

"Readers Write"
(Cont. from B-2)

"There was Mother," by Christine Harper McKinney who wrote this as a special tribute to her own mother, Mrs. Josephine Harper.
Mrs. McKinney scribbled the poem on a paper napkin, May 23, 1979, as she sat quietly meditating inside the Cox Funeral Home while waiting for her mother's funeral service to begin. Buddy Cox, the director, graciously typed it up for her, just in time to submit it to the minister who read it as part of the service. It read the original, on Cox business stationery, is still in the author's collection and she has had it published in the Signal at least twice on the anniversary of her mother's death.

This truly is a fitting tribute to any mother who has managed to raise a number of fatherless children, but when using another's literary works, I feel the author should be given credit and that neither the words or titles should be altered without written permission.

Thanking you kindly, I am Sincerely yours,
Margaret Dyehouse

Dear Parents and Volunteers,
As you know it is baseball season again. I would like to take the opportunity to welcome all of you to the Rockcastle Little League. We need each and every parent and volunteer to make a successful league. We need volunteer umpires, concession workers, field personnel.

If anyone would like to help make this the best season ever please volunteer your time to the children of Rockcastle County. If you can help in any way, please call 758-9220.

Thank you,
Coy Taylor, President

P.S.: Opening day is April 24th!

which moves from beginning to end, at the relentless pace of a blizzard.
A pivotal character is one of Dr. Gregory's patients, seventeen-year-old Randy Navens. He has been in psychotherapy since he survived a plane crash that claimed the lives of his parents and his sister. Now he is living with his aunt and uncle, and is haunted by nightmares and suicidal impulses. The unique course of his treatment takes Dr. Gregory on a quest that soon ensnarls both doctor and patient in a dangerous web that threatens both their lives.

White, himself a clinical psychologist, explores the darker side of his profession and examines the terrible damage that can be caused by unethical or unscrupulous psychotherapists: He succeeds brilliantly in an evocative novel that, with a juggler's dexterity-combines mystery, thrills, wit, and misusing suspense.

To the people of the Fifth District

Because, like so many others, I had to leave home to find work, some of you don't remember me.

I would like to tell you a little about my family.
My dad was Frank M. Ponder. He worked for the L & N Railroad prior to his death in 1948.

My mom was Virgie Ponder who died in 1982.
I have three sisters left: Ruby Mahaffey, Evelyn Amburgey and Tavis Bryant. Two of my sisters have gone on to be with the Lord and one brother who died at 2 1/2 years of age.
My oldest brother, Fred J.R., died just a few months ago.
My brother, Kenneth, lives at Hebron, Ky. And, oh yes, I have a brother named Paul.

I would say I am some kin to all the Ponder's in the county. I came back home in 1977 while still working in Dayton, Ohio. I came home every week end. I made all my money in Ohio and spent all of it in Kentucky.

I lost my job in 1991. I had worked for Turner Electric for just about 27 years when they went out of business.

I was forced into early retirement and I just don't get enough money to quite make ends meet.

So, if you elect me to be your magistrate, the money I would be paid would be a blessing to me.

But, much more than that, I truly believe I can help Rockcastle Co. and the 5th District.

So, any help you will give to me, I will be forever grateful.

DELL F. PONDER

Roamin' Rockcastle

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

Here it is the middle of April and we're still having rainy cold weather. John and his brother, Clay Gabbard, decided to hunt dryland fish, a kind of mushroom, very good when it's fried, one day. They grow best in wet, damp weather.

When we went to church at Clear Creek Baptist, I talked to Inez Miller Stanley out front before services began.

"We have a lot of the Dees folks who come here to church and they are some of the best people around here," Inez said.

That sure is a good recommendation to us. Carolyn Nicely played the piano and someone sang that beautiful song "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow and I Know Who Holds My Hand."

Matilda Miller, Wanda Russell, Raymond and Lorene Hurley, Judy and Tasha Spiers and Inez Stanley are some old friends that we see at church there.

Another song that can break me down is "I Come to the Garden Alone" and it was sung.

The sign over the church door said Clear Creek Baptist Church founded in 1898 with 1962 being a date that the church had some remodeling done. New restrooms are being put in which will help the place a lot.

Henry Voltmer, a long time reader in Indiana called me to find out what was happening to the Berea Citizen, as he was taking that paper, as well as the Signal, to read my column. He said, "I have been reading both papers and I want to know what is happening."

Henry had liked my greeting "Hello from Clear Creek" in the Signal so he starts his letters to me with "Hello from Cedar Creek," the place where he lives.

David Hale, at Macedonia Church, was talking to John after service. I invited David to bring his wife to see us after supper some night.

"We'll come and bring supper. How would you like to have a nice possum to eat?" David asked.

"Be sure it's a young possum. The older ones are tough to cook," I said, laughing with him.

"What about some nice sweet potatoes to cook with?" Dave got carried away in helping to plan the meal. He is always joking and I find he is a reader of the Signal even though he lives at Berea.

We live close to the sewer plant and I take walks on that road often. There's not much traffic.

One day I was walking along on the road when I happened to look back. Right behind me was a truck driving slowly with David Hale and Larry Phillips and I hadn't even heard them.

They were laughing at me so hard as I jumped to the side of the road and hilled at them.

"It'll get even some way for you all scaring the life out of me."

Still laughing, they went on out the road, and I will. You just watch this column and see if I don't.

I see where Manuel Lakes had a birthday on April 3rd.

I don't know his age but he is wearing a beard. Isn't that a sign of getting close to old age?

And Bodie Barnett teaches another year on April 20th. He better hurry up and get married even though he said he didn't have time. He said his girl friends got mad over the last news he gave me.

Flossie and Bill Stephens, my kinfolks (even though they say little about it) were invited to Tommy and Lora Stephens home for a late Christmas dinner since Lora was sick at Christmas.

All the family gathered in since they didn't mind eating a turkey and ham dinner in late March.

I hear they did to the two napskins around cousin Bill's neck if he got in too much of a hurry.

John and his brother, Clay Gabbard, hauled slats out of Climax for wood to burn under the pan where they make molasses. I went along for the ride and to get news.

It was a morning clouded with heavy fog that hung around the high hills. We were riding through clouds.

Driving up steep Lonan Hill, we went out a flat top ridge by the big sink hole where a constable was thrown over into the sink hole some years ago by some tough men when he tried to enforce the law.

Then the steep road went down the hill into Climax community where the large Hardin and Catherine Moore family was raised. The Moores kept a store and ran the rural postoffice.

There were many tales told about some of the old trees growing up and down the valley. One big, tall, red oak is still standing and it was full of bullet holes. They say it was used by men to prove their marksmanship.

At one time my cousin Rick McGuire, who married one of the Moore boys called Doc lived at the old homeplace after many of the Moore family had scattered into the future.

I was told by Virgil Mullins that Rick would shoot into an old oak tree, while sitting on the porch to prove that he was as good as the men.

I tell you I'm going to be a careful woman I write about a woman who was such a good shot.

I have said that Rockcastle is such a good place to live that folks who go away come back to live here.

I'm talking to Virgil Mullins, Nathan's brother, who favors Nathan a lot, he said his daughter, Professor Jane Whitlock, and husband Professor Elmer Whitlock work at U.K. but drive back and forth to their home at Climax to live.

There is a lot of history in many Kentucky communities.

Across the fields, grown up in weeds, sprouts and bushes stands an old broken down house which Virgil Mullins said had been claimed as being 125 years old. It had been the home of Jim Sexton, and his family since 1868 when his father befor him, and the ones after him had lived in this house.

Old timer Jim Sexton had been a young man when my mother, Martha Jane Abney, and he grew up together along with her sisters.

Mother used to tell this tale later in life. One morning while she was milking a cow in the barnyard, Jim hung around near by.

Suddenly he said, "Janie, they are telling over at Crooked Creek that you and me are fixing to get married."

Mother, who always felt like Jim was a brother, exclaimed, "You told them better, didn't you, Jim, that we are not!"

Slowly, Jim said, "Yes, but I wished it was so."

No one lives in the Blufford and Stella Sexton house built near by the old, old Sexton homestead.

It was said that Blufford left it standing as a memory of his boyhood. A granddaughter that Blufford and Stella raised lived in it for awhile with her husband but they have gone elsewhere, Virgil said.

The Sexton family are all gone now except a girl Catherine Clark wife of Nathan who lives at Wildie. I plan to go see them soon and follow up on the Sexton family history.

The last Sexton man, Claude, who lived in Ohio died last week and was buried there.

Till next week, when I tell of a fellow I'm very much in love with and John doesn't even care. Happiness shared is happiness doubled.

Park system is deteriorating

Kentucky's 46 state parks are deteriorating and need more than $300 million in improvements to attract visitors, according to a draft report.

The system, once praised as the nation's best, has declined at a time when expenses to keep it operating are outpacing revenues, the state Office of Program Review and Investigations said in the report.

The operating budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992, was $63.1 million. The park system is expected to generate $40 million, or 64 percent of the total budget.

The majority of the state resort park lodges and ancillary facilities were constructed over 25 years ago," the report said. "Age, use and budgetary constraints have contributed to the declining condition of Kentucky's state park facilities and properties."

Renovations and major repairs have been limited over the past several years, the report said, noting that the state Department of Parks spends up to $15 million annually on renovations and repairs.

A six-year capital improvement plan released in 1990 listed 107 projects that were to cost more than $200,000 each, a total of $152 million.

Host families sought for International High School students

American Host families are being sought for high school students from Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, South America, and Australia for the 1993-94 school year in a program sponsored by the American International Student Exchange (AISE).

These exceptional students, ages 15 through 18, will arrive in the United States in August, 1993, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June of 1994. The students, all fluent in English, have been carefully screened by the local representatives in their home countries, and have their own medical insurance and spending money.

Host families participating in this program may deduct $50 per month for income tax purposes.

County course included on ALA's Golf Card

The American Lung Association of Kentucky's popular Kentucky Golf Tour Card is a decade old this spring, and in celebration, the health agency is offering the biggest and best golfing package in the card's ten year history.

The 1993 Kentucky Golf Tour Card lists 94 participating Kentucky courses which are waiving their greens fees for each cardholder. Some courses offer multiple rounds. On this year's course list are clubs in and around Rockcastle County, including Cedar Rapids Recreation Center in Mt. Vernon.

According to professional golfer and trick shot artist, Buddy Demling, honorary chairman of the project, the golf tour card has become so big, it's actually not a card, but a booklet this year. "At the nominal price of $30, a golfer couldn't find a better bargain anywhere in Kentucky," he said. Demling invited golfers to "take a swing" at lung disease while they enjoy playing the many fine courses all across Kentucky. Card use is good now through December.

As an added bonus for a 1993, the Lung Association is offering a super foursome special -- buy three cards at the regular price and receive the fourth one free. The cost per golfer would then be only $22.50.

Cards may be purchased by calling the American Lung Association of Kentucky at (502) 366-2652 or toll free, 1-800-366-5864. They may be ordered by sending a check for $30 ($90 for the foursome package) to the American Lung Association of Kentucky, P.O. Box 9067, Louisville, KY 40209. Credit card orders are accepted.

To the people of the 4th District . .

