Six indicted in scam go to court

Six participants in an insurance scam stood before a judge in Federal Court in London last Thursday and heard the opening remarks in what may be long and complicated trials: Russell Ramsey is free on a $10,000 bond, and a condition of his release is that he must not intimidate anyone.

Randy L. Fyffe Sr., of Berea posted a $5,000 bond. Gary Dale Ramsey of Mt. Vernon posted a $2,500 bond as did his wife Susan Ann Ramsey, Debra Jean Lunceford and Michael Wayne Lunceford. All have $2,500 bonds.

It was the formal arraignment and they all were represented by the same attorney, Earl Dean of Harrodsburg. Their trials were scheduled for Jan. 31.

The family members waived their rights to individual representation in spite of conflict-of-interest warnings from U.S. District Judge Jennifer Coffman and federal prosecutor Kenneth Taylor.

It is the position of the United States that there is a conflict of interest now and that there will be more conflicts yet to come," Taylor said at the arraignment hearing.

Pointing out that Russell Ramsey is named as the alleged ringleader in the $3.2 million fraud case and that Ramsey is paying for Dean's services, Taylor said:

"There is the appearance, at least initially, that Mr. Ramsey is controlling the representation of his underlings."

Coffman said she strongly urged against dual representation.

The judge asked each defendant four times whether he or she wanted to share Dean's services with the other defendants. She also asked whether they understood the proceedings and whether they were under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Dean told Coffman that there would be no conflicts between his clients and that he had discussed the issue with the group.

Fyffe was represented by a court-appointed attorney, Gary Hudson of London.

The six defendants were indicted by a federal grand jury in Lexington last week. The grand jury also named 40 unindicted co-conspirators, mostly from Rockcastle County.

Investigators, who tracked the case for almost two years, charge that the defendants and the co-conspirators ran a scam in which they obtained 1,443 policies, filed 2,778 claims, and collected insurance payments totaling $3,246,440, dating from 1986, the indictment explains.

The indictment charges that Russell Ramsey was at the head of the operation, keeping records on the people involved and how much they collected. Ramsey took a cut of all the insurance payments, court records note.

The six defendants entered not guilty pleas to all of the insurance and mail fraud charges against them.

Russell Ramsey faces 31 counts of fraud. Each charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail or a $250,000 fine.

Grant to county for more help

Rockcastle County has been chosen to receive $7,584 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the area.

The selection was made by a National Board that is chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and consists of representatives from The Salvation Army, American Red Cross, Council of Jewish Federations, Catholic Charities, USA, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and United Way of America which will provide the administrative staff and functions as fiscal agents.

The Board was charged to distribute funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country.

A Local Board made up of the county judge and Red Cross will determine how the funds awarded to Rockcastle County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service organizations in the area.

The Local Board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds available under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local governmental or private voluntary organizations chosen to receive funds must be non-profit, have an accounting system and conduct an annual audit, practice nondiscrimination, have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and if they are a private voluntary organization, they must have a voluntary board. Qualifying organizations are urged to apply.

Rockcastle County has distributed Emergency Food and Shelter funds previously with Daniel Boone Development and REAP. These agencies were responsible for providing over 70,000 meals, 400 nights lodging, and helped 53 families with utility bills.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting Betty J. Carter at 256-5315.

The "Ms" applied Monday and Tuesday. Eighty two applied Monday and by noon Tuesday, 40 had applied. Both were counted in the 687 total.

FmHA reports on loans

Residents of Jackson and Rockcastle County received more than $2,119,701 in loans and grants from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) in fiscal year 1993, according to Robert W. Hornsby, FmHA County Supervisor.

Farmers and prospective homeowners who were unable to obtain credit elsewhere took advantage of the FmHA funds to buy, repair, expand and improve properties.

Rural Housing loans led the investments, totaling $1,926,701. The agency provided loans for single-family homes for 48 low and moderate income families in the counties utilizing both direct and guaranteed loans. Other assistance was provided for repairs and additions to existing dwellings.

During the year, five farmers received direct and guaranteed loans for farm ownership and farm operating expenses amounting to $193,000. Operating loans are primarily given for purchase of livestock and farm equipment.

State Director, Thomas G. Fern, lists some of the advantages of FmHA guaranteed loans. "Our guaranteed loans increase business for local banks and help stimulate local economies. Through guaranteed loans, FmHA funds go farther toward helping more people," Fern stated.

"Also, borrowers make the transition to commercial credit more easily when they start out with a guaranteed loan," he said.

FmHA is the rural credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture providing financial assistance and counseling to rural residents and communities. Farmers Home Administration is an equal opportunity lender.

For more information about available programs, contact the FmHA Office at McKeen or phone 287-7126. Permanent employees in the local office are: Robert W. Hornsby, Barry R. Turner, Janette Chrisman, and Lois Day.

Wrecks reported

Freddie Halcomb, 64, of Crab Orchard was taken to U.K. Medical Center following a one-vehicle accident on U.S. 150 near the Lincoln County line Sunday.

He ran off the road and over two streams and was found later still in his pickup.

Deputy Sheriff Leonard Miller investigated the 9 a.m. accident.

James M. Allen, 75, of Orlando lost control of his 1976 Chevrolet, went across Lambert Road and cut down a telephone pole about noon Saturday.

His passenger was Michael Allen, 15, also of Orlando.

Both refused hospital treatment.

Right after the funeral, when it comes time to split up the dearly beloved's personal effects, it's not unusual to find all six youngsters and maybe a cousin or two snarling over Grandma's favorite quilt. And every single one of them will be asserting that, "She wanted me to have it."

It can get nasty. Siblings sometimes refuse to speak to each other for years and even go to court over salt shakers and chipped up china. Up to now, however, my research on prologue fights has not revealed a single fight over Granny's mail box.

But now there's a good chance that the family mail box may, in fact, be a bone of contention in estate settlements after the turn of the century. Because my friend, Doug Rhodus, is currently building and marketing one designed to last until the end of time.

Most of us who live out in the country know that five or ten years is a good life expectancy for a mailbox. That's not to say that some don't last much longer, but all too frequently our mailboxes become dented and smashed. Delinquents love to see if they can hit them with empty beer bottles. Sometimes they are sideswiped by careless drivers. Or the wind blows a broken limb into them. It's not unusual to find a bullet hole. Sometimes they just rust away.

Rarely, if ever, do you see a surviving heir taking down the deceased's mailbox unless it's headed for the garbage dump.

