VS: NOTICE OF SALE

Gwendolyn Allen Defendant

Pursuant to judgment and order of sale entered in this action on the 11th day of September, 1992, for the purpose of partition, I will offer at public auction the herein after described real property in Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

At the Courthouse Door on Main Street

On Friday, the 9th Day of October, 1992

Beginning at the Hour of 11:00 A.M.

said property being more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Located in the town of Broodhead, Rockcastle County, Kentucky, and BEGINNING at a stone, the northeast corner of the Number 1 1/2 acre lot; thence with what is called the Railroad line, North 7 poles to a stone or stake; thence South 83 West 23 poles to a stone; thence South 4 degrees East 7 poles to a stone, southwest corner to the second 1/2 acre of, North 83 East 22 1/2 poles to the beginning, and containing one (1) acre.

Being property which Betty Bernice Lewis and Gwendolyn Allen obtained by deed dated September 24, 1984, from Lou Payne, recorded in Deed Book 145, page 292 in the office of the clerk of the Rockcastle County Court, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

The property will be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

1. The property shall be sold to the highest bidder(s) for cash or for a deposit of TWENTY (20%) PER CENT of the purchase price in cash at the time of sale and the balance payable THIRTY (30) DAYS from the date of the sale, with interest at the rate of TWELVE (12%) PER CENT per annum from date of sale until paid. The purchaser(s) shall be required to execute bond with surety thereon, to be approved by the Master Commissioner, for the balance of the purchase price. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) per cent per annum from date until paid, and to remain and be a lien on said property until fully paid.
2. The purchaser(s) shall have the privilege of paying all of the purchase price in cash or paying the bond before maturity by paying the principal amount thereon, together with all interest accrued thereon to the date of said payment.
3. All unpaid ad valorem property taxes of record at the time of entry of the judgment will be paid from the proceeds of sale.
4. The purchaser(s) shall have possession of the premises upon complying with the terms of sale and risk of loss of improvements shall thereafter be of the purchaser(s).
5. This sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise.
6. Should there be a lien on the property held by the United States, a federal right of redemption shall exist.

City council works on solving finance problem

By: Ray McClure

What was thought to be put to rest at the Mt. Vernon City Council recently, reared its head again at a meeting of the council Monday night.

Citing the city's financial problems, councilman Bobby Bailey brought up the issue again.

Bailey, who was out of the state when a vote on a payroll tax was taken on Sept. 21, told the council the city would be right back where it was if something wasn't done.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer and the council explained how the council would meet its balanced budget from funds from RECC, Renfro Valley (maybe) and UDAG Money owed from C&R Investments.

But Bailey said these were not permanent amounts and come June when tax revenue had been spent, the city will be in the same situation again.

The council then discussed a vehicle sticker for residents of the city that could bring in some money.

The council then asked that a survey be made to determine how many vehicles were in the city and how much the sticker would be.

In other business, the council passed over until the next meeting whether to purchase 12 acres adjacent to the city sewer system from Shirley Burton.

Mrs. Burton asked $50,000 for the property. An appraisal of the property by an outside source estimated the value to be $30,000.

The council decided to take the matter under advisement until the November 2 meeting.

A request by Cox and Clontz, attorneys, to trade land to the city near Comprehensive Care Center in east Mt. Vernon, for a city parking lot opposite the courthouse was turned down by the council.

An outside appraisal set $1,000 an acre for the Cox property, and $40,000 for the city parking lot.

The council voted to keep the city parking lot as it is now.

The council voted to take into the city the site for a new high school on the Ky. 461 bypass. The school board had asked to be brought into the city.

A second reading was made on the property tax rate and water rate for customers outside the city.

Matt Powell Jr., retiring water and street superintendent, was given a watch for his 35 years of service to the city.

Livingston Council in deep water

By: George Ferrell

Boyd Eversole displays the chlorinator that was scrapped when it could have been repaired for $12. Instead a new one was bought for $3,200.

About 75 angry Livingston residents turned out in force Monday night for the city's commission meeting to voice their protest over water advisories and the management of the city's utility operations.

After about 10 minutes, the crowd sent several people to the house of Sheila Flannery, city clerk and wife of James Flannery, the water operator and sewer manager.

After the records were obtained, the Mayor, and Todd Mink took action and fired Flannery from his position with a proxy vote from Margaret Burdine, who left early along with Juanita Medley.

Mayor Faye Baker said she would check to see if the vote was in order and on Tuesday told The Signal that an advising attorney in London had told her the vote was in order.

Many of the residents stayed late after the meeting was over to check through the records of their bills.

Some had cancelled checks which showed discrepancies between meter readings and their actual payments as charged.

One had paid $47 by check when the meter reading said the charge should have been $18.03.

Both Flannerys are bided for their actions on behalf of the city.

"She was told last week to be at this meeting with all the books and the whole nine yards," Baker said.

Both had been told that their presence was required at the meeting.

According to Mayor Baker, Mrs. Flannery had told her that she had a doctor's statement telling her not to leave her husband.

This led to several people leaving the meeting to go to the Flannery's house to obtain the records.

During parts of the meeting former operators Boyd Eversole and Danny R. Bullock told their story of the state of the water plant when they were called on to step in and help the Advisory lifted

The water advisory for Livingston has been lifted as of Wednesday morning, according to Mayor Faye Baker, who said the system was found to be in compliance with EPA standards.

Test samples were taken Tuesday morning and sent to Lexington.

Residents had been upset because of the water advisories, which told local residents to boil water before using it.

"We have a lot of people here and we have some with something they want to present," Baker said in opening the meeting. "We want to thank Boyd and Danny — they've been a lifesaver the last two weeks."

Eversole is a truck driver and Bullock works for Kentucky American Water Company, but the pair have been trading off work times to get the situation under control.

The two said at the end of the meeting that even though they had work commitments that they would continue to operate the plant but cautioned residents that they could only do so on a short term basis.

Eversole showed the crowd a $1,900 chlorinator that had been scrapped when it could have been repaired for $12 in parts, then held up a $3,200 replacement chlorinator that he said was too sophisticated for the local system.

"What he's been putting in our water lines is little more than what's been pumped out of the creek," Eversole said.

Eversole also said that three or four pumps had been out of commission even though they are known to be somewhat more reliable.

"This is the negligence," Eversole said. "He told the city lightning hit

Court pays for truck

Rockcastle Fiscal Court voted Tuesday to reimburse Rockcastle Little League $628 for eight hours lease on a bucket truck.

The truck was used to change light bulbs at Thacker Field in Brodhead.

The court revised the cost of a snare and trap for use by Joe Cuzmins, dog warden, for trapping animals.

A $164,000 bill for excavation and other work at the Rockcastle Courthouse judicial annex was reduced to $15,751 on agreement by both the county and contractor.

The decision wrapped up most of the costs related to the construction of the annex.

The decision wrapped up most of the costs related to the construction of the annex.

House numbering ordinance passed

The Mt. Vernon City Council approved an ordinance setting up house numbering in Mt. Vernon at the request of the Postal Service.

All property in the city must have a number so emergency personnel can identify the location of homes, private buildings and places of public gathering. The numbering would be helpful for fire departments and ambulances.

The council set Jan. 1 as the date for numbers to be on houses. Failure to comply would result in a fine no less than $50 and no more than $500. Each day will constitute a separate offense.

The house numbers will be at least 3 inches high and legible from the street, or by painting on the curb numbers at least 4 inches high.

A notice may go on city tax bills indicating the number of the property.

Persons with Post Office boxes will not be affected in mail delivery other than having numbers on houses.

Persons who receive their mail at their residence will have a new mailing address.

Numbers will not be available until a later undetermined date.

Local man dies in wreck

Roger D. Cottogim, 24, of Mt. Vernon was killed early Monday when his truck left U.S. 25 at Roundstone and struck a bridge embankment.

The truck ended up nose down in Roundstone Creek near the intersection of Wildie Road.

He was southbound on U.S. 25 when he ran off the right side of the road, travelled about 600 feet and struck the embankment.

No seat belts were in use according to investigating State Trooper Gary Lane.

The exact time of the accident is not known.

Cottogim was born Feb. 10, 1968 in Naperville, Ill., the son of Virgil Cottogim of Florida and the late

Joann Thomason Cottogim

He was employed by Wal-Mart in Berea as a check-out cashier, had graduated from Rockcastle High School in 1987, and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors in addition to his father are: His foster parents, Clarence and Irene Sowder; Thomason of Mt. Vernon; a brother, David Cottogim of Florida; several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Services were Oct. 7 at Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Wendell Romans officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

pallbearers were Matthew Walker, Russell Rose, Neil Kelley, Michael York, Shawn Moberly and Lonnie Thomason.

Bicentennial caravan at Renfro Valley October 20

A Wilderness Road Bicentennial caravan is forming for a trek through Eastern Kentucky, including Rockcastle.

The horse-drawn caravan will cross into Kentucky on the morning of Oct. 9, a welcoming ceremony will be held at Cumberland Gap National Park Visitors Center.

From Middletown the caravan will go to Pineville, Manchester, Barbourville where it will participate in the Daniel Boone Festival Oct. 16 and 17.

From Barbourville it will travel to London with a lay-over at Levi Jackson State Park.

On Tuesday Oct. 20 it will travel to Renfro Valley, with entertainment.

The remainder of the trip will be to Richmond and Ft. Boonesboro for Oct. 24 festivities.

According to Gatliff Craig, who is in charge in Rockcastle, about 80 wagons have joined the caravan for the 16-day trip.

In Rockcastle, the caravan will use old U.S. 25 (through Lamero) for their route.

Heater stolen

An oil heater valued at $500 was stolen from a house owned by Josephine Burdette on Rt. 1, Brodhead.

The house was vacant. M.L. Burdette lives in Richmond, Ind.

Deputy Sheriff Karen Akon investigated the theft.

Weather

A total of .56 of an inch of rain has fallen in Mt. Vernon to date in October.

Cox Funeral Home weather station reported the high temperature was 74 on Oct. 3. The low was 36 on Oct. 1.

School board case dismissed

A suit filed by Larry Kirby and Iva Jean Kirby against the Rockcastle County Board of Education has been dismissed in Rockcastle Circuit Court by Judge William T. Cain.

Attorneys William H. Thompson and John G. Prather Jr., of Somerset and Debra Hombree Lambert of Mt. Vernon argued successfully for the Board of Education.

They contended that a County Board of Education enjoys sovereign immunity from negligence claims.

They argued a County Board of Education is an arm of state government and as such enjoys state sovereignty.

The case was filed following the death of Michael Glen Kirby who was struck and killed by a car after exiting from a school bus at Conway.

Judge Cain said for reasons stated above it is hereby ordered that defendants notice of summary judgement be granted and plaintiff's complaint be dismissed.

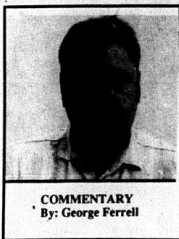

"Alive and Spoken" will be performed Saturday during the Bittersweet Festival. Cast members at rehearsal Monday night include, from left: Sara Wilson, Jack Lewis, Ed Cortis, Shelley Parkerson and Carolyn McGuire, standing.

