Quality beef production seminars set for this fall

Quality production from concep-on to marketing, and all aspects etween and beyond, will be covered through five hour-long seminars for cattlemen this fall. The Kentucky Partnership for Quality Management Program will kickoff this fall with Program will kickoff this ian war county and regional sessions through-out the state. The intensive and thorough pro-

out the state. The intensive and thorough pro-gram was developed through a part-nership effort of the Renucky Cat-tlemen's Association, Kenucky Cat-Bureau, Kenucky Department of Agriculture, Kenucky Livestock Markets Association, Kenucky Vet-erinary Medical Association, Ken-ucky Feed & Gran Dealers Associa-tion, and the University of Kenucky, which will conduct the programs through county agents. This program was designed for beeT and dairy producers, says Har-vey Michell? KCA vice president and chairman of the partnership committee, "It includes the most current technology available for pro-ducing quality beef for the consumer while maximizing profit for the producer.

while maximizing profit for the pro-ducer." Producers will be recognized for attending cach course, with special recognition, including a certificate, given to those completing all five sessions. Topics for the sessions will include: livestock handling, health care and disease prevention, appro-priate vaccinations and withdrawal times, herd management, genetics, working with veterinarians, nutrition, record keeping, and factors affecting market price. "There has been interess in a pro-gram like this for some time.", Mitch-cll-supfabsizes. A free boklet is available to assist in planning tree planting. Called Conservation trees For Your Farm, Family and Future, the booklet use colorful photos and illustrations and nderstand descriptions to guide tree planting and care. "This new booklet is a part of a multi-organization effort to help farm-ers and ranchers make trees an inte-gral part of sustainable agriculture,"

January 1 deadline for conservation systems

Beginning Jan. 1, 1995, all conser-vation systems must be fully applied on highly erodible land to be eligible for payments and other USDA pro-gram benefits. Producers who have not fully ap-nied their conservation system as of plied their conservation system as of Jan. 1, will remain ineligible for USDA program participation until the conservation system is fully ap-

ied. Under USDA's highly crodible land and wetland conservation provisio farmers will lose program benefits if they plant agricultural commodities on highly erodible land without using on nighty croanic fand without using an approved conservation system. They also will lose program benefits if they plant agricultural commodi-ties on wetlands converted after December 23, 1985, or if they convert to make agricultural production possible after November 28, 1990.

1994 best year ever for Kentucky Wheat growers

Now that farmers are making deci-sions to prepare for planting this year's winter wheat crôp, they might want to reflect a moment about what they did right last year. Whatever it was, it resulted in the best year ever for Kentucky wheat growers, said Charles Tutt, Exten-sion small grains specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Kentucky wheat farmers averaged 57 bushels per acre in 1994, said Tutt, who conducts wheat variety trails at UK's Research and Education Center in Princeton. "Now 57 bushels per acre may not be a top notch yield," he said, "but when you consider that it includes all the very good fields, all the very bad ones and all those in between, it is a top noch average yield." The previous high average year was in 1992 with a 55 bushel per acre memory. This uncertainty of ull bush average. This year was two full bush els better than that previous best year, but it was nine full bushels better than 1993. H

"Don't know," Tutt replied. "This year was unusual in the very small nount of disease found in wheat amount of disease found in wheat fields. The S64 question is why? We had a wet spring and you would expect more disease after a wet spring. But we didn't get it. We had less disease than any year than I can remember." One also might think that extremely cold 1994 winter with tree-felling icc storms and says after days of sub-zero temperatures would adversely affect winter wheat in the ground. "The freeze didn'thelp," said Tutt, "but apparently it didn'thurt all that much cither. We had 8 to 10 inches of menu bing are the field with before

PUBLIC NOTICE

In accordance with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, written policies and proce-dures have been developed which describe the Rockcastle County School District's requirements regarding the confidentiality of personally identifiable information. Stated in this notice is a summary of your rights under the Act. These rights are passed on to the stu-dent at age eighteen. For the urpose of this notice, the studet 18 years or older will be referred to as the "eligible" students. Parents, guardians and eligible stu-dents may review and inspect all education records relating to that student by making a request to the Principal of the school where that student attends. The RCSD will presume that the parent has the authority to review and inspect records relating to their children unless the district has been advised in writ-ing that the parent does not have legal authority under applicable state law governing such matters as guardianship, separation and divorce.

