

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

Summer is rapidly moving along and here it is time for school to begin. We have had several activities for the children this summer and I hope they have enjoyed using the library while on vacation.

There will be a library exhibit at the Rockcastle County High School, Thursday the 19th. We want to present some material to all faculty members and let them know that the Rockcastle County Public Library is available to assist the teachers and students with assignments special books, etc.

We have applied for a grant to purchase new non-fiction books that will aid the students with their home work. Just this summer we have purchased a 20 volume set of books entitled "Isaac Asimov's Libraries of the Universe".

We, here at the library, want to be a part in helping the young people get a good education. I feel our county is making tremendous improvements in the education field.

We don't want the general public to feel that we are neglecting them. We constantly are updating the adult materials as well as the juvenile. We have new fiction and non-fiction books, large print books, videos, audio tapes, magazines, The Mt. Vernon Signal, Lexington Herald-Leader, interlibrary loans for those patrons wanting materials that are not available in our library and many other services for our library.

We will be giving you the date soon for the next Adult Reading Group meeting. This should be both an entertaining and informative session. We hope several of you will be able to attend. A survey sheet is available at the check-out desk in the library for you to give us some input on these meetings such as time, books to discuss, and etc.

Two new fiction books that are available are: Vanished by Danielle Steel. With Vanished, her thirty-first best-selling novel, Danielle Steel brings to life the story of a man and woman faced with an almost unthinkable tragedy—the mysterious abduction of their young son.

In the late 1930s, in the shadow of the Lindbergh kidnapping, and as war looms in Europe, Marnelle Patterson shares her life with her husband, Malcolm, and their little boy Teddy. But their lives are filled with secrets.

On the eve of little Teddy's disappearance, Marnelle runs into her first love, Charles Delaney, and when Teddy is kidnapped, Charles is first blamed, then arrested.

The question are inevitable: Who kidnapped Teddy Patterson? Did Charles Delaney? Someone else? Did Marnelle conspire with them? Is the child dead or alive? Does Malcolm, the boy's father, have secrets of his own? John Taylor becomes obsessed with mother and child, and finding the elusive answers.

Vanished is an intriguing tale of guilt, desire and suspense, and one people won't easily forget, as they are drawn together, seeking the child that... vanished.

Bridey's Mountain by Yvonne Adamson. Ms. Adamson weaves the emotional story of four generations of women, beginning with Norma, the beautiful young Irish bride who comes to the mining town of Telluride and refuses to tell anyone about her past, not even the man who will eventually claim her heart. Her daughter, Bridey, for whom the mountain is named, will pass it down as a legacy to future generations of daughters until finally, Ariana will claim it as her own. Little does Ariana know of the tumultuous history surrounding this dazzling peak in the Colorado Rockies, nor of the extraordinary love story that is the reason for her inheritance. Only when developers threaten to turn her beloved mountain into a ski resort will Ariana fight to preserve her mother's mountain, and her mother's before her, and in the process discover just how Bridey's Mountain has become a symbol for eternal love. Because of her grandmother's gift, Ariana, too, will discover the power of true love.

A new non-fiction book is The Last Brother by Joe McGinniss. In The Beloved Brother, Mr. McGinniss brings to startling and disturbing life, the childhood, the brief triumph, and the long downward slide of the last Kennedy brother... and exposes, as never before, the chilling reality behind the gleaming facade of America's First Dysfunctional Family, as well as the terrible cost of Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's dark ambitions for his children—even the last and least of them.

His book focuses in particular on the extraordinary sixteen, a decade that begins in glory for the family with Jack's ascension to the presidency, and ended after the murders of Jack and Robert, the tragedy at Chappaquiddick, and their father's death with Teddy, the last brother, standing alone in the rubble of Camelot.

Searing, yet strangely moving and even sympathetic, The Last Brother presents a detailed, tragic portrait of a man at war with himself, doomed to live in the shadow of his brothers, trapped in the glorious but hollow Kennedy myth, longing—but unable to escape.

Youth Yak, by J.S. Ponder

RGHS freshman Orientation Day held Thursday, August 5

Freshman Orientation Day this year at RGHS made a step up from the usual serious affair to become a festive event. In collaboration efforts between the school, counselors, and Youth Services Center, students and their parents were offered a day to have fun as well as receive schedules and information.

The morning of August 5th began with an assembly which gave basic information on a myriad of topics. Speakers included administrators, teachers, counselors and upper classmen. Throughout the day door prizes were given as names were drawn and students received everything from school supplies and t-shirts to clock radios. At 11 a.m. the group received their fall schedules and then toured the building to familiarize themselves with their classrooms. After lunch, which was provided by Youth Services, games and activities were offered in the gym.

This year for the first time freshman parents, the entire teaching staff and administrators were invited to attend. This change was made in an ongoing effort to create good, comfortable relationships between all those involved in the lives of the students.

The entire day proved to be successful, informative and fun. The entire staff at RGHS welcomes you, as parents and community members, to become involved in your school. This can be done in many ways from volunteering your extra time to simply communicating with your child's teachers. Judging from orientation day, incoming freshmen are eager, excited and enthusiastic!

Some speakers who were on the agenda to share with the freshmen were (from left), Superintendent Bige Towy, counselor Dale Whitaker, RGHS Principal Ronnie Cash and Transportation Director Glen VanWinkle.

Looking over their upcoming schedules are Tina Renfro, Heather Smith and Holly Norton.

breakfast or lunch will be served the first day. Buses will operate. Information regarding meal prices, fees, bus routes, insurance, schedules, etc. will be given to students at this time. Please take a few moments to review this information with your child.

Our building has undergone a partial renovation during the summer. The changes added new vigor to the old building. Mark McKinney, our principal, deserves lots of credit for the many, many long hours spent this summer facilitating the effort. We appreciate the help of our custodians, Jackie Lawrence, Bill Melcher, and Paul Hale.

Please mark your calendar now for school picture day - Monday, August 30. Remind your child to wear a smile!

We welcome three new staff members to our middle school department - Debbie Noe Mobley, Janice Acton Huff and Gayle Taylor Scoggin. Janice, who will be teaching math, graduated from Eastern Kentucky University and resides in Somerset with her three year old daughter, Dakota.

Gayle, a graduate of EKV, is married to Dale Scoggin and live in the Ottawa section of the county with three children, Jason, Ashley and Kacey. Gayle will be teaching science.

A Class Act!

Mrs. Loretta Dillingham of Mt. Vernon, a Home Economics teacher at Rockcastle County High School was honored recently at the WTVQ Channel 36 "Class Act" awards dinner held at the Lafayette Club in Lexington. Loretta Dillingham is pictured with John Lindgren of T.V. 36 News who was the speaker at the dinner. Mrs. Dillingham was selected last fall as a "Class Act" teacher. Channel 36 News visited the high school to interview and film Mrs. Dillingham in the classroom. The segment was then aired on the "Class Act" portion of the Channel 36 News. To receive this award a teacher must be nominated as a "Class Act" then selected from numerous candidates. This award is sponsored by WTVQ Channel 36 to recognize outstanding teachers in central Kentucky.

Debbie Mobley has previous teaching experience at MVES and resides on Copper Creek Road with her husband, Johnny and their three sons, Jon Anthony, Aaron and Jonathan.

Monday, September 6, school will be dismissed in observance of Labor Day.

Livingston Link

As a new school year approaches, Mr. Carter, faculty, and staff extend a warm and sincere welcome to new and returning students and their parents. In preparation for the first day of school, no where has the excitement and spirit of cooperation been felt more than at LES.

Mission Statement
The mission of Livingston Elementary School is to instill a love of learning that will help all students reach their potential. We believe that preparing students for life is the most important reason for our work.

Meeting the Goals of Reform
Kentucky Education Reform has brought about many changes. A focus on real-life learning and assessment is at the very heart of reform. We are working very hard to provide the best education possible for all students. Please encourage your child to be prepared for school each day and to do his very best. Helping your child at home with homework, school projects, and other school related activities can help instill a love of learning. We need your help and support to make this school year our best ever. Livingston Elementary School has set the following goals for the 1993-94 school year:

- Writing Portfolios - Proficient 25%; Apprentice 50%
- Math - Proficient 25%; Apprentice 50%
- Reading - Proficient 25%; Apprentice 50%
- Science - Proficient 25%; Apprentice 50%
- Social Studies - Proficient 25%; Apprentice 50%
- Attendance - 97.5%

Teacher Training
Throughout the summer, teachers have received training in preparing thematic units, scoring portfolios, and using technology. On Thursday, August 19, school personnel will attend a presentation featuring Dr. Larry Lezotte, a renowned expert in the area of Outcome-Based Education.

Tiger Pause

Welcome back to Tiger Pause. Hope you've had an enjoyable and productive summer.

We appreciate the Mt. Vernon Signal for providing this space each week.

