IN MEMORY OF

In Loving Memory of Charles Seals, date of birth - June 24, 1920. Climax, date of death - Oct. 23, 1993 in Hot Springs, Ark. Graveside services held Oct. 27, 1993 by Rev. Terry Dorsey. Inierred in Peak Cemetery. He was the son of Frank and Sarah (deceased) Miller Seals, formerly of Rockcastle Co. Brother of Matt and Roy Seals, and Leonard Seals who is deceased, survived also by 3 nieces and 8 nephews. The Twenty-Third Psalm. The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want, he maketh me to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside the still waters, he restoreth my soul. He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anonisest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

More pigs means more money

Kentucky's economy will be boosted by half a billion dollars annually if Kentucky pork producers meet their goal to increase hog numbers by 1.2 million head marketed each year.

The goals were set as part of Ag Project 2000, which seeks to increase agricultural income in the state by 67 percent by the century's end, said Mike Ovesen, director of the Kentucky Pork Producers Association.

"These goals are realistic and doable, if we set the stage so that hog numbers can expand to their potential," Ovesen said.

Ovesen, along with other pork industry leaders, put together a strategic plan to strengthen the state's swine industry. That plan, called Prospectus for Kentucky's Swine Industry, outlines steps that need to be taken so that Kentucky's swine industry can thrive.

"The increases that we see for swine in the state will not only mean more money for swine producers, but also jobs - both on and off the farm," he said.

The report estimates that for each 200,000 head increase in swine numbers in the state, some 630 jobs will be created.

"Kentucky swine producers can make a real difference to the state's economy. Look at Iowa: Pork production is the major enterprise for many areas of the state. North Carolina is becoming a dominant producer of swine. Kentucky can, too," he said.

"Ovesen noted that it will take more than enthusiasm on the part of pork producers to achieve the goal.

"One of the major roadblocks faced by the industry is access to ready capital to expand. Lending institutions need to understand agriculture enough to realize its potential. Farmers are among the most reliable groups in paying back their debts to banks. We need bankers to understand that and give the industry a boost," Ovesen said.

In Iowa, he said, state officials implemented a loan reserve program that guaranteed loans for qualified borrowers and reduced the risk for the lenders. And another program in Iowa helps beginning farmers with low-interest loans.

"These kinds of programs could really help our industry," he said.

The prospectus also calls for more training and development of swine producers and workers, research into biotechnologies that would allow more pork to be produced for less cost and research to find new ways of handling animal waste and odor. Leaders of the pork industry have put forth tremendous efforts to get urgently needed swine research and training facilities at the University of Kentucky West Kentucky Research and Education Center at Princeton. We feel this is the key component to expansion of swine production in Kentucky," Ovesen said.

Ovesen said that industry response to the prospectus has been excellent.

Volume 107 - Number 5

Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456

In Tuesday's General Election

Cromer beats Bailey; Maguire beats Brown

John Holbrook, Amos Burdette, Bill McKinney, Donald Bullock win.

By: Ray McClure

Incumbent Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary R. Cromer handily won a second term as mayor defeating councilman Bob Bailey in Tuesday's election by nearly 2 to 1.

The vote was Cromer 423 and Bailey 235.

It was a spirited campaign with Bailey claiming he wanted to be mayor, but Cromer countered that Bailey missed several council meetings.

But when the votes were finally tallied Cromer had scored a virtual landslide.

In the Mt. Vernon City Council race newcomer Karen King led the council ticket with 377 votes, followed by Clark "Joe" Mullins with 374, Terry Owens with 325, Wayne Gregory with 299, and Lou Vanhoose with 256.

Don Jones and incumbent Councilwoman Clarice Kirby lost their bid. Jones had 244 votes and Kirby 237. Voters were to choose six out of eight.

In the District judge's race, Walter Maguire won the two-county race over Robert Brown by 1,312 votes, including ballots from Rockcastle and Pulaski Counties.

Bert Brown won Rockcastle 1,231 to Maguire's 954 votes. But Pulaski made the difference with Maguire Pulaski total of 5,527 votes. Brown got 3,938 votes in Pulaski.

In the magistrates race, two incumbents won again. Donald Bullock got 417 votes and write-in candidate Joe Clark got 277; and incumbent magistrate Amos Burdette, a Republican, won over Democrat Shaun Tracy Poynter. Poynter got 266 votes and Burdette, 307.

In the District 2 race, newcomer Bill McKinney defeated another newcomer, T.G. Laswell. McKinney got 382 votes and Laswell, 231.

In District 2 Magistrate Jack Bradley was unopposed. He got 235 votes.

In the District 1 race incumbent Magistrate Charles D. Holbrook, who was defeated in the primary, and a Republican, got 70 votes in a write-in.

Winner in District 1 was Democrat John Holbrook with 243 votes. His Republican challenger Shannon Bishop got 208.

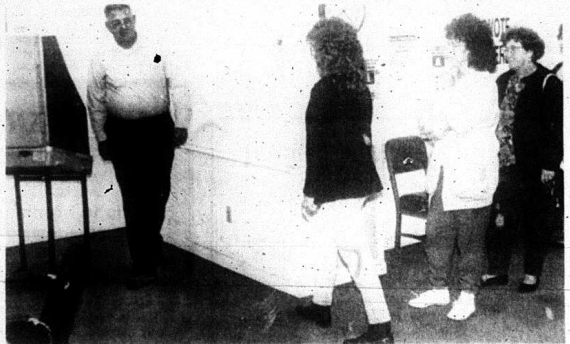

The magistrate vote pits three "old timers" with two newcomers to make county decisions along with Judge/Executive Buzz Carlouts.

In the constable race in District 1, Republican Randall Stevens defeated Democrat Tim Bostic 247 to 107.

In constable District 4, Democrat John Kemper got 149 votes but it was not enough to defeat Republican Leonard D. Miller who got 261. District 2, Jim King, with 181; District 3, Roy Parriman with 191; and District 5 Constable Lloyd Bennett with 212 were all unopposed.

Others unopposed who received votes were as follows: Roy Carmichael, 1,174; Denver Miller, 1,522; H.E. "Elmer" Hale, 1,345; Buzz Carlouts, 1,499; Jefferson

Louise Graves, Bobbie Saylor and Ehyllis Holbrook wait in line to vote at the North Mt. Vernon precinct Tuesday afternoon. Mt. Vernon precincts had the largest voter turn-out because of the contested Mayor's race.

McDonald's donates $500 to Scholarship Fund

Brad and Sundae Park, owners of McDonald's Restaurant in Mt. Vernon, recently gave the Rockcastle Community Scholarship Fund a tremendous boost by their recent donation of $500. In giving the donation, Brad Park stated, "The community has been very kind and receptive to us since we opened our restaurant in Mt. Vernon and we would like to give something back to the community. Sundae and I feel that this scholarship fund is a wonderful idea and we are happy to be a part of such an effort to encourage higher education."

Since McDonald's opened on June 22 of this year, Brad and Sundae have proven themselves to be community-minded business people by sponsoring educational shows in the elementary schools of the county as well as sponsoring a Little League team and donating to Mt. Vernon's Beautification Fund. McDonald's also recently sponsored a free community Halloween Party at the restaurant which was attended by approximately 150 local children.

In addition to McDonald's donation, the Rockcastle Community Scholarship's $100 Club has received contributions from the following: Rockcastle County Retired Teachers Association; Clinton Graves; Keith Smith; Henry Owens; Joe Lambert; Dorothy Clark; Willis G. Coffey; Jeffrey T. Burdette; Diane Masters; Sowder Nursing Home; Mt. Vernon P.T.A.; Appliance Service Center.

Donors have been: Elbert and Norma Eversole; Video Fantastic and Kentucky Utilities.

These donations bring the total deposited in Citizens Bank of Mt. Vernon to $27,469.77. The Scholarship Committee applauds the community spirit of these donors and challenges other Rockcastle County citizens and graduates to make a contribution to help meet this year's goal for the fund drive. A scholarship donation would be an excellent way to honor a loved one while promoting higher education for our local students. Those who contribute $100 will be listed on a brass plaque at Citizens Bank in Mt. Vernon. Large donations will receive individual recognition. For further information, contact Shirley Cox, 256-2345 or Charlie Napier 758-8993.

Defense motions may delay murder trial

Rockcastle Circuit Court Judge Dan Venters will decide this week whether Allen Gilpatrick of Mt. Vernon will go on trial Monday for the murder of his wife.

Gilpatrick's attorney, John Clontz of Mt. Vernon has filed a motion that is before Venters at the present time, requesting that the charges against his client either be dropped or that a continuance be granted in the case.

In his motion Clontz asks Venters to dismiss the murder charge against his client because of police misconduct.

Allen Gilpatrick is charged with the February 7th 1993 slaying of Virginia Gilpatrick.

As of press time Wednesday, Judge Venters had made no ruling on Clontz's latest motion.

But, on October 26th the circuit judge entered an order granting a change of venue in the case.

In his ruling Venters wrote that there was so much knowledge of the case among Rockcastle citizens that he would move jury selection in the case to Lincoln County. However, once the jury is selected in Lincoln the trial will be brought back to Rockcastle Circuit Court where it will actually take place.

Mrs. Gilpatrick was found by her husband brutally beaten in her

Mt. Vernon home on that Sunday evening. She died a few minutes later at the Rockcastle Hospital.

According to police reports Mrs. Gilpatrick's assailant beat her almost beyond recognition. Allen Gilpatrick told police that he was at work across the street when the murder apparently took place.

Hardees opens

Mt. Vernon's latest fast food restaurant has opened on the I-75 interchange at Kenfro.

Hardees opened at 5 a.m. Wednesday after several months of construction.

Mrs. Shirley Cox, right, committee member of the Rockcastle Community Scholarship Fund, received a donation from Sundae Park of McDonald's Restaurant of $500 for the fund recently. (Scholarship Fund update next week).

Charges dismissed

A charge against Ricky Wesley of Mt. Vernon charged with assault in first degree was dismissed in Rockcastle District Court Monday.