I am a candidate for your magistratè. For those of you who do not know me, I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself.

I was born in Rockcastle County October 31, 1950. I am the son of the late Ben Clark and Lura Anglin Clark. I have four brothers, Lloyd, James, Cecil and Kenneth and one sister, Kay. I am married to Jean, the daughter of Viola Van Winkle Miller and the late Monroe Miller. Jean and I have two sons, Stacy, 19, and Kevin, 10, and two daughters, Michelle, 14, and Gail 12.

I am currently employed at Southern Madison Water District as a heavy equipment operator. My wife, Jean, is employed at Berea Hospital as a Respiratory Therapist.

As your magistratè, my first priority is to serve you fairly. By this, I would work to build and maintain all roads in the 4th District.

I have no other reasons for wanting this important position of our fiscal court. I will always seek your opinions, not just during the election, but throughout my term, if I win. Together, we can improve the roads of the Fourth District and the county over all.

My honesty and integrity has been demonstrated for the last 42 years. If you do not know me please ask someone who does.

In closing this introduction, on behalf of myself and many people who asked me to run for this office, I would like to say thanks, and that we need and appreciate your support. I hope to see and speak with as many of you as possible before election time.

Sincerely,

Robert Clark

Rockets' softball team defeats Corbin in opening day play

It's been rather busy but the Rockcastle County Rockets softball team have already posted nine games since opening day play last Thursday.

They began this year's campaign with landslide margins over visiting Corbin. The Rockets rolled in the first game, 16-0, and backed it up with a 14-1 second game.

The Rockets saw most of their action in London Saturday as they participated in a 16 team field round-robin tournament. They went 2-3 on the day with wins over Pulaski County, 9-3, and Whitesburg, 3-2. They lost to Middlesboro, 8-5, Wayne County, 10-4, and Pikeville, 4-3. Results from the tourney will not be recorded as regular season play.

The Rockets traveled to Monticello Monday where they suffered two losses to even their seasonal mark at 2-2. Monticello took the first game 12-2 and the second by one, 4-3.

Corbin proved to be no match in opening day play. The Rockets posted 16 runs on 15 hits and committed only three errors in the field to deny Corbin of any runs in the first game.

The Rockets put up similar numbers in the second game. They scored 14 runs on 13 hits and again committed only three errors. Corbin did manage only one run in the game.

Statistically for Rockets in the first game: Melinda Smith, one for three with one run, a triple and one run batted in; Anna Stevens, zero for one with one run and three runs batted in; Amber Hodges, zero for one; Janetta McLemore, zero for one; Amy Robinson, two for three with one run; Angie Moore, two for three with two runs, two home runs and three runs batted in; Donna Cash, zero for three; Beth Amyx, one for one; Kim Kirby, zero for two with one run; Regina Collins, one for one with one run and a run batted in; and Ginger Mink, one for one with one run.

Against Monticello
Monticello put 14 hits in play to score 12 runs and defeat the Rockets in five innings in Monday's first game. The Rockets suffered a very poor evening from the plate with only three hits. Cindy McCauley garnered the only run scoring hit, a two run homer in the first which drove in Becky Osborne who had reached on a fielder's choice.

The Rockets were again plagued with slow bats in the second game

Baseball team gets first win of year

Although losing two the Rockcastle County Rockets baseball team did pick up their first win of the year over Whitley County, 5-2, last Thursday at home. The outing put a much needed digit in the win column for their now 1-3 season record.

The Rockets suffered their losses to Corbin, 6-2, last Wednesday and to South Laurel, 4-1, last Friday.

Though it ended as a loss, the and stolen base to post the tying run for the Rockets.

Corbin quickly retaliated in the eighth with a walk and four singles to score four runs and break the game open.

Statistically for the Rockets: Greg Bowman, zero for two with two walks and one stolen base; Scottie Cotton, zero for four; Mickey McClure, zero for four; J.D. Bussell, one for four with two stolen bases; Jason Goff, zero for three with one walk; Jon Martin, zero for one with one run and one stolen base; Eric McKinney, zero for two; Jason Payne, zero for two; Mike Tackett, one for two with one run, a walk and two stolen bases; and Gregg Goff, zero for two with one walk.

As a team the Rockets had 26 at bats, two runs, two hits, six walks and six stolen bases.
In their win over, Whitley the Rockets got a superb outing from hurler Gregg Goff. Goff got the win in seven innings of work while giving up only six hits for two runs, only one earned. He also fanned five batters while walking none.

The Rockets scored two runs quickly in the first inning on consecutive singles and stolen bases by Mickey McClure and J.D. Bussell. Bussell got one RBI while Jason Goff's double collected the other.

Two more runs scored in the fourth when Jason Payne reached on a single and later scored on a two run blast by Jon Martin.

Bussell collected the final RBI for the Rockets in the fifth with a single to drive in McClure who had reached base safely on a double.

Whitley managed their two runs in the sixth inning on two singles and a double.

As a team the Rockets had 24 at bats with nine hits for five runs. They received one base-on-balls and stole five bases.

Statistically for the Rockets: Greg Bowman, zero for two with one walk; Eric McKinney, zero for two with a sacrifice; Mickey McClure, two for three with two runs, a double and stolen base; J.D. Bussell, two for three with one run, two runs batted in and two stolen bases; Jason Goff, one for three with a double and run batted in; Jason Payne, one for three with one run and stolen base; Jon Martin, three for three, with one run, a homerun, two runs batted in and stolen runs; Mike Tackett, zero for one; Gregg Goff, zero for two; Ryan Ponder, zero for two.

South Laurel pitcher Robert Muncy shut down the Rockets' offensive production in play last Friday.

Against Muncy the Rockets produced only three hits for one run in 22 at bats. McClure, Jason Hunt and Eric McKinney were the only hitters to reach base on a hit.

The Rockets put two of the hits together in the first to score their only run. McClure reached on a single and was able to advance on a single by Hunt. McClure later scored on a fielder's choice hit Jason Goff.

South Laurel scored one run in the third inning and three in the seventh off a three run homer by clean-up hitter Mark Hammond.

Bussell was the losing pitcher for the Rockets.

Individually for the Rockets in the game were: Jason Payne, zero for three; Mickey McClure, one for three with one run; J.D. Bussell, zero for one with one walk; Jason Hunt, one for three; Jason Goff, zero for three with one run batted in; Jon Martin, zero for three; Gregg Goff, zero for two with one walk; Eric McKinney, zero for three; and Scottie Cotton, zero for one.

Environmental Series Motivates, provides solutions
Earthkeeping "A Call to Action," airing on KET at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 21, is the first of four quarterly specials designed to escape the trap of merely pointing out the now well-known problems of the environment and get on with the solutions.

The American Woodshop on KET features Bruce woodworker.
Scott Phillips, host of The American Woodshop, visits with Rude Cokolnik, a Berea resident who has been teaching wood turning for more than 50 years in a program airing on KET at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 20.

Special probes the history of anti-semitism
The Longest Haired, a two-and-one-half hour special airing on KET at 9 p.m. Wednesday, April 21, marks television's first documentary analysis of the history of anti-Semitism. Divided into three segments, the special explores the insidious attitude that often casts Jews as "permanently outsiders and threats to society."

IN MEMORY
By: Terri Cromer
So long good friend, your smile we miss
Your tender touch and loving kiss
You're missed by friends, family and me
Unfortunately your life will no longer be.

Seventeen years has stopped in its track
I wish there was a way we could bring you back
The hardest thing o say would be goodbye
The toughest question to answer would be the one called why?

So many of us want to talk to you
But now you're gone our world seems blue
Your loving laugh and crazy ways
To remember them all would make anyone say

Why did it happen to someone like you
Your life had meaning, something that was true.
As we remember back to all that was good
We may wonder - was he understood

As you look upon us after we've gone
We'll try to live our lives as we go on.
With a friend like you, why would we worry
Too bad we don't have the chance to say we're sorry.

For all we've said and done to make you upset
There's definitely one thing you can't be
If we all had the chance to see you again
Everyone would be thankful to call you our friend.

As we say farewell and live our lives
We'll go day by day in sorrow and stride.
You're loved and missed by us all
There's one thing to say, you heard your beckon call.

By: Tosha Allen

There's an emptiness deep inside my heart.
My soul feels lifeless. I've cried for a day now, I don't know when the pain will end or when those memories will stop haunting my dreams.
Everyone blames his or herself, but we all know that none could hold you back.
The tears are still falling, tears are still falling, touched the rumpled heap that was left as a memento to all who knew and all who loved you.
With a blink you are a star, walking along the clouds, now you can be who you really are.

The tears are still falling, tears are still falling, you no longer have to cry.
You never were afraid to die.
You're at a place where you are at rest.
God always knows what's best.
The tears are still falling, tears are falling, I lied to you, I did more than care, my love, yes, I wanted to share.
Thank you for the good times and even the bad.
Thank you for being you and only you. I will visit you often and speak of my regrets, until we meet again.
The tears are still falling, tears are falling.

NOTICE

IN RE: Application for Special Service Charges Increase for Northern Rockcastle County Water District Effective June 1, 1993

The Northern Rockcastle Water District is filing an application with the Kentucky Public Service Commission requesting approval of the service charge revisions as follows:
1. An increase in the tap-on-fees for a new 5/8"x3/4" meter tap-on-fee to $375.00. All other tap-on-fee larger than 5/8"x3/4" meter are to be at actual cost.
2. The following Special Service Charges are established as follows:
a. Special Reconnect Charge $30
b. Meter Reding Recheck Charge $15
c. Requested Meter Test $20
d. Inspection of New Service Line $25
e. Returned check charge $15
f. Deposit $50
g. Fire Hydrants $75
This increase in the meter tap-on-fees will not affect existing customers, and the reconnect charge will only affect someone disconnected for non-payment or reconnected. The meter reading recheck and meter test will only affect existing customers if they request same, the returned check charge will only affect those customers who give the District a bad check.
The tap-on-fees and Service Charges in this notice are the charges proposed by Northern Rockcastle County Water District. However, The Kentucky Public Service Commission may order charges that differ from these proposed charges for consumers other than the charges in this notice.
Any corporation, Association, body politic or person may request leave to intervene by motion within 30 days after notice of the proposed rate changes is given. The motion shall be submitted to the Public Service Commission, 730 Schenck Lane, P. O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, and shall set forth the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. Intervenor may obtain copies of the application and testimony by contacting Northern Rockcastle Water District, Route 3, Box 79, Mt. Vernon, KY. A copy of the application and testimony shall be available for public inspection at the utility's offices.

Price support comments due April 19

The U.S. Department of Agriculture invites farmers and other interested people to submit comments by April 19, on price support program changes for wheat, feed grains, oilseeds, and honey.

Kenneth H. Ashby, State Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said the proposed changes will allow farmers having an interest in storing marketing or purchasing commodities to act as the producer's agent.

Two or more producers may obtain a joint loan deficiency payment (LDP) for a commodity commingled in the same storage facility, and each producer would be jointly liable for obligations stated in documents for obtaining an LDP.

To be eligible for price support benefits, a farmer must retain title and risk of loss in the commodity and control of the commodity, Ashby said. The Commodity Credit Corporation will no longer require a producer to obtain a lease agreement when commodities are stored in leased space.