Your child will be starting school, Monday, August 23 and meeting their teachers in the classroom where they will be spending a considerable amount of time each day. Please get to know their teachers and learn what is going on in each class, as well as what is expected of the students and what help is available to them. At the same time, the teachers will get to know you. We hope this will lead to the type of communication where parent and teacher and administration become a functioning unit with one single purpose, to help your son or your daughter.

Please become involved by joining PTA (which meets the second Thursday of each month) and have input into your child's school by attending the SBDM (School Based Decision Making) Council, which meets every first Tuesday.

Your time and talents are needed to enhance and enrich this year's educational program in your child's class. Jim Ward, Parent Volunteer-coordi-

Things you should know about RCHS

Attention

Parents of Rockcastle Co. High School Students

The 1993-94 school year will soon begin as students start classes on Monday, August 23, 1993. The administration and staff at Rockcastle County High School are looking forward to a successful year for all students. Following are some guidelines to provide both parents and students assistance in helping make this a great year at RCHS.

- 1 Lockers are provided for the students at a cost of $7 per year. Locks are included in that cost. Only brothers or sisters may share lockers. Sale of lockers will be the first full day of school (Tuesday, Aug. 24).
- 2 School insurance is available but optional. Athletes, physical education students and those in shop are encouraged to purchase the policy. The cost is $8 per year for coverage at school, $44 for the 24 hour coverage, $49 for the 24 hour coverage plus the dental policy.
- 3 Textbooks are free to all students but any damage to book or lost book must be paid for.
- 4 Students should dress modestly. (See dress code).
- 5 Student drivers must register their vehicles in the office. The cost is $10 per vehicle per year for stickers.
- 6 Students are responsible for any damage they do to school property.
- 7 Students are not permitted to bring to school visitors of any age.
- 8 Students should be at school for homeroom by 8:05. Excess-tardiness is subject to disciplinary action. (See tardy policy).
- 9 Knives are not allowed on school grounds.
- 10 Parents are asked to pick up their children only by two classes to prevent interruptions. (See bell schedule). Students must be in class at least 30 minutes to be counted present for that class period.

Principal Ronnie Cash

Asst. Principal Jim Cox

Asst. Principal Connie Ham

Commonwealth Diploma now available

This year, two more RCHS teachers became certified to teach Advanced Placement (AP) courses making the school able for the first time to offer the Commonwealth Diploma to eligible students.

In order to receive the Commonwealth Diploma, a student must take at least four advanced placement courses and have a combined score of at least 8 on the AP exams at the end of the year.

If the students pass the AP exam, they may receive college credit.

RCHS now offers Advanced Placement courses in English, American History, Math and Spanish.

RCHS wants positive relationship

This year, the staff at Rockcastle County High School will be making an extra effort to promote positive home-school relations.

Teachers at the high school will be contacting, by phone or visit, parents or guardians of every student early in the year.

Parents may be happy to know that a computer-printed grade report for their child will be mailed to them this year at the end of each 6 weeks grading period.

As always, parents are encouraged to call or visit early in the year to talk with teachers about the student's progress.

Teachers will be available to conference with parents during their planning period or after school.

In addition to the grade report, parents of all seniors at RCHS will receive, by mail, a copy of each edition of the school newspaper The Rocket.

Community invited to Blue Room is for RCHS SBDM Meetings

The RCHS Site Based Council is a team of elected parents and teachers who determine how the school functions. All parents and teachers are encouraged to attend the meetings held on the fourth Monday of each month in the home ec. department from 6 to 8 p.m.

This year's members, in addition to Mr. Ronnie Cash, principal/charismatic parent, Tom Kelly and Ronnie Sears, parents, Ruth Allen, Charles Norris and Connie Riddle, teachers.

Blue Room is for rule breakers

The Blue Room is a special room where students can be sent for disciplinary reasons. Soft music is played as students sit in isolation and do assignments from the regular classroom.

Students are not permitted to talk or break between classes. Lunch is brought to them if they are assigned to the Blue Room all day or during the lunch period (4th period).

DON'T FORGET...

Some absences require a doctor's excuse. If students are absent on six weeks or semester test days, a doctor's excuse is required in order for the student to be allowed to make up the test.

The same ruling applies to certain other days when students are given tests just before a break (a vacation such as Thanksgiving).

Attendance and Make-Up Work Policies

Realizing student attendance and achievement are interwoven, the attendance committee makes the following recommendations:

1. After a student has missed six days in one semester, all other days will be unexcused and the possibility of failure for the semester is probable unless the following guidelines are met.

A. If a student misses more than 6 days in one semester, the student and parents will meet with the attendance committee to determine if make-up work will be permitted.

1. The attendance committee will be made up of 3 teachers who share a common planning period and 1 principal.
2. The committee will determine if absences over 6 are excused or unexcused for make-up. They will respond in writing no later than 2 school days after the meeting. The decision will be mailed to the parents.
3. A copy of all correspondence will remain in the student's folder.

B. It is the responsibility of the student/parent to establish a time through the Principal or Assistant Principal(s) and that meeting will be during planning period or immediately after school.

C. If no attempt is made within two weeks, all excuses will be considered unexcused and no make-up will be permitted.

D. Students who miss all or any part of a day must get an excuse from the office prior to homeroom. If the student enters class with no excuse, teachers will not permit the student to leave class and will determine the absence to be unexcused.

E. Students who are more than ten minutes late to class will be considered absent for that class and will receive no credit unless approved by the Principal.

F. If a student has missed any class more than 6 times, that student must address the committee to get prior approval for additional excused absences.

II. Make-up Work:

Students will be permitted make-up work with excused absences only.

- A. Students will have equal number of days absent to make-up work. Example: Miss one day - Have one day for make-up etc...
- B. If a teacher has previously assigned deadlines for work (syllabus), the work is due on the return day. Variations of this policy must be approved by each teacher involved.
 - It is recommended each teacher prepare and distribute a general syllabus for each grading period.
- C. No class time will be lost due to assigning or explaining make-up work. Each teacher will devise his/her own system to do this. It is recommended to use time after/before class such as, lunch or break time, to get work.
- D. After 6 days absent, teachers are expected to withhold all make-up work until the committee makes a ruling. No make-up work shall be done if the committee rules unexcused.
- E. Students who exceed 6 days absent and are in the appeals process, may do make-up work with the understanding that it will not count if the committee rules absences are unexcused.

Smoking/Use of Tobacco Products for RCHS

July, 1993

Due to the Surgeon General's published reports and various other studies, public concern for proven health hazards associated with tobacco products and to comply with KEFA (Goal #5) the Rockcastle County SBDM Council enacted the following policy prohibiting tobacco use on school grounds at Rockcastle County High School.

It is recommended that all certified and classified school employees conform to the following regulations which will ensure that a positive example be set for students in Rockcastle County High School.

In order to create an environment that is healthy for all students and staff alike the following new regulations will be implemented.

- A. Students will not have in their possession or use tobacco products anywhere on school grounds.
- B. The following disciplinary measures will be used in dealing with violators:
 1. First offense (use or possession): Tobacco products will be confiscated and warning to student. Parents and guardians will be called.
 2. Second offense (use or possession): Student will be required to participate in a program established by the Youth Service Center and parents/guardians will be called.
 3. Third offense - one day in-school suspension and parent/guardian will be called.
 4. Fourth offense - Three days in-school suspension and parent/guardian will be called in for a conference.
 5. Fifth offense - Alternative school for a minimum of six weeks or suspension from school for ten days. Parents called.
 6. Sixth offense - Suspended from school for three days. Parents called.
 7. Seventh offense - Suspended from school for ten days. Parents called.
 8. Eighth offense - Recommended expulsion for a semester.

Homeroom & Classroom Tardy Policy:

EXCUSED TARDIES are to be given only by one of the three principals.

4TH TARDY: Lunch Detention.

5TH TARDY: 1/2 Day in the BLUE ROOM plus parents will be called.

6TH TARDY: Full day in the BLUE ROOM and parents come to school.

7TH TARDY: ALTERNATIVE SCHOOL for 6 WEEKS and parents called.

*Homeroom tardies: Driving privileges taken away for 6 weeks.

Sixth Period Tardies: Tardy to sixth period will result in loss of break for 1 full week. The student will sit in with the 6th period teacher.

Loss of Afternoon Break

- The teacher has the right to keep students in for classroom violations.
- Number of days with loss of break is determined by the teacher.
- Should student fail to show up on assigned day, loss of break DOUBLES.
- After loss of break doubles and student still does not show up, the student will not be permitted to return to school unless accompanied by at least one parent. (No phone calls).
- Punishment must still be served.
- If a student refuses to sit in, student will be suspended for 8 days.

GRADING POLICY

Rockcastle County High School Grades on the following letter system:

92-100	A
82-91	B
70-81	C
60-69	D
59 - Below F

Honor Roll requirements are as follows:

1. You must have as many A's as "B's" (no grade lower than B)
2. Any subject for which credit is given will be counted.
3. If your grades are all A's, your name will be placed on the principal's list.

