State warns county on spending

By: Ray McClure
A letter to the county from the State Local Finance officer restricting county expenditures through Dec. 31 has been received by County Judge/Executive Buzz Carlotis.

L. David Adams Jr., said the intent of the letter is to insure adequate funding for essential county services during the first six months of the incoming county administration. Based on the first quarter financial statement, Rockcastle County has expended $615,504 as of Sept. 30 which represents 38 percent of budgeted funds, the letter noted. At the current rate of expenditure Rockcastle County will not be in compliance with the 65 percent restriction. In other business Garland Vanhook, architect for the Jail renovation project presented the court a bill for $11,500 he said was for architect fees for the project. The total fees were $20,000 and the county paid $8,500, leaving $11,500 according to records. When the architect was hired for the project no formal contract was signed. A letter of intent was sent on August 1991 pointing out cost percentages. Vanhook told the court he owes the engineers $5,000 of the $11,500 leaving him with $6,500. The court discussed the matter with Vanhook and finally agreed to pay him $4,500 now and won't pay further costs through Dec. 31. A $107,000 certificate of deposit will soon come due at Citizen's Bank and the court approved $4 to 1 to put the money in an interest money market account at the Bank of Mt. Vernon so money can be used in part of the Jail renovation project. Magistrate Charles Holbrook abstained. The court approved payment of $47,065 to Landis and Allen Harding on the construction of garages in the county pending receiving money from the Kentucky Housing Corporation (KHC). Harding reported the houses were 65 percent complete. A total of $56,000 remains on $159,000 in KHC funds. The Community Housing Development Corporation voted to use the remaining money to build three additional houses. The corporation will supply the materials and Christian Appalachian Project will supply the labor to build the three houses. The court approved the construction. The recipients of the houses will be Albert Lunsford, William T. Abney and Joe McNally. E. Chenaunt an official of Stevens Dispos-All Services Inc., of Danville ask the court for a permit to pick up a small amount of garbage on the Rockcastle-Lincoln counties lines. The company serves Stanford and Crab Orchard. The court took the permit under advisement for a later decision. It was noted a permit for garbage pickup is only for the entire county not a small section. Junior Griffin and Wayne Bullock of the All-America Club were thanked by Judge Carlotis for clean-up efforts along Dry Fork and Burnt Ridge Roads. And Magistrate Clinton Brown thanked Democrat County chairman Larry Doyle for blacktopping along several county roads.

Rockcastle County and Livingston Search and Rescue Squad members removed the body of Madison County man who was found at Lamerov Thursday afternoon. Robert L. Baldwin had been dead for several days before the wreckage was discovered by a local resident.

Venters delays murder trial

Rockcastle County Circuit Judge Dan Venters has delayed the murder trial of Allen Gilpatrick until December 13th. The trial, which had been previously scheduled to be held Monday, has also been moved to Pulaski Circuit Court. The Circuit Judge had previously ordered a change of venue in the case, but had restricted that order to Lincoln County jurors hearing the case in Rockcastle Circuit Court. That ruling has been changed and Pulaski jurors will hear the case in Somerset. Gilpatrick is charged with the February 7th, 1993 murder of his wife Virginia Gilpatrick. Allen Gilpatrick found his wife in the couple's Mt. Vernon home, where she had been beaten almost beyond recognition, according to police records.

Hardee's opens at Renfro Valley

Councilman's Lee Keene's name was omitted from the story on last Tuesdays election. He received 347 votes for Mt. Vernon City Councilman. Other winners for council were Karen King, Wayne Gregory, Lou Vanhosen, Clark Yoc, Mullins and Terry Owens.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

I have blood blisters on both my thumbs and index fingers. I even have a nasty one smack dab in the middle of the palm in my right hand that I've been picking at all evening because nothing will run out of it. The skin is all puffed out and it hurts like heck, but the stuff inside has turned into a solid about the same color and consistency of raw chicken gizzard. I've busted the blister, but, instead of draining, its insides are coming out in chunks.

I can explain my malady in a single sentence. I've been putting up stove pipes. And I'm here this evening to tell you that there has to be a better way of manufacturing stove pipes. Modern technology has improved or replaced almost every gadget ever invented. There are new and better ways to install and utilize things coming up every month.

You've heard the old adage about "inventing a better mouse trap?" If you haven't, believe it or not, there are folks in college laboratories working on "a better mouse trap even as you read this column."

Unless you are drawing your last breath as you read along here, chances are excellent that a computer driven mouse catcher will be on the market before you die. It will put out some sort of signal that mice can't resist and do a Pied Piper routine on them. It will lead mice to the sewer system and entice them to jump in and drown. Or something like that.

The point is that scientists are working on the matter even as we speak.

Now, how many scholars would you think might be out there working on a better stove pipe?

The truth of the matter is that there hasn't been a stove pipe innovation since the Spanish American War. Just after the turn of the century some fellow learned how to press metal out in sheets and make it flexible so it would roll up perfectly round and his partner figured out how to cut it and bend little folds along the edges, just so, which made it possible to fasten into stove pipes. And there hasn't been an improvement since. Not only that, but nobody seems to be working on it! What I'd like to do is call the mouse-trap crew off for a couple of years and introduce them to the stove pipe concept. We're talking virgin territory here.

"If you really want to kill a mouse; get it to try and assemble a stove pipe," is the opening line I would use with most inventors. Then I would show them the sheet of iron you can buy at any hardware store that is commonly sold as a stove pipe.

I'd show them how to roll a stove pipe up tight like a watch spring and cock it so that you could kill a hundred mice in one fell swoop if they were lined up just right.

Then, if things go as I imagine they might, one of the inventors is going to observe, as I have, that there has to be a better way of snapping stove pipes together. A way that will let you do it without getting wounded. I don't know whether the Army uses stove pipes or not, but if it does, I wonder how many Purple Hearts have been awarded to GIs who lost fingers in the course of installing them.

It's winter already here in Paint Lick and I'm happy to report that, in spite of the blood blisters and the mournful cursing you may have heard, if you drove by the house a couple of weekends back, our house is toasty warm. I've even borrowed one of those little engraving machines you can get to put your social security number on possessions that might get stolen. I intend to write a memorandum on our Fischer Mama Bear's new pipes.