The proposed provisions also include new administrative actions for violations involving incorrect certification, unauthorized removal and unauthorized disposition, relieving the producer from repaying the outstanding loan for which the violation occurred while maintaining eligibility for future farm-store loans.

USDA will make available loans at a rate reduced for quality discounts on grain otherwise not eligible to be pledged as loan collateral because of quality. The definition of mortgaged quantity will be the same as the loan quantity. Therefore, the quantity accepted into inventory for settlement of a farm-stored loan is 100 percent of the outstanding farm-stored loan quantity, according to Ashby.

"When a loan is requested, producers now may designate additional storage structures that may be used for storage of the loan collateral. They will be able to move loan collateral among these designated structures without prior written approval from our office," Ashby said.

Under the new provisions, a producer who would lose beneficial interest when a commodity, except honey, is delivered to a warehouse, buyer, processor, or cooperative, may request a loan deficiency payment on or before harvest for a quantity of the commodity which would otherwise be ineligible because of the loss of such beneficial interest.

Further details on these and other proposed price support changes may be obtained from the Rockcastle County ASCS Office. Written comments should be mailed to the Director, Cotton, Grains and Rice Price Support Division, USDA/ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Eligibility for participation in ASCS programs is open to all applicants as established under law without regard to age, color, disability, marital status, national origin, race, religion, or sex.

Nodding thistle robbing farmers of pasture land

By: Tom Mills
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

A controllable weed is robbing Kentucky farmers of pasture production. The weed, called nodding thistle, can be controlled by attacking them at the right time. The weed produces thousands of seed each year capable of producing thousands of new plants.

The key to controlling the weed is to take measures to control it before it sets seed, which is usually in late May and early June. Once seed has set, it is difficult to control the spread of the seed and farmers will need to wait until fall or next spring to obtain control of even more weeds.

The nodding thistle emerges as a rosette which is a circular cluster of leaves with the growing point close to the ground. The dark green rosette is six to eight inches in diameter. Rosettes appearing in the spring can be sprayed and killed. Herbicides such as 2, 4-D and Banvel are more effective when the rosette is small and actively growing. They can be sprayed in the spring as long as daytime temperatures are above 50 degrees. Timing is critical for good control. The weed must be attacked when it is small if the sprays are to be most effective. This means late April will be the last chance for farmers to get an effective chemical control this spring.

If spraying is delayed until the plant is older, it can be controlled by either mowing the plants or hoeing it out by hand. However, with either method, the weed must be destroyed before it sets seed. Mowing at or after bloom may mean that the seeds produced will be scattered to a larger area. Chemical control is the best means in eliminating seed production. The Department of Agriculture and local Extension Service will be conducting a 10-acre Demonstrations on April 21 and 22. If you have pasture or hay fields infested with nodding thistle and would like to participate, call Tom Mills at 256-2403. The Department of Agriculture supplies the chemical and sprayer. The farmer supplies the water and applies the chemical with his farm tractor.

WHO IS GOING TO PROTECT YOUR CROP INVESTMENT AFTER APRIL 15?

It can be a long time from spring to fall. And if the weather isn't cooperating - or is downright bad - the days and weeks can seem mighty long. In times like these, it can be a big comfort to know that - come what may - your crop investment is protected. But there's only one way you can be certain it's protected: By carrying crop insurance. And there's only one time to do it: Soon. Because after April 15, it will be too late to apply for insurance.*

DEADLINE IS APRIL 15TH! To apply for crop insurance on most spring-planted crops in most areas. Check with an agent for information about insurance for the crops you produce.*

ASCS reviews planting options

Harold Ballinger, CED of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), says the 092 and 50/92 planting provisions will again be available to farmers enrolling in the 1993 Wheat and Feed Grain programs.

Under the 0-50/92 provisions, wheat and feed grain producers may devote all or a portion of their maximum payment acres to conservation uses, and get guaranteed deficiency payments on 92 percent of these acres, minus the actual acres planted to wheat or feed grains. "The planting of industrial and other crops on this acreage will not be permitted," Ballinger said.

The 092 conserving use (CU) acreage may be planted to sunflower seed, safflower, flaxseed, canola, rapeseed and mustard seed. "If minor oilseeds are planted on this acreage, producers must choose whether to retain deficiency payment eligibility and waive price support program eligibility or retain price support program eligibility and waive deficiency payment eligibility."

When minor oilseeds are planted on 092 acreage, the acreage may also be subsequently planted to the same crops that may be planted on flexible acreage, except program crops, in the same crop year. If soybeans are double-cropped, Ballinger said the farm must have an established history of double-cropping soybeans during at least three of the past five years. Farmers must agree to forego price support eligibility for the subsequently planted soybean acreage.

As with the 1992 programs, farmers will have more flexibility on up to 25 percent of the Crop Acreage Base. Ballinger said crops prohibited on the 1992 flexible acreage will be the same as those prohibited in 1992. "Because soybeans prices are projected to be higher than 105 percent of the $3.02-per-bushel 1993 loan rate, farmers will be permitted to plant soybeans on their optional flex program acreage."

The ASCS Official said farm program participants will not be permitted to plant designated crops, or oats for harvest on their acreage conservation reserve (ACR). Additional program details may be obtained from the Rockcastle County ASCS Office.

4-H and FFA to combine shows at state fair this year

By: John McQueary, County Extension Agent for 4-H

The 4-H and FFA livestock shows at the Kentucky State Fair will have a new look this year. At the request of the State Fair Board, they will be combined into one show. The show, which will be called the 4-H/FFA Junior Livestock Show, will include dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine.

Monty Chappell, 4-H coordinator in the department of animal sciences with the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture, said he sees the merger as a unique opportunity to work toward increasing the educational value of the shows and to showcase participants from both educational programs. 4-H and FFA members will show together in breeding, market, and showmanship classes. One set of champions will be named. The champion and reserve champion market animals will sell in the Sale of Champions. The shows will be jointly administered by UK Cooperative Extension Service personnel, FFA personnel, and agriculture teachers. Deadline for entering the dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine and sheep competition is July 1, 1993. The process is the same as in previous years.

The 4-H/FFA livestock competition at the State Fair will be as follows: dairy cattle, August 19-20; sheep, August 24-25; beef cattle, August 24-26 and swine, August 25-26.

Guilty plea entered by Louisville man

A Louisville man entered a guilty plea in Rockcastle Circuit Court April 12 for various charges stemming from a Nov. 30 wreck that killed a Mt. Vernon woman and injured two children.

Clayton Lewis' plea was for charges of manslaughter in first degree, assault in first degree and assault in second degree.

Killed in the wreck at the intersection of U.S. 25 and Ky. 461 near the former Red Top Restaurant was Michelle R. Lamb. Injured seriously were Tava S. Robinson and Britany R. Robinson.

Lewis was driving the vehicle which caused the crash at a time he had a blood alcohol content of .26 percent.

Commonwealth Attorney Benny E. Han's recommendation to the court was a sentence of 20 years to serve. Judge William Cain then ordered a presentence investigation and formal sentencing on May 14.

Lewis remains in the county jail to await sentencing. The impact of the collision as Mrs. Lamb waited at the stop sign cut her pick-up in two and threw the three out of the truck.

The two children were in a Lexington hospital for several weeks after the accident.

Youth dies when car hits tree

A 17-year-old RCHS student was killed early Sunday morning when his car struck a tree on U.S. 150.

James Hammond, 17, a junior at Rockcastle County High School, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hammond of Brodhead was killed Sunday morning when his car went out of control and struck a tree.

The accident occurred near David Thompson Tire Center on U.S. 150 about 2:30 a.m.

The Jaws of Life had to be used to get him out of the car.

Hammond was born in Somerset, March 11, 1976, the son of Willie and Kathy Mink Hammond. He was a student at Rockcastle County High School and a member of the Sand Hill Baptist Church.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Tanya Cromer and Kayla Hammond both of Brodhead; his paternal grandparents, Jack and Mae Hammond; his paternal great-grandmother, Snowie Nicely and maternal grandmother, Katie Mink, both of Livingston.

Services were April 14 at Dowell and Martin Funeral Home by Bro. Jimmy Williams. Burial was in the Sand Hill Cemetery.

Funeralbearers were Chuck Gray, Royce Gray, Freddie Pruitt, Jason McClure, Mike McClure, Coby Smith, Randall McFeron and Jessie Morgan.

Livingston man hits pole

A Livingston man has been charged by Mt. Vernon city police after his vehicle went out of control on Richmond Street and struck an electric pole.

Steven Sturgill, 29, was charged with driving under the influence, criminal mischief, possession of marijuana less than 8 ounces and resisting arrest.

Policeman John Bradley reported Sturgill was driving south on Richmond Street, came around the curve at McKenzie's Court and struck a Kentucky Utilities pole cutting it in half, tore down a state road sign, and damaged the McKenzie Court sign.

The accident occurred about 1 a.m. Sunday.

Sturgill refused any kind of sobriety testing and had to be subdued to be arrested.

Men unhurt; fence wasn't

Two area men escaped serious injury Friday night when their vehicle went out of control near Roundstone School.

Jamie Phillips, 18, of Livingston, lost control of his vehicle and went through a heavy chain-link fence at the school.

His passenger, Brian Ballinger of Berea was treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital.

About six sections of fence was knocked down.

Deputy Sheriff Libby Smith investigated the wreck.

Voter registration deadline reported

Rockcastle Countians who want to vote in the primary election on May 25 have until their county clerk's office closes on April 26 to register to vote, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage.

Countians can register to vote or check their voter registration records at the clerk's office. There they can obtain and fill out a voter registration card. The clerk can also identify their voter precinct and tell them where to go to cast their ballot, Babbage said.

Several changes have been made recently to make voter registration easier and more accessible.

Mail in registration forms are now in use in Kentucky. Several businesses across Kentucky have hosted voter registration drives and have allowed associates to register to vote at their work place.

Babbage also noted that there are several myths surrounding voter registration.

"Many persons say they are not registered to vote because they fear they will be chosen for jury duty. In 1990 the General Assembly changed the way jurors are selected. Now state law directs that jurors be chosen from driver's license records as well as voter registration rolls," Babbage said.

Another state law allows 17-year-olds who will be 18 on or by the date of the November general election to register and vote in the primary election. Additionally, high school principals or their assistants are to designate a person in each school to be responsible for informing students and school personnel of the availability of the registration forms and assist them in properly registering.

Nearly 600,000 Kentuckians are eligible but not registered to vote. "Citizens often say they feel far removed from the democratic process," Babbage said. "The unregistered are certainly far removed from having a say in the government services they pay for and receive."

"One of the major thrusts of government should be to open the door to all our citizens and remind them of their privilege to be a part of their government," he added.

Arts Council plans production

As part of its 10-year anniversary season the Rockcastle Council For The Arts will be presenting "The Reluctant Dragon," Friday, April 30 and Saturday, May 1 at Roundstone Elementary School.

"The Reluctant Dragon" is the classic story of a peaceful fellow who likes tea, poetry, and an afternoon snooze. Mischievous children stir the villagers to call in the famous dragon slayer, Saint George. A young boy befriends both of the "adversaries" and arranges a meeting between them. The comic battle that ensues provides an entertaining climax and of course a happy ending.