A wreck early Monday morning took the life of Roger Cottogim of Mt. Vernon. The truck came to rest in Roundstone Creek.

Striving for simplicity is one universal value

COMMENTARY
By: George Ferrell

You know what's wrong with America today? It's that we all want simple answers in a complex world. We all want to hear that problems can be erased by a few simple measures. I'd say everything from automobiles to breakfast cereal has gotten more and more complex. In the past decade, our automobiles have gotten more and more complex, replete with computers and streamlined with every type of luxury at the fingertips.

Now if you take a new model car to an old timey mechanic, you'll hear "We can't do that here -- it takes a machine." Today's car needs to be hooked up to a computer before it can be "diagnosed."

I suppose yesterday's autos and trucks left a lot to be desired but sometimes I hunger for a simple way to repair and maintain an auto. Then there's breakfast cereals. We are told, and there are scientific studies, that a certain amount of bran will control cholesterol. Then it's off to the supermarket. Ever try to balance off bran with what tastes good? It also has to have enough vitamins to float the Titanic.

Then there's dieting. Nobody goes on a simple caloric diet. They have to go to nutri-land, or Ginny this or mega that before they can lose the weight.

Then there's politics -- we all like simplicity. Just put the candidates up there and let us vote or not vote. But then most people aren't even registered. Politicians are all simple when they're elected -- just wait until they get in office -- that's when it gets complex.

I guess the whole world, this colossal spinning ball in the universe, is going to get increasingly more and more complex. Everybody wants simplicity. Every marketing firm knows that as they design product after product.

Planned obsolescence is one of my pet peeves with the modern age. If something is worth building then it is worth keeping in repair, or keeping in good condition. The landfills are full of planned obsolescence. We are told it is much simpler to throw away and reacquire.

One day we'll be shoveling garbage off our lawns and it'll be simpler to move somewhere clean and pure. The catchword in America is "simplicity."

Everybody wants it and nobody is able to get it. Ah! Well, that's the way the world turns. And, that, my friends, is all for this week.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

The ridiculous expense of cheerleading is the news again. And this time not just in the space your weekly newspaper so patiently makes available for my soap box. Unless you've been in solitary confinement or for the last couple of weeks, you should already know that the father of a Harrison County Cheerleader is in jail because he sent all sorts of threatening letters to school officials literally threatening his daughter's life. And he signed them with a fake name hoping folks wouldn't figure out where they were coming from. And until they did, they called off hounding at Harrison County High School and beefed up security at ball games and around the school because they were scared. Terrorized is the right word.

Now that the FBI has investigated this bizarre event, they are convinced that the man never meant to harm a hair on his daughter's head. He had hoped to scare her so much that she would give up cheerleading. He didn't have the courage to tell her it was something the family simply couldn't afford and it was literally driving him crazy. In fact, if the way he acted is any indication, it looks to me like he did go off the deep end.

Here's a fellow who doesn't have a thing in the world against cheerleading. It's not a religious issue or anything like that. I imagine he felt pretty proud that his kid had the gymnastic ability, charm and personality to make the team. I imagine that he was thinking to himself that he would look like the strongest crumb in the world if he took that away from her. Or worse he'd have to admit to his family that they were poor. And somehow he rationalized that if he could scare her into quitting, he wouldn't have to deal with those issues. He could just keep them covered up and he could pretend that poverty doesn't exist the way that most people in this state like to do.

The fact of the matter is that over half of the children in some counties live in families whose income is below the level of poverty as it is defined in this country. For a family of four, that's $13,000 per year before taxes, Social Security, and so forth. Call it $10,000 take-home even though it's a bit lower than that.

Now the first thing that the school tells all kids who want to try out for cheerleading that it's gonna cost their parents out of their own pockets, somewhere between $400 and $1,000. Actually, they say between $375 and $800 but they leave some stuff out. Heaven only knows why they start out at $375. The actual figure is generally a few cents lower than the high range. A more honest range would be between $729 and $800. (I know what I'm talking about because we have a cheerleader in the family) And then it wouldn't look so darn bad when they went over the upper limit by a hundred bucks or so.

Anyway, for a family living right on the poverty line who has a daughter who wants to be a cheerleader, we're talking 10 percent of the family's disposable income. And if you can't make that fit in the family budget, don't try out. Don't even think about being a cheerleader. If your family won't give up eating so you can be a cheerleader, we're sorry Honey. If they'd rather pay rent than see you on this squad they don't have any school spirit anyway. So get on out here.

The fact of the matter is that an impoverished family can't afford $50 for cheerleading expenses. The fact of the matter is that cheerleading is too expensive for many families who live well above the poverty level. I'd be willing to bet that for every kid who makes a cheerleading team in the Kentucky county of your choice, there are 10 who wish they could have tried out but they didn't because you a kid that the school system will get on the team without money being an issue. You know it and I know it and the school systems know it so don't even be bringing that up. If the schools are going to offer prestigious, extra-curricular activities they ought to be required by law to look every kid in the building in the eye and say to them, "If you're good enough to make our team, that's enough. If you can play this trumpet or saxophone, take it home and go to practicing. That's all it's gonna cost your family. So come on down. We want you and we need you on the team."

But they don't do that. What they do, in fact is more cruel than any form of punishment. They look down their noses at the poor kids and tell them that if they don't have money, they can't hack it. They don't come right out and say that because it would be against the law. But that's what the kids hear and feel. And that's precisely why a great many of them will always be poor.

It's a problem that could be fixed very easily. But it won't until the State Board of Education passes a simple mandate. I can write it up in five minutes. It would say that school systems can't charge kids or their families a single nickel for anything except lunch. It would say that if one of us goes to camp, we'll send the whole team or we won't send anybody. If we're gonna have a band, we're gonna have to invest in some uniforms and instruments. If it's gonna cost, we're gonna pay for it or we ain't gonna do it.

Period. That took less than a minute but a lawyer needs to look it over for at least four more. And then you'd have it. Fairness. But don't hold your breath. This is, after all, Kentucky politics we're talking about here.

Some wag in the Herald Leader, however, suggested that it wasn't anymore expensive than keeping a kid on the basketball or football team. Unfortunately, a lot of people believe that, but please give me a break here. Show me a kid who can hit three pointers or dunk the ball and I'll show you a kid who can't hit three pointers or dunk the ball and I'll show

you a kid who can't hit three pointers or dunk the ball and I'll show

Baptist faithful are real sticklers for immersion

Heresay
by
Jon Norman Meadows
Wald, USA

Uncle Jim Meadows was close to eighty when the First Baptist Church at Mt. Vernon renovated their sanctuary in the mid-fifties, putting in more pews and a new baptistry. That was some baptistry! Wendell Blew, a previous pastor, painted a placid picture of the Jordan River on the wall behind the pool. And the front side of the tank contained a long pane of clear glass that let the congregation actually see the baptizee (or "baptismal candidate") under water.

Baptists have always been sticklers for total immersion, i.e., everything goes under. However, word has it that back then some folks at

First Baptist weren't "full" members because a certain frail, short pastor in years gone by hadn't gotten their more-than-ample frames all the way under -- like Mabelle Sturdivant, who was 6 feet three, and weighed 275 before baptism. With that see-thru baptistry, however, everyone would know when a body didn't go all under.

After watching several immersions in the new baptistry, Mabelle got under conviction about being only a partial member and asked to be re-baptized (not unheard of in a Baptist Church). And she was. But after the BWWC (Baptismal Water-Watching Committee) conferred -- its five members were positioned at strategic viewpoints around the sanctuary during a baptism -- the chairman yelled out, "Souse her again, Preacher. You got everything but her top-knob." And he did. Thereafter, no one was more a member than Mabelle, except Tap McNeely, who "got saved" about every other revival and therefore was baptized again and again.

Mabelle's decision was well thought out. For instance, a prospective pastor needed 75 per cent of the ballots cast to be called by the church. Mabelle was afraid the day would come when some decent preacher, because of her, would get only 74.5 per cent approval. Of course, if that be told, there are to this day a handful of members at the church, who, according to a former pastor, were not soaked sufficiently and should have only half-voies in church matters. A study of church records -- after 1956, when the BWWC was accepted -- shows an average of one in five being dunked again because their initial dips weren't deep enough. But that's better than the Baptist's convention-wide average of 1000 double-dips out of five.

I asked an old friend, Ike Campbell about the ratio in his denomination. He didn't know, but he had heard that years ago his church lost a baptizee when they went to the river in January and broke ice to get to "running water." One of their pastors put a portly fellow under but let him slip away and float downstream, in a swift current, under the ice. "Well, gimmie another one," he said. "That one's gone on to glory."

Now a passel of people, including non-Baptists, thinks baptizing indoors smacks of "modernism." If the outdoors was good enough for John and Jesus, it's good enough for us, they declare with zeal and vigor. And they're dead set against a recent fad being touted in liberal seminaries. I refer, of course, to the abominable practice of no-handkerchief immersion. Believe it or not, some ministers today do away with the kerchief and tell their candidates that they won't take in any water if they hold their breath and keep their mouths shut.

The custom of a kerchief over a candidate's nose and mouth at the moment of immersion is an ancient tradition. It dates back to the first century, B.C., when a super-pious company of Jews left Jerusalem and moved down in the wilderness near the Dead sea to await the imminent Day of the Lord. They built cisterns to collect rainfall and made macramé and scrolls to pass the time away. They also baptized each other a lot to keep themselves ceremonially pure -- which also kept them cool. A scroll fragment, discovered recently by a teenage goat-herder, tells of the Dead Sea dwellers using handkerchiefs to keep salty sea water out of their nostrils during baptisms--unless, of course, the baptizee had sinusitis.

When will these revisionists cease tampering with age-honored rituals? They do so under the fallacious assumption that a no-kerchief baptism better symbolizes a burial-resurrection. Have they not read that when Lazarus was raised from the dead, he had a napkin over his face? What heretical nonsense will they conjure up next? No-tablecloth communion? Whic grape juice at Christmas?

Oops! I almost forgot Uncle Jim. The house was packed for the first baptism in the new baptistry. Uncle Jim sat, as usual, in the second pew from the pulpit because his hearing and eyesight were impaired. He did not know about the glass in the front of the pool; it was even less visible under indirect lighting. On his way out of the church that night, he said, "Bro. Lawrence, it's a mystery to me how you made that water stand up there like that."

AARP meeting Friday at library will feature Mayor Gary Cromer

The Rockcastle County Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP #3215) announced today their events and activities commencing the International Day for the Elderly, October 9, established by the United Nations, in commemoration of the important role older people play in the family, the nation, and the world.

Gary Cromer, Mayor of Mt. Vernon will be at the AARP meeting. Some prominent people will be honored at the AARP meeting on Friday at 6 p.m. at the Rockcastle Library. Our goal is to acknowledge the many contributions made to our communities and nation by older Americans and the diverse cultures they represent," said Elizabeth Mullen, Director of AARP's International Activities office.

