Names wanted of needy families

If you are aware of a family in need this Thanksgiving or Christmas, or if your family is in need, please contact the Department for Social Services located in the Scott Building on West Main Street in Mt. Vernon.

The Rockcastle County Department for Social Services Office will be distributing applications for Thanksgiving baskets and Christmas gifts between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday until Nov. 13. Applications must be completed and returned no later than Nov. 13. Selection of families who will receive a Thanksgiving basket or Christmas gift will be determined by DSS and R.E.A.P. Families with exceptional need will be given priority. Anyone wishing to donate gifts or money for the needy can contact the Department for Social Services at 256-2138 or R.E.A.P. at 256-9599.

Any person or group making Thanksgiving baskets or Christmas gifts, please contact DSS or R.E.A.P., so there will not be duplication in families receiving items. We want to give to as many families as possible.

Vocational program is state-award finalist

The respiratory therapy technician program at the Rockcastle County Area Vocational Education Center -- a program that has placed all of its graduates in jobs -- is one of two finalists for a national technical training award.

The Rockcastle program is a candidate for the Secretary's Award, an award given by the U.S. Department of Labor which recognizes outstanding vocational-technical education training accomplishments.

The Rockcastle center is vying for the award with a Florida technology program. The winner will be selected in late October.

The Rockcastle Center's status as a national finalist documents the quality and effectiveness of Kentucky's workforce training programs and the dedication of our students," William Huston, labor cabinet secretary, said Friday.

All 54 graduates of the Rockcastle program have been employed in the healthcare field. About 51 are certified respiratory therapy technicians at the Rockcastle County Hospital's Respiratory Care Center in Mt. Vernon.

The instructor of the Respiratory Therapy Technician Program at the Rockcastle campus is Jess Hoskins. The school principal is Donna Hopkins.

The center is the largest long-term ventilator dependence facility and referral center that serves Kentucky and surrounding states.

The Rockcastle program is part of Kentucky Tech, the state's system of vocational-technical schools operated by the Cabinet for Workforce Development's Department for Adult and Technical Education.

Battle of Wildcat Mountain to be re-nacted

The Third Annual Camp Wildcat Civil War Encampment and Re-enactment will take place Oct. 16-18 in north Laurel County.

1992 is the 131st anniversary of the Camp Wildcat Battle and in conjunction with Laurel County's bicentennial committee, a new monument memorial will be erected at the authentic battlesite.

Babbage discusses election law changes

Changes in laws made by the 1992 General Assembly regarding write-in votes and the use of absentee ballots potentially affect voters in Rockcastle County, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage.

Babbage said a new law directs write-in candidates to file a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate with either the Secretary of State or the County Clerk, depending upon the office, at least 10 days before the election.

Under the new law votes will be counted only for candidates who have filed the declaration to be a write-in candidate.

Candidates for municipal office in cities of the fifth or sixth class are exempt from the new law and all write-in votes cast in these races are to be counted.

The county clerk is to provide precinct election officers with certified lists of all write-in candidates who have filed the declaration of intent.

Provisions for an emergency absentee ballot were made by the last

General Assembly, Babbage explained, primarily for the use of persons who are unexpectedly called out of town on election day.

"The General Assembly recognized that in our mobile society, persons are often called out of town on short notice," Babbage said.

"Existing law required application and completion of absentee ballots seven days before an election. Many persons found that they were given less than seven days notice that their work or personal business would cause them to be absent from their county on election day. The emergency absentee ballot gives such voters the ability to still vote and take care of business," Babbage explained.

The absentee ballot is for the use of persons who find within the last seven days prior to an election that they will be unexpectedly absent from the county on election day to apply for and to vote by means of an absentee ballot up to the day before the election.

Voters using the emergency absentee ballot must sign an affidavit stating they had no prior knowledge of a need to be absent. The ballot must be executed in the office of the county clerk during normal business hours.

The law requires the county clerk to submit all emergency absentee ballot affidavits to the grand jury.

Absentee ballots can also be used by the disabled, for medical emergencies and for other reasons specified by law.

The misuse of an absentee ballot or an emergency absentee ballot is a Class D felony.

Mother Goose Parade

I, Juanita Medley, have now resigned from the Livingston City Council and will not be running for a council seat in Nov. Although my name will appear on the ballot, I will NOT be running for re-election.

Thanks,
Juanita Medley

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
I am writing to you to let you know that I have moved to new base in the states. I have moved from Ft. Polk, Louisiana, to Ft. Hood, Texas.

I have only received a couple of letters from my hometown. Some of which were from my parents and family. I have tried to give out my new address as best as I can but it seems like I cannot reach everyone at once. I am a little lonely although I have some things to keep me occupied. I only wish that I would receive more mail than just a couple of letters.

My new address is as follows:
James Edward Gibbons
Homes 546 Int. BN, Box 54
76544-5000

Please if anyone would love to write to me I will gladly respond with a letter in less than five days.

Sincerely,
Jim Ed Gibbons

Dear Editor,

I know Preston Parrett will have a poem about the Corbin Redhounds. I thought I would write a poem.

On Friday night, October 9th, the lights were bright, fans and the crowd all were so loud. Oh was a crowd. I told Burley Burkhardt's wife Jennifer, every time the Rockets win the coin toss the Rockets win. Corbin was the foe. The Rockets thought oh was a foe but before it was over Corbin would nickname Old Rover. Corbin got on the 13 yard line. Rockets defense said oh no you don't score. Old Tony Saylor was so surprised of the outcome of the game, Corbin Redhounds came to town they would leave with a frown. The Rockets scored a TD. Harris went in and you would think for the win. Greg Bowman's kick was good. J.D. Harris again on about a 70 yard run, Corbin thought this is not any fun. They have us on a run.

Half time score Rockets 14 - Corbin 0. By the way what can I say Greg Bowman kicked good, old Cannonball Bussell too. Jason was hurt, Corbin had to grunt, ole Missile Shaffer's interception scored a touchdown cannonball Bussell too. Jason Kirby failed a field goal and made a two point conversion good by Rocket.

Corbin was your version, Corbin touchdown, 361, he was no slouch. Two point conversion not any good. Rockets knew they would win 2 and 0 in district 2A tournament play what can we say and this is fun.

P.S. Burley Burkhardt's wife's name is Jennifer.

Rockets #1 Fan
Brad Brock

Dear Editor,

As a veteran of the Korean War, it saddens me to read and observe the constant media and partisan attacks on what Bill Clinton did or did not do during the Vietnam War. That is an absolute non-issue with me and almost every veteran I know and talk with.

What matters to me is that the combat veteran in the White House, along with his Republican predecessor, has presided over cutbacks and the elimination of Veterans Support Programs on an unprecedented scale.

At the same time, Arkansas, at the direction of Bill Clinton, ranked first, nationwide, for three consecutive years in per capita veterans reimbursements by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, during their recent national convention, presented Bill Clinton with their prestigious National Achievement Award for his support of Arkansas veterans' programs, during 1992.

Our nation's pledge to support those who served is a sacred trust that should not be reduced or demeaned for any reason. Veterans have literally offered themselves. By so doing they should have earned our national commitment of support as long as such is necessary.

Veterans needs must receive a higher priority in the national agenda than they have for the past 4 years. Bill Clinton has pledged to work with veterans and their organizations to seek the best solution to veterans problems. I believe he will do that - Support for the Clinton Gore Campaign is vital to Veterans.

ans and to our nation! John W. Adams, Jr., Chairman Veterans Task Force for Clinton/Gore

Dear Editor, On Oct. 1 the Transportation Cabinet and Robin A. Chaney, adopt a highway coordinator of Frankfort, announced the interest the All American Club of Rockcastle County held for the Kentucky environment and president Charles Wayne Bullock and the All American Club five year participation in the Adopt a Highway program certainly illustrates the groups concern for the community and is to be commended.

Sincerely, Robin A. Chaney Adopt a Highway Coordinator

Dear Editor, Develop and introduced by the University of California at Berkeley in 1929, I have read, depending on the type of plant, by Modern Hydroponics, one can grow anywhere from two to 30 times the yield of vegetables, as compared to soil in less time at much less crop expense, able to grow crops affordably year around in cool climates, reduce the need for oil based chemical farm nutrients and reduce farm nutrients pollution of our ground and other waters and help restore the American economy.

But as it did not immediately produce the employment for the depression era, our Democratic party put it mostly under the control of industry in the depression, who in 1939 established commercial hydroponics in the County, England for our Army, where military needs and American foreign aid made this American Development available to many foreign countries while not being made as available and/or as affordable to the smaller noncommercial American farmer for their use, to where smaller farms have been reduced in America from over 20 percent of Americans to 2 percent of the American public on farms.

Yet I read in 1980 America commercially grew for export 84 percent corn, 82 percent soybeans and 45 percent wheat, still without the normal yield of crops by hydroponics. It appears to me the Democratic party controlled congress is seeking government control of the entire American economy.

I graduated high school, college prep May 17, 1990 at age 17, entered the United States Army Security Agency at age 18 for three years honorably active duty to my country to spend a hardship tour of duty in a midwestern country in my 19 months and 5 days over seas assignment credit and was retired on a 1988 medical disability from public employees retirement system.

In high school and at times after, I had read George Orwell classic novel "1984" which appears to me may be the goal of the Democratic party and/or Ross Perot to try to change our government toward total world wide socialist government control but our Presidential terms has used double speech.

Now I was a municipal civil service employee, not a politician, and I have not yet formed much other than to help grow a garden, etc. when I was much younger.

