Babbage explains "Motor-Voter"

Citizens of Rockcastle County will be able to register to vote when they apply for or renew their driver's license, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage.

The federal law requires states to implement the provisions of the National Voter Registration Act by January 1, 1995. Babbage said he hoped the expanded registration programs would be in place during 1994.

"The increased opportunity for voter registration will definitely help rebuild democracy in Kentucky. I expect about 50,000 more registered voters to be added each year when motor-voter is in operation," Babbage said.

Since Babbage took office in 1991 and implemented several programs to increase voter registration Kentucky has set new records for increased registration. Today more Kentuckians are registered to vote than ever before.

The bill, sponsored by Kentucky U.S. Senator Wendell Ford, was signed by President Bill Clinton on May 20 and allows states to designate voter registration in other offices in addition to the county clerk's office where registration is presently offered.

The federal law makes voter registration possible in the circuit clerk's office where driver's licenses are issued. States are required to name all offices which provide public assistance and administer state funded programs that provide services to the disabled as voter registration sites.

Each state is to designate other government offices to offer voter registration. The legislation suggests public libraries, schools, city and county clerk's offices, unemployment offices, federal and nongovernmental offices.

Mail-in voter registration cards, which Kentucky started to use in 1991, are required by the federal law to be available at each registration site.

Each site will offer assistance with registration and will accept the completed forms to forward to the proper election official, Babbage said.

Since taking office in 1991, Babbage has put several new programs into place to increase voter registration. In the year between the 1991 and 1992 general elections a record was set for new voter registration when 184,301 registered to vote.

In 1993 a record was set when 2,160,192 people were registered. A general trend in Kentucky has been for voter registration to decline after a presidential election. Between the 1988 presidential elections and the 1989 primary registration fell by 89,229.

This year the trend has been reversed, Babbage said. Between the 1992 presidential election and the May primary registration has increased by 83,929.

Babbage also implemented several other programs including voter registration at the workplace and, with the cooperation of MCI Communications, developed the nation's first toll-free voter registration request line.

Noting that in 1991 nearly 900,000 Kentuckians were eligible but unregistered, and of the 1.8 million registered only about half those voted regularly, Babbage said Kentucky was practicing democracy by a third rather than by the majority.

"Our goal was to open the doors of democracy in Kentucky and to invite the citizens to return to their rightful place in guiding the government which serves them. Voting is the way to make that happen and registration makes it possible," Babbage said.

"The second step is to remember that your vote only counts if you use it," he added.

Babbage also requested in 1991 and was denied the opportunity to put voter registration cards in Kentucky tax forms and said he planned to present the idea to the 1994 General Assembly for their action.

"Taxpayers should be invited to be voters. If they pay they should have a say," Babbage said.

Several of the registration programs have received national recognition and now serve as models for increased voter registration in other states.

KET travels to D.C., New York, and Boston for the week of July 4

During the week of July 4, KET will travel to the nation's capital for a live Independence day musical celebration and a historical look at the sixth largest cathedral in the world, to New York City for the Lincoln Center's 27th annual Mostly Mozart Festival, and to Boston for a tribute to John Williams in his final season as director of the Boston Pops. The week ends with a look at the history of the Sioux.

Jason Owens leads baseball team to first round of 2-AA Tourney

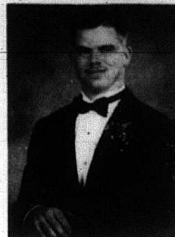

Jason Owens, son of Eddie Owens of Morristown, Tenn. and grandson of Robert and Evelyn Owens of Broadhead, along with teammate Brian Oliver led the Seymour Eagles baseball team to the first round of the region 2-AA tournament. Both players have played important parts of four district championships in spite of serious injuries suffered in the past. During the stretchrun, Jason had three game-winning hits in the bottom of the seventh inning and in spite of his serious 1991 injury still manages to play a solid outfield position. He and his teammates will be looking forward to the state championship games.

"When we were little I remember how much fun it was to watch Seymour High School games. I always looked forward to playing here.

"We've all grown up together and played on the same team all our lives at Bower Field and Maynard Glenn," said Owens Oliver, "and I will say our favorite memory is last year's eighth inning 4-3 victory over Powell. The crowd was really screaming. It put the Eagles in the 'elite eight' round of the state tourney."

When asked about what will be on their minds Monday night, as they stepped on Don Doyle Field for the last time, they had the same answer. "Winning, then making it to the state." The guys they call B.O. and J.O. have earned the chance to try. Jason was a resident of Broadhead until 1981.

Angel of Mercy

By: Preston Parrett
She is a lady of compassion
With a heart of pure gold.
And the sick people that she's assisted,
Their numbers are unold.

When her own family members were ill
She was always by their side,
And over long periods of time
Their faith in her did abide.

She'd take people to the doctor
And wait patiently for their office
call,
Then she'd help them shop
If they needed anything at all.

She would gather up prescriptions
To be filled or call in a refill,
Then she'd take them around
To the homebound and the ill.

She'd visit the sick and afflicted
Bringing messages of hope and cheer,
And people were always comforted
Whenever she was near.

She attended church regularly
Held a Bible study group each week,
That would meet in her home
And God's guidance they would seek.

She'd round up the neighbors' kids
And for a time they would be gone,
Out to a country store
To get an ice cream cone.

She had a boundless source of energy
That came from the goodness of a christian soul,
And when anyone was sick or in need,
This lady was ready to roll.

Time has slowed her pace
And she doesn't drive anymore,
But her unquenchable spirit is still there
And her christian goodness still soars.

She'll probably win no earthly awards,
But some day she'll wear a heavenly crown.

Mrs. Mary McWhorter, our love and thanks to you
The "Angel of Mercy" of Brodhead town.

A "Nation Under God"

By: Vickie Petrey

When America was young and full of promise
Our forebears declared that we would be
A "Nation under God," a land with high ideas,
Flourishing with life and liberty.

But as each year has come and gone
Those fine ideas have paled.
Everyone does "as he sees fit,"
As a "Nation under God" we've failed.

Liberty has come to mean
"I can do whatever I please."
Turning deaf ears to God's Law
Is something we do with ease.

People are shot down on the streets,
Children are pushing dope,
Families live in boxes and starve,
Our country has lost its hope.

People push on by each other.
"You don't hurt me, I won't hurt you."
We turn blind eyes to our neighbors'
pain
We shrug, "What can I do?"

My Greatest Gift

By: Ada Bullock

Many times we cease to show
a lack of appreciation
For all the blessings we receive with love and appreciation.

