Roamin' Rockcastle

BY HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

Some man once said, "People are funny," and he wasn't wrong, they sure are.

After writing at the beginning of my column three weeks ago that I had gotten a permission from my boss to be off for two weeks the first of August from the papers where I work. The "powers that be" agreed and I was so happy.

Again, I'm asked by some of your good folks, "How come I've quit writing."

The two weeks went so well without a scolding from Editor French, without a sniff from Sara, or lifted eyebrows from Cosmo Ely, that I thought I stayed out on one more week, no one would notice if I frolicked up and down good old Clear Creek with its cool, clear water as large fish jumped up and splashed the deep, green hole of water from where I had come.

Then came the awful roar from Boss #1 in Mt. Vernon when I didn't have a column the third week.

I was told to quit frolicking on Clear Creek and to "get yourself back here and go to work."

I wish I could say I'm a new person from not doing so much work but that would be lying.

Don't forget I'm the only woman member of the "Liar's Club" and have a membership card to prove it from their president, Danny Dooley.

But I got even with him last month. I found a cigarette lighter, one which said "Liar's Club" on it. Right then I decided I would honor Mr. Dooley and bought him one.

We drove to Snider just about Conway and up to the Dooleys' nice mobile home where we all sat on the terrace which Danny had built since John and I were last there.

Hyster sat Berea, where he works, have cut his wages some for Danny, was in his bare feet.

After some talk, I said, "Danny, you did me such kindness in giving me the membership in the Liar's Club (I sure didn't think so at the time) that I've decided to return the favor so I've bought you a gift of a cigarette lighter with the words "Liar's Club" on it."

Danny laughed and laughed and seemed very pleased with the gift.

He works at Hyster and his wife, Janice, is a library aide. Their family are David, 16, who is a junior in high school and Jerrick, 11, who is in the sixth grade.

The Dooleys will be attending a gathering of their folks at the home of their grandpa, Roland Taulbee who would become 90 on that day. Along with them would be Danny's brother, Billy and his wife Linda Dooley.

I have been lucky in that Allen Williams of Williams Funeral Home in Berea has given me a copy of the Clear Creek printed June 29, 1911. It is about the news from different communities written by a person in that community.

I will give you one or two items each week until I run out of news. This week comes from Sand Gap in Jackson County.

Less Durham found a bee tree last week that is a record breaker for the year of 1911.

Bert Azbill of Berea was in this neighborhood doing dental work. (In those days the dentists went to the people to do work on their teeth).

I tell you Manuel Lakes of Lakes Funeral Home in Berea has a heart of gold or something. John happened to be down there when Manuel said, "You know I've felt sorry for Hilda having to give up her ducks so I'm going to send her a goose. We have one that just dropped in here and stays around in the back of the funeral home. It won't leave no matter how much we try to get rid of it."

John is soft as butter left out of the refrigerator when it comes to helping a friend so he agreed to bring the goose to me.

With the help of Bodie Barnett, they got the goose pinned in a corner and caught. John tied its legs else it would fly away and away he came to bring me the goose.

I was not here at the time so John decided to take it to a nearby lake. The back of his truck had to be hoisted out for you see Manuel had failed to tell John that the goose was not "potty trained."

As John was leaving with the goose, he should have seen that Manuel was hosing down the back walk around the funeral home.

You don't want to miss an event at Brushy Fork Park near Berea when the Glorybound Inspiration singers hold their 3rd annual homecoming on September 5 from 4 to 8 p.m.

This group will do their special singing along with the Azbill Family, the Trinity Heirs, and the Lord's Servants. Bring along a lawn chair and enjoy the music. All are welcome.

The Glorybound Inspiration group will have with them some of their first tapes, the first made by the group which was for sale.

In San Diego, California, live some of my readers and nephew, Frank Payne with wife, Helen. She has been ill and in the hospital a lot. The last word was that she feels better and may go home soon.

I hope so that I can tell her about Frank being such a Romeo as a young boy on Clear Creek. He would ride a mule to go see the girls in Climax (another community over Loman Hill).

My niece, Peggy Payne Rowlett, and husband, Lucien, shook the dust of Berea off their feet and took off northeast toward Virginia where they were joined by Professor Kenny Rowlett, his wife Ann and two cute girls, Delanie and Karen for a vacation trip to Canada where they spent a week.

Peggy says they visited the Anna of Green Gables house on Prince Edward Island. Next they visited the Amish section of the country where one of their cornfields is large enough so that one of our Kentucky farms could be set down in it.

Peggy says that she kept a journal of their trip telling of all the places they had gone to and what they had done. It will be good reading for the children that are growing up.

This is a great big "Thank You" to a Mr. Sowder, Route 3, Crawfordsville, Indiana whom I have learned is a good reader of this column in the Mt. Vernon Signal and just "loves them" as written to me by Sandi Abing Sillings who also lives in Indiana and is in touch with him. Bless you both for reading of the folks around in the hills.

I am able to get some little yellow tomato preserves (that's all I've done for three weeks. I never stirred out of Rockcastle) and may send you a sample.

Sandi, I'm working on your papers. No luck so far.

Till next week: I have done so much, with so little, for so long, I can do almost anything, with practically nothing.

The harvester -- according to George A Duncan, who has been a U.K. extension ag engineer for 26 years -- will be "a field machine to help in the harvesting and spearing of burley tobacco onto conventional wooden sticks for normal harvesting methods."

This new machine may prove to be marketable, he said, because it will "fit within the current methods of harvesting and housing tobacco, while giving labor-saving, mechanical benefits to that process."

U.K.'s total budget for producing the new harvester is about $50,000, Duncan said, with the Burley Co-op donating $6,000 of that amount over the two-year period.

The other U.K. project "will provide a detailed analysis of the world burley market, and show how recent policy changes have affected U.S. burley production," said Will Snell, U.K. assistant extension professor of ag economics.

The study will also "look at how U.S. burley can retain its profitability but at the same time remain competitive in world markets," Snell said.

Of the $10,000 budget for this U.K. research, the Burley Co-op will donate $5,000 per year over the next two years, Snell said.

#96 although young Rockets football team. Remember, as a Christian such as myself, first you believe in God and then you can not win if you do not believe in yourself. On Broadhead Elementary School door quote, quitters never win and winners never quit. So on Saturday, August 29, 1992, Rockets get off to a good start. Let's win the Pike Bowl and take from there then we will welcome Metcalfe County to RCHS for the Jamboree bowl sponsored by Renfro Valley, Rockets Fans for me wear last year's T-shirts please. I realize the district will not be easy. I believe in you Rockets. Your rivals Corbin, Red Hounds here on October 9th anyway, schedules will be available vs. Metcalfe County, first home game. I don't know if you saw the ad in the Signal, if not reserved seats all four home games $20. See Larry Dale Carter or Jim Bussell, J.D.'s father.

Better close for now, Rockets No. 1 fan David Brock

P.S. One more name comes to my memory, No. 4, old sure foot, Curtis Cotton. I will try to go to the first game up at Bellfry. If anyone has any room I would like to go. I don't know if Howard Saylor will go or not, his son is in college. John Dog, I hang out at Broadhead Dari Delite. Please print in Signal issued Thursday, August 27, 1992. Let's get behind our young Rocket's football team. Go, Go, Go Rockets!

Rep. Rogers begins tour at Mt. Vernon

By: Ray McClure

U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers visited Rockcastle Monday and asked his friends to help him win re-election in November.

About 30 persons came to the Rockcastle annex circuit courtroom to hear the representative recite all the good things he has helped to do since the 12 years he has been in Congress.

He said he needs everyone's help in the "old" 5th District to win. The fifth now has 12 new counties that is now 55 percent Democratic and 45 percent Republican.

"I'll need all the help I can get from my friends in Rockcastle County," he said. "I'll need a big vote here."

He noted his 12 years in Congress gave him the upper hand in getting committee assignments in the new and changed Congress.

Rep. Rogers earlier attended a breakfast at Kastle Inn and was handed a check for $1000 from friends in Rockcastle.