Wesley had been charged with slashing Mark Singleton across the face.

Singleton told the judge he signed the complaint but did not read it. Since probable cause was not found the charge was dismissed.

Motorcycle stolen

A motorcycle owned by Rufus Smith of Mt. Vernon was recovered by deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan last week.

Four juveniles were to have been charged in the theft. Value of the motorcycle was $300.

The first snowfall of the season didn't particularly hamper traffic Sunday morning although scattered reports indicated that it did cut down on the number of trick-or-treaters Saturday night. An inch of the white stuff fell Saturday night and Sunday.

Viewpoints

Points East

By: Ike Adams

Last Wednesday evening I almost got killed five different times within the space of three minutes. And I wasn't even handling snakes.

All I was trying to do was get close to the Food Lion in Richmond's newest shopping center. Unfortunately, between the road and the stores there is a vast parking lot that was negotiated.

Now the parking lanes are clearly marked off like hash marks on a sergeant's arms. The long aisles between them are likewise conspicuous. It's pretty clear to almost anyone who cares to glance around that there are places to park and places to drive. Even places where it says you should yield or stop.

So I pulled into the entrance of the lot and all of a sudden I took up and see, bearing down on me in a bee-line across the lot at seventy miles per hour, a brand new Lincoln Town Car. Paying no attention to the markings, this car had determined the straightest line from the K-Mart store to the lot entrance and was headed in that direction in overdrive. Crossing parking lanes like they didn't exist and oblivious to the rest of the world.

"Rite over that's where we came in maw," the youngest woman must have uttered.

And Mom must have said something like, "Hooooooonooogies Honey. We can be outta here in ten seconds!!"

Meanwhile I'm following the arrows that lead you into the place but I manage to stop just in time for Mom to jam on her brakes and come to a smoking, burni-rubber-smelling stop in front of me. She looked up and grinned.

I jumped out of my car and she rolled down her window. "I'm sorry Honey," she said. Did you have the rights of way?"

Then she floored it and went on her way as I motioned my middle finger in such a way that I thought they might see it in the rear view mirror. So I got back in the car, still fuming, and about the time I put the Prizm in gear, here comes a big, late-model F250 Ford Pick-up barreling out of Lowe's lot. It's driven by a hefty fellow around 30 years old, I'd guess, with no apparent mental capacity. The guy has his elbow propped up in the window and his lips pursed like he's whistling along to whatever Billy Ray Cyrus is singing on the radio. As far as he's concerned the parking lot is the biggest darn road he's ever laid eyes on and it's one way. He saw me coming and laid the gas to his truck as he crossed the parking lanes. I gave him the finger too as he whizzed in front of me. He honked his horn, waved, and kept on going.

And he's probably lying awake at night trying to figure out where he's seen me before and why I seemed so anxious to get his attention now that he's had time to reflect on it.

"He looked a lot like Buck Owens," this guy is probably telling his wife right now. "And Honey, he acted like he knew me!!!"

It occurred to me then that the smart thing to do might be just park a quarter mile from the grocery store and walk the rest of the way. But I kept on going.

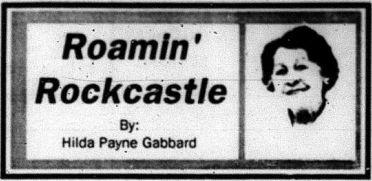

Five seconds later I notice that two cars are coming in opposite directions at identical rates of speed and they're headed straight for each other. And I'm plumed blank in the middle. I gritted my teeth and floored the gas pedal. I glanced up in time to see them barely miss each other and both drivers are making rude, middle-finger gestures at me as they fade into the shadows.

I shaken and nervous, pull into a parking slot in front of the Food Lion and out of nowhere a Camaro comes screeching to a stop in the spot in front of me. Driven by a high-school air-head applying lipstick and admiring her visage in the rear-view mirror before she came grill to grill with me and screamed, "You cut me off, you @#!$%&*@!!" I mean this girl actually thought that two, vacant, nose-to-nose parking spots constituted a right of way. We made the normal gesture to each other as she threw it in reverse and went zig-zagging back through the lot. Screaming curses out the window until she was out of hearing.

The bottom line is that there is a television series for the making that has to do with the fact that people in Central Kentucky make no difference between a carnival bumper-car amusement ride and the new parking lots they suddenly find at their disposal. Hardly anyone is playing bingo anymore. The fun and exciting thing to do is drive over to Richmond and play "Guess Who Has to Stop" in the parking lots.

If you think that the Beverly Hillbillies and Barney Fife made rural folks look stupid on television, come on up to Richmond and I can treat you Swirling snowflakes that looked like white feathers fell on this neck of the woods on October 31st. Sunday which old timers said would be the number of snows we would have this winter of '93 and '94.

I had already read that a weather forecaster said we were going to have a bad winter.

That's enough to cause us to go up into the loft and bring down the heavy covers like feather beds, blankets, and the quilts grandma had left you, when she passed away, and you'd stored in the overhead space or loft until winter really gets here. If it wasn't here Sunday night the 31st, then we aren't going to have a winter. We've had a beautiful fall season but to show you how sneaky winter can be, some trees still have red, yellow, brown and green leaves on them.

It sure looked funny to see snow hanging to the colored leaves.

Boy, didn't the cedar, pine, spruce, and the "kissing growth" of green mistletoe look good in their green foliage.

I say kissing because if anyone was caught under a bunch of green mistletoe with its waxy white berries, they got kissed by any fellow around.

Lots of girls got kissed that way at parties, when I was younger, but I never had any luck as a single girl.

When I pretended to stop under the mistletoe, the boys pretended they didn't see me and looked another way while they went in and out at a different door.

John said Henry Volmer, my good reader in Indiana, called on Saturday to see if we really were going to have the Spice Hunt for the weather was terribly cold and rainy with snow flurries.

By now, you know it's all over, we didn't get to go and all snipes are safe for another year.

The old timers who got this wild card going in the hills worked a time when the moon was full, and made it the "yearly celebration" for the hill country folks. Many people living in and out of the state, came home to go on the wild hunt just to have fun.

If the weather was bad, then that was it. No other time would do. No having a party later so take what comes, the planners decided, and wait another year.

This has been going on for many years with the crowd meeting at the Three Forks of the road in Disputanta at the old post office.

Cars were parked up and down the roadway near Clear Creek for a long way.

A party would most always happen out of it when the men folks would build a big fire in the middle of the woods.

Some roasted weiners, marshmallows, some brought pies. (I believe Ruth Abney made a kumquat

Well, bless Best! What a week or so it's been! A "white" Halloween, laboratory discoveries that startle one's mind (whatever a mind is), plus an extra hour of sleep when the time "changes" on Saturday night.

Bro. Hilby Wright, the new pastor of Harmony Chapel Church out on Big Split Road had to wait until Monday to turn back his sun dial, because the inclement weather shut out the sun over the weekend. (I'm told Bro. Wright is a supra-fundamentalist. And, word has it he's one of the most conservative men ever to perambulate through the halls of IBTS (the Incontinent Brethren's Theological Seminary, north of Kansas City).

But precious readers, let's not use good newspaper space to discuss religious mind-sets. Rather, let us today cogitate on recent scientific findings that portend vast changes in our lives.

Isn't it just marvelous that a pill with the potential to dissolve fat in the thighs is just around the corner! (Of Third and Main, if I remember correctly.) Once that project is completed, pill-producers plan to concentrate on a prescription for eradicating compulsion between the ears—although that market was tested a few decades ago and found little use. Some readers my age surely remember when a Harvard chemistry professor combined Metracal (the Slim-Fast of the fifties) with Prell and offered it to the public as "Metracal-the Shampoo for Fatheads."

And here's good news for those who are seriously contemplating

This is Chesley Cornett, the latest son in my line and the first great grandchild. Being my son, Chesley Cornett's grandson.

Halloween Party

Two oil lamps, one perched on each end of the mantle high above the stove fire place and several electric candles snuggles in fresh greenery that filled the fire place in lieu of a real flaming fire was all the light we had in the house when a group of family and friends finally settled down to stargazing Friday evening at the farm.

It wasn't witches, goblins or howling black cats that had descended on the farm house, it was real live people searching for entertainment. We, a group of family and friends, were the live beings and the entertainment was of our own making.

What better way of spending an evening before Halloween than at the farm telling about strange experiences many of us have had during our lifetime. These were not ghost stories nor graveyard tales they were experiences some of us had and were willing to share with others with like experiences. Some of them were, of strange dreams that seemed to be a warning of some future event and the event did happen. Some of them were about the sixth sense a few people have developed that has allowed two people to be on the same wave length and know what is going on in each others lives without being told before time. It is a known fact that four legged animals use this instinct or sixth sense as a way of getting along in the wilderness or with mankind. A few incidents were told of a recently deceased loved one's presence being felt strongly enough to bring peace and comfort to the grieving ones left behind. Strange, you may be thinking, for grow up people to be thinking such weird thoughts or doing such queer things as repeating them but I'll bet most of you have had some of these same experiences that could not be logically explained and was assigned to tell about it. Or maybe you have talked about them and would have enjoyed being in on our evening of fun. For it was that, an evening of laughter and good will and no one questioned the authenticity of the speaker of the strange thing that took place in his or her life.

It wasn't all talk about the unknown things without explanation that took up the evening. Lights were turned on in the dining room and kitchen and everyone gathered there for the food that is always present at any gathering. As all other gatherings of women each tried to outdo the rest by bringing their favorite dish. That is, all but me. I had thought popcorn and coffee, soft drinks and maybe mulled cider would be sufficient but when the cakes and pies and fried apple pies began to appear I realized my ideas were once again wrong. Uh-huh the coffee was a must and the mulled cider was a big hit but so was all the other good things piled high on the table.

