

"Poet's Corner"
(Cont. from B3)

Fresh water was carried
In buckets from a spring
The wood box filled.
For good meals to bring
In winter, leather beds
Were a haven of peace
Under layers of quilts
We'd drift off to sleep.

In the morning we'd awake
Step onto the floor
Pat on our clothes and hair
Till our turn out the door
To the old house

Where many trips were made
We were so thankful
For the privacy it gave.

Sometimes it was a challenge
To battle the hard times
And come out a winner.
Leaving no regrets behind
It's left us more prepared
To deal with "Come What May"
And I remember yesterday-years
As the good old days.

Mr. Morris is the son of Hazel Burdette Morris and the late Linsey Morris, formerly of Rockcastle County. The couple will reside in West Palm Beach.

25 years ago, 1969... Sheriff Tilford "Tip" Reppert announced his candidacy for the May Primary. Sheriff Reppert sought the office of county judge on the Republican ticket.

Barry L. Galiff, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Galiff and husband of former Pam Bell of Mt. Vernon was promoted to Army Specialist Four on Dec. 18 at Camp Evans, Vietnam where he served with the 37th Signal Bn. as a switchboard operator.

Lloyd Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Durham, left for Vietnam after a 30 day leave with his parents at Poplar Gap.

"1994 Crop Report"

"Manganese toxicity continues to reduce yields," he said. "It often causes irregular plant growth that makes the crop harder to manage and increases time and labor needed to produce good leaf."

"Lime should be applied at least six months before a crop is planted. But lime is better than never. It's better to get soil test results back and lime in January or February than to wait until April or May."

A true story of Pearl Elizabeth Owens

(The attached is a true story about Pearl Elizabeth Owens. She was the mother of Loretta Bray (Bray's Transmission - Brodhead) and Vaughn Oliver (Brodhead).

Pearl Elizabeth Owens
By: Linda Ervin

My grandma died today. She had been a resident at the Sowders Nursing home for several years. She had a long and interesting life. Her father was a railroad "straw boss" and they traveled a lot. She lived through the bad times during the depression.

She wasn't my biological grandmother. A botched appendectomy rendered her childless so she took in children that needed her. We know this happened for a special purpose.

My mother's real mother died after giving birth to her fifth child, from something they called "milk leg" back then. Since my mother's father had a drinking problem and it was the depression, he did not have the will nor the way to care for these motherless children, so he gave them all away.

The oldest, a boy, went out on his own. He supported himself by working and going to school at Berea College and later became an engineer for G.E. Even with his success, his life wasn't blessed and he died under sad circumstances at an early age.

One daughter was sent to live with people in Berea. She was abused to the point that she took her own life. Another daughter was given to a bootlegger and his invalid wife. They loved her but she had a very hard life. Another daughter was raised by the father's sister. One son died as child.

My mother was adopted by Roy and Pearl Owens. He was from Rockcastle County and had to go to work at the quarry at 13 to feed his family. How spoiled we all are today! Perhaps we have so many material things we can't see our needs of heavenly things. They also adopted Pearl's two nephews when their parents abandoned them. In this family my mother was loved, nurtured, disciplined and taken to church. These people didn't just go to church they actually lived what was taught there. Consequently, my mother and father raised their six children in church and we all do the same for our children today. This is the legacy my grandma has passed down to later generations.

At her passing, we do not feel sad because we know she is feeling no pain now, nor guilt because she knew we loved and appreciated her.

We will remember many things about her, the way she made rolls and dumplings, how she always smelled like perfume, how she loved her "bead," her pats and kisses, how she loved the color blue (it matched her eyes). We remember silly things too, how she said to get rid of a wart, you put a dish towel under the front door mat. I tried it, it didn't work. She had many funny sayings and she loved to laugh.

Of all the things I associate with her, her testimony is the most special. She has passed on to all of us a true belief in the Lord Jesus Christ. For that we will all be eternally grateful. Mom was truly blessed by being given such a mother.

I know heaven is singing, they have a new blue eyed angel now. Because, you see, my grandma died today.

Pianist Lee Luvist to perform

Rise and Shine Homemakers

The Chinese Restaurant at London was the meeting place Jan. 11 for the Rise and Shine Homemakers Club. Eight members and one guest, Bonnie Smith, enjoyed the privacy of a small room reserved for our meeting and the chance to go to the service bar as often as we wished. We did, and thus had the chance to try out a few new dishes we hadn't eaten before.

After the club business was taken care of everyone headed for the shopping mall. The entertainment for the day was to hunt for bargains which we all found in one place or another.

We are the homemakers club that believes in reaching out for new experiences as well as learning about how to better cook a meal at home. Our membership is open to anyone who would like to join us and share in our search for a better way to use our skills and enjoy life more fully.

State needs $5 billion to make roads, bridges repairs

Kentucky needs to invest an additional $5 billion -- or $500 million a year for 10 years -- in order to make needed resurfacing and reconstruction repairs to its state-maintained road and bridge system, according to a report released today by The Road Information Program (TRIP).

The report, based on information obtained from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and the U.S. Department of Transportation, also found that 35 percent of all state-maintained roads and streets are either in poor or fair condition, meaning they need resurfacing or reconstruction work. In addition, 36 percent of Kentucky's bridges are substandard, meaning they need repair work.

"The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet has been burdened with the task of maintaining the state's roads and bridges with inadequate funding," said Joe Clemons, Executive Director of Kentucky Highway Industries (KHI) which commissioned the TRIP report.

"The results of this report will help us explain the critical need for infrastructure repairs to the legislature," Clemons said. "Kentucky legislators should keep in mind that whenever a state's infrastructure begins to crumble, its economy is sure to follow."

Three local men indicted for rape

Three Rockcastle County men were indicted for the rape of a 17-year-old girl on December 19. According to court records, Sterling Hoskins, Jr., William Henry Brock and Bobby Moore, Jr., were all indicted for rape and sodomy. Hoskins, 23, of Crooked Creek was indicted for first degree rape and first degree sodomy. He is being held in the Rockcastle County Jail under a $75,000 cash bond. William Henry Brock, 20, of Brush Creek, was also charged with first degree rape and first degree sodomy. His bond was set at $50,000 and he is also in jail. According to the indictments, Hoskins and Brock engaged in deviate intercourse with the juvenile through the use of forcible compulsion. Moore, 18, also of Crooked Creek, is charged with criminal facilitation by aiding Hoskins and Brock in the rape and sodomy. He is being held on $25,000 cash bond. According to Rockcastle County Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan, the juvenile was apparently the girlfriend of one of the men indicted. "The four were riding around drinking beer when the incident occurred," Doan said. All three are scheduled to be arraigned on February 11.

Break-ins reported

The "Mini-Mall" on U.S. 25, formerly the Rockcastle Skating Ring, was vandalized early Saturday morning around 6:30 a.m., netting thieves approximately $382 in goods. Taken were cigarettes, a sword, knife, some CDs, baseball crds and an amplifier, watch, bear and deer combo bow and ring valued at $25. Entrance was gained through a plate glass window. Deputy Leonard Miller investigated the break-in. A separate break-in was discovered Sunday morning at Bill's Shoe Store on Main Street in Mt. Vernon. Taken in the robbery were new tennis shoes, cowboy boots, work boots and loose quarters, all valued at $896. Thieves gained access to the store through a rear window. City Policeman Mike Peters investigated.

Heart Telepledge

Local volunteers of Rockcastle County are planning to raise funds for a worthy cause that seeks to educate Americans about heart health, the American Heart Association has announced. The Heart Telepledge has been scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 8 from 6 to 9 p.m. with volunteers calling area residents for a pledge from the Bank of Mt. Vernon. In 1991, 64 citizens of Rockcastle County died from cardiovascular disease. These statistics account for 39.7 percent of all deaths in the county. Volunteers hope to raise $2,000 to help fund crucial heart research at UK and UL and many community educational programs. Please help fight Kentucky's #1 killer...heart disease.

Forestry receipts

Kentucky received $682,680 in national forest receipts from the Daniel Boone National Forest for fiscal year 1993, announced Forest Supervisor Bradley Powell. Rockcastle contributed $13,971.69 to the fund, placing them fourth out of the twenty-one counties which encompass the Daniel Boone National Forest. McCreary County contributed the most at $141,052.76. This year's payments are $36,400 more than last year's payments of $646,280. Powell attributes the increase to the recent rise in timber prices. The Forest Service pays the state 25 percent of revenue earned from products and services on the Daniel Boone National Forest. The state then distributes this amount, based on the number of national forest acres in each county. Counties use the funds for schools and roads.

Financial Aid Workshop

There will be a financial aid workshop at RCHS on Jan. 17 at 6 p.m. The purpose of the workshop will be to learn how to fill out the 1994-95 "Free Application for Federal Student Aid" form. All college and vocational bound seniors at RCHS need to attend. For more information, call Dale Whitaker at 254-4820.

Last sale date for tobacco

The last sale on the Richmond market will be Thursday, February 3, Tobacco will be accepted through that date.

Meeting dates

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, February 8 at 1 p.m. The Rockcastle County Board of Education will meet Tuesday night, February 8 at 7 p.m.

Billfold stolen

A billfold, belonging to Mrs. Shirley Cromer, was taken from the Cash and Carry Grocery Store in Livingston last week. Mrs. Cromer said she is offering a $20 reward, plus whatever money was in the billfold, to anyone returning it with no questions asked.

McCormick Indicted

Jack McCormick has been indicted by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury on a charge of Theft by Unlawful Taking. The charge involves the theft of 6 1/2 tins of tobacco, of a value of $300 or more, owned by Glenn E. Roberts. McCormick was placed under $5,000 cash bond.

Ramsey "clan" pleads guilty to insurance fraud charges

A large scale federal investigation into a Rockcastle County family involved in a scam to defraud insurance companies of millions of dollars has resulted in guilty pleas from several members of that family. Among those pleading guilty Friday in federal court in Lexington was Russell E. Ramsey, 61, of Mt. Vernon, described as the ringleader. "The guilty pleas do not surprise me," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Kenneth Taylor, who is prosecuting the case. "They can see the handwriting on the wall." "The evidence is overwhelming." Four others also pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge Jennifer Coffman. They are: Ramsey's children, Gary Ramsey, 27, and Debra J. Lunsford, 33, both of Mt. Vernon; Gary Ramsey's wife, Susan A. Ramsey, 26, of Mt. Vernon; and Debra Lunsford's ex-husband, Michael W. Lunsford, 42, of Berea. All admitted guilt as part of a plea bargain. Sentencing was set for April 14 in London. A sixth person indicted in the scheme is expected to plead guilty before Coffman on Feb. 3 in London, prosecutors said Randy L. Fyffe Sr. of South Portsmouth has entered into a similar plea bargain, but his attorney, Gary Hudson of London, was unable to attend Friday's hearing because of the snow. Each defendant pleaded guilty to mail fraud in the scheme, but for varying amounts, prosecutors said. However, Russell Ramsey is responsible for the largest sum, defrauding insurance companies of more than $2.5 million, Taylor said. "Someone had to be responsible for the big picture," Taylor said. Most of the $3.2 million that was collected from the insurance companies were payments for faked accidents involving the Ramseys and many other Rockcastle countians. Russell Ramsey, who faced 31 counts of fraud, pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy, said Earl Dean of Harrodsburg, attorney for Russell and Gary Ramsey. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $250,000 fine. Taylor said the defendants could receive a reduced sentence for cooperating with federal prosecutors. All six originally pleaded not guilty in the case. Three defendants -- Debra Lunsford and Gary and Susan Ramsey -- also agreed to forfeit their Mt. Vernon homes to the government because they were bought with money from the scheme. The value of the homes is estimated between $60,000 and $70,000, Taylor said. The six defendants were indicted after a two-year investigation by federal agents. Also named were 40 unindicted co-conspirators, including a former Rockcastle County sheriff Clarence "Jib" Hasty Jr. Hasty could not be reached yesterday for comment. Prosecutors have notified many of the co-conspirators that they also face criminal charges, Taylor said. He declined to name anyone. But most have agreed to cooperate with federal authorities, he said. "We've received at least 15 favorable responses. I expect that we'll have to indict very few," Taylor said. Court action involving the co-conspirators probably won't happen for at least three weeks, he said. "But when it starts, Taylor said, "It's going to be a mass production." And there could be some people indicted who aren't named in the November indictment, he said. Investigators said the defendants and co-conspirators ran a sophisticated scam in which they bought insurance policies, faked injuries and then collected on the multiple policies. The group had 1,443 policies, filed 2,778 claims, and collected $3,246,440 since 1986. However, investigators said they might not have identified all the fraudulent claims. Russell Ramsey organized the others to buy several hospitalization policies and would take a cut of the profits, court records show. The indictment said Ramsey used two doctors from Morristown, Tenn. -- Dan Hale and Gene Lynch -- to gain admission to two Morristown hospitals during the seven-year scam. They were not indicted or listed as co-conspirators. "I am aware of the investigation but no prosecutor has contacted me," Hale said yesterday. He declined further comment. But a source very close to the case said that federal prosecutors are building a very strong case against the doctors. Cont. to Page A-5.

