Our Readers Write

Dear Editor, This is concerning the resignation of Deputy Ronnie Roark.

I feel the county will suffer a great loss by losing him. We knew day or night we could depend on him. My family and I, along with many others, feel Mr. Roark was a fine deputy. Dora Griffin

Dear Editor, In response to Bill Mullins' letter to the editor. He said President Bush tried to appeal to the sanity of the American people, but they didn't want to hear it. I don't blame them, they got tired of all those lies. Bill, I don't think you should use the Bible to try to make your point. If you would listen a little closer, Bush was for abortion as much as Clinton.

How about the Iran scandal, trading arms for hostages. The only time Bill Clinton ever said anything about money is when he said more money with more jobs. But you didn't want to hear about more jobs, because you are too lazy to work. You said people go out the door saying to themselves 'I've got to make some money today. When your wife goes out the door in the morning does she say I've got to make some money to pay the bills. But you don't have to do that, all you have to do is go to the mall box and get yours. I think you should keep your mouth shut. People that live in glass houses can't throw rocks. Your brothers and sister has always got out and made money to live. Bill Clinton wants to stop giving money and give them jobs. But that's not for us. We need about a million more like you to break the government.

I think if you would get you a job and go to work you wouldn't have time to set for hours to think up something to write.

I lived under Democrats and Republicans. There has been good and bad of both but I have always worked for a living.

Bill, I want you to read the 5th chapter of Timothy or the whole book and see what it says about providing for your family. You can take this anyway you want to.

Luther Mullins
Mt. Vernon

To the Editor, In memory of our loving mother Eliza Westfield.

Your two daughters miss you so bad. We have so many memories of you, we all had a good time together. One link was broken when the Lord sent his angel for you but we know you are happy and we would be very selfish to want you back. You have made it home safe now and we know you wouldn't want to come back. So we just say how much we miss you and your memories still linger in our hearts and your two daughters are very lonely without you.

Your loving daughters
Mollie Westfield
Lora Westfield Hamilton

To the Editor, In memory of our three sisters, Bertha Collins, Edna Collins and Sarah Westfield.

Although you all have been gone so long, your two sisters know you are all together. The circle has been broken so long but we know the Lord had need for you all. Our loss is your all's gain. You three are a shining light in heaven and you all are a shining star. You all help to light up heaven. We miss you all.

Your loving sisters,
Lora Hamilton

KET offers help for parents of underachievers

Kentucky parents of children who are bright and intelligent but chronically fail to live up to their potential will receive hope and advice in The Discouraged Child: Bright But Underachieving, which airs at 10 p.m. Thursday, December 3 on KET.

KET ranges from France to South Dakota

The week of Nov. 29 on KET is highlighted by a diversity of programs ranging from a biography of Charles de Gaulle, French soldier and statesman, to a portrait of life in the 1930s in Britton, South Dakota. Along the way, there are considerations of the effects of CFCs on the atmosphere and the EEC on individuals in Europe, a medical detective story, and a ride on an amazing rail-road line.

Who are you?

Let me help you find out!

Holiday Turkey Safety Tips

By: Hazel B. Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Tom Turkey will be the center of attraction on the tables of millions of Americans during the upcoming holiday season.

Don't let foodborne illnesses put a damper on your holiday festivities. Prepare and cook your holiday bird to prevent bacterial contamination that can cause these illnesses.

The following guidelines will help to keep your holiday foods safe:

Check the package sell-by date when buying a fresh turkey.

When buying a vacuum-packaged turkey, check the wrapper for punctures or tears. Do not buy the turkey if the wrapper is not intact.

Thaw a frozen turkey on a tray in the refrigerator. Allow 24 hours thawing time for each five pounds of bird.

Wait to stuff the turkey until immediately before cooking it. The stuffing should reach an internal temperature of 165 degrees F.

When using a meat thermometer, put it in the inner thigh for an accurate reading.

Cook the turkey at 325 degrees F. until the meat thermometer reads 180 degrees.

If you are cooking a whole turkey and don't have a meat thermometer, test for doneness by turning the leg. If it moves easily and the joint gives or breaks, the turkey is done.

For more information on holiday food safety, contact your County Extension office at 256-2403.

$500 REWARD

For information leading to arrest and conviction or return of TOBACCO stolen from a barn (on the Holbrook tract of C.C. Crawford Farm) on the night of Thursday, Nov. 5 or early morning hours of Friday, Nov. 6, 1992. Theft took place on Hwy. 1505 on Brindle Ridge between Happy Jack Church and the home of Charles Holbrook.

Approx. 1300 lbs. of tobacco was loaded onto a vehicle parked in the road at aforementioned location.

There is good reason to believe that this vehicle was seen by someone during the time the tobacco was being loaded or, quite possibly, at another location while being unloaded.

Theft probably occurred early Friday morning between 1 and 4 a.m.

If you have any information, please phone 606-758-8800 or the Rockcastle Co. Sheriff's Office

Mills enlists

Milda J. Mills has enlisted for 4 years in the United States Army and will receive training as an administrative specialist.

Mills was assisted in choosing her enlistment options by Sergeant Francis Flanagan of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station at 630A University Shopping Center, (623-1270), in Richmond.

Mills, the daughter of Clarence Mills of Manchester and Julie Rowe of Mt. Vernon, is a graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

The 18-year-old has enlisted in the Army under the Special Delayed Entry Program (DEP) which allows qualified applicants to delay, by as much as one year, the date they must report for active duty after enlisting. Mills will report for active duty in January 1993.

Mills will receive her Army basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C., and will remain there for her advanced individual training. She will be able to continue her education with the $10,800 G.I. Bill.

RECC resumes line inspection

Jackson County Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation will resume its schedule of overhead power line inspection by use of a helicopter on Monday, Nov. 23, 1992, in the following counties: Laurel, Rockcastle, and Jackson. The inspection will begin in Laurel County but will be extending regularly into Rockcastle and Jackson counties as the helicopter crews check individual line sections.

Jackson County RECC uses the helicopter service, which is contracted, on a regular basis to inspect overhead power lines to provide the best possible service to its consumers. Use of the helicopter helps to more easily spot any existing line or equipment problems or a situation that may cause trouble in the future. Those problems may not be as readily visible from the ground and use of the helicopter is also much more cost efficient than the slower process of walking-out each line segment.

The objective of Jackson County RECC is to provide quality and reliability of service in every aspect to its consumers.

Library News

By: Geraldine Robbins

"Happy Thanksgiving" to everyone. This is an enjoyable holiday for most families, a time to gather together and give thanks for all our many blessings. The library will be closed on Thursday so that we all may have some time with our families. We will resume regular hours on Friday.

The long-range planning committee has tabulated the surveys that have been turned in and I will give you some of the information that we all have compiled from the surveys. Approximately 100 people filled out the surveys. Of these, 24 were between the ages of 40 and 50, twenty between 20 and 30. These were the largest groups. Forty six of the patrons completed high school, thirteen had some college and nineteen had a degree.

Most households consisted of two, three and four people.

The three services considered the most important in the library were, reference material, best-sellers and a tie for third place, classics and the summer reading program.

We also asked what you would like for the library to have more of, and these were, more best sellers, religious books and a tie for mysteries and romance books.

We had several helpful comments and these will be a help in determining a long-range plan. Our number one priority will be getting more space so that we can have a place for study tables and a place for exhibits. Many of you considered this as a need. This information did not include the students surveys. I will give you some of the comments and some figures from these in my next column.

Thanks to everyone that took time to fill out the surveys.

The library has just received two new books that you have been asking for. These are: 1. Mixed Blessing by Danielle Steel... In Mixed Blessings, her 30th novel, Danielle Steel weaves a powerful tale of three couples who face decisions about having children that will test, in unexpected ways, the tie that binds them as lovers, partners and friends. Their lives, their goals, their feeling about families, are on the line, as the word "infertility" begins to unravel their dreams.

Through the lives of these couples, Danielle Steel shows us the mixed blessing we face as we make our modern families. But despite hardship and heartache, she reminds us again of the triumphant spirit of love. 2. Delores Clairborne by Stephen King... By her own account she's an old Yankee bitch, Delores Clairborne; foul temper, foul mouth, foul life. Folks on Little Tall Island have been waiting thirty years to find out just what happened on the eerie dark day her husband, Joe, died- the day of the total eclipse. The police want to know what happened yesterday, when rich, bed-ridden Vera Donovan, the island's grande dame and Delores' longtime employer, died suddenly in her care. With no choice but to talk, Delores Clairborne talks up a storm. "Everything I did, I did for love," she says, and this spellbinding novel is at once her confession and her defense. Given a voice as compelling as any in contemporary fiction, her story centers on a disingering marriage's molar care, where the mind's unblinking eye becomes huge with hate and a woman's heart turns murderous. It unfolds the strange intimacy between Delores and Vera, and the link that binds them. It shows, finally, how fierce love can be, and how dreadful its consequences. And how the soul, harrowed by the hardest life, can achieve a kind of grace.