One of the things I enjoyed most was how little group of thirteen relatives and friends was constantly mixing and drifting off into twos or threes and forming new conversation corners. No one was left out of talking about what they were interested in yet no one seemed to feel obligated to listen to something he/she wasn't interested in. Not that everything being said wasn't interesting but in a limited so much can be listened to in a limited time. I somehow managed to get in a little time with each and all of they. Haven't had a chance to talk to Tommy Graves alone in years and we found ourselves in the kitchen, looking through the serving window into the dining room where almost every one else was gathered, having a good old fashioned talk about things in the past and about some of his plans for the future. And I got better acquainted with Christine, Roger's wife, while I was showing her and Linda my favorite bedroom upstairs, than I have in all the years she has been in the family.

This party came about when Carolyn Keim, Verna Graves' daughter, who is also my niece, and I discovered we had the same interest in socializing by doing the unusual things. Then we decided the farm house was the perfect setting for what we wanted to do. And it was.

About noon on Friday I stopped and picked up Bessie Cromer, whose presence is a must at any gathering on at my house, and we headed for the farm. The heat would have to be turned on, the lamps filled with fresh (coal-oil) kerosene, and the apples picked up to fill bowls in case anyone would want to nibble on an unsprayed apple straight from the gnarled trees in the corner of the yard. We gathered in greenery to fill the fire place and was sure enough chairs were scattered about to take care of all comers and a few aghast scattered about in case someone got cold chills. Once again I was in the height of my glory,

I was preparing for a party.

By the time Verna, Carolyn and Tom arrived, just before dusk, everything was in order. The dogs had been satisfied with enough food to keep them in the dog house so they wouldn't be a nuisance and the coffee pot was on. By the time they got their arms unladen and their contribution of food on the table another car arrived with Tommy and Linda Graves and Linda's mom, Laura Cromer, with their arms loaded with food, soon emptied so hugs could be given all around. Soon another car arrived and it was Roger and Christine. The party was on. After a call to see if Vivian and Glen Renner, my neighbors, and Verna's relatives, were coming Vivian arrived alone. (Maybe Glen was afraid he would be telling ghost stories) but his excuse was he had to go to work early the next morning. The last to arrive was Tommy and Linda's daughter, Tracy, and her boyfriend. This completed our party of thirteen people on a Friday night before Halloween. It couldn't have been planned better.

About midnight, after plans for a Christmas party had sprouted, everyone but Bessie took off for their separate abodes. That left Bessie and me alone to mull over the joys of the evening.

Listening to the rain falling on the roof above my favorite bedroom upstairs, Bessie and I finally fell asleep; then awoke to a misty morning and dogs asking to be fed too.

Letters to the Editor.....

Dear Editor,
I'm curious as to why there hasn't been any news or coverage of the Youth League Football this year as there has always been in the past years.

Each week we have been anxious to get the Signal and check the scores and see some plays. To our disappointment there has not been any coverage.

I have kept clippings and scores from the time my son started football in the third grade. This year we have none, and this may be the last year for the regular 7th and 8th grade football since there is preparation for the middle school.

After all these are the future Rocket players and though it may seem trivial to some readers, it is important to these players and parents, just as important as the Rocket news is to the Rocket players and fans.

I do appreciate the fact that we can turn on WRVK on Saturday mornings and get the update on the radio. I'm just sad that my father can't hear and gets most of his news from the family and by reading the paper.

He has two grandsons that play on the 7th and 8th grade team and a grandson that coaches one of the teams and we like for him to be able to read about them and know how they are doing.

I feel the Youth League Football deserves coverage as they have in the past.

Thanks,
Diane Bradley

Dear Editor,

Very involved in the mission to try and maintain our school at Livingston, we formed our Committee to Save Our School. Our intentions and direction seemed very clear, Save Our School. In some way that committee was infiltrated and negative message began to emit. Rumors of "secret meetings," petitions to remove our current principal (which is an untruth) and messages sent home to parents, many quite disturbing phone calls and finally the letter in last week's Signal. A letter was sent home from school to each parent with a copy of this letter that appeared in the Signal along with the only "petition" anyone has been able to locate with the statement of the faculty's support of our principal complete with signatures on a separate page. This did not cause us to support our school, we supported the mission to save the school, ONLY we support Mr. Carter.

This letter commended our principal on all the improvements he has made and that the Majority are supporting him 100 percent. Then we noted on state that it is hard to believe that so many changes could happen in only one year and three months.

This was a direct slap to our former principal Robert Jerry Mink, who devoted 27 years of his life to LES. He earned and won the respect, loyalty and love of every child who was fortunate enough to attend school

We are fully prepared to continue our seemingly squelched pursuit to save LES not only under a committee or representative that would so openly flout from the objective! We will continue as a community to embrace any obstacle to maintain our school!

pie which was one of the best). Pies of every sort were brought by the women folks to go with the big pot of coffee that was kept hot.

When the moon would get so high, groups were formed to go out and chase the snakes into a large bag which one fellow would hold open until the snipe would be driven into the bag.

There have always been so many folks at the hunt, and getting more each year, that we sent groups out in four directions with a leader who was to be an old hand at the game.

Joe Abney said he'd take a group toward Chastain graveyard to the east, and on to Clinch. They were to get the volunteer to hold the bag.

Earl Hammond picked his route toward Upper Clear Creek, and on to Big Hill country where Robert Chastain would meet them with some hunters in the northern route.

Jeremy Reynolds' name was inadvertently left off the 6th grade honor roll at Brodhead Elementary.

The Eighth District PTA meeting was held October 25 at Kastle Inn with our principal, Mark McKinney giving the welcome. Those attending were Debra Bustle, Mandy Carpenter, Shirley Marlin, Rita Hayes, Ruth Spears, and Mrs. Judy Adams. Seven members of the Performing Arts "Showstoppers" under the direction of Mrs. Pam Martin provided the entertainment. Thanks to Mrs. Martin, Brad Spears, Matthew Hayes, Heather Shivel, Leann Frith, Kristy Frith, Bethany Blanton and Sonya Hensley who performed marvellously. Last week being Earthquake Awareness Week, Mrs. Owens, assistant principal, requested each class perform drills.

The SBDM Council met Tuesday evening, November 2 in the cafeteria. Remember, these meetings are open and you are encouraged to attend.

Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 7 p.m. will be an excellent opportunity for you to attend and observe our school board in action. Members of our school board are George Poynter, chairman, Terry Burton, George W. Griffith, Mrs. Deborah Whitehead, and C. Douglas Mullins and of course, our superintendent, Bigge Towery Jr. will preside. They will meet in the library.

The PTA meets Thursday evening Nov. 11 in the cafeteria. If you are not a member of BES PTA, please consider joining. You can send your money to school or pay at the meeting. Membership is $3 single or $5 double.

The 21st Century enjoyed a visit from Rufus Hood Jr. a representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation

London branch. Mike Bryant from the Department of Social Services spoke on family violence: We would like to thank Mrs. Pam Chaliff, Rockcastle Bookmobile driver for her visit and allowing each student to check out a book from the bookmobile.

The fourth grade classes of Mrs. Katreka Cash and Mrs. Vicki Scott did "Pumpkin Math" for a Halloween activity. The children brought their own pumpkins which they identified, classified, and recorded weight and height in standard and non standard form. They estimated, then found actual measurement of their pumpkins. The class also planned a party for which they prepared a budget using estimation, comparison shopping, and visited the local grocery Foodland, to compare prices to those of Wal-Mart stores. The class would like to thank Mrs. Mabel Randolph and staff for their patience and help. Mrs. Katreka Cash's class enjoyed a pizza party as a reward for good attendance.

Mt. Vernon Elementary's Primary Entry Level has begun a unit on Thanksgiving. They are reading "Who Took the Farmer's Hat?" The students are learning rhyming words and the letter I. Those celebrating birthdays are Matthew Taylor on November 6th, Gerald Bradley on the 19th and Brittany Smith on the 26th.

Mrs. Maples' class is presenting "Silly Hour" plays. They are studying oceans in connections.

Mrs. Roark's class is studying about "Native Americans and making teepees. Student celebrating birthdays are Melissa Hopkins on November 2, Chris Tolle on the 4th and David Miller on the 15th.

In Ms. Adams' class, students are beginning map skills in connections. They are learning to use multiple-step problem solving involving addition and subtraction.

Mrs. Cameron's class is also studying about Thanksgiving and Native Americans. Leader of the Week is: Crystal Chesnut. On Friday, October 29, students gave a Halloween play about "The Littlest Pumpkin." They enjoyed their visit to the Dinosaur exhibit in Lexington.

In Ms. Clark's 4th grade, Josh Hale won the Poster Contest. The class went on a field trip to Cedar Rapids Recreation Center for a P.E./Math project last Thursday. Students are beginning a research paper on endangered species. In math, they're making a scaled diagram of one room in their home. They are practicing for a play that they'll perform for parents around Thanksgiving.

LONDON TOBACCO MARKET SALE DATES ANNOUNCED

The Department of Agriculture today announced that the London Tobacco Market will have a Substantial Increase in the pounds of tobacco it can sell each day. The London Tobacco Market can sell 700,000 pounds of tobacco each sale day this year as compared to 500,000 pounds per day last year. Steven McDonald, farm service manager at London Tobacco Market, said "This is a real positive for our farmers in this area. Now more farmers can sell their crop here local, and can get it sold before Christmas."

The London Tobacco Market can officially begin receiving tobacco at all warehouses on Tuesday, November 9, 1993. The first sale date is Monday, November 22, 1993. Sales will continue until December 16, which is the last sale day before Christmas. In January, sales begin again on January 4 and will continue until one final clean up sale on Tuesday, February 8.

Last year, the average selling price in London Tobacco Market was $182.27, which compares to an average of $180.32 in Lexington. "I think we have a crop the companies want, so we should do just as good if not better this year," said Steven McDonald.

knows about it, said he had gone on three or four hunts years ago and he'd be glad to lead a group south toward Lower Clear Creek and get William K. Bullen to go along since he knew the land.

Now Wayne didn't say anything about the potholes, ditches, and brush they'd go through.

