Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

The third annual local art show will be on exhibit at the library beginning April 18 through April 30th. I will give you more information on this later, but I want to remind those people who participated in the show last year to make preparations to exhibit your work again this year. Also any new artists, amateur or professional, are encouraged to exhibit your art work.

I would like to hear from anyone that would like to display handicrafts in the library. If there is enough interest we will have a special exhibit after the Art Show for Rockcastle Handicrafts.

This county has a lot of people who do all kinds of crafts, quilting, crocheting, needlework, soap making and etc. This would be an excellent opportunity to show your work and if you would like to sell your crafts, this could be arranged also. Please call me soon if you are interested and we will make plans for this new exhibit.

There are several publications and booklets in the Kentucky Section that might be of interest to our patrons. Some of these are: 1. Balancing the Scales: A Publication of Kentuckians for the Commonwealth, 2. Fast Forward: Forward in the Fifth, 3. Kentucky Agricultural Statistics, 4. The Legislative Record, 5. Kentucky Deskbook of Economic Statistics, 6.

The Kentucky Farmer and many others.

Two new fiction novels available are: The Side of the Angels by Leona Blair... when young Katherine Ballard listens unseen to the final clash between her scholarly father and glamorous socialite mother, Sydney Benedict Ballard, she is crushed. Abandoned by her mother, isolated from her father who retreats into his work, Kate is left to put herself together piece by piece, constructing a facade that allows her to face the shame of her mother's adultery. Only her best friend, the rebellious, determined Rebecca Salter, understands and loves Kate unconditionally.

And then, years later, powerful matriarch Polly Benedict reaches out to the granddaughter she has never acknowledged. Inviting Kate to live at Kel Regis, the opulent Benedict estate in South Carolina, Polly hopes to shape her granddaughter's life, to live out through Kate her own frustrated ambitions. But Kate is no easy conquest. Only gradually is the won over to the seductive Benedict way of life.

The grandeur of Kel Regis; the influence wielded by Polly and her lusty husband, the Senator; the dreams Polly has for the brilliant, feisty granddaughter who is already making a name for herself doing the work so close to women today, Leona Blair has created a deeply satisfying story of mothers and daughters, of men and women in love, that speaks to a woman's intellect and to her heart. The Immortals by Michael Korda... Jack Kennedy-the American hero... Marilyn Monroe-the love goddess. Their affair has been whispered about for thirty years. Now, at last, the story has only been able to imagine is brought to vibrant, stunning life - a passionate, tragic romance played out against a background of deadly intrigue, power politics, and Hollywood glamour on a grand scale.

Only Michael Korda, best-selling author of Quennie and The Fortune could so convincingly portray characters already larger than life, and a story more complex, more resonantly true than any rumor or speculation.

At the center of this extraordinary novel is Marilyn - not the "dumb blonde" of Hollywood legend, but a woman who explodes from the page with great strength - deeply passionate, funny, outrageous, often life-loving, but with a fatal inability to hold on to happiness even when it is within her grasp. When she meets the young Senator John F. Kennedy at a Beverly Hills party, it is, for both of them, love at first sight - the beginning of an affair that will become political dynamite in the hands of a rogue's gallery of politicians and criminals.

Michael Korda has written the story behind the myth that has become the fabric of our national imagination, holding nothing back, revealing at last the missing element in three legendary lives, the one thing always wanted to know - the truth about Marilyn, Jack and Bobby.

Think safety as you prepare for spring farming season

Those livestock buildings farmers work in and around every day become almost like a second home to them.

They become so familiar to many farmers that unsafe areas may be overlooked. That can be dangerous for the farmer - and perhaps even more to the young child that enters the building to play.

Larry Piercy, Extension safety specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said this is a good month to check livestock housing for danger spots. "While you're checking the livestock housing for safety, don't forget about the animals," Piercy said. "We don't like to think of farm animals as dangerous, but each year many farm workers are injured by animals."

Here are some tips Piercy suggests for safer livestock buildings - and safer handling of the animals:

Make good housekeeping a top priority. Clean trash and junk from in and around buildings and clean alleyways, pens and corrals. Eliminate tripping hazards. Use brightly colored paint on those that cannot be eliminated.

Never enter a manure pit or any tank that holds decaying organic material without an air-supplying respirator.

Use adequate restraining and handling equipment with animals. Be calm. Don't startle animals and be alert for sudden movements.

Be extra cautious around bulls or sows with pigs. Wear safety shoes or boots. Never tie a lead line to your body.

Fire destroys Old Mill Restaurant

A fire raged out of control Sunday night destroying the Old Mill Restaurant on the Livingston Interchange of I-75.

In a matter of minutes the building was engulfed in flames, witnesses said. The fire apparently started in the roof on one end of the building, Farmer Waddle saw the flames and alerted the workers in a service station and truck stop. The restaurant had just closed when the fire was discovered just after 10 p.m.

Owned jointly by Curry Oil Co., of London and Elizabeth Jones of East Bernstadt, the restaurant was built several years ago from property belonging to the Carolotis family. It was commonly known as new Ft. Sequoyah.

Mrs. Jones said it would be built back if there was enough insurance. The adjacent motel rooms caught fire on the outside but were quickly extinguished.

Mrs. Jones said many antiques in the building burned including a player piano, novelties of all sorts and about $150 in cash. She had just received a shipment of souvenirs that burned. Fire Departments from East Bernstadt, Laurel County, Crossroads and Livingston responded.

It took firemen over two hours to bring the fire under control.

Mrs. Jones formerly operated Ole Kentucky Kitchen on the Burr Interchange. The family operated the Shell Service Station on the Renfro Valley Interchange.

Renfro Valley to open shows Saturday

With a hiatus between its season close in December and the opening of a new season on March 6, one might expect Renfro Valley to be a quiet place this time of year. Not so.

Two arrested

Two Rockcastle men have been arrested for the break-in of the home of Mary Collins on Feb. 17.

Jamie Ramsey and Lee Polly have been charged by Sheriff Shirley Smith with receiving stolen property, police reported.

Taken in the break-in were a VCR, stereo, tapes, a Nintendo game and tape, a pistol and shelf with drawers. Ramsey was later charged by Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan with forgery, a felony.

He is accused of going to the home of Mrs. Dorothy Polly at Hummel, says Executive Vice President and General Manager Dean L. Henriksen.

"In some respects this is our busiest time," says Henriksen. "This is when we put the finishing touches on our plans for the coming season."

When those plans involve the entertainment of tens of thousands of visitors in the season-to-come, activity takes almost a frenetic pace.

"On the entertainment side alone, we're putting in as many, if not more, hours as we do 'in season,'" says Henriksen. "Literally hundreds of hours are spent researching songs for the upcoming season. Add to that countless hours of rehearsals and even more hours formatting each show to achieve the best possible mix of music. All this is done so that when our guests take their seats to enjoy a show, that show seems to be effortless, spontaneous entertainment of the highest quality."

Activity is not limited to the entertainment side of Renfro Valley. The maintenance staff is also in high gear treading the complex for the arrival of guests in early March. In addition to the cosmetic work of paint brushes, mops and brooms, cleaning rags, hammers and nails, Renfro Valley's recording studio is undergoing a major renovation. The purchase of innovation equipment and a recon-

Tolliver cleared

Grace Ann Tolliver, formerly of Livingston, has been cleared of theft charges after she submitted to a lie detector test in Harlan.

Ms. Tolliver was indicted last May on one count of theft by deception in connection with an alleged forged $2,289 floral invoice.

Trial had been set for March 9. A grand jury alleged Tolliver used the forged document in a scheme to funnel business to the flower shop of ex-school board member Gary Henson, who also was indicted. The investigation centered on an invoice the school board received in October 1990 from Atlanta-based A&B Floral.

Harlan County Commonwealth's Attorney Henry Johnson said Tolliver passed a Kentucky State Police polygraph test Monday. But he said that only added to other information he had gathered during trial preparation.

