

175 plants were found and destroyed by State Trooper Craig Sutton and Deputy Darrell Doan.

State and local police from 118 counties in the state, decedened on drug dealers across the state Monday.

They had over 800 warrants and arrested over 500.

None of those arrested were from Rockcastle. Most arrested were from Estill County.

In other business, the court voted to place Burdette-Carpenter Road on the county road program.

Signed a contract with Clay County to house juvenile offenders;

Re-appoint Roger Parsons to the Northern Rockcastle Water District Board;

Agreed to pay election officers $70 a day during elections; and agreed to put gravel on Herb Lear Road.

Wreck

Russell Eversole, 52, of Orlando, was taken to a Lexington Hospital July 31 after his vehicle was struck by another at Brush Creek.

Charged with DUI and no insurance was James B. Alexander, 52, of Orlando.

Treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital was Melodye Sturgill, 28, of Brodhead who was injured in an accident on Dug Hill Road, Brodhead.

In the other auto was Sandy Ison, 3. In the car with her was Bryan, Brandi and Ryan Ison.

The city's general fund is broke and some bills have been set aside for payment at a later date, a gloomy Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

Mayor Cromer said the city is gradually suffocating and there is no relief immediately in sight.

The mayor told the four councilors who attended, there is plenty of money in the water and sewer fund but it can't be used for general fund purposes.

The general fund pays all salaries and bills not related to water and sewer.

Changes will have to be made, the Mayor stated, or the state will come down to Mt. Vernon and "do it for us."

"We have to generate revenue," the Mayor continued. "So we'll have to make some kind of study now to get some idea of what must be done."

He appointed committees to look into various ways to raise money and set 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 17 as the date for a public forum to get ideas on raising revenue. The public is invited.

One suggestion was an occupational (payroll) tax, and less insurance premiums, but the question was, would either raise enough money.

"I'd rather not have a quick fix," the Mayor explained. "That's what we've had in the past with a quick fix we'll find ourselves with the same problem down the road."

The council then voted to pay the bills that can be paid and to carry over the remaining.

Six candidates file for school board seats

Six candidates have filed for seats on the Rockcastle County Board of Education when filing ended Tuesday.

Only in Division 5 is there a race.

In Division 2, Terry Burton is unopposed.

In Division 3, Dr. George W. Griffith, a former board member, is unopposed.

In Division 4, Debra Reynolds Whitehead is unopposed.

In Division 5, there are three candi-

Safety officer Barry Adams has been let go as of Aug. 18, according to a reliable source. The city couldn't pay him. He has been writing parking tickets.

The council voted to look into a suggestion they purchased 11.7 acres of property owned by Shirley Burton adjacent to the Mt. Vernon sewer plant for $50,000, or a portion of the 11 acres.

A request by Ernest Bullock Jr. for sewer service was put off by the council until final plans are made for a new sewer line that will go to a planned housing project in the Valley View area.

Police Chief Bill Mink gave the police and fire report. There were 326 complaints, 15 traffic accidents, 53 assists, 10 cases opened, 13 motorist assists, 23 citations issued and 28 charges.

When asked how many parking tickets have been issued in Mt. Vernon and how many have been paid, the figures were unavailable.

When asked how many employees the city has, the mayor said many of the young people working on street clean up and at city hall would be back in school shortly. The number of employees was not made available.

Still to be decided is failure of Renfro Valley to get an entertainment tax to the city. City Attorney John Clontz reported. Oral arguments are scheduled for 11:30 a.m. Aug. 21 in front of Circuit Judge William Jennings in Richmond.

Renfro has refused payment claiming the city privilege license (ticket charge) is unfair.

The antics ran high during three performances of "The Fantasticks" presented to the public last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. During this scene Luisa is being accosted by a hired actor. Her boyfriend eventually saves her and the marriage is held. After the second act a conflict is resolved and the marriage is saved. The play drew large audiences.

Mid-Life Crisis?

In less than a month I will be reaching another rung in that tired old tale of getting old — 36 years of age.

A few more years and I'll be on the back side of forty, waiting for gray hair and a bald spot. It's not easy being 35, so I guess 36 will be even more difficult.

Mid-life crisis, at best, is a sort of rude awakening.

When you're a child you have no perspective, yet when you reach your thirties you begin to feel time yawn, not that it's not over yet, but there will be a time.

I can remember my 33rd birthday — that I'll never forget.

I was sitting in my office in McKee, Ky., feeling sorry for myself, having to work on Labor Day (my birthday is September 4th) and as it was a Monday I didn't know how I would put out a paper that week with everybody taking a break except me.

Then I got a phone call from central dispatch, and, to make a long story short got to go on a call to a moonshine still.

It seems like every time I hit rock bottom something happens. That year it was the humor of seeing a bit of history in the form of a white lightning operation.

Things haven't been quite so bad since. My birthday still calls for a bit of mourning over years gone past and the loss of my youth, but I find solace in the fact that it happens to everyone else.

We all get old, it is a universal fact in the scheme of nature.

There is no escape from each year, and time takes it toll as years are lost like summer wages.

I have to think that being another year older is not all bad because it has some compensations.

When you hit your middle 30's people understand when you're over-weight.

They know why you tend to never exercise (it hurts too much the next day) and why you don't want to talk about gray hair (you've probably found one or two more than before). First of all, I haven't had much in the way of gray hair yet.

While some of my friends started going gray in high school, many went gray by their middle 30's.

I guess I've been relatively lucky. First of all, I haven't had much in the way of gray hair yet. While some of my friends started going gray in high school, many went gray by their middle 30's.

I guess I've been relatively lucky. First of all, I haven't had much in the way of gray hair yet.

Those questions will be answered, kindly or cruelly in old age.

I guess birthdays are just a symptom of old age. They come knocking at life's door as a reminder that someday Father Time will catch up.

When I celebrate (or commemorate) my 36th this September 4th I guess I'll take it in stride.

Having a midlife crisis is just another challenge in life.

Life is a continual self-improvement course with a set of unique obstacles out there for each individual.

I guess if there's one certain thing it is work. Work conquers all. Maybe not age, but we can all work to improve our lives.

My midlife crisis may be just the thing I've needed.

Well, that's about all for this week. Nobody got a birthday? Don't feel bad, you're not the only one.

Somewhere down the line I'm in for a real crisis of midlife. It comes between the ages of 35 and 45 when the mind realizes that the body is destined to grow ever older until eternally beckons.

I hope I can respond — lose weight, quit smoking, join singles groups and develop healthful habits.

I guess you spend the first half of your life living vicariously. Then, for the second half, everything says "Slow Up Dark Tunnel Ahead."

I'm beginning to see the tunnel and I'm wondering how prepared I'm going to be when I hit old age (if I ever do).

Never mind if social security will be around. Will be around? Will I have done the things I set out to do when I was a young man?

Those questions will be answered, kindly or cruelly in old age.

I guess birthdays are just a symptom of old age. They come knocking at life's door as a reminder that someday Father Time will catch up.

When I celebrate (or commemorate) my 36th this September 4th I guess I'll take it in stride.

Talk about mixed reviews. Several people have called to tell me that not a single seed of the Buford Caudill Fall Beans is seen to them last year sprouted this year. Others have called or written to say that they have already picked two or more gallons and that they are now in the process of saving seed for next year.

You may recall that last year I offered to send a dozen or so seed to anyone who was willing to send a self addressed, stamped envelope to me. I expected that maybe a dozen people would respond. When all was said and done, the family and I had dutifully sorted nearly half a gallon of bean seed into seventy five little piles and then wrapped each pile in a plastic sandwich bag.

I also composed a single spaced, two page, typewritten set of instructions that contained all the technology I knew about growing the beans and sent that along with the seed. I'm here to tell you that it was a lot of trouble, but that I thought it was worth the effort for a couple of reasons.

The first reason is that I came by this particular strain of fall beans only because the late Reverend Buford Caudill of Blair Branch kept growing them long after most of the rest of our family stopped taking gardening as seriously as they did when I was growing up. He gave me a pint jar full and I have managed to have bumper crops over the last couple of years. Buford loved to garden, probably more than I do, and I thought it very appropriate to see if I could get the bean established on a little broader basis with his name attached to it.

The second reason is that I believe it would be a sin to keep anything that

Heresay

What a weekend that ushered August in!

Nancy and I (rather Reaganish, don't you think?) went to the high school on Saturday evening to see The Fantastics, sponsored by the Rockcastle Council for the Arts, the county Jaycees, and the Family Resource Center.