Pursuing dreams of the future occupies much of our time
As we keep pressing forward toward goals we have in mind.

But let's not forget our parents
as we tread on Victory Lane
'Twas their hands that led us to joy, success and fame.

May their golden years be happy
as they walk side by side
And each sacrifice remembered by the children, you and I.

After all that life has given the greatest gift I've had
Is the love and guidance of my mother and dad.

Sheriff arrests 5 local people for burglaries

A series of burglaries have been investigated by Sheriff Shirley Smith and Deputy Darrell Doan since June 16.

The first burglary occurred at Sam Carroll's Service Station at Burr where a concrete block was removed to gain entrance.

Taken were 20 cartons of cigarettes.

Arrested for complicity to commit burglary in third degree were Simon Byrd, 21, of Crooked Creek. He is in jail on a $5,000 cash or property bond.

Two juveniles with him were a 17 year old and a 9 year old who reportedly climbed through the opening and got the cigarettes.

They will be charged in juvenile court for burglary in third degree.

Byrd and the 17-year-old and a 14 year old, went to Burgess Mullins' sawmill at Climax where they reportedly stole 3 nail guns and a box of nails valued at $1,275. Also taken was a dog (Pet) box.

The juveniles and Byrd will be charged with theft by unlawful taking.

From there Byrd and the 17-year-old and the 9-year-old went to the Ricky Smith's Sinooco Service Station at Burr where they reportedly stole 2 tires from behind the Service Station.

Byrd, the 17-year-old and the 9-year-old then went across the road to David King's Garage and stole 2 batteries.

The air guns and nails were sold to Steve Blair of Big Sandy. A warrant has been issued charging him with receiving stolen property.

The tires and batteries were recovered at a local home. The resident said he didn't know they were stolen.

Daniel Boone logging comes under fire

A group of citizens confronted a U.S. Forest Service official last week to ask for more public input in the process of allowing drilling and logging on federal lands, according to a report by the Associated Press.

Friday was the last day for public comment on a Somerset company's plan to drill 21 oil and gas wells in the Redbird District of the Daniel Boone National Forest in Clay and Leslie counties.

But Randy Wilson, chairman of Leslie County Concerned Citizens, and most people did not know enough to respond to the plan.

"It's so full of technical language that there's no way a local person can get through it," Wilson said of the U.S. Forest Service's "scoping" -- or public -- notice. "I think that's the way it's designed."

THE LEADER OF THE PACK ... Dr. Jack Lewis, former local doctor, was busy leading the runners around the Rockcastle Council for the Arts Run Saturday afternoon. Above, Jack Sr., gives Jack Jr., coordinator of the event, a ride up main street in Mt. Vernon.

"The 'scoping process' by which the government collects public comment lasts a month, and the Forest Service plan on the application within 60 days. Wilson said that is not enough time for meaningful public involvement.

"We want a reform of a system that excludes people," he said. "You've heard of the saying, 'You can't see the forest for the trees.' Here, you can't see the forest for the paper."

Wilson and five other representatives from the groups Kentuckians For The Commonwealth and Kentucky Heartwood confronted Redbird ranger Dennis Daniels and handed him about 100 letters on the drilling proposal. But Daniels said he is doing all he can to get the public informed about the use of federal lands.

"Managing federal land and public land is not a simple issue," he said. He said the report contains technical language and administrative coding because "we have to show our tracks."

Daniels noted that copies of the Forest's master plan are available for public scrutiny and that the plan contains a glossary of terms. He also pointed out that the Forest Service sends out a newsletter on projects in addition to the public notices in area newspaper.

Wilson complained that maps for proposed drilling and other activities have been vague as to the exact locations of the work.

"They give scoping notices on thousands of acres," Wilson said. "What are we supposed to do? Go up there and look around?"

Daniels said that he began issuing more detailed maps this year.

Wilson asked whether Daniels could take people out to view certain sites before approval is given for logging or drilling. But Daniels said budget and personnel constraints make that difficult.

"Pot" found

A total of 314 marijuana plants were found and destroyed on Barnett Road June 18.

Sheriff Shirley Smith and Deputy Darrell Doan found and destroyed the plants.

Weather report

A total of 3.92 inches of rain fell in Mt. Vernon during June, according to records at Cox Funeral Home weather station.

Most fell from June 10 to 13 when 1.17 inch fell.

High for the month came on June 18 and 19 when it was 88.

Low was 43 on June 1 and 2.

Sturgill walks

Mike Sturgill of Livingston, walked away from Blackburn Correctional Complex in Lexington this week.

He was reported to be serving a 10 year sentence for burglary.

Theft of checks result in arrests

An adult and three juveniles are to be charged with possession of a forged instrument in the theft of blank checks from Zola Wenger, 90, of Brothhead.

Taken in the theft were 22 blank checks which were later filled out with a declared value of $1,165.

Arrested for possession of a forged instrument was Keith Carpenter, 20, of Brothhead. The three juveniles involved will also face the same charges.

The checks were made out to various people in Brothhead, according to Darrell Doan who investigated.

Fiscal court OK's budget

The final adoption of the 1993-94 county budget was approved by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at a called meeting Monday.

Budgets must be finally approved before the July 1 deadline.

The budget totals $1,834,333 as reported earlier.

Of that amount $578,958 goes into the general fund; $670,331 for the road fund; $478,446 for the jail fund; $60,250 to local government economic assistance fund; $40,248 for the economic development fund and $6,100 for the forestry fund.

Jailer Joe Howard asked the court to put jail employees under the county increment fund, and the court approved it.

County employees, now including jail employees, will receive a bonus every six months instead of a raise if they perform well in their job.

Floyd Stokes asked that East Fork Road be improved. The court approved a culvert and gravel where needed.

Watch out for roving gypsies

Reports have been received by the Kentucky State Police Intelligence Section of gypsy groups or individuals in many areas statewide that offer to do work or repairs (barn painting, roof repair, asphalt paving) for a small sum, then do shoddy work and intimidate the victim into paying a larger fee.

Sightings of these gypsy groups and reports by victims have come in from one end of the state to the other.

Anyone is a potential victim, however, these groups usually run their "scam" or "confidence" games on the elderly. Many individuals do not want to report that he or she was the victim of a "scam" and the crime goes unreported. The Kentucky State Police wants to remind the public that they should not be embarrassed to report a crime and that reporting such "scams" will aid in protecting others from being victimized.