71-year-old John S. Hall of Livingston begins the difficult task of digging his car out of the snow bank on main street in Livingston Thursday afternoon. The county is getting back to normal after record snowfall and low temperatures last week put a virtual halt to everything.

Weather causes water line breaks, overtime

By: Sara Coguer

Rockcastle County road crews worked "overtime" last week during the snow storm, at one point, non-stop. "We worked from Monday morning to Tuesday night, without stopping," said Judge/Executive Buzz Carlolis. Carlolis estimates that the road crews were out 30 hours straight at different times. He praised the efforts of the road crew, especially Jack Cromer and Gerald Evans. "Jack, Gerald and I each took a crew out," Carlolis continued, "and I can't say enough about how hard these men worked." The county road department was even working under a handicap. "We had one plow and one grader which runs at 50 percent our normal ability," Carlolis said. One plow broke down during operation Monday night while workers were trying to clear a narrow road. New magistrate Bill McKinney helped out Monday evening riding with one road crew until around 5:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The county worked 518 miles with only one plow and one grader and Carlolis could only say, "We're the cleanest county around," which should show you the dedication of the state and county road workers." Carlolis said Monday that local road crews did their jobs so well that he was able to decline the services of the National Guard when it was offered to help clear roads. Mt. Vernon and Brodhead water departments felt the ill effects of last Monday's snow storm which brought below zero temperatures and dumped 9 inches of snow on the ground. According to Mt. Vernon Water Superintendent Dennis McClure, Mt. Vernon experienced two breaks in their water line, both on West Main Street. Residents in that area were without water for a couple of hours during each break, but city workers responded quickly and service was restored as soon as possible. The breaks occurred on the 15th and 20th, respectively. "Brodhead residents were not as lucky, however, as their water supply is still being worked on, with a 'boil water' advisory still in effect as of late Wednesday. Approximately 7 breaks occurred in the city's water lines, some small, and others causing severe water problems. At one point last Wednesday, two breaks in the water line occurred at the same time, causing the city workers not to be able to get the valves shut off. With so much water pressure the city's tanks were emptied, causing the "Boil Water" advisory and also bringing in the National Guard. As of press time Wednesday, the National Guard is still in Brodhead distributing drinking water to Brodhead residents, and they are still under the advisory. Kentucky Utilities customers also felt the effects of the snow storm, having to unplug major appliances on Wednesday in order to keep the

It's no secret that I am not a Breznevite. On the other hand, I also believe in giving credit where credit is due and there is little doubt in my mind that the governor saved some lives last week. His decision to close the ice-covered interstate highways, parkways and several other major roads may not have been popular with some truck drivers and hundreds of folks unfortunate enough to get stranded in central Kentucky, but it was the proper thing to do.

There is no way to measure how many lives may have been saved or how much damage prevented. But there is an easy way to measure the number of people who were killed. Zero. Given the weather and driving conditions, that's nothing short of miraculous. Way to go Guv!!

Now that the weather has cleared up a bit, I would suggest that the Governor get in touch with the trustees over at the University of Kentucky. Somebody needs to see that a bit of personnel management happens at that bastion of academic endeavor and, one would assume, intelligence.

On the coldest day in Lexington in more than a hundred years, with several inches of glaze ice under a foot of snow covering the streets and sidewalks, UK decided not to cancel classes. Never mind that the Governor had closed all major roads leading into Lexington and every sane person with authority in the state was pleading with people to stay indoors unless they had an emergency to cope with. UK decided to summons around 30,000 people to the campus facilities.

And some birdbrain public relations type had guts enough to get on television and defend the decision. Obviously Birdbrain didn't have enough authority to make such a decision, and he did a nice job of concealing just who might have been responsible. But he acted like it was the smart thing to do which makes he and the guy who called the shot pretty much equals. And we're not just talking dumb here. We're talking certifiable insanity.

One of the principal reasons we go to college and send our kids there is to learn to make more informed decisions. When you have authority figures making decisions like this one, you have to wonder what they're teaching these days at UK. Fortunately about 80 percent of the faculty and student body had enough sense to stay inside despite orders from on high.

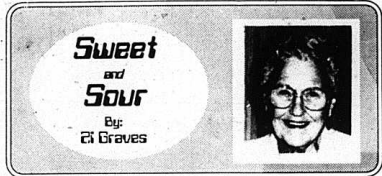

If I were in charge of things, the persons responsible for ordering students and teachers back into classrooms under those conditions would get to spend some time at an institution over on the other side of town. It's called Eastern State Hospital. Among other reasons, it's where you send people who are so darn crazy that they may be a menace to society. If I were in charge of things, there'd be some vacant positions at the Uni-

Speaking of folks in charge of things and good judgement, how about Fayette Circuit John Adams? His Honor Adams has presided over a grand jury investigation that has led to indictments for corruption against a dozen or so elected officials and other political hacks in Letcher County over the last year. Presumably, Adams will preside over their eventual trials.

You may know His Honor better through his involvement in the publically he's received resulting from a recent rape trial in his courtroom. It's a pretty terrifying story. A man goes to his former girl friend's house, breaks down a couple of doors, gives her a horrible beating and then rapes her. The jury found him guilty and recommended 13 years in the slammer.

Before sentence was finally passed, the rapist got his neighbor, former UK Coach Joe B. Hall, and a few other members of the Lexington upper crust to write letters begging for leniency. His Honor was so moved by the Weather, isn't that what everyone is writing about these days? The bad weather, the earthquake in California, or crime seems to be all there is in the papers, or on T.V. No wonder there is so much depression every where when most of the news is about the suffering and inconvenience of people affected by these tragic quirks of nature. The stories about the weather have not been of the beauty of snow and ice covering the soiled earth with a blanket of shimmering white. And it has been pretty, hasn't it?

Weather

Of course I, like a lot of other people, have been house bound and I feel a case of cabin fever coming on. I want to get out before all the snow is gone and feel the nip in the air and the crunch of snow under my feet. The other night, soon after the snow had fallen and our street was all but impassable, and the quiet that accompanies new fallen snow could almost be felt, I heard laughter and talking outside and immediately went to investigate. What I saw was three or four youths sledding down our street and immediately I wanted to pull on a pair of "galoshes" cram some hot parched corn in my pockets and yell, "wait a minute and I will join you."

Then I had to giggle to myself when

I thought of their faces of amazement if I had done so. I am sure they would have questioned the sanity of the old lady living on their street, never realizing just how much I have missed the fun of sled-riding down a hill on freshly fallen snow. Kids, whoever you are, I hope you enjoyed to the fullest that evening of sled-riding. The very sound of your voices drove away the gloom and replaced it with happy memories.

Sometimes my memories are of the fun times and sometimes they are of the hardships of life back before insulated houses, heated with electricity or oil, warmed our homes. There was a time when the cold winter blasts of wind whistled through the cracks in the walls and single paneled windows rattled as the cold air tried to enter the house. There was a time when we had to chop wood dragged in from the forest to heat our cooking stoves with and many men had to dig coal from little coal mines scattered about the countryside to feed the potbellied stove that heated our homes. There was a time when the neighbors got together to scrape the roadways with a team of mules hitched to a plow or by fastening a home made scraper to the bumper of a jeep or truck to keep the roads

This is the last week of January and it's almost gone. The year is slipping by so fast before we hardly know that one has one and we now face February.

It was like being in another world all last week when so much snow covered the earth around us, and stayed on the ground.

It is a week later and we are finally able to creep out.

It was the low temperature that did us in. Never have we seen the readings on the thermometer as low.

Life came to a standstill as it did in the third week of January and readings dropped 10 to 12 below.

Even the mail, who claims the deliveries will go in the worst kind of weather, was stopped for two days.

Of course the first thing that was stopped was school and buses.

Even the large Toyota place in Georgetown, that makes cars, was shut down so everybody was home! You can imagine all the noise, rackets and quarrels that went on at that time!

We couldn't get out of our yard when both truck and car wouldn't move so I didn't send in, nor take my column into the paper.

But a lot of folks are looking forward to this coming month, February, as Jeremy Abney. He has already been looking over Valentine displays in the stores.

When a boy suddenly shoots up in size, has a 13 year birthday making him a teenager as he became on January 5th, tells his dad he's going to "need more money to jangle in his pocket (a larger allowance), you'll know things are happening in that family!

Ice was frozen over Clear Creek making me think of the Fantasy Christmas Skiing Party we had one year.

Henry Volner, our long time "good reader" from Indiana called us to tell about the bad weather they were having up there and to wish us a Happy New Year. He wanted to know if we could have a Valentine Party down here. He would come and bring one of his friends, Susan Tomes, one of the Renfro Valley girls. I'll declare, Henry is a girl chaser. He is all the time wanting me to fix him a date or some party or other. But he is one of my "good readers" of the Signal so I'll think about it.

Nyra Hart gave me some of the best grapefruit that she buys and I swap her oranges for them.

John says I like grapefruit so well, with red centers that I have become a grapefruitaholic.

That's not all I like, I make myself a cup of sassafras tea which is good to drink and helps thin your blood after a winter makes it sluggish and you become lazier than a dog.

John gave Don Gadd of Upper Clear Creek some tonic to help his taggittis -- spring is coming and Don doesn't want to take spring fever. I think it will help Don -- we will wait and see.

Cleve Payne made a flying trip to Berea Monday.

Well, I've been out getting New Year RESolutions. Some say "Oh, its no use for I'll just break them but someone is sure to make one on Me. So I'll take a chance."

Roy Quinly, of Superior Market is a big handsome hunk of a man (I wonder if Penny knows that), didn't take long to come up with a good one.

I cornered him near the meat department where he is manager. (I wonder if marrying the boss' pretty daughter had anything to do with that?)

"Yes, I'll make you one. I'm tired of working long hours. I'm tired of thinking of looking around and see-

Summer At-Risk Students event planned by EKU

The needs of at-risk students in Kentucky schools will be addressed at a summer event co-sponsored and hosted by Eastern Kentucky University.

