Final Notification of FmHA's Findings of No Practicable Alternative to a Floodplain Impact and No Significant Environmental Impact

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) has received an application for financial assistance from the Rockcastle County Water Association, Inc., SAIF KY 910808-0916. The specific elements of this proposed action is the construction of 18.82 miles of 3.4, and 6-inch waterlines to serve the Climax, Three Links, Orlando, and Brush Creek areas of Rockcastle County.

FmHA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of this proposed action and determined that the location of the waterline would impact the 100-year floodplain. It has been determined that there is no practicable alternative to avoid this impact. The basis of this determination is as follows:

- The floodplain will be impacted by the location of the waterline in some areas.
- The waterline must be located in the floodplain in order to serve the proposed customers.
- All practicable mitigation measures have been agreed to by the applicant.
- The proposed action conforms to applicable state and local floodplain protection standards.
- The Appalachian Regional Commission is also participating in this project.

FmHA has also determined that the proposed action will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment and will not prepare an environmental impact statement. Any written comments regarding these determinations should be provided within 15 days of this publication to Ms. Mary Ann Barron, State Director, Farmers Home Administration, 771 Corporate Drive, Suite 200, Lexington, Kentucky 40503-5477. FmHA will make no further decisions regarding this proposed action during environmental assessment up to which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be directed to the FmHA District Office, 207 London Shopping Center, London, KY 40741.

Federal law prohibits discrimination on the grounds of race color, national origin, religion, age, handicap, and sex in this program.

1992 Kentucky State Fair breaks all-time attendance record

The 1992 Kentucky State Fair set a new attendance record of 673,540 smashing the old record of 666,210 set in 1977.

The Kentucky State Fair was August 20 - 30 at Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville.

Officials cited many factors which contributed to the large attendance numbers including sold out concerts by Reba McEntire and Vince Gill opening night as well as the Garth Brooks concert on the closing night. Other State Fair concerts were close to capacity.

Low gate admission prices that remained unchanged from 1991 along with the many events that are included are also believed to be factors. One of these events was the Kentucky Bicentennial Exhibition which was the largest exhibit celebrating Kentucky's 200 years of statehood and could only be seen at the State Fair.

but the blood conflict between the North and South shattered Hook's dreams for himself and his loved ones. He fought for the Confederacy at Pea Ridge and Corinth, where he was wounded and captured, then sent to prison in the hellhole they called Rock Island. The only way out for the young Reb was to don a blue uniform and serve on the western frontier as a "Galvanized Yankee."

Cry of the Hawk is the new masterpiece by the author whose name has become synonymous with wilderness adventure. The novel captures the complex, bloody tapestry of the American frontier.

2. Vanish With Roses by Barbara Michaels. . . New York Times best-selling author Barbara Michaels returns with her unique blend of mystery, romance, and the uncanny.

Who knows what long-forgotten secrets lie hidden in the eighteenth-century mansion which is being restored by a pair of wealthy eccentrics? Not Diana Reed, who arrives at the house with a false name and a false identity and who lives in constant fear of betraying herself. For Diana, posing as a landscape architect trained in the esoteric specialty of "old roses," is determined to uncover a darker and more personal secret One that may have begun and may well end in murder.

3. Fania C by Sandra Brown. . . Elizabeth Burke's days are filled with the business of running an elegant boutique and caring for her two small children. But her nights are long and empty since the death of her husband two years before, and she spends them dreaming of the love and romance that might have been. Then Thad Randolph steps into her life - a man right out of her most intimate fantasies.

Elizabeth doesn't believe in fairy tales, and she knows all too well that happy endings only happen in books. Now she wishes she could convince herself that friendship is all she wants from Thad. But the day will come when she'll finally have to make a choice - to remain true to her memories or to let go of the past and risk loving once more.

Livingston homecoming successful

By: Ray McClure

Under a drizzly sky, Livingston kicked-off the annual Homecoming Parade Saturday morning.

Before a large crowd, that lined Main Street, the parade was not as long as years before probably because of the threatening rain.

Several gathered under a tent next door to the Livingston Fire Department to announce awards for the homecoming.

Miss Livingston was chosen. She was Nancy Durbin, 16, daughter of John and Loretta Morris, and a junior at Rockcastle County High School.

The runner-up was Sue Lamb, 14, daughter of Frankie and Sue Lamb. She is in the ninth grade at Rockcastle County High School.

Citizens of the Year were Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Poynter who operated a grocery in Livingston for 33 years.

Masters of Ceremony, Sam Stallsworth, called them "very deserving" and "well known" throughout the county.

"They'd offer advice to some but no one listened," Stallsworth said.

The Poynters were married in 1941. To this union was born a daughter and son, Carolyn Jackson and Jerry Poynter. They're members of Livingston Baptist Church.

The business leadership awards went to Jackie Burdine, operator of White Star and Oletha Bryant an owner of a flower shop.

Barbara Burdine accepted the David M. Smith award along with a poem by Preston Parent.

Leadership award went to David Mason, assistant fire chief.

A special appreciation award went to Lois Mullins for cleaning up Ward Cemetery.

Hanna Sawyer, daughter of Amos and Tabitha Sawyer, was given the pretty baby award. Cody Gilbert, son of Mitchell and Melissa Gilbert won the baby boy award.

Float winners were, first, Livingston Lions Club; second, Sand Hill Baptist Church and third, Livingston Baptist Church.

Livingston alumni basketball old timers game went to the yellow team 71 to 68 over the blue team in two overtimes.

Mayor Faye Baker rode in the parade in a "stretch" limousine with her head sticking out of a sunroof.

In the parade, it seemed every kid in Livingston had a moped, or some other two-wheel drive, and there were about 25 horses and rides in evidence.

Sam Blackburn, who is a student at Livingston Elementary, was the ugly man award. There was no tiny tractor pull since there were no contestants.

Wrecks

George Ray Gabhard of Rt. 1, Brodhead, was traveling on U.S. 150 when he ran off the road, hit a culvert and heavily damaged his truck on Sept. 2.

He was treated for a head injury at Rockcastle Hospital.

Dessia Bullock, of Rentro Valley, didn't see a car driven by Ralph Thompson of Crab Orchard and struck his vehicle in the left side, according to a sheriff's department report.

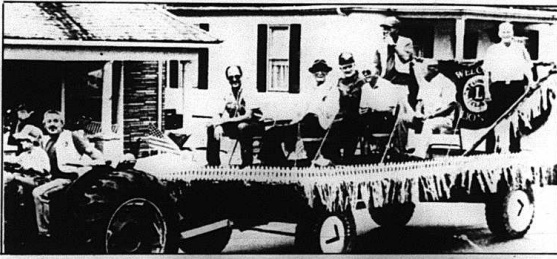

John Vanwinkle of Orlando was traveling south on Ky. 1004 when he left the road, hit an embankment, came back on the road, crossed it, hit a guardrail and overturned two or three times down a 40-foot embankment.

Stanley Tows of Workfield, was driving on the Red Hill Road, Horse Lick, when he lost control of the dune buggy he was driving and went over a cliff.

The incident occurred just over the Rockcastle-Jackson County line. He was taken to U.K. Hospital with lacerations and unknown injuries.

Jason McClure, 17, of Mt. Vernon, lost control of his car and it plunged over a 75-foot embankment on U.S.

Council raises Western area water rate

By: Ray McClure

A water rate increase to the Western Water Association was approved by the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

The increase is from 98 cents per 1,000 gallons to $1.07. The increase is effective Sept. 15.

An ordinance designed to raise money for the city's general fund, now broke, was presented to the council which took it under advisement and for study.

The council will read it and make suggestions. The council will meet on Monday Sept. 21 at 7 p.m. to discuss it and probably vote on it.

Voted was a resolution permitting Mayor Gary R. Cromer to borrow $11,000 from the Bank of Mt. Vernon to pay bills the city had let ride for three months.

Mayor Cromer said he has not had much criticism about a possible payroll tax.

"We've held two public meetings on the issue that wasn't very well attended, so I think the public accepts it," Mayor said.

Cumberland Valley Area Development District (CVADD) told the city $9,500 has been set aside to purchase two police cruisers.

Mayor said to meet the cost of the cruisers the city would have to borrow the money. He advised against it.

Clontz and Cox, attorneys, asked the council to exchange the city parking lot opposite the courthouse, for a lot near Comprehensive Care Center.

The council voted to have both lots appraised and review the findings at the Oct. 5 meeting.