"Courageously installed despite almost overwhelming resistance on October 22, 1993," the inscription will read just to let the next person know that lion taming might be a safer alternative to replacing these pipes.

In the meantime, I'm sorry to inform you that we can no longer take requests for beer seeds. Those of you who are already getting them in the mail may be horribly disappointed that you only got a dozen or so, but we have numerous letters from folks who grew a peck or more fewer than a dozen vines last season. If you haven't heard from us yet, just hold on to your briches. It will take me at least six more weeks to get back to everybody who has written.

Next year we'll try to save more seed but we've almost gone through a gallon this fall. In the meantime, if you had good luck and don't mind sharing some of your Buford Caudill Fall Bean seed, please send them to me and I will promptly mail them out to the requests that I can fill. We're up to nearly 500 new requests. We worked my tail off trying to fill them and I'm out of seed.

Roamin' Rockcastle

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

The sun is shining brightly this Monday. Weather is better than last week when we had quite a bit of snow dumped on us.

The beautiful red, orange and some green leaves, had not fallen but hung on the Maple trees with snow hanging on them.

If there was an argument between the colored leaves and the large snowflakes, as to whom should be here, I imagine they got into an argument and the colored leaves said, "Watch it, bud, you're pushy. I can stay here as long as I'm colored, and, then I'll fall."

Large snowflakes probably answered, "Get a move on, Red, you're holding up traffic and making me look silly for it is early fall and I can come anytime the temperature is right so the cold, raining, chilly weather seemed like the right time."

The leaves won because we have a sunny cool day.

David Hale says he and his wife went to the Woolly Worm Festival, for the worms, in one eastern county. But David said he never laid an eye on a single worm while they were there.

John told him he had seen lots of worms last week and I found one on our back porch crawling in a hurry getting to where ever he was going. We traveled to a land called Level Green where John was getting some tools last spring and met the Norton's, William and Arletta (what a pretty name).

Arletta and I talked while the men gathered up tools. She was an interesting person to meet.

I learned they had sold this pretty land there and, they were moving to another one near Rockcastle.

We were invited back by the Norton's to a celebration for their mother who would become a 100 year old lady at about this time.

We were sorry we couldn't get there. This week's Signal gave a picture of the Norton family reunion. We wish Mrs. Norton a happy birthday.

Kay Williams called and thanked me for the facts and a picture of Elizabeth Clendenen, Drew Lakes, that Phad given her of our grandmother from long ago.

The Bible says, "To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under Heaven, even to dying." And that season came on November 4, 1993 for my brother Nathan Bluford Payne. He had just

HERESAY

By: John Norman Meadows

Dear hearts and gentle people, allow me to be serious today. Here's an account that might be helpful to some readers, especially parents and those who will be.

"I know the Bible says if I treated him right he'll come back when he's old. But, Bro. Bill, forgive me when I say I wish I could believe it. So I said Sally to her pastor while he sipped the hot tea she had prepared for him. She was a white-haired, bowed-over little woman who hadn't heard from her son, Daniel, in two years, not since the day he stormed out of her house when she tried to "talk to him about the Lord."

"I guess I failed as a mother," Sally said. "Somehow I let him down."

Sally's heart-rending experience characterized a multitude of parents whose children were brought up "in church" but later strayed away, some of whom never came back. Also, Sally's self-condemnation depicts the burden of guilt many parents carry—a burden that is all too often carried unnecessarily because of a misunderstanding of Scripture.

Proverbs 22:6 reads: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." That verse of advice on parenting belongs to Old Testament "wisdom literature," found mainly in the books of Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and some Psalms.

"Wisdom" in the Bible grows out of human observation. It announces conclusions reached not by revelation but by reasoning at the end of the experience. It draws conclusions about how things work out generally.

Proverbs 22:6 is a bible of practical, sound advice, i.e., wisdom, based on generations of watching and participating in child-parent relationships. The Ten Commandments, on the other hand, differ from "wisdom." They were given by divine revelation on Mt. Sinai. Exodus 20:12, for example reads: "Honor... your father and your mother" is more than advice. It is a divine command with a promise attached.

Five Generations

celebrated his 86th birthday on September 30th.

There was a family reunion of two men, and myself at Cleve's home. Blanche had a wonderful meal as she always does. Blufford talked so much he had to keep silent awhile and let us others tell our tales.

Blufford, as the family called him, was the seventh child born to the Payne family of eleven, six boys and five girls.

All of the family reached adulthood before any passed on and it was Edna Mildred Smith, the tenth child who broke up the living chain of life at the age of 27 years on September 2, 1941.

Edna had a fatal illness and we never knew from whom she had gotten it.

Edna fought the disease by going to a Sanatorium in Louisville where she was given medicine and she seemed to get better.

So in a few months Edna was married to Lloyd Smith and she was very happy.

Then all the symptoms returned and Edna died.

When Blufford became 16, he decided to go up north where there was plenty of work for men.

After some years, Blufford married Laura, a French-Canadian girl and they started their family with two boys who are now married with families of their own.

Earthquake and fire safety course to be held at UK

Would you know how to react if you were in a high-rise building when an earthquake struck or a major fire broke out? If you're the safety manager for a business in a high rise building, you have trained employees in response to such a disaster?

The safety of people in high-rise buildings—perhaps even their lives—can depend on whether they've been trained in emergency procedures or their employer has taken steps to get the work place ready.

He wanted to see where John, his brother Clay and wife Myrtle were making sorghum molasses and to eat some from molasses.

We did all we could to make him enjoy his visit. I told him that I was going to drop all work here and follow him wherever he went.

When they got ready to leave, Cleve and I said we would come to his house next year for a reunion at his house. But something said to me, "This is the last reunion."

Blufford and I wrote letters, made telephone calls and did all we could to be in touch with each other in the last few years. So did Cleve.

The word came on November 4th that Blufford had gone - his heart was so weak that when he took a cold and it developed into pneumonia, the body couldn't handle it so the family gathered around his hospital bed and were all talking as Blufford turned his face on to his shoulder and quietly died at 86 years of age.

