Dear Editor,
Just a thank you note to all my friends and neighbors who were so kind and nice to us during my back surgery. I had a broken hip and a slipped disc.

I wish to thank everyone for their prayers, their beautiful cards, visits, telephone calls and also the basket of fruit from the Ladies WMU from Ottawa Church.

Thanks again,
Anna Thomas King
Muncie, Ind.

-A note of thanks-

We would like to thank all the people who supported The Big Hill Mountain Family Festival this year and a special thanks to the Mt. Vernon Signal. We look forward to seeing everyone in 1994.

-Movie-Review

Hard Target

If you've had your fill of dinosaurs, pointy headed space aliens and killer whales this summer, it's time to check out the latest Jean Claude Van Damme slug fest, "Hard Target," a movie built for action.

The movie is set in New Orleans where Van Damme is hired by a woman looking for her father. When her father turns up dead, the two begin searching for the reason behind his mysterious death—and get more than they bargained for.

It seems New Orleans has been picked for "Man's Most Dangerous Game" — namely the tracking and killing of human prey. As circumstances would have it, Van Damme find himself as the next victim, but unlike the others, he proves to be a "Hard Target."

Van Damme fits the action hero role perfectly, but the surprise stand out comes from Lance Henriksen, the businessman that sets up these human "Hunts" for his well paying clients. Although he plays it mean and nasty, Henriksen rises above the stereotypical "Bad Guy" by injecting humor and sarcasm into his character. He serves to remind us that just desserts are the sweetest.

Directed by John Woo, the pacing of "Hard Target" builds with intensity before reaching its inevitable climactic confrontation. In between the opening credits and "killer" end are more chases, crashes, fighting and shootings than you can keep track of -- but each scene is guaranteed to keep you glued to your seat. The stunts are incredible, including various scenes that find Van Damme surfing on top of a motorcycle, jumping over a moving van and drop kicking villains while swinging on a rope. The action picks up even more speed as the story moves along and the excitement keeps building until the very end. In this respect, Woo has put together a well made movie.

If it's action you're after, set your sights on "Hard Target." If you're a fan of Jean Claude Van Damme, you will not leave disappointed. And if you're not familiar with "The Muscles From Brussels," you owe it to yourself to see what you've been missing. While he may be a "Hard Target," you can find him playing right now at Regency Cinema 7.

Alison Krauss supported by All-Star cast at Festival

"Goodness, honey, there'll be more award-winners on that stage than you can shake a stick at."

That is veteran bluegrass performer Old Joe Clark's assessment of the Renfro Valley Bluegrass Festival, Sept. 3, 4, and 5.

Alison Krauss, the acclaimed first lady of bluegrass, headlines the three-day event. Alison's mastery on the fiddle, coupled with her haunting vocals, have garnered the young performer virtually every award and accolade in the bluegrass field. Her trophy case includes Grammy awards as well as International Bluegrass Music Association (IBMA) awards for Entertainer of the Year, Album of the Year and Best Female Vocalist. Joining Alison on the festival stage are some of bluegrass music's brightest stars. Grand Ole Opry stars Jim and Jesse will perform with Mike Stevens. Randall Hylton, a favorite on the bluegrass concert circuit, returns to Renfro Valley's festival grounds. Lonesome River Band, winner of the IBMA's Album of the Year award for "Carrying the Tradition," is a featured act. The album spent an unprecedented five months in the Number One slot of bluegrass Unlimited magazine's TOP 10 Bluegrass Albums chart and their single releases consistently live at the top of bluegrass charts.

Rarely Herd joins the ranks of award winners on the Renfro Valley festival stage Labor Day weekend. The Ohio band walked away with "Entertaining Bluegrass Band of the Year" during the National Bluegrass Music awards earlier this year. Rarely Herd captured the same award in 1992 at the Midwest Bluegrass Music Awards ceremony. The band's bassist Jeff Wessner captured Entertainer of the Year at the same event.

While they have yet to collect national honors, it is just a matter of time before Scaddaford steps to the national level. They have already won honors at several regional contests, including the Pikeville, Kentucky Festival of the Masters and the Appalachian Open Band Championship. According to bluegrass Magazine, the group has "major league talent" and, termed lead vocalist Valerie Gabehart, a "gutsy, dynamic singer."

Perennial favorites Lost and Found, the Stevens Family, Country Gentlemen, Southern Harvest, the Reno Brothers and Renfro Valley's own

New Coon Creek Girls round out the weekend's musical roster. The festival has also planned a direct hit to the funny bones. Ernest and Elwood bring their unique perspective of country living to the stage. Expect anything from these two self-proclaimed "hickie, idiot-looking dudes," including original tales, comedy songs, even animal, insect and machinery impersonations.

The Renfro Valley Bluegrass Festival begins at 3 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 3 and at noon on Saturday and Sunday. The open-stage festival runs until 11:30 each night.

$350,000 renovation project starts at hospital

Work is underway at the Rockcastle Hospital which when completed will see 26 acute care beds totally new or refurbished.

The project is estimated to cost in the range of $350,000.

It is expected to be completed by Nov. 1 and is the first remodeling of the "old section" since 1956.

The present work is 4 semi private rooms with bathrooms. The other rooms are private with bathrooms. All rooms will have new furniture.

The next phase of the project will be 5 rooms toward Lewis Street. They will be refurbished.

The work is being done by the hospital's maintenance department with skilled help as needed, according to Lee Keene, hospital administrator. James Nicely is overseeing the project.

