The Class of 1983 Reunion Committee

Dear Editor,

I am alarmed by a bill in Congress, H.R. 1709. This bill would significantly change the current safety and labeling standards which concern dietary supplements, such as vitamins, minerals and herbs. As a Registered Nurse, Registered Dietitian, Certified Nutritionist and consumer, I would like to see this bill defeated.

The FDA should regulate these supplements to assure that they are safe and truthfully labeled. Sometimes these "natural" substances can be harmful - remember L-tryptophan? The FDA has a role in consumer protection; it is not attempting to remove the consumer's freedom of choice. FDA requires the manufacturers of these products to prove that the products are safe. FDA requires scientific proof before claims regarding health benefits can be on the label. It requires the same thing of drug and food manufacturers. Why should the manufacturers of dietary supplements be treated any differently?

I know that the vitamins and minerals in my food are natural. I am not so sure that vitamins and minerals that are manufactured in a lab and taken in pill form are natural. I hope that I can at least be given a reasonable assurance that they are safe.

Please write to your Congressman in the House of Representatives, Washington, DC, and urge him to vote against H.R. 1709.

Distant Lives feature music from faraway Bali

Bali is the locale for two documentaries separated in time by more than half a century when Distant Lives airs on KET at 11 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11. "Learning To Dance in Bali" was filmed in the 1930s by anthropologists Margaret Mead and Gregory Bateson. "Kembari," a contemporary work, follows the members of a Berkeley, Calif. gamelan orchestra as they prepare to perform Balinese music before native audiences in Indonesia.

Several times of late I've been involved in discussions having to do with investment strategies for the twenty-first century. Not that I have any cash to invest, mind you, but I am frequently in the company of people who do. I raise money for a living which means that I have to spend a lot of time talking to folks who have it to spare. So while I'm eating the lunch or dinner they're buying me the subject keeps coming up.

Some folks believe that telecommunications is the wave of the future and they're making heavy investments in fiber optics technology or pioneering electronics firms. Others have identified pharmaceutical outfits whom they believe have good shots at finding cures for AIDS and cancer and they're buying up stock in that industry. And on and on and on.

The objective, in any event, is to purchase some stocks now in companies that are nobodies now but apt to be hot stuff by or shortly after the year 2040. The ultimate goal is to be much richer then than they already are in 1993. And hey, I'm all for that. So I cheer them on and occasionally toss them my two cents worth. I tell them what I'd be doing with my money if I didn't have these car payments to make every month.

Right now my savings are contained in a big pickled bologna jar where I put whatever nickels and pennies the kids leave in my pocket after they depart for school every day. I intend to eventually invest that fund as down payment on a good double barrel shotgun so that I may better defend myself from attacking rabbits, doves and ruffed grouse. But I digress.

My intentions here are to share with you some investment counsel that I have been sharing with my more affluent friends. I figure that some of you readers deserve the same opportunity to become wealthy in the stock market as they are. It's my way of thanking you for patronizing the better weekly papers who so generously carry this column.

I came upon the idea by making a general observation of the habits of our youth.

Every night of the week when I am sitting in my back yard at sunset watching the garden grow and thanking God for another day, the stillness atop Fairview Ridge is occasionally interrupted by a distant, rhythmic booming. It will go away for a half a minute and then I'll hear it again for a few seconds only somewhat louder than before. The same thing will happen again and by the third occurrence, the booming sounds like thunder in a barrel.

On the fourth or fifth occurrence it becomes so heavy I can almost feel it and suddenly it will be whizzing by the front yard in a souped up automobile generally containing anywhere from 1 to 6 teenagers. With every thump and boom you can see the roof of the vehicle vibrate in time with the noise.

On weekends this phenomenon happens about once every ten minutes. It is caused by so-called sound systems with enough power to run the public address speakers in Rupp Arena that kids have installed in their cars so they can play their music loud enough for mom and dad to hear it twenty miles away. The coming and going happens because Highway 52 is one long series of dips and ridges. I can't hear the noise except when the cars top the ridges.

My Dalmatians will cover and try to put their paws over their ears. The pigeons that generally perch atop our silos will flap happily retreats toward Rockcastle County and Fat Cat, whom I believe may have once been struck by lightning, will incoherently and go racing toward the barn with every hair on his back stuck straight up.

"Boom! chunka! boom! chunka! boom!" they go tearing into the distance as a few leaves on our maple lose hold and come floating to the ground.

The investment strategy that I have to share with you then is hearing aid companies. By the year 2000 these kids are going to have to start looking for work and their cars are only going to be useless flaps on the sides of their heads. By the year 2020, mugged folks are going to need the strongest hearing aids money can buy for both cars and "what, what, what" is still going to be the most used phrase in the English language.

My suggestion is that you invest a few bucks in Bell Telephone and you should be able to lead whatever life-market you choose in your old age. The market is darn sure going to be there.

Heresay

By John Norman Meadows

Well, bless Bess, since I wrote about dreams a few weeks ago, a spate of comments have come my way from readers around and about Greater Wabed.

Several souls said they have dreams very similar to mine—but none saw a Buck stove attacking a flock of sheep! In fact, comments are actually incoming by folks who sensed that I might have dream-interpreting powers and want me to decipher their nightmares and sleep-time conundrums.

They are right, you know. I do have super powers—and have had ever since I went on a Tilton Holy Land Tour last summer and waded across the Jordan River, singing "Deep and Wide" as I went. (But I have a limitation—I cannot interpret my own nocturnal visions.)

Consequently, because of reader interest, I've decided to open a dream-interpretation center. I will also administer stress-reducing therapy via hypnosis. Let me help you program your subconscious mind to cope with those pressures that leave you a tattered, battered, simpering, whimpering wreck of humanity at the end of the day. It need not be—

Think what a difference hypnotic suggestion would make in your life—for only a minimal monthly fee of $19.95. Students! Make better grades and flabbergast your teachers. Golfers! Play below par. Give up swearing and flinging irons. And we men and poor women! Think of ourselves, this. Sign up in September and get a FREE autographed copy of my forthcoming best seller, The Power of Positive Shrinking.