There are several reasons why the elderly, in particular, are victimized:

- They can usually afford to have work done, things that the elderly cannot do for themselves.
- They are very trusting and usually do not watch the individuals or obtain any kind of certification or tags.
- Be suspicious about anyone urging you to make a withdrawal from your savings account. Neither the bank or any law enforcement officer would ever ask you to take money from your bank.

Be aware of anyone who professes to have a special ability to solve a particular problem.

Be aware of a stranger who wants to bless your money or perform some secret ritual that will increase its value.

Never let anyone into your home without first verifying their identification and purpose.

Invite a neighbor or friend to be with you while strangers (salespeople, repairmen) are in your home.

For most types of merchandise, your best bet is to purchase from a well established local business. They will probably still be in business when you need warranty service. The new business that was a little cheaper, turns out to be more expensive in the long run if they're not there when you go back for repairs or adjustments.

Do not be embarrassed to report that you have been victimized or have been approached by suspects attempting to con you.

Mr. Burdette and Ms. Brandenburg to organize local child fatality team

A cooperative effort to insure an efficient means of investigating child fatalities in Rockcastle County is currently being formulated by local agencies.

The Department for Social Services in cooperation with the Kentucky Coroner's Association provided training sessions regarding organizing a Child Fatality Investigative Team on June 21 and 22 in Lexington. Local participants in the training were Jeffery Burdette, County Attorney-Elect and Patty Brandenburg, Family Services Worker Clinician, with the Department for Social Services.

Atty. Burdette and Ms. Brandenburg are currently in the process of forming an interdisciplinary investigative team, whose function will be to establish lines of communication between various agencies during the investigatory process, resulting in a more effective distinction between accidental and non-accidental deaths, more effective prosecution; and ultimately, providing a deterrent to possible crimes.

In addition to Atty. Burdette and Ms. Brandenburg, the local team will include representatives from each law enforcement agency, the county coroner, the commonwealth attorney, and medical professionals.

In the event of the unexpected death of a child, the team will be in contact within 24 hours in order to share known agency information about the case, and if appropriate, to conduct joint investigations.

According to Ms. Brandenburg, community response to the idea of a cooperative investigative team has been very encouraging.

"I have received consistently positive responses from our local law enforcement and court personnel," stated Ms. Brandenburg. "Our county and commonwealth attorneys-elect, our coroner, and our law enforcement agencies are excited about the prospect of working together as a team to facilitate a more efficient investigation."

The Department for Social Services is mandated to investigate cases where abuse or neglect is suspected in the death of a child.

"I feel optimistic that a teamwork approach will assist our office with making a determination regarding whether abuse or neglect played a role in the death, and in assisting us with determining risk to any other children who might remain in the home."

An organizational meeting of the Rockcastle County Child Fatality Investigative Team will be held in July. Anyone with questions or comments should contact Ms. Brandenburg at 256-2138, or Atty. Burdette at 256-2730.

Ronnie McDowell: Sharing Elvis' spotlight?

Hardly a conversation about Ronnie McDowell takes place that Elvis Presley's name does not come up. Although McDowell's vocal and songwriting talents have kept his name on country music charts for nearly two decades, it is his work involving Elvis Presley projects that most people identify.

McDowell's ties to Elvis began with a song he co-wrote with Lee Morgan. That single, a tribute to the King of Rock & Roll entitled "The King is Gone," sold several million copies.

It is likely that most television viewers or movie geeks have heard Ronnie McDowell "sing Elvis." In 1979, McDowell was chosen by Dick Clark to sing 36 songs for the soundtrack "Elvis," a television production in which Kurt Russell starred as the legendary singer.

When it was actor Don Johnson's turn to portray Elvis, in the television movie "Elvis and the Beauty Queen," McDowell again provided the vocal talents.

In 1988, when Priscilla Presley's book "Elvis and Me" was made into a movie for ABC-TV, McDowell was chosen to "sing Elvis." And in 1990, when ABC-TV produced a series based on the early years of Elvis' career, Priscilla Presley again selected McDowell to be the voice of Elvis. McDowell's work with Elvis projects is only part of the singer-songwriter's story. His talents have kept him in front of concert audiences and at the top of country record charts. Nearly twenty of McDowell's singles have climbed to top ten chart positions and his albums continue to make and break records.

Concert-goers have come to expect diversity from Ronnie McDowell and they are not disappointed. The singer has a perfectionist's drive for excellence and his down-home approach to audiences builds loyal fans from coasts to coasts.

On July 4th, Ronnie McDowell appears in concert at Renfro Valley. McDowell will entertain in two performances, a 2 p.m. matinee and an evening concert at 6 p.m. Tickets are $13, $14 for preferred (center section) seats; all seats are reserved.

Renfro Valley is located on U.S. Highway 25, near Mt. Vernon. The popular entertainment complex, which includes two restaurants, lodging, two state-of-the-art show barn theatres and a quaint shopping village, is just off Interstate 75, 15 minutes south of Berea, 45 minutes south of Lexington.

"Logging" (Cont. From Front)

"I can't commit to taking everybody who comes in out to a particular stand of trees," he said. "I will make a commitment to direct you to it as best I can."

Chris Schimmoller, a spokeswoman for the Heartwood group, accused the Forest Service of approving practices before it has fully studied their effect on the woods and its wildlife. She said that impact is evident when one visits areas that have been worked.

Speakers and guests at Destination Graduation Monday were, left to right, Joyce Cummins, tutor liaison for Rockcastle Schools; Larry Hammond, director of pupil personnel for Rockcastle schools; Wendel Cave, state coordinator for Council on Higher Education; Hanly Funderburk, president of EKU; Dean Kenneth Henson, of the College of Education at EKU; Art Harvey, director of Career Placement at EKU and Nancy Thames, director of Destination Graduation at EKU. Several students and local speakers attended a luncheon Monday at Rockcastle Steak House.

Governor requests USDA loans for 30 Kentucky counties

Gov. Brereton Jones today requested approval by Secretary Mike Espy of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for emergency loan assistance for Kentucky farmers in 30 counties of the state.

The request came as the result of a severe weather system that struck on June 4, resulting in extensive damage to farm lands, fencing, buildings and equipment estimated to exceed $27 million. The governor said more than 7,700 farm buildings and structures were affected.

Affected were the following: Adair, Ballard, Boone, Butler, Crittenden, Daviess, Garrard, Grayson, Hardin, Hart, Henderson, Jackson, Kenton, LaRue and Laurel Counties. Also included were Lincoln, Livingston, Marion, Mason, McCracken, McLean, Nelson, Ohio, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Scott, Taylor, Union, Washington and Webster Counties.

