Brodhead council to help slow city traffic

By: Richard Anderkin

The installation of speed breakers, a new employee for the water and sewer department, the lack of police protection in Brodhead and equal treatment for gas suppliers highlighted the regular monthly meeting of the council Monday night.

"We haven't come down to be hell raisers, we are simply concerned about the high rate of speed that some vehicles travel along our street," said Cleston Saylor, who spoke for a large contingent of residents who live on West Street in Brodhead.

"Some automobiles travel as high as 50 to 60 miles an hour down the street and we don't think it is safe for our children and grandchildren," Saylor told Mayor Billy Bussell and council members.

Other West Street residents present were John Boone and Dr. Karen Saylor, Bobby Proctor, Everett and Jean Albright, Nelson Graves, Preston Parrett, Eddie Cash, (who was representing his daughter), Becky Perkins and Paul Harper.

Saylor told the council that it was the general consensus that two to three speed breakers along the street would help slow the traffic.

"We have at least 20 children eight and under that play along that street all of the time," Saylor said.

"We don't want to pose any problems for E.J. (E.J. Taylor, owner of Taylor's Produce), so we need to talk with him about the best place for the speed bumps. We certainly do not want to cause his business any problems," Saylor said. (Taylor's produce is located on West Street and uses many large trucks to haul their produce).

After a lengthy discussion the council voted unanimously to place three speed breakers along the quarter mile stretch of West Street. The residents were to decide where the speed breakers should be placed.

Two other Brodhead residents, George Jones and Herman Artist complained to the council about off road four wheelers that have been speeding down their streets.

Jones and Artist said they had called police on several occasions about disturbances, but that no one ever showed up and no action had been taken to stop the noise.

Jones told the council that most of the problems were being caused by Robert DeBorde. Council member C.B. Owens Jr., instructed policeman Joe Bussell to take care of the situation.

Johnathon and Johnna Higgins, formerly of Brodhead, seemed to be enjoying themselves Saturday night at the Little World's Fair. A large crowd was on hand for the Demolition Derby as well as the Rodeo on Thursday night. Local Shriners, including Joe Bullens and Jim Cromer, in conjunction with the Madison County Shrine club, raffled off a 1986 automobile which was won by Ray Powell of Berea.

Four hurt in Sunday wreck

A one-vehicle accident Sunday on Ky. 70 sent four persons to area hospitals, the result of alcohol involvement, police said.

Danny Joe Spears, 33, of Yosemite, Casey County, was treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital. State Police charged him with driving under the influence of alcohol. He was thrown out of the vehicle.

Cecelia Spears, 37, same address, was thrown out of the Nissan pickup. She was flown to U.K. Medical center.

Lori Wesley, 20, of Yosemite, was thrown out of the vehicle. She was taken to Rockcastle Hospital treated and released.

Troy Jalliff, 20, also of Yosemite, was thrown out. He was taken to U.K. Medical Center.

State Trooper Gary Lane, who investigated, said the pickup was traveling west on Ky. 70, veered off the road and rolled over, ejecting the passengers and driver.

Spears has a Aug. 23 court date.

Local tourism gets $5,000

The State Department of Travel Development recently distributed checks totaling $900,000 to help regional and local non-profit tourism organizations promote Kentucky travel, state Tourism Secretary Crit Laellen said today. Mt. Vernon-Rockcastle County Tourism Commission received $5,000.

During the state fiscal year that ended June 30, 115 organizations received grants from the Department of travel development's matching funds program.

The grants underwrite advertising, brochures and other promotional activities that support tourism in Kentucky.

Most of the $900,000 was allocated to tourism partnerships representing each of the state's nine marketing regions. The state provides 80 percent funding to regional organizations, with grant amounts ranging from about $37,000 to $83,000 said Travel Development Commissioner Bob Stewart. Grant amounts vary because some regional groups choose to promote more extensively than others.

The program also supports local tourism activities on a 50-50 basis.

Crab Orchard man charged with murder

A Crab Orchard man was charged with murder Saturday after he allegedly ran his car into another on U.S. 150, killing a woman and fleeing the scene on foot.

Steven Napier, 21, of 3635 Hamilton Valley Road, Crab Orchard, pleaded not guilty to a murder charge Monday in Lincoln County District Court.

He is accused of being drunk Saturday morning when his cabstand 1984 Dodge Charger rounded a curve on U.S. 150 and swung into the oncoming lane and struck head-on a car driven by Janice Lee Harris Martin, 54, of 420 Edwards Road, Crab Orchard.

Mrs. Martin, who was on her way to work as a nurse assistant at Stanford House Nursing Home, was trapped inside her crushed 1984 Nissan Sentra. Rescue workers tried to administer aid while others attempted

Court sets tax rate

Rate slightly lower locally

By: Ray McClure

The tax rate for Rockcastle took a slight dip for 1993-94 for real estate but remained the same for tangible property.

The rate is 8.1 cents per $100 assessed property value. The tangible rate is also 8.1 cents per $100 assessed value. It was 8.4 last year.

The rate is expected to bring in about $136,435 to the county in the coming year, based on a real estate assessed value of $203,479,098.

Only change in county tax rates was for bank shares which stand at 23.73 cents per $100 valuation.

Bank shares will bring in $20,437.

The motor vehicle tax remains the same as last year, 8.2 cents per $100. It will bring in $30,135. Watercraft will bring in $952 up from last year in total amount.

The motor vehicle tax, like the rate on all tangible property, remains the same as last year, 8.2 cents per $100. It will bring in $30,135.

Other agencies set their own tax rate.

The health department rate will be 3.2 cents per $100. The extension service will be 2.5 cents the same as

With Northern Water District Water contract still pending

The doldrums of August were evident Monday night when only four Mt. Vernon City Council members attended the monthly meeting.

The meeting lasted about 30 minutes with only two items on the agenda, other than pay the bills.

Mayor Gary B. Cromer said the Northern Rockcastle water contract was still pending, as well as planning for the city water plant.

He also reported that briefs have been filed on the Renfro Valley Entertainment tax dispute. The Kentucky Court of Appeals will consider the case. Presently, there was nothing new to report.

The other item was the city police report, presented by Chief Bill Mink. There were 242 complaints, 35 other agency assists, 5 motorist assists, 11 accidents investigated, 13 cases opened, 57 citations, 86 total charges, 3 driving under the influence.

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department had 21 fire runs.

last year for both agencies.

The Forest Service will remain at 5 cents an acre levied on privately owned forest land for forest fire protection. Soil Conservation rate is 7 of a cent which will bring in about $11,791.

The Rockcastle Library and School Board have not set their amounts.

Total 1993-94 assessment growth showed real estate at $79,349,980, new property about $4,238,980, tangible property, $1,863,996, public service corporations $2,243,159, public service corporations, tangible, $20,888,940.

Charting Rockcastle

Richard F. Anderkin
Managing Editor

Depending on how a reporter personally feels about any particular subject, he or she can slant the story to be as negative, positive or neutral as they so desire.

C. Ray Hall, a reporter for the Louisville Courier-Journal, must have come away with some negative feelings after visiting Rockcastle County. When he wrote his assessment of Rockcastle County, it was one of the most negative things I have ever read about the county. The story appeared in the Monday July 26th edition of the Courier-Journal as part of their special series, "Our Towns."

As former teacher Keith Singleton pointed out, there was not one positive thing about the article, "Nothing but negative," Singleton said.

To show you the difference a writer can make, when Stanford and Lincoln County were featured in the same series, the Mayor of Stanford tried to buy every extra copy of that particular newspaper. He, and most Lincoln counties, were so pleased with the positive story. The Chamber of Commerce even framed the article and put it on their wall. The glowing story was written by Stanford native Byron Crawford, who certainly wasn't about to give his old hometown a blackeye.

The same obviously wasn't true of Mr. Hall, who failed, among other things, to mention that our school system is considered a leader in the state. We are a model for other systems and are considered one of the most progressive systems in the entire state.

In May, Rockcastle County High School graduated 75% of the freshmen that started four years earlier, while the state average was 65%. 61% of Rockcastle seniors also plan to attend college this fall and Rockcastle High School also gets 95% of their students to attend daily. In the 1991-92 school year the local school system was 22nd of 186 school districts in attendance in the state. This is almost unheard of for a school as large as Rockcastle. They will average 800 students a year.