GRADE PERIODS AND REPORT CARDS

The school year is divided into six six-week grading periods. Three six-week periods constitute a semester. Two semesters constitute a year. Report cards are issued at the end of each grading period.

RCHS Dress Code

Dress code requirements apply to all students (male and female) and are to be followed during school hours. Exceptions are dress requirements for P.E. classes.

1. Shoes are required to be worn
2. Shorts (even those worn with leggings, etc.) skirts, dresses and shorts must be no shorter than three (3) inches above the knee.
3. No halter-top/dresses or off-the-shoulder clothing is permitted.
4. Students (girls or boys) are not permitted to wear sunglasses, hats or caps.
5. No muscle-tank top type shirts are permitted.
6. No clothing shall be permitted which promotes alcohol or drugs or which bears offensive language, pictures or signs.
7. All clothing must be properly buttoned, snapped or otherwise fastened.
8. See-through clothing, bare midriffs and clothing containing holes which show bare skin above the knee are prohibited as is any article of clothing considered indecent and/or distracting.

A committee, made up of students, teachers and parents, revising the dress code last year, recommended that any student violating the dress code be placed in the Blue Room. Students refusing this disciplinary action may be suspended.

Leger acquitted in son's death

By: Richard Anderkin

It took a Rockcastle Circuit Court Jury less than twenty minutes Tuesday morning to acquit a local woman of murder. Alfreda Lynn Leger, 29, of Mt. Vernon had been indicted for murder in connection with the death of her 2-1/2 year-old son, Cody Allen Leger, who died in April of 1991 after he was severely scalded with hot water.

Mt. Vernon police and the Fayette County Coroner's office brought charges against Leger 16 months after her son's death.

But, during a four day trial experts testified that with proper medical treatment Cody Leger would not have died from the burns he received. Experts testified that Leger actually died from dehydration, caused by the burns which covered over 65% of his body.

The experts testified that had an I.V. been given to Cody Leger at the time he was first taken to the hospital, he would have not died.

Prosecutor Paul Henderson told jurors during his closing argument that Alfreda Leger did not want her son because he was handicapped and he was keeping her from having a boyfriend. Henderson also told the jury that Leger told family members when she found out she was pregnant that she would harm the child. But, prosecutors were never able to place Leger at the scene of the scalding. And, defense attorney Jim Cox was quick to point out that the comment Leger made about her son, was on the day she found out she was pregnant and in the heat of an argument with a family member. "The only thing Alfreda did wrong was leave the child alone for a little while, while she went to the laundromat at her apartment complex," Cox told the jurors.

"It was obvious that the commonwealth did not have a case against Mrs. Leger," one juror said after the verdict.

"We are all just thankful that this is over with, now Cody can rest in peace," Alfreda Leger said.

Grand Jury asks Attorney General to investigate Shepherd shooting

By: Richard Anderkin

The Rockcastle County Grand Jury has asked the Kentucky Attorney General to investigate the shooting death of a Rockcastle County man last week.

Grand Jury foreman Gary Asher said Friday that the Grand Jury voted unanimously to seek an independent, special investigation into the shooting death of Gary Shepherd, 45, of Rt. 3 Broadhead. Shepherd was shot to death on Sunday August 8 at his home on Purr Rigby Road by members of the Kentucky State Police Special Response Team.

The Special Response Team was called to the scene by members of the Governor's Marijuana Task Force talked with Shepherd about some marijuana they had spotted growing near his mobile home. Police say that Shepherd told them they would have to kill him before they cut down his marijuana. Shepherd was shot around 5:45 p.m. He died a few minutes later at the Rockcastle Hospital, according to deputy coroner Roy Martin.

Coroner Bill Dowell said last week that he was considering a coroner's inquest in the shooting, but that will not be the case.

Deputy coroner Martin said Tuesday that an inquest is held only when there is a question about the cause of death. "There is no question in this case as to what killed Gary Shepherd," Martin said.

Gary Shepherd died from five gunshot wounds to the head and chest, according to the autopsy," Martin said. "We've completed our job," he said.

Weather report

A total of 3.45 inches of rain has fallen in Mt. Vernon since Aug. 1, figures Cox Funeral Home weather station show.

Most fell on Aug. 6 when 1.05 fell and 1.01 on Aug. 2. Other rainy days were .05 of an inch on Aug. 11, .31 of an inch on Aug. 12, .78 of an inch on Aug. 13, and .25 of an inch on Aug. 14.

The last reporting date was Tuesday, Aug. 17.

Two car crash

A two car crash at Wendy's Restaurant in North Mt. Vernon Sunday resulted in injuries to the occupants.

According to a Mt. Vernon police report, Kellie Allen of Orlando was leaving Wendy's on U.S. 25 when her car was struck by a car driven by Michelle McFerron.

Ms. Allen said a tractor-trailer was parked along the road and blocked her view, police proceeded. She did not report injuries.

The McFerron car proceeded across the road and overturned. His passengers, Bill (Herbert) McFerron and William (Melvin) Doan were injured.

School Board gets several needed items donated

The proposed baseball/softball complex at the new high school got a shot in the arm recently with the donation of some expensive work procured by a sports fan in the county.

Finance Officer Richard Bray told the school board at their regular monthly meeting last week that Jim Bussell, who works for the state Division of Reclamation, had obtained the services of a grader and operator for site preparation for the baseball/softball field from a coal company. A local man, Jerry Hamm, is vice president of the company which will provide the equipment and operator for the work. Bray also said that Bussell had managed to get the drainage work donated to the board. Another aid in the field's preparation is the fact that the engineering work for the elevations will be done by board member C.D. Mullins also gratis.

Mr. Bray said the gratis work, including seeding the area, amounted to between $50,000 and $75,000 for the board and would allow work to progress farther along than expected since a great deal of the $100,000 the board had included in the budget for phase I of the project could now be used on other areas of the site.

Under the same item of business, Bray reported that the process is underway to rid the site of a gas well. The owners have been given 10 days to remove lines to the well before it is filled with concrete and capped. The well is used as a back-up well for the sewing factory.

The board accepted donation of the site work on the baseball/softball field.

Another item which helped the board financially was a request from the Broadhead Elementary School PTA to donate wiring/cabling and/or equipment for the Technology Program at BES.

Supt. Bige Towery told the board of the offer and recommended the board's approval as along as all items comply with KETS (Kentucky Education Technology Systems) standards.

The board approved the donation and expressed their appreciation to the PTA.

Board member C.D. (Doug) Mullins informed the board of an offer by the local Quarterback Club to furnish one-half the cost of a sprinkler system for the football field at RCHS.

The estimated cost of the project is $5,000 and Mullins said that members of the club had offered to pay half this cost and any other costs attendant to the project which might run the total cost over $5,000.

The work was expected to begin shortly and the system be in place for use this fall.

With the sprinkler system, the field will be seeded after each game and watered, thereby alleviating the problem of several bare spots now a part of the field.

The board was not quite as fortunate financially with their JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act) funds.

Last week the school system got $84,115 for operation of two pro-

Members of Shepherd's family and many of his friends were outraged by the shooting, which they think was unnecessary, and they are happy about the local grand jury's decision. But they are still somewhat skeptical when it comes to one branch of government investigating another.

"I'm glad the grand jury has asked for the investigation, but I don't think

Marines wanted

DeL'E Ponder is looking for a few good men, namely former Marines from Rockcastle.

He wants them to meet Brig. Gen. Thurman Owens who will be Grand Marshal for Livingston Homecoming Parade on Sept. 4.

All ex-Marines are invited to meet the general and exchange stories or simply say hello.

But Ponder doesn't know how many Marines there are in Rockcastle or how to find them.

Former Marines can telephone Ponder at 453-4341. He wants to hear from them.

Mason fire chief

David Mason has been chosen fire chief at Livingston replacing Jerry Mink who retired Aug. 6.

Sam Staffenorth was chosen assistant chief. Dennis Elliott was elected lieutenant, and Tim Cameron, chaplain.

The vote was by the firemen of Livingston Volunteer Fire Department.

it is enough," said Bill Shepherd, Gary's brother. "We are still circulating our petition, which has thousands of signatures and we also have the support of the Vietnam Veteran's association," Shepherd said. "We intend to see that this terrible shooting is investigated completely," Shepherd said. "They simply murdered my crippled brother," Shepherd said.

Mary Jane Jones, Shepherd's companion, who witnessed the shooting with their four-year-old son Jacob, said Wednesday that she was staying silent in the matter and that her main concern was for her three children. "I have an 18-year-old, ten-year-old and four-year-old, who are trying to cope with this tragedy," she said. "My main concern is for my children right now," she said.

"I know exactly what happened that day and when it is time for me to tell the truth about what happened, I will," she said.

Kentucky State Police are conducting an internal investigation into the shooting and say they welcome any other independent investigation.

KSP Capt. Randy Brewer told the Lexington Herald-Leader Wednesday that state police have "no problem" with an independent investigation. "The Kentucky State Police has nothing to hide," Brewer said.

