Renovating grass pastures with red clover

Is it cost effective to seed red clover into pasture and hay land? For years farmers have used the dark of February's moon as a time to overseed clover into fescue. By adding clover through the renovation process, pastures are improved in three ways. Clover will add nitrogen to the soil and benefit surrounding grass. As much as 180 pounds of nitrogen may be added. With "higher nitrogen cost expected this year, clover renovation may be worth as much as 400¢ of Urea or just over $40 per acre.

The second benefit to adding clover is the improved quality of feed. Clover is a higher protein feed that animals prefer over grasses such as fescue and orchardgrass. Clover will also grow best during mid-summer when other grass has stopped. Not only will clover spread out the grazing season, clover will also increase the total yield.

The third benefit to adding clover is that fescue pastures infected with the endophyte fungus is diluted. The endophyte fungus has silently lowered cattle production through its detrimental effects during summer months. Adding clover dilutes the amount of forage available and gives animals a choice. Clover, being more abundant and preferred by animals, will then become a larger part of their diet.

Lowering fertilizer cost increasing yield and improving the quality of feed available to livestock makes clover very cost effective. However, clover varieties vary in results. Research at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture has compared the performance of common or uncertified clover with that of better certified varieties. The cost of better varieties may be as much as $1.00 more per pound and are well worth the benefits they provide. An additional seed cost of $8 per acre was worth over 3,500 pounds additional hay over the first 2 years. Stands of the certified varieties were thick and vigorous going into their second winter, while the common varieties were clearly thinning. Certified varieties lasted into the third season, increasing their overall yield.

Farmers planning to seed clover should contact their farm supply store 10 to 14 days before you need seed. This allows store owners to be sure they have certified seed of the variety and amount you desire. For additional information on variety performance and selection, contact the County Extension Office for the 1994 Clover Variety Trial Report.

day for me. I have never learned how to graciously turn my kitchen over to someone else to do the cooking. Help,

Soon we were at Sinks Grove, their home. The next day would be December 1st and here I was in the hills of W. Va. and I had not done any Christmas shopping. A visit to a quaint craft shop close by gave me a chance to start my shopping. It was there I found delicious "Honey Mustard" and "Garlic and Basil Herb Vinegar."

A week and a half later, December 9th, after a very pleasant visit with Rod and Helen, I left for home. And yes, I enjoyed doing the driving myself back through the beautiful and familiar hills of Kentucky.

Hub-uh, it wasn't over yet. Judy was trying to get arrangements made to take me to Michigan for the Christmas holidays and I was still trying to get that needed Christmas shopping done and have my house winterized.

Our friend, Glen, was worsening fast and when the end came Judy and Rod would be coming home for the funeral so no definite travel plans could be made until we knew more about his condition. On December 14, Glen passed away. I knew I would be going back with Judy when she came for the funeral so again I had to make hurried preparations to leave. This visit would be for an indefinite time so more things would be needed. Still no Christmas shopping done and no chance now to get it done before I left except one quick run through Wal-Mart where I picked up a couple of things for Polly and Chad. I'd get something for Judy and Geoff in Michigan (maybe). Things were readied for Judy's and Rod's return home and for attending the funeral of the much loved friend who would be missed by all of us. And once again my family was together but for a sadder occasion than the one a couple weeks earlier. Rod left for his home Saturday and Judy and I left the next morning for Michigan. And once again I left a mess of things behind. Thank goodness for Ish and Pauline and Polly and Chuck who took care of all the mess I had left and completed winterizing the house.

In contrast to the recent trip from W. Va. through the hills of Kentucky I now thoroughly enjoyed the drive through the busy cities and towns of Ohio and on into the industrial state of Michigan.

Now there was only one week till Christmas. One quick trip to a shopping center with Judy found me out-tired to shop for anything except another box of cards and a gift for Geoff and I gave up the thoughts of anything else. Judy would have to make do with a bunch of odds and ends I had gathered up. This was the final days to get the cards addressed and mailed and this was a must. And I did get them mailed on time.

Christmas morning finally came but without the awakening to children's voices. And I missed that. I kept expecting to hear, "Merry Christmas Grandma," knowing all the time Deno and Ann had gone their own way long ago.

By mid morning we had awakened enough to begin the activities for the day and began by emptying the stocking Santa had filled sometime during the night. Geoff's moon, Carolyn, and I were the two guests of honor and since we both are of the age when we are supposed to be in our second childhood we emptied ours first and oohed and aahed just like we were supposed to do. And there was no lacking for gifts for anyone. My scrounging around had produced Holidays over and a New Year to look forward to brought a sense of quiet and peace that we all took advantage of as we sought a corner or room to do some reading of new and interesting books all of us had received.

Then, December twenty-eighth Judy and Geoff once again took to the road as we loaded up my foot along with my kids and headed back down I-75 for "home." New Year's Eve was spent alone, the silence was deafening, but I did have some time to think about what this New Year we were just entering might bring.

This has been one of the most interesting and Happy Holiday seasons I have ever had. By the way, I finally got the Christmas shopping finished. On January 8, 1995 Chuck received a gift certificate from "Jean's Restaurant" signed by "your Mother-in-Law ZI."

That afternoon Rod, Helen, and I went to visit Glen Renner in the Somerset Hospital. He was a very close friend of Rod and Judy and I had known him since his birth. He was in the final stages of cancer and this turned out to be our farewell to him.

On our way home Rod said we would be leaving the next day. We meant I had made up my mind to go with them but I had thought we would be leaving Tuesday. Now I had to do some mighty quick packing and get things taken care of for my absence. Did I mention Hectec? Well this was it.

We left about noon Monday and went the round-about way of Tennessee, N. Carolina and Virginia. The first night was spent with friends in Tennessee, the next in Greensboro, N.C. where we toured the beautiful campus of N.C.S.U. and attended a Jazz Band concert that Birch was playing in.

Wednesday took us through the rolling hills and valleys of Virginia before we crossed the Blue Ridge Mountains and the highway wound its way down a mountain into W. Virginia.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY SCHOOLS - OBSERVE - ECONOMIC$ EDUCATION AWARENESS$ WEEK

Mt. Vernon Elementary School students learn to order from catalogs.

What are needs and wants? What is opportunity cost? What is scarcity? What do the terms consumption, production, interdependence, resources, choices, demands, specialization, goods and services, labor, money, profit, decision-making, work, supply and demand, value, and inflation mean and how do they affect our everyday lives? Rockcastle County students spent the week of December 5th - 9th learning about these terms and the economic system.

Students discussed the positive aspects of work, a job, and choices so money will be available to purchase the things they need and want.

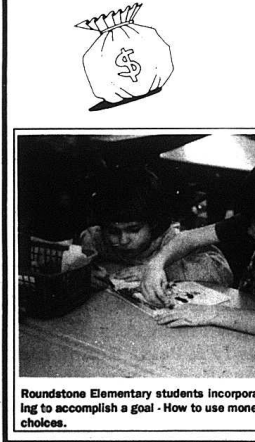

Students were shown that economics demonstrates the critical link between education and future productivity in society through innovative lessons and fun-filled activities that teach key economic understandings. Students were helped to discover what being a worker means, what goods and services are, and what skills, knowledge, and capital resources workers need to do their work. Students were also given opportunities to discover the costs and benefits of various alternatives while seeing that their choices and actions have long and short-term consequences.

The following Economic Advocates coordinated for their schools:

- Cindy Ellington - Brodhead Elementary
- Regina Little & Tammy Napier - Rockcastle County Middle School
- Sherry Mink - Roundstone Elementary
- Margaret McClure - Mt. Vernon Elementary
- William Lynch - Rockcastle County High School

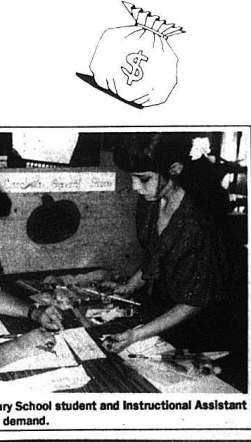

Rockcastle County Middle School students barter for goods brought into the classroom.

Roundstone Elementary students incorporate cooperative learning to accomplish a goal - How to use money - How to make wise choices.

Economic Advocates accept plaque for Excellence in Economic Education.

Brodhead Elementary student and instructional assistant discuss supply and demand.

An Ordinance Relating to the Establishment of a Code of Ethics for Officials and Employees in the City of Brodhead, Kentucky

Summary of Ordinance #94-1205 The purpose of this ordinance is to establish a code of ethics for Brodhead pursuant to KRS 65.003 which applies to city officials and employees as set forth therein.

Among other things, the code of ethics addresses standards of conduct, financial disclosure, nepotism, enforcement and penalties. The following sections relate to penalties.