Police Chief Bill Mink presented the police report.

Complaints, 294; assists, 32; motorist assists, 8; accident investigations, 10; cases opened, 7; arrests, 9; DUI arrests, 2; citations issued, 16; total number of charges, 28.

Mt. Vernon Fire Department made 9 runs and Livingston, 2.

Bullock barn burned

A fire bomb tossed into a barn belonging to Steve Bullock on Cove Branch Road destroyed the barn about midnight Friday.

Several neighbors reported hearing the loud noise as the bomb exploded. Mt. Vernon firemen who responded confirmed a bomb had been tossed into the barn at the rear of the building.

Burned in the fire were 1500 bales of hay valued at about $2,000. There was some insurance on the barn but none on the hay.

Steve's father, Glen, said the barn was new and was one of the best. It had a driveway inside.

He said a new barn would be built in another location.

Steve was the subject of a story in last week's Signal reporting killing four wolves in his yard.

Bid rigging brings fine

Southern Belle Dairy Co. yesterday pleaded guilty to charges of bid-rigging on school milk contracts and agreed to pay a $375,000 fine.

Southern Belle, with headquarters in Somerset, is the first school milk supplier in Kentucky to plead guilty to bid-rigging charges. In October 1989, however, an official with Flav-O-Rich Inc. of Louisville pleaded guilty to bid-rigging, according to the Lexington Herald-Leader.

Shooting takes life of local airman Monday

A Brodhead man serving in the United States Air Force was shot to death Monday while at his mother-in-law's residence.

James Phillip Kirby, 26, a staff sergeant and a 1984 graduate of Rockcastle County High School, died as a result of a gunshot wound to the heart, according to his parents, who said a full report on the incident had not been made by the Air Force.

According to a published report in the Omaha World-Herald, Kirby was killed when he ran with a brother-in-law to help another brother-in-law who had been attacked by six to eight young men in a park across the street from his mother-in-law's home.

The men had gathered in the park after attending a party in the neighborhood, which was attended by about 150 people.

Kirby's mother, contacted Wednesday morning at her home in Somerset, said her son was "being a peacemaker trying to break up a fight outside on the street in front of the house" when he was shot once in the heart.

"I don't know the whole story," his mother, Marlene Kirby said.

Kirby had been stationed at Offutt Air Force Base and had usually returned home in September most years, according to his friends.

During the altercation, Kirby, according to the Omaha paper, ran back to the house but slipped and fell near the front door.

At the time he followed by several of the attackers and one apparently tried to strike him with a gun. Police said that a shot was then heard and Kirby fell to the ground and struggled to get back into the house before collapsing.

It was reported that Kirby's wife attempted to perform mouth-to-mouth on him but he was pronounced dead shortly after 6 p.m. at St. Joseph Hospital in Omaha.

A sister-in-law, Georgia Blankenship, said the family was relaxing after finishing a Labor Day barbecue when the fighting began.

Kirby had been in the service for eight years and at the time of his death was scheduled to work a shift as a security officer that night at Offutt Air Force Base.

He had recently returned from an assignment in Cuba.

Also surviving Kirby are his father, James Kirby, Somerset; his wife, Carolyn; and two children, Brittany, age three, and Osha, age two.

Visitation for Sergeant Kirby will be held at 7 p.m. Friday night at Cox Funeral Home.

James Phillip Kirby, U.S.A.F.

03 lower than last year School board sets tax rate at 46 cents

The school board set the tax rate for fiscal year 1993 at 46.0 cents per $100 valuation for both real estate and personal property as well as motor vehicles, at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

Superintendent Bige W. Towery told the board that the rate could have been set as high as 47.2 for real estate and personal property and as high as $2.2 for motor vehicles without a recall or hearing but that he felt the lower rate was in order.

Towery said he felt that recent funding has allowed the schools to have "progressive programs."

"We feel we can continue to do that with this tax rate," he said. The rate is 3/10ths of a cent lower than last year's rate of 46.3 cents per $100 valuation.

Newly appointed school board member George Griffith, M.D., was sworn in Tuesday night during the regular monthly meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education. Griffith later told the board that he did not have to step down from his position of medical advisor because he was willing to continue in that capacity unpaid.

Previously Griffith had been compensated for his services.

The board approved a low bid of $39,956 for the first phase of a reno-

Labor Day visit is fun.....

What did you do over the Labor Day weekend?
Having an extra day off I made the trek to North Carolina, over the mountains and into the land where my family has lived for generations.

Sitting on my Uncle Richard's porch, we talked of year's past, of grandparents and the way of life from years ago.

After awhile a few things came out about the way we live today. Everything is so fast paced — nobody has time to do anything except rush around.

People are often ill — they can't stay healthy because of the way they eat on the run, live sedentary lifestyles and don't take care of their health.

Driving up in the driveway of my Uncle Richard and Aunt Flossie, I headed off to the sawmill, which my uncle put together from rag tag parts he bought at an auction for $50.

There's a big pile of sawdust, and the timber lays waiting for the saw. There's no telling how many houses my uncle has saved timber for.

They bring him the timber and he cuts two by four after two by four, some destined to go cross state, and many set for more local destinations.

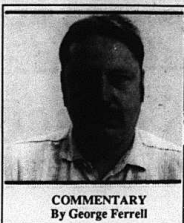

Having worked in a factory for many years, my uncle Richard has also been strong enough to tend a farm as well.

After stopping at the sawmill and watching the methodical cutting of the saw, I made my way up to the melon patch.

There, in all their splendor, were cantaloupes and watermelon, and yes, morning glories.

Opening with the sunrise, the morningglories have no purpose save for their beauty — the soft pinks, the bright blues, the purples and all the other colors rejoice to the sky.

Two hours later they would close and wait for another sunrise.

COMMENTARY
By George Ferrell

Such is the rhythm of the land and nature.

A rain storm came after lunch. I got caught on the front stoop of a 200-plus year old homeplace, waiting with camera for the thunder and lightning and rain to slow up.

That day at lunch the food was good and the watermelon was sweet. My uncle told me a story about the cantaloupes he grew so ripe and sweet this summer.

They are a variety that stays green on the inside, even when they are perfectly ripe and ready to enjoy.

He said one man owned a whole patch because he thought they were bad when they were only green like they were supposed to be.

We talked about my grandfather whose hands were big and strong from working in the field growing cotton, corn and livestock.

His first tractor — along about the 40s, and how it would plow as good as any around.

We talked about plowing mules dying in a barn struck by lightning and how it was an awful mess to clean up but that it had to be done.

The world was quieter then, there were fewer murders, less violence, and families were closer.

"People cared about each other then," he said. This is becoming a family line as I talk more and more with old folks.

I guess the world back then wasn't all peaches and cream. There was the Great Depression, WWII and Korea... Still, people were thankful for what they had and didn't always find the material life so enticing.

Back then children were lucky to have shoes every once in a while. Now they have to have $75 tennis shoes and every kind of a fancy T-shirt to wear.

I guess America will never go back to the simple ways, but then we should all heed the older values. They are the ones we may all have to go back to one day if this country is to survive.

After staying Saturday night I made my way to Durham to visit my father's last remaining brother, my Uncle Ezra, a retired weldmaker who is now my only contact with the past.

I talked him about his grandfather Couch. He told me he was in the Cooper shop at Liggett and Myers and that he made hogsheds, which store the tobacco after it is bought at auction.

Uncle Ezra told me about my grandfather's brothers and sisters and the ones he remembered.

When I left he had a smile on his face — sitting on the front porch of a rest home enjoying the sunlight. I guess I'll never make the trek to Carolina permanently, but it will always be a treasure as long as I have family there.

Those mountains are all downhill after I hit the divide. Coasting in to see Uncle Richard, Aunt Mattie, Aunt Annie, my Uncle Ezra and a whole host of cousins is just a real special treat.

Well, that's about all for this week. Rest a spell — talk to that special old person — you might just learn a lot.

The Willow Grove Baptist Church between Stanford and Danville, should have been named the Smith Grove Baptist Church. When constituted, five Smith brothers and their families accounted for well over half of the members. They were Harmon, Frank, Wesley, Ernest, and Garnett.

Wesley, who managed the Western Auto Store on Main Street in Mt. Vernon in the late fifties, was once the Sunday School Superintendent at Willow Grove. He worked diligently at the job, and the attendance increased.