The players and the pianist performed magnificently. They drew for us both light-hearted and serious sketches of young love, romance and reality, and the walls we all build for good or for bad. The actors, the staff, and the sponsors merit our praise — and meager, if not complete, support.

How good was it? Well, I am almost dead in one ear, but because the dramatists projected sufficiently, I missed only a few words. Furthermore, their voices carried very well.

Then, come Sunday morning, my pastor preached one of the best sermons I ever heard. And from a man who is starting retirement in the fall! Doesn't that mean that once a preacher gets past fifty (some say forty) he's over the hill and incapable of much of anything ministerial?

Why he even said some words in hillbilly dialect? (But can be pronounced "Berea" in one syllable without saying "Burr")

Now, I admit my pastor isn't the strongest human specimen I've seen. Shortly after he arrived in Mt. Vernon, he began having attacks of habs corpus in his upper limbs and his pentamer. Such spasms are rarely fatal, but they do sap one's energy.

Our church loves him just the same. So much so that we recently installed an elevator just to help him get from the ground floor up to the sanctuary level on those days when he can't drag his own upstairs. And, being the caring soul that he is, he lets others use it, especially "the lame and the halt" and those afflicted with "divers diseases." That gesture alone has increased attendance.

We had some joiners, too! In fact, the only thing that ever came close to being out of place was the preacher's appeal to the visitors. "If you are looking for a church home," he said, "cast your lot with us and take advantage of our special offer. Join today and you won't have to tithe until January."

But the best was yet to be! As evening approached, at least a hundred and fifty folks gathered on the banks of Renfro Creek for a baptismal service.

tastes this good a secret. Comparing the Buford Caudill Fall Bean to any other bean that comes out of the garden is like comparing fillet mignon to ground beef—fresh salmon steak to tuna salad.

And that was my motivation. I encouraged folks to save as many seeds as possible and share them with their friends and neighbors. I also requested that folks write and tell me how their plantings fared this year, as I mentioned at the beginning of this piece, that information is beginning to trickle in.

However, there are still at least 60 people out there that I would like to hear from. If I sent you seed, please live up to the contract because frankly, if you don't, I'm not going to repeat it again.

For that matter, I may not be able to because I have to confess that I have two rows, each fifty feet long, that are still a week away from blooming. I have mine planted on seven foot trellises with individual strands of hay-baling twine stretched to the vines. Neighbor Chris Adams, in exchange for the fishing attention I have given him this summer, gets credit for tying off each vine and spraying them down with the Peters Professional fertilizer that seems to be making them grow like kudzu.

Chris maintains that he cut more than 3,000 pieces of baling twine and wore blisters all over his body getting the beans attached to them, but I figure that we have about 300 plants and if all goes well as well as it so far, that should be more than plenty for us.

However, we have been having some humdinger thunderstorms every day or so and the more those vines grow, the more danger they are of being ripped out of the ground and deposited in the next county. I'm optimistic on the one hand. On the other, I've learned the hard way about counting chickens before they're hatched.

So don't be writing just yet about getting a start of our Buford Caudill Fall Beans. We'll let you know if they do well and we'll probably be willing to share.

Heresy

During the morning worship service, we had been instructed to turn right on the gravel road just before crossing the bridge. Well, Nancy and I were almost late, and I turned at the wrong time before the bridge. But that worked out well. When we came to the ticket booth in the middle of the road, a deacon who manned it had left, and we got in free. (Word has it that he was at the other entrance renting lawn chairs.)

Except for the amplifier, a table-top organ, and the lawn chairs, it was down-right old-timey. We sang "Amazing Grace" and "Shall We Gather at the River?" and "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand." (My mother said "Jerdan," and I duly corrected her until I learned that the Hebrew, in which the river is called yarden.)

Our pastor gave a brief exposition, which was followed by a prayer offered in a gentle tones by a handsome, young preacher, named Larry Harmon, visiting from Georgia. I'm thankful it is related to the man who rented the lawn chairs, the very same man who goes all over the county in an orange and white van, drumming up business. Sometimes he even drums in the hallway by the Emergency Room at the Rockcastle Hospital.

A kind couple sang "He Touched Me," and roundabout a host of lips silently voiced that same, sweet strain. Then, three adults joined in an ancient ritual: down into the water, dying and held there for a moment, burial; then swiftly up out of the water, resurrection—and hope.

The vesperly light scurried to and fro, splashing stained glass hues upon the face of the olive green water that embraced the quickened souls standing there. The scyammers, not to be outdone by the sun, whispered to all their kind and reached out to them, fashioning a sacred arch above that holy stream. Here and there tears of joy reflected a peace that passes understanding, and for a little while, we forgot this darkling planet.

Someone once said, "If ever there was a time when the Almighty was real to you, cherish that moment because the time will come, late or soon, when nothing makes sense." Some had such a moment last Lord's Day, under the setting sun, "down by the river side."

10 minutes away, are, in fact, a sight to behold. We planned them on a 60 foot strand of 5 foot fence wire and you can't even see the posts now. They are blooming profusely and setting beans which we hope to be picking within a week. I'm so anxious to compare their taste to the Buford Caudill Fall Beans that I walk that fence row every day and talk to them.

And finally, if you didn't get a garden out this spring, it's still not too late to plant a little row of half runners and a cucumber hill or two. Sow some mustard, spinach, radishes and lettuce. Even beans. Plant an hill or two of zucchini and summer squash and check around for some onion sets. I'm even going to plant a row of snow peas before the week is out and may be some sugar snaps. And what would fall be like if we didn't have at least a bushel or two of turnips to get us through Christmas.

Chris is swearing that he hates beans and that he will have nothing else to do with them, but we still have a good little handful of pink half runner seed left over from May and if that boy wants to go fishing again before I take him back to Leitcher County on Friday, they ought to be blooming by the middle of September.

West admits he shot clerk in local store

(Ed. Note: This article was reprinted from the July 31st edition of the Sentinel-Echo written by Robin Tash.)

Sentencing for accused killer Michael Wayne West, 23, of Barbourville Road is set for Oct. 2 after he pled guilty Thursday to an amended charge of first-degree manslaughter in circuit court.

He was facing a possible murder conviction for the August 1991 walk-in "revenge" slaying of London store clerk Margaret Alcorn.

West also agreed to testify, if needed, in the case of Lana Curry, 43, also of Barbourville Road, who is charged with complicity to murder in connection with Alcorn's death.

West pled guilty before Circuit Judge Lewis B. Hopper to the manslaughter charge, which carries a penalty of 10-20 years in prison.

West was indicted last August for murder after he allegedly entered the Family Dollar Store on North Main Street where Alcorn worked, and shot her point-blank seven times with a pistol as customers watched.

Commonwealth's Attorney Tom Handy agreed to amend the murder charge for West, who has "a history of treatment for psychiatric problems and mental retardation," because an investigation revealed West was acting "under extreme emotional disturbance brought on by others," according to court records.

West was found mentally competent to stand trial after undergoing two psychiatric evaluations at the Kentucky Corrections Psychiatric Center in LaGrange.

"Murder cannot take place if the incident occurred under emotional disturbance or under the influence of others," said Handy.

"We found that to be true in this case." In exchange for the amended sentence, west agreed to assist Handy's office in the continuing investigation into Alcorn's death.

"He will testify, if called up," Handy stated when asked whether West will be asked to turn state's evidence against Curry.

Curry's indictment last August for complicity to commit murder came after she allegedly provided West with the alleged murder weapon, and drove him to the store.

Court records indicate West agreed to testify on behalf of the prosecution, if needed, as a witness in any subsequent criminal proceedings pertaining to Alcorn's death.

"After due consideration of all mental, intellectual and other tests performed on West, we believe he is mentally competent to assist in the continuing investigation of the murder of Margaret Alcorn," said Handy.

Handy also said that if West gives false testimony during Curry's trial, the prosecution may reinstate the original indictment and place West on trial for murder.

Handy made no recommendation on the length of West's prison sentence.

But he did suggest West be sentenced to a facility that can treat his mental problems.

Police believe Curry's motivation to allegedly set up the shooting was revenge.

Alcorn was accused of, but not convicted of, murder in the shotgun slaying of Curry's 6-year-old daughter, Elvina June, in a Mt. Vernon trailer park in February 1990. Alcorn was supposed to stand trial in that shooting the fall after she herself was killed.

In fall 1990, a Rockcastle jury was unable to reach a verdict in Elvina's death, and a retrial was ordered.