Section Three: G. Noncompliance With Filing Requirement. The Regional Board of Ethics shall administer noncompliance as follows: 1. The Regional Board of Ethics shall notify by certified mail each person required to file a statement of financial interests who fails to file the statement by the due date, files an incomplete statement, or files a statement in a form other than prescribed by the Board. The notice shall specify the type of failure or delinquency, shall establish a date by which failure or delinquency shall be remedied, and shall advise the person of the penalties for violation.

2. Any person who fails or refuses to file the statement or who fails or refuses to remedy a deficiency in the filing identified in the notice under subsection (1) within the time period established in the notice shall be guilty of a civil offense and shall be subject to a civil fine imposed by the Board in an amount not to exceed twenty-five dollars ($25) per day, up to a maximum total civil fine of five hundred dollars ($500). Any civil fine imposed by the Board under this section may be recovered by the Board in a civil action in the nature of a debt if the offender fails or refuses to pay the penalty within a prescribed time period.

3. Any person who intentionally files a statement of financial interests which he or she knows to contain false information shall be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor.

Section Seven: Penalties for violations will be as follows: A. Except when another penalty is specifically set forth in this ordinance, any officer or employee of the city or any city agency who is found by the Regional Board of Ethics to have violated any provision of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a civil offense and may be subject to a civil fine imposed by the Regional Board of Ethics not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), which may be recovered by the city in a civil action in the nature of a debt if the offender fails to pay the penalty within the prescribed period of time.

B. In addition to all other penalties which may be imposed under the ordinance, any officer or employee of the city or any city agency who is found by the Regional Board of Ethics to have violated any provision of this ordinance shall forfeit to the city or the city agency an amount equal to the economic benefit or gain which the officer or employee is determined by the Board to have realized as a result of the violation. The amount of any forfeiture may be recovered by the city in a civil action in the nature of a debt if the offender fails to pay the amount of the forfeiture within a prescribed period of time.

C. In addition to all other penalties which may be imposed under this ordinance, a finding by the Regional Board of Ethics that an officer or employee of the city or any city agency is guilty of a violation of this ordinance shall be sufficient cause for removal, suspension, demotion, or other disciplinary action by the executive authority of the city or city agency, or by any other officer or agency having the power of removal or discipline. Any action to remove or discipline any officer or employee for a violation of this ordinance shall be taken in accordance with all applicable ordinances and regulations of the city and all applicable laws of the Commonwealth.

Kiwanis News

By Bev Rockwell

The Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club finished the year with its most ambitious and successful events to date. A good deal of hard work went into the Kiwanis float for the Christmas parade and the "Christmas in the Park" lighting ceremony. We would like to give thanks for the generous contributions from the City of Mt. Vernon, the Rockcastle Hospital, local businesses and private donations. Next year's events should be even better with more caroling groups. We have a speaker system promised that should add clarity to our program.

Along with the preparations that went into the Kiwanis Charity Ball which brought the New Year in with such a festive and fun filled evening, our local Kiwanians donated hundreds of hours to community services in December. The club gave donations to REAP, flowers to our nursing home and hospital, sponsored Christmas for several children through the Family Resource Center, filled Santa's workshop stockings, and sent a Santa Claus to the children's reading program at the library. Santa, in conjunction with WRVK and Cellular One, produced the "Connection to the North Pole" on Dec. 3. Our Christmas Home decorating contest was a wonderful success too, with Michael and Peggy Robinson as the winners in this year. Individual club members were active in donating resources to Senior Citizens, our local library, Hospice and legal services.

Proposals for several ambitious projects for 1995 are in the early stages and will be instituted soon. One such effort will be a "Child Safety Day" that will draw attention to the need for all of us to take positive steps in making our homes and community safe for children. By participating in this event, we can reduce the likelihood of children becoming victims of abuse, abduction and injury. The "Child Safety Day" will provide parents in our county with the most effective preventive tools available. Activities will include fingerprinting children, distribution of special "Child Safety Info Packs" and demonstrations on safety related procedures. Police, fire, teachers and hospital representatives will play active roles in many of the demonstrations.

Another project that will be introduced this fall will be a one-day Community Leadership Workshop (CLEW) for outstanding high school sophomores. This seminar will encourage and challenge potential leaders among our high school students. Leaders from business, industry, science, government and education will be encouraged to participate in discussions with the students. This will be a program similar to the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation (HOBY) seminar, a three-day leadership camp, offered as a scholarship by Kiwanis Clubs nationwide to selected applicants. For several years now, the Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club has sponsored many Rockcastle students to the HOBY seminars. By enlarging the number of students who can benefit from such training, such as a CLEW program, we can touch the lives of many more of our young people.

Not to be forgotten will be our commitment to the Mt. Vernon City park. With funds that were raised for the Christmas tree lighting and park care, plus member donations, spring bulbs will be planted soon. Their beauty will announce the coming of warm sunny days again. Flowers will be planted during the early summer months and hardy mums will be on show this fall. We are looking forward to the color show!

Kiwanis members will also be hosting a fashion show and luncheon this year. New styles and favorite "always in style" fashions will be featured. Funds for this event will go towards our commitment to fund the "Gimpy" Gilpatrick Scholarship Fund.

Mark on your calendars the annual Kiwanis Club rummage sale to be held April 1st. A location will be announced soon. Kiwanis is a world wide organization for individuals desiring personal involvement in the leadership and improvement of their communities. As a group, we can achieve what individuals cannot do alone. All funds raised by the Kiwanis Club are returned to the community through our various projects.

Dear Editor,
One of huntings loudest critics, Wayne Pacello, now seems to be associating with the vehemently anti-hunting humane society of the United States. Guess he's not with Fund's for Animals, Cleveland Army's group anymore, another animal right's extremists club. So it's no wonder he comments on cock fighting in Ky. trying to put another feather in his cap, you might say. What really surprised me was to see his name in my hometown paper, Jan. 12, 1995.

Dear Editor,
The University of those infected with AIDS has not been appreciated, while quietly it gains control of victims from all walks of life. Children born with AIDS have a limited life span, and more research is necessary to fight this deadly virus.
On Oct. 30, 1995 recommendations will be made by a task force appointed by Governor Jones to determine the industrial capabilities of hemp and if a drug-free strain grown for profit can again be a viable crop in Kentucky, but no mention will be made of patients in need of this medicine. Cannabis gives patients with AIDS the ability to consume food, and in turn prolongs life.

Gubernatorial candidate Gatewood Galbraith has spoken for the rights of AIDS patients for years. He understands the use of Cannabis as a medicine and has walked and talked with those infected. If Governor Jones would fill these shoes he could better understand its use. By talking with AIDS patients and getting a hands on feel of its devastating symptoms, he can make a mark in history. Life is painful enough for people living with AIDS, sir, should they believe industry takes priority over people?

Sincerely,
Danny Pigman

Dear Editor,
Our government class would like to thank Paul Patton and Rommie Sears for speaking to our class.
Mr. Patton spoke to our class about the executive branch of government and how it affects our lives.
Mr. Sears came as a police officer to explain about citizens rights and how the police enforce them.

He spoke to the students about the due process and the steps that are followed in each arrest.
These two men were very informative and we hope they will come and visit our class again.
I would like to thank the many merchants for the door prizes they supplied for our Christmas Faculty breakfast. The merchants were courteous and no one I approached refused. I would like to list them all but I'm afraid I would forget one. The merchants know who they are and we at Rockcastle County High School appreciate them.
I think I can speak for the faculty and say thank you to the cooks, Mr. Cash, Mr. Cox and Ms. Hamm for the wonderful breakfast.
With gratitude,

Ms. Jewell Davidson

Dear Editor,
The Senior Citizens at Mt. Vernon recently participated in the annual "Brown Bag" program of medication review.
We would like to express our appreciation to the local pharmacists for making this program a success and Danny Settles and Wendy's Restaurant for providing breakfast during the event.
This program is designed to assist seniors with understanding their medications, avoid duplication and prevent abuse.
Also, thanks to everyone who participated at the Center.
Sincerely,
Shirley L. Cummins

$1.6 million expansion would service 350 more customers

Judge says Governor pushing water project

By: Richard Anderkin
 Rockcastle County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis announced Friday that Kentucky Governor Brenton Jones is pushing a $1.6 million dollar water project that will provide water to some 350 Rockcastle customers.

Carloftis' comments came during a meeting of the board of directors of the Rockcastle County Water Association.

The project seems more of a sure thing after officials from Western Water District agreed last week to drop a request to serve the Sand Springs area, as part of a water expansion project that Western is trying to get approved.

Carloftis told members of the water association that he had met with Charles Denver Burton, head of Western Water and David Ballinger, President of Rockcastle Water Association and that Burton had agreed to drop Sand Springs from their application.

Ballinger also told the group that he had indicated to Burton that if Western was willing to run water to everyone along 1249 all the way to the Pulaski County line that Rockcastle Water Association would drop Sand Springs from their application.

Ballinger said that Burton did not think it would be feasible for Western to try and do that, so Burton agreed to drop Sand Springs from their project.