But that is for the readers to judge. They will come away with different verdicts for Delores, perhaps. But once taken inside the dark room of her life, lit by the brilliant intensity of Stephen King's story-telling, they will never forget her.

Also we have the new books... Hello Everybody, This Is Caswood Ledford... Full Court Pressure: A Year in Kentucky Basketball by Rick Pitino... Library hours: Mon., Tues., and Fri., 12 to 5; Wed. 10 am. to 5; Thurs. 12 to 8; Sat. 8 am. to 4.

Have a terrific Thanksgiving!

Tobacco off to promising start around state

Tobacco sales began Monday in markets across the state with the price in the $1.82 range, up from the $1.79 a pound last year. Buyers approved of the crop even though it was average in quality. Danny McKinney, chief executive officer of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association said farmers had feared their crops would bring about a $1.80 a pound.

We're seeing a lot of satisfied folks. Ordinarily, we see some who reject the prices," McKinney said.

"I have not seen a single pile rejected today," he added.

In the area, London had the highest price at $1.84 a pound. Richmond and Somerset had $1.80 averages.

Final figures are yet to be reported. But, experts caution that the tobacco selling season is still young.

Tobacco is Kentucky's #1 cash crop.

Cumberland Valley Area Development District Board Chairman Troy Welch, Senator Gene Huff, Representative Jo Elizabeth Bryant, Representative Clarence Noland and Tom Raines, representing Senator John D. Rogers, presented C.B. Owens of the Rockcastle County Ambulance Service, Inc. with a $5,500 Area Development Fund grant check. The grant was awarded to the Rockcastle County Ambulance Service, Inc. for note payment on an ambulance purchase. The presentation ceremony was held in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District Board of Directors.

Michelle Adams killed in Fayette Co. wreck

Miss Michelle Adams, 28, of Richmond, and formerly of Brindle Ridge, died Nov. 22, 1992 at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington of injuries from an automobile accident.

Miss Adams was driving north on Athens-Boonesboro Road when she lost control of her car and struck a guardrail. The damage to her car was relatively minor but she hit her head in the accident.

She was born on Dec. 18, 1963 in Richmond, Ind., the daughter of Wayne and Barbara Burdette Adams of Brindle Ridge. She was a registered nurse employed by the University of Kentucky Medical Center and a member of the Copper Creek Southern Missionary Baptist Church, the National Nursing Association and Eastern Kentucky University Alumni Association.

Survivors in addition to her parents are, a son, Seth Adams, at home; two brothers, Lance Adams of Rt. 4 Broadhead and Roger Adams of Brindle Ridge; a sister, Mrs. Debby Brooks of Brindle Ridge; a sister in friendship, Connie Adams of Richmond, and a niece and three nephews.

Services will be Nov. 25 at Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bros. Eldon Hays and Louise Hart officiating. Burial will follow in the Saylor Cemetery.

Court limits arrests

Transportation Cabinet Officers in the vehicle enforcement division do not have the power to arrest people in passenger vehicles for drunken driving, the Court of Appeals ruled yesterday.

The officers can enforce DUI laws for commercial vehicles. The decision attempts to resolve a disagreement about the authority of the vehicle enforcement officers that dates to 1986.

Various executive orders from governors have moved the vehicle enforcement division from the transportation Cabinet to the state police and back again. Gov. Wallace Wilkinson even signed an order encouraging the officers to go after drunken drivers.

But a unanimous three-judge panel of the court said there is no legal basis for that authority. "If this was intended, it simply was not done," the opinion said.

Such officers are charged with enforcing weight restrictions and other laws regarding commercial trucks and vehicles. Many of them are armed and drive vehicles equipped with emergency lights and sirens.

Santa Claus coming

Santa Claus is coming to Broadhead December 5 at 2 p.m. There will be a parade and Santa will distribute treats to the kids. Line up for the parade will start at 1 p.m. at the Broadhead Elementary School parking lot. Anyone who wants to be in the parade is invited to be there.

Family Caregivers complete course

For the past six Monday nights, Family Caregiver Training classes were provided in the conference room at the Rockcastle Hospital. The course was sponsored by the Rockcastle Hospital and the Elderly Advisory Committee.

The Family Caregiver training included personal care (bathing, taking vital signs, lifting, bed making, etc.) normal aging process and when to call the doctor. The course also addressed adapting the home environment and assistance with medication. Jill Stevens, dietitian, spoke to the group about nutritional needs. Phyllis Holbrook, Jean Clark, Gary Cromer and Cindy Burtop addressed the group about community resources.

The classes were led by Joy Callahan, RN, BSN, Rockcastle Hospital, Ada Thacker, Judy Rowe, Phyllis Holbrook, social worker and Jean Clark, Rockcastle Hospital. Back row: Gary Cromer, Appalachia Medical Equipment and Supplies; Regina Collins, Betty Mullins, Carolyn Thacker and Leola Wynn. Not present for picture were: Cynthia VanWinkle, Ruth Davis and Bally Percell.

Woman found guilty in Laurel Trial

It had sex, murder and revenge, and yesterday Lana Curry's story got an ending: Guilty.

Jurors in Laurel County convicted Curry, 33, of complicity to murder Margaret Alcorn, Curry, who thought Alcorn had killed Curry's 6-year-old daughter in 1990, seduced a retarded man with sex and promises of a child so he would kill Alcorn, prosecutor Tom Handy told jurors.

Bill Ester covered the trial for the Lexington Herald-Leader.

"I have never heard of a more repulsive, seductive reasoning to kill someone than what (Curry) schemed up at that poor boy," Handy said. "She would even promise to bring a life in to exchange it for the one she wanted taken."

West testified against Curry, telling jurors she seduced him, gave him guns and planned four unsuccessful attempts to kill Alcorn, 30, at his home in Rockcastle County.

Curry's attorney, Donna McNew, argued that West lied to get a better sentence for himself. West has trouble remembering things and gave contradictory statements, McNew said. McNew said police thought Curry was involved in killing Alcorn and led West to give information supporting their suspicions.

McNew said Curry has been treated for psychosis half her life and is not smart enough to plan a murder. Curry told doctors she heard the voice of her dead daughter.

McNew said West fell in love with Curry after they met in a psychiatrist's office. He wanted to kill Alcorn because Curry was consumed with grief over her daughter's death, and the jealous West thought killing Alcorn would get him Curry's full attention, McNew argued.

Handy, however, said Curry was consumed with the desire for revenge.

He said three other people turned down Curry's offers of money to kill Alcorn before Curry met West.

Handy said West loved children and Curry promised to marry him and have a child. She took out a wedding license five days before the killing.

Handy said Curry faked mental illness as part of her defense. He asked the jury to tell her they did not believe it. "Lana Curry, we understand what you did. Lana Curry, you are guilty of murder."

The jury recommended that Curry, of Laurel County, serve 50 years. Sentencing will be Feb. 22.

The story began with a killing Feb. 1, 1990, in Rockcastle County.

Mt. Vernon police said Curry and Alcorn argued after Curry went to the home of Alcorn's father in a Mt. Vernon trailer park to collect a debt. When Curry tried to leave, someone fired a shotgun blast into the window of her car, killing Curry's daughter, Elvina.

Witnesses said Alcorn fired the shot, according to Mt. Vernon Police, who charged her with murder. However, other witnesses said a 17-year-old boy fired the shot, and police also charged him with murder.

Alcorn was tried in November 1990, but jurors deadlocked. Charges against the juveniles were dropped and a second trial was scheduled for September 1991 for Alcorn, who was freed on bond.

But on Aug. 7, 1991, Alcorn stocked shelves in an aisle of the Family Dollar Store on Main Street in London, Michael Wayne West, 24, walked in and shot her seven times with a .25-caliber pistol, killing her.

Police arrested him on foot a mile away.

They arrested Curry later the same day, charging that she had aided West in the killing.

West pleaded guilty to first-degree manslaughter, meaning he killed Alcorn while under extreme emotional distress. He is serving 15 years.

West, of Bell County, went into a coma at age 17 months and suffered brain damage. He is retarded, said his attorney, Tom Kimball.