During his terms in office, Rep. Rogers pointed out various grants and help the county had received through him, including FMHA, from mining, Ky. 461 money, Rockcastle Water Association, Livingston Water Project, Brodhead water plant improvements, Rockcastle Industrial Park, as well as projects in Eastern Kentucky at Pineville, Barbourville and Middlesboro.

"Mt. Vernon in the last few years has been one of the fastest growing towns in the district," Rogers pointed out. "When I look around I see things happening here that you may not."

The candidate said his trips to Rockcastle in the past had been non-political, "but this year 'I'm paying."

"We've accomplished a lot by working together," he related. "We've brought thousands of new jobs to our area. Hundreds of water lines have been laid. We've received better roads, better schools and started to lay the groundwork for a more prosperous future."

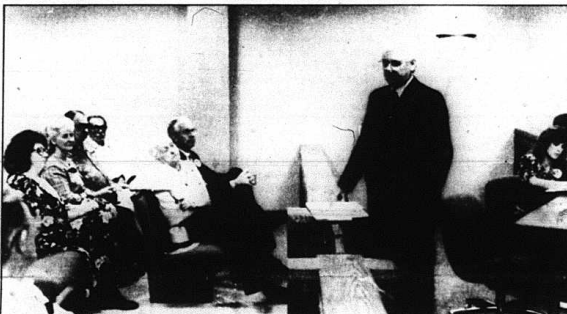

"So I say to you, the 12 years I have spent in Congress have been spent in honest service."

Rockcastle was Rep. Rogers's first stop on a week long, 261/2 county tour.

Following the meeting, he met with various people to discuss and try to solve their personal problems.

Rep. Harold Rogers visited with constituents following his talk. Above is Don Gabbard of Conway, William K. Bullen and Freda Abney. About 40 persons attended Rogers' first trip in the district.

Visitors listen as Rep. Rogers explained his work in Congress during the past 12 years. He's a candidate for re-election.

Northern water office burns Sunday night

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the offices of the Northern Rockcastle Water District Monday night.

The trailer was engulfed in flames when firemen arrived. About half the records of water customers were destroyed, Brad Proctor said. The remaining records were in his vehicle. He was reading meters the day before and had completed from the foot of Green Fish Hill to Conway.

The trailer was located on Sigmon Hill. Renfro Valley Country Store is being used as an office temporarily.

Truck stolen

A truck belonging to Jimmy Shacky of Paint lick was recovered by Deputy Darrell Doan this week. The GMC pickup was found at Horse Lick on Ky. 490. It was stolen from Paint Lick.

Thieves take three guitars

Property valued at $2,416 was taken in a break-in at the home of Chester Azbill on Bill Thomas Road in the Scaffold Care area. The thieves took a Gibson flat top guitar valued at $695, a Madrier guitar valued at $325, an "old" guitar valued at $1,000, along with a hard shell case valued at $135, 8 knives, $20 in money, electric tuner, clamp and thumb picks.

Entrance to the house was through a door. Deputy Karen Alcom investigated the burglary.

"Pot" found and burned

Sheriff Shirley Smith and Deputy Darrell Doan found and destroyed 167 marijuana plants Friday in the Mullins Station area.

The plants were found near an abandoned strip mine.

The sheriff said the plants were burned at the scene since they were big. No one was at the site.

Rep. Harold Rogers

Escapee back in jail

Gary Hasty of Mt. Vernon walked out of the Rockcastle County jail last Friday and walked back in on Sunday.

He was being held for a parole violation and was to have been returned to the penitentiary. He remains in the county jail.

Don Walker dies Wednesday

Well known restaurant owner Donald Harvey Walker, 63, of Mt. Vernon died Wednesday afternoon at the Rockcastle Hospital.

According to Rockcastle County Coroner Bill Dowell, Mr. Walker apparently suffered a massive heart attack and cerebral hemorrhage while driving his vehicle on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon. Mr. Walker and his wife Jean had operated Jean's Restaurant at Burr since the late 70's before selling it earlier this year. However the Walker's were scheduled to take the restaurant back over on September 1.

Known to many as "Rockcastle County's Ambassador of Good Will," mainly because of his constant promotion of the county, Mr. Walker's body was taken to the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home, where arrangements are incomplete.

Several indictments returned by jury

Several indictments were returned by a Rockcastle Grand Jury recently. Donald Nolan, 40, of Livingston was indicted for criminal mischief in first degree, criminal attempt to commit burglary, first degree, and criminal attempt to commit murder.

He is accused of damaging the Sure-Shot Bait Shop at Burr, attempting to enter the bait shop and steal firearms, and attempting to run over Roger Croucher with a vehicle.

His bond was set at $25,000 cash or property.

His brother Tim Nolan, 38, was charged in the same incident with criminal attempt to commit burglary (firearms).

His bond was set at $5,000 cash or property.

Woodrow Grimes, 44, of London, was indicted on three counts. Burglary, first degree, wrong endangerment, first degree, and rape in first degree.

He is accused of entering unlawfully the residence of Geraldine Grimes, wrong endangerment, first degree, by firing a .22 rifle in her direction and by forcing her to have sexual intercourse against her will. He is under $50,000 cash or property bond.

Kenneth D. McCowan, 24, of Mt. Vernon was indicted on three counts of wrong endangerment, in first degree, criminal mischief, in first degree by causing damage in excess of $5,000 and count 5, leaving the scene of an accident.

He is accused of driving his motor vehicle into the front section of Mt. Vernon Dairy Freezer where Ann Benson, Jeannine Parsons and Angela Hunt were present.

Bond for McCowan was set at $5,000 cash or property.

Bobby McClure, 37, of Mt. Vernon, was indicted on four counts: Driving under the influence, 5th offense; no insurance, resisting arrest and operating a vehicle on a suspended license, fifth offense.

No bond was set. A summons was issued.

Troy Kirby, 26, of Mt. Vernon was indicted on charges of cultivating marijuana for purpose of resale (87 plants). No bond was set. Summons was issued.

Rain showers a'comin'

Rain, and lots of it, could invade the area today and Friday, so says the National Weather Service.

Hurricane Andrew remnants could spill over into Western Kentucky as the Hurricane plods north through western Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas and Missouri.

It could be a very wet time, but is expected to pass the state late Friday with a pretty Saturday and Sunday.

In Rockcastle, a total of 3.78 inches of rain has fallen, as of Wednesday, in August.

Most fell on Aug. 15 with 2.20 inches.

High this month was 88 on Aug. 9. Low was 54 on Aug. 2 and 19.

Several "name" entertainers

Renfro comes alive

September through December will be a busy time at Renfro Valley.

Alison Krauss, the first Lady of bluegrass, headlines a starly cast at the Renfro Valley Bluegrass Festival, Sept. 4, 5, and 6. Pepsi Cola and Renfro Valley Entertainment Center, Inc., have joined to bring some of the hottest names in bluegrass music to the Valley.

Performers during the three-day outdoor festival include: Alison Krauss, Seldom Scene, Mac Wiseman, Osborne Brothers, Jim & Jesse with Mike Stevens, Lost & Found, Cumberland Grass, The Parker Brothers, The New Coon Creek Girls, Old Joe Clark & Terry and the Stevens Family.

Renfro Valley lives up to its reputation as Kentucky's Country Music Capital by presenting a full concert series featuring some of the hottest acts in Country Music today.

Highway 101, vocal group of the year nominees in 1991, kicks off the star-studded series, with two performances on Sunday, September 20.

Oct. 18, the Renfro Valley spotlights will shine on the legendary Conway Twitty. Twitty fans can see their favorite star in two special concerts.

Nov. 8, two of the country's biggest names share billing: Patsy Loveless and Marty Barbour. Fans can expect these two to keep the showman kicking for two exciting performances.

Renfro Valley's 1992 concert series closes with one of the country's most popular entertainers: Joe Diffie. Diffie will present two concerts on Nov. 22.

"This concert series offers something exciting for every single country music fan," promises Pete Stamps, Renfro Valley's Vice President of Entertainment. "I'd be hard pressed to come up with a better lineup," he added.

Each performer in this series will entertain in two concerts: at 2 p.m. and an evening concert at 6. Tickets for each concert are $12.50 and reservations are strongly recommended. Opening for Highway 101 is Carrie Stone. Twitty opens with Debbie Shipley, Steve Gully opens for Patty Loveless/Marty Barbour. Jennifer Wrinkle opens for Joe Diffie.

