Sweet

Sour

Whoops

Sorry folks, I went to the sugar bowl for something sweet, and it was empty, went to the refrigerator for sour lemons and the shelf was empty so how can I write about anything if there is nothing there to write about. Hmmm, maybe there is something left in the honey pot or "lasses" just I haven't searched in that direction yet. Then there is also the bottle of vinegar that just may have a bit of sour flavor left if it hasn't gone the way of old fashioned home made vinegar and got mother on the top of it and been discarded. Huff, you mean you never heard of mother on top of the vinegar? Well, it looks like I found something to tell you about after all.

Now this mother is not your mommy drowning in the pickle juice. This mother is the thick jellied covering on top of old apple cider vinegar that does not harm it one bit. One simply pushes it, or blows it, back off the top of the liquid beneath then pour the ripe and well preserved vinegar into a new container for use. I have heard of the mother being used to start a whole new batch of vinegar by carefully slipping it off the old vinegar, put in a new container, add water, then let it age. Simple and cheap. Workable?

Good old apple cider vinegar, the liquid made from sour apples that can be mixed with the sweet of honey and be made into a cure for many of the ailments of mankind. What? You mean you have never read the vinegar and honey book? Great reading whether you agree or not to the authors' belief in the magic and common sense of old time remedies made from the fruits of nature:

"Prayer is key to revival"

By Michael R. York

Dr. Rob Finley, founder and president of Prayer Resources, Memphis, TN, conducted a campus revival at Clear Creek Baptist Bible College, Pineville, September 27-29. The morning and evening services focused on the significance of prayer for spiritual awakening. "Prayer is the key to revival," he told the students and faculty.

Stressing the importance of a personal quiet time, Finley stated, "Your ministry will never go beyond the measure of time you spend in the secret places with God. Before ministers fail with moral impurity, financial dishonesty or doctrinal error, they disregard their private prayer life."

"The hardest place to maintain a consistent prayer practice, Finley claimed, is with your spouse. "There will be no revival in the church until there is a revival in the home," he said. He also warned of besetting sins that hinder revival and urged his listeners to repent. "America will experience revival when it begins in individuals." Depicting the nation's perversity and moral chaos, he asked, "Are we heading toward judgement?" "No!" he cried. "We are already under judgement."

Dr. Rob Finley, center, president of Prayer Resources and West Judy, right, speak with Clear Creek Baptist Bible College president, Dr. Bill D. Whittaker, left.

Illustrating how revival is manifested in unassuming persons and unexpected places, Finley underscored the value of making a stand wherever God is working. "Satan will get his greatest victories in the seemingly insignificant areas of your life," he cautioned.

Finley concluded that revival would come to a praying people whose prayer was personal, purging, prevailing, pure, powerful, persuasive, purposeful, prosperous, and perpetual. His invitation to experience an intangible touch from God was well received by the campus and community.

Dr. Finley has spoken in more than 450 churches in 24 states and six foreign nations. He is a graduate of Rhodes College, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, and Luther Rice Seminary. He has ten years pastoral experience in Southern Baptist churches and taught Bible for seven years in Christian schools. His thorough command of Scripture enables him to communicate capably in both pulpit and teaching forums. He has authored an encompassing manual on prayer entitled Recapturing Biblical Intercourse and a revival meditation guide entitled Biblical Principles From The Parables of Jesus.

Dr. Finley and his wife, Judy Staggers Finley, established Prayer Resources in 1985 as a writing and teaching ministry designed to restore God's people to prayer for revival and global evangelism. They travel together and both are available for speaking. The Finleys have two grown daughters and one granddaughter. They are preparing for the birth of their second grandchild in November.

Clear Creek is a theological institute that focuses on ministry training for adults. For more information about the school, or Dr. Rob Finley's Prayer Resources, contact Clear Creek Baptist Bible College, 300 Clear Creek Road, Pineville, KY, 40977 (606)337-3196.

Smile for today!
The preacher was talking to the second grade Sunday School class about heaven. After he finished describing how wonderful a place it is, he asked the class, "How many of you want to go to heaven?"
Everyone raised a hand except for a little boy at the end of the table. "Why didn't you raise your hand?" the preacher asked.
"Because my mom told me to come home right after Sunday School."

The date for the first craft class has been set. We will meet October 19th at 1 p.m. and there will be materials available for a craft on the first day. We will decide what to make at the next meeting on the first day. A lot of people have expressed interest in the crafts so we're hoping to see all those that are interested especially at the first class.

The Children's Story Hour has been moved to Tuesdays at 1 p.m. We hope this will not be an inconvenience for any of the mothers. A good group of children have been taking part in the story hour and we want to continue having interesting things for the preschoolers. The mothers have told us that their little ones feel important having a program just for them. Some of them have brothers and sisters in school and they have felt left out so this is something for them to do. All children are welcome to the Story Hour.

I'd like to thank all the friends that remembered me on my birthday, especially those that I knew when I was bookmobile librarian. I always enjoy hearing from them and thanks for remembering me. I had a great birthday even if it was a milestone in my life. But I've heard something good comes from everything so hope that's true. And I shouldn't forget my family. My daughters-in-law fixed dinner for me and I had a beautifully decorated cake done by my son. I have four grandsons between the ages of three and ten and they helped me celebrate. Again, thanks to everyone.

Pam and I enjoyed our day at the Bittersweet Festival. It was a beautiful day and we met a lot of our friends that stopped by to see us. We sold quite a lot of our discarded books and we still have a cart of sale books at the library.

Some new books available at the library are: Dolly: My Life and Other Unfinished Business by Dolly Parton. . . She is a Grammy Award-winning singer and songwriter and has starred in such movies as Nine to Five, Steel Magnolias and Straight Talk. Her theme park, Dollywood, brings hundreds of thousands of fans each year to her native eastern Tennessee. A humanitarian as well as a savvy business woman, Dolly Parton is a multitalented dynamo who tops the list of America's favorite superstars.

Being as intensely private as she is talented, Dolly has never before talked openly about her life—the hard times as well as the good—until now. In this inspiring autobiography Dolly reveals how she got to where she is today, her nonsense attitude, and the down-home philosophy that has helped her from the start. This is the rags-to-riches story that millions have been waiting for, told as only Dolly can—with integrity, insight, and her unflinching sense of humor.

The PDR Family Guide to Prescription Drugs. . . This is a reference book based on America's leading professional drug handbook; Completely revised and updated with the latest new drugs. This is an especially helpful book for everyone that takes medication and are not sure about side effects, drug interactions and etc. The doctors don't always explain what the drugs will do or how they will affect you. This is an ideal way to clarify and supplement the information given by the healthcare provider.

A fiction book: How To Murder Your Mother-In-Law by Dorothy Cannell. . . Ms. Cannell, author of Femmes Fatal, Min's in the World and others, serves up the ubiquitous mother-in-law joke family style—with murder for the punch line.

In a flush of family feeling, Ellie Haskell decides to host an anniversary dinner party for her husband Ben's parents, Magdalene and Elijah. She has only the best of intentions in inviting a friend Magdalene hasn't seen in forty years. Beatrix Taffer is a seventy-year-old flower child—a vegetarian who doesn't like vegetables. And Magdalene certainly does not like the attention Elijah pays her ex-best friend throughout the evening.

Ellie is not surprised when dinner falls flat, along with the chocolate mousse, but neither she nor Ben is prepared for the revelation of a dark and terrible secret and the monumental row that ensues. At evening's end Ellie is left with more than a sink full of dirty dishes. Elijah has moved out to seek lodging elsewhere and Magdalene has taken up residence in her dear son's home.

Garnished with humor and spiced with danger, How To Murder Your Mother-in-Law is the perfect recipe for a mystery.

Wild Horses by Dick Francis. . . Once again Dick Francis rides back onto the best-seller lists with a taut suspense tale of enormous power and craft, set once more amid the volatile circus of thoroughbred racing.