"In reviewing the case... suspicions developed that possibly other people were attempting to shift the blame over to Mrs. Tolliver," he said.

Johnson said he expected to file a motion this week asking for the charge to be dropped.

"I knew this was how it would come out," said Tolliver, an assistant superintendent and the district's director of special education. "I knew I had done nothing wrong. It was such an experience. When it was over, I was almost unable to talk."

City wins again in tax case with Renfro Valley

By: Ray McClure

For the second time Circuit Judge William T. Cain has ruled that the city's business license (entertainment tax) against Renfro Valley Folks Inc. is valid.

Renfro Folks had asked the judge to alter, amend or vacate the summary judgement he made earlier. Judge Cain rejected the requests.

Judge Cain ruled earlier that he could find no basis that the ordinance was unconstitutional or that it was special legislation directed solely against Renfro.

So, based on that ruling, the court said the 3 percent tax must be paid.

Renfro has 30 days to file an appeal but must also post a bond to assure the city of their tax revenue due should the appeal fail.

It is not certain how much in tax

Renfro owes the city since January 1991.

The ruling was announced at a meeting of several persons at city hall Monday night.

A meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council had been planned but there was not a quorum. The meeting was postponed until April.

Councilmen Lee Keene was away at school. Councilman Bob Bailey did not attend nor did councilwoman Bessie King.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer told those present a tentative agreement had been reached between the city and Western Rockcastle Water District for the price of water.

The mayor signed a proclamation designating March As Clean Up Month. The All American Club was on hand to receive the proclamation.

Jail renovation to be rebid by court

A jail renovation project scheduled at the Rockcastle County Jail will be rebid.

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court was told at a meeting Tuesday the effort to get the bid more in line with available resources had been unsuccessful.

The project will still cost $125 a square foot. The original bid was $338,000.

The bids will be advertised again. The court accepted a bid by Hibbits Construction of London for asphalt removal in the courthouse.

The bid was $12,628. The state requires asphalt removal.

The court approved trash hauler for the coming year. Those approved were: Charles Ingle, Cassie Litteral, Bee Garbage and Transfer, and HSI of Gray in Knox County.

The magistrates agreed to contracts on care and custody of inmates with Leslie County jail and Jackson County jail and with Prestonsburg for keeping juveniles.

The multi-county Task Force Against Child Abuse asked the court to use the fairgrounds in April for a circus. The court agreed if there is not a conflict in dates.

The court was authorized to provide funds for bridge replacement located over a branch of Copper Creek by the Transportation Cabinet. The Cabinet will pay the $42,511 cost.

Man stabbed in neck

A Rockcastle County man is in stable condition in the University of Kentucky Medical Center of stab wounds he received Tuesday night at Hummel.

Matthew Lee Polly, 29, was allegedly stabbed in the neck by Jamie Ramsey, 18, of Mt. Vernon, during an altercation at Polly's home about 10:30 Tuesday.

Arrested for first degree assault was Jamie Ramsey, 18, of Mt. Vernon. He was arrested at the scene by Sheriff Shirley Smith.

Ramsey's bond was set at $15,000. He is in Rockcastle County Jail.

Car recovered

A 1988 Honda Accord belonging to Conservation Officer James Bingham was found burned Monday on Cupps Chapel Road.

The car was taken from Bingham's residence Sunday afternoon.

Weather report

The most snows in a year so far fell on Mt. Vernon during February, according to figures at Cox Funeral Home.

There were 3.71 inches of rain and melted snow during the month.

Love bears all things.
Believes all things.
Hopes all things.

1 Corinthians 13:7

As the community of Rockcastle County gathered together to remember Ginny Gilpatrick, it gave us all a way to grieve for her loss and to comfort her family and friends.

The service began with very beautiful hymns and music that Ginny loved. After the prelude was played the opening hymn was "The Old Rugged Cross." This was a very special song for Allen and Ginny. The front of the program showed an old rugged cross with a ring above and a ring below, symbolizing eternity of togetherness for them, if one should pass away.

Tom Kelley, minister of First Christian Church gave the invocation and this was followed by Gerri Jones singing "Sheltered In The Arms of God." This was a song that meant great comfort to us, but we know that Ginny is sheltered now in the arms of God.

The reading of the 23rd Psalm had a very special meaning to family, friends, co-workers, and others who knew Ginny and her ways. The choir

School board members attend conference

George M. Poynter, Deborah Whitehead, Terry F. Burton, Dr. George W. Griffith and C. Douglas Mullins of the Rockcastle County Board of Education attended the 1993 Annual Conference of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA) in Louisville Feb. 26-28 at the Galt House East.

Along with some 1,200 other school board members and administrators from across Kentucky, they heard an address by Jefferson County Superintendent Dr. Donald Ingwersen, National Superintendent of the Year 1992 and Kentucky Superintendent of the Year 1992.

School board members had numerous clinic sessions from which to choose during the 2 1/2 day conference. These clinic sessions addressed topics related to KERA, community partnerships, budget planning, facilities planning, demographics and council and board relationships.

Improved health care, which would extend the benefits of our advanced medical care to all Kentuckians, would mean equal access to basic health care and could result in a healthier workforce, a more health-conscious public and a better delivery system from health care providers.

According to the governor's estimates, 450,000 Kentuckians lack even basic insurance.

Many other Kentuckians live in fear — the fear of devastating illness without the ability to pay.

Bringing all citizens across the state into one system will bring many benefits including lower insurance premiums and better access to health care.

Health care reform, long on the national agenda, is something that Jones has reasoned cannot wait.

According to his reasoning, the long-sought national reform may take up to two years to be put into place, even if President Clinton puts his plan before Congress sometime in the next month or so.

Much like the Kentucky Education Reform Act, Jones' health care reform package could be a national model.

For poor Kentuckians, who many times lack access to health care, the governor's program could mean better health care and less illness.

Many business people and some civic leaders are skeptical of any plan that calls for taxes and universal coverage.

I hope these people will give a lot of thought to what is at stake.

Governor Jones has indicated that he is willing to work with the General Assembly to gain a health care package.

(Cont. to A7)

In Tuesday's Lexington Herald-Leader Jones is quoted as saying that if plans A or B lack support then he is willing to look at a plan C.

That is the spirit of compromise and this means that the reform package could well be a broad based effort.

Health care reform is probably one of the most exciting developments during the past decade. It could well rank with the school reforms working through the education system at the present time.

Kentucky legislators know how to stand up for their constituents and strike a good bargain.

While stumping across the state, Jones is looking for a groundswell of public support to launch his plan to the legislature.

I am pulling for the governor — his dedication to sorely needed reform is most certainly a laurel for his administration.

Well, enough of this winter stuff — it's March.

Yes, right after the snow, the muck, the gluck and all the gloomy days March settles in.

We may have a few surprises left, but springtime is just a few days away.

I'm ready for sunshine and lemonade, baseball and fishing — those dog days of summer all rolled into one.

That age-old ritual of spring is now underway, baseball's spring

PRECIOUS SOULS, children of an evil age, I haven't written for the past two weeks. Perhaps you will sympathize with me when I explain that I could neither write nor type.

First, four fingers on my right hand were seriously scared when I retrieved a fiery, hot letter from my mailbox. It was sent by a faithful follower of Robert Tilton, a grinning TV evangelist whom I lampooned a few weeks ago. You've seen him, the one who asks you to plant a "seed of faith" by sending your prayer requests to him — wrapped in a thousand dollar bill.

Then, about the time my fingers began to heal, I was injured again. I have a beautiful, black chow named Tyson. He weighs in at seventy pounds and belongs to Mark, my California son. Not having room to roam in Mark's LA apartment, Tyson elected to live in Wabed where I can amble about in a half-acre pen.

Tyson, true to doghood, cannot abide cats. I own two cats, Kate and Alley, and recently boarded Callie, who had just been spayed. She belongs to my mother-in-law.