Mr. Hall did refer to the statistics of the 1990 census which showed that only 44.9% of local residents have a high school education. I'm sure that his figures are correct and that is all w and good, but he certainly failed to mention the progress that is being made at all levels of education, and especially the high school, in the county.

And while he talked about no services being available for stranded travelers in the county at the present time, he failed to mention the 750 people that were housed and fed at the Rockcastle County High School. For two days, members of the high school staff, local volunteers and the Red Cross did everything imaginable to help the stranded motorists.

And, apparently one of Mr. Hall's biggest sources for his article was Commonwealth Attorney Benny Ham. That in itself is somewhat ridiculous to talk to a man about a county that, number one, he doesn't live in and number two has never carried in any race that he has ever run in. Whether Mr. Ham would like to admit it or not, there has to be some sort of bribe for him when it comes to Rockcastle County.

Ham told Mr. Hall that he usually like to resolve our disputes without calling the sheriff. That may be true in some cases, but given the track record of the Commonwealth Attorney, it is no wonder. People probably talk to him just as well off because more times than not, nothing is accomplished in court. And by the way, it is the Commonwealth's Attorney job to see that criminals are prosecuted.

He did tell his readers that 31% of all Rockcastle workers live below the poverty level, but he failed to mention that Rockcastle has the lowest unemployment rate of the seven counties in the Corbin area labor market, which includes Laurel, Clay, Whitley, Knox, Jackson and Lee counties. Only 5.9% of our workers are unemployed, which is below the state and national average.

He also failed to mention the good jobs that are available in health care, industry and education. And the fact stands that Rockcastle is strategically located for those workers who prefer to work in other towns, perhaps for a higher wage, in order to give their families what they need and want.

And we all know that if you do live below the poverty level, more times than not it is the individual's own fault. It certainly has nothing to do with the county he or she lives in.

A person that wants to make a better living for himself and his family does so, 99% of the time.

Mr. Hall also said that it was difficult to get 60% of Rockcastle counties to agree on anything, but one thing is for certain, I'm sure well over 60% thought that his article stunk!

All in all, C. Ray Hall's critique of Rockcastle County left the impression that Rockcastle counties are nothing more than poor, dumb, murdering rednecks who live hand to mouth because they don't earn a decent wage.

Thank goodness that those of us who have come to love and promote this county know better. We have made great strides to improve the quality of life in this county in the past several years, whether the Courier-Journal thinks so or not.

Heresay

By John Norman Meadows

I was a junior in high school, and it was my first Saturday of working as a "soda-jerk" at Maggard's Retail Drug Store on Main Street in "Up-town" Mt. Vernon. I walked a tall, gangly-looking fellow. Because of his white beard and long mustache, he surprised he was elderly. His full length, dark grey overcoat was especially striking, considering the weather outside was too warm for such attire.

As he sat down on one of the red-cushioned stools in front of the fountain, Amanda Maggard, wife of "Doc," the pharmacist, called me back the aisle a few steps and whispered to me.

"He's your customer," she said. "What do you mean you?" "You'll see," she said with a smile. "May I help you?" I said to the man.

His deepset eyes peered out at me from beneath the wide brim of his dust-laden, black hat. He raised a long, bony index finger in the air, as if to let me know his request was special, and spoke in a nasal, high-pitched tone, very high for a man.

"Gimme 'n Alseedeiser in uh hass uh glass uh water." (Pronounce that AL-see-DELL-sir.)

His mispronunciation of "Al-kaseltzer" hit my funny bone hard, and I turned toward the fountain, trying to contain my surprise and hilarity. I looked toward Amanda, realizing what she meant. She sported a smile that showed all of her picture-perfect teeth. And Irene Baker, who also worked at Maggard's and was an authority on Cara Nome cosmetics, had moved alongside Amanda. She too was grinning—her normal expression—like she had just heard a joke she enjoyed but wouldn't dare tell.

"That was my first encounter with John Angier. Finishing his 'Alseedeiser' he put a handful of change on the counter and said, 'Now I'll have a tin of Carter's Little Liver Pills.' I fetched them for him, and he sort of his change to pay me, he looked up and explained, 'These here pills air good for my heart attacks.' I almost lost it again.

A host of Rockcastle—her folks remember John Angier and know a story or two about him. I can still see him walking down Main Street of Mt. Vernon, a woman and God knows how many children trailing behind

Points East

By Ike Adams

In the meantime I've been checking The Metro Piston every week looking for that ever elusive bargain on a good used car. I also make a habit of buying the Lexington paper as early as possible every day so that I can peruse the classified section called "deals on wheels." And so far all the good deals I've found have been on radios. Find a car that sounds like a bargain and most of the time the only thing that acts like it has any life left in it is the radio.

I don't want to spend any more than $4,000. People keep telling me that I ought to be looking at new cars because they have warranties. But I've never had any luck trying to find a warranty to Louisville. I figure that a car with 60,000 miles or so on it is about broken in. If it's not pissing smoke or leaking oil and runs like it means business, chances are the previous owner has gotten all the bugs out of it or wouldn't have that many miles on it.

Over the last three weeks I've driven a dozen or more cars in my price range, one of which acts like it might last until I get it paid for. I've tried to haggle a couple of thousand bucks off but most car dealers don't like me anyway. I've decided though, that I'll probably have to trade with a dealer.

The first thing that a private citizen in Lexington who is advertising in the paper will tell you is how much he said for his car. He's trying to sell and everyone I've talked to get a heck of a burning when they traded. Not only that but they feel like they ought to be able to sell something they put 100,000 miles on for a couple thousand dollars less than they paid and so far nobody can understand why I don't consider that much of a deal.

Loretta says that I've spent so much money on my Jeep truck that the company ought to have to give me one that really is dependable. I can tell you for sure that if I ever have another one, it'll come as a gift. In the meantime, if you have something for sale that I can talk you out of for loan value, give me a call. Car shopping is not my idea of fun and I'm anxious to get it over with.

"The wipers don't work and the horn don't blow but there ain't nothing wrong with the radio."

A Country musician came out with a song a few years back using that key lyric to describe his automobile. I can't remember the whole song but it consists of one line after another describing things that didn't work but at least he had a radio.

The biggest difference between that fellow and myself is that he sounds pretty proud of his vehicle. My Jeep truck still has a great radio, but the air conditioning is shot, one headlight flutters off and on like a Christmas tree ornament and I have to shove a Phillips screwdriver into the steering column to turn on the wipers and give directional signals.

You can tell where I've been just by cruising around parking lots and looking for big spots of fresh oil. The transmission has been out so many times that I believe I could do it by myself, blindfolded, but it still whines like a sick pup. The engine spits and sputters and grumbles every time it has to climb a hill.

I've had the tires balanced at three different places and the rims checked to see if one is warped, but when I get above fifty mph on the interstate it's like riding a jack hammer. A skinny mile, bareback, would ride at least as comfortably. On the other hand, I don't have to worry about falling asleep at the steering wheel.

I'm basically down to a good stereo on decent tires. Unfortunately you can't depend on a radio to get to and from Louisville and Salysville and Louisa and Prestonsburg and Martin as often as I have to go. But hallojahn, I'm also down to two payments and I have decided that the sensible thing to do is buy another vehicle.

I'm going to keep the truck for fishing purposes on weekends and for Jennifer to drive eight miles each way to and from school when she has basketball games that get her back to Lancaster at midnight so that Loretta and I won't be crawling out of bed to run that errand. I intend to fix the headlight but the average safe speed between our house and the high school is about 30 mph, no matter what you're driving, so she won't have to worry about the vibrations. Anything that will go seems to suit Jennifer as long as, you guessed it, there ain't nothing wrong with the radio. She and the lemon ought to feel right at home with each other.

Roamin' Rockcastle

By Hilda Payne Gabbard

Well, greetings from the Signal and good old Rockcastle!

The first day of fall hit us this week. Everything of nature had stopped growing and seemed to wait for the next season. The terrible heat of July had gone as well as the storms that beat on crops destroying tobacco that meant hard days for farmers who wondered how they would make it through this coming winter. There was an odd chill in the air which meant fall was coming.