Kimball said he would have presented evidence that Curry and her father, Eddie Johnson, 66, of Laurel County, manipulated West into thinking that killing Alcorn was the right thing to do.

Johnson, a minister, and Curry sometimes showed West the bloody sheet that had been wrapped around Curry's daughter. West remembers Johnson prying over the sheet and entreating an angel of vengeance to kill Alcorn, Kimball said.

Burdette files for County Attorney

More candidates file for office

By: Ray McClure

When voters go to the polls on May 25 in the primary there will be many candidates seeking office in Rockcastle, according to speculation around the courthouse.

The filing period is now open for candidates and will continue until Jan. 26. The general election will be Nov. 2.

If you have two friends and $50 you can file. Candidates must have signatures from two registered voters in the same party along with the $50 fee.

Candidates for city offices must pay a $20 filing fee. Property Valuation Administrator in Rockcastle appears to be a Jone deal, so to speak. H.E. (Elmer) Hale has not indicated if he will be a candidate for re-election. His deputy Margaret Offutt, passed the state test for PVA but has not indicated if she will be a candidate. If not, Hale will be unopposed for re-election if he files for that office.

None of the incumbents have said whether or not they will be candidates.

Three others have now filed. They are Albert Thomas of Broadhead for magistrate, 3rd district.

William Kidwell has filed for District 4 Constable.

Local attorney Jeffrey T. Burdette has thrown his hat into the ring for county attorney.

Burdette has been in private practice in Rockcastle County since 1991. He was first partner with Willis G. Coffey in the law firm of Burdette and Coffey.

A Rockcastle County native, Burdette is the son of Tommy H. Burdette of Broadhead and Charlotte Griffith of Mt. Vernon.

He is a 1989 graduate of Salmon P. Chase College of Law and a 1986 graduate of Cumberland College in Williamsburg.

Burdette has been very active in local community clubs and is currently President of the local chapter of the Young Republicans and executive vice-president of the Kentucky Young Republicans Federation and was selected 1992 Young Republican of the Year.

Burdette, 30, practiced law in London with the firm of Farmer, Keller and Kelley before moving his practice to Mt. Vernon. He is a former commentator for WRVK radio and a member of the Brindle Ridge Baptist Church.

He will face incumbent County Attorney James H. Lambert, who has indicated that he will seek his fourth term.

All city officials in Mt. Vernon, Broadhead and Livingston are up for election including all mayors, and all councilmen.

Also will be both District Judges, Michael Henry and Walter McGuire. All offices are to be filled including Judge/Executive, magistrates, constables, county and circuit clerk, jailer, sheriff, coroner and surveyor.

New deputy sheriff

Tommy Cromer, 21, of Mt. Vernon, was sworn in as a deputy sheriff by Judge Michael Henry Monday.

He replaces Ronnie Roark who resigned.

Roark said he "just quit." Cromer is also an emergency medical technician. He is the son of Fred and Rosie Cromer.

Union Thanksgiving Service

The Rockcastle County Unionist Association is sponsoring a Union Thanksgiving service on Nov. 25 at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon. Tom Kelley, minister with First Christian Church will be speaking.

A community choir will present special music. Several area ministers will also be on the program. An offering will be received for the Transient Fund of the Association. The public is invited to participate in this service of gratitude and thanksgiving.

Commentary

By George Ferrell

With Thanksgiving Day just around the corner it is close approaching Christmas.

The other day I did what looked to be impossible — go shopping.

The stores were packed, the roads were packed, people were everywhere going crazy to shop.

It looked more like the day after Thanksgiving — known as the busiest shopping day of the year.

One clerk told me she wasn't looking forward to that occasion, saying it turns into a madhouse.

If this last weekend was any indication, retail sales will set new records this holiday season and could provide a boost to the economy.

Watch out because it is also credit card season. It gets so easy to pull out a card and hand it to a clerk.

Shopping for some people is more of an obsession than a passion.

I fall somewhere in between. The more I look the more I realize that I don't like to spend money. Then, too, I find that there is some necessary spending.

Take Christmas cards. I guess I should have bought some during this past New Year's sales. Now they cost so much more.

One thing is a good buy during the holiday season — turkey, and what a delight it is coming out of the oven and onto the table.

At 30 to 40 cents a pound they really don't cost much and you get a great bang for your bucks.

Not that I know how to cook a big turkey. Not having a family nearby I'm going to North Carolina to enjoy turkey dinner.

From Thanksgiving to the New Year it is the battle of the bulge. Especially for a guy like me who has been working on a bay window for years.

I'm not going to make any crazy pledges. Instead I'm just going to dig in and try to overeat responsibly.

If the plate is piled high there will be no second servings and no more than one dessert.

I can just imagine the table at my Aunt Annie's — pies, brownies, turkey, sweet potatoes, gravy and all the fixings — enough to feed an army. Down south women pride themselves on their cooking skills, especially during the holidays. The food is so good that it is impossible not to overeat.

Thanksgiving is a wonderful holiday. It leads to the Christmas season but it is a strictly American holiday.

A celebration of the first settlers in America, Thanksgiving is a time for family and friends, and to give thanks for all the bounty of this great country.

It is also time for another great celebration to begin — football.

Yes, football, with bowl games galore and the pro football playoff spots at stake.

Still, in Kentucky, there is another madness in the form of Big Blue.

The Cats will be off and running in another couple of weeks and Rick Pitino may well have his best squad yet.

Losing four seniors is tough, but a load of talent has appeared in Big Blue Country.

This coming March could well be exciting as the Wildcats will try to make a run at a national title.

It's been quite some time, since 1978 to be exact, since Kentucky has brought home the hardware.

My guess is this could be the year as Pitino seasons his team with an eye toward the tournaments.

I'll be happy whatever the outcome — I know they'll play hard and I know it will be exciting basketball every time they go out on the court.

I guess we'll all be missing Caswood Ledford and his unique style of calling games.

Last year that was as much the story as the undeniably great play of the Cats.

All around the Commonwealth we'll be missing Caswood, the fixture of the program since the days of Adolph Rupp.

Maybe the team will bring home the championship — nothing would make Caswood any happier even if he's not at the mike.

Well, that's all for this week. Have a great Thanksgiving.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

Old timers write to me from all across the country. Old timers who are often younger than myself and often decades older. Old timers, self described, who grew up in the mountains and somewhere, sometime moved away. The leavers are from Indiana and Missouri. From Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, Illinois and Arkansas. From Kentucky mountaineers who had to leave but wish they never had. From folks who love this land that we call home and cry for when we find it out of touch.

Letcher County. Well I love you as Thanksgiving Day approaches. It matters not to me at all that politicians are just the way they always were. Right now I couldn't give a linker's #3&4.

Right now I wish that I was up on Blair Branch. Right in the heart of that sweet place where I grew up is where I'd like to be. I even close my eyes and make things like they used to be. That's all I want and God I know it's way too much.

I remember Arlie Adams killing hogs and L.C. packing hams and shoulders to the salt and all the rest of us just staying out of the way if we did what we were told and God knows we never did anything except get in the way in spite of what we were told. And Mom and Dad would fuss and quarrel and cut switches off those ever darn hedge bushes that grand-pap had planted all over the place and swarp at us and Arlie would holler and laugh and tell them to let us be. And swear that he needed one of us to pack another bucket of cold lean water from the well and make out like we were important to his task. And then they turned their backs he'd pour it out or use it for nearly nothing.

And then we'd go out and brag about how much help we'd been to Arlie and how he couldn't have got along without us and Arlie would tell whoever was listening that we were telling the truth. I used to help Arlie kill hogs like that on Thanksgiving Day and I honestly don't know what he would have done without me.

Arlie is a whole lot older than me, but he's still able and willing to kill hogs and I'd bet even money that somewhere on this Thanksgiving Day, there's a butchering going on on Blair Branch and Arlie is in charge. Every inch of my gut tells me that's where I ought to be.

I crave cooked cushaw and shuckey beans and I'll bet you ten to one that somewhere on Blair Branch it's cooking even as you read. And if you live in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan or Illinois or Missouri or Arkansas or Tennessee or (God help you), Florida, I know that your tongue is just wallowing in slobber right now. So you be real careful that you don't swallow it. Go ahead and eat.

You can have your turkey and your smoked ham and your candied yams and your yeast rolls. You can have your leg of lamb and pheasant under glass and I will pray that you don't choke on it. I'll even pray that you don't founder.