Once a blacksmith, now famous and respected as a newspaperman, Valentine Clark knows everyone who is anyone in the racing world. Aged, confused, blind and dying, he harbors a daunting secret that he is desperate to rid of. He makes his last confession to his visiting film-director friend, Thomas Lyon, who in his delirium he mistakes for a priest. Unburdened and at peace, Valentine passes away, yet his legacy remains, guarded by Thomas.

Dick Francis's genius has never been better showcased than Wild Horses.

- Reunion -

The Hayes Reunion will be held at the Family Life Center Sunday, Oct. 23. All friends and relatives are invited to attend. Bring a dish -- come and join us.

Health Line news

Breast cancer strikes 1 in about 9 American women. According to the National Cancer Institute, the incidence of breast cancer has increased about 1 percent a year since the early 1970s. Researchers have identified several risk factors for breast cancer. We now know that a woman has a higher-than-average risk if she is over 50 years old or her mother or sister has had breast cancer, or she has had breast cancer before. However, all women need to be aware of the warning signals: A lump or thickening in the breast; a change in the breast shape; discharge from the nipple.

All women should practice monthly breast self exams. Women aged 20-40 should have a breast exam by a physician every three years and annually after age 40. Women should have a baseline mammogram between 35 and 40 and every 1 to 2 years from 40 - 49 and annually after age 50. Mammography is the best method available for detecting tumors in their early stages. It can discover a tumor up to two years before a doctor or patient would otherwise know it was there.

Many women tend to ignore the above advice, especially if they have no high risk factors. No woman can afford to be complacent - as is illustrated in this account from a 42 year old woman who was diagnosed with breast cancer in December 1990.

"I had no risk factors at all. . . There was just nothing. The one mistake I made was that I didn't have a mammogram. I knew I should start having them at 40, but I was only 42, I was very healthy, I had no risk factors, and I felt no urgency. I just hadn't gotten around to it."

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and we at the Rockcastle County Health Department are encouraging women of all ages to practice monthly breast self-examination and have mammograms as recommended. The earlier breast cancer is detected, the better the chances of survival and successful treatment. Call the health center at 256-2242 for a breast examination. The medical staff can also teach you breast self-examination, and schedule you for a mammogram if you meet age, risk and income guidelines. Call today.

Consumer rights a vital feature of Kentucky's Health Care Reform laws

By: Hazel Jackson County Extension Agent
for Home Economics

Consumers will have more information available about health care costs as a result of the 1994 Kentucky General Assembly's health care reform legislation.

Consumers will have greater access to information about the costs of the most frequently used health services and prescription drugs. The new law also defines patients' rights to their medical records.

Kentucky's health care reform will be phased in over the next two years. Certain provisions have already expanded patients' rights to information about the costs of certain health services and medicines identified by the Health Policy Board, created by the new law.

Under the new law health care providers, including hospitals, physicians, chiropractors, dentists, optometrists, physician assistants, nurse practitioners and licensed health care facilities, must post a listing of the maximum fee charged for the 25 procedures performed most often.

Pharmacists must post a listing of the maximum retail selling price of the 50 most commonly dispensed drugs, as identified by the Health Policy Board.

Hospitals and other health care facilities, such as nursing homes, must post a listing of the daily charge for room and board, including different types of nursing services.

Health care providers cannot charge for or receive payments or reimbursements that exceed the maximum amount posted or quoted.

Patients now have the right to receive, on request, a written statement of a health provider's charge for services before the service is rendered as well as the amount a health insurer will reimburse a provider for the services.

This means as a patient you may ask about the cost of a health service and the proportion likely to be reimbursed by your insurance company.

and how much you will likely have to pay yourself.

In addition to cost information, patients have new rights to their medical information. When a patient requests it, a health care provider must give a copy of the patient's medical records at no charge to that individual. Subsequent copies can cost a maximum of $1 per page.

A Christmas Prayer for One Broken Home
By: Anna C. Gilbert

There are lights on the tree in the window
There's a fire on the hearth and it's warm.

There is food to prepare for the table
But will we have to spend Christmas alone?

Lord, could you send us to someone who is hungry or needy,
Perhaps with no home of their own,
Someone who can share all our blessings

So we won't have to spend Christmas alone?

Is there a child with no new toy for Christmas
Or a mother with her children all gone,
A family with no food for their table
Or a man with no fire to keep warm?

We could tell them the story of Christmas
We could tell of our dear Saviour's birth

We can tell them how much He still loves us
And how He's soon coming back here to earth.

We'll share the lights in the window
We'll share the warmth from our fire
We'll share the food from our table
And we'll give of the love in our heart.

I'm the mother of warm loving children
Their father has left us and gone.
I thought Christmas meant caring and sharing
Yet we have to spend Christmas alone.

Could you send us to someone who is lonely
Perhaps with no one of their own.
Someone who can share all our blessings
So we won't have to spend Christmas alone?

Bitter-Sweet Forgiveness
By: Anna C. Gilbert

There's people all around me
Who say that I'm no good.
That I have done so many things
That no saved person should.

My heart is sad within me
For surely I agree,
But I know I'm forgiven
Since Jesus came for me.

I was bruised and broken
I was stained with sin
But Jesus came and found me
And made me whole again.

He lifted me so gently
He washed me white as snow
He freed me from my bondage
And, oh, I love him so.

Do I not share this message
That to me was oh, so sweet
Though Jesus gave His life for me
Must I admit defeat?

For though my path, a crooked one
Divorced, the greater sin,
Can I not tell of Jesus.

Some precious soul to win?
Oh, Lord, grant me the wisdom
May these on earth forgive me
And give their heart to you.

So to the hospital he sent me,
Though I didn't feel that bad.
He arranged for them to give me.
Every test that could be had.

I was fluoroscoped and cystoscoped,
My aging frame displayed,
Stripped upon an ice-cold table
While my gizzards were x-rayed.

I was checked for worms and parasites,
For fungus and the crud,
While they pierced me with long needles,
Taking samples of my blood.

Doctors came to check me over,
Probed and pushed and poked around,
And to make sure I was living,
Then they wired me up for sound!

They have finally concluded,
(Their results have filled a page)
What I have will some day kill me;
My affliction is "Old Age!"

Attention: All Women 35 Years of Age and Older.

Current statistics indicate that one of nine American women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Mammography screening has become an important tool in the fight against breast cancer. The American Cancer Society recommends a baseline mammogram at age 35 and screening mammograms every one or two years for women age 40 to 50. After 50 years of age they recommend routine annual screenings. The American Cancer Society has declared October "Breast Cancer Awareness Month." For the month of October, the Rockcastle Hospital is offering screening mammograms for the low price of $65.00. This includes the Radiologist fee for interpretation. We have an accredited G.E. Senographe machine and our technologist Janice Mullins, is certified in mammography. For an appointment call 256-2195, Extension 5012. This offer will not be extended into the month of November.

Card of Thanks & In Memoriams

Linda Cameron and all of her family thank you so much for your kindness during her hospital stay for a massive heart attack and two heart surgeries. A special thanks to our church family at Maple Grove Baptist Church who showed us so much love and support during this very difficult time. Thanks also to WRVK listeners and other churches and persons who prayed for her. Only by the prayers of God's people and the guided hands of the doctors involved did she make it through. Linda is now home recovering and doing well. We love all of you.

- Thank You -

So many responded so graciously in so many ways when we lost our dear mother, Hazel Cummings. We lovingly thank each of you. Earl, Nancy, Reda and Don

- Thank You -

My family and I would like to thank everyone for their prayers, cards and flowers. Miracles do happen and I know that I am very fortunate to be alive after having a severe heart attack and heart surgery. I had excellent care while at Central Baptist Hospital and appreciate the love the staff showed me while there. I have been slowed down for awhile and will rely on volunteers to help meet the needs of our people. Lu Ed Nielsen and family

In memory of Martha Ballinger born 100 years ago, Oct. 10, 1894 passed away three years ago

One Hundred Years Ago by William Mullins

In the foothills of Kentucky born in a one room cabin Not of the privileged and lucky Life was hard and merely surviving For many years she graced this earth and saw its changing tides As the 20th century soon gave birth Where this modern age abides

Nursing Incentive Scholarship Fund

Carne automobiles and flying machines And the great Titanic sinking - Electric lights and submarines And things no one was even thinking of.