Ed Lynch, a spokesman for the attorney general's office, said the office received a letter Tuesday asking for the independent review. "We are currently considering the request," he told the Herald-Leader.

No coroner's inquest will be held in the case

Bill Shepherd said Wednesday that a Cincinnati radio station is planning a benefit concert for "The Jake Foundation," a trust fund that will benefit Shepherd's child, Jacob Jones.

"We have gotten great support for our cause, and we intend to see that Gary's death was not in vain," Bill Shepherd said. Shepherd said that his family is also retaining an attorney to represent them.

Tobacco banned at RCHS

For the past several years, students at RCHS have been permitted two smoke breaks during the school day. However, when classes start this fall, students and staff will have to adjust to a new tobacco-free environment.

The new policy, approved by the RCHS Site Based Council, also strongly recommends that all certified and classified school employees conform to the student regulation which bans tobacco products and tobacco use anywhere on school grounds.

According to Ronnie Cash, principal, "We have been one of the few schools anywhere in Kentucky still allowing students to smoke at school."

He said the Surgeon General's published reports and various other health studies documenting the harmful effects of tobacco use can no longer be ignored. "One of the goals of KERA is to remove all barriers to learning," Cash said, and "smoking is definitely a health barrier."

"We must be concerned with the total health and welfare of students as we prepare them for the future," he said.

Cash thinks it is inconsistent to teach students about the latest scientific findings concerning their health and tobacco and then allow them a time and place to use it.

According to Mr. Cash, students have told him (in letters to him last year as a class assignment in English) that they feel that by providing a smoke break, the school is actually encouraging students to smoke.

In an article in the school newspaper The Rocket last year discussing the proposed ban, transfer students at RCHS admitted that when they first arrived at RCHS (from Texas, Ohio and Boone and Nicholas Counties in Kentucky) they were shocked to learn that smoking was allowed at RCHS. At their schools it had not been.

When I was in grade school back in the late fifties/early sixties, one of the first assignments at the beginning of the school year would involve writing an essay about what I'd done on my summer vacation.

I could have kept the same paper and handed it in year after year. Hood corn and beans, pickled corn and beans, helped mom can stuff and spent a week worrying the life out of Uncle Jim and Aunt Alpha who lived right beside the Kentucky River. Aunt Alpha worried that I'd drown and Uncle Jim worried that he'd not have any fishing tackle left in the working condition. Uncle Jim used to tell his neighbors that I could tear up an annvil in less than ten minutes.

Except for that week at my kin-folks though, I would have gotten much more enjoyment out of life had school not closed at all.

Because what my Mom called a garden is currently called a vegetable farm in the Bluegrass. Mom thought it necessary to put up several hundred quart and half gallon jars of vegetables. Seventy-five jars of kumquat was about right, two hundred cans of beans, and half as much corn, tomatoes, beets, mixed pickles, sweet pickles, relish, blackberry and strawberry jam, apples and apple butter, peaches and peach preserves, pears, cherries, several variations of jelly and like that. She even canned carrots and sweet potatoes.

On top of that we had several big four gallon crocks to pickle corn on the cob, beans and cucumbers. By the time school started every container on the place would be full of something we could eat in the coming winter. And there would be sacks full of shucky beans and reid apples.

To make a long story short, a small army could have gotten through the winter on Mom's canning effort alone. She put up about three times as much as we could eat, so every year, just after school went out, I'd get to spend a couple of days emptying the stuff we hadn't eaten so she could start over.

We generally had a couple or three hogs fattening so the surplus didn't exactly go to waste but there are considerably more efficient ways to put weight on a hog than canning stuff for it.

We also fed a lot of leftover canned stuff to the chickens. I remember finding a whole crock of pickled corn that we had somehow overlooked during the winter. Normally corn was one thing that you couldn't over do at canning time because the whole family loved it. However, pickled corn would get too strong to eat after a few months. Anyway, I dumped the whole crock full out in a trough beside the chicken house and they went after it like turkeys after tater bugs.

A few minutes later I was headed back with another load of whatever and I noticed that the chickens were having trouble standing up. Some of them were already on their backs sort of feebly scratching at the sky and their eyes were rolling back in their heads. I panicked and went yelling for Mom.

She took one look and concluded that they were poisoned. We went to shooting the chickens still standing away from the feeder and gathering up the corn they hadn't eaten. She made me dig a hole to bury it in and then scrub my hands in strong clorox water to get the poison off.

There must have been a dozen or more chickens on the ground and we were figuring out where to bury them until we got to noticing that not a single one seemed to be plumb dead. They looked lifeless, but when we'd pick one up it would still wiggle a little or make a little squawk, so we gathered them up and put them in the shade under a huge old walnut tree mom speculated that some of them might live.

I went back to check on them every half hour or so and after a bit, sure enough, one by one, they started to come around. By the time Dad got home from work they were almost all up staggering around, bumping into each other and falling again. In fact, a couple of roosters were crowing as fast as they could catch their breath but they still looked pretty sick to me.

We told Dad the story and he grabbed one of the chickens up and sniffed around it several times or two. He went to laughing and informed us that there was nothing to worry about. He said the chickens would be fine as soon as they got over their headaches.

Then he wanted to know if any of the corn was still around. If it would make chickens that drunk that fat, he figured he'd like to have a shot or two himself.

Mom, on the other hand never picked corn on the cob again.

I wish that in my teens I had learned to dance—wicked though it was for Baptists, who have historically opposed it. After all, a dance got the head of John the Baptist—our eponymous prophet—served to Herod on a platter! Baptists are quick to note that biblical references favoring the dance are all in the "Old Bible" (the Old Testament) and thus are not binding on believers—except, of course, tithing and holy war.

So beloved Uncle Ben, my mother's brother. He was pastor of the Lockland Baptist Church in greater Cincinnati in the thirties and forties, the largest congregation in the city at that time. He preached every Sunday on WLW, and Momma rarely missed hearing him. He denounced drinking and dancing with the zeal of a Crusader after a Muslim. (At birth he was named Benjamin Hillard, but after "surrendering to preach," he changed the spelling to Hillard, saying a man of God ought not have "hell" in his name.)

When I was a teenager, dancing was more sinful than it is today. Along with drinking, smoking, and "parking," it ranked near the top of the Baptist Tablet of Ten Tremendously Terrible Teenage Transgressions. And for generations of Baptists before me dancing often meant excommunication. (Actually, Baptists prefer to say "churched." "Excommunication" sounds "Catholic.") ings, dated in the thirties. One entry noted that a certain member was "churched" because she continued to play the piano for Saturday night dances in Brodhead after being duly exhorting by the pastor, deacons, and other brethren and sisters.

Dancing was banned in the school building where I put in twelve years. A sizeable sum of money was given to erect that edifice with the stipulation that there be no dancing. That edict was bent a bit, however, when we had our Halloween carnival and Sue Gail Bussell tap-danced up a storm in Miss Ruth's "Night Club." Bu, it wasn't a female and male dancing together. I also recall seeing J.G. Machal, a grown man, do some fancy footwork on the stage at the end of the gymnasium.

In the Mt. Vernon of the fifties, dancing took place at house parties. But just a decade or so prior, local Freds and Gingers did the two-shoe in the downstairs restaurant of the Rockcastle Hotel on Saturday night and before that in the skating rink basement of the Baker Building on the corner of Main and Church. If, however, you wanted to be high falutin' and trip the light fantastic, you made your way to Crab Orchard Springs, where elite dance bands performed.

I never attended dances because my domestic, religious indocrination

We were in Mt. Vernon last week and stopped at Billy Hiatt's 5 and 10 Store, which always has interesting ads in the Signal, once before he told his clerks not to say anything before me that they didn't want put in the paper but this time he was glad to have me write about Wilde, where he was born and raised. He is as loyal to Wilde as Editor Anderkin is to Mt. Vernon.

Billy told me there was a committee appointed with himself as chairman to plan a Wilde Centennial Celebration on September 3rd, 4th and 5th in the community.

A new clerk, Margaret Kirby, had been hired in the store to replace the one who had retired recently. Her father, Billy Kirby, was an ex-jailer and ex-sheriff.

I hope we can go through Wilde one day anyway.

Hiatt and his committee ought to have an old fashioned "Kissing Booth" to make money for the festival.

There are a lot of pretty girls in Wilde who could fill the bill all right. But their boy friends might not want them to sell kisses for $1.

Even John and Cecil Abney on Lower Clear Creek got interested.

Now Cecil, who is a bachelor, could kiss all day if he had the money to buy them, but I'll make sure John doesn't have any money by presenting to his post-pocket at night when he's asleep.

Wife Parsons is the fellow who can go to the "Kissing Booth" and leave about broke.

John and I have a wedding anniversary on September 6th. He has already given me a present for it he forgot one year and that I didn't hush until six months later about it.

We saw a water fountain with a small girl sitting on the edge of a concrete bowl while water pours from a pitcher that she is holding. I have always wanted one so here was my chance and John went ahead and bought it. I love to hear the water splashing.