That left the western route through Scaffold Cane hills and hollows to Eli Chastain and Junior King. They would come out at Fairview, into Conway and Brindle Ridge country where Mike Berry lives. Now Mike just goes along because there's always a lot of pretty girls in the crowd. I meant to put pretty Shirley Abney with that route so Mike could help her over rough places.

There's many "love matches" that came from the hunts and a wedding or two.

The biggest surprise to me was my brother, Cleve Payne, said he and Blanche were going with whatever group that came their way.

I had asked Cleve if he cared for a bunch of snipe hunters crossing his land.

"Law, no, I'll even go with them myself and get Blanche to go too," was his answer and you could have knocked me over with a feather.

Bertie Parsons of the branch bank of Berea National told me she and her husband, Jimmy Parsons were going. She had to threaten to not make any more hot biscuits for breakfast, or hide the butter from him and the crapple jelly to spread on one. So he had to promise to go. Boy, I bet he was one man who was glad it snowed.

Cindy Anderkin, Richard's sweetie pie, was going to hide her husband's long johns so he'd spend time shivering and shaking while he searched for them and they missed the hunt.

Sarah and Jason turned "chicken" and wouldn't go.

Young Dr. Bill Stewart said he could not make it this year. I was sorry about that for I wanted him to go and to get even for all the needles he has stuck in me, if I'm a patient of his, if he fell down over a cliff.

Cecil Abney had already promised to hold a bag if they catch a snipe and that's never been done but we are hopeful.

Well, the snipe hunt for '93 is over. I hope Susan Tomes wasn't too disappointed in not getting to go on the hunt with us.

Superior Market in Berea really tore it with their Moonlight Madness stuff in Saturday. They went mad until 12 o'clock at night. The owner, Conley Saylor's pretty wife Virginia, was so ashamed of him and the way he dressed, she stayed in the office most of the time.

I can't begin to tell you about the way he looked in the clothes he wore for the man didn't look as if he had much between the eyes!

The Madness Sale was to run until midnight and folks kept coming in and filling their carts.

Gary Gaye gets my vote for being ugliest clerk among them, though Kenny Harrison came a close second with his made up face.

Gary dressed as an alien from outer space with a sharp pointed head and large ears covering his own.

His clothes were a mixed up job in color, sizes, and tags. I went to London with John on business and it was such a pretty drive of rocky hills, green woods and blue water.

This is what all Jerry Morris sees as he drives down the highway every day to his new job at Brooks Pontiac-Buick-Moors Company as Sales Manager for his division.

I had called his cute wife, Virginia Morris, to ask the name of the company where Jerry worked.

Jerry was busy with a customer so we talked with Jim Boone of Mt. Vernon who is also a car salesman. He said he'd really enjoy a column in the Signal and liked Roamin' Rockcastle. So I went to thank Mr. Boone for being one of my good readers.

Into the supermarket walked a tall fellow, who looked at me and started laughing. "It isn't the Duck Woman who likes ducks so well, she raises them as pests!" and we met Dave Hayes from Berea also.

When I worked for Mr. Hall, Editor of the Citizen, a few years ago, Hayes was on the staff and did photography work.

He put a picture in the Citizen of my five white ducks walking from the pond near us to the yard in "duck fashion," that is one duck leads and the others fall behind each other.

I didn't know Hayes had made this picture until I saw it in the paper.

"Why that's my yard and my ducks," I told Dave Hayes.

He asked me if I'd like to have the original picture and gave it to me. The ducks are long gone but I have their picture.

Then we talked to Jerry and he was saying how well he liked his job.

We had bought our car and John's truck from him when Jerry was a car salesman at Britton-Olds in Berea.

On our way back to Berea, we traveled up U.S. 25 and we came near Livingston, I saw Fort Sequoyah and asked John to stop.

A very attractive woman was coming into the yard of the Gift Shop so advertised.

"I'm looking for Lucille Carlofus," I said.

"I'm Lucille. Won't you come into the shop and see all the lovely things that we sell?" The woman was stylishly dressed as an artist would.

I explained we were on the road home to Berea and I had wanted to meet her after reading of the "Woman of the Year" title in the Signal that she had been given on the celebration of Livingston Day.

When I told this lovely woman who I was, she laughed and laughed and held my hand saying, "Oh, how much we enjoy your column and the paper, you don't know!" Lucille said.

I asked her if she and her son, County Judge Buzz Carlofus, would join us on the snipe hunt.

"I know the Judge will be glad to go, and he wouldn't mind holding the bag for a group to catch one," she said.

We promised to come back and visit the place, to see all the pretty things she has to sell! They are going to open up several features there for tourist attractions.

She didn't know what she had let the Judge in for by saying he would go on a snipe hunt with the rest of us. But the man is okay until next year.

Till next week: If we can send one man to the moon, why can't we send them all!

"Harry Carey" Drink a lot of coffee! We've been informed that caffeine works against depression. And let me add that you'll likely lose weight going and going to the bathroom.

There's more, friends! If you're prone to partake of the spirits, so much so that you crave them, try Extract of Kudzu. Tests show that hard-drinking, Syrian golden hamsters, treated with the extract, soon overcame their cocktail predilections.

It's funny at first glance, but somebody is going to get killed real soon. And that's not a laughing matter.

preparing good ole water. That's the goose! Fruth, in case some unbeliever thinks I conjured it. (How does "goose" truer differ from the "plain ol' truth")?

Kudzu extract is nothing new. Since 200 A.D., Asians have used it to combat alcohol addiction. But I'll advocate this kudzu concoction only after test prove the draught enables Bluegrass hamsters to forego mint juleps.

And now—the most startling announcement. A human embryo is being cloned! Talk about "medico-social-ethical" issues! (I saw that phrase in a magazine recently—sounds intellectual, don't you think? If only I knew what it meant!)

Beloved, don't believe it! Cloning, like drippings of kudzu, is old hat. It was first done in the fifties. (What a decade!) And I was personally acquainted with the man who pulled it off—none other than Dr. Karl Offenheimer, my college chemistry teacher. Here's what happened. (It's so sad.)

Prof Off, as we called him, was one of those brilliant souls who, like Einstein, fled Nazi-Germany in the late thirties. One day in the fall of '57 he used a tad of tissue taken from his torso and cloned a likeness of himself—an identical likeness. So Prof Off named the clone Karl Offenheimer II. We called him "Karly."

Karly, like Prof, was brainy. He helped in the lab, did research, and sometimes taught classes. (We were never sure which prof was Prof.)

Karly was the perfect partner for Prof. Almost, that is. Unlike Prof, he had no irksome habit—Karly cusped. Listen, he put me and my father to shame, and we were sloshes when it came to imparting unimpaired speech.

Karly had asked when he spewed out some of the most sickening, vituperative, acrid, and utterly profane lingo I've ever been exposed to. Prof Off, however, overlooked that flaw because Karly was such an excellent assistant.

But time changes everything. And it did so to Prof's tolerance of Karly's unseemly utterances. One humid July afternoon, Prof and Karly were working in their private lab on the sixth floor of Valence Hall. Karly gave in to the sweltering heat, took a seat on the sill of an open window, and began deploring the weather—in his bad habit vernacular.

Prof was already bothered by the sweltering heat, and when Karly cut loose, it was more than Prof could take. He rushed over, grabbed Karly by his belt and behind, and heaved him out the window! That was the end of Karly.

Poor Prof Off. The police came and arrested him. And six months later, Prof was given "life in prison" for making an obscene clone fall.

to a real, live, yokel show that will demonstrate just how genuinely stupid a bunch of people really are. It even makes Bevis and Butt Head look like geniuses.

You can train dogs and cats and several species of rodents to follow big directional arrows. But don't try to do it in a Richmond shopping center parking lot unless you want to get smashed by a driver with far less sense than your four legged critters.

We've got all kinds of people in all kinds of cars that somehow got drivers' licenses and they're shopping in Richmond now. And believe me, your average rat knows much more about negotiating a parking lot than many of the humans I've been encountering lately.

It's funny at first glance, but somebody is going to get killed real soon. And that's not a laughing matter.

For math, in Mr. Napier's class, students are learning about square centimeters, feet, and yards. They did 3 portfolio pieces and built their own triangles. In reading, they are working on a story called "Storm Cellar." In science, they are starting a chapter about the 5 senses. In spelling, they are doing suffixes. John Holbrook visited their room to talk about child abuse. He also showed the students magic tricks and wood carving. The students are looking forward to having Brian Collins from W.K.Y.T. TV's Channel 27 on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. His visit will be part of their reading rubric on Storm Warning.

The Last Frontier 4-H Club met on Monday, Nov. 1. This is the MVES junior high club. Officers are: Andy Hale, president; Cory Bailey, vice president; Tiffany McClure, secretary; Stacy Mullins, pledge leader; Cherie McHargue, song leader; Kristy Lovell, game leader. The club sends get well wishes to one of our adult leaders, Mr. Coffey. The club made plans for possible community service projects in December.

Counselor's Connection

High Standards - Higher Ground KIRIS (Ky. Instructional Results Information System) is an assessment program that monitors progress. Here for quick reference are a few facts about KIRIS:

KERA (Ky. Education Reform Act) mandates that students be tested in grades 4, 8, and 12. However, the program's concepts are being adopted at all grade levels by teachers who recognize the effectiveness of this new approach.

The assessment program reflects new standards in education. Kentucky expects proficiency from all students and is committed to helping them meet these higher standards.

In the past, annual "achievement test" measured what students knew. Kentucky's new performance-based assessments measure what students know what they can do with what they know. Kentucky wants students to be able to apply knowledge in situations they will face throughout their lives.

The annual assessment has three parts:

1. multiple-choice and short-essay questions;
2. performance tasks that call for students to work together in groups or individually to solve simulated, real life problems.

3. portfolios that present each student's best work collected throughout the school year (Writing and Math). In the new assessment program, no child "fails." Instead, the assessment results place him or her into one of four performance levels:

Novice: The child is beginning to show understanding of new information or skills.

