Fire sweeps through Foodtown

Fire completely destroyed Foodtown Supermarket early Friday morning but, through the efforts of the Mt. Vernon and Livingston Fire Departments, the Dollar General Store section of the building sustained only minor damage. In the above photo, the main entrance to the large supermarket can be seen as it caves in from the fire which reportedly started in the ceiling. (Photo by Calvin Creech).

An early morning fire that swept through Foodtown Supermarket on February 11 left two firemen injured and Mt. Vernon's largest grocery store leveled.

The spectacular fire that was visible for miles, was spotted by Tracy Sowder of Mt. Vernon around 3:15 a.m. "When we arrived the building was completely involved," said Mt. Vernon assistant fire chief Bud Cox. "We're not sure what started it, but we think it started in the roof," he said. Firefighters fought the blaze for hours and kept it from spreading to the Dollar General Store building, which has re-opened for business.

The loss was estimated at $1 million. "We have every intention to build back just as soon as we possibly can," said assistant manager Randall Robbins.

Foodtown leased the building from owner Karen King of Mt. Vernon. Mrs. King has indicated that she intends to build the building back at its present location on Hwy. 150 in the West Gate Center.

About 30 people will be out of work until the store re-opens. "Optimistically, I'd say 60 to 90 days but it is hard to say," Robbins said.

Members of the Livingston Fire Department assisted on the fire and the two Mt. Vernon firefighters slightly injured were Bill Towery and Wendell Price.

Jerry Sparks of Flemingsburg owned and managed the supermarket.

Asbestos removal bids are examined

The need to resolve things, is facing the Rockcastle Fiscal Court when it comes to asbestos in the courthouse.

Bids on eliminating the existing asbestos were opened recently but the bids were a little "strange." In fact, one bid was so low and the other two were high that the court wanted to look them over carefully before awarding the low bid.

The apparent low bid was made by Hibbits Construction, Inc., of London for $12,628. Two other bids were Environmental Recovery System of Glasgow at $26,430, and Larkin Services, Inc., of Elizabethtown.

The difference in the low bid and other two prompted County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins to pass the bids along for checking to see if everyone was bidding on the same thing. "It's not unusual," the judge commented. "It happens. Things need to be clarified in the best interest of the

No arrest in brutal slaying

No arrests have been made in connection with the brutal slaying of a Mt. Vernon woman.

Mt. Vernon police chief Bill Mink said Wednesday that his department is following up every lead and conducting the most thorough investigation possible. "We are making great progress, it just takes time, on a case like this," he said. "We have received a lot of heat from the public because we haven't made an arrest, but we are confident that our investigation will lead to an arrest soon," he said. Ginny Gilpatrick, 55, was beaten and stabbed to death in her West Main Street home on February 7.

Woman sentenced in death

A Rockcastle woman was sentenced in Laurel Circuit Court for urging her boy friend to kill the alleged murderer of her daughter. Judge Lewis Hopper followed a jury's recommendation and sentenced Lanna Curry, 33, of Mt. Vernon to 60 years in prison.

Mrs. Curry was sentenced in November for complicity to commit murder in the shooting death of Margaret Alcorn, 30.

Alcorn was waiting a pretrial at the time of her death for the shooting death of Curry's daughter Elvina Curry, 6. Alcorn allegedly shot through the back window of Mrs. Curry's car in February 1990 and fatally wounded the child.

Indictment returned

Chuck Marlow, 22, of Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon has been indicted by a Rockcastle Grand Jury on two counts of wanton endangerment in first degree. He is accused of one count of shooting a rifle or shotgun over a vehicle that Landis Harding was in and pointing the shotgun or rifle at him. A second charge is shooting over a vehicle that Roger Pigg was in and pointing the gun at him. Arraignment was set for 10 a.m. Feb. 26.

County hit by thefts

A 1984 Jeep belonging to Loretta Rogers of Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon was stolen from the parking lot at Parsons Gas at Wildlife Saturday.

State Trooper Craig Sutton found the Jeep tramped in High and Dry Cemetery later.

Deputy Sheriff Tommy Cromer investigated.

Glenn Mink of Burr lost property valued at $486 when his house was broken into.

The burglary occurred at his residence and was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan.

Thieves broke into Dix Point Restaurant at Brodhead Feb. 14 entering through a broken front window. A total of $550 in cash and 10 cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Sheriff Shirley Smith investigated the break-in.

Mary Collins of Brindle Ridge lost about $981 in items when her house was broken in Feb. 17.

Taken were a VCR, stereo, various tapes, a Nintendo game and tape, a .22-caliber pistol and a shelf with drawers.

An Orlando man was found dead Wednesday afternoon on the banks of Brush Creek near his Orlando home. Willie Mink, 64, was last seen alive Sunday by family members. Family members and the Rockcastle Co. Rescue Squad found his body at approximately 4:30. Rockcastle Coroner Bill Dowell has made no ruling in the case pending an autopsy. The body is at Dowell and Martin Funeral Home where arrangements are incomplete.

Now 10.5 million

Final approval for RCHS bids

Site preparation is continuing for the new Rockcastle County High School. Construction is expected to begin about April 1 with the school being ready for the 1994 school year.

By: Richard Anderkin
The Rockcastle County Board of Education gave final approval to construction bids for the new Rockcastle County High School, during a special meeting Tuesday night.

Last month bids for the project came in almost $1.35 million over the original estimated cost of construction.

Tuesday night the bids were still a million dollars more than originally expected, but the local board of education will put the money into the project from the general fund, according to finance director Richard Bray. "The extra money was always there, but we had hoped we wouldn't have to use it," Bray said.

The total cost of the project is now 10.5 million.

After last month's high bids there was some discussion about cutting the construction of the auditorium

Points East

By: Ike Adams

I told you so and it grieves me greatly to remind you that just over a month ago I predicted that the State Legislature would convene for a few weeks in February to discuss ethics; that it would spend around a million dollars of our money and that it would accomplish nothing in the way of reform.

And that's precisely what has happened. The Governor and the leadership of the Legislature have engaged in the usual round of backfaced lying they proclaim to the public right after the most recent nip off. Brer Horse and Eck and Herbie and Greg and company, believing its regular folks to be common fools are attempting to have us believe that government somehow became better as a result of the recent airing of soiled underpants that flapped around and stunk up Frankfort during the month...

The fact of the matter is that special interests through political action committees and lobbyists can still buy their off just as easily as they ever could. Take that away from Eck and Herbie and Greg and Brer and they'd have no reason for being in Frankfort in the first place.

While the Legislature met, Brer Horse spent most of his time stroking among the good citizens of Maysville into passing an ordinance to legalize off-track betting. Profits from off-track betting go back to horse breeders. The Gov., being one of the largest breeders in the state, was simply using the power of his office to make damn sure that his hillbilly will be better lined when he leaves office. And he says he doesn't see anything wrong with that. The fact of the matter is that the Governor and far too many members of the legislature simply do not comprehend the meaning of the word, "ethics." They've been unethical for so long that they are absolutely incapable of recognizing honesty when it is held before their eyes.

Essentially what they agreed to do is tell the public when they've done wrong in regards to being bought off.

When one of the special interests makes a campaign donation sit in the open or buys a fancy meal or pays for a trip to Las Vegas, the legislators have to tell us about it if they can't find a way to keep it off the books.

What if, for comparison's sake, all the burglars in the state held a convention in Frankfort and agreed that they would not wear masks; that they'd try not to shoot anybody and they'd not deliberately take more than $17,000 from any particular business during a hold-up? Moreover; they'd try to see to it that no particular store was robbed more than twice a year. Finally, they would dutifully report to the newspapers that they had performed a robbery within a week or two of the event. The question you should ponder here is whether or not burglars should become legal as a result of this convention of thieves.

Because that is precisely what the Governor and the Legislature are attempting you intend to do with the money grubbing that has some of us so upset.

They simply believe that it is okay to keep on taking the money and the expensive meals and the trips and whatever other fringes they receive from big business and special interests and go on about their business. They have served notice that at least some of them will tell us about it. And they have hung their shingles back out. "Government for Sale. Cheap. Very cheap."