I send words of sympathy to the family of William Malcote who passed away at the age of 91, in Berea.

Bill had been a relative of my dad and me through marriage and we felt close to him. He was such a good man to his family.

Maxine, his wife, suffered through several months of worry and illness.

The fatal illness slowly drained life forbade such. (Momma got a lot of "practical theology" from Uncle Ben's teachings.) I had not danced because I was a teenage preacher. Dancing was an abomination for a Baptist cleric.

Still, I wanted to dance. One afternoon, while loafing at the Greyhound Bus Station, I put some change in the juke box and punched in a Georgia Gibbs hit. Caught up in the tune, I unconsciously let my feet and frame move to Georgia's cadence. (Had on blue suede shoes, too. Honest. Swear to God and hope to die!) Tommy Gay, the terminal manager, interrupted my reverie. "Hey, John Norman," he said, vocal enough to be heard in Hummel. "Thought preachers weren't supposed to dance?" Was I embarrassed?

I did have a few dance lessons—during a youth revival—in Jenkins, Kentucky in August of '55. I was the evangelist and stayed in the home of a deacon named Baumgardner, who had two sweet daughters about my age. They were allowed to dance, and the older of them was determined to dance with me. So, every night after services, Pat had me imagine patterns on the carpet and showed me how to move around them. I was stiff at the start, but by week's end she declared I was "a natural."

I never did anything with that training until I attended a Baptist College. Many were the times then and later when I yearned to dance but couldn't because I was a person. Just last fall a top-notch band played at the MVHS annual reunion. I almost took Nancy out to dance with me, but refrained because I was afraid I'd look like a three-footed nophyte.

Some dances I wouldn't dare try! If I can throw my back out of whack just bending over to feed my cats, I'd end up in traction doing modern maneuvers. And, let's face it, some dancing is just too lewd to do. But slow dancing I could handle.

It irks me now and then that I was not tallowed to dance, as were some of my friends at the Christian Church in Mt. Vernon. Why, had it not been for their hard line on the soul-saving efficacy of water and works, I might have made my membership!

No, I take that back. I was also fearful that Uncle Ben would drive down, pronounced a curse on me, bind me in chains, and cast me into the Pit of Pongo for a thousand years. Or worse, Momma, rather than see me become a dancer and a "Campbellite," would have implored Michael, the archangel, to draw his flaming, two-edged sword and carve me into twelve heapin' baskets of barbecued vulture viscerals.

When I get to heaven—What! You think I won't?— intend to have a celestial chat with Momma and Uncle Ben about dancing. I'll explain to them that studying music (piano, trumpet, and a little fiddle) generated my hankering to hoof it, that the great King David "danced before the Lord" (known then as the "Jerusalem Shuffle"), that dancing can be a thing of beauty, and exercise, even an expression of praise, as Psalm 150 recommends.

"I'll still object, but I'll stand my cloud and tell them they shouldn't have been so intolerant, that I was a "natural," that my penchant for promouncing was heaven-sent, and that I surely would have been a contestant on television's "Dance Fever" or "American Bandstand." Like Brando, in his role of a boxer sold out by his manager, I'll say "Why? Momma! Why? Uncle Ben! I was good! I couldn't be a contendaht!" On the other hand, dancing may not matter "over there"—as will likely be the case with a slew of other issues over which we fret, fume, and fight each other "here below"—issues that likely didn't come from up there, though we tell ourselves they did.

A one-and-dw-two-and-dw... Bye now!

"Roamin' Rockcastle"

away from Bill, a good healthly man but she never gave up hoping it would get better.

I would tell Maxine now in talking of her, his wife in past days, when I might be with him, Bill had a great affection for her.

To Bill's sisters and my cousins, I would like to say what a good brother Bill had been to them. They were Besse Shouse, Mattie Pegg and Elizabeth Stocker.

If it weren't for all my "good readers" who write and tell me how they enjoy this column, I believe I would go and jump into the biggest hole I could find on Clear Creek (about knee deep now with fall slowing the water up).

But with folks like "reader" Margaret Richards, who writes me from Clarkston, Georgia, I feel like I've taken a swig of the yellow rock tonic with "mountain dew" in it that John makes for me when I'm had contrary.

Margaret starts her letter off by saying she wants me to know I and all 6,000+ readers a week that I have a fan letter in Georgia.

Why I feel great! I can talk back to the boss if he says I take too much space in the paper. Margaret says she's a Mt. Vernon girl, went to school there and the town is very dear to her heart. (Then join the same club that the boss is in.) Now Margaret says her heart almost stopped when I wrote about Clyde and Margaret Linsville. It seems Clyde was her principal and was so good to her and all the students.

She has letters and lots of asks you in Mt. Vernon.

This is the second letter in praise of Clyde as a principal so I'll take both of them to the Linsvilles to read on my next call.

When I first started to read her letter, the words jumped out at me -- I take the Signal, and that told me everything.

The Signal and I want to thank you "good readers" for all your kind words. As Henry Voltmer in Indiana writes me, you keep writin' and I'll keep readin'.

We are in the middle of August and everything is quiet (except for some bad rainstorms and floods).

I sit here at my desk (picnic table) in my front office (porch) and feel so drowsy sitting here watching the pretty colored butterflies chase each other then lay eggs which turn into caterpillars worms. This makes good reading. Keep this story in mind and read about the only thing in nature that turns into something else. Nature helps it turn.

Before I get away from science, how many of you have stepped into chewing gum and can't get it off your shoes or clothing?

Well I stepped out of my car last week into a patch of green gum where some careless person or child had dropped it on the ground, then smared it all over the place.

I had to take my shoe off and walk in one stocking foot to get home. Then an "angel" helped me. Someone said to rub peanut butter on the gum which I did and left overnight.

This was a gym shoe with a crinkly sole. Next day it was gone with the peanut butter that I rubbed off.

I see Paris Swinford, who is from Clear Creek 100, around about and there's always a cut, short black headed woman with him. Last week I saw Paris and Linda Lamb were in a grocery selecting fruit and vegetables.

I picked up nerve enough to come outright and say, "Paris, I heard you were getting, or already are, married. Now as an old Clear Creek friend I ask you to break down and tell me."

Paris stood by the counter grinning, just like his brother Ronald, when he had pulled something on me, and I didn't do what you think?

The Secret Garden

A Powerful Performance Bringing the Simple Gift of Timeless Truths to Audiences Young and Old. By: Sharlee Scanton

The Secret Garden shares with audiences both the pain and joy in the growth of the human spirit. It touches the youngest of hearts with a simple and sensitive message, while at the same time, it has adults exploring their own emotions. Children will enjoy a movie where the feelings and ingenuity of those their age are central to the plot, while parents will marvel at the timelessness of the movie's message.

Based on the children's classic by Frances Hodgson Burnett, the movie's interpretation through beautiful music and superb cinematography sets a tone unique to movies of today. The unfolding of the plot is coupled with mood-creating through the producer's masterful contrasts of light and dark, as well as, colorful and drab surroundings. Skilled direction of the acting also contrasts the present imperfections of the characters with the potentials they possess.

It is a story of types of change. Change that is thrust upon us, and change that we create for ourselves. In the movie, ten year old Mary Lennox (Kate Moberly), goes from a situation where she has everything but love in her home in India, to one of total uncertainty after the death of her parents as she moves to England to live on the mysterious estate of her uncle, Lord Archibald Craven (John Lynch). She finds love and stability through her secret garden and the "secrets" it brings forth.

The relationships that develop between her and Dickon (Andrew Knott) and Colin (Hedlyn Prowse) unleash positive growth for all and surprise the audiences with the potentials that each of the children possess.

Just when you think positive change is an impossibility, you will be glad you can remember from this movie the joy in the eyes of Lord Craven in the end. The last words of the movie summarize a message that is more precious than gold.

I recommend this G-rated movie to audiences young and old. Be prepared to be transported to a unique time and place, to be involved in the emotions of an unlikely blend of characters, and to leave with a strong message of hope and renewal.

The Secret Garden is now playing at the Regency Cinema 7 in London.

Honorable Roland D. Mullins, County Judge Executive Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court

We have audited the statement of receipts, disbursements and excess fees of the Clerk of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 1992 and have issued our report thereon dated July 19, 1993.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement.

Compliance with laws and regulations applicable to the statement of receipts, disbursements, and excess fees of the Clerk of Rockcastle County for the year ended December 31, 1992, is the responsibility of the official. As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the Rockcastle County Clerk's compliance with certain provisions of laws and regulations. However, the objective of our audit of the financial statement was not to provide an opinion on overall compliance with such provisions. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

The results of our tests indicate that, with respect to the items tested, the Rockcastle County Clerk complied, in all material respects, with the provisions referred to in the third paragraph. With respect to items not tested, nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that the Rockcastle County Clerk had not complied, in all material respects, with those provisions.

This report is intended for the information of management. However, this report, upon release by the Auditor of Public Accounts, is a matter of public record, and its distribution is not limited.

