wiches."

"Not if he makes it. His pretty daughter-in-law Carolyn, can beat him all to pieces," I said.

"So we drove in a rainstorm that was like someone throwing buckets of water on the windshield. The ditches beside the road with all the trash in them were being cleaned by nature with water."

Pauline Ramsey was minding the store since Jan had paperwork to do in the post office, where he sat on a stool and made comments.

Jan asked about Ed and Juanita Croucher who used to come to his store when they lived on lower Clear Creek.

"They were some of the best people coming in here. Tell them both I said 'hello'."

Later I passed the word on to Juanita where they lived at Berea and she was so pleased. She said "Well, we really thank them for their kind words - I was certainly nice to us."

Paul Abney, son of Kinfolk Bronco Abney, came by the store to get their mail and talked awhile to us as we sat at the table in the post office. He and his wife live with their grandfather, old timer, Bill Stewart who will be 93 soon.

A tall, nice looking man came to the postoffice, sat down and talked and said he was Marvin Stone, new forest ranger in Rockcastle taking Steve Bullen's place who became a deputy. Marvin had worked 27 years for the state. In his job, Stone said, he didn't talk politics. He has a wife who works at Richmond, and they have six kids.

I asked him if he knew anything about turnip preserves. No, he didn't but sure liked some meat made from hogs heads in Clark County when he used to live there.

When I asked Jan Stephens about the office of Mayor of Wildie he said "I turned that over to Ballard Parsons. Go see him. He's the very man for the job."

In the way of food, Jan said he liked turnips any way you can fix 'em, preserves or kraut. He should talk to Dale Land at Richmond who goes for that.

In Ballard Parson's Grocery Store, we found a group talking. Of course the first thing I said "So you are Wildie's new mayor. Tell me how you are going to run the community."

"First I don't want to be mayor but the business I have here," Ballard told me.

"Oh Jan says you are the right man for the job," I said.

"Well, I guess I could, I'd have to put back some work," Ballard decided.

"I will pick up after the election," John Brannaman who helps Ballard in the store sometimes, was glad for Ballard to have the new job. "Business will pick up," he said.

I asked Ballard about his love life. "Very slow. It's too cold for the girls to take rides," he said.

One man there said he was William Smith, son of old timer Henry - He said he had worked 26 years at Dresser Company then retired.

John and William talked of their days young fellows around Wildie. Ballard said Vincent Fish who he had talked to when we were there before, and is a relative to Mr. Anderson who owns this paper, was raising buffalos to sell.

Shucks, we may get herding cattle by cowboys giving a lot of fellows work around Wildie.

I didn't lose my vote this time as I always have before. It's going to be interesting to sit back and watch the news, as Mrs. Rockcastle said. After I read the Herald, I get so disgusted at all the trouble they try to stir up.

Let's laugh and plan for Thanksgiving.

I'm watching Ruth and Joe Abney's smokehouse. Some folks in the hills kill hogs early.

Till next week: More people would learn from their mistakes if they weren't so busy denying they made them.

Halloween fun was theme of homemakers' meeting

The Quail Homemakers held their October meeting at the home of Christine Taylor on the 28th. Twelve members were present with four guests there. We celebrated Halloween in costume. We had a couple of fat pumpkins, Indian maiden, a ghost, a sailor, several very tired rushed working housewives, and then there was Noreitta, dressed up as a very long legged blonde? There was a lot of discussion about whether she was Dolly or Madonna, or just a busy professional person. The look on the faces as people came in as their mouths dropped open was great. The old saying if a picture could paint a thousand words. Noreitta came away with the best and out of character costume prize. Christine's home was beautifully, if that applies to spider webs, decorated.

Old and new business was discussed, games played, gifts exchanged and the meeting was dismissed until November. The November meeting will be held at my home on the 23rd not on the 16th as earlier planned.

We would like to make special mention of our two un-invited visitors, one yielding a meat cleaver and the other smoking a cigar. If you would like to let us know in next week's Signal to your real identity, it would solve the answer to everyone thinking the other did the prank, but no one is telling for sure who it is or who helped them.

News left over from last week:

Traci Alexander, a teller at the Berea National Bank says she is the granddaughter of Stella Dees.

Mike Gay told me that his "love life" was very slow now.

A girl named Wendy works as Wendy's Restaurant. I don't know if she owns any part of it or is related to the owner. But, she's a cute girl all right.

Nancy VanWinkle who worked at the Berea Hospital with friend Mondella Spurlock claims to be kin to old timer Preacher Lewis VanWinkle who is in the place he talked about to others-Heaven.

Henry Volmer called from Indiana to wish us a Happy Halloween. Happy for someone with a face like mine! How you joke, Henry.

John Hardin is back at home after a stay in a Lexington hospital.

The Clear Creek Baptist Church is looking for a new pastor since Brother Wayne Henson resigned. I had heard that this was the third time he had given up preaching there. The Lord takes care of his people and their church so he'll send them another one.

Brother Jim Kirby, a former pastor filled the pulpit last weekend. He is not a large man in size but I tell you Brother Jim is mighty in the pulpit as the Lord's man.

John and I went into Superior Foodmart in Berea after church services recently. I hadn't seen Conley Saylor or his pretty wife, Virginia, since they made their last vacation trip (how many have they made this fall) since they had returned from Vermont in the northeastern part of the country.

I hadn't dared to ask Conley about their trip and hear the tales he would tell about his having no money to come home on, that he would tell.

So on the day we walked up to the checkout counter, we saw Conley and Virginia in the other side. I was going to pretend I didn't see them.

All at once Conley peeked at me over the cigarette shack and said "did I ever tell you about our trip to Vermont and how we got ourselves back here?" his face was full of mischief.

I looked to John and Virginia for help but they were laughing. I knew I had to hear one more.

"No, no, you didn't" I told him.

"Why, when we got ready to come home, we had spent and run short of money. But I got a job helping to make the maple syrup that we probably sell here. Boy, it's great to taste," he said.

That's probably what was wrong with the last bottle we bought there. I bent over choking with laughter at he said he went out. That man has no shame in telling big ones.

John had a camera and he made Conley and Virginia's picture out front of the store, which will be in this paper in a week or so.

This picture is for Jesse Chastoon Norton from Indiana who made a trip recently back to Kentucky and wanted to meet Conley but he was away from the store during her visit.

Probably she wants to see what the man from Rockcastle looks like with his tales.

It was raining hard as we drove to Wildie one morning. John had said, "Let's go to Jan Stephen's restaurant and eat one of his big ham sand-

Kiwanis News

Kiwanian Maude Randolph and her husband recently traveled to Maine and found a village where crafts and other goodies are the main source of income.

After some time visiting this village Maude decided to check into the "Maine Balsam Wreaths". These wreaths are live greenery and last for a number of weeks. The wreaths measure 24" in diameter and are very pretty. The aroma is very Christmasy and gets you feeling like the holiday season.

Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle

County has decided to sell these "Maine Balsam Wreaths" as a fundraiser for the organization. The wreaths sell for $12.50 each or two for $20.

You may contact any Kiwanis member to place your order, or call 256-9199. You will be notified when they arrive.

We would like to invite the public to the installation of our new president, Calvin Mize, on November 17 at 6:30 p.m. at Rockcastle Steak House. The dinner will be $10 per person. Please join us.