Without Sand Springs, Rockcastle

Water Association's project would be in jeopardy.

Carloftis explained that whether or not an application is approved usually depends on the number of people who are going to get water. There are a lot of customers in the Sand Springs area and without them, Rockcastle's application may not be approved, I'm glad we got this worked out," Carloftis said.

Residents in four of the county would be in jeopardy. "Governor Jones is really pushing this project and I think it will eventually become reality," Carloftis said.

Rockcastle Water Association has made application for funding for the project which will provide water to people in Three Links, Pongo, Sand Springs, Sand Hill, Blue Springs, Lamero and Blue Springs.

Residents in four of the county would be in jeopardy as part of this project. John Holbrook's district would be the only district that will not get any service.

Indictments for rape, fraud and not taking back gun

The January session of the Rockcastle County Grand Jury has resulted in the indictment of several local people for crimes from rape to not returning a borrowed shotgun.

A first degree rape indictment was returned against Robert McGinnis Warren, 27, of Floyd Street in Mt. Vernon for an October 1994, incident in which he is accused of having sexual intercourse with a girl less than twelve years old.

Warren is being held in the Rockcastle County jail under a $40,000 cash bond. He is scheduled for a February appearance in Rockcastle Circuit court.

Clarence Kirby, 35, of Chestnut Row was indicted for possession of a handgun by a convicted felon and being a persistent felony offender.

The indictment stems from a December 5th, 1994 incident in which Kirby was arrested by Mt. Vernon city police officers.

Kirby has filed a civil suit against the officers for false arrest in connection with the case. He is free on bond awaiting a January 27th court appearance.

Eddie Fields, 47, of McKee was indicted for borrowing a 12 gauge shotgun from Danny Con on January 5th and not returning it to the owner. The shotgun is valued at over $300 making the crime a felony.

Fields is being held in the Rockcastle County jail under a $5,000 bond. He will appear in Rockcastle Circuit Court on February 10.

Brenda Sue Meadows, 37, of Mt. Vernon, was indicted for knowingly making a false statement to obtain aid to dependent children, food stamps and medical benefits in excess of $12,000.

Meadows is free on bond until a January 27th court appearance.

DBC applies for $569,314 grant

The Daniel Boone Development Council got their application for a ten unit independent housing complex at Livingston in by Tuesday's deadline, according to Ruth Martin, a director with the development council.

Mrs. Martin said that she hand-delivered the application seeking $569,314 in funds from the Kentucky Housing Authority, which will be used to reconstruct the three newer classrooms at the old Livingston school property and build additional buildings, which will make up the ten units and a manager's office.

Mrs. Martin said that units will be rented to elderly citizens, who need just a little help to live independent lives. "It will keep a lot of people from having to go to a nursing home, it will be great for the entire county and especially Livingston," Mrs. Martin said.

Another benefit to the county, is the fact that the majority of the work at Livingston will be done by local contractors, with the majority of the materials being purchased locally. "The project will be good overall for the county's economy," Mrs. Martin

The Daniel Boone Development Council has applied for $569,314 from the Kentucky Housing Corporation to reconstruct the above classrooms and build an additional structure on the school property.

Mrs. Martin said she is currently working on a proposal that will transform the Livingston gym

Court will try to regulate cable TV

By Ray McClure

Plans will soon be on the drawing board to regulate cable television companies in Rockcastle County.

The Rockcastle Fiscal Court complained about Falcon Television at its meeting last Tuesday and County Judge Buzz Carloftis directed County Attorney Jeff Burdette to draw up an ordinance regulating cable TV.

"But we must have reasonable guidelines," Judge Carloftis said Monday. "We cannot require cable companies to install service three miles for one house. It would break their backs."

But it was service calls that had the court up in arms, calls for service takes too long and power is not always good causing "snow" and bad reception.

The judge said he would like to see companies respond to calls within 48 hours. He also said that within five years of the effective date of a franchise the company must be able to deliver at least 300 MHz of power.

He also said he thought there should be no charges to schools and government offices (library, jail) for service.

Citing Laurel County's ordinance regulating television, Judge Carloftis said Rockcastle should have an ordinance similar to theirs.

He said the only reason for the Bootlegging charges

A Bowling Ridge woman will appear in Rockcastle District court on January 30th to face bootlegging charges.

Debra Woodall, 33, was arrested on January 4 by local police and charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of resale.

When police served a search warrant at Woodall's home they found three fifths of whiskey, four pints of whiskey and 12 and half cases of beer.

Mrs. Woodall is presently free on bond.

Life of Father Beiting profiled on KET

The life and work of Father Ralph W. Beiting, founder of the Christian Appalachian Project, are profiled in a documentary airing on KET at 1 p.m. Sunday, January 22.

Bridge Builder to Appalachia -- The story of Father Ralph Beiting examines Beiting's life from the time he first dreamed of being an architect while in high school in Highland Heights. He was inspired to enter the seminary instead, and became responsible for building churches, communities and hope in the lives of those in Eastern Kentucky and the surrounding Appalachian states.

Beiting's work in Appalachia began in 1950 and led in 1964 to the founding of the Christian Appalachian Project, an organization designed to help people help themselves. From its small start with Beiting building and operating summer camps for mountain children, CAP has grown into an organization which assists the people in the area with more than 60 services and programs, including providing full-time employment for more than 30 people.

"Father Beiting's dream of becoming an architect and a priest came true," said the program's writer and producer, Dr. Judith Leonard, an associate professor of marketing at Eastern Kentucky University. "He's built bigger things than houses; he has built hope for a better tomorrow."

Christian Appalachian Project, which is based in Lancaster is very active in Rockcastle County.

Weather

A total of 5.35 inches of rain has fallen in Mt. Vernon as of Wednesday morning at Cox Funeral Home weather station.

Most fell last Saturday, Sunday and Monday, 2.28 inches. 1.95 fell on Jan. 6.

The 5.55 inches compares to 3.39 inches in December.

The high for the month to date was 69 on Jan. 13. The low was 1 on Jan. 5. A half-inch of snow fell on Jan. 2.

Forecasters say Rockcastle will have rain Wednesday night and Thursday.

Booze arrest

A Pine Hill man has been charged with illegal sale of alcoholic beverages in a local option territory.

Brian E. Cowner was charged last week by Sheriff Shirley Smith and deputies after one of them watched the sale.

Deputies found 192 cans of beer on the premises, Police reported.

Wish granted for Brodhead first grader with illness

Earl and Sharon Smith, on Barnett Road, grandparents of David Reed, a first grader at Brodhead Elementary, wish to announce that he has been granted his wish from Special Wish and Give Kids' the World Foundations.

David, his brothers, Jonathan, a second grader at Brodhead, Michael, three years old and parents, Steve and Retha Reed, will be going to Orlando, Florida.

The family will be guests at Wild Bills' Western Extravaganza, Disney World's Magic Kingdom, MGM Studios, Universal Studios, Epcot Center and Sea World. The family will be leaving January 26 and returning January 31st.

David will be celebrating his 7th birthday January 29. His great aunt Leona Hite of Dayton, OH., called the Special Wish Foundation last year and told them of David's wish to go to Disney World.

David has a rare disease called Histiocytosis-X Eosinophilic Granuloma, which is treated by chemotherapy. There is no known cure at this time for this disease.

We wish to thank all of our family and friends for their prayers and concern.

David Reed is suffering from a terminal disease.

Where are all you folks who complained that we didn't organize the Great Seed Catalog Scam last year. Now that we have instituted the scam for '95, hardly anybody is taking advantage of it. I fear that any lecture on saving trees may have been taken a tad too seriously.

In any event, this is the last call. If you wish to receive 25 seed, hard-ware, fishing tackle etc. etc. catalogs in the mail during the first half of February you need to rush your name, address and two 32-cent stamps to my attention at Scam Headquarters as soon as you lay your paper down. We plan to spend next weekend typing up the mailing list, and at this writing, it doesn't appear like it's going to be much of a list. The address is 6045 Hwy. 52 West, Paint Lick, Ky. 40461.

And speaking of seed catalogs, that's about all I've been reading over the last couple of weeks. Over the past couple of decades I have found it impossible to go to sleep unless I read for 30 minutes or so after my backside hits the mattress. Throughout most of the year I will have a novel in progress and my nightstand normally has a dozen magazines that don't demand urgent attention.

In January, however, I try to get in bed at least half an hour earlier than normal so that I can double or even triple my nightly reading allowance and pay proper attention to the seed catalog.

So far this year, I have filled out order blanks to six different sources. I'll do at least six more and then buy bedding plants from 8 or 10 "local" greenhouses. (I consider anything within 50 miles to be local.)

There are more new varieties of vegetables, particularly European and Japanese imports, for 1995 than I have ever seen. Park's Seed Company, for example, has nearly 20 pages devoted just to new stuff. Johnny's Selected Seeds, Burgess, Twilley's, Vermont Bean Seed Co., Totally Tomatoes and most of the 25 other companies who solicit our business have earmarked new varieties on almost every page.