What I'd like to have is a few thick slices of fresh hog meat cut off the hams and shoulders and some homemade biscuits and thick gravy and maybe some molasses fried in butter on the side and maybe some taters cut in half and cooked just right with some neckbones. And a whole big pone of cornbread to sop up my plate with. And then I'd like to have a place to lay down where nobody would wake me up till real late on Sunday.

Maybe, if I'm lucky, Arlie Adams will call me up, before the day is out and swear that he's got a hog or two to kill and nobody to help him do it. Maybe, and I know it's a long shot, I'll get fed the way a mountain boy ought to eat on Thanksgiving yet. Maybe I'll wind up on the head of Blair Branch before the day is out.

The Lord knows I'm wishing. But I ain't holding my breath.

Heresay

by
Jon Norman Meadows
Wabd, USA

We've had a rough fortnight in Wab'd. First came the news of the Anglican decision to ordain women to the priesthood. Word has it that the "Ministerial Association of Male Ministers (MAAMM)" was so incensed they convened forthwith and drafted a resolution forthright.

Next came the utterly bitter bulletin over WRVK that the Man of Steel had died saving the world from the super-villain, Doom-day. (What a conceit! A celestial being comes to earth, lives among us, confronts evil, and then dies to save us. Get such the writers of Superman get their idea?)

Then, while we reeled from the tragedy in Memphis, a furious early morning fire engulfed an entire block of Castlesburg, and before it was contained, Windsor Castle was almost incinerated. These terrible turns of fate will undoubtedly cast a pall on many Thanksgiving celebrations.

It will not be as tough for me, however, because I don't enjoy Tom Turkey's Day. I dread facing food -- the kind Granda Jones announces through his glassless pane. Let me explain.

Recently consulted my doctor about stressiness in my arms. It was diagnosed as tendinitis, treatable with medication. But I have another problem that was not addressed. The office scales told on me: thirty pounds overweight.

To folks who are much farther down the road to rotundity, my condition might seem trivial. However, when you get out of breathing your shoes, when you can't wear good clothes hanging in your closet, when you use the last notch in your belt, buying leathers and a new wardrobe is not the answer.

It's hard to believe I was once as tall as I am now but weighed only 110 pounds. If "this is in!" I was it. At the time I was a soda jerk at the Rexall drug store, operated my Marcus "Doc" Maggard, pharmacist and Red Devils basketball analyst. His wife, "Miss Amanda," must have thought I looked like death eating a cracker because she "ordered" me to drink a two-egg malt every day -- on the house. After a couple of months of chocolate malts I put on ten pounds and would have gained more had I not burned up a cache of calories climbing to the roof of the Bryant Building every day to drink my malts.

Ah! Lovely and tactful Miss Amanda. One day she gently suggested that I might like to try a "different" deodorant and handed me an Old Spice stick. Thereafter, Old Spice was my favorite deodorant -- and my first.

The malts and Old Spice worked wonders. With my bony face flared out I was fairly good looking and a preacher. And, like the Old Spice whaler in the television ad, who returns from the sea to a bewitching damsel, I suddenly had girl friends

EKU to hold recognition ceremonies for December graduates Dec. 12

December graduates of Eastern Kentucky University will be honored Saturday, Dec. 12 in recognition ceremonies sponsored by EKU's nine academic colleges.

Eastern does not hold a formal University-wide commencement in December. All December graduates are invited to participate in the spring commencement exercises, scheduled for May 8, 1993.

"We're proud of all our graduates," said EKU President Hanly Funderburk. "They recognize the tremendous value a college education can have throughout their lives."

"Quality education remains our goal at Eastern, and we trust these students have found the EKU experience enlightening and enriching."

The 1,003 December degree candidates include 129 associate degrees, 753 bachelor's degrees, 121 master's degrees and two specialist degrees.

Candidates are asked to wear caps and gowns to their college ceremony. College deans will present diploma covers to each candidate.

Degree candidates of the Graduate School will attend the college ceremony of their academic major.

Each college will host a reception immediately following the ceremonies for new graduates and their families, faculty of the college and college administrators.

armor, but you're still too heavy. And it certainly doesn't become you. Have you taken a side-view of yourself lately?" she added, pointing to the full-length mirror on the bathroom door.

"No, not lately," I replied curtly. "I quit taking baths ten pounds ago."

Nancy is also concerned about the density of her own critical mass. So, we agreed to cut back on the consumption of fat grams. A friend of ours at church recently lost twenty pounds doing that.

Losing weight got good calls for a lifestyle change -- from living to eat to eating to live. Dieting doesn't do it. "But fat's where it's at!" clamored the Tom and Roseanne Arnolds, John Goodmans, and Neil Carters of caloricdom. Good for them, but not for me. I cannot control what others think of me. Nonetheless, I do not want said of me what was said of my corpulent cousin. "He never missed a meal."

As I said, the past week or so has been hard on us all. But take heart! With the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and Batman ever on the alert and Brother Bill and broccoli in the White House, we shall overcome.

In the meantime, precious souls, set your mind on noble things. For example, you could read and meditate on Unto These Pills, a biography of Dr. J. Phineas Quattlebaum (1872-1937) of Peakmore, North Carolina, that aging, nearly blind, but nevertheless-quit country physician and part-time promoter of cock fights, who, on one occasion, thought a skeleton laid on his examination table by pranky Alf "Swigger" Barnes was actually old Alf himself; took its pulse, sounded its chest with a stethoscope, and said matter-of-factly, "Well, Barnes, you really let yourself go this time."

VA makes changes in loan program

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is announcing major changes in VA's Loan Guaranty Program, including negotiated interest rates on VA-backed loans, adjustable rate and energy efficient mortgages, and direct home loans to Native American veterans.

The Veterans Home Loan Program Amendments of 1992, signed by the President Oct. 28, authorizes VA to permit veterans to negotiate interest rates on VA-guaranteed home loans with lenders. VA will begin a test on the use of negotiated rates, tracking these loans and comparing rates and points charged to those charged on FHA and conventional loans. The authority expires Dec. 31, 1995.

Legislation also authorizes a three-year program for VA-guaranteed adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs). These mortgages will be similar to FHA ARMs, with the interest rate corresponding to the specified national interest rate index. An annual adjustment to the rate (limited to one percent) is authorized, with adjustments to the loan rate limited to a 5-percent increase for the life of the loan. ARMs may be used to refinance existing loans. The law also requires that underwriting standards take into account the status of the interest rate index, maximum and expected amounts of increases in meeting payments, FHA standards and other factors that VA may determine.

VA also is authorized to make direct loans to Native American veterans living on trust lands. The loans may be used to build or buy homes on reservations and other trust lands.

A new entitlement program for members of the Selected Reserve also is established by the legislation. Individuals with six years of service in the Selected Reserve will now be eligible for VA's loan guaranty benefit. Individuals no longer in the Selected Reserve must have served at least six years and have received an honorable discharge.

The program, which is authorized for seven years from the date of enactment of the bill, requires a 2-percent funding fee as other veterans for manufactured home loans (1 percent), and interest rate reduction refinancing loans and assumptions (.5 percent).

Other provisions include: Enhancement of an existing program that permits VA to guarantee loans that include increased funds for energy efficiency improvement.

Those eligible must make their own arrangements for loans through the usual lending channels, such as banks, savings and loan associations, building and loan associations and mortgage loan companies. Real estate brokers ordinarily will assist in finding a lender.

Veterans may obtain information on VA-guaranteed home loans by contacting a VA regional office. The national, toll-free number is 1-800-827-1000.

Roamin' Rockcastle

BY HILDA PAYNE GABBARD

We stopped in at Elmer and Edith Hale's home on the Roundstone road. It was almost supper-time and you never can tell what might happen.

Elmer made us feel welcome so we went in and sat for awhile. Edith was moving around in the kitchen making noises with the pots and pans which meant she was starting supper. I sniffed to see if there would be any ham frying.

We told them we could only stay for a few minutes to get their news. Elmer called to Edith saying, "Come in here, woman and sit down, turn off the stove."

They always seem to enjoy talking to us. Edith said she had a birthday on November 5th, reaching 80. Their kinfolk from Richmond, Donald and Louise Hale, came over on that day to celebrate so they took them over to Clear Creek and on to Johnetta.

From there they drove to Wildie and bought some bologna and bread to make sandwiches which they ate in the car and had a picnic.

Next they went to Fairview just driving around.

Edith said they enjoyed getting out and seeing other parts of Rockcastle since they don't drive a lot.

When it came to summer work, the Hales told us they had so many beans in their garden they gave them away to many folks.

"We planted some yard long beans in the garden and they covered the fence of the garden. It was a pretty sight with all those long beans hanging down. Many folks came and picked them we had more than we could use," they said.