And what a boon my program will be for old chaps! Many of you nodding wear-shippers will say "and understand, without explanation, such King James words as "trow," "dissimulation," "prostitution," "civiousness" and "heary." Furthermore, you will be able to pronounce correctly biblical place names like "Phrygia" and "Shittim" and the names of the two sons of Isaiah—Mahershalahashbaz and Shearjashub. (Picture Mrs. Isaiah sticking her head out the kitchen door, calling those boys to dinner.)

Oh, have no fear, precious souls. A hypnotist cannot induce you to do anything you wouldn't try to do in your awakened state. I cannot program you to do something ridiculous or humiliating—would I do such-like walking on all fours every time you see a policeman, or singing "The Old Gray Mare" every time you hear the word "Amen," or crowing like a rooster every time you break wind, or realize someone else has.

I plan to open my Sereneous John's Peace of Mind Parlor somewhere in Mt. Vernon by the first of the year. If only I could purchase the Bryant Building when it's auctioned! Do any of you out there in Signal Land want to test in a sound business venture?

And now I must answer a couple of letters that will demonstrate the keenness and candor of my analytic piousness. Having "held down" a number of padfolios over thirty some years, I feel obliged to answer dispatches from ministers first. Perhaps next week I can get to others, like the one from a woman in Willilla who keeps dreaming she is in a well, trying to climb out but never getting out—and finds her wallpaper ripped to shreds when she awakens.

DEAR JOHN NORMAN: I often have a dream that I'm about to preach a sermon to a large congregation that is considering me for pastor. But always something is missing, usually my tie or sermon notes, sometimes my pants! I'm puzzled. What does that mean?

DEAR PUZZLED: Fret not! (That also goes for guitarists with greasy fingers.) Your dream compliments your ministry. It means you are conscientious, that you want to be pleasing to others, and to yourself. The missing item symbolizes the fact that you try not to overlook anything in the preparation and delivery of your sermons. Preach on, good brother.

DEAR JOHN: Now and then I have a dream that it's time for my sermon. I step into the pulpit. But when I open my Bible, the pages are blank. What do you make of that? It bothers me.

DEAR BOTHERED: I wish I didn't have to say this. The blank pages will. (Cont. to A4)

When we came out of church last Sunday, I looked up at fleecy white clouds in a blue sky. The sky was so blue like the blue eyes of a pretty girl when she sees the boy she loves.

Going back to my column of last week on Rural Schools and their teachers, I wish I had space and time to tell you how some of them made out.

John says Clyde Linville was his last teacher at Scaffold Cave School. When we were talking about it while there once I made the remark to Clyde, "It's a shame you didn't do a better job, Clyde, on him."

Even though both are grown men now, a lot of water has gone under the bridge.

Clyde and John seem to have a special feeling for each other as grown-ups, teacher and pupil, do in later life. I have had so many experiences as a child student at first. Then as a teacher of other children myself in later life.

All of this history of past school-life has been brought on by my stepping out of my front door and seeing a big yellow bus full of children pass on this early September morning. I get homesick for a one room school. I send words of sympathy to the family of Jane Overbay Nicely in Livingston who passed away August 22, in Lexington. She was the wife of Kermit Nicely, deceased, both of whom were good friends when I, a young, rural school teacher, came to teach in the district of Rocky Bend rural-school near Livingston.

Several folks have teased John about seeing his Cecil Abney's picture in a register when I had to leave the place. And what made it worse was her being pretty too!

We were on our favorite eating place in Berea one night last week when I saw Jean Harding from Clear Creek after a long day's work, waiting for a "fish supper" she was going to take home for her, and husband Howard Harding to eat. I didn't know her at first as I came by where she sat waiting for the food but after taking a second look I spoke and said I hardly knew her.

It must have been because Jean had an attractive, new hair cut, I told her for she looked real pretty.

Now for some nature talk. John has a lay green vine on our porch post which has small red blossoms on it. It only blooms one day then falls off and the flowers are shaped like a star. Someone said it was called Cypress vine.

Eagle Echoes...

A new way of buying your child's school pictures begins this year! School pictures will be made on Monday, Sept. 20. A proof of your child will be sent home a couple of weeks afterwards. This year you will continue to have a variety of packages and prices from which to select. The change will be in the method RES will use for ordering the pictures from our photographers, McEachern Studios. All money will go to McEachern daily in sealed envelopes. Checks must be made out to McEachern Photographers. McEacherns will set a deadline for receipt of orders, and a $10 late fee will be added after that date.

A grateful thank you to two area businesses who are continuing to subscribe to the Courier Journal for RES students. Parents, please show your appreciation by doing business with these community supporters. Now RES students have fifteen newspapers coming in daily. Kindergarten through eighth grade classes use these papers for a variety of learning activities. Thanks again to Parsons Gas and Conway Sunoco!

Parents, be sure to "check out" the great things in the RES Parent-Teacher resource section in our school library. We have an Apple Computer available for word processing, a microfiche machine to review microfilm, and many, many books! You can even check out storybooks for your children. Some of the adult titles available: Questioning Makes the Difference, Creating Writers, Teaching Kids Math, Discipline with Dignity, The Environmental Gardener, and 40 Ways to Teach Your Child Values. The library is open every school day for you!

October 7 is the end of the first grading period. We invite parents to school on October 14 to have a good conversation with the teacher and pick up report cards and progress reports. Be sure to mark the day on the calendar. Times will be announced in the October newsletter.

The RES library will host a book fair in early October. Students will look at books on display and choose those they wish to purchase. Parents also may stop by to browse or purchase. More information to come in the October newsletter.

All parents are urged to come to our first PTA meeting of the year. While the meeting begins at 6:30 p.m., our rooms will be open for you to tour beginning at 6 p.m. PTA will be a gathering where you can hear all about what's happening in the area of decisions about RES. Our parent School Council members are Allene Cornelius and David Parsons. This year is Mrs. Cornelius' and Mr. Parsons' second term on the Council. They want to represent parents' interests well. Generally at least one of them will be at each PTA meeting. Come and let them know how you feel about the school. We welcome your input as to what is working, and what is not working at RES. You can help us make things good!