"Everyone who lives in Rockcastle County is encouraged to join the celebrations to honor the many dynamic older people who help to make our community so wonderfully diverse," said Ms. Mullen.

Rockcastle Hospital to offer Family Caregiver course

Beginning on Monday, Oct. 19, Rockcastle Hospital, Berea Hospital and the Care for the Elderly Advisory Committee will sponsor a course on Family Caregiver Training. The class will continue to meet every Monday for six weeks from 6 to 9 p.m. at Rockcastle Hospital.

This Family Caregiver Training will provide valuable educational and supportive information and skills to those caring for someone in the home, or who anticipate having to care for someone in the home.

The training will include information about normal aging, recognizing illness, meeting the needs of the caregiver, and personal care.

The course will also address adapting the home environment, nutritional needs, assistance with medications, community resources and planning for the future.

"Caregivers have expressed that the program provides a supportive environment for them to air problems in caring for someone on a full-time basis, as well as teaches the caregiver ways of coping with caring for elderly or sick persons in the home," according to Ruth Davis Instructor.

For more information please call Joy Cochran Training Director at Rockcastle Hospital at 256-2195. The deadline for registration is Oct. 16.

Rockcastle In the Fall

By Preston Parrett

When Rockcastle countians want to sight see
We don't have far to go
For here in Rockcastle
Nature puts on a beautiful show.

As we gaze up the hollers
Across the fields,
Down in the valleys
And upon the hills.

A rainbow of colors
Are pleasing to the eye
As multi-colored leaves
Stand out against the sky.

For the beauty of nature
Is vivid all around,
Even to the carpet of leaves
Lying upon the ground.

The leaves still hanging on
Are red, brown and gold,
Intermingled with evergreens
A sight so lovely to behold.

For here in Rockcastle
Magnificent scenery is free to all.
A beautiful display of colors
And it happens every fall.

Rockets beat Briar Jumpers, 14-7; face Corbin Friday

Backed by a defensive shut-out in the second half, the Rockcastle County Rockets physically defeated the host Somerset Briar Jumpers, 14-7, this past Friday night to extend their regular season record to 5-1 and their district record to 1-0.

"I wasn't too pleased with our performance," Rockets' head coach Tom Larkey said Tuesday.

"We wasn't as emotionally involved before the game as we have been," he added, "Nevertheless, it put us 1-0 in district play so we will take the win."

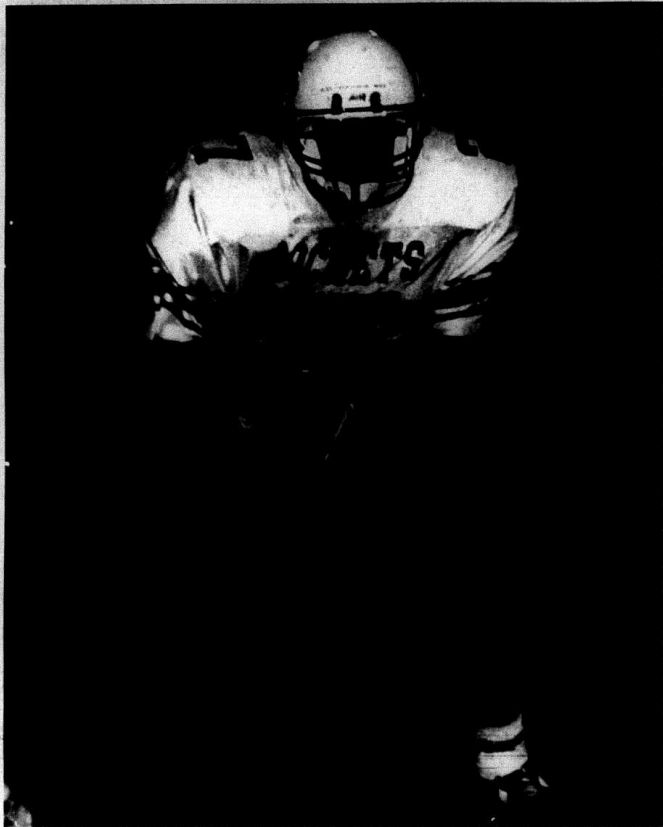

Indeed, the Rockets did not overwhelm Somerset in the first half but, in fact, found Somerset to be the more aggressive team. Somerset's defense essentially shut-down the Rockets' offense while, at the same time, posted the only score of the first half.

"We didn't run well at all in the first half," said Larkey. "However, it seemed that Somerset was running over us at will," he added.

The biggest key to Somerset's success in the first half was their tight nine-man front. Larkey commented last week that this type of defensive structure, which includes four line-man and five linebackers, was an effective way to stop or hamper any running game. The structure forced the Rockets to punt three times as well as being the basis for an interception that set up the only score in the first half.

J.D. Harris goes for yardage in Friday night's action against Somerset. The Rockets beat the Briar Jumpers, 14-7, for their first district win.

Dusty McClure gains yardage for the Wildcats in Tuesday night's Little League action against the Bucs.

JVs whip Somerset, 20-0

The Rockcastle County junior varsity Rockets garnered another victory Monday with a win over Pulaski County, 20-0.

Doug Cromer took in the first touchdown of the game on a 15 yard reception from quarterback Aaron Cox.

The Rockets posted their next touchdown in the second quarter on a 45 yard reception from Cox to Brian Carter. Cromer carried in the two-point conversion afterwards.

Cromer again found the end zone for the Rockets' final touchdown in the third quarter on a 15 yard run to conclude the game, 20-0.

The 1st team junior varsity are now 5-0 on the year.

In 2nd team junior varsity action, the Rockets were edged out last Monday by host Lynn Camp, 20-14.

Scoring for the Rockets in the losing effort were Jason Cromer with a 10 yard run, Jamie Linville with a two-point conversion and Cliff Mullins with a three yard reception from quarterback Jamie Linville.

Little League Update

Also winning this past week were the Bengals with a 18-6 victory over the Wildcats.

Scoring for the Bengals in the win were Jody Carter on a five yard run, Clifton Matekovich on a fumble recovery and Jason Brown on a 20 yard run.

Jonathon Cromer carried in a one yard fumble recovery for the Wildcats only score.

In the 5th & 6th grade division last Thursday night, the Bucs defeated the Redskins, 30-6.

Scoring touchdowns for the Bucs were Donald Monk, Jon Burdette, Kevin Navarre and Tommy Bullens caught a touchdown pass from Jon Burdette. Brian Cromer kicked three extra points. Jacob Burdette scored the only touchdown for the Redskins.

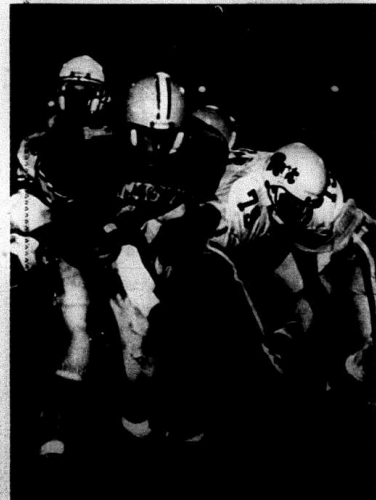

In the first game, the Wildcats defeated the Bengals, 12-0.

James Hayes scored both touchdowns for the Wildcats.

Let by Anthony King's five touchdowns, the Bucs handily defeated the Redskins, 40-7, this past week in Little League Football action.

King had two 25 yard runs for touchdowns as well as three 40 yard runs. He also carried in the point after one touchdown and kicked a two-point extra-point. Also scoring for Bucs were Dean Richards with a two yard touchdown and Malcolm Shepard with a point after a touchdown.

Scoring the Redskins only touchdown was Jimmy Kidwell with a 20 yard run. Shane Whittemore was credited with the point after the touchdown.

Rocket's Stacy Kirby and Chris Goff pull down a Somerset player in Friday night's action at Somerset.

Darrell Carpenter of Lamer caught this Wildliffe Fish on the Rockcastle River last Tuesday. The fish was 33 inches long and weighed 14 lbs.

Donald Monk scores a touchdown for the Bucs in their 30-6 win over the Redskins last Thursday night.

Rockets beat Somerset

Somersets pulled down the interception on a Rockets pass attempt from their own 49 yard line and returned it to the Rockets' 36 yard line. Afterwards, Somerset scrambled for 16 yards on five plays before reaching the end zone on a 20 yard pass reception. Their center-punt kick was good to enable them to go into the half leading 7-0.

Although Somerset's nine-man front limited the Rockets from the ground, Larkey felt that they could have been more successful from the air.

"Our passing game was there," he said, "But we would either drop them or they would be overthrown." "It wasn't anyone's fault, it was just a combination of both," he added.

The Rockets seemed to erase the first half of play and came out in the second half looking similar to their old selves. They advanced well while literally controlling Somerset's offense with their defense.

The Rockets' defense received their biggest challenge on Somerset's second possession in the early minutes of the third quarter. After successfully driving the ball from their own 29 yard line to the Rockets' 11 yard line, Somerset was allowed only three more yards in three plays against a hungry Rockets' goal line stand. Following their three tries for a touchdown, Somerset was forced to attempt a field goal. But again Somerset's offense achieved no success as their attempt ranged wide right.

"I felt that our goal line stand and them missing their field goal was the turning point of the game," said Larkey. "From there we started moving the ball."

The Rockets' took over the possession on their 20 yard line and bounded out to their 36 yard line on a pass interference penalty against Somerset. Two plays later, from their 40 yard line, quarterback J.D. Bussell found Michael Shaffer wide open on Somerset's 30 yard line who easily scampered in for a 60 yard touchdown reception. Fullback Bobby Coffey followed by carrying in the two-point conversion to give the Rockets the lead for the first time, 8-7.

Following their first score, the Rockets continued to play well. Not only was their offense moving but their defense was executed extremely well.

"Our defense in the second half was exceptional," Larkey said, "We kept Somerset in their own territory and held them for the remainder of the game."

"Jason Hunt played a spectacular defensive game, the best I've ever seen him play," added Larkey, "He was knocking blocking backs into the running backs."

Hunt also had a very good night punting the ball. He had five punts and averaged 45 yards on the night.

Midway through the fourth quarter Bussell threw the next score with an interception that put the Rockets in excellent field position on Somerset's 19 yard line. From there it took the Rockets only two plays before Shaffer broke free for a 16 yard run into the end zone. Although the Rockets were successful on their two-point conversion attempt, it was called back due to too many players on the field. The Rockets' attempt for an extra-point after the penalty ranged wide to conclude any scoring of the game at 14-7.

Defensively for the Rockets: Jason Hunt had three solos, one assist and two sacks; Brian Mink had one solo and four assists; Jay Stevens had two assists; Stacey Kirby had two solos and four assists; Gordon Sower had two solos and two assists; Chris Goff had three solos and two assists; Bobby Coffey had one solo and four assists; Louie Davis had three solos, three assists and a half sack; J.D. Bussell had one assist and one interception; J.D. Harris had four solos and three assists; Michael Shaffer had one solo and two assists and Jason Kirby had four solos and eight assists.