Apprentice: The students has gained more understanding; can do some important parts of the task.

Proficient: The student understands major concepts, can do almost all of the tasks and can communicate concepts clearly.

Distinguished: At this level, the highest, students have a deep understanding of a concept or process and can complete all important parts of the task. The students can communicate well and use extension.

The performance levels are based on standards from the 6 Learning Goals, (see 75 Learner Outcomes derived from Kentucky's 6 goals).

Kentucky wants all students to reach the proficient level and be Proficient Learners.

The assessment measures both student progress and school success.

How do you Judge a Funeral Home?

When choosing a funeral home, you can compare costs, you can compare facilities, you can compare staff.

But the most important factor to weigh is the Service.

After all, that's what you will truly remember and appreciate the longest.

This is the Home that Service built, recommended and selected by more Rockcastle Area Families.

Schools are evaluated on the progress students make from one assessment period to another.

Livingston Elementary is making progress. The school needs its parents to join in working to meet each child's individual needs. We invite and encourage parents to come to school and ask questions regarding their child's education.

The faculty and staff are learning techniques and strategies that can help each child reach his/her potential and lead a successful, productive life.

If you have questions about the KIRIS assessment, cooperative learning, Writing/Math Portfolios, or any other matter, please contact me, Deborah Cummins, at 453-2121.

Livingston Music Department: Jamie Cornelius

Mrs. Jamie Cornelius' music classes have enjoyed a fun-filled week of Halloween music. The primary classes learned about improvisation, and all the students became "pumpkin" in her pumpkin patch" as they performed their own improvisational dance. Mrs. Bullock's, Mrs. Paul's and Ms. Becky's classes have also been working on a song for fall, which will be performed at the next PTO meeting. Fourth and fifth grade music classes also learned how to improvise on the Orff instruments while singing "I've got those Halloween Blues." The song was sung in the style of Scott Joplin, a famous ragtime composer.

The Junior High Chorus is busy rehearsing their Christmas musical entitled, "The Curious Case of the Christmas Carol." We're all anxious to see how it turns out! Fifth and sixth grade students were recently chosen to attend the annual CKMEA Elementary Choral Festival in Richmond, Nov. 5th. Students representing LES in the 5th grade are: Ladonya Mink, Leslie Morris, Amanda Parker and Kim Rountree. Sixth grade students are Christina Malfahey and Stephanie Bangard. We wish them lots of luck and congratulations!

Extended School Services
Extended School Services began on Tuesday, Nov. 2 and will be offered to students through March 3. All classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday from 3:10 to 4:10. Bus transportation will be provided. Please check a schedule for specific dates.

This year students can benefit from Extended School Services in two ways. On Tuesdays, the program will be a traditional approach. Students may receive tutoring assistance (classwork, homework, portfolios, etc.).

On Thursdays, students will participate in four 3-week sessions: (1) Computer lab, (2) First Aid, (3) Self defense, and (4) Visual and Performing Arts.

LES is fortunate to have so many teachers, staff members, and parents working in our Extended School Services program.
Academic Team Wins
The LES Academic Team posted its first win of the season last Tuesday night when they defeated Broadhead 9-8. Team members include Lillian Kuntz, Travis Wynn, Damien Eversole, Kim Bosher, Stephanie Hamilton, Kristy Sturgill, Conley Durham, and Bobby Phelps, manager. After falling to MVES and RES earlier in the evening, Livingston's record is now 1-2.

On Nov. 16, LES will travel to Broadhead to face Science Hill, RES and BEES.

Attendance Incentives
Adam Halford, a fourth grade student in Mrs. Eversole's class was last week's winner of the weekly attendance prize drawing.

Mr. Carter recently announced that an attendance contest will be held from Nov. 1 - Nov. 24, based on the highest percentage of homework at their seat.

There will be two winners, one for Primary classes, and one in grades 4-8. Winners from each category will receive transportation to the Regency Cinema.

Girls Win

The 7th and 8th grade Lady Devils defeated Broadhead 26-25 in a game played Thursday, Oct. 28 at LES. Chastity Hensley sunk a free throw with 3 seconds left on the clock to claim the victory.

In their regular season game, the Lady Devils will travel to Roundstone to face the Lady Eagles. Mrs. Jetz reports that her teams have enjoyed playing the other teams in the district and says the good sportsmanship exhibited speaks well for the students of Rockcastle County.

Question of the Week:

What do you like best about yourself?

Kellie Lovell: "I'm funny. I like to laugh."

Greg Thomas: "I'm a good bike rider because I practice a lot."

Boyd Smith: "I'm a good basketball player because I like it and I practice a lot."

Leslie Miller: "I like my hair the best because I fix it all the time."

"Amy Elliott: "I like the way I run because I have to practice to run good."

Angie Newcomb: "I like the way I learn and the way I read because I learn new words."

Jeff Carpenter: "I like my being able to have fun because my friends play with me."

Stephanie Pigg: "I feel happy all the time because I play a lot at home and swing on the swing set. I'm a good speller, too."

Robbie Carpenter: "I like my muscles."

Joseph Renner: "My reading. I like to read about dogs and cats."

Thought For the Week:

"If it is not right, do not do it; if it is not good, do not say it."

Castle Chorus hosted Fall Chorus Festival

The Castle Chorus hosted the 1993 Fall Chorus Festival on Tuesday, October 19. Mrs. Joanna Ward along with the high school choir members were joined by directors Mrs. Jamie Cornelius and Mrs. Mary Whitlock and over 400 specially selected eighth grade members of the Livingston, Mt. Vernon and Roundstone Choirs.

This year the students had the privilege of working under the direction of Mrs. Margie Wilcox. Her enthusiasm and love of music kept the over 100 students pumped up and motivated throughout eight hours of rehearsals. The evening performance included a variety of styles from Broadway, spirituals, to movie themes which incorporated Latin from "Sister Act," and the hit by Queen, "We Will Rock You."

A highlight of the performance for the special guests was hearing the selected high school members who represented Rockcastle County in Louisville and the students selected to audition for the All-State choir singing, Turtle Dove.

In Memory of Jeffrey Paul Payne
This Thursday should have been your 19th birthday. But you left us five months ago and took a part of all your family and friends with you. There's not a day that goes by that we don't think and grieve for you. You were so special to so many people. I just hope you know this some how. It's going to be so hard to get through your birthday and the upcoming holidays without you. It won't mean much without you. I'd like to be able to wish you a happy birthday on the 4th and tell you I love you with all my heart for now and always. Your Aunt, Ruth Etta Kirby!

Host Mercer County at 7:30 p.m., Friday

Rockets outlast Middlesboro 39-36

By: Richard Anderkin
The Rockcastle County Rockets football team is headed for post-season play for the third straight year after defeating Middlesboro 39-36 Friday night.

The win over the Yellow Jackets gave the Rockets a 4 and 1 district record and second place in their respective district. The Rockets will host Mercer County in the first round of the playoffs Friday night. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

Mercer County will bring an 8-2 record to the Rock which finished 9-1 in regular season play. The RCHS coaching staff thinks that Mercer County is probably the best team they have played all season. "The only two losses Mercer has are to Danville and Anderson County," said head coach Tom Larkey. "We are in for a battle Friday night and I hope our kids are better mentally prepared than they were against Middlesboro," the coach said.

Friday night's game was somewhat of a milestone for Larkey, who guided the Rockets into their 100th game as head coach and came away with his 74th victory against just 26 losses. The Rockets are 31 and 5 over the past three seasons and 64-16 over the last seven. Larkey is in his ninth year as head man of the Rock.

Friday night's 36 points by Middlesboro was the most scored on the Rockets by any opponent this season. "The team was just not ready to play," said Rocket defensive coordinator Tony Saylor. "I think they may have been looking past this team because they had won only three games," he said.

"We will be ready this week, I think our players realize just how good Mercer County is and what kind of effort it is going to take for us to win," Larkey said.

The last time the Rockets faced Mercer County was also in the playoffs two seasons ago, when they came away with a 30-6 victory at home. "That was two years ago and two different teams, it won't be that easy this time," Saylor said.

There were some bright spots for the Rockets in Friday night's game. Senior Doug Cromer rushed for a season high 152 yards on just 16 carries, scoring one touchdown.

Quarterback J.D. Bussell threw for 143 yards on eight completions. Bussell also ran for a score and threw for one, that to split-end Mickey McClure.

McClure had two catches, including the touchdown for a total of 32 yards. He also made three of four extra point attempts.

The other starting end, Jason Hunt had 63 yards on three catches, two of which came on crucial third down conversions and Mikhael Shafer had 48 yards in receiving on 3 catches. Shafer also rushed for 61 yards and two touchdowns.

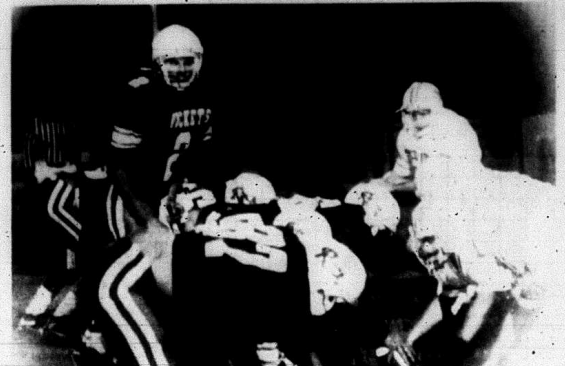

Fullback Shawn Thacker also had an excellent night on the ground, gaining 103 yards on just 12 carries. Halfback Jason Payne had 34 yards on 6 carries.

The Rock offense racked up a season high 514 yards of total offense gaining 371 on the ground and 143 through the air.

On defense, linebacker Louie Davis led the Rock with 8 tackles. Jason Hunt had seven tackles, three of them sacks, Brian Mink and Gordon Sowder had five tackles each, while Mickey McClure and Mikhael Shafer each had four tackles. Jay Stevens and J. D. Bussell each had three tackles. Stevens had one quarterback sack and Bussell had an interception. Mike Tackett and Chris Goff each added two tackles.