Ms. French's 5th grade class at RES made "dream catchers" as part of their Native American study. According to Native American folklore, if a child hangs a "dream catcher" over his/her bed, it will catch bad dreams and let good dreams through. Ashley Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lawson, was inspired to write a poem entitled Dreams.

"Dreams"

By: Ashley Lawson

Everyone has a dream.
Maybe to ride a laser beam,
To be a teacher,
Or preacher,
A jock, a housewife,
Or someone with a knife.
A ballerina,
Or fire slayer,
Someone from a fairy tale
Or someone who works in a jail,
A race car driver
Or a dancin' jiver.
There are many things you can be,
But only if you dream.

As a part of Rockcastle County School's World's Fair, Mrs. Cindy Ellington's 92-93 5th grade class studied the country of Israel. Using a geography unit developed by Holiday Inn and based on the PBS show "Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego," the students embarked on a journey through Israel investigating the five themes of geography. The culminating activity involved developing a "trail of clues" for Carmen Sandiego to find their mystery country. Mrs. Ellington's class submitted clues in comic book form created by the entire class. These were judged in May, and Mrs. Ellington's class entry was chosen Best in the State Winner for Kentucky. Prizes included an IBM computer and software for the classroom, a pizza party for the class, a Game Pak consisting of a Nintendo or Sega video for each class member and a $50 Holiday Inn guest certificate for the teacher. Congratulations to the class and good work Gunshots!!

The 21st Century class would like to thank Ronnie Cash and Mrs. Donna Hopkins for their informative visits this week. Mr. Cash provided helpful information for the students concerning the high school and Mrs. Hopkins generated lots of student interest in our vocational school. Wednesday, our cafeteria staff, started a breakfast quest to promote participation in the breakfast program. Participating students receive stickers and a place mat puzzle page. Mrs. Wanda Carroll, cafeteria supervisor, reports that breakfast participation increased significantly. Research proves that students who start with a good breakfast are more successful throughout the day.

The fifth grade students are enjoying a weekly visit from Miss Molly, our guidance counselor. Ms. Hamm is presenting the POPS (Power of Positive Students) program which enhances self awareness.

Remember tonight, Thurs., Sept. 9, is our Open House and PTA meeting. Open house is 6:30-8 p.m. Please attend!

Congratulations to Matthew Hayes and Jeremy Reynolds, chosen Outstanding 4-Hers of the 92-93 year.

The Odd Couple

We don't know where they came from nor how they became the odd couple but here they were on our front porch begging for food. Or at least was, a big old puppy, half starved and afraid of humans. It was his need for food that made him lie at Polly's feet and beg to be fed. Of course she fed him and tried to pet him but his fear made him hard to reach as she stooped to rub his head and soothe his hurts and coax him to stand up. It was then she found out he had a mate along that also needed attention. From somewhere close by a sharp yapping sound came and along with it came a poor bedraggled little creature to share in his good luck of finding a meal.

He is a handsome dog of uncertain parentage. His beautiful coat of blond short cropped hair and long gangly legs made me think he had a bit of German Shepherd in him but Polly swore he must be mostly hound dog because of his lanky build, big feet, long ears and loud baying voice. The pitiful little animal he seemed to be caring for was just the opposite of him, it was a tiny female, and it would have been hard for anyone to guess her breed because of the condition of her health. Evidently she had been the victim of mange or some other skin disease that had destroyed all her hair except a ridge of bristles along her back. Whoever had owned her had used a treatment of what looked like motor oil on her so her skin where the hair had fallen off was black. It also seemed to have worked for there were no sores on her, just plain black skin where hair should have been. She undoubtedly has the most irritating voice I have ever heard. It is not a bark, it is a simple yap, yap, yap, and so shrill it pierces the eardrums and nerves.

My ears are very sensitive to any sharp sounds so I cannot tolerate her yapping. His voice is just the opposite, very deep and masculine, and as Polly noticed it drifts off into a baying hound dogs are noted for.

We have debated over names for each of them but the other day it became clear what they should be. Granny and Jelro. She is tiny and feisty, very bossy him around and he is big and gentle and takes care of her needs. When he hears her sharp yap he immediately goes to see about her. Yesterday when Polly was working in the back yard and had placed her out of carshot because of her constant yapping but allowed him to stay he simple left the area and quietly went and got her and brought her back. He doesn't care that she is hairless and black and little and has an unpleasant voice, she is his responsibility and she cares for her. Would that we humans did the same for the unfortunate in our world.

Our neighbor, Genevieve Abney Hembree, has the oddest, and yet most beautiful flower that I've seen lately. It grows as a low plant and blooms only at night. The bloom looks like a horn about 6 to 8 inches across at the mouth running down several inches as a horn would do, to the stem.

Genevieve said it was called Angel's trumpet.

We saw our granddaughter, Diana Lynn Cornett and friend, Joe, in Florence last Sunday, a week ago. She had come home to visit us all from Dallas, Texas.

She wants to help me write a family history of the Paynes who lived on Clear Creek. I don't know if I can do that as so many things happened.

For instance, one bright moonlight night when on the warm waters of Clear Creek felt soft and smooth, a group of us girls decided to go swimming in our "birthday suits."

There was much giggling as Rosa McHone (Finzell), Jane Lee Payne (Dondanville), my sister, Edna Payne (Smith) deceased, and myself slipped out of our clothes and into the warm water. You talk about splashing and swimming we did it until someone said, "We better get out of here before Cleve and Frank (Payne) might come back from town, hear this noise, and come down here."

There was a rush for the bank where our clothes were scattered. We knew the fellows would carry them away if they found us.

I was saddened to read of the death of Leonard Abney, kinfolk, who used to live by us in Glades Village, Berea, some years ago. He was alone, his wife having passed away, and his children living elsewhere from Rockcastle to Indiana, Ohio and one in Florida. He talked of his sons in Ohio who visited him often.