Personally identifiable infor party unless there is written au mation is not released to another thorization from the parent or eli-gible student, or there is a "Legiti-mate Educational Interest" as defined in the policies and proce-dures for confidentiality. A current list of employees' names and positions who have access to personally identifiable information is on file in each school. The RCSD has described in its policies and procedures the conditions under which personally identifiable information is released to another person without written parental consent.

"Directory Information" is information contained in an educational record which would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. This information may be released to news media, athletic organizations, scholarship or col-lege entrance committees, or official organizations whose need for data is connected with student help activities. "Directory Informa-tion" includes, but is not limited to the student's name, address, tele phone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, partici-pation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, de-grees and awards received and the most recent previous educa-tional agency or institution at-tended. The parent, guardian or eligible student curre ly enrolled. may request all or part of the di-rectory information be withheld The request must be in writing to the Principal of your child's school, within 30 calendar days after this formation. In accordance with federal regulation concerning the release or transfer of educational records, it is the policy of this school district to forward education records on request to a school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll. Parents may obtain upon request a copy of the records transferred

The Rockcastle County Schools keeps child and youth records in a secure computer system and in locked files in each school and central office.

Any parent or guardian of a student, or any eligible student may challenge the comtent or acuracy of any material or entries in the student's educational records on the grounds that it is inac-curate, misleading or otherwise in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student. Requests to nend the records are submitted to the principal of your child's school

For students who have been determined eligible for programs for children and youth with dis-abilities, educational records will be destroyed at the request of the And to use the second s vide educational programs and services. Parents are advised that data contained in the records may be later needed for Social Secu-rity purposes. The RCSD retains for an indefinite period of time, a record of the student's name. address, telephone number grades, attendance record, classes attended, grades com-pleted and year completed. Children and youth determined eligible for special education include those children and youth with disabilities who have hearing impairments, vision impairments, emotional and behav-ior disorders, both deafness and blindness, health impairments specific learning disabilities mental disabilities, multiple dis abilities, speech and language impairments, physical disabilities autism, or traumatic brain injuries and who because of these impair ments need specially designed instruction and related services. The Bockcastle County system, which is designed to find any child or youth, age birth up to 22 years, who may have a disabilfty and need special education. This includes children and youth who are not in school or those who are in school but are not receiving the special education they need to have an appropriate public education.

Schools has an ongoing Child Find

Rockcastle County Schools will make sure any child or youth who has a disability regardless of how severe the dis-ability, is provided an appropriate public education at no cost to the parents of the child or youth

Parents, relatives, public and private agency employees, and concerned citizens are urged to help the Rockcastle County Schools find any infant, toddler, child, or youth who may have a disability and need special education and related services. The district needs to know the name and age, or date of birth of the child or youth; the name, address and phone of the parent or guard-ian; the possible disability; and other information to determine if special education is needed.

Letters and phone calls are some of the ways Rockcastle County Schools collect the infor-mation needed. The information the school district collects will be used to contact the parents of the child or youth and find out if the child or youth needs to be evalu-ated or referred for special education services.

If you know of a child or youth who lives in Rockcastle County, may have a disability, and is not receiving needed services, bring, telephone or send the information to

All children can learn, but some learn differently. Some chil-dren need more help than others because they have a disability. We can help by accepting individ-ual differences; at home, at work and at school. The Rockcastle County Schools urge you, through Child Find, to give every child a chance to learn. If you have or know of an infant, toddler, child, or youth who has a disability and is not getting needed special help, please call the Rockcastle County School District at 256-2125. Two teenagers die in I-75 wreck No apparent reason for single car accident