I got up, put on a sweater and went to join John on the porch for my first cup of coffee that John calls coffee but it will stand alone I tell him, it is so strong. He likes the way old timers make it, a little water and plenty of coffee grounds, my eyes stay wide open all day long.

Boy, did I hear from my grandson, Dion Cornett's picture. I got three telephone calls from girls who are romantic and believe in striking while the iron is hot, even after I said, "A brand was already put on him."

This must be the weather for family reunions. I read in the paper that the Willard Todd-Lousey Gatliff Reunion at the Berry-Ramsey Park on Clear Creek would be held on August 8th.

Beri Ramsey says all friends are invited to bring a cooler for the picnic. I'll have to buy one at Saylor's Market. Be sure and ask Conley for he keeps a few frozen for friends.

The last I heard of Conley Saylor he was going to be thrown in jail for the Red Cross in front of Wal-Mart store to make money for them.

But don't you know that man got out of going to jail by telling the two policemen who went to arrest him that he wasn't ready to go as he had some paper work to do and to come back later.

And that's how Conley got out of going to jail. I went down to the place where a lot of people were working on this stunt to make money for the Red Cross.

I told Saylor I went down with the idea of paying the law men to keep him there awhile. I told him that and he said, "you ought to be ashamed. After I gave you some Christmas presents."

Ha! I don't count them much presents after the way I had to crawl under the tree to get one and again I had to climb the wall where a present was hidden in the wall decoration at the store.

One morning I went to get a Signal out of the newspaper box in front of Superior Market. A man kept putting some dimes in the slot in the box but for some reason they would be returned.

I said, "Mister if you'll let me put my two quarters in the slot, I hope to get a paper."

Sure enough the money worked and I got my paper. I held the door open and said, "Now you can get you a paper."

He drew back and said, "No, I can't do that. I want to pay for my copy."

"Well, you can. Take a paper and then put your money in the slot."

He did and I couldn't believe my ears that someone would be that honest. I asked him his name.

"I'm J.R. Whitehead and my wife is Opal Hall. We like to read so I get both the Citizen and the Signal."

I thanked him for buying the Signal and I told him who I was, the columnist for Roamin' Rockcastle.

Then Mr. Whitehead seemed to be very pleased to meet me.

"We like that column so well and I've wanted to meet you. My wife does too. Now I'll know how you look," he said.

Flossie and Bill Burdine live just up the road from us on Menelaus Road.

I hadn't seen her for some time out on the porch as I had been doing so I stopped and talked to Bill. He looked so sad, I felt something was wrong.

Then he told me she had become ill with a stroke about a month ago, was taken to the hospital at Lexington but got no better.

Then she was sent to a nursing home where she can be taken care of and there is no hope that she will get better. He has to live alone in these sad days. A daughter checks on him and helps him some.

The Burdines are members of Bethel Church and I wonder if the members know of his trouble.

Young people can hear trouble like this but the older ones have more trouble getting along.

When John and I go up to the Abney Memorial Garden there by the Macedonia Church, I walk around looking at headstones and in my mind's eye, I talk to our folks who look like they would be like this.

We ate supper with folks on Tuesday, July 27th, in the Abney Memorial Garden.

My mother Jane and dad, O.M. Payne were there talking to Grandpa Taylor and Grandma Nancy Abney. They were close to each other and could say many things of the past, I listened.

Grandpa and dad got out of firewood once in dad's early marriage when they lived with grandpa. So he and grandpa took axes and went to cut wood which would also buy cornmeal for the family.

Dad knew they had to cut a lot to use as heat and food too. So he went at it cutting as fast as he could.

Now Grandpa Taylor was an easy going kind of man. He believed in doing things in an orderly way so he said to dad, "Slow down, Gramps, slow down. We'll get bread, we'll get bread."

The two men liked each other so much that when dad and mother moved from Clover Bottom in Jackson County to Clear Creek in Rockcastle, the Abneys followed in a few months and settled on Davis Branch road.

Uncle Bob (R.T.) Abney and aunt Bess Abney were in the same group nearby.

He laughed as I came up as he said, "You still write for that paper, Jack" as he always called me.

Aunt Bess smiled at his teasing me and asked, "Have you seen Reuben?" He will have a birthday this month on August 21st. He'll be 39.

I turned and looked at him sitting heavily. Reuben had died a tragic death in a boating accident on a lake. If he had lived he would have been 70 years today. He was such a handsome fellow.

In some green, grassy ground by the road in front of the graveyard, Otis Miracle lay comfortably in a seat while Neutral sat by him and held his hand.

I walked over and said, "You two courting up here?" looking at their clasped hands.

"They'll never be a better husband than Otis," Neutral said softly as she looked at him.

Uncle Will Stephens got up from his place under the big oak tree that stood by the Memorial Garden.

"Pattie will talk her head off when she gets with Bess and Jane. She likes to hear family news."

Losco Hill, his brother, Brocade and sister Verolay, gathered around their mother, aunt Ollie Hill and talked of the family.

Marie Hill joined them and held on to Losco's arm. My brother, Stanley Payne with his daughter, Patricia Johnson, and his son Billy Payne, who passed away so suddenly and quickly with a heart attack at dad, Patty, his sister at age 30 taking her unborn child with her. Jean, their wife, and mother lay in a nursing home in Berea unable to be with them. She is very helpless and may soon join the group.

I walked over to mother and dad and family ones but no one seemed to notice me. After all death stood between me and all those loved ones which I couldn't cross over, the river of life, to be with them.

Divie Holt, wife of Brocade, came over to me and said, "I always keep a beautiful wreath by Brocade and our son, William, who sleeps by his father."

I know, I saw them there when I went them out here by a florist.

I had to have the wreath for John had to mow under them."

It seems to comfort folks to put large baskets by their loved ones. I had brought a basket for Billy Payne but no one else did anything for his resting place. I also put a lovely basket of roses by Stanley's grave for Jean who was unable to do so.

John called to me. "It's time that we go for it's getting dark."

I looked around to see loved ones faces, but some had already gone and others were slowly disappearing.

"They'll never be gone for me as long as I have my memories."

In Berea, down next to Wal-Mart store is Farmer Robinson's Market. I stopped one day to get peaches and they were the nicest ones I've seen yet.

The attractive woman who kept the fruit and vegetable market told me the next time I went in, she said that her name was Sue Farmer.

I bought some nice grapefruit and a large melon which the lady carried to my car for me.

"The last time you were in here, a man said that you wrote for a news paper," she said to me.

"Well, yes, I write for the Mt. Vernon Signal, one of the best newspapers you can buy around here," I told her. "You can find a newspaper box here at Wal-Mart, at Superior Market across the street and the Dairy Mart the far west end of Berea."

"Well, we'll probably do some advertising with it," Sue said.

"You've heard the song 'Church in the Valley'?" We attended Sunday August 1st, the birthday of the new Galilee Baptist Church, which was built this summer by some members led by the Pastor Steve Cole.

"Peak in the Valley, in the shelter of his arms, was the opening song by Lee Abney and sung by the choir in the first meeting seemed to be the atmosphere of the new Galilee Baptist Church as the faithful members with many a visitor, for homecoming to be in celebration."

There were 112 visiting pastors I don't know who was the 112 but I'm guessing it was Mark McCuie.

Brother Cole preached the morning sermon. In it, he spoke of the hardships he, and the working men, had come up against but he said, "Christians are stubborn, will not be overcome in this struggle that faced them to build a church."

A dinner on the ground tables took place at noon in the large recreation hall.

Pastor Cole warned folks of overeating as I heard Mike Gay and Deacon Harold Cole did.

Halle and Eugene Alexander were there. I asked her if she brought chicken and dumplings as she usually does.

Obeyes had two cold roasters that I'd been latching up for this day. Mackie Lambie too many dumplings, Halle said.

Then brother Bill Hamilton gave the afternoon sermon. It was on the ten Commandments and he kept things lively by talking of them.

Brother Hamilton preached on that "Great Homecoming in the sky" and asked the congregation to get ready "for you know not the hour when He cometh."

The Lighthouse Baptist Church music group sang and did well. There were some other groups also.

