Lakota By: Melissa French

Mrs. Clark's 5th period science class has sponsored a wolf named Lakota. Lakota is a wolf who is staying at the Wolf Education and Research Center. He is a friendly wolf. Many wolves are friendly even though many people think wolves will hurt you. But you should be relieved. They won't hurt you or anyone. Wolves like Lakota are rather smart. Lakota enjoys twirling animals legs up in the air. So now you know wolves are nice and won't hurt you. So maybe you might want to go out and sponsor your own wolf.

Adoption By: Rachell Riddle

Mrs. Clark's 4th grade class has been collecting pennies for several days. We decided to spend our money on adopting a whale. We saved up $25 and spent $20 on a whale. We got the idea by looking in a magazine article. At that point we didn't know what kind of whales we would choose from.

We got a packet of important information on whales Monday, January 10. Our whole class looked at an article found in the packet. The whale we would adopt would be a humpback whale. The article gave the whale's names and information about each whale and information about humpback whales. The whale names we voted between were Ivory --a female and a mother of five, Midnight--a young female that the article said was romantic and waiting for her knight in shining armor. We voted, Ivory got 2 votes and Midnight had 18. We adopted Midnight and will be getting information about her.

Other interesting facts about humpback whales are they like jumping in the air. Humpback whales are filter feeders--they filter water to get their food. They use fine teeth called baleen to filter out plankton. Baleen whales also eat small fish.

Spend a royal evening with KET

Britain's House of Windsor and its matriarch, the Queen Mother, are the subjects of two programs on KET Wednesday, February 9.

The first, The House of Windsor, airing on KET at 8 p.m., focuses on the continuation of the house of Windsor rather than on the scandals that have beset it. In a century when mo-

European royal families have ceased to exist, the Windsors have managed to adapt to changing times. The name "Windsor" itself is the result of a clever public relations tactic employed in 1917 to counter the anti-German sentiment in England during World War I. The family name originally was Saxe-Coburg.

KET brings All "A" Classic to TV

In cooperation with WKYT-TV/Lexington and WYMT-TV/Hazard, KET will broadcast the finals of the high-school boys' basketball tournament featuring Kentucky's smaller schools. The Kentucky All "A" Classic airs live on KET at 3 p.m. Sunday, February 6.

Meet the ultimate diving machine

Nature "Elephant Seals; these Magnificent Diving Machines" tells the story of the northern elephant seal. It airs on KET at 8 p.m. Sunday, February 8.

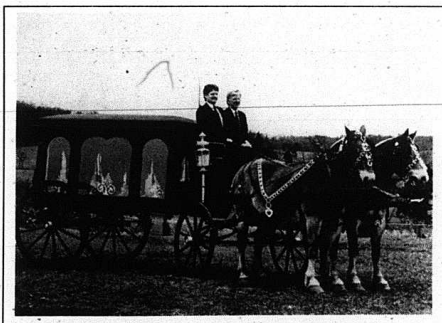

This mammal, the largest, most powerful pinniped, is distinguished by the male's elongated, trunk-like nose. It is often seen on beaches from Mexico to Alaska.

Girls rout Paris, 73-34

The Rockcastle Lady Rockets defeated the Paris Lady Hounds Monday night, easily gaining their eighth win on the season, 73-34.

It was all Rockcastle from the start as the Lady Rockets went on a 7-0 run to begin the game.

Senior Cindy McCauley topped off the 7-0 run for the Lady Rockets with a three point bomb from the corner.

The Lady Hounds then called a time-out to try and regroup, but to no avail as the Lady Rockets applied a full court press and stayed ahead of Paris, ending the first quarter 21-7.

Paris scored first in the second quarter, cutting the Rocket lead by two, 21-9.

Junior Heather Deckard answered the Paris score with a bucket of her own, extending the lead back to fourteen, 23-9.

Junior Melinda Smith came up with four steals in a row for the Lady Rockets, as did freshman Suzie Carpenter with three.

The Lady Rockets had ten of their thirty-two steals in the second quarter, converting them into nine points.

A lay-up by freshman Amy Robinson gave the Lady Rockets their half-time lead of twenty seven, 41-14.

The Lady Rockets had no mercy for the struggling Lady Hounds as they came back out in the third quarter ready to play.

The first basket of the second half saw McCauley with a perfect "dish" to senior center Janetta McLemore for the easy under-the-basket bucket.

Good pressure defense by junior Becky Osborne and McLemore caused Paris to turnover the basketball, in turn giving the Lady Rockets their biggest lead of the game at thirty-one, 41-16.

Rockcastle kept going, improving their lead by forty-one on a bucket by Robinson, 59-18.

The fourth quarter saw Coach Christi Beaver give her starters a rest and her underclassmen some experience at the varsity level, with several seeing action.

Twelve of the Lady Rockets scored in the game, with the underclassmen contributing twenty-seven of the seventy-three points scored for the Lady Rockets.

The underclassmen kept the game alive for the Lady Rockets, keeping a big lead, ending the game with a thirty-nine point lead, 73-34.

The Lady Rockets are now eight and eight on the season, once again attaining the .500 mark.

Senior Cindy McCauley has been recognized as the fifth best rebounder in the state last week. She was also eleventh in total points scored. McCauley was the high point man for the Lady Rockets in Monday night's action with 27, and had the game high thirteen rebounds.

The Lady Rockets travel to North Laurel Friday night in a double-header with the boys varsity.

Homecoming is this Saturday night, when the Lady Rockets and Rockets face off against Bell County in what should be two good games.

Junior Heather Deckard takes the ball to the goal in Monday night's action against the Paris Hounds. The Lady Rockets handily defeated the Lady Hounds 73-34.

Rockets lose last three games

The Rockcastle Rockets faced a tough Madison Southern team Saturday night, falling short of the victory 75-55.

Southern raced out to a quick 7-0 lead, as the Rockets could not grab a basket until the five minute mark, when senior Mickey McClure scored the first two points for the Rockets, 7-2.

The Eagles scored again, 9-2, but a good effort by junior Ken Hopkins cut the lead to five again, 9-4. A bucket and a foul by sophomore Eric McGuire gave the Eagles their biggest lead in the early game, 12-4.