Board approves final plans for 9.5 million high school

By: Richard Aderkin
Managing Editor

The Rockcastle County Board of Education approved the final design documents for the new 9.5 million dollar Rockcastle County High School at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Architect Russell McFarland of Johnson/Romanowicz told Superintendent Bige Towery and board members that Rockcastle High School Principal Ronnie Cash and his staff were very satisfied with the revised drawings and ready for the final plans to be approved by the board.

McFarland told the board that he had also met extensively with the Site Based Decision Making Council, parents and teachers at the high school before putting the final touches on the construction documents.

The plans must now go the state department for final approval. Local finance officer Richard Bray told board members that bids should be ready to open sometime in January, with actual construction beginning in March.

Site preparation is presently underway at the site on the 461 bypass. Bob Brader, job site superintendent.

Booze found

Local authorities and alcohol agents seized a large quantity of beer and whiskey last week at the home of Boyd Smith on Red Hill.

The booze was stacked in a back room, according to Deputy Darrell Doan.

Found were 333 cans of Budweiser, 72 cans of Falls City, nine bottles of Kessler whiskey, one bottle of Wild Irish Rose wine and a pint Mason fruit jar containing marijuana seeds.

Making the raid were ABC agents Jack Miller and Ronnie Robinson, Sheriff Shirley Smith, Deputies Ronnie Roark, Darrell Doan and Leonard Miller.

Fire destroys Mullins home

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a house belonging to Mrs. Betty Mullins on Negro Town Hill in Mt. Vernon about midnight Sunday.

The house was vacant and there was no electric on. The interior of the house was engulfed in flames when the scene. Vernon firefighters arrived on the scene.

According to Mrs. Mullins' daughter, Pam Durham, the house was to be sold on Monday to a local couple.

CPA office moving

Joseph Clontz, Mt. Vernon accountant, is in the process of moving his office from Main St. to the former Boon Trust printing office.

The CPA will be open for business on Wednesday.

The new office is located near Ford Bros. Inc. on US 25 south.

Thompson charged with assault

A special prosecutor will be appointed to handle the criminal case pending against a Mt. Vernon police officer.

Mt. Vernon police detective Larry Thompson was suspended last week for sixty days without pay, by Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer.

Thompson has been charged with fourth degree assault, a Class A misdemeanor. The charge stemmed from a complaint filed against Thompson by Renee Mason of Mt. Vernon. Mason said in her complaint that Thompson struck her in the side of the head during an altercation at the residence of Stevie and Nichole Sowder on Jopp Cash Road in Mt. Vernon. Thompson was allegedly on duty at the time of the incident. He has been ordered to stay away from Mason until his December 14th court appearance.

Court files for major grant for industrial park

By Ray McClure

Another step toward attracting industry to Rockcastle County was taken by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at its November meeting.

A resolution was passed by the magistrates employing Cumberland Valley Area Development District to submit an Economic Development Proposal. If funded will provide $526,000 to develop 58 acres of the new industrial park site, known as Henderson Bottoms along U.S. 150. The developed site will be divided into eight lots. Eighteen hundred feet of roadway will be built. Ten inch waterlines will be extended 3400 feet as well as eight inch sewer lines, and a lift station. A major expense is drainage. The area serves a 288 acre water shed with sink holes for escape. Finally, a four inch natural gas line will be laid for 3800 feet.

Financing for the project will come from Economic Development grant 60 percent, an ARC grant 20 percent, and the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority 20 percent Loan. These funds will be expended for earthworks and roads, $115,000, sewer works $250,000, gas lines $41,000 and all other $80,000.

Once developed a marketing strategy will be utilized to sell the park. It emphasizes available transportation, and the fact that Rockcastle is within one day trucking time of the majority of the U.S. population — Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Baltimore.

Rockcastle will be poised for significant economic expansion with the development of this park," Roland Mullins, Judge/Executive, told the meeting.

The court appointed two members to the Rockcastle Extension District Board. They are Tommi Harrel Mink and Patty Himes.

Additions to the County Road/Work Program include 300 feet of Walter McFerron Road; .02 tenths of Three Oaks Ranch Road and a section of Hopkins Albright/Clontz Road.

The court changed eligibility for county road programs. Four houses must be along a road to be part of the road program. Two magistrates must check it. Property owners must approve. It must serve the traveling public. An extension to a road must undergo the same guidelines.

Following the meeting Joe Howard was sworn in as jailer effective December 1. Billy Kirby is resigning or retiring at that time.

Thomas first to file

Albert Lee Thomas of Brodhead became the first candidate for office in the 1993 primary election in Rockcastle.

The 72-year-old retiree from Blue Grass Army Depot said he wanted to serve the people and had time to do it. He is a candidate in the third magisterial district, a seat now held by Clinton Brown who has not indicated if he will be a candidate for re-election.

Thomas and his wife, Nannie, are the parents of four daughters, all married.

Billy Kirby says goodbye

By George Ferrell
Rockcastle County Jailer Billy Kirby will be leaving office next month after more than 20 years of public service.

"I want to thank all the people for voting for me all these years," Kirby said.

Starting as a deputy sheriff in 1966, Kirby held his first elective office when he was elected sheriff in 1970.

He was the top vote getter in the last county election and is a popular figure in the local community.

Kirby says he has saved the county money, as well, noting that he has collected $600,000 over the past three years by housing prisoners from places other than Rockcastle County.

With the windfall savings, Kirby has added to the jail, and is seeing the preliminary plans for a new jail addition which will start soon.

"I've made the money and redone it, built on in '86 with $140,000 paid for by holding other prisoners," he said.

The addition that is in the planning stages will have a drive-in port, exam room, medical room, conference room and more dormitory space with an outdoor recreation facility.

Kirby said that when he took office seven years ago the jail was $100,000 in debt, but that he has managed to turn over a $200,000 surplus.

He is also proud of the fact that the jail pays its way, including the salaries for four men and three women.

Today's jail has changed a lot from the jails of yesteryear, according to Kirby, who said there must now be an alert person on duty 24 hours a day.

When he took over in 1977 there were only two on staff — Kirby and his wife, Gladys.

Kirby is retiring due to the fact that his knees are in very bad shape and he is in need of knee replacement surgery as he now uses a cane to get around.

"I can't do my duties and Joe Howard has two years experience with me and he's had a lot of other experience," he said.

Both Kirbys say they will miss the people they work with.

"Everybody knows us in Rockcastle County," he said. "I started out in 1966 with Tip Repper."

Gladys is also trying to take things in stride.

"We've enjoyed it and I know we'll miss it," she said. "If he was physically able we'd finish our term."

Kirby said the jail is on good footing and that with the addition can take in even more state funds for housing prisoners from outside the county.

"If they go on and remodel the jail they can get state community work prisoners and they'll get paid for keeping them," he said.

Kirby says there have been many changes over the years.

"When I started out in the 60s and 70s there wasn't a whole lot of pot running in and out of the jail," he said. "They had the fee system and paid per prisoner."

Kirby said he and Gladys worked the jail for four years alone during the 70s.

"In 1983 jailers went on salary and since then it's been a right good living," he said. "Now the inmates have got more rights than you got."

The biggest change, according to Kirby, is the state standards.

"The state sets the standards and they can close you down if you don't meet the guidelines," he said.

"What will he do in retirement after his surgery?"

"I just go home and fox hunt," he said. "I've not got to hunt none in the past eight years but a very few times — we might travel around and see the world."

Rogers' 'Vote-hauling' investigation growing

An investigation into "vote-hauling" payments made by the re-election campaign of U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers, R-Somerset, expanding. Hartan Commonwealth's Attorney Henry Johnson said yesterday, according to a story in Wednesday's Lexington Herald-Leader.