The hospital is a private non-profit organization. The building is owned by the county.

When set up in 1956 the hospital was operated through a group known as the Rockcastle Hospital Improvement Corporation with tax exempt (Cont. to A11)

Miracle has new smelter

An aluminum smelter that recovers the aluminum from steel went into operation this week at Mt. Vernon.

Mt. Vernon Scrap (Gary Miracle) and Kentucky Aluminum Smelters Inc., are the co-owners of the $100,000 smelter.

About 5,000 pounds of aluminum is recovered from old car parts a day, when in operation.

The kiln has 4 burners each with 1.5 million BTUs.

The kiln will not process aluminum cans, Miracle said. "It would burn them up."

The aluminum processor will be operated by Gary Miracle II and Gary Brummett. Dave Conway of Cincinnati is overseeing the project for the Kentucky Aluminum Smelters Inc.

knowing willfully, committed sexual contact with two girls under age 12 from 1978 and 79, and 1981 and 1982.

Prisoner on work release walks off

A prisoner on a state work release program walked away from his job at the county garbage Friday.

He is John Ray Carpenter, 43, of Conway.

He told workers he needed a truck part and went to get it. He didn't return.

He was serving a fourth offense Driving Under the Influence. He had been sentenced to a year and had 70 days left on his sentence.

A warrant has been issued charging with second degree escape. Since he is a convicted felon he faces a two to five year sentence.

He is one of two serving on the work release program from Rockcastle. Two from Stanton are also on the program serving in Rockcastle.

Several thefts reported

Several thefts occurred in Rockcastle during the past few days.

Sherry Ullman told the sheriff that a gate to her property was stolen about Aug. 18 on Mullins Station Road.

Deputy Sheriff Darrell Dwan investigated.

Sheriff Shirley Smith investigated a break in on U.S. 28 north at the home of Chris Burdette on Aug. 22. The thieves took an air conditioner went into the house and stole six guns valued at $2,596.

Commissioner's recommendations would eliminate local P.V.A. job

Among recommendations made by the Governors Commission on Quality and Efficiency were several that could have an effect on Rockcastle.

One was, abolish county property Valuation Administrators and replace them with regional administrators appointed by the Revenue Cabinet.

And, take away job of tax collecting from county sheriffs and give to the Revenue Cabinet.

Make commonwealth attorneys full time positions and prohibit them from private practice of law.

Eliminate jury sentencing. Give power to impose penalties solely to judges.

Abolish parole board. Felony offenders would serve full sentences imposed by judges.

About five years ago the same recommendations were made but were not met favorably.

Several injured in local wrecks

Several persons were treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital following a two vehicle wreck Aug. 21 on Chestnut Ridge Road.

Vernon Becker and Bobby Moore who live on Maple Grove Road were treated and released.

Livingston Homecoming set for Labor Day Weekend

Alma Cottengin and Leonard Francisco both attended grade and high school at Livingston and then went their separate ways, she to Kenton County as a 3rd grade teacher for 31 years and a Chapter teacher for two and he to Louisville to work for E.I. Dupont Co. until retirement.

Then, at the Livingston Homecoming in 1991, Leonard ran into Alma's brother. The conversation turned to Alma and her brother gave Leonard her telephone number. He called and they dated, and then didn't date for a while (the 120 mile trip got a little long, Leonard said), and then began dating again (it was amazing how much shorter that 120 mile trip got, Leonard said) and then, it was wedding bells for the couple in April of this year, retirement for both and the establishment of a residence in Berea.

Leonard said recently that he left Livingston in 1955 and graduated from Valley High School in 1958. Alma graduated from LHS in 1958, went to college for a couple of years and began teaching at Ryland Heights Elementary School in Kenton Co., a position she was to hold for the next 33 years along with obtaining her bachelor's degree from the University of Cincinnati and her Master's from Xavier University.

Leonard also went to college and then took a position with E.I. Dupont Chemical Co. in Louisville, a position he held until his recent retirement.

Alma never married. Leonard did, and he was 32, to "a fine woman" for 7 1/2 years but it just didn't work out.

Leonard, who drily pointed out that he didn't exactly marry on the rebound since his divorce was final in 1979, said he did things a little differently this time—he married "an old maid school teacher," an "older woman" (by three months) but proceeded to tell us what a good cook she is and how happy they are.

Leonard keeps himself busy with "honey-do's", going to school at Eastern, his Masonic Lodge and his campaign for a seat on the Berea City Council.

In 1992, the couple attended Livingston's Homecoming together, her first although Leonard said he has never missed the event and they plan to attend this year.

The event is scheduled for September 3, 4 and 5 and following is a schedule of activities:

The homecoming begins at 7 p.m. Friday with gospel singing by yet to be announced groups.

The events on Saturday begin at 11 a.m. with the parade with grand marshals Brig. Gen. Thurman Owen and Brian Collins.

The crowning of the homecoming queen will be at 12:30 p.m., coaster car races roll off at 1 p.m., the Ugly Man contest will be at 2 p.m., an egg toss will be at 3 p.m., cloggers at 4 p.m., children's games and competition at 5 p.m., local talent at 6 p.m., Old Timer's ball game in the school gymnasium at 7 p.m., followed by Storm Front at 8 and a midnight curfew.