McClure kept the Rockets alive, though, in the first quarter, scoring the final five points for the Rockets before the break, sending them into the second quarter down by only six, 15-9.

McClure scored immediately in the second quarter, cutting the Eagle lead to four, 15-11. The Eagles answered McClure's shot with one of their own, 17-11.

Senior Aaron Cox cut the Southern lead to only two, 19-17, but that was the closest the Rockets would get to the Eagles, as they did not score again in the first half. The Rockets went into the locker room at half time down by fourteen, 31-17.

An exchange of turnovers opened up the third quarter, but the Eagles managed to score first, extending their lead to sixteen, 33-17.

to machines and don't get many visitors. Most of the patient's families live so far away that it is unable to visit them more than a couple a times a year. How would you feel if, you had no one spending time with you when you are in the hospital?

Some of the things our class did was to decorate miniature Christmas trees and deliver them to the patient's rooms. We put together artificial flower arrangements in vases with bows and tags and delivered these to the patients. (Thank you to all the teachers and staff at M.V.E.S. who brought us vases so we could do this. Also, thank you to Cox's Flower Shop who gave us the plastic sticks to hold the cards we made!)

One day we read storybooks to some of the younger patients. They enjoyed this so much, they didn't want to go to school.

We were shy in the beginning of our work there but after getting used to it, we began to enjoy our visits and feel we were doing something very worthwhile. Our last day there, Tammy arranged a reception for us and delivered them to the patient's rooms. We were so proud to be there, we received a poem created especially for us, and awarded us certificates of appreciation. They also had a reception with cookies and punch. We want to thank you for this special time we had there.

It was wonderful to accomplish with this letter is a challenge to people and organizations in the community to begin donating your time to one or more of the patients there at the Respite Care Unit. All it takes is one hour per week talking with or reading stories to a patient there. You would help to make their lives more enjoyable. You'd be letting them know that there are people in the community who care about others. The most surprising thing that you'd learn from giving of your time is how good it will make you feel about yourself.

Sincerely,

Freshman Suzie Carpenter and junior Melinda Smith apply the pressure to a Lady Hound.

Senior Mickey McClure scores two of his game high thirty-eight points in Tuesday night's action against the Warriors.

"Rockets"

It was downhill from there for the Rockets as they went several minutes without scoring, giving the Eagles the opportunity to go ahead by twenty-three at one point, 40-17.

Sophomores Eric McGuire and Eddie Todd gave 110% for the Rockets during the third quarter, but to no avail as Madison Southern kept the heat on, doubling the Rockets score, 50-25, in the last few minutes of the third quarter.

The Rockets reduced the Southern lead to twenty, as senior Brian Carter dished in the last five points for the Rocket effort, 50-30.

The third quarter ended on a sour note for the Rockets as a Madison Southern Eagle hit a last second shot from 25 feet out, extending the Eagle lead by three, 53-30.

The fourth quarter saw Coach Clayton Cash give the underclassmen a chance to prove their mettle, and they did.

Sophomore Dallas Riggsby, who has seen limited action at the varsity level, showed his ability to hustle and score, adding nine points to the Rocket effort.

The underclassmen did not give up, however, and impressively cut the Madison Southern lead of thirty, 70-40, by ten at the final buzzer, 75-55.

Madison Southern handed the Rockets their twelfth loss of the season, a day after Whitley County also beat the Rockets.

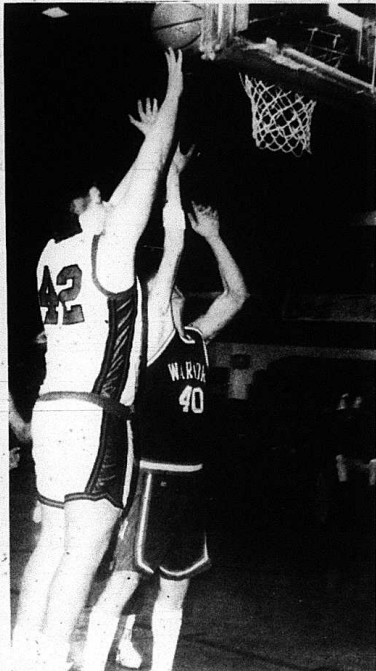

Mickey McClure had an impressive game as usual, ending the night with 18 points. Sophomore starter Eric McGuire was the only other Rocket to score in double figures with 11 points.

The Rockets played host Tuesday night to the newly formed Southwestern Pulaski Warriors, coming short of the win, 101-82.

Senior J.D. Bussell had a big night for the Rockets as he had a season high 21 points.

Bussell hit several key three-point-

Sophomore Eddie Todd puts up two for the Rockets but did not get the score after a Warrior goal tended the ball and the call was not made. ers throughout the game, keeping the Rockets close in the first half.

Mickey McClure also had a big night, not uncommon for McClure, as he scored the game high of 38 points.

The closest the Rockets got to the Warriors in the second half was during the fourth quarter when they maintained a twelve/thirteen point deficit during the first few minutes.

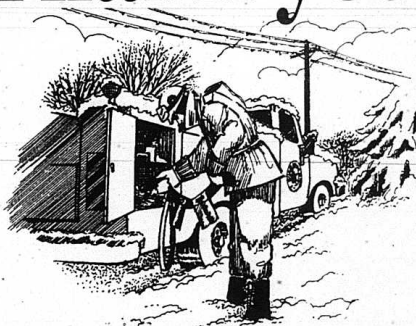

The Warriors were not to be stopped, however, and went on to break the century mark against the Rockets, ending the game with a nineteen point lead, 101-82.

Thank you

for pulling together
when things got tough

While Kentucky was still digging out of the heavy snow, an arctic blast plunged temperatures well below zero—and KU customers set a new winter record for electricity demand.

Although the heavy demand for energy during the severe cold created difficulties for many utility companies in the region, KU met your energy needs. And we owe thanks...

- to you, our customers, for using energy wisely during the record cold, ensuring there would be enough power for everyone.
- to all KU employees—from the people at the power plants to customer operations and support staff—who bravely fought the elements to maintain service to KU customers, transported medical supplies and personnel, and delivered food.