They still had their "scouring chairs," as I called them, sitting side by side in front of the big heating stove.

In talking about food from the garden, Elmer said Edith fried turnips and they were just like fried potatoes, soft and brown. (This is one for Dale Land.)

Leaving the Hales, who told us goodbye from the porch and urged us to come again we next went to Clyde and Margaret Linville's home in Scaffold Cane.

I had told Margaret, when she gave me the plumgrannies this fall, that I would bring her a long necked gourd when they finished growing on the vine.

I reminded Clyde if the electric went off in their kitchen so that they couldn't have water, the gourd would be handy to dip and drink from a spring they might have to use.

Of course he would have to make an opening and clean the seeds out of it first. He also could save the seed and raise more gourds.

Tip Reppers was a good neighbor to them. He had brought a real big pumpkin and set on their porch. The Linvilles might dry some of it to have fried pumpkin this winter and spring.

Margaret's sister, Katherine Gilbert lives near by. She comes over and helps Margaret by decorating. This time she had brought down all the small size baskets that had hung on a wall upstairs and put them around the kitchen wall up near the ceiling making a border. The little baskets were so attractive in many designs.

There were pictures and mats of birds with plants also on the walls making the room almost like outside with all the signs of nature.

I haven't had a chance to see Katherine yet but she is an attractive person by her pictures.

Margaret said the Linvilles, along with other kinfolks are invited for a Thanksgiving dinner to the "Rockcastle" former home of Eva Mullins which is now owned by Phillip Gilbert and wife, who are owners of the home and he is Katherine's son, on upper Clear Creek.

Steve Bullens, a neighbor of the Linvilles and some church members, does something nice for them. Steve teaches a Sunday School class at their church, Scaffold Cane Baptist. He comes to the Linville's home every Thursday afternoon and teaches the lesson to them for they don't get out much. Everytime I hear of Steve Bullens, he's always doing something in the way of religious work for someone.

I asked Clyde what he had been doing that I could get news about. He said, "Well, I've worked around in the garden some."

"Why you have not. Moss Linville, our nephew, from over on Scaffold Cane Pike raised a garden for us!" Margaret exclaimed while Clyde just laughed as we all did. I guess he'd walked around out there.

They said they also hear the church service as preached by Brother Wayne Harding, their pastor, and put on the radio later in the day.

The Linvilles had been to Mt. Vernon that week where Margaret got a new permanent and looked so nice with it. Linda Montjoy, a neighbor, drives them wherever they need to go and also helps them in the home. Margaret still has difficulty in getting about.

Clyde asked John to take him up on Big Sandy someday as he doesn't drive.

Daisy and Rosa Finnell came up to see them and they all enjoy talking as old friends together.

Margaret and Clyde's life is not active as they once lived but they have adjusted to living close in and depending a lot on others.

I hope everybody has a nice Thanksgiving but go slow on the turkey. That's the way Edd Croucher lost a finger.

I heard that a fellow said I did foolish writing. Well that's right but it's to make folks laugh. One thing I do want to tell him is that nobody makes him read it. He should pass mine up and go read Ike Adams.

Till next week:
Freedom is the right to be wrong, but not the right to do wrong.

Local student inducted into Phi Kappa Phi

A Mt. Vernon resident was among 34 Eastern Kentucky University students recognized by Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society for academic achievement.
The honoree is; Tiffany Carter, occupational therapy.

At the ceremony, the Society awarded certificates to undergraduate students who have completed 24 to 36 credit hours while maintaining at least a 3.7 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale).

The students represented represented all majors. Phi Kappa Phi is unique in that it recognizes scholarship in all academic disciplines rather than restricting its honors to a limited field.

A basic conviction in the philosophy of Phi Kappa Phi is that by recognizing and honoring those students who have excelled in scholarship, the honored individuals may be inspired to complete their college career and aspire for higher academic achievements," said Dr. Susan Godbey, Phi Kappa Phi secretary.

Eastern Kentucky University is a comprehensive university serving about 17,000 students on its 350-acre Richmond campus, throughout its 22-county extended service region, and beyond.

Danville wins rematch with quickness, 39-12

Rockets settle for second straight regional runner-up

It was said they were good, it was common knowledge that they were big and fast, but just how much potential they had was proven Friday night in front of the largest crowd ever assembled at the Rockcastle County High School.

In the championship game of the Region 3 playoffs, the Danville Admirals boasted just how good they really are by handing the Rockcastle County Rockets their worst loss of the year, 39-12.

"Danville is an outstanding football team," said Rockets' defensive coordinator Tony Saylor Monday. "They're the best in the state."

With the loss the Rockets finished the year 11-2 and will have to settle for the regional runner-up trophy for the second consecutive year. They lost to Danville in last year's championship, 18-13.

Danville, the defending Class 2A state champions, will now take their 13-0 record and 27 game winning streak into the state semi-finals.

"That was the quickest backfield (Danville) that has ever played on our field and probably the quickest line," Saylor said. Indeed, their quick backfield led to the first score on the first possession of the game. But credit the backfield with their biggest plays of the game in the second half following only a 20-12 halftime lead. Nathan Harris and Joel Grey had respective runs of 83 and 85 yards to tack on to their lead.

"Those two big plays were the turning point," Saylor added.

While Danville only passed twice, both were picked off by the Rockets. The first interception, by J.D. Bussell, set up a 75 yard drive for the Rockets first score. From their 25 yard line, a series of runs by J.D. Harris, Bobby Coffey and Mike Tackett pushed the ball down to Danville's nine yard line. From there, Bussell found tight end Jason Hunt open to tie the game at six. A bad snap followed to deny the Rockets of any extra-point.

However Danville quickly countered on the ensuing possession to move the ball 65 yards for their second score. Their extra-point was good.

"They were such a physical team that they whipped us on the line," said Saylor.

Saylor also stressed that Danville's quickness was enhanced by the hard surface of the Rockcastle field.

"They are quick on their home field which is Bermuda grass, on our hard surface, they were really quick," he said.

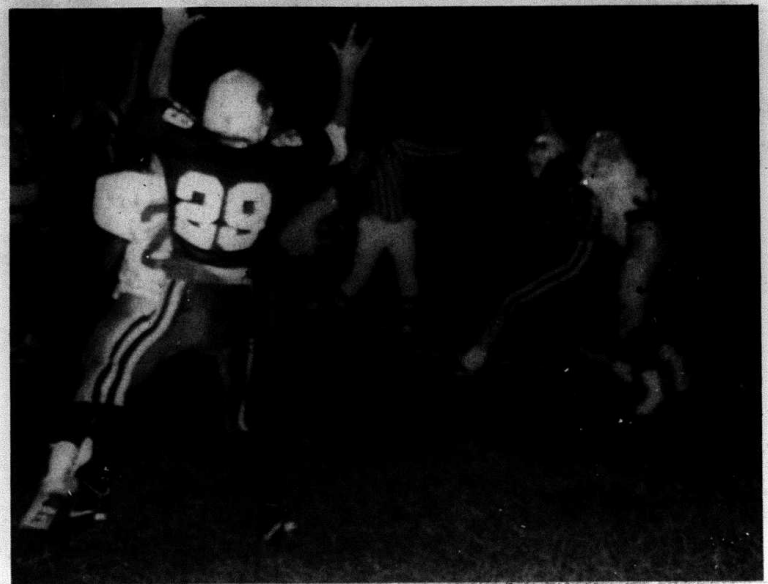

Following Danville's second score, the Rockets ignited on only two plays to pull within one point. On second down from their 30 yard line, Bussell launched a pass to Mikhael Shaffer, who found enough open territory to go the distance. The touchdown moved the score to 13-12. Again the Rockets' extra-point attempt failed.

But again, Danville, who never punted, countered with another score before intermission. However, the 70 yard drive proved costly for the Rockets as Shaffer received a blow to the knee which would sideline him for the duration.

"Danville head coach Sam Harp feels that their team this year is the best they have ever had," said Saylor, "I'd have to agree."

"I think our team has over-achieved the most from expectations," commented Saylor. "I also think they have a lot to look forward to if they dedicate themselves in the off-season."

Although the Rockets were shut-out in the second half, Danville

Mikhael Shaffer gave the signal as teammate Jason Hunt (background) scrambled into the end zone to tie the game at six in managed three more scores. The first on a 52 yard series and final two on the runs of N. Harris and Grey.

During the game the Rockets rushed for 103 yards and passed for 126 yards while Danville compiled 454 rushing yards.

