Three local men plead to lesser charges

Three Rockcastle County men pled guilty last week in Circuit Court in connection with a December 1993 rape.

Sterling Hoskins, Jr., 34, Bobby Moore, Jr., 19, and William Henry Brock, 21, were indicted in January for rape and sodomy.

The indictment stemmed from a December 19, 1993 incident in which the three were accused of engaging in sexual intercourse with a local woman.

Asst. Commonwealth Attorney Bill Thompson said Wednesday that the three men all plead guilty to a lesser charge of unlawful transaction with a minor. The three men will be sentenced to sixty days, with credit for time served. The remainder of their sentences will be probated.

The unlawful transaction with a minor charges is a misdemeanor. Thompson said that plea agreements were reached after new evidence was introduced in the case, including the fact that the woman had consented to sexual intercourse with two of the defendants prior to the December 19th incident.

Rockcastle County High School

Open House set for Dec. 4th at RCHS

Rockcastle countians will get their first in-depth look at their newest educational facility, Rockcastle County High School, on Sunday December 4th.

Open House has been scheduled for that day with tours of the entire facility.

The gym was opened to practice Monday, November 21 and, according to Richard Bray, finance officer for the district, the only thing remaining to be completed by the Open House will be "punch list" items - non-essential minor items.

Bray said the chorus and hand rooms were now being used and the seats have been installed in the auditorium.

Times for the Open House are 2 to 5 p.m.

Kentucky's Secretary of State Bob Babbage was in Rockcastle County last Wednesday to do some campaigning for Governor. He spoke to a small crowd at the Rockcastle County courthouse. Babbage is seeking the democratic nomination for governor in next May's primary. Babbage's escort while in Rockcastle County was local democrat county chairman Larry Dayle.

Brodhead Christmas parade December 3

The annual Brodhead Christmas Parade and drawing will be held on Saturday December 3, at 6 p.m. The Twilight parade will precede a drawing for prizes. All prizes are being donated by Brodhead area businesses.

Anyone wishing to enter a float in the parade can do so by calling Linda Burton at 758-4165 or Becky Bussell at 758-8635. The Brodhead Ladies Auxiliary sponsors the annual event.

Benefit singing for Denise Graves

A benefit gospel singing is scheduled for December 2 at the Scaffold Cane Baptist Church for Denise Harding Graves.

Mrs. Graves, 24, of Mt. Vernon has been diagnosed with Hodgkins disease, a form of cancer.

The singing will begin at 7 p.m. for more information call 256-9658 or 256-2895.

Tree of Love at Renfro

In an effort to provide a better Christmas for some underprivileged Rockcastle County children, the folks at Renfro Valley Entertainment Center are once again sponsoring the Tree of Love. The tree, which can be found in Santa's Workshop at Renfro Village, has 50 names of children from Rockcastle County. Anyone wishing to help an underprivileged child can pick one of the decorative ornaments off the tree and return the gifts by December 21 to Renfro Valley for distribution.

Mt. Vernon, Renfro Valley tree lighting ceremonies

Members of the Rockcastle County Kiwanis club, including President Rocky Rockwell, center, and city of Mt. Vernon employees, were busy Tuesday decorating the city park for Friday night's tree lighting ceremony. Renfro Valley Entertainment Center will also have a tree lighting ceremony on Friday, at 5:00 p.m. The tree lighting at Mt. Vernon is set for 7 p.m. Santa Claus is scheduled to be at both lighting ceremonies.

Connection to the North Pole... Speak to Santa on the phone and have your conversation heard on WRVK radio. Santa will be at the Mt. Vernon City Park on Saturday December 3, 10:30 a.m. to 12 Noon. Mt. Vernon's Christmas Parade will follow at 1 p.m.

Rockcastle County ASCS elections to be held at later date

This year's election for positions on the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, which were to be held in December, are being rescheduled to accommodate changes brought on with last month's enactment of the law to reorganize the US Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Breakin

Thieves broke into the home of Donna Cloyd at Brodhead Nov. 25. Taken in the breakin were a radio, six bird pictures, one wall hanging, wooden desk, vase, two wooden plaques and one porcelain doll, total value $560.

Shot out

Two windows were shot out at Super Test Service Station over the weekend. The building was not entered according to city police. Mt. Vernon Police Officer Lefe Owens investigated.

A fire at the home of Cecil McCracken at Renfro Valley was completely destroyed by fire last Friday night. Mt. Vernon firefighters were called to the scene around 9 p.m. The house was located on a farm owned by local attorney William D. Gregory. Firefighter Tim Bostic said the house was completely involved when firefighters arrived. Bostic said the origin of the fire was unknown.

I have two friends, a married couple, here in Garrard County whom I like so well that I'm not even going to mention their names in the paper. They don't stand up to ridicule nearly as well as the members of my immediate family and its also getting close to Christmas - which makes me get soft-hearted.

Anyway, my friends stopped by a few nights back and wanted to know where they could get a "humane" mouse trap.

"Why do you want to be humane to a mouse?" I inquired.

And, for that matter, what could be more humane than those regular little mouse traps that break their necks so fast it squishes their eyeballs out."

"Oh no no no --No!!!", replied female gendered half of my friendship as she shuddered and wrung her hands. "We don't believe in killing or hurting little animals. We want to catch the mice alive."

"And then what?" I inquired. If you're not going to kill them or feed them to the cat, what's the point in catching them in the first place?"

"Oh if we can catch them alive, we intend to take them over into Lincoln County and turn them loose," she replied.

Now don't ask me why she was taking them to Lincoln County instead of Boyle or Mercer or Jessamine. I don't think it mattered where they were going as long as she got the darn vermin out of Garrard County alive. Nor did I tell her that soon as they got established in Lincoln County they were going to invade another household and wind up poisoned or squished anyway.

In the meantime, the male gendered half of Save the Mice Federation was keeping quiet and sort of shuffling his feet. Sufficient it to say that he was far less than excited about the live trapping endeavor and if I'm half the milder than I sometimes suppose myself to be, he was secretely hoping that I would have no suggestions. I suspect that if the problem had been left up to him he'd have solved it with a box of D-Con.

But since I believe that when men like him get hooked up with women like her it is his solemn if not sworn duty to aid, assist and encourage the women on any project that will further contribute to the general misery of their spouses.

With that mission in mind, I set about demonstrating how to make a five gallon bucket mouse trap.

Since there are other uses for five gallon buckets, I thought you readers might also be interested in this neat arrangement.