Quota hunt applications are now available

1992 quota deer hunt applications will be available after August 1 from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Quota hunts for deer are scheduled on the following wildlife management areas (WMAs): Barren River Lake, Beaver Creek, Dowsy Lake, Grayson Lake, Higginson-Henry, Kleber, Mill Creek, Paintsville Lake, Peabody/White City, Pennyrite/Tradewater, Taylorsville Lake, West Kentucky and Yellowbank.

Youth quota hunts for youngsters age 10 through 15 are offered on these WMAs: Barren River Lake, Dewey Lake, Grayson Lake and West

Kentucky. Youngsters may apply to one youth quota hunt and one conventional quota hunt while hunters over age 16 may apply for only one conventional quota hunt. Quota hunts allow hunters to take "bonus" deer which do not count against the season limit of two deer.

Hunters who were successfully drawn for a quota hunt last year on Dewey Lake, Higginson-Henry, Taylorsville Lake or Yellowbank are not eligible to apply to the same area this year.

Quota deer hunt applications, which contain complete rules and

KDFWR concerned about catch-and-release of Stripers

According to fisheries personnel with the KDFWR, a new, draft study conducted by the Texas state fisheries biologists on Lake Texoma strongly suggests that more keeper striped bass that are caught and released probably die than previously believed.

Benji Kinman, technical fisheries program coordinator, says that anglers who take a limit of striped bass or rockfish and continue to catch 20-inch or larger fish and release them could possibly be hurting the fishery more than they realize.

"According to the study, a very high percentage of striped bass over 20 inches that are caught and released die within 72 hours during spring and summer regardless of whether they were caught on artificial or live bait."

"Over 94 percent of the fish over 20 inches died shortly after being released during the spring season, and 60 percent died when caught and released during the summer. During those same periods, fish under 20 inches experienced a 60 percent and 40 percent hooking mortality, respectively," said Kinman.

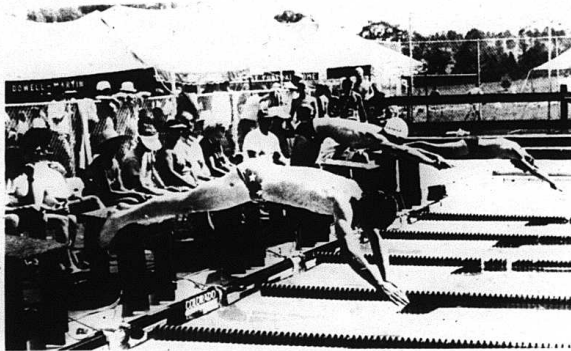

In the fall and winter seasons, the study showed a great decline in mortality of released strippers over and under 20 inches long when caught on artificial lures. Fish that were caught on live bait and released during fall and winter showed higher mortality rates than those caught on artificial lures, but still below the rates experienced during the spring and summer.

"There is a possibility that the percentages might change slightly when this draft study is published, yet we believe the basic finding will still show that almost 3/4ths of the keeper size strippers that are caught and released during the spring will die, and one of every three keepers caught and released during summer will die," said Kinman.

"We just want to make anglers aware of these figures and caution them about catch and release strip fishing during the spring and summer periods. The striped bass is a rather delicate species during the spring transitional period and quite vulnerable to stress and handling-related problems."

"High mortality rates like those suggested by the study could negatively impact a strip fishery. We encourage warm weather strip fishermen to switch to another species once they limit out, because it's almost assured that a high percentage of any keeper-sized fish they take and release aren't going to make it during the spring and only one of every two will survive during the summer," said the biologist.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources does strongly support catch-and-release of game fish species, such as black bass, which

Western Water Distressed Counties
By: Wanda Burton

We used to have water
Most all the time
Occasionally it was off
If there was break in the line
This year has been different
It's off part of most every day
Not enough for a shower
And not any for play
We turn on the faucet
There is not even a stream
It will blow your temper
Make you want to scream

Come home from work
There is not a drop
And supper has to be got
Not enough water to mop

When I was a child
We carried our water
From a spring under the hill
Guess we should live there still

Now the good Lord has blessed us
Sent plenty of rain
The lake is full
I just don't understand this thing

We pay our bill
Don't let it be late
For we know our fate
But doing without water I hate

Some days we have
Just a dribble
Might take a minute
To fill a thimble

Now we must boil it
To keep it fit
Who someone would help us
Folks we're in a fix

Up early on Saturday morning
The laundry must be done
Dishwasher full of dishes
But the water it won't run

Now somethings are worse
There is no commodity you can't flush
Then some wonder why
We stir up a fuss

So please try to fix it
Whoever is to blame
For living without water
We're all going insane

This poem was written in '90
Two years and there's no change
They keep telling us the same old story
That the holding tank is to blame

We are still boiling
The germs we don't want
But they say conserve it
But if you don't have any 'you don't

Folks can't can their veggies
Children can't play in the pool
If you have guests, for dinner
They certainly will get footed.

Squirrel season opens August 15

Opening day of squirrel season is Saturday, August 15 in the western two-thirds of Kentucky. In the Eastern zone including 29 counties in the southeast, squirrel season opens Saturday, September 5.

Hunters should remember that hunter education is now a mandatory requirement for persons born after January 1, 1975 and required to purchase a hunting license. Hunters required to take the free hunter education course, sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR), must carry a course completion card while hunting.

Information on hunter education class schedules is available by contacting the KDFWR Information and Education Division at (502) 564-4762. Courses last 10 hours spread over three days, with the last day consisting of live-firing range work and written test.

All hunters should obtain a copy of the 1992-93 Kentucky Hunting & Trapping Guide for complete information on all small game season laws.

Contact the number above, or pick up a copy of the guide where licenses are sold.

The statewide dove season also opens on Tuesday, September 1. Shooting hours for doves open at 11 a.m. local time. The daily bag limit of six squirrels and 15 doves remains unchanged for this season. Hunters are reminded to act responsibly and safely while in the field and that alcohol and gunpowder don't mix.

1992 Kentucky Spring Turkey Harvest sets new record

Topping all previous records, Kentucky turkey hunters took 4,000 gobblers during the April 15-18, spring turkey hunting season.

The figure represents a 51 percent increase over 1991's spring harvest of 2,634 gobblers.

To give you an idea of how wild turkeys and hunters are doing - in 1978, the year the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources began its wild turkey restoration program under the able leadership of biologist George Wright, hunters took 44 birds. Since then, 4,621 wild turkeys have been released on 290 sites across the commonwealth, and Wright estimates the statewide wild turkey population amounts to more than 35,000 birds.

This is good news for the rapidly growing ranks of wild turkey hunters in Kentucky. According to Wright, the number of spring turkey hunters jumped from 9,000 in 1991 to 11,000 this year. And even though more hunters went afield this year, they were more successful than ever before. The hunter success rate (harvesting at least one bird) increased to over 30 percent which represents good odds for this challenging sport. Additionally, only five percent of turkey hunters took the season limit of two birds. This is significant because it indicates no alterations in season length or the two-bird limit are warranted.

1992 represents another first in Kentucky wild turkey hunting. A hundred more birds were taken in each of 10 top harvest counties. In 1990, only one county could make this boast.

Satisfied turkey hunters spend big bucks in Kentucky

Turkey hunters not only spent more than $2.5 million in Kentucky during the 1990 spring hunting season but are satisfied with the season length and limit and how wild turkeys are managed in the commonwealth.

The findings are based on 68 percent of 770 Kentucky members of the National Wild Turkey Federation responding to a survey conducted by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources in March 1991. The sample represents approximately 10 percent of Kentucky turkey hunting permit buyers and respondents represent all regions of the state.

According to the survey, the average Kentucky turkey hunter is 40 years old with 28 years hunting experience, has hunted turkeys six years and pumps $338 per spring season (excluding licenses and permits) into Kentucky's economy. Also, most turkey hunters (85 percent) come from rural or small town backgrounds and 75 percent have attended a hunter education course.

Significantly, the majority of turkey hunters want the current two-week spring season to remain in effect because it produces another want -- more adult gobblers than juveniles

(or jakes) in the harvest. (Currently, adult gobblers make up 75 percent of the statewide harvest.) Interestingly, an even higher number of respondents (86 percent) don't want a statewide turkey quota or a limit on the number of turkey hunting permits issued.

Nearly half of the survey group says working a bird is the single best measure of quality spring hunt while remaining respondents are almost equally divided among these choices -- number of gobblers heard, number of turkeys seen, opportunity to shoot or harvesting a bird.