Recognition awards will be given Sunday at 2 p.m., followed at 3 by the pretty baby contest (ages 1-5), an auction at 4, children's games and competition at 5 and gospel singing (Joyful Noise) at 6 p.m. Southern Lace will perform at 10 p.m. as the last event of the day following the fireworks.

It should be noted that the queen contest is for girls 13 to 19 who live in the Livingston School District. Candidates must register by Aug. 28. Mary McHargue at 453-4371 or Sandi Nolan at 453-4807 are in charge. Teva Bryant at 453-4627 or Cleo Bryant at 453-4213 are in charge of the Pretty Baby Contest for babies 1-5.

Dell Ponder is in charge of activities at the homecoming.

Bowl game Saturday

Rockcastle will join three other top teams when they travel to Mt. Sterling Saturday for the 46th annual Recreation Bowl.

Kentucky's oldest high school bowl game will begin at 6 p.m. when Rockcastle squares off against highly touted Hazard. Hazard had a mark of 11 and a 1 year ago and are returning 15 starters this season.

Rockcastle finished the season with an 11 and 2 mark and are returning 22 seniors. Hazard is ranked 5th in 1A in the Lexington Herald-Leader's pre-season preview. Rockcastle is ranked third in 2A behind Danville and Mayfield.

In the second game of the Recreation Bowl, neighboring Lincoln County takes on 4A power George Rogers Clark High School. The Patriots represent Class 3A in the field and coach Marty Jagers, hopes a just-miss team from a year ago can contend for this year's 3A crown. The Patriots finished 8 and 5 last year, losing to South.

Evening Memories By: George H. Tackett

In the hills of Old Kentucky
At the closing of the day,
When darkness starts to gather
And the children stop their play.

In the distance comes a whistle
Of a bird high on the hill
And you know at once you're hearing
A lonely whippoorwill.

When the night birds start their singling
To their mates across the way,
Then you stop and listen closely
As a coon dog starts to bay.

Then you hear a voice behind you
Asking help of one and all,
And you turn and see your mother
Standing there so trim and small.

Jim, you bring in the water
From the spring just over the hill
George, carry in the stove wood
You will find out by the mill

Polly, you can bathe the baby
Before it gets too late,
It's time your dad is getting home,
We won't have long to wait.

After supper then is over
And the dishes put away,
We'll gather in the garden
In the coolness of the day.

Where the evening breeze blows
softly
And the crickets start to sing,
And the bull-frogs start their croaking.

On the hill side by the spring,
Then all nature sings together
In one melodious tone
In the hills of Old Kentucky,
My Old Kentucky Home.

When I get writers block I begin to blame it on conditions around me such as, hot weather, cold weather, doing the paper work, canning, which I have been doing this week, or numerous other things. I never confess to the fact I simply do not sit down and apply myself to the job.

This week was one of those times so I am sharing one of my treasures with you. This poem was written by my older brother, George, several years ago. From the time he was young he liked to write verses. I have quite a collection of them, some scribbled on scraps of paper and others neatly written in a scrap book.

Many of them are about the Love of God and salvation. His Christian life was one of ups and downs but his love of the Bible and his Kentucky heritage is uppermost in his writings.

His last years were lived in California. He was crippled with arthritis and a bout with T.B. in his younger years had left him without much in the way of lungs, so his last years were spent mostly in the hospital.

It was during those years he did much of his scribbling on scraps of paper and sent them to me for my approval or corrections. He knew I loved to write even back then and poetry was also one of my loves.
And so we shared with each other our talent for writings. It was strange that my prose and his poetry, even though we were miles and years apart,

Overview of the New Testament, Part II to be offered

Studies in an Overview of the New Testament, Part II will be offered in eight weekly classes beginning September 2, 1993 by the Rock-castle Association of Baptists in the Rockcastle Baptist Center for Biblical Studies at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon.

Rev. Jack Bruce, Director for the Center, announced today that Rev.
Wendell Romans, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon, will again be the teacher of this course.
Classes will be held on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Interested persons may pre-enroll at their local Baptist Church or by calling the Baptist Association office at 256-4571 Monday through Friday between the hours of 9 a.m.

and 2:30 p.m. Folks who are not members of Southern Baptist Churches may also enroll by calling 256-4571. This course is designed for all who desire a greater knowledge of Holy Scripture, but especially for pastors and others actively engaged in ministry. It is a good refresher course for those who already have a broad knowledge of the Bible and will help any Christian be more effective in the service of the Lord Jesus Christ, as they grow in grace and knowledge.

The Rockcastle Baptist Center for Biblical Studies is one of about 400 extension centers in operation across the country in cooperation with the Southern Baptist Conventions' External Education Division, and is sponsored by the Rockcastle Association of Mississippi Baptist Church.

The Center is a member of the National University Continuing Education Association and an accredited member of the National Home Study Council.

A guiding principle of the Center is II Timothy 2:15 - "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of truth."

Fairview News

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

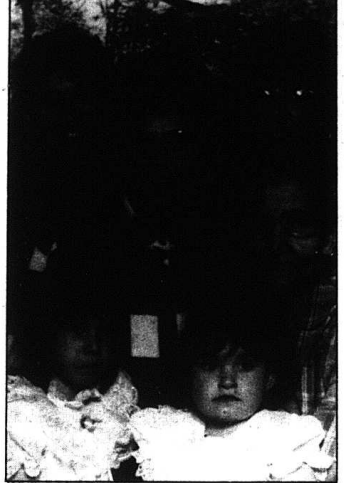

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointment at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with very good attendance and one hundred and three for Sunday School. We are seeing new faces in our congregation from time to time and we are very thankful for each one.