Doug's new mailbox, however, is built to outlast most homes. It's not apt to dent unless it's run over by a bull dozer. Beer bottles and bullets will bounce off it without leaving a mark and if it's sideswiped, only the offending vehicle is apt to suffer any noticeable damage.

Because Doug is killing two birds with one stone. Along with the mailboxes, he's also building the last charcoal grill/Aalgate cooker you'll ever need to buy because, like Granny's old cookstove, they're going to be around for a long, long time. The grills can easily be converted to propane burners. The final product is a chimneytop/flu-cover-like device designed to withstand the tests of time.

These products are constructed from the stainless steel cores or tanks of discarded, household water heaters. Usually when water heaters are discarded it's because of electrical or plumbing problems—not because there's anything wrong with the tank.

Unlike other appliances that can be crushed into a blob of metal, water heaters are so durable that they generally wind up in landfills whole. Consequently they take up a relatively huge amount of space that is becoming more and more expensive every day. Doug developed his product line because he thought it a shame to throw away the high quality metal, especially since it took so much space to bury.

So he has set up a little factory in Cartersville where, with a variety of bandaws and other cutting tools he disassembles the tanks, polishes the metal, reshapes it and then welds it back into the products we've just mentioned. They are remarkably attractive handsome and durable in addition to being a revolutionary concept in environmental responsibility.

If you know a young couple just starting out, you can purchase them a mailbox for Christmas that their kids will be drawing lots for fifty years from now.

The mailboxes are stained black and Doug will gladly customize them with a steel, jig-sawed university logo or with your favorite animal mounted along the top. I've already asked the kids to let Santa know that I want one with a Dalmatian on top. I'll be as-

Roamin' Rockcastle

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

They say turkey served on the day after Thanksgiving is just as good or better.

With this in our mind, John and I went out on Friday to learn (or eat some) what had gone on in Rockcastle the day after the holiday.

I was surprised that there hadn't been big celebrations. Most of them stayed at home and ate by themselves.

Driving to Wildie, we stopped at Ballard Parsons' store.

"Well, where are the leftovers? I thought you might share some with us and I wouldn't have to cook what we ate," I threw out my hands in a begging gesture to Ballard but he's only grinned.

"We had plenty of turkey and plenty of everything. But we ate everything up at home where Mom had cooked it for us," Ballard told us and I knew we would get nothing in the way of leftovers.

"What do you sell the most of?" I asked Ballard.

"We've got plenty of rain which I can sell cheap, was his answer. So if we wanted to eat supper there, I had to do the makings. We had fried apple and cherry pie with milk and a banana. There wasn't much to do to the dishes. I just threw them in a waste can.

Ballard said he came back to the store after dinner at home. He doesn't watch much television or news on it.

"Do you ever get out any, away from here, like church or town, movies?" I asked. "I go to church sometimes. We live right behind the church so it's not very far," he answered.

I bought some groceries and Ballard gave John two windshield scrapers. I like that when we are given a present, I guess it's the child still in me.

We started to leave when I put my hand on a deep freeze behind him and asked, "Anything in here that I shouldn't see, that you've sold a lot of?"

Ballard drove his new machine over to the freezer and said, "No, there's nothing new. I sold all out and won't get anymore until Christmas time. But I've been taking orders from folks who want to be sure of having some

Modern Technology

The advances in today's technology would hardly be accepted by our long gone ancestors as a practical way to live. For instance, the preparation for the Thanksgiving Holiday is so different from the days when the turkey had to be found in the wilderness and shot by bow and arrow or the faithful long rifle, carried home on the back of the hunter along with all his other trophies of the day, then prepared for the cooking, which might take a whole day to accomplish.

Before the advent of stoves the women of the house had to cook over an open fire used also for heating the house. Before that time even, a big fire was built, much like today's outside grill and the meat was cooked over it. Those folks were glad to have meat to cook by whichever means they happened to have on hand. And so, giving thanks for food was a reality in their lives that we so often take for granted. So much for a short history lesson of our day.

Last Sunday modern technology began its intrusion into my life and changed a Thanksgiving week ahead of me from one of uncertainties of what I would be doing into one of hectic scrambling for things to make this Thanksgiving Day into one of my traditional days of feasting and family revelry. A phone call from Rodney saying he and his family were coming home for Thanksgiving Day was the beginning. Telephones are a

Fairview News

By: Mrs. Hubert Chasteen

Rev. Harvey Pensol filled his regular appointment at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend with good attendance. We had ninety nine (99) for Sunday School, but for worship services we had an extra good attendance. Our Sunday School average number for the month of November is one hundred and four (104). We thank God for this number.

Well, Thanksgiving has come and gone for the year of 1993, and I just hope each of the readers and their families enjoyed it as much as I did. But, don't think that we should stop at just one day for giving thanks to God for all His wonderful blessings. Each day is a gift from God and we should enjoy it to the fullest.

Our whole community was shocked and saddened by the death of Mrs. Evalena Bowman of Mt. Vernon. Many of us have known her for many years. Her first husband, the late Eugene Thomas, was my mother's half-brother, making him my uncle. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to her family and relatives who are left to mourn their loss. They are remembered in our thoughts and prayers.

It was also sad to hear of the passing of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Singleton McWhorter of Brodhead a few weeks ago. I always enjoyed her writings in the Signal. May God bless and comfort her loved ones at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and daughter Sherry were Thanksgiving dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin.

Dorothy Lambert and Mary Lou Reynolds of Augusta, Ga. recently visited Dorothy's family members. I enjoyed seeing and talking to Dorothy at church. She is a sweetie. I've always loved and respected the Lambert family.

Mrs. Myrtle Adams of Wildie and her daughter Phyllis Vos of Lexington visited Hubert and me Nov. 16. Myrtle's first husband was Hubert's brother, the late Cal Chasteen. We enjoyed their visit.

Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Labadie Adams and daughter Cheryl were their other daughter and husband Jennifer and Steve Case, Ken and Kitty Canterbury and family; Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Pickle and family; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Pickle and children; Mr. and Mrs. Michael and Sherri Pickle; Kenny Wayne Pickle; also Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Verna Henley of Rural Retreat, Va.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Henley took Luther, Nancy and Carol to Bandstown for the weekend. While there they enjoyed a ride in a horse-drawn carriage, went on a candlelight tour of "My Old Kentucky Home" and dined at the Stephen Foster Restaurant. The Henleys returned home Nov. 28th. They all enjoyed the Thanksgiving holidays.