A regular Thursday night visitation program by the Brotherhood (a Baptist men's group) accounted for much of the growth. It was not uncommon for ten or more men to convene at the church's new brick sanctuary — built where a raucous roadside inn once stood — get assignments from Wesley, have prayer, and then disperse to various parts of Lincoln and Boyle counties in search of new members.

Wesley always gave a Sunday School report early on in the morning worship service. He cited the enrollment and the attendance of every class and how each measured up according to the Six Point Record System, a standard in those days for evaluating Sunday School effectiveness in a Baptist Church. Other than The Bible, The Bill of Rights, and The New McGuffey Fifth Reader, and The most inspired thing he ever came across.

Now, Wes may have been closer to the truth than he realized. Word has it that Jehovah gave the Six Points to Moses on Mt. Sinai about two hours

No place like home....

I believe that the thing most unnoticed and taken for granted by the folks who live in eastern Kentucky's hills are the stunning beauty of the landscape. The amazing architecture of the mountains, themselves, is as wonderful to behold as anything I know.

There are lots of places in the world that I've never seen. A lot of geography that I never visit. On the other hand I've been fortunate enough to drive across and fly across most of what we call North America. I've seen the Grand Canyon and Yosemite National Park. I've seen the Dakotas and Oregon and I've fished, far from any settlement in all the Canadian Provinces except Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. I almost froze to death on an October trip to Alaska back in the seventies. I've dived near drowned in the surfs of the Atlantic Ocean, the Gulf of Mexico, the Sea of Cortez and the Pacific Ocean.

I've even seen the Alps in Europe and Scotland's heathered slopes and I do, in fact, thank God every night for the natural wonders that He has allowed me to see first hand. I thank Him, too, for the man-made ones as well. I remember driving through Kansas a few years back about this time of year.

Mike Schroder and I had flown to Phoenix, Arizona on a business trip on Tuesday morning and it was one of those things where you can't buy a round trip ticket because you don't know when you're coming back. You don't know how long business is gonna take. But the travel agent had assured us that we could come home as soon, or late, as we needed to.

We figured on being there the rest of the week, but as things turned out, we were finished up before the close of business on the day we arrived. And the same travel agency couldn't get us a flight back to Kentucky until real late on Thursday. Two days later.

However, since they were red in the face, the agency offered to provide us with a rental car for free and I'm talking gas and everything, if we wanted to drive. And the car was a fully equipped Chrysler New Yorker. I'm talking "surround sound" stereo with speakers in the ceiling and about a hundred tape recordings that included everything from Mozart to Led Zeppelin. Not only that but they were giving us free rooms at a fancy Sheraton Inn in Chicago and meals and drinks and anything else that would keep our mouths shut about the fact that they couldn't deliver as promised.

And Mike asked me if I'd ever seen Kansas.

We headed back to Kentucky with our work done much sooner than we thought it would require in a car that did everything but drive itself and make coffee. And we drove through wheat fields in Kansas that lasted for dozens and dozens of miles. We'd hit a little town and then we would be back in the wheat again as far as the eye could see in every direction. Driving 85 and 90 miles an hour through pure gold more than three feet high with nothing but blue sky after he gave him the Ten Commandments. He would have been a seer, but it took Moses two hours to stop shaking and come out from behind a really big rock.

When he came down from Mt. Sinai, Moses gave the Six Points to his brother, Aaron, to use in organizing a Sunday School, which met on Saturday. Aaron liked the Six Points right off because the Star of David also has six points. In fact, the Six Points became so highly respected that the Hebrews carried them around in the ark of the covenant, along with the Commandments, Aaron's rod that budded, and a flagon David jug that contained a portion of the manna that fell from heaven to feed the starving Israelites when they got far out in the desert beyond the Convenient Goat Mats and concession booths in rest areas.

(This information came to me from a source close to Jehovah, who always knows what Jehovah's is thinking and passes tidbits on to the world via television, radio, books, and tapes. word has it that Jehovah sometimes says, "Jerry, what Do I think about that.")

Speaking of manna, when the Israelites first saw the ground covered with that white, flaky stuff, they agreed it was too early for snow and said "Manna?" which means "What is it?" So, every morning except the Sabbath, dutiful Israelite women got up early, went outside, and gathered a basket or more of What Is It?

I can imagine what things were like on the Sabbath out in the bleak and barren Sinai. A shofar (ram's horn) sounded assembly. Only men and boys responded and rushed to their respective places of study, held in over a hundred different teacher's tents. Then the ten scribe polled the pupils.

"Benjamin, Ben (son of) Barchel?" "Here!" replied Benjamin. (Back to this in a moment.)

"On time?" (That meant in your teacher's tent and on your hinder before the shofar's tart toot.) "Bring your Bible?" asked the scribe.

"Will Genesis and a few pages of Exodus do?"

"Yes, my son," said the scribe. "Bring an offering?"

"Yes. Two bats and a grasshopper."

"Study your lesson?" asks the scribe.

"Yes I did, but I wish these booklets had more pictures!"

The scribe only granted, then said, "Staying for preaching?"

"Yes, I have to."

Now, dear reader, you might think that the Six Point Record System was working well, but that is not the case. A problem arose on the very first point. When a scribe called out a name on his scroll, the man or boy always stood and answered "Here" - and then recited his lineage before answering the other five points.

For instance, after Benjamin answered "Here," he said, "I am Benjamin son of Barchel, son of Samlah, son of Nashon, son of Ghun, son of Segub, son of Hur, son of Hym . . . a long way back to 'son of Seth, son of Adam."

Calling the roll left very little time to discuss the day's lesson. So much so that the Hebrews often stayed over a day or two every week in order to get through the lesson. And they kept that up, staying over a day here and a day there, calling the roll and getting through the lesson.

Moses, by the way, didn't attend teaching sessions because he always delivered the sermon during the morning worship hour and needed that time to work on his PMA - a positive mental attitude. He started having bouts of depression about two months into the desert. Little wonder, given that gripping, grimacing bunch of galoots who did everything Dathan, the Head Murrumer said. (According to Hezekeiah 7:11, Dathan looked a lot like Edward G. Robinson.) Dathan and the Murrumers weren't impressed with the puring of the Red Sea, claiming it was only trick photography. All they ever said was "Let's go back to Egypt and eat cucumbers and onions."

My soul! I've strayed again from my subject. Forgive me Meadowstian meandering. I get carried away when I talk about the Old Bible.

Let me just add that when Moses did find out about the lengthy roll calls, he was furious and did away with lineage reciting, which saved the Six Point Record System. However, because Moses had been so terribly preoccupied with sermon preparation, rabble rousers, and writing the rest of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy, forty years elapsed before he even realized there was a problem!

Back to Wes Smith's Sunday School report. One Sunday, Wes smiled and praised a lot of classes, but when he came to the nursery class, consternation captured his face. I see we had only one member present in the Nursery today," Wes said, studying the Six Point Record Report closely. "But that's no mystery to me," he added, "we only have two enrolled."

With a Carlton Heston boldness, Wes leaned forward on the pulpit. "Men," he commanded, "we've got to get out here in the highways and byways of Willow Grove - and build up our Nursery!"

and what on the horizon. And I thought to myself then, that I would never see anything more beautiful.

But I have. In fact I see it pretty often. I drive from Paint Lick to Richmond to Irvine to Clay City or Beattyville early in the mornings about once a month on average and I hit the Mountain Parkway toward Prestonsburg and Pikeville.

Or I come in on the Daniel Boone Parkway by way of London, Manchester, Hyden and Hazard. If you're coming from the flatlands and you're headed home, it doesn't matter much which route you take. The hills suddenly loom upon you and your heart beats just a few knocks faster than it was a minute ago. You see those big peaks rising on both sides of the road and you close your eyes for just a few seconds and you say "Yes Lord! Yes! Yes! Yes!" And then you say "Thank You for giving this to me. Thank you, Lord, that I am a sprout of these hills. Thank you for bringing me back one more time!!!"

I often drive over to Clay City and head into the hills via the Parkway that our late Governor, Bert T. Combs made possible. There's a sign that says you are entering Powell County on the Mountain Parkway when you are coming from the outside in, and just past that sign, the hills suddenly get much higher. Suddenly you can look up the hollers on your right hand and down them on your left. You can see ridges and ridges and ridges and if you're up and about early enough in the morning you can see clouds that have fallen out of the sky and settled in the low-lying places. Clouds that have fallen away below the mountains to frame our hills like favorite pictures on the mantle.