Then, as age does us all, it caught up with Leonard and he couldn't live alone. He was taken to a nursing home close to his sons in Ohio.

John and I were so sorry we didn't learn of his death printed in the Signal, and his funeral on August 17 so that we might have gone to say a "farewell to an old friend."

Listening to the Berea-Richmond radio program, I heard the announcer say the "Anniversary of Conley and Virginia Saylor was being celebrated."

Well, I called the man at the store and said I would like to congratulate them for I'd just heard of the happy occasion.

Conley thanked me, saying they had beaten John and me by a few days. Then he said, "Don't you know Virginia wouldn't let me sleep but made me get up and come down here to work this morning!"

John and Hilda Payne Gabbard celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary on September 6, 1993.

"I think she did right," I told him. Now Conley takes to spoiling as kids do to a box of Cracker Jacks so she knew she had to break this habit.

Today, September 6th, is John's and my anniversary and the Labor Day Holiday. That was a mistake for I have been laboring ever since. You've heard "a man's work is from sun to sun, but a woman's work is never done." Boy, is that true!

My beloved sister, Angie, who passed away the year we moved back to Clear Creek had a birthday on September 2nd and it was like losing a mother.

Betty Payne Bisbee of Lubbock, Texas writes to thank me, and my boss, for making it possible for her to hear from home. She is homesick for Clear Creek.

Cleve Payne made a flying trip to Berea on Labor Day, coming by to see us but John had gone to hunt for ginseng with Larry Abrams in the hills. John stirs out when we need some fatback to cook with the beans.

I've talked too much about the little greasy country beans and the cracklin' bread until my brother, Nathan Bluford of Michigan, and wife, Laura, said they would be down in late September.

Now, he knows I'll make a big spread of hill country foods so you all help me get the names of several kinds of "hill foods" I can cook.

Why Joe Abney will get Ruth to bake a kumquat pie, he is so neighborly.

John and I are doing so well with God's help I think of this Bible verse: "Commit thy way to the Lord in all that thou say or do and he will bless you."

The hills from Galilee Baptist Church are inspiring. There is a large window in it behind the pastor which looks to the hills.

God has said, "I will look to the hills from which cometh my help." And if our eyes should stray from the pastor to the ageless hills beyond him, then we are still living for God.

Till next week: Of all the things that you wear, your expression is the most important.

Your Bible mean you don't have anything worth saying. Your dream is common among impassioned liberals and those who squander valuable sermon time bashing impassioned liberals.

Until next week, dear hearts, consider Prof. A. Nonny Mous, a little known Italian-born sociologist, whose ten-year, government study proved conclusively that most widows outlive their husbands. BCNU!

Livingston Link

At Livingston School, we are always watching our students so that we can "catch them doing well." It is one way that we work together to instill a positive attitude in our students. Parents can also help by getting into the habit of looking and finding their children doing well. Compliment them often for successes. They will work harder for that compliment than they ever will to avoid the correction. You will see, as we often do, that I CAN transfers into I DO!

Attendance
Congratulations to Kim Ayers, winner of last week's perfect attendance drawing. Kim is a student in Miss Fain's P2 class. Also, classes receiving special recognition for perfect attendance for the week include: Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Cowan, Ms. Fain, Mr. Robbins, Mrs. Ballinger, and Ms. Grigsby. Classes rewarded with pizza for ten straight days of perfect attendance were: Mrs. Cowan, Mrs. Ballinger, and Ms. Fain. Mr. Carter commends all students who had perfect attendance and thanks their parents for helping make our 99.34 percent attendance rate possible.

Drug Education
Last Thursday, September 2, Michael Robbins' 5th graders welcomed Lt. Ronald Sears to their classroom. Lt. Sears introduced the students to D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education), a 17-week program promoting a drug-free lifestyle. Sponsored by Title V, the program includes activities to help students learn to make wise choices and to say no to drug use.

Parent Partners
Mr. Carter, faculty, staff, and students would like to express our deep appreciation to two parent partners in education, Mrs. Judy Hammonds and Mrs. Jackie Jones, for volunteering their time and talents to LES. Anyone who would like to volunteer their services may contact Mrs. Deborah Cummins at LES. The telephone number is 453-2121.

4-H Clubs
Mr. John McQueary, 4-H agent for Rockcastle County, was at LES on Friday, September 3, organizing 4-H clubs in our 4-8 classrooms. By providing practical hands-on learning experiences, 4-H helps youth "learn by doing."

Watch this space next week for a complete list of club names and elected officers.

SBDM and PTO Scheduled
The SBDM Council meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 8, from 4 - 6 p.m. at LES. The PTO meeting will follow immediately at 6 p.m. Please make plans to attend.

Counselor's Connection

Given the characteristics that are dominant in each brain hemisphere, students sought to discover which hemisphere is more dominant in their teachers, parents, others, and themselves.

Students also investigated what types of learners they were. They learned that visual learners need to see graphics, pictures, written directions, and their teacher, while auditory learners enjoy listening activities and being read to, but are easily distracted by noise. They also discovered that kinesthetic learners enjoy movement, activities, and hands-on materials.

Your eyes, ears, and sense of touch play essential roles in the way you learn. What type of learner is your child?

Primary News
On Thursday, September 2, the ACF Gang (Primary 3 and 4) was visited by Larry Hammond, Director of Student Services at Central Office.

Mr. Hammond congratulated Livingston School for being the recipient of last year's attendance award. He encouraged good attendance and discussed the positive benefits such as field trips, special privileges, money for the school, and especially a good education. We want to thank Mr. Hammond for his visit. We appreciate the time he shared with us.

Intermediate News
Mr. Robbins' class is investigating acid rain and its effects on our environment. Also, students are tracing their family trees to discover whether or not they are of Indian heritage. After focusing on various well-known authors in reading, Mrs. Eversole's students are focusing on other lesser-known authors: themselves.

Children are gathering information using mirrors, scales, meter sticks, etc. to complete their descriptions.