I suspect that at least as much and probably more time was spent on the subject of devising ways to not get caught taking bribes during this little session than discussing ways to do something about it.

I can just imagine an old hand in a closed door session with some his fellow senators saying, "Now boys, afore youens take a handful of greenbacks from somebody you don't know, check him out with the rest of us. And for crying out loud, look around your hotel rooms for little round holes that might be hiding a video camera. If youens don't know 'em, make 'em bare their chests so you can tell if they're wearing microphones and make 'em turn their pockets wrong side out. But when you do make a good hit, call the rest of us so we can shake him down too. We wouldn't be in this mess if some of usens had been a little more careful in the first place. That's what ethics is all about."

And you can bet your bottom dollar that as long as the current crowd keeps getting sent back to Frankfort, that's about as ethical as you're going to see them get.

seven and eight percent.

Historically this is still high but for right now it is low enough that people are scrambling to refinance mortgages and to buy houses.

Clinton is trying to wager that a tax increase with some spending cuts will cut the deficit and make long term rates go down.

The Republicans keep telling us that tax increases without deep spending cuts are not going to make a difference.

When former President George

Bush raised taxes, the Congress elected to spend twice as much as was raised. That tells you what can happen with tax increases.

I hope some reason will prevail. Times are tough and there is a tendency toward panic and criticism.

Before it's all over everyone's going to have to tighten their belt a little bit — young and old, rich and poor and even the government.

Well, that's about all for this week. See you around at the country store.

Commentary

By George Ferrell

I guess everyone gets sentimental in old age.

One thing just keeps growing on this 36-year-old newspaper editor.

It's that I enjoy country music, that medium which is taking the country by storm.

I can remember when that wasn't so cool.

I can remember high school and Led Zeppelin and who knows what other groups — some of which I still listen to as I go about my way.

Still, in recent years I have found the spring that flows freely to be the country medium.

The trend for me began during my college days at the University of Kentucky.

One day I realized that I'd over and over again I was tuning in a country station for easy listening.

Today I keep one on most all the time — with an occasional change for variety, but almost always at my apartment the radio goes on when I open the door.

I can remember my high school days when I bought a Hank Williams record, a little bit out of character for a rock listener, but still I found the songs to be earthy and real, about real people instead of some far off rock idol.

Of course I like all music — yes, even some of the hard rockers, but country music is what I keep going back to over and over again.

I don't have cable TV but every time I visit a relative who has it I find sooner or later that I am glued to the country music channel.

Some people don't like popular music. They say country music has too much drinking, cheating, lust and violence for the performers to be good role models.

I don't think that to be true. It's just that it's more about real life and real themes that recur in everyday life.

Country music just keeps steaming along. Last year Billy Ray Cyrus stunned America with his overnight popularity.

I really enjoyed seeing a hometown Kentucky boy make it big. It says to the rest of the world that something is right with our state and that it can be done if enough effort is made.

This week President Clinton is fodder for the print mills.

I guess I ought to put in my own two cents worth.

Right now I am hoping against hope that Clinton will forget about tax increases until, and unless, he can put across some very deep spending cuts.

It will take a combination of extremely deep cuts along with some new taxes to put a dent in the deficit. The deficit is just the starting point. Look it up and you'll find that the national debt, which is accumulated deficits, is at about four trillion.

That is four thousand billion dollars, folks, and it didn't happen overnight.

Most people have trouble understanding the deficit and the national debt.

The deficit and national debt is financed by the issuing of bonds and notes by the U.S. Treasury.

Those bonds, carrying from six months to 20 year terms, are, what private lenders rely on to set the rates.

Right now the rates are between

Wind: The Third Element

In our youth, our section of Tennessee was nicknamed "Tornado alley." We've seen whole mobile home parks wiped out, heavy cars overturned, and straw driven into telephone poles by the heavy winds that sweep northeast from Memphis and Mississippi. Further up the line, around Lexington, Kentucky, we've seen wide swaths of two-hundred-year oaks uprooted and even snapped in two by the same winds.

Over the years, the horror and awe of such winds prepared us somewhat for what we have recently seen on television from Florida and Louisiana in the aftermath of Hurricane Andrew.

But only somewhat. Not enough. Months have passed now, and people there are still digging themselves out.

The wind usually seems just an innocent, almost friendly, thing. In childhood we ask "Who has seen the wind?" and answer "Neither you nor I."

But ask the victims of the hurricanes and tornadoes if the wind is

Flu bug has Lady Rockets struggling before district

Although hit by the flu hard, the Rockcastle County Lady Rockets did manage to notch one win in three games this past week.

They were edged out by Madison Southern Thursday, 58-57.

They defeated Phelps Saturday, 46-44.

And they lost big to Garrard Monday, 75-33.

The Lady Rockets are now 10-16 on the year.

At the minimum, three players have either missed or been hampered by the flu in each of the games this past week.

Junior Cindy McCauley, the Lady Rockets' leading scorer, missed two of the games and had limited play in the other. Lady Rockets head coach Christy Beaver said that it could be questionable if McCauley will be 100% for next week's district tournament action.

Other key players' missing action were Becky Osborne, Melinda Smith and Melinda Alcorn.

And side-lined not because of the flu but for an injury was Senior Danica Ford. Ford just returned from a knee injury last week in which she suffered pulled ligaments earlier this year. She again suffered the same injury Saturday against Phelps and will be out for the remainder of the year.

"We have had to make adjustments with everyone out and really we haven't been having a hard time doing it," said Beaver.

"Our main concern now is hoping that everyone will be ready to play in district play next week," she said.

Beaver also said that the only positive outcome of the experience is that it is allowing the younger players to step in and get some key playing time and experience.

In action, the Lady Rockets rebounded from a 23-18 first half deficit to take a 37-29 lead over Madison Southern Thursday.

They got an outstanding performance from eighth grader Susie Carpenter who posted 13 points and pulled down 13 rebounds as well as forcing five steals.

Senior Christy Coleman also hit the boards well pulling down 12 in the effort.

However, the tables were again turned in the final period when Southern regained the lead and the victory by one point, 58-57.

"It was one of our most emotional games all year," said Beaver.

Senior members of this year's Lady Rockets who were honored Thursday night at the high school were, from left; manager Michelle Cormier, Beth Amyx, Danetta Ford, Christy Coleman and manager Frank Artley.

While Beaver admitted it was also one of the poorest officiated games this season, she said that her squad lost it from the free throw line.

"I think we could have won the game from the free throw line," she said.

The Lady Rockets connected on only 27 of 49 attempts.

They also committed 25 fouls and lost Beth Amyx and Melinda Smith to five personals each.

Others scoring in the game were: Beth Amyx, 10; Christy Coleman, 21; Danetta Ford, 2; Melinda Smith, 1; Heather Deckard, 6 and Melinda Alcorn, 4.

The Lady Rockets were able to make the adjustments against Phelps Saturday and pull out the win in the process, 46-44.

The game proved close all the way.

Grace wins church league; tourney begins Monday

Compiled by Margaret Offutt.

Grace Baptist #2 began the Rockcastle Church Basketball League this past week with a 54-48 overtime win over Teen Challenge.

Although a close game, clutch free throws by Grace in overtime pulled the game out. Billy Reynolds led Grace with 20 points and Jeff Bulluck added nine. Teen Challenge was led by Keith Johnson with 17 and Bob Jones with 12.

Brindle Ridge and First Baptist

#1 squared off in the second game with First Baptist winning 61-37. First Baptist had an outstanding game and was led by the hot hand of Sean Mullins with 17 points while Gene McAdams added 15. Brindle Ridge was led by Shannon Parkerson with 15 and Chad Burdette with 11.

This year's league champion was determined in the third game of the night when Grace Baptist #1 faced

Central teams hand Rockets two losses

The Rockcastle County Rockets dropped their record to 9-16 this past week with two back-to-back losses, one at home and the other on the road.