Another great day of Thanksgiving was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alexander and children, Courtney and Cody of Sand Springs. Enjoying a delicious meal with this family were his parents Eugene and Hallie Alexander of Fairview and his sister Jewell Davidson and husband, Rex and children, Jenia and Jeremy of Brodhead. I love the way this family visits and enjoys the company of each other. Just wish more families would.

Hubert and I had a very enjoyable Thanksgiving Day and a delicious dinner with our daughter Joyce Seals and family of Berea. Others were her husband James Seals and daughter, Kim and a friend. Also Mrs. Mary Mullins of Berea (James' mother). Kim is attending school in Decatur, Ga. and was home for the holidays.

Our guests during the weekend were Wayne and Carolyn Chasteen; Darryl Chasteen and family, all of Berea, Connie Adams and a friend of Richmond.

Mrs. Mary Cape and daughter Helen Powell had Thanksgiving dinner with another daughter, Christine Barnett.

Please attend the church of your choice some where. Let's pray for one another and love each other, and try to make this world a better place in which to live. And don't be ashamed to mention the Lord's name, wherever you are, after all God gives us every breath we breathe, and grants us so many great blessings.

agrees to investigate. While the world knows Milan Stevens as a brilliant conductor, Wolfe knows him as Miles Stefanovic, the brave freedom fighter who saved Wolfe's life many years ago. It is a debt that must be paid.

But Maria - has come to the big detective too late. Milan Stevens is soon found dead, and Maria's musician boyfriend, Gerald, is in police custody. Despite Maria's cry that Gerald could not have possibly committed such a bloody act, there are plenty of witnesses who overheard Stevens screaming at Gerald that marrying his niece was out of the question. To make matters worse, Gerald also happened to be the only person seen entering Steven's apartment on the night when the final curtain was pulled on his brilliant life. Did Gerald commit this horrendous crime?

The Adult Reading Group will be meeting Tuesday, December 7th at 10:30 a.m. Each participant should have a Christmas story to share with the group or maybe someone would like to share a Christmas craft, your favorite holiday recipe or anything pertaining to Christmas.

We now have eight ladies in the group and anyone that is interested in discussing good books or that would just enjoy an hour with friends is encouraged to join the group.

Last month "The Bridges of Madison County" was discussed. There has been quite a bit of controversy about his best-selling novel and in our discussion we found that some thought it was one of the best books that they had read recently and others like myself did not quite agree. That is one of the purposes of these sessions though, is to hear other people's opinions and views. Things were brought out about this book that I had overlooked.

Please join us for at least one or both of these interesting programs.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

Hopefully, we have all survived the Thanksgiving feasting and are now looking forward to the Christmas season.

My family was blessed by all getting to be together on Saturday except for our oldest grandson, Robby. He works for the Herald-Sun in Durham, NC and was unable to leave work on Friday so he could not make the trip to Kentucky. But he called us and was very much here in spirit.

December is indeed one of the busiest times of the year but we are hoping you will choose to spend a few hours visiting the library. We all need some leisure time for ourselves so let us help you enjoy this time by providing a great selection of books, videos, audio tapes, magazines and etc. We also have an excellent selection of Christmas books for young and old, both fiction and non-fiction.

We have also planned some interesting programs for your enjoyment.

On Monday, December the 6th, Betty will be helping the craft class make our own floral arrangements. At the last meeting she showed us different methods and styles of arranging flowers, both fresh or silk ones. Also different types of containers that can be used for the best effects and that would complement the flowers. You may make a Christmas arrangement or one of your own choosing. If you are interested and would like to join the group, please call the library and Betty or I will help you to decide what you need to bring in for your arrangement.

There are some new non-fiction books available that should be of interest to our patrons. 1. Country Music by Bob Millard. Included in this book are all of the old favorites and the new stars that are now popular such as Garth Brooks, John Michael Montgomery, Alan Jackson and many more. 2. Kovel's New Antiques and Collectibles 1994.

3. Several new Christmas books on crafts, wrapping gifts, and holiday foods. New fiction books are 1. Mrs. deWinter by Susan Hill. This is a sequel to Rebecca by Daphne du Maurier. At the end of Rebecca, Manderly is burning and Maxim and Mrs. deWinter are on their way to the Continent to try to build a quiet, safe life for themselves away from the passionate, violent excess that nearly destroyed their souls.

But could this happen? Could the deWinters escape or did they ever return home to England to confront the past. For that matter what happened to the despicable housekeeper, Mrs. Danvers and Rebecca's creepy cousin, Jack Favell?

Susan Hill, a distinguished novelist writing at the top of her form, has managed brilliantly, and wholly convincingly precisely what happens after the deWinters journey back to England. Daphne du Maurier would approve; so will readers of Rebecca, and the huge number of people who appreciate the joining of a great novelist to a wonderful story.

Two novels by Robert Goldsborough. These are about Rex, Susan's Nero Wolfe. 1. Murder in the Minor. Threatening notes have been sent to Milan Stevens, celebrated conductor of the New York symphony. His niece, Maria, fears for her uncle's life. Nero Wolfe, approached for help, way of communication the early settlers had never heard of so when visitors came for a day or week they simply appeared at the door and were welcomed for as long as they wanted to stay. I did not get out my rifle nor bow and arrow, instead I headed for the grocery store. I thought had the best sales and products I would be needing. As it turned out no one store had all the makings I wanted so I had to visit several of them before I had good sweet potatoes for candying and fresh cranberries for the cranberry relish that is a must at my house at holiday time.

Turkeys were plentiful so I had no trouble finding a big young one, frozen by today's method of preserving meat until ready to cook. All of the groceries were put in plastic bags which were then loaded into the trunk of my car and I was on my way home. I never once thought of weighing the groceries over my shoulder and dodging Indian trails.

The dogging I was concerned about was keeping out of the way of the crazy driving habits of the other shoppers. This began in the stores where the carts crowded the aisles and the shoppers had to fight for a place in line where the best bargains were. Once in the car and heading homeward the next battle was for a safe place in the line of traffic. One of my biggest gripes is the lack of concern of other drivers who will not use their turn signals therefore putting all drivers in danger. And if they do happen to turn them on it is often after they have already cut their wheels for the turn. Sometimes I wonder if their turn signal is connected to the wheel lineup and only works when they are turning. Modern technology has given us a safe way, the turning signal, that operates by a flick of a switch, to know when someone is turning to the right or left and should be used in time for other drivers to make a knowledgeable decision of how to make their next move. These hazards once behind me I began the next step in the modern days preparation of a holiday feast. No silly old choppin grinding on a hand held meat grinder for me, I whipped out my food processor and ground the cranberries and oranges in a flash, stored them in the nice cool refrigerator and was soon ready for the next chore. The modern refrigerator is so much handier than the old spring house. The turkey, already plucked and cleaned up was ready for use in my column last week.

quickly thawed and presto, I had fresh pumpkin pie.