First of all you need a five-gallon plastic bucket, a couple of tablespoons full of floor wax, a common one foot ruler, a piece of rough lumber about four feet long and a bit of duct tape or masking tape.

Clean out and then wax the inside of the bucket until it is slick as glass and set the bucket upright the middle of the floor in any room where mice are present or apt to visit.

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHILDREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greetings and circumlocutions from the Elysian Fields of Wabed, where some saints of the Lotta Grace Baptist Church are upset with their new preacher, the Rev. Hansford D. Humbler. Word has it that he has taken to verbosity, long-windedness, and frequent multiplications and proliferations of redundant and inconsistent irrelevancies. And the fact that his predecessor always "let out on time" makes it even harder for folks to tolerate Rev. Humbler's scallous-on-buns discourses.

Aunt Molly Larsen, who has been listening to preachers for eightysome years, declared after last Sunday's message, "If that sermon was fer sale, it'd be labeled 'Dry Goods and Notions.'" And Mary McQuitte, local farmer and part-time distributor of Abshire's Laying Mash, said that same sermon reminded him of his barn -- "It needs a good cleanin' out before I'll take anybody into it." I'm told that the deacons at Lotta Grace have arranged for several ministers to be called simultaneously with sustained spells of coughing every time Rev. Humbler commences rambling or ignores the clock. "It worth a try," said Willis Uterback. "Something's got to be done about it."

What, precious souls, shall we say to these things? Well, to begin, I will say I am more than willing to listen to a sermon that goes over twenty-five minutes provided the speaker's content is commanding enough to merit his taking more time. While there are such sermons, they are few and far between. Believe me, some sermons are long at fifteen minutes!

Past practice has something to do with stretched-out sermonizing. Time was when a sermon was judged by the amount of time it consumed. When a sophomore at Cumberland College in Williamsburg, I took an elective in "Sermon Preparation and Delivery." One tall, split-mouth looking fellow, call him Bones, came into class every Monday morning and bragged about how long he had preached the Sunday before. "Boys, I lasted for an hour and thirty-seven minutes last night" was typical of his assertions of pulpit prowess.

Our professor said more than once to us, "Men, listeners tire easily and quickly" - a bit of counsel that went begging when it came to Bones. Each student had to prepare an original sermon and deliver it to the class. Bones delivered his message, the bell caught him, and at the next class meeting Prof' took him apart. After class, however, Bones told a few of us that Prof' wasn't 'allowin' for the leadin' of the Spirit."

"This sermonette sull' he's teachin' won't get the lost down the aisle," Bones went on. "In his thirties, he has been preaching for several years and considered himself the voice of experience in our class."

"Years ago the Lord showed me what to do," he explained, "I start out slow and ease up on a feller, but before he knows it I've got him on the hot seat. Then I back off for a spell. Then about the time he thinks he's safe, I jump him again. Boys, you do that several times in a sermon and you'll get your man to the mourner's bench. And it takes time, fellers, it takes time. But I'm here to tell you that if you do what I do you'll be going to the river ever Sunday." (People once were baptized outdoors in "running water," as was Jesus).

Was Bones on the right track? Some would say he was. I do remember, however, that the pastorate he "held down" in Woodbine, one that issued an "annual all," didn't take him on for another year.

Now, dear hearts, I have also done my share of "holdin' over." On many occasions I overdid it as badly as the mythical pulpitizer who said, "First I tell 'em what I'm gonna tell 'em; then I tell 'em what I told 'em I was gonna tell 'em; then, lest they up and forget right away, I tell 'em what I just told them."

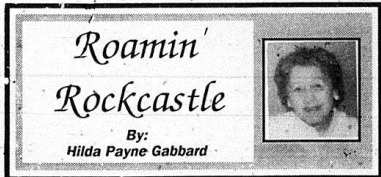

Once in a deacons' meeting, a man complained to me, "Preacher, you preach a purty good sermon - and then you run in the ground."

Did that ever smart! What did a lineman for Kentucky Utilities know about preaching? I later realized he knew enough to see I was showing myself in the foot and that I was finished when the firehouse siren went off at noon.

Now, I didn't let him get away with such a remark. Knowing he was an enthusiastic basketball fan, I came back, "You don't seem to mind spending six or eight hours a week watching the Rockets and the cats. I'd think you, being a deacon, would have more time for the Word of God."

How was that for a sanctimonious time for the Word of God.

Roamin' Rockcastle

I was lucky enough to get to eat three Thanksgiving dinners this time of year. The first one was at Galilee Baptist Church on the Saturday night before Thanksgiving, the second dinner was the home of Barley Dinger in Union who lives a few miles north of Richmond and the third or last one was food given us by Bessie and Buster Gadd on Lower Clear Creek which we brought home with us. They are kinfolks by both Buster and I have some Absey in us.

We went by their house to get some news so when Bessie invited us in after our knock, I got all the good smells of their Thanksgiving dinner. Bessie said all their children were in and we saw their daughter Dorothy Thomas from Marietta, Georgia. Her husband, Martin Thomas, who is in the Navy, came too but on this day he had gone to see his family at Orlando. Bessie had all the works of a holiday dinner. Dorothy had baked and brought with her a sweet potato cake. I plan to get the recipe from her for you never eat anything so good.

Wanda Laswell, another daughter who lives in a trailer in the corner of the yard, was at the dinner, and then Irene Kirby, a good friend of mine who lives in Mt. Vernon, joined the family to eat.

If it was anything like the food Bessie gave me to eat, the food was delicious - I won't have to cook for a week.

Bessie told Buster to get her a small box and she filled it with baked turkey, dressing, potato salad, macaroni salad, sweet potato cake, fruit cake. Not many folks would have given us all those "good eats" but hill people are that way. They share with kinfolks what they have.

Buster told John he had been up the

Albright and Leporin attend state convention

Ms. Dolores Albright and Ms. Cora Leporin represented the Cumberland Valley District for the Department for Social Services at the home builders forum in Louisville. The forum was held at the Seelback Hotel November 2nd and 3rd. The forum, "A Time to Decide" focused on policy and challenges in serving children exposed to drugs and alcohol. Both Ms. Albright and Ms. Leporin co-facilitated with a national speaker. The focus of Ms. Albright's workshop with speaker Susan Landers, a family preservation specialist with Project Impact from Boston, Massachusetts, stressed the need for intensive services for adoptive families who have a child from an at-risk placement. Ms. Leporin co-facilitated with Joann Bell, a professor at the University of Kentucky School of Social Work and Susan Maczka, director and founder of Project Starz, a rehabilitation institute in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Ms. Maczka is a na-spot where Buster and Bessie have their home.