Very little information has been available on the hydroponic growing of tall growing plants, which can not be supported without outside support, grown in 6" to 8" thick of a soil substitute, such as sand, pea gravel, peat, pumice, etc. which does not require cultivation as soil does, as this material is only used to give the growing plant some support in seed germination and to support the growing plant some for shallow planted seeds. This material is contained to where with a water pump with a timer perhaps, depending on the plant's needs, the plants are flooded from one to four or six times a day, perhaps 15 to 20 minutes at a time which drains through the soil substitute to better feed the plant a water nutrient solution but not over 30 minutes at a time as even a seed or plant can drown if it does not get air to be drawn in. This solution is largely recovered and reused, depending on the pH level from one to perhaps four weeks or so, to feed the plants better to perhaps use less farm nutrients to grow the yield through recovery and are used and the nutrients better used but this must be under a covering such as a greenhouse, sunpit or a clear plastic covering to prevent rains from washing a part of the farm nutrients away into the ground waters or where it cannot be used to feed the plants which makes it perhaps more expensive to grow in soil.

Now I've read recent advertisement for greenhouses, they can maintain 70 percent inside without heaters when it is 30 degrees outside temperature, but a sun pit dug in the ground uses the natural insulation of the earth to reduce heat loss, gathered by a greenhouse type covering for the smaller sunpits, not so large as to defeat the reasons for sun pits to retain heat.

Heat sinks are used to retain solar heat as the temperature falls, copy-right 1978, I've read 10 cubic feet of water a little more than 55 gallons in steel drums, inside a greenhouse increased 30 percent from outside temperature, will retain 18,700 BTU solar heat for recovery as the temperature falls when used as a heat sink, but the area to be heated, the desired temperature to be maintained, etc., determines the heat sinks needed, for solar heat to be decided if it is practical for a greenhouse, sun pit or even a small house.

Fans, etc. are needed to more evenly distribute the retained solar heat as the temperature falls, but in a sunpit which uses earth as a natural insulation to reduce heat loss, it may have more practical application noncommercially on a smaller farm, to grow fresh ground food crops even in cold temperatures.

The smaller American farmer, through hydroponics, may be able to help lead our country toward a more complete perhaps quicker economic recovery but the Democratic Party controlled congress may be trying to use political patronage to industry when perhaps industry drive for more profit to virtually ignore that the smaller American farmer helps grow the food crops to feed our country may have caused the problem.

Even the American worker needs affordable food to be able to produce other things which give strength to the American economy and the American farmer is perhaps the backbone of our entire economic strength. Wilbur C. Brooks and got them some Tylenol capsules and Cleo and Gussie took one each, but Susie said she had no pain.

David and I stayed the night at my sister Lou Ann's at Somerset. We planned to get back to London by 9 a.m. but we were tired and got to bed late and it was 10 when we arrived. They had slept good and got up late but they were almost ready. Their driver had the big 30 foot motor home already started and the air conditioner on and by 10:15 we pulled

Norton family reunited for first time in over 125 years

Dear Sirs,

A few more notes on some of these descendants of William J. Norton. They settled in Rockcastle County below the mouth of Skaggs Creek in 1873. They bought land from the Evans family. The address they used up through 1900 was Andrews, KY. Wm. J. Norton's son John was Chairman of the Rockcastle County School Trustees in 1891. We have his signature on a document dated June of that year signed John M. Norton Chairman of Trustees. I don't know for sure but Norton School may have been named for him as it was a common practice to name schools after a trustee. He was also a school teacher in Rockcastle. We found his license but we don't know where he taught.

Wm. J.'s grandson Egbert Fish Norton was a well known educator mentioned in John Lat's book "Recollections." He was the son of Joseph Morgan Norton another descendant of note was Lela May Cooper daughter of Druella Jane Norton League. Lela May ran the livery stable at Mt. Vernon for many years. I would appreciate a good picture of the livery stable if one were available.

Sincerely Harold Norton

On August 29 and 30, 1992 my son David and I went to London to the Ponder Reunion. We had never been to it before. My great grandmother Norton was a Ponder (Nancy). She was married to Wm. J. Norton and her sister Jenny married Wm. J. Norton's brother Josiah. Josiah was killed during the Civil War, by Union sympathies. After his death Jenny took her children and left North Carolina going west to north west Arkansas. A few years later, 1873, my great grandfather left North Carolina and settled in Rockcastle County. The families lost track of each other and didn't even know of each other until just the last few years.

The research of the Ponder Family by Fox T. Ponder uncovered the story. Just this year David and I began to write and call Josiah's descendants. It had been almost 130 years since the two families had made contact, especially eye contact.

"Library News" from B7 closer, it was like running into a brick wall.

Back row, Harold Norton and David Norton, great grandson and great great grandson of William Jesse Norton, brother of Josiah. This was the first meeting since the Civil War.

The importance of education assessment is not where we are, but where we're going. The new learning goals for Kentucky schools are much higher and far different from the goals students had before the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990. Now, with KERA, students are involved in a process of continuous learning. Teachers are helping students apply in real-life situations what they learn in the classroom. And that's what the new assessment program measures - how well students can use what they know. Today's scores show where our students are starting. We've got a long way to go, but the new system will move us forward. So, although scores seem to be lower, we've really just raised our expectations. Look for scores to improve next year and in the years ahead. For assessment information call 1-800-KDE-KERA. Support better schools for Kentucky's kids.

Library News
By: Geraldine Robbins

Saturday was a beautiful day for the Bittersweet Festival and everyone seemed to really enjoy themselves. Thanks to all who came by the library books to visit or buy books. I enjoyed seeing a lot of old friends that I hadn't seen since I left the bookmobile and came into the library. I have had the position as library director two years this month and I have made a lot of new friends and it was good to see some of you at our book sale.

We still have a number of children's books for sale at the library and several boxes of free books.

We had a good attendance for the Mother Goose Parade. Fifteen boys and girls were dressed as the favorite Mother Goose character. I want to thank all the children and their parents for their participation. The first place winner for character and costume was Kayla Bryant (Little Bo Peep). She is the daughter of Rick and Jamie Bryant. The second place winner was Dustin VanWinkle (Humpty Dumpty). Dustin is the son of Alan and Mary VanWinkle. We hope to have a picture of the children in the Signal in a couple of weeks. I made a picture of each child with Mother Goose and if they turn out well, I will have one to give each child. Please ask for them next week.

I want to thank everyone that helped with or gave donations for the parade. Cox Florist gave the balloons, Wendy's for the hamburger certificate, Darlene Mink and Kaye Rader for judging the contest, the Bittersweet Cloggers for allowing us to use their PA system, the mothers that helped us with the children and especially Mother Goose (Claudina Cash).

We plan on starting preparations earlier next year for another program for children and hopefully something that will get more children involved. We'd like to have better prizes for all the children.

The surveys for the long-range plan that the library is doing are being distributed. If you don't see one, come into the library and pick one up. We want your comments and suggestions. This will help us in making future plans to promote our library services.

Two new books available are... Gone South by Robert McCammon. ...Flooded by the memories, poisoned by the deadly fallout of Agent Orange, and desperate for love, Dan Arden kills man in a moment of blind fear and fury. It is an act he cannot excuse - a mistake that will change his life forever. Now Dan is on the run, heading south toward the Louisiana bayous. On his trail are police officers and bounty hunters, including the most memorable and bizarre team ever paired in modern fiction: Pelvis Easley and Flint Murtough, a fastidious, ruthless loner and freak show refugee who carries the body of his unformed twin brother on his side.

As Dan heads down into the swampland in search of his own salvation, he meets a young woman who is on a similar journey. Like Dan, Arden Halliday bears a burden - a disfiguring purple birthmark that blankets half her face. Wounded by the scars of the rape and revulsion, she is making her way into the bayous in search of the Bright Girl, a legendary faith healer who will rid her of her birthmark and her suffering.

Through our separate missions, Arden and Dan come to respect each other's quest for freedom, for a touch of simple kindness in a world grown cruel. Thrown together by circumstances, bound by a loyalty stranger than love, they set off on a journey of rediscovery... an odyssey over dark, twisting roads and waterways, into the beautiful and mysterious depths of the human heart.

And Sweet Liear by Jude Deveraux... Samantha Elliot hadn't wanted to come to New York. But her father's death made it clear that he'd wished her to spend a year in New York looking for her grandmother - a woman who had up and left her family when Samantha was only a baby. Dave Elliot had even sold their Louisville home and rented an apartment for her in Manhattan, so here she was, in this big, dirty city... her parents were dead, her divorce was final, and she was alone.

Michael Taggart was Samantha's landlord, and it took only one glance for her to realize that he was the most beautiful man she'd ever seen. And he was charming - his zest for life so contagious that in his presence Sam began to bloom like a flower after a rain. At his side, she discovered how perfectly delightful New York could be... how perfectly delightful life could be. Yet Mike could only get so far with her - when he tried to get out for Skaggs Creek. They were all eyes. Gussie kept saying I can't believe this is really happening to us.

Norton Reunion

They were surprised at the rough beauty of the country all the way to Mt. Vernon. We went first to Uncle Dallas's place at Freedom, turning off highway 150 at the old Earl Bullock Store. When we topped over the hill and could see the valley down toward Freedom they said "Oh, this is beautiful, it looks like our part of Arkansas."

When we got down to Dallas's house he was ready and waiting. When we took him in to see them they were excited with Dallas and the hugging and talking began all over again. Uncle Dallas at age 80 is a sight to see, tall and straight and sure footed, cowboy hat and all, still raises horses and rides and breaks them.

Gussie herself was a Rodeo Queen at Little Rock in 1938 and was a rancher until six years ago. Cleo was in the Miss Arkansas Contest around 1920, and still breeds Galveth cattle. The old ladies live together now in a 17 room house in Harrison, Arkansas.