Blufford and I talked of the Lord and how he stood by us in hard times, until I feel God met him at the "Gate." Brother Cole, our pastor said, "If he has faith the size of a mustard seed, all will be well."

The time for Armon Neely to die came in October 1993.

He had been our good neighbor on Clear Creek when we moved from Northern Kentucky back to Clear Creek to a house there on the corner where three roads meet.

Several of our family had lived there so it felt like coming home.

Armon lived near the forks of the road and would come down from his house nearby to visit and talk with us.

Armon told us many happy tales about the farm and things we needed to do to keep the place going. We sat on the big front porch waving at folks who came by, Armon with us.

One time I said, "We have so many apple trees with plenty of apples. I can't can them, don't know how."

Armon turned to me and said, "Law, child, I'm going to tell you what to do to have the apples. This is the way Harriet and I fix them."

So he told me the recipe and I've had the best apples to eat in winter.

Then in the months that followed, Armon developed an illness which became fatal.

The doctors said he would have to have a toe off his right foot, then his foot, and a leg.

Armon was cheerful and made it through the days by the help of his wife, Harriet, and the two children they had, Greg and Debra.

Armon went to the hospital or the doctor's office to take treatments.

The end was near. When he returned from the last trip to the hospital, the doctor had said, "Armon I can't do anymore for you. You can stay here until it's over or go home."

Armon decided he wanted to go home and be with his family.

And death came in a few nights.

The family was sitting around his bed, Armon was laughing and talking. For some time Armon kept bearing a voice which no one else had. Tonight, Armon heard it clear saying, "It is time to go Armon. Come!"

Then the death angel came into the room and lifted Armon's spirit up and away. Armon lay quietly. His head turned slightly to one side, all life on earth having left his body.

The date was October 30, 1993 and he was 76 years of age.

Till next time, I've been hearing some romantic tales about the Berea National Bank, which I'll tell you about in a future issue.

tached. The LORD told Israel that if parents were honored, they would dwell long in the Promised Land. In other words, they would always have a homeland if they obeyed the commandment.

The LORD is the ultimate source of both passages, but they differ according to manner by which they were received by Israel. God let man discover and frame the proverb by reasoning, but on Sinai He spoke directly to Moses.

What does the proverb mean by "the way he should go?" In Hebrew, the language of the Old Testament, the verse reads literally, "according to (or on the basis of) his way." The Amplified Bible is very helpful at this point: "Train up a child in the way he should go [and in keeping with his individual gift or bent]."

So, the verse encourages parents to begin training early and to be aware of the child's mental makeup, i.e., his "way," where instruction and discipline are involved. The proverb is a call to applied psychology, long before—and better than—Sigmund Freud! It also says in a left-handed way that the parent who says, "I raised all my children just alike" may not be so wise!

How did Bro. Bill deal with Sally's pain? He understood the verse and explained it to her, pointing out that a proverb tells us how things work out generally, but not always.

"Sally," Bro. Bill said gently, "The verse is a proverb—not a promise. I know how you agonize over Daniel, but sometimes even when parents do the right thing, children grow up and stray from the straight and narrow way. This proverb is not a guarantee that children will remain true to their parents' teaching. That's a decision our children make for themselves."

After another cup of tea, Bro. Bill held Sally's hand and prayed for her and Daniel. And as he left, he shared with Sally one of his own "wisdom" conclusions, namely, that children brought up "in the way they should go," (see Eph. 6:4; 2 Timothy 3:15) are far more likely to return to the LORD than those who received little or no Christian guidance at all.

"You're no failure, Sally. You didn't let him down, keep praying."

Eagle Echoes...

Sixth graders incorporate art into all subject areas

When the sixth grade studies, the students have so much fun. Some times they don't realize they are learning because often learning is equated with work. Well, work can be entertaining! If you want to see for yourself, just drop by Mr. Gabbard's class and take a look at the class mummy. Yes, mummy! These sixth graders recently studied Egypt, and a culminating project involved a life-size mummy art activity.

Next door, in Mrs. Little's sixth grade fancy things are going on as well. One day in reading class instead of doing work we made paintings. I like to paint a lot at my house. I really like to paint flowers so when I got to school I decided to paint flowers. First I drew what I was going to paint. Next I painted it. Last I hung it on a line to dry. We did this project because we were studying about Palatia Velarde a famous Indian artist. My finished product was purple and yellow, and I was proud of it.

CKMEA Elementary Choral Festival

This year the Central Kentucky Music Educators held their Elementary Choral Festival at Eastern Kentucky University (EKU). Roundstone sent fifteen students to participate as follows: Hollie Best, Karah Bowles, Tracy Isaacs, Chrissy Himes, Amber Thacker, Mattie Carpenter, Bea McNew, Cathie Midkiff, Ashley Lawson, Amy Sutton, Steffany Gabbard, Ashley Holt, William Blair, Kyle Parsons, and Bryant Reams. We are proud of you.

RCHS holds fall music festival

The RCHS Fall Music Festival was a huge success! We were pleased that our Roundstone students had the opportunity to participate. They learned a great deal about polishing performances. Thanks to our district's music teachers for all your creative help—and a special thank you to Margie Wilcox for your marvelous directing skills. The following Roundstone students benefited from this creative endeavor—William Seiber, James Coffey, Rodney Gabbard, Kevin Bullen, Andrew Hayes, Mike Smith, Dale Green, Melissa Kendrick, Toni Carmack, Becky Abney, Lesley Alexander, Tiffany Gabbard, Wendy Himes, Jamie Owens, Dana Thacker, Amie Furman Hale, Tracy Sears, and Donald Newcomb. We celebrate quality music in our schools.

Rick Pinino's Wildcat Basketball shootout for Easter Seals
November is the month Roundstone students are participating in the annual Easter Seals basketball shoot-out endorsed by Rick Pinino. Last year RES students earned the privilege of being on the Easter Seals Top Schools Honor Roll. If a student asks you to be a sponsor, please say yes.

Y-Club goes to Frankfort
Nineteen Roundstone Y-Club members traveled to Frankfort for the 1993 Kentucky Youth Assembly. The students participated in a student government modeled after our own legislature and judicial systems.