Country music fans wanting tickets to any or all of the concerts should phone the Renfro Valley box office at 606-256-2638 between the hours 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Payment must accompany reservations; MasterCard and Visa are accepted. For mail orders, a certified check or money orders must accompany reservation requests.

Bluegrass fans interested in attending the September 4 - 6 event may call the Special events department at Renfro Valley for reservations toll-free at 1-800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638. The entertainment begins Friday, September 4 at 3 p.m., Saturday, September 5 at noon and Sunday at noon. The festivities will close on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at 11:30 p.m.

Three-day tickets are $29; two-day tickets are $22; single day tickets are $12. Guests are invited to bring lawn chairs and reminded that alcoholic beverages are prohibited. The festival will be held in the Festival grounds within the Renfro Valley entertainment complex.

AT & T cuts call costs

Beginning Aug. 24, AT&T reduced prices for its Reach Out Kentucky 24-hour calling plan.

Kentucky residents who subscribe to the plan now will receive an hour of in-state, direct-dialed long-distance calls during the night/weekend calling hours for $9.90 per month, formerly $10.40 per month.

Also, AT&T is dropping the price of additional minutes from 16 cents to 15 cents per minute.

Night-weekend calling hours are all day Saturday, Sunday until 5 p.m. and Sunday through Friday from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. Subscribers also save 15 percent on evening calls, Sunday through Friday from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

For customers who make out-of-state, long-distance calls, AT&T offers a variety of Reach Out plans. For more information any of these plans consumers can call 1-800-222-0300.

Antique airplane brings visitors here

By: George Ferrell

Max Saylor, a native of Rockcastle county who lives in California, recently made the journey home with his son Justin in a most unusual way.

Saylor, 50, and Justin, age six, made the 2,500 mile trek by way of an antique airplane.

The plane, a 1946 Commonwealth Sky Ranger, is one that Saylor has restored and worked on as a hobby.

The Sky Ranger is a rare airplane, according to Saylor, who said there are only 30 left in the world.

"I've only seen three or four," he said. "It's just a plane that was built after the war with a tuber and fabric tailwheel, one propeller and it holds two people."

Saylor and his son live in San Luis Obispo where he has made his home since 1974.

He is visiting his mother, Lillie Saylor, while enjoying the local life of Rockcastle County.

"I'm an airplane mechanic and welder," he said. "I do both and I'm a steam fitter."

The last time he visited by plane came in 1981 when he had a much larger plane.

The Sky Ranger is smaller but still somewhat expensive to operate. It gets 15 to 16 miles per gallon and the fuel is over $2 per gallon.

Saylor bought the plane about 10 years ago and has completely restored it.

Now it sits fully operational and with a glossy coat of yellow paint.

"It came right across the Rockies in the high elevation," he said, explaining that it was a very scenic trip. Right now Saylor is watching the weather because he says he does not fly in bad weather and may have to wait until the fallout from Hurricane Andrew passes through.

He made the trip with another pilot who was taking his 1941 model plane all the way to New York State.

"We go without radio navigation — just a map and a compass," he said. "It's better than Daniel Boone had — he had a compass but not a very good map."

Saylor says he only flies in good weather and daylight and that it took two full days and two partial days of flying to get to Kentucky.

"I took my nephew up but the weather's been bad," Saylor said, explaining that he had hoped to give more plane rides.

"I wish it had quit raining a little

Chester, a man of truth and few words

Hearsay
by
Jon Norman Meadows
Wabd, USA

Not long ago, I renewed acquaintances with James and Thelma Mullins. He told me a delightful story about the late Chester Hellard. Chester, far more religious than he let on, was a man of truth and few words. When he did speak, you listened because he likely had something worth saying. He operated a mean backhoe, played a shrewd game of chess, made money on the stock market, and served on the Mt. Vernon City Council for a term or two. He was adept at "minding his own business," which accounted for a lot of his "quiescence." Several years ago, Chester developed a strong dislike for some speed bumps the city had placed on Williams Street, in front of his house and north around the school building. So, he drove out Richmond Street and stopped in at James Mullins service station. James, who also had to negotiate the bumps to get home, was Chester's good friend.

"James, I need your opinion."
"About what?"
"What do you think of those speed bumps over by the school?"
"Well, a few evenings before, James was rushing home and had forgotten about the bumps. He hit one hard. It tore a hole in his gas tank, spilling twenty-some gallons.

Naturally, James said, "I don't like them."

Chester didn't consult anyone else. Shortly afterward, the Mt. Vernon City Council ordered the removal of the speed bumps. Word has it that Chester brought up the issue and had a lot to do with the order.

He was still a man of truth when he told the other members of the council, "Everybody I've talked to about those speed bumps hates 'em."

Chester was my half-brother, the son of my mother, Lucinda Hellard Meadows, the only daughter of "Uncle Sidney" Holland ("Grampa to me), a one time town marshal, merchant, and carpenter, who was not averse to taking a Saturday night bath in a double tub on his front porch on Richmond Street -- with the porch light on! Speaking of Grampa, evokes some memories.

Back in my prankster days, I conjured up an Easter antic. I colored a dozen eggs -- not boiled -- and snuck most of them into the big baskets of eggs the Sunday School teachers in the Primary Department at First Baptist would hide at their egg hunt. (I, of course, was older and in the Junior Department, where it was common to loathe Primary underlings.)

Cursed! I was foiled. The teacher's somehow caught on and sorted my tricky eggs aside. They did not know "who dunnit," but with my record I was humped onto their register of likely malefactors.

I still had an egg or two, and gave one to Grampa, who was about eighty years old at the time. I slowly exited his living room, but I once outside, I ran to the window near his rocker to watch him crack that egg.

He moved it about in his hand for a moment and then set it down in his lap. I was baffled by what came next. Grampa took out his pocket-knife, set the point of the little blade on the end of the egg, and turned that egg left and right until the blade, like a drill, made a small hole in the shell. Then he put his lips to the egg and sucked it dry! The yoke was on me.

Sometimes, I spent the evening with Grampa. He had a bedtime ritual I'll never forget. It began with Lowell Thomas and the news on WHAS. Then he read the Scriptures. He had a plan whereby if he read a certain number of chapters in the Old and New Testaments each day, he would read the Bible through in three years.

Next came a song. He had a few Rockcastle County employers take note!

Rockcastle County employers who wish to take advantage of economic programs provided by the state and federal governments are being given short shrift by the state's employment office.

There is a program called Target Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC) that will allow employers to receive substantial tax credits for employing the unemployed. The TJTPA and On-The-Job training programs allow employers to train new employees at the government's expense.

Employers here seeking potential new employees are forced to contact the state employment offices in London or Corbin or Richmond, which don't have enough of a pool of Rockcastle County residents to provide adequate potential employees. Rockcastle County people who need jobs are forced to travel to one of those cities to file an application and many can't travel that far, because they have no jobs and not enough money to afford to travel.

With the industrialization of Rockcastle County there is a need for a state employment office, and a state unemployment office here. Companies such as Mt. Vernon Plastics and Rockcastle Manufacturing who need to test potential employees must send those employees all the way to Corbin for testing, a round trip of over 60 miles. Those same companies and others who wish to take advantage of TJTC, must send their employees on that same 60-plus mile drive and away from the job for two to three hours for certification for that program.

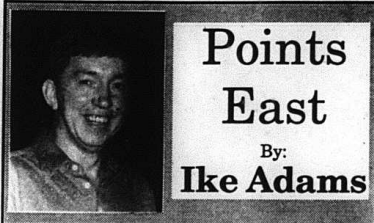

On-the-job training monies, which can help an employer to hire more people and create new jobs, are administered through the Corbin office, and those employees who must be certified for that program must be sent to Corbin also.

Workers here who find themselves unemployed must travel to Corbin to file for those benefits, a process that often takes several trips.

Because the employment service has not replaced the office it closed here several years ago, both employers and potential job holders have missed out on the services it can provide.