The big day dawned with all preparations under control and all I had to do was put the finishing touches on everything while I awaited the arrival of Rodney, Helen and Birch, and Polly, Chucky and Chad. My grandson, Denny, had arrived a few days earlier and had helped with the shopping and preparations. These young men of today can do anything we always thought of as women's work. Maybe this isn't modern technology but it is a new way of today's thinking. Another plus for our youth.

Rodney and his family arrived mid afternoon and Polly, Chucky and Chad weren't far behind. Another big day in my life and it wasn't over yet. Judy and Geoff couldn't stand the thought of everyone but them being here so the next morning they made their appearance. This was another surprise for me. Here I thought I would be alone for Thanksgiving and now I truly had more to give thanks for than a good meal. I had my family. And if it hadn't been for the technology of today's housekeeping methods I never could have made it.

Linda is a neighbor who lives near and helps Margaret with housework. Steve Bullens had been over to teach the Sunday School lesson as he does every week. We missed him this time and would like to hear him again.

Rosy Finnell had been there to talk of new with them.

Margaret said they would come to Mt. Vernon for their weekly shopping trip and the news.

I had wanted to stop at Frank and Ethel Thacker's place for sometime and only got to go there the day we came through on our ramblings.

They are some of the friendliest folks.

Ethel was quilting with a large round hoop - I've seen several quilts that way - She had a beautiful pattern in dusty rose.

While she and I were talking, her sister, Sylvia Gabbard, came in and joined us. It seems she lost her husband some years ago when he passed away. She said her son was named John Gabbard too and went to church at Galilee.

The family had eaten a big turkey with all the trimmings for Thanksgiving.

I told Ethel I had been doing some house cleaning to get ready for company and she said she had too. When others get off from work for holidays - Holidays means cooking and cleaning to us women.

I hear of folks going on a strike and I think we working women (any that want to join us) could have our own strike on cooking and cleaning. Keep it in mind!

The sun has been playing hide and go seek all day here on Sunday with the weather. First it comes out from behind a mess of dark clouds that say snow which it does a short time later. Snow is so pretty to see dancing around as it does then its gone and the darkest clouds are out which make us gloomy.

The weather is sure something else in Rockcastle.

We went back to our old home church at Clear Creek Baptist Sunday. I say old but nothing about it looks old.

The members kept it looking nice and when they are called away, their children take over and keep it nice and modern looking.

I met the pastor, Brother Sherman Hill, and after church Jim Dees said, "Wasn't that a good sermon?"

I had been thinking that myself and was glad someone else felt the same way. He didn't preach all the way around his subject, he went right to the point and said things that struck you deeply.

I sat there letting my mind go over things that happened long ago, revivals when old time preachers like Hubble Ponder, Jim Harding, Lewis Vanwinkle, and many I can't remember.

Memories of the past are the best things that can happen to a person.

I hope we can go to Clear Creek Church again.

The sun is so bright and cheery this morning even causing folks with troubles to drop them and look for the best.

I miss, and so do others, our good pastor, Brother Stephen Cole, and we pray he will be called back again.

I talked to Fabra and Jim Dees. There are a lot of Dees people who work in the church.

Jim's mother, Stella Dees, is in the Berea Hospital, the Skilled Nursing Department and she spends time sitting up in bed piecing quilts or crocheting making a cup that sits in a saucer. She sells these, I bought two from her myself.

I miss my brother, Buford so badly. I find myself listening for his telephone call as he called about once a week. He was older than Cleve or I and we could talk to him on former things about the family.

Coming down Davis Branch Road, we stopped at Eli and Pearl Chasteen's new trailer home. There we found their son, Floyd Chasteen, who has bought a farm on Brush Creek. Floyd says he's coming back to run for Mayor or some office where he could help the people.

I'll tell you how he could help me by letting us stay in their trailer home across the road from Eli's place in the summer. Maybe I wouldn't have to cook much, just borrow from Pearl and Eli.

John Owens, kinfolk from Brodhead and has a job at bank examining around the state, was seen driving down Clear Creek a few weeks ago but he didn't stop at any of his kinfolk places. Everybody was wondering what the objective of his going through could be. Maybe we'll find out later.

Here is my next riddle - What has a long tongue and can't talk? (answer next week)

If folks did not carry gossip, it would not go so far.

Old timer, Bill Stewart, Paul Abney, and some others have put their wheels for the holidays.

We next went to Elmer Hale's on Roundstone Road and talked awhile. Elmer asked the answer to my riddle that I put in my column last week. I said, "Oh, no. You'll wait until next week like everybody else has to, but since this is next week's paper, here we go. What goes to bed with its shoes on and sleeps all night?"

The answer is, a horse.

The last time I had seen them was in the Berea Hospital doorway as he was being pushed in a wheelchair. So I asked Elmer about his health. It seems he has heart trouble and has to take it easy. Can't do much.

His wife, Edith, said, "I had to do all the garden work by myself and put up the food, beans, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes; pumpkins and cabbage, so we have plenty to do us this winter. I cook with oil so I'm careful about cooking too much fat."

She said she didn't go to church where they had been faithful in going but said she wouldn't leave him until he got better.

Elmer said, "You've told me a riddle now let me tell you a tale."

An old couple had a fuss just before going to bed.

He went over to the bed and reached under it, bringing out their pet and threw everything in it all over her and the room.

She left him and in getting a divorce later, when she was before the judge, he asked her "Was it you?" meaning waste from the body. She said, "No it was his."

So we moved on to the Linville place, Clyde's and Margaret's. They had eaten dinner for Thanksgiving with only Linda Montjoy and themselves. No one had been there to eat with them.

