Civil Action No. 92-CI-00036

The Bank of Mt. Vernon PLAINTIFF
VS.
Kenneth G. Stewart, June W. Stewart and W.S. Stewart DEFENDANTS

NOTICE OF SALE

Pursuant to judgment and order of sale entered in this action on the 14th day of May, 1993, for the purpose of satisfying the plaintiff's judgment against the defendants, I will offer at public auction the hereinafter described real property in Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

AT THE COURTHOUSE ON EAST MAIN STREET
ON JULY 22, 1993
BEGINNING AT THE HOUR OF 10:00 A.M.

said property being more particularly bounded and described as follows:
Beginning on a stone on the northeast side of the Roundstone-Wildie Road, point is also a southwest corner to the Phillips Graveyard, and is 200 feet, south of the residence of C.L. Brock; thence with the Phillips graveyard line, N 80° E 259 feet to a stone on the east side of a small branch; thence up the small branch, N 10 1/2 W 38 feet to a stone, corner to Phillips graveyard and C.L. Brock; thence with C.L. Brock line, S 80 1/4 E 602 feet to a stone, corner to C.L. Brock and W.S. Stewart and Kenneth Stewart; thence S 5 W 284 feet to a stone by a 30 inch beech; thence S 12 E 321 feet to a stone by a 14 inch gum; thence S 29 E 271 feet to a stone by a double white oak; thence S 66 1/2 W 155 feet to a stone, corner to W.B. Coffey; thence with the W. B. Coffey, James Reynolds and William Smith line, N 34 W 853 feet to a stone; thence with William Smith line, S 88 1/2 W 196 feet to a stone on the northeast side of the Roundstone-Wildie Road; thence with the said road, N 33 3/4 W 733 feet to the place of beginning.

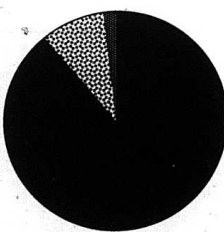

The defendants obtained title to said real property by deed dated September 20, 1967, executed by W.S. Stewart, et al, of record in Deed Book 87, page 275, in the office of the clerk of the Rockcastle County Court, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

The property will be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

1. The real property shall be sold for cash or upon a credit of sixty (60) days with the purchaser required to pay a minimum of twenty-five per cent (25%) of the purchase price in cash on the date of sale and to secure the balance with a bond bearing interest at twelve per cent (12%) per annum.
2. Unpaid taxes or liens of record at the time of entry of judgment shall be paid out of the proceeds of sale.
3. The buyer shall have possession of the premises upon compliance with the terms of sale.
4. This sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise.
5. The buyer shall pay the 1993 County, State and School taxes on the property.

Court OKs agreement with Livingston squad

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court authorizing court Judge/Executive Roland Mullins to sign an affiliation agreement with the recently organized Livingston Search and Rescue Squad.

The approval was made at a meeting of the court Tuesday. The newly organized squad held a fund raiser over the weekend and netted $526. About 400 persons attended the fundraiser and fireworks.

The court approved $1,500 toward purchase of a cooler for the corner's office.

Coroner Billy Dowell said the Rockcastle Hospital may help with the $4,000 bill.

The cooler is for persons who are to have delayed autopsies.

The court agreed to house juvenile

Law enforcement officials were busy over the July 4th weekend closing down a couple of bootlegging operations in the county. Vernon city policeman, Deputy Leonard Miller, Deputy Darrell Doan and Travis Cromer.

Car, tractor collide on Johnetta Cemetery Road

Simon Byrd, 36, of Orlando, was injured and transferred to U.K. Medical Center following a tractor-car accident Tuesday on Johnetta Cemetery Road.

Byrd was transferred from Rockcastle Hospital to U.K. Medical Center where his condition was unavailing.

Debbie Simpson, 34, of Orlando was traveling south on Johnetta Cemetery Road when she saw Byrd going slowly on his tractor. She told Sheriff Deputy Tommy Cromer, she speeded up to pass Byrd when he cut in front of her and she couldn't avoid hitting the tractor.

Byrd told police he was going slow with no assurance of adding the black-top surface. The $39,999 figure can be raised annually in accordance with building construction inflation figures.

A resident on the road discussed at the court meeting is James Bullock. Four magistrates voted for the changes with Clinton Brown abstaining.

Joe Howard took bids on a typewriter for the jail. Low bid was $163 for a Smith-Corona.

The court approved the low bid. The maximum salary for the County Judge Executive is set annually by the state. For fiscal year 1993-94 the salary is $42,877. Salaries for all elected officials are set by the State Department of local Government.

offenders in the Big Sandy Juvenile Detention Center at Prestonsburg for $70 per diem.

Eleven families off Ky. 461, in a subdivision, asked the court to accept their road for maintenance.

Under the present rules the developer must rock and ditch the road.

The court voted to change the subdivision development road rules.

On recommendation of the Rockcastle County Housing Board and prior approval by the Fiscal Court, Developments done for lower cost housing, utilizing FmHA, Kentucky Housing Corporation, and where cost of house does not exceed $39,999, all requirements shall be met except the blacktop surface. The county will consider streets for adoption once four houses are located on the site

Residences raided by Sheriff, deputies for selling alcohol

Two residents were arrested after raids Saturday on their property resulted in finding over 1,400 cans of beer and other alcohol.

Keith Kates, 36, of Carpenter Subdivision, Orlando is charged with possession and selling alcoholic beverages in a local, option territory and trafficking in alcoholic beverages.

Police found 744 cans of beer, 35 bottles of Jim beam, 15 bottles of Vodka, 4 bottles of Tom Collins and 24 bottles of Schnapps.

Kates posted a $4,000 bond. Police went to the residence of Mrs. Pam McClure on Tarp Hill Rd. They arrested David Daum at the residence and charged him with trafficking in alcoholic beverages in a local option territory.

Police confiscated 792 cans of beer, 21 bottles of whiskey, one half gallon of moonshine and a 1.75 liter of moonshine and a police scanner.

Mrs. McClure was not at home when the search warrant was executed.