Thanks to all of you, we got through it. And remember, whatever the weather, service to you is our top priority at KU.

Dear Editor,
Governor Jones would do well to take a lesson from his fellow Democrat, Pennsylvania Governor Bob Casey, who refused the Clinton Administration's request to use state funds to pay for abortions. His actions have been greeted by shock in Washington, D.C., where bureaucrats and politicians are used to the rest of the country meekly following their latest directions: "Don't pray in school," "Give homosexuals special rights," "Elevate abortion to a constitutional right," etc.

Each outrage of the last 35 years has been pushed on every community, neighborhood and individual regardless of their values or most deeply held beliefs. No one in Washington ever thought about the possibility that the people in small towns, through their state and local leaders, might just say "No." Washington bureaucrats are at this moment threatening to cut off several billion dollars of Federal aid from "renegade" Pennsylvania. Governor Casey is still not budging. Maybe he is more worried about his soul than he is about Bill Clinton. That is revolutionary.

Sincerely,

Phyllis Rogers, Lexington, Ky.

IN MEMORY OF

In Memory of our dear beloved mother,

Remember me when I am gone. I imagine a world where no music was playing.

And think of a church with nobody praying.

If you've seen a red rose Unkissed by the dew. Then you've seen a picture Of us without you.

And you picture Heaven With no angels singing, Or a quiet Sunday morning With no church bells ringing. If you were watched as the heart Of a person breaks in two. Then you've seen a picture Of us without you.

Mom: I miss you more than ever. Now that I am living here again. Just seems away from you should be here too. We dearly love you Your loving children of the squads involved. I wish to commend the tournament, management on their handling of the activities. Besides the first place trophy, the Lincoln County squad was awarded individual charms which they very much appreciated.

I just want to take this means to acknowledge the hospitality that was afforded us by everyone involved. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Belinda Thompson

Dear Editor,
Thank you so much for extending my subscription beyond my expiration date. Most papers would have sent me a reminder and then dropped me from the mailing list, but you continued to send me the paper. I promise to do better in the future.

If you were as interested in the flight of the Hilton's Earthwinds balloon, as the media was out here, you might like to know I saw it as it passed over Carson City

I don't know the dimensions of the balloon but I think I won't even venture a guess as to their altitude but it was not very high.

I can't read a newspaper without reading glasses but I have exceptionally good distance vision. It was directly over head and what I saw was a large white round object that seemed to be made of nylon or some such material. The way the light was hitting the bottom, I could actually see the seams that gave it its shape and I could hear the motor of the compressor that they use to adjust the compressed air in the ballast balloon.

The temperature was in the mid twenties and I was just getting over a severe cold, so I went inside and waited again. Just seems away from me. When I looked again I could see that it was two balloons about the same size one directly over the other, but I never did see the cables that lashed them together nor the capsule the men were riding in because it was still too close to me.

Frankly, I looked to me, to be too fragile to go around the world in, as they hope to do.

Earthwinds might be a good name for it, but I think a more appropriate name would be Baron's Folly.

Sincerely yours,

Janita Reveley Carson City, Nevada

THANK GOD FOR THE MANY GOOD DEEDS OF OUR VOLUNTEERS

With all the evil in this world, there is also a lot of good; and there is no finer example of it than the volunteers. These are the people who may be very busy, but are nonetheless willing to give of their time and talents to some worthy cause they believe in. They may be the Pink Ladies (or whatever they're called) at the hospital, the museum docents, the helpers at the library, the wildlife species, or those in other areas of endeavor. At your House of Worship, which may also need some volunteer assistance, thank God for those unselfish, dedicated people who ask nothing in return but the success of their efforts. If you are able to, you might consider becoming a volunteer for some cause. There is no better way to feel good about yourself.

If you would like to have your church featured just submit the information by noon Tuesday.

Legislative Update

By Rep. Danny Ford

The winter storm that blasted Kentucky last week buried the state in nearly two feet of snow and set record low temperatures. This deep freeze caused the Governor to declare a state of emergency which shut down schools, businesses, interstates and other major roadways. The state is finally thawing, and after a week's delay, members of the 1994 General Assembly, like fellow Kentuckians, are feverishly back to work in an attempt to make-up for lost time.

On Monday, the Governor proposed a state budget of 12 billion dollars for the next two fiscal years. In his budget address, the Governor outlined a spending plan that includes major construction projects, increased funding for vocational education, and full funding for Family Resource and Youth Service Centers. The budget plan proposes increased services for the mentally ill, and reform in the welfare and health care systems. The Governor spoke about additional money for state park projects, the retention of more coal severance tax dollars to coal producing counties, and improvements in the areas of agriculture, roads, economic development, and environmental protection.

The Governor's speech, while optimistic, gave a financial forecast that left many lawmakers scratching their heads in bewilderment. While the spending side of the Governor's budget proposes funding increases and new projects for most state programs, the revenue side, the source of tax dollars to pay for these programs, is very questionable. In fact, the chairman of the Appropriations and Revenue Committee has stated that the Governor's budget is 225 million dollars out of balance over the biennium.

In order to raise the money necessary to fund his budget, the Governor is asking the General Assembly to make "technical corrections" in the severance and sales tax laws. These proposed technical corrections will raise an additional 69 million dollars each year. I'm not overly familiar with the term "technical corrections" but it sounds to me an awful lot like a tax increase, and I'm opposed to tax increases.

The Governor's budget also fails to account for the fact that the state will likely lose 20 to 40 million dollars depending on the outcome of a lawsuit by federal government retirees seeking refunds on tax payments declared unconstitutional. Retirees drawing private pensions have also filed a lawsuit asking for the same tax exempt status enjoyed by persons drawing government pensions. This lawsuit, which may expect to be successful, could cost the state 50 to 60 million dollars annually.

Finally, the provider tax that is levied against doctors, hospitals, and other medical providers to fund indigent health care has been declared unconstitutional by the Franklin Circuit Court. This legal ruling will cost the state 600 million dollars each year if it is not overturned by a higher court, or unless another revenue source is found to fund medical care for the poor. I believe the legislature must take a hard look at ways to eliminate waste, control costs and better manage the Medicaid program.