Respectfully submitted,

Smith & Smith

Rockcastle crops faring better than state average, Ballinger says

By: Ray McClure

Rockcastle tobacco crops is showing signs of Black Shank but it won't be as bad as the statewide estimate. So reported, Harold Ballinger, county executive director of ASCS, this week.

But, producers have put out more acreage to compensate for any loss they might have had.

Ballinger said farmers are now topping and spraying for suckers, and some are harvesting, but most are topping and spraying.

"The crop is not excellent, but its not as bad as some have reported," he said.

It is estimated that statewide the burley crop was forecast at 435 million pounds, but Ballinger said later the state changed the estimate to 400 million pounds.

He said 10 to 15 producers in the county have some damage but only two farms have had a drastic cut. The production forecast this year for the eight-state burley belt is 618.5 million pounds compared with 719.6 million pounds in 1992.

That will cost Kentucky farmers about $115 million in revenue.

"It's a good thing farmers grew more as a hedge against disease and drought," said Danny McKinney, chief executive officer of the Burley Tobacco Grower's Cooperative Association.

In a good year an acre yields 3,000 pounds of burley. This year the yield will be 2,175 pounds.

"Tobacco is not going to grow much more, and if they leave it in the field, it could spread," McKinney said.

Black Shank is a fungus and could cost farmer $25 million. Officials said production could have been much better if more growers had followed one of the Department of Agriculture's crop rotation. Crop production in Kentucky is forecast at 126.8 million bushels, down 20 percent from last year.

Ballinger said Rockcastle will beat that. He said corn looks good but the weather may reduce the yield to 10 to 10.5 bushels.

What little soybeans and winter wheat there is in Rockcastle is about normal. Gardens have been good, except for green beans which had a disease problem, Ballinger noted. Also hay and pasture have both been good. He said there are more patches of sweet sorghum in Rockcastle than in the past and it sure looks extra good.

Grant finalized for factory

The Economic Development Authority has finalized a grant of $275,000 to Rockcastle Manufacturing for an expansion program.

The approval of the grant was announced earlier.

But the big questions appear to be burley. Of all the crops, it statistics in 1993 show, it would be the highest percentage decrease in production since 1988 when the yield fell nearly 20 percent from 1984.

The money went toward the $1,040,000 millon project and came from Local Government Economic Development Funds.

Rockcastle supplied $3,600 and the company the remainder.

Martin arrested after shooting

A Rockcastle County man was shot by Berea Police after he fled Sunday on foot into a heavily wooded area near Fairgrounds Road in Berea.

Glen T. Martin, 22, formerly of Boones Gap, and currently of Berea, has been charged with two counts of wanton endangerment, assault in the third degree and theft of a weapon. Police said other charges are pending.

At 9:15 p.m. Sunday night, Berea police investigated someone sitting near a woods. When they checked, the person ran into the woods. He was chased on foot but police lost him.

Later, he was found and taken back in a patrol car where he broke free and ran again. Police reported: "He was caught and a fight took place. During the scuffle, Martin removed the weapon from the Berea Police officer and fired a round at the officer." Police did not name the officer.

"He then pointed the weapon at the officer and told him to back off. As he started to turn and run, the Berea Police officer grabbed at the weapon and a fight and scuffle occurred."

The police report continued: "At that time Glen told the officer he would shoot him and pointed the weapon at the officer's head again. The officer backed off and Glen Martin took off running again."

"He ran toward the back of Walmart parking lot and was met with another Berea police officer and an exchange of gunfire took place from both."

Martin was found Monday morning on Bratcher Lane and stopped. Police said he removed a pistol from his pants which he later dropped. He was taken to Berea Hospital to be treated for a gunshot wound to his lower right side.

McCullum reunion

The family of the late Rollie B. and Addie Sims McCullum held their 1993 reunion at Rentro Valley on Sunday, July 24th. The guests visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Durham, residents of Conway, on Sunday, July 25th. As 1993 marks the 100th birthday of Rollie B. McCullum, we dedicated this year's reunion to the memory of our parents, our sister Mildred McCullum Parsons, and our brothers, Edward McCullum and George McCullum.

Rollie and Addie McCullum were the parents of twelve children. They are Edward McCullum of Madison, Mildred McCullum Parsons (deceased), Phamy McCullum Amin, Madison, Indiana, Eleanor McCullum Bennett, Corbin, Alonzo McCullum of Mt. Vernon, Nina McCullum Abbott of Marion, Indiana, Ellis McCullum of Lexington, Janie McCullum Durham of Conway, Frank McCullum of Greenback, Tennessee, Joy McCullum Pingleton of Berea and Sandra McCullum of Auna Valley, Minnesota.

Those attending this year's reunion were Maude McCullum of Berea, Peggy and Ken Dean of Lexington (widow and children of the late Edward McCullum), Burnam Parsons, Roger and Karen Parsons, Amanda and Cassie Quinn of Berea (children and great grandchildren of the late Jack and Mildred McCullum Parsons), Amiel and Phamy McCullum and great granddaughters Allyson and Alisha Mullikin of Madison, Indiana, Eleanor McCullum Bennett of Corbin with children and grandchildren Freddy and Brett Bennett and friends Barbara and Matthew of Georgia, Pam, Danielle, April and Megan Bennett of Tennessee, David and Kathy Bennett Coy and Julie of Corbin, Roger and Sheila Bennett Dingess and children Nick and Samantha of Corbin, and Warren McNew of Georgia.

Also attending were Alonzo and Mary McCullum and daughter Gail of Mt. Vernon, Fred and Nina McCullum Abbott of Marion, Indiana, Ellis McCullum of Lexington and children and grandchildren Ray and Ingrid McCullum Daugherty and daughter Erika of Louisville, Ron

Horticulture Judging

By: John McQueary
County extension Agent for 4-H Youth/Development

Five youth from Rockcastle County participated in the Lake Cumberland

Area 4-H Field Day on August 10, in Casey County. Each youth earned the right to compete in the State Horticulture Judging in Louisville at the Kentucky State Fair on Saturday, August 28.

These youth compete in vegetable judging, vegetable identification, fruits and nuts identification, and woody ornamentals identification. Melinda Coffey was the winner in young juniors (ages 9-10). James and Eric Hudson were the winners in juniors, ages 11-13. The winners in seniors, ages 15-19 were Melanie and Marcia Coffey. This year's coach was Marilyn Coffey.

Comments requested on 1994 Feed Grain program

Public comments on the acreage reduction percentages for the 1994 Feed Grain program are being requested until Sept. 20, 1993, says Hampton Henton, Jr., State Executive Director of ASCS.

Henton says comments are needed on proposed reductions (set aside) of 0 to 12.5 percent for corn, 0 to 20 percent for grain sorghum and barley, and the exemption of malting barley from a reduction. Details of the 1994 acreage reduction program will be published in the August 5 Federal Register. Comments should be faxed to (202) 690-1346 or mailed to: Grains Analysis Division, USDA/ASCW, Room 3742-S.P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013-2415.

Emergency haying and grazing options

Hampton Henton, Jr., Kentucky ASCS State Executive Director, urges farmers that are participating in the 1993 Acreage Reduction Program for wheat and feed grain crops (Com Program) to contact their local ASCS County office, if they have suffered significant forage loss to their hay and pasture due to drought.

"Emergency haying and grazing of land designated as set-aside for ACR and CU for Pay can be authorized by ASCS when abnormal weather conditions in the county cause critical shortage of hay and forage," Henton said. Once a county is authorized for emergency haying and grazing, farmers will need to apply at the ASCS office.

Haying and grazing is not allowed on set-aside land during the 5-month period of June 1 through October 31, unless authorized due to abnormal weather conditions.

grams -- an "Alternative" program taught by Charles Norris and assisted by one instructional aide and the other an English taught almost strictly at "at-risk" students taught by Jennifer Mattingly.

This year, JTPA cut funding for the entire district which includes Rockcastle Co. and the grant amount to $28,812.94.

Mr. Towery told the board that he recommended that the board supplement the operation of the "Alternative" program for which the match from the general fund will be $16,050.30 and that the board then pick up the Mrs. Mattingly's salary, adding another $22,100 from the general fund.

Towery said Mrs. Mattingly would not work strictly with "at-risk" students this year but would deal with the entire spectrum of English students.

He told the board that he had talked with the other English teachers who had assured him the need was present.

As to the reduction in grant money, Bray told the board that every district in Lake Cumberland area got reductions, to the point that some districts did not even bother to pick up their grant money.

Bray said he had anticipated the reduction and had not figured any grant money into the budget and that the money was available in the general fund for the two positions.

The board approved the request. Another program reviewed by the board was the Preschool Program for 1993-94 after members were told that the system might not be able to serve all four-year-old students this year in the preschool KERA component.

The law requires service for eligible students (those who qualify for free lunch) and, in the past, the board has been able to serve all students desiring to participate. However, with significant budget cuts (including a reduction of the pupil/teacher ratio from 40 to 34), Towery said he did not recommend any expansion of services that might have to come from general fund dollars since any board might not be able to sustain such expansion in the future.

