Jail renovation could cost $250,000

By: Ray McClure

Bids are to be opened Jan. 26 for an estimated $250,000 renovation of Rockcastle County Jail.

The state mandates the project which calls for a multi-purpose room, medical examination room, two dormitory-type cells and mechanical room.

The project will allow more utilization of the courthouse, it will meet state corrections regulations allowing the county to keep the jail open, provide for state prisoners eliminating the need to go to Stanford for prisoner work program.

It will also provide a maximum security area and new kitchen area. There will be a "Sallyport" driveway area that is secured before inmates are transported to and from a patrol car. It will be erected at the end of the courthouse toward Town and Country Chevron Station.

Also a secure outdoor recreational area will be installed, and a Central Control room in which all doors and operations are monitored by electronic panel. Cell doors will be opened remotely with electronic surveillance.

There will also be a booking area and conference room for attorneys and clients.

All jail spaces must be of security masonry, electronic security doors with air-compressed door locks. The present jail does not have a fresh air supply. The new mechanical system will be re-worked to have a fresh air supply.

County/Judge Executive Roland Mullins said the State Corrections Cabinet demands the added security if the jail is to remain open.

He said the county has the funds for expansion that have been saved by the county.

Rogers opens office in his new 5th District

By: Lee Mueller
Lexington Herald-Leader

Shivering in the dark, more than 150 people gathered in a half-moon around a double-wide mobile home Thursday to witness the death of one congressional district and the birth of a new one.

Even former U.S. Rep. Chris Perkins, the old 7th District's congressman, showed up, but he left before U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers cut the ribbon on his new office in the new 5th District.

I took the oath of office yesterday (Wednesday) in the new 5th District," Rogers told the crowd. "It's official now. I'm delighted to be a part of you."

Rogers, a Republican from Somerset who served six terms as representative from the old GOP-dominated 5th, defeated Democratic foe John Doug Hays last year in the redrawn 5th. The new 27-county district contains 14 mostly Democratic counties from Perkins' old 7th District.

Hays carried most of them in the election, but Rogers — speaking in Hays' hometown — appeared eager to embrace his new territory.

In Pikeville — and again last night in downtown Hazard — the 55-year-old congressman pledged to be as accessible to his new constituents as he has been to voters in southern Kentucky.

No tears were shed for the passing of the old 7th.

"I don't think it was in the best interest of Eastern Kentucky to combine the two (districts)," said David Gooch, executive director of Coal Operators and Associates in Pike County, "but we've got a congressman who can represent them."

Rogers told the crowd: "I will never, ever intentionally let you down. I'll always try to have the bearing that will make you proud."

The only cloud hanging over Rogers' victory in November is a grand jury investigation in Harlan County, where a political activist said his son and wife were given $50 checks from Rogers' campaign for unspecified reasons. The men who passed out the checks, school board member Ronnie Ball and magistrate Lige Buel, claim the checks were for Election Day work.

The grand jury has subpoenaed and questioned a dozen witnesses, but

Car crashes into Mini Mall

By: Ray McClure

A car owned by Marvin Hensley was struck while turning left into the Mini Mall sending it into the mall.

A car, out of control after a collision, plowed into a Mini Mall on U.S. 25 south of Mt. Vernon Sunday, sending 9 to the hospital.

Eleven persons in three cars were involved in the spectacular crash. Four persons were in the Mini Mall.

According to State Police Trooper Craig Sutton who investigated the accident, Marvin Hensley, 20, of Mt. Vernon made a left turn into the Mini-Mall and was hit by a car driven by Frances Carol Phelps, 31, of Livingston. The Phelps car in turn struck a car driven by Karen Gail Godsey, 37, of Gray in Knox County.

Police cited Hensley with an expired license plate, no driver's license and no insurance.

The crash tore a hole in the building when the Hensley car accelerated. It went about 10 feet inside the building where three persons were shopping.

Kermit Woods, 55, of Thousandsticks and Herbert Woods, 29, of Thousandsticks, and a third person Ethan Smith, 7, also of Thousandsticks.

A fourth person, James R. Holtzclaw, 58, of Berea, who leases the Mini Mall from Robert E. Philbeck was taken to Rockcastle Hospital, along with the Woods men, were treated and released.

In the Phelps car were Jonathan Phelps, 8, and Bobby Phelps, 13.

Jonathan was taken to U.K. Hospital treated and released. He had facial cuts. Bobby was admitted later to the U.K. Hospital.

In the Hensley auto were Hensley's wife, Rebecca Lynn, 17, son, Kevin Scott Hensley, 1 year, and Stephanie Hensley, 6 months.

In the Godsey car were Lula Nichols, 23, and Lara Williams 5, Rebecca Nichols, 25, all of Gray. Karen and Nichols were treated at Rockcastle Hospital and released, police reported.

Police said the car went about 10 feet into the building which was at one time a skating rink. It caused considerable damage, police said. No fire resulted from the crash.

Town and Country service station recovered the Hensley car. Central wrecker took care of the other two.

Garbage bags, too heavy, haulers say

The garbage haulers are having problems with some bags of garbage. They're too heavy to be picked up!

Rockcastle County Ordinance (90-3) says the container shall not be more than 35 gallons nor less than 10 gallons in normal capacity. It should be leakproof and watertight. The weight of any container and contents shall not exceed 75 pounds, according to Nancy Meadows, solid waste coordinator.

The following items are unacceptable and should not be placed in containers for collection:

Fire, embers, ashes and other such fire causing materials; liquids, other than those contained in customary household solid waste; poisons; herbicides; pesticides; chemicals; explosives or other volatile substances; dead animals; toxic wastes; sludges or semi-solid fluids; gasoline, oil or other liquid hydrocarbons; animal wastes; motor vehicles or motor vehicle remnants; automobile tires; automobile batteries; nuclear or radioactive wastes; all other hazardous wastes.

Residents are asked to recycle newspaper, cardboard, aluminum, glass and plastic.

If a person is not registered with a hauler for door-to-door pick-up of household garbage or if not registered with Bee Garbage Transfer System, Inc. at Burr, they should consider registering. The Universal Collection System is now at 68 percent participation.

Call the Solid Waste Office at 256-2313 if there are any questions.

Motorist rams home

A Brodhead woman escaped serious injury Monday when her car went out of control and struck a house on Dug Hill Road.

Violet Broughton, 37, of Rt. 1, Brodhead told Sheriff Deputy Darrell Doan, her car went into a skid, went into a yard owned by Mrs. Pauline Cottongim, hit the corner of Mrs. Cottongim's house and ended up in a wooded area.

Damage was to the gutter and brick on the house and to Ms. Broughton's car.

Hospice opening soon in Mt. Vernon

The term "hospice" might not ring a bell with many Rockcastle County residents, right now, but that will change in the very near future, according to Gregory Hancock, executive director of Hospice of the Kentucky River.

He said hospice really needs to be a household word because of the kind of care and service hospice represents.

"Hospice provides medical care and counseling for terminally ill patients and their families," Hancock explained. "Sooner or later, everybody needs that kind of help. It is sad so many people die and so many families have to struggle with the death of a loved one and they don't know Hospice is near or that they can call on us."

In a day and age when the cost of health care scares everybody, Hospice never sends its patients a bill. If patients qualify for Medicare or Medicaid, or if they have private health care insurance, Hospice will bill the appropriate insurer. Otherwise, hospice renders care at no charge

Office moved

The office of Property Valuation Administrator Homer Hale has been moved to the third floor of the courthouse. The telephone number remains the same.