The Governor's budget includes programs to prevent crime, improve roads and attract jobs to Kentucky. I am hopeful that these programs can be funded, but it would be irresponsible for me and the rest of the General Assembly to enact the Governor's budget until we are certain that it is based on a sound financial foundation.

In the weeks ahead, legislators will be placing the Governor's proposed budget plan under the microscope. I believe solid efforts must be made to end deficit spending, and I can only echo again my strong support for measures to cut spending and to balance the budget without increased taxation.

Shepherd case to grand jury

By: Richard Anderkin
A Rockcastle County Grand Jury will hear testimony from a Kentucky state police investigator concerning the August 8 shooting death of Gary Shepherd of Brodhead.

Shepherd was shot by members of the KSP special response team, while he guarded his pot patch on the Pur Rigby road, that Sunday afternoon.

The testimony the grand jury will hear is the findings of a recently completed KSP internal investigation into Shepherd's death, according to KSP Capt. Rodney Brewer.

As to whether there was any wrongdoing by police will be decided by the grand jury and the findings made public after the review, which, according to Brewer, is a standard part of any internal investigation.

The shooting gained state and national attention after Shepherd was shot to death in the driveway of his home.

According to police, Shepherd was guarding about 50 marijuana plants near his mobile home when members of the governor's marijuana strike force told him they were going to cut the marijuana down.

Police have contended that Shepherd told them they would have to kill him first.

At the time of the shooting, Shepherd, a Vietnam veteran, was carrying an assault rifle, but he never fired it.

Police say they shot Shepherd after he walked toward them carrying the assault rifle.

Shepherd's friends and family members became enraged by the shooting, saying that police murdered

Shepherd in cold blood. Shepherd was shot less than one hour after police negotiators arrived on the scene.

In September, a peace rally was held on the steps of the Rockcastle

Two arrested after stolen trucks found

Two men, one from London and one from Florida, are in jail this week after being arrested Sunday morning for receiving stolen property.

According to Sheriff Deputy Darryl Doan, Gary Brewer, 46, of London and Wendell David Hicks, 34, of Oxford, Florida were arrested at the home of Billy Ray Moore on Maple Grove Road.

The two were charged with receiving two semi-trucks and three trailers that were stolen from different locations during January.

Henry Hines, owner of Hines Trucking, said that his rig was stolen while it sat at the Derby City Truck Stop in Renfro Valley, sometime early Sunday morning. The other truck and two trailers are thought to have been stolen from the Atlanta area.

"My rig had out of state tags on it and I'm sure they didn't know it was locally owned," Hines said.

Hines said that Hicks and Brewer told police that he (Hines) paid them to steal his rig and destroy it. "I've courthouse to protest Shepherd's death and promote the legalization of hemp. The speakers including Gatewood Galbraith, a former Kentucky gubernatorial candidate, who thinks that it should be agree to take a lie detector test to prove them wrong," Hines said.

No arrests have been made for the thefts of the tractors and trailers. Brewer is being held in the Laurel Detention Center. According to officials at the Laurel County Detention Center, Brewer was allowed no bond and is being held for FBI investigation.

Hicks is being held in the Rockcastle County jail and will have a legal to grow and use marijuana. According to one legal authority once the grand jury hears the evidence from the state police's investigation, they (the grand jury) may want to call other witnesses to testify.

preliminary hearing on Feb. 9.

He is being held on a $15,000 cash or property bond and his case has been transferred to the Rockcastle Grand Jury.

Investigating the thefts were State Trooper Danny Trosher, Bill Riley and Gary Lane; Sheriff Shirley Smith; deputies Leonard Miller and Darryl Doan and Mt. Vernon City Policeman Mike Peters.

For the farmers

Deadline extended

Rockcastle County producers are urged to report any changes in their farm operations which could affect any program benefits in 1994.

In order to help producers get full program benefits farm records must be up-to-date.

If a farm will have a new owner or operator effective for 1994, or if a change is made in the operation of an existing farm unit, producers should contact their local ASCS Office.

Requests to combine farms or divide a farm should be made as early as possible because reconstitutions (farm combinations/farm divisions) require special processing as well as county committee approval.

Any changes in land owned or operated should be reported to ASCS as soon as possible.

Report operation changes

The comment period on the proposal prohibiting excessive manufacturing allowances in State marketing orders for milk has been extended from January 31 to April 1.

Under the proposal, States, to be in compliance, would require plants to pay a price for milk used in the production of cheese or butter and non-fat dry milk that is no less than the respective Class III or Class III-Prize effective in the Federal Milk Order operating in the competitive area.

Written comments must be received by April 1, 1994 to be considered. Comments should be addressed to: Dr. Charles N. Shaw, Director, Dairy Analysis Division, ASCS-USDA, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, DC 20013.

Support prices announced

The support prices for wool and mohair for 1993 marketings will be $2.04 per pound for shorn wool and $4.738 per pound for mohair, according to Hampton Henton, Jr., ASCS State Executive Director.

"Mohair is being supported at 85 percent of the percentage of parity at which shorn wool is being supported," Henton said. "Wool on unshorn lambs will be supported as in the past, at a level determined by a formula based on the hundredweight of live, unshorn lambs marketed."

The deadline for filing 1993 receipts to qualify for a 1993 price support payment is March 1, 1994. To qualify for price support payments, wool and mohair producers are required to certify that they are in compliance with the highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions.

ASCs encourages producers to bring in their 1993 sales receipts as soon as possible.

Little League sign-up note

If you sign up your child for the Little League program this weekend, please remember that children must be five-years-old by August 1 to participate.

Mary Jane Jones, girlfriend of Gary Shepherd, held his picture during the September Peace Rally held in Mt. Vernon.

"Snow" unemployment claim deadline is Friday

Kentuckians seeking unemployment insurance benefits for the week of Jan. 16 - 22 because the winter snow storm kept them from working must file a claim by Feb. 4.

Thousands of Kentuckians have filed claims since the Kentucky Department for Employment Services announced that people who were not paid for work time lost because their employers closed or they were unable to get to their jobs during the inclement weather may be eligible for UI benefits. As a result, local employment services offices have been working overtime to process the claims, said Margaret Whitte, commissioner of the department.