For the year, the Rockets have outscored their opponents 304 to 131, outscored their opponents 2730 to 1368 and outpassed their opponents 1000 to 597.

"I think our kids gave an excellent effort," Saylor said. "I commend the seniors on the excellent job they did leading the younger guys."

"They were determined to do what it took to get the team ready to play. As for Danville, they are a team filled with athletic ability. Their triple series, option and trap series proved flawless against the Rockets as they never punted and committed only two turnovers.

Led by N. Harris and Grey, Danville is again expected to claim the state's Class 2A championship.

Saylor feels that Danville will meet Mayfield in the championship game of the state and favors Danville by one touchdown.

One bright spot for next year is the fact that Danville graduates six of their front seven players. Also included are N. Harris and Grey.

The Rockets, in-turn, will lose three on defense and four on offense. The cast is highlighted by Rockcastle's all-time leading rusher J.D. Harris. Harris finished his tenure with the Rockets with 4,086 yards.

The Rockets will return next year

Brodhead Tigers win girls' county championship

Amy Robinson macked up 22 points to help lead the Brodhead Tigers to victory over the Mt. Vernon Red Devils, 49-31, in the girls' 7th and 8th grade County Tournament held this past Saturday night at Roundstone Elementary.

The Tigers bounded out to a 14-4 lead in the first quarter behind the solid shooting of forward Kristi Moore.

Moore, who poured in 14 points, combined with the offense of Robinson, upped the Tigers' lead to 26-17 by intermission.

The Red Devils rallied several times in the third quarter behind LaCosta Mason's team high of 10 points but never could get within striking distance.

The Tigers moved their lead to 42-16 by the end of three quarters of play and continued with fundamental basketball through the fourth quarter to take the win.

Other Tigers scoring were: Jessica Albright, 3; Beth Durham, 2; Tracy Brickey, 6 and Sonia Peters, 2.

Other Red Devils scoring were: Dana Reynolds, 4; Nikki Bullock, 5; Angie McFeron, 4; Tiffany McClure, 7 and Jessica Johnson, 1.

The Livingston Blue Devils overpowered the Roundstone Eagles, 55-23, in the consolation game to take third place Saturday.

Blue Devil Susie Carpenter, the tournament's leading scorer with 44 points, dumped in 25 against the Eagles for the tournament's game high total.

Combined with Amy Parker's 16, the Blue Devils fought back from a 10-6 first quarter deficit to take a 22-14 lead by the half.

While Teresa Robinson led the Eagles with 11 points, they only managed five points in the third quarter. The Blue Devils garnered 23 in the quarter to up their lead to 45-19.

Other Blue Devils scoring were: Minica Phillips, 4; Rhonda Collins, 6 and Sharon Hensley, 4.

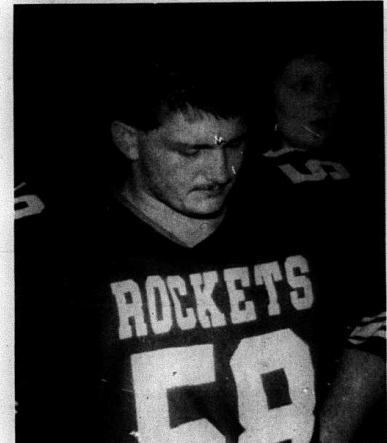

Other Eagles scoring were: Amber Coffey, 5; Wendy Himes, 1; Christy Johnson, 2; Jewell Jackson, 4 and Lisa Midkiff, 2.

The most exciting match-up of the tournament came in first round play held last Thursday when the Tigers faced-off with the Blue Devils.

Although both teams had suffered losses to one another during the regular season, the Tigers got the edge in the tourney, 37-30.

After a knotted first quarter of six

Senior fullback Bobby Coffey's expression displayed the disappointment the Rockets felt after their loss to Danville.

Rockets head coach Tom Larkey and defensive coordinator Tony Saylor gave motivating speeches to the players during last Thursday's bonfire rally for the Danville match-up. Also speaking were Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer and Rockcastle County Judge Executive Roland Mullins.

points each, the Tigers were able to stretch a 19-10 lead in the first quarter, again, behind the solid play of the Robinson, who had 16 points during the game.

However, led by the tournament's leading scorer, Carpenter with 19 points on the night, the Blue Devils rallied in the third quarter to regain the lead by one, 24-23.

But fourth quarter action watched defense prevail as the Tigers limited the Blue Devils to only six points.

Other Tigers scoring were: Jessica Albright, 7; Beth Durham, 4; Kristy Moore, 6 and Tracy Brickey, 4.

Other Blue Devils scoring were: Minica Phillips, 1; Amy Parker, 4; Rhonda Collins, 2 and Sharon Hensley, 4.

The Red Devils edged out the Eagles, 50-40, in other first round action.

Although the Eagles rallied late in the game, the Red Devils never trailed after taking a 11-9 lead in the first quarter.

Behind Mason's 16 points and double figures posted by Dana Reynolds and Angie McFerron, the Red Devils boosted their lead to 24-11 by half time.

Robinson again led the Eagles with 12 points and helped the Eagles to cut a 19 point deficit in the third quarter, 39-20, to only 10 by the conclusion of the game.

Others scoring for the Red Devils were: Dana Reynolds, 10; Nikki Bullock, 5; Angie McFerron, 10; Tiffany McClure, 6; Christy Mink, 4 and Jessica Johnson, 1. Other Eagles scoring were: Amber Coffey, 9; Wendy Himes, 8; Jewell Jackson, 9 and Lisa Midkiff, 2.

Mt. Vernon Boys Intramurals Registration

3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th grade boys intramurals registration will be held in the Mt. Vernon Elementary Gym on Tuesday, Dec. 1st, from 5 until 6 p.m. Please bring the registration form given to your child at school and a $5 registration fee (for the child's t-shirt).

The first practice session will be held Friday, Dec. 4 from 5 to 6 p.m. for the 3rd and 4th grade and from 6-7 p.m. for the 5th and 6th grade.

Anyone interested in coaching a team should let Coach Coguer know the time of registration.

The London Tobacco Market

welcomes you back this year. We are looking for another good year. We believe there will be a price spread this year so, for that reason, maybe you should put your tobacco in more than one grade.

The Market is now open and prices are much higher than expected with a low of $1.80 and high of 1.88 and an average of 1.84 - 1.87.

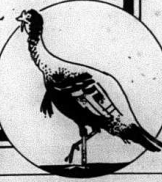

We have plenty of room to unload for the second week's sale.

It started as a day-long feast
To celebrate good will and peace,
And thank the Lord for taking care
To see there was enough to share.
Another harvest now is in,
And as we celebrate again,
Our thanks to each of you we send,
We're proud to have you as our friends!

Happy Thanksgiving

Ms. Alexander's and Ms. Parker's kindergarten classes are studying Pilgrims and Indians. They are going to make Stone Soup this week.

In Ms. Carter's first level reading class, students will be reading "Squanto and the First Thanksgiving." In her first level math, they have been studying addition strategies. In her connections class they have been studying Indians. So far they have made paper canoes, musical instruments and have played several Indian games. They are all looking forward to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Ms. Webb's class has been learning about Indians. They have made totem poles, memory scrolls, silver pendants and Indian homes. They will be using Indian symbols to write stories next week. They have read a story in sign language about "The Painted Pony." In math, they are learning to subtract and are doing a great job! They are spelling some Indian words and short vowel words, too.

Ms. Vanzant's Student of the week is Jessica Artley. Joshua Cromer had a birthday on Nov. 1. They are presently making a large Kachina doll and painting Native American symbols and designs on their teepee. We appreciate the work Mr. Vanzant did putting up our teepee in the class. In connections, they are doing a unit on Native Americans, also, they have read "Arrow to the Sun" and made their own Kiva (something that they were once afraid of but are now). Other activities include Pueblo Village art, Daily writing topics in their Learning Logs, and writing color poems about pottery. This week, the class will be reading about the first Thanksgiving. They will be making pendants and writing stories using symbols. They have been learning vocabulary and spelling words associated with Indians and Thanksgiving. The class wishes everyone a great vacation holiday.

Ms. Roark's class is studying Pilgrims and Indians. They are going to the store to find out the Thanksgiving prices. They are dressing up as Pilgrims and Indians Wednesday.

Ms. Adams' class is working on a unit on Thanksgiving and Indians.

Ms. Maples' class has ten days perfect attendance. They are still studying on Indians and Pilgrims. Vanessa Childress' birthday is Saturday.