From Dallas' place we drove down to Skaggs Creek Church. We pointed out the Freedom Church to them as we came by telling them that time would not permit us to stop there. We did stop at Skaggs Creek Church, they wanted to see my dad's and mom's (Roy and Ollie Jane Norton) and granddad's and grandma's (Jessie Lasala and Tillo Norton) graves and also Robert Patterson Norton and others. Cleo and Susie were two for to visit to go up in the cemetery. Some of the people came out of the church to visit with them, especially Louis and Daryl Wayne Whittaker. Gussie insisted on going through the cemetery. David and I, one on each side, helped her along. Gussie would say, "I can't believe my eyes" she was near tears.

They were determined to see the house that Pa Norton built in 1912, where the Norton papers are stored dating back to 1830 in North Carolina. Deeds, school registers, legal documents, old letters and pictures are kept here. They said their goodbys at Skaggs Creek Church and we drove down to James Paynes and parked the motor home, put in cars for the trip up the rocky hill and narrow road to my grandparents house

(J.L. & Tillo). Dallas and I walked and David drove them in his car. We called Vernon Sowder, who owns the place now, he is J.L. and Tillo's great grandson. Vernon had said he couldn't be home but the house would be open. We appreciate Vernon's grace and hospitality and for keeping those

It was like walking back in time. Of course the old ladies wanted to see inside. The old pictures on the walls, the old furniture, the old kitchen where Ma and Bess (J.L. Norton's daughter) cooked so many big meals. On the wall of the front room were the pictures of Wm. J. and Nancy Ponder Norton and John and Trytha Jones Bustle, J.L. and Tillo's parents. On the old mantle was a picture of Pa and Ma. Gussie wanted to go upstairs to see the old trunks that were carried out of North Carolina in 1873 where the papers and pictures are stored. I helped her upstairs where I showed her the trunk which contains Maggie's (J.L.'s daughter who died at the age of 15) belongings. Then on into the next room. I opened the old trunk and showed her the papers. She wanted to go through them but time wouldn't permit.

David and I have been making copies of all the records this year. Many of them have been copied including letters from Pa's brother, Allison, who was a confederate soldier captured at the Battle of Cumberland Gap 1862. Gussie just looked and felt of them and said, "I can't believe I'm seeing all this." Their driver, a nice gentleman, Mr. McWhorter from Arkansas, was taking video tapes of it. We went back down to the front porch and took lots of pictures.

Susie Norton, age 91, said "I've dreamed of coming here." We then headed back to London, running late for the noon meal and the speeches that followed. But they had seen what they wanted to see and were satisfied that their kin had done well. We didn't have time to visit the old Norton School but we supplied them with pictures. We didn't get to visit Uncle Joe's place (J.L.'s brother Joseph Morgan Norton) but we'll send them pictures.

When we got to Levi Jackson Park everyone had eaten and Dave and I went and got them some plates of food.

Maurice and Dee Norton were there, descendants of Robert Patterson Norton. They are around 73 and 80 years old. Dee and Maurice went into the motor home and spent some time with them. These old people had never heard of each other before, even though fourth cousins. They had a lot of catching up to do, along with Uncle Dallas who was still with them.

We had a big day and the old ladies were tired but they are made out of tough stuff. I don't see how they could handle it all. When we said good-by we promised to visit them in Arkansas.

Gussie said "We have 17 rooms, six bedrooms and four bathrooms, but you'll have to do the cooking." We hugged and kissed and parted.

They wanted to get to Western Kentucky before stopping for the night so they could easily make it home the next day. Their driver and his wife treated them as their own mother. He had recently bought Gussie his small ranch. Gussie had been married once but got her old Norton name back. Cleo had married a Carlton. Susie Norton had never moved to the big house owned by Cleo in Harrison, Arkansas.

David and I took Uncle Dallas back to Freedom. I pumped him for stories while David operated the tape recorder. Then we went back to Somerset to see about my sisters, Alene who was hurt in a car wreck last week, and Louanna who was having heart problems. They had felt good enough to meet us at Pa's house but not good enough to go to the reunion. We left there about 8 p.m. having enjoyed more than a person is allowed in two great days. After almost 130 years the families of Wm. J. and brother Josiah and Nancy and Jenny were in contact with each other. Thanks in great part to Pat Shoup and Fox Ponder who uncovered the Nortons of Arkansas.

Grand Illusion Magic Show at MVES

The Mt. Vernon Lions Club will be sponsoring Roger & Lee Ann's Grand Illusion Magic Show at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School on Saturday Oct. 17, at 7 p.m.

Roger Despard and his wife Lee Ann are from Cynthiana, where they have resided for the past 8 years.

Roger has been a professional magician for 18 years and has invested over one hundred thousand dollars in his show which includes computer lighting, stereo sound and many special effects (flash pots, smoke, and fog on the stage). They have also appeared in over thirty states in the last ten years.

New for this year's show is a 10,000-watt laser gun with which he cuts Lee Ann in half. Also new for this year is the Tube Illusion from Germany which is where Roger penetrates Lee Ann with four geometric objects and then she vanishes and reappears. Included with the new illusions are many classics in magic such as the levitation of Lee Ann and Harry Houdini's trunk escape.

Roger and Lee Ann are members of the Indian Creek Christian Church. Roger states that all of the magic that you see performed is done by natural skill and he doesn't have any supernatural abilities. Their show is family oriented and is good clean fun from small children to senior citizens. Proceeds from the show will help pay for eye glasses for adults and children in Mt. Vernon and Rock-castle County.

Don't miss this exciting event at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School Saturday Oct. 17, at 7 p.m.
Tickets are available at the door for $6 children or adults.

Fire destroys Mrs. Robbins' house here

The home of Fannie Robbins on Joyce St. in Mt. Vernon was destroyed by fire early Saturday.

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department made four runs before the house became totally involved and burned.

First call came at 2 p.m. Friday when a skillet of grease caught fire. The department responded and extinguished it.

At 8 p.m. the department was called again when the fire rekindled over the stove and in an exhaust fan.

The third call came at 5 a.m. Saturday when the house was fully involved.

The fourth call was Saturday afternoon.

The brick house was the home of the late Charlie Carter.

Assistant fire chief Bud Cox said the department was hindered due to the construction which was double boarded and had heavy insulation.

There was no damage to surrounding property.

The department was called to Mt. Vernon Florist Sunday afternoon when an overheated light fixture began smoking. There was no damage.

Grand jury indicts 3

Terry Lee Burke, 22, of Mt. Vernon has been indicted on two counts of attempted murder of Daniel and Janice Blackburn.

He was also indicted for arson in first degree for starting a fire with intent to destroy or damage a trailer belonging to Daniel Blackburn.

The Blackburns reportedly fled the shooting scene and were found at the I-75 overpass in the Luner area. When they returned with police the trailer was afire and was destroyed.

Gilbert Wayne Howard, 27, of Rt. 1, East Bernsadt was indicted for receiving stolen property.

He reportedly had in his possession tools worth over $100 that had been stolen from Deborde Oil Company.

He was also charged with being a persistent felony offender in second degree.

The persistent felony charge was by receiving stolen property over $100 after having been convicted of the offense of theft by unlawful taking of over $100 in a sentence of two years. No bond was set.

Herbert Moore, 42, of Frankfort was indicted on a fourth offense of driving under the influence. He had been convicted on three prior D.U.I. arrests.

He was indicted for possession of marijuana (less than 8 ounces) and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Jury recommends 80 years, death for Bowling

A Laurel County Circuit Court Jury has recommended the death penalty for a Burning Springs, Kentucky man who was convicted last week of murdering two Laurel County gas station attendants in the winter of 1989.

The same jury also recommended that Ronnie Lee Bowling, 23, be sentenced to 80 years for attempting to rob and kill Ricky Smith at his Quality Sunoco Station in Burr, three days after he shot Mt. Vernon minister Rev. Marvin Hensley.

Hensley, who pastored the Assembly of God Church in Burr for many years, was shot to death by Bowling at his Pittsburg Gas Station on February 22.

Ronald Smith of London was Bowling's first victim. He died at Doris Jones Chevron Station on Ky. 80, also early in the morning.

At the time of the shooting at Smith's station in Burr, Smith was carrying a gun and fired back at Bowling. He apparently struck Bowling with one shot in the upper body, and Smith was uninjured in the altercation, although Bowling fired at him several times.

The jury deliberated for 10 hours Wednesday and Thursday of last week in delivering the verdict.

Bowling will be formally sentenced at 1 p.m. on December 4, when Circuit Judge Lewis B. Hopper will make his decision as to following the jury's recommended sentences.

Commonwealth's Attorney Tom Handy had contended that Bowling committed the murders as an act of control, not part of a robbery plan.

The killings took place in January and February of 1989 and caused considerable concern in the local area. Both victims were shot six times as they were alone managing service stations.

The key evidence used to convict Bowling was the discovery of unfired shells in his house which came from the same batch used to kill the two men.

Bowling's attorneys tried to convince the jury that he was quiet, shy and an average student in school who was well-behaved.

Handy told the jury that Bowling killed for pleasure and that he liked the feeling of control it gave him.

GOP Rally

A Republican rally has been set for Saturday in front of the Rockcastle Courthouse.

There will be free food and entertainment including the Hill Top Stompers and County Line Cloggers. Speakers include U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers and former GOP gubernatorial candidate Larry Forgy.

Joe Diffie date changed

Joe Diffie, a contender for Male Vocalist of the Year in 1992, will perform live in concert at Renfro Valley on Dec. 6. Diffie was originally scheduled to perform on November 22, but a recently-discovered schedule conflict has mandated the concert be moved to December 6.