Last week, a Hartan County grand jury began looking into two $30 checks written on Election Day for two family members to transport people to the polls, although the recipients allegedly were not asked to do any campaign work. But Johnson said yesterday he now has a list of 16 people who received payments for no apparent reason.

The informal information that I have at this point indicates that some of the people didn't work for the campaign — certainly couldn't haul voters," Johnson said. "Either they're too young to have a driver's license, or they have physical disabilities that would have prevented them from hauling voters."

The 5th District congressman's campaign reported disbursing $40,000 in vote-hauling checks on Election Day.

The state's election laws do not prohibit vote hauling, nor do they require that the recipient of such a payment be a licensed driver. Also, no files are required to prove that any services were rendered.

Thank goodness Political Ads will not interrupt our television

The national election is out of the way and those of us who live along the crest of Fair View Ridge here on the outer edge of Paint Lick are content people on this cold and drizzly, post-election, Wednesday night. We've been watching television ever since supper time and not once has Ross Perot pre-empted anyone's favorite show. George Bush has not complained a single time and its been like that for hours now.

All we've seen is Bill Cosby, Beverly Hills 90210, Melrose Place and a bunch of commercials for fried chicken, five brands of greasy hamburgers, four different soft drinks, thirteen automobile companies, twenty one pizza chains, seven different grocery stores and a woman running around in their panties trying to sell small goods all night. In other words, television the way it was meant to be.

My goodness, what a pleasure it is to be back to normal again and get a little decent entertainment for a change. I'm ready to start electing president's for life just so we won't have to go through all this advertising bill manure they feel obligated to dish out every four years. And because I keep sitting way out on the edge of my easy chair in eager anticipation of the next big chicken breakthrough that all these greasy hamburger places keep coming up with.

I mailed my own secret recipe into the old gray headed guy who claims to be the daddy of Wendy's. He's already touted everything you can do to chicken except steamed toenails and French Fried tailfeathers and my personal favorite; steamed gizzards.

So I have made a point of copy-righting about 750 different things you can do with gizzards that I think a fast food chain ought to try. I love around at all the other spokespole for the grease bars and it occurs to me that if anybody would go for gizzards, it would be ole Dave. And God knows that if he can't sell em, there ain't no reason to be piling them Ronald McDonald, McGizzards? I doubt it. Even with special sauce.

But McGravy and gizzards—? Hey, it sounds as good as anything else that has Mac in front of it and it's a lot more poetic. You never know and now that I've let it slip, you shouldn't be terribly surprised by the gizzards and it turns to be that if anybody would go for gizzards, it would be ole Dave. And God knows that if he can't sell em, there ain't no reason to be piling them Ronald McDonald, McGizzards? I doubt it. Even with special sauce.

I can already see the advertisement. Another woman running around in her skivvies trying to lure you into the romance of having gourmet gizzard under the golden arches. The trade journals keep saying that McDonalds intends to begin marketing food to people who have already gone through puberty. So don't be laughing. McGizzards it may well be and by gosh if they did it right, it could even be good.

Talk shows?..

COMMENTARY
By George Ferrall

What in the world happened to old fashioned TV?

It is now just the developing tank for cable TV and the mass marketing of advertisers.

Lately we've seen everything with the most recent presidential election having the candidates taking to those talk show/schlock interview programs.

Lately we've seen everything with the most recent presidential election having the candidates taking to those talk show/schlock interview programs.

Recently I saw that the Phil Donahue Show is celebrating 25 years on the air.

I guess that tells you something about the vagaries of the American mind.

What do Oprah and Phil have to do with politics?

They're so far out of the mainstream that it's often joked about, even by the prudish.

What do gay extra-terrestrial transvestite cross dressers have to do with politics?

I don't know, but maybe Bill and George and Ross would have been a little defensive about the subject had they been asked their "personal" opinion.

Everybody wants to know. Or do they?

I guess many people just have time to kill when they watch daytime TV. I've been there myself — temporarily unemployed or ill for a day or two.

What about visitors from other countries?

What do they think when they wake up in a motel room and hear a talk show on kinky lifestyles of the "new age"?

In many of these talk shows there is the sense that they give a glimpse of the outer limits of our society.

I guess that in the distant future, someone will dig up old videos of Oprah, Phil and Geraldo and do an analysis of American culture.

It won't represent the vast culture of America, rather it comprises the jagged edges of the wretched side of our lives.

I should talk, though, because in the vague field of print journalism are the tabloids at the supermarket. They are awash with scandal — bearing false headlines such as "Elvis is alive and married!" or "Hitler dies of heart attack!"

Then too there was the girl with the "nine-inch tongue."

I make it a practice as I kill time in line at the supermarket to check out the latest headlines — they play things up so garishly that it can be humorous.

Humorous, but not nearly so good as to be accurate.

There was a recent story in one of the tabloids that used Berra, Ky., as one of the settings for a totally false story. It wasn't even good for a laugh for some Berra residents who wanted the story researched.

About 10 years ago I had a college buddy bring me back a selection of newspapers from England.

The British really know how to do it! They are evidently the role models for their third rate cousins in America.

Still, they do play things up, but they seem to be somewhat more accurate and entertaining.

I've often wished that I could take three or four British tabloids for a while.

It would be fascinating to see what the latest headline rage of the British happened to be at any given time.

The British papers have been at it a long time and they are such "royalty watchers."

But there are many humorous stories that play on such themes as crime, romance, popular culture and the theatre.

Oh, well, I guess there's always some scandal or lifestyle that can feed the ratings or sell papers at the supermarket.

Let's just hope people can separate the schlock from the journalism, and the accurate from the inaccurate.

That's where the humor tends to fade.

Well, that's all for this week.

Heresay

Jon Norman Meadows

Nancy and I just returned from a trip to Minnesota, where we visited our son and spent a week helping him care for our two grandsons, ages two and four, while their mother was away. I need some time to reflect on that event—and to recuperate! (Grandparents will understand.) So, here is a revised reprint of my first article for The Signal, last fall, under a pen name.

Not long ago the Harmony Chapel Church out on big Split Road called a new preacher. He is Bro. Aeshal Goforth. Being only two years past twenty and unmarried, he's quite a contrast to the older pastors they've had over the past decade.

Bro. Aeshal hadn't been on the field a week when he violated an unwritten no-no. It happened at his first mid-week prayer service. A bigger impression than he'd made the Sunday before with his rousing sermon, entitled "Rapture or Rapture?"

"Brethren and sisters, this service is a prayer meeting," he said, clasping a handkerchief, preparing to sweat, and cry if need be.

"So let's make sure we do more praying than anything else." That statement evoked a few awms, which, in turn, caused Bro. Aeshal to break out with prophetic zeal, which is a lot stronger than ministerial fervor, pastoralunction, or the hives.

"Let no one say that Harmony Church is like those white-sepulchered, clarified churches that announce prayer meeting and do everything but pray. Beloved, let us trim our lamps! Let us gird up our loins! Let us storm the battlements of heaven!"

Arus Boegel, on the back pew, didn't see how that could do any harm, so he bellowed, "Amen!" (pronounced AAA-men, a-MEN, or a-MAN, but never a-WOMAN).

Then Bro. Aeshal called for a "season of prayer," wherein everyone has an opportunity to lead, and the deacons are expected to, Well, that brought looks of consternation to more than a few faces—but not Ona Mae Higgenbottom, who waved her hand toward heaven and said, "Praise be!"