And here's another noteworthy point. Based on 1992's 11,000 spring turkey hunters and excluding fees paid for licenses and permits, dollars contributed to Kentucky's economy by hunters jumped to $3.7 million. That surpasses 1990's contributed by

$1.2 million.

If money talks, maybe taking turkeys talks, too.

Help protect Kentucky's wild turkey success story

Poaching continues to threaten Kentucky's wild turkey population and you can help put a stop to this illegal activity by calling the Report-a-Poacher hot line 1-800-25-ALERT (1-800-252-5378).

Concerned citizens, along with sportsmen and conservation groups, are extremely important in helping protect Kentucky's wildlife resources. The toll-free number, open 24-hours a day, puts you directly in touch with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and is ONLY for reporting game law violations. You don't have to give your name.

Turkey poachers soon learn Kentucky has some pretty stiff fines and other penalties for illegally taking a wild turkey in the commonwealth. Courts have levied $1,000 fines, suspended hunting licenses and ordered violators to pay the replacement cost of each turkey illegally harvested.

Through ongoing restoration efforts begun in 1978, Kentucky's wild turkey population has jumped from 2,000 birds to more than 35,000 in the commonwealth today. Don't let poachers put a dent in this 14-year success story. Do your part and get involved. Call 1-800-25-ALERT if you have a violation to report.

Ophthalmologist opens practice in Laurel County

Patients needing eye surgery and treatment can now receive medical care in Laurel County.

Dr. James G. Huffman, ophthalmologist, opened a practice in Laurel County July 1, announced Lowell Jones, president of Marymount Hospital.

Huffman, 30, will offer a full range of clinical, surgical and laser ophthalmologic services. He specializes in diseases and surgery of the eye, including treatment of cataracts, glaucoma, diabetes and strabismus.

"I decided to specialize in ophthalmology because it is one of the most technologically advanced specialties in medicine and, therefore, very challenging," said Huffman. "Vision is an integral part of everyday life. Helping someone recover their vision can immediately improve the patient's quality of life. That's very gratifying to the physician and the patient."

Huffman, who is a native of North-ern Kentucky, earned his medical degree from the University of Kentucky in 1988. After completing his internship in internal medicine at Good Samaritan Hospital in Cincinnati, he returned to the University of Kentucky for his ophthalmology residency.

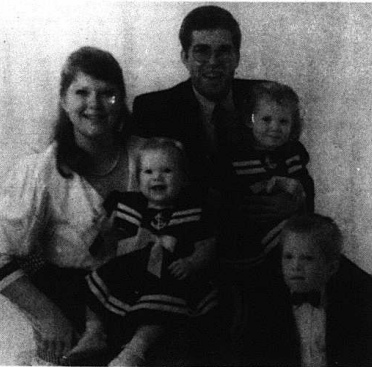

"We're very pleased to have a physician of Dr. Huffman's caliber join the local medical community," said Jones of Marymount Hospital. "He has excellent credentials and will be bringing a much needed service to Laurel County."

Huffman has moved to London with his wife, Paula, who is a registered medical laboratory technologist. The couple have three children, Jimmy, 4; Sarah, 2; and Rebekah, 1. They reside on Meadowlawn Road.

"My wife and I chose to locate a medical practice here because we felt it would be an excellent place to raise our family and because of the natural beauty of the area," he said. "We also feel there is a great need for ophthalmologic services in the area."

He added, "I feel that I can offer patients of all ages advanced eye care and surgery at a convenient location. I look forward to establishing a busy practice that provides high-quality care and long-term physician/patient relationships to the people in South-eastern Kentucky."

Huffman's practice is located two miles north of London on U.S. 25 at the East Bernstein Eye Center. Weekday, evening and Saturday appointments are available by calling 843-2021.

Mr. Baker retires after 31 years in education

Would like to be remembered for fairness to all students

Ed's Note: Each year there are several retirements in the teaching profession in Rockcastle County but this year perhaps one will be noticed more than most because of his varied career in the school system. This feature story appeared in the May, 1992 issue of the Rockcastle Rocket and we are happy to reprint it here.)

Contributing writers include: Stephanie Pope - Julie Coffey Renee DeBord - Lois Ann Cromer

"That I treated everyone fairly" is the way that assistant principal, Mr. Charles "Tuck" Baker, wants to be remembered as he leaves RCHS.

After 31 years with the Rockcastle County school system, Mr. Baker will be retiring at the end of this year.

Mr. Baker says his sensitivity to all students' feelings may be related to an incident that happened to him in 6th grade.

"The teacher permitted a student, a young lady, to pass out birthday party invitations and everyone in the class got one, except me."

He said he knew he didn't get an invitation because he was from a poor family, and "she probably thought I couldn't buy her a present."

After Mr. Baker got older and became a popular guy because of his personality and basketball ability, the same girl wanted to be his girlfriend. Mr. Baker wasn't interested.

From this instance, Mr. Baker says he learned not to judge other people for their material wealth.

This incident may also have had some bearing on his decision to become a teacher.

He said that his teachers set an example for him and seemed to have a better kind of life, than he had, one he admired and wanted. By going into the army directly after graduation from high school, he was able to go to college on the GI Bill and realize his dream.

The GI Bill not only paid his college expenses, but it also provided him with a living allowance.

...learned not to judge people for their material wealth.

the children he has taught become successful.

"What amazes me," he said, "is how many students I taught went on to be doctors, nurses, or pharmacists."

Mr. Baker says the most memorable student he ever had was Randall Clark who is now a urologist. "He studied to learn, not just to get an 'A'." "We argued everything from politics to religion at my kitchen table. I'd have to run him off, sometimes at 2 a.m."

Others he taught included Mr. Hansel, whom he nicknamed Herman the Munster; Mr. Tony Saylor, who once owed him thousands of dollars in basketball shooting bets; Mr. Rick Barnett, who played basketball for him; and Dr. G.W. Griffith, who was in the first physiology class he ever taught.

"Seeing all the children going on to have successful lives makes me take pride in all the lives I have touched."

He said he once counted up, and of the staff at RCHS, he had taught over 20 of them.

Mr. Baker's own educational career got off to a late start. He entered first grade at age 7 because of a bout of scarlet fever.

By the time he was in 6th grade

he was playing basketball on the "B" team for Mt. Vernon High School, and by the time he was in 8th grade, he was a starter on the "A" team.

His most rewarding experience... seeing children he taught become successful.

"When I was a senior, I was on a team that was able to make it to the state tournament. The game was played at Memorial Coliseum in Lexington. Our record was 32-2."

The team however, lost in double overtime to Newport Catholic. Others of the first five were: Kenneth Cornelius, Earl Noe, and Manuel and Charles Shepherd.

In high school Mr. Baker was also elected president of his class all four years.

At the end of his freshman year Mr. Baker got the attention of the girl he would later marry. Her name was Patsy Noe.

He said that at class officer election time he made a speech in front of the class. Later Patsy told him that he had impressed her when he "pranced up there" and talked so easily in front of the group.

The first time he saw Patsy though Mr. Baker admits he was not very impressed. When he was a freshman, he said his friend Carl Clontz had talked for two or three days about this girl he had a date with.

When they got the ballgame, Mr. Baker asked Carl to point her out to him.

They were up in the balcony in the old Mt. Vernon gym and Carl pointed down on the bleachers to what Mr. Baker said he thought was the "ugliest, skinniest girl I had ever seen."

Carl continued to date Patsy during that year, but later married her sister Geraldine.

Pat and "Tuck" dated for three years and were married the December after their graduation in 1953 from high school. She was 17 and had enrolled in business school; he was 18 and had joined the marines.

Mr. Baker became drill instructor and served in Korea during his three years in the marines.

In 1956, he had been discharged two days when he enrolled at Eastern Kentucky University to major in chemistry. Of his 14 fellow chemistry majors, he was the only one who went into education. The others, he said, became doctors or dentists.

Mr. Baker began his teaching career in September of 1960, teaching chemistry, physics, and algebra at Mt. Vernon High School. He taught there until 1966 when he became hospital administrator at the Rockcastle Hospital.

After two years he went back to teaching because, he said, "During the two year period, I didn't have one day off."

In 1979, Mr. Baker became half-time assistant principal at R.C.H.S. and continued to teach chemistry. When Mr. Cleston

Next Year:

School out at 2:50; schedule changes

by Julie Coffey

This coming school year, you may be surprised to find that school will dismiss at 2:50 p.m.

That's right, that sixth period class will not "drag on," and you can rush home to see that soap opera ending. The only catch to it is that school will be starting earlier.