Clearing it up

A Brodhead man arrested recently after driving erratically on U.S. 25 south was driving under the influence of medication, not alcohol.

Dewey Lake, 51, of Brodhead is confined to Rockcastle Hospital.

Weather

As of Tuesday, there have been 9 days of rain during the first 12 days of January.

The high for the month to date was 68 on Jan. 4. The low was 26 on Jan. 1 and 2.

The four were elected in the November general election. In the photo are, from left: Douglas Mullins, Terry Burron, Dr. G.W. Griffith and Debbie Whitehead. ## Commentary

By: George Ferrell

"Each of us as he receives his private, crowning at the hands of fate is kept in good heart by the moth in his brother's parachute, and the scorpion in his neighbor's underwear." — N.F. Simpson.

Those words seem to have some input into the inauguration of Bill Clinton as President Bush leaves the White House.

Clinton best keep a stiff upper lip as he takes office. Sure, he will celebrate and it will be a grand time, but there are grave matters afoot in the world that he must deal with on a timely basis.

There are the inherited problems and situations — Bosnia, Iraq, Somalia and various other hotspots across the globe.

American troops are committed in the middle East and in Somalia and Clinton will wrestle with the mantle as he becomes "Commander in Chief."

Bush, who campaigned as a tough decision maker, is perhaps leaving a moth here and a scorpion there as he steps aside for Clinton, the youngest President America has had since the days of JFK.

In the past few days, with the euphoria of the inauguration in tow, the newspapers have hinted at a somewhat tougher Clinton, now less able to meet all needs, address all concerns.

Just Monday the headlines showed that congressional support for a middle class tax cut was less than enthusiastic.

The deficit is too deep, the projected spending too large to allow for such a cut.

One headline suggested that it was "read my lips all over again" that Clinton might have to put a tax increase before Capitol Hill.

Either way, it will surely alienate some people and I'm certain that by this time next year Clinton will have more than a few headaches.

Not that he can't accomplish a great deal. Millions of Americans want change and reform.

They want health care reform and improvements, job training, help for the homeless, outreach to older Americans, education reform and improvement, a more ethical government, a common sense approach to the deficit, answers to crime in the streets and drugs, and a host of other issues addressed.

There is a sense among people that Clinton is the last door stop. He must perform or the door of opportunities for this generation will be lost to a muddle of government.

Keeping the door open to innovation and change will require as much art as substance.

Clinton, the grand diplomat, the compromiser, the orator, the commander in chief, the leader of the free world, all under one hat and that is a tall order.

There are several areas that must be addressed when one is speaking of "presidential timber."

One is that a president must embrace the office with a certain toughness, with a sense that he is the buck stopper, the end of the line and the decision maker when the tough issues face the nation.

Another is that he must attempt to meet his campaign promises. In Clinton's case this in grand total is not possible, but he must make progress on at least several important fronts.

He must seize the opportunity of the honeymoon, that time when Congress gives him a little room to operate, and take his legislation to the house and senate with a sense of urgency.

Clinton may be the beneficiary of a lot of luck — the recession may be over with the economy slowly gaining ground — but it will take more than that for him to build his coalition and get his packages through Congress.

I hope he can avoid the ordinary disputes that many presidents have in getting their cabinet named and in avoiding scandals.

Clinton is ambitious and he has his work cut out for him.

It will take a monumental effort to get his packages before Congress, but it can be done within the 100-day framework that he has promised the electorate.

He will need to get this country on its feet again, and running smoothly from the halls of government. He must defeat the bureaucracy that has been building in D.C. since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There are so many silly regulations, pork barrel lined pockets and meaningless titles that could be changed during the next administration.

If the recession hasn't ended then Clinton will take on the aura of an FDR, trying everything to get it to end, to keep it from dipping and double dipping and triple dipping the nation into economic chaos. Well, let's all wish him luck, he'll need it and so will we. That's all for this week.

What do Groucho Marx, George Washington, Abbot and Costello, Harry Truman, Ben Franklin, John F. Kennedy and Elvis Presley have in common? The answer, of course, is that they've all had their photographs on a postage stamp.

So what makes Elvis so different from all the other celebrities whose likenesses have adorned the mail? And the answer is, all the other guys could sing the Star Spangled Banner without faking a heavy emotion.

Last Friday as I sat at home nursing the most recent wound in the roof of my mouth from oral surgery, I would frequently scan the news stations on television to see if we had started bombing Iraq again. To my knowledge, the subject never even came up. In fact, the networks had temporarily lost interest in Somalia because of two new national crises.

The newsvs press had discovered its first Bill Clinton scandal since Jennifer Flowers and they were devoting about 30 percent of the day's coverage to that. Much to their horror little Chelsea Clinton will not be attending a public school in Washington. Never mind that there is no record of any president ever sending a child to the D.C. public schools.

by perlina m. anderkin

Although I gave up New Year's Resolutions some years ago, finding I did not have the willpower to follow through, I did decide that this year I would lose some of the extra weight. I have picked up over the years if at all possible. After all, I am getting to the age where if I am going to do anything I better do it because I don't have a lot of time to vacillate.

Anyway, having talked several members of my family into accompanying me through the ordeal, we ventured to a weight reduction organization meeting. (I'm not going to mention their name, if they want advertising let them pay for it), signed up and weighed in.

We received little books to keep track of what we eat each day, menus for breakfast, lunch and dinner (the breakfast ones were pretty ordinary but the lunch and dinner ones would make Julia Child proud) and a list of the foods we could eat. Go figure, my daughter searched desperately for "gravy on the list and I couldn't find it cream anywhere. But, our group leader proudly pointed out that this was the only diet she knew of that you could have peanut butter and cookies on -- a grand total of 1 tsp. of peanut butter a day and either a 3" or two 1" cookies a day. Let's get real, folks, I eat that much cookie butter before I put them on to bake.

The absolute worst part of the diet however has been the 8 glasses of water you have to drink daily. The first day I tried it, I got sick. Stomach rolling, head hurting, gagging sick. I don't drink water. I have never drunk water and I had never intended to drink water. My husband makes several trips to the kitchen each night to fix himself a glass of ice water, just because he likes it (he has other strange habits I'll tell you about sometimes).

The second worst part is still having to fix "normal" meals for Jim, Travis and Allison and listening to Travis sit and make a point to offer me everything on the table, grinning all the while. I have thought about cheating (and may have just a little, by accident, of course) but we have to weigh in each week and since I'm not drinking all the water I'm supposed to or exercising as I should (because I'm usually faint from hunger, you see), the cheating will show up and if you think I'm going to be outdone by two daughters and a daughter-in-law, you have another think coming.

Anyway, when I'm slim and svelte and have broken myself of the habit of devouring several sweets daily, maybe they'll do a before (pear shaped) and after (dried up and wrinkled) photo of me for their ads then, again, maybe they won't but I won't care. The last time I lost 20 pounds, I was flat on my back for six weeks with an infected nerve root in my spine and I'll take this method any day.

KET presents Call-In on Kentucky College Tuition Policy

Cuts in the Kentucky higher education budget may bring about changes in tuition rates at Kentucky colleges and universities.

Kentucky college students and their parents will get a chance to ask questions and voice opinions about those possible changes when KET airs College Tuition Policy: A Kentucky Call-In at 9 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 21.

I would even think about living in Washington D.C. if I couldn't afford to send my kids to a private school. And to suggest that sending Chelsea to the public schools would automatically solve their problems is the absolute height of naivete.