Last Tuesday morning I drove from Paint Lick over to Salersville and as I entered Powell County the sight was literally overwhelming. My emotions literally overflowed and I felt hot tears streaming down my face.

Nothing. Absolutely nothing that I have ever seen in the places that I have been is as peaceful and inviting and soothing as that first glimpse of our mountains. And when you see them sticking up out of the fog, be prepared to have your breath just taken away.

Cause it'll happen if you go away for a spell. And I don't care how far you go or how much you see. Go look at the oceans and the national parks. Go ride the boat up into the mist of Niagara Falls and then come back home.

And see what makes you cry. . . . Come home to the mountains and look at them hard and strong or, better yet, just climb to the top of one and look down and tell me if you believe that anything God ever created is more beautiful. I don't think so. I don't think so at all.

Highway 101 success to Renfro Valley

Their story is the stuff country stardom dreams are made of: relatively unknown, but experienced musicians meet, record and make country music history.

This is the story of Highway 101, appearing live at Renfro Valley on Sunday, Sept. 20.

In late 1986, four talented young musicians met for the first time at Amigo Studios in Los Angeles. Each of the four had worked with top flight country entertainers; none of them had performed or recorded on his own. Together Jack Daniels, Cactus Moser, Curtis Stone and Nikki Nelson are Highway 101; a group in the fast lane of country music stardom. Highway 101 will appear in concert at Renfro Valley on Sunday, September 20. The group presents two shows, at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. Tickets are $12.50 and all seats are reserved. Tickets

Rockets thump Metcalfe, 35-14, for second Jamboree bowl title

The Rockcastle County Rockets garnered their first win of the year Friday night by whipping Metcalfe County, 35-14, in the Annual Jamboree Bowl at RCHS. The title is the second straight for the Rockets. They defeated Metcalfe, 36-0, last year.

In ceremonies after the game, Connie Hunt, vice-president of Guest Services at Renfro Valley, presented Rockets' head coach Tom Larkey with the bowl winning trophy. Also recognized were Rockets' J.D. Harris and Bobby Coffey. Harris received the offensive MVP trophy while Coffey accepted the defensive.

"I was much more pleased with our performance," Larkey said in summary of the game. "Even though we weren't playing a team as good as Belfry, we eliminated a lot of mental errors such as penalties and turnovers."

The Rockets committed their only mistake, which proved minor, on their first possession of the game. On a drive giving the length of the field, the Rockets fumbled on Metcalfe's five yard line. However, four plays later Metcalfe was forced to punt and the Rockets regained possession.

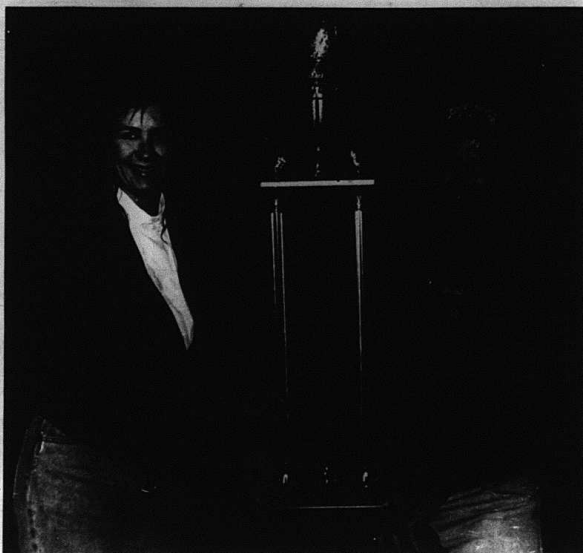

Again the Rockets advanced the ball successfully on their second possession. On the final play of the drive, Rockets' quarterback J.D. Bussell hit receiver Jason Hunt for a 10 yard touchdown. Kicker Greg Bowman's extra-point attempt was good to allow the Rockets to lead 7-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Bowman, who kicked for the junior varsity last year, was perfect on the night with five extra-points.

"Another success during the game was the goal set by the Rockets' defense. Although Metcalfe did score two touchdowns, none were scored on the Rockets' varsity defense. In fact the varsity defense only gave up an impressive 19 yards to Metcalfe all night.

The Rockets posted their second score of the game in the second quarter. All-stater J.D. Harris completed another successful drive with a 12 yard touchdown run.

Again after solid defensive pressure and four straight plays, the Connie Hunt, vice-president of Guest Services at Renfro Valley, presented Rockets' head coach Tom Larkey with the Jamboree Bowl championship trophy Friday night after the Rockets defeated Metcalfe County, 35-14.

Rockets regained possession. And backed by positive yardage by Bobby Coffey and Harris, the Rockets again found the end zone on a 52 yard drive. Harris slipped in for his second touchdown and the Rockets' third on a five yard run. The Rockets took their 21-0 lead into intermission.

Aside from team goals and defensive goals, the Rockets' offense also achieved theirs as well. "Our goal was to put more points on the board and improve our running game," Larkey said. The Rockets surpassed their goal by scoring 29 more points than their Belfry game and by rushing 285 yards, compared to their previous 103 yards.

Larkey stated that Rockets' Tommy Ramsey and Jay Stevens graded out as the top two offensive linemen. "They did an outstanding job," said Larkey.

Coffey and Harris also looked good as both gave solid performances from the ground. "Coffey's effort in running the ball was great Harris looked like his old self," added Larkey.

Coffey and Harris combined talents in the third quarter to bring the Rockets from their own 20 yard line to Metcalfe's three yard line. Harris again got the call and scrambled into the end zone to complete the drive and give the Rockets a 28-0 lead.

Harris carried in his fourth touchdown of the night on a 20 yard run in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter for the Rockets' final score of the game. With the score at 35-0, the Rockets' varsity earned themselves an early exit as the remainder of the game was executed by the Rockets' junior varsity.

Metcalfe scoring was accomplished in the following plays when they topped a 60 yard drive off with a 15 yard pass for their first touchdown of the game. Their extra-point attempt was blocked by the Rockets.

Metcalfe again put together a 60 yard drive on their second possession for their final score of the game with only 22 seconds left in the game. Their two-point conversion was also good to bring the final score of the game to 35-14.

Defensively for the Rockets: Chris Goff had one solo, three assists and one and a half sacks; Jason Kirby had one solo and one assist; Brian Mink had one solo and one assist; Stacey Kirby had one solo, one assist and recovered two fumbles; Jay Stevens had three assists; Gordon Sowder had three assists; Jason Hunt had one solo, one assist and recovered one fumble; Bobby Coffey had two solos and two assists; Louie Davis had two solos and two assists; J.D. Bussell had three solos; J.D. Harris had one solo; Mikhael Shaffer had one solo and Mickey McClure had three assists.

Offensively for the Rockets: J.D. Bussell had seven pass attempts with five completions for 64 yards and one touchdown; Jason Hunt had two touchdowns for 30 yards and one touchdown; Jason Kirby had one reception for nine yards; J.D. Harris had 14 carries for 115 yards and one reception for nine yards and four touchdowns; Bobby Coffey had eight carries for 85 yards; Mikhael Shaffer had three carries for 22 yards and one reception for 16 yards; Greg Bowman had two carries for 10 yards and kicked five extra-points; Jason Payne had six carries for 37 yards and Mike Tackett had three carries for 16 yards.

The Rockets will travel to Lynn Camp Friday night. The game will begin at 8 p.m.

Lynn Camp has one of the premiere linemen in the state this year and have other linemen weighing in at 265, 240 and 220 creating a huge front. They also have two running backs topping 200 lbs. The Rockets are expecting a real physical game and are going to have to use skilled people throughout the game. The small defensive line of the Rockets will have to key on stopping the Lynn Camp running game.

Larkey said the Rockets have been working hard for the upcoming game and that they realize the importance of the game and how it will affect the remainder of the season. A lot of tough teams remain after the Lynn Camp game so a win is a must for the Rockets.

Connie Hunt presented Rockets' running back J.D. Harris the Offensive MVP Award Friday after the Rockets' game with Metcalfe County in the Jamboree Bowl.

Rockets' linebacker Bobby Coffey also received the Defensive MVP Award from Connie Hunt in ceremonies after the game.

Freshmen drill Pulaski, 30-0

The Rockcastle County Rockets' freshmen squad carried on Rockcastle football's winning ways by shutting out Pulaski County, 30-0, last Thursday.