So, how the state will find it possible in the near future to open an employment service field office, and perhaps an unemployment insurance office here.

Such offices can do nothing but improve things here for both our businesses and our citizens.

Gone squirrel huntin'

Last Saturday afternoon Junior Helton and I planned to go squirrel hunting on his farm. I'm not going to get much more specific than that, in terms of telling you where Junior's farm is located, because the hunting is real good there and it will stay that way as long as it's kept in the family.

Let me simply say that Junior owns a hundred or so acres of woods in Garrard County. In those woods there are several big scaly bark hickory trees. And those hickories are hanging full of nuts bigger than Georgia peaches.

Of course 90 percent of every nut is hull because of all this wet weather. But we'll get to that in a minute.

In the meantime I should inform you that as far as I'm concerned, and the Heltons seem likewise convinced, I'm family. And that's the reason I can hunt there and you can't. I didn't marry into them or anything like that. But I did manage to get myself adopted several years back and it's the smartest thing I did after arriving in the flatlands. People keep asking me where my family lives and I tell them that most of them are up in the mountains except for Junior and Molly. And they live about four ridges over from my house.

Not that it's a real big deal because there are all kinds of places to go squirrel hunting in central Kentucky. But hunting on Junior's place is like playing golf on your own private course and having the pro go around with you from tee to tee.

The woods are mostly red, black and white oak with a few pines, maples and poplars scattered amongst them. And every here and there, (mostly there), is a big hickory or spignut tree. Find one of the latter and you'll discover that the squirrels found out about it before you did. There will be tree limbs full of choppers up nut hulls under every tree, and, if you're lucky, there will be a greytail or a fox squirrel on a high, high limb whittling away on a big ripe nut.

We're talking about supper here. We're talking about eating so good that it's against the law to serve it in a restaurant. Unfortunately, it's not so easy to come by.

On Saturday afternoon, Junior and I were on the phone several times before I managed to get over to his place. And when I got there, it was raining. Junior was chelling out seed beans and Molly was gathering tomatoes and it got so damp that all we could do was sit on the porch and watch the rain come on down. And that's not a bad thing to do. In fact it's about as pleasant a way to pass a Saturday afternoon as I can think of.

But along about 5:30 the rain stopped and Junior and I spent the next 30 minutes talking about how wet we'd get if we went in the woods. The air was as still as death and every leaf on every tree was laden with a

TO THE CITIZENS OF MT. VERNON

The Mayor and the City Council of Mt. Vernon would like to inform you that the City of Mt. Vernon does not take in enough money to pay its daily operating expenses. In fact, some of the monthly bills submitted to the council for payment, at the last two scheduled meetings, were not paid due to the lack of funds and, as of today, the bills have not been paid.

You probably would ask, "How did Mt. Vernon get in such a poor financial condition?" and the simple answer is:

- 1) The City of Mt. Vernon no longer receives Revenues Sharing Funds since the program was terminated and
- 2) Projected income Mt. Vernon had planned on has not been realized

Obviously, one of the potential solutions to solving the financial problem is to reduce operating expenses which has been done. For example, one city policeman recently took a leave of absence and the city decided not to hire a replacement since funds are not available to pay the officer's salary. In addition, the Police Department's coverage has been reduced in order to further cut operational costs to Mt. Vernon. The city council and the Mayor feel all logical cost saving steps have been taken and any further reductions would require major cut-back in the city's services to the citizens of Mt. Vernon.

Your elected officials are presently looking at methods to raise enough money to pay the city's operating expenses. This is the prudent thing to do and it is also a legal requirement for Mt. Vernon to operate within a balanced budget.

Some of the suggestions which have been made:

- 1) Tax on all insurance policies
- 2) City of Mt. Vernon Vehicle fee and
- 3) Occupational (payroll) tax

It is a state requirement that the city council set revenue, therefore, the city council has been studying these proposals to generate additional money for the city at the last two council meetings. Further review is planned for the next scheduled council meeting.

We have made this effort to acquaint you with the city's financial problem while at the same time to explain how it occurred as well as possible solutions. We trust you understand the city's financial problem and we invite you to attend the next meeting of the city council.

Hoping education reform will work

Commentary

By George Ferrell

The school year has recently begun for students across the state of Kentucky and it will prove to be a big test for education reform.

Students will be tested, and learning will perhaps be measured so that improvements can be made in the curriculum, much of which is also new.

I am hoping that the reform effort will receive a lot of praise once the numbers are in.

Students will have to learn more, educators educate more, and parents are going to have to become more responsible for their children.

In all it will take a great effort on the part of many individuals.

Kentucky is going in the right direction and the seeds of today's reform may well take us into the 21st century.

I have always had several ideas about education, in part because my father was an educator, but also from personal experiences.

One is that the constant refrain of lower test scores which could be heard for the last 20 or so years was somewhat unfair.

In the past only the best students made it past the 7th or 8th grade, and those who dropped out to work on the farm or support their families were often disadvantaged in their efforts at school and consequently would have scored low on the tests in many instances.

In the modern times much has been done to keep young people in school. That is very important to communities, but it doesn't do much for test scores. The reform will try to ease the school dropout rate and bring all young people into the system.

So at first test scores may be somewhat disappointing. Still, when you consider that some young people are staying in school that might otherwise have dropped out, the test scores should not be judged as the only gauge of educational progress.

Reform will be measured by the amount of progress made not over one or two years, but over three or four and five and ten years time.

The first crop of children totally immersed in education reform will not come for a dozen or so years.

Of course, a lot will be done to measure today's efforts and adjust them for tomorrow's students.

I am hoping that school reform will reach out to all students, not just high achievers, and that the system will be for all students across the board.

I have always felt that education should be for all people, not just a system for the elite, but a system where people can learn and better themselves for the betterment of society.

Education reform isn't just about test scores and measurements. It's about keeping kids in school, keeping them interested, and providing a balanced day for their varied interests.

It may not always mean higher test scores, but there are important benefits to the community when those other interests are served.

Dropouts often provide the basis for problems in the community.

They may find it difficult to find gainful employment, and in many instances, they find the allure of drugs and alcohol to gain control over their young lives.

Today's student is tomorrow's citizen and the lessons they learn at school are some of the most important lessons in life — getting along, giving it everything, working together, and finding out what ideals are important in life.

By next May and June a lot will be said about the reform effort and I hope much of it will be positive.

When that first set of test scores comes in it may or may not be disappointing, but I think it takes more than test scores to make a school.

I hope test scores will go up and start a long term trend. It can be accomplished, but there are other measures, such as the dropout rate, which need to be watched also.

Well, that's about all for this week. Watch out for that Hurricane, it's going to send us some rain.

cup full of water. "We'll get soaked," I told Junior, "but if one jumps a man would be able to hear him a mile away."

"We'll catch pneumonia if we go in them woods," Junior says to me because the air was also cooling down."

"I'm a going anyhow," I told him and off we went with no more than an hour and a half or two hours to hunt, round and into the woods. A big fox squirrel went thrashing through the timber just as we stepped out of the underbrush but he got into a hollow tree before Junior could get off a shot. I hunt with a .22 rifle and when one is running, I just let him go. Junior packs a 16 gauge shotgun.

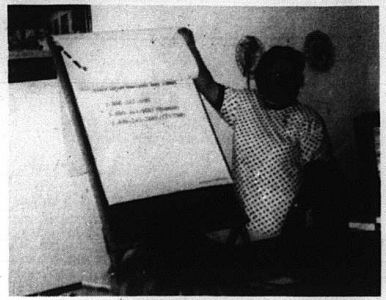

Junior and I split up and a few minutes later I came around the flat just above him. There was a big, big scaly bark just below me and nut hulls were pouring out of it like hail on an tin roof. To make a long story short, I snuck around that tree four times before I finally spotted a gray squirrel way up there and out on a limb. I got him and Junior got a big fox squirrel running through the timber and at least half a dozen others got out of the tree and made it to wherever they were going.

But on Saturday night at 10:30 I was eating well-cooked squirrel and mashed taters and cucumbers and maters and fresh McCastan beans that Molly gave me. And I promise you, that if I had a couple of baked sweet taters to go with that squirrel gravy, there ain't nothing in the world that could have made me any happier.

favorites, but the one he sang most often was "When I can read my little clear/To mansions in the sky/I'll bid farewell to every tear/And wipe my weeping eyes."