Eagle Echoes

Good attendance pay off in many ways. Not only can students who have consistently good attendance discover that learning is enhanced, but there are additional benefits. On November 11 and 16 two students at Roundstone won the attendance drawing opportunity to change places with the principal. Mrs. Howard became a student again. The first principal for a day was seventh grader, Devlin Burke. Mr. Burke handled his new position quite professionally. One of his first duties was morning announcements. Typing was also on his agenda, and later in the day he chose to observe a class and do some recess duty. Mrs. Howard said that she learned a great deal about student life. Her first day as a student was in the middle school. The day began with PE and a rousing game of BattleBall! The students were good friends, and with only minor setbacks, she survived. Then came Amanda Jones' turn to assume the role of principal. One of Amanda's favorite responsibilities was making the morning intercom announcements, and she enjoyed using the typewriter. Amanda's class was particularly interesting for new student, Kathy Howard. The class was in the middle of sign language lessons, and she learned how to "sign" her first name. The students were again very welcoming to the "new" student. Next semester RES will include another Principal for the day attendance prize drawing. Preschooler, Troy Collins, was another big winner during the third month attendance drawings. Troy won $50. Mrs. Darlene Larkey's sixth grade was recognized as having a 99.3 percent rate for the month, and each student in the class received a Hardee's certificate for a free treat.

Lady Eagles receive Recognition
The Roundstone Lady Eagles wrapped up the Lion's tournament play with the fourth-fifth grade team taking the third place trophy. The seventh-eighth grade Lady Eagles captured the second place trophy. Congratulations Eagles! At the closing ceremonies, John Hale, Mt. Vernon Elementary School's principal, thanked the Roundstone team for leaving the locker room in better condition than they found it each of the four nights they played during tournament time. In fact, MVES presented the Lady Eagles with a pizza party as a special thank you. Ladies, you are a class act! We are proud of you, and we thank Mr. Hale and the MVES coach, Judy Bullock, for acknowledging your good sportsmanship.

BANKING

Where Does the Money Come From?

Unlike the government, a bank can't just print up a bunch of new money when the supply runs low. The money we loan to you comes from the money you invest with us. When you buy a C.D. or make another investment with the bank, we take that investment and use it to make ag loans as well as the other loans needed in our community. Out-of-town investments take your investment dollar and re-invest it somewhere else.

So when it comes time to invest your money, remember who will be loaning you the money to make some more. Save where you borrow. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal on Certificates of Deposits.

The Day I convinced Farmer Joe not to Cook Me for Thanksgiving Dinner
By: Jessica Saylor

Hi, I'm Tiffany Turkey and I'm here to tell you why you shouldn't have turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. You can get ham and ham is also much juicier than turkey. I told Farmer Joe you can't cook me. I have a husband and three kids to take care of. Also I am all skin and bones. If you kill me and cook me then you'll have to eat really tough meat because my meat is very tough this year.

O.K. you've given me enough reasons why you shouldn't be cooked for Thanksgiving dinner. So I won't cook you.

"So run on to your family and take care of them," said Farmer Joe.

"Oh and I won't eat turkey for Thanksgiving dinner," said Farmer Joe.

Farmer Joe never ate turkey for Thanksgiving dinner or any other reason.

Primary Students Study Early Americans

While working in Mrs. Jeannie Gabbard's class students learning about Early American Indian communications have painted picture stories and translated them.

The following cooperative groups offer their translations.
Story group, Harold Burdette, Josh Azbill, Andy Coffey, Timothy Rowland, Jeffery Ramey, and Melinda Alexander, offer this translation for their wall painting.

The fire was bad at the Indian Village.

The man and woman saw a bear and horse tracks.
A bad storm cloud came and they cried help to the Great Spirit.

They heard drums and there was peace.

Story group, Jordan Hall, Nicole McClure, Katie Stevens, Brian Roberts, Cassie Kendrick and Amanda Ballew, offer this translation.

The Indians had war with the white man and bears.
It rained.
They taught peace.
They caught many fish.
They hunted eagles.
They had peace and man was happy because there was no more war.

Story group, Erik Stallworth, Cody Moore, Timothy Pritchard, Corey Powell and Laytoya Lamb, told this story.

The Indian boy and girl lived in the village. They had a big campfire. A bear came they shouted for help. It was dark. They saw a deer. When it got darker they caught the deer. The boys and girls hunted deer and bears.

Story group, Mickel Seals, Andrew Isaacs, Josh Knuckles, Jason Swinney, and Amanda Hoover, completed this tale.

The Indians lived in teepees. They hunted bears in the mountains. They fished in the river and cooked on the campfire.

Think you for your imaginative Indian story paintings. Parents wanting to see the works may check out the primary hallway.

Students' Day Acknowledged
Mrs. Darlene Larkey's fifth grade class decided to take the day off on Veterans Day. In their classroom they listened to patriotic music and read about Veterans Day. Some of the class also decided to share their own family experiences. The class took time to create patriotic flags and write poems of tribute. Here are some of their pieces.

Peace and Hatred
By: Nicole Green

They came to this earth to lead
A life of love and happiness. Instead they lead a life of war and suffering. For days and days they faced killing and heartbreak. The few that survive still look back on the heartbroken memories.

Lost loves, friends, and feelings are honored in glory and love. As the fears keep coming for days and days they run down your cheeks. If there is someone who can bring back the glory to the world, I hope they will do it very soon.

Three Bears have Blond Girl problem

While working in Mrs. Patty Renner's class students received a letter from the Three Bears. It went like this:

Dear Class,
We are having a problem keeping little blond-haired girls out of our house. What should we do?
Sincerely,
The Three Bears

Some of the students responses follow:

Dear Three Bears,
I got your letter about your problem of keeping little blond-haired girls out of your house. This is what I think you should do. You could get two keys and take one with you. And put one in your house. Lock the doors and windows.

Sincerely,
Caleb Blair

Dear Three Bears,
I got your letter about your problem of keeping little blond-haired girls out of your house. This is what I think you should do. You could put dogs around your house and people too.

"What Saith the Scriptures"
In Jn. 3:3-5, we read "Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, Verily I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born? Jesus answered, Verily, Verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God."

Each error is taught in our world about the new birth. It's a 'must' that we be born again, vs. 7.
Indeed, Jesus is using figurative language, for Nicodemus saw the problem of a literal new birth from your mother's womb. Jesus promised later, in Jn. 17:25, "These things have I spoken unto you in proverbs but the time cometh, when I shall no more speak unto you in proverbs but I shall shew you plainly of the Father." Being born again is the same process as being saved. It is the same process as being forgiven or leaving the remission of sins. If we can determine what is plainly stated about being saved or how a person finds remission of sins, we would have the process of the new birth described and explained for using plain language.