Cliff Mullins got the ball rolling when he pulled down a four yard pass from quarterback Scottie Cotton for the Rockets first score of the game in the first quarter. Cotton also hit Jarrod Singleton for the two-point conversion.

A few plays later, Neil Sparks carried in a 20 yard run for the Rockets second touchdown. Singleton carried in the two-point conversion.

Sparks again found the end zone in the third quarter when he broke free for a 33 yard touchdown run. Cotton hit Mullins for the conversion to give the Rockets a 24-0 lead at intermission.

Sparks put the final points on the board in the fourth quarter on a 60 yard interception.

JV Rockets whip Estill, 35-20; edge Bell County, 16-6

The Rockcastle County Rockets' junior varsity got their season off in a big way last week by defeating Estill County, 35-20.

The Rockets jumped on Estill quick by taking a 22-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Quarterback Aaron Cox connected with Brian Carter on a 50 yard pass for the Rockets' first touchdown of the game. Jason Payne's two-point conversion was successful for an early 8-0 lead.

Doug Cromer scored the next touchdown on a one yard run and followed with the two-point conversion to up the score to 16-0.

Mike Tackett recovered an Estill fumble and returned it for the third touchdown for the junior varsity Rockets. The extra-point attempt was no good.

third quarter. The Rockets' extra-point was again no good.

Although Estill countered with a touchdown in the third quarter and fourth quarter, the Rockets topped the night off with a 35 yard touchdown run by Payne to end the game in the Rockets' favor, 35-20.

In this week's action, the Rockets edged out Bell County, 16-6, Monday night to extend their record to 2-0.

The Rockets opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 10 yard run by Payne. Payne also followed with the two-point conversion.

Cromer extended the Rockets lead in the second quarter on a 60 yard touchdown sprint. Cox followed with the two-point conversion to move the Rockets' lead to 16-0 at the half.

The only other scoring came when Bell scampers in for their only touchdown in the losing effort in the second half to end the game at 16-6.

Primetime special on teens to air on WLEX-TV

Montel Williams' first nationwide special, entitled Mountain! Get Out Of My way, will air on WLEX-TV 18 (NBC) Friday, September 4 at 9 p.m. "The one-hour special will focus on several explosive issues today's teens face. Teens speak out and provide us with their thoughts and feelings about sexual promiscuity, racial violence, teenage pregnancy, AIDS and substance abuse. The cutting-edge special will provide parents and teens with information on teen concerns." WLEX-TV 18 President and General Manager John Duvall says Williams' primetime special will "... provide parents with an understanding of teenage concerns and give their children the opportunity to talk openly about pressures they are experiencing in Central Kentucky."

Among the stories examined are those of Jennifer Michele, an 18-year-old high school student with AIDS who counsels other teens about the importance of safe sex; a Denver father who, following the suicide of his son, now runs a suicide prevention center for other at-risk youth. In his no-holds-barred conversation, Montel talks one-on-one with teens who have experienced today's pressures. Montel also speaks with those individuals who have helped make a special difference in the lives of teenagers.

Education

Destination Graduation underway at RCHS

This fall the Rockcastle County School System and Destination Graduation at Eastern Kentucky University will continue a fifth year of partnering a tutorial program for at-risk students.

Destination Graduation has as its objective, early intervention with potential dropouts in Rockcastle County.

According to Bige W. Towery, Jr., superintendent of the Rockcastle School System, "Destination Graduation has become a very basic part of our secondary education program."

"We know that students sometimes learn best when assisted by peers and/or mentors. Education is a total team effort and we are proud of Eastern Kentucky University and EKV students are a part of our team in Rockcastle County."

Larry Hammond, director of Rockcastle County Student Services, believes "The use of tutors in conjunction with the existing instructional program greatly enhanced the educational process for the participants. Student tutors as positive role models and the field trips made possible through this program have served as tremendous incentives for participants."

James Cox, assistant principal of Rockcastle County High School and principal of the successful 1992 Rockcastle Destination Graduation Summer School Program states, "In reflecting on this year's summer school and the impact it had on our students, the Destination Graduation program was an integral part of this year's success. The tutors Destination Graduation provided gave needed assistance to our teachers for individualized instruction in the content area and their mini lectures raised the student's esteem. Teachers commented to me on how well the students received these presentations. Most importantly, the role model the tutors demonstrated was exemplary."

The Rockcastle County/Destination Graduation Summer School Program is another important component of the Rockcastle County/Destination Graduation partnership.

The tutors serve as role models to the high school students, and they tutor, as examples of Rockcastle County natives, who have graduated from high school and are successfully attending college. The tutors work with the students one hour a week for twelve weeks during the fall and spring semesters. For their tutorial assistance, the EKV student tutors are paid $5 an hour per student.

Tutoring at-risk high school students in the Destination Graduation program is a rewarding experience for the outstanding EKV students selected to work in the Destination Graduation tutoring program. Working as a tutor in the Destination Graduation tutoring program requires total commitment of the tutors to both their tutees and to the Destination Graduation tutoring program and its objectives.

Rockcastle County and EKV students, who are sophomores, juniors, or seniors with a GPA of 2.5 or higher, are currently being mailed Destination Graduation applications. These applications should be completed and returned to Mrs. Nancy Thames, Destination Graduation, College of Education, Combs 423, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, KY 40475.

The Rockcastle County School System and Destination Graduation at EKV are proud to be partners for a fifth year in a tutorial program for at-risk students, Destination Graduation. Pictured here are (left to right): Ronnie Cash, Rockcastle High School Principal; Mark Pittman, Executive Director of Destination Graduation; Bige W. Towery, Jr., Rockcastle County School Superintendent; and James Cox, Rockcastle County High School Assistant Principal.

Mrs. Donna Robertson of Hogsett Elementary is shown with Mrs. Bobbie Durham, Reading Specialist.

Dr. William Thames, EKV professor in the Department of Education, conducted a Cooperative Learning session with the faculty of BES.

Mrs. Carla Orberon from Hogsett Elementary led a workshop for BES faculty regarding the writing process. Shown are Mrs. Orberon and Mrs. Nancy Sexton sharing ideas.

"Connections" was the theme of the county-wide Professional Development Day August 21 at RCHS which initiated the new school year for 205 teachers and school staff. During the opening, two RCHS students, Amy Sears, left, and Callie Mullins, right, sang.

Brodhead Elementary School faculty was recently involved in four days of professional development.

Over 182 freshmen and their parents attended the annual Freshmen Orientation Day at RCHS on August 18. Students got their schedules, listened to staff offer advice and helpful hints for the year, and toured the building.

Mrs. Paige Stevens of Bates Middle School guided Middle School teachers of BES through the writing process. Science teacher, Jim Ward, was a participant.

Former teacher inducted into Hall of Fame

Mrs. Kesse C. Lawless, mother of Trooper Jack B. Lawless and grandmother of Angie L. Lawless was one of eight former educators inducted into the Hall of Fame at a reception held Aug. 17, 1992 at the Russell County High School.

Mrs. Lawless was one of five retired teachers honored at the reception. Three faculty members were honored posthumously.

To be eligible for nomination a faculty member or administrator must meet six different criteria. Each recipient must be retired or eligible to retire at 65, having worked in Russell

County or now residing in Russell County.

The educator shall have retired based on service credit or disability.

Each recipient must have received two nominations and been approved by the selection committee.

All recipients were honored with a reception and a brass name plate added to a wooden plaque in the lobby of the high school.

The Hall of Fame program was the concept of former teacher and Russell County High School Principal Earl Aaron.

A Brodhead resident is a member of the 1992-93 Eastern Kentucky University Show Choir.

David L. Whit, Brodhead, a sophomore music education major, successfully auditioned for the 18-member group, which combines music and dancing in its performances.

The choir, which meets two nights a week, will give two public performances this school year: Nov. 21 and April 24. Both concerts begin at 7:30 p.m. in Brock Auditorium.

It will also perform at a convocation at Bellfry High school and at the Kentucky Music Educators Association Conference.

"It's good training for future professional performers," said Rob Lawrence, director of the show choir. "The fact that they have this on their resume helps them."

Even before graduation, many EKV Show Choir members have landed summer jobs at theme parks such as Kings Island and Opryland.

its student teachers in classrooms for the last 12 to 16 weeks of the semester to gain practical classroom experience, said Dr. David Rush, director of EKV's professional laboratory experiences office.

The student-teaching experience, which is required before a college graduate may be certified, follows on-campus instruction in teaching fundamentals, methods and subject-matter areas.