When the mercury dropped to the teens, I brought Tyson into the house for a while. (Chow, however, prefer cold weather. I wish you could have watched Tyson frolic in the first snow he ever saw.)

Tyson soon got a scent-o-cat and began tracking, but he wouldn't get to the cats because I had secured them in a bedroom. I poured a cup of coffee and sat down on the living room floor where I planned to have a face-to-face talk with Tyson about his animus toward felines and his dogged disdain for Democrats, Campbellites, and Clintonites.

I heard the click of the bedroom door latch, followed momentarily by a shrieking "Me-yooow!" Tyson had pushed the door hard with his head and disengaged the lock. When I got there he had Callie in his giant jaws, shaking her every way but loose. I yelled, but he didn't heed. So, I set about to pry his mouth open and save Callie. But Callie, trying her best to bite Tyson, quickly put two punctures into my left hand near the ring finger. Then I shrieked, "Me-yooowow!"

I made a fist of my right hand and slugged Tyson just above his eyes. He dropped Callie, not seriously hurt, and she fled under the bed. And Tyson, who had been most sociable, didn't say a single word to me for two days. He did warm up when I took him to the Snack Shack for an ice cream cone.

So, dear hearts, you see why I didn't write my column. I had to get a tatanum shot and take penicillin because of the wounds on my swollen hand, and the other was stowed-up from sucking Tyson (not the best thing to do to a chow). Even now, there are nontenets when I have difficulty manipulating my fingers per the keyboard.

No, I must be perfectly honest. (Does that mean I'm dishonest if I don't claim to be perfectly honest?) Something else kept me from writing. Let me explain.

During "hymns of invitation," many preachers periodically ask worshippers to bow their heads and close their eyes. So doing often makes for more reverence and introspection. Also, preachers know when there are timid souls present who might make public decisions if all eyes are not on them. It is a most legitimate invitational practice.

Now, I am extremely perturbed by the gall of a dozen or so members of my home church. They are pekers. They have little respect for pastoral authority and regularly sneek peeks during invitation hymns.

I'm going to be on Al Smith's radio show on March 9th! Every weekday at 10 a.m. EST, there's a show on your better Kentucky radio stations called AOK Prime Line. AOK is an acronym for Association of Older Kentuckians.

The show is a branch of Al Smith who considers himself an old timer because he can remember Franklin D. Roosevelt and he thought that mature minds should start merging. Al retired from the newspaper business several years back and decided that his mind was a terrible thing to waste. And too, his "waist suddenly became a terrible thing of mind" as Dave Barry would put it.

Al did a long stint as Co-Chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission under presidents from both parties and I believe that he is personally responsible for the fact that Appalachia still commands specific federal attention. The ARC is still around partially because Al Smith was articulate enough and diplomatic enough to convince Presidents and Congress that our neck of the woods is a resource instead of a drain!

Al won't take the credit. He'll tell you that anybody else could have done it. He'll even tell you that the fact he evolved from being a reporter to owning newspapers somehow just happened. He'll tell you that he has a knack for being in the right place at the right time. But the fact is that Al Smith put together a chain of small-town, weekly newspapers across Kentucky that were second to none when he sold them to Park News Service and retired, financially "comfortable," back in the eighties.

I'm not good at dates but it must have been late 1980 when Al bought The Sentinel Echo (Laurel County's Weekly Paper) from the Keith Family. He and Mrs. Smith (Martha Helen) were instant celebrities in London when they moved in with us and made The Sentinel Echo their flagship paper. And Charles House, one

Rockets lose to Clay, 96-61, in district play

With more muscle and quickness, the Clay County Tigers ended the Rockcastle County Rockets' 1992-93 campaign with a big 96-61 win in the first round of the district tournament at Jackson County Tuesday night.

The Rockets ended on a 9-18 seasonal mark.

But in weighing the factors, it may very well have been the more muscle that proved to be the downfall of the Rockets.

Head coach Clayton Cash thought so.

"I believe it was the ultimate thing that beat us," he said.

"They physically manhandled us on the boards," Cash added.

Senior Corey Craig, one of the state's leading rebounders, got most of the abuse. The 6'6" center was physically wore down. He has been one of the offensive pluggers for the Rockets this year averaging 20.5 points per game but was limited to only four points Tuesday.

Craig did shine in his category of rebounding. He averages 14.2 per game and pulled down 13 against Clay.

Another bright spot for the Rockets was their play in the early minutes of the first quarter. They matched up head-to-head with Clay and trailed by only two midway through, 12-10.

But from there, Clay began to coast as they went on a scoring spree to outscore the Rockets, 13-0, through the remainder of the first period.

"I felt we turned cold," Cash said.

"If we had made out layups we would have been up in the first quarter."

The missed opportunities by the Rockets allowed Clay to break the game wide open through the final three quarters.

The Rockets were only 12 of 35 from the field, 9 of 31 from three-point range and only 15 of 28 from the free throw line.

They also committed 17 turnovers.

Capitalizing on the Rockets' misfortunes, Clay bounded out to a 54-22 half-time lead and 80-41 lead in the third quarter.

"I think we had to execute our offense and make them commit the fouls and force themselves into foul trouble," said Cash.

Clay did find themselves in some foul trouble but it was the Rockets who suffered the most.

Junior Mickey McClure, the leading scorer for the Rockets at 21.3 per game, was the first to be plagued by foul trouble. He was forced to sit out most of the first half after picking up his third foul early on.

"They're going to key on him (McClure)," said Cash. "He has to learn to let the offense come to him."

Craig, J.D. Bussell and Mike Tackett were also side-lined for lengthy durations in the second half due to too many fouls. All eventually had to exit the game due to five personal.

Bussell led the team in assists with four in the game. He led the Rockets this year in the category averaging five per game.

Scoring in the game were: J.D. Bussell, 8; Eddie Todd, 10; Mickey McClure, 24; Corey Craig, 4; Brian Carter, 2; Ken Hopkins, 3; Willie Morris, 1 and Corey Scott, 9.

Brian Carter, #14, glides through the lane for the Rockets in their match-up with the Clay County Tigers in the first round of the district tournament at Jackson County Tuesday night.

Lady Rockets edge Mercer

A rally with just over three minutes remaining enabled the Rockcastle County Lady Rockets to come back from 10 points down to win their final regular season game of the year.

The Lady Rockets knocked off host Mercer County last Friday, 47-41, to push their regular season record to 11-16.

(The Lady Rockets faced off against host Jackson County Wednesday night in first round action of the district tournament. Results of the game were not in at press so look for the rundown of the game in next week's issue.)

"We played very good and smart basketball in the final three minutes of the game against Mercer," said

Lady Rockets head coach Christy Beaver.

"And I think we played solid considering the fact that everyone has been off due to the weather or an illness," she added.

The lay-off did appear to hamper the Lady Rockets early on as they never led in through the first three quarters of play.

Mercer capitalized on a two point first quarter lead by banging in 16 points in the second quarter to take a 27-22 lead into the half.

Defense was the key for both teams in the third quarter. While the Lady Rockets gained no ground with only seven points in the quarter, they also limited Mercer to only six points.

The Lady Rockets turned their game up a notch in the final period. Both their offense and defense excelled as they doubled Mercer's scoring in the quarter.

Down by 10 with 3:25 remaining, the Lady Rockets surged. Sparked by a pass from Beth Amyx, 2; Christy Coleman, 8; Cindy McCauley, 17; Becky Osborne, 10; Melinda Smith, 5; Ginger Mink, 1 and Susie Carpenter, 4.

For the night the Lady Rockets were 17 of 24.

"I really believe the difference of the game was from the free throw line," Beaver said.

Scoring in the game for the Lady Rockets were: Beth Amyx, 2; Christy Coleman, 8; Cindy McCauley, 17; Becky Osborne, 10; Melinda Smith, 5; Ginger Mink, 1 and Susie Carpenter, 4.