Daum posted a $1,000 bond or 10 percent.

Making the arrests were Sheriff Shirley Smith, Deputies Darrell Doan and Leonard Miller, Mt. Vernon Policeman Barry Adams and ABC Agent Jack Miller.

Weather hot, hot across county, state

"It's hot today," is an often heard remark this week and last, as temperatures rose and the humidity rose with it.

All across the state, temperatures and the "heat index" climbed into the danger range measuring 103 in the Mt. Vernon area.

On July 5 it was 92 air degrees. On the Bank of Mt. Vernon temperature sign, the sign registered 101.

July 4 it was 91; July 3, it was 89; July 2 it was 89 and July 1, it measured 88 according to figures at Cox

Funeral Home weather station. Thinking of low temperatures, it was 69 on July 3. A little rain was measured on July 1 when .77 of an inch fell.

Bud Cox had a few interesting figures.

Latest temperature above 100 was Aug. 17, 1988. Last time it was 100 or above in July was July 8, 1988 when it was 100 degrees. But on July 9, 1988 it was 101.

Last time the temperature reached 102 was on Aug. 21, 1983.

Bond reduced for Denny in shooting

A man accused of the murder of Jeffrey P. Payne at Pine Hill and the shooting of another had his bond reduced and posted.

Jerry Lee Denny, 26, of Mt. Vernon, was charged with murder and assault in the first degree.

He is also accused of shooting Gerald Lewis Coffey, 35, of Rt. 5,

Mt. Vernon.

Judge Walter Maguire first set Denny's bond at $300,000 then reduced it to $100,000, then reduced it to $50,000 property.

Payne died shortly after arrival at U.K. Medical Center. Cotton has been in serious condition at U.K. Medical Center.

Blood Drive is Tuesday

To combat a critically low blood supply during the summer months, the Rockcastle County Homemakers are sponsoring a blood drive Tuesday July 13, from 12-2:30 and 4-7 p.m. The blood drive will be held at the Agricultural Services Center in the basement.

As a special thank you to donors, Central Kentucky Blood Center will be giving a free t-shirt to each person who is able to give on Tuesday, July 13. The shirt is part of the summer campaign theme Blood Donors are the Spirit of America.

To be eligible to donate blood you must be between the ages of 17 and 68 and in general good health.

If you would like more information about the blood drive, contact Cathy Gluck at 1-800-775-2522.

Points East

By Ike Adams

Last Wednesday I headed into the mountains for the first time since the first of the year. The trip took me through places that I hadn't seen since the sixties when I was attending Pikeville College. Williamson, Matwain, Leasore and Beckley, West Virginia. Grundy, St. Charles, Clintwood, Norton and Pound, Virginia. Manchester, Hazard, Hindman, Pikeville and finally Whitesburg, the county seat of my beloved Letcher County.

My intentions were to be back in Renfro Valley late on Saturday so I could catch the last show of Old Joe Clark's Bluegrass Festival. The festival was important to me largely because I had never missed one since Mack Wiseman began them over 20 years ago. Next year instead of boasting perfect attendance, I'll have to say that I've been to all but one.

As it turned out, Brother Steve and I had our own Bluegrass Festival in his kitchen in the head of Blair Branch, listening to Appalshop's WMMT and then digging out old Stanley Brothers Records and Larry Sparks, The Stevens Family, Lost and Found and half a dozen other albums. They shut down before midnight at Renfro Valley and we were just getting warmed up that hour. Steve Adams is the only person I know who doesn't play Bluegrass Music for a living and still loves it as much as I do.

There's something about being in the mountains that requires a healthy dose of Bluegrass which, incidentally, is the most misnamed form of music that I know about. You can tune in every radio station in the region of the state that we call "The Bluegrass" and listen for months before you hear one play a bluegrass song. But, thanks largely to WMMT it's alive and well in the mountains of at least three states.

Every time I head up the Daniel Boone Parkway I have to start watching my speedometer because I start catching that special view just west of Manchester where the Cumberland Plateau ends and the mountains spring up. Some folks like them better in fall colors and others prefer spring when they're covered with dogwood and rosy blooms, but I think they're most special when they're dark green and shrouded with heavy July haze.

In the summer it's difficult to see the strip mine scars and logging ruins.

I always tune my radio to 88.7 on the FM dial when I go through the London toll booth. Usually all I can hear at that point is static, but I turn the volume down and tolerate it and commence hoping that WMMT will come in when I turn the next ridge. By the time I get to the Manchester exit, I can hear it well enough to distinguish what the DJ is saying and recognize most songs. So that's where the radio stays set until I'm back that far again.

When I pass that exit I consider myself home. I spent so much time courting in Manchester back in the seventies that it's almost a second hometown. It's also the first real mountain town on the Daniel Boone. But for that matter, when driving down into that first big valley where you have to look straight up to see the sky, I feel a delicious sense of security. And it really doesn't matter what town I'm in because I'm always home.

It would have been nice to be at the Renfro Valley Festival, but they'll have another around Labor Day. And that's where I'll be unless I find myself in Letcher County and get myself unable to pull away.

Heresay

By John Norman Meadows

I enjoy going to the Rockcastle County Library and reading old editions of The Signal kept on microfilm. The following events, however, were never reported. I relate them now because they are part of the warp and woof of area history—and because so many readers of this column have "inquiring minds."

Forty Years Ago—The entire Mt. Vernon High School building and part of the Elementary School were evacuated last Friday morning when a chemistry lab experiment went awry, threatening to fill the air with chlorine, a lethal, yellow-green gas. Clyde Linville, teacher of the class and school superintendent, discovered that a student, identified only as "a junior," had greatly exceeded the required amounts of hydrochloric acid and manganese dioxide necessary to produce chlorine in a controlled situation. Linville feared the flask generator, which was moving on its own, would explode.