"We believe our students are well-prepared to be outstanding teachers," Rush said.

EKV students preparing for teaching careers also have the unique advantage of gaining practical classroom experience at Model Laboratory School, the only university-operated laboratory school in Kentucky. It is designed to provide educational experiences for future teachers that might otherwise be unavailable.

The student teachers are working at the secondary, elementary and middle school level, as well as areas of special education.

Eastern is the state's largest producer of classroom teachers.

In fact, a recent survey by the American Association of Colleges and Teacher Education (AACTE) ranked EKV among the nation's 20 leading producers of new classroom teachers.

"The success of our program is based on high admission standards, a dedicated faculty, and a course of study that combines strong content and methodology courses with practical experience at the laboratory school before our students student-teach," said Dr. Kenneth Henson, dean of EKV's College of Education. "We will systematically analyze our program and make adjustments as needed as the new elements of KERA unfold, ensuring our continued success."

Connie Hamm takes over duties as RCHS assistant principal

by Judith Taylor

"I love my job," says Connie Hamm, former English teacher who was hired in May as assistant principal at Rockcastle County High School.

"I want to learn as much as I can, says Ms. Hamm. I can't wait to get to the high school in the mornings. It's a tremendous challenge, and I like that."

Mrs. Hamm applied for the job, which became available when Mr. Charles Baker retired in May, because she says she had "always wanted to be an administrator," and she felt the position needed to be filled by a female.

Even though Ms. Hamm did not officially start her new job until July 1, she worked the month of June without pay because she was so eager to begin learning.

She says she has always enjoyed working with high school students, and so far she has felt less stress working in her new position than she felt in the classroom. However, she says the hardest thing about the job has been making decisions which affect students. After a month or so, she thinks she will get used to this.

Some of the duties of Ms. Hamm's new job are: discipline, care and upkeep of the school building and grounds, books, some curriculum, and serving on various committees such as the special education SBARC committees. She will also be serving as resource teacher for two interns this year.

"My goal is to be an asset to the school - the building, students, teachers, parents, and other administrators," she says.

Ms. Hamm, a 1965 graduate of Laurel County High School, attended Sue Bennett College before entering Eastern Kentucky University where she finished her education. She has a master's degree in English education and her Rank I is in administration with emphasis in secondary principalship.

She began teaching in 1969 at Mt. Vernon High School, later teaching at Brodhead High School. From 1980-1992, she taught English at RCHS.

Ms. Hamm, her husband John, and daughter Michelle, a sophomore at UK, live near Brodhead.

During opening day for the 1992-93 school year teachers were served food prepared by E.J. Smith, food service coordinator and RCHS cooks.

"SYMBOL OF QUALITY" U.S. 25 South • Mt. Vernon • 256-4127

Roamin' Rockcastle

BY HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

We drove cross country from Boone to Hwy. 21 on Flat Gap road and I've never seen as many beautiful, yellow flowers on the sides of the road. Even the fields are colored yellow with so many of them.

I was told they live a double life, in the beginning as a yellow flower, turning into the dreaded Spanish noodles or stick-tights, which can be h¹er - I mean a hardship on man or beast if he comes near them.

I had an interesting letter from one of my nieces, Betty Ann Bibe, in Lubbock, Texas, telling me how she enjoyed my columns since she is a reader of this paper. She says, "They are so wonderful and make me feel almost that I'm right there in the middle of things, duck a raffle and all!" Betty says she has been doing editing and artwork on a 100 page book catalogue for a company there and is glad it will soon be finished.

Betty gave me news of her brother, J.B. Payne, Jr. He's moving to Bowling Green to work there with his Photography studio. "Aunt Bibe" says she met her sister, Dr. Susan Payne Dalton, lives in Tucson, Arizona, with her husband, Don. Sue is practicing in a clinic there with a Dr. Payne. It's a small world, isn't it?

I went to the office of young Dr. Bill Stewart to pick up a prescription. He said she and I were doing office girl up front behind a little glass window.

She said she was Shelly Jennings, wife of Todd (how lucky can you get, man?) Jennings and the daughter of Manuel LaKes (who sent me one goose, I may have another). Shelly gave me some news (or gossip) on her boss, like him sneaking a smoke in a non-smoke zone. Was he tough on his office force, I asked her. Shelly laughed and laughed at me. I left in disgust, no more there.

In Glades Village, I was looking for the apartment of a friend when I ran into Bonnie Mitchell, whom I had known from several years ago when we lived there.

At one time, Bonnie worked in the Head Start program at Silver Creek School. Now, Bonnie has told me, she had children from another program called Home Child Care and liked this better.

Bonnie said the Glades Village Apartments were built on land that had been in her family 11 years ago. Moving here, as she had done, was like coming home.

Shirley Turner, whom I called Superior Market's "troubleshooter" and who was so nice about getting mistakes cleared up with shoppers in the store, leaves to go into business with her brother selling carpets.

Shirley has invited me to come in to their place of business, and invited everyone else too, to see their new place.

Now, I'll go because Christmas isn't too far off so I'll tell John I need some scatter rugs and he can make me some gifts or he's liable to get me a cornmeal sifter!

Shriners to Meet

The Madison County Shriners will meet Thursday, September 17 at 6:30 at the Down Under Restaurant in Richmond. All members are urged to attend.

Don Walker Memorial Scholarship Fund c/o Citizens Bank Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456

Rockcastle County lost a dear friend with the passing of Don Walker on August 26, 1992. In 1977, he and his wife, Jean, moved here from Michigan and soon thereafter opened Jean's Restaurant. He quickly endeared himself to Rockcastle Countians. His pride in our county and its people was evident. Don was considered by many to be the official Ambassador of Rockcastle County. He supported and promoted every facet of our education system and believed in our ability to produce tomorrow's leaders.

Perhaps Don's greatest quality was a genuine caring for others. It is the desire of friends and family that his love and support for Rockcastle's young people not be forgotten.

Therefore, in his memory, the Don Walker Memorial Scholarships are being established. The purpose being to provide underprivileged Junior High School students in Rockcastle County educational materials that they otherwise would not be able to receive.

Mr. Walker's family will be actively involved in the establishment and distribution of these awards.

Through the educational assistance given to young people, Don Walker's love for Rockcastle County can continue.

Members of the Don Walker Memorial Scholarship Fund Board are: Mrs. Jean Walker, Roy A. Martin, Mrs. Jeanie Mullins, Leroy Sloan, Ernest Stanley, Mrs. Betty Lewis and Victor Bond.

Donations should be made payable to Don Walker Memorial Fund, c/o Citizens Bank, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456. Attn: Violet Cash. (All donations are tax deductible) getting their paper sometime so we both went to work on it. She would pester the people up there, and I would pester them down here, and so why the Isaac's could not get their Citizen.

It seems the paper was sent straight to Cincinnati and finally back out to other northern towns where theirs got lost.

Well, Alene and I both made so much racket that the trouble was cleared up. So I guess we could say, "It's the squeaking wheel that gets the grease!"

On Lower Clear Creek, I believe Buster and Bessie Cain Gadd have the prettiest garden. Beans are vining up on three legged frames. The other vegetable rows were clean from being trampled by morning glories were having their day. There must be plenty of squash for the big leaves went up the rows nearly.

Bessie has some good yard sales once and awhile, which you might like to see. I've bought some nice things from her.

We had meant to attend the Todd-Gadiff Reunion or part of it which was held at the Berry-Ramsey picnic park on Lower Clear Creek this summer, so that I might get to talk to my good readers and friends, Ruth and Phil Gadiff from Indiana.

I talked to Marie Todd and asked her if they had attended. Marie said they had, and gave me the number, 82 people that had come to the reunion. While on vacation this summer, I meant to visit some of my readers such as Ruth and Phil and stay a few (?) days but they were probably down here at the reunion!

People in Passing. A thanks to Naomi Edwards for letting me know that she's around. A Happy Birthday to Skinny Rivers, the show man and an old friend.

John Bill Allen and wife, Flora, grocery shopping in Superior Market says he still works at Allen's Flower Shop delivering the orders even though he's retired and the place has a new owner.

Phyllis Harding from Clear Creek also shopping, saying she now has a job as monitor for 4-year-olds on the school bus, starting the next day. Paula Cobb out on Anglin Falls Road will be the bus driver.