They fell to host Knox Central last Thursday, 101-66, and to McCreary Central Friday, 78-59.

The Rockets have not been at full strength during the past week or so. Senior Corey Craig has had the case of the flu which has limited his play. He was unable to play in Tuesday's game at Barbourville, action from that game will be in next week's issue.

Craig, who averages just over 20 points, was limited to only nine against Knox Central.

Junior Mickey McClure managed to take up the slack with an impressive 33 points but it was in vain as Knox Central jumped out big from the start and never looked back.

At the half the Rockets trailed, 41-26, and could only watch their deficit increase through the second half to as much as 35 points.

The Rockets were short-handed in the final period when Craig, J.D. Bussell and Mike Tackett all received their fifth personal to exit the game early. As a team they committed 23 fouls in the game.

Other scorers for the Rockets were: J.D. Bussell, 4; Eddie Todd, 2; Ken Hopkins, 2; Corey Scott, 3 and Chad Severance, 10.

The Rockets faced a similar situation on Friday as McCreary Central bounded out to a big 40-16 lead by the half.

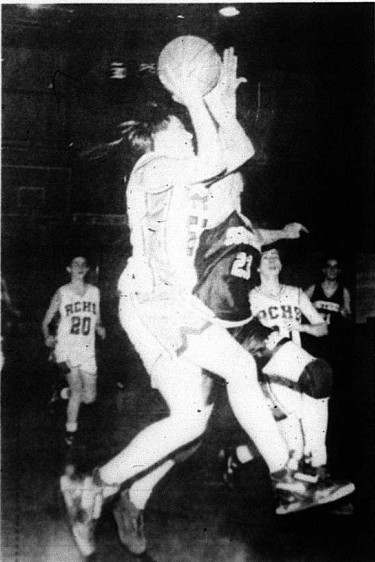

While the Rockets did cut a one-time 27 deficit to under 20, McCreary Central kept banging their chest, making a total of nine, to nurse their lead through the second half.

Scoring for the Rockets in the game were: Corey Craig, 16; J.D. Bussell, 7; Mike Tackett, 2; Mickey McClure, 6; Brian Carter, 10; David Dooley, 3; Willie Morris, 8; Corey Scott, 3 and Chad Severance, 4.

In junior varsity action, the Rockets also fell to McCreary Central Friday, 57-44.

Scoring in the game were: Willie Morris, 2; Eric McGuire, 2; Dallas Rigby, 8; Corey Scott, 6; Ken Hopkins, 12; John Hammond, 2 and Chad Severance, 12.

Lady Rocket Susie Carpenter drives the lane for two of her 13 points in action against Madison Southern Thursday night.

The third annual local art show will be on exhibit at the library beginning April 18 through April 30. I will give you more information on this later, but I want to remind those people who participated in the show last year to make preparations to exhibit your work again this year. Also any new artists, amateur or professional, are encouraged to exhibit your art work.

I would like to hear from anyone that would like to display handicrafts in the library. If there is enough interest we will have a special exhibit after the Art Show for Rockcastle Handicrafts.

This county has a lot of people who do all kinds of crafts, quilting, crocheting, needlework, tool painting and etc. This would be an excellent opportunity to show your work and if you would like to sell your crafts, this could be arranged also. Please call me soon if you are interested and we will make plans for this new exhibit.

There are several publications and booklets in the Kentucky Section that might be of interest to our patrons. Some of these are: 1. Balancing the Scales, a Publication of Kentuckians for the Commonwealth, 2. Fast Forward: Forward in the Fifth, # Kentucky Agricultural Statistics, 4. The Legislative Record, 5. Kentucky Deskbook of Economic Statistics, 6.

The Kentucky Farmer and many others.

Two new fiction novels available are: The Side of the Mountain by Leona Blair, when young Katherine Ballard listens unseen to the final clash between her scholarly father and glamorous socialite mother, Sydney Benedict Ballard, she is innocent, friendly, and invisible. They've seen it. They've even ridden it.

The New England Puritan saints saw the wind. (They also saw witches, but that's another story for another time.) They called it "the breath of God." When God was pleased with his creatures, the wind was a gentle breeze caressing trees. When He was angry, the wind was his judgment. The Japanese, sea-farers even more than our own Puritans, also found God in the wind. They spoke often of "The Divine Wind."

Meteorologists have scientific explanations for the wind. They explain it by references to pressures and fronts. They make sense.

Still, even pressures and fronts have causes. It isn't far-fetched, to understand winds, to reach back as far as the facts take us and then to keep on reaching, into the world of faith.

In that region, it makes sense to say the wind, whether gentle or terrible, whether breeze or cyclone, is God's.

But it takes a much greater leap than I am willing to make to saddle God with charges of evil-doing when the wind blows against us.

The wind is not God. It is but one of God's creations.

As are we. And sometimes we wreak some havoc ourselves.

It's foolish theology for us to pass the buck for our shortcomings to God. We are what we are, and we do what we do, because He gave us the freedom to be and to do, just as he did the wind or the rain. We confuse too quickly and too easily our misfortunes with God's alleged injustice or judgments.

Judge Frank Johnson of Alabama has a favorite story that makes this point in reverse. A preacher calls on a farmer in his congregation and, looking out over beautiful crops, waxes eloquent about how God has blessed the farmer. "Yes, preacher," the farmer nods in agreement, "but for at least half of it God had some mighty hardworking help."

The winds came and plowed through the orchards of Florida and the cane of Louisiana. They were not sent to punish nor even to prepare the ground for spring planting.

The winds simply are.

They just simply came. God was behind them, but He was not for them. He leaves to his creations, whether winds or humans, the duty and the privilege of dealing with each other. If He has wrath at all, he withholds it.

All He gives us are his creatures and each other, and a conscience to want to make best of them.

But sometimes when the winds blow, innocent and invisible, they hurt.

When we hurt, God hurts, too. God has to hurt when we hurt, because He loves when we love.

And that's why, when the winds come and we hurt, sometimes I think that if the wind is His breath, then raindrops are His tears.

crushed. Abandoned by her mother, isolated from her father who retreats into his work, Kate is left to put herself together: piece by piece, constructing a facade that allows her to face the shame of her mother's notoriety. Only her best friend, the rebellious, determined Rebecca Salter, understands and loves Kate unconditionally.

And then, years later, powerful matriarch Polly Benedict reaches out to the granddaughter she has never acknowledged. Inviting Kate to live at Kel Regis, the opulent Benedict estate in South Carolina. Polly hopes to shape her granddaughter's life, to live out through Kate her own frustrated ambitions. But Kate is no easy conquest. Only gradually is she won over to the seductive Benedict way of life: the grandeur of Kel Regis; the influence wielded by Polly and her lusty husband, the Senator; the dreams Polly has for the brilliant, beautiful, feisty granddaughter who is already making a name for herself doing the work she loves.

Touching on many of the issues closest to women today, Leona Blair has created a deeply satisfying story of mothers and daughters, of men and women in love, that speaks to a woman's intellect and to her heart.

The Immortals by Michael Korda... Jack Kennedy-the American hero... Marilyn Monroe-the love goddess. Their affair has been whispered about for thirty years. Now, at last, the story we have only been able to imagine is brought to vibrant, stunning life—a passionate, tragic romance played out against a background of deadly intrigue, power politics, and Hollywood glamour on a grand scale.

Only Michael Korda, best-selling author of Queenie and The Fortune could so convincingly portray characters actors larger than life, and a story more complex, more resonantly true than any rumor or speculation.

At the center of this extraordinary novel is Marilyn—not the "dumb blonde" of Hollywood legend, but a woman who explodes from the page with great strength—deeply passionate, funny, outrageous, often life-loving, but with a fatal inability to hold on to happiness even when it is within her grasp. When she meets the young Senator John F. Kennedy at a Beverly Hills party, it is, for both of them, love at first sight—the beginning of an affair that will become political dynamic in the hands of a rogue's gallery of politicians and criminals.