"The department cannot take claims for the snow week after Feb. 4 because Kentucky Administrative Regulation prohibits backdating a claim beyond that date," Whitte said.

"Some local offices may still have extended hours to serve people, if it is necessary. For more information on office hours, contact the office in your area or check for extended hours in the media reports

In addition, Feb. 5 is the last day jobs Kentuckians who have exhausted their regular unemployment insurance benefits can establish a new claim for emergency extension pay. Whitte said. This provision was included in the latest amendment of the emergency Unemployment Compensation Act of 1991, signed by President Clinton on Nov. 24, 1993.

"Under the act, individuals who exhaust their regular unemployment benefits the week ending Jan. 30, 1994, or before, may file for the emergency benefits," Whitte said.

"However, if anyone is eligible for new regular unemployment insurance benefits, emergency benefits cannot be paid to that person.

The last week of unemployment for which emergency benefits can be paid on claims started before Feb. 5 is April 30, 1994.

"Anyone who thinks he or she may be eligible for either the 'snow' week pay or emergency benefits should contact a local employment services office.

New industry for county may soon be a reality

A data processing firm that could eventually employ as many as 100 people may soon begin operations in Rockcastle County.

William Deaton, owner of Image Entry, a London based data processing, has told members of the Rockcastle Industrial Authority and Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary Cromer that he will likely expand his operation, with a plant at the Rockcastle Industrial Park.

John Clontz, chairman of the local industrial authority said that members of the industrial authority have voted to help Image Entry with a reimbursement for rent, if Deaton does decide to expand his operation.

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court will likely pass a resolution Thursday (today) giving their best wishes to the project. "We all are hoping that this thing gets off the ground, it will be a great help to the local economy," said County Judge-Executive Buzz Carlolis.

Gilpatrick trial set for April 25

The much talked about, long awaited murder trial of Allen Gilpatrick of Mt. Vernon has been rescheduled for April 25.

Gilpatrick is accused of killing his wife, Virginia, in February of 1993 in their Mt. Vernon home. The trial will be held in Pulaski County.

Too general?

We were evidently too general in last week's front page headline about the Ramsey insurance scam when we referred to the local family as a "clan."

Frank Ramsey, an out-of-state subscriber called to take us to task about the usage.

We intended for "clan" to refer only to the local family involved.

Dooley gets prison term

James Franklin Dooley, 40, of Mt. Vernon was sentenced 2 1/2 years in the state penitentiary on January 15, by Circuit Judge William T. Cain.

Dooley pleaded guilty to cultivating marijuana over five plants.

According to David Tapp, assistant commonwealth's attorney who handled the case, the cultivation charge stemmed from an investigation conducted by the sheriff's office and the Kentucky State Police following an anonymous call reporting the discovery of a booby-trapped marijuana plot near Crooked Creek.

A marijuana eradication team sent to the area discovered several hundred marijuana plants being cultivated outdoors and within a sophisticated indoor growing operation. Police also disarmed an explosive booby-trap

Joe Lambert, Danny Ford unopposed

Kentucky Supreme Court Justice Joe Lambert and State Representative Danny Ford, both of Mt. Vernon will run unopposed in this May's primary election.

Lambert will keep his seat on the state's highest court for another eight years, representing Kentucky's Third Supreme Court District.

Lambert, 45, was elected to the supreme court in 1985 when he overwhelmingly defeated Laurel County Circuit Judge Charles Luker. Lambert began his law practice in 1975 when he joined his father, former Rockcastle County Attorney, James W. Lambert.

Lambert, at 37, was the youngest person ever elected to the high court when he defeated Luker in 1986.

The Supreme Court Justice is married to the former Debra Hembree and they have two sons. Mrs. Lambert is also a practicing attorney in Mt. Vernon.

Ford, 41, a Republican, is an owner of Ford Bros. Inc. a Mt. Vernon-based realty and auction company.

He will begin his eighth term as Kentucky's 80th district representative when he is sworn in next January.

Ford is currently serving as a Republican Minority Whip, a post he has held since 1993 and he serves on the powerful appropriations and revenue committee.

Ford's district includes all of Rockcastle County, 80% of McCreaty county, six precincts in Wayne County and eleven precincts in Pulaski County.

Editorial writers, columnists, meteorologists and run-of-the-mill reporters from newspapers, radio and television stations all over the Great South and the Industrial Midwest have organized a telethon to see which one can aggravate me the most. All of them say they want to know what happened.

I get calls in the middle of the night from radio talk show hosts. Television weather people take great delight in reminding me that the woolly worm weather forecast called for a mild winter and then they want to get into a precise definition of "mild."

"How close," they want to know, was the recent blizzard to mild? On a scale of 1 to 10, how mild was the month of January? I swear to you, I was asked that question in those very words by one hardnosed investigator from a station in Cincinnati. I told him to go spend a month on the North Pole then come back and decide for himself.

It makes no difference that the weather forecasting team from the National Association of Woolly Worm Winter Weather Watchers (NAWWWW) have been pretty much on the money over the last ten years. It makes no difference that they called two white Christmases months in advance.

It makes no difference that meteorologists on radio and television expect somebody to take them out to dinner everytime they make a correct forecast. On the Sunday before our recent blizzard, for example, Lexington television stations were forecasting freezing rain and up to 3 inches of snow by Monday evening. We got up to 3 inches on Fairview Ridge. In fact we got almost up to my -- how can I be polite here? -- the top of my straddle in a few places.

All of which is beside the point. And the point is that NAWWWWW, despite hailing the White Christmas right on the nose, did call for a mostly mild January. In fact, we had five days of what I would call mild weather during the month. The rest was whatever the opposite of mild is.

Of course everyone is wanting to know how the rest of the winter is going to be. All I know to do is stick with the original forecast. The next six weeks should be fairly mild with a few intermittent short cold spells thrown in. Mild means daytime highs in the forties or better with lows in the mid twenties. A short cold spell is two or three days in a row with temperatures down in the low teens to zero at night with day time temps in the twenties.

Mild also means more snow than rain over the next few weeks.