Ms. Clontz's Student of the Week is Stephen Borting. In math, they are working on subtraction. Last week in Connections, they learned about Indians and made jewelry using corn. This week, they are going to learn about the pilgrims.

In Ms. Smith's first level, Indians were the main theme this week. The class would like to thank Mrs. Carlotta and her son for telling them all about Indians. They really enjoyed their trip to the "Fort." Allen Pensol helped the students make food chains.

Mr. Napier's class put on a puppet show about healthy eating which they thought was funny. Ronald McDonald has been to visit them and explain ecology. Brother Wendell Romans read to them about "Alexander's Day." Also, Ms. McQuary's class read their own books about their "Day." Ms. Bullock shared her collection of arrowheads with students. Jessica Denny is the Student of the Week. School is exciting and the students are thankful for it!

Ms. DeBorde's class has been studying Indians and pilgrims. The students made Indian musical instruments, totem poles, and played Indian games, along with other activities. Coty Reams is the Student of the Week. They are looking forward to Thanksgiving.

In Ms. Reed's class, students are going to finish their quilts and continue their attendance record of 30 days this year.

Ms. Clark's class has been very busy this week. Wednesday, they went to the high school to meet their senior pen pals. On Thursday, Mr. Pensol came and gave them some poster ideas. Also on Thursday, they made Christmas lists. Friday they had tape day in music. Last week, they made a pledge to the earth. All this week, they worked on getting a gold coin for good behavior so that they can watch a movie and get a snack.

Mr. Love's students are working on their speeches for the 4-H Talk Meet. Some of them are also working on posters about the importance of trees. Mr. Pensol will be coming to our room on Tuesday to help the students in an arts project.

In Mr. Woodall's class, students have been studying about Rockcastle and how it was formed. Rockcastle used to be part of another county. In math, they have been studying how to solve problems and how to use calculators. They have been writing letters to Brodhead school fourth grade students. They are going to be pen pals with high school students. In P.E., they have been playing Battle Ball, doing lay-ups, and having tournaments. Ms. Asher teaches the students science and they have been studying about the Tundra, grasslands and deserts.

Mr. Davidson's and Ms. McQuary's classes have been chosen to receive a mini-grant of $200 from Forward in the Fifth. They plan to use the money to take the students to Berea College for a tour and some educational shows. Each student is doing a report on an element to get ready for this trip. Kay Bullock is giving a presentation on Indian artifacts.

During National Children's Book Week (Nov. 16-20), Ms. McQuary's class made books based on the story, Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day. The students read them to some of the primary classes. They enjoyed their stories along with the illustrations. Sixth grade students also wrote stories about magical creatures.

Ms. McKinney's and Mr. Alexander's classes have been working hard preparing for the 4-H Talk Meet. Their cluster contestants are; Andy Hale, Jason Cromer, Nathaniel Bullock, Jamie Settles and Kristy Lovell. The class wishes them luck.

Ms. Hale's 7th and 8th grade Challenge classes have developed a book of Thanksgiving Memories and Traditions. Each of the students has written his/her own memory and then interviewed an older adult about their favorite Thanksgiving memory. The books are being bound to keep in Ms. Brock's and Ms. Henderson's classrooms.

Mr. Coffey's science classes are covering the Periodic Table. All 8th grade science classes will be going to the planetarium at E.K.U. on December 10th. Ms. Abrey's Academic Team had an Academic Meet last Tuesday. Mt. Vernon won one, and lost one. This coming Tuesday, they go to Corbin. They will compete with Corbin, S. Laurel, DeWitt, and Livingston.

Ms. Wallin's students are doing character stories as part of the whole language program. They are also doing spelling bees.

Mrs. Cowans Primary Class:

Why we celebrate Thanksgiving? Because the Pilgrams want to thank the Indians. They had the first Thanksgiving. The Pilgrims ship was named the Mayflower. I would like to see the Mayflower and the Indians and the Pilgrims. The Pilgrims tot the Indians hall to shot a gun. Rodney

Many of the Indians help the Pilgrams. The Indians show the Pilgrams how to make bread and corn mill. The Pilgram are very nice to the Indians. The teacher brot the mayflower to show the kids. They were too peopple on the mayflower. The kids rote a Thanksgiving to their mother and father. the Pilgrams invized the Indians. some of the kids mothers came and gave the Pilgrams and the Indians of food for dinner. The Mayflower sailed a long, long ago.

April

Why we celebrate Thanksgiving.

I love Thanksgiving and Thanks for the sotry of Indians and pilgrams. Thanksgiving is the best of all. I like to be on the Mayflower with you. I like the Mayflower. Thanks for the book. I am going to get me a Turkey. I'm going together to see you. You our my friend.

Shaunda

I am thankful for my family, classmates, my teachers because she helps me with math sometimes. And god, he grews plans for and for all the kids that ant got every close or food and Kari and Jamie. And for America and because Americans has good people and my granny becos my granny is living.

Amy

I am thankful for mom because she is as room. I am thankful my dad becos he workers for munc. I am thankful Good becos Good burug us to Kentucky. I am thankful for Thanksgiving becos you got to eat dinner. I thankful for my cat becos I have a fruin.

Ashley

I am thankful for the turkey. I am happy that we got food to eat. I like turkey very much. I like to play when I get dan eating. I play in the snow. Pilgrams come to eat with us. Pilgrams likes to eat turkey to. The pilgrams like the turkey. The pilgrams at thankful that they got to americans. The Indians come to Americae for Thanksgiving. The Indians and Pilgrams eat the turkey. The Indians and Pilgrams shaer their food.

Jeff

In Thanksgiving you need food. I am thankful for shelter. You need clothes for Thanksgiving. You need candy for Thanksgiving parties. You need a school were you can learn to read to your mom and dad. You need water to drink for Thanksgiving. You need electric were you can see in you house. In Thanksgiving I will be a pilgra. Thanksgiving is fun to go to Turkeys are good to eat for Thanksgiving.

April

Mr. Mischel's Room

Thanksgiving To me Thanksgiving is a time to celebrate and give thanks for every thing we have. and Thanksgiving is a time to be with your family and just spend time together. Usually families have a dinner to give thanks. Some families go out and eat. But my family meets at my pap's house to eat a turkey dinner. After we eat it's not to cold then we'll go out on the porch. And us kids will play in the yard. If it's to cold then the grown ups sit in the living room and talk while us kids play something in the bedroom. And we all just spend the day together till that night then we'll start leaving. And that's what Thanksgiving is all about. To celebrate and be thankful!

What Thanksgiving Means to Me Thanksgiving means getting together with your family. It also means fighting for your own religion and for your freedom. It means how the pilgrins risk their life crossing the ocean and starting a new beginning in a strange land. Thanksgiving celebrates our freedom of religion.

Tiger Pause

Season wrap-up of BES Lady Tigers

The 92-93 Lady Tigers season started out with a big bang! They brought home the first place trophy during their first two games at the Berea Community Tournament. During the season the Tigers only lost one game which was at home against Livingston.

On Nov. 19 and 21 the Rockcastle County championship games were played. Thursday night the Tigers won against Livingston and Saturday night they took first place in the county when they defeated Mt. Vernon.

This was the first time in over eleven years the B.E.S. has won this important championship. We are very proud of the Tigers and their coach Mrs. Debbie Cash for such a great season.

Dear Editor,
We Lady Tigers would like to express our deepest appreciation to our coach Mrs. Debbie Cash. She has been a true inspiration for our winning season. We wish her the best of luck with her future decision of giving up coaching. We want her to know that we will always remember our good times together at B.E.S. We will miss her next year!

Love,
The Lady Tigers

VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS

Gal. Ch. 1:8. "If any man preach any other gospel unto you than you have received, let him be accursed," are the words of Apostle Paul. If we preach the same gospel that Paul preached, then it should produce the same results today that it produced in his book of Acts. Paul said his preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstrations of the Spirit and of power. The gospel Paul preached produced miracles, healing and deliverance, because the gospel is the power of God unto salvation to those who believe, Rom. 1:16. The Hebrew and Greek words for "salvation" in Rom. 1:16 also imply deliverance, safety, preservation, healing and soundness.

1st Cor. Ch. 13 is a passage of scripture the Sadducees who don't believe in anything else quite often to prop up this Sad-You-See doctrine. They are Sad-You-See because they don't have much to look forward to in this present life. All their faith, hopes and expectations are in future events, yet to take place somewhere on the other side, since they aren't experiencing anything right now and believe that everything has lasted, ceased and passed away.