Michael Korda has written the story behind the myth that has become the fabric of our national imagination, holding nothing back, revealing at last the missing element in three legendary lives, the one thing we always wanted to know—the truth about Marilyn, Jack and Bobby.

We would like to thank all the students, parents and everyone who contributed to the shootout.

Tiger Pause

Congratulations to Angela Blanton of Brodhead Elementary for her fourth place win in Language Arts at the Regional Governor's Cup last Saturday at Corbin Middle School. She and Matt Chaliff of Mt. Vernon Elementary will represent our county at the state Governor's Cup. We wish you luck, Angela and Matt.

Coaching an academic team takes a lot of patience and dedication. Our county coaches deserve special thanks for an outstanding academic year. Thanks to Debbie Abney, Carolyn Bryant, Beverly Owens, and our own Ms. Regina Burton. We do appreciate the work that you do. Also, the dedicated parents and students who give extra time, we thank you.

The 4-H Nutrition Program scheduled for last week and cancelled due to school dismissal, has been rescheduled for Brodhead. John McQueary reports that the nutrition activities will take place March 3 and 4. The 4-H Variety Show will be hosted by BES, Thursday, Feb. 25 (tonight) at 6:30 p.m.

The monthly School Based Decision Making Council is scheduled for Tuesday Evening, March 2 at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. You are welcome to attend. We continue to invite your participation in our school by serving on various committees. These committees are posted near the office on the bulletin board.

Our fourth six weeks grading period ends Friday, Feb. 26. Report cards will go home, Thursday, March 4 and the Awards Assembly will be held, Friday, March 5.

Mrs. Paula Bullock, parent representative of the School Based Decision Making Council, spent a couple of days in Louisville attending School Council Training. Mrs. Bullock participated in sessions dealing with programs to promote parent participation in our schools, technology in our schools, and schools, transformation to KERA, etc. Mrs. Bullock will share this information at the next SBDM council meeting.

The weather has been mild this winter, however, the flu has taken a toll on our attendance. We hope the attendance will stabilize. It seems that most everyone, teachers and students alike, are ready to get on with the school year.

The 4-H Clothing Classes will be offered after school. The first meeting is Friday, Feb. 26. After this first meeting the schedule will be April 12 - 16 at Brodhead. Participants will learn to use a sewing machine, follow a pattern and construct a simple garment. 4-Hers will model their garments at the County 4-H Fashion Revue in April.

Mrs. Bobbie Durham, collaborating writing specialist, and Nancy Sexton, have been helping homework classes of Mrs. Cindy Ellington and Mrs. Judy Doyle complete a three-day writing project. It was their math autobiography entitled, "My Lifetime of Math." The students were taken through the writing process. They included, in their stories, both bad and good experiences they'd had in math, their most interesting experiences, and ways math will help them in the future. The students concluded their work by explaining their present feelings about math.

The Annual Alumni Banquet will be held Saturday evening, April the 10th. If you have questions or wish to make reservations please call the school and ask for Mrs. Carol Riddle.

VOTE FOR William H. MULLINS Magistrate 5th District

When most people think about a Magistrate, they think about "roadwork," consequently, many people vote for someone because of personal favors or what they have done or promises of what they will do in the roadwork department.

If elected, I'll do my best to see that all taxpayers, without discrimination, get their fair share of roadwork, blacktop and all monetary benefits.

But roadwork is only a part of the business of the fiscal court. They deal with many other social and economic issues that affect us all.

This country is one big government program and is going to get bigger. Some programs are alright, but some are not. Besides the issues and programs the fiscal court normally deals with, I feel certain that, in the future, they will be approving and implementing many other programs that will be coming down the pipeline from higher levels of government.

I don't know exactly what social, cultural or economic issues we are going to be facing, but, if elected, I will do my best to represent and protect your Christian values and interest in all matters.

As this country moves toward socialism, the state is invading our lives and our privacy from all directions. We need to get involved.

The old adage that religion and politics don't mix isn't quite true. I think it depends on how you mix it. The new occupants of the White House did quite well by slurring and slandering the Christians and pandering to the uppity special interests. That particular mixture seems to work very well in this country.

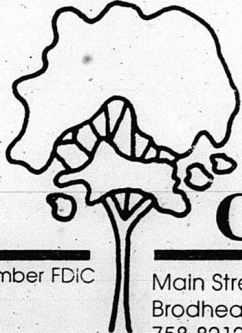

Christians had gotten out and gotten involved in the political process allow months ago, we might not be facing what we are today. I think some of us have taken the attitude that, "What is to be, will be - if it has to be a bumble bee." I believe we can make a difference. We must make a difference. I appreciate your support.

Legislative Update

By Danny Ford

The year-long controversy over legislative ethics is nearing an end as the General Assembly passed the nation's strictest and most sweeping code of conduct for lawmakers and candidates running for a seat in the legislature.

A FOPROT probe known as BOFROT prompted the passage last year of an amendment that authorized the creation of a code of ethics for state legislators. Last week, the General Assembly passed a resolution that requires the consideration of a code of ethics for local officials during the 1994 Regular Session.

When I first arrived in the capitol, most observers thought the Special Session could be concluded in seven or eight legislative days. By the time the bill passed both chambers, it had consumed two full weeks including extremely rare meetings on Saturday, Sunday, and the President's Day holiday.

The reason the session took longer than usual was because so many differences existed in the plan passed by the Senate in the first week and the changes made by the House in the second week. The Senate bill was a drastic departure from the recommendations made by the Ethics Reform Task Force -- which spent much of last year studying the issue and releasing proposals. House members believed that the Senate version had touched the surface of many issues but had not gone far enough to reinvigorate the legislature's credibility and restore the public's trust.

Both the House and Senate versions focused on campaign finance reform, the legislator-lobbyist relationship, and conflicts of interest. But significant differences emerged as the House bill pursued a tougher stance on several issues.

The House bill banned all gifts to legislators from lobbyists -- including even a cup of coffee -- but the Senate version did not prohibit gifts as long as they did not exceed $100 per year. The House version was also tougher in the area of campaign finance as we sought to lower the contribution reporting limit and curtail the percentage of PAC money accepted by candidates. (In fact, I pushed an amendment that tried to ban PAC altogether.)

The differences in the two versions were so great that a free conference committee had to be appointed to construct a compromise. Free conference meetings are usually held behind closed doors, but the nature of the session forced the panel to meet in an open session on statewide television.

If a compromise had not been achieved in the free conference, the promise of ethics reform may have been lost. Therefore, we ultimately approved a compromise that contains strong language from both versions. The bill includes the following provisions:

Lobbyists' activity is limited and must be reported to the legislature. No legislative candidate may raise more than 35 percent (or $5000, whichever is greater) from Political Action Committees (PACs) when funding their campaigns.

Legislators are prohibited from engaging in a wide range of activities including conducting business with the state, representing clients before state agencies, or any other action that is a conflict of interest regarding legislative duties.

Lawmakers must make extensive public disclosure of their finances. All PAC contributions and individual contributions in excess of $100 must be reported.

Legislative pension rights must be forfeited by lawmakers convicted of felonies relating to their official duties.

My personal preference would have been for stronger language in the areas such as an actual "no cup of coffee" rule and limiting to $1,000 the amount of campaign funds that can be carried over from one election to another. But even though this bill could have been more strict, it's clearly the toughest ethics bill in the entire country. I'm proud to have worked out compromises with the Senate that have made Kentucky the national leader in the crusade for integrity in government.

Local citizens "Arrested for Heart"

Local citizens in Mt. Vernon area have been arrested for "Crimes of the Heart" and fined a bail to be paid to the American Heart Association, said Billy Hiatt, Heart chairman, and "Judge."

According to Hiatt, "The fundraiser is all in fun, although all of us are guilty of some heart crimes such as not enough exercise, eating high cholesterol foods, smoking and ignoring other signals of a heart attack or stroke."