As the closing of the first day and the Homecoming in the new church.

Pastor Cole asked the entire group to join hands, make a circle around the room, and all take part in the benediction which we did. The message by all was that this was God's Church and we worked for Him.

Till next week, if I haven't been tired to run out of space,

Host Families Sought for International Students

American host families are being sought for high school students from Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, South America, and Australia for the 1993-94 school year in a program sponsored by the American International Student Exchange (AISE).

These exceptional students, 15 through 18 will arrive in the United States in August, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June of 1994. The students, all fluent in English, have been carefully screened by the local representatives in their home countries, and have their own medical insurance and spending money.

AISE's main focus is teaching young people about the importance of acceptance of other cultures. Cultural exchange is necessary to the continued betterment of civilization as a whole. Without acceptance of the values of differing cultures, we as Americans are in greater danger of becoming culturally ignorant.

The 1993 Rockcastle Rockets Football Team

Richard Anderkin/Mt. Vernon Signal

The 1993 Rockcastle Rockets Football Team will begin their season on Saturday, August 28th in Mt. Sterling. The Rockets will take on highly touted Hazard in the Recreation Bowl. Watch for the August 28th edition of The Mt. Vernon Signal which will carry a salute to this year's team.

After a hard fought battle

13 year-olds lose in Semi-Finals of State

The 13-year-old all stars, playing against South Shore in the semi-finals of the state tournament last Thursday at Catelettsburg lost a hard one 8-7 after being ahead 7-0.

The Rockcastle boys struck early in the top of the first when they combined three walks and singles by Chris Bishop and Jimmy Houk and a wild pitch to score three runs.

They struck paydirt again in the second inning when an error on the second baseman put Sean Davidson on, Travis Anderkin and Ronnie Vanzant walked and Anderkin later scored on a walk issued to Houk for a 4-0 lead at the end of two.

There was no scoring in the third inning but in the fourth, Anderkin and Dusty McClure scored on a single by Bishop who later scored on a double by Blake Childress for all of the scoring in the game for the Rockcastle team.

Then it was error city as Rockcastle gave up eight runs in the next three innings for the final score of 8-

7. Rockcastle had been dropped into the losers bracket by a 2-1 defeat by the eventual winner of the tournament, Valley Sports, on Wednesday.

It was a pitchers duel and great defense on both sides until the seventh inning when Rockcastle took a 1-0 lead in the top on a strike-out and wild pitch which scored Bishop from third.

In the bottom of the seventh, with the bases loaded, a wildpitch scored Valley Sports', the eventual winner of the tournament, first run and an error then brought the winning run home.

Matt Sowder, who pitched an excellent game for Rockcastle, was lifted in the bottom of the seventh with one out and two men on for Jimmy Houk. Houk pitched a fine game against South Shore but the Rockcastle defense, which had risen to the occasion so many times in the three post-season tourneys, finally broke down.

'Native Frank Strunk writes second novel, "Jordan's Shadow"

Frank C. Strunk, a former editor of the Mt. Vernon Signal, has published his second mystery novel, "Jordan's Showdown."

A native of McCreary County, Strunk served two years in the Army and later attended Cumberland College. He received his degree from U.K. in journalism.

He was assistant state editor of The Lexington Herald, The Signal editor and Rural Kentucky.

He has lived in Tampa, Fla. area for the past seven years.

Following is a description of Strunk's "Jordan's Showdown."

First introduced to readers in Jordan's Wager, Berkley Jordan returns in Jordan's Showdown, Frank Strunk's new 1930s saga of union struggles in eastern Kentucky.

Jordan's opponent in the dramatic final showdown is introduced on the first page: A professional killer, a preacher's son turned bitter by his father's rigid rantings, Moody McCain has been hired by someone to come into fictional Stanton County and ply his trade. Moody brings along "Earl," his "fresh meat" blonde companion, to keep him entertained between ambushes.

Berkley Jordan, soundly whipped in his campaign for county sheriff (in Jordan's Wager) now runs a roadhouse card game, finds time to bed his boss Della and mourn for his estranged girlfriend Cassie, and finds himself being drawn into the smoldering struggle between the mine owners and the miners. Both sides want Jordan's help. Coal baron H.R. Buxton wants Jordan to squelch the potential battle; the miners want his help in the struggle to bring in the union. Jordan, always his own man, stays clear of it all until his best friend Willis Dobbs falls to one of Moody's rifle shots. Just who hired the professional killer is in doubt until the final showdown, a dramatic episode which draws legendary union leader, John L. Lewis, and a young "Happy" Chandler — then Kentucky's lieutenant governor — into the explosive climax.

There's more sex and violence in Jordan's Showdown than in Jordan's Wager, but mountain native Frank Strunk still excels at capturing the feel of 1930s east Kentucky and in maintaining the colorful lead character. Unlikely hero Berkley Jordan almost reluctantly does whatever has to be done, but his single-minded approach and cool behavior make him very much a man to be reckoned with.

The language of Jordan's Showdown is salty and realistic, full of everyday "sayings" and free from any traces of quaint, primitive or stereotypical. Frank Strunk didn't research his dialect; he has, obviously, lived it.

From the beginning rifle bullet to the final words — "Can a hummingbird fly sideways?" — Jordan's Showdown is a fast-paced, realistic drama of greed, emotion and one good man's reaction to all of the above.

Squirrel Season opens August 21 statewide

Squirrel hunters will get their first chance to be in the woods Saturday, August 21, as the Kentucky squirrel season opens throughout the state.

For the last few seasons, Kentucky had been split into two zones for squirrel hunting. The eastern zone consisting of about 35 counties in the southeastern portion of the state did not open for squirrels until Labor Day weekend. The delayed opening in the southeast was designed to provide young squirrels an extra two weeks or so of growth before the season opened, because the breeding season in that region tends to lag behind the rest of the state.

During the December 1992 meeting of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) Commission, the commission voted to abolish the two squirrel zones and have a single set of season dates for squirrel hunting statewide. This year's complete season dates are August 21 through October 31, and November 23 through December 31.

The daily bag limit on squirrels remains the same at six. For more information on all Kentucky's small game hunting seasons, pick up a copy of the 1993-94 Small Game Hunting Guide at license retail outlets, or contact KDFWR, 1 & E Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502) 564-4336, Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

him. I stand to be corrected, but I think they survived solely on welfare.

A few years later, as I drove through Roundstone on my way to Georgetown College, I came upon John, hitch-hiking. I stopped, and John raised that index finger again.

"Can ye gimme a ride to Berea?" I told him to hop in. But as he opened the door, he spoke again.

"Would it be all right if'n some of my chilleen rides with us?"

He didn't wait for my answer but turned and motioned toward a clump of evergreens. Out came his clan, and they piled and squeezed into my two-door Ford. Talk about a carload! Momma had washed and pressed my clothes for the week, but when John and his clan got out at Berea, those duds were again ready for suds-and-iron!

Other folks occasionally gave John a lift. One day he caught a ride to Sands Springs with a trucker from down that way.

"I'm John Angel. What's your name?" he said.

"Robert Crook," the driver replied. John chuckled and said, "How about that? An Angel riding with a Crook!"

Word has it that Crook didn't think that was funny, stopped the truck, and told John to get out!

Other than my first meeting with him, I mirthfully remember most often what John said the day I gave him a ride from Roundstone to Mt. Vernon. (He was alone!)

As we came to the long stretch of US 25 just north of Renfro Valley, known as Green Fish Hill, I floored the accelerator, thinking I'd give John a real ride. (A few of us ignorant, young Jesus routinely drove down that hill at speeds in excess of a hundred miles per hour!)

I was doing about eighty when John spoke up, his high, nasal voice quavering. "I hear tell gasoline pare's dangerous!" I slowed down, realizing he was very frightened. At the bottom of the hill, he resumed conversation.

"How old air ye, boy?"

"Sixteen," I replied.

"And never been kissed, I reckon?" he added with a snicker.

"No, John, I can't rightly say that," I replied.

John slapped his knee. "Hah!" he chuckled. "Me neither. I started when I wuz 'lebens and I ain't quit yet!"