The third annual "Kentucky Conference on At-Risk Students," a professional development and instructional leadership conference geared to all grade levels, will be held at EKU's Perkins Building Tuesday, July 19 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Besides EKU's Destination Graduation program, sponsors are Forward in the Fifth, the National Diffusion Network, the Estill, Rockcastle, Jackson and Madison county school systems.

The conferece results in "greater awareness of students who are particularly hard to reach and give teachers and administrators some skills to reach them," said Ginny Eager, director of Forward in the Fifth, a Berea-based organization formed to advance education in 39 Kentucky counties. "It's just a great conference."

Area school districts are invited to send teachers and administrators to the event, which is broken down into four levels: pre-primary and non-graded primary, primary, middle, and secondary.

A national expert on at-risk students will address each group.

Lucille Werner, national director, Peckone (III), Sch. District, will speak to pre-primary and non-graded primary teachers and administrators about "Early Prevention of School Failure." The presentation is made possible by the National Diffusion Network.

Lloyd Campbell, a Regents Professor at the University of North Texas in Denton and a 10-year veteran of public school teaching, will address primary administrators and teachers on "Motivating Students to Take Responsibility for Their Own Learning."

Darrell Townsend, vice president of educational services for NCTI, a curriculum development, training and consultation firm in Austin, Texas, will speak to middle school administrators and teachers on "How to Attain Success in Schools for At-Risk Students and Marginal Students." He has been a national training director for special education and at-risk programs for over 15 years.

Dr. Allen Mendler, a psychological consultant and school psychologist and co-author of "Discipline with Dignity," will speak on that topic to secondary administrators and teachers.

The luncheon speaker will be Loyal Jones, a noted Appalachian author and humorist and retired Berea College official.

The Estill, Rockcastle and Jackson county school systems participate in Eastern's Destination Graduation program, which combines a six-week summer school project with tutoring throughout the school year by EKU students from the respective counties. The goal of the program is to keep students in school and make them aware of various career opportunities.

Tracy Todd is Coca-Cola scholarship semi-finalist

From more than 110,000 applicants nationwide, semi-finalists in the 1993-94 Coca-Cola Scholars Program have been selected. The 1,814 semi-finalists were chosen for their balance of leadership, character and achievement in school and the community.

Local semi-finalists is Tracy Todd, a senior at Rockcastle County High School.

These semi-finalists must complete additional candidacy materials, which will be screened by the Program Review Committee. If selected as one of the 150 Coca-Cola scholars, the applicant will attend the national competition in Atlanta from April 14-16 to compete for designation as a national or regional scholar. The 50 national scholars will receive awards of $20,000 and the 100 regional scholars will receive $4,000.

This program, which is the largest business-sponsored scholarship program in the country with an annual outlay of $1.4 million, is funded by participating Coca-Cola bottlers and The Coca-Cola Company.

Planners for conference at EKU on at-risk students -- Representatives of the various sponsors of the upcoming Kentucky Conference on At-Risk Students met recently to plan the day-long event, which will be held at Eastern Kentucky University Tuesday, July 19. Front row, from left, are Nancy Thames, director, Destination Graduation, EKU; Ginny Eager, director, Forward in the Fifth; Vivian Marcum, instructional supervisor, Jackson County Schools; back row from left, Janet Stevens, Kentucky Department of Education; Marrietta McBride, Madison County Schools; Betty Lewis, Family Resource Center, Rockcastle County Schools; and Elke Davis and Tom Bonny, instructional supervisors with Estill County Schools. Absent was Robert Azbill, instructional supervisor, Madison County Schools.

Registration is $75 per participant. Cancellations made after July 12 will not result in a refund. For more information, contact Nancy Thames, director of Destination Graduation at EKU, 606-622-65-43.

letters that he reduced the recommended sentence to six months and probation. In other words flattery will get you everywhere with Judge Adams. To *%# with justice when you can get a changeable signature from Joe B. No money changed hands, but from my perspective the Judge was still bought off. And he's just as guilty by accepting a bribe as any legislator in Bob-trot as far as I'm concerned. At least it took a couple hundred dollars to buy a legislator. His Honor can be had for a few celebrity autographs.

John Adams deserves to be in a courtroom dealing with corruption. No doubt about that. But from my angle he needs to be seated out in front of the bench, not on it. He's just one more slub that needs to be trying to convince a jury why his behind shouldn't spend a year or two at the new facility in Manchester along with the rest of the crowd that have such disregard for the responsibility vested in them by the voting public. He darn sure has no business passing judgments in public service.

In the meantime, if I were one of those troubled politicians in Letcher County I'd be doing everything I could to sidle up to Rick Pitino. If a former coach has that much pull with the judge, Pitino's signature on a holiday wrapper from Rupp Arena ought to be enough to get your case dismissed altogether.

ing what other people are saying. Now you take Conley who does less work than any of us with shorter hours and better pay."

Roy was grinning as he said all these things to stir up trouble there. "As I left, I shook my head and said to myself," and guess who may be looking for a job come Monday next week.

Betty Isaacs, Berea Hospital's glamorous up front desk girl was glad to give me a resolution for '94.

"Why, I'm going to quit drinking so much." And she stopped to answer the phone. I looked around to see if anyone else had heard her remark. Berea Hospital wouldn't want an employee who was a sot!

Betty turned back to me and I gasped as I asked her if she knew what she was saying.

"Sure—I think I'm drinking too much sassafras tea now that it has come in for the season!"

But I love to sip the stuff after I go home from work. I sit in an easy chair, my feet propped up on a stool after I've made myself a cup of sassafras tea. I then can think of the long day I've just put in at the hospital and next people expect me to put their calls through at once.

Dr. Bill Stewart is one who gives me a hard time over that if his party doesn't answer right now.

Doris Dollins is another person who wants to know where I've been so that I didn't answer the phone at the switchboard.

In the Signal office last week, I got cute little Sara, who works there, to give me what she's going to do.

"I sure will. I'm going to do all I can to lose some weight so I won't lose some of my dresses I can't get into."

Aw, now, Sara don't do that. Then you can keep on being Jason's (her husband) little "apple dumpling."

Sam Colvin at Berea National Bank said, "That's easy, I'm going to grow more hair on my head than I did last year."

I heard Kaye Williams, head cashier at the same bank, who was sitting at a desk behind Sam, giggling. (Resolution next week) and why I run from Fred Williams.

I had been planning to go see Mossie Cope, who lives at the old homeplace of Jim Wolfe's in Lower Clear Creek. Mossie had been slowly going downhill for some time in health with her son, Larry, taking care of her in her old age.

Now I had waited too long! Word came that Mossie had been taken to the Rockcastle Hospital at Mt. Vernon very ill. I was told by her son Larry, when I called to talk to her.

I was remembering the last time I had seen her in her living room lying on a bed.

She ached then and talked about some old pictures of her kinfolks.

One was of a man who lived to be 100 years old named Jessie Baker and was of her brother.

There was one of Sarah Coffee Baker. Mossie was proud of these old time people and began to tell me about them.

She stood up as I got up to leave and hugged me. I was proud of that for I told Mossie not many folks hugged me. Mossie's oldest son was named for Jessie, her brother.

John came in from town yesterday saying he saw Steve Bullens from Scaffold Cane who told him our good friend, Clyde L. Inville, had been taken to the hospital at Mt. Vernon.

We'll be going to Mt. Vernon this afternoon to take this column into the paper so we'll go by and see Clyde afterward at the hospital.

passable when snows covered the countryside. The men in our neighborhood always did this. Rockcastle County has been blessed with people who take pride in keeping their roads open regardless of conditions. For instance take this last emergency, do you realize Rockcastle County has had the quickest cleaned up roads of any of the surrounding counties? The road crews have done an excellent job of scraping roadways and streets even though they had to work overtime to get it done. My hat is off to the state and county road departments and to our officials who have managed it.

Yesterday Polly picked me up and I left my house for the first time in two weeks to break the cabin fever that was building up to the explosion point. I did not get to wade in the snow nor skate on the frozen paths but I saw banks of snow piled high beside the roads as we drove to London then back by way of old highway 80 to the farm.

One of the outstanding sights I saw along the way was of the Rockcastle River threading its tumbling blue water over frosty rocks and between banks covered with snow as it wound its way to where we were on the old iron bridge on Highway 80. This bridge that joins Rockcastle and Laurel County is one of the few scenic bridges left and it may soon have to be torn down because of erosion. This is a shame for these old iron bridges allowed one to see the water and scenery beneath them. The new ones, with their high solid side walls hide some of the most beautiful scenery in the world, that of quiet streams or turbulent rivers coming from who knows where and ever seeking the great oceans as they disappear beneath the concrete structure of modern architects.

Romance:
In the Air —
On the Walls

(NU) - Valentine's Day's just around the corner, and spring fever's first symptom is romance... or is it an urge to redecorate?

Whoever strikes first in your house, the designers at Gramercy wallpapers and fabrics let you redecorate a room and indulge your romantic leanings at the same time.

For example:

- Create the ambiance of an Italian fresco by covering walls and furniture in a print of opened fruits and berries.
- Bathe a bath in whimsical faux marble wallpaper for a classical, soothing environment.
- Perch Gramercy's Leopard Rope Border at celestial heights near the ceiling for a luxurious, cozy feeling.
- Charm your Valentine with a faux drapery border that gives the illusion of breezy movement.

Whatever you do this spring, design experts say, indulge yourself and make it romantic.

"Romance is back," says New York-based interior designer Stanley Hirt.

"We all want to escape to a cozy refuge after staring at computer screens and dietary decks all day. Manufacturers are now bringing us products with a touch of fantasy to offer respite from the cold cruel world and help us recapture a sense of security that's all but missing in today's society."

Girls beat Monticello, 62-59

By: Sara C. Coguer

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets took to the court Monday night, to try and beat the number two ranked team in the 12th region, the Monticello Trojans.

Coach Christi Beaver and the players did just that, the first time in Coach Beaver's career at Rockcastle, 62-59.

The Lady Rockets gave a good performance the first quarter, keeping pace with the Lady Trojans, ending the quarter down by four, 18-14.

The second quarter saw the Lady Rockets fall behind, only scoring nine points that quarter.

Coach Beaver contributed the bad quarter to several turnovers made by the Lady Rockets.

They went into the locker room at halftime down 31-23 and having committed sixteen turnovers during the first half, many of those coming during the second quarter.

One highlight of the first half was freshman Amy Robinson, who started her first game for the Lady Rockets.

Coach Beaver was well pleased with the performance of Robinson, who had eight points and five rebounds.

The second half belonged to the Lady Rockets, as they outscored the Lady Trojans during each quarter.

It was not as easy a battle as it sounds, though, because the Lady Rockets had to fight their way back from a thirteen point deficit early in the third quarter.

They held the Lady Trojans to only thirteen points in the third quarter, going into the fourth quarter down by seven, 45-38.

Coach Beaver cites the lack of defense for the Lady Rockets that kept them playing catch-up through the first three quarters.

"We didn't play good defense, we just stood there and let them drive around us," Beaver said.

The fourth quarter saw the Lady Rockets take the lead for the first time in the game, at the 3:53 mark, going ahead 51-50.

It was a three point bomb by senior Cindy McCauley that gave the Lady Rockets their lead.

Beaver commented that freshman Suzie Carpenter was a big play factor in the second half, coming off the bench to score 13 points and help gain the lead.

Carpenter scored eleven of her thirteen points in the fourth quarter. The Lady Rockets kept the lead after they gained it, staying five to six points ahead of the Lady Trojans the remainder of the game.

Several key rebounds by the Lady Rockets in the fourth quarter was a factor that the Monticello Trojans could not control. Senior Janetta McLemore had five rebounds of her own in the fourth quarter.