Well, our weather now seems to be changing some as we are nearing the fall season. We have hot days and cool nights (sometimes). God has blessed us with good gardens and we ladies are canning and preparing food for the winter months. My husband and I have worked so hard this summer (and I know many others have too) but as we are now older, we can't do as much as we used to, but I'm so thankful that I am able to do what we can. Hope you can work under what I don't write every week like I would like to.

Our community was saddened by the death of Lucile (Wren) Owen. The Wren family have always been good friends and neighbors to many of us. A lot of us grew up and attended school together years ago. The family has our sympathy and love.

Tiger Pause

A positive and cheerful atmosphere made the opening day at BES quite magical. The teachers greeted their students with energetic enthusiasm which gives our students the greatest head start in the world.

As well as new students, we welcome Mrs. Beverly Harrison to our staff. Mrs. Harrison is teaching in our primary department for Mrs. Lynn Wilson, who is on maternity leave. Congratulations to sixth grader, Jeremy Reynolds, who represented our county at the State Fair in Louisville. Two of Jeremy's works of art are on display in the Ovensville area of the 4-H exhibit.

Our counselor, Miss Molly, and Ms. Saúca Morgan, have a unique class this year which will be dealing with life skills. Their first guest was Richard Ray, School Business Administrator/Finance Officer, who explained our budget sources and allocations.

The students received bus safety tips Wednesday, via closed-circuit TV. All students will participate in bus safety evacuation drills soon. Please stress to your children the importance of good behavior while riding on the bus as our bus drivers have a tremendous responsibility of delivering our students safely. We appreciate our bus drivers and hope that you will convey this appreciation as well.

Each student received a copy of the district's code of conduct. Please become familiar with the policies and help us by adding your support as a parent.

Mrs. Onna Owens, who computes our attendance, will be announcing attendance incentives at a later date. Attendance awards were presented to the following members of our staff: Bill Melcher, Jackie Lawrence, Paul Hayes, Lena Hayes, Sandy Burdine, Katreka Cash and Onna Owens.

Mrs. Tammy Stevens, pre-school teacher, would like to remind you that pre-school begins Monday, August 30.

Remember, pictures will be made, Monday, August 30.

Mrs. Theresa Gowler reads in Berea and is married to Steve Gowler, a librarian at Berea College. They have three children: Stephanie 14, Rebekah 12, and Jessica 6. A former teacher in Spartanburg, S.C., Mrs.

Local teacher attends science seminar -- A local teacher recently attended a seminar designed to relate the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) to the science classroom. At far right is Otis Prater of Rockcastle County schools. Directing the seminar were, from left, Kim Alexander and Dr. Robert Creek of the EKV facility, and Bruce Chute and Vivian McCreich. The seminar, sponsored by the Educational Excellence Consortium headquartered at Eastern Kentucky University, was held at Madison Southern High School. The event was one of many offered through EKV this summer to help area teachers implement the reforms outlined in KERA.

Gowler will provide special educational services.

Mrs. Cindy Anderkin will be our 3rd level primary teacher this year. She resides in Mt. Vernon with her husband, Rick and children Aaron, 8 and Megan, 5. A graduate of EKV, she holds a B.A. in Education. She did her student teaching at Roundstone Elementary.

Personal

We have really missed Ms. Jenny Nicely this week. Our thoughts have been with her, Hershel and their families as they recently suffered the loss of Hershel's mother, Mrs. Jamie Nicely.

Thought for the Week:

If I can think it, I can write it.
If I can write it, I can read it.
If I can read it so someone else can read it.

I am a writer!

Unknown

Bells clanged, feet shuffled, and voices whispered as school got under way at LES on Monday morning. Mr. Carter attributes the smooth opening to the hard work and efficiency of his faculty and staff. As of Monday LES had a total student enrollment of 213.

First Day Comments

When asked to respond to returning to school, goals, etc., some student comments were as follows:

Travis Wyman: "The quicker we get started, the quicker we get out."

Leslie Morris: "My goal is to improve on my friendships."

April Martin: "I've got a man teacher. Can you believe that?"

Judy Spencer: "My goal for this year is to keep my grades up and my mind on my work."

Doug Medley: "I was surprised when I saw the pictures of the ball players in the gym."

Charles Carpenter: "My goal is to work hard this year."

Steven Kidwell: "I'm new this year, but I've already made some friends."

Intermediate

Mr. Robbins' class is starting a thematic unit study on Native Americans which will incorporate reading, writing, and social studies.

Mrs. Eversole's class will be exploring "Friendship" as their first unit. The unit will touch all disciplines as students analyze, synthesize, and evaluate. Among the activities will be a friendship survey, advertisements for friends, new diagrams, and a friendship are project. Friendship fruit salad will be shared by all.

Steven Pigg: "I'm learning to read." Tommy Kuntz: "A lot of changes are going to make it better - like the lunchroom is faster."

Lawanna Phillips: "It's going to be a fun year - art, math, everything."

Counselor Connection

Ms. Cummins

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all our students back to school. A special welcome is given to our new students. This is a very special time - beginning. A time when each of us can set some goals and make plans that will help us reach our goals. I challenge all Livingston Link readers to develop a crystal clear image of that goal and keep it uppermost in your mind. In maintaining that image, you can discover the "how to" steps necessary for realizing your goal. In the words of James Allen, "Of all the beautiful truths pertaining to the soul which have been restored and brought to light in this age, none is more gladdening or fruitful of divine promise and confidence than this - that man is the master of thought, the molder of character, and the maker and shaper of conduct, environment, and destiny."