Offensively for the Rockets: J.D. Bussell had two rushes for zero yards and eight pass attempts with one reception for 60 yards and one touchdown; J.D. Harris had 17 carries for 82 yards; Bobby Coffey had eight carries for 48 yards and Michael Shaffer had eight carries for 29 yards and one reception for 60 yards and two touchdowns.

The Rockets will host Corbin this Friday. The game begins at 8:00 p.m. Larkey commented that this year's Corbin team is the strongest they have seen in years. They have a very large team and start 22 seniors and only two juniors. One note is that Corbin's best athlete, #5 Patrick McCowan, is out for the year with a bad knee.

them — lightning didn't hit it, negligence hit it." Eversole said that Flannery himself gets his water from somewhere other than the local system. "He don't drink the water, he don't live here," he said. "I don't think he should be allowed back under any circumstances."

Mayor Faye Baker said that the local system has been under state scrutiny since last spring and that she was informed of violations on August 2 and on September 4. "I think the most serious one was the sewer lift," she said. "The water advisory is still on but now it's not because of the sewer lift."

Baker said a construction project on a new bridge broke the old lines and made temporary lines necessary. She said she was told Monday "to get samples and go to the lab with them."

The results of the testing appear elsewhere in The Signal.

Baker said Flannery took over in December of 1991 and his wife was hired in February of 1992.

"When he took over the sewer plant was out of compliance," she said.

Baker said she is uncertain over the status of the books on the financial affairs that had been managed by Flannery and his wife.

"The bills we thought were being paid have not been paid," Baker said.

She also said that there could be a mixup but that the financial records and operating records need to be checked and reviewed for any possible discrepancies.

Baker said she only signs the checks but does not see the bills for the operating expenses.

"One company said they have not been paid since April," she said. "The minutes show they've been paid twice."

The temporary line has not yet been paid for, according to Baker, who said that is one problem with the new water project.

"We're trying now to get our creditors on the water project to pick up the cost of the temporary line," she said.

At Monday night's meeting Sue McClure was absent, while Juanita Medley, Todd Mink, Margaret Burdine and Baker were present.

Baker said the commission wanted to confront the Flannerys during the September meeting but that the Flannerys did not attend, saying that he was in the hospital.

It has been rumored that Flannery has filed a worker's compensation claim with the city and that a lawsuit has been threatened, but a suit has not been filed in the Rockcastle County Circuit Court.

Baker said that the books will have to be reviewed.

"I don't know whether we need an accountant or not," she said. "I'll have to look at the papers and see what's done or not."

She said she was understanding about the public's reaction to the crisis.

"You can't blame them," Baker said. "One time the water tastes so bad you can't drink it and the next time it bleaches your clothes, several people, even our own board members say it bleaches clothes."

Baker said Eversole and Bullock were called in to help with the emergency situation, but that they felt so strongly about the situation that they had decided on their own to document the problems of the plant.

"This is a good turnout for a small town with less than 400 people," Baker said, noting that many people wanted to find out about the situation that has left them without drinkable water for quite some time.

"I don't think a professional would let it get in this condition," said Eversole, noting that Flannery is licensed and certified by the state and qualified to make all the efficiencies and repairs at the plants.

Bullock said he didn't know what the condition of the plant was when Flannery took over, but that Flannery had "been here nine months and he didn't get anything done."

"He's managed to destroy, tear up and break down all the equipment," Bullock said.

According to Baker, many local residents have offered to help to cover the books, and several at the meeting demanded that the books be open to the public under Kentucky Revised Statutes.

"I think it's good for the community that all these citizens come here for a common cause," Eversole said. Eversole and Bullock will not be working on a salary but will be volunteers who will be reimbursed expenses.

Even at the current rate of operation, local firefighters say it could be difficult to fight a fire due to the lack of water and water pressure in the lines.

They said hauling the water from a local waterway would hinder their response time by 20 minutes in bringing water to a fire scene.

In another matter several local residents asked about the situation concerning police protection in the community.

A vote on two volunteer firemen who had volunteered to provide police protection on weekends fell against the measure by a 3-2 count.

Several residents said that their concerns are because of local vandalism and what could happen to the local school and other concerns.

New form in use for Write-In Candidates in upcoming election

A new form entitled "Declaration of Intent to be a Write-in candidate" must be completed at the office of County Clerk Norma Hook for all write-in candidates seeking office.

In the past, voters wrote in the name but the intent to be a candidate was not reported to the clerk.

The form must be signed by the write-in candidate 10 days prior to election. For the next election the cut off date is Oct. 26.

In the city election, no forms are needed. All write-in votes will be counted.

To date, James Winstead is the only candidate filing the write-in candidate form. Winstead is a candidate for county surveyor.

Ford says no county will be removed from ARC list this year

U.S. Sen. Wendell Ford said yesterday he had received assurances that no Kentucky counties would be removed from the Appalachian Regional Commission's distressed counties list this fiscal year.

Among the counties that were threatened with being dropped were Casey, Floyd, Johnson, Lee, Leslie, Owsley, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Russell, Wayne and Whitley, according to a statement from Ford's office.

Ford, said earlier news reports indicated the commission was contemplating a proposal that could have removed the counties from the list, thus making them ineligible for additional federal assistance.

In response to a letter Ford sent to the commission's federal co-chairman urging a review of the eligibility criteria, the agency stated "no counties in your district will be removed from the list of eligible counties for this coming fiscal year," according to Ford's statement.

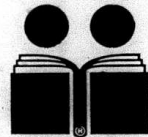

Livingston residents swarmed the records obtained from city clerk Sheila Flannery and her husband, James Flannery, utility manager, Monday night after the Livingston-Commission meeting. Mr. Flannery was discharged by the city after failing to bring the water system into compliance with EPA standards. Many residents had complaints about their billings and Mayor Faye Baker promised the crowd that the books will be opened to resolve possible discrepancies.

The importance of education assessment is not where we are, but where we're going.

The new learning goals for Kentucky schools are much higher and far different from the goals students had before the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990. Now, with KERA, students are involved in a process of continuous learning. Teachers are helping students apply in real-life situations what they learn in the classroom. And that's what the new assessment program measures — how well students can use what they know. Today's scores show where our students are starting. We've got a long way to go, but the new system will move us forward. So, although scores seem to be lower, we've really just raised our expectations. Look for scores to improve next year and in the years ahead. For assessment information call 1-800-KDE-KERA.

Bobby Cummins, owner and operator of Dairy Mart, received the Scattergories game for the gift he earned in the CF Bike-a-thon. Bobby was a real spark in the ride this year and broke all records for most miles rode in nine years of CF Bike-a-thon with 42 miles.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Over the next several articles, we plan to discuss what the scriptures say concerning the miraculous gifts of the spirit, miraculous healings and Holy Ghost Baptism. It appears that the "Voice in the Wilderness" does not wish to discuss and dispute these issues publicly, so we shall proceed without him, in setting forth what the Bible teaches on these issues.

I Cor. 12, 13, 14, Paul discusses the miraculous spiritual gifts that come from the Holy Spirit. In Chap. 12, Paul shows us that though there were a diversity of gifts, yet they were all from the same God, vs. 4-6. These gifts were not designed to promote division and schism in the body, but that each served a vital function in the body, vs. 14-26. Paul lists 9 various gifts in vs. 8-11 and 8 gifts in vs. 28. Not all had the same gifts vs. 29-30. Then in vs. 31, Paul said he was going to show unto us an more excellent way.

In Ch. 13, we have the more excellent way, it is the way of Love. Love is essential to being right with God, vs. 1-3.

Love is described in vs. 4-8a, it's not a "mushy" type that stands for nothing, nor does nothing. In vs. 8b-13, Paul points out that the spiritual gifts are temporal and would end, thus the reason why the Corinthians had a wrong attitude about spiritual gifts, in verse 8, we read "Charity never faileth but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge it shall vanish away." Doesn't this sound like the spiritual gifts were going to stop? For vs. 10 points out that "when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away." Im. 1:25 tells us about the "perfect law of liberty"; thus upon completion of Bible, i.e., the New Testament, spiritual gifts ended for they were no longer needed. The word of God was completely revealed and fully confirmed and the saints could know God's will by the study of the scriptures without dependence upon spiritual gifts to know the mind of God.

In ch. 14, Paul gives regulations on the exercising of spiritual gifts, for they would still be in existence and use for several years to come, after Paul wrote the Corinthian letter.

Next time we want to develop the meaning of "confirming the word."

Mr. and Mrs. Lovil Nicely celebrate 50

To "Mom and Dad", "Ma & Pa", and "PaPa", all of us, want to thank you from our hearts for all the love and guidance you have given each of us. We are proud of the example you have set for us and are grateful for all your sacrifices. You have taught each of us the importance of placing your faith in God and religion. May our Lord bless you with many more years of health, love, and happiness together and may we be there to share them with you. We love you both very much! Happy Anniversary!!!

They died their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Renner and grandson David also their son Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKinney and family all of Reading, Ohio last weekend.

Mrs. Marie McKinney visited Mrs. Eunice Prater and family awhile Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Julia Dailey has returned home after spending a few days in the Rockcastle Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Harris Burton visited Mrs. Vallie Burton awhile Saturday afternoon.

Bob Mason of Ohio visited Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Houston Monday.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Arnie Kirby and Mrs. Lillian Holt and children of Louisville and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barron and Judy of Paris and grandchildren Crystal and Kelly Rose of Winchester.

Sympathy is extended to the families of Mrs. Beulah Renner and Roger Cottogim in their time of sorrow. May the Lord comfort each one.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Newson of Somerset visited her mother Mrs. Vallie Burton Sunday and took her to lunch at Long John Silvers at London.

Ms. Shirley Burton and sister Mrs. Mildred Hunt were in Richmond Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Adams of Fairland, Ind. spent three nights last week with their mother Mrs. Bertha Adams, also painted her carport and window frames and did lot work while here.

Mrs. Juanita Browning and her mother Bertha Adams were in Somerset shopping recently.

Mrs. Mamie Halcomb underwent eye surgery and is doing fairly well. Visitors of Mrs. Elva Mobley were Mrs. Marie Alcorn, Mrs. Zola Wenger and Darlene Wilburn of Crab Orchard.

Our deepest sympathy goes to the George Adams family and all others who have lost loved ones.

A story from Mrs. Alifair Burkhart goes like this: a visit to Beech Fork in Leslie County to a Homecoming with her sons Billy and Orville Burkhart took her to a singing and plenty of dinner at the school house. Ora Wilson was there and said Mrs. Burkhart was the best person ever was because she saved her life as they were in a rain storm coming home from school when young and washed her down in the mud and Mrs. Burkhart brought her back to life by shaking her and working with her. Don't you think that is something to be thankful for.

Mrs. Berniece Wilson reports Brother Arnold Pingleton has resigned as pastor of the Valley Baptist Church and says there were many who were sorry for his leaving and wish him well.