The Lady Rockets held onto the lead despite having two turnovers with less than 25 seconds to go, giving the Monticello Trojans their fourth loss on the season, 62-59.

Coach Beaver was well pleased with the play of the girls, saying that this win would be a definite confidence booster.

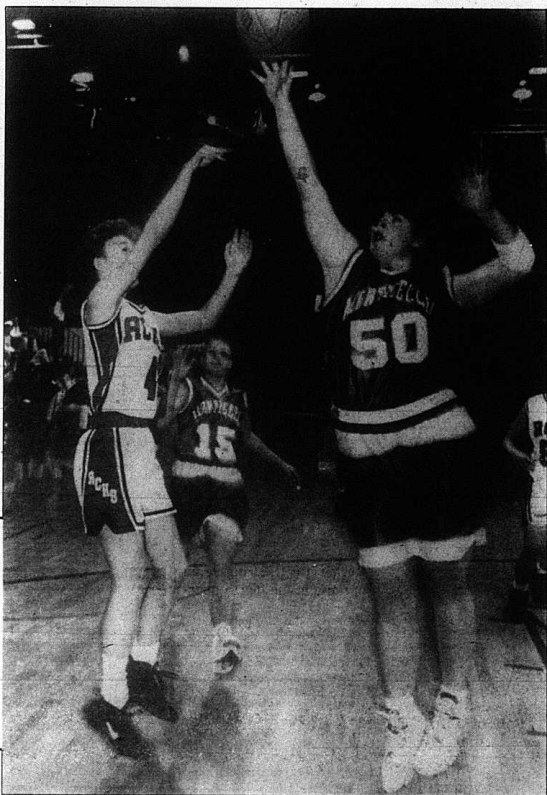

Also helping with the victory for the Lady Rockets was their 20 of 32 free throws and their aggressiveness off the boards.

The Lady Rockets play at home Saturday night against Bell County. It will be Homecoming Night.

By: Sara C. Coguer

The Rockcastle County Rockets continued their losing streak last week, falling to the Garrard County Lions Monday night, 91-74.

They then fell to the Madison Southern Eagles on Tuesday night, 82-65.

The Rockets are now 1-12 on the season, winning against the McCreary Central Raiders early in the new year.

It was Garrard County from the beginning as they went up early 6-0. The Rockets did not score a basket until the 4:52 mark, when senior Mickey McClure scored from 15 feet out. He was fouled on the shot, and made the extra basket, cutting the Lion lead to 6-3.

A basket by senior Aaron Cox cut the lead to one, 10-9, but the Lions turned around and scored the next six points, extending the lead to 16-9.

Rockcastle called a time-out at the 2:02 mark in the first quarter, but to no avail, as the Lion's ended the first quarter with the lead, 18-14.

The Rockets came within two early on in the second quarter, 18-16, but the Lions could not miss a shot, and extended their lead to seven, 23-16.

The Rockets then committed three turnovers, but sophomore Eddie Todd, who saw action for the first time this season, scored a bucket for the Rockets, cutting the Lion lead by two, 25-18.

The Rockets could not get any closer than four during the remainder of the second half, going into the locker room down by five, 40-35.

One highlight of the first half was the play of junior Ken Hopkins, who scored five of his ten points in the last two minutes of the second quarter.

The Lions scored first in the third quarter, sinking a three pointer and extending their lead to eight, 43-35. It was a "Rocket score, Lion score" type of game during the third quarter, with the Rockets not being able to gain any ground, ending the quarter down by seven, 61-54.

The fourth quarter saw the Rockets and Lions exchange several turnovers early on, with the Rockets falling behind by ten, 70-60.

Three quick fouls by the Rockets, the third ending the game for senior J.D. Bussell, gave the Lions a chance to extend their lead.

However, good defensive play by Cox and senior Brian Carter kept the Lions from going ahead by more than twelve, 73-61.

The Rockets could not get it together and gain on the Lions, ending the game down by seventeen, 91-74.

In Tuesday night's action, the Rockets traveled to Berea to face off against rival Madison Southern, but came home in defeat, 82-65.

Madison Southern led from the start, ending the first quarter ahead by eleven, 26-15.

The Rockets went into the locker room at half-time down 41-26.

The Rockets kept even with the Eagles during the third quarter, matching their eighteen points, going into the final quarter down by fifteen, 59-44.

The Rockets could not catch up during the fourth quarter, ending the game with a disappointing loss, 82-65.

My mistake . . .

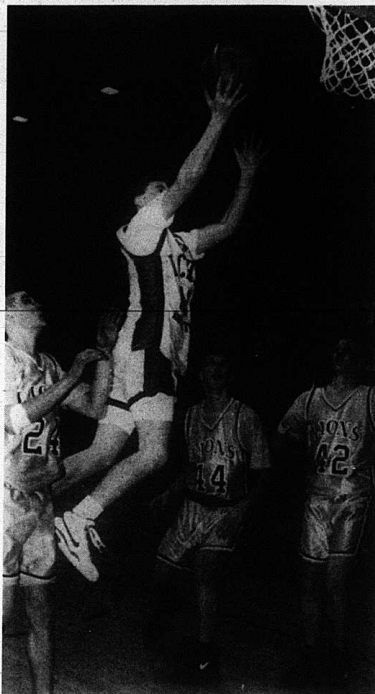

After receiving a letter last week from Vicky Scott of Brodhead stating that the Mt. Vernon Red Devils were not the first team in the county to beat Foley Middle School, but actually it was the Brodhead Tigers who did, in the finals of the B.I.T. in 1990, I looked back and sure enough, there it was in big, bold letters, Brodhead Wins B.I.T.

As a new reporter is wont to do (I am told), I went by what I had been told by several other people instead of finding out the facts by researching, and wrote my story based on those "facts" that were given me by others.

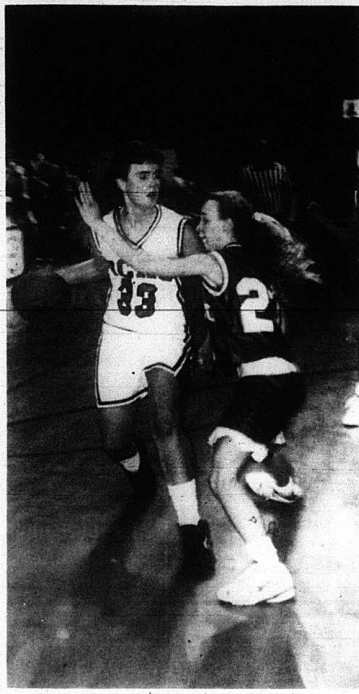

I've learned my lesson, though. "Always check your resources and information for truths" is a reporter's first rule in journalism, and from now on, I will.

So, I apologize to those players and coaches of the 1989-90 Brodhead Elementary Tiger team. I did not intend to take anything away from how good of a team you were.

Sara C. Coguer

Senior center Aaron Cox leaps over three Garrard County defenders to score a bucket in Monday night's action against the Lions. Cox finished with nine, but to no avail, as the Rockets came up on the losing end, 91-74.

Senior forward Cindy McCauley looks for the pass in Monday night's action against the Monticello Trojans. McCauley contributed 19 points and 9 rebounds to the winning cause for the Lady Rockets, 62-59.

Players of the Game . . .

Freshman Suzie Carpenter was chosen by Coach Christi Beaver as the "Player of the Game" against the Monticello Lady Trojans. Carpenter had 13 points for the Lady Rocket effort, scoring eleven of those in the fourth quarter.

Senior co-captain Cindy McCauley was chosen as "Player of the Game" for the whole year by Coach Beaver for her "excellent contribution to the Lady Rocket team." McCauley is the Lady Rocket leading scorer and is attending Div. I Marshall University in the fall.

Junior Melinda Smith was chosen as "Player of the Game" for the whole year also, by Coach Beaver for her "hustle, devotion and big plays." Melinda is the starting two guard.

Hello everyone!

I hope you have weathered the storms and are well and o.k. We have really had a bad time with bitter cold temperatures with lots of ice and snow and more snow. But we thank the good Lord for taking care of us. It was so good of people too, helping others in time of need. Maybe, these 'bad times come on us for a purpose, if nothing else but to show us how much we need each other. We have often heard it said, "No man is an island." We need other people in our life, and more love and concern.

We have been blessed too at our church. We haven't had any cancellations of services.

Our Sunday School attendance Jan. 23 was ninety and several more came for worship services, also a good number Sunday night. Some churches had to cancel, due to slick and hazardous road conditions. But as fast as they go, spring time will be here before we know it. Let's just be patient and wait upon God!

My news will be short again this time as most people have spent the past several days at home.

I enjoyed my recent phone conversation with Mrs. Minnie Lee Barnett of Mt. Vernon. I'm not very well acquainted with her, but as we talked, I found out that she and I share the same beliefs about things, such as our beliefs on religious matters, our worldly condition and other things. She is such a devoted Christian lady.

Our visitors on Saturday were our daughter Joyce and husband James Seals, and our son Wayne and wife Carolyn - all of near Berea.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander during the past few days have been their daughters, Jewell Davidson of Brodhead and their son Gerald Alexander of Sand Springs and their families, also Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and infant son of near Fairview.

Elmer Hale of Roundstone and Preston Anderlin remain on the sick list and need their prayers, our Christian friends. God bless them. Please remember church and Sunday School and continue to pray for all the people in distress and trouble, especially the earthquake victims in California. Our hearts go out to people in trouble. No matter who they are.

ity to help those citizens who are unable to help themselves." He also noted the importance of the $100 million bond issue to the future of our park system.

As part of his crime control package, the Governor authorized the State Police to add 30 additional officers to attain trooper strength of 1000, equaling their highest level ever. He also mentioned his strong support of Attorney General Gorman's Task Force on Child Sexual Abuse and pledged to transform the state's personnel system according to the recommendations made by the Governor's Quality and Efficiency Commission.

The following projects were included in the Governor's budget:

-- The Commonwealth Library at the University of Kentucky

-- The Muhlenberg County Prison, Phase II

-- The Northern Kentucky Convention Center in Covington

-- The Commonwealth Convention Center in Louisville power on for heating purposes.

The sub-station in Brodhead overloaded, in turn causing a "lock-out" and power shut down for a few hours Wednesday morning.

According to Ron Cain, KU manager, Statewide, KU reached its highest output peak ever at 3,094 megawatts on Wednesday, and I'm sure Rockcastle County did as well, though I don't have our output figure," Cain said. He added, "with the cooperation of the residents of Mt. Vernon we were able to keep the power on. I am thankful for their efforts."

Cain also said that Mt. Vernon should not expect this to happen again, as KU is in the process of installing a new transformer that will generate a higher capacity of electricity. It should be on line by spring.

-- Morehead State University Klappin Hall, Phase II for a new science facility

-- Ashland Community College Classroom Building

-- Phase I of a New Office Building for state government in Frankfort

-- A $7 million share of the new University of Louisville Football Stadium

Governor Jones concluded by saying, "I hope in some measure I have been able to share with you our dream, our vision for Kentucky -- a community where each and every Kentuckian has a chance to be educated, to work, to own a home, to raise a family, and to be secure and safe in their old age."

who could not get to the shelter set up by the Red Cross. One such effort was by RTEC and the Rockcastle Senior Citizens, as well as the Red Cross. RTEC employees delivered over 600 meals to the elderly as well as young families, who were shut in. Delivery was made to approximately 70 households, not only of food, but also of blankets and other essential items. RTEC even delivered five blocks of coal to one household who was without heat.

According to Shirley Cummins, RTEC director "It was only through the conscious effort of those employees from these agencies that we were able to be of help to the Senior Citizens and others in the county." She added, "I couldn't be more pleased with the response from my staff here at RTEC."