Due in part to the fact that Broadhead Elementary needs an extra 10 minutes for the "Star Channel," a county-wide schedule was made to allow school to start 10 minutes earlier.

That means, if you ride a bus, prepare to get up sooner because buses will be making earlier stops.

Mr. Cash said also that starting with the new school year, a minute will be added to the time between classes, (so no excuse for tardies) and all the class periods will begin and end at an even time.

For example, a class will no longer end at 10:37, but at 10:30 or 10:35.

When asked about how this schedule would work with the required 55 minute class period, Mr. Cash responded, "We are one of the few high schools that still go a full 55 minutes in each class. The state department will allow us this time."

In addition to the time added between classes, students will also get two minutes added back to the lunch period.

Don't get paranoid about losing break, because Mr. Cash said, "We will still have break. That will not change."

According to Mr. Cash the suggestion was also made to do away with the homework as we know it and let first period be homework; however, he said, teachers were not in favor of this.

But when teachers were asked to stay an extra 30 minutes after school next year rather than the 10 minutes they now stay, they responded with a 38-12 vote in favor.

Mr. Cash said, "I was very impressed with the faculty's decision to stay the extra time."

He says this time will be used for lesson preparation and faculty/departamental meetings.

Teachers will be leaving the building at 3:20 (every day except Friday) rather than the usual 3:10.

The new schedule has already been approved by the SBDM committee

The cast of "The Fantasticks" bowed for their curtain call after completing three nights of performances at Rockcastle County High School. Friday night they performed the second act without electricity by the use of flashlights. Though it was somewhat darker the play still went off without a hitch.

Fantasticks production a grand success from curtain to curtain

By: George Ferrell

Local people had a theatrical treat Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this past week.

The stage production, The Fantasticks, was presented at Rockcastle County High School.

Friday night found a captive audience after intermission as the lights went out as a dangerous thunderstorm hit the county.

Members of the cast decided the show must go on and bravely performed the second act with the help of flashlights.

That set the note for a very professional production.

The actors, local people, might have held their own with Broadway, as they mesmerized the audience with the musical's imagery and song.

The play, which is about two young lovers and their quarrelling fathers, is a story about love found and lost and has a happy ending.

At the start the narrator, El Gallo, played by Ed Cortas, explains the relationship and begins the play.

By the end of the first act a drama is played out with the play that sees the young man fight off actors pretending to be rapist of the leading lady.

Luisa, played by April Thorpe, then marries the young man as both fathers make up.

The second act deals with the disillusionment of love. The young man, played by Matt Bryant, goes his way into the world only to find it rougher than he thought.

El Gallo then romances Luisa and when she leaves a necklace in his care he tries to skip out.

Matt then returns after being gone a month and, as events must have it, makes up with Luisa.

The girls' father, Bellomy, was played by Jeffrey T. Burdette, who gave an excellent performance and mastered the musical side of the play.

The boys' father, Hucklebee, was played by Jack Lewis, who turned in a fine performance and also worked well with his counterpart on the musical parts.

Three other actors punctuated the performance. One was "The Actor" Henry, who was played by David Phillips.

Another was "The Man Who Dies" Mortimer, who was played by Kevin Isaacs.

A non-speaking part was convincingly played by Shelly Raines, who played the mute.

The director, H. Allen Pensol, seemed pleased with his troops.

And well he should be — they performed at a level far beyond most amateur productions.

The play was sponsored by The Rockcastle Council For The Arts, The Rockcastle County Jaycees, and The Family Resource Center.

The play was also signed for the hearing impaired. Robyn Arnold performed in that capacity.

Jamie Cornilius, right, and Becky Burdette, accompanied the performance of "The Fantasticks" held last week at the Rockcastle County High School. The production was a success and well received by the public.

The characters Matt and Mortimer duelled with swords during the performance of "The Fantasticks" held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The character El Gallo is looking on.

Allen Pensol passed out roses and encouragement before Thursday's opening night of "The Fantasticks" which played through Saturday night. As director Pensol was pleased with his troops, who gave a professional production for the public.

KET has college credit offerings

Students registering in August for fall classes at Southeast Community College, Union College, Cumberland College and other Kentucky colleges and universities should keep the 1992 KET fall telecourse schedule in mind.

KET telecourses are fully accredited college-level courses convenient for students who have to juggle their college schedule with other commitments such as work and family. They are broadcast on KET so that the majority of class time takes place in the student's own home. Students meet on campus periodically throughout the semester to discuss course material with the professor and to take exams.

KET offers telecourses to college students as part of its commitment to broaden the educational opportunities of all Kentuckians. KET has been airing the telecourses for 14 years with the guidance of the Kentucky telecommunications Consortium. Total enrollment now exceeds 47,000.

The complete 1992 fall schedule of KET telecourses includes: The American Adventure a look at the conflicts and consequences of the nation's early history through 1876; Business and the Law, a comprehensive overview of the law and the world of business; Discovering Psychology and Exploring the Mind, a current outlook for the global environment; The Sociological Imagination, a course prompting students to think critically about social change; Something Ventured: Small Business Management, a study of the tools needed to enhance business success for the entrepreneurs; Time to Grow, a look at all aspects of child development from birth through adolescence including the most recent theories and perspectives; The Western Tradition I, a history course covering the influential pre-Western civilizations and continuing through the Middle Ages to the Renaissance; and The Effective Teacher, a graduate-level education course which explores such critical areas as classroom organization, dealing with individual student differences and corrective instruction.

In total, 23 Kentucky colleges and universities will offer some or all of the KET fall telecourse schedule. To find out which courses each particular Kentucky university or college is offering and to receive a broadcast schedule, please call (800)432-0970.

New laws will affect Kentucky dairy farmers

Changes in the national Pasteurized Milk Ordinance (PMO) which took effect on July 1 means Kentucky dairy farmers also will have to make some important changes -- or else.

Under the new laws, any producer found with a positive milk residue test will be suspended from marketing milk, said Bill Crist, extension dairy specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"The message for the day is that dairy producers must develop a program that will prevent even occasional, accidental contamination of milk or meat," Crist said.

Most milk producers do realize the importance of producing high quality, residue-free milk and the number of cases of residue contamination is low, he said. But under the new regulations even the occasional, accidental contamination of milk can result in severe sanctions.

The first suspension in any 12-month period will be for a minimum of two days, he said. A second suspension would be for a minimum of four days and a third violation within that 12-month period will result in procedures to revoke that producer's permit to sell milk.

"If a suspended farmer obtains a negative milk sample, he may be issued a temporary permit," Crist said.

He then has 14 days to complete the "Milk and Dairy Beef Residue Prevention Protocol" with his veterinarian.

Both parties must sign the certificate in order to have the dairyman's permit reinstated.

Since January, all bulk tank trucks that pick up milk must be sampled for B-Lactam, a penicillin-type drug. In addition under the new regulations, the FDA will have labs in every state test milk for residues from other antibiotics.

Dairy farmers should make plans now to learn how to prevent residue contamination, Crist said.

Most milk co-ops or plants have a supply of the manuals available. For further information, producers should contact their county extension agricultural agent.

CSX Transportation Inc. and the United Transportation Union agreed yesterday to a contract eliminating brakemen jobs on freight trains for a third of its rail system.

The deal will allow CSX to operate through freight trains with only a conductor and an engineer on the former Louisville & Nashville portion of its system. That portion covers parts of Kentucky, Florida, Tennessee, Illinois, Indiana, Alabama and Georgia.

About 2,700 brakemen and conductors whose positions are being eliminated can get severance pay of $60,000 and the first shot at any new CSX jobs after the agreement takes effect Aug. 10.

Three amendments to constitution on ballot in November election

Rockcastle Countians will have an opportunity to vote on three amendments to the state constitution when they go to the polls on general election day, Nov. 3, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage.

The amendments propose to change 13 areas of the state's present constitution which was enacted in 1891, Babbage explained.

"The first amendment will ask voters if they are in favor of charitable lotteries," Babbage said. The question will appear on the ballot in the following form:

Are you in favor of allowing the General Assembly to permit the conduct of charitable lotteries and charitable gift enterprises by charitable organizations provided the General Assembly passes statutes to assure the proper functioning, honesty, and integrity of charitable lotteries and the organizations which conduct them?