Those traveling were as follows: Stewart Abney, Matthew Brown, Mark Parsons, Christian Parsons, Josh Bowles, Adam Holt, Darin Poyner, Jeffrey Linville, Tracy Sears, Jamie Owens, Dana Thacker, Andrea Horner, Tracy Ballard, Shana Hall, Jessica Powell, Heather Rucker, Jeana Thacker, Crystal Smith, and a number of chaperones. Mr. Tracy Gabbard and Mrs. Rose Brown are the club sponsors.

Contests
Roundstone students are aware of a number of outside group sponsored poster and essay contests. Some of our teachers use these contests to support portfolio writing, others inform their classes so that students can enter these contests on their own. Some teachers assign these contests for support in social studies and science projects. The following contests are available to our students.

1994 International Aviation Art Contest Deadline for receipt: Dec. 13, 1993
Soil and Water Conservation Poster and Jim Claypool Essay Contests RES deadline for judging: Nov. 22
Earthquake Preparedness Poster Contest Deadline for postmark: Nov. 19

We Celebrate Student Writing
The fourth grade had been studying rocks in science class. The students had to choose a rock sample and write a short descriptive piece. A few of the paragraphs follow.

Author: Laura Hunley
My rock is hard. It is shiny and flat on the bottom. It looks purple, but it is really black. My rock is a sedimentary rock. I found it when I went camping one weekend at Bath County. It is also pointed on just one end, and it has scratches all over it because it came from an ore factory.

Author: Steve McQueen
I found this rock near a creek. I classified this rock as metamorphic because it has changed from wood to rock. This rock is very old. The wood was covered with water containing silica, a form of quartz. The silica got into the cells of the decaying wood until it became solid-stone. It still shows the details of the original wood. This rock is also very hard.

Author: Jessica Saylor
My rock is a metamorphic rock. It is called petrified wood. Many years ago some fallen trees were covered with water and the water seeped into the tree and the silica hardened, turning the log into stone. My rock is very bumpy and it looks like log. The color of it is peach in some places and light and dark brown together. I found it behind the Sunoco Station. There were all kinds of rocks there that looked really weird. My rock is very light weight.

Author: Kelly Croucher
I classified my rock as an igneous, gabbro rock. My rock is a very unusual rock because it has a hole all the way through it. My rock is very bumpy. My dad found this rock a long time ago and put it on a key chain. My rock is also hard and round.

Thank you, fourth grade scientists, for the well written descriptions. You found some interesting rocks to share with us. Keep up the good work.

Mrs. Noe's primary class has been very busy since school began. We wrapped up our units on owls and pigs. We didn't know there was so much to learn about pigs! Last week, we began our study on Native Americans. We have written stories using Indian symbols, made buffalo kids, and own very own owner's sticks. This week we will be focusing on the Sioux Indians and the pioneers. We are learning sign language, making tips and we will make cornbread Friday. In math, we are beginning to climb the "mad minute multiplication mountain." We are also working

Mrs. Noe's primary class constructed creative owner's sticks as part of their study on Native Americans.

Students at work painting Indian symbols on buffalo hides are Samantha Grant, Jarred Stevens, Michael Hayes and Justin Rogers.

Steven Coffey, Timothy McIntosh, Daniel Cadena and Justin Rogers enjoy making paper mache apples in Mrs. Noe's primary.

Students in Mrs. Noe's primary class work in groups to make piglet reefer sandwiches. Pictured are Samantha Dees, Ryan Northern, Dustin Renner, Tanner Abney and Hope Bishop.

BES hosted this month's school board meeting last Tuesday evening. This was the first opportunity many of us had taken to attend a meeting and as a result have insight into the arduous efforts given by those members who make up our board. We do appreciate the often thankless work by this group of capable men and women.

The PTA meets tonight (Thursday) November 11 at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria. Please make an effort to attend.

Thursday, November 18 marks the end of our 2nd six weeks grading period. Report cards will be sent home Monday the 29th.

The 21st Century Class would like to thank their guests for the week, John McQueary, 4-H Extension Agent, talking with the students concerning manners, respect, introductions, etc. Mr. McQueary did an outstanding job and the students responded with much interest. Professional photographer, Doug Brock, provided lots of information about the history of photography and shared many of his national merit entries and winners. Thanks to Jeff Burdette who spoke about laws and his profession and initiated lots of class discussion. Also Neil Showmaker and Joe Cox (KEN) from the District Highway Office in Somerset spoke about bridge construction and inspection. Mrs. Ann Barron from the Family

Students in Mrs. Vicki Scott's and Mrs. Katreka Cash's room enjoyed their math activity with pumpkins.

Life Abuse Center and Sam Ford, auctioneer, ended the thought-provoking visits. We appreciate the local community support of BES.

As the Rockcastle Rockets Football team travels to Danville, we wish you lots of luck!! Be the Admirals!

Strait Shot and RCHS talent to provide evening's entertainment

Variety best describes the evening of music on deck for you Thursday night, November 18, when the local modern country band Strait Shot, teams up with talent from RCHS to raise money for the Rockcastle County Education Association's Scholarship Fund.

The entertainment will begin with an hour or more of performances by teachers and students followed by a Strait Shot concert.

Members of the band include Keith Russell, James Miller, Roger McGuire, Billy Ray Barker, and Rick Akin.

The band, most of whose members are locals, have been playing for several years and have gradually moved toward a more modern country sound. Miller says they play mostly for dances in the area.

This is the second year the band has donated its time to the scholarship fund. For the past several years they have also given benefit concerts for Project Graduation.

The Scholarship Fund provides money for RCHS students to attend college.

This will be the third year the fundraising committee has worked toward the goal of $40,000. The $27,000 so far solicited is in trust to provide a continuing scholarship fund from the interest.

The show Thursday night will begin at 7:00. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students.

Rockcastle countians at EKU tutor local Destination Graduation students

It's hard to tell who gets more out of Rockcastle County's Destination Graduation Program -- The at-risk high school students receiving the special attention of the Eastern Kentucky University students from Rockcastle County who tutor them.