The Red Cross set up a shelter at the Senior Citizen Center in case anyone needed a warm dry place to stay. Lu Ed Nelson, director of the local Red Cross, said that only a few travelers took refuge at the shelter, mainly because most county residents couldn't get out of their homes. "We had to go to them," she said.

The state road department did not have its preliminary figures on man-hours and salt-usage available at press time.

State of the Commonwealth and Budget Address

At 7 p.m. Governor Bretton C. Jones presented his combined State of the Commonwealth and Budget Address to a joint session of the state legislature.

Governor Jones stressed his continuing commitment to meaningful health care reform, his resolve to keep education reform on track and the need to manage our fiscal resources responsibly. Governor Jones stated that with continued help from the legislature, Kentucky will be able to shed the politics of the past and build a vibrant future based upon a foundation of opportunity and responsibility.

Kentucky has withstood 12 budget cuts in the last 14 years, creating tremendous instability within state government. Governor Jones emphasized that his budget for the next biennium is balanced and constructed upon conservative revenue estimates that will ensure that it stays balanced. For the first time ever, the legislative and executive branches worked together to develop a mutually agreeable revenue forecast. When Governor Jones took office, he inherited a budget with a several hundred million dollar shortfall and a surplus fund of approximately $23 million. His new budget features a surplus fund of $130 million. This will help guarantee that Kentucky's bond rating remains excellent while also ensuring that the state will be able to absorb unforeseen expenditures without resorting to budget cuts.

In recounting the accomplishments of the past two years, Governor Jones focused upon campaign finance reform, the gubernatorial succession amendment, the improved method for choosing university board members, the increased number of women and African Americans appointed to positions in the Jones administration, the federal waiver allowing Kentucky to provide health coverage for over 200,000 low income Kentuckians and the record setting road building pace set by the Transportation Cabinet.

"Today," Governor Jones summarized, "we have a state government that is leaner, smarter, more efficient, more progressive and less political than any time in modern history."

In mapping Kentucky's future for the next two years, Governor Jones stressed the importance of meaningful health care reform that protects Kentuckians from unreasonable charges and cost increases. Governor Jones' continuing commitment to education reform is highlighted by his budget, of which 48 percent is dedicated to primary and secondary education and 14 percent to higher education. Governor Jones recognized the growing importance of worker training and increased the Workforce Development Cabinet's budget by 21 percent. "If our businesses are to achieve and maintain success in a global economy, a workforce of skilled, well-educated adults must be created," Jones said.

Recognizing that the success of state government rests upon the effectiveness and productivity of state workers, Governor Jones authorized a 5 percent raise in each of the next two years for all state employees. He also identified the Cabinet for Human Resources as an area of state government that is too large and wasteful and targeted it for reorganization to increase its service potential.

Governor Jones stressed the need for welfare reform, "I strongly believe it is government's responsibility

*We try to put our patients

Radiology has a unique function in the hospital. At Rockcastle Hospital, technology is the key to helping diagnose a disease or injury. But, it takes specially trained personnel to utilize this technology.

In the eight years I've been here, Radiology has changed dramatically. It's a much larger department now and we've added new diagnostic services, including mammography and our own CAT scanner.

When patients come in, they're often scared, so we try to explain the procedure and answer their questions. We're like family here, we want our patients to be comfortable.

I think taking time to talk to each patient and being polite is important. "We really care about people at Rockcastle Hospital."

Statement by U.S. Sen. McConnell on Clinton's State of the Union Address

What concerns Americans most is the violent crime wave that is sweeping this nation. The Democrats are talking a good game on crime, but in the past they have always come up short in the fine print. It remains to be seen if the tough bill the Senate passed last year will be gutted before it gets to the President's desk. The House must act quickly and keep the crime package intact.

While some in Congress - including the Democratic Chairman of the Finance Committee - have questioned the agency with which the President has promoted his health care plan, I continue to believe that Clinton's plan could be harmful to our country, and particularly bad for Kentucky. I will not support financing the President's proposal on the backs of tobacco farmers and small businesses.

I think the President's top priority will continue to be health care reform, although popular support also exists for reforming our welfare system. I think it is difficult to predict with any accuracy what health care or welfare reforms Congress might ultimately approve, and exactly when the reform measures will pass.

The American people should keep in mind that the President's health care plan is not the only reform proposal before the Senate. It is imperative that Congress considers all options before passing legislation that could potentially devastate the high quality of our health care industry which accounts for one-seventh of the economy.

Berea Craft Festival applications being taken

Applications are now being accepted for a limited number of exhibitor spaces for the 13th edition of the Berea Craft Festival to be held July 15, 16 and 17th. High quality work showing creativity, originality, and fine craftsmanship will be considered for acceptance into this invitational show. All work must be original. Purchased decorated items, or items made from kits or commercial patterns are not eligible.

Professional craftspersons are especially encouraged to inquire. To apply, craftspersons must send five (5) slides or samples of their work along with a description and resume to: Berea Craft Festival, P.O. Box 128, Berea, KY 40403, and enclose a SASE for return of slides.

The Berea Crafts Festival has become a widely acclaimed weekend event which is held each July in the Indian Fort Outdoor Theater near Berea, the "arts and crafts capital of Kentucky." This is a showcase of original and professional arts and crafts, featuring exhibitors from over twenty states and Canada who attend by special invitation only.

Berea, nationally acclaimed as a center for artists and studio craftspersons, offer visitors and tourists a summer full of unusual events, highlighted by the annual Berea Craft Festival in July. Illa Bellando, president of Berea Craft Festivals, says: "Berea has become known nationwide as a special community where craft-artists live and sell their work. The Berea Craft Festival brings together local, regional and national craftspersons for a special showcase of American crafts in a fresh environment. The Festival is exciting, and every year we look forward to the event which constantly gets bigger and better, with special exhibits and demonstrations. We hope that folks make plans early to be with us in Berea during July 15-17 for our 13th Berea Craft Festival!"

For information on all of Berea's 1994 events, contact the Berea Tourism Commission at area 606-986-2540 or 986-2550.

KU seeks to recover environmental costs through customer surcharge

Kentucky Utilities Company (KU) today applied to the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) for approval to implement an environmental surcharge. The surcharge will permit the company to recover the on-going costs of complying with federal, state and local environmental regulations.

KU seeks to recover the current costs of operating and maintaining the environmental control equipment and the investment costs associated with the purchase of the equipment that must be installed to meet the regulations. KU has committed more than $240 million in environmental related equipment and systems required to meet federal Clean Air Act laws, as well as other state and local laws.

"KU has been and continues to be committed to compliance with all applicable environmental regulations. However, the reality of helping create a cleaner environment is that we must now ask our customers to share in the cost," said John Newton, KU president and CEO.

An example of KU's environmental protection investments is the installation of a sulfur dioxide scrubber and related facilities at its Ghent plant in Carroll County at an estimated cost of $107 million. The scrubber system will help the company reduce the sulfur dioxide emissions at Ghent Unit 1 from approximately 80,000 tons to 8,000 tons -- a decrease of about 90 percent. And, the scrubber system will help the company reduce its overall sulfur dioxide emissions from approximately 167,000 tons a year to 78,000 tons a year -- a reduction of over 50 percent. This overall reduction allows KU to meet Clean Air Act standards that are required by January 1, 1995. KU will have to make continuing environmental protection investments to meet another set of Clean Air Act standards that take effect January 1, 2000.

Under KU's proposal to the PSC, the surcharge would be implemented August 1, 1994. Beginning in August 1994 customers would see a separate item on their bills for costs relating to the protection of the environment. It is estimated that the surcharge would begin at 2 percent per month of a customer's bill. It would be approximately 4 percent per month after the first year and about 4.3 percent per month after two years.

For customer using 1,000 kilowatt hours (kwh) of electricity a month, the surcharge would be about $0.92 the first month and about $1.97 at the end of two years. At these surcharge levels, KU estimates it would recover about $15.5 million in environmental costs during the first 12 months, and $23 million during the second 12 months. The average cost for customers using 1,000 kwh per month would be about $1.65 per month during the two years.

"KU's cost estimates for compliance of Clean Air Act amendments are about 45 percent less than originally calculated -- a decrease that benefits our customers," added Newton. "While we are asking customers to share in the cost, we also are pleased to pass along savings we've been able to achieve."

Under the proposed surcharge schedule:

- * In July 1994, KU would submit its June 1994 environmental protection costs to the PSC to establish the surcharge factor to be billed in August 1994.
- * Each month thereafter KU would submit its reports to the PSC and customer bills would include the environmental surcharge.
- * Hearings would be held each six months to review the operation of the surcharge beginning in February 1995.

After two years of operation, the PSC would review the operation of the surcharge and incorporate, as appropriate, the costs into base rates. Kentucky Utilities, based in Lexington, provides electricity to more than 430,000 customers in 77 Kentucky counties and five counties in Virginia.

It could be you

A traffic accident, a train derailment, the suddenness of a lightning bolt on a rain-soaked golf course. They strike without warning. They happen every day--perhaps even to your friends or neighbors, to their cousins or their kids. It could be you.

If you're lucky afterwards, you'll end up in a fast ambulance and a good hospital. You may not be able to hear it (maybe your family will), but somebody there in the emergency room or the trauma unit is going to be shouting, "Blood! Get me some blood now!"

Your life -- an hour before so cool and sweet and certain -- has been utterly changed in a flash. Now nothing is certain, especially your life. With blood you might make it into the critical care unit or recovery room. Without blood, you won't. Period. And there's the problem.

Nobody can provide that blood except people. And people haven't been giving blood the way they used to. The way they must. Forty thousand people must give blood each day to meet the routine needs of hospitals across the country. And that means you.

You have to give the blood stored for in trauma units and emergency rooms. There's nowhere else to get it -- and there's a urgent need for it.

Companies and communities all over the country will be organizing blood drives in the weeks ahead. Why not sign up for one? If you don't know where to go to give, call the American chapter or the local community blood center in your area and they'll advise you where to go and what to do.

In the meantime -- listen! Someone is crying for blood you can spare. Could be you.

The Central Kentucky Blood Center and the Red Cross are in urgent need of blood. Please donate!

Use precaution operating fireplace and space heaters

Through this winter's snow and bitter cold, fireplaces and space heaters can provide cost-cutting and even life-saving heat for Kentucky homes.

However, if not used properly, they can be quite costly and even deadly, warn Department for Health Services safety officials.

Branch Wescott, product safety branch manager, says that homeowners who use fireplaces, wood stoves and space heaters MUST have two safety items.

"The two absolutely essential items are a fire extinguisher near the heat source and smoke detectors properly installed near all sleeping areas," he said.

"No matter how careful you are, a fire could start," he said. "One or both of these items could mean the difference between life and death."

Wescott offers the following safety tips for various heat sources.

WOOD STOVES AND FIREPLACES-Most burns and deaths associated with these heating methods result from improper installation and creosote build-up.

Always follow manufacturer's instructions for installation, especially those concerning the surface the stove is placed on and distance from the wall.

Most wood-heating fires occur in chimneys. Chimneys should be inspected regularly and repaired when necessary. Chimneys should be cleaned by a qualified chimney sweep every year to prevent accumulation of creosote, a tar-like residue that can build up in chimneys over time and catch on fire.

Never burn trash, charcoal or plastics in a wood-burning appliance. These items can overheat and start a fire and/or release dangerous pollutants.

Collect ashes in a metal bucket with a metal cover. Always wear gloves.

KEROSENE HEATERS - "Flare-up" fires, or uncontrolled flaming, can occur when using improper or contaminated fuels.

or touch electrical switches if you smell gas.