He used his cane to get up from his rocker and shuffled into the bedroom, where he stripped down to his long-johns. He often checked his 38 Smith and Wesson that was holstered on the head post rail of his bed. If trouble came in the night, he would be ready.

Finally, he reached under the mattress at the foot of the bed and retrieved a bottle of moonshine, unscrewed the cap, turned the bottle up, and took one hardy swig. Then to bed -- and to very snoring sleep.

My mother didn't like the whiskey part of Grampa's ritual, especially after she married my father, who spent every other weekend "in ritual." Not a few preachers back then declared that anyone who took a drink, even of beer, was bound for hell. Nonetheless, I have no doubt that Grampa did read his "title clear" one evening in May of '55. He was eighty-eight.

Back then, I thought those songs he sang were "old-timey" and terribly mournful. Nowadays, however, I read their lyrics and realize that they were an expression of Grampa's hope for a better life after death. And -- they verbalized his loneliness.

But -- one doesn't have to be old, or alone, to be lonely, you know.

Fairview News

By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello to all my good friends and neighbors.

We have a beautiful sunny day this Monday morning August 24 here in Rockcastle and temperature in the seventies. This is another day which the Lord hath made, so we should rejoice and be glad in it. Each day of our life is a great blessing. As we grow older time is more precious to us. But we can never thank God enough for the many blessings of life. God has been so good to all of us down through the years.

I do hope you are well and happy. But I realize we all have our problems, death has entered the houses of some, sickness is everywhere, other problems, heartaches and trying times are with many of us, but the most wonderful thing in the world is our Heavenly Father is looking down and is very concerned about us and loves us all. So just take your burdens to the Lord and leave them there.

We had a wonderful day at the Fairview Baptist Church Sunday August 23. Our Sunday School attendance was one hundred and seven (107) and nearly a houseful for worship service. It's good to be able to be in the House of the Lord.

Visiting with us on Sunday morning were Rev. and Mrs. Bill Hamilton of Berea and Jimmy Lambert of the Fairview vicinity. We were glad to see them and welcome them back anytime and any others who wish to worship with us.

A baptismal service was held at our church Sunday night, two were baptized. Also on Sunday afternoon the Conway Baptist Church used our baptistry. May God bless these precious ones, they have our love and prayers.

Our Sunday School average for July was one hundred and eleven (111).

I hope you haven't been too disappointed in me for not having my article in the past few weeks. My husband Hubert, submitted to major surgery Friday, Aug. 7 at the Patton A. Clay Hospital in Richmond. So before, during and after surgery I've been kept busy. He came home Aug. 14th and is doing well. We give God the praise and the thanks for it all and we want to publicly thank all our family, our friends and neighbors for their prayers for him, their visits, their cards, their love and concern and the beautiful flowers. To each of you we would love to say thank you, God bless you and we love you.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cope and son Rocky of Eubank visited his mother Mrs. Mary Cope on Sunday. Visiting with us on Sunday afternoon were Hubert's step-mother Mrs. Annie Chasteen and son Robert both of Madison County.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander visited Mrs. Trueta Alexander of London this past Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Gabbard and daughter Gail Lee were in Somerset recently shopping.

I recently enjoyed a very interesting chat on the phone to Irene Barnett of Mt. Vernon - (One of my relatives). She told me how thankful she was of her good health and how much God had blessed her. And she mentioned how good people had been to her this summer by giving her produce from their gardens. I'm so thankful for folks who enjoy life and good friends and give praise to God for all of it, she is very lonely since her husband passed away a few years ago, but she has many friends who love her as we do.

Please remember church and Sunday school. All children need to learn about Jesus. God bless you all.

Around Brodhead

By Mary McWhorter

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fuzz Howard and their two daughters of Cincinnati, Ohio, visited Dora Cox and Mae Jones Tuesday evening. They were vacationing in this vicinity.

I had a very enjoyable visit with Maggie and Audrey Fletcher last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Maggie Derron wishes to thank all of those who helped celebrate her ninety-second birthday on August twenty-second. Especially Mrs. Derron wishes to thank Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Maggie Fletcher and Audrey Fletcher, and Mrs. Margie Wilcop for the beautiful flowers also thanks to Ruby McKinney and Nina Cash for the delicious fruit basket. Last but not least, many thanks to Cora Hedge for the chocolate pie and to Ellen Brown (sister) for the butterscotch pie and to Kathleen (Teet) Stevens for the delicious Angel Food cake. Thanks for the many phone calls, cards and visits. Mrs. Derron says thank you and all may God bless you.

Mrs. Lucille Alexander of Texas is visiting her mother and brother Wade and Maggie.

Mrs. Minnie Winkler of Ohio is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Ellen Brown and Mrs. Maggie Derron.

Mrs. Lucille Alexander of Texas visited Maggie and Audrey Fletcher Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fannie B. Albright was Sunday dinner guest of Steve, Delores and family helping celebrate her granddaughter Rebecca's birthday.

Tina Williams was Saturday visitor of Mae Doan also Gertrude Renner and daughter Louise Sargent and her grandson were recent visitors of Mae Doan.

Miss Mickie Lea Pruitt of Ashland was weekend guest of her mother Pat and her brother Freddie Jr. also her friend Tomi Manning and her son Jacob and Matthew of Richmond. All visited with me.

Mickie and I visited Junior Craig and he gave her lots of tomatoes, cabbage, etc. Guess she will eat 'em this week.

Those present at Mr. and Mrs. Carse Blanton's home to celebrate Mr. Blanton's 82nd birthday were:

year old league and will have a different coach.

I have always admired Calvin's dedication to the program, particularly in the last couple of years when he didn't even have a child on the team.

I guess it amounts to have a deep love for the game or mainly being there because you have a child playing and feel you have to be....

Part II Overview of the Old Testament

Studies in an "Overview of The Old Testament, Part II" will be offered in eight weekly classes beginning September 3, by the Rockcastle Association of Baptists in the Rockcastle Baptist Center for Biblical Studies at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon.

Rev. Jack Bruce, Director for the Center, announced today that Rev. Wendell Romans, pastor at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon, will again be the teacher of this course. Classes will be held on Thursday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.
Interested persons may enroll at your local Baptist Church or by calling the Baptist Associational office at 256-4571 Monday through Friday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Folk who are not members of Southern Baptist Churches may also enroll by calling 256-4571. This course is designed for all who desire a greater knowledge of the Bible. It is a good "refresher course" for those who already have a broad knowledge of scripture, and can help any Christian more effectively serve the Lord as they grow in grace and knowledge.

The Rockcastle Baptist Center for Biblical studies is one of more than 300 Extension Centers in operation across the country in cooperation with the Southern Baptist Convention's External Education Division, and is sponsored by the Rockcastle Association of Missionary Baptist Churches.

The Center is a member of the National University Continuing Education Association and an accredited member of the National Home Study Council.

A guiding principle of the Center is II Timothy 2:15 - "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

ramblings

by: perlina m. anderkin
Jon Norman Meadows' column this week talked about his kinsman Chester Hellard, well-known Mt. Vernon resident and long-time city council member.

Mr. Hellard was a council member when we moved here in 1966 and I immediately felt a kinship with him in that he reminded me of my father, a quiet gentle man with an independent streak a mile wide. He was also one of the most fair-minded men I have ever encountered and a great believer in doing for ourselves as much as we can without asking for government help.

Mr. Meadows' column made me think of a story I heard many years ago in connection with Chester. It seems a friend needed a loan from the local bank and was told that he would get it if he could get a co-signer. The man went to Chester and asked him to co-sign his note. Chester, reportedly, thought for a brief moment and informed the man to tell the bank that if they would co-sign the note he would loan the man the money.

When we moved where we live now, one of the reasons I was pleased was because I would be a close neighbor to Mr. Hellard and might possibly get to know him better. However, he had already become sick with the illness that would take his life a few years later (not without a mighty fight on Chester's part I understand) and I was unwilling to push my company on him when I knew he was so ill. Chester's legacy, I think, can be summed up in a cliché but it is appropriate, he was "one of a kind."