Bro. Aeshal hadn't heard about Ona Mae's lengthy benevolence. She was a simple widow who spoke to heaven rather than the congregation and fully expected heaven to hear. Her petitions were at least twenty minutes long. And right before the last restful folk, she thought she would never end as she singled out every backslider and child of perdition she could think of in the county. In fact, about six months before Bro. Aeshal came, prayer meetings had gotten so long—and embarrassing—that Esby Atherton, Head Deacon at Harmony, implored the pastor to try something else.

"Why, some of our most faithful folks has quit comin'," Esby said, "and a lot that does come just want to hear what Ona's gonna say, then they go out and talk it all over the county. Preachers, we'll have us a stone-throwin' if we don't get a handle on it." They did.

Ona Mae prayed for sufferers of every sickness from sinus to syphilis. She singled out schemes and affairs, perpetrators and victims, and even got right personal regarding herself. One of her well known please was uttered after a thief took the washing from her clothesline while she napped.

"Lord, I beg you to forgive whoever it was that stole my washin'. And, Lord—if you see fit—sell him to bring it back. I've got some blood-mess left, but Lord, you know I can't afford no new petticoat."

So, when Bro. Aeshal called for a season of prayer, Ona Mae took over and nearly sprouted wings as she took the congregation up every hollow and out every ridge who had been shedding tears and making intercession for saints and sinners alike.

Ona finally finished. Bro. Aeshal sensed something was amiss when no one else made supplication. And, after Esby apprised him of the problem, he changed the format for Wednesday night.

The next week the congregation sang a song or two, and Bro. Aeshal passed out a printed sheet that named the sick and the dying, the bereaved and the shut-ins, folks in the hospital and the missionaries who had birthdays that week, and "the lost"—no names listed. He made a few comments, asked for additions to the list, and called on someone to voice a general—as in "brief" entreaty that summed up all the requests. For the remainder of the hour, Bro. Aeshal engaged the elect in a study of the first chapter of Hiram Bloodfoot's From Jordan to Jubilee, a primer on their church's origin, uniqueness and superiority.

Attendance and offerings are at an all time high at Harmony Chapel, and there is even talk of building a kitchen and fellowship hall for church meals and such, especially wedding receptions. Everyone speaks well of Bro. Aeshal. This is his first full-time pastorate, and no one expects him to be flawless (for a season, at least).

Ona Mae passed away about a month ago, and there was a little talk of reviving the season of prayer. But Bro. Aeshal agreed with Esby that it would be best not to go back to that practice lest someone else gets carried away—like Ona Mae.

Rockets edge out Bourbon Co., 21-13

Will face Anderson County in round two

Maybe it wasn't the prettiest game to watch and maybe it wasn't high-lighted with big play after big play. And, just maybe, it might have been the poorest executed fundamental performance this year. Nonetheless, count it.

The Rockcastle County Rockets flourished with one of their worst outings to knock off a strong Bourbon County team, 21-13, last Friday to move one game deeper into the Region 3 playoffs.

The victory now extends the Rockets' school record of consecutive wins to 10 with only one loss recorded.

"Bourbon County had a much better football team than everyone expected," said head coach Tom Larkey Tuesday. "And fundamentally, I think we played about as bad as we have anytime this year with our blocking and tackling," he added.

While the game didn't begin as such the Rockets did only manage 156 yards rushing and 81 passing for 15 first downs. Bourbon was limited to only 126 yards rushing and 15 yards passing.

Jason Kirby, who has continually played well with another exceptional night of 10 tackles, an interception and fumble recovery, nabbed his interception on Bourbon's first possession of the game. The Rockets took over on Bourbon's 35 yard line and ran seven short-gain plays before running back Michael Shaffer scampered into the end zone from the two yard line. Greg Bowman's following extra-point kick was good to give the Rockets the early edge, 7-0.

While the remainder of the first quarter ended in deadlock, the opening minutes of the second quarter went in the Rockets favor with their defense paving the way. All-stater J.D. Bussell pulled down the second interception of the game to give the Rockets the ball on their own 39 yard line. However, a strong Bourbon defense held on four downs to force the Rockets to punt.

"I felt like we were evenly matched in size with Bourbon but I think we were whipped with their quickness on the line of scrimmage," Larkey said.

"Our offensive line had a hard time with Bourbon's stunts on our pass plays," he added.

While they did have their woes against Bourbon's quick defensive alignment, headlined by Chad Biddle, the Rockets' defense continued to force some key plays.

Jay Stevens led the Rockets' defense on Bourbon's ensuing possession by forcing a fumble on their first play. The loose ball was recovered by Kirby to give the Rockets the possession on their 27 yard line.

But again, Bourbon's defense held tight and forced the Rockets to punt the ball in the air on a third and 16 situation. Quarterback J.D. Bussell's pass attempt was picked off to give Bourbon excellent field position on the Rockets' 22 yard line.

Following three plays of no gain,

Bourbon finally prevailed with a quarterback keeper to scramble 22 yards untouched to post their first touchdown. Their kick was good to send the game into intermission all knotted up at 7-7.

While the first half was rather silent, the opening minutes of the second half started off with a bang.

After punting on their first possession of the half, the Rockets' defense again took over and put the hard hits in where they counted and forced another Bourbon fumble. The recovery, made by Bobby Coffey on Bourbon's 15 yard line, set-up the Rockets second score. After gaining only two yards in two plays, Bussell followed by putting the ball into the air and found Harris for a 13 yard touchdown reception. Following an offside penalty on Bourbon, Bussell was successful on a keeper for the Rockets' two-point conversion to up their lead to 15-7.

Bussell's passing performance of 81 yards and seven completions has now established two new school records. The first being 816 passing yards in a single season and the other being 46 completions in a single season. The records were previously held by Scott Parkey in 1991 with 760 yards and 43 completions.

Also establishing another new record was Harris with his three receptions on the night. Harris has now caught 35 passes during his tenure at playoffs. Bourbon proved tough but the Rockets prevailed, 21-13. They will face the Anderson County Bearcats this Friday night.

RCHS, four more than the 31 set from 1985-88 by Chuck Shields. However successful Bourbon quickly countered on the ensuing kick-off for a 75 yard return by Biddle for their second touchdown. Bourbon's following two-point conversion attempt to tie the game was denied by the Rockets to keep the game in their favor, 15-13.

The Rockets posted the final score of the game in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter on a 83 yard drive capped off by a five yard touchdown run by Shaffer. Their following extra-point attempt was forced into a two-point conversion attempt by a bad snap and was denied by Bourbon's defense.

With the score set at 21-13 in the Rockets' favor, Bourbon did have one last chance to score and go for two to tie the game. But on fourth down from their 26 yard line, Bourbon's quarterback was forced to keep the ball and was taken down by Kirby to conclude the game.

"I think our kids needed a close game to help them this week," Larkey said. "I feel now that we will have no problem in getting fired up for the Anderson County Bearcats, because we are the underdogs," he concluded.

With the win the Rockets will host Anderson Friday night and are indeed listed as the underdog. The game begins at 7:30 p.m. and will put the Rockets' 10-1 record up against Anderson's 9-1 record. Anderson is known for passing well and running fast and have a lot of skilled players. Their only loss came to Danville this year, 47-27. A big crowd is expected.