"What Saith the Scriptures"

One of the popular Doctrines taught in the denominational world is the doctrine of justification by faith only. Notice this quote from one of the human creed books of a common denomination, "Wherefore, that we are justified by faith only is a most wholesome doctrine, and very full of comfort." Yet the real question is, what does the Bible teach? Is justification by faith only a Bible doctrine?

There is no doubt that the Bible teaches us, that men are justified by faith! In Rm. 3:28, "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law" again "Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ," Rm. 5:1. But, the assumption that people make in regard to verses like these, is that it means "Faith only." The book of Romans begins, in Ch. 1:5, declaring "By whom we have received grace and apostleship, for obedience to the faith among all nations, for his name." And in Ch. 16:26 the book ends with this note, "But now is made manifest and by the scriptures of the prophets according to the commandment of the everlasting God, made known to all nations for the obedience of faith." Thus we see, that when Paul speaks in the book of Romans (as Ch. 3:28 and Ch. 5:1) he is talking about being justified by the "obedience of faith" and not faith only. Our obedience is to the faith of Christ and not to the deeds of the law of Moses, nor to humanly devised works of righteousness or merit, Tit. 3:5; Eph. 2:9.

James in Ch. 2:14-26 discusses this salvation by "faith only" concept. Is believing in God and His son Jesus enough to save a man without the words of obedience? The answer is NO! Faith only is dead faith vs. 17, 20, 26. Abraham and Rahab were good examples of people who had a working, living faith vs. 21, 23, 25. Now notice what James said in verse 24, "Ye see then how that by works a man is justified and not by faith only."

I prefer to accept the scriptures over the creed books of men, what about you? Do you believe God or what men say in the creed books? Let's stand upon the Bible, the only sure foundation.

Wildlife needs our help

Last year over 76 million people in the United States participated in some kind of wildlife-related recreation other than a hunting or fishing sport. Over 76 million.

If we add in the 40 million people who hunted or fished, more than 110 million Americans were actively involved with wildlife in 1992. Whether we realize it or not, these figures, especially the number of people who enjoy wildlife photography, wildlife watching and bird-feeding continues to grow daily. The intrigue, mystery and beauty of the outdoor world and its inhabitants is gaining interest by "leaps and bounds," as is an overall public concern about our environment.

Yet, while awareness and concern for wildlife resources and their needs is growing, the overall public's awareness alone is not enough to insure well-being of those resources. Increasing our knowledge of what wildlife means to our daily existence, and being more sympathetic toward caring for wildlife are also important.

The future of these natural resources. You see, in today's environment we stand at the threshold with literally the power to conserve and maintain, or permit and aid the loss of so much of our natural heritage. We are winning the battle of teaching people that our wildlife resources are something that we can no longer take for granted and that must be used wisely if we intend for them to remain a part of our world. Yet, convincing even those millions of people everywhere, (some two million in Kentucky) who interact with wildlife that "wanting wildlife to prosper and helping wildlife prosper are two very different things."

Kentucky sportsmen are by far the most "helpful" group, in terms of what it really takes to make a difference. Yes, we're talking about money. Unfortunately, because man has made so many drastic changes, the world that once belonged to wildlife can no longer support all its dependents without help. And it takes money to be able to help.

The 40 million hunters and anglers in the U.S. spent $40 billion to enjoy their activities and support wildlife conservation. Compare that to the 76 million who enjoyed wildlife activities besides hunting or fishing and spent $18 billion on all the related items needed to pursue those forms of wildlife-associated recreation.

That we belong to one group or the other, or enjoy different types of recreation involving wildlife is completely immaterial. But that the largest wildlife "user group" is making much less of a financial contribution toward helping wildlife is, quite simply, a fact. If wildlife is to succeed and be sustained for future generations, we all must take responsibility and dig into our pockets.

Hopefully, everyone can understand that there is nothing unfair about being asked to help with wildlife conservation when we are benefiting from what it provides. And over 100 million people in the U.S. are benefiting, yet more of us need to lend tangible support to conservation efforts. Every wildlife "user" should want to give something back to wildlife if it means anything at all to have wildlife. Chances are it means something, or we wouldn't spend time enjoying it, would we?

If you aren't aware of any easy way to do that, one very simple gesture is available. You can designate a portion of your tax refund, or make a donation directly to the Kentucky Nongame Wild/Natural Areas Fund. When you file your taxes, any amount can be set aside on the tax form to go to help wildlife and protect the lands we all depend on for our survival.

At least think about it. If you don't purchase a hunting or fishing license, or contribute through a direct gift to the state fish and wildlife department, consider the Nongame Fund tax check-off. It is a great way to help wildlife, since no general fund state tax dollars are allotted to the department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

For more information on the Nongame Wild/Natural Areas check-off, ask your tax preparer. You can help make a difference. Just do it.

Adequate cooking destroys most bacteria that can cause foodborne illnesses

Thorough cooking destroys most bacteria, including E. coli, that can cause foodborne illnesses.

"The recent outbreak of illnesses caused by E. coli-contaminated hamburger would not have happened if the ground beef patties had been cooked adequately," said Fudeko Maruyama, Extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Kentucky. "Ground beef patties should be cooked well-done, which is indicated by a light gray center

The Mt. Vernon Signal, Thursday, February 25, 1993 PA-8 and juices that run clear."

"When a frozen hamburger patty is put on a hot griddle, the center must first thaw and then cook," she added. "The center might not be done even though the surface looks cooked."

Manuyama advised people eating hamburgers away from home to use the "first-bite test" to ensure that the meat is cooked adequately.

"When you're eating out, check the hamburger for doneness immediately after you take the first bite," she said.

If there is any pink in the meat, return it and ask for a replacement."

Manuyama said young children and the elderly are most vulnerable to foodborne illnesses because they have less resistance to disease than other age groups. Children and the elderly are more likely to have serious symptoms from E. coli, especially that strain implicated in the recent outbreak in the western U.S.

"Illness from E. coli can be spread by contact from an infected person to another individual," Manuyama said. "And, someone who has recovered from this illness might still harbor the E. coli bacteria in the intestinal tract."

"This is why good personal hygiene is so critical to keep from spreading the disease to other people, as well as to foods and foodhandling equipment," she said. "Wash your hands with soap after going to the bathroom, prior to preparing or cooking food, and again before sitting down to a meal."

Foodborne illnesses also can be spread by cross-contamination from meat that has the germ to other foods that are already cooked, or won't be cooked, according to Manuyama.

"The best way to prevent cross-contamination is by keeping uncooked meat away from other foods that will not be cooked, such as salad ingredients," she said. "Always wash cutting boards and utensils that were in contact with raw meat before using them with other foods."

"Good sanitation coupled with proper handling and adequate cooking of raw meat are the keys to preventing foodborne illnesses," Manuyama added.

Catch crappie in all seasons

You can catch crappie all year long if you understand where to find these fish and how to make them bite. Here's what some of the nation's best crappie fishing experts suggest to treat crappie in all seasons.

Look for brush shelters on the edges of deep water and drop-offs near spawning areas or sink brush there yourself. Brush shelters in these areas can produce pameouths four to five fishing experts suggest to during the pre-spawn, spawn and post-spawn but not in very hot or extremely cold weather.

Fish bridge pilings on the edges of creek and river channels. Bridge pilings provide vertical structure near deep water where baitfish concentrate and crappie can hold and ambush bait.

Can spring be far behind?

When winter comes can spring be far behind? It gets to the end of February, just about everyone is ready for spring.

Once again, Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle escaped the worst of the storm that bore down on Lexington and Central Kentucky.

Mt. Vernon had only .83 of an inch of rain out of the storm. Other areas of the county may have had more or less.

The storm apparently split, one area went through Central Kentucky. The other area went through Pulaski and Laurel.

It was followed later by snow flurries with more predicted for today (Thursday) and Friday. It might be rain or a mix of rain and snow, or just snow.

As the month creeps down to the end, a total of 3.08 inches had fallen at Cox Funeral Home weather station as of Thursday.

The low temperature was 6 degrees on Feb. 17 and 18.