The second question will ask voters if they favor successive terms for statewide constitutional officers. The single amendment addresses nine topics. The amendment language is:

Are you in favor of (1) permitting the Governor and other state officers elected in 1995 and after to be eligible to serve two consecutive terms; (2) electing the Governor and Lieutenant Governor by casting one vote for both offices; (3) giving the Lieutenant Governor duties as assigned by the Governor and the General Assembly, with the Senate selecting a senator to act as President of the Senate; (4) allowing the Governor to retain power while absent from the state, and transferring power to the Lieutenant Governor only if the Governor cannot discharge the duties of office; (5) removing the provision requiring an election to fill a vacancy in the Governor's office that occurs in the first two years of the term; (6) if the Governor and the Lieutenant Governor cannot act, transferring power to the Attorney General and then to the auditor; (7) eliminating the offices of Register of Land office and Superintendent of Public Instruction as elective officers; (8) permitting the General Assembly to require the Senate's consent to the selection of inferior state officers and members of boards and commissions; and (9) moving all elections (except elections for state constitutional officers) to even-numbered years by adding one year to the terms of all officials regularly elected in 1993, adding one year to the terms of local officials elected in 1995, and subtracting one year from the terms of circuit judges and judges of the court of appeals elected in 1997?

The third amendment asks voters if they would like to have the governor appoint three of the statewide constitutional officers which are now elected. This amendment proposes to change three parts of the state constitution and is worded as follows:

Are you in favor of (1) beginning in 1995, having the Commissioner of Agriculture, State Treasurer, and Secretary of State appointed by the Governor instead of elected, and allowing them to be appointed for successive terms; (2) permitting the General Assembly to require the Senate's consent to the selection of inferior state officers and members of boards and commissions; and (3) beginning in 1995, eliminating the Railroad Commission and offices of Register of Land Office and Superintendent of Public Instruction as elective officers?

Circuit Judge Lawrence Hail dies in Somerset July 30

Lawrence S. Hail, a former circuit judge and Rockcastle County judge died Thursday at his home in Somerset. He was 87.

Hail was circuit judge for Pulaski and Rockcastle counties from 1968 to 1976. Previously, from 1938 to 1941, he was Pulaski County judge.

He was a Palaski County native and a graduate of Cumberland Law School in Lebanon, Tenn.

He was a past grand master of the Odd Fellows Lodge and a member of

First Baptist Church. He was the widower of Helen Cundiff Hail.

Surviving are a daughter, Sandrella Betinger of Grose Ile, Mich., and two grandchildren.

Services were Sunday at First Baptist Church.

Contributions are suggested to First Methodist Church's Helen Cundiff Hail Memorial Library Fund, Gileads International or First Baptist Church's Together We Build Fund.

Palm Beach workers grant concessions

Workers at one of Pulaski County's largest manufacturers voted yesterday to accept contract concessions to keep the plant from closing.

Employees at the Palm Beach Clothing Factory in Somerset voted 394-83 to change the rates for piece work and give up a 20-cent-an-hour raise that was due in October, said Louise Stogsdill, president of Local 611 of the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

Stogsdill said workers, voting in two shifts, were worried that they would not have jobs if they voted down the contract.

Plant Holdings, a New York company that is negotiating to buy Palm Beach factories in Somerset, Erlanger, Knoxville and Alabama from Crystal Brands Inc. had notified the union it would not complete the purchase unless the union made concessions.

As a result, the Somerset employees agreed last week to reopen contract talks, hoping negotiations would save the plant's 850 jobs.

Because Crystal Brands is in financial trouble, some Somerset work-

A "Women in Business" seminar was held at the Madison County Public Library July 22. Among the presenters on the program were, from left: Karen King and Susan Coffey, of Greenscapes, a Mt. Vernon business; Barbara Gricie, Citizens Fidelity Bank; and Gina Noe, Madison County Extension Office. Another guest speaker was Dr. Agrienne Millett, not pictured. The moderator was Marlene Morgan, right, consultant at EKU's College of Business and the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. Those who attended the luncheon/seminar received advice on how to start a business, expand an existing one or better serve their market. Topics included financing, home-based businesses, and common problems. The event was catered by New Orleans Cafe of Richmond.

Sweet and Sour

Cedarville post office was the first address we had when we moved to Rockcastle County. The Mize house had a portion of the front porch closed in, or a small section added onto it, that served as the post office which Alice Mize was postmistress of and it was called, Cedarville. I never did know where that name came from for the community was called Buffalo. Even when the post office was moved to the home of Vesta and Ingram Renner, it retained the name of Cedarville and their home was in a different area all together and a couple of miles farther for us to walk. The post office department was a big mess then as it is now. We never knew where we would be receiving our mail the next month or even the next week. While we lived in the same place for 48 years we had nine different addresses with two of them in Pulaski County. But Cedarville at the Mize home was where my first memories of, "going to get the mail," took place. It was here I met many of my new friends to be. There was always a new face from over the next hill or from the depths of a hollow every time I went. That was the only way I had to meet many of them for there wasn't much activity in the area where people could meet and socialize. It was here I met Etta, or as she was better known, "Etter" Mize. Her husband, Everett was a distant relative of Hamp Mize and a brother to Cecil Mize, of whom I have already written a little bit about. Some areas in the county have families of the same name who are only slightly or not at all related. Due to the isolation of the area, interfamily marriages have taken place that has carried the same name down through the years yet the members are not always related by blood. As a rule the time old belief that cousins should never marry held true here. Even though sister and brother may marry sister and brother therefore have children that are double cousins they won't be marrying their own blood relatives. Etter's husband was a member of one of these families so their children are related to almost everyone in the area. Etter was one of the hardest working women I have ever met. She would go to the field and work all day hoeing corn then come home and gather in garden products to have ready for canning the next day, or walk to the post office to get the mail. She taught her children to do the same thing. I remember seeing her young daughter, Norma, washing on the board for the whole family when she was a mere child herself, then cook the dinner for them before her mother got back from the field. I think there were five children, all born at home, and she would be back in the field or garden in three or four days after their birth. Caring for her family was uppermost in her mind. Still she made room for being a good neighbor. When she found I wasn't afraid of work she invited me to share our work load. She would walk the two miles to my place to help me when I was in need of help then I would return the favor when she needed help. This worked out fine for we had a lot in common and enjoyed each others company. She had a ready and hearty laugh for everything and I needed this in the world of my weakness. Just before Christmas she came by early in the morning and asked if I would like to go shopping with her. This shopping expedition was not the kind I was used to but I went along anyway for it was the only time I had the chance to go with someone I truly liked. We had no way to get to town but there was a store over in Pulaski County about three miles away that carried a few small toys and a variety of fruit and candy that was better than nothing, so off we went. She had a couple of big feed sacks tucked under her arms and I also took one along to carry things back in. We waded the slush of light snow and took the shortest way we knew through a wooded path over the hills till we reached Highway 80 where the going was smoother. Even then we had some rough walking to do down the big river hill and up a long stretch of highway before we went up the road to the Herbert Cross store, in Pulaski County. This was a country store that served the area and was well kept and supplied. When we left the store I'm sure we looked like Santa Claus without his sleigh. We each had our big old white feed sacks full to the brim with all the goodies our children would be enjoying on Christmas morning. These were slung over our backs and the hand holding onto them was filled with another one. The truck home was not as easy as the walk to the store. The place to set our burdens down safely was far between and our laughter became less and less as we sought for them. When we would finally find one we would burst out laughing at ourselves and own up to being the holic Santa Claus. (Where oh where was Rudolph with his sleigh and companions?) For once I was glad I lived only a mile off highway 80, and didn't envy Eter one bit for the next two miles she had to go. It was worth it all though on Christmas morning when the kids woke up to full stockings of fruit and candy and a small toy tucked inside. Another time Eter invited me to go with her and her family to visit her sister, Flora Bullock, who lived on Hawk Creek in Laurel County. Mat owned a truck that could get in and out of our place without trouble so we could take all the kids along. I had known and liked Flora before she moved to Hawk Creek so gladly accepted the invitation to go the following Sunday. Eter said we would leave early so we would have a full day to, "eat, drink, and be merry." Early to me meant 8 or 9 o'clock so my plans were made accordingly. Get up at six, get breakfast while Mat milked, get the kids dressed and be ready by 8:30. Well, I had forgotten Eter's morning habits, she was a early riser, one who believed in getting things done before the sun got too high. At 5 a.m. I heard a ruckus in the front yard and rose to see what was going on, there stood Eter, Everett, and all the kids raring to get on their way. When I acted surprised she said "I thought I told you early." It didn't take long to get things done with everyone pitching in so by 6 or 6:30 we were on our way. By 8 o'clock we were at Flora's and hens were running to hide from the onslaught of squealing kids with itchy hands trying to get hold of them. I learned that day how to pick a chicken without scalding it. Flora was the one who taught me. She and Eter were old hands at getting things done the quick way and before we knew what was going on there was chicken and dumplings on the table with all the other things that come from an old fashioned country kitchen when company comes a-calling. Needless to say we did eat till we were stuffed, drank all the coffee, or milk, cooled in the spring, we could hold and had a merry old time talking of the good old days. Flora and Eter were two more of the women who taught me so much of how to deal with the stress of living and raising a family in a strange new world.