Defensively for the Rockets against Bourbon: Jason Hunt had two solos and two assists; Brian Mink had one solo and three assists; Stacey Kirby had six assists; Jay Stevens had two solos, six assists and one-half sacks; Gordon Sowder had one solo and one assist; Chris Goff had three solos, three assists and two one-half sacks; Bobby Coffey had four solos, five assists and one fumble recovery; Louie Davis had one assist;

J.D. Bussell had one solo and one assist; J.D. Harris had four solos, two assists and one interception and Jason Kirby had three solos, seven assists, one fumble recovery and one interception.

Offensively for Rockets: J.D. Bussell had 14 pass attempts with seven completions for 81 yards and one touchdown, one point after touchdown and one interception; Jason Hunt had one reception for 11 yards; J.D. Harris had 11 carries for 43 yards and three receptions for 46 yards and one touchdown; Bobby Coffey had three carries for 23 yards; Michael Shaffer had 21 carries for 90 yards and two receptions for 14 yards with two touchdowns and Greg Bowman was one for one on extra-point kicks.

Tips on hunting and fishing

Although one million or so Kentucky residents hunt or fish, it is surprising how many sportsmen don't know how or where to get hunting and fishing information.

Being aware of the laws and guidelines that govern these sports is essential to participating in these activities legally and safely. Knowing what the rules are also enhances the enjoyment these pastimes can provide and is part of a responsible attitude all sportsmen should practice.

But, how do you find out what the laws are, when hunting seasons open, and if there are any special requirements to follow when fishing on a particular lake, for example? Well, there are several places to look and reliable sources from which to choose.

Kentucky hunting and fishing licenses are sold through every county clerk's office in the state. When the county clerk receives licenses from the fish and wildlife department, informational booklets and pamphlets regarding seasons dates and laws are also provided. Take your hunting permit, for example. For every permit sent to the county clerk, a copy of the current Kentucky Deer Hunting Guide is sent along with the permit to be given to each hunter.

Extra copies are also distributed for hunters not required to buy a permit to help insure all hunters will know season dates and guidelines. This procedure is followed for all types of licenses and permits, and with the exception of migratory bird hunting information, clerks have hunting and fishing laws well in advance of the season.

In addition to the county court clerk's office, other license vendors in your county should also get a supply of hunting and fishing guides for public use when the vendor receives licenses from the clerk's office. You can check these outlets when buying your licenses.

If all else fails, you can always contact the fish and wildlife agency's Division of Information and Education directly by phone or letter.

To contact the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, write KDFWR, I & E Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601, or call (502) 564-4336. In Louisville, you can call (502) 595-4039.

PTA News
Santa Claus is coming to town. We are preparing for our 'Make a Wish' project this week. The PTA sponsors this project to help our students that are unfortunate during Christmas time, due to unemployment, sickness, etc. We will have names of these children on our Christmas tree by November 18. Each envelope on the tree will list if the child is a boy or girl, their age and five items they wish for Christmas. We ask that you purchase two gifts. Place the number on each package you selected and return to the PTA by December 14, 1992. Please remember the gift of giving for the holidays. Please come by the PTA office and choose to be Santa for one of our kids or contact Darlene Bowles (days) 256-2953 or (evenings) 256-5496. As always we appreciate your help in making this project a success. The reward you will receive will be far greater than those you will give.

Sincerely yours,

Tiger Pause

"A Day on Campus", a program designed to stress the importance of continuing education, will be enjoyed by BES Middle School students for the sixth year in a row, thanks to the Bank of Mt. Vernon sand Citizen's Bank of Broadhead. Our students will visit the campus of Centre College on March 26, 1993.

Mrs. Wanda Carroll, luncheon manager, has announced "Breakfast Quest" - developed to encourage student participation in the school's breakfast program. Some research suggests a healthy breakfast can help children concentrate better during the morning hours, tire less easily and encourages the establishment of positive eating habits.

The second six weeks grading period ends, Wed. ov. 1, with report cards going home, Wed. Nov. 18. On the comment sheet, there is a section for parents to request a conference (Cont. to A7)

Livingston Link

Livingston Elementary School is working hard to increase communication between home and school. We would like to thank Mr. Carter for the calendar of events he is sending home each month. This form of communication can be very valuable to parents, it lets you know ahead of time activities and events planned at school.

The second six weeks end Nov. 11. Report cards will go out on Tuesday, Nov. 17.

Good attendance is essential to success in school. Children have to be at school in order to learn. Livingston School attendance is also used in evaluating the effectiveness of our school. Mr. Carter has initiated an updated attendance program to begin Nov. 9. Make sure you have good attendance so you and your class can participate in the attendance program. Congratulations to Eric Pheasins. Eric won the amfin stereo headset on Monday.

The "I Care Hotline" Rally will be held Wednesday, Nov. 11 at Mt. Vernon Elementary. We would like to thank Youth Services Center for providing these events for Jr. High Students.

Counselor's Corner:
Being in the helping profession allows me to experience first-hand children's faces as they come to school. I see many different faces each day. So many of our younger students are eager to tell me their thoughts. They yearn for knowledge about themselves, others and the world they live in. Eyes light up, bodies raise higher, and a smile appears as thoughts are connected.

We had the opportunity to visit several classrooms this second six weeks. We discussed problems. We were on the lookout for "The Super, Incredible, Magnificent, Problem-Solver". We discussed different problems that may be encountered each day. Problems such as the habit of putting things off, getting along with others, changes in the weather, vandalism, illness and death. Students brainstormed for different ways of coping with problems. Attitude toward the problem can play a big role in being able to solve problems. Students discussed different solutions and evaluated them making a choice, in working to acquire a particular solution. Feelings were described and a list compiled. Young children do recognize that life has problems, and each of us can and will benefit from efforts applied to solving problems.

I would like to welcome our new students and their families to Livingston school. You will find that we are a small school. The student/adult ratio at our school is small, which allows for greater individualized instruction and assistance. We have a schoolwide Chapter I Project. This project provides extra funds intended to serve our students. Our entire faculty and staff are dedicated to providing the best education possible for our students. Our P.T.O. has seen a 110% increase in membership. P.T.O. leaders along with the school staff are dedicated to getting more parental involvement in our school. This is just a few of the reasons to be proud that you are now a part of the Livingston team. It takes everyone to be the best.

I appreciate Mr. Carter's great effort in improving attendance. He knows the importance in children being present and involved at school each day. Mr. Carter has had much success in meeting many parents for the first time and establishing good communication between school and home. He's expressed to me his enjoyment in getting to know parents and listening to them. Mr. Carter believes that parents love their children and want the best for them. He knows that each child can have greater benefit when school and home are working together.

I want to thank Mr. Bill Shackelford and Mr. Earmie Mink for their continued labor in keeping our school clean. Often visitors make positive statements about our school and how nice it looks. So many of our staff painted, hung curtains and added so much brightness to the classrooms.

Students take the way these classrooms look and are proud of them. I also want to thank those parents that have volunteered to come into the primary classrooms to read to students. More on this, along with pictures, later.

This week I'll be in Louisville attending the Multicultural Education Conference with Claudina Cash. Even though we have much in common with each other at Livingston School, there remains differences. As educators we seek to bridge those differences. Linking lives, communities and cultures to build a better tomorrow.

Feel free to contact me at 453-2133 or 453-2121 if I can be of any assistance.

Livingston Academic Team:
The Livingston Academic Team recently kicked off its season. The team will travel to Whitley County on Tuesday, November 10 to face East Bernstadt, Mt. Vernon, Williamsburg, and Whitley County. The team members are Carolyn Bryant, Team members include: Mark Carpenter, Kyle Kirby, Angie Rountree, Lillian Kunz, Sonny Parker, Susie Carpenter, Sharon Hensley, Michelle Lamb, Freddie Hampton, B.J. Mason, Amy Parker, Bobby Phelps, Phillip Sponsomere, and Brandi Sexton. Mrs. Bryant wants to express her appreciation to parent volunteer for all her help. Also, the entire team gratefully appreciates the P.T.O.'s assistance in purchasing team shirts.