God is just as much God right now as He is going to be God when we get over there. There is no great gift between us and God. God dwells in Zion. He dwells in the Body of Christ. He lives on the inside. God is just as much God right now as He is ever going to be, well that separated us from the presence of God has been done away with. Only this veil of fear, our fear, doubt, and unbelief can separate us from the Holy of Holies and limit God in our lives.

Only when men become destitute of the Spirit of God, do prophecies fail, tongues cease, and knowledge vanishes away, and everything else pertaining to the ministry and work of God comes to a grinding halt.

The same passage of scripture in 1st Cor. Ch. 13 that talks about the gifts failing and passing goes on to say in Ch. 14, "Follow after charity and desire spiritual gifts," and verse 39, "Covet to prophesy and forbid not to speak with tongues."

Paul said 1st Cor. 12:1, "Now concerning spiritual gifts brethren, I would not have you ignorant. To suggest that God no longer manifests the gifts of 1st Spirit goes beyond the normal perception of spiritual ignorance. It is a redemptive ignorance. God could no more stop manifesting Himself through the Holy Ghost than He could take the Holy Ghost out of the Church. It would cease to be the many membered body of Christ.

Ordained of God from the foundation of the world, in God's great plan to manifest Himself, supernaturally among His people and through His people for the benefit of all mankind.

The Gifts of the Spirit are not gifts in the same sense as a present is a gift that belongs to someone. The gifts of the Holy Spirit belong to the Holy Spirit, and are given to the Church to be manifested through individual believers as the spirit will; actually, instead of calling them the gifts of the Holy Ghost, it would be more correct to call them manifestations of the Holy Ghost, but the gift itself is not given to the believer as their own possession.

The Body of Christ in these last days of the Church age is raising itself out of its slumber and is awakening itself to the plan and purpose of God for the church, the "ecclesia," the called-out ones. Believers are called to minister to a test and dying work, to the oppressed and needy, with the supernatural power of God.

From within his heart, man cries out for his Creator. He longs for a relationship with someone greater than himself, or what his friends and family tell him. The way of men's traditions and false doctrines are not strong enough to withstand the hungry soul in search of the supernatural power of God. When traditions and philosophies of men come face to face with God's glory and power, men's ideas melt like snow in the hot sun.

Deadline extended for disaster claims to February 12, 1993

Deadline extended for disaster claims - Farmers have until Feb. 12, 1993, to file disaster claims for fall-seeded program crops planted in 1991 and harvested in 1992, according to Harold Ballinger, of the Rockcastle County ASCS Office. The original deadline was October 2.

Ballinger said, a 50.04 percent payment rate will be used to determine disaster payments for crop losses approved under the emergency agricultural disaster program announced by President Bush. "This is the same rate that was used under the 1990-91 disaster program." The ASCS official said disaster claims will be processed and checks mailed to eligible producers as soon as possible.

For additional information on the disaster program, contact the County ASCS Office located at Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon.

ASCS programs are open to all eligible persons regardless of age, color, disability, national origin, marital status, race, religion, or sex. No final payments for 1991 corn, sorghum - No increased deficiency payments, will be made for 1991-crop corn and sorghum, Harold Ballinger, CED, of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said.

"Market prices on these crops exceeded the basic loan rate," he said. The basic loan rates were $1.89 per bushel for corn and $1.80 per bushel for sorghum. The national average prices received by producers from September 1991 through August 1992 were $2.37 and $2.25 per bushel, respectively.

Ballinger explained that Findley payments are made when the basic support level for a crop is reduced to maintain domestic and export markets for that commodity. "However, these payments are made only when the 12-month national weighted average market price is less than the price support level before it was reduced."

Corn acreage reduction up - Harold Ballinger of the Rockcastle County ASCS Office said the 1993 feed grain program calls for a 10 percent reduction in corn acres compared to a 5 percent reduction in 1992.

He said prospects for a large 1992 corn crop has boosted stock estimates prompting the higher acreage reduction requirements in 1993.

Participating producers will be eligible for federal target price protection of $2.75 per bushel for corn, $2.61 for grain sorghum, $2.36 for barley and $1.45 per bushel for oats. Price support loan rates per bushel are: corn, $1.72; grain sorghum, $1.63; barley, $1.40; oats, $88; and rye, $1.46. The loan rates and target prices are unchanged from 1992.

Ballinger said other provisions of the 1993 feed grain program will be announced as soon as they become available.

Paulita Thomason

EKU Forensic Center one of seven in nation

They're often the unsung heroes, working behind the scenes to protect society from criminals.

Even though they get to work in some celebrated cases, you won't see them on the nightly news, and their role isn't glorified on reality TV shows like "Cops."

Yet it's their expertise that frequently makes arrests and convictions possible. They're forensic scientists, and Eastern Kentucky University is playing an important role in developing tomorrow's talents in the field. Eastern has the only forensic science program in Kentucky and one of only seven in the country, according to program coordinator Dr. Robert Fraas, a professor in the Department of Chemistry.

One of 43 students enrolled in the program this year is Paulita Thomason, a senior from Mt. Vernon.

Most forensic science majors go on to work in crime laboratories, toxicology labs or arson labs. Several graduates have advanced to become laboratory directors.

"Essentially, everyone who wants a job has gotten a job," Fraas said. "If a graduate is willing to move where the jobs are, jobs are available and they pay decent money."

"And the jobs are secure," Fraas added. "Our criminal justice system will always need forensic scientists. They'll always need a person to interpret data and testify in court."

The major was first offered at Eastern in 1975.

"I spent a lot of time traveling to different labs around the country," Fraas noted, "to see what they'd demand in an employee, just talking to people. One of the big problems getting started was being accepted by the forensic science community."

That's no longer a problem, according to Mike Trimpe, a 1979 graduate of EKU's program and a criminalist in the Hamilton County (Ohio) Coroner's Office.

"The strength of the program is that Dr. Fraas is involved in the forensic community," Trimpe said. "He goes to many meetings and knows a lot of people throughout the country, so he's able to place interns and keep up with the latest methods."

World AIDS Day set for Dec. 1 observance

For the first time, U.S. citizens will participate in an unified observance of World AIDS Day. The fifth annual observance of World AIDS Day will be commemorated on December 1st. Approximately 180 countries around the world have designated this day to draw public attention to the AIDS pandemic.

For the first time, World AIDS Day will link communities throughout the U.S. in a unified, national observance. The White House will join communities across the country in dimming lights as a visual demonstration of the commitment to the fight against the AIDS pandemic and in tribute to those living with and those who have died from AIDS. Citizens of Rockcastle County are encouraged to show support by dimming lights and wearing red ribbons on December 1st.

Locally, World AIDS Day 1992 will provide a unique opportunity for groups and organizations to sponsor activities simultaneously that will increase awareness about HIV/AIDS and reinforce AIDS prevention activities. The worldwide effort to meet the challenge of AIDS will be strengthened by stressing how critical it is for individuals and communities to pledge themselves fully to the fight against AIDS. In addition, World AIDS Day will continue to promote support and care for all HIV-infected persons and people with AIDS, their families and friends, and help combat discrimination and isolation.

All communities are being affected by the continuing spread of the AIDS pandemic. As of mid-1992, WHO (World Health Organization) estimates that 10 to 12 million men, women, and children worldwide have been infected with HIV and over 2 million of them have gone on to develop AIDS. In the U.S. as of July 1992, 230,179 people in the U.S. had been diagnosed with AIDS; of these, 150,114 have died.

The ultimate goal is to have as many people as possible within U.S. communities and around the world communicating about AIDS to heighten awareness of AIDS as a global challenge and to create the unity essential to the worldwide effort against AIDS.

Show your support! Wear red ribbons and dim your lights in your home and/or business. For more information about AIDS, contact your local Health Department or call the AIDS hotline: 1-800-654-AIDS.

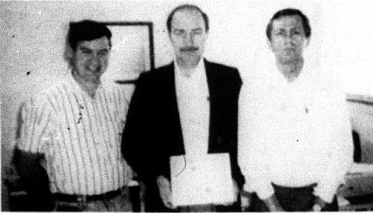

Berea Hospital News

With a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Nov. 16, Berea Hospital opened its new dining room. One-third larger than the old dining room and seating 90 people, the decor is bright and pleasant and includes new furniture, a new serving line and an open and airy atrium.

"The idea is to do away with the institutional look," explained Director of Dietary Mickie Hudson, R.D.

"we wanted to create an inviting environment, a place where people can go to relax and enjoy their meals. We encourage everyone in the community to come in and see what we have to offer."

The new dining room is located near the former emergency room. Access is from within the hospital, across the hall from the Materials Management Office.