Diffie, who has been compared to a "young George Jones" may be some vintage Cal Smith, Buck Owens and Keith Whitley thrown in for good measure, will perform two concerts. The afternoon concert begins at 2 p.m. and the evening performance at 6 p.m. Tickets are $12.50 each and all seats are reserved.

Concert-goers can expect a full range of entertainment from Diffie, from hardcore honky tonk favorites like "New Year to Light up an Old Flame," western-swing his like "If the Devil Danced in Empty Pockets"

Law enforcement officials found the murder weapon beside the road at the spot where they started chasing Bowling.

The break in the case came when Bowling attempted to rob and kill Smith. Smith was able to see what kind of car Bowling was driving and notified police after Bowling fled. Police chased him to his Burning Springs home where they arrested him.

PVA test

Persons planning to be a candidate for Property Valuation Administrator must take a test for the position.

The Kentucky Revenue Cabinet will give the test at the Holiday Inn in Somerset at 10 a.m. Oct. 23, and at Holiday Inn north (1-75/64) Lexington same time and date.

to the smooth ballads Diffie handles with ease and assurance.

Equally as impressive as Diffie's vocal talents is his ability to relate to his audiences. "See, I like people real well and I like people to feel comfortable around me," says Diffie. "I'm just lucky that I'm able to sing and it really amazes me that people feel the way they do about my music; that they pay to hear me sing."

Joe Diffie fans are encouraged to reserve seats now for the Dec. 6 concert, as ticket sales are reported to be strong. People holding tickets to the Nov. 22 concert date are advised that those tickets will be honored at the Dec. 6 concert. Anyone with Nov. 22 concert tickets who cannot attend the Dec. 6 concert should call the Renfro Valley ticket office at 606-256-238 to arrange for a refund.

The home of Mrs. Fannie Robbins on Joyce St. was destroyed by fire Saturday.

Resource Center's advisory council meets

The Advisory Council for the Family Resource and Youth Services Center met last Thursday to review programs and strategy for the new service which began this year.

The committee is made up of representatives from the local school system, parents, students, the extension service and others representing various community services which will be coordinated through the center.

Dr. Betty Steffy of the University of Kentucky led the meeting along with Superintendent Bige W. Towery, Jr., who told the group that the center is not run by the local school system even though the finances are channeled through the board of education.

During much of the meeting various representatives reviewed the services that will be available through the center.

A representative of the health department told the council that the "well child" age limit will soon be changed from 13 to 21 which will help provide health care to an older group.

They also said that the Hepatitis B vaccine will be available soon and that it should reduce the mortality rate for the disease.

Social services said that a new jobs program for AFDC (Assistance for Dependent Children) recipients who have been in the program for 60 months or longer will begin October 1.

Already some 60 cases have been identified and targeted for the jobs program.

Placements in the program will not take place before January.

Superintendent Towery told the council that the state department of education had recently made a monitoring visit along with the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Towery reminded the council that

Charting Rockcastle

By Richard Anderkin

You can certainly tell that the United States is having some tough times. One sign of a disgruntled electorate is that four times more people watched the Presidential debate Sunday night than watched the American League playoffs. Four years ago, when President Bush was running against Gov. Dukakis it would have been the other way around.

All of the experts said Ross Perot won the debate. Gov. Bill Clinton held his own and President Bush lost ground.

Of course I don't completely agree with the experts, but I guess overall Perot was the winner. But then again he has the most to gain and not much that the other two candidates can hang on him. He has never held public office. He won't get his first shot this time either.

The other day in Berea I was talking with a local businessman who has been in the retail business in town for over 30 years. He said that he usually votes Republican but that he has voted Democrat from time to time. He said that he would vote Republican this time. He agreed that things in our country were not as good as they should be. But, he made it very clear that he remembers worse times. He pointed to the Jimmy Carter era, of 1976-1980. That he said was the absolute worse time that he has ever seen in this country. It is hard for anyone that was old enough to forget how bad things got. Twenty percent interest rates, twenty percent inflation, well over double digit unemployment. The businessman said that more businesses failed in the Berea area during Carter's term than any other period since 1959.

I have already resigned myself to the fact that Bill Clinton will be our next President. I do think that is a mistake but you can't blame the American public for being upset. More and more people are out of work, more and more are working for less money than they used and more and more people are finding it difficult to stay above the poverty level. But, does Bill Clinton have the answers... with a Democrat controlled Congress and a Democrat in the White House Clinton will be able to get some things done for the nation, but tax and spend is not the answer.

I would be quicker to criticize the job President Bush has done, if I didn't know that it is not completely his fault. He has waged war with Congress time and time again and he has obviously gotten some bad advice from his economic advisors. It would be different if Bush were President and CEO of a huge corporation and could hire and fire Congress at his own will. But he is from another political party. Kentucky Senator Wendell Ford can sit back and talk about the lousy job President Bush has done, but he is not blameless. He has been in Congress for eighteen years, including the twelve years that Ross Perot has indicated that we ran our deficit to four trillion dollars. If you take time to look at his record I'm sure you will find as many yes votes as deficit spending as no votes.

The President has made some ridiculous comments like proposing to cut his salary by 10%. I don't think that $20 or $25,000 will go a long way in reducing our deficit. Besides that I'm of the opinion that the most powerful man in the entire world is paid too little. After all the Los Angeles Lakers are going to pay Magic Johnson $14.5 million to play 60 games of basketball. The key word in the last sentence is games. Running the United States is not a game and the man or woman that is elected to do so, should be compensated better than they are now.

I don't claim to be an expert on any subject and government and politics are no exception. But I believe the average layman could find numerous ways to cut our federal budget and in turn reduce the federal deficit that is eventually going to cripple this country and the rest of the world. We could start by reducing the budgets of our Congressmen. It is ridiculous for any United States Representative to have a staff that costs the taxpayer $800,000 a year in salaries alone. That is certainly the first place I would start. At least that is where most businesses start cutting back when things get tight. No one likes to do it, but in most cases it is a matter of survival. I think it is time that all our leaders realize: and act on the fact that the situation is critical.

With three weeks to go, the political horse race is on

The trees are turning, it's October and the World Series is coming our way and the politicians are trying to belly up to the voter in what could be one of the most interesting presidential elections in the 20th century.

It is, as an old timer called it, a "real horseshoe."

The wild card is a little guy by the name of Ross Perot.

Everyone said he won Sunday night's debate. I guess it was because he stuck with his guns and made the other two look like there was no real difference.

The polls that came out almost the instant the debate ended showed that Perot was the only clear winner.

Now it will come down to whether he can put it across in less than 30 days.

At one point he led the polls, almost by double digits, and threatened to make President Bush an also-ran.

Now he is the underdog again. Even so there is still a lot of enthusiasm out there from the legions of volunteers and other people who are fed up with the two-party system.

Doubts that he can come back with less than three weeks left, but even so his bid for the presidency will go down as nothing short of historic.

What makes the current political scenario all the more interesting is President Bush.

How people have been complaining about the Persian Gulf War and sink to such low depths in the polls?

Here is the man, as he has been telling the voters, who saw the Berlin Wall fall, who saw communism turned out in the Soviet Union, and who invaded Panama and arrested Manuel Noriega.

I guess it all boils down to the fact that the economy ain't so hot.

People want to know who will "put a chicken in their pot."

Bush is the victim of the us against us mentality that created with the rise of Ronald Reagan to the White House during the 1980s.

Voters feel like it is us or the politicians in Washington and there is now more sentiment to vote them out than ever.

People have been complaining about the same things for years—the federal budget deficit and the big spending and taxing that has hit hard at the middle class.

Perot plays a strong tune for those folks. He has charts and graphs and talks like a businessman, not a politician.

The only problem, and I think it could well be an Achilles heel, is the fact that he proposes a 50 cent a gallon gasoline tax.

It might be energy responsible and taking a step in the right direction, but Perot will have a tough time sugarcoating the pill for voters who do not like taxation.

Bush's mid-term tangle with congress over the tax issue has hurt his credibility with at least some voters.

Clinton is being attacked as a big taxer-big spender.

Perot keeps telling us he can save us money—that may be one thing on paper and charts and graphs—but it is an entirely different matter in the nation's capital.

It would take at least six months to a year just to get a grip on what the government is, much less map out legislation that would bring mean-offer.

Clinton offers a liberalism that is already being compared with John F. Kennedy—a burst of ideals and proposed legislation during the first year and then working to put it across.

Bush, the victim of a recession, the first in at least a decade, can fall back on his string of successes in foreign relations.

That and .50 cents will get you a cup of coffee. Most Americans don't place a tremendously high priority on foreign relations. It usually doesn't impact their lives on a daily basis.

They are interested, however, in what their bottom line is at the bank and how business in their local communities and their workplace are doing.

Somehow America is reeling from a decade of expansion. Reeling after prosperity failed.

Americans used to pity the man down the street who got laid off. Now they wonder if they re-act, or they've been laid off and don't know how to pay the bills.

I've heard it more than once—"there's just too much of that going on (layoffs and plant closings)," people say.

I've always felt, though, that presidents should not get all the blame or credit for the good and bad economic trends.

They just sit at the helm while much of the economic data began with trends before they were elected.

The tight credit policies of the Carter era largely brought recession. Still, Reagan, two years into his first term, was credited with an economic boom that was largely brought about by the fact that tight monetary policies had squeezed inflation out of the economy.

Whoever gets elected, and that's still debatable no matter what the polls say, will have an opportunity to provide landmark leadership for America.

Should Bush be re-elected he will reshape his presidency and will probably focus more on economic growth and revitalization.

Clinton talks about investment in education and revitalizing the economy and health care issues.