John Kuhn visited the fourth grade on Friday to discuss the schedule of events for the LES Homecoming, September 3-5. He was very helpful and answered many questions regarding the planned activities. Students have been brainstorming ideas of songs, sounds, smells, tastes, and movements that they might observe during the homecoming. They plan to complete their lists and use the information in a written report of the LES Homecoming.

The fourth grade would like to welcome three new students to Livingston this year. They are Tosha Bowling, Adam Halford, and Amanda Shelton.

Question: How would you describe the new computer lab at LES and/or what do you like best about it?

Amanda Parker: "A lot of people can use it at one time instead of just one or two people."

Bobby Jones: "I think it's great because I'm learning to type on the keyboard."

Gloria Phillips: "It's different than before... more computers... more activities."

Joe Clark: "I've learned how to use the homebasekey and I've had a lot of other different experiences."

Laodny Mink: "There is a lot more to it with computer this year."
Clayton Powell: "The computer lab is fun... exciting... interesting... cool."

Thought for the Week
There are only two lasting bequests we could hope to give to our children: one of these is roots, the other is wings.

S.B.C. enrollment up 24 percent

Enrollment reached record numbers this fall at US Bennett College. With a full-time enrollment of 430, the College has its largest full-time student body in its 97 year history.

While many of the students are from the Southeastern Kentucky region, a strong recruitment effort has drawn a sizable number of students from surrounding states and several foreign countries.

The development of four-year programs in business administration, health, and social services and a two-year nursing program have played a key role in the growth of the student body. The expansion of the athletic program to include football, volleyball and soccer has also drawn many students to the college.

US Bennett College is in the process of expanding its physical plant to accommodate the growth in the student body. Plans also are underway to offer additional four-year academic programs, according to school officials.

Bennett hired as KDFWR Commissioner

C. Thomas Bennett, 41, has been hired as Commissioner for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR), according to KDFWR Commission Chairman David H. Godby.

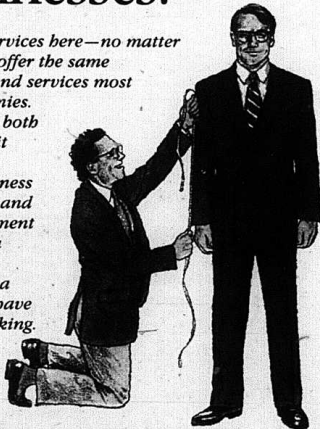

Bennett, a Kentucky native, was selected from 78 applicants. He will replace Don R. McCormick, who will officially retire from the commission's position September 30, after serving in that capacity since 1985.

The Great Escape

By: Connie Branham • Rockcastle Teen Center

Celebrate You! Finding time to celebrate ourselves is something that many of us fail to do. Celebration of our unique talents and abilities is an important part of finding our value and significance in the world. Teens from Rockcastle and Floyd County, invited because of their leadership skills, took the time to celebrate themselves and the end of summer at Camp Andrew Jackson August 20 and 21st during the Christian Appalachian Project's second Great Teen Escape.

Twelve in all, the teens began their celebration Friday evening with a movie and a visit from "Granny Fanny." Saturday the two groups were separated into teams and participated in a volleyball tournament, tug-of-war contest, and canoe race. Win or lose, the teens found encouragement and friendship in each other.

During the afternoon Reverend John Pray from Hazard spoke to the group about the importance of believing in yourself and striking out to obtain the things in life that you believe are important. After lunch, Tom Whit from Comprehensive Care in Jackson County led the teams through a series of trust activities and the elements course. On the elements course, the teens worked together to scale a 15 foot wall, cross an imaginary abyss on a rope, and balance on a log of confusion. During these bold efforts each of us was reminded that we are faced with many walls, abysses and logs of confusion in life. Working together and maintaining a positive attitude seem to be the key to success, not only on the physical obstacles but in life as well.

After dinner Ron Espy joined us for a discussion on self esteem and substance abuse. As evening approached we were all reminded that the end of the weekend was near. In the sadness of saying goodbye to new friends we took the time to recognize the growth and unique abilities found in each of us and to say thank you to everyone involved. Tired from the weekend's activities we left the familiar sounds and sights of Camp Andrew Jackson but we will never leave behind the memories and encouragement that we found there.

The teens attending from the Rockcastle Teen Center were: T.J. Bailey, Melissa Edwards, Kenny Graves, Mark Graves, Earl Shelton and Josh Lewis.

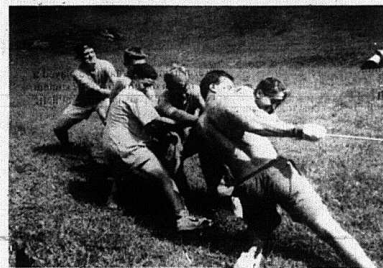

Friendship makes a fun photograph.

Home opener is Friday night

Rockets scalp Warriors 37-14 for second victory

The Rockets scored three times in the first quarter Saturday night and never looked back as they roled to their second win of the season in as many games 37-14 over the Pulaski C. Southwestern Warriors.

If there is a chink in the Rockets' armor, it is in their kicking game. There were six touchdowns punned on the board by the Rockets in the game but only once was their extra point attempt good.

The Rockets took the opening kick-off and, beginning their drive from their own 30, they marched down the field and capped the drive with a 13-yard pass into the end zone from quarterback J.D. Bussell to end Mickey McClure. Bussell's pass for the two extra points was no good and, with 8:02 left in the first quarter, the Rock was ahead 6-0.

The Rockets next score came exactly two minutes later. Southwestern began the kick-off and began their series from their own 35. They picked up 8 on their first play from scrimmage but, on the next play, the Warriors fumbled the ball away and the Rockets were back on offense from Southwestern's 46.

Jason Payne was shown for a four-yard gain on the first play from scrimmage but, on the next play, Bussell found senior end Jason Hunt with the pass and Hunt then found the end zone for the second score of the game with 6:02 left in the first quarter.

Senior fullback Shawn Thacker tried to run the ball for the two extra points but he was stopped short and it was 12-0.