That was the rural school where Sherman Chasteen taught and his daughter, Jessie, fell off a footlog bridge and was floating on a downstream, big, muddy creek. Sherman could not swim but jumped in to catch his daughter by the long plait of hair she wore.

This family moved away, Jessie tells me when she was thirteen, and they were westward.

Next we went to Wildie to take lunch with Ballard Parsons. He said he stayed in the store on Thanksgiving. Folks drifted in and out for a soft drink -- If they got any "hard drinks, they kept it from me.

Ballard had some coffee made. Glenn Coffey said he didn't know it is boiled or was instant coffee. He wasn't going to say much for Ballard would burn his barn down and Parsons didn't deny the words spoken. His brother Donnie, who drives Ballard to work drove over with a tray for Thanksgiving dinner. He said it had turkey on it but didn't care for it.

Ballard sells a lot of stuff in bottles or cans that the fellows all get when they come in and seeing me hurriedly leave.

I asked Ballard about business as I walked around and looked at his shelves.

"I see you have some nice pears," I said. "How do you sell them?"

"Now you are talking about a bargain," Ballard said, "they are 25¢ each or I'll let you have two pears for 50¢."

I agreed they were a bargain and bought two right there on the spot.

"Have you talked to Henry Volmer in Indiana?" I asked Ballard.

"No, I haven't. If you do, tell him to come on down and I'll chase girls some night," Ballard said.

"Well, John can't come down here with Henry," I said. That's it!

Next we went by Bill Stephens home in Scaffold Cane and found Bill alone, Flossie, his wife, having gone to London to do Christmas shopping with her daughter Genevieve Reynolds and Heather Adams, a granddaughter who was a recent bride.

Junior King and wife, Diane went to Washington on a business trip about a former job Diane had in Berea.

Donna Stephens and wife, Joyce also went to Washington about the same business.

Recently at Galilee Church, I looked across the room and saw friends, Raymond and Oma Baker from Berea. That was the night Brother Mark McNeill filled the pulpit for our regular pastor.

Raymond seemed to like hearing Mark preach and we hope he, and Oma, come back again.

My sister-in-law, Mary Payne gave me news of how she spent her holiday in Lexington. She visited her daughter, Lucy Ann and Lloyd Douglas in Lexington, where she ate Thanksgiving dinner with them then she went to son, Johnny and Joyce Payne's where all their large family came together for the gathering! It was also at home -- Johnny's daughter, Mary Ellen and Greg Stokes.

Life changes for you when you lose a companion. Where Mary cooked for the large family that came to see her and Howard, my brother, for the holiday, she now goes to their homes, Howard passing away several years ago.

When John and I stopped in to see brother William J. Hamilton, and pretty wife, China, recently, he showed me this picture and I begged him to let me put it in my column. He agreed and I was promised to take very good care of it. This is his story: "Being in the plumbing and heating business, I was hired for the job at Booneville in Owsley County many years ago.

When the people learned that I was a preacher, they begged me to organize a church for them -- I agreed but couldn't pastor the church, I told them.

I held a revival for them and this many in the picture joined and were baptized."

So you see Brother Hamilton did a lot of good. I counted about 12 people in the picture and thought he must have preached a powerful sermon. I hope you enjoy this picture of Brother Hamilton with his arm upraised, about to let this woman down in the water.

I hope some of these people are still living and can tell us who they are. Either call, 606-986-1180 or write me in care of the Mt. Vernon Signal, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

stab? And I was neither the first nor the last to use such "justification" for sermonic overkill. (Truth be told, many of my sermons had no "kill" at all!) But even worse was my logic. Comparing sitting through a sermon and sitting through a ball game is a perfect example of the fallacy of comparing apples and oranges.

When listening to a sermon, you are pretty much stationary; you try not to make any movement or motion that would draw attention away from the preacher. Many a sneeze has been squelched in church for fear of being noticed. And most people, out of politeness, keep looking at the preacher even when they've ceased listening. (Most I say. Some seem to become fascinated with items such as the hymnal, the grain on the pew, their nails and their frys.)

How unlike a church setting is a ball game! You jump up and down, yell, boo, cheer, talk to those seated beside you, and pass gas without being heard. (I am aware, dear hearts, that in certain communities of faith some of the afore-mentioned actions are standard fare, but not in most Baptist settings.)

I really committed a "technical" when I censored that deacon. My analogy was flawed, my attitude was un-Christian, my rebuff was foul play, and for ever after that man went out of his way to not speak to me. I apologized to him, to no avail. And ten-plus years' passed before I reckoned with the truth of his complaint.

Anyhow... how long should a preacher preach? As long as he wants if he has prepared well -- and doesn't make me late for some pre-planned occasion at which I'm expected. If, of course, get up and quietly leave before he concludes -- and have people make all kinds of judgments about why I left.)

Better still, beloved, considered an adept I eventually came to believe in. True, most of the time and heard too infrequently among preachers, it says, "The longer the sermon, the less a man has prepared.

I must go, but let me urge you to attend the church of your choice this coming Sunday -- and be prepared to cough.

"Points East"

With a piece of duct tape or masking tape, secure the board so that one end of it is level with the top of the bucket and the other end on the floor. In other words you want it to be a ramp that the mouse can climb up. Now place a tiny piece of cheese on one end of the ruler and balance it on the ramp and bucket top so the cheese is out over the bucket.

When the mouse walks out on the stick to get the cheese, it will tip over and he and the stick will fall into the bucket. If you did a good wax job he won't be able to get out. Every time you catch one, just take the ruler out and bait the trap again until you have three or four mice in your bucket.

Then you can take 'em out and turn 'em loose, or you can tie to their tails and slow them down to train kittens with or you can flush 'em down the toilet still screaming. For that matter, you can put three inches of water in the bottom of your bucket and drown 'em when they fall in. In any event, if we catch you turning any loose here on Fairview Ridge we'll see to it that mice become the least of your worries.

In Memory of our parents Emmett and Bertie Taylor

God looked around His garden,
And He found two empty spaces.
He then looked upon this earth,
And He saw two tired faces.
He put His arms around them
And lifted them to rest.
He wanted them because,
God always takes the best.
He knew they were suffering,
He knew they were in pain,
He knew they would never get well
on earth again.

He saw that the road was getting rough,
Because the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed their heavy eyelids and whispered, peace be thine.
It broke our hearts to lose them,
But they didn't go alone.
For part of us went with them,
The day God called them home.

