PART 4 - EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Rockcastle County School District was challenged with a twofold mission during the 1993-94 school year. It was necessary to maintain an effective everyday operation of schools and simultaneously plan for comprehensive restructuring of the education program to be implemented in the 1994-95 school year. The Rockcastle County Board of Education, all staff members of the school system, parents/citizens, and students deserve accolades for a most honorable effort to collaboratively develop a progressive and innovative total education program.

The information outlined in this Annual Performance Report is supporting evidence that the Rockcastle County School District is continuously improving. The commitment to higher standards and expectations remain a priority with all stakeholders in our county. The approach to school improvement remains systemic and is proactive in planning for the future.

Primary accomplishments of the Rockcastle County School District for the 1993-94 school year were:

1. Compliance with the requirements of the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA).
2. Continued development of the curriculum outlined in KERA, primary emphasis in the areas of reading and mathematics.
3. Continued participation in the Effective Schools Process.
4. Continued implementation of the District Strategic Plan.
5. Construction of a "new" Rockcastle County High School Facility.
6. Participation in the high school restructuring movement which include National Alliance for Restructuring Education, Tech Prep and School-to-Work Programs.
7. The Local Planning Committee (LPC) completed a four year District Facility Plan.
8. Developed a middle school program and restructured the elementary school program.
9. Established an all-time high district attendance rate of 96.32.
10. Available 1994 assessment results support strong evidence of continuous improvement in student academic performance in all schools.

The following goals have been established for the 1994-95 school year:

1. To continue with the successful implementation of KERA and other school improvement initiatives.
2. To place primary emphasis during the 1994-95 school year on very profound and integral instructional program improvements.
3. To achieve district and individual school performance based assessment threshold levels.
4. To sustain a high attendance rate and lower the dropout rate.
5. To meet the professional development needs of all staff members.
6. To begin work on a revised and updated District Strategic Plan, a five (5) year plan.
7. To place added emphasis on protecting instructional time and to stay informed regarding the "time and learning" movement which stresses the use of time in new, different and better ways.
8. To promote more effective public engagement in an effort to ensure that parents and community members are better informed about school programs and are more actively involved in their implementation.
9. To begin the planning phase of a more comprehensive job training/vocational school program and facility which is expanded to include post-secondary components and designated to enhance job opportunities for our graduates and secure their success in the ever changing workplace.
10. To promote the idea of a learning community with emphasis placed upon building and maintaining a positive culture which promotes respect and cooperation of all stakeholders.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Rockcastle County Schools is to develop students who have the knowledge and basic life skills to lead productive, fulfilling lives; therefore, we must create a positive, educational environment which requires a well-defined curriculum, appropriate facilities, and a total commitment from school personnel, students, parents, and community.

Homework That Works

Now for a game of word association. What pops into your mind when you hear the word "homework"? Copying definitions and dates from a textbook? Filling in blanks on worksheets? Working 35 almost-identical mathematics problems?

That may be the way many adults remember homework. But today's students -- tomorrow's adults -- may have more positive reflections on homework, because their teachers are using the same reform-based instructional practices that work in the classroom to make homework more effective, too. They are assigning homework that works -- that not only supports student learning of basic skills, but can benefit students, parents and teachers in several ways:

- Challenging, effective homework extends academic learning time and speeds movement through the curriculum.
- It can be a teacher's tool for monitoring student progress and diagnosing student learning problems.
- It can help students develop a sense of personal responsibility and accountability and develop effective study and work habits.
- It can support high expectations and help students meet their accountability thresholds.
- When graded and commented upon constructively by teachers, it can boost student achievement.
- It can build communication with parents and keep them aware of the kinds of work their children are doing in school and how they write, think and execute assignments.
- It can provide opportunities for parents and their children to talk about school work and work together on projects when appropriate.

Homework that works is homework based on effective teaching practices and strategies.

Parent, Aneta Vance, discusses ocean unit with daughter Laynah.

What Is Homework?

Homework -- "assignments to be completed outside the classroom to reinforce class instruction, increase understanding and retention, transfer and extend classroom instruction, prepare for class discussion and provide curriculum enrichment opportunities."

Definition included in a model homework policy distributed to school districts by the Department of Education, June 1994.

Homework - What Works Best?

Promising Practices	Less-Effective Practices
Assignments that build on work accomplished in class	Busy work, unnecessary repetition of classwork
Study questions requiring written answers	Worksheets
Assignments tailored to individual student needs.	Identical assignments for all students
Assignments requiring higher-order thinking (essays, reading, research)	Assignments requiring fill-in-the-blank answers
Assignments given in writing with clear directions at the beginning of class and reinforcement at the end of class	Assignments given orally at the end of class
Communicating to students the specific expectations for homework	Leaving expectations unclear
Teacher response to homework: grades and comments that emphasize developmental skills and growth	Little or no teacher response or comments focused only on correctness
Communicating to students the variety of methods teachers will use to evaluate class performance	No discussion of evaluation methods
Gaining parental support for homework through frequent communication with parents and suggestions for ways they can help their children learn	Failing to communicate with parents about homework
Creation of a homework hotline and other supportive structures	Absence of attention to supportive structures
Variation in types of homework assignments given	Same type of assignment given day after day

How to Help Your Child With Homework

- Know the school's policy on homework. If the school does not have a written policy, recommend that one be developed. Volunteer to help in the development process.
- Encourage your child to take notes concerning homework assignments in case questions arise later at home.
- Show interest in the schoolwork your child brings home.
- Provide a suitable place and the necessary tools (for example, paper, pencils, reference books) your child needs to do homework and study.

- Limit after-school activities so your child has time to complete homework and enjoy family activities. Plan a homework schedule with your child, and allow for free time when assignments are completed.
- Monitor television viewing time.
- Ask to see the comments teachers write on homework assignments.
- Stay in close communication with teachers. Share any concerns you may have about the amount or type of homework assigned.
- If your child asks for help with an assignment, ask questions or work through an example rather than doing the work or providing the answer.
- Praise your child's efforts.

"KWAME" by Melissa Baker

My mask is interesting because it has plenty of glitter to make the mask stand out. The best thing about my mask is the decorations and the emotion the lines show. I could have improved my mask by coloring with paint.

"ABENA" by Christy Phillips

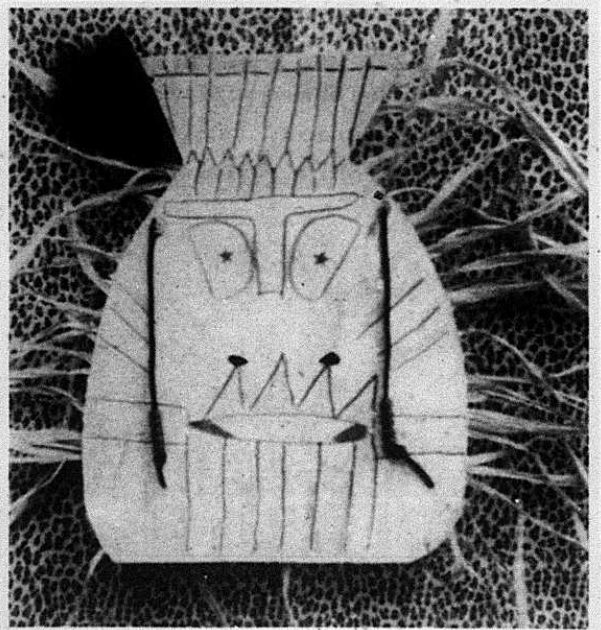

In critiquing my mask, I notice it has balance and it was symmetrical. The coloring wasn't the best choice I could have made. The best thing about it is the design. It is something that symbolizes a real animal. The way I could have improved it was by using bright paint for more detail. I should have used a black marker to outline my mask. That would show more detail also.

Masks designed and constructed by Rockcastle County Middle School sixth grade art students under the direction of Art Specialist Debbie Bugg. The masks were made as part of a unit on African Culture.

by Ashlee Alcorn

In critiquing my mask, I have noticed that it is balanced. The best thing about my mask is when I outlined it. The colors show up. The eyes are good because they are a bright color and they show up. I could have improved it by using even brighter colors other than just on the eyes.

Burr man charged with selling "pot"

A Rockcastle County man who had apparently sold almost 5 grams of marijuana to an undercover police officer in 1993 was arrested last week at his Burr home.

When Kentucky State Police and local sheriff deputies arrived at Glen Mink's residence last Tuesday they found more than just Mr. Mink.

After Mink gave police permission to search his home they found 21 marijuana plants and marijuana buds and leaves in the attic.

Mink was arrested by Trooper Gary Lane and deputy Randall Reynolds on the trafficking charge.

Police say the other evidence gathered at Mink's residence will be presented to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury when it meets this month.

Mink, 35, was released on bond pending an Oct. 29th arraignment in Rockcastle District Court.

Brodhead has best scores

Student scores improve again

By: Richard Anderkin

Students in the Rockcastle County school system continue to do well on their annual performance test and the latest results show a marked improvement at each school, including the Rockcastle County High School where last year scores were well below the state average.

Brodhead Elementary School has the county's best scores again and Livingston Elementary School, which is now closed, had another year of very improved scores, especially in the eighth grade.

Livingston's achievements gained statewide attention Sunday when the Lexington Herald-Leader ran a front page story on Livingston, their excellent eighth grade scores, and the fact that the school is now closed.

Livingston's eighth grade was the second most improved class of eighth graders in the state. That was based on a two year average of their scores based on their 1992 baseline score, which was 24.2 one of the lowest in the state.

Tennessee doctor indicted

A Tennessee doctor, allegedly involved in an insurance scam in Kentucky and Rockcastle was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury in Lexington.

Dr. Dan E. Hale, 49, of Morris-town, Tenn., was accused of swindling the federal government out of at least $1 million by billing Medicaid and Medicare patients for unnecessary medical testing and other procedures.

In all, an osteopathic physician who owns and operates the Boulevard West Medical Center in Morristown, was indicted on 72 charges of racketeering, mail fraud and racketeering conspiracy.