Southwestern moved the ball pretty well on their next possession which began on their own 16, picking up two first downs, but two penalties and a 4th and 4 situation forced the Warriors to punt the ball away.

It was first and 10 for the Rockets from their own 20 and, three plays later, Bussell went to the air for McClure and found him on the 41. On the next play, Bussell kept the ball and scampered 59 yards for the third score of the quarter. This time, Hunt's kick was good and the Rock was ahead 19-0.

Following an offensive series for the Warriors, which netted them nothing, Doug Cromer did some fancy footwork on the ground and Bussell hit Brian Carter for two passes and it was 1-10 on the Warriors' 8 yard line. On a third and 3, Bussell faked twice and kept the ball to walk into the end zone for the fourth TD of the game for the Rockets with 6:01 left in the first half. The kick for the point after was good.

Southwestern had moved the ball to the Rockets 40 when the second fumble by the Warriors returned the pigskin to the Rockets on their own 41. But, after a pick-up of five on their first play, the Rockets returned the favor and turned the ball over to the Warriors on a fumble.

The warriors first score of the game came in this possession. Following a long gain by junior running back Rico Perkins, the drive stymied for two plays but, on a 3rd and 12 situation, senior quarterback Josh Smith dropped back to pass. Unable to find an open receiver, Smith tucked the ball away and drove to the Rockets' 5 for a first down.

The Warriors put 6 on the scoreboard on the next play but a fake kick, that turned into a pass attempt, was intercepted by the Rockets and it was 25-6 with 1:12 left in the half.

A Rocket threat early in the third quarter, set up by the third Warriors' score of the game, fizzled with the Warriors taking over on their own 7.

The Warriors were unable to sustain a drive on their series and had to punt the ball away.

Shawn Thacker did some hard-nose running for the Rockets and this, combined with an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against Southwestern, set up the Rockets fifth score of the game with 2:00 left in the third period.

Payne ran the ball twice, the second time going into the end zone for the one. The kick for the extra point attempt was blocked and it was 31-6 with 2:00 left in the third.

The Warriors had to punt the ball away on their next possession and it was time for the J.V.'s to show their stuff.

Sophomore quarterback Jamie Livville marshalled his team down the field and, with 7:05 left in the game, junior tailback Jason Cromer went in from the 11 for the Rockets final touchdown and a 37-6 margin. Payne tried to run for the two extra points but was stopped short.

The Warriors final score of the night came on the next series and was set up by Rico Perkins, who returned the kick-off to the Rockets 15. The Warriors picked up a first down before junior running back Shan Ellis went in from the three. Perkins added two to the Warriors' score by finding his man open in the corner of the end zone and the pass was good and the score was 37-14.

The Rock's starting quarterback led the team in offensive statistics. Bussell passed for 129 yards and two touchdowns while rushing for 66 yards and two touchdowns.

Senior linebacker Louie Davis had another outstanding game in defense collecting ten tackles and recovering one fumble.

Senior Mickey McClure had a good game on offense and defense as well. McClure caught a 13 yard touchdown pass in the first quarter on a crucial third down play. McClure also collected five tackles, one sack and one fumble recovery. McClure, Davis and Bussell were named Wendy's players of the game.

Besides having a good game offensively Bussell also intercepted one pass.

Jason Payne carried the ball 14 times for 43 yards, while Shawn Thacker had 42 yards on nine carries. Michael Shafer, who set out entire second half because of a slight knee sprain had 21 yards on four carries. Doug Cromer had only 11 yards on five carries and Mike Tackett had three yards on one carry. Senior Jason Hunt had one pass catch for 49 yards and a touchdown and Brian Carter had one catch for 10 yards. As a team the Rockets gained 389 yards on offense while giving up only 91 to Southwestern.

Besides Davis' ten tackles and McClure's five, Stacey Kirby had two tackles, Jay Stevens, three, Chris Goff, four, all of which were in the second half. Goff and linebacker Jerry Adams were suspended for the first half of the game because of a curfew violation.

Others getting tackles were, Aaron Cox, one, Jason Hunt, two and one sack, Doug Cromer, three and one sack, Brian Mink, three tackles and one fumble recovery, Jerry Adams, one, Gordon Sowder two, Donnie Eversole, two and Mike Tackett, four. Monday night the Rocket freshman and junior varsity teams traveled to Lexington Catholic and both teams came away with victories. The freshman won 16-13 and the J.V.'s won 20 to 0.

Next week the Rockets host Dunbar High School of Lexington in the Jamboree Bowl at RCHS.

Clark at Cumberland

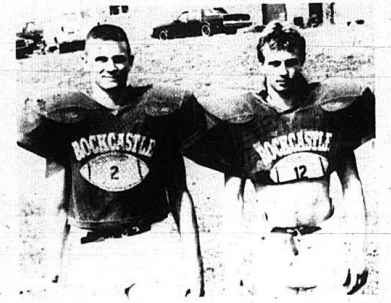

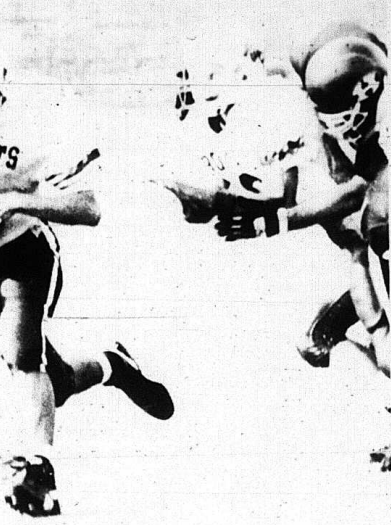

Trent Clark, a freshman from Mt. Vernon, is a member of the 1993-94 Cumberland College Indian Golf Team. He is undecided in his major.

This year's schedule begins on Sept. 14 when the team will travel to the David Lipscomb University Invitational in Nashville, TN.

The Indians, under the direction of Head Coach Bill Sergeant, have won three consecutive NAIA District Titles and have been ranked in the NAIA top 25 for the past three seasons.