RCBL tourney underway

Tournament action of the Rockcastle Church Basketball League began this past Monday with First Baptist #2 edging out Brindle Ridge, 50-46, in the first game. Brindle Ridge began the game handicapped with a shortage of players and was forced to start only four. First Baptist was led in scoring by Derrin Smith with 18 points and Michael Singleton with eight. Willis Coffey's 15 and Ryan Loudermilk's 12 led Brindle Ridge. Ottawa easily defeated Wildie, 61-49, in the second game of the tourney. Ottawa's Terry Burton had a hot shooting hand from three-point range and scored a high of 14 while Mark Loudermilk, with the inside game, added 12. Wildie was led in scoring by Scott Parkey with 17 and Steve Clark with 14.

Teen Challenge almost pulled an upset in the final game of the night. While the lead changed hands throughout the game, David Bryant sank a shot with only four seconds remaining to push Bible Baptist ahead for the win, 48-46. Leading Bible in scoring were John Ford, who had an outstanding game, with 16 and Jeff VanHook with 13. Leading Teen Challenge were Bob Jones with 16 and Keith Johnson with 15. Tournament action will resume this Monday at 6:30 p.m.

Sugar free and healthy

Desserts are often heavily laden with high calories, fat, sugar and cholesterol. It is not unusual for some recipes to have 700 calories or more in a single serving. On the average, Americans use more than 130 pounds of sugars and sweeteners each year. Some diet related illnesses such as diabetes require individuals to lower sugar intake. Lowering your sugar intake is a practice that is healthy even when a specific health problem is not present.

Even desserts can be tasty, as well as healthy when we remove excess sugar. Here is a recipe for Pineapple Upside Down Cake without added sugar. The only sugar in the recipe is natural sugar in the pineapple juice. This recipe is acceptable for most diabetics. It contains 145 calories per serving.

Other low sugar and no sugar recipes, including No Sugar Apple Pie and No Sugar Cheesecake can be obtained free of charge by calling the Extension Office at 256-2403.

To the People of Rockcastle County,

Not too many years ago, my dad talked about how fast time passes. At the time I was waiting to turn sixteen and get the freedom of driving. His remark seemed wrong. I now know differently.

Over three years of this term as Judge-Executive are gone. It seems like last month that I was asking for your support. Several positive things have happened since then. I will try to outline these as a reminder of work done but will always acknowledge that working together we did it. Secondly, many projects are in progress. Your continued support will be needed to carry these out.

More importantly, however, I am seeking your support for the term with my eye toward the future and what should be done for our county. Accomplishments to date are good, but the work must continue.

County government operates well only if it is well managed. Achievement of important goals is carried out in a very competitive atmosphere. The leader must be ever vigilant, aggressive and thorough or Jefferson, Davies and other counties will get what rightfully belongs to us.

Again, I am a candidate for County Judge-Executive. I am asking for your vote. I will be grateful for your continued support and will continue to be your man in the courthouse. Serving you this term has been a privilege and enjoyable.

Your Friend,

Sweet and Sour

By Zi Graves

Howdy to all you faithful readers who have been asking why they are not finding my Sweet and Sour column. You aren't fit 'ing it because, simply, I haven't been writing it. No excuses, except maybe my contentment with life is dulling my desire to write. Really, I hope this doesn't last for writing has truly been one of the joys of my life. Let's see if I can still do a bit of it.

Since many of you have asked for more of my descriptive writing, especially about the mountains and places I have been, I'll try once again to describe a scene I recently had of the mountains. This will be a different view from that of looking up to the mountains as one drives down the winding highways through lush valleys or walks through the deep shade of a narrow hollow at the foot of one. This is a scene I recently had of them from the tiny window of a plane so it is a birds eye view of the world below.

I spent a big part of the Christmas holidays with Rodney and his family in Sinks Grove, W. Va. There we celebrated the festivities with Helen's family we had begun in Mt. Vernon, as pre-holiday ones with our family. After sharing all the goodies of Christmas with our immediate family, Polly, Chuck and Chad, and Ish and Pauline, Rod, Helen, Birch and I loaded up early Christmas morning and headed for their home in W. Va. The drive through the hills of eastern Kentucky and into the mountains of W. Va. on Christmas day was quieter than usual but the very light snow that touched the road and mountain sides added a silvery glow that made it a perfect Christmas day for traveling. Soon after we arrived safely the biggest snow of the year covered the landscape all about and we were once again in the celebrations of Christmas. There were dinners and lunches and gift exchanges like were taking place all over America.

One holiday excursion was a special treat. It was an afternoon spent at the Greenbriar resort hotel. This is a beautiful resort hotel snuggled in the hills of West Virginia and has been the retreat of many of the elite of Washington and New York for perhaps a hundred years. The waters from the springs in the area are supposed to have healing powers so the popularity of the Spa for the frail relatives of those who could afford it added another dimension to the attraction to the resort. I have heard it was President Eisenhower's favorite retreat. Anyway, Virginia Campbell, Helen's mother, and I spent an afternoon there admiring the beautiful decorations and visiting all the quaint little shops.

There were lounges scattered about in every nook and corner, each with its own beautifully decorated Christmas tree. One never knew what she would stumble upon in the next lounge. It may be a concert or a reading of poetry, or it may be a fancy tea or card game.

Again it may be a lone person softly playing on a grand piano tucked under an inside palm tree.

As we were strolling through one of these areas this is the very thing we found. We got close enough to see the musician, both of us let out an exclamation of surprise for it was our grandson, Birch. He and his girlfriend were also touring the place and when he came upon this beautiful big grand piano in its luxurious setting in a small lounge he simply sat down and began a concert of his own.

Naturally I had to get a picture of that. Needless to say I had a wonderful afternoon.

These things we were doing were interesting of course, but the real reason I was in W. Va. for the New Year celebration was to attend a surprise party Rodney had planned for his wife, Helen, whose birthday is January 2. Judy and Geoff had also used the same excuse to be there. They had come from Flint, Mi. supposedly to spend the New Year weekend with us. Helen took us at our word and never suspected the surprise in store for her.

The party, with all her family and friends present was not only a big surprise but was a huge success. Birch and some of his band friends furnished the music that greeted her as she entered the door of the lodge where it was held. She was most surprised when she saw Judy and Geoff whom she thought were on their way back to their home in Michigan that always takes place after such a happening.

While Helen attended to a few chores Rodney drove me over the mountains to Roanoke, Va. where I boarded a plane for West Palm Beach, Fl. This is where I saw the fantastic scenery from the window of the plane as it soared into and above the clouds. Virginia and West Virginia are well known for the beauty of their mountains and viewing them from the ground is awesome enough but to see them appear and disappear as one ascends into the heavens above can be an awesome experience.

For awhile the interest is in the scenery below. There are the valleys with rivers glistening like silver threads winding beneath the bridges and into the hills beyond view. There are little villages and lone houses tucked into every space big enough to accommodate them. The snow or frost on the trees in the distance looks like frosting on a cake. This scene begins to diminish as the plane gains altitude and the homes below become tiny specks in the distance. It was then I noticed the contrast of buildings and the land. The earth seemed to expand as the buildings got smaller. The mountains were mere hills and the valleys stretched into the distance. The difference in plowed fields and those growing crops made the distance look like a patchwork quilt with the different shades of greens and earth tones.

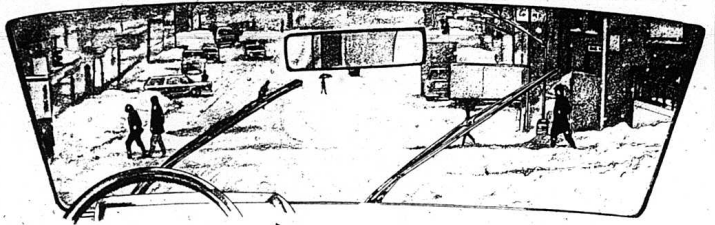

Soon even this disappeared as the plane gained its altitude and soared into the grey clouds that had been hovering over the world below and just as suddenly slipped above them into brilliant sunlight. Whew! What an experience. The clouds now below us were gleaming white and rolling and tossing into mounds that looked like giant snow scenes. The sky above was such a dazzling blue it hurt ones eyes to look up into it. The plane seemed to be skimming across fields made for skiing and sled riding. It was then I thought of Jesus when He ascended into His Father's House and I felt this was only a reflection of the brightness of heaven.