Towery did carry the board that there was some terry-over in the program from the 92-93 fiscal year that probably would enable the board to serve some students who do not fall into the eligible student category.

The board held off on a definite decision until final registration figures for the program are available.

For students who are not eligible under the free lunch provision, enrollment is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Several bids were awarded during the meeting including: the milk, juice, orange, lemonade, etc. to South-east Belle; Rainbo Bakery for bread and bakery items and Pepsi-Cola for vending machine products.

The board was also told that the School Based Decision Making Council had lowered the grading scale at the high school to help students gain scholarship awards.

Effective with this school year, the grading scale will now be A=90-100; B=83-91; C=70-81; D=60-69 and F=59 and below.

However, the elementary schools' grade scale will be: A=93-100; B=85-92; C=77-84; D=70-76 and F=69 and below.

The board sets the length of the school day and the SBDMs in each school determine what happens when in between. Supt. Towery told the board and the board approved the beginning and ending times for each school. These times are determined primarily by the transportation schedule, Towery said.

The first school to take-up in the county will be Broadhead at 8:00 and end at 3:00; at Livingston, the high school and Roundstone, the day will begin at 8:05. However, Livingston will let out at 3:10; the high school at 2:50 and Roundstone at 3:05. At Mt. Vernon, the day will begin at 8:10 and end at 3:00.

A planning guide for the new middle school was passed out to the board for their information.

According to the guide, curriculum design for the new school began in July of 1993 and is continuing. Also, in July of 1993, the process of identifying the contact person in each school was put in place.

August 2 and 3 were used for professional development for teachers in grades 6-7-8 to introduce the middle school concepts.

In the fall of 1993, the board will be asked for authorization of the middle school principal's position and posting of this position.

September of 1993 and continuing: Piloting of middle school curriculum.

The principal will be named in either January or February of 1994 with site visits from January through May.

February to April of 1994, will see the development of master schedule and development of staffing process.

April through August will be used for staff assignment and professional development will be held June through August of 1994.

Moving into the new facility is set for June through August of 1994. The superintendent's personnel actions report included:

Janel Burke, EMH/LBD teacher, MVES (transferred from RCHS); Sherril G. Mink, primary teacher, RES: Kimberly C. Singleton, SPH/TMH teacher, RES; Teresa I. Gosler, EMH/LBD teacher, itinerant and Sherry K. Harnack, Mathematics teacher, RCHS.

The resignations of Mary Silvers as Math teacher at RCHS and Rebecca G. McClure, primary teacher at LES were approved along with an extended disability/maternity leave-of-absence for Janice Miller, teacher at RCHS and Patricia Lynn Wilson, primary teacher BES were approved and an extended disability leave-of-absence for Aleda Bond, cook at LES.

The employment of coaches was approved as recommended by Supt. Towery (as of August 4) as follows: Head Football Coach Tom Larkey; with Tony Saylor, head assistant football coach, Chris Cornelius, Charles Bullen, Jer ry Pensol and Chris Larkey, Head basketball coach Chrystelle Beaver; boys, Clayton Cash and Bruce Blanton, assistant; track coach boys and girls Tom Larkey and Chrystelle Beaver, assistant; softball coach Debbie Cash with assistant Paige Benge; golf coach David Perkins; cheerleading coach Rita Shaffer; academic coach (co-coaches) Joy Cooke and Trina Bustle and assistants Cindy Witt and Pam Powell. According to the hand-out, the positions of baseball coach and assistant coach are vacant.

In other business, the board approved:

Hunting Dates

Kentucky's dove season and early duck hunting dates were recently set by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDF-WR) Commission.

Dove season will be September 1-30, October 9 - November 1 and December 4-9. The daily limit remains the same at 15 and shooting hours Sept. through Nov. are 11 a.m. to sunset. For the December portion of the dove season shooting hours are sunrise to sunset.

Early wood duck and teal season will be September 15-19. The daily bag limit is four birds with no more than two wood ducks included. Shooting hours for wood duck and teal are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Waterfowl hunters are reminded that non-toxic steel shot is required for all waterfowl hunting, and steel shot is required for dove hunting on some wildlife management areas.

In compliance with federal guidelines, there is now an established hunting season for crows from September 1 through November 12,

Was Bookmobile project

Summer reading program ends

The Summer Reading program on the Bookmobile has just wound down. There were over 80 children who registered for the bookmobile program this. This was the most ever registered for "summer reading" on the Bookmobile. In the age 7-12 year old category, Christina Amyx was the winner. Christina's prize was a radio with head phones. Second place in this age group was Missy Baker. Missy's prize was a "sticky" ball glove and ball. In the pre-school to age 7 category, first place winner was Leigh

Ann Caldwell. Leigh Ann's prize was a "Harney" bank. Second place winners in this age group were Matthew and Emily Whitaker. Matthew received a "sticky" ball glove and ball and Emily received a trail doll. I really enjoy seeing the children through the summer months, and hope they will have fond memories of the bookmobile... as I do from several years ago. If you do not currently use the bookmobile service and would like this service, please contact the library at 256-2388.

School's Startin'

The Rockcastle County School System will officially open the 1993-94 school term with a day of professional development for all staff members on August 19 at the Rockcastle County High School.

The school district is proud to announce that one of the nation's most prominent educators will be in attendance and will deliver the keynote address. Lawrence W. Lezotte, Ph.D., will spend the entire day with Rockcastle County educators. Dr. Lezotte, Senior Vice President of Effective Schools Products, Ltd., has devoted his career to assisting schools in their efforts to assure that all students learn. He is a member of the original "team" of effective school researchers who identified the characteristics of effective schools.

Dr. Lezotte has written widely on school improvement and effective schools research, including Sustainable School Reform, The District Context, Creating the Total Quality Effective School, and A Guide to the School Improvement Process Based on Effective Schools Research. He is recognized as the preeminent spokesperson for effective schools research and implementation. In recent years, he has traveled across the county to conduct literally hundreds of workshops and conferences, teaching the lives of thousands of educators and tens of thousands of students.

The Rockcastle County School District made a decision to implement an Effective Schools/School Improvement Process in the fall of 1990. The district saw this process as a variety of educational practices currently existing under a common plan guided by a stated mission.

however, participation in this process was determined by the staff of each school. The mission was based on the idea that all children can learn and that their educational success depends upon school having well-defined curricula, appropriate facilities, and committed school personnel to a greater degree than upon the students' family background. A plan was written to identify the district structures for school improvement guide the process through a three-year implementation cycle.

Superintendent Bage W. Towery, Jr. had been sharing with local educators since 1987 the effective schools research. He attended a National Effective Schools Conference in 1989 and encouraged the Rockcastle County Board of Education and the individual schools to participate in this school improvement process. Mr. Towery felt the system was ready for substantive change and improvement but needed a process plan to expedite the movement. The Effective Schools Process was endorsed by the District Strategic Planning Committee and became a part of The Final Report submitted to and approved by the Rockcastle County Board of Education in July of 1991. The Final Report was drafted by the Strategic Planning Committee, a committee consisting of eleven (11) parent/community members, teachers and administrators and chaired by local attorney, John E. Clontz.

The Effective Schools Process teamed with KERA in a joint venture and has served as a vehicle to initiate change and improvement. This program has basically been funded with money from special grants. Shelby B. Reynolds, District Instructional Supervisor, has coordinated the Effective Schools Process.

Both KERA and the Effective Schools Process stress the premise that all children can learn.

Gordon F. Newton, Director, Division of School Improvement, will represent the Kentucky Department of Education at the August 19 meeting. Also in attendance will be Ben Burdell, Director of Association for Effective Schools, Inc. Mr. Burdell has served as a consultant to the Rockcastle County Schools through the implementation of the Effective Schools Process.

KDFWR extends deer hunt application deadline

Due to delivery delays, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) Commissioner Don R. McCormick has extended the deadline for applications to all KDFWR managed quota deer hunts to September 13.

Applications are now available for persons interested in entering the random computer drawing for any one of 16 different adult or youth quota hunts. Quota youth hunts are open to persons between the ages of 10 and 15, and who have completed a hunter education course by the day of the hunt. All hunts are held on KDFWR owned or controlled wildlife management areas.

There is a $8 non-refundable processing fee required for each application. Hunters 16 and over may apply to only one conventional quota hunt. Persons eligible for youth hunts may apply to the Ballard WMA youth hunt, one other youth hunt and one conventional quota hunt.

To receive more information on hunt dates, locations, special requirements and applications, contact the KDFWR, Information Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601, phone (502) 562-4336. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Sustaining Kentucky looks at State's response to challenge of earth summit

When world leaders gathered in Rio de Janeiro in 1992 for the international "Earth Summit," they made a pledge to foster sustained economic development. KET looks at how Kentucky is responding to that mandate in the new program From Rio to the Capitol: Sustaining Kentucky, premiering at 8 p.m. Monday, August 23.