However, the original NAWWWWW forecast was called for the worst weather of the year to happen sometime after the first of March. At this writing, I doubt that we'll see anything as bad as the January Blizzard again this season but I do expect a major snow to hit sometime between early March and mid April. I doubt that we'll get several days of sub-zero temperatures to go with it, but I do expect more than a foot of snow and I won't be surprised at all if total accumulation exceeds the January storm.

I want to thank all of you who sent me a birthday card. I left it, my birthday card, last month when we quit January.

It was nice to be remembered by my former bosses, Jack and Carolyn Hall who owned the Citizen. I don't guess I made too many mistakes else they wouldn't have thought of me, or it could have been because they thought of all the goof's I made!

Taking up where I left off last week about Sam Colville's resolution for the New Year, and Kaye Williams giggling behind his back because Sam had said his resolution was to grow more hair on his head (none up there now) than he did last year.

When Sam walked away, I turned to Kay and said, "Well, Kaye, lets have a resolution from you."

"I'm going to smile more on my job this coming year and make everybody feel good for coming in here," she said.

"With the good job you should be handling all that green stuff, you should be very happy," I laughed at her.

"That's the trouble, it's always somebody else's money, not mine."

I left the bank hurriedly before I might run into Fred Williams, bank president. He'd be sure to make me a resolution which might be about me such as saying, "I'm going to tell the cashiers to watch the balance on your account. It falls mighty low sometimes."

Brother Stephen Cole, our former pastor at Callice Baptist Church last year, had a small Christmas party given for him in December, but I want to tell him, and wife Shirley, that John and I were at the beginning of our winter sickness so we were unable to attend.

Of course, I was thinking of all the refreshments they probably would have.

I think Mackie Lamb ate all his part as well as mine.

Bad luck really happened to Earl and Katie Hammond as they drove up to the Berea Hospital to check on some heart pains that Katie had begun to have.

As she started to step out, her foot slipped and down she went, tearing ligaments and rebreaking the leg she had been getting over.

So Katie was rushed to the hospital at Corbin near where their son lives. Earl could stay with the family. He was upset because he didn't want to be away from home as he had been in poor health himself.

The last news I heard from them was that Katie was getting better and it might be they would come home soon. Russell Robinson said he had talked to Earl on the phone a time or two lately.

Henry Voltmer called us from Indiana about what a bad snow they had up there and to wish us a Happy New Year.

I'm back in the house (or kitchen) with a table as my desk. Sometimes I have to push aside a bowl of left over gravy (John's favorite food) and I worry that some of the pages of my column may have sorghum molasses on one, or apple jelly, and the office force, up at the Signal, got all sticky when they try to put pages together.

Oh boy, I can't wait for my former boss, Richard, at the paper to get honey all over his hands (where John had honey for breakfast).

I don't know if Richard Anderklin is a "cussing sort of fellow or not but you can expect a wrestling match with the pages of my column and the honey on them!

I saw Wanda Russell at the hospital where she works. When I asked how she would take the New Year in a resolution, she said, "Sure I'll make

Thrilling Scenes

This evening as dusk began to overtake the daylight hours I was following Polly home from Richmond on I-75 and as we approached the rest area close to Berea I felt a familiar thrill of joy in the pit of my stomach. It always happens at this point because of the scene beyond for suddenly, as my car slips over the small rise, there are the hills and mountains of Eastern Kentucky marching across the horizon in uneven steps. This evening the overhanging clouds, mist rain falling and approaching night gave the hills an almost menacing look as the tallest of them lifted proud heads into the clouds and the shorter ones closed rank as if they were guarding the entrance into the majestic Appalachian Mountains beyond. At other times of the year they have a different message, such as come on in and enjoy my beauty. That is when the redbud and dogwoods are in full bloom or when the mountainsides are aflame with fall colors. For me it is an unforgettable scene regardless of the time of year and since it has been my home for the past fifty years I always feel welcome any old time.

This incident brought to mind other scenes that also give me the same feeling of exaltation. One of them is when I am approaching Cincinnati from the south. I know I have described this scene several times but if I still get a thrill every time I enter Cincinnati from the south maybe you can tolerate one more description of it. "The Queen City," sprawled along the banks of the Ohio River, comes into view almost suddenly as one winds their way down the busy thoroughfare approaching Ohio. There She is, Cincinnati, a mass of buildings, great and small, inling the banks of the Ohio River. Looking down on it one sees new sky scrapers piercing the sky along with the older and smaller buildings of times past crowding every inch of space. The Old Carew Tower, once Cincinnati's tallest and finest building, is now almost swallowed by the newer ones whose height, and exterior finish of glass or marble, and their many glittering windows, shower the city with sparkles of sunshine reflexes in the day or light it up by night when dusk flips on the light switch. A whirlwind of activity is everywhere. The roadways leading into and out of the city look literally alive with the constantly moving traffic.

The bridges that connect Kentucky and Ohio are like a variety of bows tying two worlds together and the roads leading to them are the streamers. The Ohio River that runs beneath these bridges is in itself a thing of wondrous beauty. It has meandered its way from Pittsburgh, Pa. gaining volume till now it is a full fledged river wending its way to the ocean. Steamboats, pleasure boats and barges ply the length of it. The song writer who wrote "The Beautiful Ohio" must have had the same feelings I have for the Ohio River.

Now for another impressive sight I will always remember, but probably will never be repeated, is one I saw in Alaska. It was of the sun going down and touching the horizon at three o'clock in the morning. This was at Point Barrow, the top of the world, on the Arctic Ocean. This was the last day the sun would be shining all day long and at three o'clock a.m. it would finish its summer solstice and soon the whole area would be one of darkness. Alaska has always interested me and to think I would be able to visit

Thank You

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to everyone for their assistance during my recent illness and childbirth.

My family and I have been overwhelmed with the many prayers, visits, inquiries, cards, flowers, food and other acts of kindness.

I also wish to thank those who helped care for me and have assisted in the care of my patients until I could return to practice.

This episode has given me a new awareness and appreciation of our community and the people of the community.

I feel very blessed and proud to be able to live here and to raise a family in this community.