Carbon monoxide poisoning can occur if heaters are not properly vented. Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning resemble those of the flu - headaches, dizziness and nausea. Continued exposure to the gas, which is colorless and odorless, can cause unconsciousness and death. Newly manufactured unvented gas space heaters have an oxygen depletion sensor (ODS), which detects reduced levels of oxygen and shuts off the heater before a hazardous level of carbon monoxide accumulates.

Always use 1k kerosene. Pollutants from kerosene heaters can accumulate inside and become harmful. To prevent this situation, set the heater wick at the level recommended by the manufacturer and adequately ventilate the room.

ELECTRIC HEATERS - Electric heaters provide good temporary heat but are not designed for extended use or as a substitute for central heating.

NEVER use an extension cord with an electric heater.

Do not use near water because of the possibility of electrocution.

GAS HEATERS - Ventilate the room if you smell gas from a heater. Immediately alert the gas company. Never light a gas heater.

GENERAL SAFETY TIPS - Regardless of the type of heater used, consumers should follow a number of general safety tips.

Keep children and pets away from heaters at all times. Never use a space heater overnight.

Do not stand close to a heater when wearing a long robe, nightwear or other loose clothing that could come into contact with the heater. Keep heaters away from upholstered furniture, draperies and other combustible material. Never use heaters for a clothes dryer or foot warmer - they can cause fires and burns.

Tony Award winning play at Centre

Welcome to 1940's Los Angeles where life imitates art, art imitates life and all forces collide to create the most "Wickedly clever" and highly acclaimed musical comedy in recent years in the Tony Award-winning City of Angels.

The performance, part of the Newlin Hall Series will be performed at the Norton Center for the Arts at Centre College on Thursday, February 10 at 8:00 p.m. in Newlin Hall.

City of Angels delivers an evening of hilarious old comedy. Winner of the New York Drama Critics, Outer Critics Circle, Drama Desk, and Tony Awards for Best Musical, City of Angels possesses a crafty script by well-known television writer, Larry Gilbert, the creator of M*A*S*H. The twists and turns of Gilbert comedic caper are set to a stylish tempo with the witty and wonderful music of Tony Award-winner Cy Coleman and David Zippel.

Laughing all the way, City of Angels spoofs the Sam Spade/Humphrey Bogart film noir genre while crisscrossing into the lives of some of the dizziest denizens from Hollywood's back lots and high society. All chaos breaks loose when mystery novelist Sine agrees to transfer his private eye Stone onto the screen. As the writer's technicolor life begins to parallel the celluloid black and white antics of his own flatfoot creation, their two worlds collide in what has been called "the most brilliant of musical comedies."

Tickets are $38.00, $31.00 and $28.00 and are available at the Norton Center for the Arts.

For more information call the Norton Center at 236-4692. Office hours are 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

"Recipes" (Cont. from A11)

Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Add chocolate, cook one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Pour into a bowl and chill 2 hours. Yield 4-1/2 cup servings.

Chocolate Chip Bars
 1/4 cup + 2 tsp. margarine, softened
 1/3 cup sugar
 3/4 cup firmly packed dark

Marbled Cheesecake
Vegetable cooking spray
1/2 cup chocolate wafers/cookie crumbs, (about 8 cookies)

1 cup sugar
 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
 1 tsp. vanilla extract
 2 (8-oz.) tubs nonfat processed cream cheese product, softened
 1 (16-oz.) carton nonfat sour cream
 4 eggs
 3 (1-oz.) squares sweet baking chocolate, melted

Wrap outside bottom and sides of a 9-inch springform pan with heavy duty aluminum foil. Coat bottom of pan with cooking spray; sprinkle with cookie crumbs, and set aside.

Combine sugar and next 4 ingredients in a bowl. Beat at medium speed until smooth. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beating well after each.

Pour half of cheese mixture into a bowl; add melted chocolate, stirring until well blended. Spoon alternating mounds of plain and chocolate cheese mixtures into the prepared pan; swirl with a knife to create a marbled effect. Place springform pan in a large shallow pan; add hot water to larger pan to a depth of 1 inch. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes; remove from oven. Remove springform pan from water; remove foil. Let cool 1 hour. Cover and chill at least 2 hours. Yield 12 servings.

Clyde Linville, former educator, mayor dies

Local educator and former mayor of Mt. Vernon, Clyde Linville, died Tuesday, January 25 at the Rockcastle Hospital.

Mr. Linville, 85, served a principle of Livingston High School, Roundstone Elementary and as superintendent of Mt. Vernon School District, prior to its consolidation with the county program.

During his tenure as mayor of Mt. Vernon, Linville was the driving force behind the acquisition of the lake at Renfro Valley which was later named in his honor.

Linville was born in Rockcastle County February 12, 1908, the son of William H. and Martha Ann Ogg Linville. He was a graduate of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and a deacon at Scaffold Cane Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Linville, also of Mt. Vernon and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be Friday, January 28 at the Scaffold Cane Baptist Church with Bro. Wayne Harding officiating. Burial will follow in the Scaffold Cane Cemetery.

Arrangements are by Dowell and Martin Funeral home where friends may call after 6 p.m. Thursday (today) and after 10 a.m. Friday at the church.

Palbearers will be Doug Hysinger, James Miller, Larry, Randy, Billy and Robert Linville.

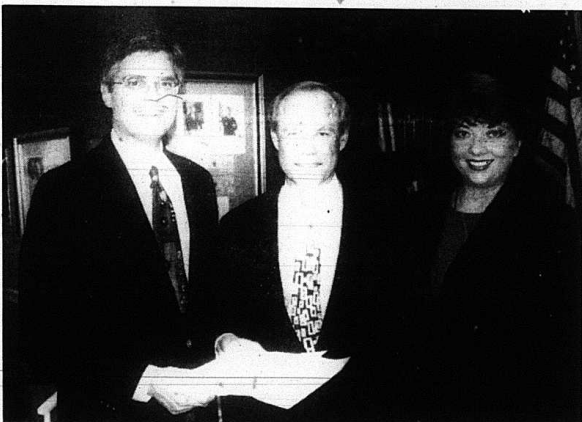

Honorary pallbearers will be: Vic Hysinger, Jack St. Clair, Dr. G.W. Griffith, John Cox, Preston Nunnell, William Bullen, Steve Bullen, Tip Reppert and Gordon Graham.

VA shows why government should stay out of the health-care business

By J. Elliott Williams Immediate Past-President, Congressional Medal of Honor Society

As a patriotic duty to my country, I am urging every American to get involved in the fight against government-run health care as envisioned by President Clinton's health-care proposal.

From a veteran's perspective, the lesson is simple: Government-run health care hasn't worked. Ask any veteran what they think of the Veterans Administration and the health care it provides to more than 2.5 million vets, and the answer will be the same almost anywhere in the country: "It's governmental's worst."

Waiting periods of 60-90 days to see specialist such as cardiologists. Incredible amounts of paperwork. Average three-hour waits whenever you try to see a doctor. Hospitals that are physically falling apart. Government acting not as healers, but as roadblocks to understand problems such as Agent Orange and the current Gulf War Syndrome.

That's what we deal with every day. Hopefully, other Americans will never have to endure the same difficulties and hardships as we do in getting basic health care. In fact, if anything, the Veterans Administration should serve as the Number one example of how NOT to run a healthcare system. That's why I'm so amazed that so many of our national politicians, including President Clinton, would advocate a larger role for government in providing health care instead of a smaller one. Because, based on our experience, the government just isn't up to the job. The proof is in the numbers: Of 26.7 million veterans eligible for VA health care, less than 10 percent actually seek VA assistance.

In one of the most perverse outcomes imaginable, what was supposed to be an extraordinary privilege for veterans -- medical care guaranteed and run by the government -- has turned out to be a nightmare. While everyone else in the country has access to the finest technology, the most skilled surgeons and physicians, and the finest hospital facilities in the world, VA users are confined to a system that isn't even mediocre. And they're trapped. There's no way out, because most of the 2.5 million veterans who use the VA don't have any alternatives.

So when I hear that government is going to have a monopoly on health care through these regional health alliances, I shudder. When I hear that a new national health board is going to set standards for the rest of the country to follow, I think of the way VA standards have been allowed to deteriorate.

When I think of the second-rate care that veterans are consigned to receiving, I just can't sit still and let the rest of the country go down the same path.

Don't let government run your health care into the ground. Don't let them take it over. The entire history of the 20th century shows that once government gets its hands on something it never lets go. There have to be ways to improve health care without having government run it, as President Clinton is currently proposing. His plan takes us down precisely the wrong direction, and everyone -- veterans and non-veterans alike -- need to let our elected officials know that this is the wrong way to go.

It may not seem like a big deal now, but 10 years from now, when you're overwhelmed with paperwork and waiting three hours to see a doctor, or 90 days to see a heart specialist, it will be much more important to you. We have to ensure that this scenario never happens.

Library News & Views

By Geraldine Robbins

Due to the bad weather we have had to cancel the Craft Class three times, but hopefully we will be able to meet Monday, Jan. 31. Come and join us, we will have something interesting for you to make.

This is certainly a winter we won't forget in a hurry and there is probably more to come. There has been this much snow many times but the combination of sub-zero temperatures and the large amount of snow has caused some serious problems for a lot of people.

On Wednesday morning, the 19th, it was -30 at my house and I only recall one other time that it was this cold. That was the winter of '62-63. We weren't as well prepared then as we are now. I recall freezing pipes and having to stay in one room to try to keep warm except at meal time and I would then venture into the kitchen to prepare our food. I am thankful that we didn't have any problems like that this time.

The library was closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday because of the snow and extreme cold and Pam has not been able to be out on the bookmobile for quite some time. We apologize for any inconvenience to our patrons but we have to consider the safety of our staff, pipes and the library and also Pam has to consider both herself and the bookmobile. The library has the rule that if there is no school because of slick roads, the bookmobile will not be out. You may call the library for the schedule if it is not in the Mt. Vernon Signal.

I have sent out overdue notices to all the patrons that still have out books due in '93. Will you please make an effort to look for these books? There are approximately 500 books still out that are badly needed by other patrons. I hate to think that people intentionally keep books, but that would seem to be the case. Our regular patrons sometimes keep books longer but this is usually an oversight and they will bring them in as soon as they are reminded or ask for them to be renewed. It is easy to misplace one book but not so easy to lose several. In order to help get these books in, we will not be charging any overdue fines through February 5th. Please be considerate of other people and bring them in so that others may enjoy them also.

There is a drop box placed conveniently at the front of the library. Books may be dropped in here at any time.

I'd like to correct a mistake in my last news article. It would seem that I like to work in other people's flower gardens, but that is not the case. It should have read, I like to work in my flower garden when I have time. Sorry, I won't be coming to help any of you soon.

A new novel that's available is Bad Love by Jonathan Kellerman. . . Kellerman's psychologist-detective

Dr. Alex Delaware returns in an extraordinary new novel of electrifying emotional intensity.

It came in a plain brown wrapper, no return address. An audiocassette recording of a horrifying, soul-lacerating scream, followed by a childlike voice delivering the enigmatic and haunting message: "Bad love. Bad love. Don't give me bad love. . ."

For Alex Delaware the chant, repeated over and over like a twisted nursery rhyme, is the first intimation that he is about to enter a living nightmare. Others soon follow; disquieting laughter echoing over a phone line that suddenly goes dead, a chilling trespass outside his home in the middle of the night, a sickening act of vandalism. He has become the target of a carefully orchestrated campaign of vague threats and intimidations rapidly building to a crescendo as harassment turns to terror, mischief to madness.