Nowadays, I occasionally take an "Alseedeiser" for my stomach's sake and recall unforgettable John Angel with a measure of joy. And if I should have a heart attack, I hope some Carter's Pills are close by! If not, throw me in an ambulance, and use every ounce of your "gasoline pare" to get me to a hospital. Iest I too become an "Angel" too soon!

to free her from the wreckage. The accident occurred at 6:15 a.m. Saturday near the Walnut Flat section of Lincoln County, 4.5 miles east of Stanford.

Deputy Sheriff Harold Cunnagin, who investigated the accident, said that Napier was drunk at the time of the accident and fled the scene on foot despite his own injuries.

Cunnagin said that Napier climbed a fence and took off through the fields toward the east.

As fire and rescue workers arrived at the scene of the accident to extract Mrs. Martin from her car, Cunnagin said that several fire fighters searched nearby fields, expecting that the driver of the other car would have collapsed nearby. Both the Napier and the Martin cars were totaled on impact.

The deputy sheriff said that a passenger stopped by the accident scene and said that an injured man was walking down U.S. 150 about two miles east. Cunnagin said he drove toward Crab Orchard and found Napier, bloodied from leg and arm injuries that ultimately took 50 to 75 stitches to close, flagging down at the Mt. Hebron Church near Cedar Creek.

Napier put up no struggle as Cunnagin arrested him, the deputy said.

Napier was taken to the hospital and treated, then jailed on murder charges.

Cunnagin said he is waiting for a laboratory analysis of blood samples to see whether Napier was beyond the legal blood alcohol limit for intoxication. The laboratory also will test the blood for evidence of drug use. A public defender was appointed Monday to represent Napier on the murder charge. He is scheduled to appear in court again Monday for a preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Martin was buried Tuesday in Kings Cemetery following a funeral service at Martin Funeral Home in Crab Orchard. The services were conducted by Rev. Dan Gettenson.

A native of Cincinnati, Mrs. Martin was born July 9, 1939 to the late Benjamin and Helen Kelly Harris. She was a member of the Watts Chapel Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, William Earl Martin, Sr., two sons, William Earl Martin, Jr. and Michael Martin, both of Crab Orchard; four daughters, Helena G. Denny of Mt. Vernon, Tina M. Cummins of Georgetown, Gina L. Hines of Stanford and Janet L. Bagby of Richmond; two brothers, Benjamin Harris of Alexandria, Ohio and Edward D. Harris of Cincinnati; two sisters, Shirley Hoobler and Gloria Chrisman, both of Cincinnati; a half-sister, Carolyn Codding of Cincinnati; and nine grandchildren.

"Brodhead Council"

Problems with the Brodhead sewer department prompted council members to hire a Mt. Vernon water and sewer department employee.

Council members D.A. Robbins, Johnny Wilkop and C.W. Owens Jr., voted to hire Charles DeBorde to work at the Brodhead sewer plant. Councilman Rick Vanzant, who reportedly questioned DeBorde's eligibility as an employee because of where he lives, abstained. The job had been advertised earlier this year, at which time Vanzant applied for the position. DeBorde will reside at Sand Springs where he is building a house. He was hired for a three month probation period, during which he will earn $1,200 a month. At the end of the probation period he will be raised to $1,300.

DeBorde has his water district and sewer one certificate.

Mrs. Bonnie Rose, an owner of Rose's One Stop in Brodhead, complained to the council that she wasn't getting her fair share of the city's gas business. "We have always let you charge in the past and we don't think it is being distributed fairly. All we want is our fair share," she said.

The council voted unanimously to have all city employees and the fire department take month about buying their gas at Rose's, William Bentley's and Dairy Mart. There was some discussion as to whether Dairy Mart would participate because of the bookkeeping involved. However council members instructed employees and members of the fire department to work it out so that the gas business was distributed fairly.

Although Mayor Bussell strongly objected, saying that if he (city policeman Joe Bussell) hadn't been guilty he wouldn't have needed a lawyer, members of the council voted to reimburse policeman Bussell $500 for legal fees that he incurred because of a June incident in which he was charged with fourth degree assault. "He couldn't help what happened and we only pay him $700 a month, he needs to get his lawyer's fees," Councilman Robbins said.

On January 15 of this year, Jerry Ross filed a criminal complaint against Bussell, who he said hit him several times with a flashlight and billy club. The case was later dismissed by District Judge Mike Henry.

"Tax Rate"

The year's homestead exemptions totaled $26,070,800 or $1,588,700 difference from 1992.

The tax rate was set by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at a meeting Tuesday from figures from the State Department of Local Government.

The court terminated an RECC electrical inspection contract. The court decided to allow each builder or others to call individually if an inspector is needed.

Money Ed Cummins was allowed to rent fairground barns for $50 a month.

The court approved the sheriff's settlement as well as County Clerk Norma Houk's report.

The Richmond Audit Firm commended the county clerk for her audit.

CVADD forms policy

A Kentucky 2001 has been created by the Area Development Districts to make strategic program development serve each area of the state.

The process builds upon past and current planning efforts of the fifteen Districts and will impact program policy and administration as it is formed and implemented throughout the state, according to John L. Bruner II, CVADD executive director.

As funds become more difficult to obtain, the importance of planning, especially the regional approach to planning and development, becomes crucial. Through regional planning, development can be cost effective and result in better utilization of tax dollars.

The planning process began in June 1992 when Kentucky's 15 Area Development Districts renewed their effort to stress the importance of working together at the regional and state levels to address certain issues.

In order to obtain local input, the Cumberland Valley Area Development District (CVADD) held a series of four meetings within each of the eight counties. These meetings were conducted jointly by the CVADD Staff and the County Judge Executive of each county and attendance included many private citizens, professionals of various fields of interest, as well as many public officials. The CVADD Staff met with each special county committee to review and expand upon the ideas and recommendations obtained at the first public hearing. Goals, objectives and projects were formulated.

Other public meetings were then scheduled for each county using radio and press releases to notify the public. The updated goals, objectives, and projects were presented to the interested citizens for consideration. The purpose was to obtain local level input concerning the needs of the area as well as opportunities for development. An effort was made to get people to present their vision of what their county, as well as the entire District, needed to accomplish to enter the 21st Century at a level comparable with other areas of the state and nation. Certain common needs and objectives were apparent as priorities, such as better paying jobs, improved transportation facilities, better housing, improved community services and better infrastructure.

Improved job opportunities would be a major factor in the elimination of other problems through increasing the tax and service base to provide more funds for roads, water lines, sewer lines, recreation and numerous other public services and facilities.

Some of the major regional strategies to improve job opportunities identified by the Kentucky 2001 Plan process, include the following:

through 14 at the festival grounds, U.S. 421, eight miles southeast of Berea.

Special appearances will be by Ralph Stanley, Larry Sparks, Charlie Sizemore, and Jim Jesse.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In I Cor. 11:23-26 we read "For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you. That the Lord Jesus the same night in which he was betrayed took bread: And when he had given thanks he broke it, and said, take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, this cup is the new testament in my blood; this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come."

The Lord's Supper is such a simple yet a profound memorial of the death of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is profound in that the elements remind of the great sacrifice, of the sinless Son of God who gave his body and shed his blood for the sins of mankind. Jesus died because of his great love wherewith he loved us. We did not deserve nor merit such love and compassion but thanks be unto God, who sent his Son to die for all of us! The Lord's Supper is simple for there are only two elements: bread and fruit of the vine. We eat to remember his broken body and we drink to remember his shed blood. The Lord's Supper is to be partaken of on the first day of the week as Ac. 20:17 teaches us.

It's sad that some have taught errors on such a wonderful memorial. Some have substituted other emblems in the Lord's Supper. I heard about one church who had hamburgers and coca cola, they claimed it was "more modern." Another error that is taught is an additional emblem is added into the Lord's Supper: a container. Yes, some contend that the container is a part of the Lord's Supper and that we must use only one. But notice what our text said, "Drink this cup." When these folks start drinking down glass, or plastic, or metal (which ever is used) maybe they will have a point! I'm satisfied with the Lord's way of two elements.

Kelli Nicely to wed James Adam Burdine
Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nicely of Mt. The bridesmaids were Jennie Thorpe and Cristy Lynn Owens. Flower girls were Tammy Dees, Stormie Bullock and Amanda Owens. The groomsmen were Terry Williams and Mark Dees. The couple now reside in Lexington.