But the real tragedy of the day had to do with some poor postal clerk in El Paso who had committed high treason by accidentally letting the Elvis stamps go on sale a day too early. They ranted and raved about incompetence and spoke solemnly about how the actual moment of official release had been delayed. The Grinch who stole Christmas was, by comparison, guilty of a far less serious infraction.

Now, I can understand the Postal Service putting a mug shot of Elvis on a stamp. I frequently purchase stamps with similar shots of people I never heard of nor have curiosity enough to go tracking down in the encyclopedia. A postage stamp, as far as I'm concerned, is a way to let the mail carriers know that I have dutifully shelled out the 29 cents they charge me to get my letter from one place to another. And I have no problem whatever with putting a photo of someone who has done good on it.

What I can't understand is the pre-occupation that television journalists have with a stamp portraying Elvis Presley. I wish that someone could explain to me the newsworthiness here. No big do was made about Groucho for example.

I figure that these bums are sitting around the newsrooms of the country and suddenly it dawns on them that if they don't find something newsworthy they may be out of a job so they create a story and hype the heck out of it just to prove that they can manipulate our value systems anyway they choose.

If a postage stamp is suddenly what it takes to call national attention to any given subject, it seems to me that the public would be much better served with a photo of some poor fellow sleeping in a cardboard box down the street from any one of the newsworthy New York offices. How about a shot of an innocent child being gunned down on the street of Washington by the teenage gang members who are largely in charge of the public schools that so many members of the press want Chelsea to attend.

Wonder if the news media would devote hundreds of hours of hype over the several months preceding the release of such a stamp. And the answer to that is you gotta be kidding.

Live coverage of the inauguration of Bill Clinton as the 42nd president of the United States, along with a preview of what Americans can expect from his administration and a light-hearted look at recent presidents, comes to KET the week of January 17.

The Changing of the Guard - A Pre-Inaugural special, airing on KET at 8 p.m. Monday, January 18, offers a look at what the style of the Clinton inauguration may symbolize about the substance of the new administration.

Anchored by Judy Woodruff and Paul Duke, the program includes taped segments on other recent inaugurations and interviews with key members of the Clinton administration. Feet Mayr Angelen, who will read one of her works during the Homelessness and crime and starvation and illiteracy are real issues. And the networks know that fantasy is what it takes to sell advertising.

And so they have fed us, as though it were the most important thing of the decade as much information as there is to have about the stamp that glorifies a guy whose basic talent amounted to grunting and twisting his torso in such a way that he could get a whole crowd of women sexually aroused on the spur of a moment. A guy who took his own life by overdosing on drugs. Something really worth celebrating here don't you think.

I wonder what the world is coming to but I don't expect to find out by watching the news anymore.

inauguration ceremony, will be interviewed, and other guests will discuss the likely role of Hillary Clinton in her husband's presidency.

Then on Wednesday, January 20, the MacNeill/Leher NewsHour team will provide live coverage of the inauguration beginning at 11 a.m. KET plans to carry three hours of the coverage, ending at 2 p.m. The actual swearing-in ceremony is scheduled for noon.

That night, KET offers a more in-relevant look at life with the president in The Presidency: Light Side Up, airing at 10:30 p.m. In this 30-minute special, former presidential aides, campaign managers, and press secretaries share insights and humorous anecdotes on creating and maintaining a presidential image.

Ladies Aid Missionary Society

By: Elizabeth D Mullins

The Missionary Group of ladies of the Broadhead Christian Church met at Elizabeth Mullins' home with Barbara Watson as hostess, recently. Those present were Jean Artist, Loraine Newland, Nellie Colson, Marjorie Shivel, Bessie Cromer, Elizabeth Mullins and Barbara Watson. Our president, Ella Mae Martin fell and broke her arm.

Mrs. Colson told us the P.V. Alexander story of how he became a missionary and continues this wonderful work. This discussions was followed by sentence prayers.

Marjorie Shivel and Loraine Newland suggested we order a paring knife and chopper to sell. We sold these before and many have asked us to get more as they would like to have another one of each.

Nellie Colson gave the blessing before we partook of assorted green vegetables with dip and crackers served by Mrs. Watson.

We signed birthday cards to take to the December Birthday patients at Sowder Nursing Home. We missed getting their monthly newspaper.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Hebs. 13:4 we read, "Marriage is honorable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge." Today we want to talk about the marriage institution.

First, marriage is an honorable relationship, that is recognized in every nation in the world. Some religious sects have taught that marriage and the marriage bed is evil or at least a necessary evil, that is defiling to the soul. Yet the Hebrew writer says that the marriage bed is undefiled (i.e. without defect or flaw). Sex is not a dirty word or thing, within the confines of marriage, but what is sinful and wrong is fornication and adultery! Those who participate in the sexual act before marriage or in "extra-marital affairs" are in sin, and stand condemned before God. (Of course people can be forgiven. 1 Cor. 6:9-11).

Marriage, as Jesus described, goes all the way back to the creation of Adam and Eve in Gen. 2. In Mt. 19:3, the Pharisees came with the tempting question, "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause." Jesus refers them back to Gen. 2, "Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female, and for this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." Mt. 19:4-6. God's design from the very beginning and his will for all people today is, one man, and one woman, for life!

God did not make a man and a man, nor did he make a woman and a woman, nor a man and 3 women nor, a woman and 3 men. He made one woman and 1 man, and it is for life. The other night on "Dateline" (A T.V. show), Nick Nolte was being interviewed and said he "didn't buy this idea of one man, and one woman for life." I think we better believe what the Lord says on marriage than what men say on it!

We need to impress upon our young people that marriage is a lifetime commitment, and that it is endorsed and blessed by God.

Mt. Vernon crowned county champions

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils edged out the Brodhead Tigers, 58-49, last Friday at Livingston in the 7th & 8th grade boys' county tournament to become this year's county champions.

The Livingston Blue Devils placed third in the consolation game by defeating the Roundstone Eagles in a hard fought battle, 64-59 in double overtime.

Championship Game
The favored Red Devils posted 15 points in the second quarter to break a nine-all tie to take the outright lead, 24-19, over a determined Tiger squad in Friday's championship game.

The surge may have proved to be the key of the game as the Tigers countered the Red Devils throughout the remainder of the game except for two points in the final quarter.

Another factor could have possibly been from the charity stripe in which the Red Devils outscored the Tigers 14-5. The nine point margin from the stripe was also the difference in the final outcome, 58-49.

Dusty McClure, who led the Red

Devils with 32 points, connected for 10 of the 14 free throws (seven of which came in the fourth quarter).

Jonathon Pope led the Tigers in the losing cause with 23 points while also being credited with all five of the Tigers' free throws.

Others scoring for the Red Devils were: Ronnie Vanzant, 8; Andrew Simpson, 6; Malcomb Shepherd, 1; Jonathon Cromer, 3; David King, 4 and Matt Sowder, 2.

Other scorers for the Tigers were: Jon Adams, 6; Devon Graves, 10; Slade Calhoun, 4 and Robbie Barron, 6.

Consolation Game

In maybe the tournament's best game, it took two overtimes before the Blue Devils could claim third place over the Eagles, 64-59.

After a knotted up first quarter at 11 all, the Eagles managed 12 points in the second quarter to take a slim 23-20 lead into intermission.

Behind Shane Whittemore's 17 points, the Eagles were able to maintain their lead through the third quarter of play, 39-36.