Two Tennessee college students died and another was injured in a single car accident on Interstate 75 at Renfro Valley, Monday night. Killed instantlý was nineteen-year-old Gabriella R. Jones, the driver of the car. One her passen-gers, Jerem Puncan, also 19, died at 12:20 a.m. Tuesday at the Univer-sity of Kennucky Medical Center, according to Rockcastle Deputy Cornore Roy Martin. Duncan was flown to the U.K. hospital after the Rockcastle Anbu-lance Service transported him to the Rockcastle Hospital. . One of my very favorite songs of all time was most remarkably per-formed by Tennessee Ernie Ford – Ti's dark as a dungeon And damp as the dew Where danger is double And pleasures are few [Where the rain never falls and the - sun never stines, It's dark as a dangeon way down in the mines.

the mines." And it seems to me that instead of touting football as a sport where the University of Kentucky might ever gain some respect, they ought to play ole Ernie on the loudspeakers before home ganies at Commonwealth Sta-dium. It may not always be as dark as a dungcon, but figuratively speaking, one could argue that the sun has never shown itself inside that concrete monstrosity on Lexington's Cooper drive.

Maybe, instead of playing the fight song and having the cheerleaders bounce around so that their behinds bounce around so that their bounds don't get frostbitter, they should play a funeral dirge and have the pep-squad dress in black, wool gowns. Instead of cavorting and jumping and screaming, the cheerers could sol-emnly pack coffins around the sidescreaming, but encreate both as employ pack coffins around the side-lines. Another contingent could be encouraging the crowd to moan and weep, And this, Ibelieve, should start at the very beginning of every game. In fact, it might work even better if the tail-gate party crowd wore solid black instead of blue and white. Instead of Midnight Madness once a year for the basketball team, why not have a wake every weekend in Memorial Coliseum for the football team. Instead of Philon roling in on a motorcycle, why not have Coach Curry sitting on top of a hearse?

Consumer tips from GTE

Unfortunately, there are some people who abuse the telephone and become a nuisance to others. Al-though annoying and obscene calls are few, they are upsetting when they do occur

GTE is concerned about the prob-

GTE is concerned about the prob-lem and wants to help ensure that the phone is used properly. Here are some steps to follow if you receive an annoying call. First, show no emotion. If you receive an annoying or obscene call, don't say anything. Thang up gently. Often the caller is looking for an emotional reaction from you. In fact, there may be no other purpose for the call.

This technique usually ends the calls. However, if you continue to get upsetting or annoying calls, here are several things you can do: Wait the caller out by continuing to hang up gendy each time Keep a log of offensive calls and include the date, time of day and something about their nature (what, if anything, was said, how it was said, etc.) You might also make some notes about the caller's voice -- male or female, adult or child, high or low, strained or obviously camouflaged. This procedure takes time, but it may help law enforcement personnel de termine if there is a pattern to the calls, especially if others report the same information. Thia is informá-tion is ofter used as evidence against the offending caller. Contact GTE and discuss it with a trained service representative. A serv-ice representative will advise you of ps to be taken before the com pany can put a trace on your phone, and when law enforcement personnel should be contacted. Ask for a non-published number. here is a minimal monthly charge or this service. Have your phone number changed. Contact the police immediately if

Your faith can help you overcome those anxious hours

Sooner or later, misfortune of some kind must enter all of our lives; and yet if we could count the hours we have wasted in needless anxiety over something that never happened, we would be truly horrified. It may have been the fear of an illness that the doctor dispelled, or the anticipation of a financial setback that ldidn't materialize, or any number of things. Meanwhile, the agony of all those sleepless nights could have been greatly relieved by regular attendance at our House of Worship, where we learn to trust the Lord to protect us. Moreover, in the event of some real calamity we are better able to cope with it; relying on the Almighty to provide the right answer. When we realize that He is our best source of help and guidance, we will be fully prepared for whatever life sends our way.

area development district. I believe that counties should try to stand on their own fect more often. One of the great danges or felying upon others is that you become totally depend-ent; and, once you become depend-ent; and, once you become depend-ent, someone else calls the shots. Thatatitude is notbeneficial to local governments in the long run. In fact, it creates a de facto local govern-ment made up of unelected officials covering a very large area. "Our county should, in my opin-on-create its own code of chics that will be binding upon all our elected officials. Ascounty judge-executive, I hope to get the opinions of each of our officials before it is formally adopted by our fiscal court. Further-mere, I don't believe the abuses that have taken place in many other have taken place in many other counties have been common prac-tice here. This is not to say, however, that a strong code of ethics should not be put in place.