More funds available for first-time homebuyers

Kentucky Housing Corporation announced recently that it has made available $22 million in mortgage loans for qualified first-time homebuyers.

The loans carry an interest rate of 6.75 percent, fixed for 30 years. The maximum purchase price of a newly constructed home is $67,000, with an existing home being no more than $64,000.

All loans will be FHA or VA insured and are attainable on a first-come, first-served basis through participating financial institutions across the state.

The availability of this money is the result of remarketing bonds sold in 1991, under the federal Mortgage Revenue Bond Program.

Kentucky Housing Corporation and other states are working without this federal program that expires June 30, 1992, stated Executive Director F. Lynn Luallen. Because of this, we had to become creative in our financing practices so that money remains accessible to the Kentucky families we serve. We are hopeful that Congress will reauthorize the Mortgage Revenue Bond Program, but until then, we will continue seeking ways to meet our mission of serving low- to moderate-income Kentucky families.

For potential homebuyers having problems accumulating funds for the required downpayment and closing costs, Kentucky Housing Corporation offers a mortgage assistance program called EPIC (Equity Partners Investing in the Commonwealth). Under the EPIC Program, homebuyers can borrow up to 60 percent of their downpayment and closing costs (up to $3,000) at a 3.5 percent interest rate for a term of seven years.

For more information on home loan financing, EPIC or a local participating lender, contact Kentucky Housing Corporation's Homeownership Department at (502)564-7630, (800)633-8896 or (800)247-2510 for the hearing impaired only.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
Revolutionary War soldier, Rev. Daniel Ponder married Elizabeth Patterson, their three sons were John, who married Winnie Holcombe, Joseph married Catherine Holcombe and brought their families to Clay County 1840 and Robert married Elizabeth Holcombe and started a large Ponder clan in North and South Carolina. Robert is the ancestor of many Rockcastle County families including the old Norton and Sam's clans and their descendants, also Murray and Ramsey, etc.

John and Joseph Ponder also still have many Ponder descendants in Rockcastle County.

On August 28th, Saturday, and Aug. 29th, Sunday, we gather each year at the shelter house by the amphitheater at Levi Jackson Park for our annual Ponder Reunion. Last year we had 28 states represented, 10 a.m. till midnight, Saturday and Sunday we have our big dinner and prizes. The book "Kentucky Ponders" will be available.

Thank you,
Ebb Ben Allen

(Ed's Note) This is a copy of a letter sent to the Courier-Journal in response to their article about Mt. Vernon which appeared Monday, July 26, pma)

Dear Mr. Hall,
Too bad you took so little time or made such a small effort that you couldn't find something positive to write about in Rockcastle County, certainly, if you just opened your eyes for a moment, you would have seen more.

Yes, there are many problems. But, how about the accomplishments of the Arts Council over the last ten years, the work of the Kiwanis Club, the Lions Club, the All America Club, the hospital, the schools, the school kids, the library, the Saddle Club, the beauty of the picturesque surroundings, and most importantly, the people.

The great majority of those "common ordinary everyday people" you refer to are good, hardworking, law-abiding citizens just trying to do their best with what they have. Don't forget that "No matter how humble, there's no place like home," and this is home to us.

Give the people of this county something positive to build on rather than something negative, and therefore destructive, to dwell on and stew over. It will only perpetuate our problems. You have insulted us and done our community a disservice. Thank you for reading my letter.

Renfro Valley to host All Nite Gospel Sing

This weekend Renfro Valley celebrates the annual All Night Gospel Sing.

The All Night Sing has become a tradition for many and this year's celebration promises to be one of the most joyous ever.

Invited are some of gospel music's best-loved groups to help us celebrate our rich gospel heritage: Jeff and Sheri Easter, Karen Peck and New River, the McGruders, the Dixie Melody Boys, Family Reunion and the Jubilee Echoes.

The celebration begins at midnight on Aug. 7; music continues in both directions and New Bands until near daylight.

If anyone is planning on attending the All Night Gospel Sing, please call for reservations soon. This popular event sells out quickly.

The weekend after the All Night Gospel Sing, country legend Don Williams performs in two live shows, a matinee at 2 p.m. and an evening performance at 6 p.m.

The concert will be a sell-out, so if you want to see "the gentile giant" who brought us his hits "True Love," "Lost Highway on a Country Boy," "You're My Best Friend" and others, call soon.

Some reviews of Don's concerts in other cities and all indications are that this will be one of the best concerts of the season. Seems like this mild-mannered man relates to an audience about as well as he sings a song. Every review reports two and three standing ovations at every concert.

And the weekend after Don Williams takes the stage, we turn the stage over to some of our area's most talented amateurs for the Renfro Valley Talent Round-Up. The fun begins at 10 a.m. on Aug. 21 and does not end until all these talented hopefuls have a chance to compete for a grand prize of a recording session and appearance on one of the Barn Dance shows.

Great Performances looks at current Broadway hit Angels in America

Great Performances looks at the production of one of Broadway's current and highly praised hits when "In the Wings: Angels in America" Broadway" airs on KET at 9 p.m. Monday, August 9.

My Mother's Portrait
To my mother, May Taylor
Sent in by her daughter
Virginia Bonham

Artist paint my mother's portrait
Let the lines and wrinkles show
Let a silver halo crown her
For she's growing old you know
Let your brushes tell the story
Of her patient, tender care
Mingle love with joy and sorrow
Just as life has put them there

Can you picture of the canvas
All the years of sacrifice

Making life so bright for others
Never counting, pught the price
Blend your colors softly, artist
Face her toward the setting sun
Toward the calm and peaceful valley
For her task is almost done

Can you paint the pathway bright—
Toward the land of endless day—
Where blue for get-me-nots are
Blooming all along a sunlit way
Cut the picture, simply, mother
All the world will understand
Homes and hearts and heaven's brighter
Cause she holds her Savior's hand

Movie Review

Michael Crichton writes another hit with Rising Sun

By: Paul E. Scanlon

Business, Politics, Money, Espionage, Greed, Murder, Humor, Violence and Sex. These words describe Michael Crichton's Rising Sun. This movie based on Crichton's book shows the diversity of talents he has as an author. Rising Sun, although very different from Crichton's Jurassic Park, is still quite thrilling.

Rising Sun is staged in Los Angeles, where a Japanese corporation is negotiating the takeover of an American company. During a party given by the Japanese company, the murder of Cheryl Austin, the girl friend of Eddie Sakamura, takes place in the Japanese board room.

John Comer (Sean Connery) and Web Smith (Wesley Snipes) are called in to investigate, because of their experience with the Japanese and their ability to communicate without offending them.

The building in which the murder takes place is equipped with all the latest gadgets, including a security system that records on laser disk. The disk that turns up with the recording of the murder points to Eddie Sakamura, but it is obviously not that simple.

There are some who say this movie displays a lot of Japan-bashing. In my opinion, the plot could have been written to happen between two American companies and still maintained its suspense.

Sean Connery's acting just gets better with age and Wesley Snipes makes a great sidekick.

Rising Sun is now playing at the Regency Cinema Seven in London and is rated R.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jett and daughter Rachel of Cinncinatti visited Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mullins during the weekend.

Ernie Mink is a patient in the St Joseph Hospital in Lexington. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Guire, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce M. Guire, their son and daughter all of Franklin, Ohio, Todd Toadwine and girl friend, Kim Mr. and Mrs. Scott Toadwine, their son and daughter of Mansburg, Ohio were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durham.

Mr. and Mrs. David Diehl of Brooksville, Ohio, visited in Livingston Sunday.

Dorothy Anderson, Nell Suckley and I (Frances Dickerson) were in Bardonia Tuesday to see the Stephen Foster story.

Lisa and Josh Lewis of Dayton, Ohio were recent visitors of Gertrude Allen.

Jimmie Middleton is on the sick list at this time. Hurry up Jimmie and get well and out again. You are missed.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

I don't know how many of the people out in the county read The Courier Journal's report on Mt. Vernon, Monday, July 26, but I'm wondering about those of you that did.