Staff Attends Conference in West Virginia:
Mr. Webb and Mrs. Arnold were privileged to attend the 4th Annual Rural Schoolwide Projects Conference in Huntington, West Virginia on Tuesday, 11-23. Claudina Cash also attended.

During the conference the group made a site visit to Crum Elementary School in Wayne County, West Virginia. The trip to the bus was a good experience. The bus driver got the directions to the school mixed up. Our group took the scenic tour to the school. When we arrived, we found that the long trip was worth getting to visit the school. Crum Elementary has an enrollment of 258 K-5. The school has an impressive computer lab, also all day kindergarten, and an excellent parental involvement program. Crum Elementary had at least 50 parent volunteers. The parents were involved in a reading tutorial program. The site visit was well worth our time. We gained ideas that we will be able to use at LES.

The remaining time at the Rural Schoolwide Projects Conference was spent attending workshops which were very beneficial to each of the participants.

Those in attendance at the conference were from West Virginia and Kentucky.

Scholastic Book Fair at Livingston:

On November 15-16-17-18, from 8:30-3:00 Livingston Elementary School will sponsor a Scholastic Book Fair, presenting a wide variety of books for students at all reading levels.

According to the Barbara Bush Foundation For Family Literacy, when parents and teachers work together to introduce children to the world of books, the results can be dramatic. Children who read more become more successful readers...and in turn, successful readers read more books.

The Livingston Elementary School Book Fair will display hundreds of titles, including award-winning favorites, classics, how-to books, biographies, mysteries, adventures, and the latest works of popular authors. All are offered at reasonable prices, so the students can choose books that appeal to their personal interests and parents can add to home libraries or purchase gifts for young readers.

Proceeds from the fair will benefit the LES Library, but the real profit lies in introducing children to the "magic" of the books and in encouraging them to be lifelong readers.

4-H NEWS

Talk Meet date changed

By: John McQueary
County Extension Agent
for 4-H

Attention!! Please Notice!!
The County 4-H Talk Meet date has been changed to December 1.

Deadline to register is Wednesday, November 25th.

Due to the many conflicts on Tuesday, November 10, we will be changing the County 4-H Talk Meet to Tuesday night, December 1, at Mt. Vernon Elementary School. I hope this will enable almost everyone to participate.

Please go over the rules and regulations again before the contest.

Each leader should have received detailed information concerning the talk meet. The name, grade, birthdate, address, teacher's name, school, and title of speech must be called in the Extension Office by Wednesday, November 25. Just as last year, the contest will be held as a joint project with the schools.

Through 4-H, student speakers will have the opportunity to advance to area and state competition. Judging will be in the following categories:
Juniors (ages 9, 10, 11, 12, 13).
The length of the talk is 3 to 5 minutes.

Seniors (ages 14, 15, and 16-19).
The length of the talk is 5 to 7 minutes.

Participants should remember that their talks will be timed.

Your age will be determined by how old you will be on January 1, 1993.

The number of participants eligible for the county contest per class has been determined according to how many students are in each grade at each school. Teachers may wish to work together to determine grade (age) representatives. ## Fairview News

By Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

To all my good friends and readers of the Signal, a pleasant hello to you on this bright sunny morning of November 9, 1992. The worship service attendance at Fairview over the weekend was very good and the Sunday School attendance 123. Our Sunday School attendance usually picks up in the fall and winter months. But regardless of when people attend, it's always good to see them in the House of the Lord. Baptismal services were conducted Sunday evening, November 8th. We thank God for the five pro-rious ones added to our fellowship. I also thank God that Preston Anderkin was able to attend the service Sunday night. He hasn't been able to attend church for quite a while. Everyone was so glad to see him. Just hope he can come back soon. Two other members of our church, that we miss so much are Mrs. Mary Cope and Mrs. Gladys Rose. We all miss these elderly saints of God who have been so faithful down through the years. They have been a great inspiration to many of us and we love them dearly. Hope to see them able to be back with us soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander visited her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Edd Gabbard of Berea Sunday night after church.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and daughter Sherry visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin on Saturday.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and Sherry were Connie Adams of Richmond and Meloy Burdette.

Visiting in our home recently have been my brother Tip Reppert, our son Wayne and wife Carolyn and grandsons David Chasteen and wife Kim and Darryl Chasteen and a friends, also our daughter Joyce Seals and husband James and Hatan Hall of Indiana and David Clark of Berea.

Lloyd Pickle is on the sick list and needs our prayers. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery. Well our presidential campaign is over and are we ever glad? It was so boring and skinzning. Weeks and weeks of accusations and denials. Now that many of our people in America, are happy with our new president-elect, there are others that are heart broken. But it's always that way in an election, some win and some lose. But I don't let it bother me. God is still in control. Now that we have a new president-elect, I wish him the best. God only knows what is out in front of us but we must still trust and pray because God still holds the world in His hand.

Remember church and Sunday school. Try to be good to people and love each other. God bless and keep you wherever you are.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

The weather has certainly changed this past week and it seems winter is just around the corner. The spring and fall are my favorite seasons of the year and this fall has been no exception. The leaves have been beautiful and the weather has been nice. But it is time to prepare for the cold weather.

This is a good time to make plans to start visiting the library again if you haven't been a library patron at all, we'd like to see you also. Many of you read all year but others are busy in the summer and just don't take time to read then so we are looking forward to seeing many new faces this fall and winter. We have many new books both fiction and non-fiction for everyone.

Another good reason to come into the library now, is to see the exhibit of sculptures that are on display. These were made by the high school art students from Rockcastle County High School under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Bullock, art teacher. These are colorful sculptures made from construction paper.

We have received a new shipment of videos and will be receiving new audio tapes next week. Once more I'm encouraging you to use the audio tapes. These are great for people who do not want to sit down and read a book. If you have a tape player, you are able to listen to someone read to you while you do your housework, do handicrafts, strip tobacco, ride in your car or anything else that hinders you from holding a book. We have a good selection of these and will be adding more each month.

Also people that are handicapped are able to borrow a tape player and your own selection of tapes from the Department of Libraries in Frankfort. These are free to everyone that qualifies as being handicapped. You may not be able to see well enough to read, or cannot hold a book and turn pages. These are some ways of being handicapped, but there are others. Ask Pam if you use the bookmobile or myself here at the library and I will be glad to help you get this service. Why not take advantage of free services? They are for everyone's benefit.

We will be compiling the surveys that you have filled out for us, next week. From just glancing at a few of the surveys, it seems most of you are pleased with the service you receive, but if there are complaints, they will be considered and changes made if possible. That is the purpose of the long-range plan. We want to make this library one of the best in this area and we will always consider your suggestions.

Again, I want to remind the teachers in the county that we are always ready to help your students with as dent told board members that the lower level of the site is within about six inches of being at final grade and the upper level is within about three feet. Larry Glass Construction from Glasgow, the contractor doing the work on the site has encountered more rock than expected and is a few days behind schedule, according to Brader. The site preparation is costing the school system $450,000. Glass submitted an unclassified bid, which means it cannot increase no matter how much rock is encountered during site preparation.