Mrs. Katie Doyle wishes to thank everyone who helped out so much with food and prayers during the death and burial of her dear sister Ella Roberts.

Congratulations to Lovil and Rena "Little Mary" Nicely on their wedding day of October 12, 1942, 50 years ago. Both were youngsters when they began their lives together with odds stacked against them. During those 50 years, things were often tough. Both worked long hours in the fields picking tomatoes, or doing whatever jobs were needed in order to provide a home for themselves and their family. They often carried the children to the fields with them in baskets while they worked on farms. Then Lovil got a job in Cincinnati, life became a little easier and the family grew. Those years certainly went fast. They have raised four children (Joyce, Chris, Greg and Debbie). Then they became even more loving as grandparents to Mike, Shannon, Angela, Tabatha, Misty, Jill, Mindy, and Jeremy, and finally as great grandparents to Scout, Justin and Brandon. They semi-retired at a young 50 years old to a farm in Wilkita, where they still reside.

Raymond Lear and wife Ruth of Richmond, Ind., were Saturday visitors of Mrs. Katie Doyle.

Mrs. Fannie L. Allright is on the sick list and Mrs. Ruby Thompson caring for her. Our prayers are for her and all others who are sick.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Sophia Cable Barker were Ernest Barker and wife Ruth and son Robert of London, Delray and Janet Bishop of Ohio and Carter Blanton.

Mickie Lea Pruitt has returned home from Florida where she has worked with the flood victims and is now back in Ashland on her regular job. She spent a short time with her mother, brother, Pat and Freddie Jr. Pruitt and met and also visited with her dear friend and children Tomi Hammond in Richmond and another friend Margie Richmond and husband.

Mickie says she couldn't imagine what a bad shape things are in down there in Florida. She sure was tired from working so much but thankful she could.

As she zoomed around the track With her grandmother at her heels Bobby Cummins the oldest rider Rapidly set the pace, Encouraging the younger riders To really get into the chase.

Kool Aid and soda pop Were in great demand, And even the older folks had a cup in their hand.

The riders pedaled swiftly With Kool Aid stained lips, For it took a lot of drinks and cookies To provide energy for the trips.

Bobby Proctor was Mr. Goodwrench He kept the bikes in good repair, It was said that he could fix The Goodyear Blimp with air

Many prizes were to be won As riders pumped like pistons With legs pumping like pistons They disappeared then were back.

But the greatest prize to be won Is great and beautiful to behold, For a cure to Cystic Fibrosis Is everyone's ultimate goal.

Mark Proctor, a 6th grade student at MVES, rode 26 miles and chose the football for the gift he earned in the CF Bike-A-Thon.

We welcome back Mrs. Charlotte Bullock after being on sick leave. We would like to thank Mrs. Laura Durham, substitute, for a job well done in Mrs. Bullock's absence.

The PTA BookFair begins Thursday evening following the monthly PTA meeting and will conclude Wednesday, Oct. 14.

Primary teacher, Mrs. Rita Shaffer and Instructional Assistant, Darlene Harris accompanied the entry-level primary students on a nature walk that included a visit to Citizens Bank of Brodhead. The students want to thank bank personnel for the complimentary gifts each received.

October 8 is the deadline for Extended School Services (ESS) selection forms to be returned to your child's teacher.

Students entered the building Monday morning with expressions of surprise due to the halls being filled with old desks. The school finally received new furniture that had been ordered for weeks. The faculty chose table and chairs which will allow the process of cooperative learning to be managed more efficiently. Bill Melcher and Jackie Lawrence deserve special recognition for the many hours they spent assembling the furniture.

STATIC, the primary group of Mrs. Dyhouse, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Bradshaw and Mrs. Graves, have a busy month planned. In recognition of Fire Prevention Week, the classes are studying fire safety and will visit the firehouse. Also, the classes are actively involved with a thematic unit on apples. They are making caramel apples Friday and a trip to Brummett's Apple House will be their culminating activity.

The students enjoyed a Pep Rally the last 15 minutes of the day, Monday, October 5, which marked the opening game of the basketball season with a home win against MVES. We wish lots of success to coach, Debbie Cash and team.

A pizza party was enjoyed by Mrs. Kathy Reynolds' homeroom class as a reward for 20 days' perfect attendance. Congratulations!

Mrs. Katreka Cash's fourth graders learned patterns in math the fun way. They made varying patterns using TRIX cereal.

The report card envelopes from Wendy's were late for the ending of the grading period, but your child may take his/her card to Wendy's for the attendance and grade program. Perfect attendance receives hamburger, fries and drink. 1 - A gets small fries, 3 A's burger and fries and all A's receive hamburger, fries, and drink. We appreciate Wendy's continued support of our school.

We would like to thank the parents who attended Parent Night last Monday evening. We are sure the information you received regarding assessment reform was helpful in understanding your child's progress reports, homework, etc.

The halls are decorated beautifully throughout the building with handwork of the students and the Alumni Garden is beginning to take shape.

The Brodhead Fire Department has invited classes to the firehouse in recognition of Fire Prevention Week. Mrs. Pamela Martin's classes have exhibits of artifacts, etc., representative of Native American culture, on display in our library. Make an effort to visit the school/library and note the talents of our students.

After surveying students and parents, the school council reconvened Tuesday and wrote a draft copy for improvement of home/school relations. The publication will be sent to the board of education for final approval. The project is a part of the Effective Schools Improvement Plan.

The 4-H Recognition banquet was Tuesday evening. John McQueary presented awards to those students who excelled in some aspect of 4-H through the 91-92 school year.

BES will host an assembly Friday, October 16 at 11:30. The Scribner Junior High Orchestra from New Albany, Indiana will perform in concert. You are welcome to attend.

Eighth grader, Jeffrey Owens, is one of four students with the RCHS golf team playing in the regional tournament at Eagles' Nest Country Club in Somerset.

We have five students participating in the University of Kentucky Gifted Children's Program. John LaFavers and Heather Burton are enrolled in Introduction to Psychology "Let's Get Psyched." Brook Roberts and Tara Burton are taking The Cemetery Box and Zack Gentry and Jeremy Neeley have classes in the MAD (Making Amazing Discoveries) club. These classes are conducted each Saturday for eight weeks.

Livingston School is busy preparing and making final selections for those items that will be placed in the time capsule. The time capsule will be buried at the courthouse on Saturday, Oct. 10 at 10 a.m. County Judge Executive Roland Mullins and Principal Charles Carter will speak.

The time capsule will have a stone marker with date of burial and date to be opened - 2017 (25 years in the future). We want to thank Lacs Funeral Home of Berea for donating the stone marker. Also, a great big thanks to Allen Pansol in planning for this special event as part of our school wide Kentucky unit. Support your school, attend this event during the Bittersweet Festival this Saturday.

Remember, Oct. 20 is Pioneer Day. This event will be our culminating project for the Kentucky Unit. Many parents and community members have signed up to have displays at school this day, featuring Kentucky culture. We have so many individuals in our community that are rich with talent and skill. We are urging everyone: students, teachers, parents, and community members to dress up for Pioneer Day.

Extended School Services is a unique program which can benefit children. ESS (after school tutoring) will begin Oct. 13. ESS will be on Tuesday and Thursday from 3:10 to 4:10.

Junior High students and staff enjoyed listening to Sandy Queen speak at MVES. Ms. Queen has a unique way of expressing feelings and attitudes about growing up.

We want to thank Dawn Lang, coordinator of the Youth Services Center for providing us the opportunity to see and enjoy Ms. Queen.

World's Problems Too Much for Small Shoulders
(From a Wall Street Journal article by Stephen R.C. Hicks)

Most parents want their children to become informed and independent thinkers, but in trying to convey a sense of urgency about the world's problems, they are committing an error.

Children are not able to deal with Global environmental concerns when they are still grappling with personal hygiene. And they're not able to understand international race relations when they are still struggling with the school-yard bully.

When we overload children with such problems, they become frustrated and frightened.

We need to take pains to help children confront problems on a scale they can handle.

If we want to prepare our six- and seven-year-olds to deal with acid rain, we should teach them to care for a 30-gallon aquarium.

If we want them to be ready to handle the Saddam Hussein of the world, we should help their lunch with the little tyrant who extorts their deal with these.

These are the sorts of problems children are ready to solve.

Don't ask them what they would do if terrorists exploded chemical weapons above their town, or if the food chain were irreparably damaged by pollution.

Frightened children are not going to grow into adults who can solve the world's problems.

The Homecoming

By: Christine Harper McKinney

In all the years since I married and left Mt. Vernon without a diploma, I had never been back for a class or school reunion until this year. And, oh my, what I have been missing. It had always been my contention that such affairs were for graduates and that all others would feel uncomfortable; a bit out of place. But this year that argument just wouldn't fly, as Keith Norton and other former students of the old school refused to take "No" for an answer. It seemed they have been promoting my little book, The Harpers of Pongo Ridge, and wanted me there.

Keith, I have since learned, mentioned my silly notion about not fitting in to the chairman of the committee, Billy Hiatt and the secretary, Mrs. Jean Brown Tower, whose special invitation to come join them was not about to be ignored or taken lightly. And this year, thanks to them, I felt like a graduate!

The highlight of the evening, indeed one of the highlights of my entire life, was when Billy spoke those kind words from the podium and asked me to stand and be recognized. All of which left me puddled up and literally speechless. This was a three-hankie event for me and I'm still speechless.

Another moving experience was seeing so many old friends and former classmates. There was Sue Ella Bullock, whose married name I neglected to get. Sue Ella was one of the brilliant ones among us whom I respectfully envied and tried to emulate—without much success. I might add. And, lo and behold, there was Elaine Dillingham Davidson, my very best friend in the whole world. That meeting alone was a two-hankie deal; made more so by the reminder that she is a year younger than I, not older, as stated in my book! Our reminiscing about school days and our brief discussion of the years in between are to be continued. Soon!

Another face from the past was Lena Hurst, a dear friend who also worked for room and board while attending MVHS. She lived with a family across the road from where Conard and Martha Parrett lived the first year or so I was with them. Lena, a freshman when I was in the eighth grade—and much smarter—helped me over several assignment hurdles, especially with Algebra. Thanks again, Lena; so good to see you again.

We shared a table with Keith Norton and wife Frances, the Dale Brays and the Ernest Stanleys. An adjoining table were Elaine Parrett Hiatt and her husband Jack.

I can never find words to express my feelings at seeing the Parrett children again. Elaine and Jack greeted us upon their arrival, then kept returning to check on us until time to be seated. Elaine had promised to see that we didn't get lonely, but she had been a cheerleader and so very popular that everyone wanted some of her time. She kept apologizing but we had found so many friends we were doing just fine. Elaine and I have agreed that our time together is also to be continued. We did get our picture taken together; also with Elaine's cousin Eva Ann Machal Griffin, whom I also remember with fondness. We met Homer Dash (class of '39) and his wife, the former Edna Ping. They drove up from Florida for the reunion and were lucky to be present, as Hurricane Andrew had come dangerously close to their home. Edna and I go back a long way. She and I attended the Pulaski County Line Creek Baptist Church as youngsters, though I remember her two younger sisters, Eva and Elva, better. Their mother, Leona McKinney Ping, was related to my husband Ivan. It was good to hash over old times with Edna.