"We've updated the story somewhat," said Allen Pensol, director. "The story originally takes place in the Middle Ages, but its nice to think that dragons and knights can exist today, not just long ago and far away."

In the title role is David Phillips, owner/operator of Lane Signs, London. Phillips, having already appeared in numerous Arts Council productions view this story as very relevant for today's audiences because, "People should be able to settle their differences without fighting." Ed Cortas, whom Rockcastle audiences will remember as El Gato, in last summer's production of "The Fantafisticks" will take on the role of Saint George. Nathaniel Bullock, son of Lawrence and Phyllis Bullock, will appear as Edward, the young boy who befriends the dragon.

Jack Lewis has composed three original songs for the production and Shelley Parkerson will serve as stage manager. Other cast members include, Katie Wilson, Anna Plaster, Ruth Holman, Glen Burton, Josh Hale, Victoria Clontz, Bethanie Hammond, Carolyn McGuire, Kenny McGuire, Lauren Clontz.

Performance time for "The Reluctant Dragon" is 7 p.m. each evening and tickets are $3 per person.

County's future development highlight of scheduled meeting

Over the past year, the Cumberland Valley Area Development District, in conjunction with local officials, has developed a vision of area development that will be used as a guideline for economic development. As a part of the state-wide planning effort Kentucky 2001, Rockcastle County has participated in the formation of regional development ideas.

After several preliminary meetings earlier this year with area residents, the proposed vision statements are now ready to be finalized in a meeting on April 22, 1993, at 10 a.m. at the District Court Room in the Rockcastle County Courthouse.

At this meeting, the public is invited to again review the directions of future development for Rockcastle County and review and revise the potential project list that has been developed. The most important aspect of the Kentucky 2001 process is to encourage participation of the general public.

John Bruner, executive director of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District, is encouraging everyone who wishes to be involved in the process to attend and participate in the discussion.

"This process is intended to produce a true review of where we are and an understandable map of where we are going," Bruner said. "The participation of all interested citizens of each county is essential in developing an outline of what we want our area to be," Bruner said.

The finalized vision statements will be used in completing a state-wide economic development plan that is essential for the proper development and management of resources in the state and within the eight county region served by the Cumberland Valley Area Development District.

If there are any questions, please contact John Bruner or Jim Cass at 864-7391.

Indictments returned

Steven Hating, 34, of Brush Creek has been indicted by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury on three counts of wanton endangerment in the first degree.

He is accused of forcing Tonya Denny of Brodhead off the road. She went over an embankment.

Her passengers were Brian Coffman, 14, of Wilmore and Mike Wesley, 12, of Brodhead. Brian was treated at Rockcastle Hospital.

Hating was arrested on a warrant charging failure to render aid following an accident. Bond was set at $20,000 cash or property. He is scheduled for arraignment April 22.

Tina Vance, 27, Brodhead, was indicted on four counts of criminal possession of a forged instrument in the second degree.

She is accused of possessing forged checks totaling $490.73.

The Grand Jury failed to indict Brent Kirby for the murder of Frankie Griffin.

The Grand Jury will hear more witnesses when it convenes in May. He was indicted for carrying a concealed weapon and possession of a handgun by a convicted felon.

Griffin died of a single gunshot wound to the head at his home on Chestnut Ridge March 28.

Easter Egg Hunt

The weather was excellent and the children (and adults) were appreciative of Renfro Valley Folks' effort during their annual Easter Egg Hunt Saturday in the Valley. In the photo below, the hunt was on as parents helped the little ones. At right, one child got some individual attention from the Easter Bunny. Prize winners were: Chris Wood, 10 and up, son of Frank and Nettie Wood of Perry, Ohio; Laura Beth Bell, daughter of Larry and Leisha Bell of Mt. Vernon, 7 to 9 category; Christopher Rubert, 4 to 6 category, son of Ray and Sharon Ruberg of Cincinnati, Ohio and John Petercheff, 3 and under, son of John and Jamie Petercheff of Somerset.

I named him Fat Cat because, when he showed up at the back door late last fall, he acted like he owned the world. He did not want to be touched and when the Dalmatian puppy approached him out of curiosity they wound up with long bleeding scratches across their noses. Fat cat didn't give an inch.

He was ragged. His orange fur had gaps in it that went almost to the skin and he looked rather like a mean kid had gotten hold of him with a pair of scissors. He was limping and his right front foot was a mass of dried blood. I later discovered that one of his claws had been literally ripped out.

Fat Cat hadn't had much food in the weeks before he showed up at our place. He was basically skin and bones and I could count his ribs because his skin literally drooped over and sank between them. I suspect he lost the claw in a fight with something too big to be his supper and as a result he was so malnourished he would have been harmless to a mouse.

But what an attitude. Unlike most barn cats and strays that I have encountered over the years, Fat Cat was precisely the opposite of timid. He simply perched himself beside the door, turned his head over sideways longed me in the eye and uttered one long impatient meowooooowwwww! When I bent over to pet him, he hissed and spat.

"Don't even think about touching me imbecile," he seemed to be saying.

"Can't you tell by looking that I am in no mood for anything except two or three slices of bologna or a couple of weiners. I'm starving and I need to be fed so get on with it."

I went to the kitchen, filled a styrofoam bowl with milk and found a couple of weiners. When I went back outside, Fat Cat had tucked his injured paw under his chest. I sat the food in front of him and he proceeded to eat like a perfect gentleman.

While he was eating I saw some puttering around to do in our storage building. In short order, Fat Cat hobbled in and wandered around until he found a bushy basket with three seed potato sacks in it. He climbed in and proceeded to go to sleep as though that basket had been his bed for years. I finished my chores and he was still asleep so I locked him in the shed.

Several hours later, at bedtime, I decided to go check on Fat Cat. But he had already found a way to get out of the shed. I looked in the barns and silos and all around, but he had disappeared. I figured he was back on his way to wherever he was going.

Several days went by before I came home one afternoon and Fat Cat, looking as ragged as ever was perched again on the back step. Insisting again that he was hungry, and that if I had a lick of sense I would know that already.

"Get me something to eat and be pert about it. My foot hurts and I don't have all day to mess around here. Hop to it now."

"Yes Sir!" I told him and I never felt a bit foolish about talking to a cat. Loretta had baked a turkey and there was about a quart of drippings and a pound or so of skin and wings and stuff like that saved back for the pups. I filled a bowl with turkey stuff, added some liquid worm medicine we keep for Socrates, our indoor cat. Fat Cat licked the platter clean and proceeded to go on about his business.

As the winter wore on his visits became more frequent. His paw gradually healed, his coat started shining and his ribs disappeared. By late winter, he showed up every day. When I'm out in the yard or doing gardening stuff, he's seldom more than a few feet away. He'll rub up against my leg and he seems perfectly content with my company.

The pups new weigh more than 60 pounds each and on occasion they'll try to snitch a bit of Fat Cat's supper. They never get anything except a bloody scratch for their efforts but they still feel obligated to try.

We have no ideal where he sleeps at night. I have a sneaky suspicion that someone else in the neighborhood provides him with breakfast because he's beginning to live up to the name I hung on him several months ago. When visitors ask about him, I tell them he really isn't my cat as much as I'm his person. I tell them that I'm negotiating to see if he'd be willing to plant my garden and keep the pups out of it, in which case he can have any place he wants in the shed and a good breakfast to boot.

In the meantime it's nice just to have him around.

hadama (ca. 3500 B.S.), Se miteros iks-traj smepah, which roughly translated means "The snow falleth on evergreen."

So, I dismissed the notion that my anti-Tilonian diatribe was in any way related to the blizzard of my bouts with the flu. But days later, when the snow melted, my misgivings reoccurred. There, lying two inches deep west of the water meter well in my front yard, was a long, gigantic, cow-patty! (No lie.)

Upon examination of the droppings and the vicinity thereof, I found no tracks, bovine or human. And the way the deposit adhered to the grass beneath the mass clearly led to the conclusion that it was warm when it fell, about the time the snow commenced.

How did it get there? I quizzed my cattle-raising neighbors, but no one knew of any strays or broken fences. The pile could have been placed there by a foe of mine, but some signs of patty disturbance would have been visible under my microscope. None appeared. Besides, transplaning a molten patty is perit nig impossible.

Well, what do I make of all that? The conclusion is obvious. Either cows do fly or the Almighty is telling me to lay off Tilton, lest my neighbors awake some morning to the sight of my lifeless carcass, smothered upright in my front yard in a humongous heap of _____ (You supply the terminology, dear reader. I have taken a Moravian vow not to deal in falsehood and certain facets of barnyard imagery.)

Until next week, precious souls, fret not because of evidences. And while you're at it, consider the wisdom of Verona Crosswithe Appleby, that erstwhile Cockney idol of weight-wachers everywhere from the British Isles to Tanzania, author of The Power of Positive Shrinking, and part-time soothsayer for the House of Commons, who, while contemplating bankruptcy over a meal of rice cakes and celery juice, looked up to her husband with an aspect in her eye, and concluded, "Percy, there's no place like 'ome when you can't afford to eat out."

Heresay

By: John Norman Meadows (a.k.a. Jon of Wabd, Ph.D. & D.N.C.)

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE. I do enjoy writing, especially this weekly article. But there are seasons when I don't write simply because I'm not "inspired" to do so. If it doesn't grab me, it surely won't ring your chime. Now you have a reason for the absence of "Heresay" in this August, weekly missive called The Signal, for which I was a printer's devil in 1953-54.

However, I would be remiss and dishonest - have I ever lied to you before? If I did not add that other events kept me from writing. And because my dilemmas often impact the lives of my readers, I'll elaborate.

It may be that the weekly news-mess would not reside in my Wab-dian abode because I was physically ill. My doctor said it was "the old-fashioned flu." (Is there a new flu?) I know it was the worst round of that ailment I ever suffered through, including a "God, please let me die" case of the Asian flu in '57 (which we now know was a Japanese retaliation for a hip-flinging performance by Elvis Presley in Tokyo the year before).

I had something a toddy couldn't touch. In other words, I was sick-sick. My hair was sore, my bones hurt, and a heaving cough chased my colon to yell "Hell-o!" to my tonsils more than once. Finally, after two rounds of prescription drugs, I began to recover. Still, I didn't have the where-withal to write.

Still, influenza and a lack of inspiration do not entirely explain my silence. If you read this column often (egad!), you know I don't carry a brief for television evangelists, especially Robert "Grimage" Tilton. (However, I do envy his "prophetic" hair).

I'm reluctant to deride some tube clerics, but Tilton isn't one of them. If that man epitomizes the Christian faith, I said to myself, I'll just go to hell. (I may go anyhow, despite the fact that I was born a Republican and am a registered Baptist.)

Anyway, I took a shot at Tilton in this column. And then it happened: MOAB COMETH! Fortunately, I had no farther to go than my shed, to feed my chows, about a furlong down the hill - but through a navel-high drift. Still flush, I winded quickly, so much so that I actually thought I would not get back to the house. Am I being punished for something? I asked myself. First the flu, now this, dying in a deep drift. I heard the wind wail, "Johann, don't taunt Tiltonnnn!"