Shredded newspapers substituted for straw for under EKU's dairy herd

Eastern Kentucky University's dairy herd has been in the news a lot lately for its record-setting milk production and protein content.

But now you could say those cows are resting on their laurels. Literally.

For the past year, shredded newspapers from campus trash bins marked for recycling have been substituted for straw under the cattle housed on the State Dairy Farm. And the results have been favorable.

"So far, it has worked very well," said Michael Judge, EKU's director of farms.

The papers are shredded at the EKU physical plant and delivered in bales and all the discarded newspapers on campus (principally The Eastern Progress) wind up at the State Dairy Farm. That adds up to about 20,000 pounds a year and saves the farm about $125 a month.

Woman sentenced

"The paper seems to be more absorbent than shavings or straw," said Herdsman David McGlothlin, "and there's less of a dust problem. Once we figured out how to handle it, we haven't had any problems."

And an industry trend toward soy-based ink has rendered the product safe should it be consumed. "We haven't seen any ill effects," McGlothlin said. "And they've been nibbling on it for a year."

Even Judge's concerns about disposing of the "used" newspaper have been answered.

"We were wondering what would happen when we took it out and put it on the land but it just disappears," he said.

Obviously the change in bedding has had no adverse effect on the herd's milk production, which has set a state record the past two years while ranking high nationally in protein content.

The State Dairy, which is located across the Eastern By-Pass from Roy Kidd Stadium, was established primarily as an agricultural laboratory at which Eastern students could gain practical experience in all aspects of dairying. The dairy normally employs six to eight students each semester.

Tours can be arranged by calling (606) 622-1312.

Funeral Costs . . .

As everyone else is these days, we are concerned about cost. Especially funeral cost.

At the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home, we are always looking for ways to keep costs down and, at the same time, continue to provide quality merchandise and service.

One example of this is that we provide an 800 toll-free phone number for families who live out-of-town so they can call us with questions or concerns at no cost to them. That number is 1-800-572-6986.

One more better way Dowell & Martin Funeral Home has of serving you.

Homespun Fair will be June 18-20 at Berea

Historical craft demonstrations, skills of Berea and Berea College craftspeople and a look at the impact of crafts on the Appalachian area will be showcased at the Berea College Homespun Fair June 18-20.

The event recognizes the 100th year of the College's crafts program, a tradition started by a Berea College president that fanned a craft revival in Southern Appalachia. The Homespun Fair takes its name from the original activities of that name that were conducted on campus at commencement beginning in 1896.

"From Fireside to Fair, Berea College and the Crafts Revival," an exhibit and reception at the College's Appalachian Museum, opens activities Friday (June 18) at 7 p.m. A street dance follows from 9-10:30 p.m.

On Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., traditional craftspeople will showcase such items as split shingles, soap, chair footings, baskets and other early functional crafts. Other craftspeople from the area will demonstrate more contemporary crafts and show how traditions have evolved during the past 100 years.

Local films and videos will be shown throughout the day at the Appalachian Museum and winners of a crafts competition will be announced at 4 p.m. Criteria for participating in the competition will be announced soon.

Sunday evening, a panel discussion is scheduled from 7-8:30 o'clock on "Berea College and the Appalachian Crafts." It will be followed by Homer Ledford and the Cabin Creek Band in concert.

Sunday's program includes a gospel sing from 9-10:30 a.m. and a demonstration of craft exhibits and demonstrations from noon to 5 p.m.

All events are free and open to the public with most activities planned for the outdoor north campus area extending from the Log House Craft Gallery and Appalachian Museum to Boone Tavern Hotel. Some functions may be moved indoors in the event of rain.

The old Homespun Fair actually was the first craft fair in Appalachia, according to Garry Barker, author of "The Handcraft Revival in Southern Appalachia" and marketing manager for Berea College Crafts.

The success of and interest in the fairs, which were conducted for some 20 years, resulted in the permanent establishment of the College's "Fireside Industries." President William G. Frost started the crafts program in 1893 as a means of raising money for the education of Berea's needy students. Today, handweaving, brooms, woodworking, pottery and wrought iron items are produced in the College's crafts program. Some 200 students and 25 full-time craftspeople are employed in the activity.

"While recognizing the College's 100th year of involvement in the crafts industry, we're also conducting the fair as part of the Year of the American Craft--a designation Congress and the President have given 1993," Barker said. "The College has had a tremendous regional influence with its crafts program and its faculty and alumni always have been leaders in the industry."

For additional information, Barker can be contacted at (800) 347-3892.

Bedtime Story hour for children at Library Mar. 4

Barry Rudner, a noted children's author, will be presenting a bedtime storyhour at the Rockcastle County Library March 4th at 7 p.m.

Children, preschool through 3rd grade are invited to come in their pajamas to enjoy meeting and hearing Mr. Rudner read some of his favorite stories.

We are encouraging parents to make this a joint participation with their children. Mr. Rudner will emphasize reading to your children. This will motivate them to learn to read for themselves and it develops a love for books.

Some of Barry Rudner's books that are available at the library are: The Handstand, The Littlest Tall Fellow, Noisense and The Bumble Bee and The Rain.

In order to make preparations and due to limited space, we ask that you please call in advance to let us know that you will be bringing your children.

The library number is 256-2388.

WIC news

Rockcastle Health Center offers the WIC program to all eligible women, infants and children in the county.

WIC is a federal program which provides high quality foods and nutrition education to those pregnant, breast feeding and postpartum women, infants and children up to age five who are at nutritional risk and who are income eligible.

Nutritional risks include but are not limited to anemia, underweight, overweight, and inadequate diet. A family of four with income less than $25,808 would be income eligible for WIC.

WIC is an equal opportunity program. Standards for eligibility are the same for everyone, regardless of race, color, national origin, age, handicap or sex. Participation in WIC does not affect AFDC or food stamp benefits. Anyone interested in WIC services should call the health department at 256-2242 to schedule an appointment.

LPN program implemented in county

From left, instructors Nerissa Baker and Ruthie Saleng identify parts of the anatomy for students Keith Mattolea and Vanette McWhorter in the newly opened Rockcastle Vocational School Practical Nursing Program. The first class began January 24th and spans a 15 month period at Rockcastle Hospital.

Those seeking jobs in practical nursing no longer have to leave Rockcastle County to find them but may now fulfill all requirements here within the county.

After nearly two years the Rockcastle County Vocational School Practical Nursing Program was implemented January 24th and prepares students for the state board of exam for Licensed Practical Nursing (LPN). It will also provide students with instruction that will prepare them with skills that will qualify them for jobs in hospitals in Rockcastle and surrounding counties.

The joint effort of Kentucky Technical Vocational Educators, Rockcastle County Board of Education, Rockcastle County Hospital and other community leaders has made this very needed instructional training program possible, said Donna Hopkins, principal at Harry Sparks Vocational School.

Presently there are 24 students from Rockcastle and surrounding counties enrolled in the program which is located at the Rockcastle Hospital.

Hopkins said that 87 students were on the list for the class before it began. But since a maximum of 24 slots can be filled during one period, the program simply chooses students on a first come first serve basis.

The class spans a 15 month period and includes clinical training after the first term of instruction at Rockcastle County Hospital, Somers Nursing Home and Marymount Vocational Hospital in London.

Instructors for the class are Nerissa Baker, an O.R. nurse from Rockcastle County, and Ruthie Saleng of Berea who has served as a clinical instructor for the LPN program at Somerset Community College.

Hopkins said the planning for the program originated in November of 1990 when she met with Lee Keene, Rockcastle Hospital administrator, and Betty Furcell, Director of Nursing at the hospital.

According to Hopkins the need for LPNs in central Kentucky is more than anywhere else in the state. And

RCHS wins second place in Governor's Cup tests

By: Judith Taylor and Marlena Mason

RCHS students took second place ranking overall and one student placed first in mathematics at the district level of Governor's Cup competition recently.

"We have several going on to region this year and maybe some to the state," said Mrs. Joy Cooke this year's coordinator of the Governor's Cup Competition.