I have a mental picture of just how I want my garden to look this year and I plan on doing at least 150 different varieties. That sounds like a lot, but it doesn't require nearly as much space as you might imagine. You can have 6 or 8 different kinds of onions in one bed for example. Ditto for lettuce, spinach and other salad fixings. Last year I had 14 different kinds of tomatoes, 12 peppers, 10 cucumbers etc. I also commence planting in February and don't stop until late September so I never have more than 50 or so varieties growing at any one time.

We had fresh Siberian Kale and turnips picked straight out of the garden for dinner last Saturday and it was wonderful! With any luck at all, we should be able to harvest from our garden all 12 months this year.

There's something to be said for knowing, without a shadow of doubt, that what you're eating is free of chemicals and all the preservatives that grocery chains use to keep their stuff looking fresh. But the real appeal that gardening has for me is the sheer joy of watching things grow and sharing the bounty with a host of friends and relatives.

This year I intend to do a hydroponic seed bed which I will describe in a future issue of your paper. At this point I'm still trying to figure out the cheapest way to build a miniature, portable greenhouse out of conduit and plastic. I can easily see $250 worth of bedding plants which will pay for my effort (seeds and building materials) and I'll be able to grow a bunch of stuff that simply isn't available from commercial greenhouses.

In the meantime, I'm checking the mail to see if my onion seeds have arrived. Wala-Wala, improved sweet Setton, and a couple of English varieties are available only from seed but they need to be planted in the next three weeks. A packet of Wala-Wala seed costs less than $2 and will yield six inches tall by the first of April which means they need to be started now. Simply sow them in a shallow bedding tray or anything that you can pack into and out of the house on a daily basis and you'll have $10 worth of plants by the time your garden is dry enough to plow.

Finally, please forgive us if we have been gardening more than you'd like in our space here over the next several weeks. Knowing that I should be able to plant peas in less than three weeks is more exciting to me than Santa Claus was to our two-year-old granddaughter just before Christmas.

January. One came from Alene Isaacs in Winchester, and the other from Jessie Norton in Indiana.

Jessie's picture was in last week's paper which I'm sure you saw and I want to thank you, Jessie, for sending me the pictures and I'll bet Marie Venable was surprised to see herself in the paper.

I hope Edward Allen of Hamilton, Ohio and his daughter, Lora Allen Lohr, had no ill effects from their journey down here through the holidays and I'll wish both a Happy New Year.

I'm about to let go some more New Year Resolutions-- Nena Board at the branch bank of Berea National says, "I even forgot when New Year's Day came around," and she had a day off too!

Imogene Johnson, an upstairs worker said, "I've quit making resolutions for I break them but I will say I hope I win the Kentucky Lottery!"

Donna Cook in the same office said, "I'm going to make my dog an outside dog because we have to wait on the weather."

Frieda Wuskell also in the same office said, "I won't make a resolution."

"You just did," I told her.

Down in the Loan Department, I went to Sam Colville and he said, "I'm going to get up early so my wife doesn't have to throw a second cup of cold water to me."

"I would bake you a birthday cake, seeing as how you are going to have one, but I don't think it will hold all the candles that it needs," and he started laughing.

I went out after saying I hoped his wife, Ruth, put a third cup of ice water on him.

As I went back out into the main lobby I met Mike Gaye and asked him for a New Year's Resolution.

"Well, I'm going to try to be a better worker in our church," he said.

"I hear you're having a very good love life. Can you tell me about that?" "OK, she's a friend, a good friend whom I go out with sometime," Mike smiled but his face changed with that smile. Must be more to it than that!

Kay and Lee Abney are our good friends as well as being kind. She called and invited John and me for a birthday supper on my birthday at Somerset next week. I'm not going to eat that day and save myself up for the big meal that night.

I heard that if Lee couldn't pay for the meal, Kay and I would have to wash dishes. John probably said that. He will do anything to get out of that.

Our three white ducks play a lot in the branch next to the yard. They are beginning to fly around the house and out of the water -- it is so funny to watch them almost like people.

Don't forget Valentine's Day is just around the corner.

Till then, the foundation of understanding is the willingness to listen!

Everytime the sun comes out all bright and beautiful, I get drunk. The Bible says "You that are drunken but not with wine." You can get that way when you like a thing, or person, and you get a feeling you can't control.

I'm my great grandson Chase and I love him so much I can't care what he does to my things.

Some of my kinfolk had a birthday on January 14 and became 14 years of age. The "girls" found it out before we older ones did. Jeremy Abney, son of Lee and Kay, is now a teenager and the main user of the telephone in the home.

Kay said, "Out of four calls Jeremy gets three. I can't use my telephone anymore."

John and I went out to the Abney's home late. I had hoped I could at least, get a piece of birthday cake.

I had a small package wrapped up in ribbon and paper and as I gave it up to Jeremy, I said, "I'm just giving you some money. Jeremy, I thought you would rather buy your own gift."

The room was quiet as he untied the red ribbon and took the white paper off.

I had brought him some round, gold coins. It was chocolate candy wrapped in gold colored paper, several pieces in a colored net bag.

When Jeremy saw the candy money, he got up from his seat, came over, bent and hugged me. He has had practice somewhere, and thanked me for my gift. He was very polite, and maybe disappointed over that childish gift.

Then I said, "If you don't like that gift, maybe you would rather have this one," so I pulled out a larger box and gave to him. He tore open this one quickly while a sigh seemed to go round the room. To be 14 and somebody treat you as a kid, well, it was too much. Oh, the gift, I was about to forget. You want to know what I brought a 14 year old boy? Why something to eat of course. Peanut butter candy in a roll with white fondant then slice off in wheels. It is so rich a body can't eat but a small amount at one time.

When we started to leave and some of the family called him, because he had gone out of the room, to tell us goodbye. So I get hugged again, but to show Jeremy was growing up, he only shook hands with John.

Now, all you girls that have been calling Jeremy, eat your heart out because I, a much older woman, got what you'd like to have, a hug!

To show that spring is on its way to us, Blanche Payne says she has what we call March flowers about three inches high and boy, do they grow if they get the weather.

I have had the nicest, prettiest, birthday cards already from reader friends saying they didn't know the date of my birthday only it was in

TIGER PAUSE

The P.T.A. meeting brought in 46 parents and teachers. Business discussed included the due for the spring Book Fair and second ordering of T-shirts and jackets. The final day for collection of Campbell's Soup Labels will be February 28. A special thanks to the P.T.A. for the recent purchase of three new computers that will be used for the 4th grade Link-Up program with Scotland. The 5th grade classes of Mrs. Patsy Alcorn, Mrs. Dottie Williams and Jim Ward made a presentation of recent topics they have been studying. This included a special song and dance of the Native Americans that they have learned. Anthony Coffey was the winner of the ceramic basket given as the door prize. The next meeting will be February 9.

Economics
During economics week the fourth grade classes of Katreka Cash, Kathy Reynolds and Vicki Scott, decided to turn their classrooms into a factory. We formed a company called BES Kids to produce all occasion cards. The fourth grade students had to apply for a job at BES Kids Card Company. The jobs included designer, inspector, paint mixer, advertiser, accountant, shipper, packer, and maintenance. When we designed the cards, we painted them with fingers, bubbles, sponges, and spoons. After the cards were made they were sent to the inspectors. Any cards that weren't neat enough to sell were rejects. We voted and decided to sell six cards for five dollars.

We subtracted the money spent from the money we earned to find the profit. The profit we made will go to buy classroom resources.

I'm Ronald McDonald's Shoes
By Allison Thompson

If I were someone's shoes I would be Ronald McDonald's shoes. I was thinking that it would be fun but I was wrong.

First, he gets me out of the closet and slams me on the floor. Then he slaps me on his feet, shoe weee, his socks sure do stink! Well, it's a living and I am used to it by now.

As we go out the door he sees a roach and he squashes it and now I have roach guts all over me! It's so yucky! As he gets in the car he starts it up quickly because he knows that he is late so he slams my body on the gas and away he goes. Soon he sees a car pulling out ahead so he slams my body against the brake pedal and guess what, there is gum on the pedal and I don't know how it got there. Now I have sticky gum all over my body. Sometimes I just want to kill him for the things that he does to me.