Searching his memory for the phrase "bad love," Alex recalls a symposium he attended over a decade ago commemorating the work of Dr. Andres de Bosch, the celebrated child psychologist who ran a clinic for troubled adolescents. With the help of his friend LAPD detective Mito Sturges, Alex discovers a seemingly random series of violent deaths a hit-and-run, a "suicide" leap from a high rise, and a brutal mutilation-murder - that may somehow be related to de Bosch.

As he delves deeper into the history of the clinic, the escalating pattern of violence becomes increasingly clear. And if Alex fails to decipher the twisted logic of the stalker's mind games, he will be the next to die. Bad Love is vintage Kellerman. Also Rush Limbaugh's new book is here. Yes, I Told You So . . . Mr. Limbaugh is host of a controversial, radio talk-show. Some of you may enjoy this book, others may not.

There are 50 new audio tapes available. We just received these and I'm hoping more of you will use them as you travel to work or on trips and etc.

As a service for the people in the county, we have tax forms available again this year. We welcome your comments and suggestions.

Congratulations to all the people who plan this annual event. For you've made everything worth-while And your time was well spent.

Pretty Day, Ain't it, Papaw
By: Preston Parrett

The sky was dark and gloomy
With the clouds scudding about.
It wasn't a fit day
For fowl or humans to be out.
Pretty day, ain't it, papaw.

When next we took a walk
With the drizzle coming down,
The water from our shoes was sloshing
When we put our feet on the ground.
Pretty day, ain't it, papaw.

The wind was gusting strongly
With sleet bouncing off our ears,
Our fingertips were frozen
And our eyes were full of tears
Pretty day, ain't it, papaw.

The snow was softly falling
As we wandered down to the creek.
It landed on our foreheads, melted
Trickled down our collar and cheek.
Pretty day, ain't it, papaw.

Yes, grandson, it's a beautiful day
When seen through the eyes of a child,
Maybe you can teach me
To go back in time for awhile.

To see the world as you do
With all its beauties to behold,
May our eyes always be innocent
And never grow insensitive or cold.
Yes, it's a beautiful day, grandson!

Cold Brought Warmth
By: Wanda Burton

Warmth, sometimes hidden
Some place within the heart
May fail, to always
Willingly do our part

In time of crisis
Hearts began to warm
Pouring out help and love
To neighbors near and far

Seems this happened
When temperatures dropped
Snow and ice covered roads
Most movement stopped

Cold brought warmth
All shapes and signs
Many doing for others
Brought peace to minds

Emergencies are many Making all aware
That they were needed
And their love could share

Ministering to the sick
Aiding farmers chores
Funerals, food, fuel and more
Help in whatever need was for

Looked mighty bleak
Water lines breaking
About to lose our heat
Blessed, are the meek

Cold brought warmth
To hearts, to souls
For all could see
Better to give than to receive

Remember: A small deed is more than the greatest intention.

To: Nancy Mills

I was thinking of you as the days draw near,
What to get you for your birthday,
Dear?

I'm not very good with words and such,
But if you weren't here, we would miss you so much.

I remember the day that you were born;

At grandma's house we all waited impatiently.

Aunt Gail, Ricky, Ronnie and me,
Oh, how bad we wanted to see,
What the new baby was to be

You were little, red faced and all
Drinking from a spoon as I recall.

The mid-wife delivered to us a girl,
Good! The odds were even;
I was glad you weren't a boy!

On January 25, 1963, Nancy was your name to be;
Your initials stand for more than your name;
NBJ - Nothing But Joy,
Happy 31 Sister

"The Good Old Days"
By: Ada Bullock

While thinking of past times
Good! I was a kid
Pictures of happiness
Unfold as I reminisce
Just an ordinary family
With love, and respect
Thankful for our blessings
No riches did we expect.

We all had to work
To keep food on the table
Clothes on our backs
In a home that was stable
The floors were bare
And swept with a broom
No carpet nor tile
To brighten the rooms.

Poet's Corner

B.I.T.

By: Preston Parrett

Down at the annual B.I.T.
Rabid fans were wall to wall,
As they overflowed bleachers and balcony
And spilled over into the hall.

There were Maroon Eagles
Devils dressed in red and blue,
And orange and black tigers
-AM trying to win a game or two.

The cheerleaders were pretty
And they all were very neat,
As they yelled and did hand springs
And landed on their feet.

Before the games started
Old friends were shaking hands,
Others yelled at their neighbors
Sitting in the crowded stands.

For the Brodhead Invitational
Tournament
Is sort of a community affair,
And people from all over the county
Are always congregating there.

But when the ball is tossed
To start off the game,
The intense rivalry would put
Wildcat and Cardinal rivalry to shame.

For the four county teams
Bring out community pride,
And everyone is yelling
For the boys on their side.

Proud fans, moms and dads
Are cheering their favorites on,
And if things are going bad
You can hear them groan.

But when their team is up
-They're making a lot of noise,
As they exercise their tonsils
Yelling for their boys.

When the games are over
Good sportsmanship shines through,
As cheerleaders and players shake hands
And say, "Good Luck to You."

Satellite TV to broadcast God's will for Christians

A television conference for Christians who want to know God's specific will for their lives will be broadcast by satellite on Saturday, February 12, at the Elkhorn Baptist Association, at 1161 Red Mile Parkway, Lexington, beginning at 11 a.m.

The seven-hour teleconference is sponsored by the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville, TN, and is being broadcast to at least 145 sites across the country. Henry Blackaby and Claude King, authors of the resource, "Experiencing God: Knowing and Doing the Will of God," will lead the teleconference.

The teleconference will be broadcast live from Nashville's Two Rivers Baptist Church.

A time for small-group discussions and prayer will be built into the teleconference time. Participants are expected to bring a sack lunch to the teleconference.

A $25 registration fee for the teleconference includes an "Experiencing God" members book and a three-hole punch notebook. Each viewing site will have "Experiencing God" resources for purchase.

For more information call Bro. Jack Bruce, director of missions for the Rockcastle Baptist Association at 256-4571.

--Gospel singing--

Joyful Noise will be singing at the Sunriss Baptist Church, Sunday, 7:30 p.m. The church is located off Hwy. 39 on the Putaski County line. Sunrise Baptist Church and Joyful Noise invite everyone.

There will be a gospel singing Jan. 28 at 7 p.m. at McNew Chapel on Cove Branch Rd. off 100A. Featured singers will be Cathy Echoes Singer, Bro. Elmer Oakley will be preaching. All singers and public invited.

"Evening and morning and noon, will I pray...and he shall hear my voice."
—Psalm 55:17

More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Let thy voice rise night and day.
—Alfred, Lord Tennyson

GOD WILL LISTEN TO YOUR PRAYER AT ANY TIME OR PLACE

There are many misconceptions about prayer, as well as many misuses of it. Some people think that the only time and place for it is their House of Worship, or at bedtime. The truth is that any time or place is appropriate, because God is always on hand to listen, if the prayer is of the right kind and for any good purpose. A prayer should begin with an expression of gratitude for our blessings. Next, it should never be a "shopping list" of the material things we would like to have, but instead, a plea for the recovery of someone who is ill, the comfort of a person who has just lost a loved one, help for the unemployed, or any number of unselfish requests. We may well find those prayers answered, and possibly receive some unasked for blessings for ourselves.

If you would like to have your church featured just submit the information by noon Tuesday.

County Show: Tuesday, Feb. 24 at 6 p.m., Mt. Vernon Elementary School. Registration deadline: February 22.

Area Show: Saturday, April 23 at 10 a.m. at Clay County High School. Now is the time for 4-Hers to begin their preparation for the county 4-H Variety Show. This event consists of specialty and club acts and is held annually on the county, area, and state level. It provides an opportunity for large number of 4-H participants to gain poise and confidence and develop character and sportsmanship while working cooperatively with others.

Clubs planning to participate need to carefully read over and follow the rules and guidelines.

Specialty Acts shall consist of four (4) 4-H participants or fewer and have a time limit of four minutes. A 4-H club may have up to two specialty acts. Specialty acts will be divided up into junior and senior divisions. Anyone in a specialty act who is 14 years of age by January 1, will be in the senior division.

2. There must be five (5) participants or more for a club act. Club acts have a time limit of eight (8) minutes.
3. Only one person other than 4-H participants, such as a pianist, may accompany the act. Other than the one pianist, only 4-H participants may appear on the stage during the act.

4. Variety Show participants must be a 4-H club member or have participated in 4-H activity since October, 1993, and may only represent one club. 4-Hers belong to two clubs may not be in both clubs' acts.
5. There shall be absolutely no pantomiming in any act, club or specialty.
6. Please use good judgement on dance routines.

7. An act exceeding the time limit should be permitted to finish but cannot be awarded champion.

8. Since participation is of the utmost importance, the combination of clubs for the purpose of presenting a club or specialty act is not permitted.

9. Dramatic readings can be entered as a variety act.

10. All acts must use the same P.A. system. No act will be allowed to provide their own system. A record player and tape recorder will be available and must be used by participants.

11. Leaders must take care of their own music. (Have tapes set at starting points.)

12. Each school will sit together until time for their acts. Club leaders are responsible for keeping their group together and quiet. Parents should be recruited to help as chaperones.

13. Admission will be charged to those who are not participating in acts. Tickets for participants and leaders will be delivered after clubs call in to register their acts. 4-Hers who lose their tickets will have to pay the admission charge.

14. Clubs must register their acts by calling the Extension Office (256-2403) by Tuesday, February 22. No acts that fail to register will be allowed to perform. Registration information will include:

- * Name of act
- * Type of music that will be used (tape, record, piano)
- * Number in the act (need names if specialty act)
- * How many leaders assisted with the act

Ribbons awarded

This year, all acts will receive either a red or blue ribbon according to their score. (No green ribbons will be given.) The first place specialty and club acts will also receive champion ribbons. First and second place acts will receive plaques.

Is It Microwavable?

How many times have you hesitated to put a container in a microwave oven because you weren't sure it was microwave safe?

All glass containers can be used in a microwave using very high heat; thus, it can stand the extreme heat produced in a microwave oven.

Plastic, ceramic and stone ware are made from different types of formulations. This is why some pieces can be used in a microwave and some cannot.

Just because a piece of pottery looks pretty on your table doesn't mean it should be used in a microwave oven. The pottery might not have the right glaze or lead could have been used in the formulation, making it unsafe for microwave use. Avoid plastic, ceramic and stoneware containers that are not identified as microwave-safe.

Here is a procedure to determine if a container is suitable for microwave oven use:

1. Pour one-half cup of water into a glass and set it beside the container to be tested. Microwave them on high for 1 minute. If the container is hot to the touch, don't use it in a microwave oven. A container that feels lukewarm is okay to reheat food, but should not be used to cook food. If the container stays cool, it is safe to cook and reheat food in a microwave oven.

The winter months are a good time to practice your skills in using the microwave.

Appetizers and snack foods are especially easy and quick in the microwave. Here is a recipe of a quick taco dip that makes a quick, filling snack for the whole family:

Taco Dip
1 pound ground beef
1 package taco seasoning
1 can tomato paste or sauce
1/2 cup spaghetti sauce
Shredded cheddar cheese
Brown hamburger and drain, 3-4 minutes on high. In 1 1/2 quart casserole dish combine all ingredients except cheese. Microwave 3-4 minutes on medium high. Stir, cover with cheddar cheese. Microwave for 2 minutes on medium high, or until cheese is melted. Serve with tortilla chips or use as tacos.

For more microwave recipes, contact the Extension office at 256-2403 and ask for the free microwave appetizers and snacks leaflet.