The Governor's Cup is an annual competition sponsored by Kentucky Academic Association involving academic interests of students.

For students to be a candidate for this competition, they must first be nominated by a teacher in the content area.

RCHS competed with three Madison County high schools: first place winner Madison Central, Model Lab School, and Madison Southern.

In Mathematics, Dallas Graves placed first, and Eric McKinney, was fourth. Both are juniors. Willy Witt also represented RCHS in math.

In the General Knowledge category, Marilyn Coffey placed second in the district. Others from RCHS competing were Chris Dillingham, and Eric McKinney.

Marilyn also placed fourth in Language Arts testing. J.D. Bussell and Jeremiah Taylor also competed in Language Arts.

In the English composition, Sean Kelly ranked third and Rebecca Blanton placed fourth. Angie Eaton also represented RCHS in composition.

In the Social Studies category; Callie Mullins, Jason Vanzant, and Tracy Todd competed but did not place.

In the Science competition: Willy Witt, Chris Dillingham, Amy Croucher were RCHS's contenders.

The Future Problem Solving team won second place. Contestants were: Shanda Durham, Becky Chambers, Chance Potter, and alt. Emily Mullins.

Quick Recall teams placed 2nd in district competitions. Team participants were: Marilyn Coffey, Chris Dillingham, Dallas Graves, Tracy Todd, Callie Mullins, Jason Vanzant,

Service by teenagers rewarded by scholarships

For high school seniors who are graduating this year, who will continue their education in a college, university, or vocational school next fall, and who have volunteered their time and talents to service projects in their communities, the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) will reward them with its Community Service Scholarship.

CAP will award a $1,000 scholarship or two $500 scholarships in Mt. Vernon county this year.

The recipients will be chosen by a committee of local citizens. The scholarship is for the first year of the student, and is to be used to pay for educational expenses such as tuition, books, room or board.

Eric McKinney, J.D. Bussell and Willy Witt.

These winners will all go on to the regional competition at South Laurel High School on February 25-26, 1993.

Others who were nominated and tried out in the various areas were: Courtney Adams, Angela Arley, Chris Brummett, Trent Clark, Beth Collins, Barbara Cromer, Hope Cromer, Scarlett Dailey, Danetta Ford, Jerry Husband, Christiane Kelly, Marlena Mason, Cindy McCauley, Army Sears, Dale Shelton Doug Smith, Jessica Todd, April Powell, Susan Whit, Sarah Whit, Rebecca Wenzel, Kevin Robinson, Donna F. Blanton, Angela Parsons and Amy Ford.

Pamela Powell, coach of the Future Problem Solving Team had said before the competition that she didn't know how the team would do since, this was the first experience for most of them in competing in this type of situation.

"However, she said, 'this type of competition reflects what KERA is trying to do. Students have to learn to stay on a task while working together to benefit not only the individual, but the group as a whole. Everyone has a major role in the task.'

"I am 100 percent supportive of the Governor's Cup program. Students should receive recognition for all achievements. I would like to see our academic program receive as much recognition as our athletics program by our community and state," says James Cox, vice principal and curriculum coordinator at RCHS.

Dear Editor,

Judge Mullins says in his campaign flyer he has locally owned cable TV. He possibly has never watched Lewis Cable TV. Lewis has eleven channels for $18.18 monthly. This is good for voters that have never been out of Rockcastle County, but for voters that have crossed the Ohio River and have watched more than thirty channels for $22, Mr. Lewis comes up bad short.

I live in Livingston and fear the voters in this area are the forgotten voters of the county. Mr. Mullins, maybe you can talk to Mr. Lewis about giving Livingston better service.

Thank you,

Dear Editor,

Although I had thought on it before, if you are studying on it, President Clinton may be trying to mess up one of the biggest peace dividends for our country in such a way as to border on the charge of high treason against the United States.

Our United States Military, most notable the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers have trained personnel and the equipment to aid in the construction of dams, roads and various other civilian government projects in our country, possibly at less cover all costs and the military mirrors all of civilian life, to where the military could be called upon to render assistance in almost any civilian problems.

In our depression era, the Army Corps of Engineers, the C.C.C., the W.P.A., etc., did a lot of construction work some of which still helps America and our way of life even today. It hasn't been that long ago that I saw a building built by the W.P.A. in the depression era that was still in full use today, perhaps 60 years later or so.

After wars, our military did a lot of repair and construction work to help rebuild, mostly in Europe and Asia, though elsewhere.

Without political patronage our military could help rebuild our country, perhaps at a lot less cost to the taxpayer if a lot of the political pork could be eliminated to restore some of the pride which may have been lost for and in the union.

The military had the best training which was available and before we cast our military aside as perhaps only fit for a bunch of the shes which are more likely to have serious medical problems which may over tax an established veterans health system and/or have serious moral problems to where we may not be able to maintain a strong military defense of our country and our way of life. Our President should look at this as a possible resource to the rebuilding of our country unless he is just another tax spend on waste liberal politician as there is still pride available in the union and something to have pride in.

Wilbur Brooks

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to say thanks and how much we appreciate the good work and dedication of our 2nd district constable Jim King.

In the past four years our neighborhood is in better shape and much safer in the many years I've lived here. There are times he is the only law enforcement we can get to come when we need them. And any time you call him he will be here. Our roads are much safer from the drunk drivers because of him and that means a lot of our community and certainly to me. So thanks Jim King keep up the good work. You have my support.

P.S. After midnight most of these stations are off the air. Those that stay on sell junk or sex.

Dear Editor,

There is a burning question that gets on my mind about this time every year. It starts to bother me about the time the leaves start to change color, and by Groundhog Day it's really bugging me. What I want to know is: Where in the Dickens do all these "Global Warming" freaks go in the winter?

You know who I mean. They make all kinds of noise every summer, all summer. Just let there be a couple of record-shattering hot days, and there they are on the TV telling some media-type all about how the whole world is getting steadily warmer and warmer. We're all gonna try to crispy critters if we don't immediately stop:

A) burning coal; B) using hairspray; C) driving our cars; D) buying things wrapped in plastic; E) slash and burn agriculture.

They go on to explain that it all has to do with something called The Ozone Layer, which is supposed to be located somewhere "out in the Ozone."

The Ozone Layer is a recent scientific discovery. I'm sure that it has been in place since God said, "Let there be light." Those people also say that it has a hole in it. Okay, so there's a hole in it. A donut has a hole in it too. What does that prove?

In eighth grade science class we were told that since the day that God said, "Let there be light," there have been a couple of ice ages. An ice age happens when there is Global Cooling, and the polar ice caps come to Florida on vacation for ten years. Each Ice Age was followed by (Guess what everybody!) Global warming. I can't imagine how that could have happened with no help whatsoever from human beings, but it did. There was hardly anybody around to burn coal. Hairspray hadn't been invented yet, and neither had cars or plastic packages. What few people there were at the time were too busy trying to survive to do much agriculture.

Well, this morning it's 18 degrees farenheit outside. I don't know what those global warming freaks are gonna do today. I'm going to throw a couple of chunks of coal on the fire. Then I'm going to go fix my hair and use lots of hairspray. After that I'm going to drive my car to the store and buy something with lots of plastic packaging. This afternoon I might burn the brush off the back lot, where

Roamin' Rockcastle

By Hilda Payne Gabbard

A deep snow lay on the ground when we went to bed Monday night. The next morning the snow was all gone, the ground as clear as a whistle. Temperature had gone up by Tuesday morning. Sun came out for some time. Rain began to fall, creeks and small streams began rising to the top of their banks. Then the weather began to get colder, rain turned to snow again.

When and where did all of this happen? Why in Kentucky, in Madison County and all the counties around.

There is a saying that if you don't like the weather in Kentucky, just wait around a bit and it will all change! There was a knock on our door off all this snow on Friday. The dog was barking and having a fit.

John opened the door to Lee Abney. Returning some tools John had loaned the workers on the new church that is being built at Gallie near the present one.

Lee looked different, his eyes had a look as if great things were coming this way.