Eter's daughter, Norma Mize French, is the only child left in the Buffalo area. The rest, like most of our children have left for other parts of the country where they can make a better living. Norma recently visited me and is the cause of my remembering the days when her mother and I were such good friends.

Fairview News

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello to all you good people out there. Hope you are well and everything is fine with you.

We had a wonderful day at our church at Fairview this past Sunday. Sunday School attendance was over a hundred and two with several more for worship service. It's always such a great blessing to be able to be in the Lord's house on the Lord's Day.

Our average Sunday School attendance for the month of July was one hundred and eleven for which we are thankful.

Also on this past Sunday morning we had Rev. Walter House of Louisville as our speaker from the Temperance League of Kentucky and he delivered such a wonderful message on the evil times we are living in, on drugs and alcohol and other thoughtless acts performed by human beings. But he also spoke about the good things we enjoy, and preached a good sermon from the Word of God. We enjoyed all this very much. He talked to the young people and commented on how many we had in attendance. He said it is unusual to see that many in church, as some churches don't have many young people.

On Sunday evening our pastor Rev. Harvey Pensol delivered a great message on the Kingdom of God. So all in all we had a very good spiritual day - one comment that I heard: House said that I'd like to pass on to you is this: The world can't have peace until people find peace through Jesus Christ. (How true, how true)

We extend our sympathy to all those who have lost loved ones recently, especially to the family of Mrs. Amanda Powell Clark of Berea who passed away July 29th. We knew her as Mrs. Powell when she lived in this vicinity years ago. May God comfort her loved ones at this time in our prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex and Jewell Davidson and children Jenia and Jeremy came from Bowling Ridge near Brodhead to her parents' home (Eugene and Hallie Alexander) near Fairview last Tuesday by wagon. The wagon was drawn by a team of mules.

ers worried the plant would close unless they renegotiated the contract. The plant, which makes men's suits, opened in 1946.

Wages at the plant average almost $8 an hour.

Stogsdill said the changes in the rates for piece work would narrow the disparity in wages among Palm Beach workers.

She said workers in Erlanger and Knoxville are being asked to make the same concessions.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER VACANCY - DIVISION 3 ROCKCASTLE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Opportunity

Kentuckians have an unprecedented chance to rebuild the state's school system, and local boards are central to the reform movement. Share a sense of pride with other citizens by serving the children of Rockcastle County.

You are invited to nominate yourself or a qualified acquaintance to serve on the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

There is a vacancy created because of a resignation.

Activity

- Board members are involved in four main tasks:
 - Developing policy-making guidelines that govern the operation of schools
 - Providing visionary leadership and vigorous stewardship with long-range educational plans and programs
 - Hiring the district superintendent and issuing annual evaluation reports
 - Developing and approving budgets for the operation of schools

Requirements

- At least 24 years old
- Kentucky citizen for the last three years
- Registered voter in School Board Division 3 (composed of the Bullock, North Mt. Vernon and West Mt. Vernon voting precincts)
- High school diploma or GED certificate
- Except in limited circumstances, board members may not have a relative employed by the school district

Pick up an application at the Rockcastle County Board of Education central offices building located at Route 5, Box 69, Richmond Street, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

Mail the completed form to Commissioner Thomas Boyesen, 500 Metro Street, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Applications must be postmarked no later than August 15, 1992. Commissioner Boyesen will appoint the board member to serve until the regular election in November 1992.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

A special invitation is extended to everyone to come in and visit your library during the month of August. This is one of the hottest months of the year and it would be a good time to sit in and read a good book, watch an entertaining video or listen to an interesting tape. We have all of these and much more for you to enjoy at the library. The purpose of our library is to have something of interest for everyone and our aim is to serve you in the best way possible. If we don't have what you need and want, we'll make every effort to get it for you.

I'd like to give you our definition of a library patron:

A patron is the most important person ever in this library either in person or otherwise.

"A patron is not dependent on us. We are dependent on him."

"A patron is not an interruption of our work; he is the purpose of it. We are not doing him a favor by serving him; he is doing us a favor giving us an opportunity to do so."

"A patron is not an outsider to our library; he is part of it."

"A patron is not a cold statistic and a name on a library card or an account record. He is a flesh-and-blood human being, with biases, prejudices, feelings and emotions like our own."

"A patron is a person who brings his wants. It's our job to fill them profitably...to him and to ourselves."

The library has received a new shipment of non-fiction, juvenile fiction and easy books from the Department of Libraries. Some of them are: 1. Fury Days by Bob Simon. On the fifth day of the Gulf War, CBS News correspondent Bob Simon and his crew of three stepped across a deserted border post between Saudi Arabia and Iraq-occupied Kuwait. With this fatal foray into joined the Marine Corps in May, we lost contact. I've heard that his family moved out of the county, possibly to Laurel County. His mother's name is Alice and he has a younger brother named Joey. If anyone knows anything about him, please contact me at the following address: CPL Nathan Scals, USSIC: 40517853; MSSG-11 Motor T Det: VIC 42360; FPO AP 96010-2360; USS Tarawa. Anything helpful will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you, Nathan Scals enemy territory, the "CBS Four," as they were quickly known in headlines around the world, descended into a gulag of terror and interrogations, beatings and starvation.

Fury Days is a remarkable story of both the fragility and the strength of the human spirit, of fear and survival.

2. America's Vietnam War by Elizabeth Becker. America's involvement in the Vietnam War was the longest military conflict in the country's history and the least understood. Now, award-winning journalist and scholar Elizabeth Becker follows the war from our entry as advisors in the late 1950s and early 1960s, through the buildup of American troops and the Tet offensive during the Lyndon B. Johnson Administration, to the bombing of North Vietnam and Cambodia and, finally, the Paris Peace Talks during the Richard Nixon years.

Becker's honest and illuminating account of this complex war places it in the context of an America preoccupied with containing the threat of Communist expansion. She concentrates on the changing attitude of the American public about the war, and the effects the demonstrations against it had on society in general. She tells the story from the view of the American soldiers and politicians, as well as from the perspective of both communist and non-communist Vietnamese.

America's Vietnam War chronicles a quarter-century of struggle that ended in inevitable defeat.

Two other books that have been purchased by the library are, Braves by Harry Combs. In the tradition of Louis L'Amour and Zane Grey, author Harry Combs has crafted a sweeping novel of the Old West that is rich in the detail fans of the general have grown to love.

Set in Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico between 1867 and 1876, Braves is the story of a young gunslinger and "mountain man" seeking his fortune in the ranges of the Rocky Mountains.

The story begins in Hays City, Kansas, where Braves falls in love with a sultry saloon girl. After killing his trait boss in a fight for her affections, Braves flees with the girl in tow, only to be captured by a Comanche war party, and although Braves makes a hair-raising escape, the girl is tortured and brutally murdered by the Comanches. Sworn to avenge her death, Braves declares a one-man war against the entire Comanche nation. He carries out his personal campaign with startling results.

Another fascinating novel is... Eye Of The Hawk by David William Ross. This is a powerful epic of the Texas frontier - a marvelously textured, stunningly realistic novel of love and death in the tide of American history.

No frontier in America's march westward was so bitterly contested or so costly in human lives as Texas. The Lone Star Republic, wrenched from Mexico in a bloody war that ended in 1836, quickly found much of its territory still claimed by the battle-hungry Comanches and their deadly allies, the Kiowas.

Into this alien territory come Seth and Isabelle Redmond. With Brady, a runaway slave they befriended on their journey, they build a home much of its territory still claimed by the battle-hungry Comanches and their deadly allies, the Kiowas.

As the months pass, Isabelle rages with sickening certainty that the rape has left her pregnant. When the half-breed infant is born, her marriage to Seth is forever changed.

What follows is a sweeping epic of two generations of the Redmond family who cling tenaciously to their land as the winds of Civil War mount.

Fleas can be problem now

Pet owners should brace themselves for an onslaught of flea problems.