In the three accounts of the great commission, Mt. 28:18-20; Mk. 16:15-16; Lk. 24:46-47; we learn that every creature, of every nation must hear the gospel message of Jesus' death, burial and resurrection, it must be believed, one must repent and, one must be baptized in order to be saved.

In Ac. 2:14-41, we have record of 3000 people finding remission of sins or being born again. We learn that they heard the gospel message, vs. 14-36. They were told to believe in God, vs. 36. They were asked what to do about their sinful situation, vs. 37. Peter tells them in vs. 38 "Repent and be baptized everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." They made the good confession, Rm. 10:9-10. And 3000 received the word of God and were baptized, vs. 41. And the Lord added them to the church, vs. 47. Friends, have you been born again, as those on Pentacost were? Let us know if we can study with you.

-develop self to achieve her full individual potential
-relate to others with increasing understanding, skill, and respect
-develop values to guide her actions and to provide the foundation for sound decision making
-contribute to the improvement of society through the use of her abilities and leadership skills, working in cooperation with others.
This program is being implemented by the Family Resource Center staff in collaboration with the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council, a parent volunteer, and the Livingston Guidance Counselor.

Expectations of the program are for the participants to develop a better self-image through activities clarifying and exchanging self-identity values, and relationships.
Any parent interested in helping needs to call Betty Lewis at the Family Resource Center, 256-2156.

Counselor's Connection

The faculty recently was involved in a training session to design open response questions and rubrics to be utilized in their classrooms.

Open response questions are a major part of the new KRIS assessment open-ended questioning in a form of authentic assessment, and allows students to use higher-order thinking skills through a variety of writing styles.

Open-response items assess what a child knows and how he or she can communicate their thoughts (on demand writing, based on a prompt).

Open-response items usually address at least 2 of the 7 learner outcomes. They allow for broad views of answers, have more than one correct response, varied levels of response and are scored with a rubric. A rubric is a clear statement of standards, expectations of outcomes that are important, and can often be used as part of the instruction.

The students in Mrs. Doyle's fifth grade composed essays which were entered in Sports Illustrated For Kids Thanksgiving contest. The students, whose compositions were to invite three favorite athletes to their house for Thanksgiving dinner, are anxiously awaiting results.

The PTA membership drive ends Friday, Dec. 3. The classes with the best percentage of sign-up will receive banana split parties.

Mrs. Mary Whitlock arranged a field trip for our fourth grade students. The students of Mrs. Katerka Cash, Mrs. Vicki Scott, and Mrs. Kathy Reynolds enjoyed a performance of the Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra Tuesday, Nov. 23.

The ladies that prepare our breakfast and lunch, daily out-did themselves again with a delicious meal, Tuesday, Nov. 23. Turkey with all the trimmings was enjoyed by students, staff, parents, and community guests. These great cooks are Mrs. Wanda Carroll, Mrs. Mary Bussell, Mrs. Becky Anglin, Mrs. Joy Todd, Mrs. Geri Anglin, Mrs. Helen Albright, Mrs. Ruby Thompson and Mrs. Doris Blanton. We appreciate all the hard work these ladies do for our school.

The School-Based Decision Making Council will meet Tuesday evening, Dec. 7 and the PTA will meet Thursday evening, Dec. 9. Meetings will be developing in the cafeteria at 7 p.m.

Plans are convening for one of our most spectacular sporting events of the year. Mark your calendars for the BIT (Broadhead Invitational-Tournament). The dates are January 10, 11, 13 and 15. The names of teams participating along with county teams will be forthcoming.

SWAT Team students have really been busy making quilts in their study of patterns and Piñon days. Class quilts were made in the following teachers' classes: Mrs. Sharon Ponder, Mrs. Caroline Graves, Mrs. Lena Hayes, and Mrs. Annette Lawrence. Time
By: Rick Madden

There is no death! The stars go down, To rise upon some fairer shore, They're bright in heaven's jeweled crown.

Loneliest time in your life is When you are left In the darkest point in your life.

They shine for evermore.

Time is what you make of it. Loving you was easy, Trying to keep you happy Was hard behind bars.

They left our hearts all desolate transplanted into bliss, But God plucks the best of parents, Their souls to keep and bless.

It was a time When all the world Was upon my shoulders And you departed from me.

Sadly missed by Ila Burns and Family; Loretta McWhorter and Family; Josephine Burdette and Praise God for taking away those dark days And removing the world of my shoulders. For I no longer Live in the darkest of the world.

Because, now I'm living In the light of God!

Community Thanksgiving service was a big success

"America the Beautiful" was something that made chills go up and down your arms. Everyone seemed to feel each and every word go to your heart and more than a few tears flowed. We have a beautiful land and all you have to do is go to another country and you will soon find out just how blessed we are in America. Those who participated in the service were the

Two old hymns were sung by everyone present. "Come, Ye Thankful people, Come" and "We Gather Together" made the service complete. The Love Offering was designated to go to R.E.A.P. (Rockcastle Emergency Assistance Program) for their Christmas project. A total of $308.41 was given. This will be used to buy food for the Christmas baskets. Anyone interested in adopting a "special" family for gifts, clothing, etc. Please call Lu Ed Nielsen at 256-9599 or 256-3217. May God Bless each of you.

THAT'S THIN ICE, DAN MCKIBBEN

I apologize dear Signal readers. It is apparent that I failed to explain clearly the practice of our communion cup in the Lord's Supper. Mr. McKibben's column "What Saith the Scriptures," Oct. 7, 1993 acknowledges that it is proper to use ONE cup. To use his own words, "...it's perfectly alright to use one container, there is no problem with this." He obviously understands that it is fine to follow the Savior's pure example, we cannot be in error by doing what He did. However, Mr. McKibben takes issue with the TEACHING of this practice and skated "out on thin ice" when he did so. We sincerely hope that he did not cloud your understanding when he rewrote some of the scriptures. This is why we want you to have your Bible in hand and carefully read for yourself what saith the scriptures, as we attempt once more to bring Mr. McKibben off the thin ice and onto the solid ground of the Scriptures.