"I always wanted to work with kids and try to help them," said Christopher Frith, one of nine EKU students from Rockcastle County who return to their hometown for the program's after-school tutoring sessions. "This has helped me decide that I did want to be a teacher. I feel like now I'm capable of doing it."

As Frith, a senior English (teaching) major, grows more confident about his future, so do many of the students he tutors.

"I feel like I've gotten through some kids who needed some one-on-one attention," said Frith, a 1990 graduate of Rockcastle County High and the son of Leon and Norine Frith. "I think it has helped them to see that someone really cares whether they learn or not. When you're one-on-one with them, you can loosen up and talk about things you wouldn't otherwise."

Other Rockcastle County tutors in the program are: Jennifer Blevins, Angie Bussell, Sonia Morgan, Robert Phillips, Darla Shields, Cloia Smith, Diana Taylor and Arlena Todd. Eastern also sponsors Destination Graduation programs in Estill and Jackson counties. Besides the ongoing school-year tutoring program, which in each case matches the youngsters with EKU students from the same county, a rigorous summer program combines traditional academics with a wide variety of off-campus enrichment activities.

The Destination Graduation program, launched by EKU as part of an effort to reduce area high school dropout rates, is funded through the Council on Higher Education to serve at-risk high school students in the area with funds provided by the BellSouth Foundation and the Federal School, College and University Partnership Program.

The majority of the summer school funding is provided by the school systems through the Kentucky Education Reform Act. The program's coordinator at EKU is Nancy Thames.

Bobby Proctor, President of Citizens Bank, presented Dee Bussell and Billy Bussell with a $1,000 check recently for the Perpetual Care Fund of Pine Grove Cemetery. The contribution was made in memory of D.A. Robbins, a member of the board of directors of the bank and a trustee of the cemetery fund. Both Dee and Billy Bussell are also trustees of the cemetery.

- Roundsone-age 9-grade 4-3; age 10-grade 5-3; age 11-grade 6-4; age 12-grade 7-3; age 13-grade 8-3

Play Danville Friday night in Boyle County

Rockets blast Mercer 46-0

Mikhael Shafer scored the first touchdown of the game Friday night against the Mercer Co. Scotties in the Rockets 46-0 rout of Mercer in the first round of 2A play-off action. Lading the way for Shafer was fullback Jerry Adams. The Rockets face the Danville Admirals this Friday night at Danville.

Wendy's Players of the Game for last Friday night, were, from left: Jason Payne, Mike Tackett, Jason Hunt, Chris Goff. The game Friday night at Danville begins at 7:30 p.m.

The Rockcastle County Rockets will face the Danville Admirals for the third straight time in post-season play when they travel to Boyle County Friday Night.

The re-match was set up by a 46-0 victory for Rockcastle and a 70-0 victory for Danville in the first round of the class 2A state play-offs last week.

The Rock simply manhandled the visiting Mercer County Scotties Friday, proving that there is a difference in eight game winners and nine game winners.

Rockcastle beat Mercer in every aspect of the contest scoring on their first three possessions of the game. "We played very well, but as a team we could have played a little better," said head coach Tom Larkey.

"We missed a few assignments on offense in the first half, but we were able to correct them and move on Mercer with relative ease in the second half," said Larkey.

"Our defense played extremely well holding Mercer to just 40 yards of offense the entire game," said Larkey.

Mercer who had lost only to Danville and Anderson County in the regular season were out of the contest early, mainly due to the stinging Rocket defense which caused three turn-overs in the first half. All three Mercer miscues resulted in Rocket scores.

The miscues included a blocked punt and an interception. Mike Tackett picked off the errant pass.

"Our kids were where they were supposed to be," said defensive coordinator Tony Saylor.

In winning their tenth game in eleven tries, the Rockets racked up 320 yards of total offense, 239 on the ground and 81 through the air.

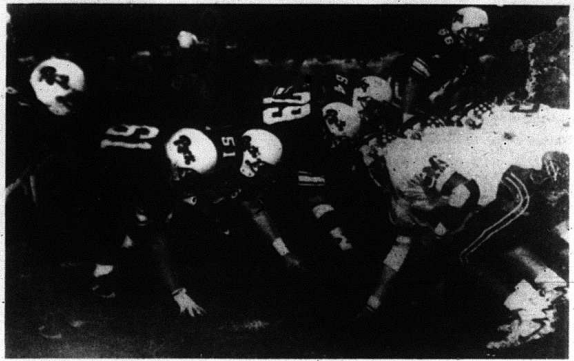

Halfback Jason Payne led the balanced rushing attack with 64 yards on just eight carries. Doug Cromer, who needs only 82 yards to gain 1,000 yards this season had 53 yards on 13 carries. The Rocket's work-horse back, Shawn Thacker had 43 yards on 8 carries and Mike Shafer had 38 yards on 9 carries.

Jason Hunt had another outstanding game for the Rockets grabbing four passes for 62 yards and one touchdown, while his counterpart Mickey McClure had 19 yards on 2 catches, both for touchdowns. McClure was also four for six in extra point kick attempts.

Quarterback J. D. Bussell threw for three scores, making his season total stand at 17, a new RCHS record. Bussell needs only 58 yards to eclipse the 1,000 yard mark passing.

"It will take a valiant effort on the part of our kids to knock off Danville, they are really in a class of their own," said Coach Larkey. "We are looking forward to the game and we are working extremely hard," he said. Friday night's 2A match-up begins at 7:30 p.m. at Danville.

CAP Child Development Center accredited nationally

The Family Life Child Development Center, a program of the Christian Appalachian Project, recently received national accreditation for its preschool program from the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs (NMAECP), which is the accrediting arm of the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

The Christian Appalachian Project's preschool program, which serves approximately 60 families with children from ages three to five years in Renfro Valley.

For the Rockcastle County community, "accreditation is a way for parents to have the assurance that their children are attending a high quality program" said Joyce Harvey, Manager of the Family Life Child Development Center.

Accreditation was dependent on meeting a variety of strict criteria related to providing activities appropriate for preschool-aged children, to having well qualified and trained staff, to having an adequate number of staff for the number of children, to meeting stringent health and safety standards, and to having opportunities for parental involvement.