Linville turned off the burner and ordered his students to leave at once and proceed to the baseball diamond. Most of the class members assisted in getting word to other classrooms to do the same. Within minutes of Linville's call, the Mt. Vernon Fire Department arrived. Fortunately, an explosion did not ensue. Afterwards, Linville said, "You can't be too alert in a chemistry lab." Regarding the student, he said, "I hope he learns to pay more attention to directions." Another teacher, who wished to remain anonymous, said, "That boy ought to take up preaching or the like, because he sure as (word deleted) isn't apt to make a druggist."

Forty-three Years Ago—The Poetry Club of the Mt. Vernon Elementary School met last Thursday evening at the Board of Education Building on Richmond Street. The club is comprised of sixth-eighth grade students. The Guest of the Month was the Rev. M. Wendell Belev, the new, young, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mt. Vernon. He led the group in singing fun songs and Christmas carols and then did a chalk talk depicting the Magi traveling to Bethlehem to see the Christ Child. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed Rev. Belev's artistry.

During the first half of the meeting eight students read the poems they had entered in the club's Poetry Contest. The third place prize, 100 sheets of notebook paper from Hilton's 5 & 10, went to Elsie Smith, sixth grade, for her poem, "Watching Clouds over Chicken Ranch Hill." The second place prize, a pair of pliers from Winstons Hardware, went to Sally Sue Bullock, eighth grade, for her poem, "Grandpa's Goat." Seventh grader, J.R. Maifeu, took first place and a box of Whitman Samplers from Maggard Drug Store. His original composition was entitled, "When Milkweed Last by the Out-house Bloomed."

Fifty-seven Years Ago—Floy Akesmore, former Professor of psychology at Sue Bennett College and long-time secretary of the Chapter of the Society of Pythagoreans, returned home this week from a three-month vacation in Sydney, Australia. While there he delivered a speech to the International Order of Froedians. His address was entitled, "The Relationship of Maternal Influence to Ecclesiastical Adult-Kleptomania."

On his return trip, Floy attended the annual convention of OPSA

(Offering Plate Snatchers Anonymous) in San Francisco. His mother, Modella Barcroft Akesmore, with whom he resides at Rt. 4, Mt. Vernon, said Floy was "very therapeutic" and that "he just can't wait to attend church next Sunday." Following the worship service, she and Floy plan to dine at Boone Tavern in Berea and celebrate his forty-ninth year of bachelorhood.

Eighty Years Ago—Seven Rockcastle County noteworthies and stalwarts convened last Monday evening at the Daniels Hall of Justice in Wald to establish a local chapter of the Society of Pythagoreans. (Pythagoras discovered philosophy and invented the theorem in the sixth century, B.C.) The meeting was presided over by Professor C. Lemuel King, of Berea College, who rode over on his mule, Cicero, to assist and confirm the organization.

Charter members are Simeon Mullins, president; Joshua B. Langford, secretary-treasurer; Eli T. Whittaker, parliamentarian; Millard Owens, Dr. T. Archibald "Bones" Adams, Miss E. Griffin, and E.L. "Sid" Anglin.

Membership in the Society of Pythagoreans is open to any and all lovers of philosophy and/or mathematics. Office holders, however, as the society charter reads, "must embrace both disciplines with all their heart, mind, soul, and mettle, and thy neighbor as thyself."

"The Pythogs," as they are often called overseas, seek to better themselves and their communities by vowing to (1) exalt the concept of the transmigration of the soul; (2) share property; (3) erect strict moral maxims; and (4) eat no beans.

Roamin' Rockcastle

By Hilda Payne Gabbard

I know you will sympathize with me when I tell you of the sad things that happened to me last Monday.

I lost one of the best friends who had been with me for about 70 years. I had been through good times and bad but this friend has always stood by me.

It was at the Berea Hospital that I looked down on a bed and said good-bye to this friend.

Dr. Larry Daugherty stood by me as I grieved and said, "No, you could have had no better friend."

I turned to go but Vicki Brandenburg put her arm around me. She was Dr. Daugherty's office aide at the hospital.

"You've done all you could," she said to me.

Dr. Daugherty is one of the best dentists that I had to work on my teeth and his office nurse, Vicki Brandenburg, is very helpful when I had to have a back premolar tooth taken out.

If you don't believe a tooth has been a good friend, try it to chew food without one.

The doctor put the very decayed tooth on some cotton (bed) for me to take home with me.

I said to him, "I'll take it home with me and put it under my pillow. Then I'm supposed to get a new one next day. No use throwing away something that might have value."

I saw Dr. Daugherty grin at the nurse. The place where the tooth had been is still sore so the jaw misses it too.

Barbara Leach is one of my column's best readers. She gets the Signal by mail in Louisville and brings a big stack that she saves up for her mother, Lucy Abrams, living almost on top of the world, it seems. That would be the Bud Clarke Road that branches off the Loman Hill Road going over to Climax.

We drove through some wild country to get there.

The bad storm last week made a path through the woods/swisting large tree trunks in its road.

The house that Mitchell Abrams and wife, Lucy, live in was spared as

Mike Johnson and Ewell Hembree have been working on the old George Childress home on lower Clear Creek, for Bruce Fraley who owns the place.

Sweet & Sour

By: Zi Graves

Okay, Okay, Okay! And so I am a slacker when it comes to keeping up with my little old column huh? It has taken friends to awaken me to the fact I am letting people down when they search for Sweet and Sour and can't find it. Zella Stencil, a resident of the Brothead Nursing Home, finally did the trick when she took my hands and looked me straight in the eyes and said, "What is wrong with you, I can't find your piece in the paper anymore and it was one of the bright spots in my life." Hats off to you Zella, that little scolding was what I needed to get the cobwebs cleaned out of my befuddled brain and allow the sunshine of word power to once again fill it. And thanks to all my other friends and family who have made the same complaint.

And so, now that I am back, what do we talk about today? What about the Fourth of July, the hottest holiday of the year? Can't you just see those men sweating it out in the middle of summer while they were working on the final acceptance of the Declaration of Independence, on July 4, 1776? What a day in history that was. And when we remember we must not forget they had no air-conditioning, nor even electric fans to give relief from the sweltering heat. I am sure tempers must have flared and created a different kind of heat while they argued and searched for the proper words and composition of the "Declaration of Independence" that set us free from domination and put us on the path to be world leaders.