No, it cannot be. I retorted. The storm is wreaking havoc everywhere, not just on me. Standing there for a spell, belly-deep in the downy stuff, I began to breathe more easily and recalled a Sanskrit proverb, penned by a martyred, Indus mystic named Swadamaaj, the Younger. It is preserved in the Sacred Scroll of Brama-

Twenty years ago I served this county as a Magistrate in District 4. At that time, I was dedicated to serving the people of Rockcastle County. I am asking again for your support in the upcoming election for the office of Circuit Court Clerk.

I am a firm believer in God, my family and my country. The people deserve circuit officials that care for the citizens they serve. They are elected to serve ALL citizens and not just a few. I promise that if you elect me as your next Circuit Court Clerk your needs and cares will be listened to and acted upon within the bounds of our laws. Satisfaction with an elected official comes as a result of caring and truthfulness. Satisfaction of the citizen will be my goal. I will in no way dabble in other offices or try to rule anyone's livelihood. The citizens of Rockcastle County need a friendly honest caring and efficient Circuit Court Clerk. I can and will be that clerk if you will elect me to that office. I need the job, therefore I need your vote and support. Thanks for your help.

Local Sears store will not be kept in operation

Sears, Roebuck and Company said yesterday it plans to convert about 350 of its catalog stores nationwide - including 10 in Kentucky -- into small retail outlets by the end of the year.

Rockcastle and Mt. Vernon was not one of them.

The stores would be operated by independent dealers and sell appliances, electronics and lawn and garden equipment. They would not sell clothes.

In Kentucky, the stores are in Corbin, Danville, Hazard, London, Madisonville, Murray, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Somerset and South Williamson.

Sears still plans to close 35 other catalog stores in the state reported Todd Pak in the Lexington Herald-Leader.

In January, Sears said it was getting out of the catalog business because it was losing money. The company told owners of its 2,000 catalog stores that most would have to close, although some might remain open as retail stores.

Roger Combs, owner of the South Williamson store, said he always assumed his would survive.

"We're one of the largest catalog stores around," he said. "We've been telling people from the beginning that we weren't going to close."

Marlean Miller, manager of the Prestonsburg store, was never as optimistic.

She remained cautious yesterday; the company said the converted retail stores would be operated by independent dealers, and hers is company owned.

"We don't know if we'll keep our jobs," Miller said, "but at least we have hope."

Wilton McNeil, owner of the London store, gave credit to the local Chamber of Commerce, which sent Sears executives a package on the region's economy and the need for a Sears store.

The chamber was not alone.

Farm Safety

Did you know that agriculture has the highest death rate from on-the-job accidents of all industries?

It does.

In all industries combined, an average of nine deaths per 100,000 workers are killed in on-the-job accidents, said Larry Piercy, extension safety specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

All industries average nine deaths, what do you think agriculture averages nationwide? Ten? Fifteen? Twenty, maybe?

"Try 44," Piercy said. "That's how many farm deaths there were per 100,000 farm workers according to latest statistics from the National Safety Council."

In addition, there were 140,000 disabling injuries from farm accidents, he added.

"We used to say agriculture was the second most dangerous occupation, second only to mining," Piercy said. "These latest statistics, which were for 1991, show mining with 43 deaths per 100,000 workers which puts them second to farming."

Tractor overturns account for a large portion of farm-related deaths, both in Kentucky as well as nationally, Piercy said.

"In 1992, there were 35 farm deaths in Kentucky as reported in news clips gathered by the Farm Bureau," Piercy said. "Twenty-five of those involved tractors, and 19 of them resulted from tractor overturns."

In three cases, death resulted from a person being run over by the tractor, he said, and in the three tractor-related cases resulted from miscellaneous reasons.

Among non-tractor deaths in Kentucky, six resulted from other farm equipment accidents, one from drowning and three from miscellaneous other reasons.

School Board Fights Reinstatement

The Harlan County school board will fight a lawsuit by the district's former acting superintendent.

The board voted 4-1 Monday to contest the lawsuit. Board member David Kennedy voted against the measure, arguing that resisting Grace Ann Tolliver's request for reinstatement would be "fighting a losing battle."

The state school board removed Tolliver as acting superintendent just two months after she was appointed to the job in November 1991. The state Board for Elementary and Secondary Education removed Tolliver the same day a Harlan County grand jury indicted her on theft and forgery charges. That indictment was later dismissed.

Tolliver's lawsuit, filed Thursday in Harlan Circuit Court, seeks to have her reinstated until June 30, when a new superintendent takes over.

"Coloring Kids Creative"

By: Karen Owen
Messenger-Inquirer

With some savvy marketing, the Kentucky Education Reform Act could be a gold mine for local artists and arts groups.

And with some creative planning, those artists and groups could be a godsend for harmed classroom teachers, according to speakers at a statewide conference on the arts Saturday in Owensboro.

KERA is requiring teachers to make extensive use of the arts to teach everything from math to writing, said a panel at "Arts Embrace," sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Council.

"Kids are born with a coloring crayon in their hand," knowing how to draw, sing, dance or play dress up, Allen Pensol, arts coordinator for the Rockcastle County School system, told a group of educators and arts supporters at the RiverPark Center. "We take it away from them in the fourth or fifth grade."

Thanks to KERA, though, "we're going to give that back to them," he said.

Under the sweeping changes in Kentucky schools, the basic skills children are supposed to master now don't just include reading and writing.

Now youngsters will learn such things as how to use music to express emotion or how to use the visual arts to make a chart or graph to go with a presentation, said Rayna Beal, associate professor of dance at the University of Kentucky.

They'll even learn how to do research and work as a team to produce their own dramas, speakers said.

This April, children in the fourth, eighth and 12 grades will be tested on the arts for the first time, as well as on areas like science and math, when they take the KIRIS test, said Cheryl Tibbles, who is in charge of the Kentucky Instructional Results Information System.

"We think the arts are a basic tool all kids should possess when they leave school," Tibbles said.

The tests will include not just multiple-choice questions, but "open-ended questions," some problem solving and performance of certain tasks, often as part of a group, Tibbles said. A task may include both math and music, she said, and the student would be scored separately for each.

It's in the best interest of artists and arts groups to get on the KERA bandwagon, said John McLaughlin, who is studying the effectiveness of the new approach to the arts for the state.

The new "prenatal to the grave" approach to education is cultivating future audiences for arts groups, he said.

However, "It's no secret in the arts for years we've knifed each other in the back," McLaughlin said. "We've got to get beyond that. The people who are doing the collaborative ventures are getting the money."

Speakers brought with them an example of such collaboration from Jefferson County. A cultural consortium there has put together a list of specific agencies, artists or groups that can help a teacher get across each skill students are required to master.

A teacher at her wit's end trying to think of something artsy to help teach the structure and function of social systems, for instance, can try the Speed Museum's medieval tour.

The consortium also lists everything from the Kentucky Derby Museum to the Louisville Zoo and the Derby Dinner Playhouse.

generate about $1 million in revenue a year.

In deciding which stores to convert, the retailer considered such factors as catalog revenue and proximity to the nearest Sears retail store.

The end of Sears' catalog business is part of a larger survival effort, announced at the same time, that includes closing 113 Sears retail stores and cutting 50,000 full-and-part-time jobs to save an estimated $300 million a year.

Dear Parents,

Students at Livingston Elementary School will be involved in the Kentucky Instructional Results Information (KIRIS) assessment during April 19 - 30. Following are some things that you can do before the assessment to help your child feel calm and confident.

1. Help your child feel confident about taking the test. Express confidence in your child's ability to do well.
2. Have a relaxed environment.
 Avoid any activities and conversations that may arouse anxiety, conflict or unpleasantness.
3. Try to avoid applying disciplinary measure to any member of the family on the evening before the test.
4. Have your child go to bed early enough to get plenty of rest.
5. Set the clock to alarm a little early in order to allow your child time to eat and dress without rushing.
6. See that clothes that your child likes and feels comfortable in are laid out so that frantic searches are avoided.
7. Be sure that paper, pencils, and other needed school materials are together and located where they will not be forgotten in the morning.
8. You may want to talk briefly about the test in an encouraging way.
 Let your child know that you understand how difficult tests are, but you are confident in his/her ability to do well. Emphasize that test results help in planning the child's instructional program.

 9. Ask your child to do as well as he/she can. Think of something that would be very pleasing to your child and say that this will be the reward following the test.
 10. Let all conversation about testing be casual and brief.
 11. Prepare a good breakfast for your child, but not a heavy one.
 12. Be sure that your child is not late for school.
 13. The test is constructed to be given in a group setting. Children seldom do as well when given the test individually. Therefore, it is very important that your child be in school
 Monday to start the test and finish school attendance a priority!

The primary class of Mrs. E' and Mrs. Cindy was recently involved in Performance Assessment activities. The students were divided into 3-member teams and given a packet of directions and manipulatives. Each team had to choose a reader, a recorder and an organizer; then follow directions to solve a problem or reach a solution. After a timed session during which, the teams worked as a group, each student had to write about their activity.

The students worked hard and appeared to enjoy the activities, among which were "White Stuff" comparing three white substances:

The students in the Favorite Friends Cluster of Mrs. Vanzant, Mrs. Adams, and Mrs. Ford would like to thank Mrs. Tammy Gabbard for her presentation about the Mexican people and their customs. The classes really enjoyed being read to in Spanish by Ms. Minor, Foreign Language Instructor at RCHS.

denis make Mexican pinatas. These are displayed in their classroom. The Student of the Week is Ashley Owens. In Connections, students are working on a fascinating journey of the Living Sea. They will be making sea life and placing each in their correct habitat. They will be studying layers of sea life, food chains, ocean wonders, harvest from the sea, and the endangered sea. The class will be holding a "beauty contest" of the "Feathered Creature" at the end of the Sea Unit. Students will bring pictures of an ocean animal from newspapers or magazines. Students will vote for the strangest, biggest, ugliest or scariest creature. Different categories will be presented with a starfish blue ribbon.

Ms. Roark's class is reading Alexander and the terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day. In Connections, students are planting peas. Their candidate for Prince was Austin Miller.

Ms. Adams class is going to practice test-taking this week. They are making pinatas to go along with their study of Mexico. They will have Ms. Minor from RCHS to teach them some Spanish words. Last week they had Mr. and Mrs. Gabbard to tell them things about Mexico.

Ms. Maple's class is still studying China in Connections class. Second grade won the Prince and Princess contest. Candidates were Austin Miller and Vanessa Childress. The class is reading Noisy Nora. They are learning about geometry in math.

Ms. Napier's class is reviewing this week for the KIRIS Assessments, which will take place next week. In Connections, they will begin a unit on Map Skills.

Mr. Love's 4th grade class is having a pizza party today for the "Book It Program". Thursday's students will be participating in the Performance Events Testing in the library.

We hope every student will be at school Thursday and will do their very best on the performance test. Ms. Napier's 5th grade class is hoping to get 5 days perfect attendance. Student of the Week is Daniel Morgan. In math, the students are working on fractions. The class had to do a balloon fraction. There were 17 balloons in all and they had to see how many purple, red, green, silver, and blue there were over 17. In social studies, they had a test over "Changes in North and South." In English, the class had a practice test on pronouns.