The accreditation process included a self-evaluation by center staff and parents, an on-site study to confirm the self-evaluation, and a review by a three-member committee of early childhood experts.

The curriculum of the CAP Child Development Center offers development of language, social skills, pre-math capabilities, and creative and physical abilities.

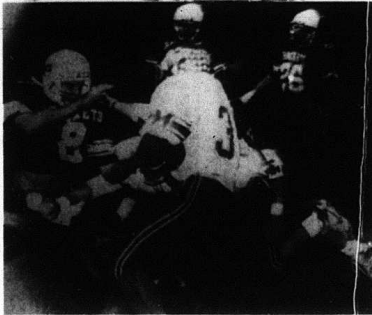

The center also offers parenting classes, preparation assistance for the GED test for parents without high school diplomas, family counseling, and an infant/toddler/parent program. Special services are also offered through the collaboration of the Rockcastle County Board of Education and the Kentucky River Footballs Head Start.

The movement to assure high quality, early childhood education programs was begun in 1985 by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, which is the nation's oldest and largest association of early childhood professionals.

The NAECIP, which is sponsored by the National Association, developed the accreditation standards over a three-year period with input from approximately 200 educators and administrators from around the country.

CAP Child Development Center's accreditation will be valid for three years.

For more information on the Child Development Center, which is located two miles north of Renfro Valley on U.S. 25 north, contact Joyce Harvey at 256-5613.

Gun Deer Season approaching

Thousands of Kentucky deer hunters will head to the woods Saturday, Nov. 13 for opening day of modern gun season.

Before opening day arrives, however, hunters should take time to familiarize themselves with the changes in deer hunting laws for 1993-94.

This year, a change in the checking and tagging requirements was made for persons taking deer on their own land. It is no longer mandatory for landowners to check their deer at an official check station. The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR), however, strongly encourages landowners to check their deer voluntarily so that an accurate record of harvest can be kept. Determining the number of doe days each county should have and other season regulations are heavily based on the previous year's harvest. Complete information on the number of deer taken each year is essential to proper management of the herd.

Landowners this year will also not be required to tag deer they harvest from their property unless removed from their property. The season limit is two deer per hunter and hunters must follow the county zone guidelines regarding taking does on designated days.

Another change for the 1993 modern gun season is that 28 gauge and .410 gauge shotguns used with slugs are legal for deer hunting. This change was made based on the facts that these firearms are effective for taking deer, and that there are some already legal firearms for deer hunting that are smaller calibers than the .410 or 28 gauge. For modern handgun, the 30 minimum caliber restriction was dropped, which means all centerfire handguns (or rifles) will be legal for deer hunting. (Centerfire means guns that fire cartridges by the firing pin striking the center of the end of the cartridge case.)

During the modern deer gun season Nov. 13-22 (Zone 7 counties

Nov. 13-17), any legal deer hunting equipment may be used, but all hunters must follow the zone and tag requirements in effect for modern gun season. All deer hunters must wear hunter orange color on the head, chest and back during the modern gun season. Caps and other hunter orange garments must be of solid hunter orange color (no camouflage patterns) but may display a small portion of another color (patch, decal, etc.).

For complete deer season information, pick up a copy of the 1993-94 Kentucky Deer Hunting Guide available from hunting and fishing license retail outlets. Questions about deer hunting should be directed to the KDFWR Information Division at

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,
I'm writing in defense of the goldenrod, our state flower.

Why has nature made such beautiful things as showy colorful flowers? Is it for the pleasure of mankind? Humankind is not the only creature drawn to the flower's beauty, so are bees, wasps, butterflies, and hundreds of other insects.

Does the flower mind? No, that is just what the plant intended! Any plant that has colorful flowers has sticky pollen to stick to the bee or insect; it comes to fast on a little bit of nectar. When the insect leaves to travel to another flower he takes the sticky pollen with him.

So allergy suffers when you look out on the field at the glorious yellow, locust blooms, or in the fall on a field of goldenrods, don't glare with hate! Enjoy them; they are not guilty of anything but looking great at a time when most of us feel terrible.

Look hard for those plants without any noticeable flowers, rayweed and grass, for they depend on the wind to blow their multi-millions of pollen hither and thither. They are the ones that blow right up your nose, in your eyes, down into your lungs, and make your life miserable.

Cordially yours,
Benedita French Stowell

"The church, what is it?"
Dear Editor,
In 1930 I heard a Methodist minister in East Liverpool, Ohio preach on, "The church must die." His sermon stated that all of the churches that send missionaries to foreign countries tell more about their denominations than they do of Jesus so the people hearing them are confused. In reality he meant the denomination must die and preach more about the saving power of Jesus Christ.

Read 1 Corinthians chapter 12. Paul tells us of the gifts the Holy Spirit gives to the Christians and how to use them. As Paul explains how the church is made up in his time by the body parts to form one church. We can use the same to make up all of our denominations. Each denomination is a part of the church that Jesus said He was coming to gather up for His Kingdom. It uses the gift that the Holy Spirit empowered them with.

There are many denominations throughout the world and they all make up one body, the Church. As Paul said in the 12th verse, some are Jews, some are gentiles, some are slaves and some are free but the Hol-

Spirit has fitted us all together. Read verse 14. Each denomination is a part of the body, (church) one a hand, one a foot, one an eye, one an ear and so on. Each one is needed to make the body function properly. One part of the body that can cause problems is the tongue that so often speaks out of turn. That can be the denomination that wants to control all the others. All in all every denomination is needed to make the church Jesus speaks of.

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointments at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with good attendance.

Sunday, Oct. 31st was Super Sunday II (high attendance day for Kentucky Baptist Sunday Schools). The Kentucky Goal was 210,000.

Our goal at Fairview was set for one hundred and forty eight (148).

Due to bad weather and sickness we only had one hundred and thirty four (134). But we were pleased with that number and thank the good Lord for each one. Several more attended worship services.

Well, the snow came early this year. It started, following a rain on Saturday afternoon, continuing during the night and most of the day on Sunday. Here at our home on Scaffold Canie we measured 31/2 inches.