Sadly missed by their four daughters and families

Quail Homemakers meet

The Quail Homemakers met Monday night, Nov. 21 at 7 p.m. Our regular monthly meeting was changed from Millie Eaton's to Virginia Hanse's residence because of sickness in Millie's family.

Ten members and one visitor were present. As the roll was called, each told of a talent for which she was most thankful.

Our thought for the night was "Strength of a Nation is Derived from Integrity of Its Homes." The devotion was read by Betty Lou Whitaker.

We decided to let Lawrence Butlock paint the new 6'x8' sign for the entrance to the Quail Community Park. He promised to make it very "eye catching and attractive."

Robbie Durhan presented the lesson, "Preparing Holiday Desserts Without Sugar." We each decided that we need to be more health conscious and begin to change our way of cooking and eating.

Virginia Hanse had delicious food which we enjoyed very much. She also won the Bingo Game.

Our next meeting will be at Marietta Thompson's. Everyone remember to bring a covered dish and a gift for your Secret Pal. Our year long secrets will be exposed at that meeting.

tional speaker and consults with different states regarding disability advocacy, child welfare reform and adoption programs.

Other workshops focused on outpatient and residential treatment programs for mothers and children. A treatment program in Covington for women and children was presented by Frankie Kropp. An inpatient treatment center for women, the Independence House in Corbin, was showcased by Mary Burnette. Independence House is sponsored by Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center.

The planetary session was presented by Sheryl Bissett-Chapman, executive director of the Baptist Home for Children in Bethesda, Maryland. Dr. Bissett-Chapman is founding director of child welfare league training institute and works on a multi-disciplinary team for sexual abuse perpetrators in Washington, D.C.

The forum was supported by a federal grant in conjunction with the National Home Builders Association and the Kentucky Special Needs Adoption Project within the Department for Social Service, Frankfort.

Fairview News
By Mrs. Hubert Chestnut

Attendance was good at the Fairview Baptist Church over the weekend and eighty-nine (89) attended Sunday School.

Hope everyone had a happy Thanksgiving holiday. We have so much to be thankful for and I hope all of you took a little time out to give thanks to God for all His many blessings. But of course we should thank Him every day of our life, not just once a year.

We extend our heart felt sympathy to the family of Mrs. Stella (Gatliff) Smith of Bell, California who passed away Nov. 15. She was buried beside first husband Wilburn Gatliff in the Berea Cemetery on Monday, Nov. 21. It was a sad occasion but we were glad to see her children and grandchildren and others at the funeral home. Her son Philip and my husband are second cousins. Philip is married to my sister Ruth. Mrs. Gatliff who lived in the Scaffold Cave area years ago, was such a good friendly lady, had lots of friends and loved by everyone. Her family and relatives have our love and prayers. God bless each one.

William Reppert Norris, 75, of Augusta, Ga. (a cousin of the Reppert family) departed this life on Thursday, Thanksgiving day, at his home. Bless his life, he and I were so close, we kept in touch by letters and phone calls. He was so happy and such a good person. We had a lot of laughs on the phone. I loved him so much and will miss him, and never forget him.

His wife Mary Elizabeth, her children and grandchildren will always be in my prayers. God bless him again. I hope to see him in heaven some day.

Please remember Elmer Hale of Roundstone who has been sick since April of 1993. He has suffered so much and needs the prayers of God's good Christian, loving and concerned friends. Today, we don't see many people that care about others. I see love today in the world than ever before. How many times are you ever asked to pray for lost or unwelcomed people? What are our churches concerned about most, worldly activities or lost souls? Think about it.

On Sunday, Nov. 20th, Rev. and Mrs. Jack Bruce of Mt. Vernon attended worship services at Fairview. We always enjoy having them visit us.
Our Thanksgiving guests were Mrs.

Myrtle Adams of Wildie and her daughter Phyllis Vos of Richmond, Wayne Casteen and wife Carolyn and their son Darrin Casteen and wife Monica and two children of Berea and our daughter Darlen Abney. Roger Spies visited one day last week.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander for Thanksgiving dinner were their son Gerald, wife Irene and children. Nov. 17th Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isaacs and children and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander visited at Christmas Island at Burrhead.

Enjoying a good Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mrs. Christine Barnett of Berea were Mrs. Mary Cope, Helen Spires, Dwayne Spire, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Barnett and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander were in Crossville, Tenn. Saturday, Nov. 19th, visiting Mrs. Anna Carey and Mrs. Cora Reppert. They also placed flowers on the graves of John Vaughn, Bertha Vaughn and Ira Reppert.

Visiting Mrs. Dealie Barnett and enjoying a good meal at Thanksgiving were Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Long and son Scott of Independence, Bodie Barnett, Kathleen Walters and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Barnett and infant son.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Rigby of Berea visited Mrs. Dealie Barnett Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Ridgell and daughter Sherry were Thursday dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ridgell of Corbin.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander visited their children Thursday night Gerald Alexander and family and Jewell Davidson and family. Two grandsons Cody Alexander and Jeremy Davidson spent the night with their grandparents and Jenia Davidson spent the weekend with them.

I want to publicly thank Kermit Blair for the huge big pumpkin and cushaw he brought us this past Wednesday evening. It was so nice of him.
Please remember church and Sunday School and pray for your unvisited relatives and friends. God bless everyone.

Dairy indemnity payment program

The Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as extended to 1995 by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990, authorizes the Secretary to make dairy indemnity payments.

Payments are made to dairy producers who have been directed by a public regulatory agency to remove their raw milk from the commercial market because it has been contaminated by pesticides, nuclear radiation or fallout, or toxic substances and chemical residues other than pesticides. Payments are made to manufacturers of dairy products only for products removed from the market because of pesticide contamination.

Applications must be filed no later than December 31 following the fiscal year in which the loss occurred.

Except for Kentucky and Indiana, out-of-state figures are from the previous day's sale.

Rockcastle Unemployment rate is 5.5

Rockcastle's unemployment figures remain low according to the Cabinet for Human Resources.

The figures stood at 5.5 percent for September up from 4.4 percent in August.

It was still the lowest in the six county area in Corbin.

Highest unemployment rate was in Jackson County with 9.1 percent.

The Kentucky rate stood at 4.7 percent in September compared to 4.4 in August.

20 fatalities reported over Thanksgiving

The Kentucky State Police report 20 fatalities occurring over the official Thanksgiving holiday period which ran from 6 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 27 to midnight, Sunday, Nov. 27.