I was happy to see and chat with Shirley Nichols Rosinski who drove down from Cincinnati. Shirley, a member of the class of '39, is a friend whom we see occasionally at family gatherings. Her father is Earl "Red" Nichols whose first wife, Cuba, was my sister.

Sadie Owens came around for a brief chat, but we missed her sister Bernice who was a member of my class. We also enjoyed seeing Billy and Benny Chaney, my husband's cousins, whose father Chester was killed in World War II. We were both privileged to have known Chester who grew up at Bloss.

It was a special privilege to be so warmly greeted by the Honorable Roland Mullins, Judge Executive of Rockcastle County, and his lovely wife. Just wish I had had more time with them, as I sure liked what they were saying about my little book. Such conversations should never be short!

And on the subject of that book: I, as the author, have never dared offer a moneyback guarantee of satisfaction. But don't despair. Lee McClure has done just that very thing. So if you don't like your copy, take it to Lee and he will refund your money. It's a rash promise he made, but I have a handshake—and witnesses. If he reneges, let me know and we shall take it up with Judge Mullins! I could go on and on, but, like as not, the editor has already "filed" my ramblings away in that special place they have behind their desk. On the chance, however, that you're still with me, I must say again that Mt. Vernon school was one of the greatest blessings in my life. And that even includes the wise move of having me repeat the eighth grade there. At the time, my ego was somewhat deflated, but I realized later that I needed this; that our little country school had not prepared me for the work I was to encounter in my freshman year. Today I have nothing but praise for, and fond memories of, good old Mt. Vernon High; grateful to all who made it possible for me to attend and those caring souls who invited me back for one more sweet glimpse of the past. Thank you, Thank you!

new avenues through which I can support wholesome directions for youth and adults. And I trust that the new drug prevention program will do an even more effective job of reaching those who need it most.

Recently I have spent several evenings visiting DUI classes in other parts of the state. The participants, some of whom are teens, have lost their drivers licenses for up to five years and they seriously wish they had better control over their drinking. They cannot drive to work, they have had to pay a lot of money, and they are embarrassed. Believe me, prevention is less painful and costly than this! Parents, please get involved and support every educational effort you believe will keep your child off this destructive path. The loss of my job, for which I apologized, is something over which I had no control. But parents, if you do not do everything in your power to see that your children have all the resources they need to keep them from falling into the drug trap, you cannot expect them to accept your apology for not trying.

Protective Parenting

By: Ginny Gilpatrick

The column this week is an apology; it is also a lament. Now that school is started I am confronted in the grocery store, at church and at various gatherings by children who ask me when I am coming back to their classrooms...or when Champions Clubs are going to start. I am sorry, but neither program will be there as it was last year.

Last year I was hired to develop a drug prevention program for grades K-12. After reading a lot of research on what has and hasn't worked with youth to deter them from using drugs I discovered that success was based primarily on three factors: 1) intensive education in grades 3-7 (Most kids make up their minds during this period); 2) voluntary participation in youth organizations that stress goal setting and achievement for young teens; and 3) involvement of parents and network of community agencies.

With this in mind, I concentrated on writing and presenting lively classes for each grade that drew the children into participation and on developing the Champions Clubs which drew over 200 children and 28 parents into their classrooms...or when Champions Clubs are going to start.

This year the Board of Education has decided to spend the money they are allotted for drug education and prevention in other ways. I sincerely hope that the new programs are effective, but I will miss the work that I began. I apologize for not being able to fulfill promises I made to certain classes about doing more role playing, sharing the results of the drug survey, or bringing McGruff back to visit. Believe me, I still care about the sobriety of the children of Rockcastle County.

But as with all disappointing turns of events, there is a reason, and lessons to be learned. I am discovering

Australian visits Mt. Vernon

Miss Claudia Hardt of Melbourne, Australia was visiting in Rockcastle County last week. Miss Hardt, Jeanne and Bill Johnson of Covington were guests of Hazel Slep of Mt. Vernon and Alwanda and Tommie Falin of Broadhead. She really enjoyed the beauty of Kentucky and the people being so friendly.

I've lost my office! Oh, it's in the same place that it's been all summer on a picnic table on the front porch where it was cool!

The trouble is it's gotten too cool. I tell you the weather at 45 to 69 degrees gets too much for me. So I'll be moving back to the kitchen office table location. I'm telling you this because a reader asked me once where was my office up at the newspaper. It made me feel great that someone gave me the importance of having an office.

At church, we have a "Secret Pal Club" which was exciting for me last of the month on our wedding anniversary. My pal not only sent us a lovely card, but tickets to eat as well, from Long John Silver's Restaurant for a dinner. This pal probably reads that we go there a lot and decided that would be a good thing to do where I could get out of the dishwashing. Thank you, pal! I'll know who you are in three more months.

I want to say a big "hello" to all the "girls and boys" down at the Berea Health Care Center. I understand your new Activity Director, Donna Anderson, does have interesting things for you to do. I wonder if you are having a Halloween party "down there and who will wear masks. If I can come, I will, and wear my regular face. That scares everyone around.

I found Wilma Decker Lamb at Quality Cleaners. She was one of the good waitresses for me when I would stop in at Dairy Delight, which has changed business, to get something to eat for me. Usually it was french fried mushrooms. Even before I had barely entered the place, the girl would start cooking saying, "Yeah, I know, you want french fried mushrooms."

I wrote some time ago about casting your bread upon the waters and it would return to you. Well, I got some more bread lately. Laura Clarke returned me some bread by putting plumprangry seeds in a package among the clothes she had mended for me and was returning. I liked your surprise, Laura. I hope they take off next year and grow. Thanks for helping me with my mending!

I want to thank Ruth and Phil Gatloff of Rochester, Indiana, for their nice note telling me about a friend of theirs, Mable Reppert Burdette, who works at Rentro Valley in the Aunt Polly House. It is the home of antiques which are for sale. Ruth hopes I meet this lady and talk with her. Ruth and Phil plan to spend some time in Florida this winter to get away from the snow and bad weather.

After reading about the kind of weather we're supposed to have in our winter season here, I expect a skiff on the ground. But I hope you all get what you want in your own fine weather--I just hope you run off in case "Andrew" has a brother!

I had heard that there weren't many gentlemen out there in the world today but one fellow proved to us there is a man like that.

We had been to the doctor where John was told that he had a light stroke in his right arm with the arm being numb from the shoulder down to the fingers. At the table, being upset, John made a sudden move with his left hand and knocked over a whole cup of coffee which went running across the table and down to the floor.

We tried to stop the coffee from spreading with two of those paper napkins but there was too much liquid.

A tall, handsome, young man at the next table got to his feet bringing extra napkins which finally stopped the coffee.

Then he took John's cup, went up to the serving counter and came back with a cup of coffee. We tried to pay the young man but he wouldn't let John.

He sat back down, finished his meal and started to leave. We stopped this helpful stranger and asked his name.

"I'm Randy Clowes, living on the Richmond-Berea road," and was gone but he left the memory of a very kind person with us.

People in Passing. Seeing Ted Gabbard in the Berea National Bank who asked me how I was getting along, I said, "Well, I'm behaving! What about you?" Ted made a noise like, "Phooey! Well, you won't have any fun," and walked away.

Bryan Brooks, living in King Hollow off Clear Creek, greeted me in front of the Citizen office. He was so friendly (and handsome as well), I asked his name. He said he was the son of Allie Abney Brooks, a girl who used to be a pupil of mine in the old Disputanta School on Lower Clear Creek. My, how time does get away from us!

Laura Longfelter was getting out of her car in front of Berea National Bank as I came out and she began talking to me about how she enjoyed the Citizen and my column in it. I didn't remember her at first, but she told me her name and said she was the widow of Dan Longfelter who was a nice fellow. He used to be in a group who went out together.

I thanked Laura for her kind words about this column. If there weren't good readers, there would be no column.

Bertie Pharoos, one of the tellers at the bank, sat in a chair before me with eyes as round as two silver dollars in much surprise.

I had just said to her, "It won't be long before I'll stop doing business up here. I'll be going to another bank!"

Bertie swallowed and finally began to talk. A shadow had flickered across her face. "Is it anything I or any of the other tellers have done to you to cause you to want to quit this bank?" Bertie was trying. I'll say that much for her.

No. There is going to be one on Glades Road close to where I live and I won't have to drive so far up here. But I'll miss all the folks here who are so nice to me! I told her and Bertie's face relaxed from the surprised look that she had.

By the way, Bertie, are you coming to the party here at the bank at the end of this month. There will be a band and lots of food. Have you heard about it?"

"No," Bertie said, "I haven't. What is the celebration for?"

"Why, I'm making the last payment on my car after four long years of worry, sweat and tears. Then it will be mine." I wonder how many of you have had that relief after making the last payment on something that you were buying.

I hastily told Bertie there was no celebration, only in my head. I was so relieved and she must be glad that the bank was off the hook by her laughing over all the silly things I was saying.

Thanks, Bertie, for taking part in my joke.

When the church at Galilee was invited Sunday by the name of anyone who had just had a birthday this past week, Cynthia Lamb let go about her husband, Mackie, having a birthday on October 3. But I heard nothing at all about an age! I bet Mackie has given up on there being a Santa Claus.

We hit the mountain after church on Sunday on U.S. 25 near Livingston.

You can't imagine how wild and tall the land looks, with little houses in the distance stuck here and there in the thick timber. I will take this part about our trip up next week.

We have been very worried over John's mild stroke with his right arm and don't know what to expect. He had quite a few tests made but we don't know the results yet so I have hardly been able to write.

Till next week: Don't worry about what's ahead. Just go as far as you can go - from there you can see farther.

Plans being finalized for scholarship fund show

The annual Strait Shot Country Music Show for the Rockcastle Community Scholarship Fund is scheduled for Thursday night, October 22 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the high school.

This year's show will have a new twist in that there will be local talent to open the show, which will include last year's winning 4-H clubact, "The Adams," and during intermission.

There will be no advance sales of tickets. Admission will be.

The drive for donations is underway and already $3,325 has been deposited in Citizens Bank. The interest from this year's collections and the money from last year ($11,000 approx.) will be used to provide a scholarship to some deserving senior at RCHS who does not receive a loan or grant or other scholarship. Of course, the more donations, the larger the scholarship can be.

Angie Stallworth was recipient of the $500 scholarship given last year.

Persons contributing $100 for the first time to this effort will have their name added to the "100 Club" plaque mounted in the main hallway at MVHS and will receive a commemorative Bybee Pottery cup -- made especially for this occasion by Bybee Pottery craftsmen.