Perot wants to put business into government and cost efficiency and bring America back to being a leader in the world.

Oh, well, it'll all be over soon enough.

That's all for this week.

My lemon is back in the shop. And I've sent off for a poster of Lee Leacock and a set of very sharp darts. When you come in the doorway of our house, you're going to have to throw them at the poster until you nail him on the nose. Chrysler, you see, made the transmission that the people at Jeep decided to put in my lemon.

If there was a way to do it, I'd ship that piece of junk to ole Lee and insist that he use it as a centerpiece in the middle of his living room. He could put a little sign on it indicating that it was made in 1987, five years ago, and that it has already stood up to ten rebuilding jobs at four different transmission shops at just under $300 a throw. That's gotta be some kind of record and it ought to make a great conversation piece.

I don't know about newer models, but if the people at Jeep are still building them out of spare parts that were rejected at Ford, General Motors, Chrysler, AMC and Heaven only knows where else, the way mine is, it's no wonder they spend most of their lives in a repair shop.

Junk Engineered to Embarrass People. Jeep for short.

If I was in charge of things at that company, I'd cut a deal with Ford Motor Company and have them build all the parts and maybe they wouldn't tear up before you got home. On the other hand, if I was in charge of things at Ford, I wouldn't want my name to be associated with Jeep.

There's gotta be a country song in this hateful relationship I've had with my truck over the last three years. Maybe even a Christmas song.

"Santa Claus won't visit us this year Not even in this decade, I fear Cause it takes all my cash To keep my piece of trash On the road polluting up the atmosphere"

Rudolph slipped and fell and broke his knee

Now Santa Claus is suing cause my Jeep Leaked so much fluid on the drive That the reindeer took a dive And they had to put the poor thing to sleep

Poor ole Rudolph's buried in an icy hole He lies resting in the shadow of the North Pole

Little children will lose sleep And they'll blame it on my Jeep If Santa Claus gets lost in a big snow.

I'd finish the song if it wasn't for the fact that it just keeps getting worse and worse and I'm already up to my Adams apple in self pity as it is. In the meantime, if you need to reach me, try the house. It doesn't look like I'm going to be going any place for at least a week.

On other news, and on a much brighter note, I need to make my annual plug for fall gardening. It's not supposed to get cold enough to frost between this writing and the publication date, in which case you may tell your friends and neighbors it's possible to have as fine a garden in the middle of October as you can have in June if you like fresh vegetables.

I have green peppers, banana peppers, cayenne, pink ball runners, Cherokee wax beans, Buford Caudill Fall Beans, summer squash, zucchini, kale, spinach, mustard greens, pak-ohi, turnips, egg plants, green onions and five different varieties of tomatoes ripening even as you read. I could have had cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and peas if I'd been a little bit more ambitious.

The pepper, squash and eggplant are all growing on the same plant we set out around the first of May. I simple water/fertilize them with a hose-end sprayer every two weeks until frost finally gets them. It really is that simple. I use a fertilizer developed for African Violets by Peters Professional Fertilizer Company. It's available at Wal-Mart for around $2 per container. The NPK rating on this stuff is 12-18-12 and one teaspoon full makes a gallon of spray. One consigner will make at least fifty gallon of spray. Please note: that NPK is chemical lingo for Nitrogen, Potassium and Phosphorus.

Potassium is an element that promotes flowering. As long as most plants have an abundant supply of it, they won't stop blooming. This particular blend has more than three times as much potassium as the other elements. I figured if it would make African Violets bloom, it ought to work on vegetables and boy does it ever. I simply use enough mix to make ten gallons of spray and wet the foliage down regularly and if you don't believe it works, you're more than welcome to come and look at my garden. And we'll load you down with greens and a mess of wax beans as long as they last.

Finally, if you haven't written for bean seed, can I please ask you to wait until next year. More than two hundred people want a start of my Buford Caudill Fall Beans already and I simply don't have enough to go around. On the other hand, more than fifty people have written to let me know that they have saved plenty of seed from the start they got this year and they're looking forward to big crops next year. If it works the way it's supposed to, I may be able to steer you to another supplier next fall. We had eight or ten people to strike out this year, but we're encouraging them to try again. In fact, we may even be able to share some of Dorothy Amburgey's Lazy wife Fall Beans with you next year.

We spent a restless night, but when morning came, the men were gone. Later that day, listening to WHIR in Danville, we realized they were "escapes" from a nearby mental institution.

A parsonage is a house, owned by a church, in which a pastor (or parson) lives rent-free during his ministry to that congregation. The dwelling is usually located on the same property as the church building.

Take it from me, you do not want to know what it is like to live in a parsonage, especially when it is by the church on a busy street or highway. All kinds of people, not just church folk, knock on your door, no matter what the hour. Forget privacy.

It's not always easy to know if a wayfarer's story is genuine. Some would rather bum than work, but others need assistance.

One sojourner wanted food and gas but insisted on working for the aid. He wore a suit, so I told him that wasn't necessary. But he wouldn't have it any other way. So he mowed our yard. (Nancy was pleased when she got home from her job, thirty miles away, and discovered she would not have to mow after fixing supper.)

Early one morning a middle-aged black couple from New Albany came to our country residence. They had lived together in a "common law" relationship for twenty-some years and had six children. Now they had a marriage license and said they wanted "to make it right." I helped them do that.

One Sunday afternoon I used the church's benevolence fund to help a bearded traveler in a rusty Plymouth Duster. He said he was going to visit his grandmother who would have open-heart surgery in Kokomo, Indiana. I helped him on his way.

A full year later, a man and woman, asked for help. They followed me to a gas station. I had seen him somewhere before, so, at the pumps I asked where they were headed.

The man said, "To visit my grandmother who is having open-heart surgery in Kokomo." It was the same man, without a beard, in a different car! He got no help except the five gallons I had already put in the tank.

The most bizarre situation, by far, involved a walk-in named Basil Gullett. He sauntered into the church office just as I came out, headed toward the parsonage for lunch.

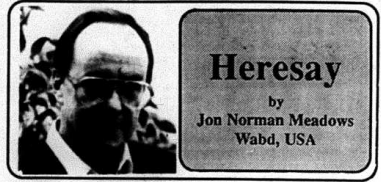

Basil had a room in a boarding house in Louisville but needed a job. And it so happened our church was looking for a part-time custodian with some experience with maintenance.

No such person lived in our village. I asked several questions about his work history.

Basil said, "Have you got anything that's broken or not working? I'll show you how I can fix things."

I said the only thing that didn't

In January, 1960 a blizzard made Highway 150 almost impassable. Nancy and I were awakened by a harder-than-usual knocking on our front door. I looked at the clock. Past midnight. The noise also roused John Mark, our month-old, firstborn son. While putting on my robe and slippers, I peeked out the bedroom window and saw three figures standing in the swirling snow. No sign of a car.

"Who are you?" I asked loudly, without opening the door. "We're selling magazines," the man replied. "Our car broke down up the road."

That answer made me leery. I was glad my shotgun was close. After some more questions I told them their case could stay overnight in the church basement, which was heated and unlocked. Nancy rounded up a loaf of bread and pound ofologna. They would find drinks in the church kitchen.

Rockets send Redhounds to the doghouse with 35-6 win

"They're a much better football team than we are, I can see that now. They outplayed us, outcoached us and outshouted us."

"They annihilated us." That's what Corbin Redhounds' head coach Larry Adams told the Times-Tribune last Friday after the Rockcastle County Rockets blasted the Redhounds, 35-6, in front of a record crowd at RCHS.

Indeed, the Rockets pulled no punches as they rushed for 220 yards and aired out 54 yards for 12 first downs and five touchdowns. Most importantly, the Rockets recovered three fumbles and forced four interceptions.

"We played a perfect game. I believe that it was the most perfect game I've ever seen any of my teams play," said Rockets' head coach Tom Larkey Tuesday.

"Nobody would have thought it would have been that big of a difference in scoring (29)," he added.

The winning difference pushes the Rockets to 6-1 on the year and to a first place 2-0 district mark.

Corbin now falls to 3-4 in regular season play and to 1-1 in district play.

Not unlike the Rockets' overtime win last year, Friday's match-up leaned early on as another defensive battle with the first quarter going scoreless. Even though Corbin was handed a golden opportunity to break the game open.

After being limited to only six plays on their first possession, Corbin was forced to punt from their 48 yard line. However, Rockets' returner J.D. Bussell couldn't pull down the ball on a fair catch call and fumbled. Corbin's Jeff Adkins was able to recover the fumble to give Corbin ideal field position on the Rockets' 18 yard line.

From there, the Rockets' defense took over.

Key tackles by Chris Goff and Jason Hunt enabled the Rockets to limit Corbin to only six yards on four plays, thus denying them any chance of scoring on the turnover.

"I felt it was the turning point of the game," commented Larkey. "When we muffed the punt and held them on downs, it was a big boost for us."

Though turnovers plagued both teams for the remaining minutes of the first quarter, none proved as costly as Corbin's fumble in the opening seconds of the second quarter.

After a textbook punt by Hunt, which placed Corbin on their own one yard line, Corbin was only able to get as far as their 37 yard line in eight plays before Bobby Coffey stripped the quarterback of the ball and recovered.

"That was a big play in the second quarter by Bobby Coffey," said Larkey. "I was really pleased we could take advantage of that turnover and score."

"Coffey also kept a lot of drives alive by going up the middle," he added. "He did a good job."

The Rockets found the end zone on the ensuing possession in seven plays backed by good runs by Coffey and J.D. Harris. Harris was credited with the touchdown with a one yard lunge on fourth down to post the first score. Kicker Greg Bowman followed with the extra-point to give the Rockets a 7-0 lead.