The case against Hale emerged in a federal investigation into an insurance scam involving more than 40 people in Eastern Kentucky, said Lanny S. Miller, of the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, which handled the investigation.

Some of the people involved in that scam -- including the so-called ringleader, Russell E. Ramsey of Mt. Vernon -- have since pleaded guilty, Miller said. They will be sentenced Oct. 7 and Oct. 14 in London, he said.

County sets local tax rate for 1994-95

Rockcastle's 1994-95 real estate tax rate went down for the coming year according to an announcement at a called meeting Monday by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court.

The Real Estate tax rate is 7.8 cents per hundred dollar assessment compared to 8.1 cents last year, 1993-94. Tangible personal property remained the same as last year, 8.2 cents per $100, which includes motor vehicles and watercraft.

But bank shares are up. The 1994-95 rate is 24.36 cents per $100 compared to 23.73 cents last year.

Also up is the Extension Service. It stands at 2.6 cents per $100 compared to 2.5 cents last year. Tangible perintendent Bige Towery Jr., said Monday that he certainly applauded the efforts of Livingston students and staff and was very proud of their progress, but he pointed to the fact that all schools in the county improved from the previous year.

Scores at Livingston get eighth graders statewide attention

But, the most improvement was at Brodhead Elementary where the students also scored the highest. Brodhead eighth graders scored over 20 points higher than the class of 1993.

BES principal Mark McKinney said Tuesday that there are several reasons for Brodhead's continued success. "We have a good, competent dedicated staff with a lot of parental support and volunteer commitment," McKinney said.

"I think we had a good transformation plan for the implementation of KERA and I think we backed that plan up with good professional development for our teachers," he said. "Students at Brodhead take learning serious and they certainly take the assessment tests very seriously," he said.

McKinney also commended the local board of education and Supp. Towery for their support. "They have been supportive and cooperative with us and I think this board really has the student's best interest at heart," he said.

Livingston students not only improved some 14 points from a year ago and 28 in the two year period, but the eighth grade scored the second best scores overall, eight points behind Brodhead and 4.5 points ahead

Knife, firearm on school grounds prompt Thursday expulsion hearings

The Rockcastle County Board of Education will decide Thursday night if two Rockcastle County school students will be expelled for having weapons on school property.

On Sept. 23 a 16-year-old student at the Rockcastle County High School student was suspended after school officials removed a dagger type knife from the student.

RCHS Principal Ronnie Cash said the weapon was found after other students reported it. Cash said that he will recommend that the sophomore be expelled by the board for one year, the maximum time allowed under state law.

On Monday Sept. 26 a .25 caliber handgun was taken from an 11-year-old student at the Rockcastle Middle School.

RCMS principal John Hale said Tuesday that another student saw the handgun in the student's possession and notified school officials. "We had the gun away from the student ten minutes from the time we found out he had it," Hale said.

Hale said that the gun did not have any shells in it. Because the sixth-grade student has a learning disability his activities are monitored by a local special education committee. Rockcastle County School Superintendent Bige Towery, Jr., who has called the hearings, said Tuesday that the District wide special education committee had also recommended that the middle school student be expelled. "If the board goes along with the committee's recommendation under state guidelines the special education student will be educated under the homebound program," Towery said.

Because of a new law both instances were reported to police. The Mt. Vernon police department investigated the cases and the information has been turned over the county attorney Jeffrey Burdette. Burdette said Tuesday that both cases are being handled in juvenile court.

Council discusses park Christmas tree

Mt. Vernon is going to try for a Christmas tree again this year. After calling a halt for what the city calls a lack of money, the city plans to decorate a large tree in the park at the railroad if residents and business respond.

So said Lorin Rockwell, president of the Kiwanis Club, to the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

The trial commissioner plans to ask residents and businesses to help finance decorations for the tree, a large Christmas-like tree in the park that the city decorated for years.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the council the city now owns the caboose in the city parking lot. He said the city hopes to complete refurbishing the caboose. He praised Kevin Fletcher's sign on one side of the caboose.

At the request of Councilman Lee Keene the council voted to do everything possible to bring the caboose up to date.

The mayor also told the council the building planned to be used by Image Entry is progressing well and the building is expected to be under roof this week.

Image Entry is expected to eventually employ about 200 people and have a retail store (to sell computers) on the premises.

Mt. Vernon's police report for

September was given by Assistant Chief Eddie Delaney. It showed: 50 complaints, 8 cases opened, 6 motorists assists, 17 other assists and 16 Mt. Vernon Fire Department runs.

Local officers of the Rockcastle County Jaycees presented Mt. Vernon Mayor Gary R. Cromer with their railroad caboose that sits in the city parking lot during Saturday's Bittersweet Festival. The Jaycees have worked hard to make the caboose look presentable again. The city will continue what the Jaycees started. One of the most frequent complaints I hear these days has to do with hair. At least once or twice a week I hear somebody moaning about having a "bad hair day."

I've never, to my knowledge, had a good hair day. I'm sure that nobody has ever once walked up and told me that my hair looked nice because I would have had that person on my Christmas gift list and I'm sure I'd also remember them in my will. But it's never happened and for good reason. My hair simply is not prone to looking good.

For a couple of years, when I worked in London, I got accustomed to going to the same woman who had a little combination beauty/barber shop down-town. One day I made some comment about the guy who was walking out the door as I went in because his hair had more waves than Elvis ever thought about. And I'm talking big hair like you see these television preachers wearing.

So I said something about not being able to understand how some people had hair that would fill out like that while my own didn't have as much body as a broom straw.

"Oh his wouldn't have any body either," my barber informed me. "I just put in a $40 perm to make that do."

"You're kidding!!!" I vowed. Because I'd never actually seen a man that I knew for sure to have a perm. And this was back in the seventies when such knowledge automatically caused most of my friends and myself to assume that the guy probably had on silk panties as well. Heck, I was even suspect in some circles because I let a woman cut my hair.

Anyway, my barber began pulling out photographs of Merle Haggard, Kenny Rogers and several other of the top country musicians of the day and pointing out who had perms and what kind. She then rattled off the names of several prominent London upper-crust-preachers, lawyers, bankers and the like whose hair she had personally permed.

Now my first wife to whom I was married at the time only twice in our relationship demonstrated that she had any taste at all. The first was when she married me and the second was her fascination with Merle Haggard. So I had to ask the obvious question.

"You mean that for $40 you can make my hair look just like Merle's?"

I wanted to know. And I was assured that it would take a couple of hours, but other than flattening my wallet a bit, that would be the only inconvenience.

So she tackled ole Merle's 8 x 10 up on the mirror and I'd in on me. Other than being the stinkiest thing that I have ever experienced and about an hour of extreme worry that somebody would walk in and see me with rollers in my hair the perm turned out to be a rather painless ordeal.

When she was done, my do did, in fact, bear a most similar resemblance to Merle's. Except it became readily apparent that Mrs. Adams was not going to be running her fingers through it the way she said she'd like to do to Merle. In fact I doubt that she could have run a bull-gouge plow through it.

But I hurried home to show it off and she looked at me with utter surprise. She didn't say a word about how it looked but she reached up and patted it and it cracked like a piece of china dropped on a steel floor.

"Maybe if you washed out some of the spray it would be a little less dangerous," she told me. I hurried to the shower to do just that.

Ten seconds after I turned the water on I had an Afro that looked almost exactly like boxing promoter, Larry

Roamin' Rockcastle

By: Hilda Payne Gabbard

This is about one week off from October leaving three to go.

I'm so homesick and blue these days and I think it's because all of our close family are gone leaving only Cleve, my brother, and myself to wait until our time to join them.

There are several revivals going on now but we can't go because my car is in the repair shop and John claims he feels so bad at night he can't go after bending over a molasses pan all day. They have made quite a bit but people come and get them as soon as they are made.

Seeing the picture of Russell Cornet in my column last week, stirred the memories of John Holbrook, who lives near Lake Linville in Rockcastle, and brought back boyhood school days when they both attended Brodhead High School.

Holbrook said he had heard nothing of Russell since they went separate ways. He was very glad to see and hear of Russell after all they years had gone by.

I told him Russell was now a bachelor and lives in Florence where he chased girls a lot.

John said, he had retired and was taking it easy but most all men do that. Have you heard the saying, "Man works from sun to sun but woman's work is never done."

I feel like that when John goes to the front porch after supper and rests, while I must get up and clean the kitchen.

I have had a run of bad luck with my car. It will not run and mechanics say they can't find out what is wrong with it. Since a week ago last Saturday, it went bad and I've not been able to drive so have had to stay on Meneaus Road. I don't have much news.

October is such a pretty month with blue skies and wisps of white clouds drifting across it.

The nights aren't bad either when the sky shows many stars forming a constellation (pictures) and kids see how many pictures they can name.

One group forms a dipper such as old timers drank from and there were others.

Halloween night will soon be here and I am reminded of all the fun that we young folks had being out after dark.

I see lots of homes being set up with decorations now although it's three weeks before Halloween comes on October 31.

I'm reminded of the night that a group of us kids went down to the lower part of dad's farm and climbed up on a large hay stack to slide off next morning a man who lived on Clear Creek said to my dad, "Armpits a bunch of cattle has about pulled your hay stack down last night."

Dad looked at me, who was standing near-gover his glasses and had an idea who the cattle were since we had been down the road, a bunch of us playing. I hurriedly sneaked out of the store.

I meant to go out on the creek and get news this week but having no way to go, I am short handed.

I wanted to stop at Ell and Pearl Chastens house and find out why there were so many cars parked there.

Then Johnny Harding had a group in their yard of family folk so it must have been a celebration. So I didn't get to go and find out that gaudy.

Revels are going on at Galilee and Macedonia Churches this week. We haven't been able to go any since either of us drive well after dark.

It's time to gather walnuts and hickory nuts and put in the barn so the bull will dry off them. John puts them in the road way of his parking drive so the truck will smack them. Till next week.

Hill country folk know rhubarb is good for constipation.