"The Rock defense surrendered more yards to the Yellow Jackets than any other opponent this season, including Corbin, who handed Rockcastle their only defeat.

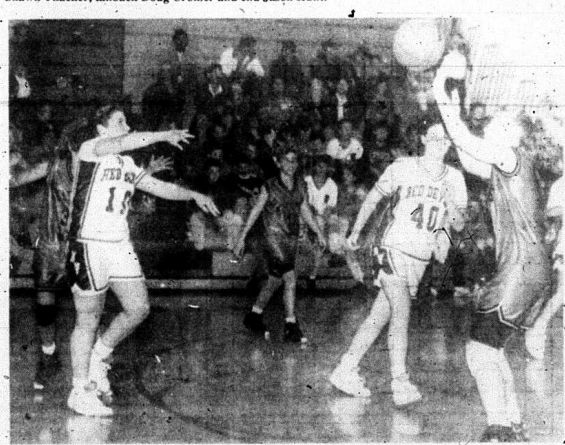

Rockcastle will go into Friday night's contest relatively healthy, having every varsity player available that was available opening day against Hazard. "We are bumped and bruised somewhat, but as a whole we are a healthy football team," Larkey said.

Senior quarterback J.D. Bussell calls the signals in the Rockets last regular season game Friday night against Middlesboro 39-36. The Rockets had a hard time putting the pesky 'Yellow Jackets away for the count. Bussell threw for a touchdown in the game Friday night and scored one on an running play. #87 Jason Hunt, had three receptions on the night for 63 yards. The Rockets first game of the play-off is this Friday night against Mercer County. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Wendy's Players of the Week for last Friday night's game were, from left: quarterback J.D. Bussell, fullback Shawn Thacker, tailback Doug Cromer and end Jason Hunt.

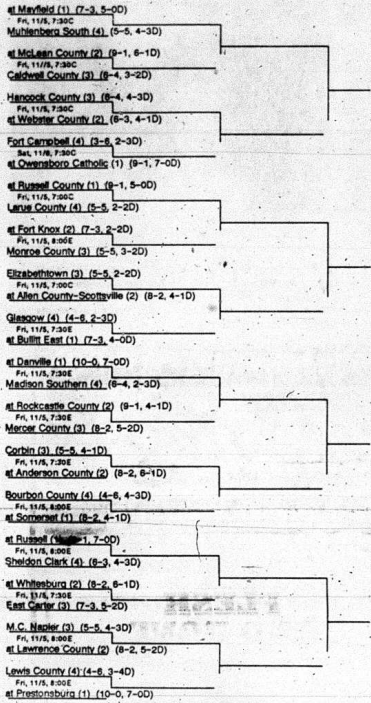

Tiffany McClure's pass was knocked away by a Science Hill player in action Tuesday night at Mt. Vernon. It was the girls last home game of the season. Thus far, they are undefeated under the guidance of Coach Judy Bullock with a record of 14-0. McClure led the scoring in the 60-22 rout.

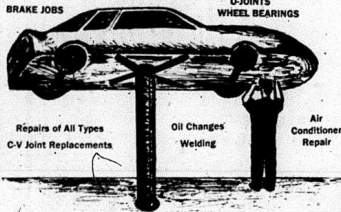

Renae Brewer makes a pass to Greta Northern during Monday night's opening game of the season against Science Hill Tuesday night. It was a blow-out for the Red Devils 66-20. Center Blake Childress led the scoring with 16 points. Mt. Vernon will travel to Brodhead Thursday night.

Brodhead grade school students recognized on KET star channels

Brodhead Elementary School received special recognition on Wednesday, October 27, when it was featured as "School of the Day" during several KET Star Channels satellite courses. KET Star Channels satellite courses are advanced high school courses delivered live every day by satellite to schools across Kentucky and 22 other states.

Eighteen Brodhead students are currently enrolled in Star Channels courses.

Brodhead's German I class came to visit their television instructor, Ruth Styles; Cliff Matekovich, Josh McKibben, Shannon Nicely, Heather Burton, Nathan DeLeon, Jeff French, Merle Taylor, Chris Bishop, John LaFavers, Angie Murphy, Janice Bradshaw, and Heather Bussell.

Instructor Jane Smith introduced five Brodhead students visiting her KET Star Channels Latin I course while displaying a picture of the students on the screen. Throughout the course, Smith wore a Brodhead T-shirt and cap. "School of the Day" is a way for students to get to know their classmates in other schools," said Smith. The Brodhead student who visited the Latin I classroom were Beth Blanton, Brandon Martin, Josh Martin, Craig Sowder, and April Thompson. Pamela Martin, the Brodhead Distance Learning Facilitator, accompanied the students.

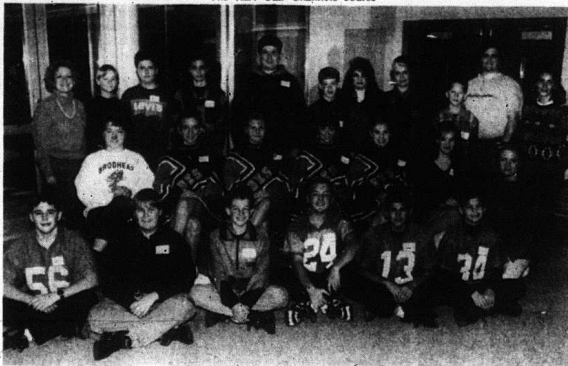

The KET Star Channels course

program was developed in 1989 to deliver advanced high school courses to schools where the courses had not been offered previously. The program was nationally recognized as a 1991 winner of the Innovations in State and Local Government Award administered by the Ford Foundation and Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government. And in 1993 Vice President Al Gore visited the KET Star Channels studios and took part in a Physics class.

KET is currently offering satellite courses in German I, Probability & Statistics, Discrete Mathematics, Physics, Precalculus, Latin I and Latin II. For information about enrolling, please call (800)753-6533.

Bee's A-Working- Mike and Eula Mink of Calloway got a surprise last week when leaves fell off a tree in their front yard and revealed this bee hive. The hive and bees ended up at Matt Powell's in Mt. Vernon who captured them for the Minks.

McCauley signs with Marshall University

Cindy McCauley, a senior at RCHS and daughter of David and Kathy McCauley, has made a verbal commitment to sign with NCAA Division

I Marshall University Girl's Basketball Squad. McCauley will make it official Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at RCHS.

Great Smokeout is November 18

Whereas, the Surgeon General has said that smoking remains the single most preventable cause of death in our society, and

Whereas, for years, millions of smokers have participated in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout, a day on which they give up cigarettes for just 24 hours, and

Whereas, a significant number of those who gave up cigarettes for the day also were able to give up the habit entirely, and

Whereas, this demonstration of success suggests that the Great American Smokeout, while light-hearted in approach, has potential for improving the health of the citizens in Rockcastle County.

Now, therefore, the Rockcastle County Health Department, hereby proclaims the third Thursday on November as the day of the Great American Smokeout in Rockcastle County, and in so doing urge all cigarette smokers and smokeless tobacco users in Rockcastle County to demonstrate to themselves and to their friends that they can quit for the day.

To help promote the Great American Smokeout, sixth grade students in our county schools will be designing posters that illustrate a reason to quit smoking or giving up smokeless tobacco. Winning entries will receive gift certificates from McDonalds Restaurant, t-shirts from the American Cancer Society, pencils and stickers from the health department and have their posters displayed for one year in the conference room of the health department where tobacco education displays are held. All posters will be displayed in the health department prior to the selection of the winning entries.

Anyone choosing to participate in the Great American Smokeout may call the health department at 256-2242 for more information. We will be providing educational information on tobacco use and its consequences as well as tips on how to quit the tobacco habit. If you are a user of tobacco products, we hope you will join thousands of other Americans on November 18 who will be pledging to remain smoke free, or give up smokeless tobacco for 24 hours. Many will never pick up the product again.

A few QUIT TIPS: Hide all ashtrays, matches, etc. Lay in a supply of sugarless gum, carrot sticks, etc. Drink lots of liquids, but pass up coffee and alcohol. Tell everyone you're quitting for the day. When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath, hold it for 10 seconds, and release it slowly. Exercise to relieve the tension. Try the "buddy system," and ask a friend to quit too.

Renfro's Fiddler's Festival

Although Renfro Valley's Jim Gaskin is equally at ease on a guitar, doing vocal solos, writing songs or screenplays or doing a little acting, it is his prowess on the fiddle that takes the spotlight on Nov. 5 and 6.

On that weekend, Jim plays host to the eleventh consecutive year to a gathering of fiddlers and fiddle music fans from across the nation. Renfro Valley's Fiddlers Festival is billed as a gathering - not a competition and come Friday evening, Nov. 5, you'll find fiddlers residing up the bow in just about every corner of the Renfro Valley complex. They'll be awaiting their turn to entertain their

Help-Help Help

Dear Editor:

Your help is needed to make a difference for Christian decency in our local television broadcasting. When area Christians first were told that the producer of the television show NYPD Blue had said he would "...bring the Judeo-Christian community kicking and screaming into a new era of the twenty-first century..." and "...reveal the participants of the Judeo-Christian community that the god of money had now become stronger than their primitive God of spirituality..." they made an immediate response. As Christians remembered the words of David found in 1 Samuel 17:26 "...Who is this uncircumcised Philistine that he should defy the armies of the living God?" they acted as David did against Goliath and Channel 36 advised ABC they would not air the show.

There have been many in the community that have raised the question, "What business does the Christian community have in asking a local television station to remove a particular program?" These persons have expressed the opinion that Christians who are violating the constitutional status right of freedom of speech. According to the Supreme Court, the highest court in our land, a violation of the constitutional right of free speech has not occurred when the Christian community seceded from the show which is a pornographic in nature, as determined by the majority of the residents of the community. Since we believe, the show NYPD Blue is the first in a series of many shows which will little by little erode away the acceptance of all things pornographic, even soft pornography such as the scenes of nude actors shown in a simulated sex act on NYPD Blue, does impact the Christian community as it titillates the minds of those who are prone to act out the fantasies such material creates in their minds against members of the Christian community as well as the non-Christian community. Some one must stand in the gap to denounce and rid our society of the festering sore pornography it is creating.