This was a spiritual experience I will long remember. The rest of the flight was used in meditation and enjoying the snow like clouds beneath until we landed in the busy world of West Palm Beach where the reality of a busy world brought me back to my senses.

That's when those older kids put on their uniforms, take out their chewing tobacco or bubble gum, and as if coming out of winter hibernation, go out on the baseball diamonds to polish up their skills for yet another season.

There's something about men playing a little boy's game that is fascinating.

Sure the heroes of baseball are in the major leagues, but the true trench warriors are the little boys that play in little league baseball.

An institution of American social life, parents scream at umpires, coaches and others, while their children have fun playing hardball.

Of course, the parents take it more seriously than the kids.

What would life be like without baseball?

I sure would get boring around the middle of summer and September and October would not be nearly as exciting.

This year one baseball legend has declared this his final season.

Nolan Ryan, on the back side of 40, will be playing his last season. I imagine it will be just as exciting as his first.

Throwing a fastball at speeds approaching 100 mph, Ryan can still put the heat across the plate.

There will be others playing their final seasons, but perhaps nobody will be doing it with as many middle aged men championing his cause.

"I'm 36 and strain my rotator cuff every time I throw something in the waste basket."

Ryan could probably play until he's 50 if he wanted to, putting the finesse on the ball as it whizzes by batters.

I guess all sports heroes have to leave their beloved sports.

That's all for this week. See you around at the country store.

Most peckers bow their heads only half-way, allowing them to furtively open one eye and catch a glimpse of a joiner moving toward the altar. (According to a recent CNN-Gallup poll, most joiners prefer a center aisle.)

Other peckers, although in a minority, prefer to keep their heads erect and tilted ever so slightly backward with their faces toward heaven. Once a pecker assumes this position, he or she grimaces as if in intense prayer, like Robert Tillon, or Ben Somebody on Pat Robertson's show, or someone AI trying to cut the cheese. When the face is thus contorted, the eyelids are nearly closed and create for the pecker a sort of Cinemascope panorama of the proceedings. But the preacher thinks the worshipper is awfully unctuous and never knows he and the joiners are being watched.

It's not just my church. A 1991 sanctuary-to-sanctuary survey showed the iniquitous practice of pecking prevailing in eighty percent of churches in greater Wabed. And some folks are so distraught that they attend only the evening worship services, when most peckers aren't present.

Now don't go lifting laments for me, precious readers. I'll get over the burns, cat-bites and stoves fit. But I won't easily get pecking out of my mind. If it is allowed to persist, other evils will surely follow in its wake. Before long, people will paste election posters on church walls, cash paychecks out of the Sunday morning offering plate, serve Ale 8 at communion, let choir members chew gum or dip snuff, and permit women to speak out in church—maybe even vote!

Gird your loins! Trim your lamps! carry your nougals! Behind this seemingly harmless act of pecking lurks a sinister minister of deceit. O ye faint-hearted, arise! What your folks! Join me and that eloquent someone who said, "I smell a rat. Let us nip it in the bud!"

of the most gifted writers I know, was then editor of the paper. Charles tricked me into writing letters to the editor for three or four weeks running and went to AI who was publisher. AI called me up to see if I could turn the letters into a column every week. And here I am.

I'm in your weekly newspaper, because of stuff that AI Smith did 12 or 13 years ago. If you don't like my column, you can, in fact, blame AI. I certainly would not be here had it not been for his encouragement. The only paper I write for that AI ever owned is London's Sentinel Echo. He encouraged me to sell my piece to the competition even when he owned that paper.

I never occurred to me, back then, that I'd ever have the opportunity to do a plug for something that AI Smith needed promoting. I know that AI doesn't need the money and I doubt he's making any on the radio show. But AOK is good stuff. If you are someplace where you can turn the radio on at ten on the eastern side of the state; nine if you live much west of Somerset; chances are you can get the most stimulating hour of broadcast listening you've ever experienced. Listen in for a day or two and it'll become a habit worse than smoking.

You may have to scroll around the dial on your radio at 10 a.m. and the signal may be weak, but if you listen carefully, AI is going to be there. If he isn't you need to call your favorite station and tell 'em that something worth listening to is available in the morning time slot. Tell them that AI is cheap. Tell 'em he's retired and that he'll work for nearly nothing. Tell 'em you want to hear what he has to say and I promise you won't be sorry. In the meantime, I hope you're able to tune in next week. It ought to be fun.

Celebrating 104 years

Mrs. Nannie Shearer, right, with her sister, Mary.

Shearer, at age 104, has many golden memories

As a girl, she lived on a farm, did her daily chores, and quilted in her spare time to amuse herself. After all, she'd never watched or probably even heard of television, just like other little girls.

Well, maybe not this day and time. But Nanny Shearer came from an older generation. She, herself, is a chronical of a century gone by. A century? Actually, yes, and then some. Nanny turned 104 years old Feb. 24.

And although, she currently resides at the Berea Health Care Center, along with her 93-year-old sister, Mary Croucher, Nanny is not exactly typical of what someone her age might be expected to be. She's not bed-ridden, she still takes personal care of herself, and she's in good health.

Just to visit her and her little sis at the center, makes for an enjoyable moment that would warm the heart of a wooden man. Both might be five feet tall - if that. Both wear their silver hair up in a neat little bun on the top of their heads, and both wear glasses. They use walkers, and just love jewelry. And it may take a few minutes to get them warmed up, but after a while, they'll start talking. Mary will depict the story about how she came close to drowning when she was a young girl.

"The creek was up. Me and (a friend) were playin' on a log when we got swim-headed and fell in," she said. "A teacher happened along. He came in, grabbed a hold of both of us and pulled us out. His name was Chasteen."

Then, she'll laugh. Or, Nanny may tell you how much she cherished the ring she lost.

"I miss my ring," she said as she rubbed the finger it used to occupy. "I lost mine and I don't know how long that's been, now."

But no matter how much they'll talk about, it's virtually impossible to get them to sing. When asked to sing "The Ole Gray Mare Just Ain't What She Used to Be," Nanny gave a pretty clear-cut response.

"Nothin' a doin'," she said. And as for Mary, she just ignored the question altogether.

According to Bluford Seals, the sisters' 62-year-old nephew, Nanny and Mary came from a large family, consisting of three brothers and four other sisters. Besides the two, only one of the other sisters is still living. She's a little younger than they are. She's in her eighties, now. All grew up on a farm in Rockcastle County.

"Disputana was the name of the area they grew up in," he said. "The house they lived in was partially log, and it had a cellar underneath. They had a lot of fruit trees, too."

Nanny and Mary definitely aren't the typical everyday person. Not many people live as long as they have, nor see the things they've probably seen. But they are two interesting little ladies. To watch them as they gracefully head back to their room, one would never even think about how old they really are. And to look at Nanny, it would never be imagined that she was over a century old. After all, she doesn't look a day over 65.

Perhaps, living such a long time is an inherited trait in the family. "If I thought I'd be in as good a health as Nanny is at her age, I wouldn't mind living as long either," Seals said.

Seals also said Nanny underwent major gallbladder surgery last fall.

"But she came out of it better than most young people would have," he said.

And the two are inseparable, according to Seals.

"They lived together all their life until Nanny got married. Then, she moved to Ohio," he said. "But that wasn't until she was 53."

They even worked in Berea College laundry together for many years.

Mary, however, seems to be the mischievous one.