Much to my chagrin, a mix-up in our darkroom chemicals caused me to lose all the pictures I took at Sunday's Little League picnic.

One of the most important ones was of Jim Bussell, president and Benny Craig, vice president. This was because it was Mr. Craig's last official function since he has decided to retire from active participation in the organization.

I can't believe that he will not be around when needed because he has always shown such an interest in the organization and done an excellent job so I have to believe that if his expertise is needed he will oblige.

Anyway, a tip of our hat to Mr. Craig and to all the hard-working members of the Little League board and those who spend uncounted hours just helping out wherever needed. Without their unselfish involvement this program would not be nearly as successful as it is and might not even exist.

Another reason that I hated to lose the roll of film to the darkroom was that I had a picture of Travis and his last two coaches. One of them, Calvin Rader, had coached him since he was four-years-old and, next summer, Travis will be moving up to the 13-15

Parents hold inaugural PTA meeting at RCHS

The inaugural meeting of the Rockcastle County High School Parents Organization was held 7 p.m. August 24, at the R.C.H.S. Library. Seventeen parents attended the meeting in which they voiced their concern for greater parental involvement in the Rockcastle District.

Jill Stevens reported that she and Ronnie Sears are the parent representatives who will be serving on the Site-based Decision Making Council which runs the affairs of the school.

It was decided by those present that the meetings of the organization would be held the Tuesday before the 1st Monday of each month so that parents' concerns could be taken to the Council meeting for that month. The next meeting has been set for September 22 at 7 p.m. in the R.C.H.S. Library. The meeting will focus on the new structure proposed as the future home to the Rockcastle County High School. Also discussed was a proposal to prepare a school calendar for mailing to district homes each semester.

The organization urges parents of high school students to consider being a part of the effort to improve our county's school by being present at the next meeting on September 22.

Tiger Pause

The opening day of school ran smoothly, thanks to the cooperation and patience of students, parents, and staff.

A correction is needed concerning last week's Tiger Pause. Our meal prices have increased 5 cents on full priced breakfast and lunch. A 20 day meal ticket will now cost $17. Reduced meal prices remained the same. Congratulations to Mrs. Jeannine Parsons upon her new position. Mrs. Parsons has taken the position of county school health nurse, a position vacated by the retirement of Mrs. Doris Towery.

Rockcastle County Schools have always received exemplary remarks concerning our health services, and this is greatly due to the dedicated efforts of Mrs. Towery. Good luck to you, Mrs. Towery, and may your retirement be filled with the sparkling and golden days you so richly deserve. Thanks.

We would like to thank Allen Pensol, basic arts coordinator, for the many extra hours he has spent at BES. The paintings have made our classrooms more appealing for all to enjoy.

Fifth graders, John Dyehouse and Angela Owens, represented our school, Tuesday, August 25, at the Forward In The Fifth event in London. Angela and John will be members of the graduating class of the year 2000.

Six of our teachers will attend EKU's Mathematical Alliance meeting regarding mathematical portfolios, Tuesday evening, Sept. 1 in London. Those attending are Nancy Sexton, Kathy Reynolds, Katreka Cash, Vicki Scott, Regina Burton and Caroline Graves.

Our SBDM Council will meet Tuesday evening Sept. 1 at 7 p.m.

Your child received a copy of BES student handbook. Please ask your child about this informative booklet and make an effort to read and discuss its contents with them.

We would like to extend sincere best wishes to a dear friend and colleague, Mrs. Brenda Bradley, who has been unable to start school due to illness. We are really missing you, Brenda!

Protective Parenting

By: Ginny Gilpatrick

If you are like me, the parade of guests on the Oprah Winfrey Show often leaves you with your mouth hanging open in amazement. Often her guests are sets of grown children and their parents in which one generation disapproves of something the other is doing. Like last week it was moms who were dating or married to much younger men, about the age of their own children. Sometimes family members come on and air their most intimate squabbles... parents who abandoned their children years earlier, women who admit they marry repeatedly for money, and on down the line to the sordid. Why they are willing to appear on network TV defies imagination!

While the lifestyles exhibited are as varied as the stars in the sky, one thing I've noticed that all of the related guests have in common: sooner or later they are all screaming at each other on the show. Now this sort of behavior may send Oprah's ratings to the moon, but if you stand back and try to imagine the kind of atmosphere that must exist in their homes, it is no wonder they are having the kind of bizarre difficulties that have brought them here to face with Oprah's daily "expert."

Screaming does not solve problems, it creates them. To use a voice that was God-given for emergencies on a day to day basis is a sign that one is not in control of his behavior and emotions. It is impossible to have a relationship with someone who is out of control, so communication breaks down totally between the screamer and the "screamee."

Most Democrats I know, as well as Republicans, have a great deal of respect for Barbara Bush. She is a true lady and a gifted communicator. In her speech last week at the convention she talked about how she could not recall a time when her husband had yelled at their children. She said they behaved because they respected him. Respect is earned by people who have good control, not by people who intimidate. Sometimes we misuse the word "respect," as in "... respect the back of my hand," when we mean, "obey." Respect is a deep, long-term response based on love; obedience is a response to challenge based on fear.

Barbara Bush went on to suggest that family members put their arms around each other more. It is difficult to imagine screaming at your child while you are embracing him. The loud voice comes in when you try to control your child from a distance (it also creates an emotional distance). But most times it would involve very little effort to walk over and scoop up your toddler, or walk over and put your arm around your teenager while you deliver your message in soft tones. It is no accident that the families on the Oprah show scream at one another. Their sick and pathetic lifestyles stem from the same emotional immaturity as their screaming. Their behavior is not normal and that is precisely why they are on display on our screens. (Oprah also has many fine guests with beautiful or tragic stories to tell; these are not the screamers.)

THE BISHOPS

Jubilee Echoes' anniversary sing features The Bishops

Southern Gospel music at its best will return to the Rockcastle County High School Thursday, Sept. 3rd at 7:30 p.m. as the Jubilee Echoes host their Anniversary Sing, with this year's special guest The Bishops.

Known for their tremendous family harmony, The Bishops are one of gospel music's finest groups. Consistently at the top of gospel charts, with such songs as "Blind Bartimeus," "God's Amazing Grace," "Lazarus Come Forth," "I Need You More Today," and their latest number one, which is nominated for 1992's song of the year, "He's In The Mist," The Bishops are a group you do not want to miss. Not only are the Bishops nominated for song of the year, but also artist of the year, favorite young artist, and each member is nominated in individual categories.

The Bishops, Kenneth, Mark, and Kenny, have come a long way since beginning their careers back in 1984. The simple lifestyle of East-Central Kentucky and the strong spiritual commitment they were all raised in has helped to keep the easy going values strong in their personal lives with strong family values and a dedication to the call of spreading God's Good News of Jesus Christ to all that hear.

Tickets are $6 advance and $7 at the door, and are available at the following merchants: Saylor Pharmacy in Mt. Vernon, Heavenly Treasures in Renfro Valley and Berea, Brookhaven Christian Books in London, Richmond Supply in Richmond, Dayville Bookstore and Heritage Books in Somerset. For more information call 256-2282.

"VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS"

In my last article, I don't recall making any direct reference to anyone when describing people who try to tear down, teach against and bring to an end the work that was done at Galvary, the provision that God has made for the Church and the world through the sufferings of Christ, but by his own admission, the author of "What Saith the Scriptures," said he fit the description.

I would like to live peacefully with all men, if possible, but sometimes it's not possible. There are some things we dare not let go unchallenged.

If we contest for the faith that was first delivered unto the saints, we must trace the church back to its roots. Jesus said in John 7:38, "He that believeth on me, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water." Thus spake he of the Holy Ghost that was not yet given. We must follow this river upstream to its source, to its New Testament beginning, to see what was first delivered unto the saints. It all began in the book of Acts, namely the 2nd ch. verses 2-4. It was when the water gushed out of the rock. It is being flowing ever since. Acts 2:2-4 "And there came a sound from heaven like a mighty rushing wind; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance." Apostle Peter endeavoring to explain this supernatural manifestation said that, "Jesus... having received the promise of the Holy Ghost, hath shed forth this which you now see and hear. Not only did they begin speaking with tongues of men and angels; they also saw them being energized and illuminated with the Spirit and power of God. Peter went on to say Acts 2:39, "this promise is unto you and your children and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call." It's the life of the Church. All the ministry, all the anointing and every gift and spiritual manifestation and union of the Church is in the operation of that Spirit. Except the Spirit of God pull back the veil and reveal the scriptures; it is a book of mysteries to the natural man.