We urge the Christian community to rise up again by telephoning WDKY Channel 36 to express their concern and desire that the show NYPD Blue and shows of a like nature not be aired. For those persons that have difficulty in expressing themselves on a telephone, we ask that they write a hand written letter to the television station expressing their concern that NYPD Blue not be aired any longer and that shows with a similar content be removed from their scheduled programming. The telephone number and address for WDKY Channel 36 are:

Dear Editor,

The Clinton Health Care Plan is bad medicine for America, not only because it funds abortion on demand as a "basic benefit," but also because it essentially requires health care rationing.

What does rationing mean? Webster defines it as a fixed allowance or portion of; to restrict the supply or to limit care for each. Rationing of medical care means denying you life-

Dear Editor:

I would like to make it known that I had nothing to do with the letter in the Mt. Vernon Signal, October 28, 1993, signed by the Livingston S.O.S. Committee and Mr. Ponder. I have also resigned from the S.O.S. Committee. I will have no part in making our former principal look bad, especially after him being 'black balled' by the powers that be 'after standing up for our school three years ago. It should also be noted that the first year of the new principal the budget was increased by almost four times the previous year. As I asked at the LPC Forum, why?

Dear Editor,

The Clinton Health Care Plan is bad medicine for America, not only because it funds abortion on demand as a "basic benefit," but also because it essentially requires health care rationing.

What does rationing mean? Webster defines it as a fixed allowance or portion of; to restrict the supply or to limit care for each. Rationing of medical care means denying you life-

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Luke 8:15 we read, "But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience." Jesus is explaining the parable of the sower here in Luke 8. The good ground are people who hear the word of God, the seed vs. 11, with an honest and good heart. Good, in the sense, that these people want to do what's right. And they also have an honest heart. Honesty is so important in dealings with the word of God.

Honesty is defined: "Not characterized by deception or fraud; genuine; having or manifesting integrity and truth." The devil is the great deceiver in the world, and men with dishonest minds and hearts are easily tricked to believe his lies. God's word is truth, Jn. 17:17. It takes a honest heart to receive and keep God's word. We must be honest with God, with ourselves and with our fellowman.

The Bereans had honest hearts. Ac. 17:11 teaches us "These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so." Paul and Silas had gone to this synagogue of The Jews in Berea. These folks were honest enough with themselves and God to change their minds, and accept the truth that is in Christ. It's sad that we don't have more people like those Bereans, who will open their minds and open their Bibles to find and accept the truth.

Far too often in Bible disputes and discussion, when error is pointed out, that so many will not admit, when they are wrong. It's obvious that their arguments and reasoning is in error and is contrary to the Bible, yet they will continue to persist in their error because of a dishonest heart. When Bible truth is person to a person, either that individual will be converted, or will show themselves to be dishonest or reject it. I know I've had to change my mind, about several things over the years since I first started studying the Bible. Why, because honest demands that I change when the word of truth teaches something different from my ideas and concepts. Friends, be honest with yourself and God, when you come to the study of the Bible, lest you should be sent a strong delusion and believe a lie, II Thes. 2:10-12.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

The weather has definitely made a change and we will all soon have to be spending more time inside. We hope to see a lot of you that haven't been to the library for a while and those that have never visited the library, now would be a good time to take advantage of the many services that are available here. We have an excellent selection of books and books on tape, videos and magazines for you to enjoy while confined to the house. We also have planned activities.

The Adult Reading Group will be meeting Tuesday, Nov. 9th at 10:30 a.m. Please join in if you enjoy discussing good books. There were seven ladies at the last meeting and we hope to have some new people at this session. Bridges of Madison County will be the topic of discussion this next Tuesday, Robert Walter the author of Bridges of Madison County, has a new book out and I will give a brief summary of it later in this article.

Also a new craft class will be meeting for the first time, Monday, November 8th at 1 p.m. We will be making a wreath out of a coat hanger, raffi and strips of material. The cost would be approximately $2.50 for the raffi. Please let me know if you plan to come and we will have the needed materials. Or if you are not interested in this craft, meet with us anyway and give your suggestions for other crafts. Betty Lindbom is a very able craftsperson and I'm sure she will have other ideas, too. I'm very interested in flower arranging and I hope we will be able to have a session for this idea. Betty has worked in a florist shop, so this should be easy for her to show us some great ways to have beautiful arrangements.

The Rockcastle County Library has just recently set up a Memorial Account. It has been suggested to us that some people might like to make a donation to this library in honor of a loved one, family member or friend, that has passed away. A book may be purchased with the donation, with an inscription, In Memory Of _____ in the book, or the money could be used for items needed for the library. This would be the decision of the donor and a card will be sent to the family to let them know of the donation.

A large number of used books have recently been given to the library and we always want to thank those people for their donations. Some of the books become part of our collection and other will be put on a sale table. A lot of these are very good books but I've already have copies of them, they are put on the sale table for someone else to add to their collection. The books are priced at 50 cents. How's that for a bargain! If you have purchased books recently, you know how costly they are. Thanks again for the donations!

Some new books are... The Seduction by Marilyn Wallace... Lee Montara is anxious to escape the painful memories of a lost love, and the unwanted attentions of photographer Stewart McLaren. The perfect solution: a visit to her sister in tranquil Taconic Hills. After all, Rosie and Paul and their sunny six-year-old son Andrew have been begging her to come and stay with them.

But when someone starts leaving presents for the sisters—each one eerie, each one tied with a black sash below—the country calm Lee had desperately sought is cruelly shattered.

Slow Waltz at Cedar Bend by Robert Waller... A year after Michael Tillman met another man's wife at a university in Cedar Bend, Iowa, he found himself heading into the strange, exotic world of South India, looking for her. Her name was Jellie Braden, and Michael Braden wanted her, and had wanted her from the first instant he saw her. Something deep in his bones had whispered, "That one." And Jellie Braden, in her fortieth year, had heard the voice, too.

It was attraction at first sight between this maverick, middle-age electronics professor who still rode his beloved motorcycle from his teenage years and the introspective, dark-haired wife of a new colleague. It called forth feelings that wouldn't disappear. It forced two people to come to terms with their lives in ways they hadn't imagined, and it led them both into the magical places only lovers know. But it also brought with it the pain of choices and loss. Jellie wasn't a free woman. And Michael Tillman wasn't a young man. Foolish with dreams, he was a mature man dead certain of the dreams he wanted. And then one day Jellie disappears and he was ready to travel the whole world looking for her to discover the secrets she was hiding and what he had to do to make her his.

A new non-fiction book, Flavius Josephus: Eyewitness to Rome's First Century Conquest of Judea, Flavius Josephus (born 37 C.E.) wrote the only remaining account of the utter destruction of Jerusalem and the Second Temple in the year 70, and the heroic battle at Masada waged three years later. His position as a Jewish scholar and then as the Roman court historian during the reign of Vespasian ensured that his historical works would be read and preserved by Jews and Romans alike. His narrative is not a mere chronicle; it is, in the best historiographical tradition, an attempt to make events intelligible. He does what no other historian, Greek or Latin, could have done: He examines the past in order to elucidate the underlying origins of the war.

I have not read this book yet but plan to read it as least part of it. Josephus has held an interest for me for many years. I have heard many ministers and others talk about this historic figure and I am curious to find out about this history. I hope others will enjoy this, also.

The library number is 256-2388.

Poet's Corner

The Old Couch Shell

By: Lewis Bowling

Today I remember well,
The sound and tone of the old couch shell,
When very young I began to under stand,
When it blew, it was a call to all the clan.

Our home was on a ridge,
A valley on each side, without a bridge,
When we heard its lonesome tone,
It meant one thing, come home.

It could mean joy or gloom,
Stop what you were doing, and come home soon.
Boy or girl, woman or man,
It was a call to all the clan.

When we have lived out our life span,
When the trumpet sounds a call to that land.

With Christ and loved ones forever to dwell,
May we answer the call as we did that old couch shell.

Lady Bug

By: Pearl Newton

Now about the little Lady Bugs
They are harmless and pretty too
But so many in the house -
I just didn't know what to do

Every time I opened the door
Right in the house they flew
They'd bring their whole family
Which was a dozen or two

They were on the ceiling
On the curtains on the wall
And every time one lit on me
I would let out a great big squall

So I just got my spray gun
And shot them down one by one.

Retired teachers meet

By: Kathleen Stevens
Secretary

October 25, the local Retired Teachers Organization met in the library.

Refreshments were served as members arrived—this calorie social time is always enjoyable.

Devotion was given by Buford Parkerson, Thanks Buford!!

Gailiff Craig, president, called the meeting to order. We discussed the importance of the organization and that each retired teacher in our county should support it.

The secretary's report was given for our Aug. 13 meeting and for the Fall Workshop, Sept. 22, at Irvine.

Geraldine Holbrook, treasurer, gave a report. We have $134.26 in the treasury. Twenty nine retirees have paid their dues. The dues are five dollars with one dollar of that going to the district.

Sue French and Aslee Bray volunteered to attend the CKRTA-East pre-retirement seminar in Richmond, November 6.

Shirley Martin discussed the plans for our Christmas dinner meeting which will be held at Kastle Inn, December 13, at 6 p.m. Watch the Signal for whom to call for reservations.

sons.

The Flower Fund, for deceased members, was an issue, since our local isn't so wealthy, (please pay your dues and join our local) it was decided by vote of the attending twenty members, to send a twenty-five dollar contribution, once a year to the N.O. Kimbler Memorial Scholarship Fund, instead of sending flowers. Sue Hamm will send a card to family of the deceased stating a contribution has been given in memory of the deceased member.

Cola Grace Wilson suggested the local retired teachers contribute one hundred dollars toward the scholarship fund, in the county for college students who need financial assistance.