But the Blue Devils fought back. Mark Carpenter, who was the game's high point man with 23, pumped in eight points to tie the score in a rally to tie the score at 49 all at the end of regulation.

In overtime, it was the charity stripe that proved to be the Eagles' downfall. While the Blue Devils connected on 7 of 15 attempts from the line, the Eagles managed only 1 of 8.

Other scorers for the Blue Devils were: Anthony King, 7; Mike Bradley, 8; John Northern, 19; Kyle Kirby, 1; B.J. Mason, 2 and Dougie Medley, 4.

Others scoring for the Eagles were: Jimmy Kidwell, 8; Brian Bullen, 10; Brian Bussell, 6; B.J. Bradley, 11; Eric Powell, 4; Frankie Caldwell, 1 and Michael Vaughn, 2.

First Round Play

The Red Devils defeated the Eagles, 52-41, in first round action last Thursday.

The Red Devils were led by Dusty McClure with 17 points and Ronnie Vanzant with 10.

Leading the Eagles were Shane

Andrew Simpson cleared a rebound for the Red Devils in last Friday's win over the Tigers, 58-49, for the county championship. Assisting Simpson were Dusty McClure, left, and Jonathon Cromer, right.

Other scorers for the Red Devils were: Andrew Simpson, 4; Malcomb Shepherd, 1; Jonathon Cromer, 8; Travis Anderkin, 5; David King, 3 and Matt Sowder, 4.

Other scorers for the Eagles were: Jimmy Kidwell, 3; Brian Bussell, 2; Eric Powell, 6 and Michael Vaughn, 2.

The Tigers edged out the Blue Devils, 60-58, in first round action.

Leading the Tigers were: Devon Graves, 16; Slade Calhoun, 11; Jonathon Pope, 10; Robbie Barron, 10; Jon Adams, 9 and Chris Bradley, 4.

Blue Devils leading scorers were: Mark Carpenter, 20; John Northern, 18; Anthony King, 16 and Mike Bradley, 4.

31-7 by the half with 10 players reaching the scoring column.

While the game stayed close, the Tigers were able to maintain a small advantage through the first three periods of play. The Tigers led the Eagles 12-8 in the first period, 23-20 at the half and 30-29 in the third period.

But the Tigers found themselves in foul trouble late in the fourth quarter. Jon Adams, who posted nine points, was the first to exit the game with five fouls. He was followed by Jonathon Pope who received his fifth personal with just under two minutes

Boys and girls get wins over Bell County teams

Amyx highlights Lady Rocket victory over Lady Bobcats

One of the best performances to date was displayed by the Rockcastle County Lady Rockets Saturday night as they sent the Bell County Lady Bobcats home empty handed, 60-55.

It was a solid outing for the Lady Rockets but more importantly, it was a solid performance as a whole. While nine players reached the scoring column, all other areas of play were executed respectively.

"I'd have to say that all of our players did a tremendous job," said head coach Christy Beaver.

Both Amyx highlighted the night with 15 points and nine rebounds as the Lady Rockets posted an early 11-6 first quarter lead and then carried a 25-22 advantage into the half.

"Beth Amyx played an excellent game," commented Beaver.

"Christy Coleman also did a fine job," she added, "Coleman pulled the team together and took charge of the game."

The Lady Rockets, who pulled down 35 rebounds and committed only 11 turnovers while also nailing 18 of 28 from the charity stripe, stretched their lead to seven in the third quarter, 42-35.

But the caliber of both teams were shown in the final quarter as they exchanged baskets throughout the period. In fact, it was the best quarter for both teams as Bell knocked down 20 points while the Lady Rockets put in 18.

"We really finished the game with confidence," said Beaver. "It was a game our girls earned and can be proud of."

Other scorers for the Lady Rockets were: Christy Coleman, 2; Becky Osborne, 11; Cindy McCauley, 12; Danetta Ford, 2; Melinda Smith, 6; Melinda Alcorn, 4; Ginger Mink, 2 and Heather Deekard, 6.

In other action, the Lady Rockets fell to host South Laurel Thursday, 54-37.

The Lady Rockets, who had the early advantage with a 14-11 first quarter lead, struggled in the second quarter by scoring only five points and falling to a 29-19 deficit by the half.

While McCauley led the Lady Rockets with 13 points and an impressive 16 rebounds, they found their early deficit too much to overcome.

The Lady Rockets, who are now 4-8 on the year, will host Garrard County Thursday (tonight).

In junior varsity action, the Lady Rockets also fell short of South Laurel last Thursday, 34-22.

Scoring for the Lady Rockets were: Melinda Alcorn, 11; Jamaica Cummins, 5; Ginger Mink, 2 and Susie Carpenter, 4.

Craig dumps in 33 as Rockets defeat Bell County, 104-82

Senior Corey Craig poured in 33 points to lead the Rockcastle County Rockets to a 104-82 victory over the Bell County Bobcats Saturday night at the high school.

It was the best outing the Rockets have had this year.

"I think we needed a win for our confidence and to get us back on track," said head coach Clayton Cash.

The Rockets did just that by whipping the Bobcats up and down the court in all four periods of play. They set the foundation in the first quarter by fast breaking their way to a 30-11 lead.

Craig also looked strong down in the paint with physical moves toward the basket resulting in easy scores.

Junior wing man Mickey McCure also dumped in 29 points in the winning cause for the Rockets, who as a team hammered eight three-pointers on the night.

The fast paced and well executed offense of the Rockets continued in the second quarter as they stretched their lead out to 53-32 by the half.

"It was really a good performance," said Cash, "I don't think Bell expected it," he added.

The Rockets kept the margin wide in the third quarter, a quarter that has proved to be their weakest in the past, by knocking down 22 points to push the score to 75-51.

J.D. Bussell also put in a good night at the point guard position by committing only two turnovers and garnering four assists and nine points.

While the Rockets had 30 successful shots from the field, they also connected on 18 of 27 attempts from the charity stripe.

The Rockets posted their 98th point in high fashion as Craig got the put-back for the slam-dunk. Freshmen Eddie Todd followed by drawing a foul and sinking both free throws to send the Rockets into the century mark.

Other scorers for the Rockets were: Mikhael Shaffer, 14; Eddie Todd, 8; Brian Carter, 2; Mike Tackett, 7 and Doug Smith, 2.

In other action, the Rockets fell to host McCreary County last Friday, 80-60.

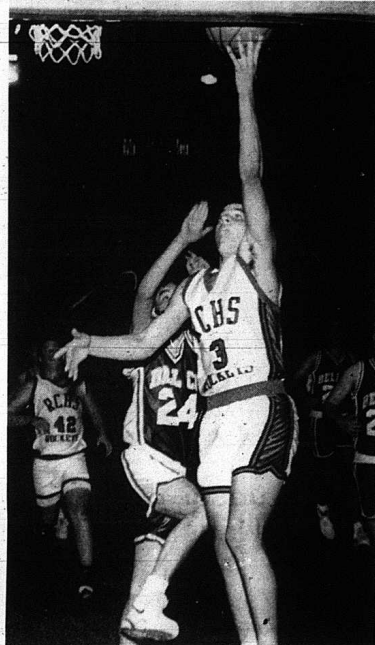

Scoring in the game for the Rockets were: Corey Craig, 21; Mickey McClure, 16; J.D. Bussell, 5; Mikhael Shaffer, 8; Eddie Todd, 5; Brian Carter, 3 and David Dooley, 2.