Corbin was forced to punt after the Rockets held them on downs on their very next possession, thus enabling the Rockets to break open their biggest play of the game.

After receiving the punt and returning it to their own 23 yard line, the Rockets took only one play to post their second score of the game. Harris, behind key upfield blocking, swept right and then cut up the middle for a 77 yard touchdown run. Again, Bowman's kick was good to allow the Rockets a 14-0 first half lead.

"I think when Harris scored the 77 yard touchdown, it broke their (Corbin) backs," commented Larkey.

Although no score followed, one potential touchdown was denied. On the final play of the first half, Corbin launched a deep pass that was deflected into the arms of Hunt. However, before Hunt could return the interception, the half ended and the play was whistled dead by the referees.

Larkey felt that it was indeed a potential score and said that it would have really been nice to end the first half with a score. Larkey also said that the referees did admit their early whistle and apologized after the game.

But the Rockets began the second half where they left off in the first half, with an interception that was a score.

Midway through the third quarter, Mikhael Shaffer picked off a first and 10 pass attempt by Corbin and scrambled from about the 35 yard line into the end zone to up the Rockets' lead to 20-0. Bowman's extra-point attempt afterwards was blocked.

"Our entire defense played extremely well," Larkey said. "They studied films and listened to defensive coordinator Tony Sawyer all week, and they were ready for Corbin," he added.

"I felt like the only thing keeping Corbin's drives alive were penalties, like pass interference calls," he said.

The Rockets garnered another interception on the following possession when Bussell picked off a pass on Corbin's third play. The interception setup a 32 yard pass from Bussell to Jason Kirby for the Rockets' fourth touchdown of the game. Bussell again found Kirby for the following two-point conversion to set the score at 28-0 after three quarters of play.

"I was really pleased with the way Bussell threw and the way our receivers caught the ball," said Larkey.

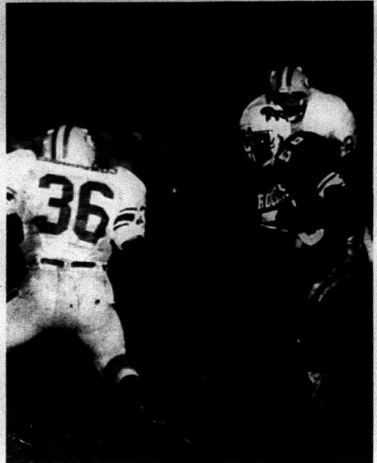

Corbin's only score came in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter when Matt Phillips striped 27 yards up the middle. Their conversion attempt was denied by the Rockets.

The final production from the Rockets' offense came with 3:13 remaining, when Bussell found Hunt open for a 14 yard touchdown reception. Bowman followed with the kick to set the score at 35-6.

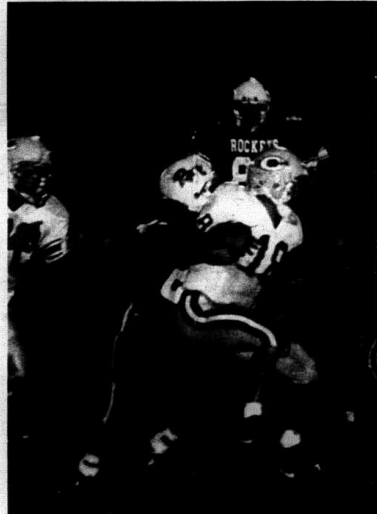

The win now moves the Rockets' record against Corbin to 3-0 within the past two years.

Defensively for the Rockets: Jason Hunt had two solos, one assist and one interception; Stacey Kirby had one solo, two assists and one fumble recovery; Jay Stevens had two solos, three assists and a half sack; Chris Goff had one solo, three assists and two half sacks; Bobby Coffey had four solos and one assist and one fumble recovery; Louie Davis had two solos, two assists and one half sack; J.D. Bussell had one fumble recovery and one interception; Mikhael Shaffer had two solos, three assists and two interceptions; J.D. Harris had four solos and one assist; Jason Kirby had three solos and four assists and Mickey McClure had one assist.

Offensively for the Rockets: Jason Hunt had two receptions for 22 yards and one touchdown; Jason Kirby had one reception for 32 yards with one touchdown and one point after touchdown reception; J.D. Harris had 17 carries for 146 yards and two touchdowns; Bobby Coffey had 14 carries for 66 yards; Mikhael Shaffer had three carries for six yards and one touchdown; Greg Bowman kicked three of four extra-points and J.D. Bussell threw two touchdown passes, completed three of six passes for 54 yards, three one interception and threw one point after pass.

The Rockets will face Wayne County this Friday night for their final home game of the regular season. They will honor the seniors and their parents at halftime.

I would like to express my appreciation to all those that make the Rockcastle County Youth League Football possible. There is a lot of hard work and time put into this program. The effort by the volunteer coaches and the officers are helping to build the winning program that we have at the high school. I also appreciate the parents that permit their sons to play and spending your time with them. I am looking forward to having all the Youth League football players as a Rocket one of these days. ### Rockcastle vs. Redhounds

By: Preston Parrett

Up at the Redhound's stronghold fans held a huge rally before sending their troops down into the Rocket's "Death Valley."

The Redhounds were polished, suave, sophisticated, and debonair, but against the country boys they didn't stand a prayer.

A monstrous crowd of rabid Rocket fans were waiting their arrival, and in this district showdown it was a matter of survival.

The Rocket pep club and boosters were putting on a pre-game show, shooting off mighty fireworks set aside to honor all the coaches and players at halftime. Unfortunately, the public announcement system went off during the second quarter and the introductions at halftime were unable to be made. This really upset me because I wanted the players and coaches to be recognized. Efforts were made by the principals and press box workers to fix the P.A. but all efforts failed. I do apologize for this unfortunate thing that happened but I do want the coaches and players to know that I appreciate all of you and thanks for all you've done for our football program at Rockcastle County High School.

and letting red and white balloons go.

The band was beating war drums and their cheerleaders exhorted the fans with their yell, "lean, lean, lean," and out on the battlefield the Rocks were mean, mean, mean.

The Redhounds won the toss and elected to receive, but they were going nowhere as the Rocket defense made 'em griave.

They punted the ball away down the field there was a fumble; the Redhounds recovered in four down country but their offense continued to stumble.

So at the end of the first quarter these powerful teams had not scored, but there had been exciting moments and the fans were not bored.

In the second quarter there was a turn around: Hummingbird Harris scored on a one yard run and was ready to run them into the ground.

With about three minutes to go

Hummingbird took a handoff and away he flew; the Redhounds were chasing him but over he went for TD number two.

The fireworks were far from over Cannonball Bussell hit Sticky Finney Kirby.

Parents: If you have a child in K-6 at B.E.S., please watch for a letter that he/she will be bringing home in the next week concerning the After School Program. The letter will ask for those interested in using the service to stop by the center to pick up a registration packet.

Gary Scott, along with the help of Writing Consultant, Bobbie Durham, has just completed his first writing project in all PE classes. Grades 4-8 chose for their topic "Rules for Playing Volleyball." They pretended they had been chosen to go to a foreign country (of their choice) to explain the rules for playing volleyball. They were taken through the complete writing process. First, making a beginning draft, next pairing off in teams to read and check each others work, then using an editing check-list and finally, finishing their final drafts to be stored in their portfolios. They were also asked to make a diagram of the volleyball court. Grades 1-3 chose for their title, "Fun With the Parachute." The brainstormed for all the fun and interesting things they do using the parachute. They also made illustrations of a parachute.

This was quite an experience for Mr. Scott, Mrs. Bobbie and especially the students. However, everyone feels that it was successful. They plan to go through the process two or three more times this school year.

Paul Hale's name was inadvertently omitted when thanking those who helped with assembling the new furniture. Mr. Hale, custodian new to our school, has done an outstanding job and we apologize for the oversight.

The cheerleading squad and sponsor, Ms. Tammy Napier spent many hours practicing routines that enable and support our teams' playing. Cheerleading this year are: Heather Burton, Angie Murphy, Heather Bussell, Julie Bowling, Michelle Whitehead, Brandi Adams, and Janica Bradshaw.

Brodhead mayor, Billy Bussell, has proclaimed Saturday evening, October 31 from 6 - 8 p.m. as Trick or Treat night for the town of Brodhead.

We have a new addition to our faculty, Mrs. Cindy Gibson Ellington. Mrs. Ellington, 50 teaches fifth grade, is from Berea and is married to Byron Ellington pastor of Liberty Avenue Baptist Church. Cynthia was born and raised in Madison, Florida and graduated from EKU. She says she likes the friendliness of BES staff, students and parents.

BES now has a weekly radio program prepared by the students of Mrs. Pamela Martin. Chuck Saylor student coordinator coordinates the airing each Thursday at 11:45 over WRVJ.

The Performing Arts students of Mrs. Caroline Graves and Mrs. Pam Martin are preparing for a performance to be given the last week of October. We are looking forward to the event.

Mrs. Regina Burton, academic team sponsor, has begun organizational meetings. Please encourage your children to participate.

The eighth grade science classes of Jim Ward are visiting the Hummel Planetarium at EKU Friday. The students have completed a unit on our solar system.

The eighth grade social studies classes of Mrs. Pam Martin have spent the last three weeks studying Columbus. The students viewed a documentary series on KET and used the whole learning process using map skills, critical thinking, teamwork, etc.

Ms. Tammy Napier's social studies classes ended a unit on Egypt. The students performed and directed their play entitled "How Egyptians Live." A simulated live news broadcast was video taped reporting the death of King Tut.