I am committed to helping all those involved at Livingston School see and reach their goals. The 1993-94 school year will be filled with many experiences for each of us as we travel on our journey toward reaching our potential.

I believe when we work together, we will get there faster!

Support services

Family Resources Center services offering multi supports for families and children are available on a daily basis. Mrs. Betty Lewis will be at LES 2-3 mornings each week for consultation or call the Central Office in Mt. Vernon at 256-2156.

Thanks to Sponsors

Livingston Elementary Faculty and Staff would like to thank the following businesses for providing door prizes during our three day workshop on Thematic Unit Development: Godfather's Pizzeria, Hiatt's & 10, Wal-Mart stores (London & Berea), Impressions of Berea, Ltd., and Pizza Hut of Mt. Vernon. LES appreciates the continued support of our business community.

Primary News

County Extension Agent for 4H Youth Development

4-H touches tomorrow today!

What is 4-H?

4-H is a world-wide organization for youth between the ages of 9 and 19, designed to help them "Learn By Doing" through practical hands-on learning experiences.

In 1992-93, over 2,000 Rockcastle County youths participated in 4-H educational programs.

Who conducts the 4-H programs?

The 4-H program is conducted by the University of Kentucky through the Cooperative Extension Service. Three Extension Agents work with the program in Rockcastle County. All other leaders and advisors are volunteers.

How do 4-H's participate?

Monthly club meetings are held in schools and in communities with special activities throughout the year. County events include: Poster Contest, Talk Meet, Demonstration Contest, Fashion Revue and Variety Show. There are also judging events such as vegetable judging, land judging and dairy judging. 4-H ribbons are awarded for participation.

4-H Projects:

Project books are provided free of charge to 4-H members. Each 4-H'er may choose one project to work on during the club year. After a project is completed and the record sheet turned in, then another project can be taken.

Projects may be completed at home with parental assistance. After-school project groups will be held in sewing and woodworking.

Parents are invited to get involved!

Parents can get involved in 4-H by assisting as leaders for a club, with project groups, as a 4-H Council member or assisting with events.

Volunteers are an essential part of a 4-H program. Share your skills and be a leader today! Contact me at the County Extension office, Richmond Street, Mt. Vernon, or by calling at 256-2403.

Watch For...

I will be coming to classrooms in the next few weeks to start organizing 4-H Clubs for this year. Please be there!

With children returning to school, many parents will be confronted by children who want a quick snack as soon as they arrive home. Fresh fruits and vegetables make a good and nutritious snack. Other snacks can provide quick energy through complex carbohydrates. Here are some recipes that are easy to prepare ahead and can provide a quick pick-me-up for your child.

After school snack muffins

Drought stressed corn? Make into silage

Hot, dry weather throughout July and into early August has left many corn producers with fields of corn with ears without grain on them. What can the producers do?

Make silage out of it. "Hot, dry weather sometimes causes corn to fail to thrive, which means there will be few ears of corn at harvest. The best way to utilize such a field, now, is to cut it for silage," said Morris Bitzer, Extension agronomist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Although the grainless corn plants can be made into silage readily, producers need to make sure they have the silage tested for nitrates, which can be poisonous to livestock if high-nitrate silage is fed, he said.

"Drought may cause plants to be high in nitrates, that sort of abatement from the fertilizer used in anticipation of a good crop of corn. It is imperative that the silage made from such fields be tested for nitrates before it is used," he said.

Producers should let the corn plant continue to mature to produce as large a plant as possible. Then, they need to harvest for silage when the plant has browned up to the ear. After harvesting and ensiling, wait for three weeks before they have the silage tested.

Bitzer suggested producers check with their county Extension agent for information about sampling their silage for nitrates.

"What if the silage is high in nitrates?"

Bitzer said that the silage can be used, provided it is diluted properly with grain or other forage.

For more information on drought stressed corn, ask your county Extension agent for agrinutrient for a copy of ID-36, "Using Drought-Stressed Corn."

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Of the important subjects of living, is dying. Death is a subject a lot of folks would rather not discuss, but is one that we must come to grips with. Let's look to the Bible for some things we need to know about death.

First, physical death is the separation of the spirit from the body. "For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also." Jn. 2:26. When our spirit leaves our body, then physical death takes place.

Death is a universal problem for humanity. "And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgement." Heb. 9:27. Again, "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." (1 Cor. 15:22). None can avoid or exempt themselves from this appointment! Friends, you and I might as well face the fact of death, it will happen to us all.

This leads to a very important point, are we ready to die? We must face Jesus Christ in judgement as Paul said in Ac. 17:31 and 1 Cor. 5:10. "For we must all appear before the judgement seat of Christ; and each of us shall receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad." Are you preparing for this day? This is another event we cannot avoid, we shall beat judgement.

Jesus Christ is the answer to the problem of sin. Jesus came to set us free from sin, Jn. 8:32-36. Jesus is the only way to God, Jn. 14:6, Ac. 4:12. Jesus can liberate us from the fear of dying, "for as much then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage. Heb. 2:14-15. Many are fearful, i.e. terrified, about dying, but Jesus can deliver us, if we are his true disciples.