The junior varsity Rockets also fell shy in their game against the McCreary County junior varsity, 47-37.

Scoring for the junior varsity Rockets were: Ken Hopkins, 2; Corey Scott, 1; Scotie Cotton, 6; Adam Powell, 3; Eric McGuire, 3; Jamie Linville, 9; Chad Severance, 10 and Dallas Rigby, 3.

Lady Rocket Becky Osborne shoots for two of her 11 points over a Bell County defender in Saturday night's action at RCHS.

Point guard J.D. Bussell connects on an easy lay-up for the Rockets in their big 104-82 victory over Bell County Saturday night.

RCHS gets spruced up during break

by Judith Taylor
During Christmas Break, RCHS underwent several changes in the building's appearance, especially in the front entrance, gym entrance, and dining area.

The most noticeable of these changes in the building is the removal of the green dividers in the gymnasium entrance.

They were replaced with two double doors, enclosed in a solid-wall. Gray tile was placed in front of this new entrance, making a walkway surrounded by gray new carpeting the upper level and steps of the lunchroom. A trophy case was also placed in the area.

New gray tile was also placed in the cafeteria and at the back entrance where the vending machines are located.

The rest of the green carpet in the halls which was not replaced at this time will be replaced with the grey carpet later, according to Mr. Ronnie Cash, principal at RCHS.

In addition to these changes, over the last couple of months wheelchair ramps have been built and most of the water-damaged ceiling tiles were replaced.

A juice machine was also installed along beside the soft drink machines.

Band Committee meeting

Ronnie Cash, principal of the Rockcastle County High School, and a group of concerned band parents met with Leroy Kiner, Band Director of the Clear Fork Valley High School Marching Band, Belleville, Ohio at R.C.H.S. Friday, January 8.

The subject of the meeting was Mr. Kiner's program for building a successful band program. Mr. Kiner served as Band Director at Northmore High School, Mt. Gilead, Ohio, from 1936 to 1984 during which time he took the band program from thirty members to over 120. He has been serving the same post at C.F.V.H.S. since 1984 and has seen the program there grow from 40 members to more than 140. It was felt that his experience might be beneficial to the R.C.H.S. band program.

Mr. Kiner came prepared to share with the committee, bringing several handouts including an outline of his band program overview, scheduling and handbooks. One of the earliest major points he made was that a successful band program needs the support of the parents and community. The Clear Fork band program receives only $1500 a year from the school district. The balance of the financial needs come from area businesses and a very active Band Boosters organization.

In the areas of recruitment and performances Mr. Kiner emphasized the need to get students involved early in the program, but not to overwork them to the point of distraction. He recruits the students in the fourth grade and begins actual band involvement in the fifth grade. He commented that he does not test students in the early grades, but allows their ability or lack thereof to surface through their program involvement. He also emphasized the importance of not over-performing the students and making band something to be endured rather than enjoyed.

Mr. Kiner reported that he has a very solid working relationship with the coaches and advisors of the various athletic groups within the school district which results in a give-and-take of times. The upshot of this is that his band involves even those students participating in high school athletics. Through the football season the football players involved in the band are excused from marching band. They are then included in the balance of the band program. The cheerleaders who are in the band

Perkins once involved in several controversies after succeeding his father, the late U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins, in 1984 and did not challenge Rogers. Before he left Thursday's reception, Chris Perkins told friends he intended to practice law in Pikeville and Frankfort.

"Chris and I are friends," Rogers told the crowd. "Even though we didn't agree on many things politically, personally we're good friends."

He introduced Sandra Runyon as "a special girl" who will be his Pikeville office manager. Jeff Speaks of Prestonsburg, his campaign press secretary, will serve as his field representative "for this whole area of the district," he said.

Virginia Lowe, mother of Pike Circuit Judge Charles Lowe, said it had been years since she had seen so many Pike Counties show up to meet a Republican.

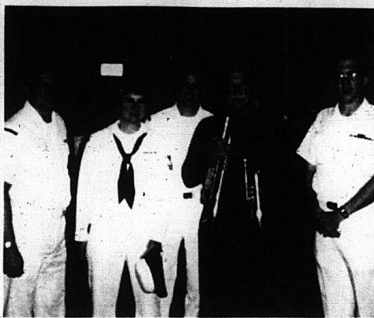

"Half of them are Democrats," said Molly Owen of Maytown in Floyd County.

There were door prizes, including a newly minted silver dollar, and the crowd filed inside where some punched cards and cookies and received calendars signed "Best wishes, Hal Rogers."

The crowd included Pikeville Mayor Walter May; legal services lawyer John Rozenberg; Prestonburg Community College President Debra Floyd; former Pike schools Superintendent Tom Dotson; and Eula Hall, founder of the Mud Creek Clinic in Floyd County.

Hall, a staunch Perkins supporter, supported Rogers instead of Hays in the November election.

"I think Hal will make us a good congressman, I really do," she said.

to qualifying patients. Even more remarkable, the Hospice program comes under the heading of "managed care," which means, everything a dying patient needs, with the exception of his or her personal physician's services, is paid for by Hospice.

"People have a hard enough time dealing with the reality of terminal illness," Hancock asserts. "The last thing they need to be worrying about is the cost of care."

Hancock says hospice not only provides for the medical needs of a patient but for the social and spiritual needs of the patient and family, as well. Hospice chaplains, nurses and social workers work with families during the death crisis and for a year or more following the death of the patient to make whatever practical and emotional adjustments are necessary.

The new hospice office in Rockcastle County is located on U.S. 25 South, just behind the Ford Real Estate office and Carter's Food Market in Mt. Vernon.

The office is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. between now and Feb. 1, although phone lines are covered 24 hours a day. After February 1, office hours will be 8:30 to 4:30 weekdays. The 24-hour phone number is (606) 256-3577.

has not issued a report. Rogers emphasized in an interview that he had not been summoned by the panel.

"Never have, nothing ever, no way or any way," he said. Rogers asked the crowd to let him know if he erred. "If you catch me at it again, kick me in the butt," he said. "If you catch me at it a third time, kick me out of office."

Perkins once involved in several controversies after succeeding his father, the late U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins, in 1984 and did not challenge Rogers. Before he left Thursday's reception, Chris Perkins told friends he intended to practice law in Pikeville and Frankfort.

Babbage reminds that filing deadline is January 26

Remember, January 26 is the filing deadline for candidates in Rockcastle County who plan to be on the ballot in the May primary election, according to Secretary of State Bob

Babbage. "We expect as many as 10,000 persons to be a candidate for elective office in 1993," Babbage predicted. (Cont. to A11)

Who Owns Kentucky forests?

When thinking of Kentucky's forest land, images of pristine and majestic timbers in protected park settings such as Daniel Boone National Forest or Manimoth Cave National Park.

As pretty as the picture might be, it's the wrong image.

"National forests comprise only 4.8 percent of Kentucky's timberland," said Doug McLaren, Extension forestry specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"State and other public lands account for an additional 2.7 percent of the 12,700,000 acres of forested lands in this state," McLaren said. "A whopping 92.5 percent of those acres are privately owned," he added.

One might think that wood-related corporations and businesses might own much of that privately owned land. Wrong again. Such companies own only 1.6 percent.

"Almost 91 percent of Kentucky's productive forests are owned by an estimated 400,000 landowners," McLaren said. "This represents an important economic benefit to the state not always recognized."