"School Board"

The new school will be able to house approximately 800 students and will sit on a sixty acre site. The building will have two, two-story academic wings containing twenty four standard classrooms, three computer labs, two general science labs, two biology labs and a chemistry suite, home economics department art room, technology education lab, agriculture shop, band room, chorus room, kitchen and cafeteria.

The gymnasium will seat 2,200, 500 less than the present gym seats now. This has been of some concern to a few coaches and parents because a school must have at least a 2,500 seat gym to host a regional tournament. However, the tournament could be hosted at the Middle school, (the present high school). The new school will also have a 400 seat auditorium, with cushion seats and will be accessible to the public when the rest of the school is not being used.

The media center/library will be the heart of the new school with a central location to all departments. A large physical education field, actually soccer size, and two regulation baseball fields will be developed on the site as well.

Learning by "hands on" were Jessica Allen, Josh Garrison and Minnie Uffman.

David Robbins, Brittany Kincer, Hannah Chism, Rebecca Graves with a member of the LVFD.

The school will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the 1994-95 school year.

In other business, the board voted to approve a bid for new carpet and floor tile at the present high school. The board had approved a bid in September from Hammond Interior for $39,956, but because Rockcastle does not operate under the Model Procurement Code the bid was withdrawn. Hammond Interior is owned by Larry and Rebecca Hammond of Mt. Vernon and Mr. Hammond is the Pupil Personnel Director for Rockcastle County Schools. By not operating under the code, the school system will pay $8,000 more for the materials. The low bid Tuesday night of $47,940 was from Bennets of Russell Springs.

Towery told the board that Bennets should have the work completed by the first of the year.

A request to approve $19,000 for radio equipment for two maintenance vehicles and six school buses was tabled until the December meeting after board member Kenneth Adams' motion died for lack of a second. Board member Debbie Whitehead questioned the need for such expensive equipment and member Terry Burton said he had reservations about the type of system transportation director Glen VanWinkle wanted to purchase.

The board voted to approve another one year contract with attorney Carl Clontz. Clontz receives $400 a month as a retainer.

Superintendent Towery announced his personal actions for the period of October 14 through November 10.

During that period he hired Kandi Lee Hamm as a substitute teacher, Rebecca Warf as his grammar girls' elementary teacher, county clerk Anglin, Jeannie Baldwin, Mandy Carpenter, Janice Ingram, Tina Renfrow and Donna Wilson as substitute cooks, Cheryl Anderkin as a clerical assistant at Roundstone, Juanita Medley, Rebecca Anglin and Lois Dees as substitute instructional assistants, and Burley Burkhardt as a full-time instructional assistant at RCHS.

Doris Gail McColman and Kristy York were hired as school bus monitors.

Darlene Holt was transferred to Roundstone as school secretary and Roxie Rowe resigned as school bus monitor.

Mrs. Dorothy Lovell, who has worked in the local system for over 20 years, retired effective October 30. Mrs. Lovell broke her arm at RCHS last year after a student in the pre-school class caused her to fall. She was off from work for several months and has not fully recovered, according to Towery.

signments, but it helps us to do a better job if you let us know in advance what materials will be needed for the students. One of the eighth grade students came in with a new reading list last week and I did not have very many of the books listed, but I bought several of these and they are ready to be checked out now. Also we are able to borrow material from other libraries when we cannot purchase the books needed.

Some new books available are... MIDNIGHT WHISPERS by V.C. Andrews. The spellbinding Cutler series began with Dawn and continued with Secrets of the Morning and Twilight's Child. Now in midnight we return to Cutler's Cove... to a young girl growing up happy and innocent, only dimly aware of the shameful secrets that threaten her bright future.

Christie Longchamp knows she is the luckiest girl in the world. She has a fine house and pretty clothes; her mother Dawn, is as sweet and talented as she is more than ready to do anything for her more than dearer than her own father ever could.

Then a fire sweeps through the grand old home, claiming the lives of Jimmy and Dawn. Fleeing to New York City with her brother, she finds her real father... an athletic man who cannot help her. She returns to the Meadows, the plantation where Christy was born, but the Meadows is blighted by its own dark secrets. Now as black storms of evil gather around her, Christy must struggle to break the cruel bond of the past... to defy the curse that has haunted Cutler's Cove for generations...

2...IT DOESN'T TAKE A HERO by General Norman Schwarzkopf... Rarely in public life does a figure appear of such compelling leadership and personal charisma as to capture the imagination of an entire nation. Such a man intelligent, forceful, engaging is General Schwarzkopf.

Now in this candid, outspoken, and eagerly awaited auto-biography, General Schwarzkopf reveals the full story of his remarkable life and a career spanning nearly four decades... a career that profoundly shaped his beliefs and provided the leadership lessons that served him so brilliantly in the Gulf War.

General Schwarzkopf speaks openly about the events and emotions of his two tours of duty in Vietnam. He also recounts the "dark years" following Vietnam. He recalls his several assignments in Washington, his sometimes uneasy relationship with the Pentagon, and the series of events that led him to the command of the Allied Forces in the Gulf War.

GOD'S FLOWER GARDEN
It's hard to lose the ones we love,
To see them pass away,
The kindest and the sweetest gone,
While others are left to stay,
But if we had a garden,
With roses, fair and bright,
We'd often pick the loveliest,
And think it is with Jesus,
In His heavenly garden here,
He often picks the loveliest,
The one we love so dear,
The flowers that are picked by Him,
Will never fade away,
We know they'll live forever,
And we'll see them some sweet day.

Livingston High School Alumni Reunion held

The Livingston High School Alumni Reunion was held on October 31, 1992 at the Ramada Inn in London. The inductees for the Livingston High School Hall of Fame for 1992 were Frances Dickerson, Cacus Fleisher French and Ernest Mink. Each person honored was given an individual plaque and had their names engraved on a large plaque which hangs in the Livingston School hallway.

Frances Dickerson was honored for being the most senior graduate in attendance. Revell Pike received a print of the Livingston School for traveling the greatest distance (Atlanta, GA) to attend the reunion. Dony Anderson and Neil Nicely were honored as graduates from the 1930s.

Everyone enjoyed a delicious buffet dinner arranged by Billie Graham and Clara Fields. After the meal everyone reconvened in a large meeting room to share memories, pictures, and many good laughs. Each year the meeting together as former classmates seems to grow in attendance (78 were present) and in enjoyment. Many people expressed a desire to return next year and to try harder to ensure that some of their former classmates are in attendance also.

A special thanks should be extended to Mrs. Patricia Kincer and her committee for their work in keeping this fine tradition alive and vigorous. Thanks Pat!

Attendance Award

Larry Hammond, director of student services, is shown presenting John Hale, principal of Mt. Vernon Elementary School, with the award for the highest percentage of attendance for the 1991-92 school year (97.3%). Mt. Vernon Elementary also received the award for the greatest percentage of improvement for the 1991-92 school year (.36%). The school received recognition for these accomplishments at the October school board meeting.

Health Center to hold HIV/AIDS workshop

As of July 1, 1992 there were 230,179 reported cases of AIDS in Kentucky and 585 deaths. The AIDS epidemic is a crisis that no one can afford to ignore. Since there is no vaccine or cure for AIDS, that leaves us with one defense: education/prevention. We need to learn the facts and then tell them to our friends, our family, and anyone else who will listen. It's the one thing we can do to help stop AIDS.