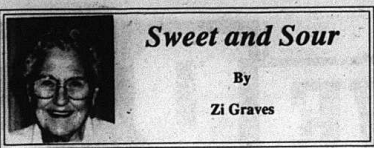

Trenton Duane Harding, the once tough Clear Creek fellow had a birthday on August 28th - goes to school, too.

News from the June 29, 1911 Citizen given me by Allen Williams. From Rockford (no longer a post office) in Rockcastle County.

A mad dog passed through here Monday and was chased two miles by Don Cameron and J.W. Todd.

It went toward Climax but was finally killed by Granville Miller. Saturday and Sunday are regular meeting days at the Baptist Church at Scaffold Cane.

Till next week: The Lord gave us two ends - one to sit on and the other to think with. Success depends on which one we use the most!

Sweet and Sour

By

Zi Graves

Sometimes our interest in the welfare of a neighbor or friend can get us into a problem we don't rightly know how to handle. And so it was with me when I stopped at Verdrie Rice's home to see how she was. I knew she was far along in the pregnancy of her third child and thought maybe she might need some help from me. I brought a friendly chat-chat. I only had a few minutes to spare, or so I thought, when I decided to visit with her on my way home from an errand I had made to Betty Mize's who lived in the same area. Matt had stayed at home with the two children, Judy and Rod, while I had gone on this errand so I needed to be home to cook supper. Well, this was one supper that was doomed to be late or Mat was to fix it for them.

As I ran up the rocky little path and called out at the back door I knew something was wrong. I heard a male voice didn't come to the door but instead answered with a weak, "come in." She was lying in bed with a frown on her face and my instinct told me I was in for something I hadn't counted on. Her husband, Fletcher, was plowing in the garden with a horse since Verdrie didn't come to the door but instead answered with a weak, "come in." She was lying in bed with a frown on her face and my instinct told me I was in for something I hadn't counted on. Her husband, Fletcher, was plowing in the garden with a horse since Verdrie didn't come to the door but instead answered with a weak, "come in." She was lying in bed with a frown on her face and my instinct told me I was in for something I hadn't counted on.

Her answer astonished me for she said she hadn't even told her husband yet. My suggestion was to tell him immediately and get him on his way for her labor was progressing fast. Finally she allowed me to tell him and he was as surprised as I had been when I entered the room and found her in advanced labor. After checking with her the play list up the team and began his trip over the hills to the home of Aunt Mary Ann Mink, the local midwife. The round trip should take about two hours if he had good luck in finding her at home. There was nothing for me to do but stay with Verdrie until they got back. I asked him to stop by my house and tell Mat what was up and I would be late. Now the problems began in earnest. Verdrie needed almost constant attention and so did the two boys. Of course they had no way of knowing about what was going on so they wanted their supper and it wasn't even started yet. During a lull in her labor she asked me to attend to their needs and she would try to do without my holding onto her hands during her contractions. This was easier said than done, for every time I would get back with Verdrie until they got back. I asked him to stop by my house and tell Mat what was up and I would be late. was known to all far and wide, seemed to make a party out of all birthings. She would come whenever she was called and would spend the night if needed, talking almost constantly the whole time she was attending to the patient. I wish there had been tape recorders back then so her messages and memories of the past could have been preserved. She was an old woman then so her memories were of a time long past. Her stories of the past and neighborhood gossip, which she gathered up on her numerous house calls could keep everyone awake and listening intently all night long. This evening was no exception and talking of things long past and present was in full swing when I realized my duties were over and I borrowed a lantern and headed for home. As I remember it, I wasn't afraid of the walk home although it was near midnight and ahead of me was a long solitary walk up a dark hollow. I guess my new experience had given me the courage to face anything.

Since that time I have been called on to sit by and attend to many of the neighbor women in their time of need for a sympathetic hand to hold onto while they brought a new life into the world. And each of the ones I have been privileged to help bring into the world are very special to me.

It's as if a part of them has been instilled in me and I would like to get them all together and once again put my arms about them while I let each know how much joy I have had watching them grow up to be the fine people they have become.

"What Saith the Scriptures"
Paul told Timothy to "fight the good fight of faith" in 1 Tim. 6:12. Paul in II Cor. 10:3-4 said, "For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds." Paul said our struggle and fight is in the spiritual realm and that we must put on spiritual armor for the fight, Eph. 6:10-17.

I would also like to live peacefully with all men, but sometimes it's not possible. There are some things which I dare not let go unchallenged. One challenge to me is a "Voice In The Wilderness" has said that what I teach: that God no longer baptizes people in the Holy Ghost, or gives the gifts of the spirit, nor works miracles and miraculous healings for today, is spewing out "poison" and "religious garbage," and that I am trying to "tear down, teach against and bring to no effect the work that was done at Calvary."

This certainly is a serious charge, and indeed I would be "held accountable" if this "Voice In The Wilderness" could demonstrate his position and words by the Word of God. If this "Voice" could "prove" (1 Thes. 5:21; Rm. 12:2) his teachings with the scriptures I would gladly change and preach the same things!

"This Voice" has issued a serious challenge and again we stand ready to enter into a public discussion with him, or any other of the persuasion on these issues. Would you like to discuss these propositions?

"Southern Belle"

Southern Belle in U.S. District Court in Lexington. Southern Belle president Martin Shearer pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Henry Wilhoit. An information is the same as an indictment, in that it is a formal accusation; however, the charge comes not from a grand jury, but from a public officer.

The information charges Southern Belle with participating in a conspiracy to rig bids to county and independent school systems in south-central Kentucky in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act. The information charges that the conspiracy began at least as early as the late 1970s and continued at least through July 1989.

Southern Belle supplied the milk to schools in about 30 counties, said Robert Trevey, a lawyer in the U.S. attorney's office in Lexington. The information said Southern Belle and other milk distributors agreed to allocate to one another certain contracts in south-central Kentucky. The distributors also agreed to refrain from submitting certain bids or to submit non-competitive, rigged bids to supply the milk.

As part of a plea agreement with prosecutors, Shearer agreed to pay a fine of $375,000 during a period of five years.

Davidson is elected state Jaycee president

Anthony Arnel Davidson of Richmond and formerly of Rockcastle County was elected on May 23 to serve as state president of the Kentucky Jaycees for 1992-93.

"A.D." as he is known by his friends, brings a broad background of experience to the office to which he was elected. As president of the Richmond Jaycees in 1989-90, he was recognized as the outstanding chapter president in Kentucky and the chapter was recognized as the most improved chapter in the state, increasing their membership from 12 to 72 members that year. He served the following year as district director and later as regional director for the Bluegrass Region Jaycees.

In 1991-92, Anthony served as state membership development vice president and the state increased their membership after several years of membership decline. The state also added 15 new chapters during the year. Anthony was responsible for developing and implementing several new programs in the membership area which proved to be key to the success of the organization statewide. For his efforts, he was appointed officer of the year in Kentucky at the year-end state convention in May. In June of this year at the National Jaycee Convention in Portland, Oregon, Anthony was recognized as the outstanding state membership development vice president in the United States of America for 1991-92.

This year as state president will find Anthony traveling the state and the nation as Kentucky's spokesman promoting Jaycees and working with Jaycee chapters and corporate sponsors. His travel schedule is extensive, requiring 3-5 days of travel per week when in Kentucky. His position also requires public relations assignments which consists, in part, of working with the business and corporate community of Kentucky, promoting Jaycees as a way the business community can get their employees involved in an organization which will help them develop their leadership and management skills and network with a large group of young, ambitious Kentuckians. The theme for the Kentucky Jaycees this year is, "Putting Dreams Into Action!"

On a national level, Anthony has been appointed by the national president to head a national Jaycee Governmental Involvement program, which will allow Jaycees to have direct input into the issues which are being considered by national leaders in Washington, D.C. He will be in Washington, D.C. September 19-22, at a governmental affairs leadership conference where he will meet with members of Congress and President George Bush to discuss the role Jaycees can play in having an impact in decisions made by our national leaders. Kentucky's most well-known past Jaycee state president was Wendell Ford.

Anthony was also elected at the national convention in Portland, Ore. to serve as chairman of the state presidents in the Mid-America Institute, which consists of Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. He will be the spokesman for promoting national Jaycee events and projects in this region of the United States and developing and promoting leaders from this region who will move up in the organization nationally.

Jaycees is a volunteer leadership training organization for young men and women between the age of 21-39, which focuses on developing member's leadership skills through chapter projects and community involvement. Jaycees are young people who want to make a difference in themselves and their community. Currently, there are 82 chapters and approximately 4,300 members in Kentucky and 210,000 members in the nation. Toll-free number for those who wish information on your local Jaycee chapter is 1-800-552-9233.