For example, in 1989 some 24,000 Kentuckians were directly employed in the wood products industry. The annual payroll, not counting benefits, totaled $330 million. Each year, shipments of timber and wood products from Kentucky exceeds $1 billion.

KDFWR gets $3.8 million federal aid for 1992

State fish and wildlife agencies throughout the nation will share more than $242 million of the federal excise taxes paid last year by America's sportsmen. Kentucky's portion of the monies collected through the Pittman-Robertson and Dingell-Johnson Acts will amount to more than $3.8 million.

Since the Pittman-Robertson Act was signed in 1937, and Dingell-Johnson Act in 1950, the two funds have collectively raised over $2.2 billion for fish and wildlife restoration.

The funds are distributed to the states for projects proposed by states and approved by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Federal aid funds pay for up to 75 percent of the cost of each project while states contribute 25 percent.

Over $2.2 million of Kentucky's federal aid apportionment for sport fish restoration comes from a 10-percent tax on fishing equipment and a three percent tax on electric trolling motors and sonar equipment. The Wallop-Breaux amendment adopted in 1984 increased the base for this fund that included a portion of the federal fuels tax and import duties on fishing tackle and pleasure boats.

The $1.6 million available to the state for wildlife restoration and hunter education programs is derived from an 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, a 10 percent tax on pistols and revolvers and an 11 percent tax on archery equipment. Kentucky was recently recognized by the National Rifle Association for having the top agency hunter education program in the country.

Distribution of sport fish restoration funds to the states is based on the land and water area and the number of fishing license holders in each state. Wildlife restoration funds are made available based on the number of hunting license holders. Hunter education funds are apportioned based on state population figures.

Fish and wildlife agencies receiving federal fund monies use it for land acquisition, habitat improvement, research, education and other beneficial wildlife programs.

Con game reported

A confidence game, which has been increasingly reported in other states, has recently been recounted to law enforcement authorities in Kentucky.

Capt. Rodney Brewer, Kentucky State Police Public Affairs commander, says the con game is run by people who identify themselves as police officers.

"They call on the phone, usually collect, and state that a relative, friend or business associate has been involved in an accident and needs money," explained Brewer. Then they ask the victim to send money, via a wire service, for car repairs or medical treatment. The typical amount is $250 to $500.

Brewer says that anyone receiving such a call should be immediately suspicious. "Police officers do not request money be sent for such situations. To be safe, the person being called should ask the caller for the number of the police department and the officer's supervisor's name. The number given should then be checked (through operator information) to see if it is indeed that department's phone number. Then call, ask for the officer's supervisor and verify the request."

"Babbage"

Babbage said the filing deadline for independent candidates and for municipal races where cities have opted to forego nonpartisan primary elections will be on Aug. 3. Candidates for such offices would appear for the first time before voters on the November ballot.

Persons seeking election to local office file their candidacy papers with the county clerk, Babbage said. Candidates for office who are elected from more than one county and judicial candidates file their necessary papers with the Secretary of State.

Officials to be elected in 1993 include mayors, city council members, all county officials, district judges, all commonwealth Attorneys, and circuit clerks.

Candidates elected to a local office in 1993 will serve an additional year for this term only. Commonwealth Attorneys and circuit clerks elected in 1993 will have a single seven-year term and beginning in the year 2000 elections will be held every six years.

Circuit Judges and Judges of the Court of Appeals elected in 1999 will have a single seven-year term and beginning in the year 2006 elections will be held every eight years.

Officials normally elected for a four-year term such as city and county officers and district judges elected in 1993 will have a single five-year term and in 1998 elections for these of-

Special appeal by LuEd Nielsen, director of REAP

During the Christmas holidays R.E.A.P. and the Department of Social Services worked together to bring Christmas to several "Special" families. These families were faced with many critical personal or medical problems and we wanted them to know that we cared. Members of the community "adopted" these families to add more to what we were able to give. This is the real meaning of Christmas. In giving to others and helping them and their children makes the many hours of volunteer hours worth it all. One of our families was not able to have a Merry Christmas, even though we all tried to help them. Melissa Newcomb, daughter of Bud and Rachelle Newcomb, who lived in the Roundstone area, passed away on December 23 at Berea Hospital. Melissa was 12 years old and was a "special" child, in many ways.

Melissa had a very rare disease, but Melissa outlived the doctor's expectations. This has been a very difficult time for the Newcomb family and we are trying to help them cope. It is virtually impossible to get life insurance on a handicapped person. Because of this the family is needing help in paying the balance of $850 for Melissa's funeral. If you are able to make a donation of any amount, please make your check out to R.E.A.P., P.O. Box 60, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456 and the donations will be sent to the funeral home in Plant City, FL. Thank you for your help.

Agriculture in the classroom—Mt. Vernon Elementary students from Gerald Alexander's 6th grade Math classes are combining practical life experiences with their math lessons. As part of a new program to integrate Agriculture in the class room, students will be working on a Beef Math Project. This included a field trip to Keith Smith's farm and discussion on what goes into caring for a beef herd as well as the financial returns. Extension Agents Tom Mills and John McQueary are assisting Mr. Alexander with production information for math lessons.

KHC offers lowest bond interest rate ever for home financing

More lower- and moderate-income Kentuckians than ever before will have homeownership within their reach as Kentucky Housing Corporation offers its lowest bond interest rate ever at 6.75 percent. Kim Burse, Secretary of the Revenue Cabinet and Chairman of KHC's Board of Directors, announced today that this low rate is made available through the sale of tax-exempt mortgage revenue bonds.

Proceeds of $22.4 million derived from the sale of these bonds fund KHC's Single-Family Mortgage Loan Program. These loans are available to KHC-eligible individuals and families through participating lenders across the state on a first-come, first-served basis.

"We are very excited to be able to offer this very low rate home financing to lower- and moderate-income residents across the Commonwealth," Burse said. "KHC has utilized the sale of tax-exempt mortgage revenue bonds to bring the American dream of owning a home within reach of more than 33,000 Kentuckians who might not have had the opportunity to own their own home otherwise."

All loans will carry a 30-year term at the fixed rate of 6.75 percent with either FHA mortgage insurance or VA guarantee. Down payment is less than 5 percent.

For those homebuyers who are having problems saving for the down payment and closing costs, KHC's Equity Partners Investing in the Commonwealth (EPIC) program offers assistance. The program allows qualified homebuyers to borrow up to 60 percent of their down payment and closing costs (up to $3,000) at a 4.50 percent interest rate for 7 years.

For more information about homebuyer eligibility and participating lenders, contact KHC's Homeownership department at (502) 564-7630, (800) 633-8896 or (800) 247-2510 (for the hearing impaired only).

FHA attends Cluster Meeting in New Mexico

By: Callie Mullins
Chapter Reporter

If you think that stepping off the plane in Albuquerque, N.M., to find yourself underneath a desert sunset for a week isn't educational, then you should have been on the Rockcastle County High School's Chapter of Future Homemakers of America's recent trip.

Eight officers of the RCHS' FHA and five of their adult advisors and supporters ventured to their National Cluster Meeting in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The beautiful setting of this year's meeting could not compare to the powerful meetings. This year's "Cluster" began on November 13. With hundreds of other active officers and members of FHA, the meetings were anything but boring. Among the highlights of the three day meeting was a banner show in which the FHA girls proudly presented the only banner from Kentucky.

On Friday night the "homesick/football sick" girls gathered around the phone as Mr. Cash relayed the whole football game to them. When the Rockets won the district game against Anderson, even the excitement of the meetings could not top their spirits.