That number is a substantial increase over last year's Thanksgiving fatality toll of seven. Sgt. Steve O'Daniel, commander of the Public Affairs Branch, said there were several reasons for the high fatality rate.

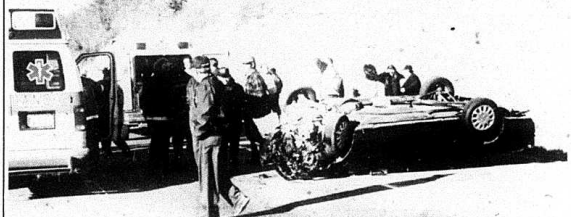

"We had three multiple-fatality crashes -- one accident resulted in five deaths. Also, alcohol and speed seemed to be big factors this holiday -- this is very discouraging to us that people are not considering the risks they're taking on the road."

The 20 fatalities resulted from 14 fatal crashes. Eleven of those crashes were on state highways. "Drivers need to be very aware of their speed on rural roads as well as interstates -- most accidents occur on state roads," said O'Daniel.

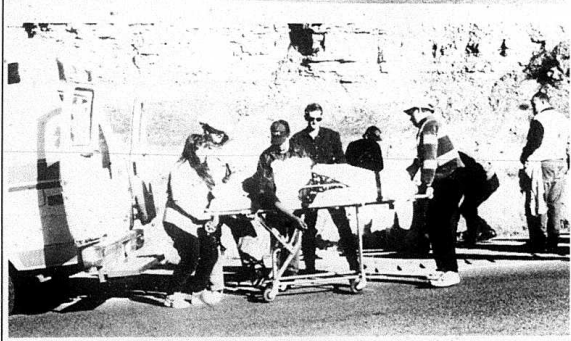

Overall, the state fatality rate continues to be down drastically from last year. As of today, there have been 688 fatalities in Kentucky since the first of the year -- that is down 95 deaths during the same period last year. "I really hope we continue this trend," said O'Daniel, "however, the police cannot do it alone -- motorists need to be diligent during this holiday season and watch their speed, drive sober and buckle up. These are the three best things anyone can do to reduce their risk of a vehicle accident."

Rockcastle Deputy Sheriff Doug Thomas looks on as members of the Mt. Vernon fire department used the jaws-of-life apparatus to free a University of Kentucky student after he ran his Chevy Nova under a tractor-trailer near the 57 mile marker of interstate 75. The accident occurred around 3 a.m. last Wednesday morning while both vehicles were traveling south on the interstate. Asst. fire chief Bud Cox said the U.K. student hit the truck in the rear while both vehicles were moving. Cox said the truck driver pulled into the emergency lane after realizing he had been hit in the rear. The student was treated at the Rockcastle Hospital and then flown to the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

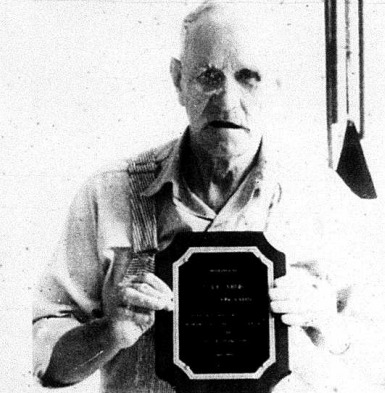

A Lexington couple escaped serious injuries Thanksgiving Day when they lost control of their rented 1994 Toyota Corolla on interstate 75 near the 58 mile marker. The Toyota hit a rock wall and flipped over on its top, caving the roof in. Both passengers were thrown from the vehicle on impact, according to police, who also said that the car caught fire during the crash. The fire was extinguished by members of the Mt. Vernon fire department, who along with Anita Barron, a Rockcastle ambulance paramedic, help load one of the victims into a Rockcastle County ambulance.

Livingston city councilman Todd Mink was honored last Saturday at the Livingston monthly council meeting. Mink has served on the Livingston city council for 15 years, never missing a meeting or a called meeting during his tenure. Mr. Mink, who is 70-years-old is married to Rosie Mink.

Crop disaster funds available

Farmers suffering crop loss in 1994 due to adverse weather conditions may apply for emergency assistance at the local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office, formerly Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), beginning Dec. 1.

According to Raymond Brown, chairperson of the Rockcastle County ASC Committee, the change in the election schedule is nationwide and is authorized under regulations issued by USDA. Current members of ASC committees will continue in their posts until the new election is held next fall.

The law, which reorganized USDA, created a new Agency--the Farm Service Agency--which encompasses all of the commodity support and basic conservation programs of the former Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), all of the risk management programs of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), and the farm lending activities of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

Brown said the new committee system, when fully implemented, will exercise increased responsibilities in its enlarged role. "Rescheduling the

Kentucky forest fires cost economy millions annually

Just how big was the fire damage during this fall's "fire season" and what is the economic impact to the state's economy?

It's pretty big, said Doug McLaren, extension forestry specialist with University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"More than 25,000 acres of Kentucky woodlands burned in the fall of 1994," he said. "There were almost 1,700 total fires during both the spring and fall fire seasons, and nearly 40,000 acres burned."

Each acre that burns loses a very conservative $2,000 product added on value, McLaren said.

Each year, at least $100 million is directly deposited into the pockets of Kentucky timber owners from timber sales, he added. Kentucky ranks in the top five lumber producers.

State announces priorities for clearing snow

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet has once again completed its yearly re-evaluation and made changes to the snow and ice removal priority plan.

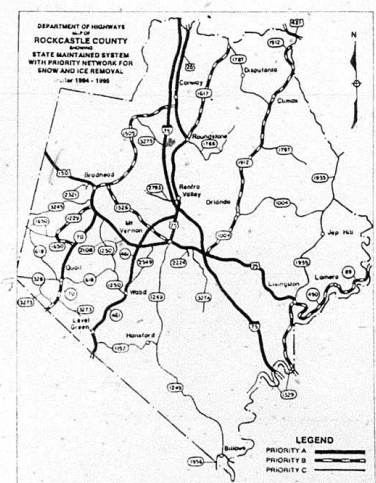

Maintenance crews will clear the roads in Rockcastle County with the highest traffic volumes first before moving to the smaller, less-traveled roadways. Secretary Don C. Kelly has announced.

"The priority road system has always been a vital aspect of the cabinet's responsibilities because of the impact it can have on the safety of motorists," said Kelly. "But it can be much more effective if citizens will make every effort to use these priority roads if at all possible during inclement weather."