A new age had opened up a window And "World War One" was soon to follow And the 1918 influenza She said, "Folks were a dying like hogs with cholera."

The roaring 20's was "land a plenty," But the "Great Depression" took it all And World War Two" took the lives of many As the world was about to fall

She saw it all; this ancient woman Who stood so proud and tall Seven children and 33 grand And mother to us all

I think of her most every day As I travel here And hear her laughter far away And smile and shed a tear

Her philosophy of life like precious jewels adorning "Weeping may endure for a night, But joy cometh in the morning."

In loving memory of Mary Edith Loudermilk whose birthday would have been October 14, and Virgil Lee Loudermilk Jr. who departed this life on April 6, 1994.

Each day we cherished that he had with you. But little did we know you would be going away. It seems we had such a short time together.

Although we know God had it planned that way, for both of you to go to a better home.

Our hearts were left empty and very lonely. As none of us was prepared for our goodbyes.

Our hearts yearn for both of you and we miss you so. Some day with God's help we will be together again never to part anymore.

Sadly missed by: Rella, Grace, Eddie, Johnnie, Barbara, Virgil Sr. and all their families.

On Jan. 1, 1995, the Nursing Incentive Scholarship Fund (NISF) of the Kentucky Board of Nursing will begin accepting applications for the 1995-96 school year.

The NISF was created to increase the number of licensed nurses in medically underserved areas of the state, to decrease the number of vacant licensed nurse positions in all service sectors, and to increase the pool of master's program registered nurses for faculty positions.

The NISF provides scholarships to Kentucky residents who will be attending in state approved prelicensure registered or licensed practical nurse education programs or graduate nursing programs.

Funding preference is given to applicants with financial need, to licensed practical nurses who wish to attend registered nurse programs, and to applicants who have agreed to work in a sponsoring health facility in a rural area of the state. Effective July 15, 1994, Kentucky revised Statute 314.025 was amended to include registered nurses pursuing graduate nursing education as a preference category.

NISF applicants are required to obtain sponsorship from a health care facility or an educational institution. The sponsor certifies the amount of the scholarship award granted to recipients by the Board of Nursing. In exchange, the recipient agrees to work as a nurse at the facility one year for each school year funded (or teach in the school of nursing of the sponsoring educational institution). Application forms and a list of potential sponsors will be available in November 1994. NISF applications must be completed and returned to the Kentucky Board of Nursing by June 1, 1995. For application forms or additional information, please write to the Nursing Incentive Scholarship Fund, Kentucky Board of Nursing, 312 Whittington Parkway, Suite 300, Louisville, KY 40222-5172.

First Lady of Country Music to appear at Renfro Valley

She was the first female country act to have a million-selling album and her trophy case holds virtually every award the industry bestows.

She has won two Grammys, 16 songwriting honors and three CMA awards.

Her life story has been fashioned into a best-selling book and hit TV movie. She marked her 25th anniversary as a recording artist with the year's best-selling album, a collection of her hits. And area fans will have the rare opportunity to see her in concert.

On Saturday, Nov. 12, Tammy Wynette appears live at Renfro Valley. Tammy will perform in two centers at 7 and 9 p.m.

Given the popularity of Tammy Wynette, a capacity crowd is expected. The advice from the Renfro Valley box office is "buy tickets early!" Tickets are $14.50, $15.50 for preferred seats (front, center sections) and $16.50 for the balcony. Tickets may be made by calling the Renfro Valley ticket office at 1-800-765-7464 or 606-256-2638.

While Tammy's biography lists 40-some top 10 hits, more than 20 Number One singles, more than 10 Number One albums and more than 30 million in record sales, it also chronicles rough spots in the singer's life. Three failed marriages, including her most famous alliance with George Jones, an addiction to prescription medication and health problems have plagued Tammy Wynette. But it is Tammy's refusal to be sidetracked by problems that wins her praise from fans and industry alike.

In January of this year, the music world held its breath as Tammy fought for her life in a Nashville hospital. Tammy recovered from the ordeal in typical fashion. "My voice has gotten so much stronger," she says. "I always said that I'm not the best singer in the world, just the loudest. Well, now I'm louder than ever."

On a business filled with contenders, true legends are rare. In November, Tammy Wynette fans will have the opportunity to see a living legend at Renfro Valley.

In federal court

Judge sentences Ramsey; ten others

A Mt. Vernon man who gained statewide attention last year after he was indicted on 31 counts of mail fraud, by faking accidents and cash-ing in on insurance policies, went to jail Friday after sentencing by a federal judge.

Federal Judge Jennifer B. Coffman ordered Russell Ramsey, 62, of Mt. Vernon, to jail, after he pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit mail fraud.

He was sentenced to 51 months in federal prison and ordered to pay over $620,000 in restitution. Ramsey was taken into custody by federal authorities and began serving his sentence on Friday. Federal prosecutors had asked Coffman to allow Ramsey to remain on bond until March 6th, but the judge overruled their request.

Besides Ramsey, nine other local people were also sentenced Friday, but did not go to jail.

Gary Dale Ramsey, of Mt. Vernon, was sentenced to 15 months and ordered to pay $59,359 in restitution.

Debra Lunsford, of Mt. Vernon, was sentenced to nine months and ordered to pay $17,230.

Brenda Mullins of Mt. Vernon was sentenced to 12 months and ordered to pay $128,736.

Keith Mullins of Mt. Vernon was sentenced to 15 months and ordered to pay $85,886.

Randy Fyffe of South Portsmouth Ohio, was sentenced to 16 months and ordered to pay $33,912.

Mary E. Coffey of Mt. Vernon was sentenced to five months and ordered to pay $78,992.

Carl E. Coffey of Mt. Vernon was sentenced to five months and ordered to pay $79,234.

Clayton Robinson of Mt. Vernon was sentenced to 4 months and ordered to pay $58,336 and Loyd Pittman, also of Mt. Vernon, was sentenced to five months and ordered to pay $52,110.

Raymond Parsley was sentenced to 5 months and ordered to pay $12,000 and Barritt C. Allen was also sentenced to five months and ordered to pay $81,781.

Each defendant was ordered to report on March 6th to begin serving their sentence.

Under federal law each defendant is required to serve 80 percent of the sentence handed down.

A local attorney, who represents one of the defendants, said some of the sentences could change before the reporting date, pending other indictments in the case.

Several other local people will be sentenced in the case this Friday in federal court.

Court refuses to repair Hammonds Fork county road

By Ray McClure

A petition with 165 names from residents, and others, on Hammond Fork Road, angry at the condition of the road, was presented to the Rockcastle Fiscal Court at its October meeting Tuesday.

Jerry Nicely brought the petition along with several residents who live along the road.

He complained about the upkeep of the road and said they had complained several times but got little results. He called it probably the worst road in the county now that Lambert Road had been patched.

The 4.2 mile road is in terrible shape county Judge Executive Buzz Carlolis admitted but said the county does not have the $160,000 it was estimated by the state to repair it.

"It would take all the money allocated to the magistrates to repair it," he said. "I can't fix all of the road but I do what I can."

The group blamed logging trucks use of the road as to one of the problems, and suggested signs posting the road.

Nicely told the judge about 3 miles of the road could be repaired for $48,000 but the judge said he did not have the money and couldn't take it away from the magistrates. He said it was not Amos Burdette's problem, the magistrate in the fourth district, to have it fixed.

Burdette has had $29,000 for roads in his district; Bill McKinney has had $18,000 for roads in District 3; Jack Bradley, $15,800 in District 2; Donald Bullock had had $13,345 in District 5, and John Holbrook, $926 in the first district, but all bills have yet to come in, for a total of $109,364 spent since July.

Judge Carlolis suggested the group go to Frankfort and see the Rural Road Department about the road since they allocate the money for county roads. The judge said he would accompany them.