On our way to Sunday School and church we were overjoyed with the beauty of the snow on the pines and cedars. Some were so heavy, they were nearly bowed over into the road. Well, it was just simply Winter's Wonderland!

A baptismal service was conducted at our church on Sunday night with four being baptized. May God bless this young lady and three young men. They have our love and prayers.

Mrs. Bobby Cope (Mary) has returned to her home near Fairview from the Humana Hospital in Lexington where she recently submitted to major surgery. We are glad to report that she is improving very nicely. She and her family are very thankful that she is home again and feeling better. Visiting with Buddy and Mary on Sunday were his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cope of Mt. Vernon.

Our community and surrounding area were saddened to hear of the death of Mrs. Mabel Poynter of Lima, Ohio. Her husband, Millard Poynter, passed away in 1985. They moved from Rockcastle County several years ago. She will be remembered as Mabel Moore, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore of Conway. Her family and loved ones have our sympathy, love and prayers. God bless them all.

'Common Folks'

Common folks, what a people!
To have more of them, is very needful,
Such nice folks, I like their kind,
The wisdom they project, keeps coming to my mind.

With them I like to associate,
Such peace of mind they seem to create,
It makes me happy just being in their presence,
They teach me things and I learn the lessons.

So many problems we have to face,
As down life's highway we run the race,
So many troubles, we will encounter,
But it seems Common Folks have the answer.

The wisdom they have has been passed down,
All people don't stand on this solid ground,
The test of time, it will endure,
But the Common Folks are becoming fewer.

This wisdom may not be taught in school,
And in books it may not be written,
It could have to do with the Golden Rule,
But by the Common Folks I am smitten.

Common Folks have a gentle soul,
To be like that is my goal,
They soothe your nerves and calm your mind,
And with them, I like to spend my time.

Common Folks don't have a false sense of worth,
They don't lie up all their treasures
on this earth,
They pretty much practice what they preach,
And they don't set goals that they can't reach.

God bless the Common man, Whose hands are strong from work
and toil,
That hews the stone and works the soil,
Who bears up with his honest heart,
The scars of earth and the touch of God.

God must have loved these people a plenty,
Or He surely wouldn't have made so many.

Little Tree By: Wanda Burton

Little tree although you are small Unlike others elegant and tall
Your leaves are beautiful colored Amber red and gold

Though the ground be laden with snow
You seem reluctant to let them go
And they look beautiful in the cold
Like an amber statue standing bold

When I look out my window and see you there
An inspiration to me you inspire
You are the most beautiful by far Little tree in my neighbor's yard.

Rock By: Rhonda Barnes

Somerset may be the district hero Don't forget Rock beat them 28 to zero

The Rock had one loss to the hounds
But now they feel state bound

I've heard Mercer is coming to town
So Rock it's time to shut 'em down

To some Danville is a fright Compared to the Rock they can't hold the light

If Mercer should come and fail
Rock's going to Danville and give 'em
*&#

If Danville whom we do defeat
Rock is on the road in the driver's seat they can't reach.

So as we say "The Rock is hard."
They feel Danville is weak and tired
The polls rate Danville the best
So Rock "let's let 'em rest."

The road can be long or it can be short
The Rock is gonna to be the better sport

There's only one thing left to say Rock you can do it, go all the way

We Must Win, We're Expected to Win, We Will Win

Somerset won the district, they're the big hero
But the "Rock" has beat 'em there 28 to zero.

The "Rock" lost to Corbin, that's one
for the hounds
But now we all feel "The Rock" is state bound.

You saw last week that Mercer came to town
But the Rock's Big Defense, stayed hard and shut 'em down.

We've waited and at last, "The Big Week" has arrived,
We leave to meet the Ad's at 5:45

There's a chill in the air, there's colors
for the hounds
We must wear it to the game - Lots of Red and Blue

We're going again this year, we're expected to win the game,
And we'll leave Danville feeling no shame

No tears on the field from feelings of guilt
The Ads must learn, how the "Rock" was built

Let's take a piece of Rock from Rock castle dirt
Let's take it to Danville, we will show
'em how it hurts,
Let's keep it in our hand, but don't fling it at the refs Keep confidence in your coaches, your team and yourself

We're all pulling for you, "Big Rock"
I'm sure
We Must Win, We're Expected to Win, We will Win
Is all I want to hear!

I love you Rockets
Do your best and Good Luck!

12th annual book fair offers readers a day of fun

As the Thanksgiving holiday approaches, another annual celebration comes to mind - the Kentucky Book Fair. The day-long festivities offer buyers and browsers the opportunity to meet writers and to purchase personalized, autographed books at a 20 percent discount. This year's event will be Saturday, November 20, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Department for Libraries and Archives in Frankfort.

In observing its 12th year, the Book Fair again will bring together readers from all over the state with national, regional and Kentucky writers and their wide array of works. Novels, poetry, photographic collections, essays, biographies, children's books, memoirs, histories, mysteries and more will be offered at this year's fair.

Writers of fiction are well represented on the roster. "MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour" co-anchor Jim Lehrer will bring a suspenseful new novel, Blue Hearts. His spouse, novelist Kate
Lehrer, is coming to her second Book Fair when When They Took Away the Man in the Moon, Carol Higgins Klum will bring the second thriller in her Regan Reilly series, Snagged. Best-selling nonfictionist Stuart Kaminsky
(The Devil Met a Lady) and Stuart Woods (L.A. Times) will be on tap with their latest works. That "merry anarchist of letters," Ken Kesey, will sign Sailor Song, and two much-praised children's titles.

Kentucky writer Bobbie Ann Mason will return to the Book Fair with her highly acclaimed new work, Father Crown. Always a favorite, Ed McClanahan will be there with a new edition of The Natural Man, a book which had been out of print for several years until it was republished by Gnomon Press earlier this year.
Kentuckians Shelby Hearson (Hug Dancing) and Billy Clark (Song of the River), and Western Kentucky University professor Jim Wayne Miles (His First, Best Country) will add their works to the mix. The list of novelists goes on and on.

Chris Offutt, who this year received critical praise for two new works,
Kentucky Straight and *The Same River
Twice*, will be joined by another Rowan County native, Elaine Palencia, who will bring Small Caucasian Woman.