"In view of these severe conditions, I strongly encourage you to approve the request and provide all possible disaster assistance for which the farmers may qualify," Governor Jones' request said.

The low-interest farm loans come through the USDA Farmers Home Administration, which administers the loan program. The Lexington office of the Farmers Home Administration has also recommended approval of the loan program, based upon their damage estimates.

"Late Filers" (Cont. From Front)

us," said Bruce Dillman, and IRS spokesman in Louisville. "We've offered Nonfiler Days" for people to come in. The telephone line will help those who can't come in, or might have some fear about coming in," he said.

There are an estimated 9.8 million individuals and businesses nationwide who may be delinquent in filing one or more tax returns, according to the IRS. They believe 75,000 of these nonfilers live in Kentucky.

Dillman said the IRS recognizes that nonfiling is a serious problem and could account for as much as $10.2 billion in unpaid taxes nationwide for 1992 alone.

The IRS in Kentucky has offered several outreach sessions throughout the state since the beginning of this program last October. As a result of these outreach efforts 877 taxpayers have come forward in the last nine months. Almost $900,000 in tax was owed by taxpayers while the IRS owed refunds to taxpayers of nearly $200,000.

The new hotline is available to people who have questions about the program or wonder what type of documentation they need to file. The hotline will be open Monday-Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

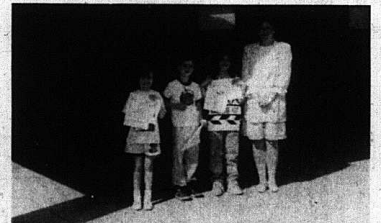

Soil Conservation Week Observed

In observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 25 - May 2, the Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District sponsored a coloring contest that included all second graders. There were three prizes awarded to each elementary school. They were as follows: 1st place which was $10, $7 for 2nd place and $5 for 3rd place. And a 1st place winner in the county that received a Pizza Hut dinner for the entire family. Pictured is the 1st place county wide winner Rebekah Lyons of Roundstone Elementary School along with Roy Brown, chairman of the Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District.

Livingston Elementary School winners were Jessica Carpenter, Ashlee Francisco and Alex Martin. Becky Daugherty, district clerk and Roy Brown, chairman.

Mt. Vernon Elementary School winners were Ashlee Bowles, Cody Cromer and Jessica Ramsey. Becky Daugherty, district clerk.

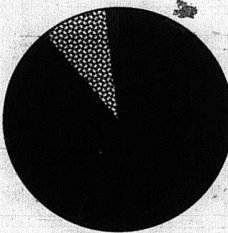

Roundstone winners are Tomekia Lamb, Erin Wilson and Rebekah Lyons with Roy Brown, chairman.

Winners from Brodhead Elementary were Larry Newcomb, Ruby Jean and Rebecca Alsip. Becky Daugherty, district clerk and Roy Brown, chairman.

When asked, 'How often do you read a weekly newspaper?' 89% of Kentucky households said, 'Every week!'

And, in the same survey, 44% said they keep the paper around the house until the next week.*

This year's heavy calf losses can be prevented by next year

A larger than normal number of new-born calves in Kentucky as well as several other states died from various diseases this calving season.

But what caused the diseases? This year's unusually chilly temperatures and wet weather conditions, said Duane Miksch, Extension veterinarian with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Some cattlemen are inclined to place the blame on the pathogens identified in the dead animals," Miksch said. "They include all the usual bacteria, viruses and protozoa."

He added, "But the real culprit in the extraordinary loss of baby calves during the winter and spring of 1993 was the environment and the failure of cattlemen to recognize or respond to its adverse effects."

Miksch said the chill factor, or effective temperature, was deceptively low for extended periods of time this year. Wet weather without frozen ground resulted in mud which caused cows and calves to expend excessive energy and lose body heat.

Lowered body resistance resulted in ever-increasing populations of pathogens in the cows and calves.

"Trade magazines reported on increased feed costs and extradays in the feedlot due to muddy conditions for fed cows," Miksch said. "Mud affects springing cattle just as adversely, but the results are not as easily quantified when a late gestation cow's energy or proteins needs are not met and the fetus is deprived of fat reserves."

Cattle in cold but dry weather will increase consumption of forages by about 30 percent, he said, but in muddy conditions at any temperature, forage intake may decline by up to 30 percent.

"An 80-pound newborn calf needs about two megacalories in good weather," Miksch said. "When the chill factor falls to 20 degrees, that requirement increases by about 50 percent."

"When those calves nurse in a muddy area, they use an tremendous amount of energy just following the calves. Every time they nurse, they get a belly-full of germ-laden mud, and the cold mud conducts heat from the calves' bodies."

"It's no wonder that the disease challenge even when the cattle's resistance level, even when the cattlemen had a good immunization program," Miksch said.

"What can cattlemen do to reduce similar losses next season?"

Miksch said they should plan to feed grain and/or a protein supplement to cows to help them meet their increased energy and protein needs if next year's conditions are similar.

They should also plan a system that will allow feeding on sod or otherwise use of the mud.

"They should provide a solid, dry, sheltered area for cows to bed down and prepare a clean, high-alving stall where calves can be delivered, dried and warmed and helped to nurse an udder that has been cleaned and dried."

"Calves that have become chilled before being discovered should be quickly rewarmed," Miksch said. "Some studies show that immersing the calf in tepid water will rewarm it quickly and effectively. Other studies show that placing the calf in a metal cage and deflecting the

Richie Farmer Basketball Camp

The first annual Richie Farmer Basketball Camp is scheduled for July 5-9 at the Corbin High School gymnasium. The camp is for boys and girls ages 7-15.

Farmer indicates that he believes "the fact that I was taught solid fundamental skills was the key to my success in basketball. Teaching the fundamentals of basketball will be heavily emphasized at the camp."

Camp sessions for 7-10 year olds will be conducted 8:30-12 daily while 11-15 year old campers will be in session from 1-4:30.

Coch Billy Hicks of Corbin High School thinks the camp will be extremely beneficial for the entire area. "While we feel fortunate to host the camp at Corbin High School," states Hicks, "this camp represents an exciting opportunity for youngsters throughout all of southeastern Kentucky to experience the Richie Farmer camp."

The cost of the camp is $75 for the week. Campers are encouraged to register early because camp space is limited. To receive a camp brochure, please write:

Richie Farmer Basketball Camp, 259 South Collins Street, Richmond, Ky. 40475.

You may also call (606) 938 or (502) 223-3072 to request a brochure.