Incidentally, the road fund had $336,993 at the end of September, according to Joe Clontz, county treasurer's report.

The judge thanked the All America Club for cleaning roads of trash. In September, club members picked up 80 bags of garbage along roads.

County Clerk Norma Houk came before the court to report on new election laws and some old ones.

She asked the court to let her office handle the reimbursement check for registering voters. The court approved.

She reminded the court about election officers salaries, $60 a day and $10 a day to attend training session if needed.

A new law says the $255 reimbursement per precinct per election has been changed. Precincts must have 350 voters to be reimbursed.

She said Bullock and Clinan did not qualify and West Livingston lacked 2 voters to qualify but expected to in the future.

A telephone must be added to every polling place which will cost $103,70

Fiscal Court has $356,993 in road fund account per precinct per election.

She told the court her office can no longer mail paper ballots within the county. She said disabled and persons outside the county could receive paper ballots but other would have to vote on a voting machine, probably in her office.

It will save the county about $20,000 a year once the new laws are started.

The judge said the county would have to begin work on an ethics code.

Jail renovation, phase 1, bids were opened at the meeting but were all detailed and would be announced later when finally determined. Not all necessary bids were received.

Committee to look at future of Livingston property

A five member committee will try and come up with a recommendation for the future use of the Livingston school property.

At Tuesday night's regular monthly meeting of the Rockcastle County Board of Education, the board voted to form a committee with two of the members being board chairman Debra Whitehead and Superintendent Betsy Towery, Jr. Whitehead and Towery will decide on the other members, but at least one person from Livingston community will be asked to sit on the committee. Earlier this year the city of Livingston requested that the board give the property to the city, which according to Mrs. Whitehead is an option the committee and board will consider.

Board expels two students

The Rockcastle County Board of Education voted Thursday to expel two students for the remainder of this school year.

A Rockcastle County High School student, who had a knife in his possession on Sept. 23 and a Rockcastle Middle School student who had a .25 caliber handgun in his possession on Sept. 26 were expelled after a hearing at the central office.

The board went along with the recommendation of school officials in both cases. The 11-year-old middle school student must not be home schooled, but the 16-year-old high school student is simply barred from attending classes at RCHS for the remainder of the year.

Rockets beat Corbin 6-3

Sophomore running back Jonathon Cromer fights for yardage in Rockcastle's 6-3 victory over Corbin Friday night. The win evened the Rockets district record at 1-1. Rockcastle will host Wayne County this Friday night for the last regular season home game.

Six dwellings on Town Hill in Mt. Vernon have been torn down by the Rockcastle Fiscal Court and will be replaced by four new single dwelling homes, thanks to a $263,000 federal housing and urban development grant. Four of the residences that were living in the homes before they were tore down will have first chance to occupy the new homes.

RCMS to elect parent members

The Rockcastle County Middle School is preparing to take the necessary steps to bring their school under the rule of Site Based Decision Making.

On Tuesday, Oct. 18, the parent members of the council will be elected at 6 p.m. in the middle school cafeteria.

All parents and guardians of students enrolled in the middle school are eligible to vote. Following the election for parent members Tuesday, teacher representatives will be elected on Wednesday. Principal John Hale chairs the SDBM.

Petitions for ASCS board at local office

Farmers are asked to nominate candidates of their choice by Oct. 31 to be on the ASCS County Committee ballot. Petitions may be requested from the ASCS Office beginning October 6, they will not be mailed this year as in the past.

The ASC County Committee election will be conducted on November 25 to December 5 by mail ballot. ASC committees are responsible for managing federal farm programs on the local level. To meet the needs of individual producers, ASC Committee members must be concerned and responsible individuals. County farmers have the opportunity to nominate people they feel would best serve the farm community.

A few basic considerations should be kept in mind when circulating petitions. In order to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters, and must be received in the county ASCS office by the October 31 deadline.

Farmers may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASC Committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for office holders.

Farmers should petition for and elect those individuals they feel would do a good job as a member of the ASC committee. The election of concerned farmers to positions on ASC committees is essential in the administration

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and salutations from downtown Wabdi, where city officials are working day and night to have Wabdi chosen as host of the 1997 International Congress on Obesity. However, Oscar Bosworth, council member and founder of Fundamentalsists for a Flat Earth, says Tidmore, North Carolina, with its Smoky Mountain terrain, is the odds-on favorite to be selected. Nonetheless, Oscar declares that Wabdi "ain't about to throw in the towel." Hang in there, Oscar!

Beloved, I'm mandated with mail. So, here's what I have to say to some inquiring minds, one of which is not quite amiable.

Dear John Norman: Since you spent some time in a seminary, you might clear-up something for me. I've heard that seminary professors subscribe to Playboy and Penthouse but receive copies that contain articles but no pictures. Is that so?

Dear Curious: My sources say some seminary faculty members read those magazines "in order to know what the enemy is up to" -- and lots of clergymen, both liberals and fundamentalists, have adopted that strategy. Word has it, however, that the publications are mailed with photos. So, pros and preachers cut them out before they read.

Dear John Norman: You are so right about us being "children of an evil age." I'm so distraught. It's just awful what society condones. When I was growing up, we never heard words like "lesbian" and "transsexual." Was it that way with you?

Dear Disraught: Sounds like our early years have something in common. The only term for sexual "deviation" I ever heard in Mt. Vernon was "queer," and insofar as I know, it applied to only one person in town. Some of us did wonder, however, about a certain senior, call him Eisel, who showed up at the M.V.P.S Christmas Masquerade Ball wearing a tutu and flitted everywhere singing "Don we now out gay apparel." (Note: We used "queer" to describe "oddballs," but it had no sexual connotation.)

Dear John Norman: I am an avid reader of your Signal articles. You certainly are different. I never know what you'll say next! I would like to read one of your books, but my bookstore doesn't know about you. What works of yours are available and where?

Dear Avid: Thank you! I must not find me in the bookstore because my writings are marketed only through Word Worth, a mail-order publishing house in Flushing Meadows, New York. Presently, the first printings of my books are sold out, but I'm negotiating for second printings. When release dates are set, I'll send you an order form.

These best-sellers will be available: What Saith the Seven Seals? (my definitive interpretation of the last book of the Bible); The Drama of Mama Llamas (the birth of a hundred baby llamas seen through a Venetian blind); Where Is Ai? (an archaeological record of the excavation of the biblical city of Ai, which in Hebrew is a one-syllable word pronounced "eye"); Did Adam Have a Navel? and its sequel, Did Eve? and its sequel Did Ai? (a verse by verse commentary on the second chapter of Genesis).

I'm hard at work on another book that should be out by next spring. It deals with the "snake" in Genesis 3 that wiled the wits of the primal pair. I don't have a title yet, but some possibilities are: Do Snakes Talk?, What Saith the Serpent?, or In Search of Eden's Eloquent Asp?

Dear Heretic: Your articles infuriate me. I'm surprised the Signal keeps running your garbage. I noticed a white back that you said you read this responsibility on their own. Of course, you cannot legislate maturity in parents, but the same taken, you shouldn't legislate against every child to control the actions of a few.

I sit here in a truck in the middle of a half cut and stripped cane field where John and Arthur Davidson are cutting the last part of Betty Payne Bisbee's field. This is all the sorghum molasses that they have to cut. John says it's the last time he will raise cane to make molasses for it's such hard work.

I wish I could make that kind of hard work if you live it.

It is a cloudy day here on Clear Creek but the sun may come out and chase the clouds away as we've found the week to be a

Jeremy, the 14 year old boy, sent me a nice pumpkin last week for a Halloween scary face.

I was planning to buy a pumpkin from the Superior Market but I don't have to now since Jeremy Neely sent me one. I'm going to cut the face out to look like Manuel Lakes, Bodie Barnett or Conley Saylor. It could turn out to look like John when he gets mad.

Our phone rang Monday night and Jessie Chaston Norton a long ago young girl living on Clear Creek, her father, Sherman Chaston, was once rural school teacher, a postmaster and a farmer.

Sherman moved out of Clear Creek and wound up going out west with his family.