In health, they are working on the human body and the four food groups. In spelling, the class is eager to get a new list of spelling words. In an ongoing science project, the class now has the first green beans in Rockcastle County. Coby Robinson is the man with a green thumb.

Mr. Davidson's 6th grade class will be taking a field trip to Berea College. They will tour the Appalachian Museum, the Planetarium and Geology Museum.

Ms. McKinney's class will be having an artist in residence in their class helping them to make sound books. She would also like to announce that her class worked very hard to win the King and Queen contest.

Mr. Coffey would like to announce that the 7th and 8th grade prom will be this Friday night from 6 - 9:45. Ms. Abney's 8th grade class is looking forward to the Prom. In science, students are working on chemicals and pollution. In social studies, they are working on geography skills. In reading, they are getting all of their book points turned in and looking forward to the end of the six weeks. Birthdays include Heather Bray, Nikki Barnett, Matthew Kirby.

Because of some donations made to Livingston School the Sue Bennett trip will be free to Primary One and Primary Two students. The cost of the Lexington trip has been lowered to $5 for students. Adult cost is still $10.

A professional photographer will be coming to our room on Tuesday, April 14 to take Graduation pictures.

The students will be wearing caps and gowns for the pictures. The package is $14. The money must be turned in before Doug Brock will take the pictures. He guarantees satisfaction! They will be good pictures! Mr. Brock left a sample of his work in my room if you would like to come and take a look.

TREES LOOKING FOR GOOD HOMES

Stop by the Kentucky Utilities Company office Thursday, April 22, and provide a good home for a Redbud or Flame Amur Maple seedling. On Earth Day, KU will be giving away seedlings on a first-come, first-served basis while supplies last.

For the second year in a row, KU is distributing 12-to-24-inch, one-year-old field-grown seedlings—an attractive, smart and safe choice for today's residential landscapes. They'll be less than 25 feet tall at maturity, which should minimize interference with power lines.

Trees benefit our environment and contribute to the beauty of the landscape. But remember whenever you plant a tree:

1. Plant away from electric power lines.
2. Check for location of underground utility lines before digging.

EKU Recognizes Four Local Students

Four county students were among more than 250 Eastern Kentucky University students recognized for outstanding achievement during Eastern Kentucky University's annual Honors Day.

EKU recognized the students for academic excellence, campus leadership, and service to the University community, during a luncheon banquet on Sunday, April 4, in the Keen Johnson Building.

Local students and their honors include:
Soyiya Marlene Bullock, of Brodhead, Bluegrass Chairs Association Scholarship.

Cynthia Taylor Anderkin, of Brodhead, Gladys Perry Tyng Award, for outstanding female graduating elementary education major.

Debra L. Martin, of Livingston; Outstanding Student in Medical Regal.

Kimberly J. Barries, of Mt. Vernon; Clarence H. Gifford Scholarship in the Natural Sciences.

Paulina Thomason, of Mt. Vernon; Chris Love Award.

"We believe these students are fine examples of the academic quality that Eastern is always striving to achieve," said Dr. John D. Rowlett, EKV vice president for academic affairs and research and dean of the faculties.

"The students we honor here have demonstrated ability both in the classroom and through their contributions to campus life. It is only fitting that we take some time in the academic year to recognize those who have by their example contributed so much to the Eastern experience."

Eastern Kentucky University is a comprehensive university serving about 17,000 students on its 350-acre Richmond campus, throughout its 22-county extended service area, and beyond.

Don't be concerned about waxed fruit

Some consumers have expressed concerns about those nice, shiny red apples and other fruit in grocery stores. They're concerned about waxes that growers sometimes use to give them that shiny appearance.

They're concerned that the waxes themselves may be harmful, or that harmful pesticide residues may be sealed inside.

They needn't be, said John Strang, Extension fruit and vegetable specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Waxes don't hurt. They help. Fruit and vegetables are waxed to reduce moisture loss, shriveling and bruising and in some case to slow the produce's respiration rate," Strang said.

"The result is that waxing reduces firmness loss, extends shelf life and makes the fruits and vegetables shine which improve merchandising and marketing," he said.

Some vegetables, such as cucumbers, are less susceptible to bacterial infection when waxed, he added. Therefore, when waxes are used with postharvest treatments, spoilage is retarded.

Strang said that 77 percent of the fresh market apples sold in the U.S. are waxed. One Washington supermarket sells both and identifies them as waxed or unwaxed for customers. That supermarket reports that the waxed applied outsell the unwaxed ones by a 10 to one margin.

"In Kentucky, very few apple growers wax their fruit," he said. "As a result, when waxed Michigan apples become available, our local chain stores generally are not interested in Kentucky apples."

Products other than apples that may be waxed include: avocados, bell peppers, citrus, cucumbers, rutabagas, papayas, pineapples, and tomatoes among others.

BE TREE SMART TO SAVE ENERGY
Kentucky's Utilities Company this spring in planting trees across Kentucky. In observance of Earth Day, April 22, the KU office — for the second year in a row — will be giving away 60,000 Redbud or Flame Amur Maple seedlings on a first-come, first-served basis while supplies last.
Remember, planting a tree is smart, and it's important to be "Tree Smart" when you plant. Plant them away from electric power lines, and check location of underground utility lines before digging.
Trees contribute beauty to our landscape and help the environment in many ways. Trees protect the soil and prevent erosion, and they save energy by shielding homes from the hot summer sun and blocking the wind on cold winter days.
Make sure your tree provides safe enjoyment, energy savings and environmental benefits for years to come. For more information, contact your KU office.

County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins signs a proclamation proclaiming April as National Child Abuse Prevention Month in Rockcastle. Overseeing the signing are Mike Bryant, supervisor at the Department of Social Services, and Edna Kirby, coordinator of the county program, and family services aid at Social Services.

The performance events section of the Kentucky Instructional Results Information System (KIRIS) has been scheduled for April 19 at Roundstone Elementary School. Only the 4th and 5th grades will take this assessment. During the week of April 19 other grades will be taking the continuing assessment section of the KIRIS. Parents need to watch for notes from their child's teachers for the day of the week and the times for the testing. We expect to have everyone in attendance for the assessment. It is very important that everyone take the test at the same time.

Mrs. Renner's primary class has been working with fractions this week. We made fraction stories in computer lab. We also made chick booklets and baskets and wrote stories on how to color eggs. On Friday we did math activities with our eggs and enjoyed an Easter egg hunt.

In Mrs. Gabbard's primary class this week we colored eggs, had egg relays, estimated how many marshmallows were on a 10 x 16 cardboard egg. There were 977 marshmallows. Michel Seals won a piggy bank full of jelly beans by guessing the closest number of beans. He guessed 81 and there were 80. We also followed the pattern of Brown Bear, Brown Bear to make our own "What Do You See" book. We are working on our share boxes to send to our friends in Iowa and Minnesota.

Eagle Echoes

"Three Little Hippos" - supplying appropriate habitats; "Patterns" - continuing and projecting a pattern with unitix cubes.

Miss Parrett's primary class began doing a unit on the Solar System/Space. We read the big book The Magic School Bus Lost in the Solar System. The students collected round objects and painted them to form the Solar System. For Easter the children made a egg tree and hand painted eggs. To finish a great week we had a Easter Egg hunt.

For the week of April 5-9, Mrs. Burdett's class theme has been eggs. We read books, such as Chickens Aren't the Only Ones, Great Egg-Spectations and Green Eggs and Ham. We estimated the area of an egg and what objects it took to get an egg to balance. Ms. Ann Abney did a rubber egg experiment using vinegar. We did a chick-in-a-shell and wrote a poetry to go along with it. Our spelling list consisted of all the words associated with eggs. We had a great time coloring eggs on Friday. Next week we'll be doing plants.

VOTE JIB

I have been to a lot of your homes and you were not at home or I missed you for some reason or another. But, I am trying my best to see you and ask for your vote and help. The way people work day shift, second and third shifts, it is hard to know the best time to visit. Anyway, if I missed you, don't get hurt at me "please" I am trying.

There are a lot of races in the county, so get out and vote for your candidate. Let's have a good turn out. In my race in the last election, around 100 votes would have made a difference. So, PLEASE GO VOTE!!

Someone has been taking my signs down and I think that is wrong. I am running for Sheriff just like the other three and I would never tear down or destroy anyone's signs. I ask anyone who is for me not to destroy anyone's signs, if anything, if they are blown down, put them back up. Let's have a nice, friendly election and not do silly things that cause hard feelings.

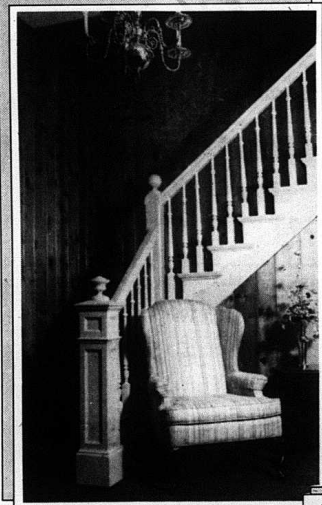

I am trying hard to win because I need the job. But, if it takes doing things like that, I am in trouble.

People, if you are for me, talk to your friends, urge them to vote and, if we win, we can all be proud.

Your Friend, Jib

Roundstone Preschool recognized by state for model program

Roundstone Preschool was recently recognized by the Kentucky Department of Education for having an exemplary program.

The program was observed and evaluated last spring by a consultant for the Department of Education, Division of Early Childhood. The evaluation was based on the Early Childhood Environment Rating Scale, which looks at the overall program: instructional materials and equipment, daily schedule, planned and free activities, centers, staff and student interactions and much more.

Roundstone met, and exceeded, all the criteria in the evaluation and qualified to be a State Resource Classroom. As a SRC, the Department of Education will recommend other sites to observe Roundstone Preschool.

There are 25 other districts across the state that have model programs. Ms. Tammy Gabbard, Early Childhood Coordinator, said, "We are all honored to be recognized as having a model program, but the most important thing is that we continue to keep striving to improve our programs for the benefit of our children. I feel very fortunate to work for a district who has that philosophy and am constantly thankful for the dedicated and competent teachers in all our programs."

A parent of a child with some disabilities had this to say, "I feel that the Roundstone Preschool Program is just excellent. I am extremely pleased with my son's progress since he's been there. I feel education takes both parents and teachers, and this is the feeling I've gotten from his teachers. In my opinion, I think Ms. Paula, Ms. Gregory, and Ms. Kathy have done an excellent job. I know he has progressed very well, and it has been because of their efforts that he is this far along. I don't feel that there are any other projects such as this one in the State that could have done better. I am very thankful and grateful for everything they have done." Congratulations to Roundstone preschool program and staff!

Cheney will be special guest at Lincoln Banquet

Former Defense Secretary Dick Cheney will be Congressman Hal Rogers' special guest at the Laurel County Lincoln Club Banquet in London on Saturday, April 17.

Cheney and Rogers will be the featured speakers at the 7 p.m. dinner, which will be held at North Laurel County High School on the Daniel Boone Parkway.