Among the many areas we should cover, I hope it eventually becomes evident in our code of ethics that we, evident in our code of editis: that we, as couny officials, cannot benefit by doing business with the county government. Although not (ormally adopted as of yet into our code of edites, our county's officials, by the way, have followed this standard. "Furthermöre, I have confidence that, as your elected officials meet on this subject of ethical conduct, Rockcastle Countians will be com-fortable - if not proud - of the code." The nepotism policy usually is the sticking point in all the counties.

Simply put, it says an official cannot hire a relative. And Rockcastle has relatives in just about every county office.

office. In one county, the nepotism policy will allow elected county officials to continue to hire relatives until Jan. 1. Employees hired before then can stay on the payroll as long as the official is in office or the employee works in the office ice

But that may not be the case in Rockcastle.

On Tuesday the Rowan County Fiscal Court actually passed an ethics code that allows county officials to ractice nepotism. Rowan officials said that rela-tives often times make the best employees. That may very well be true in Rockcastle County where many county officials have relatives on the payroll. Only time will tell if Rock-cfistle's ethics code actually allows for nepotism to continue as in the past. ployees.

In the past. Also, the financial disclosure pol-icy can cause trouble. In the county, the court settled for a requirement, among other things, that county officials and candidates must reveal sources of, income of more than 55,000 from the previous year. But board members, spouses and family members were exempt

More luna source that the second members, spouses and family members were exempt. This ethics code is a requirement by Kennacky House Bill 238. Although the code forces local governments toosablish rules of conduct (ethics) it set no minimum requirement for what those nucles should be But the legislature came along be. But the legislature came along with House Bill 875 which removed the statutory ban on local elected officials doing business with their own governments.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer said Tues-day he believes ML Vernon, Brod-head and Livingston must have a code of ethics by Dec. 31 or there will be no more state aid. But he does not believe a public hearing is required.

Dear Editor.

My name is R.V. Brock. I live on Hwy 150 near Mt. Vernon. I was 94 years young on Sep. 18, 1994. Have spent my entire 94 years as a resident of Rocksatle County. For several yeaps in this county, the taxing sys-tem and the way the tax money was spent was very different from the present system. In the 1950's, Jserved on an Equali-zation Board which had there mem-bers. This board assisted the tax commissioner, as it was called at that time. The first board 1 served on, along with Dallas Dillingham and Bill Angini: I presided over as chair-man. The board would meet and look at the value of every face of property My name is R.V. Brock, I live on at the value of every piece of property in the county as it was valued by the owner. The board would either leave the value of the property as reported, increase the value for tax purposes or in some cases, decrease the reported value. The list the board worked from value. The list the board worked from was furnished by the tax commis-sioner, along with a clerk to assist the board. This annual process would take the board about six days to complete the review.

It is that time of year again when atumn colors fill the air with the joy of living. My drive down 1249 the other day was one livill long remem-ber. How can I describe the exquiste beauty that greed me at every turn in the road? Some things are beyond description. Here I was, in this tiny car, creep-ing over a narrow road that wound in and out of passages through scenes that could only be created by a master artist's hand. This is one time I truly appreciated a moving vehicle for J could not have seen all the beauty of this glorious panorama of acolor had been on foot, or standing still, The wondrous colores as far as the eye been on foot, or standing sijll. The mountainsides were one TimsSo these wondrous colors as far as the eye could behold. Where ofly a short time agothese same hills were adeep green, they were now a mass of col-ors. In many places this year the subdued and have a softer look to them but not so with those on 1249. Here there was every shade of yel-low, and gold, red and pink, fuschia and greensmixing and mingling from the creek bed to the mountain top-and every once in awhile a special above all the others and wave its flaming red arms as if vanting to show off its brilliance to the world. Every foot of the way was a new experience of awa enableauxy. Some-times young trees, the color of pale times young trees, the color of pale yellow buttercups, fringed the lower edge of a grove of pine trees or made ruffles around the hillside with a fiof flowing colors ab