Kelly said every year cabinet engineers study traffic volumes and patterns in each county to determine which roads served the most citizens, taking into account geographic factors, before making changes to the system.

Priority A roadways in Rockcastle County, which will be cleared first by Transportation Cabinet road crews, include I-75, US-25, US-150, part of KY-70 and KY-461. This category includes interstates, parkways, urban expressways and other state roads with exceptionally large volumes of traffic.

The next roads to be cleared will be Priority B and then C, as indicated on the attached map. Priority B roads include state primary roads, bypasses and roads with slightly less traffic than Priority A roads. State secondary roads, rural secondary roads, and other routes with comparable traffic volumes fall under the Priority C category.

Bread-In-A-Jar Safety

We've all made substitutions in a recipe before. Perhaps we were out of an ingredient, or simply wanted to experiment. However, it is very risky to change ingredients or modify the baking instructions for bread-in-a-jar recipes like those developed at Penn State University. Tinkering with these recipes could lead to growth of bacteria that cause foodborne illness.

The two Penn State recipes were developed so botulism organisms and other spoilage bacteria would not thrive. Food scientists adjusted the ingredients and baking time to produce a bread product that was too dry for bacteria to grow. The hot breads were sealed with a two piece lid to prevent mold development.

The original recipes have been modified as they passed from one person to the next. The original ingredients were changed or the baking time was shortened. These changes could alter the bread making process enough to allow spoilage.

Nowadays, bread-in-a-jar is probably made as a novelty holiday gift. During World War II, breads baked in jars were gifts for troops overseas. Some soldiers thought these breads were dry and awful.

If you plan to send homemade goodies for holiday gifts, consider less perishable, and better tasting baked goods.

Canned Pumpkin Bread

- 1/2 cup shortening
 - 2 2/3 cups sugar
 - 4 eggs
 - 2 cups pumpkin
 - 2 1/3 cups flour
 - 2 tsp. baking soda
 - 1/2 tsp. baking powder
 - 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1 tsp. cinnamon
 - 1 tsp. ground nutmeg
 - 2/3 cup chopped nuts (optional)
- Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in eggs, pumpkin and water. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and spices, and beat into pumpkin mixture. Add chopped nuts if desired. Fill clean greased wide-mouth pint jars half full with prepared batter. Bake open jars about 50 minutes in an oven at 325 degrees F. When done, quickly remove one hot jar at a time and clean its sealing edge. Immediately apply and firmly tighten a two-piece, wide-mouth canning lid. The lid will form a vacuum seal as the jar cools. Jars of cooled bread may be stored with other canned foods or placed in a freezer. The bread is safe to eat as long as jars remain vacuum sealed and free of mold growth.

Canned Applesauce Cake

- 2/3 cup shortening
- 3 1/3 cups sugar
- 4 large eggs
- 2 cups applesauce (25 oz.)
- 3 1/3 cups flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 2 tsp. baking soda
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. ground cloves
- 1 1/2 cups raisins (optional)
- 2/3 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in eggs and applesauce. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and spices and blend into the applesauce mixture. Add and mix chopped nuts and raisins if desired.

Fill clean greased or oiled wide-mouth pint jars half full with prepared batter. Bake open jars about 60 minutes in an oven at 325 degrees F. When done, quickly remove one hot jar at a time and clean its sealing edge. Immediately apply and firmly tighten a two-piece, wide-mouth canning lid. The lid will form a vacuum seal as the jar cools. Jars of cooled cake may be stored with other canned foods or placed in a freezer. The cake is safe to eat as long as jars remain vacuum sealed and free of mold growth.

Sadly missed by one and all. Thanks for being there.

A friend forever

To Bill who passed away
November 23, 1994

He was the kind of man everyone loved

He was there when push came to shove

Bill was my best friend and he always cared

May God rest his Soul.

If you needed something, he would never say no.
He would always say let's go.
He was loving and caring.
If you needed money he would never say no.
He was always there, to lend a hand.
So I'm writing this for you and hope that you will know.

That we'll always love and miss you.
You were my very special friend,
The best that God could send.
You were there for the loving,
there for the caring and the sharing,
And this I hope people will see for he was always there for me.
To Bill, I'll never forget you.

Today In Banking

Some "Straight Talk" On Banking Today... That Can Make Banking Better For You...

Prime Rate

On occasion a customer will ask us why it is that our interest rate is higher than the prime rate that is often referred to in the news.

The prime rate is the rate that big city banks offer to large corporate customers such as Standard Oil or DuPont. Prime rate is usually given to these customers for very short term loans.

So when you hear on the news that a large city bank has lowered their prime rate, realize the conditions or terms which enable them to loan at prime rate.

Our lending rates are determined by our "costs of funds." When our costs go down our rates go down, and vice versa.

Pesticide cards expire

Farmers who purchase and apply restricted-use pesticides are required to keep their certification up-to-date. To do so requires farmers to attend one update training every five years. Farmers may check to see if their card is about to expire by checking the last two numbers in the serial number. The last two numbers are the year in which the card expires (on December 31). Any card with 94 as the last two digits will need to be updated before purchases can be made.

On Tuesday, December 6, at 7 p.m. in the Ag Service Center, farmers may attend a training session to qualify for a new card. We encourage tobacco farmers who plan to purchase Methyl Bromide in early spring to attend this session. The department

"What Saith the Scriptures"

In the book of Luke, in chapter 8, vs. 4-8, Jesus gave the parable of the sower. Then in vs. 11-15, Jesus gave the explanation of the parable. In vs. 11, we read "Now the parable is this: the seed is the word of God."

The ground is the hearts of men. There are four kinds of ground: wayside, rocky, thorny and good ground. In each case of these four grounds, they "hear" the word of God when the seed is sown. But the problems that arise in the first three is not with the seed, the word of God, but with the type of soil it is. The seed remains the same but how we receive the word of God will give various outcomes. The seed is to be sown in all the world. Mt. 16:15, Mt. 28:19, Lk. 24:47. It is not for me to test the soil, it is but for me to sow the seed!

The seed will reveal the heart or soil that it falls in. Every good and honest heart will hear the word of God and keep it. And, in time, it will bring forth fruit with patience; some thirty fold, some sixty fold, some hundred fold.