HERESAY

PRECIOUS SOULS. CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and similitudes from dear ole Wabl, which lost one of its grandest citizens last week -- Hazel Cummins, my mother-in-law and my friend. She left this vale of tears on Thursday evening, the 29th, three years to the day after her husband, Rayme, went away. One person said she was just hanging on for that day. But I like the way another put it. "No, Rayme came and got her."

When I first met Hazel, I was a tad afraid of her. She was a big woman and one-eighth Cherokee Indian. You could tell by the furrow in her brow that she didn't care too much for fellows who came courting her daughters, Nancy and Reda. One morning at 2 found her and Nancy chopping weeds out of their tobacco patch. Nancy, who had dressed scantily to get some sun, came up to the fence to talk to me. Hazel didn't take lightly to my seeing that much of her. I could also see Hazel's dark, brown eyes during fire, and her hoe doing double-time. And when she yelled, "Nancy, get back to work!" I didn't linger. However, I soon learned that the bark was bigger than her bite.

Hazel was a hard worker. She could handle a bale of hay as well as any man. You could say she literally wore herself out working on the farm. Still, with all her outside chores, she managed to put three meals a day on the table, the first of which was biscuits and gravy. Yum! Yum! She prepared that meal every morning for years, except the days her children were born and the day she ran out of flour. She called you to the table with "Let's go through the motion!" After she had her first stroke and had to learn to talk again, that summons sometimes came out "S' motion!"

Hazel got up early -- and she expected everyone else to do the same. You could lay late in bed, but you wouldn't sleep because she'd talk loud enough to be heard in Dogwalk or see Hazel's dark, brown eyes during

In memory of my Dad - Charles David Hampton - By Brandie Hampton

My life is fine
I've achieved so many goals
I hope you understand
I wish you could see
I'm so scared that I won't be what you want me to be

You were taken away too early to show me your hopes and dreams
Why you were taken away was so unfair, Or so it seems
The man who shot you didn't have a care
After all you were just a stranger, not a father to him

How did he know the death of a father was too much for a young girl to bear

You say, common sense, well I agree
But the judge said I was too young, he wouldn't even hear my plea
At times I sit and wonder how things would've been different
Would my mom and dad have got back together?

This is something I'll never know
Because now my dad is dead and he can no longer let his feelings show
Although I was only three when it all happened
I still think of him every day,
And there isn't a day that goes by that I don't wonder why
God took him so early in his life
And why in such a tragic way

King's. A plow still wouldn't go through it and it was perfectly obvious that it would never ever again resemble Merle's do.

I combed and I brushed. I used oil and butch wax all to no avail. The more I worked on it the more each individual hair tightened into little coil springs.

Mrs. Adams, embarrassed to be seen with me rushed out to the grocery store and bought a box of 'perm remover." Which smelled stouter than the original perm and burned most the skin off my ears and the back of my neck. When she was finished my hair was straight again but it was probably the most perfect orange I've ever seen. Florida has never produced a single fruit that reached quite that level of perfection.

I cut it off as close to my scalp as I could and took to wearing one of those hunters' caps with the big earflaps. I wore the darn thing to bed and to the office where I suffered much ridicule over the next several weeks. Finally my hair started to grow back out brown.

Now I go to the least expensive barber I can find and simply suggest that he remove about half my hair at a time. I wash it with soap every day and run a comb through it and let it dry on the fly.

I may not get any compliments, but to my knowledge nobody is laughing behind my back. And that's about as good a hair day as I want or ever expect to have.

Rockcastle County Kiwanis hold installation dinner

The Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club held its annual installation dinner at the Kastle Inn September 29th. Elected as president was Lorin Rockwell, a retired Air Force Lt. Col. and now Trial Commissioner for the county. Selected as vice president was Linda Gregory, speech and language pathologist at the Rockcastle Hospital and graduate of Eastern Kentucky University. Chosen as secretary was Maude Randolph, retired secondary school counselor and graduate of the Appalachian State University of North Carolina. Jerry Fish, the assistant prosecuting attorney for Rockcastle County and attorney of Salmon P. Chase College of Law, Northern Kentucky University, will be the new Kiwanis treasurer. He succeeds the office held by Amy Hamm, a local business woman and co-owner of Mt. Vernon Oil and Tire. Through Miss Hamm's diligence and skill this past year in office, the post of treasurer will transition to Mr. Fish with ease.

Each of these new officers will endeavor to preserve the goals set by previous officers and help guide the Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club in its efforts to serve the community and its young children. The Rockcastle Kiwanis Club raised over $3000 this past year to give to several charitable projects and included, "Ginny Gilpatrick" Scholarship to RCHS graduate, Project Graduation, early Childhood Education, New Year's Eve Charity Ball, co-sponsor of Parenting Fair, books and materials to public library, sponsored a student to Hugh O'Brien Youth Conference, sponsored two children to 4-H camp, donated smoke detectors and fire extinguishers to REAP, food and clothing to REAP, displayed Tot Immunization billboards, Prayer Breakfast in honor of local clergy and hundreds of volunteer hours by its members for the Charity Ball, Parenting Fair, Children's Crusade Roadblock, hospital and educational tutoring and participation in Adopt-A-Highway program, Christmas float and the Christmas home decorating Contest.

Outgoing president of the club, Geraldine Mize, is a graduate of Berea College and Xavier University. She holds an advanced degree as a library media specialist. She held the post as school librarian in Ohio until her retirement and has worked in Kentucky as the Shopville Elementary school librarian until last year. Mrs. Mize has been selected as Lt. Governor-elect of the Kentucky-Tennessee District, division six, of Kiwanis International. Her resourceful leadership will be much missed by the club but her energy and skills will serve her well in her new post. She will, of course, remain an active member of the Rockcastle Kiwanis Club. Mrs. Mize is quoted as saying, "The growth and success of the Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club is a direct result not of her presidency but the enterprise, enthusiasm and dedication of the officers, committee chairs and its members this past year." Lt. Governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee District, division six, of Kiwanis International, Nancy Mitchell, was present to install the new officers. Music was provided by talented Rebecca Burdette and Brandon Powell. Guests included some members of the Kiwanis Club of Corbin.

Field goal gives Jumpers 23-22 victory

Rockcastle fans stood in awe this past Friday night. It was just too hard to believe, but it was true. After the initial shock the realization set in, the Rockets lost.

They were bested by host Somerset Briar Jumpers, 23-22, in their first district match up of the year.

Rockcastle's loss was probably Somerset's biggest win in four years. The Briar Jumpers had not beaten the Rockets since the Rockets joined the 2A district in 1991.

And it came down to the last play of the game.

With just four seconds left in the game, junior quarterback Jamie Linville took the snap at midfield. What he found afterwards was a wide open Donnie Eversole nearly 50 yards downfield. The Hail Mary connected only to have Eversole knocked out of bounds at the two yard line by the Somerset defense to end the game.

Although a loss, it was one of the most exciting finishes since the 1991 playoffs when the Rockets held Corbin on the goal line to win, 24-21, in overtime.

"We were really prepared coming into the game," said Rockets head coach Tom Larkey Monday. "I thought we should have won and feel we had the better team, but things didn't go our way the whole night."

"We need to learn to lose as well as win, we are not going to win all of the time through life," he added.

A fumble, a couple of near interceptions dropped and maybe not the purest officiated game kept the momentum from the Rockets.

But to Larkey it was the clock keeping that proved most important. Larkey commented that the clock was stopped for about 15 seconds during Somerset's drive that eventually led to the winning field goal with just six seconds in the game.

"I was disturbed at the clock keeping, it was a big factor in the game," Larkey said.

"Not trying to make excuses, but they stopped it for no reason for about 15 seconds just before Somerset's field goal," he said.

Larkey felt that without the extra time Somerset would have had to attempt their field goal from further out than the three yard line.

The Rockets took the early lead after a 51 yard run by Jason Cromer on the first play of the game. Linville capped the drive on a quarterback sneak, 6-0. The extra point attempt was no good.

However, the biggest blow against Rockcastle in the first half came eight minutes into the second quarter. Following a Somerset punt the Rockets took over from their 13 yard line. On the first play of the drive Jason Cromer fumbled the ball. Somerset recovered and scampered in from 18 yards out to tie the game. The Briar Jumpers took a 7-6 lead with the extra point.

"Our kids are continuing to make the same mistakes over and over," Larkey said. "We work on them everyday, it may be that were too conscious of them."

"We give our opponents the breaks, I feel like we need to start receiving a few," he added.

The second half began as the first ended, with a Somerset score.

The Briar Jumpers got by the Rockets' secondary for a 58 yard touchdown pass to cap a 78 yard drive on the first possession of the second half. Another good extra point gave Somerset the edge, 14-6.

But the Rockets' offense, which garnered 134 yards on the ground and 17 in the air in the first half, countered on their next possession.

The Rockets marched 61 yards, highlighted at the end by a 19 yard touchdown reception from Linville to Jason Childress. They followed with a successful two-point conversion run by Jarrod Singleton to even the tally at 14-14.

Both teams would score again in the fourth quarter.

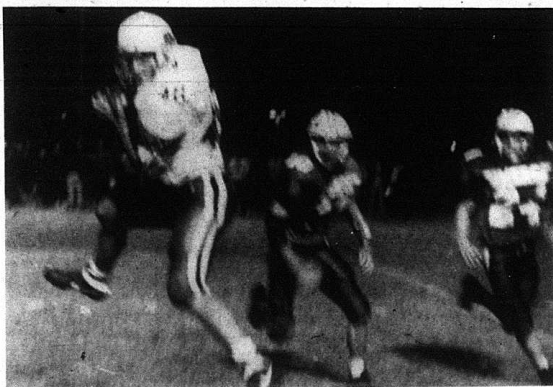

Somerset was first with a 71 yard drive to regain the lead, 20-14. They missed their extra point attempt for the first time in the game.

The Rockets got their score on the next possession, moving the ball 76 yards downfield. A 24 yard pick up on a pass reception from Linville to Casey Blaney was the key play of the drive. The catch put the Rockets on Somerset's 10 yard line. Two plays later Jon Cromer scrambled from nine yards out to tie the game at 20. Cromer again got the carry for the two-point conversion to put the Rockets up, 22-20, with 3:42 remaining in the game.