National Burn Awareness Week, February 6-12

National Burn Awareness Week, Feb. 6-12, is designated to "begin" the year-long effort to increase awareness of burn treatment, research, and, most important, prevention. The Burn Awareness Coalition, comprised of physicians, nurses, burn foundations and fire fighter organizations have reported the education alone could reduce the number of burns by up to 75 percent.

Each year about 2,000 Kentuckians experience a burn injury. Nearly 300 of these burn victims are serious enough to be treated in a burn center.

Children and older adults are most susceptible to severe burn injuries because of thinner skin.

"Of burn admissions to Kosair Children's Hospital, 38 percent are due to scalding liquids, said Sharon Rengers, R.N. Rengers says that 80 percent of all burn injuries occur in and around the home, with most scald burns occurring in the kitchen.

The following guidelines are helpful in preventing kitchen scalds:

- Turn pot handles inward so children can't pull them down

- Never leave hot foods or liquids unattended around toddlers
- Never leave young children alone in the kitchen while food is being prepared

- Do not transport hot grease in plastic jugs or milk cartons
- To prevent tap water burns:
  - Turn down the water heater to a lower setting
  - Check the temperature at the faucet; it should not be over 120 degrees
- Provide continuous and adequate supervision of young children in the bath

- Always test the water temperature by moving a hand rapidly through the water for several seconds
- Consider adding an anti-scald device to your plumbing

The leading cause of fire deaths among children is playing with fire, particularly lighters, causing three of every 10 pre-school fire deaths. Children may set one fire out of curiosity or by 'accident,' but more than one fire set (regardless of the extent of damage or age of child) may indicate a need for help from a trained mental health professional for the fire-setter and his/her family," said Rengers, Office of Child Advocacy at Kosair Children's Hospital. The Burn Unit at Kosair Children's has (Cont. to A7)

Staying at home now, Clyde could have a garden. He planted potatoes early in February. It was so early he had to wear an old overcoat to keep warm as he worked.

I started writing this column in the Signal and we came into their lives about this time.

Clyde and Margaret seemed so glad when we went to see them. Clyde gave me items of news to put in the paper about the "old timers" that once lived in that part of the county.

Margaret told us when Clyde went to the mail box on Thursday, he stopped there awhile to read my column before he returned to the house, now I call that being a "good reader."

He liked discussing the early life of Scaffold Cane and the people that came to live in it.

Now, Clyde Linville belongs to "history" when we think of his life in Rockcastle and the good he did for others here.

I had said I was going to write you some health remedies such as the folks in the hills did and used.

It was the use of garlic in their home remedies made with apple cider vinegar which is another helpful remedy which is said to be powerful stuff.

I'll be writing some remedies each week and you can see which ones help you in your battle with arthritis, asthma and heart disease.

I asked Russell Robinson at Berea Hospital where he is a volunteer worker in an office for the hospital to give me a resolution.

I'm not going to make any new debts, nor pay for the old ones I owe," he said.

Till next week, Talk is cheap unless you're talking to a lawyer.

"Sweet & Sour"

ness this was almost unbelievable. So, I had the desk clerk call me at two a.m. so I wouldn't miss any of it. Dressed in a warm parka with camera ready I headed for the beach, just outside the hotel. Of all things to happen a storm was brewing. It was a nasty looking storm, the clouds so black I could scarcely see the beach much less the sun which was behind the clouds. Angry waves were slapping at the beach and the few tourists who had also braved the weather were clutching their parkas close to keep out the cold.

After a short stroll and a few words with the other tourists I decided I would not be out-done by a quirk of nature and would take a picture of the storm clouds just to prove to anyone interested that I was here. I pointed the camera directly at the blackest cloud and snapped it. What came back surprised me, there in the black clouds above the black water of the arctic ocean is a dim sun just touching the horizon.

One more breath-taking scene I remember. My cousin, Virgie Fuller, and I had been touring Canada and crossed the St. Lawrence River between Johnston Canada and Ogdensburg, New York. We had been having a wonderful time shopping in the quaint little shops along the way and enjoying the beautiful scenery of Canada but the most beautiful scenery of all was when we got to the end of the sleek bridge and saw the custom offices and a big sign above that said, "Welcome to the United States of America."

If you like this I have plenty more I can share with you.

-Rockcastle County Caring Connection-

Remember to say "I Love You"

By: Cheryl Lynn Osborne

The three most precious words ever spoken to an individual, especially to a child is "I Love You." Letting a child know they are loved and their behavior is good is very important to their overall development. This is the foundation in helping a child develop a positive self image or self esteem. This begins early in life when a child begins to get positive feedback for their parents, caregivers, relatives, peers or any persons who might be around to influence their behavior.

Developing ones self esteem is very important. Self esteem means liking yourself. Parents play a vital role in helping their child develop a well rounded self esteem. It is the basis of one's emotional health and affects every other area of a child's life. Developing self esteem begins to develop at birth. Knowing this, it is vital we use positive statements with our children to let them know they are unique and very special.

I think Dorothy Law Nolie hit the "nail on the head" when she wrote the poem, "Children Live What They Learn," it goes like this:

If a child lives with criticism, He learns to condemn.

If a child lives with hostility, He learns violence.

If a child lives with ridicule, He learns to be shy.

If a child lives with shame, He learns to feel guilty.

If a child lives with encouragement, He learns confidence.

If a child lives with praise, He learns to appreciate.

If a child lives with fairness, He learns justice.

If a child lives with security, He learns faith.

If a child lives with approval, He learns to like himself.

If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, He learns to love the world.

So let's treat our children with mutual respect and teach them to be well-rounded children so they can become well-rounded adults in our calendar.

FHA believes Caring is Sharing

Caring Is Sharing, a project sponsored by F.H.A. that began last year, involves a few high school students visiting a special friend in the Rockcastle County Respiratory Care Unit. This year 17 students participated in this project with faithful visitations, hoping to bring joy to a very unique person.

Since last year, changes have been made, grown patients are matched up as friends now, instead of children, like last year and more people are involved also.

Upon visiting, students talk, listen to their friends and do special activities. This year the patients received Christmas presents, seven Christmas presents. The students made special items and crafts and took one each day to their friend. According to Julie Allen and Ginger Mink, the operators of Caring Is Sharing, the project has been moving along very well.