Paul said he planted, and Apollous watered, but God gave the increase or growth. Indeed the word of God is alive and powerful, as the Hebrew writer said in Heb. 4:12. But seed in the barn will not produce any fruit unto God. It must be sowed into the hearts of men and women where the seed can spring to life and take root deep in the hearts of men and women. A pure seed must be sowed to produce a Christian. Paul warned of a perverted gospel that was being preached in Gal. 1:6-9. This can only lead men away from the grace of God, and bring the anathema of God upon themselves. No doubt the devil is rejoicing for all the impure seeds of human religion being sown in the hearts of men today. But God's pure, true word is greater and more powerful than any of man's doctrines. Those with a good and honest heart can search, seek and see the difference. If we might help you in a spiritual matter, please let us know.

TIGER PAUSE

Seventy-eight percent of Brodhead Elementary School parents met with their child's teacher and received progress reports on Friday, Nov. 18. This was a fantastic turnout. For those unable to attend you may schedule a parent/teacher conference by calling the school at 758-8512.

Yearbook reservations are still being accepted through Friday, Dec. 2. Your child should bring the $2 deposit to his/her teacher this week. The total cost will be $6. The remaining balance of $4 is due upon receipt of the yearbook which is expected to arrive in late spring.

The drawing for the perfect attendance award for the month of November will be held this week. The winner will be announced in next week's Tiger Pause. A new incentive program will begin today, Thursday, Dec. 1. This will run for the month of December. To be eligible for the drawing sponsored by the BERCC, students must not miss any days for the entire month. Attendance is very important and your Family Resource Center wants to encourage everyone to try very hard to be at school.

The SBDM will meet Tues., Dec. 6 at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

The December meeting of the P.T.A. will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria. The 4th grade classes will be providing the entertainment following the meeting. December 5-9 is Economic Education Week!

Throughout the month of October, the fourth and fifth grades at BES participated in "The Johnny Applesseed Reader's Club", a reading program promoted through the Library Media Center. Each student that participated completed 5 hours of recreational reading at home. The program was a tremendous success and Mrs. Sandy would like to thank each of the students for their interest in reading. Special thanks also go to Mrs. Kathy McKibben for her work on the display and Taylor's Produce for their donation of caramel apples.

SCC fine arts choir to perform Dec. 3

Somerset Community College Fine Arts will present its 20 member choir in a program of music with selections from contemporary pop to Renaissance madrigals and traditional Christmas carols. The concert will be presented in Stoner Auditorium on Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. The choir is directed by SCC Associate Professor of Music, George Railey.

Among selections to be performed are Mahanhatt transfer's Operator and Java Jive.

Local students accepted into EKU teacher education program

Two Mt. Vernon residents have been accepted into the teacher education program at Eastern Kentucky University.

Among the latest additions to the program are: Angela M. Hunt and William M. Jackson.

Students are accepted into the program their junior year only after meeting stringent EKU College of Education standards. They must display above-average academic ability, demonstrate proficient computer and communication skills (including a satisfactory performance on the University writing exam), perform satisfactorily in an individual interview and receive positive recommendations from four EKU faculty members.

EKU's College of Education, the Commonwealth's largest producer of classroom teachers and school administrators, also met a high standard two years ago when it was re-credited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), the agency responsible for professional accreditation of teacher education programs.

When students graduate from EKU's program, they will be prepared to lead a contemporary classroom; in the commonwealth, that means a classroom environment transformed by the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA).

The elements of educational reform are continually stressed-to teacher education students at East-ern, who have ample field experiences, both observing and student teaching, to see and apply those elements in practice.

We try to put our patients at ease . . .

Radiology has a unique function in the hospital. At Rockcastle Hospital, technology is the key to helping diagnose a disease or injury. But, it takes specially trained personnel to utilize this technology.

In the eight years I've been here, Radiology has changed dramatically. It's a much larger department now and we've added new diagnostic services, including mammography and our own CAT scanner.

When patients come in, they're often scared, so we try to explain the procedure and answer their questions. We're like family here, we want our patients to be comfortable.

I think taking time to talk to each patient and being polite is important. "We really care about people at Rockcastle Hospital."

FAITH ENCOURAGES US TO BE WILLING TO COMPROMISE

Whenever some major problem is debated, both sides tend to go to extremes in their efforts to solve it. Most of these arguments have been in the areas of foreign policy, economics and criminal justice, and the latest one is the environment. Some people are convinced that our planet is doomed unless we mend our ways immediately, while others dismiss all environmental concerns as just political hogwash. Perhaps the answer lies somewhere in the middle, and undoubtedly we could all use a little more common sense and restraint. At our House of Worship, we learn to "love our neighbor," so we should be willing to have open-minded discussions of these problems that could have such a profound effect on all of our lives.

All government, every prudent act is founded on compromise and barter. —Edward Burke

Local educators attend institute linking academics, vocational education

Four Rockcastle County teachers were among three dozen central and southeastern Kentucky educators who attended a recent workshop on a key element of educational reform.

Allan Hurliman, agriculture teacher at Rockcastle County Area Vocational Education Center, Donna Hopkins, principal at Rockcastle AVEC, Patty Himes, office technology teacher at AVEC, and Ralph Baker, welding technology teacher at AVEC, participated in the Institute for Integration of Academics and Vocational Education, sponsored by Eastern Kentucky University and held at the Kentucky Leadership Center on Lake Cumberland.

The Institute brought educators from different disciplines together in an effort to forge partnerships that would make academic subjects more relevant and career-focused while making vocational-technical education more rigorous. In both cases, organizers said, the importance of basic communication, mathematics, science and critical thinking skills is paramount.

"This is not a new concept," said Rodney Kelly, director of the state Division of Secondary Vocational Education. "It has been talked about for several years, but in many cases, that's all."

"This is about total change in the way we teach in our classrooms and the way we think in our schools. In the past, we've had almost total separation, without any integration or communication. That's what this initiative is all about. We're trying to break down that barrier."

Kelly said research has shown that students learn at a higher level when they learn in an applied setting. "That's what education is all about anyway, preparing people to go to work, either after graduation from high school, a vocational-technical school or college."

He praised EKV for its initiative in bringing area educators together. "The faculty at Eastern are on top of things with this movement," he said.

EKV faculty heading the workshop represent a wide variety of disciplines: Dr. Danny Britt, chair, Department of Agriculture; Dr. Rita Davis, business education professor; Dr. Carol Gabbard, human environmental science professor; Dr. Steve Fardland and Dr. William E. Davis, technology professors; Dr. Jack Fletcher, astronomy professor and director of Hummel Planetarium; and Dr. Richard Freged, English professor.

ive," said Joy Anderson, chair of EKV's Department of Occupational Therapy. "The combination of need and our quality faculty and wonderful facilities help us receive the grant."