But it wasn't enough.

The Briar Jumpers managed to go ahead for good on the ensuing possession. They moved the ball 60 yards before kicking a field goal through the uprights from the three yard line, 23-20.

The big turning point of Somerset's drive came on a 14 yard pass to Charles Gilmore to move the Briar Jumpers to Rockcastle's 18 yard line. Rockcastle's Jason Childress got his

Mt. Vernon Signal/Richard Anderkin

Jason Childress, #48, caught a touchdown pass Friday night that put the Rockets ahead of Somerset, 12-7. However, the Jumpers came back to win 23-22.

The Rocket offense fought back in the second half to take the lead from Somerset on two different occasions. Above, running back Jon Cromer, #23, picks up a few yards. Also in the photo is #5 Casey Blaney, #68 Saben Blair, #79 Stacey Kirby and #65 Shawn Shearer.

hands on the ball but it was Gilmore who actually stripped it away from Childress for the catch.

"We had opportunities to win late in the game," said Larkey.

Though a tough loss, Larkey says the Rockets have to put it behind them and focus on the next game.

"We have to get our thoughts together and focus on Corbin," he said.

"Right now we are not thinking of the playoff picture, but I know our boys have their hopes high," he added.

The Rockets will host Corbin Friday. Not much has to be said about the rivalry between the Rockets and the Redhounds. Corbin is 4-2 on the season suffering losses to powerhouses Danville and Bell County.

The Redhounds will come into Rockcastle with a big team that plays power football. They had several players out last week but they should all be back in the line up for Friday's game.

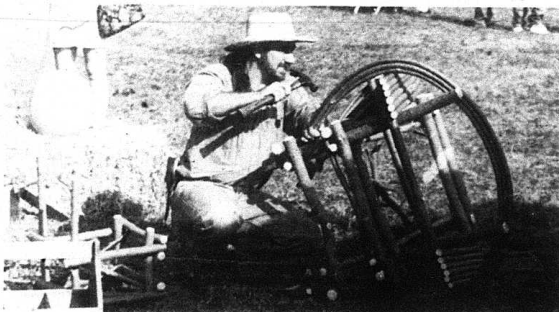

"We match up with Corbin pretty close," said Larkey. "They're not blessed with a lot of speed but they have a big line with big backs," he added.

Offensively for the Rockets against Somerset: Jon Cromer, 22 carries for 110 yards with a touchdown and two-point conversion; Neil Sparks, 2 carries for 9 yards; Jarrod Singleton, 2 carries for 11 yards with a two-point conversion; Zach Cromer, 1 carry for 7 yards; Jason Cromer, 6 carries for 72 yards; Jason Childress, 1 reception for 19 yards and a touchdown; Donnie Eversole, 1 reception for 41 yards; Casey Blaney, 3 receptions for 35 yards; and Jamie Linville, 4 carries for 5 yards and a touchdown, 10 passes with 5 complete for 115 yards with a touchdown and an interception.

Defensively for the Rockets: Eddie Todd, 3 tackles and 3 assists; Jason Weaver, 2 tackles and 2 assists; Greg Mink, 3 tackles, 2 solos and 1 assist; Stacey Kirby, 2 tackles and 2 assists; Shawn Shearer, 1 tackle and 1 assist; Neil Sparks, 5 tackles and 5 assists; Donnie Eversole, 17 tackles, 6 solos and 11 assists; Saben Blair, 5 tackles, 2 solos and 3 assists; Dallas Rigby, 8 tackles, 1 solo and 7 assists; Jason Childress, 3 tackles, 2 solos and 1 assist; Jason Cromer, 9 tackles, 1 solo and 8 assists; and Casey Blaney, 4 tackles, 3 solos and 1 assist.

Shaken Baby Seminar held

Shaken Baby Seminar was held on Thursday afternoon with an excellent panel presenting and the Kiwanis Club providing refreshments. The Caring Connection would like to share a few of the facts about Shaken Baby Syndrome.

- Did You Know That:
1. head trauma is the leading cause of disability and death among abused infants and children?
 2. violent shaking is involved in many of these cases?
 3. 25-50 percent of the American public does not know that shaking an infant can cause brain damage or death?
 4. as early as 1972, a nationwide campaign to alert parents to the dangers of shaking babies was called for by a noted physician?
 5. in spite of that, until recently no comprehensive attempt has been made to alert parents and other caregivers to the dangers of shaking babies?
- During the past two decades, evidence about the dangers of shaking babies has mounted. Head trauma is known to be the most frequent cause of permanent disability or death among infants and children. Babies are extremely vulnerable to head injury because their heads are disproportionately large and they do not have strong enough neck muscles to withstand whiplash motions. Internal bleeding can occur and result in blindness. Brain damage is common and frequently manifest itself in mental retardation or permanent learning disabilities. Although shaking has been implicated in many cases of fatal abuse, no attempt has been made to counteract the documented lack of knowledge among the general public about the dangers of shaking a young child.

Why do parents shake babies? Some shaking occurs out of ignorance. Parents often think shaking is safer than spanking, for example. Most shaking is precipitated by "colic" or inconsolable crying. The constant crying frustrates and angers parents until they lose control.

Research indicates that parents can make significant improvements in knowledge about the dangers of shaking babies and about appropriate ways to manage colic. Prevention of a single case of long term disability due to shaking relieves the family and community of serious emotional, social, and physical consequences, as well as saving an estimated $300,000 in the first five years of a child's life.

Roy Martin, representing the Don Walker Scholarship Committee, is shown presenting a check in the amount of $600 to Rockcastle County Middle School students Andy Hale and Jonathan Burdette. Hale and Burdette serve as co-presidents of the newly-formed Y-club. Looking on is David Milby, Regional Director of the Kentucky Youth Association, State YMCA which oversees the activities of Y-clubs in the Commonwealth. The donation will sponsor students who will participate in the upcoming Kentucky Youth Assembly in November. The Don Walker Scholarship Fund was established in honor of Walker who died in 1992. The co-owner of Jean's Restaurant, who endeared himself to Rockcastle County was considered by most as the Ambassador to Rockcastle County, although Walker was actually from Michigan. Walker loved Rockcastle and the people and took pride in his knowledge of the people and places. The scholarship fund provides money to students in junior high who cannot afford educational materials. To date the fund has provided over $2,500 for students.

Preschoolers have been studying frogs and toads. Their African clawed frogs have learned to be fed by hand. The students are learning the difference between frogs and toads. They're also learning how to use graphs. Ms. Noe's class has also been working on graphs. They're working on a graph of favorite holidays and colors of all Roundstone students. At this time the favorite holiday is Halloween and the favorite color is red. Both Ms. Noe's and Ms. Clark's class are beginning a unit on apples.

They will be making apple smilies. They will also be tasting apple products. Ms. Atkin's primary class is beginning a unit on maps and globes. The students are learning many important things about reading maps and globes. They have been involved in a variety of exciting activities to enhance these skills such as a student created treasure hunt, creating a compass and measuring distance on a school neighborhood walk.

Last week they enjoyed ice cream for five days perfect attendance. They're really working hard to win a pizza. The student of the week is Dustin Darrell. Ms. Burdett's students have been busy with their planet presentations, working with Venn diagrams in reading, using hundreds charts and finding number patterns. Tiny tiny-teeny visitors

Once some aliens came to Dawn's backyard. She said they could color in her yard.

Seven years later Dawn was eighteen. She lived in the same house. She had a party. I, Daniel was invited. During the party Dawn went out to get her pet cat. Then she heard a cricket sound. She looked around and saw the little aliens. Then she remembered when she was eleven years old. She let aliens settle in her yard! Dawn was really surprised to see them again. The aliens weren't scared of Dawn. They were really happy to see her. When Diandra and myself became worried about Dawn, we decided to go outside to look for her. Boy, were we shocked! To see Dawn talking to tiny little aliens! They were explaining where they were for the past seven years. The aliens made a new settlement under Dawn's house! They invited us to go to their new underground settlement. But they were too large to walk through the tunnel. So before my eyes the aliens shrunk Dawn, Diandra and myself to the size of a paper clip. The settlement was amazing to see. I decided to live there for the rest of my life.

The Aliens

By: Dustin Renner

One late summer evening Dawn had a sleepover and little aliens landed in the backyard. The little aliens were making a cricket sound in their ear. Dawn turned her head and saw aliens the size of a paper clip. They were on their way to the President's home to ask if they could live on the earth but their space machine ran out of gas so the aliens asked Dawn if they could stay in her backyard. Dawn gave her permission for the aliens to stay in her backyard.

One afternoon before school started Dawn, Diandra and I were going to walk in the woods. We were walking through the woods and Dawn said, "That is the same sound that the little robots made." We looked over at a tree that had a big knot hole and there stood about fifty robots! They were trying to make contact with the three of us! A hawk came down and took the aliens space craft. There was a pond nearby and the hawk dropped the machine into the pond. The aliens said, "We will never get out of here now!" Then the three of us said, "We wouldn't tell anybody where they were. We said..." They could stay in the forest forever.

The Aliens return

One late summer evening Dawn and Diandra had a sleep over. That night little aliens came and wanted permission to stay in her backyard, so Dawn gave them permission to stay. The little aliens went to the shrubbery and the two girls have never seen them since.

I am Dawn and Diandra's new best friend. One day we decided to go hiking, so we went to a pretty place that had lots of mountains. We started up the biggest mountain there. When we got to the top we didn't have enough energy to go any further, but we had to because our moms said that we had to be back before dark. The sun just kept on sinking down and before we knew it the sun had sunk below the trees and it got dark. We had to stop for the night. While we were sleeping I heard a funny noise. I woke up Dawn and Diandra. We all got scared because the noise just kept on getting louder and louder and we saw little lights flashing all around us. Then I saw little aliens and Dawn said, "These are the aliens we saw when we had the sleepover!" The next morning we woke up and took the little aliens home and ask our moms if we could keep them and they said, "Yes." So we kept them in our backyard forever.