F.H.A. has worked very hard along with the hospital staff to coordinate partners and promote this project as a success!

seen children as young as 18 months who have started fires and suffered very serious injuries.

Take these precautions to prevent burn injuries by fire:

- Keep lighters and matches out of children's reach and view

- Teach children that matches and lighters are tools, not toys

- Tell children you will teach them about matches/lighters when they are old enough to learn

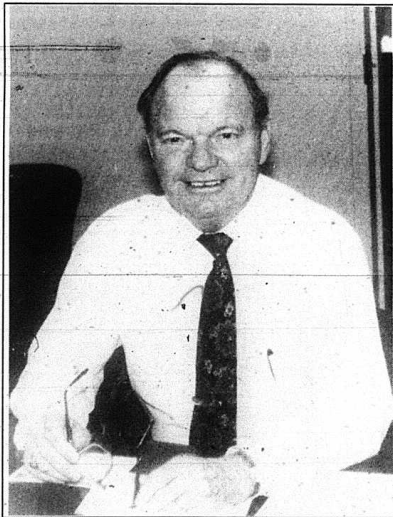

- Teach children (3 years and older) the stop, drop, and roll procedure, as well as simple fire escape behaviors like don't hide in closets. Also teach your children about smoke detectors and how they sound

- Child resistant lighters are now available. If these lighters are not available in your area, encourage merchants to stock them

For more information or to have burn prevention materials available for your use, contact the Burn Prevention Program, office of Child Advocacy, Kosair Children's Hospital, (502) 629-7337.

Following is the winning classroom essay, "Taking a Stand," by April Martin, daughter of Frankie and Patricia Martin:

-Taking a Stand-

My name is April Martin. I am a fifth grader at Livingston Elementary School. I have been in a D.A.R.E. program for 15 weeks now. I have learned that taking drugs isn't the right thing to do. This is what I plan to do to keep from being pressured to use drugs.

To keep my body as healthy as I can, I will eat nutritious foods, exercise and not use drugs.

To control my feelings when I have stress or am angry, I will go and do events to forget my anger, feelings and stress.

If I decide whether or not to take a risk, I can see what both sides are. I will choose the best side.

If a friend tries to pressure me to use alcohol or marijuana, I can just use the methods to say no. I would give a reason and walk away.

If I want to do something that is fun or that offers adventure, I would go ask a friend to do an event or something to get his or her mind off drug.

If I see people using alcohol or drugs on television I will go and tell others what I feel, be against it, and have a vote.

Now you can see how much I have learned. I have been taught not to use drugs. It is tremendously special to know about drugs. If you want to learn about drugs, join a D.A.R.E. program.

Intermediate news

Fifth grade students last week received a card of thanks from Grandma Lucy (their adopted Grandma), for the beautiful, yummy, and unexpected basket of goodies and also the video tape, cards, and ornaments. "Thank you dear class. You are the greatest. Thank you again from the bottom of my heart."

For a Christmas gift we selected a grapevine basket filled with specialty foods such as wildflower, honey, raspberry mustard, barbecue sauce, and Kentucky chocolates. The students would like to thank LEAP, Livingston economic Alternatives in process, for creating such a unique gift item. Also, they suggests that if you're looking for a special gift stop by or call LEAP. Through the sale of Golden Kentucky products, the organization supports the Opportunities for Women Project which gives jobs to low-income women in the Rockcastle County area.

Due to changes in restrictions, he anticipates an increase of 300 to 400 percent in the number of Schoolwide Chapter I schools by the 1996-97 school year.

Counselor's Connection

The PSI program is designed to help with students understand how society and their peers influence them to become sexually active; that there are real risks associated with early sexual involvement; and that they can learn assertive techniques to aid them in resisting society and peer pressures.

Seventh graders participating in the PSI program will be able to:

1. Identify the risks associated with early sexual involvement.
  2. Identify examples of pressures in our society that influence their behavior.
  3. State that individuals have the right to say "NO" when they are asked to do something they don't wish to do
  4. State assertive responses which say "NO" to pressures to become sexually involved.
  5. Use assertive responses which say "NO" to pressure to become sexually involved.

Adopting a Whale
By: Michael Blake Arnold

Mrs. Paula Clark's fourth grade class decided to adopt a whale for science class.

We decided to adopt her because we wanted to help her live a better life. The class collected money for a month. Some students even gave their snack money to the adopt a whale fund! Then we finally got $20. (That's how much it costs to adopt a whale.) Our whale's name is Midnight, she is a hump back whale. Midnight is only one of the many whales you can adopt! The way we chose Midnight was that almost every one in the class voted for Midnight. Here are some facts I picked up about whales. Whales have to come up for air because they are mammals. Humpback whales have a filter like mouth that keeps the food in and lets the water drain out. Adopting a whale has been fun. We will get pictures and facts about Midnight all year. Adopting a whale has been a good experience for Mrs. Clark's fourth grade class.

Are diamonds really rare?

Valentine's Day is the holiday when diamonds are often given as the ultimate token of love. Central to the diamond's role as a romantic symbol is the belief that diamonds are one of the rarest, most precious gifts. But it's only a myth.

"Frontline" "The Diamond Empire," airing on KET at 10 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5, examines the validity of diamonds and their inflated value was created and maintained over the decades by the diamond cartel. "The Diamond Empire" chronicles how the Oppenheimer family of South Africa gained control of the supply, marketing, and pricing of the world's diamonds.

Give of Yourself -Volunteer

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

The Extension Service is looking for volunteers in two different programs that will be offered this spring.
4-H Clothing Project Leaders are needed for each school to assist students with the construction portion of the project. Each school will have a total of five group meetings from 3-5 p.m. each day.
Generation Share is a program that will be offered in 5th and 6th grade classes. Community volunteers who are 65 years or older will be invited into classrooms to share their experiences or talents. Volunteers could share information on talents such as crafts, quilting, carving, woodworking, etc. or share experiences on "how it used to be." Antique tools or furniture, or displays of crafts or quilts could also be shared. Grandparents of any 5th or 6th graders are especially invited to be a part of this program.

If you would like to volunteer or you need more information on either of these volunteer opportunities, contact Hazel Jackson or John McQueary at the Extension office at 256-2403.