The girls participated in meetings that have prepared them for their upcoming year. The meetings were led by young, energetic leaders, National FHA officers, and motivational speakers. The meetings were geared to motivate young clubs, encourage community involvement and build self-esteem.

The excitement of New Mexico did not end with the meetings. The group saw other high points of New Mexico. They had snowball fights in snowy Taos, a fabulous ski town. In Santa Fe, they watched Good Morning America tape.

This is the fourth year the club has been fortunate enough to participate in these educational cluster meetings that prepare them for their year.

Mt. Vernon Attorney Jerry Cox is the new president-elect of the Berea College Alumni Association's Executive Council. The 1965 graduate, who has been a member of the executive council for two years, will take office as president-elect in July and will become president in July of '94. He previously served his alma mater as chairman of the President's Club and as class agent. Cox earned his law degree from the University of Kentucky in 1968. He is married to Vicki Carter Cox, a member of Berea's class of 1972.

Postal Service warns of scam

The U.S. Postal Inspection Service is warning consumers to beware of a notice in the mail that says that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is holding refund checks in their names.

To claim the money, the notice says, all the consumer has to do is send $10 to an address in Florida. Those who send in $10 do not get a refund. Instead, they get a claim form, something the IRS gives away for free. Millions of notices have been sent to addresses throughout the U.S., and postal inspectors have seized nearly $1 million from accounts belonging to the scam operators. Postal inspectors are urging consumers who receive these forms to throw them away.

You may not have received your refund check for one of the following reasons: 1) the refund check was stolen; 2) you moved and the check was not forwarded; 3) the IRS never received your filing form as it was lost in the mail. In their investigation of unclaimed refunds, the IRS found out that some individuals already had received their refund check, but had misplaced it or did not remember cashing it.

If you have a question about your 1991 income tax refund, you might call the IRS toll-free number: 1-800-829-1040.

IRS personnel will send you Form 3911 free of charge, and once they receive it, they will research your case to find out what happened to your refund for overpayment of taxes.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to extend thanks to each and every person who worked to make our second annual Kiwanis New Year's Eve Charity Ball a true success.

With twice the attendance as last year, the Charity Ball has been established as a yearly, enjoyable event that has proven Mt. Vernon is a great place to be in New Year's Eve.

Our sponsors are the actual backbone of the event. Without them, the Charity Ball could not have occurred. All proceeds from last year's Ball went to such causes as Hurricane Andrew relief fund, Stacy Lynn Smith Scholarship, Project Graduation, REAP Thanksgiving baskets and 4-H Camp sponsorships. This year's proceeds will be used in similar fashion as the needs occur, as Kiwanis is a community service, non-profit organization.

Again, thanks to all who participated in and attended the event. New members are welcome as the Kiwanis Club meets each Thursday, noon, at the Rockcastle-Sickhouse.

Sincerely,
Calvin Mize
Rockcastle Kiwanis President

Dear Editor,
I would like for some good preacher to explain to me about, tithing to the church.

I heard one preacher say that when we get our checks, we widows who just draw Social Security which is very small, once a month, that we were supposed before we paid any debts to take out 10 percent for our tithing, then make do with what we could with the rest.

I tried but I couldn't live and do it, we have to pay our bills.

What I'm wondering about is these big business church members that get those big contractor jobs and get a lot of money at one time. Do they take 10 percent out before they pay their men. I don't see a lot of money on the board or when they sell their tobacco. Are all these things that poor people have to do to live.

It's got me all confused. I've been a saved church member for 30 years and always paid what I could to my church and have never asked the church for any help although there has been times I had to trust completely on the Lord and I've made it.

Anyone want to call me my number is 606-256-5520. I would love to talk to someone.

Pearl Newton

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity, now that the holidays are behind us and we are entering a new year, to thank each and everyone who supported me in my bid for the State Senate seat in the 27th District. Not only in the November election but in the Primary and the Special Election as well.

As I have never run for a political office before, I was new and had a lot to learn. You, the people of the 27th District, were great. I made some mistakes but I feel I grew as a person and learned a lot about the political process at the same time. I gained a lot of respect and admiration for the people of Eastern Kentucky and also for the beauty of our area.

I plan to get back to the counties that I made contact in and talk to the people I met while I was campaigning. This was the greatest reward to me all of my campaigning was meeting and getting to know the people of the 27th district. I want to keep up the friendships that I have made.

I hope that the people in Eastern Kentucky have a prosperous New Year. I feel that when I ran for State Senator my heart was in the right place and I felt I could really help the people and do some good things for this area. I hope that Senator Blevins will make us a good senator. I have learned in order to be a leader of the people you first have to get feedback from the people. More people need to contact their Senators and Representatives and let them know what you feel and what you need.

Some people have been asking me if I plan to run again. I do not know yet what I will do. I feel like if a good candidate came forward like for the State Senate seat who had good intentions of helping change the direction we have been heading toward and be willing to put in some hard work into getting areas and communities on their feet instead of voting for tax raises and adding to the problems of give away, instead of attacking the problem head on, I would be supportive of them instead of running myself. If someone came forward with the ideas I feel like we need, then I would not run. I only want to see changes made, and the way we can get this done is everyone working hard together as a team with a goal.

I feel like Eastern Kentucky has some good leaders and representation. (Cont. to B3)

Too much holiday!!

As usual, I had too much holiday this winter, so didn't get back to work last week. Some will say I had too much turnip kraut to eat but I'm still thinking. This morning I had some, that is spiced apple cider, to brace me as I write this. After being off for several weeks, I need a strong drink to put me in the mood.

But here I am with some New Year's Resolutions for 1993.

Sam Colville of Berea National Bank did a good job of saying "I'm going to grow all the hair on my head that I can and get a new permanent every month!"

Kay Williams, same place, "And I'm going to help Sam by giving him a hairbrush to keep the locks in place. I'm also going to keep from losing my cool when I count on this machine."

Sue Ponder, in the loan department, says, "I'll resolve not to be late at church and keep up with the music I play on the piano."

Mike Gay, "I'm going to lose weight."

So many folks say to me, "I resolve not to make resolutions since I'll break them anyway."

At Burr Interchange on I-75, we stopped at Ole Kentucky Kitchen and ate some lunch one day.

Sue, one of the owners, had gone home and left her husband, Glen Cromer, in charge of the place. I tried to get news from him but he put me off.

"Earl Cromer, my brother, will be here soon to take over. He's good at talking since he got out. Ask him about his drinking habits. He likes to talk about it and will tell you what he did."

When Earl, who favors Glen a lot, came in and over to our table, Glen left for Louisville or business.

When I asked Earl if he were married or had a girlfriend, he said, "No, I don't have a girl friend. My wife is funny that way. She doesn't want me to go when I mention getting a date."

He kept us laughing with funny remarks we knew weren't true!

We decided to go on and visit Sue at their home in Renfro Valley near it.

Driving down U.S. 25 into Mt. Vernon, I told John it reminded me of an old western town as we saw the roof tops, that used to be in an old T.V. show called "Gunsmoke" with Matt Dillon as Sheriff.

In Renfro, we turned up the hill until we came to Sue and Glen's nice brick home.

She was very surprised to see us, saying she had taken the afternoon off from the restaurant to clean house and move things around in her daughter, Kim's, room since she had moved out after getting married recently.

Sue showed us the wedding pictures of Kim and her new husband, Phillip Singleton.