For those interested in biography, there will be plenty in store. Bob has hosted National Public Radio's

Movie -Review- "Flesh and Bone"

The movie takes place somewhere in western rural America. A farmer and his family get ready to sit down to dinner when an 11 year old boy shows up on their front porch. He tells them
"he's lost." After feeding him supper, they all go to bed.

Later in the evening the "lost boy" unlocks the front door. His father (James Caan) comes in and they begin to rob the house. The father of the house comes downstairs with his shot gun and shoots the boy's father. He, in turn kills the father, mother, and little boy. A baby is heard crying.

Several years later, the boy, Arlis Sweeney (Dennis Quaid), a self-employed, vending machine owner, who travels several counties, minding his own business, filling his machines and collecting the change. During his travels, Arlis is coerced into taking Kay Davies (Meg Ryan) home, although he had never met her before.
She was supposed to be the entertainment in a huge cake at a bachelor party, but she was ill and had passed out.

"Flesh and Bone" is a different kind of movie. Just about the time you have gotten it figured out the plot twists and turns. Meg Ryan gives another example of how versatile an actress she is, by playing a sweet innocent woman that got mixed up in the wrong family. And Dennis Quaid plays a loner, depressed straight-faced cowboy type.

"Flesh and Bone" is rated R and is now playing at the Regency Cinema 7 in London.

Hi! My name is Brandon Joseph Barron, I'm the proud brother of James Dean and the son of Joe and Patty Barron. I just celebrated my fourth birthday. I had a rabbit cake from Dairy Queen and all of my friends came over to my house and helped me eat it and celebrate. I would like to thank everyone for the gifts and I'd also like to say thank you Dairy Queen for making my cake for me. I really enjoyed it. "Thanks everyone!"

Hey,

Nov. 1 - Dec. 31 1993-94 ACP- LTA sign-up

The 1993-94 ACP-LTA sign-up period for Rockcastle County has been set for Nov. 1, through Dec. 31, according to Eddie Paul Noe, chairman of the Rockcastle County ASCS Committee.

Any Rockcastle County Farmer interested in the 1993 LTA program should contact the Rockcastle County ASCS Office immediately.

ACP-LTA is a federally assisted cost-sharing program emphasizing the identification and solution of soil, water and woodland conservation and pollution problems on agricultural lands and encourages energy conservation.

The basic objective of Long Term Agreements (LTA) is to treat a specific delineated area that has been identified with critical soil and water farm-land problems. Through the use of an approved conservation plan, a combination of selected conservation programs best suited to the particular needs of each individual site are applied with respect to the primary use of the farmland under contract.

With the 1990 Farm Bill placing increased emphasis on water quality concerns and issues, the STIC has determined that FY91 funds will be authorized only for requests addressing specific Water Quality issues resulting from ineffective, or lack of, agricultural waste control facilities (WQAs). (Other systems dealing directly with solving the degradation of water quality issues may be approved if determined warranted.)

Farmers are eligible to receive cost-sharing of up to 75 percent of the actual cost of the conservation practice performed. These practices are to be maintained by farmers for a period of five to ten years after the completion of the practice depending upon the type of practice performed. These practices are under specific instructions and should not be started before actual approval from the County Committee with the instructions listed on the approved ASCS form ACP-245 mailed to farmers prior to starting of the practice(s).

Cost-sharing amount will be applied after the practice is reported as completed and adequate receipts are represented as proof of the material(s) used to perform the practice. Some practices must be referred to the Soil Conservation and the Kentucky Division of Forestry for approvals.

ACP-LTA funds are obligated for a period of three to five years with the maximum permitted cost-sharing for one year not to exceed the amount of $3,500. This means on a three-year contract you could earn up to $10,500. Any farmer interested in applying for the long term agreement should contact the office immediately. If you have any questions concerning LTA's, you may call our office any time Monday through Friday 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Our telephone number is 256-2525.

town would get together and have all the members that would canvass the city. Go out two by twos with no two from the same church, each visit could be with a different combination. I'm sure this would create many new friendships. And when people without a church home see a genuine friendship between people with different views of the Bible my belief is all churches would benefit.

Each pair would have a question sheet made up by a committee from all participating churches.

- Sample:
1. Do you attend any church? yes/no. Which one?
 2. How many in your family?
 3. Are you interested in church?
 4. Could we have someone call back?
 5. Would you like a minister to come?
 6. May we pray with you?
 7. Have copies made of each for all ministers to evaluate and set up a visiting program.
- I am only a lay person interested in church growth and new Christians. These are my own ideas and not from any denomination.
- L. Tackett

Cayenne pepper-based spray being used by police

Kentucky State Police Commissioner Jerry W. Lovitt announced today that state police officers will begin using cayenne pepper-based spray as a defensive device when arresting persons who resist arrest or threaten officers or the general public.

Officers at the Mayfield, Dry Ridge and London Posts will be trained in the use of pepper spray and then participate in a three-month pilot project beginning this month. If all goes as expected, the program will be expanded to include all state police troopers and detectives in early 1994.

According to Commissioner Lovitt, the pepper spray has definite advantages over other defensive devices. "Mace isn't always effective on people, especially those using drugs. A nightstick can cause injuries. On the other hand, pepper spray is an inflammatory agent and reacts immediately on all persons. But just as importantly, it reduces the need to use force that might otherwise cause injury to someone who is being arrested or restrained from committing some type of illegal activity."

Commissioner Lovitt believes the utilization of pepper spray by state police personnel will reduce the alarming number of assaults against state troopers. Annually, this amounts to approximately 150 assault against state police personnel. In addition, pepper spray is becoming the defensive device-of-choice for many police departments. Over 2,000 police agencies, including most state police agencies around Kentucky, use some type of the spray.

Research conducted by the KSP Research and Development Section indicates the pepper spray will be an effective and less injurious alternative to other forms of restraint. According to Captain Lonnie Moert, commander of the Research and Development Section, "(it) is temporary-acting but you can bring someone into compliance with just the spray -- it seems to fit the bill in terms of what we need -- it is effective and it is safe. It will reduce the chances of injury to our personnel and to persons who are sprayed with pepper spray."