At one place, as I passed by a small cove that had a variety of trees of all sizes, the scene was so vivid with the mixture of colors, before I realized what I was doing I had literally stopped in awe and knew I was see-ing the handiwork of God. Then slowly I crept forward not wanting to stopped in avec and core of code. Them slowly Lerept forward not wanting to miss one bit of this glorious feeding of being on sacred ground. When it erached the top of the hill and began winding over the narrow ridge where the trees met overhead and created a canopy of color I remembered that only last winter this same spotwas the scene of another minate of beauty. A bit farther along when of ice. (This place surely must be enchanted). A bit farther along the road began to beas houses that had memories linked to them that caused my heart to beat a little faster and I was once again in the past. The beauty of fail again in the past. The beauty of fall again in the past. The ocady of fair flower gardens now became one with these memories and I could almost see Mable and Bill Taylor sitting on see Mable and Bill Taylor sitting on their front porch, and before them, Mable's mother and dad, Lens and Ollie Cromer. The front porch back then was used for sitting on and en-joying the warm sumy days. It was here one greeted the neighbors as they passed by and kept up with the goings on in the community. This place had so many memories connected to it I began to feel a bit depressed. It was here I had played countless games of five hundred Rummy with Mable and Bill and sat countess gaines or the maintee manny with Mable and Bill and sat many more hours just taiking about things. The told house has been torn down and replaced with a new one and have never meet the folks living there now. The nostalig in remained as I passed where the old Buffalo school house nece sat and I could almost hear the voices of kids playing in the yard. Incen I began the climb up the hill that led to a lot more memories of days long gone by. A good road now re-places the old dirt road down this same hill that my kids along with the other kids in the community had to walk over when they went to school there. there.

Rounding a curve at the top of the Rounding a curve at the top of the hill naturally looked for the house of Alice Mize, even though I knew it had long ago been torm down. This was also a place of very dear memo-res and 1 still miss the fun and laugh-ter of going to her house where we would play games in her front yard after the evening chores were fin-sched. Or sit with her around the fireplace and listen to her tales of, oldtimes. The oldbarn issill stand-ing that was built by the neighbors at a barn raising back in the late thirties. Those were the days of real commu-nity action. The post office was lo-cated in the Mize home when I first i wored to Rockcastle County. A couple of miles farther and I was home. Now I wasn't missing one bit-of the beauty of this stretch of the way for there is beauty to spare in this rough section of the county. There are deep hollows and steep hillsides splitting over with color and the sky seems to be a bit blue here than elsewhere and the bright colors seem to add a bit more warmth to the air. Home I have always heard that home is where the heart is. Well maybe that has a little truth in it for hy heart seemed to be bubbling with a barn raising back in the late thirties.

my heart seemed to be bubbling with my neart seemed to be bubbling with joy, or sadness, at this moment of appearing in the front yard of home. The big maple trees in front of the house were blazing with color. The blazing red of one tree and the brilhouse were baizing wint color. The blazing red of one tree and the brit-liant yellow and gold of the one next to it were vying for first place in getting my attention. There were other thingts getting my attention also, such as the garden that has yielded is last mess of beans for the year and has allowed the weeds to take over, and the dogs clamoting for attention. After feeding them 1 stood still and forlow in their state of neglect but the memories of beater times, when they were new, and filled with calue and new cut tobacco, was uppermost in my mind at his time. Across the road my mind at this time. Across the road time was beginning its healing of the

What Saith the Scriptures'