"Mary gets awful upset sometimes if she doesn't want to do something and Nanny does it anyway," Seals said. "And she thinks that when she's ready to go to bed, Nanny should go to."

Donna Anderson, Activities Director at the center, said the two are something else.

"They really are neat," she said. "They're two spunky little ladies.

And where one goes, the other goes. They take care of each other."

Nanny and Mary definitely aren't the typical everyday person. Not many people live as long as they have, nor see the things they've probably seen. But they are two interesting little ladies. To watch them as they gracefully head back to their room, one would never even think about how old they really are. And to look at Nanny, it would never be imagined that she was over a century old. After all, she doesn't look a day over 65.

We would walk all the way to heaven. To bring you back again. No farewell words were spoken. No time to say goodbye. You were gone before we knew it. And only God knows why.

Our hearts still ache in sadness. And secret tears still flow. What it meant to lose you. No one will ever know.

You are missed so much by your Sisters, brothers, relatives and friends. To me, there has never been a more Precious loving brother than you.

Roundstone Elementary students collected $2,096.20 for Easter Seals through the Piñno Shootout. Top money collector was 3rd grader Chrissy Himes with $333.

Students collecting $100 or more were: Ashley Lawson, Robert Alexander, Matthew Brown, Lisa Midkiff, Luke Hayes and Chrissy Himes. RES School Council Election 1993 - 94

The Roundstone Elementary School principal, Kathryn Howard, is accepting nominations for parent members of the School Council starting now until Thursday, March 25. Nominations must be in writing. A parent may nominate him or herself or be nominated by any member of the PTA. Elections will be at the PTA meeting scheduled for Thursday, April 8, at 6:30 p.m. in the RES library.

If the Spring Break days change the deadline for nominations will be moved forward for each day changed into a school day. The Signal and WRVK will keep you updated.

The following is policy to which we must conform for Parent Council member elections.

A parent council member shall be a parent or legal guardian of a student to be enrolled in the school during the parent's term of service. A parent council member shall not be a district employee, the relative of a district employee, a local board member or spouse of a local board member.

Relative shall mean father, mother, brother, sister, husband, wife, daughter, aunt, uncle, son-in-law or daughter-in-law.

Parent council members are eligible for re-election.

Calendar Changes
Since the printing of our RES March calendar, we have missed more school days due to snow. Therefore please adjust the calendar for report card days.

Six weeks ends - Wednesday, March 3

Report cards go out... Wednesday, March 10

We will announce changes in our school calendar as they occur. The District Calendar Committee will be meeting the first week of March to decide whether to use up to three of our spring break days as instruction days instead.

Primary School Exit Criteria

A Rockcastle School District team has been through state training to prepare to train school staffs in the primary school exit criteria for fourth year primary students. The second week of March, each school will send one fourth grade teacher, two fourth year primary teachers, a principal, and one other staff member to learn what they should be considering when making a decision to provide an additional year of primary school for a student.

We know now that when a primary student appears to need an extra year of primary school, the parents will be invited to a conference at least thirty days before the end of the school year. One fourth grade teacher will also be involved in the decision making along with the child's regular teacher and other persons who need to provide information.

During the conference with the child's parents, all areas of the child's development will be considered. These areas include social, emotional, physical and academic developmental progress. Since children naturally develop at different rates in all these areas, the new primary approach encourages us to focus on the whole child.

Roundstone wishes to thank its sponsors for the Courier-Journal subscriptions we received during our first semester. Your support helped our teachers and students in many projects across many subject areas. Each of the following sponsors paid for five Couriers to be delivered daily for first semester. The project has ended, and we really miss the newspapers, we hope more sponsors can be added next year so that we can continue subscription for a year.

Roundstone Elementary eight grade class would like to thank Rockcastle Hospital and its assistant administrator, Steve Estes, for supporting Roundstone with the Junior Achievement project. Mrs. Carol Pybas is the teacher sponsor. Our eighth grade homerooms will both have participated in this fine program by the end of the year. Mrs. Parkey's students participated first semester and now Mrs. Osborne's homeroom is learning about the business world with hands-on experiences. The first group of Junior Achievers wrapped up their project with a visit to the hospital. Thank you to all the hospital staff for making their shadow/work experiences good ones. The students learned a lot.

When you see anyone from the Rockcastle Hospital, the newspaper subscribers, Radio WRVK (for our weekly radio program which airs Wednesdays at 11:45), The Mt. Vernon Signal (for the opportunities they give us to spread our school news), Wendy's (for report card rewards), and WLEX-TV 18 (for SuperAchiever program), please say thank you for supporting our school! 1993-94 Sixth grade Medical exams Parents of next year's sixth graders, remember to schedule your child's doctor's appointment to have the required medical examination done. Students should have their sixth grade exams no sooner than six months before school begins, but if you wait too long doctor's times may be booked. Students cannot enroll without exams done.

Tiger Pause

An Update of the After School Child Care Tiger Center reports an increased enrollment. Ms. Satia Morgan, site manager, has eight students participating in after school activities. They now go to the gym two days a week. This seems the favorite activity for most of the students. Artwork and projects are on display in their room and plans are being made for short field trips when weather brightens. You are welcome to visit the center at any time. The hours are 3 - 6 p.m. Monday - Friday. Students K-6. For more information call 758-4804.

School dismissals have wrecked havoc with our calendar of events. Our fourth six weeks grading period ended Tuesday, March 2 and report cards go home, now Tuesday, March 9. The awards assembly will be Friday, March 12.

The 4-H Variety Show has been rescheduled for Tuesday, March 9, at 6:30, in our gym.

Michigan author, Barry Rudner, will visit our school March 5 and meet with our students P-5. Mr. Rudner, who travels nationwide to meet with children in their classrooms, has written books often referred to as adult issues disguised as children's books. Educators across the United States praise Mr. Rudner for the messages he sends in his presentations and for the character building qualities found in his books. Mr. Rudner will reinforce our outcome goals by showing the value of expressing oneself through writing.

Assistant principal, Onna Owens and librarian, Sandy Burdine attended the Kentucky Educational Technology Conference, Monday, March 1 at the Hyatt Regency in Lexington. The Whole Language Approach, with special emphasis on math, economics, and science, is being explored by the students in Mrs. Katreka Cash's fourth grade. The students, in cooperative learning groups, have projects going that involve prediction, estimation, etc. using apples, plants, products' likeability (i.e., taste tests, paper towels absorbency comparisons, etc.). Needless to say, the children love the "hands-on" activities.

He also received the Scott Rose Memorial Scholarship, established by a gift from Kaneb, Inc., in memory of Scott Rose, and awarded to qualified students from the Eastern Kentucky Area.

Ford on Dean's List

Dr. Paul S. Moore, vice president of academic affairs at Union College, recently announced the 1993 spring semester presidential laureates and dean's list.

John D. Ford of Mt. Vernon qualified for the dean's list. In order to be included on the dean's list, a student must have completed at least 12 hours of graded work with a 3.25 grade point average for the semester.
 Union College in Barboursville is a four-year liberal arts school affiliated with the United Methodist Church, and was founded in 1879.

Purcell on Cumberland's Dean's List

Cumberland College student Aaron Purcell, son of Rodney and Betty Purcell of Broadhead, is among 193 students included on the Dean's List for the 1992 Fall Semester, according to Cumberland College President Jim Taylor.

The Dean's List is published in recognition of academic excellence of students registered for 12 or more semester hours, who have no grade of "I," and who attain a minimum cumulative scholastic standing of 3.50. Cumberland College, located in Williamsburg, is a private four-year liberal arts institution in its 104th year of operation. Cumberland offers six degrees in 22 major fields of study, as well as 10 pre-professional programs.

Conservation practices

Applications are being taken for conservation practices under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

For any seeding practice, which would include cover establishment or cover improvement, a current soil test is required. The test must be less than one year old and completed through the University of Kentucky. Producers may obtain a soil test by taking a sample of the field they wish to seed to County Extension Service. Results of the soil test should be received in approximately two weeks.