You should have already received a 4 1/2 week interim report on your child's progress. Please call if you have any questions. Wendy's envelopes containing the report card will continue to have six spaces, however, they will not use the first four to accommodate the four nine week periods.

she'd find something to clank or rattle. A little over a year ago, when she was no longer able even to prepare a meal, our daughter, Malissa, and her husband, Lee, spent the night at her house because, with all our family in for Christmas, we were crowded. They both work hard and like to sleep late when they get a chance. Hazel went through her "wake'em up" manuevers, and after they got up, she went back to bed!

Hazel had some classic expressions that I now find myself using. Her favorite food was fish from Long John Silvers. "Do you like that someone would ask. "Yeah, but it" was her reply. She watched the weather. I got amused when she'd survey the sky and then predict. "It's gonna do something... she was always right. It did something. My favorite of her sayings was "Althus something," which she uttered when something went awry, like the well pump malfunctioning.

Hazel was strictly family. She saw her children and grandchildren in a brusque, mountain sort of way, and was not averse to "cuttin' a swatch." All four of them turned out top notch. She was not one to say, "I love you." She didn't have to say, "You know it even in her 'tassing." She cared well for her family, her needs and wants going to the bottom of the list because of the needs of the children and the farm. And when she grew old and infirm, her children cared for her. Oh, how they cared for her!

"Hazel enjoyed her grandchildren and great grandchildren. She had eighteen of each. Their coming brought her joy especially in her last years. Their leaving also gave her joy! It was fitting that the last voice she heard before she breathed her last was the voice of her granddaughter, Amanda.

Hazel I was privileged to be a part of your family. It was the honor of my life that your children asked me to conduct your funeral. We love you, and thank the Lord for you. You bore your confinement and afflictions with a courageous spirit. You never gave up! And we'll never give up remembering you, especially when you sat in your easy chair with your baseball cap and an toothpick in your mouth. Goodbye. We hope to see you again Someday.

Band Boosters news

By: Cecilia Renner
Rockcastle County Band Boosters have been busy the past several weeks with several different fund raising events.

On Sept. 3 we were at the Livingstone Homecoming. On Sept. 26 we went down to Reno Valley and cleaned up after the Willie Nelson concert. Then on Oct. 1st we were in Mt. Vernon at the Bittersweet Festival with a booth. We held a raffle drawing that day for an In/Am/radio/cassette player and the lucky winner was Marie Stokely. A big thanks to all who stop and support the band when we have a booth at various functions. I also want to thank Alma Hoggard, Pat Bradley and Jean Richards and Junior Owens and Mike Renner for their help and support that makes our fund raiser a success. We meet the first Monday of the month around 7 p.m.

Rosamond Brown selected to Governor's Task Force

Educator Rosamond Brown has been selected to serve as a member of the Governor's Kentucky Appalachian Task Force.

Governor Jones established the Task Force in December of 1993 to assess program of eastern Kentucky. The Task Force issued a Preliminary Report in July which identified general policy recommendations for Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) and state strategic program development. As a member of the Education Committee, Mrs. Brown will participate in review of specific programs, identification of gaps, and help lay a foundation for region-wide strategic planning to be undertaken in 1995.

Mrs. Brown, assistant principal at Rockcastle County Middle School, was recently notified of her appointment of the Education Committee by Ronald Eller, Task Force Chair. She will attend the initial meeting on September 29, in Hazard.

This pumpkin weighing 130 pounds was grown by Brian Wynn on his father's farm in Orlando. Brian is the son of Bobby and Carolyn Wynn.

care was unnecessary. Hale bought his own diagnostic tests, the indictment says.

"By using this equipment as often as possible, without regard to medical necessity, (the medical center) made a substantial profit from the fees charged for the tests," the indictment says.

Hale even allegedly conducted a "test of the month" contest for his employees, where they could receive bonuses for increasing the frequency of a particular test.

Federal prosecutors say Medicaid and Medicare patients were also required to report in person for prescription refills.

"This was done for the purpose of giving the enterprise every opportunity to run any reimbursable test possible," the indictment says.

Hale faces up to 20 years in prison and a $500,000 fine on each of the racketeering charges. He could be sentenced for up to five years and fined $250,000 on the mail fraud charges.

In one count of the indictment, federal prosecutors are seeking forfeiture of at least $1 million in charges paid to Hale.

of Mt. Vernon.

Former L.E.S. principal Charles Carter said Tuesday that he was very proud of the great improvements made on the scores at Livingston, but that he was also proud of the overall high scores by his eighth grade. "The scores speak for themselves, our staff worked hard, very hard and our students did what they were asked to do, they were dedicated to improving and they did," he said.

"We were able to give a lot of individual attention to our students and I think the team effort that we put forth made a lot of difference with our students," he said.

Broadhead's fourth grade class also had the best test results in the county scoring some 22 points higher than the previous year. Mt. Vernon Elementary's fourth grade was the second best in the county with a 12 point improvement from a year ago. Livingston was third and Roundstone fourth.

The subjects students are tested in are math, science, social studies and reading.

Broadhead eighth graders scored highest in social studies and lowest in science, as did all the schools. Livingston's highest scores were in reading as was Mt. Vernon's and Roundstone's.

Fourth graders at Broadhead scored higher in math and lower in science. Just as their eighth grade counterparts, the fourth graders in each school scored lowest in science.

Mt. Vernon fourth graders scored highest in social studies, while Livingston fourth graders scored highest in reading as did Roundstone.

Seniors at RCHS improved almost eight points from a year ago, when their predecessors scored well below their baseline established in 1992.

"I am very pleased to see the progress we made in one year and I think much of the credit is due to the efforts of our teachers, they are working harder," RCHS principal Ronnie Cash said.

Even with the improvements

RCHS is still 2.1 of a point below where the state says they should be. But, according to Cash the final results will not be known until January when other factors will be computed into the score. (The medical center) made a substantial profit from the fees charged for the tests; the indictment says.

After RCHS's scores came back so low last year, the school entered into a state sponsored program to help their instruction program and although they are not under any obligation to do so, they will remain in that program this year as well, according to Cash. "We know we are doing good things at the high school and now we have some test results that prove it," he said.

As for the future, Superintendent Towery is very optimistic about further improvement. "I feel the schools in Rockcastle County are positioned to develop and implement the strongest and most effective instructional program ever experienced in the district. The emphasis is now being placed upon quality educational programs which will produce an increase in student performance as measured by KIRIS," he said Monday.

"I see evidence every day in our schools of an instructional program changing to address new and expanded learning goals which include skills in the areas of problem solving, communication, technology and teamwork," the superintendent said.

Kentucky documentary revisits Campbellville's old 'Picture Show'

There was a time when Main Street was the focal point of a town and the movie house was the centerpiece. The differences between movie-going today and in years past are dramatic. At the Picture Show is a one hour documentary airing on KET at 10 p.m. Saturday, October 15, that explains what the "picture show" was like at the historic Alhambra Theater was like from the 1920s to the 1940s in the town of Campbellville.

Republican Rally

By Juanita Davis
 Rockcastle Republican Chairman

Saturday, Oct. 1, at the Bittersweet Festival, the Republican party opened the campaign for Harold Rogers for Congressman in the 5th District in Rockcastle County. Free hot dogs, pepsi, doughnuts and coffee were served. Tom Handy came from London, opened the program with a speech. Curt Roberts band furnished the music. The Bittersweet Cloggers performed and later music was furnished by another band and local speeches. Chances were sold on an iron kettle, won by Juanita Davis, a calculator, won by Carla Carpenter.

cassette player won by Alonzo McCollum, a cane won by Bobby Bullens and a fishing rod won by Denver Miller, who later auctioned it off and donated the money to the Republican party.

We would like to thank, E.C. Porter, Super Saver and Carter's Grocery for the hot dogs and Joe Howard, our local jailer for the coffee.

I sincerely thank our faithful members of the Republican party who worked all day.

We urge you to come out and vote on Nov. 8 for Harold Rogers. Your vote is greatly needed. You, who are not registered to vote, please do so by Oct. 10 at Norma Houli's office.

Gospel Quartet Weekend at Renfro Valley Oct., 15 & 16

"Mention gospel groups with 'staying power' and two names stand out: The Chuck Wagon Gang and J.D. Sumner and The Stamps. The Stamps are the oldest male quartet in existence today and the Chuck Wagon Gang is in close contention. Both groups appear live at Renfro Valley during Gospel Quartet Weekend, Oct. 15 and 16.

The Chuck Wagon Gang, which traces its history back to the early 1930s, enjoys a rich heritage in gospel music. Their recording career spans more than 40 years and sales of more than 30 million records. They were the first gospel group to record on a major label the now-standard, "I'll Fly Away" and are included in the Smithsonian Institute's "Classic American Recordings" roster. The Chuck Wagon Gang performs on Saturday, Oct. 15, at 12:30 p.m.

In 1924, Frank and V.O. Stamps organized five talented singers into the Stamps Quartet, and the rest is history. Although the singers have changed, the commitment to pure, blended harmony has not. Stamps leader, J.D. Sumner joined the group in the 1970s and helped fill the group's trophy case with nearly every accolade and award given. Fans of J.D. Sumner and The Stamps will want to catch their concert at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 16.

Both concerts will be held in Renfro Valley's New Barn theatre and capacity crowds are expected for both. Renfro Valley urges reservations for both shows. Tickets are $7 for each concert; seats may be reserved by phoning the Renfro Valley box office at 1-800-765-7464.

property is also up 2.6 cents compared to 2.5 cents last year.

Real Estate for Public Service Companies is 7.8 cents per $100 this year.

Real estate for the school district remains the same in both real estate and tangible property at 44.8 cents per $100 assessment.

Real estate for the health department remains the same for both real estate and tangible property at 3.2 cents per $100.

The Soil Conservation Service also remains the same, .007 per $100. The tangible assessment is not available.

The Library rate is the same. Real estate is 1.5 cents per $100 and tangible is 1.52 cents.

An .102 per acre forsoverland tax will be levied on all privately owned forest land in Rockcastle for forest fire protection.