Winter forage meeting

Haystacks are being worked down at the fastest pace of the winter feeding season. Within 12 weeks last summer's hard work will soon be a distant memory.

Now is the time to plan for next year's hay crop. Actions taken in the next few weeks will determine how much hay will be produced or how many acres a mower will have to run across to make the needed hay for 1995's winter.

On Thursday, January 27 at 6:30 p.m., in the Agriculture Service Center Meeting Room, Dr. Jimmy Henning will discuss ways to improve hay production. The university has research trials on clover and alfalfa varieties which can help in selecting which seed to buy. Other questions on Fertility Weed Control and Insect control will also be answered. If you have questions on how to improve forage production on your farm, don't forget Thursday night's forage meeting.

Back-to-basics key to more crop profits

Kentucky tobacco growers face an uphill battle for 1994 crop profits. Getting back to basics will improve the bottom line.

Beyond newly released varieties, growers have little new production technology to enhance profitability," said Bill Maksymowicz, Extension tobacco specialist at the Research and Education Center in Princeton. "However, growers do have access to time-proven management practices to help them increase profitability by boosting the yield per stalk."

"One basic is healthy transplants, the foundation of a profitable crop," he added. "Growers using traditional plastic beds need to be sure they are fumigated properly."

If plastic covers are torn on fall-fumigated beds, re-treat before seeding beds. Growers using Basamid for spring fumigation should read, understand and use the bioassay to check seeding suitability before sowing the bed.

"Sanitation is the most important basic for greenhouse transplant producers as they finalize plans for this spring," Maksymowicz added. "Sanitation remains the cornerstone for a good greenhouse production program."

He gave basic reminders for greenhouse-produced transplants:

- * Don't use or store any herbicide with residual activity in or around a greenhouse. If a greenhouse was used for chemical storage, it is wise to replace all plastic (including the covers) before using the greenhouse this year.

The Mt. Vernon Signal • Thursday, January 27, 1994 • P-85

"Growers who don't have a conductivity meter (DIST-4), should order one. The instrument monitors electrical conductivity to give growers an indication of the fertilizer level in a water.

"It's a fool every greenhouse should have," he said.

"I have water quality tested by a commercial laboratory two to three weeks before seeding."

Some successful direct seeding in outside beds has prompted interest in this method as an alternative to a major investment in a greenhouse, according to Maksymowicz.

He gave basics for growers using a direct-seeded method:

- * Recognize this system substitutes a higher level of management for the expense associated with a greenhouse. Growers who can't be available 24 hours a day to do what needs doing when it needs doing for at least a month after seeding might be setting themselves up for dismal failure.

* Use a germination chamber (100 percent humidity at 72-75 degrees F) for three to four days after seeding to narrow the emergence window and establish uniform seedlings. Do not keep seedlings in the chamber more than four days.

* Have plastic ready to cover beds in case of heavy frost or freeze. Put space heaters and light bulbs in place to protect against early spring cold spells.

Maksymowicz said one final basic that requires immediate attention is a soil test to determine if, and how much, lime is needed to combat manganese toxicity.

The Berea Hospital Board of Directors would like to express appreciation for the hard work and dedication demonstrated by Berea Hospital staff, volunteers and physicians during the recent snowstorm and sub-zero weather. At no time during the state of emergency was medical care unavailable to patients coming to the hospital for care. This was due to the careful planning of hospital managers and to exceptional measures taken by the staff.

The hospital's four wheel drive truck was used to transport nursing staff to and from the hospital. Staff living in areas of difficult access made arrangements to stay with colleagues living in town or slept at the hospital for several nights to make certain that patient care would not be affected by their absence. Several volunteers were able to brave the wintry weather to fulfill their duties at the hospital.

In the face of a dangerous situation, the Berea Hospital staff performed their duties admirably and we salute them for their commitment to the health and safety of our community.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

Jesus said "And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity; so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature: and it is set on fire of hell, for every kind of beasts, and of birds, and of serpents, and of things in the sea is tamed, and hath been tamed of mankind: But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unly evil, full of deadly poison." ch. 3:6-8. The tongue is a very small member of our body, only weighing a few ounces, yet it can get us in BIG trouble, with other people and before the Lord. Jesus said in Mt. 12:37, "for by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." Indeed, our words can condemn our souls to hell, if would let them. Our words can also justify us; by confessing the plan. Rm. 10:9-10, and confessing our sin as erring christians, 1 Jn. 1:7-10; thus, the tongue has a part in our salvation according to God's plan.

Our tongues can be instruments for good, as teaching the gospel Mk. 16:15, or a deadly poison that can be sprayed on those around about us. A wagging tongue can destroy, friendships, families, neighborhoods, even churches, if let to have its free course. As children of God, we must also be on guard about our tongues, for if we fail to bridle the tongue, our religion is but in vain, Jm. 1:26.

Yes, we must seek to control the tongue and keep it in its cage. Lions are under control in a zoo, but open the gate and folks are in trouble. God put a cage about the tongue, it's called the mouth and sometimes we must shut the cage on the tongue and learn to be quiet. "We can't say anything and everything," "slow to speak" (Ch. 1-19) is good advice.

With our tongue we can lie, Eph. 4:25, blaspheme Rm. 14:16, murmur Phil. 2:14, curse Jm. 3:9-10, slander or gossip, Eph. 4:30, swear Jm. 5:12, bite and devour Gal. 5:14-15, wrath Mt. 5:21-22, contentious and strife 1 Tim. 6:4, filthy language Eph 4:29, Col. 3:8, dirty jokes and dirty talk Eph. 5:4, flattery 1 Thes. 2:5, boasting Jm. 4:16, mocking 11 Pet. 3:3, and other things.

Let's use our tongues in a constructive way to edify, Eph. 4:29. When we misuse the tongue, let's repent and seek God's forgiveness. The tongue must be controlled by God's word in our heart and lives.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown us in the loss of our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother, Mrs. Geneva Harper. Especially comforting were the appropriate scriptural passages and the kind personal memories related by Bros. Miles King of Russellville, Arkansas and Zade McClure, pastor of the Blue Springs Church of Christ, who conducted the funeral service. Equally consoling was the message by Bro. Bill Ferguson of the Church of Christ in West Chester, Ohio where a beautiful memorial service was held Sunday, January 16, following interment the previous day at McKinney

Cemetery in Rockcastle County. We appreciate the beautiful and inspiring hymns; the many friends who called, sent flowers, provided the delicious food for our guests, and the numerous other ways in which our grief was shared and our burden made lighter. Our gratitude for the Cox Funeral Home is literally boundless. The efficient, sympathetic manner in which our every wish was carried out shall be forever remembered and appreciated. God Bless All. The bereaved family.

We would like to take this time to thank all our friends, neighbors and churches for the help and prayers during the loss of our mother, Beatrice Moore. We thank everyone for the food, flowers, cards, and phone calls. We especially thank Hospice for all their help that made it possible Mom could stay in our home, Jackie especially, we thank Bro. Shivel and Bro. Abney for their kindness and consoling words. Also, we thank Regina and Cookie who sang, May God bless and be with each of you. Our thanks forever, the family of Beatrice Moore.

In loving memory of Geneva Mae Harper who passed away January 12, 1994.

Her body lies there sleeping beneath a mound of clay, But mama isn't really there, She just up and flew away! She soared into the heavens with the angels by her side And Jesus stood there waiting to welcome her inside; While those of us here below so wracked with grief and pain, Often feel, if God should grant, we'd call her back again. But we'll stop dreaming idle dreams of one who's made it home And when we gather 'round the throne, Sadly missed by all who knew and loved her.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY PROPOSED ENVIRONMENTAL SURCHARGE

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on January 20, 1994, Kentucky Utilities Company ("KU") filed with the Kentucky Public Service Commission (the "Commission") in Case No. 93-465 an Application pursuant to Kentucky Revised Statutes 278.183 for authorization to implement an environmental surcharge for customer bills rendered on and after August 1, 1994 in accordance with proposed Rate Schedule ES. KU is requesting the Commission to approve Rate Schedule ES. This tariff contains the environmental surcharge ratemaking formula and other terms and conditions which, if approved, will allow KU to apply a surcharge to all customer bills rendered on and after August 1, 1994 to recover the cost of complying with the Federal Clean Air Act and other federal, state or local environmental requirements which apply to coal combustion wastes and by-products from facilities utilized for production of energy from coal in accordance with KU's compliance plan.

The full terms and conditions and ratemaking formula of proposed Rate Schedule ES are set forth below:

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE ES ENVIRONMENTAL SURCHARGE

- Billings computed pursuant to rate schedules to which this Environmental Surcharge is applicable shall be increased or decreased during each month by the following Environmental Surcharge Factor:

$$\text{Environmental Surcharge Factor} = \frac{E(m)}{R(m)}$$

Where "E(m)" is the revenue requirement of environmental compliance costs for the current expense month, and "R(m)" is the revenue for the current expense month as set forth below.

- The revenue requirement of environmental compliance costs ("E") shall be the actual recorded costs for the current expense month determined as follows:

$$E(m) = RB / 12 [ROR + (ROR-DR) \frac{(TR)}{(1-TR)}] + PCOE$$

Where:

RB - Rate base (construction and other capital expenditures) including net plant for completed facilities, construction work in progress ("CWIP") for facilities under construction, inventories, supplies and working cash items, deferred income taxes and deferred investment tax credits required for the operation of the facilities.

ROR - Rate of Return as determined by Commission Order.

PCOE - Pollution Control Operating Expenses; Includes:

- OM- operation and maintenance expenses over and above a 12-month base period ended December 31, 1994.
- DE- depreciation expense.
- OT- property and other applicable taxes.
- I- insurance.

TR - Composite Federal and State income tax rate.

DR - Embedded interest rate as included in ROR.

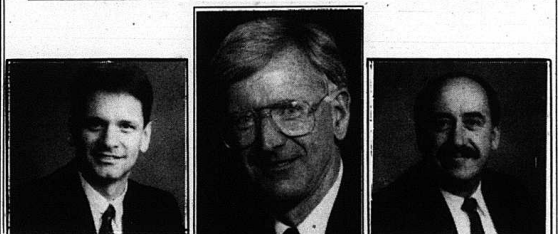

- Revenue "R(m)" is the average monthly revenue, including base and fuel adjustment revenues, for the Company for the 12 months ending with the current expense month.
- Current expense month "m" shall be the second month preceding the month in which the Environmental Surcharge is billed.
- As used herein, the term "environmental compliance costs" are those costs defined in KRS 278.183(1).
- This rate schedule shall apply to Kentucky Utilities Company Electric Rate Schedules RS, FERS, GS, CWH, 33, AES, LP, LCI-TOD, HLF, MP, LMP-TOD, M, ST.LT., DEC. ST.LT., P.O.L.T., C.O.L.T., SEASONAL/TEMPORARY SERVICE RIDER, and WESTVACO.

The Rate Schedule contained in this Notice is the Rate Schedule proposed by KU. However, the Public Service Commission may order a Rate Schedule to be used that is different from this proposed Rate Schedule. Such action may result in an environmental surcharge for consumers other than the environmental surcharge in this Notice.

Any corporation, association, body politic or person may, by motion within thirty (30) days after publication or mailing of notice of the proposed environmental surcharge schedule, request leave to intervene in Case No. 93-465. That motion shall be submitted to the Public Service Commission, 730 Schenck Lane, P.O. Box 613, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, and shall set forth the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party.

Intervenor may obtain copies of the Application and testimony by contacting Kentucky Utilities Company at One Quality Street, Lexington, Kentucky, attention Robert M. Hewitt. A copy of the Application and testimony is available for public inspection at KU's district offices where bills are paid.