Producers must have their soil test results when filing for any seeding practice. Practices available include: new seeding, re-seeding, ponds, critical areas, soil waterways, diversion, and forestry practices less than ten acres.

Eligibility for participation in ACP programs is open to all applicants as established under law with regard to age, color, disability, marital status, national origin, race, religion, or sex.

"A Community Tribute"

of First Christian Church sang "In The Garden" and then every one sang "Blessed Assurance." It seemed that we needed that blessed assurance, now more than ever.

Bro. Kelley sang "Thank You," which was a song that I was not familiar with, but it certainly fit the occasion.

A scripture reading I Corinthians 13:4-8 was read and then Rev. Mike Bryant gave some memorial thoughts about Ginny. His memories were of this past Christmas when Ginny, Edna and other volunteers, and myself, were working on Christmas food boxes and gifts. We had the hall lined up with bags and bags of gifts. The hall in the Social Services building is very long. We would pick up an application and read what we needed to put in this particular bag, and away we would go. We'd go through toys, clothes, and gifts, trying to match up each item and then Ginny went out and bought towels and socks so that we would have something for everyone in each family. Many hours went into this project. Ginny really enjoyed doing this kind of thing. She cooked pancakes and other edibles for the American Cancer Society Grocers Fight Calendar Day, and we worked together one year doing an all day program at Emmaus House in Berea. She was very very happy helping others, and always anxious to help. We have lost a very important part of the community with the loss of Ginny, but we will carry on her work in whatever way we can. The service ended with "What A Friend We Have In Jesus."

Several hundred people joined in the memorial service and we thank Ginny's family and Allen, and his family, for the opportunity to remember Ginny. We felt that we needed a chance to mourn her, and I know it was very hard on the family, but we love them to this chance.

Memorial gifts can be made to: Fields Mission in Honduras Fund, c/o First Christian Church, P.O. Box 398, Mt. Vernon, KY or to Kiwanis Ginny Gilpatrick Higher Education Memorial Fund, c/o Sue Hamm, Rt. 4, Box 257, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456.

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom has been fit to take Ginny Gilpatrick, a beloved member of this club, and whereas, the members of the Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle are deeply saddened at her passing, now, therefore, be it resolved by the members of the Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle, in regular meeting assembled, that we pause to pay tribute to the memory of Ginny Gilpatrick and to extend our deep and sincere sympathy to the members of her family in this hour of their grief.

As we pause to look inward and upward, we remember these comforting words:

I will call upon God, and the Lord will save me.
Evening and morning and at noon He will hear his voice:
He will deliver my soul in safety.

In such confidence, available and effective throughout the centuries of human experience, Kiwanians may live exultantly and may die without fear.

After the resolution was read and passed we had a silent prayer and then we all joined hands and recited "The Lord's Prayer."

Geraldine Mize, secretary, read the poem "Remember," by Christina Rossetti.

Remember me when I am gone away
Gone far away in the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go yet turning to stay.

Remember me when no more day by day
You tell me of my future that you planned—
Only remember me; you understand
It is to late to counsel then or pray.
Yet, if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve.

For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far that you should forget
And smile

Than that you should remember and be sad.
"Speak to me of Ginny" was a special time for us, who knew and worked with Ginny, to tell about our good memories. Ginny was a very special person. We all felt that we were better people from having known her. She couldn't get used to saying a Kentucky phrase. She kept on trying to get used to saying "Bless your heart." She did indeed bless our hearts.

Ginny was a friend, co-worker, volunteer, fellow Kiwanian and we worked on many projects together. She was deeply missed. Ginny wasn't from Kentucky, but she loved Rockcastle County and the people. Although, she had several degrees and was a very educated person, she did not put anyone down. She was very trusting, giving and caring. She could find good in everybody.

At the Kiwanis State Convention in Owensboro a special memorial service is held to honor all members who have passed away during the year. While carnations are placed on the "K" of the Kiwanis logo. Many of us plan to attend this service.

It was voted on, and passed to have the "Ginny Gilpatrick Memorial Scholarship" established in Ginny's honor. The Rockcastle Council of Arts has made a $100 donation. EKU Department of Education is sending a donation and anyone who would like to honor Ginny can make a donation of any amount. We have also heard from members of Ginny's night class that she had in Corbin and they are planning on making a donation to the scholarship fund. The donation should be noted: In memory of Ginny Gilpatrick and mailed to Kiwanis Ginny Gilpatrick Higher Education Memorial Fund, c/o Sue Hamm, Rt. 4, Box 257, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456.

Rise and Shine Homemakers

By: Club Reporter

The Rise and Shine Homemakers club held its February 9th meeting in the home of Irene Hoskins. Eight members and two guests were present. Several treats were in store for us. One being, Bessie St. Clair was able to be back with us for the first time since her surgery several months ago. She is doing great. Another was having our new home demonstration agent, Hazel Jackson, with us for the first time. We heartily welcome her to our area. She has an open invitation to visit with us any time.

The lesson for the month on the importance of a living will was presented by Noretta Thompson. Thank you Noretta for making us aware of the importance of making such a will.

After all the serious business was taken care of and all the gossip was caught up on we followed the good smells coming from the kitchen and crowded around Irene's big dining room table where once again we stuffed ourselves on her deliciously prepared dinner.

The next meeting will be at Zi Graves, March 9 at 10 a.m. Everyone is welcome to visit or become a member.

Forest fire hazard season began Mar. 1

March 1 is the beginning of the official "Spring Forest Fire Hazard Season" in Kentucky.

Kentucky law designates March 1 through May 15 as "Fire Hazard Season." During this time, the law prohibits burning within 150 feet of the woods or burning anything capable of spreading fire into the woods between the hours of midnight and 4:30 p.m. local time. This is called the "4:30 Burning Law," and it is intended to prevent fires.

"Forest fires, mostly caused by arsonists and outdoor burning, have already blackened 10,331 acres of Kentucky's forests since January 1. We normally average only 3,000 acres burned during January and February," said Mark Matuszewski, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

"Forest fires cause destruction of our forest resources such as timber supplies, wildlife habitat, scenic beauty and water quality. These are things that affect all Kentuckians."

Kentuckians are encouraged to report forest fires to their local Division of Forestry Office. Arsonists can be reported in confidence by calling the Target Arson "Hot-Line" at 1-800-27-ARSON.

Business Day at Corbin

A number of local businesses will be participating in the Business Awareness Day at Corbin Civic Center Saturday March 13, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Several businesses from Clay, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle, and Whitley Counties have indicated their participation and will be giving information on their job opportunities.

Dear Editor,

How about this one?

The operator of Livingston's Senior Citizens Food Service was asked if a sick resident of town could have his food delivered on March 2nd. Also asked if I could take him a plate on that date.

The answer was get a doctor's statement to the fact. The operator made a public announcement. Does anybody want any seconds on March 2. Who ever wanted seconds on that Tuesday got it.

But no plate was offered to that sick individual. Most all the people that go to dinner or lunch know that Mr. Mize is a sick individual. He has been a resident at my house since the 15th of last month and is confined mostly to bed.

Now Mr. Mize is going to the doctor today hoping he can get a doctor's statement. Oh, by the way I was going to pay for his lunch.

Do you all think people that have eaten one meal should have two and the sick person have none? Mr. Mize is 72 years old and a very sick individual.

I am sure the supervisor is only following instructions but how far can we go with restrictions? We are talking about people that can't get up and about to go and get their own meal and the sick are entitled as much or more than anyone.

My Friends,

We are born to die, and die we will. Our living days are considered as a waiting period, so look ahead and prepare for the final day, do not forget and let it fade away.

Again, I seek for one more term -- 5 years this time -- the office of Magistrate of the First District. I again, as in the past, will serve all people in an honest and efficient manner. My record is above and beyond reproach.