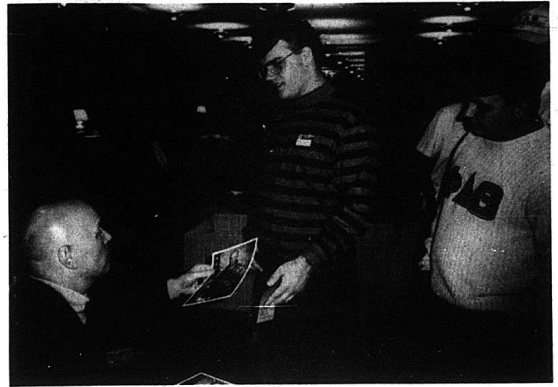

When he stops torturing me I feel something on my back. Ohhhhh noooo he is twirling his toes. Ohhh I hate that and he knows that I do. It makes me feel weird all over. It's like someone with monstrous fingernails are scratching the fire out of me! When he gets to work I walk all over hamburgers, fries, mustard, and ketchup. Then the work day is over. I'm in the car when I hear something. Ronald says, "I'm so hungry that I could eat my own shoes." I fainted. Thinking I'm dead but I wasn't, I was in my own lovely shoe box house. Saying it's so wonderful to be home I fell asleep.

The Lonely Day
By Peyton Rogers

It was another lonely day in "Dance City Shoe Store." No one even attempted to look at me. Of course, I'm an old pair of beat up, tap shoes. It's not like I can't be fixed! If only I had an owner to use me.

A week later a little girl came in the store and was looking for a cheap pair of tap shoes. If you saw me, of course you'd know I was cheap! She was walking down the aisle and kept looking at me. I shut my eyes and prayed, Dear God, Please - - - - - let her pick me. Then she left to another aisle. She came back to me and picked me up and showed me to her mother.

"Don't ya' like em?" Her mother had a look on her face like, "get real." "Try them on if you want to," she said to the girl. She took off her shoes and put me on. "Golly Moses, get me off of these feet. Sunk City. They fit Mom," said the little girl. "Well, I guess we'll buy them," said her mom.

Local resident meets famous astronaut at EKV -- Eastern Kentucky University freshman Dallas Graves, right, Mt. Vernon, visits with NASA astronaut Dr. Story Musgrave after Musgrave delivered a lecture at Eastern. Graves is a member of EKV's Honors Program, which sponsored Musgrave's appearance. The Honors Program is designed for intellectually promising students who seek a strong grounding in the liberal arts along with their more specialized major. Musgrave has been one of NASA's busiest astronauts over the past decade, the oldest person ever to take a spacewalk and a key figure in the repair of the Hubbel Telescope.

"Five dollars please, ma'am," said the clerk.

When we got home she threw me in the closet with the other shoes. They said, "I bet that hurt." "Well, what do you think?" I replied. One pair of shoes said, "You are so ugly." "Well would you please be quiet, it's not like I can't be fixed; I'll bet I'll have new strings and I'll shine like the sun." I said, "Fat chance," they said I thought to myself, how pathetic, that bunch of stinkers.

The next day the girl took me out of the closet and took me downstairs. They took my old strings out and put new ones in. Boy, did they feel good. Then they started polishing me. I just knew it. The girl put me on and looked in the mirror. Boy, did I look ravishing but her feet were smashing me all over and not only that, her feet smelled like something died. That was pleasant. Not!!! Suddenly the lights flickered. We were on the stage. Uh Oh. I ain't a dancing! Whoa, Ouch, slow down girl. Right, uh uh, to left. I wanna go home. Then everyone was cheering and throwing roses. Aren't I good? We drove home and I was safe in the closet. "Whaa, major fix-up," said a pair of shoes. "Told ya'," I said. From then on I had a new home and had pride in myself.

What I Plan to do on my Vacation
By Amy French

What I plan to do on my vacation is to spend time with my grandma and my family. My grandma is sick and going to die and my family has been gone for a very long time.

On my vacation I am going to spend the night with my grandma. Then I will go home and spend time with my family. We will go bike riding and later we will go to the theater to see a movie. After that we will go home and open gifts.

I hope that I will have lots of fun on my vacation.

Jessica Evans wins MVES Geography Bee and moves one step closer to winning $25,000 College Scholarship.

Jessica Evans, a 4th grade student at MVES won the school level competition of the National Scholarship. The school-level Bee, at which students answered oral questions on geography, was the first round in the seventh annual National Geography Bee, which is sponsored by National Geographic World and Chrysler Corporation.

The kick-off for this year's Bee was the week of Dec. 5, with thousands of schools around the United States, the District of Columbia, and five U.S. territories participating. The school winners, including Jessica, will now take a written test, up to 100 of the top scorers in each state and territory will be eligible to compete in their state bee April 7.

The National Geographic Society will provide an all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D.C., for state champions and their teacher-escorts to participate in the National Geography Bee national championship on May 30 and 31. The first-place national winner will receive a $25,000 college scholarship; the second-place winner, a $15,000 scholarship; and the third-place winner, a $10,000 scholarship.

Alex Trebek, host of "Jeopardy!", will moderate the national finals, which will be presented by Maryland Public Television as a prime-time special on most Public Broadcasting Service stations May 31. Check local listings.

The National Geographic Society developed the National Geography Bee in response to a growing concern about the lack of geographic knowledge among young people in the United States. A 10-country Gallup survey conducted for the Society in 1988 and 1989 found that people in the U.S. ages 18 to 24—the youngest group surveyed—knew less about geography than young people in any of the other countries in the survey.

The National Geographic Society, with 9.2 million members, has as its mission "the increase and diffusion of geographic knowledge." In addition to the National Geography Bee, the society sponsors a number of other geography education initiatives, including summer geography institutes for teachers, the National Geographic Society Education Foundation, and the Geographic Alliance Network, which is currently working in every state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and Canada. Good Luck, Jessica!

Winners!
Perfect attendance through January 9, and the ability to shoot a basketball through the hoop while standing at midcourt paid off for Devon Bussell, Steven Boreing and Willie Dykes. Each student received $5 during a special program at school. Congratulations students and keep up the good attendance!

Eaton named to honor roll

Angela Suzanne Eaton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Eaton Jr. of Mt. Vernon has been named to the "B" Honor Roll for the 1994 fall semester at Georgetown College, announced Dr. Charles N. Boehms, senior vice president/academic dean.

Students named to the "B" Honor Roll must earn 12 semester hours and have a grade point average of 3.25 to 3.74.

Located 12 miles from Lexington, in the heart of the Bluegrass, Georgetown College is a four-year, private liberal arts institution affiliated with the Kentucky Baptist Convention. Founded in 1829, the college is dedicated to its role as an innovative community of scholars developing scholars committed to its heritage of Christian discernment. Dr. William H. Crouch Jr. is the 23rd president of the college, which has an enrollment of more than 1,400 undergraduate and graduate students.

Mullins on Dean's List

Rockcastle County resident Jessica Robin Mullins, daughter of Jennifer P. Mullins of Mt. Vernon and Tommy Mullins, was among the 194 students included on the Cumberland County Dean's List for the 1994 Fall semester. The Dean's List is published in recognition of academic excellence of students registered for 12 or more semester hours, who have no grade of "F," and who attain a minimum cumulative scholastic standing of 3.50.

Cumberland College, located in Williamsburg, is a private four-year liberal arts institution in its 106th year of operation. Cumberland offers six degrees in 22 major fields of study, as well as 10 pre-professional programs.

Students to attend All-State Chorus

Several students have been chosen as members of the 1995 Kentucky Music Educators Association (KMEA) All-State Chorus which will perform as a part of the Thirty-Seventh Annual In-Service/Professional Development Conference being held February 8-11, 1995 in Louisville. Students are chosen as members of the KMEA All-State Chorus as the result of rigorous auditions held during the fall each year.

These students are at Rockcastle County High School where they are members of the Castle Chorus under the direction of Johnna Dell Ward.

Rehearsals for the 250 member All-State TTBB Chorus, the 250 member All-State SSA Chorus and the 295 member All-State SATB Chorus will be held February 8, 9 and 10 in Louisville. The experience will culminate in a concert open to the public on Friday evening, February 10th beginning at 8:15 p.m. in the Robert Whitney Hall of the Kentucky Center for the Arts. Tickets for the performance of the three all-state choruses

There's not a day goes by, I take for granted, With all my family I love so dear. God only knows how much I love them, And I thank him for having them all so near.

We've been so blessed for all these years, And the years have flown by so fast. And with God's help we look ahead and cherish the memories we have of the past.

We lost a son, a dad and a brother who God called Razz away. But we have faith to carry us on And we'll see him in Heaven some day.

We know he's happy now with Jesus And he'll never be lonely again. So we try to go on and help each other For our loss is Heaven's gain.

So, to all of my big wonderful family, And all of our dear friends, too, I want to thank God for each and all of you, And tell you that I love you all too.

"Television" (Cont. from front) ordinance would be to "insure proper service" to county residents.

The court went so far as to say if companies, especially Falcon, do not respond favorably to the ordinance then they could get out of the county.

The county means all sections except incorporated areas which have franchises already with the companies.

Rockcastle has three television companies operating in the county -- Falcon, Green River and Lewis. All have franchises but no regulations.

Falcon last year (1993) provided $10,375 to the county. Green River provided $1,656 and Lewis, $1,802, according to County Clerk Norma Houk.