"Throughout my playing career, I was always an appreciative of the fan support which I received," concludes Farmer. "This camp will provide me the opportunity to give a little back to some of those fans. I really look forward to meeting the campers and their parents."

Volleyball team competition

There will be a Volleyball team competition Monday, July 5 and Tuesday, July 6 at the Lincoln County Fair. The championship will start Thursday, July 8 at 7:30 p.m. each night.

There will be an entry fee of $30 per team.

Classes include three co-ed team division and six person co-ed team division.

The event is an open tournament governed by sanctioned rules. For more information call: Frank Isaacs-365-2749; Jamie Board-365-7403; Don and Dan Story-365-2050.

Fourth of July weekend is a boom for boaters

The upcoming holiday weekend is the biggest one for boaters and vacationers on the water. The weather's hot and the water feels great, so it's perfect for skiing, swimming and boating.

The Kentucky Water Patrol wants the Fourth of July weekend to be as safe as it is fun, so remember the following:

Have all the required safety equipment on board; while underway, sit in the designated seating areas - not on the bow, sides or any position where you can be thrown out; keep a sharp lookout for persons in the water as well as other boats; and remember that drinking and boating are a deadly mix. The last three water-related fatalities in the Commonwealth involved alcohol.

For more information on boating safety, get a copy of the Kentucky Boating Guide at your county clerk's office or call 1-800-828-2628.

Florida Marlin try-out camp

The Florida Marlins will conduct an open try-out camp on Tuesday, July 6, at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, at 9:30 a.m. Registration begins at 9 a.m. and all players ages 16-22 are invited to attend. All American Legion Players must have written permission from their coach or Post Commander. Players should bring their glove and shoes and be in uniform. The camp will be conducted by Marlins' Area Scout Brad Del Bort and Lexington recommending Scout Dick Robinson.

This is a camp which was originally scheduled for June 21st and had to be cancelled due to rain/wet field conditions.

It has certainly been a memorable pleasure to have been blessed with remarkable health, a stable group of caring and understanding patrons, and countless friendships formulated over these years of service to the fine people of Rockcastle and area counties. I am somewhat ambivalent regarding my decision to "hang up my scissors." With areas yet unexplored, I feel it is time to pursue other activities. Collectively you have been kind, patient, considerate and generous; minimizing problems and maximizing pleasures. Thank you for your confidence!

but I misplaced it and I never got any copies of it. The Signal would have a copy of it would you? I had lots of relatives come to the reunion. Two copies came out the same week one copy was of Jim Payne family and the other was of the Payne Family and over 100 people were there. I hope you were there and will know who I'm writing about. My relatives were Roscoe Payne Family from Orlando, Fla. Roscoe Payne married my niece Lola Parrett. Do you know if they are having another reunion this year? Well, I hope you can send me a few lines in return then I'll know more about the reunion. Maybe they still have a copy in the office.

 Enjoy your writes-ups very much, keep them coming.

Dear Editor,
The following are excerpts from a letter received this week by the Livingston Economic Alternatives in Progress (LEAP), from one of our outstanding members. His words reflect the community spirit evident in many of our residents, and we would like to share the compliment with our fellow Rockcastle Countians.

"I just received my Spring issue... of LEAPS and Bounds (the LEAP newsletter) and enjoyed reading about the excellent work your organization is doing in the Rockcastle Co. area... it gives me a nice warm and comfortable feeling... I always enjoy my visits on your fair countryside and must admit that I always leave Rockcastle County refreshed and with peace of mind. The folks are sincere, honest and just plain fun to be around."

Sincerely,
The LEAP Staff and Board of Directors

Dear Editor,
This letter is in response to a letter that appeared in the Signal's past issue, in reference to the Joyce "Isabelle" VanWinkle Family, pertaining to the removal of flowers from their mother's grave in the Jonetta Cemetery, located in the Brush Creek community of Rockcastle County.

However, this letter, in response to their letter, also is to furthermore, inform those who are violating burying grounds and/or graves in the Brush creek community, that they are subject to prosecution under the, now newest law, now effective since 1992. Kentucky Revised Statute (KRS) 525.115, Violating Graves: (1) A person is guilty of violating graves when he intentionally: (a) Mutilates the graves, monuments, fences, shrubbery, ornaments, grounds, or buildings in or enclosing any cemetery or place of sepulture; or (b) Violates the grave of any person by destroying, removing, or damaging the headstone or footstone, or tomb over the enclosure protecting any grave; or (c) Digs into or plows over or removes any ornament, shrubbery, or flower placed upon any grave or lot. (2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to ordinary maintenance and care of a cemetery nor the removal and relocation of graves pursuant to procedures authorized by and in accordance with applicable statutes. (3) Violating graves is a Class A misdemeanor for the first offense and a Class D felony for each subsequent offense. (Enact. Acts 1992, ch. 420, S.2, effective July 14, 1992.)

I, the undersigned was kindly influential in some of the wordings of the newest law passed on violating graves, (where emphasis is added, reference to KRS 525.115 (1) (b) Violates the grave of any person by "destroying, removing, or damaging the headstone or footstone," or the tomb over the enclosure protecting any grave; or (c) Digs into or "plows over" or removes any ornament, shrubbery, or flower placed upon any grave or lot.

Sincerely,
Wayne Clark

Dear Editor,
Good weather, good community support and a good run, all contributed to making the 1st annual "Run For The Arts" a success! Many businesses and individuals made this effort by the Rockcastle Council for the Arts actually happen.

Our sincere thanks to Clontz & Cox, Attorneys, the Rockcastle Hospital and Respiratory Care Center, Singleton Insurance and Best Western Castle Inn for providing major sponsorship of this event. Also special thanks to Dr. Sandy Avall, Rita Mullins, R.N., the Rockcastle Ambulance Service, Mt. Vernon Police Department, the Mt. Vernon Volunteer Fire Dept., Youth Services Center, Dowell and Martin Funeral Home, Mayor Gary Cromer, Cox Funeral Home, Family Resource Center, Godfathers Pizza, Bank of Mt. Vernon, Coca Cola Company, Southern Belle Dairy and the Wild River Band for a great show. Last, but of tremendous importance, thanks to the wonderful folks who volunteered their time and energy to the "Run For The Art," directing traffic, selling ice cream, pouring water, timing runners, registering runners, running errands or any of the number of jobs that had to be done.