To date, the following have contributed to this year's effort: $100 donations: Dave McCauley; Dabney Feed; Willalla Grocery, S&M

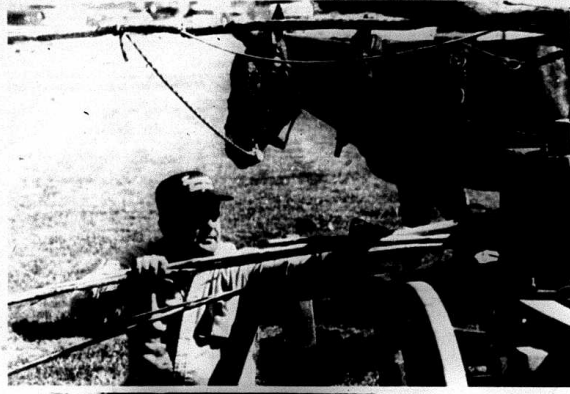

Grocery; Roy G. and Flora Mae Brown; Gary Gentry; Wendy's; In Memory of Henry M. Brown; Citizens Bank; Sipple's Chiropractic; Smith Construction; The Blue Plate Special; McDonald's (London); Renfro Valley Entertainment Center; Video Fantastic; Sheriff Shirley Smith; Mt. Vernon Tire and Oil; Robert and Rosaline Philbeck; Carpenter and Sons Custom Bulldozing; Dr. Randal Clark, M.D.; Long Air-dox; State Farm Insurance; Young's Pharmacy; Dr. Lee Cain; Dr. Parsons/Reynolds; Dr. Karen Saylor; Saylor's Pharmacy; Jerry and Tina Hasty; Foodtown; Appliance Service Center; Rockcastle Street Rodders; James W. Lambert; James W. Lambert; Debra Hentzre Lambert and S&T Hardware.

Other Donations: Adams Feed, Rockcastle Auto Parts; Mt. Vernon Automotive.

Any donation in any amount will be greatly appreciated and donors from $50 to $100, who are already members of the "100 Club," will receive the Bybee commemorative cup.

If you are missed by these cup contributions and wish to donate, contact Charles Napier, Polly Abney, Tina Hasty, Henry Hines, Dale Whisler, Keith Smith, Janie Grigsby, Carol Riddle, Lorena Powell, James Miller, Betty Glover.

Mark your calendar now for the Strait Shot Concert and show your support for this worthwhile cause.

It's 'Lasses Makin' time in the Valley
The annual Renfro Valley 'Lasses Making Festival' was held the past week end with excellent crowds. The highlight of the festival, as always, was the actual making of molasses, from scratch, on the grounds. In the top photo, cane is being fed into the grinder in the first step. Many crafts were for sale (middle photo) and, bottom photo, the crowds were entertained often and well.

Silvers receives Excellence Award

An Excellence Award has been presented to State Trooper Jimmy Silvers of Mt. Vernon for his investigation of a case in London.

In July, 1991, after receiving information that a 1982 Mazda GSE, valued at approximately $500, was being towed from London, to Miami, Fla. at a cost of $1,200, Kentucky State Police officers became suspicious and initiated a traffic stop. A search of the vehicle with the consent of the driver revealed $390,386 in a hidden compartment below the trunk area.

A drug detection dog alerted to several parts of the vehicle including the inside area. A search warrant was obtained and a subsequent search revealed traces of cocaine (confirmed by the KSP forensic laboratory) in the vehicle. The Kentucky State Police has received $312,208 of this federally forfeited currency.

Two other troopers received a similar award for the case in Frankfort. They were Charles Loomis and his dog, Nick, and Joe Schenkenfelder. Commissioner Billy Wellman made the presentations.

Bowling says he has alibi for times of slayings

Monday
Murder suspect Ronnie Bowling was not in Laurel County on the days he allegedly shot and killed two service-station attendants in 1989, relatives and a former girlfriend testified Monday.

Monday was the first day of defense testimony in Bowling's trial. The defense is expected to conclude today and the jury will begin deciding whether Bowling shot two men in cold blood or whether police arrested the wrong man.

Circuit Judge Lewis B. Hopper told jurors that today's testimony will be short. That suggests Bowling will not testify.

Bowling's aunt, Ezell DeMoss, testified Monday that Bowling and his wife were in Indiana to visit Bowling's grandfather Jan. 20, 1989, the day of the first slaying.

Bowling, 23, of Clay County is charged with killing Ronald L. Smith, 28, on Jan. 20, 1989, and the Rev. Marvin Hensley, 48, on Feb. 22, 1989. Both men were shot six times as they worked alone at service stations.

Bowling is charged with two counts each of murder, robbery and burglary. He could receive the death penalty if convicted.

DeMoss told jurors that Bowling arrived in Indiana the evening of Jan. 19 and stayed several days. She knew that because she noted it in a personal calendar book she has kept for years, she said.

On cross-examination, Commonwealth's Attorney Tom Handy contended that the calendar entry for Jan.

20, 1989, looked different from other entries for the months around that time, suggesting that DeMoss wrote the entry later to provide an alibi for Bowling.

DeMoss said she did not falsify the calendar entry.

Cecil Bowling, Bowling's uncle, also said Bowling was in Indiana at the time of the first slaying.

April Lunsford, 21, of Clay County testified that she and Bowling had a relationship in early 1989 and that they spent the night together in the Cory Motel in Manchester during the time of the second slaying.

Lunsford said she met Bowling about 11 p.m. on a Tuesday -- which Jim Cox, Bowling's attorney, said was Feb. 21, 1989 -- and they were together until 7:30 a.m. the next day, when he left for work.

Hensley was killed about 6:30 a.m. Feb. 22, during the time Lunsford said Bowling was with her.

Lunsford said she knew Bowling's family and saw his brothers infrequently.

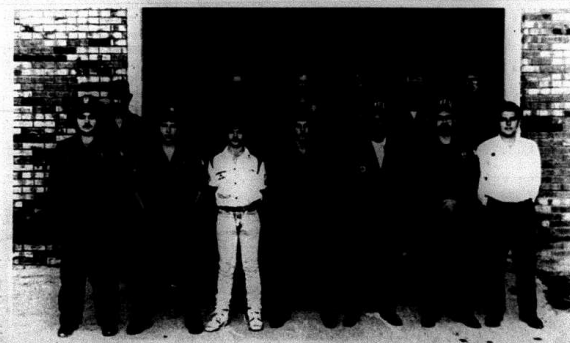

However, she later admitted she is having a relationship with one of Bowling's brothers and might have played a role in his divorce.

Tuesday
A Laurel County jury yesterday heard conflicting testimony about a gun prosecutors think was used by Ronnie Bowling, 23, in the murder of two service station attendants.

One witness was jailed for contempt of court.

Livingston VFD in need of basic equipment

By George Ferrell
With 24 volunteer members, the Livingston Volunteer Fire Department has recently had some growing pains.

That is, they have been unable to supply all their firefighters with the needed equipment to fight fires.

Fire Chief Jerry Mink said the department needs hoses and breathing apparatus and, to a lesser critical extent, radio equipment.

"We have sort of a freeze on our membership now," Mink said. Organized in August of 1978, the department has five original charter members: Chief Jerry Mink, Assistant Chief David Mason, former Chief Bobby Wilson, Danny Bullock and John Hall.

Mink has been chief of the department for six years and he said community support is very important.

"We're dependent solely on the community," Mink said. "Without the ability to exist -- they've been very supportive to us in all of the fundraising drives and with donations."

Last year, the department made 42 runs. This year, they have made 32 runs to the city and surrounding area.

"We serve basically a five mile radius of the city," Mink said. "We also provide municipal aid to all of the surrounding fire departments."

The department has three trucks, a 1964 Ford they acquired with the start of the department in 1978; a 1981 Ford; and they are in the process of building a 1976 quick response Dodge truck with 300 gallons of capacity.

According to Mink, the Ladies Auxiliary has provided support down through the years.

The next fundraiser for the department will be the annual Turkey Shot on a weekend in November.

Mink said the city provides whatever support that they can, but that the county buys gas. "The county this year gave us $1,800," Mink said. "The department pays for their own maintenance, insurance, building

Arts Council in tenth year

Hard as it is to believe for those involved from its inception, the Rockcastle Council for the Arts is going into its tenth year of promoting the arts in Rockcastle County.

This volunteer non-profit organization has designated the 1992-93 season as a year, not only for special fund-raising efforts, but for an all-out push to saturate the county with opportunities to enjoy the arts.

1992-93 promises to be an exciting season as the Arts Council kicks off its ten year celebration with "Alive and Spoken," an evening of poetry selected, interpreted and presented by local people from all walks of life in unusual and exciting ways. "Alive and Spoken" will be presented as part of the Bittersweet Festival on October 10 at 6 p.m. on the courthouse lawn in Mt. Vernon.

Belle Brezoning comes to the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center on Friday October 9, at 7 p.m. "Belle," the prototype for Margaret Mitchell's Belle Watling in "Gone With the Wind," comes to life by way of the Lexington Council for the Humanities Speakers Bureau.

The next main event on the agenda for 1992-93 will be a dinner theater production November 20 and 21, followed by children's theater in Spring 1993 and a summer musical in 1993. Further information on dates, auditions and ticket sales for these events will be available soon.

The Arts Council is missing no opportunity to enrich, educate and entertain Rockcastle County over the next year. In addition to the regular season offerings listed above, a February 1993 trip is planned to the Lexington Opera House to see "Lost in Yonkers." Tickets and transportation will be provided at a very reasonable cost by the council. Also in the works for Spring 1993 are a Fashion Show and a Run for the Arts.

If you would like to contribute or be involved in the council's efforts to enrich the arts in Rockcastle County, now is the time to jump on board. The council is conducting a membership drive and making an all-out push to expand the scope of its endeavors. For more information on the Arts Council or on any of the events listed above, contact the Rockcastle Council for the Arts, P.O. Box 70, Mt. Vernon, 40456.

Disaster program

The ASCS is reporting that a disaster program is available through the ASCS county office.

Sign-up periods for Phase II began Sept. 8, and ends Feb. 12, 1993. Phase III begins Oct. 13 and ends Feb. 12, 1993.

To be eligible for benefits under the disaster program producers must file forms at their local ASCS office and then pay for a farm spot check on crops they are requesting benefits for.

If the producer is determined eligible for payments then the cost for the spot check will be refunded. Producers also must sign an insurance certification form stating that they will purchase multiple crop/ripen insurance for crop year 1993.

If the producers fail to purchase insurance and they have received benefits then the producer will pay back to the ASCS all benefits collected from a disaster payment.

ASCS programs are open without discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, physical or mental handicap, age, marital status.

Tract closed

The National Conservancy tract that has drawn the anger of environmentalists and appalachia, Science in the Public Interest (ASPI) has been closed to motor vehicles.

The area is an abandoned strip mine consisting of about 300 acres north of Hawk Creek and east of the Rockcastle River in the London Ranger District of the Daniel Boone National Forest.

John T. Stojan, London District Ranger, stated, "this closure to all motor vehicle use is necessary be-

Dear Editor,
As a follow up letter, to my letter last week concerning the Kentucky Supreme Court's decision to strike down Kentucky's anti-sodomy law as unconstitutional. The majority's opinion was that it denied them their "right of privacy." Let me make some observations concerning homosexual rights.