Then I remembered, "John, doesn't Lee look happy as if he was getting a present?" I said, "Now I know, he will be 40 years old on February 18th when life begins for men reaching that age."

Lee laughed. "Yes, I'm over the hill now and starting down the other side. No, I'm going to be the same, playing music, singing in the church, help work on the new church! I'm thankful I was able to reach this age."

But there was a twinkle in his blue eyes that made one think he's going to enjoy the coming years.

"I'll bet you are having a cup of coffee," he laughed, "with something in it." I told Arletta, "I better call John. He doesn't want me to talk to men on the phone for he gets jealous," and I handed the phone to John.

I heard him say as I went to the kitchen, "No, I don't get jealous." Did you see the picture in last week's paper of James Taylor's wife, Cheryl? I want to warn him now to be sure and tie a string to her for anybody who looks that good shouldn't be turned loose on her own. (Sure, I will accept your thanks, James.)

Brenda Caldwell, bakery manager at Superior's Deli section makes some of the prettiest flowers out of fruit or vegetables to go on the trays of meat in the glass counter case.

One day I stopped and asked what she did with the decorations at the end of the day.

"Why, we give them away just before the store closes at night."

Brenda said, "I meant to ask for some but I can't drive late at night so that ended my wish for vegetable flowers."

Brenda Rogers, of Paint Lick, at the Citizen office where she works, opened a pack of Teaberry chewing gum, and I said, "We always called that mountain tea leaves and would pick it out of the hills. You can chew the leaves for flavor and boil them in water which makes a good drink."

Every since then Brenda has talked of the plant and asked me to go with her and get some.

I'm not the best in the world in climbing hills now so when John and I went to Clear Creek again and went to where we knew the plant grew on a hill near the Berry Ramms picnic grounds under the spruce trees, John gathered a bunch of glossy, green leaves with the red berries of the mountain tea plants. It was growing under the decayed leaves that covered the hill.

Brenda has chewed so much of the green leaves her tongue has turned green. They say she will hardly open her mouth to talk to customers when she comes into the office.

John and his brother, Clay Gabbard, with Bodie Barnett have gone into the sorghum molasses business. They plan to raise the cane and make molasses over in Clear Creek on the land of Betty Payne Bisbee now living in Lubbock, Texas.

The men have all the equipment to make the crop except for an evaporator, the big pan in which you cook the sweet stuff. So now the fellows are going around trying to buy one.

Last week they got word there might be an evaporator near Level Greff (or sale) so the men went to the country between Mt. Vernon and Otisawa. I decided I would make the trip too with the idea of getting news.

That is how I came to meet a very attractive lady, Arletta Norton, and husband Bill. I've heard the name Norton as long as I've read the Signal so I was glad to meet some of them.

She seemed very glad to talk to me and invited me into their home while John and Clay went to a roomy barn up on the hill where Bill was supposed to be Arletta said she had worked in The Signal years ago and I told her I was Roamin' Rockcastle.

I'm enjoying with Arletta I guess. I should say it was because she was such a "good listener." If I get a chance, I talk folks off about writing the news.

The men came down to the yard and we went out to visit them. Arletta says, "I'm not ready for her to get better than listening to the television!"

Bill said, "Come back this fall and visit. We'll be in a new house that we're going to build on the land that we bought after selling this farm."

They both talked of the 100th birthday party they were going to have for someone.

It sure wasn't for either one of them, I thought, for they were such a nice looking couple.

"My mother will be 100 years old this fall (I believe he said, in October) and we plan to give her a party. Come back and join us," Bill said and we plan to do that.

In talking to Arletta, I found that she knew my brother, Dr. George Payne, a dentist and wife, Lou, at Brodhead where Lou taught for many years.

Arletta takes care of a business in Mt. Vernon, the Norton Insurance Agency while Bill is a farmer.

The health hint from Nature that I talked about in last week's column is the drinking of sassafras tea to thin your sluggish blood that doesn't move so fast in your body. Now with spring about ready to arrive you want to throw off the dull feeling and be ready for fun, romance, or work.

Henry Voltmer goes for that second word. Did you see his picture where all the girls were gathered around him? So Henry started drinking sassafras tea I mean. We got ours from the hills and woods where the tree grows. The sap starts up the trees and you can get chips or bark to boil in water—makes a good drink.

Ballard Parsons, Mayor of Wildie, should know of this drink (better for you than the one under the counter).

And the business enterprise is the sale of sorghum molasses that the Gabbard boys are already taking orders for—price will be $20 per gallon (maybe more).

I got one Valentine that I really treasure. It was from my youngest son, Chesley Cornett in Northern Kentucky, an intelligent, helpful, caring, compassionate, sex symbol.

You must hear it with all the busy time he has, he goes shopping for a Valentine for his mother. He signs off as "From your sweet, wonderful, charming, sexy, brilliant, magnetic, adorable, smart, helpful, caring, compassionate, sex symbol."

son, Chesley. Does anyone know of a word that has been left out? Till March: Sing when the shadows fall.

For in time the sun will shine again.

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Hello to all my good friends and readers.

We are having some cold weather again, but had a few beautiful days recently. But during the past few days we have had snow and some thunderstorms. But spring time is on its way. Sunday School attendance at Fairview Feb. 21st was one hundred and four (104) and more came in for worship service. Thank the Lord for each one.

Hubert and I visited his step-mother Mrs. Annie Chasteen recently. She now lives near Berea and is doing very well, health-wise. She is one of our old fashioned good people that everyone loves and respects. I thank God for her and all others who are like her.

Jenia Davidson of Brodhead spent the weekend with her grandparents Eugene and Hallie Alexander and they all three attended church at Fairview Sunday morning. They took her home Sunday afternoon.

My sister Ruth Gatliff and husband Phillip of Rochester, Ind. visited with us last Wednesday. They also visited our brother Tip Reppert and family and our aunt Edith Mullins. They were returning home from a Florida vacation. We enjoyed them so much, talking and laughing together. Our two families are very close. Ruth is my sister and Phillip is my husband's second cousin. When Hubert had surgery Ruth sent him more get-well cards than everybody else combined. (Ruth, we thank you again)

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander recently have been Dwayne Miller of Pant Lick and Lee Abbey of Berea, one day last week. Rev. John Dodson of Richmond and Woody Gabbard of Berea visited and Sunday Feb. 21 guests were Kay Abbey and Debbie Gadd of Berea.

Oscar Alexander of Madison County visited at the homes of Eugene and Hallie Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen last Thursday.

Eugene Alexander visited at the homes of Mrs. Lula Alexander and family and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen recently.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and daughter Sherry visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin Sunday.

Visiting Mrs. Mary Cope last Thursday was her daughter Helen Powell of Berea. Then, Thursday evening another daughter, lean Hayes of Winchester came and spent the night.

Our son Wayne and wife Carolyn of Berea visited us on Saturday evening.

Our whole county was shocked by the murder of Mrs. Virginia Gilpatrick of Mt. Vernon two weeks ago. It's hard to believe what things are going on in our world today.

Please remember church and Sunday school. Let's have love in our heart instead of hate, envy, jealousy and evil thoughts. May God help us all is my prayer.

Ladies Aid Missionary Society

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

The missionary group of ladies met at Loraine Newland's home Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. with several present. They were fortunate to have Mike

Moore, minister of the Christian Church presenting the lesson on "Love and how many times it was used in the Bible."

The group signed birthday cards to send to Sowder Nursing Home. It was also voted by card for birthdays, etc. Ella Mae has been so faithful in making them in the past.

Two letters were read from Sowder Nursing Home.

March hostess is Jenny Caperton and Rissie Cromer will present the lesson.

Hopkins said that with the decision to begin a nursing program, an application was sent to the Department of Technical Education in the spring of 1981 and was approved in the fall. Also approved was a proposal submitted to the State Board of Nursing in January of 1982.

Hopkins concluded by saying that this instructional program will provide job opportunities for students to stay within this area.

It is highly likely that everyone enrolled will receive employment after their training, she added.