The fireworks of today is a reminder of the beautiful song Francis Scott Key wrote while he was a prisoner of war, "The Star Spangled Banner." Quote, "The rockets red glare, bombs bursting in air, gave proof through the night that our flag was still there." The Flag, The Stars and Stripes of a banner that waved over the land and signaled freedom for all mankind who took refuge within its boundaries.

Parades also have a place in history. Especially so on the Fourth of July. To me the beauty of a Fourth of July parade surpasses all others. It has been a part of my life since childhood. My mother took us to parades and we saluted the flag before we were old enough to march in them. The American flag waving high over the crowd was one of the prettiest sights I ever saw. And when I was old enough to participate in them I proudly held the little flag high as I marched to the beat of the big drums. Marching was an important part of the parade. We didn't walk, we marched, all in step and erect with heads held high and arms free of any incumbrances. Our gym classes in school taught us how to march in time with others. Our drum major led the parade and all eyes were on him as he did the twirls of his baton and high stepping with knees almost touching his chin and we followed suit. Immediately following him was the Flag bearer, then the band, all dressed to compliment his dress of white suit, knee high boots and tall hat with tassels of our school colors screaming from its brim. Celebrities followed the band and then the school children. Class by class they marched in perfect unison, down the main street of town, waving our flags to all the bystanders. It seems to me all the countryside turned out to watch the Fourth of July parade. You bet we were hot and sweaty, this was the middle of summer and we were dressed in full regalia including stockings and shoes and dresses with long sleeves and the boys had their long pants on and shirts with collars buttoned and sleeves to the wrist. But this was the Fourth of July parade and worth all the discomfort of hurting feet and sweaty body.

Then, after the parade, and we were rested from the day of revelry, we did our celebrating with firecrackers and sparklers, spitfires and skyrockets. Our evening was filled with merry making and climaxed with watching the grown men put on their display of fireworks we youngsters were not allowed to handle. The sky was once again filled with bombs bursting in air and the deafening noise that accompanied the beautiful burst of multicolored lights was a reminder of what our freedom was all about.

"Where has all the flowers gone?" a song sung by Peter Paul and Mary reminds me of, where has all the patriotism gone? We are missing the freedom our forefathers fought for and gained. We have become a nation of people interested only in their own personal gain and seem to have forgotten we are, One Nation,

Under God, with liberty and justice for all.

A memory of Zi Graves

One of the important memories of my life was having brunch in the White House during the Nixon administration. Mrs. Richard Nixon, Pat, was honorary chairman of the task force V1 B-2: voluntary action by women of which I was a member. This task force was a watch dog for the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health, in 1969, and called for by President Richard Nixon. Patricia Young was chairman of the task force. It was she who invited me to be a participant and the call was made from the White House and for several years I carried a White House phone number with me I could use at any time. The recent passing of Pat Nixon has been cause for me to reminisce a bit. I could write volumes on what has been and not been accomplished by these expensive conferences but today I am remembering the brunch our task force enjoyed in Mrs. Nixon's own private dining room where she was the gracious hostess. (Of course overshadowed by the constant eye of her guards). The passing of this gentle gracious First Lady will go down in history as a wife who stood by her husband through rough times as well as the good ones. The accompanying picture is of the First Lady, Pat Nixon greeting me at the luncheon.

the storm passed over them. The place has history in it. Once Delbert and Elva Northern lived there. Then Sherman and Opal Northern lived in it.

John and Larry Abrams, who is a nephew of Mitchell, had come to rob their bees for them.

Lucy was canning beets which had a good flavor in the air.

We didn't stay long since John and Larry had work to do. John has now started robbing his bees and has some of the prettiest, white clover honey for sale.

It just rains a biscuit to put that and butter on them.

The wife, Barbara Payne, of John Payne, Jr. in Bowling Green passed away of cancer.

It is so sad when a young person dies and leaves the world when there is a lot of life to be lived. We send sympathy to the family.

We hear Ballard Parsons is being given a day of celebration. Along with him Uncle Bill Stewart, 93, gets a celebrating too. The picture in last week's paper was good of the men. I don't know if Ballard will ride the women in his electric machine but if I'm asked, I'll sure go.

I guess you saw the picture of the man who robbed the cradle. After being married 67 years they are well suited. Congratulations to Brother Bill and China Hamilton on a long and good life.

Till next week: If you don't get everything you want think of the things you don't get that you don't want.

Bob Mason and sister Freda and his granddaughter Glenna of Ohio visited Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Houston awhile Sunday afternoon.

Last Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown were his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. R.E. McKinney of Ohio visited Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vaught of Woodstock visited Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lavada Graves visited Mrs. Bessie Kirby last Tuesday night.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney were their son Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKinney and their grandson Jeff McKinney and family all of Reading, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney visited Mrs. Eunice Prater and family

Sunday night.

Last Thursday night visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. McKinney were their daughter Mrs. Sharon Lovins and grandson Jim Lovins and girlfriend Jenny.

Deepest sympathy is extended to all who have lost loved ones recently. May the Lord comfort each one.

Word has been received that Jimmy Parsons, son of Ms. Carrie Parsons Vaughn of Calif., passed away recently. The family has our sympathy and prayers.

We have a need for better facilities

Commentary
By: Richard Anderkin
The Rockcastle County Little League, Senior League and t-ball league have wound down for yet another year and I for one think that board members and particularly president Coy Taylor did a good job running the entire project this season.

Over 300 children participated on 22 teams, playing some 250 games.

Other than having a few problems getting umpires things seem to click along very well, with little disputes between coaches and umpires and even smaller disagreements between parents and umpires.

Being my first year to graduate to the big field at Brodhead I was impressed by the excellent condition the playing field was kept in and how well groomed the grounds were most of the time. I'm sure countless hours were spent picking up garbage, although it seemed that most kids and parents did make an effort to pick up behind themselves.

But, this year's experience also made me realize a need for a bigger and better recreational facility for the entire county to use.