Mickey McClure, 85, above, J.D. Bussell and Louie Davis were chosen Wendy's Players of the game for the performances against Southwestern Friday night. In the photo at top, Doug Cromer, #10 looks for running room against Hazard. The Rockets home opener is Friday night.

Livingston Homecoming Committee Chairman, Del Ponder, welcomed visitors the 1993 Homecoming, which was held in Livingston during this past Labor Day weekend. Ponder is shown above with former Rockcastle County marines, who were on hand for Saturday's festivities.

Shell rates two Curry stores 100

By Susan Mitchell
Special to The Sentinel-Echo

In a recent inspection done by Joe Wheeler, national Shell Oil Co. account representative, Laurel-area Curry Express Mart's received two perfect inspections — Laurel Lake Shell at 175 exit 29 in south Laurel, and Renfro Valley Shell in Mount Vernon.

Both were awarded 100 percent on the Image Inspection. Although this is not the first time a Curry Express Mart earned such a high score — it is the first time two stores did so at the same time.

Since 1989 Curry Oil Co., based in London, has not placed lower than third overall in Shell's state Image Inspection.

Among other things, the stores were graded on overall appearance and cleanliness — inside the stores as well as outside. They also were graded on their displays and signage.

Although this is not the first time a Curry Express Mart earned such a high score — it is the first time two stores did so at the same time.

The store's Customer Care also was graded. In order to score high, the stores could not have any customer complaints for the year.

Other stores graded include: • Crossroads II (Corbin), 99.64, • Parkway Shell (London), 99.9, • West London Shell (London), 98.87.

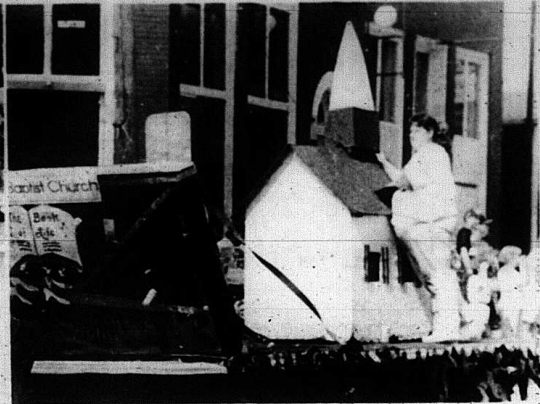

Manager of the Laurel Lake Shell is Van Loomis, while Danny Smith manages the Renfro Valley location.

One killed; two injured

Dale Boswell, 37, of LaGrange died Saturday on I-75 about 6 miles north of Mt. Vernon. He was traveling south about 9:50 a.m. when he struck a tractor-trailer parked in the southbound emergency lane. He was pronounced dead by Deputy Coroner Roy Martin.

Two Crab Orchard wren escaped serious injury Saturday morning about 10:30 when their car was rear-ended on I-50 in front of Cilgo. Darlene Reynolds and Chrystal Smith were taken to the Rockcastle County Hospital where they were treated and released.

Babbage urges verification of voter records for possible purge

Rockcastle Countians should check with the county clerk to see if they are among the nearly 100,000 voters currently being purged from the lists of eligible voters, Secretary of State Bob Babbage advised.

"Voters need to verify the accuracy of their voter registration status before the registration books close in the county clerk's office on October 4," Babbage said.

"Persons who have moved, have married or changed their name, and have not corrected their voter registration should check with their clerk," Babbage said.

The State Board of Elections selectively mailed about 185,000 notices of address verification. Nearly 100,000 were returned by the postal service as undeliverable.

18th Fall Fair is Oct. 8, 9, 10

The changing of the weather to cooler days and night hours in the Kentucky Guild of Artists and craftsmen's Fall Fair. This year is the Kentucky Guild's 18th Fall Fair and its best yet. Over 100 juried artists and artisans will present their works for sale at beautifully wooded Indian Fort Theater at Berea, Oct. 8, 9, and 10. Come and see the best potters, weavers, woodworkers, glass artists, jewelers, and metal workers in the region. Daily activities include demonstrations, live music, story telling, children's projects (Saturday and Sunday), and traditional folk dancing. Join us for a fun filled day for the whole family.

Indian Fort Theater is 3 mile east of Berea on Hwy. 21 east. Admission is $3.50 for adults, $1 for ages 6-12 and under 6 is admitted free. Indian Fort Theater is handicapped accessible and parking is free. No pets allowed in the fair grounds.

For more information call the Kentucky Guild, 606-986-3192 or Berea Tourism Commission, 800-998-5263. Or write the Kentucky Guild at P.O. Box 291, Berea, Ky. 40403.

Kentucky law directs the state board of elections to mail registered voters who may need to update their name or address a notice of voter verification every two years. Verification notices which are returned as undeliverable by the postal service are recorded and the information is sent to the proper county clerk.

County clerks who have not heard from voters whose forms have been returned as undeliverable are to remove the voter from the roll of eligible voters.

"With most local government offices up for election this November 2, it is very important that as many voters as possible make the decisions regarding their elected leaders," Babbage said.

Ten free trees

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September 1993.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

"These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said.

New tax law good news for some low-income taxpayers

If you earn less than $23,760 per year, then the Revenue Reconciliation Act passed by Congress recently, just put more dollars in your pocket. The amount of the Earned Income Credit, a special tax credit, which is intended to assist the so-called "working poor," was increased in the new law.

In 1993, the tax credit was worth $1,434 for those with one child (or $1,511 for taxpayers with more than one qualifying child). After 1993, the credit will increase to a maximum amount of $2,038 or $2,527 if the taxpayer has two or more qualifying children. As a result of the new law, the earned income tax credit is now extended to childless workers aged 25 to 65 earning less than $9,000.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between October 15 and December 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's news magazine, Arbor Day, which includes regular features about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by September 30, 1993.

The earned income tax credit reduces the amount of income tax paid (if any) and is intended to offset some of the increases in living expenses and social security taxes incurred by working. The credit has no effect on certain welfare benefits, such as AFDC, Medicaid, SSI, food stamps and low income housing.