Are you as disturbed about the negative viewpoints as I am? I don't live in Mt. Vernon but I work here and I feel that our county as well as the town has received a bad review. A lot of the facts are true but some of the good things that are happening here should have been made known.

Possible it would have been better if more facts had been taken from the people in this county instead of a Pulaski County person. I would have liked to have seen some comments on our library. We have a library that is comparable to many libraries in larger counties. And not only the library but the county and town of Mt. Vernon is showing tremendous growth and improvement. Evidently a lot of people think this is a good place to come to live. We have new patrons registering for library cards nearly every day and a great many of these are people who have recently moved to this county and a lot of these are from out of state. Some of these are retired persons who had lived here when they were young but many have visited here and decided it was a good place to make their home. I believe in shining our light and let others see our good side. I personally want to thank an anonymous donor who left a lot of new books in the drop box. This was a very generous donation and I would like to encourage others who buy new books to donate them to the library after you have read them. This helps us to help other people with more reading material. We have a book budget and we use this to supplement our book collection in all categories but we can not get all the books that are needed. We are able to borrow books from other libraries through the Kentucky Library Network and many of you have used this service. We will continue to assist any patron in getting books and materials that are not available in our library.

I am not talking about a book that has been overlooked or forgotten. In this case most patrons will return these when they receive an overdue notice. Our concern is with the patrons that have taken books and evidently mean to keep them and the overdue notices haven't brought a response. I bought a book on the 1992 Olympics (Alberville-Barcelon) that cost $35. The second person that checked it out, still has it and this has been several months. This is not fair to other patrons. Books are for everyone to use and enjoy.

Two new novels that are ready to be checked out are: Snagged by Carol Higgins Clark... In glitzy Miami Beach, a party-ho convention is being held in the same hotel as a morticians' annual gathering. First class sleuth Regan Reilly is staying nearby in trendy South Beach, in town to be in her best friend Maury's wedding and to spend time with her mystery writing mother and elegant, funeral director father. There she meets the bride's favorite relative, the seventy-something Uncle Ritchie who's not only going to the wedding but to the party-ho convention as well. His blood pressure is headed for the stratosphere with his excitement over his new invention: party-ho guarantees to never snag, run or rip. It's a product women and rival manufacturers would kill for.

Two attempts on Uncle Ritchie's life convince Regan there is villainy afoot in the legwear industry. Then she discovers clues that lead back to the suspicious death of Ritchie's landlady a year ago. Regan's feeling the big bill in the Florida heat and worried that instead of being a member of the wedding, she's on her way to a funeral... her own.

Carol Higgins Clark, a writer and actress, is the daughter of Mary Higgins Clark. Her first novel, Decked, was nominated for an Agatha Award.

2. Streets of Laredo by Larry McMurtry... this is the long-awaited sequel to Lonesome Dove. At the center of the novel is Captain McCall, Augustus McCrae's old partner, now a bounty hunter hired to track down and kill the brilliant and elusive young Mexican bandit Joey Garza.

In the chase that ensues, an old man's skills are matched against a young man's daring.

Call's long hunt takes him into the Texas Panhandle, across the Pecos, and into northern Mexico. In pursuing Joey Garza, and the psychopathic manhunter Maxwell, Call traverses one of the last unspoiled and unsettled stretches of the American West.

Call takes with him an Eastern duder; an incompetent deputy; and his old corporal, Pea Eye Parker, now married to Lorena—once in love with Maxwell.

In the final, terrible conflict, Pea Eye's loyalty to his family and the devotion of the two women to husband and son hold a candle up to civilization for values that go beyond an ability to kill, and in doing so offer a hope for the West that is to be.

Some new non-fiction books are... Final Choices: To Live or To Die by Gene M. Burnell, M.D. The Man Who Knew Too Much was Richard Case Nagel and he was hired to kill Oswald and prevent the assassination of JFK. Author is Dick Russell.

... Nature's Everyday Mysteries, a field guide to the world in your backyard by Sy Montgomery... A Violent Act by Alec Wilkinson... Early on the morning of Sept. 22, 1982, by Wayne Jackson entered the annals of major crime. Before the day was over he had committed three murders and by night fall he would be the most sought-after criminal at large in America.

SCC fall semester schedules are available - the most varied ever!

The biggest and most varied schedule of classes ever offered by Somerset Community College is now available.

According to Dr. Tony Collins, SCC's Dean of Academic Affairs, the SCC fall semester includes more than 250 classes at the Laurel and McCreary County centers and other off-campus sites. "This is in addition to a full schedule of classes both day and evening at the Somerset campus," Dr. Collins said.

Collins says that older students especially seem to welcome a varied schedule of evening classes. "SCC has now almost reached the point that our typical student is 25 years of age or older, taking one or more classes at Somerset, and also taking at least one class in another county," Collins said. "We are making class schedules that fit the needs of these students."

SCC President, Dr. Rollin J. Watson, says the expanded schedule at SCC is consistent with the University of Kentucky's mission of offering high-quality, low-cost education that is convenient to Kentucky citizens. Last year Watson himself taught one off-campus class in Monticello.

"Our faculty quality is high for off-campus and evening classes, just as it

"Just Say No . . .

(Refusal Skills)

Yeah, Right!"

The following was taken from Teen Esteem by Dr. Pat Palmer and Melissa Froehner, copyright 1989.

It's 9 p.m. - bedtime for two-year-old Tommy. Tommy's mom says, "Pick up your blocks, honey. It's time to go to bed." Tommy shrieks, "No!" and promptly gets a swat on the behind and sent to his room for the night. His mom tells him, "You don't say no to me, young man! You do as you're told!"

Now Tommy turns 13, and all of a sudden his mom and dad are after him to "just say no" to sex, drugs, cigarettes, and behavior they don't approve of. Tom's had years of practice being polite, trying to do what he's told, but nobody ever told him how to say "no" to very cute and very popular Brenda, who she says, "You're so funny! I bet you're hilarious when you're high. Come on, let's go smoke a joint. I've got some great pot." Brenda's offer is pretty appealing to Tom for several reasons:

She's cute and he'd love to spend more time with her.

His friends would say he's crazy if he didn't go ("Look at her - she's totally hot! You're nuts, man!")

He'd love to be more popular and Brenda could help him.

She's complimented him - making it harder to refuse her.

Tom doesn't do drugs and doesn't want to start. He says "Pot might slow down this lightning wit. But if you think I'm funny now, you should see me with a face full of pizza!" I'll treat if you want to come with me for some.

Tom's lucky, he's got a good sense of humor and can use it to joke his way out of a situation. He's also offered a better idea, so he may still get together with Brenda.

Education does not stop during the summer for teachers

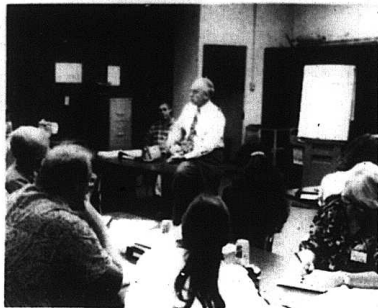

Summer is here, school is out, time for fun, sun and leisure!! This may have been true in years past and still true for some, but for educators in Rockcastle County and Kentucky, summer is a time to continue their education in professional development provided by the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE), Consortia, and local school districts.

During the past two summers, teachers have selected professional development sessions which would assist them in implementing aspects of KERA into their classrooms. Some teachers and administrators have been planning for the future by aligning the writing, reading, and math curriculum to that of Kentucky's six Learning Goals and, Seventy-five Learning Outcomes. The accompanying photos show various educators working during a recent curriculum alignment session at the Rockcastle County High School.

Rockcastle County High School teachers; Jennifer Mattingly, Bill Lynch, Ruth Allen, Iris Young and Nancy Busell discuss aligning the reading curriculum with the Kentucky curriculum framework. The results of the curriculum committees' work will be implemented in the areas of reading and math during the '93-'94 school year and the area of writing will continue improvement from the '92-'93 experiences.

Mr. Bige Towery, Superintendent of Rockcastle County Schools is speaking to the K-12 Reading/Math curriculum efforts in meeting the challenges brought about by KERA. Mr. Towery, told the group that the key educators in Rockcastle County were, "doing the right thing" in attempting to give students the best possible education we can offer.