Jesus in Jn. 3:19-21 said "And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For everyone that doeth evil hatch the light, neither cometh to the light, lesthisdeeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God." Let's notice several lessons from these verses.

that they are wrougn in God. Let's nouce several ressolts Hogy filese verses. First, Jesus is the light of the world, Jn. 9:4, Jn. 12:36, 46. He is a becano of light toany and all who will come unho him. If we will believe in him and his word, we can become children of light. The general state of men, is that we love darkness rather than light. Why? Because our deeds are evil. But to any who will come to the light, Usus Christ, we can find forgiveness and mercy for all our deeds of darkness (sin). But some folks do not really want to do what is right. They hate the light which could mean they despise the light or hate could mean, to force less' as Lk 14:26 so uses the word. They refuse to come to the light of lesus Christ, lest their deeds should be reproved. Just hink of right ne folks that refuse to discuss or talk about the bible. You ask and plead with those in error, to study the word of the Lord, by the so in word off, or refused. Truth does not force an one mixestigation only to epart does. Are ycc. fearful of the light, to let your life and beliefs to be examined by God sword? examined by God's word?

But those who love truth comes to the light that his deeds and beliefs But mose who love runt comes to the right that his decids and beliefs may be manifes that they are wrought in GoA. Our attitude should be, is that we want the truth, and that we want to do what is right? Those who love and pursue the truth are not fearful to study or talk with anyone about the Bible. For if they are rightshey will be able to help those they study with, and if they are wrong, they will stand corrected, and follow the truth which is their pursuit, if as win-win situation. Would you like to study the Bible? Let us know if we can help.

absence of neighbors who once lived there and the open space looked like a pretty little park snuggled at the foot of the hill. The realities of yester-Isotof the hill. The realities of yester-wars were so vividal turned to speak to Mat whom I knew would be sitting on the porch but what I saw was an empty chaise lounge, where he had reclined during his illness, folded up and leaning against the wall. This srought me back to the reality of where I was and why I washere. My mission of drinking my fill of the beauties and warmth of autumn was complete and so with a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes I closed that chapter and went inside to enjoy the warmth of "HOME."

Attention: All Women 35 Years of Age and Older.....

Current statistics indicate that one of nine American women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Mammography screening has become an important tool in the tight against breast cancer. The American Cancer Society recommends a baseline mammogram at age 35 and screening mammograms every one or two years for women age 40 to 50. After 50 years of age they recommend routine annual screenings. The American Cancer Society has declared October "Preast Cancer Awareness Month." For the month of October, the Rockcastle Hospital is offering screening mammograms for the low price of $65.00. This includes the Radiologist lee for interpretation. We have an accredited G.E. Calendar of Events Thursday - Oct. 20 - The Tuffy Williams Family Program 8:25 in the gym - admission 50e Tuesday - Oct. 25 - Primary trip EKU to see Charlotte's Webb.

This week in Mrs. Clark's class we have been writing animal reports. On Friday we had a 4-H meeting. Our 4 -H posters were also due on Friday. I think everyone did a great job of putting their 4-H posters together. The person who does the best on it wine and nets 1 prophy.

wins and gets a trophy. We also won the PTA contest. That

We also won the P1A contest. I nat is where the class who gets the most people to sign up for PTA gets S50 to spend. We were thinking about get-ting some fish for our aquarium with the money. That were some interest-ing things that happend in Mrs. Clark's class this week.

Paula Cowan's Class By: Maggie Phillips and Daniel Clark

This week in Paula Cowan's class we did a chart on Hallowcen works. Then we used the works to write a story about aspooly Hallowcen right. In math we learned two digit addi-tion with renaming. In connections we have been talk-ing about carcers and learned about Christopher Columbus I life. Next week we look forward to going to Lexington to see The Lion The Witch and The Wardrobe.