Mrs. Houk said the state sets the rate to the county based on property taxes and her office comes up with the amount through the county tax rate.

Judge Carlotta said he had consulted with persons in authority in Laurel County and they had told him "Falcon was hard to deal with," and more or less ignored the ordinance. He said Laurel County's ordinance is 18 pages long and he plans to give it to Attorney Burdette as a guide to a local ordinance. He said their franchise fee would be set by the court, but said he felt the minimum should be at least five percent of the gross revenue to the county. But it always depends on the number of customers the company has.

Center Blake Childress goes high to try for a blocked shot in the Danville game last Thursday night. Childress got 16 on the night and McClure, #10 in picture, scored a season high 28 points to help the Rocket freshmen to their 7th win on the season against a tough Danville team. Also in photo is Billy Kirby, #42.

Madison Southern is victim #8

McClure and Childress get 44 against Admirals

Dusty McClure scored 28 points and Blake Childress added 16 and it took them all as the freshmen Rockets continued their winning ways by defeating Danville last Thursday night 57-46 for their seventh win of the season.

However, the Eagles made a run at Rockcastle in the fourth and cut the lead to two with less than a minute left in the game but, the Rockets managed to hold on for their eighth win of the season at 35-32.

Prior to the regulation freshman game, there was a two-quarter game between the two schools' benches (Cont to 9)

The 11 point margin was not indicative of the game as the Rockets couldn't put the freshmen Admirals away until the final minutes when Danville had to start fouling and the Rockets were ready for the test - Travis Anderkin sank 6 of his 8 points from the free throw line in the final minutes and McClure added two more to his total.

Other Rockets scoring in the game were John Brown with 4 and Billy Kirby with 1.

Brown and Kirby are doing an excellent job this season crashing the boards and Childress has numerous blocked shots to his credit.

McClure is a scoring machine, as he has been throughout his career but, at Madison Southern Monday night, the freshmen Eagles managed to shut him down somewhat, although he was still the only Rocket in double figures with 10.

At Madison Southern, it was a game that was tied twice at 3 to 3 and 10 to 10 but the Rockets led by as many as 8 late in the fourth quarter.

Lady Rockets lose close one to Wayne County

The Lady Rockets mounted a valiant comeback effort in the third and fourth quarters Monday night but it fell just short as they were defeated by the Wayne County Cardinals 52-51 for their 10th loss of the season against three wins.

"We didn't play good defense the first half," Coach Christie Noble said afterwards. "And, if we had the services of Becky Osborne (senior point guard) it would take a lot of pressure off the other players, although Melinda Smith played an excellent game Monday night and has played well at the point guard position throughout the season."

The Rockets were down by 11 at half-time 32-21 and by nine at the third quarter stop. And, with about three minutes to go in the game, the girls were behind by 10 but then the team began a comeback that saw them tie the game on a bucket by Suzie Carpenter and go ahead by one with 40 seconds left in the game, on a free throw by Amy Robinson.

The Lady Cardinals were able to get a basket to go ahead by one and the Rockets last second shot wouldn't go down.

The only Lady Rocket in double figures was Carpenter with 10, Heather Deckard and Amy Robinson each got 9; Dee Reams scored 6; Melinda Smith and Melinda Alcorn each got 5 and Jessica Albright scored 2.

After Friday night's home game against Bell Co., the girls play Monticello Monday night.

An update of the Lady Rocket Jayvees will appear in next week's paper.

Ken Hopkins, #34, goes for a jumper against the Garrard Co. Golden Lions last Friday night. The game was a thriller, going into double-overtime, before the Lions managed to pull out the 91-88 win.

Rockets lose to Golden Lions in double overtime, 91-88

The varsity Rockets, looking for their third win of the season, traveled to Garrard County Friday night and almost pulled it off, taking the Golden Lions to double-overtime before losing out 91-88.

The Rockets fell behind early in the contest and were down by seven at the first quarter stop 21-14.

However, in the second quarter, the Rockets charged back behind the hot hands of Eddie Todd (26 points on the night) and Corey Scott who combined for four three-pointers and two baskets by Adam Powell at the end of the quarter to give the Rockets a 40-37 half-time lead. During the period, Scott hit four straight field goals, three of them three-pointers.

In the third period, the Rockets again fell behind by five 56-51 and were down by as much as ten in the fourth quarter before Eddie Todd went to war, scoring three treys and Ken Hopkins got two straight buckets for the 70-70 score at the end of regulation play.

Matt Baker had to go to the center position when Gary Burns fouled out of the game at the 3:24 mark in the fourth quarter and Baker scored the first four points of the first overtime

Rockets lose two by total of six and two more in overtime for the Rockets. Todd converted three free throws and Eric McGuire added two from the charity stripe for the first overtime final of 81-81.

In the second overtime, the Golden Lions drew first blood for an 83-81 lead but Adam Powell, in two trips to the free throw line got the Rockets back even at 83 all. Following a Garrard Co. basket, Todd gave the Rockets a brief 86-85 lead but the Golden Lions went on to score the next six points, four of them from the free throw line and Ken Hopkins two at the end of the game wasn't enough to save the game for the Rockets.

Tuesday night's game with the Barbourville Tigers was a repeat of Friday night's game at Garrard Co. - close, but no cigar.

For the second time in five days, the RCHS varsity basketball team lost by three, this time 70-67.

The loss came despite a "10" game from RCHS senior guard Ken Hopkins. Hopkins was all over the floor, whether it was rebounding and putting the ball back, stealing the ball and taking it in for the lay-up or squaring up with the basket and draining the three. Hopkins was on top of his game and led the scoring with 21 points, which included three treys.

Teaming up with Hopkins to give fans their money's worth despite the loss was junior Matt Baker. Baker, second in scoring with sixteen points, also shared rebounding honors with center Gary Burns.

The Rockets played catch-up ball all night -- down 19-14 at the end of the first period; 39 to 31 at half-time and 55-48 at the third quarter stop. But, in the fourth quarter, the Rockets made a run at the Tigers and cut the deficit to three, 63-60, on Corey Scott's three-point shot. The Tigers retaliated with their own three and it was 66-60 with 2:09 left in the game.

Back-to-back points by Burns and Baker and Todd's second three of the half brought the Rockets to within one at 68-67 with 12 seconds left on the clock. However, the Tigers had the ball and the Rockets had to foul, the Tigers converted the freebies and the Rockets couldn't get the three to go down.

Others scoring for the Rockets were Burns with 10; Todd got three treys for 9 points; Eric McGuire, who tied the score at 7-7 with the Rockets first three of the game, got 8 points, all in the first half and Scott scored 3. JV losses big lead and game. The Rockets Jayvee team had a 15 point lead at the half, 29-14, an 11 point lead at the end of the third quarter, 40-29 and then couldn't buy a basket in the fourth quarter as the Golden Lions went on a 19-6 run for the final 48-46 win.

It looked like it was going to be smooth sailing for the Jayvees, who were looking for their second win of the season, as the Rockets converted a 12-10 first quarter lead into their 13 point half-time lead. Then, in the third quarter, the Rockets lost little ground, staying ahead for a 40-29 lead.

But, in the fourth quarter, the Rockets, after scoring their first basket and then getting one at the free throw line for a 43-29 lead, went cold -- ice cold -- as they never scored again until Jon Adams sank a three at the buzzer.

Adam Powell led the Jayvees in scoring with 12; Matt Ford got 8; Jon Adams and Ronnie Vanzant 7 each; Blake Childress 5; John Brown 3 and Jimmy Kidwell and Chris Miller 2 each.

Jayvees Lose to Tigers
The Rockets Jayvee team, 1-9 on the season, were outgunned badly in the first game, losing 66-40.

No one was in double figures for the Rockets as the Tigers outscored them every quarter.

Adam Powell mounted a mini-run as the Tigers in the third quarter, scoring 7 of his 9 points and this gave Powell scoring honors for the Rockets on the night. Bryan Bussell was next with 8; Jon Adams and Mark Carpenter each scored 6; Ronnie Vanzant canned 5 points, including the Rockets lone free throw of the game; Matt Ford got 4 and Chris Miller 2.

There is a change on Friday night's game with Bell Co. It was originally scheduled as an away game but will be played at RCHS as a double-header with the varsity girls' team. Next Tuesday night, the Rockets will host the Madison Southern Eagles.

RCMS 8th grade wins two

The Rockcastle County Middle School has been busy as a whole this past week with five boys basketball games. The eighth grade won two while the seventh dropped a couple. The sixth graders added another win in their only game of the week.

In action, beginning with the eighth grade, the Rockets got past host Wayne County by a score of 52-47.

Scoring the game were: Andy Hale, 7; Layne Neeley, 11; Steve Bradley, 16; Andrew Carrera, 6; Josh Martin, 8; Mark Proctor, 2 and Jeremy Martin, 2.

The Rockets also easily handled South Laurel, 51-36.