It also made me realize that people like Coy Taylor are willing to put in hours upon hours of free time to see that all children have an equal opportunity to compete and enjoy themselves. In other words the amount of needed volunteer time would be there and I think it would be a great benefit to our young people and older people to have a facility at which they can do other things, other than just play baseball. The county has several pieces of land, including the present fairgrounds, which would have plenty of space for such a facility.

Besides a little League, t-ball and senior league fields, the county needs the proper facility for adults to use, such as a softball field a volleyball court and a basketball court. An Olympic size pool would also be nice. The need is certainly there and if my experiences this summer are any indication there are plenty of people to help make it work. It would be a great undertaking for the next fiscal court but one that would be more than worthwhile.

White Sox win Senior, Major Leagues

Calvin Rader and his Major League White Sox team took this year's Major League (league) Championship with a 15 and 5 record.

Linda Taylor's Cubs finished second with a 13 and 7 record. Everett Harper's Braves which finished with a 12 and 8 record in the regular season won the league tournament defeating the Cardinals 7 to 5.

The Cardinals finished the season with a 11-9 record and the Orioles had a record of 6 and 14.

Glen Gentry's A's finished the season in last place at 3 and 17.

The Minor League Yankees won the regular season with a 12 and 6 record and walked away with the tournament winning all three contests.

The Reds finished second in league play with an 11 and 7 record, while the Cubs were 9 and 9 and the Angels 4 and 14. The Angels placed second in the league tournament.

The Senior League White Sox easily won the regular season with a 18 and 2 record and also won the league tournament, defeating the Indians 18-13.

The Iliadians placed second in the regular season with a record of 13 and 7. The Braves were 11 and 9, the Rockies and Marlins were 7 and 13 while the Yankees finished last at 4 and 16.

He is the Voice!

Little League officers, board members, coaches and players come and go. But for the past thirteen years, there has been only one play by play announcer at Thacker Field in Brodhead.

He is Brodhead resident David Brock and he is the voice of the numerous games held at the ballpark each and every year.

An avid sports fan, who rarely misses a RCHS basketball or football game, David has a remarkable knack for remembering the names of the 150 players and 30 coaches.

Some Saturdays David has announced as many as six games and endured hot temperatures for up to 12 hours.

He says he can count the number of games he has missed during his tenure as the league's version of "Harry Caray", on one hand and he doesn't plan to give up his duties anytime soon.

Besides announcing all of the games he also runs the scoreboard, which he does with remarkable accuracy.

David has also been an assistant coach during the early days of the league.

David was Sam Ford's assistant for the Orioles little league team. David likes to recall the only game the Orioles won that season. "Sam wasn't here," David boasts.

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

FDIC Insurance

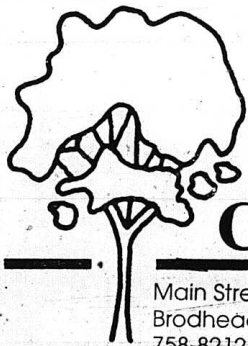

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is the agency of the government which insures our deposits. Because of the FDIC, the security of a bank investment cannot be equalled anywhere in the financial community.

By definition the money invested in a bank is classified as a deposit. Money invested in other types of financial institutions is in many cases considered to be a "share." This makes a bank customer a "depositor" and customers of these other institutions merely shareholders.

This is an important difference which may never be noticed by the customer unless of course he needs to use the insurance. To find out more about the differences in regulations governing the insuring agencies of financial institutions, stop in and see one of our officers.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Last Sunday, July 4, marked the 217th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. This document declared that the 13 American Colonies were free and independent from British rule. To Americans, this is a very important event in our history. But, a much more important event in the history of humanity, took place over 1900 years ago. Jesus came and died for our sins, that we might be set free from the tyranny of sin and death; to be liberated from the bondage of sin and guilt!

In Jn 8:32-36 we read, "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. They answered him, we be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, ye shall be made free? Jesus answered them, verily, verily, I say unto you, whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin. And the servant abideth not in the house for ever; but the son abideth ever. If the son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." Any and all who commit sin are in bondage and slavery of sin. Jesus and his trth can set us free. The Lord can liberate us from the shackles of sin. I'm thankful to live in America with all its freedoms and liberties. But I'm much more thankful for the freedom and liberty from sin, that is found in Jesus Christ!

In Gal. 5:1 Paul said, "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage."

The gospel provides liberty and freedom that the law of Moses could not provide. It's amazing how many folks who seek to go back to the law of Moses and bind various laws and teachings upon people today. People seek to bind the sabbath day; the dietary laws of clean and unclean meats; instrumental music; religious dancing; burning of incense; a separate priesthood and other teachings from the Old Testament. Jesus has liberated us from the bondage of the law, and now we are under the law of Christ. To go back to the law of Moses has consequences, as Paul lists them in vs. 2:4. Christ would profit them nothing; one would be a debtor to do the whole law and would cause one to fall from grace. Thanks be unto God, for the liberty that is in Jesus Christ!

State board to stress need for schools to be accountable

By: Lee Mueller
Lesington Herald Leader
Eastern Kentucky bureau

The state school board yesterday voted to rescind a resolution urging school districts to "redouble their efforts" to put the 1990 Kentucky Education Reform Act into effect and prepare for the state's projected $300 million budget shortfall.

After hearing reports of questionable spending in some districts, the Kentucky Board for Elementary and Secondary Education tabled the resolution proposed by Education Commissioner Thomas Boyesen for 24 hours, suggesting it needed more emphasis on accountability.

The state board will continue its three-day meeting at a Painsville hotel this morning.

Funding for Kentucky schools has increased by 39 percent -- from $1.96 billion to $2.7 billion -- since the Education Reform Act called for a $1.3 billion tax increase.

The state's increases range from 9 percent in Paris Independent to 95 percent in Barbourville Independent.

Many of Kentucky's school districts are doing well with increased funds, board Chairman Joseph Kelly said. "But it's difficult to go to the General Assembly and ask for more money when examples of unusual spending pop up about every week."