Something about Clear Creek and Rockcastle stuck with Jessie and brings her back every so often to visit and see the old scenes again.

Jessie's daughter and driver, Dorothy, comes with her and she's getting a like for the mountains too so she's always ready to drive to Kentucky when Jessie says she'd like to come back to where she fell into Lower Clear Creek during a flood. She was washed downstream and all that saved her was the school teacher, her father, jumped in and saved her by grabbing one of the long platts of hair from her head and pulled Jessie out.

The subject of curfews for children has been much in the news lately and, as with most things involving children, I have an opinion.

From what I have read in the daily papers, it doesn't appear to be working and, as with most punitive laws, the sins of a few are visited on the many.

I have a problem with government usurping territory which rightly belongs to parents. If children are posing a nuisance, getting into mischief and just generally disturbing the peace and, if these same children are under the age of 18, then as far as I am concerned you should haul the parents in, not the children.

I realize that in this day's society, government is moving more and more towards becoming responsible for us from the cradle to the grave but, enough is enough, parents are responsible for their children and their children's behavior, especially as it affects others.

I was raised by parents who lived by the precept that children should be seen and not heard. While I think they at times carried this premise too far, it has left me with an abiding concept that my children have no right to aggravate others, particularly adults, to any degree and I have the right not to be aggravated by other people's children.

I do not like to frequent the shopping malls because I have run into situations where children, from the ages of 10 or so up, have literally embarrassed me with their actions, their language and their general demeanor.

I have an urge at these times to confront these children's parents and find out why they allow their children to behave as they do in public and why they are not around to observe this behavior that would surely embarrass them. But, if these same parents see nothing wrong with dropping children off at the mall for a few, or many, hours to be entertained by merchants, shoppers, whatever, then they would probably not see anything wrong with their children's behavior while they are in these totally supervised situations.

But, back to the curfew issue. Again, I see this as the punishment of all for the sins of a few and it isn't right.

Perhaps we should return to the premise that until a child reaches the adult age of at least 18, then their parents will answer for their sins and this might help to curb children's mischief more than anything.

I think in this day and time too many parents are using malls, TVs, street corners, etc. as babysitters. Children need guidance, they need examples of courtesy and respect set by their elders and, most of all, they need parents mature enough when they are born to take responsibility for their physical well-being and behavior until they are old enough and have been taught enough to take

"Roamin' Rockcastle"

The two ladies will be here a week and I promised Jessie I would try to visit with her some. I never knew Jessie before but now we can talk on the subject. Clear Creek and its past history. And there is a lot of it too with scary tales.

She visited Mollie Chastain kin-folks, also Nannie Chastain Shearer living at Berea Health Care Home and saw Mary Eliza Chastain Croucher living there too.

Jessie said to me, when we were talking on the phone, "I don't think either of the women looked too well or as they did when we saw them last summer."

"Well, how would you look being 105 and 90 some odd years older?" I said to Jessie so she laughed and said she wasn't that old.

She and her daughter are making Kodak pictures and I've asked them to let me have a good one to put here. Keep looking as it will come out!

the Signal some week.

Since I've not been feeling well I've not gotten many camera pictures to run in here.

Too, I've not had a car to browse around in the hills nor hollow.

I must try to get down and see Edd and Juanita Croucher for I hear they aren't doing too well.

Bill Croucher came by me at a funeral up in Berea in the Bethel Baptist Church and he asked if we had any ginseng tea for he believed a dose of it would help both Edd and Juanita with their ailments. I think Bill really wanted some ginseng himself but based to admit that a young man like himself needed doctoring such as older folks do. I can give him some remedies the hill country people use "to get going again," but I know Bill wouldn't want that around the house! Nor Edd and Juanita either.

It was a pretty sunny, October day when 88 year old Charlie Reed was carried out of the Bethel Baptist Church on the edge of Berea to his last resting place in the Berea cemetery.

We only met Charlie and members of his family after we moved back here in 1981 and saw him and the others at different church services.

When we went to see him and wife, Rosie, I admired the habit she had of hanging large size dolls on the walls (as I kept dogs, toy and real life like toy dogs around in my home.) Charles and John laughed but said nothing about grown women playing with toy dogs and dolls.

Their daughter, Sue Smith and husband, Clyde became our friends. They own a farm near us here on Mcnelaus Road and Clyde has some nice looking animals he sells.

Jean Gabhard, wife of Woody, says Charlie was a great uncle of hers.

Charlie always wore a happy look on his face the last few times I saw him. Did he feel that he had a short time to live on this earth before he met his maker? I wonder about that but I'm sure Charlie is waiting by Heaven's Gate where they all will come and join him to go in.

Pastor John Dodson of Galilee Baptist Church does a fine job in telling people of what could happen to their souls if they didn't accept God and his plans for their hereafter.

Just behind the pulpit stand and space is a large picture window. I believe I've told about that before but last Sunday evening, the final rays of the sun shone on the mountains that made a picture iridre window.

There were red, golden yellow, and nut brown leaves moving restlessly in a slow breeze as it would soon be time for them to go!

John asked for a special song from Mark McGuire called "Consider the Lillies, See How They Grow."

He was joined by Lee Abney and Mike Gay a part of the trio called The Gospel Messengers at Galilee.

Eugene and Hallie Alexander finished out the day by coming from Fairview Community to Galilee Church Sunday night. Eugene and Alonna Rowett were asked to pass the "plate" so they could keep awake during services.

I'm running out of time so I'll finish this next week -- Henry Neltner has a big plan for Halloween so I'll tell you about it next week. Something to do with a "big party."

Our ducks are trying to fly -- John says he wishes they would -- away!

Get a mask -- I may borrow one from somebody since this one I have is about worn out!

Gov. Jones declares October Prevention Month in Kentucky

Governor Breton Jones has declared October as "Fire Prevention Month in Kentucky." The Proclamation signed September 28, is designed to increase awareness and promote fire safety throughout the Commonwealth. October 9 through 15 has been declared National Fire Prevention Week in the United States.

The tragic deaths of 8 Kentucky children last week in fires, is a grim reminder of the importance of fire prevention. This brings the total deaths in Kentucky to 85, well ahead of the 64 reported in the same time frame last year. There are many simple things that can be done to prevent fires in your home.

- Avoid the storage or unnecessary combustibles, i.e., cardboard boxes, old newspapers, piles of old rags, etc.
- Check your electrical appliances

- for frayed cords.
- Have your heating equipment inspected by a qualified technician.
- Have your furnaces and chimneys cleaned each heating season.

Unfortunately, fires occur, even with diligent fire prevention measures. When fires occur, your smoke detector may be the only thing between your life and death. Make sure your home has adequate smoke detectors and test them regularly. This year's National Fire Prevention slogan "Test Your Detector For Life" says it all.

The Fire Service of Kentucky will work throughout the Month of October on public fire education and awareness, ending the month with the "Change Your Clock, change Your battery" campaign on Sunday, October 30.

Charges remain

U.S. District Judge Joseph Hood recently turned down Senate Minority Leader John Rogers' request to dismiss corruption charges against him.

Rogers had argued at a hearing last week that federal prosecutors delayed for two years the indictment against him to gain a tactical advantage.

In a four-page ruling yesterday, Hood said that Rogers had not shown that his right to a fair trial had been prejudiced and that the delay in the indictment was intentional.

Rogers, R-Somerset, faces trial Oct. 17 on two counts of extortion and one count each of mail fraud and lying to the FBI. He has pleaded not guilty.

The lawmaker is accused of taking money in return for helping pass a 1994 bill that would allow banks to expand beyond county and state lines.

 Ms. Paula Cowans Class News
 These last few weeks in Paula Cowan's class we've been very busy, we've read Chicka's Hawk. We have been working on place value in math. In connections we completed our book on the 50 states and capitals. Next week we look forward to reading books on imagination.

News from Ms. Clark's Class
 This has been a short week, but it has been busy. In Mr. Woodall's class we've written a persuasive letter. We chose a position about whether or not school cafeterias should serve fast food. Most of us thought Big Macs and fries would beat lunchroom food any time!