Junior Pro Round-Up

Rockcastle County Jr. Pro Basketball League action returns to MVES this Saturday with seven games on tap. The opening game starts at 8:30 a.m. Please come out and support young players of the Rockcastle County Jr. Pro Leagues. The results of last Saturday's games are as follows:

Varsity League (11-13 year olds)

Rockets 29 Hornets 12
The Hornets rallied from a 10 point first half deficit to capture the victory and remain unbeaten on the season. Jeremy Neeley scored 14 points and Brooke Roberts added 13 points to lead the Hornets. Greg Harper paced the Warriors with 16 points.

Magics 36 Warriors 29, OT

The Magic avenged an early season OT loss to the Warriors by beating them in OT in this rematch. The warriors overcame a second half deficit behind the scoring of Greg Harper and rebounding of Brandi Linville to send the game into the OT. However, clutch free throw shooting from Derrick Bussell helped the Magic pick up their 1st win of the season. Bussell led the Magic with 11 points, while Chris Powell added 10. Harper paced the Warriors with 17 points.

Junior Varsity (9-11 year olds)

Rockets 29 Hornets 12
A strong rebounding and defensive performance by the Rockets was the difference in this game as it stifled the fast-breaking Hornets offense. Josh Hale finished with 14 points for the Rockets, while Matthew Renner contributed strong board work. Aaron Cash led the Hornets attack with 7 points.

Celtics 22 Warriors 17

The Celtics picked up their second straight win by demonstrating excellent team play. Every Celtic scored in this effort, as Aaron Anderkin led the way with 11 points, while Brandon McIntosh hit for 4 points. The Warriors were led by Lee Deatherage, whose hand-nosed play netted 8 points and several rebounds.

Lakers 28 Wildcats 26

The Lakers remained unbeaten by narrowly escaping with a win in this buzzer to buzzer battle. The Wildcats' hustling effort and scrappy defense kept them in the lead for most of the game, but the Lakers managed to rally in the closing minutes to squeak out the W. Andrew Hammond and Chris Settles scored 10 points apiece for the Lakers, but it was Hammond's rebounding domination that proved the difference. Jason Reynolds and P.J. Rowe paced the Wildcats with 8 and 7 points respectively.

Training League (7-8 year olds)

Hornets 19 Bulls 10

The Hornets stung the Bulls with an 8-0 run to start the game which proved to be the difference. Colby Brown led the Hornets with 10 points, while Nicholas Williams added 8 points. Matthew Silect led the Bulls with 5 points, while Brandon Reams added 3 points.

Timberwolves 14 Magic 6

The T-Wolves picked up their second straight win with a strong performance. Derek Hurst, Kyle Mullins, and Max Saylor all scored 4 points apiece for the T-Wolves, while Jarrod Burdette rounded out the scoring and provided floor leadership. Blake Roberts led the way for the Magic with a good all-around showing.

Home games slated for this week will begin Thursday at 5 p.m. All three grades will play again on Saturday with games beginning at 2 p.m.

As a reminder, all Junior Pro players will be allowed into middle school games free of admission for the remainder of the season. Players must wear their team jerseys.

Freshmen Win (Cont. From 8) with Rockcastle's team getting the win there also.

The Rockets had to fight back from a 7-4 deficit but, with the help of two treys, one from Dougie Medley and the other from Chris Neeley, the Rockets took a 12-7 lead and never relinquished it for the final 19-15 win.

Medley led the scoring with 7; Neeley got 3; Michael Vaughn, Chris Miller and Billy Kirby each scored 2. This Thursday night the Freshmen host Pulaski Southwestern and will travel to Whitley Co. next Monday night.

OUR PRAYERS SHOULD THANK THE LORD FOR HIS WISDOM

Those of us who pray regularly know how easy it is to turn a prayer into a "wish list" of material advantages, and then we are disappointed when our wishes aren't granted. All too often we pray for silly, trivial things, or things that would be harmful to us, or even those that would benefit us at the expense of others. For example, we may pray that our team will win the game tomorrow, when our opponents have just as much right to a victory. We should pray for good health, wisdom, and self-improvement, some of which may require a little cooperation on our part. The best prayer simply affirms our belief that God knows what's best for us and will provide it. We can lean this at our House of Worship, or wherever we happen to be.

Who rises from prayer a better man, his prayer is answered.
—George Meredith

"If we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us."

Hamburger? Ground Beef?
Ground Something?
What's the Difference?

Disabilities accommodated with prior notification.

Consumers who scrutinize the meat counter may be bewildered by the various types of ground meat available at varying prices. Is there a difference? You bet.

Hamburger, ground beef, lean ground beef, ground chuck, ground round or ground sirloin are a few types of ground meat available in supermarkets.

Hamburger can have up to 30% fat in it. Some of the fat in hamburger may come from beef fat that has been added to cut costs. Hamburger will shrink more in cooking than some other ground meats due to the higher fat content.

Ground beef also may contain up to 30% fat, but no additional fat is added. Usually, ground beef contains about 20% to 25% fat and is usually more expensive than hamburger. Ground beef also shrinks less during cooking than hamburger.

Some supermarkets offer consumers something called "lean ground beef" which has less fat than regular ground beef or hamburger, but the precise level may vary from store to store. Ground chuck is leaner yet, ranging from 15% to 25% fat.

Least of all, usually, is extra lean ground beef, sometimes called ground round or ground sirloin, depending on which cut is used to make the product. Fat content of ground steak is about 12%; sirloin is about 15%.

Aside from shrinkage associated with fat content, the different types of ground meat also have a different number of calories.

The higher the fat content, the more calories in the meat patty. Consumers who need to limit fat intake -- or total calories -- may want to purchase the more expensive, but less fat laden, types of ground meat. And don't be fooled by ground chicken or ground turkey; each can have as much fat as hamburger. Read the label for more information.

will have about 246 calories compared with 172 calories for ground sirloin. The hamburger patty also will have about 17.6 grams of total fat, compared with only 6.8 grams in the sirloin patty.

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability or national origin.

Miss Kentucky Scholarship pageant announced

Libbi Taylor, Executive Director of the "Miss Kentucky Scholarship" pageant in Lexington, has announced the "Miss Richmond Area Scholarship Pageant" competition to be held Saturday, March 18, 1995 in the Gifford Theater on the EKU campus.

There will be a "Little Miss Richmond Area" ages 4, 5, 6, 7. In addition there is a "Junior Miss Richmond Area" title for young ladies ages 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12. Miss Richmond Area must be 17 year old high school senior (as of March 18) and not over 24 years old as of Sept. 30, 1995.

She will represent this area in the state competition in June in Lexington. Contestants from the counties of Rockcastle, Madison, Garrard, Estill, Clark, Lee, Jackson and Laurel are being sought. EKU and Berea students are also welcome.

Miss Richmond Area will compete in talent, interview, swim wear, and Evening Wear Competition. The pageant is offering a $1,000 gift package and $500 in scholarships. Little Miss Richmond and Junior Miss Richmond Area will compete in formal wear, interview and western wear.

The Miss Richmond Area Committee is non-profit and is an official Miss America Preliminary. Applications may be obtained by calling 606-623-0426. Local citizens interested in serving on a committee may also call the same number.

Did the Vikings find North America first? Nova considers the evidence on KET

Around the year 1000, Vikings set sail from Greenland, at the edge of European civilization, in search of a rumored land of plentiful game and timber.

What they found was North America, yet their attempts to settle this new world did not succeed, and even their thriving communities in Greenland eventually withered and died.

Nova's "Vikings in America," airing at 8 p.m. on KET Tuesday, January 24, investigates the myth and reality of the first known Europeans to reach North America.

Aren't you glad there's KET!

Lumber King to open in March, new grocery here

Coffey buys Econo Lodge at Renfro Valley

Econo Lodge at Renfro Valley.

Greg Philbeck has joined Ford Bros.

Lumber King will open around March 1.

The site of the new Save-a-lot.

By: Richard Anderkin

In the next few months Rockcastle countdians will have a new lumber supply center, a new grocery store and a new restaurant from which to purchase goods and services.

Bridgeport Properties of Monticello has purchased 17 acres of land in Mt. Vernon along West Main Street across from the Rockcastle County Middle School where they will build a 20,000 square foot grocery store for Houchins Companies, which owns and operates about 50 Save-a-lot Grocery Stores in the United States.

Don Sidwell, who is heading the project for Bridgeport said Tuesday that construction will begin at the site, very soon and could be completed within six months or less.

Lumber King, a full-line lumber and home supply center will open its third store in Mt. Vernon sometime around March 1, according to Bill Singleton.

Singleton, a company executive with Lumber King, which is based in Oneida Tennessee, said Tuesday that Lumber King, which had purchased the former Thrifty Lumber Company site at auction last year, had now purchased the former Stewart Fertilizer building on U. S. 25 south of Mt. Vernon.