With this being National School Lunch Week we would like to recognize our cafeteria workers: Wanda Carroll, Joy Todd, Mary Bussell, Doris Blanton, Geraldine Anglin, Helen Albright and Ruby Thompson.

We appreciate the fine work these ladies do each day.

Wednesday, Oct. 7 at Faubush, two of our art students, Eric Bengel and Rodney Ellison had their work displayed. The works were used by Bige Towery, superintendent and Allen Pensol, arts coordinator as they spoke to other school districts who are beginning their own art programs.

There is no school for students Monday, November 2 as teachers will be involved in staff development. And Tuesday November 3, there is no school due to the presidential election.

Next weekend marks the end of daylight savings time. Saturday, Oct. 25, clocks will be turned back one hour.

Eagle Echoes

The 6th grade students at Roundstone Elementary celebrated Kentucky's birthday by designing and constructing a birthday cake. They also brought in articles and clothing to represent Kentucky's life styles.

The cake was a part of the opening ceremony for "Kentucky Day" at Roundstone. After a performance in the school's gymnasium, the students were rewarded with a real birthday cake, topped with a map of Kentucky, made of blue and white icing.

A new program, Communicating Through Computers, allows Roundstone students to use and learn technology. Students in the Primary School have access to technology everyday and at the same time integrate their writing skills. During lab periods students work on ability-appropriate writing activities.

The following is examples of sturies written by Primary students in Mr. Pensol's new program.

On my favorite Halloween was when my nicest sister came down from Ohio. We had alot of fun. I mean alot. My sister was dressed up as a haunted jack-o-lantern, her husband was dressed up as a goblin, her girl was dressed up as a Prince even if she was a little girl, one of her boys was dressed up as Peter Pan, her other boy that is 7 years old and just learnt to walk and can barely hear was dressed up as a pirate and I will never forget what fun we had.

Eastern has two business education majors at HSVS

by: Marina Mason & Judith Taylor

Eastern Kentucky University has two Business Education majors at Harry Spark's Vocational School.

Ms. Victoria Martin

"I am very happy that my supervisor placed me here. I couldn't have asked for a better school. The faculty is just wonderful and the students act as if they are really interested in learning," said Victoria Martin, 23, who is currently doing her student teaching with Mrs. Himes' Desktop Publishing class.

She wants her students to enjoy learning about economics and to allow them to become productive on the computer. Miss Martin's main goal for herself is to "Learn everything I need to know from Mrs. Himes and other Faculty and to become an effective teacher."

After she graduates she wants to teach at Bell County. She said, "I want to move there and live someday. Bell County High School and Middle School are excellent schools."

Her advice to any students wanting to major in business education is "Do it! If you're sure you want to teach and like business education classes, then you will definitely like to teach business. It is great!"

Ms. Becky Haley

Mrs. Becky Haley is student teaching in Ms. Shelby Father-sill's business classes. She notes that her supervisor couldn't have placed her with a better teacher.

Mrs. Haley decided on a career in business education after being influenced by her high school business teachers because "they made the classes interesting" for her and did a good job of teaching. She enthusiastically adds that she has wanted to teach since that point.

She would like to teach in the central Kentucky region such as Madison and Rockcastle counties.

Mrs. Haley advises future business majors to work really hard in high school.

"I'm looking forward to graduating and finding a full time teaching position as soon as possible," says Mrs. Haley. She will graduate in December. She says her experience at Rockcastle has been a good one.

She is married to Walley Haley and they reside in Richmond.

Ms. Darr's class has also been writing poems about the cell. Here is one that was written this week, from 7 C.

The Cell

I'm little and microscopic,
So fast you cannot stop it.
I'm round and can barely be found.
But, Robert Hooke gave me my name
And getting rid of waste is one of my games.

I can use my chloroplast
But, I love my DNA.
If I can't use it now, I'll store it for another day.

The brain is my nucleus
And it tells me what to do.

I can use my nucleic acids
To store, build, and repair anywhere.
A tubular maze is my endoplasmic reticulum.

The cell wall is on the outside.
So it cannot hide.

Because it's not on the inside.
It made of cellulose.
Which makes me sugary and stiff.
It makes me alert, with an energy spurt.

My Mitochondria is a little powerhouse
It's like a person with a spouse.

I use my storage tank
As my house, without a doubt.

Whenever I see a Schwann
I think it rings a bell.
Because when I look in a mirror,
I see a little round cell.

You may be lucky enough
To be a lysosome in me.
I break down food molecules
Into smaller ones you can see
But when I excrete waste
It's no longer a part of me.

Ms. Webb's class has finished their study of apples. They have read a book about John Chapman, known to most as "Johnny Appleseed." They are planning a trip to Brummett's Apple Orchard. Last Friday, they went to E.C. Porter's Grocery to see how many things they could find that were made from apples. They have started doing book reports for the Pizza Hut Book-It Program. Students are making graphs to chart the growth of the mustard, cover, grass and bean seeds they planted earlier. Students have also made lanterns to help them remember the sound for L. This week they have a special art project for Halloween.

Voice in the Wilderness

1st Corin. Ch. 12:13, "For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free, and have been all made to drink into one Spirit. Romans 14:17... the Kingdom of God is righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost. Romans 8:5... the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us. The Kingdom of God and the Holy Ghost are inseparable. The love of God and the Holy Ghost are inseparable. There's no such thing as Christianity apart from the Holy Ghost. The Holy Ghost, in dwelling of the Body of Christ is the expression of God to the world through the church, manifesting the very life and nature of God and conforming us into the image of Christ. If there is any "perfection," or "completeness" brought about in the Christian life, it will be through and by the transforming power of the Holy Ghost.

The Word of God (the written word) is quick and powerful and sharper than any two-edged sword in the hand of the skillful spirit of Christ; but it is not a gospel if the heart and the natural man. It is a religious club. Not a very effective tool. Many newborn Christians have been clubbed to death before they had a chance to get on their feet.

Jesus asked Simon Peter, John 21:16, "Simon Peter, lovest thou me?... then lead my sheep. I think many religious leaders weren't wearing their glasses when they read that scripture. They thought it read: Simon Peter, lovest thou me?... then lead my sheep. So those sheep, Simon and gave those lambs a good brushing too. Tell them they better walk right, talk right, dress right and spit right if they ever expect to see the City of God. I think many modern day Pharisees look forward to Sunday morning so they can beat the people over the head with the law of God, with rules, laws, regulations, they shall and shall not. Salvation is a gift of God, not of works, lest any man should boast. There is no works or anything we can do to merit anything from God. If the creek goes dry and we can't find enough water to baptize a bullfrog; it is still a gift of God.

Keeping the commandments, precepts, principles, laws of God does not produce any righteousness. Being in bondage to the law only produces misbehavior. We can't keep the laws of God to be saved. We keep the laws of God because we are saved. We don't have good enough to get anything from God. Our own righteousness is as filthy rags in God's sight.

His righteousness can only be brought about by the transforming over of the Holy Ghost. 1 Cor. Ch. 13:18, "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. God didn't give the Holy Ghost to the church just to "confirm the word," to that first operation; telling the future generations to take it or leave it. The Holy Ghost has always been in the business of confirming the word. All the miracles, all the gifts, all the ministry and revelation of Christ to the world through the church is in the operation of the Holy Ghost. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever. Everything that God instituted into the Church in the beginning is still in operation today. Acts 2:3, "For the promise is unto you and your children and to all that are afar off, even to us, as many, as the Lord our God shall call.

Many of the conventional, traditional, denominational versions of Christianity today, are no more than a, "Confession of faith," or a, "state of mind," but Christianity is more than a state of mind. It is a condition of the heart. It is a changing experience and it is joy inseparable and all of glory.

Mom, is your vision of Heaven What you thought it would be Beyond the gate of pearl Beside the Crystal Sea.

Mom, that gloomy day in November You didn't answer my phone I did not call at the time God had called you home.

It was too late to say, Mom I love you You didn't even say goodbye But Mom I'm waiting for the day For that great reunion in the sky.

Mom when you neared that city Did Jesus meet you at the door Did he say Welcome Home my child You will rest forever more.

Did you look all around To see who you could see Did you wonder if dad would know you In that Blessed Eternity Oh! Yes I'm sure he knew you For we shall know you are known I'm sure he said to you, I'm glad you're home.

Now you and Dad can be together Forever yonder in the sky Where you will be forever happy No more worries. No more goodbyes Maybe some day we can all be together. On that bright Eternal Shore Then you won't have to worry Mom Our circle won't be broken anymore.

Sadly Missed by your Family

Why don't I talk to some of my friends who are confined in nursing homes today? From what I am hearing they are some of my biggest fans and love to hear about my adventures of changing from a city gal to a farm wife and learning to do new chores I know nothing about.

So take my hand and go with me back to a time when things were quite different. Back to when we all worked for everything we got out of life which was precious little by today's standards. Back to the time when family values were more than subject to talk about. We have much in common for I am also of the age to be thinking about nursing homes and the time of someone else taking care of me.

These aren't pleasant thoughts by any means. But when we have been blessed by a long life span and reasonably good health then begin to feel the frailties of age taking the place of the activities we have been used to, it is time to accept the realities of crippling arthritis, blood pressure problems, a slowed down heart beat, muscles that no longer want to hold our bodies up straight and our inside organs in place.

It is time to accept the wrinkles and white hair and honor our hesitant speech problems, and not be ashamed of our slipping memories. Personally I haven't found the gold that we are supposed to find in these years but I have found plenty of silver in my hair, and wrinkles in my skin. I have also found weakened eyesight and faulty hearing and the loss of my singing voice. Now I would like to find the gold I have been told is in these years and just maybe I could have some of these handicaps corrected. But no, that is asking too much of science. I have lived and earned each of the things I have listed and am willing to accept whatever is in store for me for the time I have left. That is, if it doesn't hurt too much. I have also found much pain in the aging process of bones deteriorating and I do not like to deal with pain. I am sure each of you in the care of others have gone through these very same things and understand well what I am saying.