A minister I know gave a rather blunt answer to a man who had just become a Christian. The man was constantly being approached by this religious sect trying to convince him that he had got involved with the wrong people. The man said to the minister, "I don't know what to do. I just can't handle those people. They know so much about the Bible, and quote so much scripture and know so much about the scripture. The minister said to him, "Brother, they don't know anything about the scripture; but the problem is, if you don't know they don't know anything; then you don't know anything!" I think that's a pretty good analysis of the condition of a lot of people. They're just not sure about who knows what. Paul said in 1st Cor. 2:4-5, "and my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power. How sad that many sincere, dedicated and faithful people go to church week after week, year after year or maybe their entire lifetime and never see or hear one supernatural manifestation or demonstration of the Spirit and power of God.

The Pharisees and religious leaders who stand in high places spewing out their poison will be held accountable for the religious garbage they have led to the innocent folk.

School Has Started. Watch Out For Our Children.

BE ALERT TO VISUAL CUES:

Watch for school zone signs, cross walks, school crossing guards, buses, and kids walking along the roadway. Around parked cars, watch for shadows and motion-signs that a child may be present.

SLOW

SLOW DOWN: At only 20 mph, a car travels 41 feet between the time you see a child and actually stop. If you're sleepy or distracted, reaction time and stopping distances increase. Worn tires and wet pavement have a similar effect.

SLOW

ALLOW YOURSELF TIME TO REACT: On two-lane streets, move as close to the center line as possible, allowing room for bicyclists and pedestrians. As mornings become darker this fall, drive with your headlights on so that you can see and also be seen.

SLOW

USE YOUR HORN JUDICIOUSLY: A light touch is all that's really necessary, whereas a blast might scare a child.

SLOW

USE CAUTION AROUND BUSES: Motorists are required to stop for loading/unloading buses and remain stopped as long as the bus has its red lights flashing and stop sign extended. However, drivers on multi-lane highways (more than 4 lanes) need not stop for loading/unloading school buses traveling in the OPPOSITE direction. Keep in mind that buses require extra room for turning at intersections.

SLOW

BE PATIENT, PARTICULARLY ON THE WAY HOME: Risk of accidents is FOUR times greater in the afternoon - due to human psychology. Drivers are less alert and are irritable after a long day at the office. Kids, however, are excited to be out of school. As frustrating as it may be, keep your temper. Being two minutes late for dinner won't kill you or anyone else. Rushing just might.

Final deadline for history book is four days away

We have four more days to "Get Our Stories In." It still is not too late, but next week will be.

Rockcastle Countians have responded in great numbers and we believe they will be well rewarded for their efforts. We are going to have a great book, one we can be proud of. And it is all due to the wonderful people of Rockcastle, those who now call it home, and those living far away who only know of us because their ancestors once called it home.

We have approximately 50 stories to print and numerous family pictures.

The history book committee wishes to express our appreciation for the many, many beautiful people who have contributed in countless ways to make Rockcastle County's book a reality. Without your assistance and encouragement, it could never have been.

Many thanks go to Ms. Perlina Anderkin and the staff at the Mt. Vernon Signal. Few weeks have passed since December 1991, that the Signal has not carried news and announcements regarding our book. Through their kind offices, we have been able to reach people and make them aware as we could never have done otherwise. Thank you, Ms. Perlina, and thank you, Mt. Vernon Signal staff.

Thank you, Rockcastle County, for being so rich in history, that writing of you has been such a pleasure.

Thank you, Rockcastle Countians, near and far, for taking the time and spending the effort to provide the stories that will make "our book" something we will all want to own. One last reminder, and it will be the last one, if you have not yet written your story, please do so within the next four days. We would love to include you in "our story of our people."

Friendship is key to new home

Open House will be held Saturday, August 29, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the newly renovated home at Williams and Reno Streets. The home carries more than 150 years of history and charm and now has space available to rent to mature women who would enjoy Christian companionship along with their privacy and independence.

The home has been adequately furnished with antiques and new upholstered pieces. It is divided into a separate apartment which is currently occupied and three suites, two of which are still available. The low monthly rent includes utilities and modern laundry and kitchen facilities. There are three baths, three parlors, and three bedrooms with ample space for personal belongings and homey touches. No smoking is allowed in the house for the safety and comfort of the residents.

The owners, Allen and Ginny Gilpatrick, designed the residence to provide a gracious living alternative for self-sufficient, and friendly older people who may want to move to where they have easier access to stores and other town facilities, with their hope that an atmosphere of Christian caring for one another will enliven this beautiful house. "The Notables" will entertain at MVHS reunion

The Mt. Vernon High School Association, classes 1914-1959 in conjunction will hold its Annual Homecoming Dinner meeting at the Rockcastle County High School Building, Saturday, September 12, 1992. Registration from 4-6:30 p.m. Advanced registration and payment will greatly assist in planning. If you do not have a registration form, mail $10 per person to Mrs. Jean Brown Towery, Route 3 Box 277, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456. Please give your class year.

As an added feature this year, following the program, "The Notables," a twenty piece orchestra from Lexington will entertain from 9-11 p.m. They play some current hits but specialize in music by Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman, Woody Herman, Count Basie, etc. Come on out and enjoy the Big Band Sound of the '40s.

Juanita Davis, Republican Party County Chairman, presented Congressman Hal Rogers with a $1,000 campaign contribution at a breakfast held Monday at Kastle Inn Restaurant. County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins, forefront, and about 50 others attended the event.

Business students team to help Livingston development agency

Imagine you're a small business owner.

You work from sunup to at least sundown, yet never seem to get ahead. You're so busy with just the daily routine, solving problems every hour, that you simply don't have the time to plan beyond the next week, much less years ahead.

Then someone walks in the front door and lays before you a six-inch-high stack of papers chock full of ideas to help your operation prosper. Not just philosophy out of a textbook, but specific, well-researched tips on marketing, operations, human resources and finances geared to your particular business.

That's what happened recently to Livingston Economic Alternatives in Progress Inc. (LEAP), a non-profit community development agency in the small Rockcastle County community. Playing Santa Claus in mid-summer were Dr. Stephen Brown, a business administration professor at Eastern Kentucky University, and his Business Policy class.

The 16 students in the senior-level class spent a total of about 1,500 hours on the project, gathering information from a variety of resources. The report offered ideas for new products, suggestions on possible new markets, advertising strategies, advice on networking, short-term and long-term plans, continuous quality improvement, creative financing and more.

Sounds complicated but it all boils down, Brown said, to a simple theme: work smarter, not harder.

"We tried to keep it very straightforward and simple," he said. "Although the volume of the report is intimidating, we tried to present it in a way that's logical and easy to comprehend. It's like eating an elephant -- you take one bite at a time."

The project received $2,500 from the Small Business Administration because it focused on some of SBA's goals: rural development, female entrepreneurship, appropriate technology transfer and exporting. It was also a "demonstration project" for the National Small Business Institute.

"This is a community development project," Brown emphasized. "We're about half the employable people in Livingston. I think we can use this as a model for other regions in the county."

Although admittedly a little overwhelmed by the sheer volume of materials, LEAP's executive director, Ina Taylor, said she was impressed by the number of helpful suggestions.