We also need to thank God for our many friends. I have two that I keep in close contact with by phone. I think of them as my praying partners, they are Hallie Alexander and Mary Cope. They are so dear to me.

Tip Reppert of the Scaffold Cane area, who submitted to surgery recently, is improving very nicely. His family and relatives are all very thankful that he is doing well. We all love him.

Mrs. Mary Cope's recent guests have been her children, Helen Powell and Christine Barnett of Berea, Jean Hayes of Winchester and William Cope and wife Joyce of Eubank. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cope of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Eugene Alexander's birthday celebration July 18th was attended by his children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alexander, Courtney and Cody of Fairview; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davidson and children Jena and Jeremy of Brookhead and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and infant son (neighbors). Cake and ice cream were served. Eugene, we all wish you a coming year of good health and happiness.

I celebrated another birthday July 5 and wish to publicly thank everyone who sent cards, made phone calls, sent gifts and birthday wishes. I received 15 birthday cards. I love all my people and friends.

Kentucky summer and homemade ice cream

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Summers in Kentucky are hot, and nothing soothes the summer heat more than a bowl of homemade ice cream. The goal in making ice cream is to have a finished product with a smooth and consistent texture. Good quality ice cream should have a delicate, well blended flavor. This is why the ingredients used to make ice cream should be selected and prepared carefully.

To make 1 1/2 quarts of vanilla ice cream, use an ice cream freezer and these ingredients:

- 2 cups "half & half"
- 2 cups milk
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix these ingredients and pour into the ice cream freezer. Tightly fasten the freezer lid. Next, add ice and salt around the ice cream container. This ice draws heat from the mixture inside the can and causes the mixture to freeze and ice to melt. Add 1 cup of coarse salt for every 8 cups of crushed ice to increase melting and increase the temperature.

Once the container is prepared and secured, begin to churn the ice cream mixture continuously. If churning is interrupted, large ice crystals will form in part of the mixture that is the coldest, causing inconsistency and an undesirable texture.

This churning incorporates air into the mixture which makes the ice cream smooth and increases its final volume.

Because the churning should last twenty to thirty minutes, taking turns with friends and family can make it lots of fun. However, there are electric freezers that churn automatically.

Once the mixture is mushy, remove the churning paddle and wipe the ice and salt away from the top of the container.

Repack ice and salt around the container and plug the hole in the container lid with a cork or crumpled wax paper. Then replace the lid and allow the mixture to ripen. After 20 minutes of ripening, the ice cream will become thick and ready to eat.

For chocolate ice cream, boil and cool 2 teaspoons cocoa, 4 teaspoons sugar and 1/2 cup of water and stir into ice cream just before freezing. For fruit or nut flavors, add 1/4 cup chopped nuts or 1/2 cup crushed fruit at any time during the freezing process.

For more information on freezing, ripening, storing, or preparing ice cream, contact the County Extension Office at 256-2403.

Beginning August 1, GTE is implementing million dollar revenue reduction package

Beginning Aug. 1, GTE is implementing a $6 million revenue reduction package. According to Sumpter Logan, vice president and general manager, the package will reduce rates in the GTE Kentucky (Contel) exchanges as well as lower specific rates in GTE South exchanges.

For GTE Kentucky (Contel) customers, this means that most residential one-party customers will see lower rates for basic local service as well as the removal of mileage charges.

GTE Kentucky (Contel) multi-line business customers will see a reduction in their rates while single-line business rates will remain the same.

For GTE South customers, zone charges will be reduced and eliminated over a three-year period. These charges were paid by customers who lived outside the more densely populated center of the exchange. Due to improvements in technology and the use of remote call switching equipment, GTE can remove zone charges and equalize rates charge across an exchange said Logan.

"The reduction in rates is a continuation of our merger activities," Logan added. "This is an excellent opportunity for us to lower GTE Kentucky's (Contel) rates to mirror GTE South's rates and improve our operational efficiency. We see this as a very positive sign for the customer as well as the company. Whenever we are able to reduce rates and costs, it is good news for everyone."

According to Logan, GTE has been able to reduce costs by utilizing more efficient operations.

"We are very pleased at the speed with which we have been able to introduce greater efficiencies into our operations, while at the same time continuing to install the most advanced technology and services possible," he said.

GTE has introduced advanced switching services such as Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, and 3-Way Calling in many areas of Kentucky. In addition, GTE was the first local exchange telephone company to introduce the Service Performance Guarantee. The service guarantee or repair commitment is residential customers a $25 credit and business customers a $100 credit.

GTE, a leader in the telecommunications industry, provides service to over 77,000 customers in the GTE Kentucky (Contel) exchanges and more than 445,000 total customers in the state.

SCC receives major grant from U.S. Department of Education

Somerset Community College students will benefit from a new Student Support Services Program, funded by the U.S. Department of Education for a four-year period beginning in August, 1993.

SCC President Dr. Rollin J. Watson says funding for the first year of this project will be $170,000. Similar funding is expected each year through 1997. The Student Support Services Program will provide personnel to help students succeed in their college courses and graduate from the college.

"For years SCC has offered tutoring and support through writing and mathematics centers," Dr. Watson noted, "but the level of funding in the Community College System has been so low that we have been unable to expand our services to keep up with enrollment growth. With the SSS grant, we will be able to do a better job in serving more students."

Counselors, instructors and tutors provided through the Student Support Services Program will serve students based on their need for academic advice, supplemental instruction and tutoring in subjects necessary for success beyond high school, and information about career and educational options available to them. "For example," Dr. Watson said, "more than half of SCC students now are aged 35 or older and come to college in the evening.

This new program will help the student who had high school algebra, biology and English several years ago and now is walking into college-level courses. Preference will be given to students who are the first generation in their families to attend college, to students from low-income families, and to students who have gaps in their educational background and preparation for college.

Watson says that some of the new services will be made available through specially designed classes that will close the gaps created when students have been out of school for several years. Such classes will be available at the Somerset campus and also for students who need the classes in Laurel, McClary and other counties where SCC offers classes.

President Watson says this grant is the latest in what has been a banner year for SCC. "Our college's entire structure of grant-funded programs is increasing," he said. "We recently learned that the funding level of our Transitional Support Services Program has been increased to $55,000 next year — and in addition we will have a new scholarship program for students coming into college out of the Transitional Support Services Program. These are mostly displaced homemakers and single parents who really need scholarships for college."

"We are also very proud of the leadership program for high school students — LEAD — funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission, our Destination Graduation Program, and other programs that have been funded by agencies to help SCC reach out to the community with new and better services," Watson said. "This year for the second straight year we had a JTPA program for our associate degree nursing students through a grant awarded by the Lake Cumberland Area Development District, and for the second straight year 100 percent of these students graduated from SCC and are going to work at hospitals and health agencies in Southern Kentucky."

President Watson says that many faculty and staff at SCC deserve credit for the higher level of program funding and achievement. "However, one major difference has been the employment of Stewart Phillips at SCC in 1991. His experience in grant proposal writing has given our college strength and competitiveness we have not had before." Phillips wrote the Student Support Services Program proposal. He has worked with a number of colleges and universities and has been successful in obtaining $35,000,000 in grants for these institutions.

Local teacher participates in ECU summer writing project -- A Rockcastle County teacher was among 20 central and southeastern Kentucky educators participating in the seventh annual Eastern Kentucky University Writing project. The project, funded by grants from the Kentucky Department of Education and its parent National writing project, allows teachers to attend an intensive six-week course that details new and effective writing strategies for the classroom. One of the goals of the Kentucky Education Reform Act is to improve students' writing skills across the curriculum. At center is Florence Winstead of Rockcastle County surrounded by the project co-directors, Dr. Charles Whitaker, associate professor in ECU's Department of English, and Julie Whitaker, an English teacher at Madison Southern High School.

Local health/physical education teacher learns how KERA relates to his field at ECU Seminar -- Area health physical education teachers gathered at Madison Middle School recently for a two-day seminar on implementing the Kentucky Education Reform Act through health-related fitness and skill development. The seminar, sponsored by the Educational Excellence Consortium headquartered at Eastern Kentucky University, attracted one Rockcastle County teacher.