It is never a pleasant thing to be cared for by someone else when we have been the one to do all the caring, none-the-less we are lucky to have these homes where we are so well cared for by people who really seem to care. I guess this is the time to look back to all the yester-years of happiness with our families as well as all the hard times we shared with them. You bet we didn't always live on easy street did we? Raising kids during the depression, which all of us of our age did, was no party.

We had to learn how to patch clothes, cook healthy meals from the cheapest things we could find, such as soup beans and potatoes, cabbage and plenty of greens such as kale, spinach and mustard. Our cakes and pies were all made from scratch and without the benefit of modern appliances. The most modern thing many of us owned was a good hand held egg beater. At that time in history eggs were not a no-no so they were used plentifully for they were cheap and we had been taught they were healthy.

Things have changed, haven't they? In spite of all the hardships we went through during that depression we managed to come through with pride in ourselves and the children we raised. We knew we had accomplished overwhelming circumstances by hard work and honesty. Our mature children who shared in it and are now dealing with the problems of today's world are proof of it. Cheer up now and take a nap while you dream of the yesterdays and enjoy the modern care of today.

the department of education is really in charge except for the fact that the local board serves as the fiscal agent.

In stressing the importance of the council, Towery said "they emphasize strongly the role of the council."

He also noted that the center will "serve students and their families," and that it is "not governed by the school system."

Towery said the progress of the center will be "evaluated on the basis of improvements in the schools, reducing problems."

Larry Hammond of the local school system told the council that one concern was the center's space at Rockcastle County High School.

Hammond suggested coming up with a new space at RCHS.

It was also noted that with the new middle school each school will have a center representative.

Two students attending the council meeting said they were also concerned about the space situation at RCHS.

It was also noted that the Family Resource Center is offering childcare and transportation for any type of school function such as PTO or PTA meetings.

BY HILDA FAYNE GABBARD

We have three nice maple trees in our front yard. Every October, nature makes like a bad kid and splashes red, orange and gold colored paint all over these trees which makes them so pretty.

We have two and one half months to go before they enter a new year. I'm in no hurry. It always brings me another year of life which I could do without.

Two weeks ago we visited Pleasant Run Baptist Church and heard Brother Bill Hammond preach. I talked to several folks who had their Homecoming Day in mind and invited us back after their church and went to Sue and Glen Cromer's Ole Kentucky Kitchen at Burr to eat lunch. The food is great and we like these folks as well.

Just before we left, Sue gave me an appetizer cake that she is trying out she said to see if folks liked it. This who galloped down the field like a horse in the derby.

The Redhounds were getting desperate. So they took to the air, but no matter where they passed, a Rocket defender was waiting there.

Missile Shaffer made an interception with a lot of skill, he raced into the end zone with a Redbound yapping at his heel.

Matt Phillips for the Redhounds scored on a twenty-seven yard run, but they were so far behind they weren't having too much fun.

Cannonball Bussell's arm was great—he was passing straight and true. He hit Jason Hunt on the run and Heaton motored on through.

Over the mighty Redhounds Rockets have won three in a row, and brother, when you do that you have to be good, you know.

Congrats to coaches, players, cheerleaders, and fans—you all are doing great, making Rocket football teams feared throughout the state.

was an about a pound size that could be eaten there or taken with you in its wrapping. I decided to bring mine with me and eat with coffee later. It was so good we have thought of making the trip over everyday and maybe get a free cake or that could be too much!

As we left, I called back, "Thank you, Sue!"

"You can thank me, too!" said Glenn.

You know everybody has to have a way to let off steam in a job that is stressful and wearing on the nerves.

I went to Dr. Larry Daugherty, a dentist at the Berea Hospital, last week to have my teeth cleaned.

While there, I learned that the doctor had his own thing about relaxing, only I don't believe that I could relax as the doctor tells it.

He meets several other men at Otawa in Rockcastle County just southwest of Mt. Vernon, on a farm owned by a friend Paul Cash, where they do racing around in a go-cart kind of vehicle.

To Dr. Daugherty, and his friends, including Sheriff Shirley Smith, it's a great sport.

Mrs. Daugherty goes, too. Dr. Larry says, but not to ride, just to watch. I believe that's where I'd be too.

I wondered why Dr. Larry asked about Sheriff Smith. Had he heard that Smith had been pulling up marijuana plants and destroying crops of it?

I know when I had heard what he was doing, I rushed home and told John about it. We thought it best to pull up, and we did, everything in our garden. (Of course, we would have done that anyway at the end of the growing season.) We didn't want to take chances. They say Shirley is a good sheriff. Was Dr. Larry trying to warn me?

I saw my former boss of the Citizen, Jack Hall, over at the hospital in Berea. He told me he was working with Mitch Tolle, who is an artist, in Berea. Mrs. Hall, a wonderful person, is working with their son, Brian, in his printing business on Chestnut Street. Once when near tears over a rude person's talk to me about my column. Mrs. Hall gave me some good advice about it.

"Never reply to anyone that says rude things to you over the paper," and I've followed her advice through the years and I sleep well.

I have been seeing caterpillars crawling up the sides of our house and their color is mostly yellow in the length of their bodies with black tips at the ends. Look for snow around Thanksgiving, we have already been told not to expect a bad winter.

Mark McGuire, a religious young man who leads our church in singing as well as takes part in the special singing group, delivered the Sunday night service last weekend. I tell you this young man goes forward in his work for the Lord.

Paris Swinford has come home! For years he lived in Middleboro with work for two terms as County Attorney in Pineville, Bell County.

Roots run deep in the hills and Paris decided home memories of family throughout the years meant more to Paris than where he's been living alone since his wife passed away with only his brother Edmund in Richmond as the last relative.

Paris has bought land in Scaffold Cane to build a home which he plans to do next spring.

Paris will be close to cousin Margaret Linnville and Ed Mullins who have homes near his land.

Probably Paris wants to eat turn greens and a slice of plum-granny pie when he hears that Margaret and Clyde Linnville are having them for dinner, or Edd and wife Dorothy Mullins are having one of the wild turkeys that have been seen up around them.

I hear Paris may be eating at another place so I don't guess he'll go hungry.

People in passing: I'm always on the lookout for news. So when I met Bob Herron who holds down the Berea office of the Richmond Register and whom I worked with on the Citizen some time ago, I began to tease him. Bob's a handsome looking fellow who is bound to have oodles of girls in his life. Today, he was going into the Registrar's office, next door to the Citizen.

"How's your love life, Bob?" I asked him.

"It's the worst you ever saw," he smiled back at me so I knew I wouldn't get any help there.

I heard that Billy Croucher, who used to be one of the nicest boys in school at Disputanta when I taught there, was in a Lexington hospital with heart trouble.

Better watch the Turner Carpet Outlet on Jefferson Street just where you cross the railroad tracks. They have some lovely rugs and bargains as well.

Sara (boss #3) said her dad, Mr. Anderkin, had gone on a trip out west to do some elk hunting. Now the Anderkin home would be a great place to drop in about real estate, when he returns, for an elk steak or an elk burger.

I'm thinking the Anderkins should not let their kinfolk in Wildkie road about it!

Bobbie and Jewel Abney (kinfolk) from Garrard County were in at Long John Silver's one night. I bet

Jewel was saying how she had worked that day to get Bobbie to bring her in and she would get out of cooking. We women use all kinds of excuses to get out of cooking!

As we left, we ran into Hubert and wife, (Joe's brother) Abney so I said, "Someone else who has used a reason to get up here!"

Mary Lou Parsons, a neighbor on Menelaus Road, called to ask about John's mild stroke in his right arm. He had done some work and needed to finish up so she wondered if he would be able to do it. But John is back to normal.

I fell a week ago and splattered myself all over the blackout in front of the Citizen. I hung my foot on one of the ridges made to keep people from speeding down a street. I thought I had killed myself and would have cried but no one was around to hear me. Anyway, I have felt terrible the last few days with sore bones, skinned knees and have been unable to write.

We meet folks who say, "Have you two been fighting again?"

John's reply, "Well she ought to stop talking back to me!" and I'll declare revenge.

Till next week: What frost can do to help us.

work was the big church bell, which we rang everyday at noon. He wanted to see the bell, so I climbed with him up a long, built-in ladder to the belfry. He examined the bell and found a broken bolt that prevented the bell from moving when the rope was pulled from the foyler below. He offered to get a new bolt from the hardware store up the street. I said it could wait.

"It's near noon, isn't it?" he asked. Yes, I said, looking at my watch. I'll ring that bell anyhow!" he said.

"How? It's broken."

Basil leaned against the wall of the belfry and said, "Tell me when it's exactly noon."

I was puzzled but a few seconds later said, "Noon."

You won't believe what came next. Basil bent over and ran at the bell like a teed-off goat, ramming it head on. Gong! I stood there in total disbelief. And then, before I could intervene, he backed up and gonged it again—deacon, drove up. His mouth fell open when he saw Basil's crimson pate. He just sat stupefied in his car, as if he didn't see me.

"That's Basil Gullett from Louisville," I said. "He's interested in the custodial job. Ever hear of him?"

Lank rubbed his chin, shook his head, and said, "Nope. Can't say that I have, but—" Then he turned and looked up the street in Basil's direction. "But what?" I asked when he didn't complete his statement.

"But his face sure rings a bell," I said.