Board members heard reports of a $12-an-hour school cafeteria cook, a $10-an-hour school bus driver, a $32,000-a-year employee with few duties and a superintendent who promised an aide for every teacher, and a superintendent who created a $52,000 job for himself.

Board member Tom Gish of Whitesburg told the board some superintendents in Eastern Kentucky appeared more interested in finding new ways to spend money than to save it.

"When we have those things happening, it creates doubts about stewardship," Kelly said.

No Kentucky school districts have deficits; but three or four districts were saved from deficits last year by dipping into budgeted reserves, state Department of Education officials said yesterday.

The board renewed vows to finance the Education Reform Act and protect elementary and secondary schools from budget cuts.

But board members yesterday urged districts to spend carefully and be thankful for what they have received.

Jefferson County's revenue, for example, rose from $363 million in 1990 to a projected $470 million in 1993-94, said board member Wade Mountz of Louisville. "Yet what I hear at home is how tough it is."

The new school law required minimum salary increases totaling 15 percent, but some districts raised the pay of administrators, teachers and classified workers by much more.

Boyesen will bring charges against some local officials at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Kelly said. Boyesen did not elaborate, but Magoffin County interim Superintendent Arnold Oakes said yesterday in an interview that members of the Magoffin school board expect to be charged today.

During the last state board meeting in May, Boyesen issued 19 charges -- against former Magoffin County Superintendent Carter Whiskler, who subsequently resigned. At the time, Boyesen said he expected to charge all five Magoffin board members.

Students tour Madison Jail and Toyota Plant

The students at Rockcastle County High School summer school continued their exploration of the career opportunities available to them in our area. On Friday, June 25, the students toured the Madison County Courthouse and Detention Center. The courtroom was of particular interest because it has become very technological as the first courtroom to use video to record all cases. This replaced the stenographer who used to sit and type all that was said. People from all over the country have come to Madison County to learn how to use this new technology.

The students then walked across the street to view the jail in Richmond. The students immediately were aware of the blue walls and window frames which reminded them of our own blue detention center. The tour guides informed the students of the guard jobs available and explained the technology involved in the hidden control tower which controlled the locks and views all that goes on in the center.

Following these presentations, the students, and speakers, joined our guests from Eastern Kentucky University at the Rockcastle Steak House where they enjoyed lunch. While there, the students were addressed by the President of EKU, Dr. Hank Funderburk, and Art Harvey, EKU's Director of Career Development and Placement. Dean Hensen from EKU and Wendell Cave from the Department of Education were also present. This luncheon was sponsored and organized by Mrs. Nancy Thames, director of Project Graduation.

On Monday, June 28, the students, and speakers, joined our group were informed of local job opportunities when various local people talked about their jobs and what they had to do to be qualified for the job. The people who were willing to give their time to these students were Mrs. Kelly Pensol, and Larry Hammond, from the Central Office, Mrs. Betty Lewis, a social worker, County Attorney-elect Jeff Burdette, Mrs. Donna Dailey from Renfro Valley, Greg Pedigo from Mt. Vernon Plastics, Ms. Joann Robbins from Wendy's, Representative Danny Ford and Bob Randolph, a local truck driver.

On Tuesday, June 29, the students visited and toured the Toyota plant in Georgetown. They viewed the development of cars from sheets of metal to the finished Toyota Camry. They were impressed by the number of robots and machinery there. It is a clean, pleasant place to work.

Through these field trips, the students are being exposed to various working opportunities available to them. The theme of the summer program, "Where will you be in 2003?" is gradually becoming more of a reality as career opportunities are widening.

Carr Completes Training

Airman Robert E. Carr has completed the munitions systems specialist course at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, CO.

Students were taught to inspect assemble and dispose of guided and unguided nonnuclear munitions. Included in the training were transportation and handling of equipment, weapons safety, storage, and destruction of unserviceable munitions.

The airman is the son of James P. and Mary R. Carr of Rt. 5, Mt. Vernon.

He is a 1991 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

Senior Citizens MENU

July 12 through July 16, 1993

Monday: Spaghetti/meat sauce, copper carrot pennies, Italian bread, hot peach cobbler
Tuesday: Stuffed pepper, pinto beans, cornbread, fruited jello
Wednesday: Salmon Patties, pasta salad, green peas, roll, pound cake
Thursday: Turkey/gravy/dressing, whipped potatoes, green beans, fresh fruit cup
Friday: Roast beef/gravy, scalloped potatoes, winner mix, roll, chilled peaches

There will be plenty of sauerkraut at the Lovell home on Chestnut Ridge this winter if this cabbage head is any indication of Doug Lovell's (shown at left) crop. Mr. Lovell said this cabbage, from 25 to 30 lbs., is just one of several this size he grew this year. With Mr. Lovell are two of his "farm hands," Josh Lovell and Jackie Wayne Weaver.

Search for "Mother of the Year" underway

Search is now underway for the 1994 Kentucky Mother of the Year. The honor is provided through the Kentucky Chapter of American Mothers, Inc., the national organization that first sponsored Mother's Day and promoted it through the U.S. Congress.

Nominations are encouraged from religious organizations of all faiths, from Women's Clubs, Men's Organizations, and all service groups. Individuals cannot sponsor a nominee; nominations must originate with a group.

Qualifications for the Kentucky Mother must meet American Mother, Inc. guidelines. The woman, 45 or older, should be a successful mother and homemaker, have been married in a legally accepted ceremony, be an active member of a religious body, have actively participated in community, state or national activities and be highly regarded by the community.

The Kentucky Mother must be qualified to represent Kentucky in the Mother of America contest in the Spring of 1994. She must have one or more children, natural or legally adopted, the youngest of which is at least 14 years old.

Nomination blanks and materials must be obtained by Sept. 1, and returned by Oct. 1. The Kentucky

Convention and Award Luncheon will be held in Western Kentucky in November, 1993.

Nominations forms and guidelines may be obtained by request from Carolyn Self, 735 North Drive, Hopkinsville, KY 42240, (502) 886-7178 (day time) or (502) 886-8703 (evenings).