The total equalized assessment for the county for 1993-94 was $232,069,695. It was up in 1994-95 to $237,479,565.

Countywide total equalized real estate assessment stands now at $175,006,292 the tangible assessment is $6,130,540.

The doctors were usually paid for providing the bogus medical treatment, the indictment says. Their office staff also assisted Ramsey and his co-conspirators in filling out and filing the numerous insurance claim forms, the indictment says.

Hale also is charged with defrauding Medicaid, Medicare and TennCare. The indictment says that since 1980, Hale and his associates operated their practice "with the primary objective of making as much money as possible."

Patients were hospitalized, given prescriptions and scheduled for diagnostic test even though the medical

All classes and staff were invited to tour their display area and hear details on the swellings, clothing and habits of Native Americans. A demonstration of certain dances was given and participation was encouraged. Face painting was one highlight of the tour and designs to choose from were actual designs used by different tribes. Bittersweet Festival 1994

A good crowd attended the annual Bittersweet Festival in Mt. Vernon Saturday. Among those in attendance were these young farmers helping man the pumpkin display in front of the Bank of Mt. Vernon. They are from left: Josh, Chris, Andrew and John Coby Robbins. Josh and John are the sons of Kevin and Cindy Robbins and Chris and Andrew are the sons of Mike and Peggy Robbins - the actual farmers responsible for the display.

No festival is complete without a little bit of politicking and Saturday was no exception as several members of the local Republican party got together on the courthouse lawn. Shown above with Republican County Chairman, Mrs. Juanita Davis, middle, are jailer Joe Howard, left, and circuit clerk Denver Miller. (See related story in A-section)

The local chapter of Hospice had a booth set up during Saturday's festival. The booth was worked by Charlotte Hansel a volunteer, Nancy Isaac, nursing coordinator and Ann Mullins, office director. Hospice provides care for terminally ill patients in their home and works with family members during the period to help them cope with the illness. For more information call 256-3577.

Jeremy Reynolds, son of Rick and Joy Reynolds of Willailla, was on hand at Saturday's festival displaying his limited edition prints and original paintings. Above he is holding one of his best sellers, Old Kentucky Home. Jeremy is a seventh grade student at Rockcastle Middle School.

Dear Editor,
I am trying to locate the many depots that were on the Lebanon branch of the L&N, in Photos. I have reached Broadhead and would like to find the depots that were in your area. I came from your town a couple of months ago and stopped at a flea market on the top of a big hill, just before we reached I-75, and asked if they knew of anyone who might have a photo of such places. Someone there told me to inquire at your office.
I lived at Gravel Switch for many years, saw the old depot, played on the dock, watched the trains come through, but never did I once think to take one picture. I did locate a fellow down in Tennessee that had a picture of the old depot and purchased two pictures. I would be delighted if you could help me with my quest. News-paper articles would help if you have any. It might know of someone there in your area who has photographs. I would like to purchase the pictures or negatives.

I was wondering if the trains come through a tunnel, to enter Mt. Vernon.

non, or if they come through a cut. I hope one day to come up in your area and do some filming. We also went through a town of Livingston and perhaps you might know of someone from that area also who could help. My wife and her sister do research on kin folk and I never get a chance to stop to inquire of railroad places, cause I would have to listen to them nag all day and a fellow just can't win that way plus the odds are 2 to 1 so I keep my mouth shut and drive.

If you can help me with my quest, or know of someone in your area I would appreciate it much. I am,

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

My wife and I recently attended the tenth Annual Livingston Homecoming over Labor Day weekend. It was our first time to attend, and we had a wonderful time.

The music and food were great. I went there with a head full of memories of friends I went to school with, some I hadn't seen in over thirty years. Some I recognized, others I didn't.

Whomever was in charge of the fire works did a fine job. After the fire works we said our good-byes to some friends. As we were leaving Livingston I felt happy we made this trip and sad that I was once again leaving my birth place, but my memories of a fun weekend will last a life time.

Thanks to all of you who had a hand in making this event possible.

Dear Editor,

"All things work together for good to them that love God" (Romans 8:28) That is a verse of scripture people can readily quote to another who may be suffering adversity. But when they face simulate adversities themselves are they so ready to apply it to their situation? Possibly not. Nevertheless that truth is applicable to all of God's children and knowing that all things work together for their good. They can "rejoice in the Lord always." That is what Paul and Silas did, even though they were in prison and their feet fastened in the stocks, we read in the Bible that when Paul and Silas were preaching to the people of Macedonia, telling them the story of Christ and His power to save, that the devil started some of his work too. Day after day a damsel, who was possessed with a spirit of divination, followed them, saying "These men are the servants of the most high God; which shew unto us the way of salvation."

She was saying something that was true. The devil quotes scripture. One might think that the Lord had done something for that girl, because of the truth she was telling. She seemed to be advertising for Paul and Silas, but they did not want the devil to advertise their campaign. Paul was greatly grieved at that girl, and one day when she was following them, he turned and said, "I command thee in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her." We can understand from that statement where fortune telling comes from, for as soon as the devil was cast out, her fortune telling was over. Her masters saw that all hope of their gain was gone. They could not make money because of her soothsaying any more. Their next thought was: we will put those men in prison! "They caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marketplace unto the rulers," And brought them to the magistrates, saying, these men, being Jews, do exceedingly trouble our city." (Acts 16:19,20,7).

The multitude of the city rose up together against these men of God; and the magistrates rent off their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten. "And when they had laid many stripes upon them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely: "Who, having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison and made their feet fast in the stocks." What a miserable position these men were in! With their feet in the stocks they could not change their position very easily. There they sat, bones aching, backs bleeding. If we had been there we might have said to Paul: "Why didn't you leave that girl alone? She wasn't saying anything very bad, just telling the people that we were the servants of God. Why didn't you leave well enough alone? Now you have gotten us into trouble." How we like to put the blame on someone else! I believe it is a stench in the nostrils of God to lay the blame on others and not come right out and say, "I am the guilty one." It is easy to pass the blame over to someone else, but God likes the person who will swear to his own hurt and change not (Psalm 15:4).

Paul and Silas blamed no one. They were in one accord as they sat there in that dark prison.

Some "Straight Talk" On Banking Today... That Can Make Banking Better For You...

Hats Off to Our Farmers

Throughout the years we've seen several changes in farming, and none of them seem to make things any simpler. So our hats are off to today's farmers. They deserve the respect of everyone.

With each year, farming seems to be getting more complex. Today's farmer must be an economist and agronomist, not to mention a mechanic, veterinarian, chemist, biologist, purchasing agent, commodity broker, computer programmer, and the list goes on and on.

When you stop to consider what today's farmers are up against, you realize just what kind of a job they are doing feeding a hungry world.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In Jn. 13:34-35 Jesus said "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if you have love one to another." Had God never commanded love? Yes, in Lev. 19:18, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Then how was this command to love one another, "new?" It could be the extent of this love, "As I have loved you," Jesus said. "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends," Ch. 15:13. Primarily this commandment to love one-another was new, because it would be an identifying mark of his disciples. The world would be able to see the love of brethren at work. A first century historian wrote "Behold how these Christians love one another."

The new testament describes at length the kind of love Jesus commands to be among his disciples. Peter said "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently" 1 Pet. 1:22. God desires a sincere, unfeigned, not pretended love, from a pure heart, and it is to be fervent.

It is a love that emphasizes action more than words, "But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? My little child: let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth." 1 Jn. 3:17-18. Brotherly love is a "cement" that ties the people of God together, "And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness." Col. 3:14. Brotherly love is forbearing, "with all lowliness and meekness, with long suffering forbearing one another in love," Eph. 4:2. And the thing about brotherly love, there is always room for growth, "But as touching brotherly love ye need not that I write unto you: for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another. And indeed ye do it toward all the brethren which are in all Macedonia but we beseech you brethren, that ye increase more and more." 1 Thes. 4:9-10.

YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP'S VALUE DOES NOT DEPEND ON ITS SIZE

We tend to visualize a church, synagogue, etc. as a huge edifice on the order of a cathedral, but this is a far cry from many a house of worship. Particularly in a small town, it can be any sort of a structure. However, it must depend heavily on the handful of worshippers who comprise the congregation; for it is they who help it grow and prosper by their own support and by bringing in others to join them. One such church recently moved from the town hall into a very impressive arrangement of mobile homes. The congregation consists of perhaps forty people, whose generosity nonetheless managed to provide a piano and an organ. When dedicated people are determined to accomplish a goal, nothing is impossible. Attend YOUR House of Worship regularly and help it any way you can. Remember that no matter how small it is, God's love is always there to guide you.

A church can be any place where two or more people assemble to worship God.

Touches

A shortstop in Cincinnati to "Touch those I love" was taken last week and I not only touched a few of the very dear people in my life, I spent a few nights with one of them, my sister, Kate. Old age may be a barrier to many of the active things we have enjoyed in the past, but it has not hindered us from having fun while we sit at the table playing some interesting game. Her husband, Jim, also joins in the fun of fussing about bad plays and crowing about the winning ones.

Conversation is saved till we tire of playing, then the few small hours of the morning finds each of us still trying for a chance to get a word in. These are the hours when the quiet enjoyment of being together takes place. We each bring back our own memories of a time when we were all one big, fussing, but close knit and happy family. It also brings to reality the fragility of life and what a short time we have left and how important it is we make the most of it. There are four of us siblings left from a family of ten kids. Ish, Kate and I are three of the fortunate ones for we still have our homes and are able, with occasional help, to go and come as we please.

Our brother, Herb, is not so lucky. One of my days in the Cincinnati area was spent helping him get settled into a retirement home. This is one for those who need assistance in their daily living habits, such as eating healthy meals and keeping themselves, as well as their apartment, clean and presentable at all times. This was a sad day for me in many ways for even though it is a beautiful home and he seemed content to be moving into it I saw him taking a step into a new way of life. One where he is being helped to cope with the infirmities of getting older. The stress, or trauma, from his recent triple bypass heart surgery has left him unable to cope with many of the problems of daily living. When one sees a person who has always been immaculate with his personal hygiene, home and car, allow dirt, grease and grime, to take the place of shining cleanliness we know something is wrong and it is time for them to have help. So...now he has help to remind him to do...all these things for himself which he has always before done without thinking about it. His hands were the willing and able hands to perform many duties that were unpleasant to others.