Individuals who qualify for the earned income tax credit can request advance payment of the credit from their employers. The amount of the advanced payment is limited, however, to 60 percent of the maximum allowable credit. Any employer who makes a payment to an employee is able to deduct the amount of the payment from the Federal withholding it would have paid currently to the government.

Kentucky native John Michael Montgomery at Renfro Sept. 26

Central Kentucky native John Michael Montgomery has found his place at the top of country music charts, proving to the nation what Kentuckians have long known: John Michael is a country music force to be reckoned with. He will demonstrate this on Sunday, Sept. 26, when he appears at Renfro Valley.

John Michael shares billing with two other country superstars for this outdoor concert. Country legend George Jones headlines and hot country group McBride and the Ride support this triple bill event.

Does John Michael find sharing the stage with the legendary Jones intimidating? Not really. He prefers to focus, instead, on his audience. "The reason I've been working so hard at this for so many years," he explained, "is because of my fans. If I didn't have people to play for, making music just wouldn't be meaningful. But to be able to go out there and know that people appreciate what I do makes music the love of my life."

John Michael is no stranger to the stage. He has been performing for audiences since he was five years old. As a child, he spent many weekends performing with his singer/guitarist father and drummer mother, learning to love the music they were playing. At 15, John Michael bought a guitar for $65 and joined with other bands performing in central Kentucky.

His introduction to Lexington fans began with performances at Austin City Saloon and a city-wide following quickly expanded to a wider regional fan base.

Atlantic Records executives visited Austin City at the invitation of John Michael's manager and immediately signed the handsome young artist to a recording contract.

John Michael did not disappoint; the record label. His powerful voice and compelling charisma are present in full measure on his first album, "Life's A Dance." And single releases from that album consistently hit the top positions on country charts.

"Beer and Bones," John Michael's current single, appears to be another chart-topper. He calls it "a good old jukebox tune, like 'I'd hear growin' up." On the softer side, the sexting ballad, "I Love The Way You Love Me," is one of John Michael's personal favorites. "It strikes me like one of those good old slow country songs that makes your skin tingle and puts a lump in your throat," he said.

Tickets for the September 26 outdoor concert are on sale at the Renfro Valley box office. Admission to the three-act concert are $19.50 ($16.50 before Aug. 31). Tickets may be reserved by telephoning Renfro Valley at 1-800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638.

Hay can be harvested Attention wheat and feed grain program participators

Hampton Henton, Jr., State Executive Director of ASCS announced that farmers not affected by 1993 natural disasters can harvest hay from their ACR and CU for payment acreage (set aside acres) and donate the hay to livestock producers, in counties that have been approved for emergency haying and grazing by ACR and CU for payment acreage, or the Livestock Feed Program.

"Producers must request authority from their local ASCS County Committee before starting to harvest the hay for donation." "This special authorization was initiated based on requests ASCS received from Kentucky farmers," Henton said.

"Farmers will need to furnish ASCS the name of the recipient to receive the hay," Henton said. The hay can not be disposed of through cash sales, or exchange of goods or services. Henton cautions farmers not to start cutting the hay without first receiving approval from their local ASCS office.

For additional information contact the Rockcastle County ASCS office, 115 Richmond Street, Mt. Vernon, or telephone 256-2525.

Five generation get-together

Roscoe and Lucie Webb of Brodhead had a houseful of babies in August! Their daughter, Opal Dowhour, came from Kokomo, Indiana. She brought her daughter, Terri Pokraka and Terri's two children, Taylor, 2 and Ashley, 1, all from Whiting, Indiana. Coming from Palm Harbor, Florida was Roscoe and Lucie's first granddaughter, Vickie White. With her was their first great granddaughter, Angela Wilkos, also from West Palm Beach. Anela is only three months old. Arriving just in time for five generation pictures was Roscoe and Lucie's second daughter, from Dallas, Texas, Melba Fullen. She is Vickie's mother, Angela's grandmother and Anela's great grandmother. Everyone had a wonderful visit and houseful of women and babies sure livened up Roscoe and Lucie's home!

Five generations of Webbs were together recently at the home of Roscoe and Lucie Webb of Brodhead: Melba Webb Fullen, Dallas, Tx., Angie Hallam Wilkos, West Palm, FL, holding Anela Jean Wilkos, Vickie Hallam White, Palm Harbor, FL. Bottom row: Mr. and Mrs. Webb.

School has started so please watch out for our children!

Running FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

Robert H. "Bob" Brown

I am running for District Judge in Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties in the upcoming November election.

On September 11th, I will run 25.5 miles from the steps of the Pulaski County Courthouse to the steps of the Rockcastle County Courthouse in Mt. Vernon.

This 25.5 mile Courthouse-to-Courthouse run is a symbol of the determination, dedication and commitment I will bring to the office of District Judge. It also represents the energy and enthusiasm I will maintain while in office.

I will be leaving the Pulaski County Courthouse at 7 a.m. Friends and supporters may join me for various distances at any point along the route. A rally will follow the run at the Rockcastle County Courthouse at 11 a.m.

I know what it's like to go the distance. In recent years, I've participated in several marathons, including the Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C. and the Smoky Mountain Marathon in Townsend, Tennessee.

Whether it's on pavement, pounding out mile after agonizing mile, or in the courtroom, pounding the gavel of justice, I will go the distance for you.

Apples abundant, excellent

Nearly perfect weather last spring has resulted in a bumper crop of apples for Kentucky producers.

"This year's crop is of good quality and quantity. Those who love apples need to make sure they visit their local orchard for the freshest, best tasting apples," said Jerry Brown, Extension horticulturist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The Gala variety is now ready and other varieties will be maturing in the coming weeks, he said.

Brown gave these tips for buying local apples.
Pick your favorite type; take good care of them by handling them gently and keep them cool. Depending on variety, apples may be stored through Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"If you don't know which variety you want, ask your local grower for a sample taste. Some apples are especially suited for cooking; others for eating fresh. If keeping quality is important, your local grower will be able to answer questions about each variety," Brown said.

Brown said that locally grown apples generally are tastier than shipped-in apples, which must be picked firm enough to ship well.