The sun was dropping behind the hills when John and I moved toward Berea. From the Cromer home, we had a good view of the countryside.

In my Christmas mail was a lovely card from Preston and Edna Hill in Plant City, Florida.

It brought me so many memories of his mother, Martha Hill, who died last year. She and I were schoolmates at Davis Branch School, later teachers in Rockcastle and I was saddened by it. But, I do thank you folks for remembering me. Martha was such a good friend, I'll never forget her.

I saw Lura Clark in a parking lot at Berea where I waited for John in the truck. She was with her son, Lloyd who waved at me.

Lura said, "I know you must be sick for I hadn't heard much of you this winter. I told Lloyd I wanted to come over to see you for we missed you in the paper."

Lura always says the nicest things to me and it does a body to get better. I wonder if Dale Lamb, a reader from Richmond, ever got the turnip recipes he called me about.

"Stopping in to see Stella Dees who is bedfast, I found her not feeling as well as usual. When she heard me talking of turnips, she said, "I wish you would bring me some turnip preserves for I like them so well."

"Of course," I said, "I will check with David Hale who made them from the big patch that he had."

The past week, I went to Three Links with John and his brother, Clay. As we drove back home, I said to John, "I'll be so tired when we come back, can't we go home with Clay for supper? Especially after he's told what he had for dinner."

Clay said, "Well, I don't know what kind of stuff Myrtle called it but it sure smelled good and tasted good."

"Or we could all stop and eat some Chinese food when we get to Berea," I told them.

"No," said Clay, "I never can eat the food well with the two twosticks they bring you."

Cleve Payne informed us that he would hit another milestone on January 8th but didn't say which one. I'm not going to even guess for after all, I am older than him.

Kay Clark called me about a bunch of birthdays in her family this month. It seemed she advanced a year on January 6 and received a bunch of silk flowers from Lee. I guess he did that to keep her from burning the biscuits as she did last year.

By the way, I hear Lee is going to have a big, surprise. No, not my singing. He threatened to quit if I do.

Mike McGuire, Rhonda's handsome husband and song leader at church gets set to look older on January 15th.

Carolyn Cruise, Kay's sister, is going to play the same trick on her husband, Bill, the 19th as she did last year marking all the calendars on that date.

Henry Voltmer, my good reader in Indiana, has sent me a picture of himself (on a riding lawn mower) with a bunch of pretty girls around him.

John says, "How does Henry do that, getting all the girls to believe him? He's lucky that way." (See picture in column).

I'm going to do a review of my 1992 column by writing what someone did last year.

Janetia Croucher said, I resolve to not make so much "whoopie" on my next birthday as I did on the last one." (What kind, Janetia?)

Emma Gadd called to say that she read and enjoyed this column. She also remembers hearing Bro. Jim Harding preaching on Clear Creek. Emma said she had brought Lonnie Repper a big basket of wild greens after hearing me talk about how he liked them. I thought how well Lonnie looked all summer so that was the reason.

I thank Goldie Emrick Race Clark for her nice letter which I enjoyed also the poem in the paper. Let me hear from you again.

When I want to keep Brenda who types my column on her voice, I play a trick on her.

I call in and make my voice sound different and say, "I want to cancel my subscription. I think 'Roamin' Rockcastle' is foolish."

She quickly says, "All right," and before she adds, "I do too," for she knows my voice (like rubbing a can on a washboard) I tell her it's me.

We attended the Masonic Lodge's dinner for members and wives near Christmas. I met a man there who said his last name was Carr. He also said he wanted me to quit running down two of his good friends, Conley Saylor and Gary Gave, in my column. When I asked his first name, he said, "Just tell them it was the ugliest man there."

You see, I had written of how badly I was treated over a Christmas gift at the store and wanted sympathy. Here this fellow takes up for them.

I will have to talk nice about Gary Gave, night manager at the store. He helped me so much by finding a ring I had lost on the floor near the vegetable counter.

As he gave it to me, he jokingly said, "With this ring, I wed."

But I told him I couldn't wed anybody with my husband standing near us. They both laughed at me.

Till next week, memory is something that makes you aware of what you forgot to do.

atives in Congress and I feel that in time we will see some good positive changes in Kentucky because of their leadership. We need this kind of positive leadership on the state level. I am worried that if we keep going at the rate we are heading in now that soon the hard working tax paying people will be outnumbered by the people who are receiving benefits from the government. I think we need to see some of these programs revamped. I feel like a lot of Americans think the government should take care of them instead of making the effort to improve themselves and to work. Senator Blevins stated in his campaign that he was the man who could "bring the pork home." I strongly think that this kind of attitude in thinking in our leadership is what is getting us into trouble now. I think we need leaders that instead of telling how much pork they can bring home should instead be concentrating on what can be done at home. Such as creating jobs by bringing in more industries so that people can find jobs and not be dependent on the government for support. After so many years of receiving government support I think and history shows that people lose their pride and incentive to work or the will to change their circumstances. The change can be done but it will take some time.

I have gained a much deeper respect that I ever had for Eastern Kentucky. I am a native of this area and have traveled it frequently as a timber buyer and a sportsman, but as I have campaigned over the last year and met and talked with so many people in their homes and businesses I was so proud to be a native of Eastern Kentucky and to be one of you.

I felt great pride in running for the State Senate and from the bottom of my heart again, I want to thank each one of you for your support.

Cordially,

Richard White

Marty Stouffer

adopts a bear cub

In Wild America's "The Man Who Loved Bears," Marty Stouffer adopts and rears a grizzly bear cub. The two-part episode airs on KET at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, January 21 and 28. I was studying wildlife in a Tennessee Colorado wilderness valley, Stouffer finds the tracks of a male grizzly bear, long thought to be extinct in the state.

The discovery inspires him to adopt a female grizzly cub from a zoo, and together they share a log cabin and explore the mountain country around it. As a substitute mother, Stouffer teaches the cub what to eat, how to fish, and which animals to avoid.

As winter approaches, he digs a den for the cub. Then when she emerges from hibernation in the spring, she must learn one last, survival lesson: to fear all humans, even Stouffer. The story ends happily when she meets the male grizzly Stouffer had sighted earlier.

Manage money now for next year

By: Hazel B. Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

If each year begins with facing last year's expenses, then you may want to consider a spending plan for this year.

If your income does not cover all of your bills, there are only two things you can do: increase the amount of income or decrease spending.

There are several reasons why some people don't seem to get ahead financially. Some people are impatient and want something right now. Others fall victim to impulse buying, incur too much debt or simply lack necessary self-discipline to save their money.

The key to financial comfort may be a budget. There are no hard and fast rules, and budgets vary from family to family. However, with just a few months of disciplined spending, over spending can be reversed and you can begin to set aside money for savings, investments and emergencies.

A budget is a spending guideline. Think of your take home pay like a pie. If you cut a slice too big, then the rest of the pieces will also have to be cut smaller.

You can create a budget by making a list of your expenditures. Be sure to include all your major expenses as well as any seasonal, emergency and miscellaneous expenses.

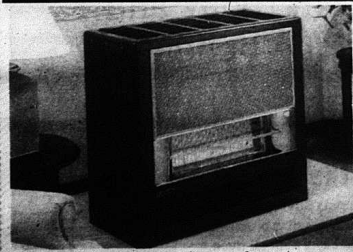

With your list, you can see how much money is coming in and where it is being spent. Constantly revise and improve your plan by cutting any unnecessary expenses. In just a short time, you will gain control of your finances and will build a savings cushion.