Cars, Shakers, and all kinds of music spotlighted on KET

The week of July 11 on KET features a variety of music, ranging from an original cast recording of Company to a program about women in rock, an encore of Amazing Grace with Bill Moyers, and a James Taylor performance with the Boston Pops. Also on tap are a documentary about the Shakers and a look at a museum which treats the automobile as art.

RGHS selected to become "Break-the-Mold" school

Rockcastle County High School (RGHS) is proud to announce that it has been selected to become a "Break-the-Mold" school. This honor came about after 93 percent of the RGHS faculty voted to apply for membership in the Kentucky Alliance for the Restructuring of Education, an affiliate of the National Alliance for the Restructuring of Education (NARE). Shown above are the administrators, teachers, parent, vocational and youth service team members who attended the Kentucky conference in Louisville on June 11 and 12. Sitting: Ronnie Cash, Cindy Witt, Ed Peterson, Rennie Sears (parent), James Cox. Standing: Joy Cooke, Dawn Lang, Dianna Waddell, Connie Riddick, and Ruth Allen.

The RGHS team along with fourteen other elementary, middle, and high school teams were selected because of their eagerness to embrace education reform, their positive work with students and broad local support for systemic change. These changes include new assessment programs, improved instructional practices, improved student services and sustaining public support for higher student performance standards.

Rockcastle County district high school administrators applaud the RGHS faculty for their bold step forward in meeting the challenges of professional educators in our county, state, and nation.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
 I'd like to respond to the article, June 24, "Heresay" by John Norman Meadows. Would you please print the following article - thank you.
 Helen Brown Bray
 Cincinnati, Ohio 45239

I remember Bill Hudley too. I never "fanned" him either. Maybe "shunned" him as I was a small child then and was a little in awe of him. I'd like to say "Amen" (for the most part) to what you said about churches. However, I'd say most of the church I hope there are at least a small percentage that are "Christ like." Surely there are some of us that hurt for all the "Bill Hudley" type of the world. I enjoyed reading your article Mr. Meadows.

Dear Editor,
 What kind of justice system do we have in Rockcastle County? Evidently not much.

On the 13th of June my cousin and his friend were shot, my cousin died shortly after and his friend is in danger of losing his life as I write this letter.

But today I found out that their killer has been released from jail on a $50,000 property bond which was reduced from $300,000.
 What exactly is a person's life worth? Evidently not much in Rockcastle County.

Is murder a major crime or only a misdemeanor?
 Our family has gone through pure hell the last couple of weeks, but we can't go to the grocery store in town and run into our loved ones killer.

This is not fair and I think that the Citizens of Rockcastle County should know just what kind of law we have. First they took their own sweet time to even arrest this man but then to release him on a reduced bond.

Is there no justice for our family? We will never get to talk to or see our Jeffery again. We only have a plot in Elmwood cemetery to visit.
 But our loved ones killer can run around as free as a bird.

How many more young people have to be killed for no reason before our law enforcement officials wake up?
 This whole thing may not have even happened if the state police had just broke up the gathering at Lime Plant Hollow that night but they didn't.
 Is there no hold the crowd to move their cars out of the road and left.
 Next two men were shot, one dead and where is the killer now, walking the streets of our town. Be aware citizens if this can happen to a nice young man like Jeffery it can happen to you and don't be surprised if you don't get any justice from our law enforcement officials, we sure didn't.
 Thanks,
 Tammy Stewart

Dear Editor,
 In response to Sue Wood's letter, I feel it's important that people know that the only people who are disagreeing with Pearl Gooch are the bootleggers themselves or faithful customers. The decent citizens on Bowling Ridge Road are sick and tired of the trashy people that have been bootlegging for four years.
 I can't honestly say that there is a sign reading "liquor for sale," but there are other signs. The traffic is one sure sign, but the back porch light is the best sign of all, and as far as this being anyone's business, I feel that it is my business and anyone else's that has to travel the road and worry about being run off the road.
 And for your information, Sue Woods, there have been several people run off the road, especially on top of the hill!
 In the spring, a lady and her daughter almost went over the hill. They never did catch the person but his car was seen several times in the bootleggers driveway. I guess that little incident slipped your mind. If you sorry low-down people would get a real job, instead of sitting back drinking food stamps and medical cards and crying out kids one right after another, you would find that an honest living would sure make you feel better inside. Try it, you might like it!

 Sincerely,
 Sherry Bussett Vanover

Dear Editor,
 To the people who have loved ones buried in the Sand Hill Cemetery, Noah and Shirley Faulkner are no longer in charge of the care and upkeep of the cemetery and we haven't been for several years. I can understand why some of you are angry over having your flowers thrown away 17 days after you put them on the graves. As some of you know when Noah and I took care of the cemetery your flowers were taken away until they became faded and dirty. We also treated all the graves the same, we did not throw the flowers off some graves while leaving them on others. It's not easy to take off the flowers and put them back on that part of you mow, but we felt that was part of the job as well as sowing grass, filling in sunken graves and keeping the stones well maintained.

Some people have said they will not donate to the upkeep of the cemetery if their flowers were not going to be left any longer than they were this year.
 Noah and I got a lot of the flowers out of the woods after they were thrown away. So if anyone would like to have their flowers back you are welcome to come to our house on Sand Hill and go through what flowers we have. I think everyone deserves a chance to have their flowers back if they want them. If you would like to have your feelings known about the care of the cemetery you can write to the Sand Hill Baptist Church and Eugene and Alice Mason, Livingston, Ky.

Thank you,
 Noah and Shirley Faulkner

Storage tanks should be registered by July 15

Owners of petroleum underground storage tanks have until July 15 to register or re-register their underground storage tanks.

Failure to register petroleum underground storage tanks is punishable by a civil penalty not to exceed $5,000 for each tank for which registration is not given or for which false information is submitted.

The Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet is required by the 1992 General Assembly to locate and evaluate the condition of petroleum underground storage tanks that are being used or have been used to store petroleum products since Jan. 1, 1974. The Cabinet is seeking to get first-time registrations from the owners of an estimated 13,000 petroleum underground storage tanks that have not been previously registered. Registration fees are $30 per tank per year.

Re-registration forms have been sent to the owners of the nearly 37,000 underground storage tanks that are already registered in Kentucky.

Tanks that must be registered are those that store or have been used to store petroleum products such as crude oil, motor gasoline, kerosene, heating oil, special fuels, diesel fuel, heating oil, special fuels, lubricants and used oil.

Tanks that were removed from the ground prior to Jan. 1, 1974, are excluded from the registration. Also excluded are farm or residential tanks of 1,100 gallons or less than are used for non-commercial fuel storage.

Registration forms are available from the Petroleum Storage Tank Environmental Assurance Fund Commission, P.O. Box 4070, Frankfort, KY 40604-4071. A toll-free telephone line, 1-800-928-7782, has been set up to answer questions concerning tank registration and requests for additional forms.

Sewing Workshops

By: Helen Jackson

Extension Agent for Home Economics

Do you have a sewing project that you started weeks, months or even years ago? These sewing workshops are a perfect time to pick that project back up and finish it or start some new projects.

During the times of the workshops, you can stop by at any time. You are not required to stay for the entire time. On July 14-16 the workshops are from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and the workshops on July 22-23 are from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. All work will be on an individual basis, and your project can be clothing, home furnishing items, curtains, etc.

Two special classes will be offered during the workshops. At 10 a.m. on July 14 a class will be taught on quilt square tote bags. This is a cloth tote bag with a lining and a quilt block as the front pocket. This class will be repeated on July 15th at 5:30 p.m. At 5:30 p.m. on July 22nd a class will be taught on Simple Sewing Totes. This is a carrying case for sewing supplies and is ideal for transporting cross stitch or for taking supplies to workshops.

Call the Extension office to pre-register for these special classes and to get a list of supplies.

Continue feeding children fruits and vegetables

The much anticipated National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences report on pesticides in food released last week endorsed the continued emphasis on feeding infants and children a wide variety of fruits and vegetables.

Although the report criticized somewhat the methods used by the federal government to assess risks and safeguard infants and children from potential health effects of pesticides, it did not indicate that pesticides in foods pose a significant threat to infants and children.

According to Dr. Philip J. Landrigan, pediatrics professor and the committee's chairmen, parents should not radically change their children's diet to avoid certain foods. He suggests that parents should continue to emphasize fruits and vegetables in their children's diets because they supply needed fiber, vitamins and minerals with little fat.

Five or more servings a day are still recommended for children. A serving of fruits and vegetables for children aged 1-7 is 1 tablespoon per year of age. This means that for a two-year-old, one serving of fruit is 2 tablespoons. A serving for a child eight years old or older is the same as for an adult - 1/2 cup of fruit or vegetable or an average size piece of fruit.

Parents should remember that when serving fresh fruits and vegetables, be sure to peel or wash them thoroughly in running water. This will help remove pesticide residues that might be left on the surface of the produce.

Should parents choose organically grown produce to feed their children rather than conventionally grown produce?

The authors of the report refused to endorse the feeding of organically grown produce. You, the consumer, will have to decide whether the increased cost and difficulty of locating organically grown produce is worth it. Nonetheless, feed your child at least 5 servings of fruits and vegetables each day.

For more information on foods or nutrition, call the Extension Office at 256-2403.

Burton enters Army Reserve

Richard T. Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Burton of Mt. Vernon, joined the Army Reserve in April as a unit supply specialist.

Burton, a graduate of Rockcastle County High School, is married to Sheila R. Burton and they live in Brodhead.

Burton was assisted in selecting his enlistment options by Sgt. 1st Class Murray Cox of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station at Knoxville.

A veteran, Burton will bypass training, and report directly to his unit, Co. B, 2/397 Regiment, in Corbin.

Reducing heat stress in dairy cattle

Kentucky's hot and humid summers can cause more than twenty percent yield loss in milk production for dairy farmers. However, cooling methods can increase dairy profits.

A study completed by Larry Turner, Extension agricultural engineer at the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture, revealed the economic benefits of controlling heat stress.

"We found a twenty-five to thirty percent daily net income increase per cow sprayed with water and cooled with fan," Turner said.

It is not too early for farmers to plan how they are going to relieve heat stress in their cows, said Bill Crist, Extension dairy specialist at UK.

"One of the most effective measures of reducing heat stress is to remove the sides on dairy barns," Crist said.

This method, although it may seem extreme, provides ample fresh air to cows. In the winter, farmers either replace the barn sides or use polyethylene curtains drawn close to the eaves.

These barns should have eaves at least nine to ten feet high, steep roof slopes (four over twelve pitch) and open roof peaks with ridge openings of at least eight to ten inches.

"This causes a chimney effect, with hot air rising out of the barn," Crist said.

Although not as effective, farmers have simply opened four-foot doors at the ends.

When water is sprayed on cows, heat stress is also reduced.

The Kentucky-designed sprinkler and fan cooling system allows for intermittent spraying - that is an on period of about two minutes, then an off period of about six to ten minutes," Turner said.

This allows time for the water to evaporate from the cow and accomplish the cooling. Fans are also important in the system to provide the needed drier air flow to evaporate the water.

Turner suggested these water and air systems be installed in feed bunk areas and in the holding pen prior to the parlor.

Fact sheets, videos and planning guidelines on both the sprinkler cooling system and the open sidewall ventilation ideas are available through the cooperative Extension service. For more information, contact your county Extension agent.

Water meeting set for Sept. 16 in Danville

There will be a meeting of concerned citizens Sept. 16, in the Farm Bureau building in Danville beginning at 7 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss issues affecting water quality in Herrington Lake and the Dix River watershed.

The meeting will be held so the local people of Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln, Mercer, and Rockcastle Counties can voice their concerns over water quality issues in the watershed area, and develop a plan of action to address these concerns.

For more information on how you can participate, please contact your local Extension district, or John Over, project coordinator, at 734-9601.