Congratulations to all participants and we hope you'll all be sure to join us for the next "Run For The Art."
Very Sincerely,
The Rockcastle Council for the Arts

Dear Editor,
I would like to respond to Pearl Gooch's letter. I am also a resident on Bowling Ridge Road and have been for several years and unlike yourself I am not ashamed to tell it. You said Bowling Ridge was once a peaceful community, and I believe it still would be if people like you would mind their own business. As for the bootlegging, you mentioned, I have not seen any signs saying "liquor for sale."

I have lived here for many years, and traveled this road many times and have never been run off the road by a drunk driver. We, the residents of Bowling Ridge, have a good idea who Pearl Gooch really is. You need to worry about your own family and quit passing judgement on the rest of us.

Thank you,

He is a member of the Kentucky Farm Bureau, Kentucky Soybean Association, Kentucky and US Corn Growers Association, Woodford County and National Beef Cattle Association, National Wheat Growers Association, and Kentucky Small Grain Growers Association.

Henton holds a BS degree in Agriculture Economics from Purdue University. He has received the Carnegie Hero Fund Medal and Masters Certification Award.

Soil Conservation Service completes inventory

On May 31, 1993, personnel from the USDA Soil Conservation Service (SCS) completed the 1992 National resources inventory (NRI) in Kentucky. The inventory, which is mandated by the 1977 Resources Conservation Act, has been taken every 5 years since 1982. It assesses resource conditions, land uses and trends at specific sample sites in each county of the state.

"We looked at 6,680 sites in Kentucky," said Bill Maddox SCS State Soil Scientist. "At each site we recorded as many as 94 bits of information, including land cover, soil type, amount of erosion, types of wetlands, urban and build-up land, forestland and conservation treatment practices. All of this information has now been entered into our computers for analysis, tabulation and report generation."

The 1992 NRI is helpful to many people because it gives valuable up-to-date, detailed information about changes that have taken place on the landscape of our state.

Please note!
Jessica Albright and Slade Moore of B.E.S. were inadvertently left off the Presidential Academic Fitness Award list.

Roamin' Rockcastle

China, yesterday I learned he had preached at Macedonia Baptist Church for Brother Denton Sears, the pastor.

I was so aggravated at John causing me to miss church that I needed to quote in my column. Brother Bill is one of my sources of religion that I use. He will tell me where to find it in the Bible.

That is very helpful but, did you know (I have to tell this) that he was a robber sometime ago. When he married this pretty, young woman she was so young (and still is) folks just said he robbed the cradle at that time.

Brother Hamilton just laughs when I tell this tale on him, and I hope you will too for I think so much of Brother Bill and China, my good friends.

One of the three men in my life called Friday to tell me he was coming down on Saturday to spend the day with us and celebrate "Father's Day."

Although John is his stepfather, they have a good relationship and love each other.

I cooked the usual soupbans, green onions, cornbread with fried chicken and fried country ham that my youngest son, Chesley Payne Cornett likes so well. In fact he asks for that menu.

Bussell

Mrs. Lula Bussell, 88, of Brodhead, died June 23, 1993 at her home after a long illness.

She was born on Oct. 2, 1904 in Rockcastle County, the daughter of the late John and Susie Woodall Moore. She was a member of the Broadhead Baptist Church.

Survivors are three sons, Joe M., Doe, and Jack Bussell, all of Brodhead; three daughters, Mrs. Laverne Lykins of Taylorville, Ill., Mrs. Janet Hampton of Brodhead, and Mrs. Gladeline Glass of Cincinnati, Ohio; a brother, Robert Moore of Sharonville, Ohio; five sisters, Mrs. Pearl Bray of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Eva Bray and Mrs. Dorothy Thornton, both of Reading, Ohio, Mrs. Mamie Holcomb and Mrs. Bertha Adams, both of Brodhead; 24 grandchildren, 49 great grandchildren, and 11 great great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, Arch Bussell and a daughter.

Services were June 26 at the Broadhead Baptist Church with Bro. Don Glass, Shelby Reynolds and Mark Whicker officiating. Burial was in Pinery Grove Cemetery. Watson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Joey Bussell Jr., William Lykins, Jim Bussell, Larry Hampton, Kevin Bussell, Larry Glass, Edd Durham and Jerry Bussell.

Chess brought John a carton of cigarettes.

I said, "How come I didn't get anything for Mother's Day?"

"Oh, oh, when I bought these cigarettes I said, 'I'll hear about it when I get there,'" and Chess started laughing.

"No," I said, "I'm glad you gave him a present."

If I do something without thinking on it, John will say, "Why don't you keep your mind on what you have to do and quit making mistakes!"

My mind does wander until I can't remember my own name (it has happened) but other folks say, "Join the crowd. We all forget too."

The other day I got even with John. We went to Piggly Wiggly store to get some eggs, I sat in the truck while John went into the store. I never noticed what he came back with until we had driven almost out of the parking lot.

John stopped the truck suddenly and exclaimed, "For Pete's sake, I went into the store to get a dozen eggs and got a half gallon of milk."

Well, I haven't stopped laughing yet for John had to go back into the store and get the dozen eggs. We have plenty of milk.

Henry Volmer of Cedar Creek, Indiana called us last Saturday to ask what the bad winds had done to us down here.

Henry also invited John and I to a birthday party on July 10th but nothing was said about his age. He can't be very old for the way he chases the pretty women up there on Cedar creek.

However I told Henry we had already planned to be there. A plane will cost too much so we'll go with horses and wagon. We may be more than one day in going so we'll start early. We'll take Henry some of John's white clover honey. He has begun to rob his bees, with Larry Abrams helping. I'll declare they work well with bees and that's all they talk about.

Juanita, of B and J Grocery, near Macedonia Church, got herself some cheese and crackers and came around to join the group who were sitting at the loofer's table in the store.

She said, "With all of you eating and smoking around here, I decided to get myself some too and eat my breakfast."

John had some cheese and crackers at the table for it was near 12 o'clock and I joined him.

We had been over at Grandpa Shea Taylor's Memorial. Juanita and John do each summer month to keep it clean. We had come over to the Holt Grocery to get news.

Juanita said business was slow now. Any Rowland of Clear Creek was helping to take care of the store when the folks were away.

Herman Ramer and Bud Holt were the coffee drinkers at the table.

I asked Bud about his wife Virginia and he said she was mostly helping take care of her grandmother and working at her job one or two days a week.

Tommy Singleton of Fairview who is the proud owner of my hairdresser, Teresa, came into the shop to speak with her.

Teresa introduced her husband to me. I asked him, "Do you know what a pretty woman you have for a wife?"

Tommy was laughing as he said, "Do you know how much money I've got in that woman? Well, I'll tell you. I've got several hundred dollars dental work invested in her and I'm going to keep her here," and he went out laughing.