Recommendation on quality and efficiency received in Frankfort

"Change Kentucky's state personal income tax system to a simple percentage of personal federal tax.

"Rewrite current state laws concerning the merit system," the personnel classification system for state employees.

"Consolidation of local human resource offices.

"Review about 400 state boards and commissions to determine if they should continue to operate.

There are just a few of nearly 100 preliminary recommendations presented at the July 13 meeting of Governor Brenton Jones' Commission on Quality and Efficiency in Frankfort. The recommendations come from commission work teams and are the result of more than 350 interviews with state employees, 70 field office visits, six public forums and more than 13,000 responses from a survey distributed in April to all state employees.

Commission Chairman James P. Gray II emphasized that the items presented on Tuesday are the first of about 200 issues developed by the work teams which are made up of state employees and loaned personnel from private companies. The commission still must review each item and any supporting documentation prior to its approval. Now it's time for the commission to roll up its sleeves and decide what we are going to include in the final report which goes to the Governor in November," he said.

According to Gray, the proposals are achievable, practical recommendations that can effect the day-to-day operations of state government. "We're certainly aware of the current budget shortfall and while many of our items include savings to the state, the commission is focusing on long-term, sustainable improvements in the operation of state government," he said.

The proposal to change the state's income tax system resulted from findings that "Kentucky's personal income tax base is increasing at a lower rate than the federal base. The current Kentucky Income Tax Form and the required attached schedules cause excessive processing and administration." The assigned work team indicated that such a move would generate more revenue while providing major cost savings.

Overhauling the 30 year-old merit system was recommended because the work team described the system as "outdated, inappropriate and impedes the ability of government to recruit and retain a competent, motivated workforce. . . . The team suggested that a task force be formed to create new policies and procedures "in plain, clear English, free of bureaucratic euphemisms and legal jargon to replace" existing state personnel statutes. It also said personnel functions have become isolated from "employee, management and organization concerns, expectations, needs and priorities" and that the Department of Personnel's mission should be revised to reflect modern human resource management practices.

The human service work team recommended combining Cabinets for Human Resource's field offices, citing as one example Floyd County where 80 employees are scattered about in five leased offices and one state-owned building.

The government operations work team proposed the review of the many boards and commissions because their proliferation has resulted in administrative inefficiencies and duplication. Also, recommendations to create any boards to address the commission's findings will be accompanied by a "sunset" provision.

Other recommendations include: "Upgrade the state's antiquated tax collection program, electronic funds transfer for large tax payers, establish a surplus fund of about four to six percent of the general fund to avoid budget shortfalls, implement performance-based budgeting for state government.

"Privatize the state's mental health and mental retardation facilities, develop a plan to divert mentally ill individuals from jails to appropriate medical facilities, streamline the management structure of the Cabinet for Human Resources at Frankfort;

"Enactment of a law prohibiting members of the legislature, statutory officers and officials of the executive and judicial branches from "interfering in the employment process," of state employees with a minimum of 20 years service and of age 50 early retirement incentive;

"Encourage state employee enrollment in flexible benefit plans, such as child-care or uninsured medical expenses providing savings to employees well as saving the state millions of dollars, reform of government-wide law enforcement responsibilities.

By hanging out after school, some kids in Jessamine County are falling in with the right crowd.

For kids having a difficult time in high school, quizzing often seems the easiest way out. But in Jessamine County, the Extended School Services Program is giving kids a chance to fit in, find friends and improve grades all at the same time.

By meeting with a small group of students after school or during the summer, program coordinators such as Beverly Freeman can work more closely with each student. Designed specifically to help students who are at risk of failing academically, the program allows kids to spend extra time within a cooperative environment. Together, students study everything from algebra to the classics of literature.

By giving students a fair shot at success, the Extended School Services Program is proving that the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) is working. Even after school lets out.

For more information on the Extended School Services Program, call 1-800-928-2111 or 1-800-KDE-KERA.

Larry and Ina's daughter, Rebecca, had gotten married the day before and we had gone to the wedding.

Larry was talking of the nice girls. Rebecca, and husband, Gene had gotten. "That'll help out the kids a lot in their new apartment to live. Everything costs so much nowadays," I said and John agreed.

Larry was laughing as he said, "Why when Ina and I got married, I only had $10 in my pocket and that had been borrowed."

John agreed, laughing, "I didn't even have a job when we had tied the knot."

They talked of how different life was years ago than what it is now and how folks made out.

Now to a happy time. A few days before this I was so thrilled and full of romance (weddings make me that way) the second week of August when we were invited to the wedding of Larry and wife, Ina's daughter, Rebecca.

Rebecca Abrams and Gene Martin were married in a lovely ceremony on Friday, August 13, 1993 by Rev. Ronald Abrams, an uncle of the bride.

at Scaffold Creek Baptist Church.

Two cute little flower girls came down the aisle scattering flowers carefully followed by a little boy carrying a small cushion with the ring, or rings on it. Nowadays each bride and groom get one.

The bridesmaids, lovely in pink satin, April Cole, and a sister of the bride, Margaret Abrams came down, each carrying a bouquet of flowers, and walking carefully as if it were a mission that someday they might make.

When the beautiful music started of "Here Comes the Bride," the audience came to their feet to honor this lovely girl in her beautiful white satin and lace wedding dress, carrying the bride's bouquet. Rebecca started down the aisle on the arm of her father, Larry Abrams.