Notice that Mr. McKibben made no attempt by scriptural reasoning to support his claim that there are only 2 emblems present on the Lord's Table. Instead, he proceeded to rewrite some of the Scriptures and to mockingly down play some of the arguments made in our previous article by suggesting we ought to drink the plastic, glass or metal container. You see, the only way Mr. McKibben can justify the use of individual communion cups is to ignore the ONE cup that Jesus used or say that it has no significance, importance or relevance in the observation of the Lord's Supper. To avoid my arguments he skated on the thin ice of silliness and ignored the 9th and 10th chapters of Hebrews and most of the other Scriptures. In his attempt to down play the ONE cup that Christ used, he states that perhaps we will have a point when we actually swallow down the glass or metal container. When the Apostle Paul said "drink this cup," he was using a grammatical device called metonymy. We all use metonymy every day. For example, if you told me you were going to buy some apples and I said, "Hey, here's some money - buy a basket for me," you would know that I wanted a basket FULL OF APPLES even though I did not spell it out. When we use metonymy, we name one thing to bring to mind another thing associated with the thing named. Thus, when the Apostle Paul said "drink this cup" you know that he used these 3 words rather than describing the entire process of lifting the CUP to the lips, parting the lips, tilting the CUP to pour some of the contents into the mouth, untilting the CUP to stop the flowing, closing the lips, swallowing the liquid, and then putting the CUP down. You know also that he didn't mean for anyone to try and swallow the metal or glass from which the CUP was made. But did you notice that as I described the process "drink the cup," the number of cups never changed - it was always ONE cup. Mr. McKibben resorted to silliness to make you forget that. We hope you never do.

The ice gets thinner, when he wants us to believe that Jesus and Paul did not say that the "cup is the new testament." Look closely at all the Scriptures. We especially want you to read the 9th and 10th chapters of Hebrews, even though it is a 2 whole chapters and will take you a little time. Now look again at Matt. 26:26-29, Mark 14:22-25, Luke 22:17-20. Why did Jesus even mention "new testament" in these passages? After all, there are many important statements about Christ's blood that could have been made. Hebrews tells you why it's there - because the sacrifice/blood/covenant CANNOT be separated! Turn and notice these facts found in the 9th & 10th chapters of Hebrews:

- The things of the old law were a foreshadowing of the new (Heb. 9:9).
  - Christ is the mediator of the new covenant (9:15-17).
  - The old testament was dedicated with the blood of animals (9:19-23). Notice the phrase "blood of the covenant" in verse 20.
  - The new covenant was put in place by the sacrifice of Christ's body (10:9-10).
  - The new testament is dedicated by the blood of Christ (10:16-20).
  - Christ's blood is the "blood of the covenant" (10:29).
  - Those who despised the old testament perished (10:28).
  - Those who despise the new covenant will fall under the vengeance of God (10:29-31).
- Can we study these Scriptures and come to any conclusion but that the sacrifice/blood/covenant are inseparable? All 3 of these are represented at the Lord's Table because they cannot be separated! A loaf of unleavened bread (His body, the sacrifice) / pure grape juice (His blood of the covenant) / a single CUP (the covenant mediated by His sacrifice and sanctified by His blood make up the emblems of the Lord's Supper).

The ice gets thinner for Mr. McKibben when he admits that the scriptures do not say that the "cup is the new testament and my blood as Keith would have it say." Surely, dear readers, you never understood me to say that the literal metal or glass cup is both the new testament and the blood. No, in all my arguments, I have tried to point out that the Savior clearly states that the literal cup represents the new testament and that the fruit of the vine with that cup represents His blood. To point out how thin the ice really is, let's write down the Savior's words and really look at them.

Matt. 26:27 "drink ye all of it" "the blood of the new testament contents of the CUP"

Mark 14:23 "they all drank of it" "this is my blood of the new testament" contents of the CUP"

Luke 22:17 "take this and divide it among yourselves" "new testament in my blood" the CUP and its contents"

You can clearly see that Jesus said, forward and backward, that the CUP is the new testament. The CUP cannot be ignored or placed in an unimportant role. Can you still ignore the CUP in the Savior's hand as he said "This do in remembrance of me?" Can you put the words "do something kind of like this" in the Savior's mouth?

Yes, Mr. McKibben the ice is then out there on the lake of SANCTIFICATION. Come back to the solid ground of SANCTIFICATION. Yes, we know you never brought up the idea of sanctification but what other reason could you really have for not following the Savior's example? Is a modern appearance a better reason? Convent? Popularity? Remember Matt. 7:21-23? Those people thought they were working for the Lord. Turns out, they were on thin ice, too.

Beef Derby Winner

Special thanks go to Keith Smith who served as this year's host farm. Also to Adams Feed and Supply and Rockcastle Veterinary Clinic for their sponsorship.

Harvesting the fall vegetable garden

The first killing frost need not mean the end of a vegetable garden's harvest.

"By this time of year most vegetable still in the garden have been the victim of a frost, but most are also still salvageable," said Mary Witt, Extension horticulture specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Many crops can be left to overwinter in the garden and some, such as brussels sprouts, are even better after they have a light frost or two,"

she said.

The best way to keep root crops over the winter is to leave them in the garden and cover them with three to four inches of straw, Witt said. Crops such as cabbage, lettuce, spinach, carrots, chives, and peas tolerate frosts fairly well. Most of them will be okay like this through Thanksgiving.

However, some crops should be harvested by now, even if a frost has already damaged them, she added. And different vegetables need to be kept under different conditions.

"Winter squash should be kept in a basement, and laid out singly in a cool area," Witt said. "Let them stay there a month or so to develop a little more sugar before they are ready to use."

"Many times bean plants will be killed by a frost, but the pods don't show that damage right away. Witt advised that it is okay to go ahead and pick and process these crops, though, as soon as possible.

"Cole crops will tolerate frosts the best," Witt said. "However, a really hard freeze does reduce the keeping quality of these hardy vegetables. If you could harvest and hold them in a refrigerator or freezer, that's better."

'Library News'

Most People... is the most overlooked borough in New York City, but one of its residents is known throughout the world: the good Reverend Barnabas Bay, shepherd of the Tabernacle of the Silver Spire. For the past six Sundays the splashy evangelist has found a nasty surprise in the collection... Bible quotations twisted into death threats.

When one of the Reverend Bay's assistants beseeches Wolfe to find the 'wicked person he refuses-even though the almighty bank account is in need of salvation. After all, the great man does his conviction, and organized religion offends his sense of morality. And besides, the only place he's interested in passing is the one on which a three-star epicurean amusepiece resides.