Cheney is currently a senior fellow at the American Enterprise Institute (AEI) in Washington, D.C. In addition to his work at AEI, he is lecturing across the country on a variety of issues and serving as a member of the Board of Directors of a number of companies.

A former congressman from Wyoming, Cheney served as Secretary of Defense from March 17, 1989 to January 20, 1993. He directed two of the nation's largest military campaigns in history -- Operation Just Cause in Panama in December 1989, and Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, from August 1990 through most of 1991. For his leadership in the Persian Gulf War, President George Bush awarded him the Medal of Freedom on July 3, 1991.

A graduate of the University of Wyoming, Cheney and his wife, Lynne, have two daughters and make their home in the nation's capital.

Tickets for the dinner are $15 and can be purchased at the door. Tickets can also be purchased in advance by contacting Albert Robinson at (606) 864-5125.

KU giving tree seedlings away April 22

To heighten safety awareness, Kentucky Utilities Company will give away 60,000 tree seedling on Earth Day. KU customers may pick up seedlings on Thursday, April 22 at the company's 68 offices throughout Kentucky and southwestern Virginia.

"Our tree distribution program last year was a tremendous success, and we're pleased that we can again provide Redbud and Flame Amur Maple seedlings to our customers," said Gary Blake, company vice president. "What better way to observe Earth Day and heighten awareness about safety than to give trees to our customers?"

Trees will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis as long as the supply lasts. Customers can receive a tree seedling by visiting the local KU office. The company will also provide instructions on planting and care with the seedling.

"The theme of this year's program is 'Be Tree Smart... From the Start.' Trees not only enhance landscapes and protect the environment," Blake commented, "but the right tree, planted the proper distance from power lines, also helps in keeping your electric service as reliable as possible."

CAP to hold camp sessions

Christian Appalachian Project, Inc. will be sponsoring six weeks of overnight camp at Camp Andrew Jackson near McKee in Jackson County. Weekly sessions begin June 21, and continue through July 26.

Children are eligible if they are at least six years old and have completed the first grade, up to age 15.

For more information and applications call (606) 287-7073.

The program participates in the federally funded Summer Food Service Program for children.

All children will be served the same meal at no separate charge regardless

Four shows highlight diversity of entertainment at Renfro Valley

Country music is at all-time high in popularity, and country's diversity is credited with some measure of its success.

Today's country charts are peppered with music that incorporates traditional, rockabilly, western swing, bluegrass and even gospel influences. Renfro Valley's playbill mirrors that diversity.

Four distinctly different shows highlight Renfro Valley's 1993 season offerings. A cast of more than 40 stars is required to fulfill the shows' diversity.

"The Renfro Valley Barn Dance provides the cornerstone of the entertainment roster. Launched in 1939 by Renfro Valley founder John Lair, the Barn Dance has garnered attention of country music fans nationwide. Traditional music is the trademark of the Barn Dance, the music that gave birth to today's thriving country music industry. A sampling of bluegrass, mountain music and southern gospel rounds out the Barn Dance format."

The Renfro Valley Jamboree, now in its 21st year, celebrates today's country radio playlists.

Gospel music roots run deep in the Appalachian region and Renfro Valley pays homage to its gospel roots with a special Saturday matinee, the Mountain Gospel Jubilee. The Jubilee showcases the best of southern gospel music.

The Sunday Morning Gatherin' is a show begun by John Lair to share the music and philosophy of Valley life with radio listeners across the country. The Gatherin' still plays to live audiences every Sunday in season and its format of music and message continues to draw radio listeners. Nearly 200 radio stations in the U.S. and Canada carry The Gatherin' weekly. The program has the distinction of being the second-oldest, continuously-aired radio program in America, second only to the Grand Ol' Opry.

In addition to its regular show lineup, Renfro Valley lives up to its reputation as Kentucky's Country Music Capital through its monthly special events and headline concerts. Events are staged to showcase both country music and the country lifestyle and include a rodeo, all-night gospel sing, two bluegrass festivals, a fiddlers' fest, clogging competition, mountain music celebration and two crafts festivals.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
 I would like to relate to you my experiences with our current District Court System. On July 9th, 1992, I was served a warrant obtained by my ex-mother-in-law.

 I was charged with harassing communications, this was a frivolous suit at best.
 At this time I was preparing to go through a series of life threatening cancer operations. The first operation was August 5, 1992; the second operation was Sept. 25, 1992. I was not able to attend the first hearing held the latter part of August, 1992. My son-in-law went in my stead. At the first hearing my ex-mother-in-law was allowed to give testimony, even though I was not there to offer rebuttal. The second hearing was held the first part of September, 1992 at this time my ex-mother-in-law made false statements designed to prejudice the judge. The judge then asked the county attorney if he wished to have a trial, the county attorney said yes. I requested a court appointed attorney, the judge asked the county attorney if he would grant me one, the county attorney said no. I informed the judge that I received disability Social Security benefits and that I had very limited financial means. The judge then asked me if I had anything of value. I told him that I had a 1980 Dodge truck. The judge told me to sell my truck and hire a lawyer or be prepared to defend myself. How can a person on medication, in pain, with no legal training possibly defend themselves? Before the judge set a date for a pre-trial hearing, I offered to show him a letter from J.K. Hospital confirming the date for my next cancer operation. At first the judge did not want to read the letter but when he did he set a pre-trial hearing for Oct. 17, 1992. I was able to obtain the services of a very benevolent local attorney.

I will be making payments on his fee for the next four years. This reflects how little I can pay. My attorney is not running for public office.
 At the pre-trial hearing the charges were dismissed. After some research I have discovered that my Constitutional Rights were violated, as per the 1962 (Gideon) decision. I intend to pursue this matter further.
 Sincerely,
 Carl Mason

Dear Editor,
 In honor of National Volunteer Week, April 18-24, I would like to express my sincere thanks to an outstanding volunteer in your community. Joy Allamech is a volunteer International Exchange Coordinator for EF Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit organization dedicated to furthering understanding between nations through student exchange. Through the efforts of volunteers like Joy, students from 22 countries around the world have the opportunity to spend a year living with an American family and learning about their host community's culture while sharing their own. Volunteers also help local American students spend a year or semester studying abroad.

I would also like to thank the entire community for opening their hearts and homes to our student exchange program. Volunteer host families, as well as local high schools have enthusiastically welcomed foreign exchange students and deserve to be commended, as do many other community members who have shown these teenagers what it means to be a "real" American. Mt. Vernon citizens have made a significant contribution to furthering understanding between nations this year and we invite others who are interested in joining our program to call us at 1-800-44-SHARE.

 Thank you, Joy! You are a credit to your community for helping Mt. Vernon share the American spirit and become part of a lifelong international friendship.

Sincerely,
 Asa Rangan
 Chief Executive Officer

Dear Editor,
 I trust that Mrs. Ethel Mason enjoyed the birthday poem recently submitted by her daughter, Lorecia, entitled "Mom was there," as much as I have enjoyed my personally autographed copy of the original version.

RE-ELECT Denver MILLER

The Circuit Clerk's office is your office and I, and my staff, have always considered it so and we will continue to in the future.
 I am proud of my record as your Circuit Court Clerk. I have strived to do my job well and with the utmost courtesy and efficiency.
 I would appreciate your continued support for my re-election.

RE-ELECT DENVER MILLER

Take Pride in Your County Attorney's Office

ELECT JEFFREY T. BURDETTE Rockcastle County Attorney

"One thing that I have learned throughout my life is that honest hard work can get things done. Good common sense tells you that making excuses will not achieve results.
 We must recognize and take responsibility for the problems that exist in our District Court system. As your Rockcastle County Attorney I will accept that responsibility and work hard to fulfill the obligations the County Attorney's office owes the citizens.
 Please allow me to serve as your next Rockcastle County Attorney. I would appreciate your support now and your vote on May 25, 1993."
This is not a time for politics as usual but a time for us to work together for our county's future.

of the best quilt books that I have seen in a long time. It is composed of two sections, Quilting Primer and beyond Basic Quilting. Many of our quilters should enjoy this book. A novel by Stephen White. . . Prirate Practices. . . Stephen White's first novel Privileged Information. . . won the acclaim not only of critics but also of well known writers like Nelson DeMille and Tony Hillerman. Now White and his engaging Boulder, Colorado, psychologist hero are back in a thriller that surpasses its predecessor in the depth of its characterization, in its vivid sense of place, and in the momentum of its plot. (Cont. to B-7)

According to Betty Lindblom, red lights flashed and fire whistles blew at the Rockcastle County Library recently when Fire Chief John Cox brought the fire truck to the Children's Story Hour. The eyes of children were almost as big as the fire truck itself. They got to scamper over the truck and Chief Cox explained all the buttons and hoses. April 5th an Easter egg hunt was held with 14 children present. The Children's Story Hour meets each Wednesday from 1 to 2 p.m. for mostly preschool children. Any child is welcome to join this group. A different activity is usually planned for each week.

Week of the young child

The National Association of Education for Young Children sponsors the "Week of the Young Child" annually. The purpose is to encourage people (both parents and professionals) to spend some time and effort in focusing on the needs of young children (birth through eight).

The goal in setting aside this special week is to build understanding of the importance of early childhood programs in our society and to foster support of these programs.

We are fortunate to have a variety of quality early childhood programs in Rockcastle County. We have available various programs/services with: Rockcastle County Schools, Rockcastle County Family Resource Center, KRFC Head Start, Family Life Child Development Center, CAP-Parents Are Teachers, Comprehensive Care, Department of Social Services, Department of Social Insurance, Rockcastle County Hospital, and Rockcastle County Home Health.

For more information on early childhood and/or programs, contact Tammy Gabbard at 256-2125.

Parent/Child Activities
Talk about safety and have a fire drill at your home.

Encourage your child to tell you something nice about each child in the class.

Ask your child to do something nice for a child in his/her class.

Make a family tree together.

Tell your child how you appreciate his/her contribution to the family.

Send an "I love you" note to school with your child.

Praise your child's efforts on some endeavor.

Read a special story together.

Have your child's special friend over to play.

Begin to read a positive parenting book.

Ask your child what he/she is proud of about him/herself.

Visit and get to know a neighbor.

Have your child help prepare part of tonight's dinner.

Be sure and tell your child how special he/she is and why.

Have a family meeting to help solve a problem.

Ask "What was your favorite activity this week? Why?"

Have your child make a special favor for every place at dinner.

Have a positive day (you can only say nice things).

Let your child choose and wear a favorite outfit.

Read or recite some familiar/favorite nursery rhymes.

Fix your child's favorite food. Help your child make a book of favorites (food, toy, animal, etc.).

Work together in the yard. Plant something that you can watch grow.

Before dinner have each family member say something that he/she appreciates about each person at the table.

Make plans together for a special trip.

Have your child teach you a song or fingerplay learned at school.

Call a relative and let your child talk with him/her on the phone.

Show in the later part of May. Please call for more information and dates after April 20th.

Some new books that have been purchased are: two novels by Sandra Brown. . . Best Kept Secrets and Slow Heat in Heaven. . . Thelma's Treasures by Susanna Thomas. This is a cookbook by one of Harrodsburg's best cooks. A collection of fine recipes from Kentucky.