Woodmen of the World Lodge 888 selected winners of the essay contest "Why I Am Proud To Be An American." The contest was open to MVES 5th grade classes and the winners received savings bonds. Mary Ann McNew, secretary of Lodge 888 made the presentations to, from left: Carl Ramsey, 1st place, $100 savings bond; John Renner, second place, $75 bond and Susan Graves, $50 savings bond. Woodmen of the World would like to thank the teachers: Mrs. Kay Cameron, Mrs. Melinda Kincaid and Charles Napier for their time and Barry Spurlock, area manager for Woodmen of the World, for helping judge the essays.

Deficit reduction bill to help tobacco producers in short-run

Under provisions of the budget deficit reduction bill signed into law this week by President Clinton, cigarette manufacturers will be forced to pay stiff penalties for importing more than 25 percent of the tobacco they use in cigarette production.

Manufacturers purchasing more than 25 percent of their tobacco from foreign sources will be subject to a penalty of 75 percent of the average market price of U.S. burley and flue cured tobacco and will be required to buy one-half pound from the burley pool and one-half pound from the flue cured pool for every pound of imported tobacco used in excess of the 25 percent limitation, said Will Snell, Extension Agricultural Economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

In addition, he said, the law requires that U.S. tobacco companies pay the same budget deficit assessment and market cost levy on imported tobacco that domestic growers pay.

The new law also extends the 10 percent maximum annual quota reduction for the next five years which according to Snell, "will likely suggest a quota reduction of more than 10 percent next year.

In the short term, the amount of burley tobacco imported should decline from the current 30 to 35 percent to less than 15 percent, Snell said.

"This will have the tendency to stabilize our burley quotas a few years down the road. Without the legislation, we could have seen burley quotas down some 20 to 25 percent by the mid 1990s," Snell said.

Over the longer term, however,

U.S. cigarette manufacturers may choose to move export production of cigarettes off shore to take advantage of cheap, foreign tobacco, Snell said.

"In addition, by restricting imports into the U.S., the international burley market will be saturated with cheap foreign tobacco, which may hinder our ability to expand leaf exports," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Halcomb II

Halcomb-Godby vows said

Dennis Halcomb II and Elizabeth Anne Godby were united in marriage at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, May 15, 1993 at First Baptist Church, Somerset. The groom is the son of Dennis and BonAmi Halcomb of Somerset.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Susan Down and David B. Godby, Somerset. The groom is the son of Dennis and BonAmi Halcomb of Somerset.

Mr. Larry Earhart sang the following musical selections: "The Wedding Hymn," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Wedding Song." He was accompanied by organist Mrs. Carol Hancock.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, Stephen Godby, wore an elegant, white satin gown, featuring a bodice adorned with sequins and pearls and a Queen Anne's neck-line with fitted puffed sleeves coming to a cathedral train featuring appliqued lace and a scalloped hem. To complete her ensemble, the bride chose a Juliet Cap with sequins and pearls and a finger-tip length veil and blusher. She carried a bouquet of candlelight roses and pink roses with ferns and white stephanotis.

Amy Godby served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kristi Walkaski of Somerset and Karla Strunk of Somerset. James Walkaski Jr. served as best man. Groomsman were Roger Isaacs, cousin of the groom and Scott Trotter of Somerset.

Tiffany Crawford and Zachary Crawford, niece and nephew of the groom, served as flower girl and ring bearer. Debbie Molden of Somerset served as guest book attendant.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall. Hostesses were Sonya McLin, Jennifer Keith, Robin Todd, Lana Crawford and Katrina Redden.

After a seven day trip to Panama City, Fla., the couple resided at 135 Jasper Dr., Somerset.

Pre-wedding parties included a bridal shower given by Amy Godby and Renee Diamond, a household shower given by Lana Crawford and Katrina Redden; a personal shower given by Becki Childers and a rehearsal dinner hosted by Dennis and BonAmi Halcomb at the Holiday Inn.

A Cup of Coffee

A friend from my recent past dropped by today and had a cup of Coffee with me. Not unusual, you might be saying, but it is for me not too many people these days drop by for a drink that warms a friendship more than any other drink I know of.

One doesn't have to drink the beer to feel the warmth it gives to a friendship as two people become engrossed in the trivial things of life as they sit holding a cup of hot coffee and sometimes taking a sip. But we drank our coffee and he even asked for seconds which I gladly gave as I filled my cup the second time also.

Junior Norton, brought me news of his mother Evelyn, now in a nursing home, and of his sister, living in the old home. We swapped news about all our kin that has passed away; since we last saw each other and reminisced about old times. It is visis like this that brings back very precious memories of the past. It was probably at their house I was introduced to the social cup of coffee as being a welder of friendship. A fresh pot was always put on to brew whenever I arrived and the fresh hot coffee was served in a thin cup from a pretty tray and accompanied by a slice of homemade cake or cookies.

While we shared the refreshments we also shared our joys, sorrows and problems and became life long friends in so doing. The habit took hold of me and when they arrived at my house it was coffee served in mugs and usually homemade doughnuts or apple pie or a hunk of chocolate cake. These were the things I had learned they liked best and I kept them on hand all the time for just such occasions. Now it is only the coffee I keep on hand but I bet I could find a loaf of frozen zucchini bread if I had need to, and the microwave could warm it up quickly and a bit of cream cheese on it would be as good as my old chocolate cake etc.

A glass of lemonade or iced tea or coke is refreshing but the warmth of a cup of coffee shared by friends brings out the small talk that cements friendships. My coffee pot is always ready to put on, if it isn't already on, and I am always ready for friends to share it with.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Cummins of Brindle Ridge will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception given by their son Jimmy Cummins, daughter Darlene Cameron and their six grandchildren, from 2 to 4 p.m. August 29 at Brindle Ridge Baptist Church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend. The couple request no gifts.

A Tribute . . .

By: Wanda Burton

When God made man
And saw that a woman he did need
So he made Marjorie special for Charley

Somehow they are celebrating numbers
80 years

We know there's been good times as well as bad
But it must have been meant to be

To live together all these years

And raise their family five
One son and one daughter and six grandchildren, boys and girls each of three

They've worked hard all their lives

That's why God meant for it to be
He didn't say sit down live on easy street

Polio left her with a crippled leg
She didn't let that stop her from all the work she does
The many quilts she's quilted must be a hundred plus some

He always loved farming and milk ing many cows
Now his health is failing he's having to slow down

Her past time is sewing, not much playing around

They love their church

And never let it down
One of these days they will wear a shiny crown

A birthday tribute to Jolie Reynolds Stephens
By: Redonna Dees Burns,
her granddaughter

She's known as friend to many.
And friend she is to plenty
With a heart of gold and a soul unsold.

She's free with her love to all.

She's known as Grandma to me,
And my friend, too, you see,
With her voice of truth and her life as a proof.

She's gracious and kind to all.

Now all who know this lady named
Jalie,
Should also know she'll soon turn eighty,
And if not for her wit and her loving heart,
The joy in my life would soon depart.

So for lack of space this tribute must end,
But always remember, I love you, my friend,

For you're a rare gem in the Good
Lord's crown,
And a blessing to us to be around.

 Class of 1983 Reunion Committee

Dear Editor,

Why don't people think of other people when they gotaking their pets in the streets.

I was in Rite Price last Saturday and there was a lady carrying her dog around. I asked the clerk if she knew she was in there. She said yes. But she didn't care as long as she was carrying it. I told her it was illegal. And if the Health Department would care and that's not the only place where animals have been in either. Where these stores start letting people bring their pets in, then that's when they will lose my business and I would say other people would agree with me.

Pets belong at home, not in stores where you buy your food and medicine.

Sincerely,
 Lois K. Barron

Dear Editor,

I think that it's terrible the way they heard the shooting a couple of weeks ago. I didn't know the man, but looks like they could have done it differently. A person's life is a precious thing and to kill someone over a few pot plants is ridiculous. And the police going to gun everybody down now because they won't come out of their yards when they want them too?

What kind of a country are we living in? Other people have been caught growing the stuff and they were shot down, why this man's an outrage. Kids have been told to trust the police, that they will protect them, what has little boy think when he grows up without a father because the police shot him down.

Something needs to be done to stop these uncalled for murders. Why didn't they let his family talk to him to try and talk him out. To me it was a senseless murder. My prayers are with his family and friends.

Dear Editor,

This letter is to comment on the August 8, "Divine Strategy" incident that occurred, where the Kentucky State Police Force did willfully and maliciously attack and open fire on the Purr Rigby Road "home" there in Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

However to minimize my letter and comments, I prefer that the Signal will publish or print the following to justify my comments.

Our Bill of Rights U.S. Constitution

Article I, Section 5
 Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceable to assemble, and to place to the Government for a redress of grievances.

Amendment II
 A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

Amendment III
 No soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Amendment IV
 The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Amendment V
 No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger, nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself.