The 15 EKV juniors, seniors and post-baccalaureate students selected to participate in the Project have agreed to work two years (within a 10-year time span) with the disabled in a non-profit or state rehabilitation facility in either Kentucky, Virginia or eastern Tennessee. They will each receive one year of paid in-state tuition, plus a $1,500 stipend.

"The project will increase the supply of qualified rehabilitation personnel," Anderson said, as well as "provide and upgrade the knowledge and skills of personnel who provide vocational and independent living rehabilitation services."

She noted that it was an added bonus that two of the out-of-state trainees have indicated a desire to work in Kentucky.

To meet project objectives, Anderson added, course content and fieldwork experiences will be further developed to enhance learning experiences, the technology laboratory will be upgraded, course content will be offered to provide a better understanding of the unique qualities of Appalachian and rural residents, and more internship sites will be developed in the three-state area.

In addition to its undergraduate program, EKV offers a master's degree in occupational therapy. Both the undergraduate program and the post-baccalaureate certificate portion of the master's program are accredited by the Accreditation Council for Occupational Therapy Education.

About 350 professional OT students and about 300 pre-occupational therapy majors are enrolled at EKV. About 100 students are admitted to the baccalaureate OT program each year, while the post-baccalaureate program admits an additional 16.

An overwhelming majority of EKV's occupational therapy graduates have reported gaining employment within a month of completing the program.

Local resident receives occupational therapy grant at EKV

Most Appalachian and rural counties have no occupational therapists. Others don't have enough to adequately meet community needs.

A new project at Eastern Kentucky University, however, will assist some communities. The University's department of Occupational Therapy, which provides the commonwealths only OT educational program, has received a $83,185 Rehabilitation Long-Term Training Grant from the U.S. Department of Education to address the shortage of occupational therapists in Kentucky, West Virginia and eastern Tennessee.

A local resident is one of 15 EKV students selected to receive an OT Traineeship Grant for 1994-95: Deborah Bowles, Mt. Vernon.

The grant, renewable for up to three years, was one of only three awarded nationally.

The Kentuckiana Masonry Institute recently presented their Award of Merit to Renner & Sons Stone Company at an awards ceremony in Louisville, Kentucky. Renner and Sons Stone is based in Lexington, Kentucky and owned by local residents Wendell Renner Sr., Wendell Renner Jr., and Daniel Renner. The award is given to acknowledge excellence in the use of masonry on special projects. The project for which the award was given is the Hahn Residence at Champions Golf Course in Nicholasville, Ky. The project included two stone fireplaces, complete stone veneer, stone walls around the pool area, stone sidewalks and a stone mailbox. The work done by Renner and Sons Stone was chosen for the award by a panel of architects from other states. Renner and Sons Stone is celebrating their 35th year in business this year. The company employs 20 Rockcastle residents. Health Line News

By Beverly Carter Sexton

December 1 is being recognized as World Aids Day. The Rockcastle Health Department will be participating in world wide recognition of this day by showing a film in the waiting room of the health department about HIV/AIDS. Employees will also be wearing red ribbons. We in Rockcastle County have read about HIV/AIDS and have seen it in the media, however, many people tend to think it is a disease that is isolated to larger cities or to certain groups. With over 1 million Americans infected with HIV, we no longer can take the attitude that it can't reach us. The fact is many of us in Rockcastle County know someone who has HIV/AIDS. The disease has reached us and is spreading. Worldwide, about 5,000 people are becoming infected each day and the rate at which teenagers are becoming infected is growing at an alarming rate. The teens who are becoming infected will most likely develop full-blown AIDS within the next 10 years and die before they reach 30 - unless research gives us a tool to fight this killer.

The highest incidence of HIV transmission is through sexual intercourse. According to a 1990 survey by the Center for Disease Control more than 54 percent of high school students poll had had sexual intercourse and 40 percent of them say they have had multiple sex partners. A 1992 survey done by the Cumberland Valley District Health Department (which included Rockcastle County) revealed 50 percent of our high school sophomores had had sexual intercourse. This can lead to HIV infection! However, there is something that can be done to help prevent our teens from ever having to face the horror of HIV/AIDS infection. Teens need to be aware of how to protect themselves. They need to know their best line of defense. Fortunately they have access to a line of defense that has already been tested and proven to work. It does not rely upon research to perfect it; it is readily available and can be used by anyone regardless of age, sex or race. It is abstinence.

Abstinence from sex means choosing not to have sex at all. This is the only 100-percent sure way to avoid contracting sexually transmitted AIDS. There are many kinds of sexual intimacy that involve exchange of body fluids. HIV can be contracted through oral, anal and vaginal sex and any sexual activity in which the partners are in contact with each other's blood, semen, or vaginal fluids. Abstinence prevents this contact.

Besides protecting you from HIV, abstinence also prevents you from catching other sexually transmitted diseases. An American teen gets an STD about every 13 seconds. Each year, three million new cases of teenagers contracting STDs are reported. Many teens are infected and don't even know it!

Remember, the more sexual partners one has, the greater the risk of getting HIV or an STD. This is because you are having sex with not only a specific person, but, in a sense, with all of that person's previous sexual partners as well! Also, remember that one can return to abstinence. Just because one's virginity has already been lost doesn't mean that abstinence can't be chosen now!

In addition to being important to your physical health, abstinence is also a significant part of one's personal value system. It is a step in learning to show respect for one's own body and for the body of someone that is cared about.

Marilyn Coffey, a University of Kentucky sophomore, is a recipient of a 1994 National Science Foundation Scholarship. Marilyn also received the scholarship as a freshman at UK. The 19-year-old student is the daughter of Lewis and Barbara Coffey of Rt. 3, Mt. Vernon, and a 1993 graduate of Rockcastle County High School. Marilyn also holds a WYMT-TV Mountain Basketball Classic Scholarship and a Robert C. Byrd Scholarship. In addition, she is a National Merit Finalist. On campus, Marilyn is active in the Baptist Student Union and Sigma Gamma Sigma, an organization for students formerly in the Governor's Scholars Program. She also belongs to Alpha Lambda Delta, a freshman honorary society.

Kaycie Swain, bottom right, daughter of Marsha Swain, has been commended in the National Merit competition. Kaycie is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Maggie Dermon of Brodhead. Her grandmother is Mrs. Lucille Dermon Alexander, formerly of Brodhead. Kaycie attended Dobie High School and plans on attending Texas A&M in College Station, near Austin, Texas.