Dallas Brooks' bridge is almost ready for new construction. "Purr Rigby Intersection will begin shortly. This was accomplished by Charles D. Holbrook, a county-wide known gentleman of impeccable qualifications completely dedicated to placing Rockcastle on firm ground and preparing for the future.

My friends know I am a humble and free-hearted man. Read the following and you will understand a spike-driving railroad man, a money-making farming man, a banking man, a counting man, a street-sweeping man, a talented and quick-stepping man, a Boom Boom working man, a seller of Boom Boom Business Rings. A "Mind Your Own '88" Business Man. Do you qualify for a Business Ring? I am young at heart and a business ring is not my kind of ring. Yes, my friends, I am now a salesman.

I know a fellow down the road that drives an old yellow bus. He must have aimed it the time he run in the river. He's mean and Boom Boom don't like him. They call him Spike. He's a spliter. approval of a road improvement project for Rockcastle County.

The project includes a sight distance correction at the intersection of KY-1505 and Pur Rigby Road (County Road 1405) where workers will be relocating a portion of the roadway to improve the view of travelers.

"Our rural roadways are the backbone of this Commonwealth's transportation network," Kelly said. "With-out a safe, efficient rural road system, we cannot continue to grow competitively. We look forward to working with the residents and officials here in an effort to improve our rural transportation system, to ensure the safety of our travelers and to move Kentucky another step forward."

The project, expected to total $21,396, is being funded through the state's Rural Secondary Program, which consists of gasoline tax revenues. Funds are distributed to each Kentucky county based on land size, rural road mileage and population. Kelly added that the project will be completed by state forces and should begin as soon as possible.

Roamin' Rockcastle

By Hilda Payne Gabbard

Under a cover of softly falling white snowflakes, Mondella Spurlock lays at rest in her last sleep. She looked beautiful as she lay in her coffin, having fought a battle up to her last day with cancer.

Mondella must have had some of the mountain women's strength in her. She never gave up, nor complained.

Mondella was a fighter and had been all her life for 54 years and she didn't give up as the doctor told her that she didn't have long to live. She endured treatments hoping they would help.

"I would go and see my niece and as she lay in bed at home, I always had this farewell." Bye, Mondella, I love you.

Her reply was, "I love you too." That bound us together.

"I would joke with her when I went another time by saying, 'What are you doing in that bed?' Get up, Mondella, for I wanted you to go to a square dance in the hills with me tonight."

"Lord, if I could get out of this bed, I'd go now. I wouldn't wait until tonight!" This showed she had humor.

I taught Mondella one year at the Duputana School when she was a very young girl. We moved away to Northern Kentucky, and I saw her one more until we returned to Clear Creek in 1981. She has been in my life ever since.

It has been during these last years that I learned she was a fighter in life, filled with ambition.

Marrned at an early age, she had many obstacles in her life but didn't give up. She attended E.K.U. and got training as a nurse, then became a doctor's assistant in the operating room.

Myrtle Gabbard, an aunt, says, "I can't get over losing Mondella for I've been with her since she was a baby and had taken care of her. I feel I've raised Mondella and it's like she was my own. Losing my child, I can't get over it."

She and Clay went back to the graveyard to be with Mondella as several other women have done. It seems to comfort them.

When Spring comes, I will go and see Mondella when the leaves are green and lacy-looking with early blooming wild flowers.

I've learned that I have a good reader of the Citizen in New Mexico by the name of Nathan Welch, a former Berea boy. I talked with his sister, Elsie Welch Greene, who is a clerk in the Berea Hospital Gift Shop. She is such an attractive lady and has a familiar face which I recognized as being in the Welch family. I met her mother in the Berea High Care Home and knew her father, Bob Welch.

Elsie says Nathan gets the Citizen to keep up with the Berea news. So, thanks to Nathan for being a reader.

I stopped at Maudie Miller's home in Duputana. She has been having some trouble with her eyes and had a cataract removed from one eye.

Maudie said, "All I do is just look down the road. I can't drive as I used to. I'm hoping I can rent the apartment here to someone who will drive me and we'll just stay on the road all the time."

She calls neighbors for company, like Martha Brown or Pearl Chastain. Well, I got a call from Margaret Croyer by sometimes.

I think the telephone has been one of the best things that has happened to country women.

I told you of my taking some mountain tea leaves to Brenda at the office. Well, I got a call from Margaret Linville today after she had read about it in the Citizen.

Margaret said, "Oh, I have been trying to get mountain tea leaves from folks because I've been dying for it. Could you get me some and I'll pay you for it?"

"Well, Margaret, if you can save enough money to pay for the plant, we'll try to get you some. You'll need to save a bushel basket full." I told her laughing.

John said, "You know, we might get another business started with selling mountain tea beside the sorghum molasses."

I saw Edd Linville come out of Superior Market carrying two large bags of groceries last week. That's the kind of man to go for they'll have plenty to eat.

We attended church at Macedonia Sunday and heard Bro. Sears deliver a good sermon, but, he has been doing that for a long time.

Gail Reice plays the piano at Macedonia which helps the singing. I love piano music.

After church, I talked to Heather Reynolds who was wearing a pretty ring on her left hand, third finger.

With her was her boyfriend, John Adams, the handsome fellow whom she'd met up there at Bill Stephen's home last summer.

Both young people are in college which is the right thing for them to do, they think, until they finish school.

After church, John and I drove over to Mt. Vernon and on to Ottawa to see Bro. Bill Hammond, who lives at Ottawa. He is the pastor of Pleasant Run Baptist Church down near the Laurel County line.

John thinks so much of this man as if he were his own brother. Brother Bill said he will come this way in a month or so. Then he said, "When I do, have a big kettle of soup beans ready and on the stove."

"I promised I would but I'll need time to cook them. So let me know when you'll be up this way."

Coming back through Mt. Vernon, we saw a restaurant called, "The Blue Plate Special." We found it special for the food was great.

Not only that, but the pretty girl who served us did a great job too. Her name was Earline Young and her boss should know of the good service she gives the customers.

I tell you, if the county judge's race in Rockcastle was run on looks, Buzz Carliflos of Livingston would win it hands down.

Preacher Ira Dean's cute wife, Lilly, pushed her grocery cart up to me in Superior Market and showed me a bottle in her cart.

"Well, I got you and Brother Dean drink, too," I said to her.

(All of you who opened your mouth wide in shock, can now close it.)

"Oh, yes, we drink it sometimes in the mornings when we feel bad," Lilly said to me. "A cup of this saffras tea will help you get up and go."

She was holding a bottle of saffras tea concentrate which you don't have to boil as "old timers" did with the roots. You can make instant tea with the liquid.

I had a bottle of tea sometimes when I go visiting. But, not to Mary Frances Payne's house anymore. I took the bottle down to see her and she said she had a cup of tea.

So, we talked and when I got ready to go, Mary was embarrassed that we had made a deal. But, I didn't leave my bottle (of tea). I've seen people start something and empty the whole bottle.

John and I were out to Lee and Kaye, Abby's home one night and I gave him a birthday gift of good smelling aftershave and a bottle of perfume.

"Kaye," I said, "let Lee wear the aftershave lotion when he goes to church. Let him wear the perfume at home where you are or when I come visiting." Kaye agreed.

She was making the prettiest quilt top; the name was a Dresden Plate. I asked whom she was making it for.

"Oh, somebody of my good friends," she said. I told her I hoped I was but she didn't seem to hear.

I asked Michele, their daughter, not long ago how her love life was and she answered, "Oh, great! I'm still dating the same fellow as I did some years ago."

Now that could lead to a wedding. Our mailman, John Gilbert, is all set for this snowy weather with his thick, black beard. He started it some time ago to keep his face warm.

Tim Beardsley does it with pretty, wavy, long hair down to his shoulders, almost. More on this next week. Till next week: Success is a matter of not quitting and failure is a matter of giving up too soon.