Anthony attended Livingston Elementary School and is a 1980 graduate of Rockcastle County High School. He received his accounting degree from Eastern Kentucky University in 1984 and was certified to practice public accounting in 1987. Anthony is a self-employed certified public accountant in Lexington. His address is 2028 Regency Road and his telephone number is (606) 278-9531, for those who would like to contact him. He would love to hear from you.

Anthony is the son of Arnel and Mabel Davidson of Route 2, Mt. Vernon and the brother of Judy Fells of McKee. He is the grandson of Georgia Davidson of Mt. Vernon and Addie Martin of Rt. 2, Mt. Vernon.

Pretty Babies

Central Florida Presbytery sponsors LEAP home repair program

When was the last time you saw your lights flicker, your roof, or eager to spend the day replacing doors and windows without pay? While most kids spend their summer vacations working odd jobs at home, 30 enthusiastic high school students and 12 adults came to Rockcastle County from July 26 to August 8 as volunteers for the Livingstone Economic Alternatives in Progress (LEAP) Home Repair Program. The group came as member of the Central Florida Presbytery, an organization which supports LEAP with its 2 cents per meal program.

Bad weather could not dampen the spirits or accomplishments of these volunteers; repairs were made on 167 homes altogether. With chores ranging from painting and underpinning to building porches and barns, the students put in about 8 hours of heavy work each day. Each student came equipped with $200 to help pay for building supplies and other expenses.

But the week was not one of "all work and no play." LEAP sponsored a cookout at the Renfro Valley Family Life Center for each group. Students welcomed the opportunity to mingle with Home Repair applicants and LEAP Board members, as well as eat some great food! Musical entertainment was provided by the local talent of Rockcastle Grass Band, made up of Junior and Lonnie Angus, Curt Roberts, Lloyd and Kenneth Mink, Owen Dillingham, Casper Bowling and Kenneth Hopkins.

LEAP's Home Repair Program, now in its second successful year, has helped many families in Rockcastle County. When an application for home repair work is received, a committee made up of LEAP Board members must decide whether or not the volunteer groups can handle the job. The applicant must be a resident of Rockcastle County, and factors such as family income and the overall condition of the house must be considered. While many repair needs were addressed, some jobs were too time consuming or too expensive to handle. Next summer's program will hopefully be just as productive as the last. LEAP wishes to give special thanks to Geraldine Anglin and Ruth Hopkins for helping set up the cook-out food. The Rockcastle Grass Band for their entertainment, and everyone else from the community who contributed their time in any way.

Bear restoration project being considered at park

Resource managers at the Big South Fork National River and Recreational Area are considering black bear restoration project if, and only if, it meets with public approval.

"The black bear is a native species," said Ron Cornelius, chief of natural resources at the 105,000-acre national park in Southeastern Kentucky and Tennessee. "We've found some bone fragments in rock shelters. We know (black bears) are indigenous to the area."

Cornelius said the project is in the proposal stage, with no formal commitments having been made.

"We want to see if there's public support for releasing bears. This is something we really don't know for sure now."

Killing a bear in Kentucky brings a fine of $1,000.

The project would be a cooperative effort between the U.S. Park Service, Daniel Boone National Forest, and the state wildlife resource agencies in Kentucky and Tennessee. "We'll be soliciting comments from various conservation groups and sportsmen's organizations, and looking to see if the (fish and wildlife) commissions in both states support it, according to Herald Leader story."

No public meetings have been scheduled or held.

The two-phase project would include placing radio collars on 12 bears.

"The collared bears would be monitored for two years, to study behavior and survivability," Cornelius said. "The (data collected) would help us decide if it would be worth it to restore the population, or wait till they come in naturally."

There are indications that black bears are already expanding their range into the rugged, mountainous park.

"As the land recovers, they'll probably move back. We've had reports of bears passing through. The most recent sighting was (reported) in the McCreary County paper, two or three weeks ago."

Cornelius said staff biologists have speculated that the park and adjacent national forest lands could support 250 black bears.

"But there certainly are some (unanswered) questions about how much of the area the bears would inhabit, and what (bear densities) constitute a viable population."

Ten free trees

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September 1992.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

"These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for

WUKY campaign to help county's food programs

WUKY (FM 91.3), public radio at the University of Kentucky, has joined in the campaign to help the emergency food program in Rockcastle County.

During its annual fall fund drive, Sept. 9 - 16, WUKY and Fischer Packing Company have assured the continuance of quality music, news and informational programming," said Roger Chesser, WUKY general manager.

The money donated by Fischer will go directly to help REAP in Mt. Vernon.

The theme of this year's campaign is "Food for Thought, Food for the Hungry."

"By supporting WUKY, listeners have assured the continuance of quality music, news and informational programming," said Roger Chesser, WUKY general manager.

"Thanks to Fischer's generosity, a pledge to the station also helps people all across our listening area. We are pleased to use our facilities to help those in need."

Lexington's God's Pantry serves 250 agencies in 48 counties. Another agency in Louisville serves the balance of the WUKY listening area.

All donations made to the station between Sept. 9 - 16 are eligible for by Kirby.

Billy Kirby, 47, Chestnut Ridge, was arrested Friday morning and charged with illegal possession of alcohol in a dry territory after the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department raided his property.

The warrant was served at 11 a.m. Friday.

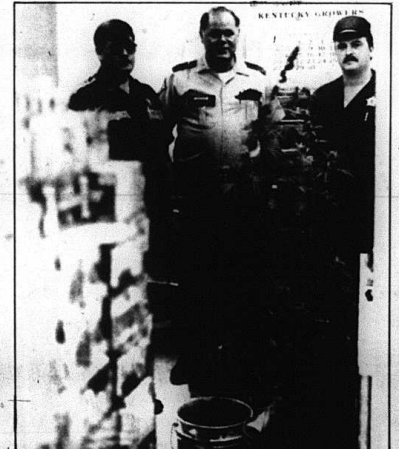

Some 803 cans of beer, five 5ths of wine and 20 marijuana plants were found on the property, which is owned by Kirby. The marijuana, which was being grown in large buckets, will be taken before the Rockcastle County Grand Jury.

The jury will then determine what action will be taken.

Kirby's bond was set at $5,000 cash or property and he was released later that day.

The alcohol charge was for a first offense, according to the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Shirley Smith and deputies Darrell Doan and Ronnie Roark are shown with some of the marijuana plants confiscated in a raid Friday morning.

Dear Editor,
 Ike Adams, I loved your column about the reunions. I thought that was so good. I sent my first cousin in Ohio a clipping and Ike, you made my mom and me talking about those peas. Next year if you raise them please, I want to know where you live and I want a washub of them, please.
 The story about the dog was good but the one about the reunions I loved. It ought to be a law that Bush and Clinton be made to attend this reunion.
 We also have a reunion every year. The Singleton-Mullins and McGuire and I enjoy them so much. I love your column, you are the best and I want some bean seeds. Whatever kind of peas do you raise? The edible pods are tenderites. I love peas so please keep up the good work. I read every column, you're good.

Library News

Images From the Mountains: A Traveling Exhibit of Appalachian Artists is an opportunity for Appalachian artists from Kentucky, both established and emerging, to exhibit their work in the state. The show, in its sixth year, is a juried exhibit of paintings and works on paper sponsored by Appalachashop and the Appalachian Center of the University of Kentucky with support from the Endowment for Appalachian Artists.

Once again, Rockcastle County artists are encouraged to submit up to six 35 mm color slides of no more than three works. If slides are unavailable, color photographs will be accepted. Each slide or photograph should be labeled with the artist's name, title of work, dimensions, medium, and date completed.

No entry fees are charged, but shipment of accepted work to the U.K. Appalachian Center, and back to the artist, shall be at the artist's expense. Entry forms may be obtained at the library.

We, at the Rockcastle County Library are making plans to have a booth at the Bittersweet Festival on Main Street in October. We hope to have some displays and we have some books for sale. We have had a good number of books donated to us and some of them are duplicates, so we will have these and books that we have weeded from our shelves.

Some new books available are...
Cry of the Hawk by Terry C. Johnson.
 Jonah Hook, like many a plain, honest man before him, came to the rich Missouri country from Virginia to provide a life for his young family. (Cont. to B-8)