These hands took care of our dad in his final illness when dad would not allow any others to do the unpleasant task of cleaning up after him. These hands soothed our mom when she was in a nursing home and needed the feel of a family hand and a gentle kiss on her cheek before he tucked her in bed for the night. He and his wife Ann, who is now in a nursing home, were the ones who came to my rescue when Mat was sick. He not only visited with Mat while I took a break but he did not neglect household chores that many women shun. He realized I did not have time to keep up all the things that needed to be done around the house so he did them. One day when he looked in the oven for something I heard his funny little tch, tch, tch. He is a larynx-entire, having lost his voice to cancer some thirty five years ago, so has devised his own way of communicating and this tch, tch was a "shame on you" for allowing this oven to get so dirty." Then he proceeded to clean it up. He was with me and my kids during Mat's final hours and went straight to the farm when there was no longer anything to do at the hospital and began readying things for the kids return there. He didn't want them to have to enter a vacant and cold house at this time so he had a warm house and pots of coffee ready for their return.

This is the man who raised five children and is grandpa to a slew of grandchildren and great grandchildren. Now he has been put on the remnant shelf, (retirement home) to see if he can once again be encouraged to live a normal and useful life. So his problems are the reason for the subject I am writing about today.

Remnant shelf, or Ragbag?
The remnant counter in any large department store is always a place that attracts those seeking a bit of leftover material from a full bolt of cloth that can be used for many things that only require a portion of the former bolt of cloth. These bits and pieces of brightly colored, and sometimes expensive, cloth can be made into anything from a treasured heirloom quilt to a simple handmade toy for a favorite child. This is proof the original bolt with it's yards of material used for countless garments or decorations was not considered remnant when there were only remnants of it left. It was still sought for the beauty left in the tiny scraps.

We, the older generation, are also remnants of a once useful and productive life. When we were young and our life was one big bundle of energy, we were filled with vigor and activity we also had work that was used and appreciated. But now that time has dimmed our eyes, slowed our footsteps and speech, took the spring from our step and dulled our hearing we also are being put on the shelf as a remnant of better days that have now become a part of our past. The retirement and nursing homes are not a great joy of absorbing some of these remnants of the past but there are also some gaps in our society that has relegated many of them to the rag bag. These are the old people who have no place to go and no one to care for them. They can be found in out of the way places such as a lonely house where they try to take care of themselves without the loving care of someone who cares enough to see if they have enough to eat or enough heat to keep them warm. They can be found in a well kept home where loneliness eats their hearts out and brings them to the point of desperation, where suicide is the only answer. Of course it may be boring to sit with many of them and listen to their complaints but there are many who do not complain but have a well of knowledge that can be tapped into if one listens closely. If some of our lawmakers would take the time to listen to some of them they may learn a few things about how to stop some of the crime and lawlessness on our streets by old fashioned punishment instead of reward and toleration. They were around then this was the way law and order was kept.

Many of these bits and pieces of humanity that have been cast aside as worthless because they have outlived the expectations of a time to die can be salvaged from the remnant shelf or rag bag and once again be made into treasures of knowledge and usefulness.

We need to be needed. A clipping tacked on my refrigerator states, "Life's heaviest burden is having nothing to carry." We should take the weight of nothing to do off the backs of our seniors, using what strength and knowledge they have left by including them in things they are still capable of doing. They, we, are still capable of doing many things and are more than willing to do them if we are only asked to do so.

Her resourceful leadership will be much missed by the club but her energy and skills will serve her well in her new post. She will, of course, remain an active member of the Rockcastle Kiwanis Club. Mrs. Mizze is quoted as saying, "The growth and success of the Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club is a direct result not of her presidency but the enterprise, enthusiasm and dedication of the officers, committee chairs and its members this past year." Lt. Governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee District, division six, of Kiwanis International, Nancy M. McCall, was present to install the new officers. Music was provided by talented Rebecca Burdette and Brandon Powell. Guests included some members of the Kiwanis Club of Corbin.

Murphy serving in the Mediterranean and Red Seas

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Harold W. Murphy, son of Howard and Freda Murphy of Mt. Vernon is currently halfway through a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean and Red Seas aboard the destroyer USS Conolly.

In June, Murphy visited the French Riviera on the Mediterranean Sea in honor of local D-Day commemorations for those who lost their lives in the liberation of France during World War II.

Transiting the Suez Canal into the Red Sea, Murphy's ship became involved in supporting United Nations sanctions by intercepting ships headed to and from Iraq. So far, the USS Conolly crew has boarded more than 90 vessels in the Red Sea. Murphy also has visited Egypt and Djibouti during the voyage. The USS Conolly crew spent the Fourth of July in Djibouti and attended several festivities at the American Embassy and American Club, including a dinner hosted by the U.S. Ambassador to Djibouti.

Mobile and flexible, today's naval forces can deploy swiftly to remote areas of the world. Whether serving as part of international coalitions or providing humanitarian assistance, the Navy-Marine Corps team can respond quickly to demonstrate U.S. power and resolve from the sea.

The 1988 graduate of Shelby County High School of Shelbyville, joined the Navy in June 1988.

News From Kiwanis

By Bev Rockwell

The Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club held its annual installation dinner at the Kastle Inn September 29th. Elected as president was Lorin Rockwell, a retired Air Force Lt. Col. and now Trial Commissioner for the county. Selected as vice president was Linda Gregory, speech and language pathologist at the Rockcastle Hospital and graduate of Eastern Kentucky University. Chosen as secretary was Maude Randolph, retired secondary school counselor and graduate of the Appalachian State University of North Carolina. Jerry Fish, the assistant prosecuting attorney for Rockcastle County and graduate of Salmon P. Chase College of Law, Northern Kentucky University, will be the new Kiwanis treasurer. He succeeds the office held by Amy Hamm, a local business woman and co-owner of Mt. Vernon Oil and Tire. Through Miss Hamm's diligence and skill this past year in office, the post of treasurer will transition to Mr. Fish with ease.

Each of these new officers will endeavor to preserve the goals set by previous officers and help guide the Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club in it's efforts to serve the community and it's young children. The Rockcastle Kiwanis Club raised over $3000 this past year to give to several char-

Sugar Free Desserts

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

In the past few months the visitors at the Senior Centers in the county have taste-tested several different diabetic foods, mostly diabetic desserts. These taste tests have been in preparation for a lesson on "Sugar Free Desserts" to be offered by the Extension Service on October 27th. Free diabetic cookbooks have also been given to about 150 people from all over the county.

Here are some tips on cooking without refined sugar. If you have one of the free cookbooks, it might be helpful to add these tips to the front: If a recipe calls for fruit juice, use only unsweetened fruit juice. Sweetened fruit juices have sugar or corn syrup added.

When a recipe calls for pineapple fruit juice concentrate, Minute Maid brand works best. Minute Maid pre-cooks and processes their concentrates in a special way. Use of other brands may result in cakes that deflate or pies that are runny. If the grocery does not have Minute Maid pineapple concentrate, you may substitute any brand of apple juice concentrate.

When baking soda or powder is added to a mixture that contains fruit concentrates, the mixture should be cooked right away. When baking soda or powder is allowed to sit in a fruit mixture, it will not rise properly. Correct measurement is essential for recipes that have baking soda or powder on the ingredient lists.

If you are concerned with your cholesterol intake, 2 egg whites can be substituted for 1 egg in a recipe. When your recipe calls for 3 eggs, 6 egg whites may be used instead.

Here's a recipe without refined sugar which will be tested by some of our Senior Citizens this month. Give it a try at your house, you might not even miss the sugar.

Super-sweet blueberry muffins

- 1 cup mashed banana
- 2 egg white or 1 extra large egg
- 1/3 cup vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup unsweetened pineapple juice concentrate (Minute Maid) or unsweetened apple juice concentrate (any brand)
- 1 tablespoon water
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries, left to thaw in a strainer
- 2 teaspoons baking soda

1) Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Prepare 18 standard-sized muffin cups with paper liners.

2) In a large bowl, stir together banana, egg, oil, concentrate and water. Add flour and mix. Gently stir in blueberries. Stir in baking soda quickly, and then mix (28 to 30 beats). Immediately spoon batter into prepared muffin cups.

3) Bake about 20 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center of one muffin comes out clean. As soon as they are done, remove muffins from tins and cool on a wire rack. Serve warm or cool completely and store in an airtight container in the refrigerator or freezer. Yield: 18 muffins

Per Muffin: 119 calories, 2.1 grams protein, 4.2 grams fat, 178.3 grams carbohydrates, 100.4 mg. sodium

Diabetic exchanges: 1 Bread, 1 Fat
For more information on the class entitled "Sugar Free Desserts" or a diabetic cookbook, call 256-2403. Only 20 cookbooks remain and they won't be reprinted, so call today if you would like a copy.

Ten free shade trees given

Ten free shade trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during October 1994.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The 10 shade trees are Sugar Maple, Red Oak, Pin Oak, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Weeping Willow, River Birch, Tuliptree, Silver Maple and Red Maple.

"Spectacular fall colors are among the many benefits of these beautiful shade trees," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Nov. 1 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12 inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Pop can tab collection

Just over eight months ago the Rockcastle County Homemakers began to collect aluminum tabs from pop cans. Several individuals and local businesses have been instrumental in collecting tabs for leukemia and cancer children.

Indian Summer Camp in Irvine, is putting together a camp for these youth to attend. It is very expensive to send one child to camp, over $325.

In six months, the Rockcastle County Homemakers collected 259 pounds, and statewide they collected over eight tons to help these children.

The Cooperative Extension Service and the local Family Resource Center at Brodhead Elementary School have teamed up to collect the tabs at Brodhead School. Each class, K-5, have been asked to help contribute. Saticia Morgan, Family Resource Center Coordinator at Brodhead School, will be collecting the tabs at her office. So if you are a student at Brodhead, please help send these young people to Indian Summer Camp.