In math we've learned to order merchandise from a catalog. We've also written checks on the "Fourth Grade National Bank" to pay for what we've bought.

We practiced school bus safety with Bus Evacuation Drills on Thursday afternoon. Friday was "No school" day, because of C.K.E.A.

Mt. Vernon PTA will meet Oct. 18 at 6 p.m. We will be electing a new treasurer.

Congratulations to Mrs. Paula Clark's class for having 94 members to join PTA. They won 550 and a pizza party.

Bridgette Lear had the most members to join PTA and she won $15.

Mrs. Irene Alexander's class had 51 members to join. They got prizes for coming in second.

Attention! All High School Seniors

All high school seniors who live in Rockcastle County may be eligible for the Bert T. Combs Leadership Grant.

Cumberland College's Bert T. Combs Leadership Grant program honors the memory of an alumnus who served as Judge on the Kentucky Court of Appeals from 1951-1955, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky from 1959-1963, and Judge of the Sixth District United States Court of Appeals from 1967-1970. Governor Combs died in December of 1991.

The Honorable Bert T. Combs was a native of Clay County and attended Cumberland College in 1929-1930. When Combs first came to Cumberland College, he had little money to pay for his education. He went to see President J.L. Creech to seek a job on campus. Creech was a psychologist who believed that character could be seen in one's handwriting. He asked the young Combs to write on a piece of paper the following statement, "Cumberland College educates the youth of the mountains." After viewing Combs' penmanship, President Creech obviously was impressed because he hired the Manchester native to stoke furnaces. Many years later, Combs reminisced that apart from that job, "I would have never gone to college."

Today Cumberland College continues to serve the youth of the region. The Bert T. Combs Leadership Grant will make it possible for many mountain students to attend the College of the Kentucky Mountains. The grant is designed to complement other available aid programs and will not exceed the cost of the full tuition.

EKU Country Fair

What do you do between the parade and the football game?

At Eastern Kentucky University Homecoming '94, the answer is simple: Country Fair.

The annual event, noon to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15 in the Alumni Coliseum parking lot, offers perhaps the best opportunity for alumni to meet and reminisce with former classmates and professors. Also open to the public, the Fair will feature live entertainment, dozens of food and carnival booths, departmental and organizational reunions, and much more.

It's the largest tailgate party on campus, a chance for everyone to get together, and just sit down and visit," said Lally Jennings, associate director of EKU's Division of Alumni Affairs. "It's always a lot of fun for the entire family."

The entertainment will include Rolling Thunder, a local contemporary country band, the EKU Show Choir and Band, and the Dance Colonels.

This year's Homecoming Parade, with the theme "Time to Dream," will begin at 11 a.m. near the intersection of Lancaster and Avenue and Barnes Mill Road and proceed north on Lancaster before turning toward downtown.

The Homecoming football game, pitting the Colonels against Murray State, will begin at 3:30 p.m. at Roy Kidd Stadium. The Homecoming Queen will be crowned at halftime. A post-game reception, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Arlington Mule Barn, will conclude the day's festivities.

For more information, call EKU's Division of Alumni Affairs, 606-622-1269 or, toll-free in Kentucky, 800-262-7493, ext. 1260.

Celebration of Traditional Music at Berea

Bluegrass music legend and Grammy nominee Ralph Stanley will lend his talents to Berea College's upcoming Celebration of Traditional Music, scheduled Oct. 28, 29 and 30 on the college campus.

Stanley's performance with the Clinch Mountain Boys -- from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30, in Phelps Stokes Chapel -- will be the final event of this year's festival, the 21st to be presented by Berea's Appalachian Center.

On Friday and Saturday nights, concerts featuring a variety of traditional music artists are scheduled in Phelps Stokes Chapel and will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

Entertainers for the evening shows include prize-winning fiddler Ralph Blizard of Blountville, Tenn., with Phil Jamison and the New Southern Ramblers; North Carolina ballad singer and banjo picker Mary Jane Queen, a winner of the 1993 Folk Heritage Award; West Virginia fiddler Melvin Wine, National Heritage Award winner; Cari Norris of Nicholasville, who plays the clawhammer banjo, guitar and dulcimer; singer James "Starkey" Rucker from Lexington, a leading performer and commentator on African-American folk culture; and Elaine Purkey, a singer, songwriter from Chapmanville, W.Va.

Tickets for all concerts will be sold at the door of Phelps Stokes Chapel prior to each performance. Admission to Ralph Stanley Association concert is $8 for adults and $4 for those ages 10 to 17; for the Friday and Saturday concerts, admission is $6 for adults and $3 for 10 to 17-year-olds.

Many festive events and activities are free. Square dancing will begin at 10 p.m. at the Alumni Building after the Friday and Saturday shows.

Local students given opportunity to study abroad

"Qualified high school students are offered a unique opportunity to spend an academic year or summer holiday in Scandinavia, Germany, France, Switzerland, Sweden, Holland, Spain, Portugal, Brazil, Czech and Slovak Republics, Poland, Mexico, Japan, Australia, New Zealand or Canada (French or English speaking) as part of the ASSE International Student Exchange Program," announced Jodi Schmidt, Southern Director of ASSE.

"Until a few years ago, only a fortunate few could afford to spend a school year or summer abroad. Now, ASSE has changed all that," continued Schmidt. Students, 15 to 18 years old, qualify on the basis of academic performance, character references and a genuine desire to experience life abroad with a volunteer host family.

"ASSE families abroad are carefully screened to provide caring environments in which students can learn the language and culture of their host country," explained Schmidt. Summer exchange students live with a family abroad who usually speaks some English. Year students need not have learned a foreign language as they receive language and cultural instruction as part of the ASSE program. ASSE students attend regular high school classes along with their new teenage friends. "ASSE exchange students learn by living the language and culture of their new host country," added Schmidt.

The nonprofit, public benefit ASSE International Student Exchange Program was founded by the Swedish Ministry of Education, cooperates with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education, and is approved by the Australian and New Zealand Department of Education.

ASSE also provides international opportunities for American families to host students from Scandinavia, Germany, France, Switzerland, Hungary, Britain, Italy, Holland, Mexico, Brazil, Spain, Portugal, Poland, the Czech and Slovak Republics, CIS (former Soviet Union), Australia, New Zealand, Canada and Japan.

Students or families interested in more information about the ASSE program should contact Jill Miller at 606/273-0024 or call 1-800-473-0696.

Eagle Flight Rally on Oct. 15

Those youngsters ages 8 through 17 who missed the June 11 Eagle Flight Rally will have another chance to get a free airplane ride. Members of local Chapter 892 of the Experimental Aircraft Association will be holding a flight rally at the Madison Airport between Berea and Richmond on Saturday, October 15 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. So, youngsters, talk to your parents and have them bring you to the airport that day for your free flight. You must have parental guardian permission and signature on the Flight Kit Form available at the airport on October 15.

The local Flight Rally is part of the National Experimental Aircraft Association's goal of flying one million youngsters by the 2003, the 100th anniversary of the Wright Brother's first flight in a powered aircraft.

Each Eagle Flight participant will experience the unique freedom made possible by flight. This experience will be shared by a local EAA member who, as a pilot, will be providing his time and aircraft at no charge for the event. At the conclusion of the flight, each participant will receive an "Eagle Flight" Certificate signed by the pilot. Then the names of each Eagle Flight member will be sent to Oshkosh, Wisconsin, where they will be entered in the "world's biggest logbook" on display at the EAA Air Adventure Museum in Oshkosh.

These flights will give the youngsters a chance to see the wonderful fall colors in Madison County. So, parents, bring your children to the Madison airport on October 15 and allow them to experience the thrill of flight. At the same time you will experience quite a thrill just by seeing your kid's face upon completion of the flight.

Food and refreshments will be provided by the EAA Chapter 892 at a nominal fee.

In case of inclement weather on Saturday, the Flight Rally will be held on Sunday, October 16 from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

For further information contact Young Eagles Flight Coordinator for EAA Chapter 892, Willie R. Curtis, at 606-986-4109.