Singleton said that fixtures were currently being installed in the building and some remodeling was taking place.

Lumber King will sell everything from 2x4s to nails and lighting fixtures.

"We are looking forward to getting open in Rockcastle County, we think this will be our best store," Singleton said.

Lumber King also has a store in Whitley City.

The Econo Lodge at Renfro Valley has been purchased by local dentist and businessman, Dr. Dale Coffey.

Coffey confirmed this week that he had purchased the 35 unit motel from Wayne Gregory. Gregory has moved to Alabama.

Coffey is also a co-owner of C B & R Investments, which owns Days Inn, Dennys and Dairy Queen all located at Renfro Valley.

Besides the motel Coffey also purchased one rental home on the property.

Roger Smith, manager of Hardy's BP at Renfro Valley said this week, that a new Blimpie Restaurant will open soon inside his store at Renfro.

The store is being enlarged to house the restaurant which will feature subs and salads as well as low caloric pita pocket sandwiches.

Remodeling at BP is not quite finished, but Smith says he thinks everything should be completed within the next couple of weeks.

Former Rockcastle County Property Valuation Administrator Elmer Hale did not spend much time in retirement. About a week after resigning from the PVA's office he took over management and ownership of the Kastle Inn Restaurant at Burr.

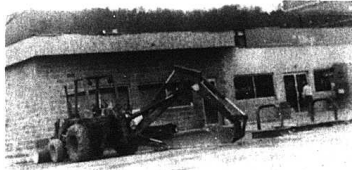

Bill Bailey retired from the local State Farm Agency in December, but State Farm still does not have an agent in the Mt. Vernon office.

Vicky Spoonamore, who has been a secretary in office for many years, is still there taking money for policies and helping customers with certain problems. She said that it may be a few more weeks before an agent is placed in this office.

Greg Philbeck has joined Ford Brothers real estate company as real estate sales associate.

Ford Brothers has offices in Mt. Vernon, London and Somerset.

If you have a newsworthy business item, please contact Richard Anderkin at 256-2244 or drop us a note at P.O. Box 185, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

Construction is still underway at BP.

Masons give 58 presents to local patients

Masons from Mt. Vernon Ashland Lodge #640 F & AM along with Santa Claus made this past Christmas a little brighter for 58 patients in the Rockcastle Hospital extended care facility.

Patients in the facility actually gave the Masons a wish list of what they would like to have for Christmas and members of the lodge did their best to provide what was requested.

Shown in the far right photo are, 1995 Master Mason Rick Neal, left, Santa and 1994 Master Mason, Danny Dooley. In the center photo are patient, Judy Thornberry, with Santa and in the photo directly at right is Sarah Coleman receiving her gift from Santa.

Friday, the day of our delayed Thanksgiving dinner was a strange one to use and so I did. (Cont. to B5)

The beauty and warmth of the autumn days that we so gladly soak up in September and early October surely must be the medicine that gives us strength to face the coming holiday season.

By the last of October we are ready for the first bit of holiday revelry, Halloween. This one is no trouble at all to get through. You just cut out a funny face on a pumpkin, set it on the porch or window, get in plenty of candy corn for treats, buy a new costume or use anything that will please the child being disguised and take it 'begging.' Then get the kids back home and discard all the unwrapped treats, allow them to stuff themselves on the safe goodies, or better still, store these for future use, and Whamo, its over. By the way, candy corn is no longer sufficient to treat the kids of today, most treats come in expensively wrapped and sealed packages and some tricksters, I hear, are brazen enough to ask for hard cash. And one can get a real "trick" if it isn't handed over.

Maybe it is because of my age that time seems to be going by faster but it seems to me there is no rest period between Halloween and Thanksgiving and even less between Thanksgiving and Christmas. By the time the Halloween jack-o-lanterns are all cleared away and witches and goblins have gone to their resting place we are shopping for more pumpkins for the Thanksgiving pies and turkey gobblers are the decorations showing in every window. Then right along with the pictures of the Pilgrims, and turkeys, corn pudding and cranberry sauce, is a half page ad saying, "only so many more shopping days till Christmas."

Now to complicate things a little more for me, Judy has a birthday at Thanksgiving time, and her son, Deno, was born on Christmas Day. And each of these occasions deserve and get their own recognition with cards and gifts. This is plus five other close relatives whose birthdays are within days of Christmas and at least deserve a card. You bet this time of year is hectic, confusing and complicated for me. Especially so since age has put weights on my feet and cobbles in my head which hinders my ability to get things done quickly and efficiently.

Now would you like to hear about my 1994 holidays? If your answer is yes keep reading, if no, then I wish you a very happy and prosperous New Year.

Now for those of you who are still with me I will try to explain that hectic, to me, means the uncertainties of what will happen next. Read on, I think you will understand why I called this "Hectic Holidays" for I never quite knew what would be happening next.

Thanksgiving Day, and Judy's birthday is only a day apart so we have always tried to celebrate them together. Ann, my granddaughter from Florida made arrangements last summer to spend Thanksgiving with me. Judy, Ann's mom, called, a couple of weeks before Thanksgiving and said she and her husband Geof would also be here and asked permission to bring along Geof's mom, Carolyn Kennedy. That was fine, I am very fond of Carolyn and I can always make room for one more. (or so I thought).

Now plans for the weekend began in earnest. I bought a big young turkey and visioned it on my biggest turkey platter with all the trimmings surrounding it when another call from Judy said she was bringing all the makings needed for the Thanksgiving Day dinner and wanted me to just rest and be ready for them. She also had talked to Rod and maybe he and his family would also be able to come. (And all I was to do was to rest and be ready to enjoy the weekend then?) What a great idea! With perhaps seven people coming to spend the weekend and I was to sit idly by and wait for them? Anyway, orders are orders, so I took the turkey to the freezer and consoled myself with the thought of how lucky I am to have such thoughtful children.

Bed linens changed, floors vacuumed, most of the dust cleaned from around the knic-knacs and I am about ready for company. Then the call from Rodney. Yep, they were coming and wanted me to be ready to go back home with them. Now it was beginning to become hectic. Just where would everyone sleep? I only have two bedrooms and a hide a bed here in town. And just how could I be ready to go home with them at such short notice and so soon after a big weekend of family fun.

Oh well, so what, first things first, we would simply have to wait and see what else happened before I could make my decision.

Now, since it was only the week before Thanksgiving, I had not even begun to do any Christmas shopping. This family gathering was changing things fast. My thinking cap was hastily put on and to save postage later I decided to get a little of it done and give some of them their Christmas gifts while they were here. I knew I would be at Judy's for Christmas so it was for Rod's family I would have to shop.

A quick trip to Richmond, a few runs through the mall and I had three gifts ready for wrapping. Not much but at least a token of my love that would have to do till later. I never dreamed that would be the last chance to do any real shopping and the gift wrapping would have to be done piecemeal whenever I could get a free minute.

A call from Judy, they would be leaving Flint, Mi. late Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving, would arrive after midnight, don't wait up. Call from Ann. She was leaving Tallahassee, Fl. noon Wednesday, would stay that night somewhere in the area of Knoxville, Tenn. and arrive about noon Thursday. Call from Rodney. They would leave Sinks Grove, W.Va. mid morning Thursday, would arrive late evening. To accommodate this schedule of arrivals I made a big kettle of beef vegetable soup, plenty of crackers, sandwich makings and loaves of hot zucchini bread. (and rested)

Judy, Geof, and Carolyn arrived first, about 11 p.m. After a bowl of hot soup Carolyn excused herself and crawled into the mate to my twin bed. Geof soon followed suit in the master bedroom. Judy and I were still up making further plans when the phone rang again. It was Rodney telling us Birch was on his way from Greensboro, N.C. and was stuck in a traffic jam close to Knoxville, Tenn. and wouldn't be in till next morning. Further more, he had a friend along, (a girl friend.) How very interesting this weekend was turning out to be. A sleeping bag was blown up and thrown into the corner of the dining room and a pillow and afghan thrown on the couch to await their arrival. This would have to do till the next day when other arrangements could be made. They arrived about five a.m. cold, tired, sleepy and hungry. The traffic tie-up had overheated the car and caused problems, but at least they were now safe and warm at grandmas with hot soup to ease the hunger and beds of a sort to rest in.

Ann arrived mid morning Thursday and was surprised to find another young lady there usurping her role as the only young female in the family. Birch's friend, Hannah, a classmate and friend, was a very pretty and charming young lady who simply came along, because Birch had invited her to come join the fun at grandmas on Thanksgiving Day. She was accepted by Ann and Chad as just another cousin and all four had a great time. Rod and Helen were the last to arrive and my Thanksgiving Day was truly one of thanks for all of them to have arrived safely and once again I had my family with me. By now a variety of food filled the table and the soup kettle was pushed aside but not totally ignored. Beds? No problem. Ish and Pauline have plenty of bedroom which I know I am welcome to use and so I did.