The Rockcastle County Health Center is planning an HIV/AIDS workshop for interested persons in Rockcastle County. The purpose of the course is to provide accurate and current information about HIV/AIDS disease for the general public. The objectives of the course is to present information on HIV/AIDS in our society including epidemiology, risk behaviors, transmission, treatment, prevention, HIV testing, psychosocial issues, and how to educate our youth on how to avoid infection with HIV.

The course will be open to anyone 18 years or older, and will be free of charge. Anyone interested in attending this course should contact Phyllis Holbrook at Home Health, 256-4916 or Beverly Carter-Section, Public Health, 256-2242. Time and place for the course will be announced at a later date.

Banquet time change

To show their support of the Rockcastle County High School football playoff game scheduled for Friday night, the Soil Conservation District has changed the time of the annual Farmers-Businessmen's banquet to 6 p.m. on Friday, November 20, 1992 at RCHS.

Tickets for the football game will be sold in the cafeteria for those fans who attend the banquet and then wish to go to the game.

Wreck at raceway

A Florence, Ky., driver was flown to the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center Saturday after his car went out of control at the Rockcastle Raceway and crashed.

Observers said the car was airborne at least 30 feet. He was taken from the overturned car by those at the track and flown to Lexington. He name was not available at press time.

Measuring quality of health care is part of reform effort

Enabling Kentuckians to be more cost conscious and to "shop around" in their health care choices will require that they know how to measure the caliber of services they receive and how one medical provider compares to another.

The issue of "quality assurance" has been raised by the public and by Gov. Brereton C. Jones during Kentucky's current effort to reform the state's health care access, delivery and payment systems.

"Quality assurance" standards proposed by the governor for study by the Commission on Health Care Reform include practice guidelines, outcome measures, provider profiles and tougher penalties for abuse of medical insurance rules.

"It's one thing to just tell people that they've got to play a role in controlling costs and in making wise health care choices," Jones said, "but it's another thing entirely to give them the knowledge they need to act."

"What both the state and the public need are health care rulers," to give us acceptable, understandable measuring sticks on how medical providers do their jobs and what kind of comparative fees they charge for their services," the governor said.

Commission Chair and Cabinet for Human Resources Secretary Leonard Heller said it would be the responsibility of the proposed three-member Health Care Authority to implement solid quality assurance "rulers" and to collect and report to the public the data those "rulers" produce.

"One of the primary functions of the proposed Authority would be to gather information relating to finances and treatment outcomes, and to publish that data in a form which people can readily grasp and make use of," Heller said.

"A technical practice guideline for delivering babies, providing emergency room trauma care or reading a mammogram would be useful in more than just reducing so-called 'defensive medicine' and haggles over medical malpractice claims," he said. "It would serve as a stand by which performance of those services could be measured."

More advantages would result from linking practice guidelines to a system of gauging the results of medical treatment. "Outcome measures would be a tool for licensing and contracting agencies to use in making a determination about the effectiveness of medical professionals and their treatments," said Heller.

Ultimately, reports based on accepted standards of practice, records of treatment outcomes and financial data on fees for services would produce a profile of medical providers that would be useful in choosing, for example, which primary care physician, specialist, home health service or hospital can give a patient quality care at a cost effective price.

Heller said, "The Health Care Authority would compile, analyze and publish this data in a manner that would enable the citizen, the health insurer and Medicaid and Medicare to decide who they were going to trust to take care of the ailment and to 'take care' when figuring up the final bill."

"Another 'quality assurance' aspect of Gov. Jones health care reform plan calls for beefing up Kentucky's penalties for both recipients and medical professionals who cheat on insurance claims.

"Insurance fraud and abuse costs millions each year, and the current laws don't make people afraid to try to get away with it," Heller said. "Higher fines, longer prison terms and more investigators looking for cheaters will put a different 'quality assurance' check in a reformed health care system.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
In this letter I would like to recognize a person in our community. For a little over two years Mrs. Ginny Givens has been a part of our town. She opted to use her skills as a parent in the operation of the Rockcastle Teen Center when she first moved into the area. Several topics of discussion and organized groups such as "Alcoholics Anonymous" emerged to help persons help themselves with issues and situations that had grips on their lives.

She later became involved in anti-drug campaigns in the schools to help youth learn to feel better about themselves and have an enjoyable, drug-free life.

Ginny was not able to continue her work in the schools but none the less she still pushes to give people a more pleasant and fulfilling view of their lives without artificial means, and to have a better view of themselves as people.

I say these things not only because they are true but through knowing Ginny, and her father and husband, I've experienced this type of love personally. Two main things that Ginny has stressed to me is education and to keep in touch with Christ.

Meeting the Gilpatrick family was a blessing for me and if you haven't met them you are really missing a relationship with three wonderful, Christian people. They may not be a person in origin but they have a unique way of providing the love, country (inner) sunshine that a lot of us have been lacking. I am certainly not too vouch for that.

Sincerely,
Manuel Creech
Mt. Vernon

Dear Editor:
Last Tuesday, Americans were able once again to exercise a privilege that has made this country the greatest on earth: the privilege of choosing the leaders for their country and community.

I want to say thank you to those who extended their vote of support to me. I have a sincere appreciation of the responsibility you have given me, and I pledge to do my best.

This election has meant many things to many people, but the most important thing is that the future of Eastern and Southeastern Kentucky was put above politics. Now, we must join together and work to move our region forward.

Our part of Kentucky has many needs: more jobs, health care for all, the opportunity with I-66, flood control, safe drinking water—needs that you have indicated, by your vote, are above politics. Thus, our work is just beginning.

When the campaign started last January, I could not have imagined the warmth and hospitality extended to me by my new friends in the new Fifth District. Likewise, the support and trust given by my friends in the "old" Fifth District was truly humbling. Both of these occurrences were, in me, the best and most important events in the campaign, and my thanks is not enough.

I want every person in the Fifth District to know that I appreciate their support and efforts for both myself and my opponent. Your participation in election process is what makes our country great. I pledge to each of you that I will continue, as I have done the last 12 years, to do everything I can to make the quality of life and the hope for opportunity the best they can be.

Sincerely,
Hal Rogers,
Member of Congress

Dear Editor,

What I have seen unfolding in the country in the last few days reminds me of the story of Esau who sold Jacob his birthright for a mess of Pottage (cooked stew) because he was hungry and he wanted something to eat and he wanted it right now. Nothing else mattered. Everything else had lost its value.

President Bush tried to appeal to the sanity of the American people but they didn't want to hear it. They said they didn't want to hear about anything but the issues. They didn't want to hear about abortion, family values, foreign policy, character, trust, or religious heritage or anything else. The only thing that, qualified as a issue was things that had to do with economics, economics and more economics. They said we don't want to talk about anything but money.

The love of money and the want of money is a very powerful force that drives people. The majority of people live, breathe and think money. It's why they get up in the morning and stumble out the door to meet the day; muttering to themselves, "I've got to make some money today."

Pat Buchanan tried to expose the opposition's agenda in his speech at the Republican convention. He said,

"This battle is for the soul of America" but the liberal media had a field day with it. Both Bill Clinton and Al Gore said in their speeches and debates that George Bush turned his convention over to the Pat Robertson, Phyllis Schlafly, Jerry Falwell, Pat Buchanan, and "that bunch" referring to the religious right; they called for a "Holy War." This was repeated more than once on national TV. Bill Clinton is no dummy, he knew that anti-Christian rhetoric would appeal to the majority of the American people.

George Bush knew it wasn't his political advantage to take a stand with the pro-life, evangelical, religious right, but he made that choice. If I was going to go down in defeat, I