When I seem to be such a happy couple and are always doing something for their boys, I told Teresa once that I wish I were their child.

Sunday morning, on our way to Pleasant Run Baptist Church near the Laurel County line, we stopped to see Sue Cromer at the Ole Kentucky Kitchen, home of some of the best eating you ever put in your mouth, to see Sue Cromer, owner (this will make Don mad).

I told her she was going to be in debt to me for the folks who read about her in the paper.

Teresa had said to me, "Oh, you know the place you write about having such good food to eat, well, we took a drive over one afternoon and they were so friendly to us. The food was so good, we are going back again."

At another time, Kaye and Lee Abney had gone back to eat there after they had been with us once and enjoyed their fried chicken, not to mention the apple stack cake. Lee was eating another slice when Kaye promised they would come again.

While we were at Sue's place, drinking some coffee, one of the prettiest girls and a man came in and sat down at a table.

I asked Sue who they were and she said the girl had done some painting of the long necked goats that Sue has hanging around. Sue asked her what her name was and both the man and the girl began laughing and said, "We are Hubert and Glenna Martin."

There seemed to be a joke about it all.

We left the restaurant and drove a very winding road up and down hills in Rockcastle until we came to Pleasant Run Baptist Church. I have told you before about how pretty the church was in its location.

Brother Bill Hammond who was the one who stopped, or came, to eat, he was the preacher that John came down to hear.

He was still preaching his powerful sermons.

Brother Bill has a new title now, he told us.

The church had held their Vacation Bible School and finished with a "cookout" on the last night.

Someone had brought several watermelons and it was decided to have a contest to find the one who could eat the most melon in two minutes.

Brother Bill and a woman church member tied by eating the most in two minutes.

The preacher said now he didn't want watermelon anymore.

I talked to some ladies, Rita Mize, Mae Carter and Denise Carpenter whom I had met before when we were there.

Two came up to unite with the church, one by letter. The church had five more converts waiting to be baptized in the river near by. Gee, I would love to see that. So much good work for the Lord has been going on.

Till next week: Never explain, your friends do not need it, and your enemies will not believe it anyway.

CAP Child Development Center nationally accredited

The CAP Child Development Center in Berea, recently received national accreditation for its preschool program from the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs (NAECP), which is the accrediting arm of the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

The Christian Appalachian Project's preschool program, which serves 63 families with children from ages birth to three years in Berea, is among the first to be accredited by NAECP.

For the southern Madison County community, it means that a high quality program for meeting the needs of children and family is being offered," said Teri Mehler, Manager of the CAP Child Development Center.

Accreditation was dependent on meeting a variety of strict criteria related to providing activities appropriate for preschool-aged children, to having well qualified and trained staff, to having an adequate number of staff for the number of children, to meeting stringent health and safety standards, and to having opportunities for parental involvement. The accreditation process included an on-site study of the program and review by a three-member national committee.

The curriculum of the CAP Child Development Center offers development of language, social skills, pre-math capabilities, and creative and physical abilities.

The center also offers parenting classes, preparation assistance for the GED test for parents with high school diplomas, speech therapy for children, family counseling, and infant/toddler/parent program.

The movement to assure high quality, early childhood education programs was begun in 1985 by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, which is the nation's oldest and largest association of early childhood professionals.

The NAECP, which is sponsored by the National Association, developed the accreditation standards over a three-year period with input from approximately 200 educators and administrators from around the country.

CAP Child Development Center's accreditation will be valid for three years.

For more information on the Child Development Center, which is located behind Appalachian Village on U.S. 25 south, contact Teri Mehler at 986-1177.

"County Days" Celebration at Kentucky Horse Park

Rockcastle, Laurel, Knox, Bell, Jackson Counties will be honored on July 18 at the Kentucky Horse Park for "County Days" celebration.

A valid driver's license from one of the counties honored will admit the driver and other family members to the Park free of charge. The attractions that are included in the free admission are the Park's movie presentation, the International Museum of the Horse, Horse Drawn Tour, the Parade of Breeds, the Walking Farm Tour, and the Hall of Champions; home-of-the-champion thoroughbreds John Henry and Forego, and standardbred Rambling Willie.

Due to the overwhelming response from Kentuckians in the past, the Kentucky Horse Park is proud to be offering "County Days" again in the 1993 season. The program was designed to make Kentuckians aware of what the Park has to offer. "The Kentucky Horse Park belongs to the people of Kentucky, we want them to be able to enjoy it," said Cholak, the Park's Executive Director.

RECC official lauds company policy

A meeting of Jackson County Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation members and friends held in president Douglas Leary, tell members an economic policy adopted by the board of directors has resulted in a loan to Rockcastle Mfg. that will mean more jobs for the area.

The information was not exactly new, and was a point of discussion during may's primary election. RECC loaned Rockcastle Mfg., $200,000, the state $250,000, and banks and local contributors came up with the company's share of $570,000 for expansion which is well underway. The entire amount was $1,040,000. Cooperative President Leary called the meeting a great success. He estimated the number attending the meeting to be around 5,000, including 1,922 members who officially registered and actively participated in the business portion of the meeting. During the business meeting, three (3) members were re-elected to the Board of Directors. Those members, who are elected for three year terms, were: Fred Callahan from Booneville in Owsley County, representing District 7, Edward Stamper from Beattyville in Lee County representing District 8, and Ray Moore from London in Laurel County representing District 9. Leary addressed the membership and reported that from a service perspective, the year 1992 was a very good year. The average hours outage per consumer was at its lowest level than at anytime over the past five years. He reported that some of the measures that have been implemented to bring those outage hours down were increasing the effort to maintain cooperative right-of-ways and also installing sectionalizing equipment that would help to isolate outages to fewer areas at one time and cut down on time in finding the problem and getting it corrected. Leary further reported that these aforementioned efforts in maintaining lines along with the necessity for additional overhead line construction has placed a much greater financial burden on the cooperative. This necessitated the filing this past April for a rate increase with the Public Service Commission. The driving force behind that need is the heavy construction load of overhead lines that the cooperative has been engaged in over the past two or three years.

The estimated cost of the intended two-year work plan is $16.3 million; a 30 percent increase over the previous plan that is just being completed. The planned rate increase, if approved, would probably go into effect late in 1993. On a more positive note, Leary reported that the board of directors had adopted an economic development policy during this past year. He explained that the loans made possible through monies supplied through rural electric cooperatives by REA, are targeted specifically for rural economic development. Leary also stated that he certainly hoped that more could be done in the area of economic development through the Jackson County RECC service area.