Local Art Show Opening April 18th

The 3rd annual Local Art Show will open at the library April 18th with a reception for the artists and friends. Please come out and meet these people and view their fine art work. This is a great encouragement to them. Some of the artists that will be participating are; Thelma Bullock, Betty Lindblom, Hope Carmack, Joanne McClure, Pat Keene, Janet Vickers, Debbie Bugg, Lawrence Bullock and Mable Burdette.

Different groups of people have been meeting in the community room at the Rockcastle County Library building for years, but recently we were made aware of the fact that most groups publicize their meetings or activities as being at the Rockcastle County Library. This library is funded by county taxes and state aid and is a public service agency. We cannot, and would not want to be affiliated with any political, religious or social groups.

The Rockcastle County Library Board is asking that anyone using this facility, please specify that your meeting will be in the senior citizens room or community room at the Rockcastle County Library building.

The aim of this library is to give the best possible service to everyone and to have the books and materials that are needed by all age groups. We certainly would not want to offend anyone by participating in any activity that would be controversial.

Plans are being finalized for a Craft

Re-Elect MULLINS County Judge-Executive

1989 PROMISED	Remembered	1990-1993 ACTED
To Post a List of duties of County Judge-Executive in Judge's office, along with the ACTION PLAN.	YES	A laminated poster continues to be displayed in the judge's office containing all the information promised
1989 ACTION PLAN
Jobs - I know first hand the employment needs of Rockcastle County. At age fifteen, I left the state to find a job. Then, as an adult, I have driven 150 miles a day to work. I will therefore fight a vigorous day-to-day battle to recruit jobs and to maintain the jobs we now have.	YES	Supported Development at Renfro Valley, Rockcastle Mtg., and the new Industrial Park. Employment grew by approximately 1700 employees during the period.
Good Treatment - None of us should have to face the perils of being ignored, of seeing our ideas dismissed, or of having our needs considered unimportant. Each of us deserves to have a voice, to be given special consideration, and to have our needs recognized. Since the county is yours, the Judge/Executive is to serve you.	YES	Have Encouraged community participation through newspaper and radio, have asked for suggestions for each quarterly work plan. County has earned over $80,000 interest income during the three years. This accrues to each of us.
Water - A large percentage of families in Rockcastle County have no public water. Knowing firsthand the hardships of not having enough water, I intend to attack this problem immediately and forcefully if I am elected.	YES	Three Projects have been funded at approximately 1.5 million dollars. Two are virtually complete. A fourth project, that includes the rest of the county, has been submitted for funding at $1,540,000.
Roads - I was born on the banks of Crooked Creek over a mile from the nearest road. I am familiar with the road problems and needs of our county. You can be sure that if I am elected, the county road fund will be stretched toward every household in the county.	YES	Since 1990 over 142 Roads have been blacktopped. More than had been blacktopped in the entire history of the county. These roads span the length and breadth of the county.
Garbage - The other person's trash is always dirtier than our own. Roadside dumps and illegal disposal are other person's trash to each of us and I think now looks to tourists and industrial prospects. This situation must be remedied. Also, county facilities must be maintained, kept clean and attractive.	YES	Over 70 Illegal Dumps have been removed since 1990. The county was awarded "The Golden Blade" award for getting highways adopted for clean-up. The county was awarded the outstanding solid waste planning award for the entire state. A universal collection system is in place. Recycling is in place. . . no new tax or collection costs have been imposed.
Affordable Housing - It is my estimate that we have immediate need for 350-500 single unit owner occupied houses in the county. Developers and financial sources will be brought together and potential buyers will be sought out if I am elected to lead during the next four years.	YES	A county-wide Housing Board has been appointed. Over 700 applications have been submitted to FHA for home loans or improvements. A $150,000 grant has been received to repair homes for the very poor. Assisted in getting contractor certified to build several moderately priced houses.
Taxes - If I am elected in this fall's general election, I will get the most for your tax dollar, seek alternative funding for eligible items and mind the treasury on a daily basis.	YES	The tax rate has been set at the same amount for each of the three years - 84¢. Alternate funding has been received in the amount of $4,642,446. When the tax base is limited, compelling for alternate funding makes good sense.
Economic Development - Endorsers that introduce new dollars into the county allow for a scope of development. The expansion at Renfro Valley will tap the thousands of cars that pass on I-75 daily bringing in new money. The development of U.S. 150 will prompt building along that corridor. Promoting regeneration of business to reach the 100,000 plus population South and the 100,000 population North, both less than an hour away will bring in new dollars. Leadership can tackle this.	YES	Submitted A funding proposal for road, water, sewer and site work on the Rockcastle Industrial Park. If, through a cooperative agreement with Jackson County, sought $250,000 for Rockcastle Mtg. County established tourist commission to enhance the tourist business. Hosted meeting along with Lincoln County judge, with speaker of Kentucky House, representatives, senators, judges, mayors, on U.S. 150 improvement. The project is now in the highway plan.
Community Development - Encouraging the individual to produce by opening avenues for producing enhances any community. Assisting organizations to build, to develop, to expand, to do better to serve more promotes the common good and results in community development. This should be the commitment of any leader.	YES	Hosted Three Conferences in the Rockcastle Courthouse that brought experts from across the state on business development, tourism and housing. These reached over 300 Rockcastle Citizens. Up-to-date information has been maintained in the judge's office on finances, business plans, etc. Served as president of corporation that financed the Rockcastle County Hospital expansion. Increased local funding for local ambulance service by 27%.
Recreation - At any age, a healthy body increases the ability to reason and function. The channeled of youthful energy through athletics improves the body and enhances the chances for success later in life. As Judge/Executive, I will support the development of recreational areas throughout the county. Further, I will encourage the development of life league soccer.	YES	Worked with Little League toward getting another facility in or near Mt. Vernon. Applied for funds for new field at Broadhead that will serve baseball and/or soccer. This should be received in 1993. Have worked with Rockcastle River Rebirth to secure recreational funding for Livingston area. Currently evaluating recreation needs/potential in northern section of the county. State economic development guidelines indicate that we need recreation area.
Fire Protection - A ready response to fire hazards saves property and lives. It also lowers insurance rates. I will support the various fire departments, if elected.	YES	I have provided local or area development funds for each of the three fire departments.

All have been possible due to cooperation and hard work on the part of a lot of people. I am appreciative and thankful.

...grateful for your friendship, vote and assistance

Fairview

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

The Easter Sunday services were held at the Fairview Baptist Church April eleventh. Sunday School attendance was one hundred and eleven (111). Thank God for each one.

The Sunrise Service at our church was enjoyed by all who attended. We all enjoyed the day so much. The weather was a perfect, beautiful sunny day and temperature in the seventies. Just hope everyone paused to give thanks to God for His Son that died on the cross for all of us.

We, all really enjoyed the good sermons we heard during our revival last week. Rev. David Aker delivered five (5) messages on the last week of Jesus' life before the crucifixion. I just wish everyone could have heard these messages, they were so wonderful. I just hope and pray God will continue to bless Bro. Aker and all our good ministers (including our own, Rev. Harvey Pensol) the husband and wife.

Our deepest heartfelt sympathy is extended to all those who have lost loved ones recently including Marvin Brown and Charlie King, both of Disputanta. The relatives and friends have our love and prayers. Death is a difficult time to go through but heaven is a wonderful place.

Belinda Smith and daughter Amanda visited Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander the Sunday before last.

Mrs. Evelyn Ponder and son Scott recently visited relatives in Franklin, Ohio.

Some of our recent guests have been Wayne and Carolyn Chasteen (our son and wife), Darrin Chasteen and Darryl Chasteen (our grandsons), Junior Chasteen (our son), Tip Reppert, (my brother), Judy Cummins (a dear friend), and Shawn Williams (friend of Darrin Chasteen).

Those from our church attending the Rockcastle County Semi-Annual Association Meeting at the Ottawa Baptist Church on Friday evening April 2nd were Rev. Harvey Pensol, Mrs. Nancy Williams, Mr. and Mrs. David and Dawna Gilliam, Buddy Gabbard, Tom Poynter and Judy Cummins and daughter Jamica.

Joyce Seals and daughter Kim of Paint Lick visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen Sunday.

Easter dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Ponder and son Scott were his parents Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ponder, his sister, Edith Rae Pulliam and daughter Glenys, his brother Mike Ponder and wife Paulette, Mike and Paulette's son and wife Chris Ponder and, Angie and also Mike and Paulette's daughter Beth Eaton and husband David.

Visiting Mrs. Mary Cope one day last week were her daughter Mrs. Jean Hayes and husband Frankie of Winchester.

This ad is for the parents and grandparents of children from the age of 12 to 18. Have you stopped and thought about what they will be doing over the next 5 years, as they get older and take more control of their life? A lot of times, young adults and teenagers are under a lot of pressure from their friends to take drugs and drink alcohol, and a lot of times, they end up in jail. You can't rest assured that they will be in good hands until you can get them out. You will be able to come in and talk to them anytime, day or night. This I will guarantee to you. So please help me in the election so that I can help you if you need me to.

Thank You,

this visit, he and Hallie visited them at the home of James and Evelyn Reppert at Urbank on Sunday night. Our folks had also been to our home and my brother Tip Repperts but we weren't home, so we missed them. Gail's daughter Allison came on the trip too.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gabard Saturday night.
 Phyllis (Gatlin) Heckathorn of Mishawaka, Ind., my sister Ruth's daughter, visited with Hubert and me on Tuesday morning of last week. Bless her heart, she is such a sweet lovely lady and loves to visit us and we love having her.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander had all their family home for Easter dinner. Attending were Gerald and Irene Alexander and children Courtney and Cody and Rex and Jewell Davidson and children Jena and Jeremy. Also friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and son Logan.

The children enjoyed an egg hunt in the afternoon and later Jeremy's birthday was celebrated with cake and ice cream. He was 9 years old April 12th. He is a sweet boy and we wish him more happy birthdays.

Please remember church and Sunday School and let's always pray for one another. May God bless you all.

Tobacco harvesters take warning of nicotine poisoning

Tobacco harvesters should wear protective clothing to shield themselves from nicotine poisoning when handling wet tobacco leaves, federal health officials said yesterday.

Green tobacco sickness, contracted when dissolved nicotine from wet tobacco leaves touches the skin, causes nausea, vomiting, weakness, dizziness and occasional fluctuations in blood pressure and heart rate.

Of the 60,000 tobacco workers in Kentucky, as many as 600 might have sought medical help for green tobacco sickness, the national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and state health officials said.

The CDC urged tobacco harvesters to avoid working right after a rainfall; wear boots, gloves and long sleeves; and change into dry clothing whenever it becomes wet.

One More Time Citizens of Rockcastle County

In the next six weeks, you are going to be hearing these words a lot. I believe the people of Rockcastle County are not willing to wait seven more years for changes that need to be made now. We elect our local officials based on who can best serve ALL the people of the county, not on whether ONE can draw a state pension or not. EVERYONE in this county should be able to walk into the Circuit Clerk's office and conduct their court business without feeling uncomfortable.

If elected, I will conduct myself in a manner and operate the Circuit Clerk's office in a manner to best serve ALL the citizens of this county.

Changes need to be made and seven years is TOO long to wait!!