When they reached the foot of the altar where Gene was waiting, Larry passed her over to Gene and stepped back to a seat by his wife, Ina.

It was a solemn occasion and audience.

Rebecca went up the white sheeted aisle, a single girl, to a ceremony that changed her life forever.

She was responsible for her own decisions and actions.

Then, moments later, Rebecca came back down the aisle, a married girl, a different name, and with a husband who would now make the decisions, and lead her into an unknown future.

The audience went downstairs for the wedding reception.

I meant to kiss the groom for John kissed the pretty bride but in the crowd I missed out. Gee, he was good looking too.

Among the guests, many folks from Clear Creek, were John Harding and Mary, my good friend, who was looking like a bride herself in a dusky, rose crepe dress.

Betha Martin, my cousin, was there claiming close kin to Gene as many were.

I hope Rebecca doesn't have to cook a Sunday dinner for all us kin-folks.

Since the time is in the last week of August, I'll not be writing anymore (this month).

Senior quarterback Tony

Group protesting methods used for eradication of marijuana

Reacting to the increased use of army and national guard troops and helicopters in the marijuana eradication effort in Kentucky, a group of concerned citizens have formed a non-profit organization calling itself "Kentuckians For Freedom, Inc." to oppose both the increased militarization of the eradication program, and unlawful and unconstitutional conduct by marijuana eradication forces.

The group's attorney, Mike Dean of London, says that the group's purpose is to raise public and official awareness of the dangers of using military and paramilitary forces to enforce marijuana laws, and to stop illegal conduct by eradication forces.

According to Dean, rural Kentucky is literally under military occupation from the spring through the fall.

The group complains that the eradication forces use helicopters and ground troops with automatic weapons to harass and intimidate private citizens on their own property, who are never charged with a crime.

According to the group, blatant violations of constitutional rights and illegal conduct by eradication forces occur every day in Southeastern Kentucky and among the victims and the perpetrators know it.

They say that only the unlawful conduct that eradication forces have engaged in includes:

- Warrantless searches with noisy and intrusive low flying military helicopters above and around homes, blowing dust and debris into the eyes of residents, scaring children, livestock, and damaging property.
- Uninvited helicopter landings in crop fields and vegetable gardens virtually destroying the crops.
- Warrantless trespassing and searching of areas in and around homes by ground forces who treat law abiding residents as criminals by aggressive questioning, displays of weapons, and other intimidation;

• Flagrant and gratuitous displays of automatic weapons by troops in military and paramilitary uniforms.

Random trespassing and use of private property for staging areas and for marijuana "burnings" without consent, and threats and intimidation of landowners on their own property who question the intruders.

Attention burley farmers

The AD-1026 Highly Erodible Land Certification form is required before receiving any program benefits. Burley tobacco marketing cards will not be issued until this form is completed in the Rockcastle county ASCS Office. We ask all landowners to take the responsibility of seeing that the person(s) who shares in your tobacco crop or any farm commodity files this form. Operators that postpone the completion of the AD-1026 delay in receiving their marketing card.

The 1993 MQ-36 Eligibility Statements to Receive Price Support on Burley Tobacco will be mailed to all farm operators with an effective quota on Sept. 1, 1993. This form must also be completed and if you misplace the MQ-38 mailed to you, you may come to the ASCS Office and complete one there. The ASCS Office is open Monday-Friday 7:30-3 p.m.

ASCS programs are open to all persons, regardless of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, marital status, age, or handicap.

Paramedic class set for London

Eastern Kentucky University's paramedic education certificate program, already accredited with savings lives in rural southeastern Kentucky, is coming to the Southeast Kentucky. Certified EMTs, especially those with at least a year's experience, are urged to attend an informational and organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 30 at the Kentucky Utilities building in London.

An earlier certificate class offered at EKU's Tri-Center County in Corbin graduated 11 and six more in the current class are on the final leg of their field internships.

Random illegal stops and questioning of citizens in vehicles and on foot on remote back roads.

The group says that many residents of Southeastern Kentucky who are veterans of the armed forces, are ashamed that their own country is treating them as "the enemy."

They say people are upset, not only because they feel that their tax dollars are wasted on cutting down marijuana to begin with, but because of the way in which the money is spent and the tactics used.

Attorney Dean says that people who don't live in areas where the eradication forces operate don't realize what is really going on and that it would be unacceptable even if it were only suspected marijuana growers who were treated this way, and that it is especially egregious that the eradication forces do this to everyone they come across. That is, they don't discriminate between growers and non-growers.

The group anticipates litigation will be required to stop these activities, and they are documenting complaints against the eradication forces towards that end. Their position is that the creators of the law should begin to obey it themselves.

Groups conducting homeless survey

The Cumberland Valley Area Development District (CVADD), in cooperation with the Kentucky Housing Corporation, is conducting a homeless survey to determine an accurate count of the homeless population. The deadline for this count has been extended to September 10, 1993.

A homeless person could include anyone who meets any one of the following characteristics:

- One who lacks a fixed regular or adequate nighttime residence; or
- One who is at risk of becoming homeless because their residence is not safe, decent, sanitary, or secure; or

- One who resides in a shelter designed to provide temporary accommodations; or
- One who resides in a public or private place not designed as a regular sleeping accommodation; or

- One who lives in an institution and does not have the resources to live on their own; or

- One who is forced to live in overcrowded conditions because of no other housing exists for them.