Never to shirk his Christian duty, Wolfe's faithful legman Archie Goodwin refers the case to longtime friend and fellow private detective Fred Durkin. It proves a fateful decision: Eleven days' later, someone at the Silver Spire receives a premature call to meet his maker- and Durkin is charged with murder.

As Archie searches for clues and prays for a miracle, the incomparable Nero Wolfe finds himself up against a sinfully clever killer in one of the most baffling cases of his career.

Caring connection is dedicated to helping area families

By: Sara Cogger

The Rockcastle County Caring Connection, a local interagency group that has been together for about a year, is aware of the needs that families with small children have.

Betty Lewis, spokesperson for the group and head of the Family Resources Center states, "Our mission is to provide support, encouragement and information to families with children under the age of five."

In doing so, the group uses several different outlets to reach the children and their parents, including home visits. "Home visitation is one of the major keys to this program," states Lewis. "We go in, assess what needs the families have, and zero in on those."

Rarely are the needs of the individual families the same. "Sometimes a mother just needs encouragement and ideas on how to stimulate her child's growth, learning and awareness of the world around him," Lewis said. "Other times it is far more complicated, with many factors involved."

Tammy Gabbard, group member and head of Early Childhood, states that, "developing trust with the families is the most important goal in reaching them."

The Caring Connection provides services to all Rockcastle Area families with small children. "There is no limit to the number of families we serve and financial situations are not involved," Lewis said.

Another major thrust of the group is to assure that the children are healthier and more prepared to go to school. In keeping with that idea, information packets are being sent out to the families. Several agencies are involved with the group. These are: Rockcastle County School System,

Family Resource Center, Social Services, County Home Economics Extension Agency, Parent as Teachers, Early Childhood, Rockcastle County Health Department, Family Life Child Development Center (Head Start), Comprehensive Care and the Kiwanis Club.

"In April of next year," states Lewis, "the Kiwanis Club will be sponsoring a Parenting Fair. There will be booths set up by each agency involved in the Caring Connection and also entertainment and refreshments."

Training offered for "certified" nursing assistants

Lifeline Home Health Care recently received approval from the state to offer training to individuals who wish to become "certified" nursing assistants.

Lifeline Home Health Care is the first and only home health Agency in Kentucky to obtain certification from the State for its Nurses Assistant training.

"We have always offered extensive training to our own home health agencies," said Miriam Mullins, RNC, BSN Inservice Education Director for Lifeline. "But we now have the capacity to offer training to persons outside our own agency. After completing our training program, they will be eligible to take the state exam at the area Vocational Schools."

The course is 95 hours long, 20 hours longer than the State requires. The program includes more clinical hours, as well as certification in CPR and First Aid and instruction on specific illnesses and client populations.

Financial assistance is available to JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act)-qualified applicants.

The next class will be held Feb. 1-24 in Somerset. For more information, call Miriam Mullins at 1-800-999-2321 or (606)679-4100.

The Kentucky Christmas Chorus

Dec. 3 is the deadline for choral groups and church groups to register for reserved seating at the 1993 Kentucky Christmas Chorus.

The sixth annual Chorus will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Dec. 14 in Lexington's Rupp Arena. For reserved seating, groups should register by calling (606)256-3026. Everyone is invited to join in the singing and individuals do not need to register.

Last year about 100 choral groups totaling 4,000 singers from 36 Kentucky counties participated in the event.

The Kentucky Eye Institute is sponsoring the free sing-along and the Chorus will be carried live on WKYT-TV, Channel 27, in Lexington and WYMT-TV, Channel 57, in Hazard.

The Lexington Philharmonic, conducted by George Zack, will provide the holiday music. The Lexington Singers and Lexington soloists Othello Humphrey and Melissa Haber will entertain and help lead in the singing.

The doors will open at 6 p.m. with festive holiday activities for the family. Beginning at 6:30 p.m. there will be bell ringing and visits by holiday characters such as Frosty and Santa's elves.

About 200 volunteers are needed to assist the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government with organizing and coordinating the event. Anyone wishing to volunteer should call (606)258-3026.

KET expands weekday broadcast hours; offers business news, morning weather.

Beginning January 3, KET will lengthen its broadcast day, offering business and weather programs each weekday morning.

The new programs are Bloomberg Business News, airing at 6:30 a.m., and A.M. Weather, which begins at 6:45 a.m.

The morning hours are being restored after financial cutbacks in February 1992 forced KET to institute several cost-saving measures. Two of these were beginning the broadcast day later, thus eliminating the morning weather program, and dropping the costly Nightly Business Report.

"We know we had audiences for A.M. Weather and business news and we have been looking for some time for ways to serve them," said Virginia Fox, KET's executive director and chief executive officer. Both programs are offered to PBS member stations at no cost and KET is absorbing the additional energy expenses incurred by beginning the broadcast day a half hour earlier, she said.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

I really hope the miserable person who shot Blackie, a big police dog, upon Negro Town Hill, off old Rocky Road, Sunday evening, can live with themselves.

I would like for them to know how much hurt they have caused. Our aunt and cousin found Blackie covered in blood, down by their garage and called owners.

Blackie was more than just a dog, he was a very special friend and we all loved him. He was so good to little animals, kittens, cats or pups and he protected us all, you just felt good knowing he was around. He was so special to all of us, I can't imagine anyone who would have wanted to hurt him, much less shoot and kill him. He was real old and didn't bother anyone and someday maybe the person who did this will have to face what they have done.

We all love you Blackie and will really miss you. You were so special to us all. You were the greatest.

Sadly missed,
Clarence and Lillian Voe

Dear Editor,

There is a false belief that government spending is finally being cut, and the federal deficit is finally being reduced under President Clinton's budget. I do not understand this blindness, because the facts are otherwise. In 1992, federal spending will be $74.9 billion more in 1993 than in 1992. By 1998, under the so-called Clinton "cuts," the federal budget will be $320 billion more than the 1992 Bush budget.

The 1993 tax increase of $246 billion, for "deficit reduction," has led to greater spending. Government, on the contrary, will spend $260 billion more than the taxes it needs for 1993. Instead of reductions, it appears that we can expect deficits of close to $300 billion a year, as far as the eye can see.

By the time President Clinton's budget "cuts" end, the national debt will have grown from $2.9 trillion in 1992 to $4.5 trillion in 1998. This is because the Clinton budget—like past budgets—has failed to cut spending. Unless we truly cut spending, the deficit will continue to pose a threat to our economic and personal freedom. This danger, please note, did not end with the election of a liberal democrat to the White House.