Musically Speaking Mrs. Comelius' music classes have been enjoying playing Rhythm Foot-ball! It was fun reviewing our notes while cheering our teams on! All students showed a basic understand-ing of rhythm and Mrs. C. is very oud of them. p proud of them. Seven of our 4th and 5th grade students were chosen from 163 stu-dents from MVES to represent our school in the Central Kentucky Music School in the Central Kentucky Music Educators Association Elementary Choral Festival on Nov. 4. These students will travel to the University of Kentucky for a day of singing and vocal development and will conclude with a concert open to the public. Our seven student are: Courtney Alexan-der, Andrew Hammond, Rachelle of you!! Mrs. Cornelius' 5th grade Honor prenaring for their Mrs. Corneus our grade roution Chorus is busy preparing for their Christmas Concert entitled, "One Magic Christmas." Be watching for concert dates and times! What is the difference between a fish and a guitar?

concert dates and times! What is the difference bivenen fishand an guitar? Answer? You can't tuna fish! Mr. Napiers fish grande opened up the year with the Great Mail Race. This is an exciting writing program where gach of his students picked a state to write to. The content of the letters shares information about the student, school, town, state, and famous people of Kentucky. We've bard from Hawair? Arizona, and Montana. The shocker of the year was from Big Sandy, Montana. This was aone room school with only five students nestical in the edge of the Rocky Mountains. The other shocker was Kingman. Arizona, a school with a toal of 50 students. What a Dream! What a Dream!

Deborah Cummins, a counselor employed by Mt. Vemon Elemen-tary, recently participated in the annual fall conference of the Ken-tucky Counseling Association held in Louisville on October 11-14. This year's meeting featured Fred J. Krieg, Ph.D., of West Virginia University,

One fall day By: Anthony Cummins

One fall day when I was going to my grandpa's, I saw all of the beauti-ful leaves yellow, brown, red. When we got there I asked my grandpa what season it was. "Fall." he said. My grandpa and I went out to his pump-kin patch. I saw all of these pumpkins and even some ghost pumpkins. My grandpa let me have some

My grandpa let me have some pumpkins for Halloween. I am going to carve a pumpkin and when my mom wakes up and opens her eyes I will stick it in her face. After Hallow een I got so sick from eating all of that candy. The next day I went back to wandy, the next day I went back to my grandpa's and I told him that I got sick. How are you? "All right, "I feel better now." I said. Pap, I have to leave now but I will be back tomor-

Clear Creek College continues Campbell's soup label drive

By Michael R. York Campus Writer, Clear Creek Baptist Bible College

Remember the television commer-cial depicting a small child rushing indoors on a blustery day asking, "Is it soup yet?" Warming up with a hot cup of soup sure brings a sense of contentment. As the cooler weather becknow more trendle to enjoy this beckons more people to enjoy this steamy treat, the preschoolers at Clear Creek Baptist College are anticipating the good use that soup labels can have. They are asking, "Do we have enough for our new van yet?" The answer is, "No, but we are getting there "

answer is, 'roo, but we are gening there." Clear Creek's Child Development Conter currently has 37 preschool-ers, most of whom are children of the college's studens, faculty and staff. The school's one used van and a sta-tion wagon do not meet the transpor-tation needs that arise. A recent field trip to Mason's Pumpkin fam in Davisburg, had to be spread out over two days because of the shortage of school vehicles. "A new van would dat to the safety and logistics of plan-ning field trips," explains Rebecca Whittaker, Child Development Cen-ter Director, "We could enhance their learning experiences if we could visit more sites," she added. Clear Creck Baptist Bible College, founded in 1926 as a theological train-ing conter for addite, in sideol en-ing center for adults, is an ideal set-ting for-learning. With an additional van they hope to spread out over the Southeastern Kentucky region with both ministry and educational expe-

The drive to collect 1,000,000 riences. The drive to collect 1,000,000 labels from soup cans and packaged food containers began over a year ago. The project is part of Campbell's Labels for Education Program, an innovative way for schools to secure new transportation vehicles. Friends of Clear Creek are trying to beat the march 1, 1995 collection deadline. To date there have been over 250,000 labels counted toward the goal, as Supporters are being sought to collect and thrin labels from a wide assortment of products, including, Vanie, and Prego.