Survey information will not be kept on an individual basis, but the statistics gathered will help to identify problems, understand characteristics, and develop strategies for alleviating these problems. Funding will be sought and may be directed to our region to provide housing units for the homeless.

Please help to identify any of these individuals in your community by contacting the Cumberland Valley Area Development District at 864-7391, or your local service provider. All information will be strictly confidential.

Rockcastle native Beverly Sexton to be featured at annual Corn Island Festival

Beverly Carter Sexton, a native of Rockcastle County, is "coming home" to the 1993 Corn Island Storytelling Festival's "New Storytellers Homecoming," bringing a wealth of stories rooted in her rich Appalachian heritage.

She tells her stories with refreshing honesty, holding nothing back. As she spins her tales, her words come to life with a spirit of their own.

Sexton inherited Cherokee blood from both sides of her family and grew up hearing folktales learned from her grandparents... who learned from their... who learned from theirs. She says her stories, told and retold for many lifetimes, are merely "continuing a family tradition... your tradition of giving and sharing."

Like many Appalachian families, her lives were hard, but they always had one thing in abundance -- love. Sexton's past is reflected in the stories she so beautifully brings to life. Her stories come from the past but are alive in the present. The listener is caught up in the web of her stories and delightfully journeys with her through the spinning of her tales.

"Sexton has been careful..." says Dr. Harry Robie, Professor of English at Berea College, "...to keep the

Though each Workcamp group had its own agenda, their daily schedules were much the same. The day began with breakfast and a "meditation," usually a scripture passage or other selected reading. Then, the groups split up into three or four work crews, loaded up their materials, and friendships that came from working together. This year's jobs involved underpinning, replacing doors and windows, painting, tarring and roofing, repairing porches and much more! They were able to make significant repairs at 19 homes.

Evenings were spent relaxing at the LEAP building, talking with local residents, and enjoying the beauty of Rockcastle County. However, one group worked so fast that the first three evenings were spent making site visits and scheduling the next day's jobs! LEAP members and program participants planned a cookout for each group, to show our appreciation for all their hard work. Each workcamp received a bandanna with his or her name printed on it, as a memento of their week.

It seems that everyone who participated in the program enjoyed the one of her tales rooted in the traditions and speech patterns of her family and her country... she remains a folk artist and her performances are still authentic representations of the tradition from which she comes."

In addition to being a professional storyteller, Sexton is a substitute school teacher and a published author of several short stories. She is listed with the Kentucky Council of Arts and has traveled throughout Kentucky and the nation sharing her folktales, speakings and home-spun humor with audiences everywhere.

Sexton has performed on various television and radio programs, and appeared at numerous Storytelling Festivals, Berea College events, Educational Workshops, church groups and children's camps. She has told stories at many E.A.R.S. events in Kentucky, including the Storytelling Celebration at Iroquois Park and the Spring Ghost Tales. She was a New Teller at the 1991 Corn Island Storytelling Festival, and was the Featured Teller at the Halloween Harvest of Horror Tales the same year.

The festival is Sept. 16, 17 and 18 at E.P. Sawyer State Park and Long Run Park in Jefferson County. Information may be had at (502)245-0643.

U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell answered numerous telephone calls from constituents regarding the Senate budget vote on Friday, Aug. 6. In more than three thousand telephone calls to McConnell's offices in Kentucky and Washington, callers voiced their frustration with President Clinton's tax plan -- the largest tax increase in the nation's history. Telephone calls received were as to 1 against Clinton's "business as usual" plan.

LEAP home repair program has impact on all participants

For the third year in a row, LEAP members have welcomed two workcamp groups from Florida, the Central Florida Presbytery and Wekiva Presbyterian Church, to Rockcastle County for LEAP's Home Repair Program. They were here from July 25 to Aug. 7.

The goals of these Workcamp groups are to make much-needed repairs on local homes, and learn more about Kentucky and the Appalachian culture in the process.

Though each Workcamp group had its own agenda, their daily schedules were much the same. The day began with breakfast and a "meditation," usually a scripture passage or other selected reading. Then, the groups split up into three or four work crews, loaded up their materials, and

VA spending announced

Most of the money expended during fiscal year 1992 in Kentucky by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) went directly to veterans, according to Louisville VA Regional Office Director John W. Hagan, Jr.

"Of the more than $525 million distributed in Kentucky last year, more than 56 percent, or more than $298 million, went directly to veterans as compensation for disabling injuries or diseases incurred while in the armed forces, and for other disability pensions," Hagan said.

He added that insurance and indemnity payments, $585,000 for facility construction and 4196 million for medical services and administrative costs in Kentucky.

Rockcastle veterans received $1,829,423 with compensation and pensions getting $1,739,174; readjustment and rehabilitation, $16,434 and insurance and indemnities, $73,715.

"The Department of Veterans Affairs proudly serves those who served our country," Hagan said. "For more than half a century, VA has been a deliverer of benefits, a pioneer in medicine, a financier in education, a guarantor of home loans and an advocate for Kentucky veterans." Ken-together at the repair sites. One LEAP member said he never imagined you could get to know people so well in one week, as he and his family did with their work crew... and the feelings were mutual! Some of the workcampers were inspired to write poems about their experiences and several have written letters to local families, trading photographs and recalling memories.

Frustrations arose with the realization that some repair jobs were too expensive, too time-consuming or simply too complicated for the workcampers to handle. But both groups are ready to come back next year, to work with LEAP members and make a difference in Rockcastle County.