Forests

By: Andy Mead
Lexington Herald-Leader

Some people look at Kentucky's abundant forests and hear the whine of buzz saws.

Surely this is a neglected resource, they say, that can provide cash far into the future.

Some hear cash registers ringing up tourist dollars. Don't people come here from Ohio because we have such lush woods?

For others, there is only the music of chirping birds. South American rain forests are in trouble: Let's at least save ours.

About 50 people, including some from each of those three camps, gathered in Louisville recently for a "forest summit" called by Gov. Breton Jones. The summit was the first day of a three-day Governor's Conference on the Environment that is focusing on forest issues.

People sat in rows of oak desks in a hotel meeting room and talked about the raw material -- forgets that cover half the state.

Their daylong discussions set the stage for what officials say will be a series of meetings around the state to set a forestry policy for Kentucky.

No one decided anything yesterday. There was not even much agreement.

Alan Richardson, who makes his living at Wayne Lumber Co. in Morehead, emphasized that "this is a renewable resource and it's one of the few resources we have left."

Chris Schmoeller, who lives without electricity in a Franklin County cabin, talked about how people need to "scale down our perceptions about how we have a right to live."

Some spoke of turning to timber as coal runs out and tobacco income fades. Others warned that destroying forests in the mountains could mean heavily silted rivers running through the Bluegrass.

But they got along. At lunch, timber industry representatives and the supervisor of the Daniel Boone National Forest sat with members of the environmental group Heartwood, which places biodiversity far above logs.

Several people said the day was an important first step in what is likely to become a growing environmental, economic and social issue, especially in heavily forested Eastern Kentucky.

Although there have been environmental fights over logging and endangered species in the national forest, the vast majority of Kentucky's woods are in private hands.

How can the state help with forest management when landowners are too distrustful to allow them on their land? How do you teach some of the timber practices to some loggers who

UK research study: Ky. Cattlemen need a lot more bull

Kentucky cattlemen scored high marks on health care of their animals, but need to improve the genetics of their animals going in to feedlots, according to a study conducted by University of Kentucky animal scientists.

The study, which followed 441 Kentucky steers from their Kentucky farms through a Kansas feedlot through slaughter, found that Kentucky cattlemen do an excellent job of preparing their cattle to go into feedlots from a health standpoint. However, daily gains for some of the animals while in the feedlot were less than sterling.

"Simply, Kentucky cattlemen need to improve the genetics of their herd. The difference in profit and loss for Kentucky's cattlemen will be determined by the genetics of the herd," said John Johns, Extension animal scientist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Johns cited the average daily gain of the cattle in the feedlot as evidence of the need to improve genetics.

"Within each pen of cattle in the feedlot, the spread in average daily gain was greater than 2.5 pounds. That's far too much for our producers to make a consistent profit," he said.

can barely read? (The answer to that one: training that uses oral tests.)

The state's $1.6 billion forest industry employs 26,000 people, but most in the industry say it, can do much better.

Although Kentucky woods appear thick and green from a distance, most of them are not in good shape. They have been repeatedly scarred by fires. They have been neglected. They have

Viruses damage late tobacco

Aphid-transmitted viruses severely damaged some late tobacco crops throughout Kentucky.

"Damage statewide from viruses this year are worse than in 1993 but not nearly as severe as in 1992," said Bill Nesmith, Extension plant pathologist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "Losses are in the form of stunting and early dying of leaves, especially noticeable after sucker control was applied."

Tobacco crops planted in May experienced little damage no matter how susceptible the variety. However, potential for damage increased for susceptible varieties transplanted after June 10 -- especially in July.

"The R610 variety particularly was hit hard when planted late," said Nesmith. "In southern Kentucky, most black shank resistant varieties except TN 90 and TN 86 sustained been high-graded, which means the best trees are cut, leaving less desirable ones behind.

The good trees go to North Carolina to be turned into furniture. What is left behind is often suited only for pallets.

The state is trying to draw "value-added" timber industries, such as furniture making, to Kentucky so that more of the money that comes from producing something from logs stays here. But there is concern among environmentalists that this could bring in chip mills that grind trees into pulp for paper.

damage if planted in June or July." In Kentucky, three viruses are common in the complex: tobaccovirus mottling virus, tobacco etch, and potato virus Y.

Instances of tobacco vein mottling virus increased this season compared with recent seasons. Necrotic reactions on midribs, especially after damaged plants. This reaction to the virus often resulted in either leaves dying up or falling off plants.

Tobacco etch, a usually dominant virus in the complex, was less common this season statewide but dominated in some areas of eastern and western Kentucky. Also, instances of potato virus Y increased this year, especially in Lake Cumberland and northern Kentucky extension areas.

"Relative to the virus complex, virus resistant varieties (KY 8959, KY 907, TN 86, TN 90 and NC 2) performed well even when planted late -- even after they became infected," Nesmith said. "NC 811 129 showed considerable tolerance after infection with little midrib necrosis occurring

Severe form of BVD hits Kentucky cattle

A University of Kentucky veterinarian warned Kentucky cattlemen several weeks ago that this state's cattle could be at risk for a virulent strain of BVD (Bovine Viral Diarrhea) that had been documented in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Now that disease has been documented in Kentucky and one farmer reportedly lost 40 percent of his adult dairy cows to the disease, said Duane Miksch, Extension veterinarian with UK's Research and Education Center in Princeton.

"No vaccine exists specifically for this Type 2 BVD strain," Miksch said. "However, USDA reports that current vaccines used for the more common Type 1 BVD will stimulate cross reactive antibodies that should offer some protection from the severe Type 2 virus form of the disease."

Kentucky cattle may be especially at risk because a high proportion of them are either unvaccinated or inadequately vaccinated. Vaccines available for Type 1 BVD will provide some protection for Type 2 although it will be neither as strong nor long-lasting as it is for the more common strain. BVD vaccination has not been very effective in preventing abortions due to BVD virus infection on infected plants. Nesmith said that growers should carefully consider using virus-resistant varieties, especially when planting after the middle of June.

Farmers may have to get used to giving boosters every few months if their herds become infected or if they might be exposed to cattle of questionable BVD history, he added.

"Just because cattle become infected doesn't mean all cows will die," he said. "But one farmer in Wayne County did report that 40 percent of his 150-head adult dairy herd did die. We know it can be devastating."

Miksch said it is known that the farmer imported 24 springing heifers from Wisconsin that may have introduced the infection to his cattle.

"Prior to buying those cattle he moved a portion of his Kentucky cattle to another farm and those cattle had no contact with the Wisconsin cattle," Miksch said. "The cattle that came in contact with the out-of-state cattle did become infected. Those that were carried moved to the distant farm did not become infected."

Then the farmer brought six of those cattle back to the farm and in contact with the newly purchased cattle, and three of them subsequently died.

"There's no doubt the disease is spread through newly acquired animals," Miksch said. "Purchased cattle should be vaccinated and isolated for three weeks before entry into the herd. Killed BVD Vaccines require two initial doses two to four weeks apart to confer immunity."

He added that cattle producers should test incoming cattle for persistent BVD infection before they are allowed to contact other animals.

"Avoid overcrowding, stressing and mixing of cattle," Miksch said.

ROCK downs Redhounds, 6-3

Corbin came to town last Friday with only one thought - to win. They knew they could win. They said Rockcastle's program was going downhill after last year. They have yet to give the Rockets due respect. They will now.

The Rockcastle County Rockets made a lone touchdown in the second quarter stand up as they edged out the Corbin Redhounds, 6-3.

Since 1991 the Rockets now sport a 4-1 mark on their series with Corbin.

"It was bigger than any Corbin win because we wouldn't expect to win," said Rockets head coach Tom Larkey Tuesday.

"Our kids fought hard, we had a lot of individual efforts that resulted in a team effort," he added. The game proved early on as one of the best defensive match-ups of the decade - Larkey agreed.

"It was the greatest defensive game I've ever seen," he said.