Recent warm, moist weather means increased problems, said Mike Potter, Extension entomologist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Since more than half the households in Kentucky own dogs and cats, Potter has been receiving many calls for information on how to get fleas out of the house.

"For flea control to be successful, home, pet and sometimes the yard must be treated," Potter said. "Adult fleas spend most of their time on the animal, not the carpet," he added. "That's why the treatment of the pet as well as its environment is an essential step to get rid of the pests."

Fleas lay eggs on the animal, but the eggs fall onto carpeting or into pet bedding. Although the life cycle of fleas is only about three weeks, development from eggs to larvae to pupae may be prolonged. Before the adult flea emerges, it is protected from insecticides inside its cocoon. That's why fleas may continue to emerge for several weeks after a chemical treatment.

Potter suggests a systematic treatment of the premises before the home is sprayed with insecticides. Remove all toys, clothing and stored items from floors, under beds and in closets so that all areas will be accessible for treatment.

Remove pet food and water dishes. Wash, dry clean or destroy pet bedding.

Vacuum thoroughly to remove many eggs, larvae and pupae developing inside the home.

Treat the pet before home treatment to prevent it from bringing in new fleas. A variety of on-animal insecticides is available.

Treat the home, being careful to follow label directions.

Potter said that once fleas become established in a home, insecticides are almost always needed to control them. Health risks associated with properly performed flea treatment are generally insignificant if homeowners carefully follow label directions on pesticide containers.

Dithane registration renewed for 1992

The registration of Dithane M45, a fungicide used for control of blue mold in tobacco, has been renewed for special local need for 1992, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's Division of Pesticides announced today.

Dithane M45, manufactured by Rohm Haas, has been used since 1985 to control blue mold, a fungus which can destroy tobacco plants. An outbreak of the plant disease has been reported in several areas of Kentucky in recent weeks.

London Cruisers Car Club plan annual charity car show

Anique car buffs will want to mark Saturday, Aug. 15 on their calendars. That's the day of the fourth annual Laurel County Homecoming Charity Run sponsored by the London Cruisers Car Club.

The event will be held on the front lawn of South Laurel County High School from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Concessions and souvenirs will be available. A nominal admission fee will be charged for spectators.

Last year's show attracted 183 cars

U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell recently received the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's Spirit of Enterprise Award for consistently voting to support American business. The chamber presents the awards annually to legislators who have a record of at least 70 percent on votes which support American business. "I am very honored to receive this recognition, along with a 90 percent ranking, from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce," said McConnell. "Promoting job creation and economic growth through prosperous American enterprise is among my top priorities." Senator McConnell's support of the business agenda in 1991 helps ensure that all businesses -- both large and small -- are given the opportunity to prosper, thus creating more jobs for more Americans," said U.S. Chamber of Commerce President Richard Lesh. The Chamber presents the Spirit of Enterprise Award to show appreciation for those legislators who have worked hard to support the American economy and the free enterprise system.

Ford says Kentucky will receive payments for tax-exempt lands

U.S. Sen. Wendell Ford announced today that 52 Kentucky counties will receive a total of $596,529 distributed by the Bureau of Land Management for Fiscal Year 1992, including Rockcastle.

Ford said the funds will come from BLM's Payments in Lieu of Taxes program. The program is designed to help sparsely populated local governments offset the loss of tax revenues as a result of having the tax exemptions. Federal lands within their jurisdictions.

"I am confident these payments will help offset those affected local governments provide vital services to the residents in their areas," Ford said.

CAROLYN DOAN

PETITIONER

VS: NOTICE OF SALE

DEVNERT DOAN

RESPONDENT

Pursuant to judgment and order of sale entered in this action on the 8th day of April, 1992, for the purpose of division of marital property, I will offer at public auction the hereinafter described real property in Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR ON MAIN STREET
ON FRIDAY, THE 7TH DAY OF AUGUST, 1992
BEGINNING AT THE HOUR OF 10:30 A.M.

said property being more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Tract No. 1. - Lying on the waters of Roundstone Creek, near the village of Pine Hill, Kentucky, to-wit: Beginning at a small white oak on top of a ridge; thence running with the top of the ridge to a black oak near Alfred Mason's line; thence down the hill to a small white oak near an old abandoned coal bank; thence south to a sand cliff in a hollow; thence up the hill to the beginning corner and containing about five (5) acres more or less.

Tract No. 2. - Beginning at a white oak on top of the ridge, corner to J.C. Mason's line; thence north by northeast to a sugar tree on top of cliff at a spring and Albert Falin's line; thence west with Miller's line to a forked white oak tree at Johnie Piggs and Orville Miller's line; thence south with Miller's line to a black oak on top of ridge to beginning corner, containing five (5) acres, more or less.

Tract No. 3. - Beginning at a sand stone near the county road; thence a straight line a southeast course to a white oak 50 yards below an old coal bank in a drain; thence running up the hill to a small white oak; thence running down the hill an east direction to a double white oak and adjoining A.D. Mason's line; thence running with A.D. Mason's line to the beginning and containing about five acres be the same, more or less.

Tract No. 4. - Beginning at the west end of a culvert in the right of way of U.S. Highway No. 25 at James Cleveland Mason's driveway, an iron stake; thence northerly 314 feet to a small oak in the line of Jack Hurd, a new corner; thence easterly 740 feet with the line of Jack Hurd to a double pine stump, Alfred Mason's corner; thence southerly with the line of Alfred Mason, 158 feet to the northern right of way of U.S. Highway No. 25; thence westerly with the right of way of U.S. Highway No. 25, 797 feet to the beginning, and containing two and one-half (2 1/2) acres, more or less.

There is excluded from tract 4 the following described real property located approximately one mile south of Pine Hill, to-wit:

Located on the east side of U.S. Highway 25, and beginning at an iron stake in the right of way line of U.S. Highway, corner to Alfred Mason and the property herein conveyed; thence in a northerly direction 350 feet with the line of U.S. Highway #25 to an iron stake, corner to property herein conveyed and James Cleveland Mason; thence in an easterly direction 200 feet to an iron stake, corner to Melba Kemp, James Cleveland Mason and the property herein conveyed; thence in a southerly direction with the line of Melba Kemp, 325 feet to an iron stake, corner to Kemp, Mason and property herein conveyed; thence in a westerly direction 140 feet with the line of Alfred Mason to the point of beginning and containing one and one-half acres (1 1/2) more or less.

There is further excepted that portion conveyed to William C. Kirby and wife, Elizabeth C. Kirby, by deed dated March 7, 1985, recorded in Deed 124, page 463, as follows: Beginning at an iron pin in the right of way of U.S. Highway #25 corner to Doan; thence with said right of way line N 50 deg. 00' 00" W 210.0 feet to an iron pin, corner to Coffey; thence with Coffey N 53 deg. 24' 00" E 355.18 feet to a black oak; thence N 33 deg. 09' 03" W 360.78 feet to a set stone corner to Doan; thence with line of Doan the following courses and distances N 77 deg. 39' 46" E 759.20 to a white oak; S 70 deg. 25' 31" W 348.95 feet to a white oak, S 44 deg. 48' 30" W 178.24 feet to a white oak, S 10 deg. 53' 37" E 495.73 feet to a pine, S 70 deg. 05' 00" W 301.96 feet to the point of beginning and containing 4.16 acres, more or less. Being property which Devnert Doan and Carolyn Doan obtained by deed dated August 14, 1978, from James Cleveland Mason, et al, recorded in Deed Book 18, page 516.

The property will be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

1. The property shall be sold to the highest bidder(s) for cash or for a deposit of TWENTY-FIVE (25%) PERCENT of the purchase price in cash at the time of sale and the balance payable SIXTY (60) DAYS from the date of the sale, with interest at the rate of TWELVE (12%) per cent per annum from date of sale until paid. The purchaser(s) shall be required to execute bond with surety thereon, to be approved by the Master Commissioner, for the balance of the purchase price. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) per cent per annum from date until paid, and to remain and be a lien on said property until fully paid.
2. The purchaser(s) shall have the privilege of paying all of the purchase price in cash or paying the bond before maturity by paying the principal amount thereon, together with all interest accrued thereon to the date of said payment.
3. The purchaser(s) shall pay the 1992 County, State and School taxes on the property.
4. The purchaser(s) shall have possession of the premises upon complying with the terms of sale and risk of loss of improvements shall thereafter be on the purchaser(s).
5. This sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise.
6. Should there be a lien on the property held by the United States, a federal right of redemption shall exist.