In addition to the business at the meeting there were also nine (9) scholarships of $500 each awarded to youth (one from each of the cooperative's director districts) who participated in a rural electric essay contest earlier this year. Rounding out the evening was some fun entertainment provided by Magician Bob Brizendine, and gospel songs and singing by nationally known gospel music artists, The Bishops. Jackson County RECC provides electric service to nearly 39,000 member-owners in Jackson, Laurel, Rockcastle, Clay, Owsley, Lee, Estill, Breathitt, Garrard, Leslie, Lincoln, Madison, Powell, Pulaski and Wolfe Counties.

How to handle a Zucchini boom

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Zucchini is a summer vegetable that creates a problem for many home gardeners -- how to use it up. There are many ways to prepare this versatile vegetable that is low in calories and a good source of vitamins C and fiber, along with other vitamins and minerals.

Raw young zucchini sliced thinly is good in summer salads. It can be steamed, stirfried or microwaved as a side dish. All types of summer squash, including zucchini, can be frozen for later use.

To Freeze Summer Squash: Wash and cut young squash into 1/2-inch slices. Heat in boiling water for 3 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack into containers, leaving 1/2-inch head space. Seal and freeze.

Zucchini may be used in many recipes--desserts, main dishes and casseroles. The flavor of zucchini is often determined by the other ingredients of the recipe. The Extension

Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Brown were Clyde Harris, Dawn Brock, Shelby's nephew and wife, Ben and Ruby Brown from Cincinnati, Ohio. Ben took his uncle Shelby to Danville to see his doctor for a checkup Monday. We hope that Shelby improves very soon, our prayers are for him.

Dawn Brock, Lillian Brooks, Ben and Ruby Brown were supper guests of Shelby and Lucille Brown Sunday evening. They all enjoyed a wonderful meal as Lucille is such a good and wonderful cook!

Dawn Brock, Shelby and Lucille Brown all enjoyed a nice supper together Monday night.

Lillian Brooks was in Lexington most of the day Monday seeing her doctors there. She is improving slowly from her surgery and other treatments that she is going through. We wish her a speedy recovery soon.

Lillian says thanks to all her friends for the nice "Get-Well" cards and telephone calls that she has received from them and also the churches.

office has zucchini recipes that are available to you free of charge. Just call the Extension Office at 256-2403 or stop by our office at the Agriculture Service Center and pick up a copy.

Here are some zucchini recipes that you might want to try now:

- Pizza Zucchini
- 5 cups grated zucchini
  - 2 lbs. hamburger
  - 2 large onions, chopped
  - 1 lb. cheese, crumbled or shredded
  - Can of mushroom soup
  - Can of tomato puree or spaghetti sauce (1 pint)
  - Sweet peppers

Brown hamburger and onions. Take hamburger and drain, save grease. Cook zucchini in grease for 10 minutes. Drain. Layer hamburger, zucchini, spaghetti sauce, cheese and sweet peppers, making two layers. Pour mushroom soup on top. Bake in oven for 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Uncover and serve. (Also freezes well)

Chocolate Zucchini Cake

- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup oil
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup buttermilk
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 4 tablespoons cocoa
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon allspice
- 3 cups grated raw zucchini
- 1/2 cup chocolate chips, if desired

Using a large bowl, cream together sugars, butter and oil. Beat in eggs, vanilla and buttermilk. Stir dry ingredients together and add to batter. Have 3 cups grated zucchini to add last. Pour into greased and floured pan, 9 x 13 inches. Sprinkle top with chocolate chips, if desired. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 45 minutes. When cool, cut into squares and serve with whipped cream or other topping.

Money Matters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

FDIC Insurance

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is the agency of the government which insures our deposits. Because of the FDIC, the security of a bank investment cannot be equalled anywhere in the financial community.

By definition the money invested in a bank is classified as a deposit. Money invested in other types of financial institutions is in many cases considered to be a "share." This makes a bank customer a "depositor" and customers of these other institutions merely shareholders.

This is an important difference which may never be noticed by the customer unless of course he needs to use the insurance. To find out more about the differences in regulations governing the insuring agencies of financial institutions, stop in and see one of our officers.

You're Invited 4th Annual Ballard Parsons Day July 3rd at Wildie

Four years ago when Dr. John Parsons arranged a 50th birthday party for his cousin, Ballard, who has been in a wheelchair since the age of twelve, after he was stricken with polio, he never dreamed it would turn out to be an annual event.

Since 1990 the Wildie Community folks meet at Ballard's Store to eat, pick and grin and have water gun fights. They recognize a "Genuine Wildie Resident", the first year being Ballard and the second year Uncle Bill Stewart 93 years old (shown in the picture with Ballard). Johnny Coffey was recognized last year.

an RC Cola and Moon Pie. If anyone in the community needs to know if it's ready for the market they automatically call Ballard. He can figure in his head quicker than most of us can using a calculator. When Ballard's store is closed, the phones in Wildie ring constantly until everyone knows where Ballard is. The Wildie folks know as long as Ballard's health allows they will have a "genuine country store" where they can loaf and play a clean game of pool.

Come to Ballard Parson's Day, Sat., July 3, beginning at 6:30 p.m., "Pot Luck."

Ballard Parsons with a former "Genuine Wildie Resident", 93 year old Bill Stewart.

-Movie Review-

Dennis Brought to Life
By: Paul E. Scanlon

Hank Ketcham created the "Dennis the Menace" cartoon character. But John Hughes and Nick Castle brought the essence of the characters to the big screen. John Hughes wrote the screenplay Dennis the Menace and Nick Castle directed this hilarious family comedy movie.

If you're expecting something like the TV show, forget it. It's a lot better. Dennis, played by young Mason Gamble, is a lot cuter and more innocent looking in this movie. And Walter Matthau's version of Mr. Wilson couldn't happen to a better actor.

Dennis always means well, but his antics somehow usually go astray and usually in Mr. Wilson's direction, whether by design or accident. Dennis is always trying to help and if he makes a mistake he tries to fix it. But, his solutions to the problem often make the problem worse. This movie reminds me of the time I was 5 years old and I wrote my name inside a library book in ink. It was one Sunday morning. My parents were sleeping. I decided I shouldn't have done that, so I tried to wash it off with lots of soap and water. Just like the cartoon series, this movie is full of one escapade after another.

The best part of Dennis the Menace is that just about the whole family can enjoy it. It is just good clean fun, which is very refreshing. Dennis the Menace is now playing at the Regency Cinema Seven in London.