If you would like to collect these tabs for us, please bring them to the County Extension Office, or call 256-2403.

Farmers at risk for eye injuries

For Kentucky's 174,000 farmers, safety is an important factor that needs to be emphasized throughout the year. However, it is never more important than during this hectic season when farmers are cutting and putting up tobacco.

When all types of injuries are considered, farming is probably the most dangerous occupation in Kentucky. A study by the Kentucky Department for Health Services, Division of Epidemiology and the National Institute for Occupational Safety indicates that for every one farming fatality there are eight hospitalizations and 75 outpatient visits. Trauma costs the Commonwealth more lost productivity than either cancer or heart disease.

The study also reveals that 15 percent of farm injuries involve the head and 3 percent the eye itself. This represents nearly 100 ocular injuries reported in the state over the last 20 months. When we think that most of these are people with families to support, the consequences are tragic in terms of lost dollars and work time.

Here are a few suggestions for preventing eye injuries: Wear wrap around safety glasses when using saws, hammering or grinding. (Polycarbonate lenses will stop almost all wood, metal or plastic fragments which impact on them.) Safety shields are sight-savers when pouring chemicals, draining batteries, or preventing corrosion on tools and equipment. Safety glasses are available through your local eye care provider. Call the Kentucky Eye Institute at 1-800-432-9278 for more information.

The Descent of White Pine Needles

As autumn nears, brilliant reds, oranges and yellows shine from a vast hardwood population, but what of the color changes in pine trees?

With fall coming, you often notice brown needles have fallen and collected at the base of many pine trees, particularly white pines. White pines can lose needles' where insects or disease have set in. But most white pines usually lose needles as a result of autumn.

If you look at the trees, you can tell whether or not insect pests or disease contaminated your white pines.

With normal fall color changes, white pine needles (as well as other pine tree needles) will change from their usual dark green to a brownish-yellow tint around the main trunks of pine trees. Colors then turn brown, and at the first of winter needles eventually drop from limbs.

If pine trees are infested with insects or contaminated by disease, however, the exterior needles will turn from green to brown - just opposite of normal inner-needle color change. If you notice your pine tree needles changing color from the outside, contact the County Extension Agent at 256-2403 for a closer examination.

Attention: All Women 35 Years of Age and Older.

Current statistics indicate that one of nine American women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Mammography screening has become an important tool in the fight against breast cancer. The American Cancer Society recommends a baseline mammogram at age 35 and screening mammograms every one or two years for women age 40 to 50. After 50 years of age they recommend routine annual screenings. The American Cancer Society has declared October "Breast Cancer Awareness Month." For the month of October, the Rockcastle Hospital is offering screening mammograms for the low price of $65.00. This includes the Radiologist fee for interpretation. We have an accredited G.E. Selenograph machine and our technologist Janice Mullins, is certified in mammography. For an appointment call 256-2195, Extension 5012. This offer will not be extended into the month of November.

experience for the summer. Twelve members were present with three visitors.

The devotional was read by Betty Lou Whitaker, our newest members. New officers for the year were elected. They are president, Ora Lee Hurst; vice president, Millie Eaton; secretary, Norettia Thompson; treasurer, Christine Taylor and reporter, Bobbie Durham.

We now have our 95-'96 calendar planners for sale. You may purchase them for Christmas gifts from any member for $2 each. Proceeds will go for the upkeep of the Quail Community Park.

We played a game called "How Good a Reporter Are you?" The hostess was asked to leave the room while we were asked to answer ten questions about her. We found that most of us were not very observant at all. However, we had fun trying to remember things about Marie. Betty Lou Whitaker won the prize for answering the most questions. The hostess had prepared very delicious food for us to enjoy.

Our next meeting will be Oct. 24th at 7 p.m. at Christine Taylors. Everyone remember to come dressed in your Halloween Costume.

KET programs make after school TV worthwhile

More than 1.5 million children are enrolled in before or after school programs in the United States. In quality programs, care providers guide them in activities - many of which include television or video - until their parents pick them up on their way home from work. KET is helping after-school providers discover exciting educational activities and resources to enhance care programs. ASK-TV (After School Kids TV), airing on KET at 1 p.m. Monday, Oct. 10, is a training videoconference for child care providers, educators and parents that demonstrates how KET children's programs can be used interactively as entertaining learning tools.

Rockcastle County Schools
Annual Performance Report
Edition

A publication of the Rockcastle County Board of Education
October 6, 1994

The Rockcastle County Board of Education Provides Equal Education and Employment Opportunities

Superintendent's Message

The Rockcastle County Board of Education is very pleased and proud to present the 1994 Annual Performance Report (APR) to the citizens of our school district.

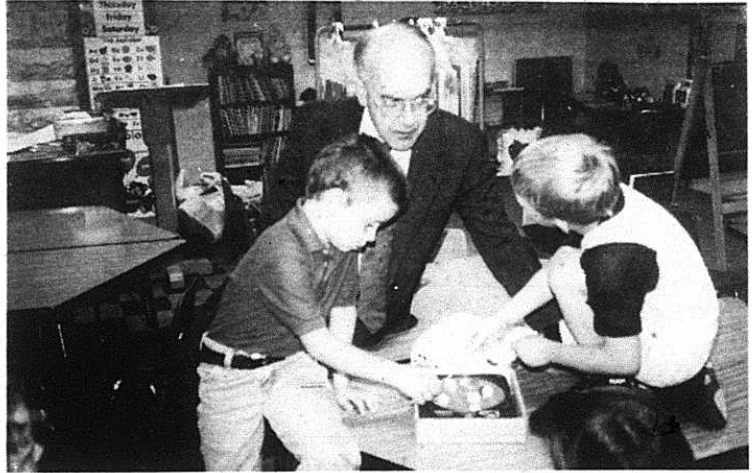

The APR is a compilation of important statistics and information which gives an overall profile of the school district. The APR is published once each year for public review and is a means of keeping all stakeholders informed and is further used to promote continuous improvement.

It is important to note that the assessment data reported for 1994, taken from the Kentucky Instructional Results Information System (KIRIS), reflect significant improvement over the 1993 KIRIS results. This is only a portion of the total KIRIS results but it is the primary component which allows us to conclude that our students' academic performance as measured by KIRIS has greatly improved.

The ultimate assessment goal of KERA is over an extended period of time (20 years) to move student performance to the proficiency level. The basic premise being promoted is that all students can learn and our goal is to demonstrate continuous improvement of all students.

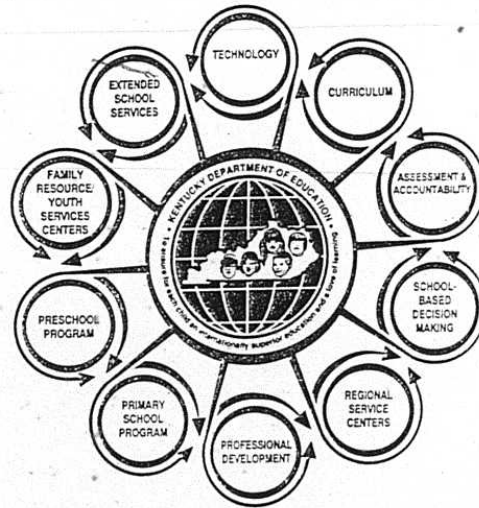

We welcome your questions regarding this assessment program and the results we have received. Each school has individual results and will be sharing information with the parents served.

I encourage you to review the goals for the 94-95 school year and to support our schools as we continue with an agenda for school improvement. We are building an exemplary educational program as a result of the commitment of a professional, competent staff and the support and encouragement of parents and community.

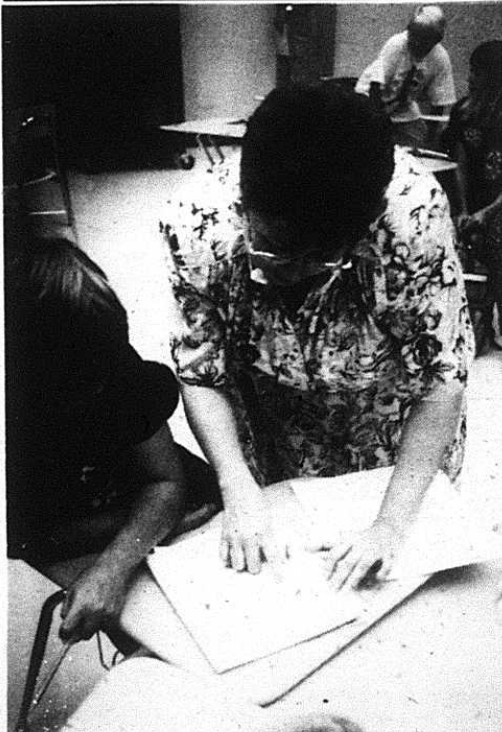

Supt. Bige W. Towery, Jr. with Brodhead Elementary School students.

SYSTEMIC REFORM

These initiatives are the heart of the Kentucky Education Reform Act. Acting together they will help ensure that all children succeed in school.

The Writing Report Card

The National Center for Education Statistics announces the release of The Writing Report Card which presents findings from the 1992 National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). The Writing Report Card summarizes national data and findings on both public and private school students. Descriptions of how much and how well American students write; what home, school and community characteristics are related to writing achievement; and what classroom approaches are being used in writing are included.

NAEP asked a nationally representative sample of 30,000 4th-, 8th-, and 12th-grade students to respond to a variety of writing tasks. Each student in the assessment completed either two 25-minute writing tasks or one 50-minute task in response to a persuasive, a narrative, or an informative task. Student response to each writing task was evaluated by trained raters using a modified primary-trait analysis, which focused on the quality of the response.

The major findings of the report indicate that most students have an understanding of the basic stylistic features of narrative and informative writing, but many students at each grade level have serious difficulty producing effective informative, narrative and persuasive writing. In addition, even the best students who could write relatively effective narrative and informative pieces had difficulty with persuasive tasks.