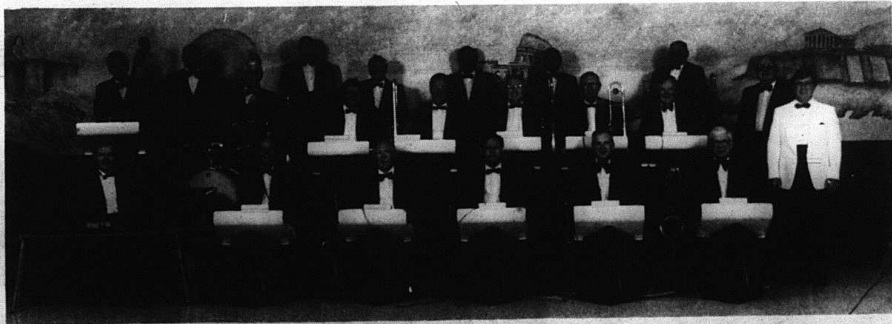

15-county area gets improvement funds

Cumberland Valley Area Development District Board of Directors Chairman Troy Welch is shown receiving an Area Development Funds check in the amount of $565,720. The Area Development Fund money is the result of an appropriation funded by the Kentucky General Assembly for use by the fifteen (15) Area Development Districts to fund economic development/capital improvement projects throughout the ADD Districts. The CVADD utilizes a majority of its funding to assist volunteer fire departments, ambulance services and rescue squads with equipment and vehicle purchases, as well as other projects. Support by the members of the General Assembly throughout the years has made these projects possible. The CVADD serves Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle and Whitley Counties.

Members of the Kentucky General Assembly from the Cumberland Valley area, taking part in the check presentation ceremony were, from left: Rep. Clarence Noland, Jr., representing part of Jackson County; Rep. Jo Elizabeth Bryant, representing all of Whitley County; Rep. Lonnie Napier, representing part of Jackson County; Mayor Troy Welch, CVADD board chairman and Senator Gene Huff, representing Laurel, Knox and part of Clay County.

"The Notables" will be performing at this year's MVHS Reunion, set for Sept. 12. The 20-piece orchestra from Lexington will entertain from 9 to 11 p.m. RCHS band director Robert Pybas is a member of the group.

CF Bike-A-Thon set for Sept. 12 at Brodhead

A bike-a-thon for Cystic Fibrosis will be held Saturday, Sept. 12, at Brodhead School from 12:30 to 4 p.m. In case of rain the event will be Sept. 19.

Cystic Fibrosis (CF) is a chronic, degenerative disease that primarily attacks the lungs and digestive system.

Cystic Fibrosis research has progressed at such a remarkable rate that we are on the threshold of opening up the future for those who have CF now. Tremendous advances in diagnosis and treatment have significantly improved the outlook for people with CF.

In 1955 when the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation (CFF) was established, few children with CF lived to attend elementary school. Today more than half are living into their early twenties, through the foundation's efforts. After decades of research, scientists are making dramatic strides in their understanding of CF and that puts the CFF in the home stretch of this race to conquer the disease.

Still we need to quicken the pace if we are to save the thousands of children and young adults who have CF now. By participating in this bike-a-thon you are helping just that, because the funds collected through this event will fund research that hopefully will soon bring a future for CF victims. Come, join the fun, and help sick children. You can also win something for yourself.

Those collecting $10 get an ice cream cone from Dori Delice. The six collecting the most money will receive one of the following prizes: Volley ball set, Tiger blanket/throw, Scattergories game, Denim tote, sleeping bag, or a football. All are on display in the window at Fletcher's Grocery. The one collecting the most money may choose, then second, on through sixth.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation are giving a CFF T-shirt for collecting $35. Tote bag and T-shirt for collecting $65. AM/FM clock radio or CFF sweatshirt and T-shirt for collecting $100. AM/FM personal headset radio or 2-way walkie-talkie and T-shirt for collecting $150. And many more prize choices listed on the back of each sponsor sheet.

Get sponsor sheets from Brodhead School or Citizens Bank. Have checks made out to Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

No age limit on riders, if under 18 years old, a parent or guardian must sign sponsor sheet before you can ride.

Your help is needed. This is one battle we must win. The elements to end this disease are in place. However continued support of these lifesaving efforts is crucial. With your help we can help those who have CF today. Together we can make Cystic Fibrosis history. We've come too far and seen too many breakthroughs to turn back now. We must keep the wheels of progress in motion.

Burley co-op gives grant to UK

By: Randy Greene
For the Burley tobacco growers Co-operative Association

During the next two years, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture will receive $16,000 in grants from the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, Inc., officials announced today.

"These research projects will aid the small grower as well as the large grower," said Danny McKinney, the Co-op's chief executive officer, and they will help the burley tobacco leadership to make better decisions on what changes may be needed from time to time in the program.

"The board of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative, by making these decisions, not only shows its support of these two projects but also support for two capable and dedicated individuals from the university's College of Agriculture," McK-

"Our problem with the specialty food operation is the marketing part," said Taylor. "That's why we went to eastern. We think, as we increase our product line, we can attract more customers." The agency, spawned by a community protest against a landfill in 1983, is a "grass-roots approach to provide a better quality of life," Brown said. "It just doesn't get done unless you do it yourself," said Taylor, "and it's sure not easy. But we've accomplished a lot, especially in the last two years." Brown also stressed the "work smarter" theme to the class members, who were divided up into five committees: marketing, operations, "human resources, finance and executive. The students learned, sometimes the hard way, how crucial teamwork between the committees was. They also got a first-hand look at problems encountered in small businesses and how to overcome them. "The project showed them how all the elements fit together and how organizations have to pull together as a group," Brown said. Eastern students also get hands-on experience helping small businesses prosper through the University's Small Business Institute, which matches senior level students with firms needing assistance. Much like the LEAP project, students spend many hours in consultation and research before submitting a final report.

The SHI is a cooperative program between 530 four-year universities and the Small Business Administration. The program at EKU is one of the largest in the country and serves as a model for other universities throughout the nation.

(LEAP), and non-profit community development agency in the small Rockcastle County community. At left is Ina Taylor, LEAP's executive director.

'Letter To The People'

I am a Western Rockcastle water customer. I do not get enough water to wash clothes, dishes, take a bath, or flush my commode, yet I pay my water bill every month. If I didn't, I would be disconnected. I have called and discussed this with Western Rockcastle Water, each time they tell me a different story, like, we had a water line break or the tank has no water. If the electric company decided to do this, I would be without electric or the same with the phone. Water is a utility that we pay for that we are not receiving. If you have this same problem, please speak up to the office in Frankfort, for utility fraud. The phone number is 1-502-564-3940.

Please let's not write more poems, let's ban together -- call today and help each other to have what we have paid our hard earned dollars for. Thank you, Dissatisfied customer of the West-Corn Rockcastle Water Company. Judy Wilson

Dear Editor, The Rockcastle Jaycees would like to thank the following people who helped with our dunking booth at the Broadhead Fair: Brodhead Fire Dept., Frank Martin, Dale Winstead, Lloyed Cain, Henry Hines, William Taylor, John Hale, Dr. John Parsons, Butch Duerson, Howard "The Hammer" Saylor, David Preston, Charles Napier and WKXO, RCHS cheerleaders, Bobby Cummins, Adam Coleman, Rob Carr, Chris Newland, Paul Abney and the Jaycee Members involved. Watch for upcoming Jaycees events! Thanks again, The Rockcastle Jaycees

Dear Editor, I was dismayed to read your editorial in last week's paper in regards to the "Baner." Knowing the fine, Christian Burdette family as I do, I am sure that Larry and Gail had statistics to back up their statements concerning their readership population. While you hoped it didn't sound like sour grapes on your part- quite the contrary, it did sound like sour grapes to me. I enjoy picking up the Baner while I am out shopping. I do read every issue. Maybe you should consider staying away from some of the meat counters - you sound like you are already "Tull of boglona" to me. Sincerely, Jo Roberts Mt. Vernon

Good evening Editor, Well, it is me, David, again. Well God Lord's willing, one week from tomorrow night, well anyway next Saturday, all the coaches, football players and lovely cheerleaders will be taking the bus for the first of six away games and oh yes, don't forget Robert (Bob) Pybas and the band, ready or not Beffy, here comes the mighty, mighty Rockets, last year's District Champions. Although Rockets don't have Scott Parkey #14, last year's quarterback or Johnnas Saylor, old John Dog, #48, halfback or Wildman Mike Durham, #79 or Stacy Nicely, (Cont. on pg. B-4)