Corbin had the ball on fourth down and inches short in all three. The Rockets muffed them in all three.

"Coach (Tony) Saylor and his defense was really prepared for Corbin," Larkey said. "His defensive game plan was outstanding."

The Rockets bruised the Redhounds for 76 tackles in the game. Saben Blair posted 12 and Donnie Eversole had 11 to lead the cast.

Rockcastle's defense made their mark early. Jason Childress ran down Redhounds' quarterback Pat McGowan in open field on a keeper in the first quarter to save a touchdown. The play forced Corbin to settle for a field goal, their only score of the game, a 40 yard boot by Gus Hauser.

The biggest defensive play came in the fourth quarter, again by Rockcastle. Corbin broke into open field and was inside the Rockets' five yard line before Childress made the first hit. Childress hit was followed by a game saving blow by Neil Sparks that knocked the ball loose and through the end zone resulting in a touchback. The Rockets took possession at their 20 yard line.

"Our opponents have been getting all the breaks, I felt we were due to get ours," Larkey said. It wasn't breaks that led to the Rockets' only touchdown in the second quarter.

"It was the greatest defensive game I've ever seen."
Tom Larkey

The Rockets began from their 20 yard line. They scampered 80 yards on short positive runs by Jon Cromer, Zack Cromer and Jarrod Singleton before Jon Cromer punched into the end zone from two yards out to put the Rockets up for good, 6-3. Rockcastle's two point conversion was no good.

"Our offense has not really been overpowering, we've been scoring on sustained drives," said Larkey. "But our offense did what they had to do to win the game against Corbin."

"I knew scoring points would be difficult against Corbin, aside from Danville teams no one's been able to score a lot against them," he added. "However we were able to control our drives and keep the ball away from them and use the clock."

With the win the Rockets move to 5-2 on the year and find themselves in a good position for the rest of the season, especially so coming off a loss to Somerset the Friday before.

"The win got the team in good spirits, now they know they have a chance to win the district," said Larkey.

"We could win it (district) or not be in it," concluded Larkey.

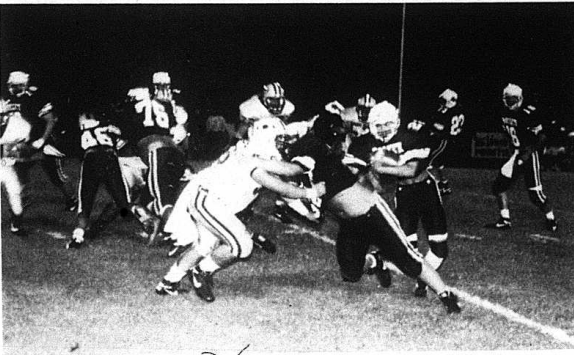

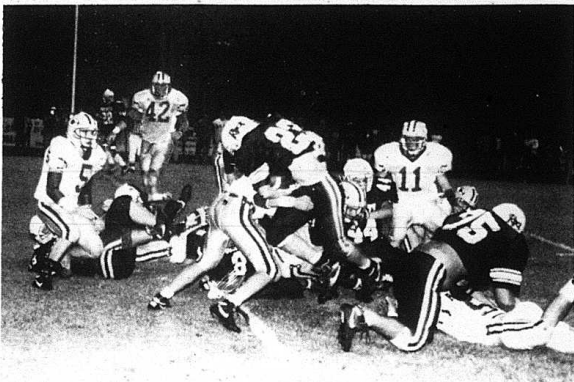

The Rockets will face off against Wayne County Friday for their last home game. The Rockets are favorites against the improved Wayne squad.

Defensively for the Rockets: Eddie Todd had 7 tackles, 4 solos and 3 assists; Jason Weaver had 5 tackles and 5 assists; Greg Mink had 6 tackles, 1 solo and 5 assists; Slacey Kirby had 8 tackles, 1 solo and 7 assists; Jeremy Lane had 3 tackles and 3 assists; Neil Sparks had 5 tackles, 1 solo and 4 assists; Donnie Eversole had 11 tackles, 3 solos and 8 assists; Saben Blair had 12 tackles, 1 solo and 11 assists; Dallas Rigby had 3 tackles, 1 solo and 2 assists; Jason Childress had 6 tackles, 4 solos and 2 assists; Jason Cromer had 9 tackles, 2 solos and 7 assists; and Casey Blancy had 1 tackle, 1 solo and an interception.

Offensively for the Rockets: Jon Cromer had 80 yards on 28 carries with a touchdown; Neil Sparks had 32 yards on 4 carries; Jarrod Singleton had 4 yards on 1 carry; Zach Cromer had 13 yards on 3 carries; Jamie Linville had 26 yards on 12 carries with 1 pass attempt and no completions.

Top right, offensive tackle Jason Weaver, #75, leads the way for running back Jonathon Cromer. Cromer had 80 yards on 23 carries with a touchdown. Bottom right, offensive guard Eddie Todd may have gotten away with a hold as he leads the way around left end for running back Jarrod Singleton. Todd had seven tackles on the defensive side of the ball.

Junior Pro Basketball

By Bruce Blanton

The Rockcastle County basketball program is headed in a new direction for the 1990's. We are currently changing the process of our feeder program. The intramural system that has been in place for the past few years has been a good program, but established the depth/practice time that a good instructional league must possess.

The only way to have a successful middle school and high school program is to have a strong foundation at the institutional level. This is already evident with our counties Little League baseball and football programs, which have enjoyed a great deal of success in the past few years.

Junior Pro basketball is an organization that will provide a well planned program that will allow our organization to participate in a league, clinics, basketball camps, tournaments and etc. Jr Pro emphasizes the teaching of correct fundamentals and sportsmanship at an early age. Jr Pro was established in Kentucky in 1969-70, with the concept of a basketball league scaled to the needs of youngsters similar to little league baseball.

The league is for ages 7-14 years of age, with a training league, a junior varsity league and a varsity league.

With the expectation of certain skills and fundamentals expected to be gained as player gets older and graduates to higher levels of competition.

The Jr Pro basketball league will be of great importance for the young people of Rockcastle County. We hope to have every child involved with our program and provide the many fundamental skills that must be re-established to be a good basketball player. We are looking forward to our first year in our new program and I am looking forward to working with the young people/parents of our county. League cost is $25 a year for league sanction and insurance purposes.

Coordinators of the Rockcastle County Junior Pro Basketball is Bruce Blanton and Clayton Cash.

Eversole had another excellent defensive game with 11 tackles on the night. Blaney also picked off a Corbin pass and had one solo tackle. Bottom right, Jonathan Cromer picked up eight yards on the above play before two Corbin defenders brought him down. "Disaster Drill"

Kentucky's Division of Disaster and Emergency Services, the counties of Clark, Estill, Fayette, Garrard, Jackson, Madison, Powell and Rockcastle will participate in varying degrees.

This full-scale exercise is being federally evaluated under guidelines established by the nation's Chemical Stockpile Emergency Preparedness Program (CSEPP). Under this program, federal funding is provided to the states and counties to develop and obtain the resources needed to respond in the event of an accident involving a chemical munitions stockpile.

The day-long exercise will begin with a simulated accident in the chemical storage area of the Blue Grass Army Depot. The depot will then activate their emergency notification system throughout Madison County and the state. Each agency's plans will then be evaluated to determine their effectiveness.

None of the participating agencies know the full scope of the exercise. Evaluators and controllers, mostly from the Federal Emergency Management Agency and the U.S. Army, will intercept pieces of information by several means to observe emergency response decisions.

Autumn Scenes in Rockcastle County

Several county residents celebrated Autumn this year by beautifully decorating their homes. Top right, shows the autumn scene created by Thelma Fletcher of Brodhead. Mrs. Fletcher's is particularly noteworthy since she underwent hip replacement surgery two months ago, and built the arrangement while being supported by a walker. She is shown in the photo with her great granddaughter, Whitney Sexton. Also at bottom right, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Smithern on U.S. 150 between Mt. Vernon and Brodhead and, bottom left is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin in Mt. Vernon.