Geraldine French and Elnora Burke presented a marvelous program on the history of quilt making. The quilts they brought to share were made by their own little hands. Beautiful beautiful—absolutely beautiful!! Thanks girls for a fabulous presentation.

Shirley brought a beautiful fall center piece for the door prize. Come join us—you may win!!

Please mark, December 13, Christmas Dinner meeting, on your calendar.

Thinking holiday turkey saves time, makes cents

As hectic holidays near, thinking turkey saves time and money.

"Consumers have many choices when buying turkey," said Sandra Bastin, Extension food and nutrition specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "Turkeys are available fresh or frozen. You can buy the whole bird or parts."

Bastin said factors affecting turkey buying decisions include refrigerator or freezer space, preparation time and family size.

"Nutritionally, there's little difference between fresh and frozen turkey," she said. "You need freezer space to store frozen turkey and refrigerator space to thaw it out. Fresh turkeys don't require time or space for thawing. Since they are smaller than a frozen bird, they take less cooking time."

"Fresh turkey should have plump, creamy white flesh," Bastin said. "Avoid those with torn or bruised skin. A frozen turkey should be iron hard, indicating correct storage. Don't buy turkey with a heavy coat of ice crystals. Whether you buy fresh or frozen turkey, the outer plastic wrapping should be intact."

"Buyers pay a premium for the convenience of fresh turkeys, which can cost 50 cents to a dollar per pound more than featured sales of frozen birds."

Allow three-fourths to one pound of meat per person when buying a whole turkey, Bastin said. For turkey parts and breast, allow one-half to three-fourths of a pound per person.

Store fresh and frozen turkeys in the original wrapping. A vacuum-packed fresh turkey can be refrigerated five to seven days; a plastic-wrapped turkey, no more than three days. Store fresh turkey in the lower part of the refrigerator, because it is the coldest area. A frozen turkey will keep up to six months in the freezer.

"Thaw turkey in the original wrapping to prevent contamination of kitchen surfaces through contact with the raw bird," she said. "Always thaw turkey in the refrigerator, allowing 24 hours for each five pounds of weight. Thawing turkey at room temperature creates a growth chamber for bacteria that cause food-borne illnesses."

Bastin said consumers can speed the thawing process by immersing turkey in cold water. However, refrigerator thawing is the preferred method.

"Cover the whole bird and change water frequently to keep the turkey cold," she said. "Allow 30 minutes per pound of weight."

"Thoroughly cook turkey to kill microorganisms that cause food-borne illnesses. Roast whole turkey at 325 degrees, turkey parts or boneless turkey at 350 degrees. Cook about 15 to 20 minutes per pound."

A meat thermometer is the most accurate way to determine when turkey is cooked thoroughly. Place it in the inner thigh for a correct reading.

On whole turkey, a thermometer should read 180 degrees. It should read 170 degrees for turkey parts or a breast.

"Turkey, dressing and gravy should be refrigerated or frozen within two hours after removal from the oven or stove top," said Kathy Daly-Kozicki, Extension food and nutrition specialist. "Cool leftovers quickly to prevent bacterial growth. Use shallow pans to speed cooling. Avoid large containers because the sheer volume of food deters cooling."

"Cooked turkey can be refrigerated up to three or four days," Bastin said. "If the turkey is to be frozen, wrap it tightly to exclude air. It will keep up to three months. Never store a stuffed turkey because the mass of stuffing in the center of the turkey slows the rate of cooling."

Mohler named president

Governor Brereton C. Jones was among the many dignitaries gathered for the inauguration worship for the new president of Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville. Dr. R. Albert Mohler, Jr. became the ninth president of the institution in a service that took place Friday in Freedom Hall.

Evangelist Billy Graham delivered the principal message of the evening before a crowd of more than 9,000 people. Those attending represented all 50 states and several foreign countries.

Governor Jones delivered greetings from the Commonwealth of Kentucky to those in attendance. In his remarks he noted the contribution Southern Seminary has made to the nation and the world. More than 18,000 graduates of the school currently serve as educators, missionaries and spiritual leaders, he said.

"Both large and small, our churches are the heart of our communities, and Southern Seminary is their lifeblood, supplying leadership, guidance and assistance through the years," Jones said in his remarks.

"Southern Baptist Seminary is the second largest educational institution of its kind in the world."

Governor Jones joined with other participants following the service for a reception honoring Dr. Mohler.

New OB Patients Welcome

Thank You, Again

Even though I had no opposition in the General Election, I want to take this opportunity to again thank the people of Rockcastle County for electing me to serve as your Jailer for the next five years.

ing medical treatment, and even assisted feeding.

Under the Clinton plan the health insurance company, which by the way would be chosen by a seven member National Health Board that controls what health care coverage Americans would be permitted to buy, would decide what medical treatment you could get and what treatments would be withheld. Before medical treatment could be administered, by your doctor, who may have to be chosen from a list, would have to check with a manager whose job it would be to ensure that the health insurance company never paid out more than it took in premiums. And as the value of what it takes in gets less and less each year, the manager would become more likely to say no when asked to authorize any treatment that might be costly. If you are too old, or expected to have disabilities you are far less likely to get life-saving treatment.

As a pro-life supporter I urge everyone to let your elected officials know your concerns, not only about the abortion issues in the Clinton Health Care Plan but also about the rationing it would make inevitable.

Hope the Lord will forgive for this awful crime I've done
For them pretty poka dot girls
They were having so much fun

Now them pretty little girls
Dressed up in their poka dot shell
Now wherever they have gone
I sure do wish them well.

Now next year I'm going to build them a house.
And insulate it too
And hang it out by my back door
Where they can live the whole winter through.

Though it's been a year
It seems like ten
When I feel I can't cry another tear
Millions fall again.

Though it's been a year
I still see your smile
Those times you feel so near
I hear you say "see you after white."

Though it's been a year
I still see your smile
Those times you feel so near
I hear you say "see you after white."

Though it's been a year
And I long to see your face
I know you rest without a care
Saved by God's Amazing Grace.

Birthdays

Hi! I'm Joshua Cody Lee DeBoard. I turned 2 years old on September 30. My parents, David Lee and Ruth Ann DeBoard surprised me with a Barney Party at my home in Mt. Vernon. Those attending to help me celebrate were my grandparents Arthur and Mae DeBoard, my mamaw Norma Crank, Kristi McClure and Tena and Josh Mullins. I want to thank everyone for coming and for all my presents.

Happy Birthday to you,
Happy Birthday to you,
Happy Birthday Giddyup, Ya ho!
Happy Birthday to you!

He is fine,
He is Great,
Look Who's turned
Thirty-eight
Happy Birthday Dad
Love, Chris and Jennifer

Rockcastle County Homemakers take leadership positions

Hazel B. Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Four Extension Homemakers attended the Wilderness Trail Area Homemakers Meeting in Harlan on October 16. The theme was built around Halloween, and the spooks received many strange looks from other drivers. Attending the meeting were Noreita Thompson, Christine Taylor, Millie Eaton, and Virginia Hansel. Both Millie and Christine wore the costume contest.

At the meeting, two Rockcastle County Homemakers were elected to area offices. Noreita Thompson was elected Area Homemaker President and Virginia Hansel was elected Area Homemaker Treasurer. Congratulations to each of these ladies! Their leadership is valued in both Rockcastle County and the Wilderness Trail Area.

Rockcastle County Homemakers take leadership position: Virginia Hansel, area homemakers treasurer; Mary Alice Messer, area homemaker secretary; Noreita Thompson, area homemaker president, being sworn into office by Jean Davis, state homemakers president.

Woman's Club meets

The Mt. Vernon Woman's Club met Oct. 26, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Kathy McCauley which was beautifully decorated for the fall activities.

Mrs. Lena Romans president, presided at the meeting with 10 present. Mrs. Faye McCauley was program chairman.

The program was on conservation and a round table discussion was held. Kathy, as hostess, served delicious refreshments.

On Oct. 23 four of the ladies of the club, attended the 9th District Meeting at Union College, Barbourville.

Mrs. Betty Cain entered one of her beautiful acrylic paintings of landscape and pond in the category of General Federation Landscape and won first place.

Our next meeting will be Nov. 23 at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Lena Romans.

Our guest speaker will be Mrs. Diana Waddle. She is co-ordinator of the program of Tech. Prep of the Rockcastle County High School that will begin the fall of '94.

Come out and join us, there will be something for everyone.

McClure reunion

The Leroy and Maggie Bradley McClure reunion was held Oct. 31 at Somerset.

Those attending were Edith and Boyd Buster Brulls, Sandy and four girls and one son, Jennifer and husband and two daughters, Jamie and husband and son and daughter, Evelyn and husband Paul Hunley, Maggie McClure, Aienda and Danny Robinson, James and Roberta McClure and Christa McClure, Pearl Smith and friend Glen King, Jessie L. McClure and wife Leoma, Elaine and Beverly McClure, Shonda McClure, Rhonda McClure, Frances Gatliff, husband Barry Gatliff, Josh D. McClure, Dallas W. Todd and Leon A. McClure.

Larry and Jewel Kidwell and Leon McClure visited Mr. and Mrs. Michael L. McClure and Will, Thursday, Oct. 18 and Friday, Oct. 19 in Georgia. Sure was wonderful to visit and see them again.

Livingston High School Reunion held

The Livingston High School Alumni Reunion was held October 30 at the Ramada Inn in London. There were 100 persons present and the evening was very enjoyable.

This year's honoree for the Livingston School Hall of Fame was James Earl (Tuck) Baker. Mr. Baker served the Rockcastle County Schools six years (1919-1955). He was a teacher and principal at LHS from 1950-1955.

Everyone enjoyed a delicious buffet dinner arranged by Billie Gilliam and Clara Fields. After the meal everyone shared pictures and memories of the happy days at Livingston High and made plans for the 1994 annual reunion.

A special "Thanks" again to the LHS alumni officers and especially president Patricia Kinser.