1. Homosexuals have a right to know that this kind of conduct is sinful before God, I Cor. 6:9-10; Romans 1:26-27; Lev. 20:15.
2. They have a right to know that God does not regard homosexuality or lesbianism as merely as "alternate lifestyle," Rm. 1:26-27.
3. Homosexuals have a right to know that they will suffer in their bodies and personalities the consequences of their immoral conduct, Rm. 1:26-27. (even the majority opinion of the Supreme Court said it is immoral activity)
4. Homosexuals have a right to know that the Bible calls them dogs because of their sin, Deut. 23:16-17, Rev. 22:15.
5. Homosexuals have a right to know that their activity is not a disease nor were they born such, but is a sinful way of life they have chosen, Rm. 1:26-27, I Cor. 6:9-10.
6. Homosexuals have a right to hear the gospel of Christ, Mk. 16:15-16, I Cor. 6:9-11.
7. Homosexuals have a right to repent of their sin and find forgiveness in Christ, Ac. 2:38, Ac. 17:30, I Cor. 6:9-11.
8. Homosexuals have a right to be washed, sanctified, and justified in the name of Christ as the homosexuals at Corinth did. I Cor. 6:9-11.

9. Homosexuals have a right to know that they shall not inherit the Kingdom of God and not to be verbal contacts) a councilman replied "we can't get rid of him. He got hurt. He'll sue the city."

10. Homosexuals have a right to know that if they persist in their sin they shall lose their soul in hell, Rev. 21:8, Rev. 22:15.

Dear Editor,
Attention citizens of Livingston! Anyone with children in Livingston school and anyone who cares about and calls Livingston home. You would be shocked at what is going on in our town. We need to be "shouting Mad" and step forward to be heard! At the last city council meeting the numerous E.P.A. violations pertaining to the water department were read by the dedicated and concerned mayor. This is the water our children at Livingston school drink! It also directly affects the health of our community. Most of these violations are due to incompetent record keeping and reporting by the water department. One of the violations would make the city liable for a $25,000 per day fine!
When a councilwoman brought up that we should replace the waterman (who is also in question by many water customers in regards to the water meter readings and water quality, or lack of quality, as voiced in numerous letters to the mayor and verbal complaints) a councilman replied "we can't get rid of him. He got hurt. He'll sue the city."

Where is the concern for our children and citizens of Livingston? Note also that although all council members were notified of the time and location of the meeting three of them had to be sent for. At the present time there is not enough water in the water tank for the fire department to fight a serious house fire. This has been kept quiet, due to that if known, the small percentage of the community known as the criminal element, might take advantage of this situation.

It was also brought to the attention of the city council by one of our school's site based decision making council members, the vandalism problem at Livingston School and how it will affect the state's decision to close or keep Livingston School. In response to this, the Fire Department Assistant Chief and one of the lieutenants offered to take the job as city policeman, alternating weekends at no charge, due to the city's financial situation. These two men were willing to risk life and limb for friends to protect the citizens of Livingston and help to keep our school. It seems this couldn't be discussed with visitors present, so all but the council and mayor left the building. After most of the visitors got tired and left, the council had come to a decision. They said no to the offer of free police protection!

How long are we going to sit quietly and let this go on? Let's put aside our personal differences and think about our future. If you want to see Livingston become one of those towns that used to be there, don't do anything. But I plead with you to stand up and be heard. Your voices count and is important. When one of our children or one of our beloved senior citizens is hospitalized because of our water, will you still be able to say "I don't want to get involved?"

Let your council members know how you feel. They are supposed to be representing you! Most important of all, take it to the Lord in prayer as (Cont. to B-4)

Rockcastle bus driver wins third in state contest

by: Martina Mason
"I wish everybody realized how serious a job this really is. A lot of the times school bus drivers are overlooked," said Greg Bullock. Bullock, 24, the youngest bus driver in Rockcastle County, certainly takes his job seriously. He recently won first place in the county and regional bus driving competitions.

He said, "Winning the county and region doesn't make me the best driver. We have a lot of good drivers in the county."
But Bullock also won third place in the state competition which makes him a member of a very select group. The top ten winners went on to Charleston, West Virginia where there were 66 participants.

In addition to written tests, the competitions included: driver serpentine, offset alley, back alley, and pre-inspection (everyday). Bullock stresses the fact that these wins are honors, but they do not raise his pay.

He first began driving at age 22. "I took at driving a bus as a small income while attending EKV."
He is majoring in elementary education and hopes that in the next couple of years he will be teaching as well as driving a bus. Bullock lives in Ottawa and enjoys singing with the gospel group the Jubilee Echoes.

Examinations of Racial Politics, 20th-Century history featured on KET

Two programs airing on KET the week of October 11 examine the politics of race in last year's Clarence Thomas Supreme Court confirmation hearings and in this year's presidential campaign. Recent history is also in the spotlight with a new series reliving the drama of space exploration and a special recalling the tense days of the Cuban Missile Crisis. The week's highlights also include a celebration of the 20th anniversary of Great Performances and the premiere of a new quilting series.

Edward Lee Evans, the former husband of Bowling's aunt, was jailed because he failed to honor a subpoena to appear in court Monday. Evans did appear yesterday and testified that he did not sell a gun to Bowling, who is charged with two counts each of murder, robbery and burglary in the 1989 shootings.

Evans denied that he had told Lee County Sheriff Douglas Brandenburg that he had sold Bowling the gun.

Brandenburg testified, however, that Evans had told him he did not want to testify because he would risk incriminating himself if he admitted selling a gun to Bowling, who was a minor at the time.

Ora Lee Evans, Bowling's ex-wife, testified that Evans sold the gun to Bowling. She also said Evans didn't want to get involved because his testimony could be incriminating.

Isaacs testified that she and Bowling had been together Jan. 20 and Feb. 21, the nights before the two slayings. Isaacs testified that Bowling had left her mobile home about 5:30 a.m. and returned at 7:30 a.m. on both days.

The Rev. Marvin Hensley, a former service station attendant, was killed about 6:30 a.m. Feb. 22.

On Monday, April Lunsford, 21, of Clay County testified that she had been with Bowling at the time of the Feb. 22 shooting. She said they had spent the night together in the Corey Motel in Manchester on Feb. 21 and were together until 7:30 the following morning.

Closing arguments were expected yesterday, but various delays slowed the proceedings. Testimony ended yesterday, and attorneys will present their closing arguments today.

If found guilty, Bowling will receive the death penalty.

The erosion control work will consist of stabilizing slopes that have been damaged by off highway vehicles.

Dear Parents of Rockcastle County High School Students,

We wish to express our appreciation to you for attending our Parent-Teacher Conference last week. We are pleased that you have shown such strong concerns for the education of the youth in Rockcastle County. Your positive comments on the progress we are making will inspire us to try even harder to meet our common educational goals for your children. We are always willing to listen to any suggestions in any area of your student's academic life. We invite you to visit our school any time you wish - to discuss your student's progress, to discuss new programs, or simply to discover what is happening in our school. Sincerely, Ronnie Cash, principal Rockcastle County High School

Dear Editor,

It is apparent that there are a number of people in Rockcastle County who are unaware of R.E.A.P., or Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program. I would like to tell you something about the program.

R.E.A.P. began in 1987. It was formed to aid the relief of the poor, the distressed and the underprivileged. Some of the areas that R.E.A.P. planned to touch were: Clothing, food bank, nutrition, church/community liaison, Christmas and fund raising. Committees were formed to handle these projects. The By-laws and Constitution were planned. R.E.A.P. was incorporated in April, 1987.

The original officers were: Bro. Eddie Hammond, Sue Hamm, Carrie Hedrick, Kizzie Owens, Betty J. Carter, Carol A. Kirby. The Rockcastle County Ministerial Association is the advisory board for R.E.A.P.

Our present officers are: Betty Lewis (Family Resource Center), Betty J. Carter, (Daniel Boone Development Council), Anna Plaster and Ed Cordis (CAP), Lena Smith, (Senior Citizens), Precia Bowling, (Social Insurance), Edna Kirby, (Social Services), Patty Brandenburg (Social Services), Lillie Lawhorn, and Lu Ed Nielsen.

During the past 12 months we have served 865 people and given out food for almost 17,000 meals. The people we serve are referred to us by other agencies in the county.

We are not only a foodbank, but we offer a Cancer Support Group. We work with families who have been burned out or had other disasters, go into schools and teach health programs, help with literacy and other educational program.

At this time we are working with the Department of Social Services to make up Thanksgiving boxes for the elderly and disabled in our county. Our goal is 100 boxes. Donations of Thanksgiving food or cash donations are appreciated. You may contact R.E.A.P. at 256-9599 or 256-3217 or mail to R.E.A.P., P.O. Box 60, Mt. Vernon, KY., 40456. We are tax exempt and you will receive an acknowledgement. Thank you. Lu Ed Nielsen

Dear Editor,

Here are some statements from a letter in Time Magazine that Bill Clinton wrote to Col. Holmes during the Vietnam War.

Quote, "I have written and marched against the war."

Quote, "I came to believe that the draft system itself is illegitimate no government really rooted in limited parliamentary democracy should have the power to make its citizens fight and kill in a war."

Clinton didn't join the ROTC and he didn't go to Vietnam. Clinton said, "I am about resolved to go to England come hell or high water and take my chances." So he left the country and went to England.

Bill Clinton and his buddies marched to this little chant "Hey, hey, L.B.J.!" How many kids did you kill today?"

Like Clinton, Gore protested the Vietnam War anguished about the political consequences of resisting the draft. But the Gore electoral career that was on the line was that of the candidate's father Albert senior who also opposed the war. Gore went to the army and served for six months in Vietnam as a reporter for military publication. A soldier who never saw a shot fired in combat. Shell Mackey Mt. Vernon

The Rockcastle Jaycees

Dear Editor,

I am the high-visibility choices facing voters on the November 3 ballot. I want to encourage Kentuckians to search out Constitutional Amendment 3 and take a close look at this important proposal.

Kentucky Farm Bureau and the agricultural community in general are supporting passage of Amendment 3 to abolish unneeded offices, retain professionalism in state government and elevate the agriculture industry to its rightful spot in the economic affairs of Kentucky.

Amendment 3 would abolish the Railroad Commission, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Registrar of Land Office, thus saving money and doing away with obsolete positions.

Amendment 3 would also change three offices, Agriculture Commissioner, Secretary of State and Treasurer, to appointive positions. This change would close the political revolving door that politicians have used for years, hopping from job to job. And it would enhance professionalism and continuity in these important positions.

Our current agriculture commissioner has joined with Farm Bureau in backing passage of Amendment 3. Ed Logsdon is doing a great job, but the current method of selecting a commissioner gives us no assurance that future office holders will have that level of knowledge about agriculture.

Sincerely,

The Rockcastle Jaycees

Dear Editor,

I urge you to vote yes on Amendment 3. Thank you for considering our views.

Sincerely,
